Soviets Stage Walkout At Berlin Meet

By OMER ANDERSON
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, June 16—The entire Russian delegation walked out of a meeting of the four-power Berlin ruling body tonight, climaxing a 13-hour East-West political battle.

Western officials understood Colonel Jelisarov, the head Soviet delegate, to shout angrily:

"There won't be another meeting."

Western observers believed the Soviet action was pre-arranged because it followed a warning in the Soviet-licensed newspaper Taegliche Rundschau that the Berlin Kommandatura might share the fate of the dead Allied Control council for Germany.

American Leaves

The delegates had fought heatedly over Soviet stoppage of Berlin parcel post and other Russian restrictive measures.

After 13 hours and 20 minutes of quarreling, the American delegate, Col. Frank Howley, turned over remaining problems to William T. Babcock, his deputy.

Howley barely had left the room when Jelisarov and the Russians arose abruptly and strode out.

Breakup Expected

General Ganeval, the French delegate, termed the action "improper and rude" and understood the Russian leader to say there will be no more sessions.

The Soviet interpreter made no attempt to inform the others just what Colonel Jelisarov, the Soviet delegate, did say.

But a break-up of the Kommandatura, the Berlin allied administration, has been expected since March 20 when Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, the Soviet occupation commander, bolted the Allied Control council which is supposed to administer all of Germany.

Freight Cars Halted

The Russians apparently are now increasing their efforts to force the Western Allies to quit Berlin.

The British announced that a total of 250 freight cars loaded with coal bound for Berlin have been blocked in the last four days by Russian troops on the grounds that the cars are "defective." The same type of cars bound for the Soviet sector of Berlin have not been stopped.

The western German news agency, Dena, also reported that 300 Germans traveling to Berlin from the west were taken off by Soviet soldiers at the check post at Marienborn.

The Germans were told they did not have the proper documents since their destination should be

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Indicted

U. S. Jury Charges Lobbying Violations

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 16.— The state agricultural commissioners of Texas and Georgia were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of violating the federal lobbying act.

Along with the two—James E. McDonald of Austin, Texas, and Tom Linder of Atlanta, Ga.—the jury also indicted two other individuals and two farm organizations on similar charges. They were:

Ralph W. Moore of Granger, Texas, and Washington, D. C., who maintains headquarters here as secretary of the National Farm committee.

Robert M. Harriss, senior partner in the New York commodity brokerage house of Harriss and Vose.

The National Farm committee, a Texas corporation headed by Linder.

The Farm Commissioners' council, an unincorporated association with offices here. Its principal offices are Linder and McDonald.

The grand jury said that the accused individuals and organizations failed to register and file statements under the law regulating lobbying, and that the individuals conspired to lobby for higher commodity prices.

Attorney General Clark said all four maintained commodity trading accounts and that they had a financial interest in maintaining high commodity prices.

Listing "overt acts" it said had been committed, the grand jury said that Moore picked up the check for a $3,000 banquet for 200 congressmen and 93 other guests

Draft Is Cut To One Year

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 16—The House rode roughshod over the draft bill today and cut the period of service from two years to one, exempted doctors, dentists and other professionals from induction, and made President Truman responsible for calling men to service.

The one-year service requirement and the induction exemptions are tentative, however, and still subject to later roll-call votes.

Move Is Upset

The decision to slash the term of service was a surprising upset. The Armed Services committee had urged two years. But the House, by a vote of 156 to 88, adopted the amendment.

Chairman Andrews (R-N.Y.), of the Armed Services committee announced immediately that he would seek reversal of the action on a roll-call vote when the House resumes debate of the military manpower measure Thursday.

Andrews tried vainly to adjourn the lower chamber when he saw that the one-year service amendment would carry.

Professional Group Exempted

Approval of the one-year amendment was the second reversal of the day for the Armed Services committee in its attempt to steer the draft to passage without major change.

Earlier, the House voted to exempt doctors, dentists, veterinarians, osteopaths, optometrists, and pharmacists from induction.

Both the slash in the length of time an inductee would serve and the exemption of doctors, dentists, and allied professionals, are subject to reversal on a roll-called later.

The cut in service from two years to one was proposed by Rep. Coudert (R-N.Y.).

Inductions Delayed

Cheers and cries of "vote, vote!" preceeded the showdown on the amendment to cut the "hitch" a draftee would serve.

Supporters of the proposals knew they had the strength to carry it, and they were anxious for the vote.

In another action, the House

Committee Kills Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The House Rules committee today killed for this session a housing bill with public housing and slum clearance provisions.

The committee, headed by Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill), left the door open however for adoption of a housing bill without these sections.

And the House Banking committee scheduled a meeting tomorrow morning to whip through a modified measure that the rules body will accept.

The bill refused clearance by the rules committee was much like the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill already passed by the Senate. Senator Taft (R-Ohio) piloted the T-E-W bill through the Senate.

The Taft-sponsored bill was designed to encourage the building of 15,000,000 homes in 10 years. Most of them would be built by private enterprise but some, for low-income families, would be financed by federal funds and owned by public agencies in the communities.

The similar House bill had barely squeezed through the banking committee, 14 to 13. Its opponents included the chairman of the committee, Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), who called the measure socialistic.

In its place, the banking com-

BEAUMONT, June 16. — Sixteen-month-old Stanley Kent made a 13-foot dive from a second story window at his home here today and landed in a yard apparently without injury.

The child, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Abner, pulled a chair up to a table, crawled onto the table and thence up to a window, unlatched the screen and plummeted down.

HST Stops In Kansas City

By ROBERT G. NIXON
INS Staff Correspondent

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., June 16 — President Truman paused tonight in his 8,000-mile political stump tour across the nation to spend the night with the home folks in Independence.

Record crowds pushed up to his special train during four stops in Kansas during the day where the President told voters "It's up to you to decide if you want special privilege to run the country."

They also heard him say a kind word—the first of his transcontinental trip—for some members of Congress.

Some Solons Praised

At Newton, Kans., the President observed:

"I want to say to you right here that there are a great many liberal congressmen and senators who are interested in the welfare of the people, but they are not with the majority in Congress now. That is the thing I want to drive home."

The President will be in Independence overnight. His departure time in the morning was shoved ahead to arrive in Washington at 10:55 a.m., CST, Friday. He will leave Kansas City tomorrow at 7 a.m., CST.

Ovation Given

There was a big "welcome home" celebration for the President in Independence.

Late in the afternoon a crowd of thousands jammed Kansas City's union station to give the President the greatest ovation he has received in his home state since his "homecoming" in June, 1945.

The President, First Lady and Margaret stepped from the station to an awaiting open car to the strains of the "Missouri Waltz". They will motor directly to the Truman homestead in Independence.

The solid reception pleased the President. Smiling broadly, he waved to the throng.

Special Privileges Scored

During the day the President drew capacity crowds across the Republican state of Kansas.

At wayside stations where the presidential train paused briefly, the Chief Executive hammered away at the theme:

"It is up to you to decide if you want special privilege to run

Battles Rage Over Vetoes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 16—Congress took action on three great problems today—foreign aid, draft and housing—but failed to reach final verdicts on any of them in a final rush of activity heralding Saturday's rapidly approaching adjournment.

Both House and Senate worked long and late in efforts to wind up most of the outstanding bills before Congress. Even more furious action is expected Thursday and Friday.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he is "optimistic that by Saturday night we will have handled all the bills which require action this year."

Both houses labored into the night.

Solons Override Vetoes

In a surprise action, the House whittled the draft bill down to a one-year term; the House Rules committee refused to clear a housing bill containing controversial public housing and slum clearance provision; a joint committee of senators and House members got the job of trying to work out differences in the big foreign aid appropriation bill, and both houses overrode President Truman's veto three times during the day.

The House and Senate overrode the President in the battle of vetoes by writing one bill into law over his rejection and leaving a second in doubt.

Both House and Senate voted by the necessary two-thirds majority to pass over the President's objections an appropriations bill which carries a rider transferring the United States Employment service to the Federal Security agency.

And the Senate, by a 63 to 25 vote, overrode the veto on the so-called Bulwinkle bill which lets railroads make rate agreements without fear of anti-trust laws if approved by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Vote Set Today

The House plans to vote on the Bulwinkle bill tomorrow. If it agrees with the Senate and goes against the President, this bill too will become law.

If this happens it will be the President's third loss in a week

Fight Over Aid In Final Round

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The Senate-House fight over foreign aid spending moved into the decisive last round today with well over a billion dollars at stake.

The House rejected the $6,125,710,228 appropriation voted early this morning by the Senate and a joint conference committee got the formidable job of trying to work out a compromise.

Rep. Taber (R-NY), named chairman of the House conferees, declared that the far smaller sum voted last week by the House is "adequate." He vigorously opposed any "arbitrary action" to increase it.

Total In Doubt

Senator Bridges (R-NH), appointed chairman of the Senate conference group, was just as firmly supporting his chamber's version. He estimated that it gives the foreign aid program at least $1,100,000,000 more than the

STATION SALE ASKED

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The communications commission announced J. C. Rothwell, operating station KVOW at Littlefield, Tex., had asked authority to sell a 25 percent interest in the station to KVOW's commercial manager, J. B. McShan, for $4,885. The two proposed to operate under the name of Southwestern Broadcasters.

Schools Told To Halt Mexican Segregation

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, June 16—State School Superintendent L. A. Woods today ordered elimination of segregation of students of Mexican or other Latin American descent in all grades above the first grade in Texas public schools.

Woods said the regulation was adopted in compliance with a federal district court judgment entered here yesterday outlawing segregation of Latin-American school children except in the first grade where such children may be segregated to learn the English language.

Enforcement Is Pledged

Woods' order went to "all school officers of county, city, town and school districts."

"You will take all necessary steps to eliminate any and all segregation that may exist in your school or district contrary to these instructions and regulations," Woods told the school officials, adding:

"I shall take whatever steps are necessary to enforce these instructions and regulations and to prevent segregation of students of Mexican or other Latin American descent in the public schools of the state of Texas as directed in the above mentioned court decree."

Facilities To Be Open

The regulations recognized as permissable "separate classes in the first grade for any students who have language difficulties, whether the students be of Anglo-American, Latin American or any other origin."

"Such separate classes shall be formed only for instructional purposes on the same campus and with the same school facilities as are available to all other first grade students. These classes may be formed only after a language test has been applied to all first grade pupils," Woods directed.

"Since this separation is permissible only for the purpose of familarizing the pupils with the English language to the extent that they can understand classroom instruction, said pupils cannot be separated in any other school activities or facilities," the order stipulated. "All of said pupils, therefore, are entitled to the same cafeteria and lunchroom facilities; to joint participation in school contests, dramatics, musical organizations, playgrounds, recesses, and organized sports, and

Death Toll In Flood Hits 42

PORTLAND, Ore., June 16 (INS)—The death toll in the Columbia river flood rose to 42 late today with the discovery of another body in Vanport, wiped out by a wall of water Memorial day.

The latest victim raises the Vanport toll to eight. Other bodies may be in the submerged wreckage of the housing project.

The body was identified as that of Allen R. Hart, 33, of Portland.

Meanwhile, health authorities began moving into flooded areas along the river as the raging waters continued to drop slowly in the lower Columbia valley.

Cleanup Is Next

The Willamette river in Portland was more than a foot below Sunday's crest of 29.95 feet. By Saturday flood levels will be down 2½ feet, well below the Portland harbor seawall.

As the water recedes operators of inundated warehouses, railroad yards and industrial areas will begin the huge cleanup task.

United States public health service has sent three sanitary engineers and large amounts of supplies from the Atlanta, Ga., communicable disease center.

Sanitation Stressed

Huge quantities of DDT dust and insecticides, sprayers, dusters and rolling equipment will be used in the disease-prevention campaign.

This assistance will be in addition to the full force of state and county boards of health.

The public health service pest control unit has contracted for airplanes to dust flooded areas. Ground crews will supplement this control work.

Areas covered extend from Umatilla, Ore., to the mouth of the Columbia river.

Five Americans Are Reported Taken Prisoner By Yugoslavs

TRIESTE, Free Territory, June 16 (AP)—The U. S. Army said tonight five Americans were taken prisoner by Yugoslavs yesterday while aboard a motor boat off Punta Grossa in Istria.

Army public relations officers declined to give further details of the incident. It was learned unofficially from military sources however, that the Army expected the Yugoslavs to return the captives late tonight or early tomorrow.

Civilians, entering Trieste from Istria, said one of the Americans is a civilian and that the others are soldiers of the engineers' corps.

The travelers said the Yugoslavs alleged the motorboat entered Yugoslav territorial waters.

France Okays Plan For West Germany

PARIS, Thursday, June 17 (AP)—The National Assembly grudgingly authorized the government early today to go along with the six-power agreement on Germany provided French security is assured.

The deputies tacked six conditions on their authorization before approving it, 298 to 289, with 28 abstentions.

The vote meant final approval for the London recommendations, which will give western zone Germans the right to handle their internal affairs, at least under a minimum of alleged control.

The other five countries — the United States, Great Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—already have signified their approval of the western Germany agreement.

Burglars Enter Three Houses

Burglary of three residences here was reported last night but full determination of losses could not be made since the occupants of one of them were out of the city.

City police said that someone had broken into a house at 918 Ave. K, occupied by R. F. Bayless. Entrance was gained by breaking the glass on the front door. Drawers of cabinets appeared to be ransacked, officers said. Bayless and his wife were said to be out of town, however, and investigation of losses was delayed until their return.

Another House Entered

Police received the burglary report at 6:52 p.m.

A second burglary report was received at 7:28 p.m.

W. H. Green, of 820 Ave. Q, told police that someone had entered his house yesterday afternoon and had taken a dress. Nothing else was found missing, police said.

Still a third burglary was reported by Mrs. Harvey Moore, of 904 Ave. K, at 9:29 p.m. She said that someone had entered the house between 2 o'clock and 3 o'clock in the afternoon and had taken a $32 radio and several packages of cigarets.

$1,000 Reward Is Offered For Solution Of Bombing

A REWARD of $1,000 leading to arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the early Tuesday bombing of an office in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Motor Coaches, Inc., terminal was authorized Wednesday afternoon.

Jess C. Levens, vice president and general manager of TNM&O, authorized Sheriff Grady Harrist to make the announcement.

The reward offer was made at a meeting of state rangers, police, sheriff's department, a federal officer, and the district attorney's department. Levens attended the Wednesday afternoon meeting.

The meeting was called at request of District Attorney Lloyd Croslin with a view toward effecting closer coordination of effort in determining who was responsible for the explosion of a half-stick of dynamite in the office of Hurley Carpenter, TNM&O assistant general manager—and to avoid duplicitous work.

Upon authorization of the reward, officers immediately voted that no officer should share in the reward—rather that it, if paid, would go in entirety to the general public alone. They took the position that, were they to be the ones who should supply the incriminating information, they would be doing "no more than our official duty."

Probe Extends Outside County

It further was decided by those assembled that a "central file" on developments in the case would be kept in Harrist's office, for convenience of all officers working on the case.

Officials hoped that the reward authorization would spur public interest in "disclosing every shred of evidence deemed tangible in solution of this case."

In the meantime, it guardedly was explained that the investigation—already extended outside Lubbock county in efforts to trace the dynamite used in the explosion and that in a crude "bomb" that Tuesday afternoon was found unexploded under a TNM&O bus on a lot west of the but company's garage—was not in any condition to support further announcements.

Croslin had said Wednesday morning that several other persons are to be questioned—"even if a court of inquiry is required to enforce their attendance."

The explosion damaged three other offices adjacent to Carpenter's. No one was injured. Officials, studying a broken south window, believed the dynamite had been tossed in from a vacant lot, after the glass had been broken from outside.

Statement Is Issued

The scene around the station was quiet last night.

Huge Atom Powered Planes Faster Than Sound Are Predicted

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, June 16—Huge atomic-powered planes that will fly round-trip to any point on the earth at speeds faster than sound were predicted today by an Oak Ridge engineer.

Andrew Kalitinsky, chief engineer for a nuclear aircraft power project, gave specifications of four atomic warplanes today. One would be a propeller drive, two jets—and the third a rocket ship for travel in vast interplanetary spaces.

Kalitinsky works for the aircraft division of Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., which is doing research for the U.S. Air Force at the Tennessee atomic center.

He said the planes would probably be about the same size as today's largest military aircraft—the giant B-36. They would introduce a more advanced thin-wing design.

Lubbock Area Roasts As Mercury Hits 100

Lubbock roasted again Wednesday as the temperature soared to the 100 mark for the second straight day. And the Weatherman said sweltering residents could look for more of the same today.

The high reading, following up Tuesday's 106 degree two-year high mark, was registered shortly after 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, the Weather bureau north of the city said.

For the second straight day, clouds in the area failed to bring relief through showers. The South Plains area was in the same oven with the rest of Texas, however, with readings above 100 virtually bianketing the entire state, the Associated Press reported.

Wednesday's Texas high was 109 at Presidio. Other sizzlers include Wink 107, Van Horn 105, Salt Flat and El Paso 104, Crystal City 102, Abilene, Big Spring, Laredo and Midland 101.

Senate Accepts Compromise On Flood, Navigation Plans

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The Senate tonight agreed to a compromise $129,400,000 authorization for new flood control and navigation projects.

The conference report was made public today. The final figure agreed upon is $3,000,000 less than the Senate approved last week but up $44,000,000 over the House figure.

The measure went to the House.

The bill makes no money available. It makes the projects eligible for appropriations later.

Arabs Outline Peace Conditions After Talk With UN Mediator

(By International News Service)

CAIRO, June 16 — An Arab spokesman declared tonight that basic Arab conditions for peace in the Holy Land are "no partition—no Jewish state."

Arab league secretary-general Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha made this statement in Cairo after a conference with Count Bernadotte, UN mediator.

The count talked with the secretary-general, Egyptian Premier Mahmoud Nokrashy Pasha, Lebanese premier Riad Bey Solh, and Trans-Jordan Premier Tewfik Abu Rhuda.

The Swedish count termed these talks "exploratory ones in which information was offered on an approach to and a solution of the Palestine problem."

He will go to Tel Aviv, Israeli capital, tomorrow to confer with the Jews.

Four Arab experts were placed at the count's disposal by the Arab league. They will go to the Greek island of Rhodes Monday.

Jewish delegates also are expected to visit the peace headquarters at Rhodes, but there is no indication that either side will

Red Claims 'Ruling Circles' In U. S. Clanking Atomic Weapons

(By The Associated Press)

LAKE SUCCESS, June 16—Andrei A. Gromyko declared today ruling circles in the United States are clanking atomic weapons to put political pressure on Russia.

He said in effect that Russia is not afraid of such moves; that they would not succeed. He singled out U. S. Senator Brian MacMahon (D-Conn) and former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes as members of the "ruling circles" in the U. S. who want to wreck international atomic control and increase the war psychosis which Gromyko said exists in this country.

In a 51-minute speech to the Security Council Gromyko made it clear he would veto an American resolution putting council approval on the majority-backed atomic control plan.

He said the United States is only hunting Soviet vetoes. He said it is nonsensical to introduce such a resolution in view of the long standing disagreement between America and Russia on atomic control.

Little Hope Held For Progress In East-West Talks On Danube

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

There is one slim chance that the proposed conference between the Big Four and the Danubian countries might produce somethink worthwhile.

It lies in the increasing need of both sides for more trade between Western and Eastern Europe. Free navigation of the Danube would re-open an artery which, because other communications are still in bad condition, is more important than ever.

However, the mere fact that Russia is willing to negotiate means little. Russia is always willing to negotiate. To her, negotiation means that she states her views, uses the conference for a propaganda rostrum, then folds her arms and refuses to play unless everyone else accepts her interpretations of the rules.

Soviets Hold Edge

Nor is the Russian acceptance an unequivocal recognition of the right of the western powers to have their say in regulating the Danube.

The Russians at this conference actually will have a better opportunity to make their propaganda play than ever, since for the first time they will control a majority of the votes.

Thus Russia is able to keep up her mask of reasonableness without risking her strategic position in southeastern Europe.

So Russia may have something to gain and certainly nothing to lose by agreeing to the conference.

Secretary Marshall expressed the idea when he said that Russian acceptance was a good sign insofar as refusal would have been a bad sign.

But, unless the Russians really want to see Danubian trade renewed, any "free navigation" agreement is likely to turn out just about like the "free access" which the Allies once thought they had to the Berlin enclave.

21 Czech Refugees Arrive In England

LONDON, June 16 (AP)—The air ministry announced today that 21 Czechoslovak refugees, including women and children, arrived by plane at a Royal Air force station in Kent today.

The Czechoslovak government said early this month that 1,280 persons had fled since the Communist coup last February.

Today's refugees landed at the Manston RAF station.

The plane, a Dakota (C-47), landed unexpectedly in the early hours of the morning. Its crew included two pilots, a navigator, a wireless operator and a flight engineer.

Two women, and two boys, 8 and 14, were aboard.

The other passengers were identified as men of military age, some of them married to English women still in this country.

An RAF officer at the airport reported:

"They were all extremely pleased to get here. Most of them left the country because they had English connections. One of the men had to leave the country."

Pilot Of New U. S. Super Speed Plane 'Tells' Of Flight

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The first man ever to fly into the mystery land beyond the "sonic wall" described his trip today:

"It was pretty nice, I thought."

Capt. Charles E. Yeager, a rather small man with cropped hair and a taste for cigars, told a news conference he was "naturally scared" at flying the Bell X-1 experimental rocket plane faster than sound.

"As you get past the speed of sound you—uh; you—uh. I'd like to go into detail but I'd get my head lopped off if I did."

Bound By Security Curbs

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, presented Yeager to newsmen. But security-minded officers had bound the pilot with restrictions greater than those in the cockpit of the little rocket ship, where "your knees are just about the level of your shoulders."

Yeager was permitted to say little that had not been published before. He gave some details of the manner in which he handled the plane when on Oct. 14, 1947, it shot through the sonic range, which is 762 miles an hour when the temperature is 59 degrees but only about 660 miles an hour at high altitudes, where the air is thin and cold.

Yeager said the X-1 is carried to 25,000 to 30,000 feet under the belly of a B-29. The pilot climbs down to the cockpit, adjusts his gear and cuts loose on signal. Then he can apply power from each of four rocket motors with 1,500 pounds thrust.

"The acceleration is something terrific," the captain said. "It's lots greater than in any other aircraft I've flown."

And when the fuel runs out, as it does after 2½ minutes at full power, "you slow up awful fast." All landings are made "dead stick"—that is, without power. The glide down is at 300 to 400 miles an hour, and the actual landing is about 160 miles an hour.

Mrs. Marshall Resigns Tech Post; Was On Original Staff

Mrs. Hulda Wild Marshall, who has been with the Chemistry department at Texas Technological college since the opening of the institution in September, 1925, has given notice that she will be unable to fulfill further the terms of her contract with the college due to ill health, according to Dr. Ernest Wallace, summer school executive at Tech.

Mrs. Marshall served as a member of the original faculty in the capacity of instructor, was made an assistant professor in 1937, and an associate professor in 1946. She is the widow of a Lubbock lawyer, and the mother of three children, all of whom have graduated from Tech.

Temples Leave City For GOP Convention

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Temple of 2424½ Fifteenth left Wednesday for Philadelphia and attendance at the Republican National convention, to which he is a delegate from the 19th Texas Congressional district. The convention will convene Monday.

Temple said before leaving:

"I'd like to say appreciation to Republicans of the district for affording me the opportunity to go to Philadelphia as a delegate . . .

"While none knows the eventual choice of the convention, I do know the Republican party will nominate the man who will be the next president of the United States. This will finish the job of clearing the way to clean house in the national administration.

"We have a Republican Congress, but we must have a Republican executive department to effectively clean up the mess we are in today after 15 years of New Dealism. Any one of the leading candidates will be elected on an anti-New Deal, anti-Communist platform.

"In West Texas, where there are probably more independent Democrats than in any other part of the state, the Republican ticket will present an opportunity to register their opposition to the traditional 'brass collar' vote.

"The Republican party today truly reflects the principles of the independent Democrat and we welcome his support toward development of a two-party system in Texas," Temple asserted.

Labor Disputes Keep Thousands Of Workers Idle Over World

(By The Associated Press)

Labor disputes kept thousands of workers from their jobs Wednesday in four nations.

More than 300,000 of them were involved in strikes or threatened strikes.

The great majority of the idle were in Europe. There were about 250,000 off duty in Belgium, 50,000 in France, 12,000 in England.

Fresh labor troubles in the United States put only about 13,000 out of work but walkouts of additional thousands were called or threatened.

WHO DID IT?

A KIND FRIEND, sensing our need for a clock in the new office, brought in a good looking ivory number and left it on the desk during our absence Tuesday. There was no card in the package and naturally we are curious, as well as very grateful.

The staff members, who had heard us complain of fear of missing a deadline or of working overtime deny any knowledge of how the clock got there.

So to our unknown donor, grateful thanks from the writer, Oleta Stewart and Ernestine Wheelock.

Through your column I would like for you to express my deep appreciation and thanks to the many people who supported and voted for me in the Sweetbriar program.

It means so much to me to have the backing of such fine town people.

ON VACATIONING

TODAY we are presenting the first in three essays on caution for vacationists prepared by the National Safety council. Today's topic is "Before You Leave."

1. Stop milk, newspaper and other deliveries. Ask a neighbor to keep advertising circulars off of your porch.

2. Don't lower window shades. If you are to be gone for two weeks or more, arrange to have your lawn mowed. Prowlers watch for tip-offs.

3. Notify postoffice to hold mail, or arrange delivery to a neighbor or for her to check your mailbox.

4. Lock windows and doors. Remember basement windows and doors.

5. Shut off gas and water at main valves. Shut off electricity at master switch unless refrigerator or food locker is to be left on. If current must be left on, disconnect lamps and appliances at wall outlets. If refrigerator is disconnected, leave door open to prevent mould.

6. Inform police how long house will be vacant, and where you can be reached in emergency.

7. Service car thoroughly, with close attention to safety features, such as lights, brakes, tires, windshield and wipers.

8. Put a first aid kit and flashlight in glove compartment. Be sure you have all tire tools.

Truman's Remarks On Stalin Reopens Question Of Meeting

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Whether he intends it to or not, President Truman's remarks last week about "old Joe Stalin" could reopen the question of a meeting with that particular Joe.

This has been in abeyance since the Potsdam meeting three years ago, which left much to be desired from many standpoints.

Since then, President Truman has said he has asked Premier Stalin to come to see him in Washington, and Mr. Stalin stayed away.

State Department Surprised

Last week when Mr. Truman was talking about Mr. Stalin he tossed in a remark that the latter is a prisoner of the politburo in Moscow.

Checking on this at the State department, reporters found an air of surprise and a prevailing impression that Mr. Stalin is the politburo's boss, not its prisoner.

Now Mr. Truman said absolutely nothing about seeing Mr. Stalin, but let us look into what his friendly reference could mean—bearing in mind that the next day at Berkeley he listed Soviet breaches of faith in detail and declared once more this country's peaceful intentions.

In doing so, he made the statement that America is not waging cold war.

What Mr. Stalin thinks of all this may not be too important, especially if it is true that he forms his policy toward America by balancing America's own policy against her ability and willingness to back it up. What Mr. Stalin thinks may not be the point.

Meeting Is Possible

The point may be what the American people think, this being an election year.

Mr. Truman, long pledged to carry on in the footsteps of his predecessor, the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, may be following in his master's footsteps. In FDR's own words, he used to return, at such times as this, to a political position "just a little left of center."

Let us proceed on the assumption that Mr. Truman figures the country would take unkindly to better relations with Russia.

If this is so, a meeting with Stalin is conceivable, and such a meeting is easier because of what the President said last week. If it is the politburo and not Mr. Stalin who is behind all the things Russia does, Mr. Stalin stands somewhat exonerated of these same things.

How such a meeting would be sandwiched into an election campaign is for those interested to figure out.

REPORTER LEARNS TO SIFT NEWS

National Convention Is Maze Of Noise, Rumors -- Some Facts

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 16—A reporter covers a national convention mostly by ear.

Sure there are the parades in the aisles, banners and bunting to describe, and finally a word picture of the winnah and nee-yew champion as he waves his arms during his speech of acceptance and the delegates begin running for the nearest exits. That's for the eye!

But the rest is by ear, and woe to the man with wax.

That ear must be cupped at first to the inevitably optimistic reports given out by the various campaign managers of the candidates. They have set up shop now in assorted Philadelphia hotels, love nothing better than to grab a reporter by the lapels and tell him—usually in the manner of a confidant giving away a highly important piece of news— that their man is going to knock loose the brains of the opposition.

Platform May Give Lead

The ear, if it's a good one, will automatically separate the guff from the information, go dead on the guessing and perk up like citation's organ of hearing when the fellow mentions delegate strength and shows an inclination to prove same.

The ear's toughest task, perhaps, comes around when it is called upon to separate the rhetoric of the keynote speech and weigh the separate planks of the platform. The keynote is often a subtle endorsement of this or that candidate—whether it means to be or not. The platform report narrows the focus.

It goes without saying, of course, that if the platform committee comes in with a strong call for the outlawing of the Communist party in this country, it will be a nod in the direction of Harold Stassen. If it reflects Dewey's stand on Communism, then it is a nod in the direction of the governor. If it calls for the fulfillment of tasks which a military leader could best achieve, it is a nod toward MacArthur . . . and so on.

First Sessions Noisy

The ear must be shut off through much of the first two days of any convention, else it will become numb and thus not be in condition for the difficult job that confronts it when the balloting begins.

It is asked to do more than simply listen to the voting and transmit that information to the brain. It must learn to nuzzle up to the whispering lips of straws-in-the-wind watchers, trusted and not-so-trusted tipsters, veteran politicians who have watched these things for years and years and know when the dam is about to break.

The ear must be moved from convention hall to the big hotels where the chiefs of delegations, the national committeemen and the candidates and their disciples hang out. It must be sensitive enough to pierce both smoke and conjecture, boast and the real McCoy.

Need Plenty Help

It must receive and translate the "break" of key delegations and learn to differentiate between ground swells and underwater earthquakes.

And it must have deputies . . . the ears of helpers, leg-men and friends who can wander through the floor of the big room and pick up—from amid the babel that is any convention— the significant sounds and words that generate later into victory for one man or another.

The leprechaun in "Finian's Rainbow" would go good here, with those conch-shell ears of his. My own are large, translucent and have recently undergone a thorough over - hauling, including valve-grinding. But to be on the safe side I've bought from the air force one of those plane-detector amplifiers that will turn the softest mumble in the virgin island delegation into a torrent of sound and significance.

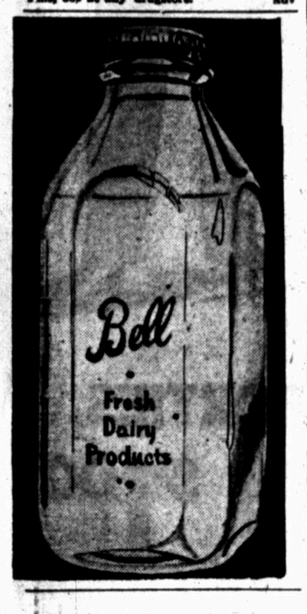

It will also penetrate closed doors. I'm a cinch in the trend department unless a competitor comes up with some device that records the unspoken.

Amarillo Man Free On Bond As Texas Friends Pitch In

AMARILLO, June 16 (AP)—Louis B. Conley of Amarillo, charged in Massachusetts with assault and kidnaping, was free on $2,500 bond here today because two Texans didn't like the way a yankee judge described him.

Probate Judge Harry K. Stone of Brockton, Mass., last June issued a warrant charging that Conley was $600 in arrears in the support of his wife and child. Conley was charged by his wife in another court with assault and kidnaping their three-y e a r-old daughter, Lynette.

The Brockton Enterprise-Times quoted the judge as describing Conley as "a typical southern wife beater" in a speech from the bench.

"I've never known a northern woman to marry one of these Southern gentlemen but what she got it in the neck," the judge was quoted.

Mayor Signs Bond

Conley, 27, was jailed here Friday on federal charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Mayor Lawrence Hagy and William Freeman, Amarillo car dealer, signed his bond.

"I don't know the boy and I don't know anything about him," Freeman said, "but I got so mad at that sarcastic yankee judge that I went down to Potter county jail and bailed Conley out."

At Boston, Conley's wife, Lucille, conferred with federal authorities today for the announced purpose of securing return of their daughter. She arrived at the federal building with Brockton Police Lieutenant Edward Sullivan and a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent.

After the conference, assistant U. S. Attorney Charles Miller said the background of the case had been discussed in detail.

Fort Worth Chief Will Head Texas Police Association

AMARILLO, June 16 (AP)—R. E. Dysart, Fort Worth chief of police, is the new president of the Texas Police association.

Vice presidents elected yesterday at the close of the two-day convention are: Sid Harper, Amarillo, first; Carl F. Hansson, Dallas, second; J. W. Dillinger, Taylor, third; Jack Ellington, Midlend, fourth; and Roy Lay, Corpus Christi, fifth.

William S. Brogdon, Dallas, was reelected secretary-treasurer. V. G. Flournoy of Stamford was named sergeant-at-arms.

Texas Rancher Killed In Car Collision Near Throckmorton

OLNEY, June 16 (AP)—A prominent Texas rancher was dead and two persons in serious condition today following an automobile collision last night on the Olney-Throckmorton highway.

Sam Bird, 65, Young and Throckmorton county rancher and former Young county commissioner, was killed. Mr. and Mrs. True Jennings, members of another Throckmorton ranch family, were seriously injured.

Cars driven by Bird and Jennings collided head on. Bird, who also had ranching interests in Colorado, resided in Olney.

Mobilization Plan Given By Officer

DENVER, June 16 (AP)—The president of the Reserve Officers association called today for total mobilization, on a civilian basis.

Colonel William H. Neblett presented this seven-point program in a speech prepared for delivery at the opening session of the four-day national ROA convention.

1. The Department of Defense should immediately organize reserve units in every community.

2. Congress should provide for "a single unified citizen military force in which service will be made compulsory."

3. The organized reserves, national guards and civilian defense units should be combined in a single force.

4. A system of universal military training should be started with training at or near trainees homes and assignments to local units.

5. Local units, through rotation of assignments, be prepared for offense or defense on a 24-hour basis.

6. "All our people regardless of age or sex, be given an assignment in this force, whether it be military or industrial or both."

7. Education in security should be started in the schools and continued through college with emphasis on electronics, physics and chemistry.

"This plan would give us a powerful, ever-ready force scattered throughout the country," Neblett said. "Dispersion is the only defense to the atomic bomb and to bacteriological warfare."

Marshall, Vandenberg 'Clash' Over Extension Of Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich)—the chief promoters of bi-partisan co-operation on recent foreign policy—are closer to a major split right now than they ever have been.

The issue is the tariff-cutting reciprocal trade act.

As a result State department officials may swallow their objections to the newly voted revival bill and recommend that President Truman accept it rather than veto it.

Bill Said Inadequate

If Marshall determines on that course, he probably will have to overrule his former undersecretary and now special adviser, Will Clayton.

Clayton, who fought the trade act battle in Congress, has been described as feeling that the bill which went to the White House yesterday is wholly inadequate to continue a workable tariff reduction problem.

Vandenberg, on the other hand, helped write the compromise measure and argued in the Senate that its limitations would not injure the tariff cutting project.

The Michigan senator furthermore had some rather uncomplimentary things to say about the State department.

He called its attitude toward the revival bill "stubborn."

"We cannot proceed indefinitely," he said, "at the mercy of an iron curtain.

Longer Term Sought

The reason the tariff issue came to a head in Congress at this time is that the latest extension of the 14 year old law was due to expire June 12.

That law gave the administration the power to slash import duties in return for similar concessions from other countries.

Mr. Truman and the State department urged the usual three-year extension.

Instead, the Republican-controlled House passed a one year extension which would have (A) Let the federal tariff commission suggest limits on proposed tariff cuts and (B) Given congress veto power over any cuts which exceeded those limits.

REPORTED SIMILAR TO U.S. JET BOMBER—This drawing appearing in the magazine Aviation Week is described as based on movie film smuggled out of Russia showing the Soviet Ilyushin four jet high speed bom er similar in many respects to the Boeing jet bomber XB47. Aviation Week says the drawing was made from enlargements of movie film, taken from the ground by a camera with telescopic lens, as the plane was tested. (AP Wirephoto).

Former Lubbock Man Dies In Auto Crash

Dewitt Talmadge Potts, about 59, former resident of Lubbock, was killed instantly early Wednesday in an automobile collision on U. S. Highway 66 about four miles north of Claremore, Okla., the United Press reported.

Potts had resided with his wife at 1938-B Sixth for nearly four years until he moved to Wichita Falls just prior to Christmas last year. He was an oil operator.

His car collided with one driven by Charles Hall, 27, of Tulsa, Okla. Hall was taken to a Claremore hospital, where his injuries were reported not serious.

Granger Cotton Warehouseman Arrested On Federal Charge

AUSTIN, June 15. (AP)—Joe L. Gaida, Granger cotton warehouseman and farm owner, today was arrested on a federal charge of knowingly making a false statement in cotton producers note and loan agreement documents.

He was jailed here after failing to make $5,000 bond.

Gaida allegedly certified falsely in December, 1946, that cotton covered by an agreement was in existence. He was charged with three violations of the law, one on Dec. 4, 1946, and two on Dec. 14, 1946.

The Granger man was identified by federal District Attorney Henry W. Moursund as an approved warehouseman for storage of cotton as security for loan agreements of the Commodity Credit corporation.

He is scheduled for arraignment in federal Judge Ben Rice's court here tomorrow morning.

New York Company Makes Last Steam Driven Locomotive

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 16 (AP) — The last steam locomotive from the century-old American Locomotive company plant chugged away today, and all hands turned to diesel-electric production.

The change "is a matter of demand," Vice President P. T. Egbert said. The company has invested $20,000,000 to convert its manufacturing facilities and expects the 1948 diesel output to top last year's by 50 per cent, Egbert reported.

Much of the equipment used in making steam locomotives will be "mothballed," he said, so that the company can handle any "unforeseen" orders.

The last steam engine went to Cleveland, for the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad.

Five Motion Picture Studios In Mexico Threatened By Strike

MEXICO CITY, June 16 (U.P.)—Five major Mexican motion picture studios today faced a threatened strike June 24 which industry spokesmen said might permanently knock Mexican producers out of the highly competitive Latin-American movie market.

Technicians and manual laborers who are members of the movie production union filed the strike notice which would close five studios — Churubusco, Tepeyac, Azteca, Clasa-Films Mundiales and Cuauhtemoc.

The union is seeking a 40 per cent general wage increase and general revision of its collective contract with the five studios.

Studio owners are asking that workers take wage cuts and that the number of personnel be reduced. They claim they lost money in 1947.

Six movies are being filmed today, but in view of the strike threat it was reported producers planned to reduce to a minimum the work on the pictures and thereby reduce their loss in the event of a prolonged strike before the films are completed.

Large Wheat Crop Forecast By USDA

AUSTIN, June 16 (AP)—A Texas wheat crop of 55,278,000 bushels was forecast today by the United States Department of Agriculture, which based its prediction on conditions as of June 1.

This production, though far below last year's all-time record of 124,270,080 bushels, would be considerably above the 10-year (1937-46) average of 45,686,000 bushels.

Acreage now being harvested was estimated at 6,142,000 acres, about 16 per cent below last year's 7,310,000 acres but some 55 per cent above the 10-year average of 3,952,000 acres.

Drouth - breaking rains near the end of May were too late to be of greatest benefit to the high plains wheat crop, but the late crop was materially helped. General deterioration from drouth was checked, the USDA reported.

"The best yield prospects in the state are in these northern counties, although indicated yields are below average in all major areas," the general crop report said.

Lubbock Jaycees To Present 44-Round Boxing Feature

Henderson, Kirkpatrick Will Star In July Boxing Card

Professional boxing will return to Lubbock on July 22, when the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce will present a 44-round card at Rosenthal Field with an outstanding array of talent for fight fans of Lubbock and the South Plains.

And starring on the card will be two of the South Plains' most recent contributions to the professional fighting circle, Light Heavyweight J. D. Kirkpatrick of Petersburg and Bill Henderson of Levelland.

Kirkpatrick and Henderson, both on the verge of graduating from four-round fights to six-rounders, will be on the supporting card and their presence is certain to add lustre to a card that already is shaping up as one of the best fight fans here could hope to see.

The Jaycees will be the sole sponsors of the fight and all proceeds will be used by them to promote a program of civic betterment. There will be no individual promotion and profits will not be split.

Bert Kahn, who has had considerable experience in staging fights for civic associations in Dallas and other cities, is working with the Jaycees to give South Plains fight fans a good card. Kahn and the Jaycees have guaranteed that every fighter will be in top condition and that every fight will be the best possible fight obtainable.

Kirkpatrick and Henderson, each with impressive records in their initial professional appearances, already have been secured through the cooperation of Joe Vella, their manager. This will be their first appearance in Lubbock since they turned professional after outstanding performances in the state Golden Gloves tournament at Fort Worth in February.

The plan, as it stands now, is to have an eight-round feature bout, an eight-round semi-final, four six-round fights and a four-round preliminary go.

The preliminary fight is proposed to be between welterweights or middleweights. Two of the six-rounders would be featherweights, one of whom would be Henderson. One fight would be a middleweight and the final would be light-heavies, one of whom would be Kirkpatrick.

For the semi-windup, the fighters wiuld be either lightweights or featherweights. And the main bout would be middleweights.

The complete card of fighters is being worked on at present and Kahn is engaged in lining up the best fighters available. Just who Henderson and Kirkpatrick will fight is not known yet, but probable opponents are being contacted now and should be known by the end of the week.

Through connections throughout Texas and other fight centers, Kahn will attempt to secure the best fighters in each weight class. There is a strong possibility that Sonny Horne, one of the leading middleweight fighters, may come in here as the feature bout. Manny Ortega of El Paso, the present state featherweight champion, may be another headliner.

But these fighters are not definitely booked and no announcement can be made for certain until at least the end of the week. However, that is the caliber of fighter the sponsors of the boxing card are trying to secure.

For Henderson and Kirkpatrick, it will be a triumphant return to the scenes of their original triumphs. Both of them dominated the Golden Gloves bouts here for two years, winning acclaim for their ability and their gentlemanly ring manners.

Since turning professional, both have run into injury. Kirkpatrick busted a hand in winning a fight and Henderson injured a knuckle. The injuries have healed and both boys have returned to win bouts. Henderson scored a sensational knockout Tuesday night and Kirkpatrick has graduated to six-round fights. He will make his next appearance Monday in Bridgeport, Conn.

Tickets for the bouts will go on sale July 1, with 150 Jaycee members having tickets for sale. Ticket booths also will be set up at various places in Lubbock for local fight fans and one booth probably will set up in Levelland and another in Petersburg.

Original plans for the price of the tickets call for a scale ranging from a top of $4 to a minimum of $1. These seats, from ringside to bleachers, would sell for approximately $4, $3, $2, $1.65 and $1. Several persons already have spoken for tickets as soon as they are available.

If present negotiations go through, one of the leading figures in the boxing world will come here to serve as referee. Until he has been secured definitely, his name cannot be revealed.

Not in several years has Lubbock been able to muster up enough interest to sponsor a first-rate professional boxing card, but this one promises to supply fight fans with everything they want to see. The lighter weights produce the most action and the most scrapping continuously, while still retaining the power for a knockout.

The Jaycees hope to present such a good card this time that professional boxing will be established. For that reason, every effort is being made to assure fight fans of the best. No fighter will be allowed to compete unless he is in condition and ready to put on a good show. It promises to be a memorable night here.

Dillard, Likens Years Of Eligibility Run Out In NCAA

MINNEAPOLIS, June 16. (AP)—Two track and field stars will be missing from this year's National Collegiate Athletic association event here because their "years of eligibility" have run out, it became known today.

The two are Harrison Dillard, of Baldwin-Wallace, holder of the unofficial mark in the 120-yard high hurdles, and Bob Likens of San Jose state, defending NCAA champion in the javelin.

Prof. Hugh Willett, chairman of the NCAA eligibility committee, announced the ruling on Dillard today. Likens was not entered.

District Champions Listed In Class AA Of Schoolboy Play

(By The Associated Press)

District champions of Texas Interscholastic league baseball are being determined with the list already complete in class AA.

More than 600 teams have participated in the second annual league campaign. It goes no further than district titles but plans have been advanced for placing some divisions on a championship basis.

The big cities—Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth—held their own district races this year. San Antonio did not participate but may do so next year and if so a state championship race will be mapped.

Paris won the district 5 championship last night to complete the list in class AA. Paris beat Sherman 6-5 to clinch the title, finishing the season with 13 victories against two losses.

The class AA district champions:

1— Amarillo, 2— Wichita Falls, 3—San Angelo, 4—Austin El Paso, 5—Paris, 6—Highland Park (Dallas), 7—Mineral Wells, 8—Longview, 9—Waxahachie, 10—Bryan, 11—Beaumont, 12—Galveston, 13—Austin, 14--Harlingen and McAllen tied for south zone title but did not play it off. Robstown won north zone championship.

Borger Downs Lamesa 11-10

LAMESA, June 16. (Spl)—Borger's Gassers rallied on four ninth-inning hits to push across two runs and defeat the Lamesa Loboes, 11-10, here tonight.

Hugh King went the route for the Gassers to gain credit for the victory, although he was touched for 15 safeties and three bases on balls, but the last frame splurge by his teammates pulled him out of trouble.

Larry Gilchrist copped slugging honors for the Gassers, with two doubles and a single in five trips to the plate, but Lamesa's veteran George Sturdivant grabbed the spotlight with two doubles and a triple in four attempts.

The Loboes and the Gassers will meet in the final game of the series here Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock, with Lefty Bill Jones slated to take the mound for the Lamesans.

Boynton Gains Mat Decision

Olan Boynton, the referee-grappler from Amarillo proved too tough for Mexico's George Lopez in the main event Wednesday night at Sled Allen's arena as he copped the two of three falls setto.

Lopez grabbed the first fall in nine minutes with a series of flying mares and a body pin, but Boynton rebounded to take the second decision in six minutes with a surfboard. The Amarilloan then took the clincher in four minutes with a reverse grab.

Frankie Hill Murdock defeated tough Jack Wentworth of Canada in the semifinal bout, taking the first and third falls, to provide one of the top matches of the card.

In the preliminary, rowdy Pat O'Dowdy of Big Spring and Sammy Kohen of New York City battled to a deadlock in the 20-minute tussle.

Sanders, Lubbock Auto, Bennett Auto Win In Industrial League

Three games were unreeled Wednesday afternoon in the Industrial Softball league, with Sanders Motors trouncing the Post Office, 14-3; Economy Mills drubbing Lubbock Auto, 12-4; and Bennett Motor nosing out Panhandle Steel, 10 to 8.

Ken Crawford, 14-year-old hurler, gave one of the best performances of the day as he pitched the Motormen to the triumph over Panhandle Steel.

Amarillo Noses Out Lubbock 5-4

Hubbers Drop 9th Straight

The Hubbers almost won themselves a ball game last night, but wound up dropping their ninth straight to the Amarillo Gold Sox and Pitcher Joe Budny, who allowed nine hits in winning his ninth victory, 5 to 4.

Lefty Fred Pollock, making his first start on the mound for the Hubbers, checked the hard-hitting Sox on ten blows, but two of them were towering homers by Jack Ferluga and Paul Halter. Neither had a man on base, but they proved to help the Gold Sox into a formidable margin.

The winning run actually was unearned and came after Halter had smacked his third homer in two games to lead off the eighth inning. Buck Fausett followed with a walk and went to second on a wild pitch and Don Elias was safe on Jackie Wilcox's boot of his grounder, Fausett holding second. Jack Mayfield tapped to the pitcher, who threw Fausett out at third. Budny skied out, but Ferluga, who won Tuesday night's game on the mound, singled sharply to left and Elias came in from second.

The Hubbers came within one run of tying the game in their half of the inning. Virgil Richardson went out, but Floyd Walker and Bill Cunniff doubled in succession to score one run. Wilcox singled Cunniff to third and he scored on Frank McAlexander's fly to center. Don Moore, pinch-hitting for Pollock, fouled the first ball to Lewis to end the inning.

Two errors by the usually steady Buck Fausett in the last of the ninth gave the Hubbers another chance to win the game, but they muffed it when Hixson couldn't bunt and grounded into a double play.

Trojans, Oklahoma Win In NCAA Play

DENVER, June 16 (AP)—Southern California's classy Trojans, with 22-year-old Hank Workman belting two home runs, shut out the Baylor Bears 8-0 today in the first round of the NCAA western baseball tournament.

Oklahoma A. and M. whipped Colorado State 13-7 in the other first round contest. Tomorrow's schedule in the double elimination event will match Baylor against Colorado State at 10 a. m. (MST) and Southern California against Oklahoma A. and M. at 3 p. m. (MST).

Wally Hood, Southern California junior pitcher, racked up his 19th victory of the season against two defeats as he held Baylor to eight scattered hits.

Workman, a 6-foot left fielder, who is reported to have a New York Yankee contract waiting for him after this tournament, homered in the first inning with two men on base and got his second homer at the start of the seventh, smacking the ball over the 315-foot right field wall.

Cubs Edge Braves; Pirates Win 11-5

BOSTON, June 16 (AP)—Home runs by Eddie Waitkus and Andy Pafko and some good relief pitching by Emil Kush today enabled the Cubs to defeat the Boston Braves 8-5, the first decision for the Chicagoans over the Tribe in eight games this season.

The loss left the Braves in a tie for first place with the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Braves held the top position by a one game margin before today's defeat.

Boston starter Bill Voiselle had a terrible time as he gave up four hits and got only one batter out in the five men he faced. One of the hits was a home run into the right field bull pen by Waitkus which also scored Hank Schenz who had singled.

Red Barrett replaced Voiselle and went along fine until the fifth when, with the Braves leading 5-4, he gave up successive singles to Waitkus and Hal Jeffcoat and a home run to Pafko which was sliced into the bullpen for three runs.

Bob Hogue and Clyde Shoun followed Barrett to the mound and the Cubs went scoreless until the ninth when they tallied an unearned run.

DODGERS EDGE REDS

BROOKLYN, June 16 (AP)—Carl Furillo singled with one out and the bases full in the ninth inning to drive in Marvin Rackley from third with the run that gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds tonight. Ralph Branca went the route for his seventh victory of the season. He had a no-hitter for eight and two-third innings before Johnny Wyrostek hammered a home run with one on to tie the score at 3-3.

Four Golfers Lead As Texas PGA Opens

EL PASO, June 16 (AP) — As hard and rough greens produced shaking heads, four professional golfers shared honors in the pro best-ball matches here today in the final warm-up for the 72-hole Texas P.G.A. open golf tournament over El Paso country club.

Elroy Marti of Houston and James C. Hall of Mission, with a best-ball 34-32—66, tied with Dick Forrester of Houston and Sam Speer of Raymondville, who carded 32-34—66, for first.

South Plains Loop Games Set Tonight

Two games will be played tonight at Jumbo Webster Field, when the South Plains Softball League resumes play, with Baldridge Bakery playing the Golden Light Coffee nine and the Cloverlake Dairy opposing the Thomas Jewelers.

The first game begins at 8 p. m. and the crowd probably will see a pair of pitching duels. Baldridge will go after another victory behind their outstanding hurler Loy Hubbard, while Thomas Jewelers probably will use G. W. Warden on the mound.

Cloverlake Dairy is expected to pitch Cecil "Smoky" Hale against the jewelrymen, while the coffeemen probably will throw Bobby Young against the bakers.

In Tuesday night games, Cloverlake turned in a surprising victory over the Golden Light coffee players and will be favored to repeat tonight.

Thomas Jewelers lost a tough game to Jackie Neel and the league-leading Bluebonnet-Sunbeam nine. All the teams will be seeking to increase their season's record and top games are in view.

Trautman To Visit City On Good Will Journey

Flag Raising Set At Rosenthal Field

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues and one of the most influential and high-ranking officers of official organized ball, will be in Lubbock Sunday on an inspection and good will trip.

Mr. Trautman's visit will be the occasion for the official flag-raising ceremony at Rosenthal Field, where the Lamesa Loboes will be playing the Lubbock Hubbers in a regularly scheduled game.

Impressive ceremonies will take place at that time before what is expected to be a capacity crowd turning out to honor one of baseball's highest rulers.

The complete list of dignitaries expected to be on hand for the occasion isn't known yet. But among them will be Milton E. Price of Dallas, president of the West Texas-New Mexico League; George Schepps, recently owner of the Dallas Rebels of the Texas League and prospective owner of the Oklahoma City Indians of the same loop; various West Texas-New Mexico club owners; officials of Lubbock city and vicinity; and other invited guests.

A reception for Mr. Trautman will be held that night, with the Lubbock Baseball club as hosts.

In connection with Mr. Trautman's visit here, it is interesting to note that his son-in-law, Karl H. "Larry" Larsen, is general manager of the Hubbers this year.

Many persons do not know the responsibilities with which Mr. Trautman, as virtual czar of baseball's Minor Leagues, is entrusted. It is immense. During the 1948 season there are 58 leagues operating with 446 cities and towns represented by baseball clubs. The National Association processes and approves every club, player and umpire transaction.

A staff of 20 to 25 persons is employed by the office to handle the daily mail, which often reaches 3000 pieces each day. In 1947, over 15,000 player contracts alone were handled.

In addition to supervising routine matters of his office, Mr. Trautman is responsible for policing Minor League baseball in coordination with the Commissioner, A. B. "Happy" Chandler. He helps to maintain the high standards of the game, as well as its conduct, such as averting the influence of gamblers.

Each year Mr. Trautman sandwiches as many visits to Minor League clubs as possible. This visit to the Southwest is typical, with the president inspecting 14 clubs in 18 days.

His personal background is one of outstanding achievement. He is a 1914 graduate of Ohio State university and turned to coaching freshman football, basketball and baseball teams there until World War I, when he served as athletic officer of Ohio's 37th Division.

He returned to Ohio State as assistant athletic director and later, chairman of the athletic board, during which time he was responsible for much of Ohio State's athletic development and building program.

In 1926 he became president of the Columbus, O., chamber of commerce and brought the National Open Golf tournament to that city in the same year. The Ryder cup matches came to Columbus in 1931, with the ABC tournament and others following.

He was elected president of the Columbus Baseball club in 1933 and president of the Class AAA American Association in 1935, serving in that capacity until 1945. For a brief period during that time he was in the Army Specialist corps, returning to receive appointment by W. O. Briggs as vice president and general manager of the Detroit Baseball club of the American League.

He resigned after one year when informed that the membership of the National Association unanimously had voted him to succeed the late Judge William G. Bramham as president of the association. He has since served the organization completely.

Robinson Battles Docusen For Welter Title Tonight

CHICAGO, June 16 (INS) — Ray Robinson, world's welterweight champion who plays his role practically by ear, is scheduled to defend his position at 15 rounds or less tomorrow night against a variable quantity called Bernard Docusen.

This statement is subject to change without notice, since the prepared program for Chicago's Comiskey Park may fall prey to an act of God, nuclear fission, or the whimsy of Robinson, with the latter possibility worth what the late Damon Runyan called plenty of 6 to 5.

The last time Robinson was supposed to appear in a Chicago ring, events transpired with a mercurial swiftness which say the slender Detroiter's foe, George Abrams, suddenly fighting an Estonian named Anton Raadik while Robinson nursed a cold and promoter Irving Koven held the bag.

Appearance Bond Posted

This time Kovin went cagey. He made Robinson post $11,000 forfeit fee and appearance bond with the Illinois Athletic Commission. He made further legal arrangements whereby, it is said, he can make inroads into Sugar Ray's property holdings should Robinson fail to appear this time for any reason other than health, which was the reason last time.

This time, of course, Robinson's title is at stake. And on the other side of a hot performance tomorrow night may lie that shot at Tony Zale and the middleweight crown. So Sugar Ray says he will definitely show up and he hopes he will be lucky against Docusen.

Recently Whipped Burton

The latter, a lithe, good-looking 21-year-old of French and Spanish extraction, hails from New Orleans where, as in the east and on the Pacific coast, he is known as "The Duke" and is greatly admired. Although a newcomer to Chicago, Docusen recently punished an old midwestern favorite, Gene Burton, and herefore was honored by the National Boxing Association as the top contender in the welterweight division.

Docusen, pronounced Duke-Yu-Sen, with the accent on the first syllable, looks to enter the ring at 146 pounds. Robinson will have to sweat plenty to make the 147-pound maximum by weigh-in time at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. If he doesn't make weight, the fight will go on, but chances are the N.B.A. will void his title and hold a tournament to decide the new champion. Robinson can always enter the tournament.

Either way, Sugar Ray is a 13 to 5 favorite for tomorrow night's feature, which may draw up to 15,000 onlookers an $10.40 top—a gross that might go better than $100,000.

Prominent in the supporting cast are the Milwaukee 160-pounder Jimmy Sherrer, who faces Jose Basora, of Puerto Rico, in a 10-round semi-windup and young Bob Foxworth of East St. Louis, Ill., who engages the Whitney Bimstein - trained heavyweight from the Argentine who, according to everybody but himself, is named Enrique Felipi. Enrique says his name is Felpi.

District Legion Games Set Today

Five opening day games will blast the lid on the baseball title race of District 2, Region 1, of the American Legion state junior diamond organization, with both Lubbock nines slated to see action against district foes.

The Lubbock "A"—or Senior—nine will open play in the South half of the district against the Spur representatives at 5 o'clock this afternoon on the Dickens county nine's home diamond, while the Lubbock "B" squad, a North half member, plays host to Morton at Chapman field.

In other first day tussles in the North bracket Plainview invades Littlefield and Muleshoe journeys to Brownfield and, in the South, Tahoka battles Post at Post.

Each nine will play a double round robin schedule during the next four weeks, with the top two teams in each division to be awarded places in the district tournament here in July. The highest-ranking "certified" team emerging from the district meet will compete in the regional tourney and, if successful, in the state finals at Austin in August.

Certified teams in the district are Lubbock "A," Slaton, Spur, Brownfield, Littlefield and Morton. The other nines, which are competing in order to give their players valuable experience for the '49 season, are Plainview, Muleshoe, Lubbock "B," Post and Tahoka.

Coach Fred Taylor announced last night that he will probably start Hulen Fowler, a speedy right-hander, on the mound for the Lubbock A's this afternoon against Spur. Jackie Cook will get the starting assignment behind the plate, with Jesse Fullerton at first; Charles Galey, second; Bill Tatum, third; Bob Brown, shortstop; Dorrance Guy, left field; Garnett Reeves, center field; and Jimmy Richards, right field.

Backing up Fowler and ready to take over the hurling chores if needed are Lefty Jackie Martyn, a holdover from the strong Lubbock High hurling corps; Jim Wilson, rangy righthander; and Jack McCabe.

Coach Garland Head will probably start sturdy David Clark on the mound for the Lubbock B team against Morton this afternoon, with Tommy Yelvington handling the catching chores. The remainder of the lineup is subject to change, but Morris Turner, Mack Taylor, Bobby and Jimmy Sexton and Neil Sikes are certain to see action.

OWENS JOINS ROCKETS

CHICAGO, June 16 (INS) — Ike Owens, 28-year-old all-Big Nine end from the University of Illinois, signed today with the "new" Chicago Rockets of the All-America football conference. A native of Gary, Ind., the six-foot-one, 190-pound Negro flanker drew nationwide acclaim for his defensive play against Michigan last season. The mighty Wolverines ran only five plays around Owens' end all day, none of which gained any appreciable ground.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

While most of us are busy fighting off the summer's most torrid heat wave, football mentors are enjoying the beauties of "cool Colorado" while attending the "top of the world" coaching school at Adams State college at Alamosa. The school, one of the top features in the nation, opened last week with Mentors Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and Fritz Crisler of Michigan instructing college and high school coaches from all parts of the United States, Hawaii, Canada and Mexico in the latest developments in grid strategy.

Lubbock High school's new head mentor and athletic director, Pat Pattison, is attending the grid clinic, with at least half a dozen other coaches from the Panhandle and South Plains on the roster. Tom Tipps, the stocky mentor of Pampa High's always tough Harvesters, will represent District 1-AA along with Pattison.

Pattison's main purpose in attending the school is, of course, to hear what Leahy and Crisler have to say about the finer points of football. But it is no secret that he will also be looking for a suitable location for a Westerner grid training camp to be conducted in the latter part of August. Since the Interscholastic league has moved the opening of fall training up to Aug. 15, with the first game scheduled Sept. 10, it will be necessary to hold hard workouts the last two weeks in August. Due to the heat it will be almost necessary to hold the training in some location where the altitude is higher and the temperatures are lower, in order to obtain best results.

An interesting sidelight on the Colorado coaching school was reported by one of the wire services the other day. Frank Leahy, always a pessimistic football coach, made a "rash" prediction by saying, "We won't be humiliated." My, but that's a bold statement for a coach who has the manpower, prestige and reputation of Notre Dame behind him. Now Warren Wright might as well remark, "I don't think Citation will be last in his next race."

The controversy as to which school had the best football team in 1947—Notre Dame or Michigan—still rages at the Alamosa school. Leahy admits that he still has not figured out the answer to the question, but says, "It's too bad the teams never met. We could have drawn more than 100,000 and settled it once and for all." Crisler just sadly explains, "That is something we will never know."

U. S. Court Stars Pace Tournament

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 16 (INS)—Top-seeded foreign stars fell before American campaigners today at the National Professional tennis championships which produced one semi-finalist and two quarter-finalists.

Frankie Kovacs staged a strong comeback to wipe away Ecuadorian Pancho Segura's two-set advantage and win, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. Kovacs, whose lashing forehand won for him in the final sets, moved into the semi-finals bracket.

Elwood T. Cooke, veteran court star, upset another foreign entry, third-seeded (foreign listings) Pierre Pellizza of France in a gruelling battle, 12-10, 4-6, 6-1, 10-8.

Bobby Riggs, tournament champion in '46 and '47, easily defeated Richard Van Den Bosch, 6-0, 6-1, 6-3.

Riggs and Cooke joined Jack Kramer, Welby Van Horn, Dinny Pails, and Don Budge in the quarter finals.

The day's doubles program was postponed because of rain.

Dodgers, Jaycees Win In Kid Games

Dave Allen smashed a homer, a double and a single to pace the Dodgers to an easy 15-8 victory over the Red Sox in a Pee Wee league baseball tilt Wednesday afternoon at Lubbock Boys club.

Allan Andrews collected four singles and Cecil Thompson banged out three bingles to join in the slugging assault on the Sox hurlers, but Lewis James pounded out a triple for the losers to share honors at the plate.

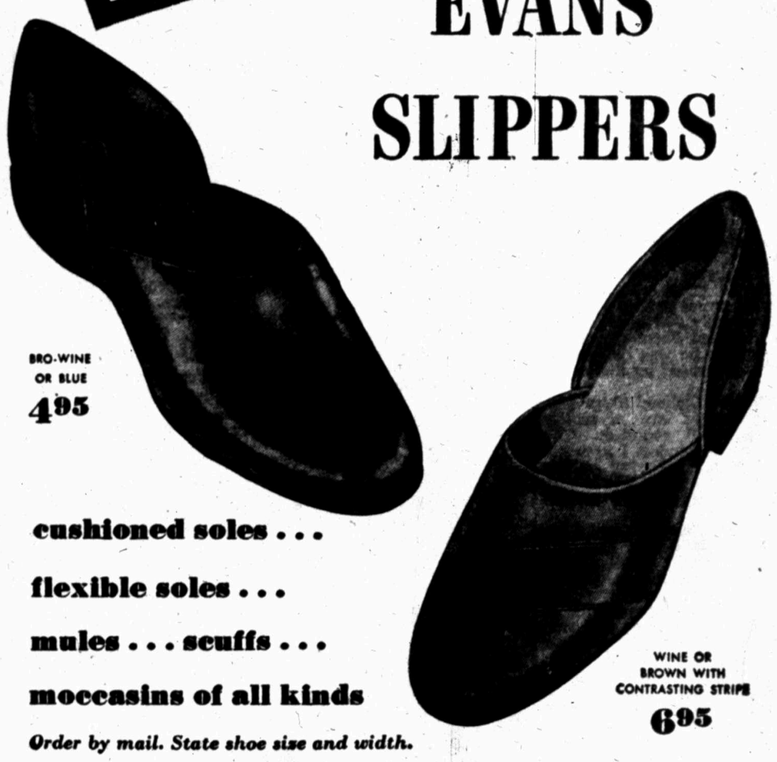

In the Junior circuit the Jaycees trounced the St. Joseph's nine, 10-5. T. Cadenhead blasted two singles and a double for the winners, with Ray Delacring pacing the losers with two singles and a roundtripper.

Two games are scheduled at the club this afternoon, with the White Sox battling the Tigers in the Pee Wee loop and American Business club tangling with the Exchange club in the Junior bracket.

Texans Indicted In Lobbying Case

at the Mayflower hotel here last November, and for a similar $1,100 dinner a few months earlier also attended by "many congressmen and senators."

The jury reported it was unable to ascertain the exact sum of money spent to influence legislation.

Convictions under the lobbying act can mean penalties as high as two years imprisonment and $10,000 fine, plus a prohibition against any lobbying activity or testimony before any congressional committee for three years.

Moore "Not Disturbed"

The conspiracy count of the indictment charged that the accused individuals agreed that Moore was to lobby for legislation that would increase commodity prices, and against legislation which would tend to reduce those prices. The Justice dpeartment said it was part of the conspiracy that Moore wouldn't register as a lobbyist because such a registration would disclose the personal financial interests of the defendants and injure the weight of their testimony before congressional committees.

The lobbying law requires lobbyists to state who employs them and how much they are paid.

Moore, reached at headquarters of the National Farm committee, told reporters he was "surprised" but "not disturbed" by the indictment.

Charges Claimed False

"The charges are absolutely false," he told reporters. "We haven't been lobbying. I have not engaged in any lobbying activity for two or three years. I have been principally engaged in market speculation.

"I believe in America and I believe we'll get a fair trial and beat this thing. It is all politics and a misunderstanding. Clinton Anderson is back of it."

Anderson resigned recently as secretary of agriculture and won the Democratic nomination for senator from New Mexico.

As secretary of agriculture, Anderson had general charge of the Commodity Exchange authority. That division of government recently charged that Moore violated the commodity exchange act by trying to manipulate the price of lard last fall. Moore's hearing still is pending.

"Politics," Says Defendant

The Justice department spent six weeks presenting the case to the grand jury, which has been investigating compliance with the lobbying law since early this year. Only one other indictment has been returned—against the United States Savings and Loan league.

At New York, Harriss said in a statement:

"With respect to the charges which I understand have been made against me and others for lobbying:

"These charges are totally false, completely unjustified and politically inspired. I am glad to have been in this fight to try and save American agriculture from the destruction and American farmer from the peonage which would have resulted from the communistic program of regimentation, subsidies and bureaucratic price-fixing and controls.

"I will continue my opposition to such anti-American programs and welcome a full investigation and hearing on these absurd and ridiculous charges."

McDONALD DECLARES INDICTMENT IS COMPLIMENT

DALLAS, June 16. (AP)—Texas state agriculture commissioner J. E. McDonald said here today the federal lobbying indictment drawn against him in Washington was a compliment to his administration.

Apparently unruffled by the newest broadside in his controversial 18-year tenure as a state official, McDonald said the lobbying charge "is evidence that I have been on the job for which I was elected—to aid agriculture and obtain fair prices for farm products."

"Politics" Is Charged

He denied that he had acted outside his official capacity as head of the state's agriculture department. He said he had violated no law.

McDonald said the indictment, drawn against him and three other persons, was "just politics."

The silver-haired, bespectacled commissioner, around whom political controversey in Texas has swirled for the past decade, freely admitted to having appeared before many congressional committes in attempts to obtain "fair prices" for farm products.

"Sometimes I was called to appear," he explained, "and sometimes I just went.

"Some of the politicians who drew the indictment apparently overlooked the fact that, as a state official, I was not required to register in order to appear before committees in Congress."

One of the counts on the indictment drawn against McDonald, Ralph T. Moore of Granger, Georgia agriculture commissioner Tom Linder and Robert M. Harriss of New York was that they had "ignored" provisions of the lobbying act which call for a "complete disclousure of money received as well as all sums expended with any lobbying activity."

Numerous Job Placements Made In Lubbock Area By Commission

The Texas Employment commission here made 497 job placements from June 1 through June 15, and 437 new applications for work were taken during the same period, according to James E. Marshall, office manager of the commission.

Marshall said that large numbers of cotton choppers are looking for work in this area, and urged that farmers who need such help contact his office.

Main job openings listed by the commission include draftsmen, fry cooks, waitresses, stenographers, grocery clerks, bookkeepers, structural steel layout men, and office and credit managers.

News Briefs

Mrs. Carl Roberds, of 1415 Sixteenth, who suffered a fracture of her right leg in a fall at her home early Wednesday, was reported doing well at Lubbock Memorial hospital last night. A. W. Worsham, about 73, of 2402 Fourth, was reported in satisfactory condition at West Texas hospital last night. He had undergone an appendectomy Tuesday night.

of the station, but no unusual incidents were reported.

A statement by union officials was issued, however.

Answering published statements by the management of the Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches concerning monthly average incomes in 1947 by drivers of the company now on strike, C. H. Smith, vice president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said Wednesday the figures do not give a full picture of the wage situation.

Smith said the company's figures do not give a full picture of the case because they do not take into account the mileage driven by operators. He said:

"The rates of bus operators are made on 3c to 5c per mile. The fares paid by the public are generally based on rate per mile. The bus operators are only paid for miles they operate the buses.

"A bus operator to earn the average stated by the company at minimum rate of 3c per mile would have to drive 12,689 miles per month—and an operator with maximum rate of 5c would have to drive 7,614 miles per month.

"The Continental (bus lines) with a maximum of 5.25c per mile last year would only drive 5,295 miles to earn the average furnished by the company (for that line) of $288. The operator of Southwestern Greyhound Lines, with maximum last year of 5.65c would only drive 5,097 miles to earn the average of $288.

"It will be noted that bus operators of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches drive many more miles to earn the averages alleged by the company.

Smith in his statement reiterated that "the bus operators welcome an investigation by the governor of the state or any interested citizen. We are not afraid to leave the case to arbitration. The bus operators desire a fair settlement and hope that one can be obtained at an early date."

Service Term Cut

voted 145 to 38 to delay inductions until 90 days after the bill becomes law and then only if President Truman proclaims selective service necessary.

The exemption for doctors, dentists and other professionals, was proposed by Rep. Miller (R-Conn.). The amendment would eliminate from the bill the entire section dealing with these groups.

With these three major actions, the House quit its work on the bill under an agreement to resume consideration Thursday at 8 a.m. CST.

Rep. Marcantonio (A.L.-N.Y.) announced early in the day that he will use all possible delaying tactics in an attempt to block House passage of the draft before the scheduled adjournment of Congress Saturday.

Funeral Arrangements For Whiteface Infant Pending

WHITEFACE, June 16 (Special)—Funeral services for Carl Ray Riddle, seven-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Riddle of Whiteface, had not been definitely set late today, pending arrival of relatives, Plains Funeral home of Levelland reported.

The child died about 4:30 p. m. Tuesday in Lubbock Memorial hospital from acute diarrhea and vomiting, after an illness of more than a week. He was admitted to the hospital Tuesday morning.

Services will be held in the Whiteface Baptist church with Rev. Elvis E. Morris of Levelland officiating, and the time of services will be set either Thursday or Friday afternoon, depending upon the arrival of relatives, the funeral home said. Burial will be in Whiteface cemetery.

Survivors include the parents; two sisters, Faye, 8, and Mae, 5; a brother, Cecil, jr., 3; and both sets of grandparents.

on vetoes, Monday Congress overrode him on a measure which he said would bar 750,000 persons from social security coverage. The measure is now law.

The House today took the first veto vote, and by 288 to 113 voted to turn its back on the President's rejection of a $975,914,700 appropriations bill for the Federal Security agency. The vote was 29 more than the required two-thirds majority.

Southerners Back Truman

Later in the day, the Senate voted on the money bill 72 to 17, thus writing into law the measure with its rider, which the President said was a "serious error."

The Senate vote on the Bulwinkle bill was 63 to 25. Sixteen Democrats voted with 47 Republicans against the President, while 22 Democrats were joined by only three Republicans in the futile effort to sustain Mr. Truman.

Senator Russell (D-Ga) and other southerners led the fight to sustain the veto. The South has been complaining that railroad rates discriminate against Dixie.

"Screwballs" Hit

Russell charged that under the bill two New York banking houses—J. P. Morgan and company and Kuhn, Loeb and company—would control railroad rates because they finance the railroads.

Those in favor of the bill talked little, apparently confident of the outcome. But one of its backers, Senator Reed (R-Kas), did say that the main opposition came from "screwballs" in the anti-trust division of the Justice department.

In his veto message, Mr. Truman told Congress the Bulwinkle bill was inconsistent with the "vigorous anti-monopoly program" he was pushing.

29th Veto By HST

He said the bill would "permit an important segment of the economy to obtain immunity from the anti-trust laws and would do so without providing adequate safeguards to protect the public interest."

Appropriations committee experts said Mr. Truman's veto yesterday of the appropriations measure—the one the House overrode today—was the first veto of a money bill since 1934.

It was, incidentally, the 29th veto by President Truman since the present session of Congress began last January, and the 137th since he took office.

President Truman refused to sign the money bill because the measure, intended to finance the Federal Security agency and the Labor department, carried a tacked-on clause that would transfer the U. S. Employment service from the Labor department to the Federal Security agency.

SENATE-HOUSE GROUP AGREE ON INTERIOR FUNDS

WASHINGTON, June 16. (AP)—House-Senate conferees on the 1949 Interior department appropriation bill agreed tonight on a total of approximately $400,000,000.

This compared with $375,692,591 as passed by the House and $422,179,098 as passed by the Senate. The compromise still must be accepted by both bodies.

Abernathy Mishap Victim's Condition Said Satisfactory

The condition of Robert Duty, 20, of Abernathy, who suffered a serious back injury in an automobile-motorcycle collision there Tuesday night, was reported satisfactory at St. Mary's hospital last night. He had undergone surgery soon after the accident, in which he was thrown from his motorcycle.

R. D. Bumpass, of 2826 Twenty-eighth, who suffered cuts and bruises in an automobile collision two miles west of the city limits Tuesday night remained in Lubbock Memorial hospital. The hospital said that he was to be released today.

His wife, who suffered shock and bruises, was released from the hospital yesterday.

Campaign Organized Against Socialism

DALLAS, June 16 (INS)—Dallas doctors, businessmen and educators are entrenching for a battle against socialism.

They've organized a campaign to educate the public against socialism, and call themselves the Dallas Council for Public Information. Their declared aim is to direct public attention to what they say are "alarming tendencies in the United States toward nationalization of business, professions, and industry."

Under plans outlined by Dr. Edwin Rippy, a member of the new council and public relations director of the Dallas County Society, the organization will be "nonpartisan, nonsectarian and nonpolitical."

Original plans were to organize Dallas county doctors, dentists and nurses to combat any socialized medicine law.

"We found that socialism is a threat to other types of professions and vocations, too," Dr. O. M. Marchman Sr., chairman of council organization, explained. "So the program was broadened."

"Doctors, dentists and nurses stand on the threshold of socialized medicine," Dr. Rousse said. He added that a bill to socialize medicine is being prepared now for introduction in the Texas Legislature next January.

Mrs. Elsie Marie Sarten, 18, Dies In City Early Today

Mrs. Elsie Marie Sarten, 18, of Country Club addition north of Lubbock, who was taken in an unconscious condition to St. Mary's hospital about 10 o'clock last night, died there at 12:20 a. m. today.

Police Captain of Detectives Pat Davidson and Dep. Sheriff Carl Francis began an investigation into circumstances of the death.

Mrs. Sarten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webb of 3920 Twenty-third, was brought to the hospital in a Bryan McDonald and Son ambulance and the body was removed to the funeral home early today.

Defeat Of Dawson County Road Bond Proposal Is Indicated

LAMESA, June 16 (Special)—Returns tonight indicated that Dawson county voters had defeated a proposal to issue $250,000 in road bonds as the county's connecting link in the Broadway to Big Bend highway project. The election was held Tuesday.

A majority vote of two-thirds was required to pass the proposal.

Unofficial returns from 16 of the county's 17 boxes showed a total of 274 votes for the issue and 154 against it. One unreported box was not expected to total more than five votes, which would leave the proposal defeated.

Retiring President Of WTSTC To Be Honored At Conference

Dr. Hill will retire Sept. 1. He will be succeeded by Dr. James P. Cornette, former dean of Baylor university, who has been vice president of West Texas State Teachers since January 1.

Truman Visits Folks

the country. If you don't want the special privilege boys to run this country, then it is up to you to decide what you want to do.

"It is a minority Congress with a majority against the people. That we can't stand. You have got to take that under consideration in the coming campaign."

Bi-Partisan Policy Boosted

At Emporia, Kans., the last stop before reaching Kansas City, the President, pleaded that politics be kept out of the nation's foreign policy. He said:

"In order to get peace now we must keep that foreign policy out of the political scramble which will take place in this presidential year. I know we can do that. The leaders in the Senate, who pass on treaties which affect foreign relations, have been working in complete harmony with the President and the secretary of state. And we are going to continue to do that so far as foreign affairs are concerned."

But the President admonished, "that doesn't go for local affairs."

The President's train stopped at four towns in crossing the state. He began his day at 7 a.m. with a platform talk at Dodge City. Then he made talks at Hutchinson, Newton and Emporia.

He discussed farm problems at Newton. He said:

Farm Bill Praised

"Since I made my Omaha speech, the House has reported out the farm bill. I don't know what the Senate will do to it. I hope the Senate will pass it because the things which create the incentive to get the farmers to do what they have done over the last seven years will expire at the end of this year, if this Congress does not act on the farm bill.

"I am hoping that they will act. Because the present farm bill as reported by the House is a good bill."

The President remarked that he was "rather completely surrounded in Washington" and for that reason he enjoyed meeting all the people he had during the trip. He added:

Family On Hand

"About the only chance I have to see anybody are the people who come in to call on me for business purposes and nearly every one of them have an axe to grind and I have to keep my guard up all the time."

The President said "it is necessary for this country to asume the leadership that I think God almightly intended the country to assume in 1920.

"We have assumed that leadership and we have assumed it on a bi-partisan basis."

All the Trumans and the Wallaces on the first lady's side of the family were at the station in Kansas City. They included the President's sister, Mary Jane, and his brother J. Vivian.

Mayor Roger Sermon of Independence, a lifelong friend of the President, was also there with the hometown delegation.

Housing Bill Killed

mittee is expected to recommend a bill providing among other things (1) government help for private enterprise in building homes, and (2) renewed government insurance for new home mortgages, up to 90 per cent of value.

Wolcott said the bill as approved by the House Banking committee would cost more than $8,000,000,000 "and it might even double that figure."

He contended that private enterprise already is building all the homes it can get materials to build with.

Rep. Frederick C. Smith (R-Ohio) agreed.

On the other side, Reps. Patman (D-Tex), Monroney (D-Okla), Buchanan (D-Pa) Boggs (D-La) and Javits (R-NY) pleaded with the rules committee to let the measure go to the House floor for debate.

Red Claims

quickly lined up with the United States, which already had the support of Britain and Canada.

The council adjourned until tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. (CST) however, without a vote. The Soviet Ukraine has asked to speak tomorrow and then delegates said they expected Gromyko to cast his veto against the American proposal.

Immigration Hearing Delayed In Chicago

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP)—Reynaldo Sanchez, 49, of San Benito, Tex., appeared before a U. S. commissioner today on an immigration law charge, but his hearing was delayed until tomorrow because nobody present spoke Spanish.

Sanchez was charged with violation of the immigration laws by concealing and harboring 37 aliens who had unlawfully entered the United States from Mexico.

The 37, immigration officers said, were among 39 passengers brought from Texas to Chicago last week in a concealed compartment of a trailer truck.

Commissioner Edwin K. Walker said he was convinced that Sanchez did not understand when he was asked whether he pleaded guilty or innocent and whether he wanted a lawyer.

The commissioner asked that an interpreter accompany Sanchez tomorrow.

Immigration authorities said Sanchez made a formal statement in which he said he picked up four of his passengers at San Benito, ten in Harlingen, Texas, 15 in Weslaco, and ten in Monte Alto, Texas.

U. S. Attorney Otto Kerner Jr. said that he would charge the 37 aliens with conspiracy to violate the immigration laws. The other two persons seized with Sanchez were found to have entered the country legally, he said.

Soviets Walk Out

marked "Berlin—Russian zone," instead of merely Berlin, as has always been the case.

Russians Accused

Both the American and British delegates at the Kommandatura session accused the Russians of trying to deprive Berlin of its economic freedom and subordinate it to the Soviet zone.

Col. Frank Howley, the American delegate and British Brigadier E. R. Benson told Colonel Jelisarov that the Russians have "forced the retention of goods in Berlin through repressive transport measures."

They declared this was an attempt to force the sale in Soviet markets of all Berlin production in the three western allied sectors of the city.

The Russians reiterated their claim that because Berlin is "in the Soviet zone" the city must depend on the Russian zone.

Col. Howley ridiculed the Russian claim of striving for "Berlin unity" by saying "this is unity in ignorance under a controlled press and subjugated to the will of a political machine."

Burglaries Reported

reported by Eugene Millins, of 1103 Thirty-seventh.

The sheriff's department was informed that five boys seemed reluctant to leave a private swimming pool Tuesday night even in the face of a shotgun.

Carden Green, of 2409 Broadway, told officers that several boys had been climbing a fence around his swimming pool north of Broadview switch. They had broken some chairs and other property.

Bonds Are Posted

He said that he went out there Tuesday night with his shotgun and found five boys there. They started ta take the gun away from him, he told an officer, but he warned them to get in their car or he would 'shoot everyone of 'em.'

'They finally left,' he said.

Meanwhile, two Mexicans had posted $1,000 bond each in connection with a joint charge of theft over $50.

The bonds were set by Justice of Peace C. E. Lynn in binding Ramon Salazar and Ysidro Castelo over to grand jury action on the charge.

$100 Fine Assessed

The complaint, sworn by Rufus Salazar before District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, accused the men of stealing an automobile two days ago.

A county court judgment of $100, court costs and revocation of the right to drive for six months, was filed by Judge Walter Davies. It named Hampton H. Compala, 23, an Indian of the Hub Homes addition to Lubbock.

Police said Compala was run down afoot by James D. Atchison, a police patrolman, after officials had stopped Compala's car and the driver had leaped out and fled.

They said the man's car "jumped the curb between 500 and 600-block Hub Homes and was running down the sidewalk. Several persons were sleeping on the grass, and he almost ran over them."

Foreign Aid Fight

House bill.

In actual cash, the Senate added only $145,000,000 to the House-approved appropriation. But the House directed that the money must last 15 months while the Senate would allow it to be spent in a year.

The funds are intended to launch the European recovery program and finance such other projects as aid to Greece, Turkey and China. The cost of running some occupied areas also is included.

It was Taber, as chairman of the House Appropriations committee, who led the fight to reduce foreign spending below the level asked by the administration and "authorized" by Congress earlier this year.

In his statement today Taber ridiculed some columnists who, he said, "deluded" themselves into believing that "the House would abdicate its functions in order to appease the world-wide relief planners."

He also assailed some newspapers.

Palestine remains quiet. It is estimated that only 40,000 Arabs out of nearly 400,000 are still within the boundaries of the proclaimed Israel state. The others fled into the Palestine Arab sectors or took refuge in neigbboring Arab states.

In Haifa, it was decided that areas there now under British military control will pass into UN custody when the British withdraw.

Paul Reedman, UN observer, worked out the transfer in talks with British and Jewish representatives. The Jews last night had threatened to resist if the British attempted to turn over the areas to the Arabs.

Passenger trains are expected to begin rolling into the Portland union station Sunday or Monday. Flood waters which have submerged terminal tracks for 16 days have receded to the point where tops of rails are visible.

Rail traffic, both freight and passenger, have been moved through emergency stations during the flood.

Noted Violinist To Present Concert Friday At Tech

Melvin Ritter, American violinist, who has been acclaimed by New York critics as one of the most brilliant performers of recent times, will give a concert at 8:30 p.m. Friday on the Administration building green at Texas Technological college. The appearance will be the first of the Artist course numbers on the summer program at Texas Tech.

All students who are enrolled for more than three hours work at Tech may secure season tickets to the Artist Course numbers at the Dean of Men's office in the Administration building free of charge. Townspeople and students who are taking three hours or less will be charged $1 admission.

Program Is Outlined

Included in Friday night's program will be: Chaconne (Vitali-Auer); movements from Concerto No. 4, Introduction, Adagio Religioso, and Finale Marziale-Allegro (Vieutemps); two Hungarian dances, No. 2 in D Minor, and No. 8 in A Minor (Brahms-Joachim); Meditation from "Thais" (Massenet), Banjo and Fittle (William Kroll); Nocturne in C Sharp Minor (Chopin-Milstein), and Gypsy Dance from "Carmen" (Sarasate).

The young violinist is a veteran of World War Two, in which he gave concerts for American Army bases in Europe as a member of a GI Entertainment unit. Everywhere he went he was applauded wildly. He gave over 400 concerts in a year and a half.

Another ex-GI is Harry Kondaks, Ritter's accompanist at the piano. An overseas casualty, Kondaks underwent several operation, which, coupled with a will to recover and a great deal of practice soon regained for him his place as one of the most sought-after accompanists in New York.

Next Friday evening's artist course will feature the Cox and Box comedy show, a company of four, starring Gil Gallagher.

Woods Issues Orders

to joint participation in all other activities which are generally considered part of the instructional process."

Yesterday Judge Ben Rice's federal court decree declared that the Bastrop, Elgin and Martindale independent school districts and the Colorado common school district, by segregation, had violated the constitutional rights of the Mexican pupils as guaranteed by the 14th amendment of the United States constitution.

Wood's order forbids "regulation, customs, usages and practices of any county, city, town or school district" permitting such segregation.

NO MAJOR CHANGES SEEN FOR LUBBOCK SCHOOLS

An order by State School Superintendent L. A. Woods yesterday that segregation of Mexicans and other Latin American students be eliminated in all but the first grades of Texas public schools will not have much effect on the present status of public schools in Lubbock county, school officials indicated last night.

Roy Boyd, county superintendent of schools, said that no strict system of segregation has been in effect in county schools. Some schools, he pointed out, have only Latin American students enrolled, but other schools have both Latin American and white students in the same schoolrooms.

Already Attend Schools

Supt. R. W. Matthews of the Lubbock Independent School District could not be reached for a statement last night, but the present system in the district is not radically different from the practices ordered by the state superintendent.

Latin American nationals in Lubbock have, under the present system, gone to school through the sixth grade at Guadalupe school, a school set up especially for their benefit. After the sixth grade, such students go into Junior High schools and Senior High school on the same basis as other students, it was pointed out.

The order from Woods came as an aftermath of a ruling Tuesday in Austin by Federal Judge Ben Rice that segregation of Mexican and Latin American students was a violation of the 14th amendment of the United States Constitution.

Truce Halts Fight Between Tire Plant Strikers, French Police

By JOHN E. LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, June 16—A "truce" was proclaimed tonight in fighting between police and strikers at Clermont-Ferrand in South-Central France where 500 persons were wounded.

Even as the "truce" worked out, however, the fear of a Communist-led general strike spread through France and police reinforcements were flown into the strike-bound tire center.

Acid Hurled At Police

Authorities said a number of police struck by bottles of acid thrown by strikers are threatened with blindness.

Peace came at least temporarily to Clermont-Ferrand—after day-long violence—in a conference of representatives of the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor with police and local administration officials.

The "truce" provided that police would be withdrawn from "forward positions" at the Bergougnan factory, from which sit-down strikers had been evicted.

It also was agreed to permit police units and special pickets to patrol entrances to the plants, and that if the night passed without further violence, negotiations to settle the dispute would be resumed Thursday morning.

An estimated 30,000 strikers walked out at Clermont-Ferrand, Marseille and other towns and several thousand of these battled 2,000 to 4,000 police in Clermont-Ferrand before the "truce".

French and foreign workers, including Poles, marched on Clermont-Ferrand from surrounding towns and villages tonight, but could not break through the police lines.

Government fears were reflected in the dispatch of troops and police by trucks and planes to the embattled city 200 miles south of Paris.

Mobile guards were flown from Bron airfield at Lyon, and from Strasbourg. French troops had not yet gone into action against the strikers, many armed with bottles of acid.

Courts handed out swift sentences in Clermont-Ferrand, giving many of the rioters three to four months in jail.

The Communist-dominated Confederation of Labor attacked the government for using force in ejecting strikers from a Clermont-Ferrand tire plant.

Gate-Crashers Will Face Tough Time At National Convention

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 (AP)—A red-haired Irish-American who learned to handle crowds as a member of a family of 17 using one bath says there will be no gate crashers at the political conventions.

Andy Frain, sometimes referred to as "king of the ushers," said today that anyone thinking of crashing the gate can forget about it.

"You may say that nobody will get into the convention hall at any time unless he has a duly authorized and bona-fide ticket," said Frain who has made a comfortable fortune telling people where to go.

He expects almost everybody is going to try and crash the gate at the Republican, Democratic and New Party conventions.

"Why, Jeff Davis, King of the Hoboes, is hounding me already. He says he's got to have tickets for 20 delegates," Frain said.

"And One-Eyed Connolly will be around. He's about 72 now. But One-Eye hasn't crashed one of my gates in 25 years. I'll give him a job at a basement door and then padlock it. If I don't he'll let a million guys in."

Frain isn't talking through his hat when he brags that only those who belong will be in convention hall's 16,000 seats. For 15 years Andy has handled the Kentucky Derby crowd and guarded the gates at six previous national conventions.

Frain hired 350 college boys for the conventions, none of them under six feet tall. Most are athletes, many football players.

Frain says he has a good idea as to who the Republicans will nominate.

But he's not talking.

"Somebody might think I've got inside dope," he explained.

Officials Moving In To Philadelphia For Convention Program

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 (INS)—The GOP convention arrangements committee approved unanimously today a conclave program which Chairman Walter Hallanan said "contemplates" a four-day session with presidential balloting starting June 24.

Hallanan announced that key convention speakers after the conclave gets under way next Monday will include former President Herbert Hoover and ex-Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, Conn. House GOP leader Halleck, Ind., "favorite son" of the Hoosier state delegation, also will speak.

Headquarters Set Up

The arrangements chairman declared that the "sentiment" of his group appeared to be that the presidential voting might possibly start late the night of June 23.

He added, however, that it probably would be better to begin voting for the presidential candidate the following day.

Hallanan predicted that the convention might name its standard bearer by the night of June 24, then adjourn until the following day to ballot for vice president.

Hallanan made his prediction as high GOP strategists began arriving in Philadelphia, and the bandwagons of the leading presidential aspirants began rolling under overcast skies.

Lieutenants of the "big three"—Ohio's Sen. Robert A. Taft, New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen—have set up their headquarters awaiting the arrival of their chiefs.

Stassen will arrive in Philadelphia early tomorrow morning. Dewey will come to the convention city on Sunday and Taft as soon as Congress quits for the big political show.

Battle Already Underway

A behind-the-scenes battle already was underway among the "big three" backers to woo the second choice votes of "favorite sons" delegations.

Prize plums included the 73-member Pennsylvania delegation, committed to Sen. Edward Martin, Pa., on the first ballot, and the 56-member Illinois delegation, pledged to Gov. Dwight Green, the keynoter.

The 51-member Michigan delegation is pledged to Sen. Vandenburg, the "odds on" favorite "dark horse" possibility if a "big three" stalemate leads to a deadlock.

Hallanan said that all the resolutions committee, which will draft the platform upon which the GOP presidential candidate will campaign, ought to complete its work June 22.

The platform-drawing group, under the chairmanship of Sen. Lodge, Mass., will meet tomorrow morning, and begin open sessions tomorrow afternoon.

Impurities in pig iron, such as carbon, phosphorus, silicon, magnanese and sulphur, must be removed to obtain steel.

Rites Held For Levelland Man

LEVELLAND, June 16 (Special)—Last rites for Joe Bryant, 24, who was killed shortly before midnight Tuesday when a car in which he was riding overturned, were read at 3 p.m. today in Post Church of Christ, burial following in Post cemetery under direction of Plains Funeral home of Levelland.

Young Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bryant of Levelland and an employee of George P. Livermore drilling company, was also killed when the convertible coupe in which he was riding with E. R. Green, also of Levelland, overturned five miles south of Whiteface.

Green, the driver of the car, said that they were driving along talking when they came to a dead-end on a gravel road and were forced to turn suddenly. They were picked up by a passing pickup truck and carried to the hospital. Bryant was pronounced dead upon arrival and Green was found to be suffering minor bruises and shock.

Young Bryant is survived by his parents, a brother, Wayne Bailey Bryant, Levelland, and three sisters, Mrs. Bill Lambert, Levelland, Mrs. G. B. Hunt, Post, and Mrs. Calvin Jackson, Sundown.

Commission Orders Cut In State Oil Output

BEES, HONEY REMOVED—Thousands of bees were removed Wednesday from between the outer wall and inside wall of the home of Bill Cope at 1509 Fourteenth. R. V. Prindle and son, Jimmy of Lubbock route 1, shown above wearing masks as protection against the bees, removed enough bees for two stands or hives. Prindle received the bees in return for removing them, to add to the 14 stands he already had on his farm. C. P. Edwards, owner of the house, will receive the estimated 40 pounds of honey removed. Edwards said the first bees seen to enter the walls, through means of two small holes in the outer wall, were noticed about 15 months ago. Bees have been seen to enter and leave through the holes at times. They have multiplied and recently have begun to become a "nuisance," he said. Some of the by-standers who watched the bees being removed Wednesday knew what he was talking about, as they dodged the stings of the bees. (Staff Photo.)

West Texas Area To Be Affected

By BO BYERS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 16—Net permissive production of Texas crude oil for the next two months was set today at 2,625,680 barrels daily by the railroad commission.

The oil order for July and August cuts the allowable 48,985 barrels daily below the allowable as of last Saturday, June 12.

The major part of the decrease in allowable results from a revision of maximum efficiency rates of production for fields in four districts. The new MERS become effective July 1.

West Texas Down

The districts, with net changes in allowables, are District 3, Gulf coast, down 10,718 barrels per day; District 4, southwest Texas, down 7,596; district 6, outside East Texas, down 5,515; and District 8, West Texas, down 15,328.

The East Texas field was left on a 21-day producing schedule, resulting in a 9,828-barrel daily production from the allowable in June.

The commission made no attempt to calculate what actual production will total. Heretofore, the commission has estimated the amount of underproduction.

Demand Up

Currently, actual production is 2,446,500 barrels per day, Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson said at today's statewide hearing.

The United States bureau of mines estimate of demand for Texas crude in July is 2,540,000 barrels daily, up 50,000 from two months ago.

The Texas allowable is 85,680 barrels above the bureau of mines estimate. Inclusion of 234,611 barrels of natural gasoline and distillate which the commission figures will be produced along with the crude oil would boost total Texas petroleum allowable output in July to 2,860,291 barrels each day.

20 Days Demanded

H. P. Nichols of Tyler, representing the East Texas Oil association, made a strong demand for a 20-day producing schedule in East Texas to remain in effect until material is available to equip all wells with pumps. He said an estimated 8,000 to 10,000 wells in the field do not have pumps.

"The last serious mistake I made was in asking this commission to increase the runs to 21 days," he told the commission.

"I acknowledge the error and say to the commission that the East Texas field will not tolerate more than 20 days per month regardless of the number of days in the calendar month. I ask the com-

85 New Cases Reported As Toll Hits 428

Worst Polio Year In History Faces Texas

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 16—The worst polio record in the state's history for this time of year plagued Texas today.

The State Health department reported that the year's total incidence of the dreaded disease mounted last weekend to 428. There were 85 new cases reported during the week ending June 12.

The figure was well over twice the 196 cases recorded in the comparable period of 1946, the previous high for a comparable period.

"Neglect of filth" was where state health officer George W. Cox placed the blame.

Cleanup Drives Lauded

He lauded efforts at current cleanup campaigns.

"They'll bring good results next year," he predicted. But he was skeptical that they would help this year. Polio is believed to be a virus disease probably transmitted by flies and insects.

The 85 new cases last week came in 21 counties, as follows:

Bell 5, Bexar 2, Brazoria 1, Brazes 1, Cameron 2, Childress 1, Galveston 14, Hardin 2, Harris 29, Henderson 1, Hill 3, Jim Wells 4, Lubbock 2, Navarro 1, Nueces 5, Reynolds 1, Rusk 2, San Patricio 1, Tarrant 5, Travis 2, Willacy 1.

So far this year polio has hit a total of 55 Texas counties.

The worst polio year in Texas history was 1943 when the year's total hit 1,274, health department records show. The disease hit an all time monthly peak of 473 cases in July of that year.

Last week's 85 new cases followed 39 new cases reported the week previous and 60 for the week before that.

City Commission Will Open Bids For City Improvements

City commissioners scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. today will open bids on an addition to the city electric plant and important extensions of sanitary sewers.

Cost estimates are $50,000 to $60,000 for the power plant addition and $120,000 for the sanitary sewers.

The power plant is to be enlarged to house the turbine generating equipment ordered about a year ago at a total cost of about $600,000. First units of the turbine are scheduled for delivery late this year.

The sewage line extensions are scattered throughout the city. Most will be in extreme Northwest Lubbock, Carver Heights and the south and southwest portions of the city.

The auditorium has a seating capacity of 250, and additional seating space is made possible by two classrooms which can be opened into the auditorium. The structure also contains classrooms, kitchen, and pastor's study.

Soviet Officials Deny Having Part In Cutting Korean Power

By MARION HUGHES
INS Staff Correspondent

SEOUL, June 17 (Thursday)—The Soviet commander in North Korea denied today that he had anything to do with cutting off South Korea from Electric power generated in the Russian zone.

Guard Gen. Maj. S. P. Merkulov, commanding general of Soviet forces in North Korea, made the denial in a letter to Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, commander of American occupation forces in the southern zone.

Merkulov also claimed there was no connection between the power shutoff and the May 10 elections in which south Koreans chose representatives of a provisional government.

The elections, conducted under the auspices of a United Nations commission, were boycotted by Communist-controlled north Koreans.

The Red army general stated that the reason for the power cutoff was non-payment of the electric bill on the part of the American command.

He repeated an earlier Soviet statement that the Russians "can't fulfill functions as intermediary between the American command and the people's committee of North Korea on the question of electric energy."

Merkulov informed Hodge that all future negotiations on the power question will have to be conducted directly with the people's committee on north Korea. He has pointed out that the question of paying for the power is a matter between the American and Russian commands.

On May 17, shortly after south Korea had been deprived of electric energy generated in the Russian zone, Hodge flatly charged that orders to cut off the power had originated in Moscow.

Annual Summer Band School At Tech Draws Over 200 Students

Texas Technological college's 15th annual summer band school, which is the oldest and largest of its kind in Texas, lists in its 200 plus enrollment this summer grammar school, high school and college students, as well as band directors.

The youngest student in the school is seven-year-old Georgina Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Long of 2215 Twenty-second, who enrolled in a baton twirling class.

The class roll includes some of the outstanding band directors of the state.

Before the war, figures were compiled which showed that 30 per cent of the band directors of Texas had attended the band school. The present percentage is unknown, many of the former directors having moved from the state or entered business, said D. O. Wiley, director of the school.

Clifford L. Horn, band director at McAllen and former director at Brownfield, who is attending this summer's school, said the school is widely known not only for the length of time it has been in operation but "for the complete work they do for musicianship among instructors especially."

Every Type Offered

Efforts are made to offer any type of band instruction. If someone wants to study twirling, a teacher is provided. This summer's twirling class has enrollment of 15. Music is emphasized, however. "We stress music," said Director Wiley. "For that reason we employ a large instrumental staff."

Wiley started a summer band school when he was director at Hardin-Simmons university and directed that school two years. He started the school here after becoming Tech band director.

Three phases of instruction are offered: Group class work, in which lessons are given on instruments; 45 minutes' daily theory study divided into four levels, beginners', second level, third level and arranging; and actual band experience in three bands, concert, intermediate and second intermediate, in which students gain reading and repertoire experience.

Concerts Are Given

A concert is to be given each Tuesday night during the school, which will close July 17, on the lawn north of the band building on the campus. The concert and in-

U. S. Air Force Admits Planes Bombed Korean Fishing Boats

TOKYO, June 16 (INS)—The Far Eastern Air Force headquarters today in Tokyo assumed responsibility for the bombing of Korean fishing boats off the coast of Korea on June 8.

The announcement said the fishing boats were hidden among the target rocks and escaped detection of a reconnaissance plane which scouted the target area for 30 minutes before the bombs were dropped by B-29's.

The FEAF described the incident as "an unfortunate and regrettable incident."

Did Not Observe Craft

The announcement said the bombers involved in the incident took off from Okinawa and dropped their bombs from a height of 23,000 feet. They did not observe any surface craft although reconnaissance photographs taken thirty minutes later showed fishing boats in the "danger area."

FEAF added that it was probable that the small surface craft were among the small rocks and thus escaped detection during visual reconnaissance.

The announcement added that a detailed report will be submitted to higher headquarters after the official investigation is completed.

The "mistake" bombing was first disclosed by the Korean news service. The agency reported that nine Korean fishermen were killed and seven others wounded. Five other fishermen were reported missing. Eleven of the small fishing craft were reported sunk.

FISH POISONING CARGED

MARLIN, June 16 (AP) — Two brothers were fined $50 and sentenced to 60 days in jail on charges of poisoning fish in Copperas Creek near its function with the Brazos river. Game Warden Sam Turner said "hundreds of pounds" of fish were killed.

Roof Address Is Cancelled At Rotary Club Luncheon Here

A meeting of Rotary club at Hilton hotel Wednesday noon was shortened out of respect to a club member, Vaughn E. Wilson, whose wife died early yesterday morning, and a program that included an address by Trent C. Root was cancelled.

Root, long time close friend of the Wilson family, also a Rotarian, was to have spoken to the club in his last appearance before moving to Dallas, where he has accepted a position as assistant to Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist University.

The announcement of Mrs. Wilson's death and cancellation of Root's talk was made by Geo. W. Dupree.

W. B. Ditmore, transfer from Las Vegas, N. M., was introduced as a new member of the club. Visiting Rotarians included Lon M. Davis of Floydada, Bill Blakneey of Abilene, Bill Chester of Littlefield, and Nat Heaton of Slaton, the latter retiring president of the Rotary club there.

Club President Rex Webster presided, with invocation by Dr. H. I. Robinson.

McAlister Well In Gaines County Shows No Oil, Gas

McAlister Fuel Company No. 5 Bice, in northeast Gaines county, about one and one-quarter miles east of the nearest completed producers in the Adair field, and 660 feet from north and 1,80 feet from east lines of section 10, block C-31, psl survey, ran a one-hour drillsteam test at 4,970-95 feet in the San Angres-Permian lime.

There was a good blow of air throughout the period. Recovery was 16 stands of drilling fluid, cut with sulphur water. There were no signs of oil or gas.

The venture will run a Schlumberger survey, and is then slated to be plugged and abandoned.

Greenville Voters Reject City Manager Rule Plan

GREENVILLE, June 16 (AP) — Greenville voters Tuesday rejected by a 283-vote majority a proposal which would change the present aldermanic form of government to the city manager form.

The vote was 1221 against the proposal and 938 for.

The election climaxed a hot campaign between two local groups which was carried on during the last few weeks.

Industrial Power Machinery Prices Hiked By Producer

CHICAGO, June 16 (INS) —International Harvester announced today price increases ranging from 4.8 to 10 per cent on its industrial power machines.

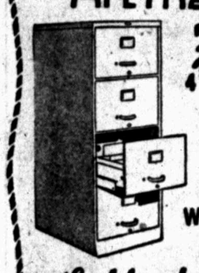

The firm said the increases are effective immediately and are based on higher production costs.

The increases average 6.5 per cent on crawler tractors, 7.9 per cent on power units and 10 per cent on industrial wheel tractors.

AREAS IN STATE NEED MORE RAIN

Hot Weather Damages Crops In South, West Texas Counties

AUSTIN, June 16 (AP)—Another hot dry week has brought need for more rain over most of Texas, the United States Department of Agriculture said today.

Drouth conditions caused some crop damage in many western and southern counties. Northcentral and northwest counties have enough moisture for the time, but the high temperatures were drying the ground rapidly.

The open weather was favorable for harvesting.

Moisture conditions were "fairly favorable" in most eastern and southeastern areas.

Cotton Prospects Good

Cotton was in good condition and fruiting rapidly in the coastal bend, southcentral and southern counties. Insects were generally under control.

Corn made good to excellent growth over most of the northern part of the state, except in scattered areas that needed rain.

Conditions were favorable for harvesting commercial vegetables, and supplies were plentiful.

Range and pasture conditions were good in the eastern and northern counties, but the late May showers afforded only temporary relief in the western Edwards plateau and Trans-Pecos counties. Most of the livestock in this vast area is in bad condition.

Dance Students On Program At Lubbock Exchange Club Meeting

Students of the Larrymore Dance studio here presented a varied tap-dance program Wednesday noon for members of the Lubbock Exchange club meeting for luncheon at Hotel Lubbock.

Announcement was made that the East Side Kids, who last week trailed the Dead Enders 58-28, had forged ahead 163-137 in a contest in which the club has been split into two sections, with points garnered by personal member contacts with entrants and sponsors in Lubbock's Soap Box Derby, July 5, of which the Exchange club is a co-sponsor along with the Avalanche-Journal and Kuykendall Chevrolet.

Larrymore students who performed for members were Charles Healer, Peep Thomas, Clinton Symes, Terry Allen, John Painter, Bobby Young, Lonnie Mason, Brooks Slover, Mack Robertson, Jack Tipps, Jim K. Carter, Charles Higgins, and Butch Young. Accompanists were Miss Ann Bentley and Mrs. Sled Allen.

Bill Kennedy was introduced as a new member.

Peggy Ann Garner, Now 17, Will Launch Her Career As Grown-Up In New Color Picture

By DOROTHY MANNERS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 16—Peggy Ann Garner — Is it possible she is 17 now? — is home to launch her career as a grown-up in "The Big Cat" with Lon McAllister.

Eagle-Lion brings her back from her tour with "Kiss and Tell" to co-star in this story of delinquency and regeneration in the redwoods of California. I hope it is the break Peggy Ann has been waiting for. She is not only a wonderful little actress, but a fine person.

Technicolor Job Is Planned

William Moss, the producer, goes all-out on this. The northern California "locations" will be filmed in technicolor and it lines up as one of the big budget Eagle-Lion productions for the year.

Gene Markey, who asked for a leave from 20th, to complete his novel, "The Great Companion," has sold it for a pretty penny to a national magazine for a serial.

The title refers to a Walt Whitman quotation and not to Gene's little woman, Myrna Loy—although it could, easily. Of course, being one of our best producers, Gene would like to handle his own story when it comes to the screen. But it doesn't necessarily go to his home team, 20th Century-Fox. Several other bids are in from rival studios.

The Markeys leave for Europe in July and he may wait until he returns to decide.

Zinnemann Wants To Roam

Fred Zinnemann can just about write his own directorial ticket since "The Search," but he doesn't want to get in a groove. The wonderful movie he directed with a roving camera, unhampered by front office whims, has made him restless.

After he finishes "Act of Violence" at MGM, he would like to set out just roaming around, turning his camera on the American juvenile problem with the same clarity he gave "The Search." Doesn't even want a Hollywood actor along for box-office value.

Don't tell me we are nursing a man with fresh ideas to our bosom.

Doing the town: If Danny Kaye and Virginia Mayo have been chilly since they broke up as a screen team, it didn't show on them at the dinner-dance hat show staged by the California Millinery guild.

Danny and Virginia were on hand for the fashion tie-in with "A Song Is Born," their latest and I might add, last for Sam Goldwyn.

The affair was an eye and earful with the Goldwyn girls modeling the dreamy lids to the tunes from the picture. Virginia presided as official "Miss Millinery of '48" and Danny was oh-oh-oh-Kaye in three special numbers for the hatters.

Stopped by Ciro's to catch Glenda Farrell's son, Tommy, and Gene McCarthy in their amusing disk jockey stint — something fresh and different in night club acts.

The girl Richard Ney was with is Diane Mumby and the girl Johnny Meyer was without is Janet Thomas.

State Court Gives Liquor Sales Ruling

AUSTIN, June 16 (U.P.) — The Supreme court ruled today that it's alright to sell intoxicating liquors if the sale is not contrary to Texas liquor laws and doesn't constitute a nuisance in itself.

Therefore, the court upheld a Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals decision dissolving an injunction sought by the state to close a Weatherford dance hall operated by A. J. Parker.

The injunction had been granted by the court in Parker county.

The state, through Parker county attorney I. B. Hand, had brought suit asking for an injunction against Parker on the grounds that his dance hall was a public place "to which persons resort in assembling of two or more persons . . . for the purpose of drinking intoxicating liquor. . . ."

The state, the Supreme court said, invoked the wrong law in bringing suit against Parker. The law used was enacted during prohibition days when it was unlawful to sell liquor, period.

"Clearly," the Supreme court ruled, "that article should not be used as authority for enjoining one from doing that which he has a valid license to do."

Operators Promise To Halt Nueces County Gas Waste

AUSTIN, June 16. (AP)—Operators charged with wasteful flaring of casinghead gas on the Flour Bluff field of Nueces county yesterday told the railroad commission the situation will be remedied by September.

The commission had ordered operators to show cause why the gas is not being utilized and why the field should not be shut down until it is utilized.

Commission engineers said they had found natural gas in the field being flared in excessive quantities and unreasonable amounts. They estimated 12,500,000 cubic feet of gas is being flared daily at the Humble Oil and Refining company's gasoline plant in the field.

Nelson Jones, attorney for Humble, said the company let a contract in April for a compressor and hopes to have it installed by Sept. 1. Gas will then be compressed for sale to a market or return to the ground, he promised.

Approximately 520,000 barrels of oil would be lost by migration into the gas cap if the field were shut down now, operators estimated in asking the right to continue flaring until the compressor plant is established.

The commission took the case under consideration.

PLAQUE TO HONOR CURTISS

SANDUSKY, O. (U.P.)—A bronze plaque, commemorating the first over-water airplane flight in the United States, will be unveiled this summer on the beach at Cedar Point summer resort. The memorial will mark the spot where Glenn Curtiss landed his plane after a flight over Lake Erie from Cleveland, on Aug. 31, 1910.

VANDENBERG IS QUESTION MARK

Reports Of GOP Delegate Deals Herald Opening Of Convention

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 — Pre-convention talk of GOP delegate deals was going full blast today in an atmosphere shadowed by a cloud in the shape of Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan.

With the Republican national convention opening next week and the first ballot still more than a week away, the political species that has its being in headquarters hotel lobbies tried to see a pattern for the future in:

"Deals" Are Rumored

1. Reports that the Senate president plans to keep the "draft Vandenberg" movement alive, at least for a while. His design: To check any Republican drift back to isolationism.

2. Published but unconfirmed reports of a deal-in-making between Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O.) and Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

3. Disclosure that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, New York, and Gov. Earl Warren of California, a trailer so far in the nomination stakes, held a midnight meeting last night at New Castle, N.H., where the national governors' conference is going on.

Vandenberg's influence on the convention picture, according to his friends, is intended to be a sort of corrective. If he could be sure that the Republicans would pick a candidate friendly to his idea of foreign policy, he'd have no hesitation in taking himself all the way out of the convention scene right now.

Some Republicans Angered

He obviously has angered some powerful Republicans by his blasts against House cuts in foreign spending and his opposition to drastic restrictions on the administration's tariff-making powers.

But the story from Washington is that Vandenberg is going to hang on to every advantage he has to insure, if possible, a strong foreign policy plank along the bipartisan lines he believes in.

If he succeeds in this project, he might just possibly give one of the out-in-the-open candidates a friendly shove toward nomination. Both Dewey and Stassen have endorsed his foreign recovery views, and Taft voted in the Senate to put the House cuts back in the spending bill.

Meanwhile, Stassen is on his way here from Minneapolis. He will be the first of the big three candidates to arrive in headquarters. His last pre-departure word was, "We are . . . determined to win." He confirmed that he had dined last week with Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune and a Taft man.

But Stassen denied there was any talk of his accepting the No. 2 place on a Taft-Stassen ticket.

However, talk of deals of one kind or another among the various candidates persisted, and it seemed not unreasonable to assume that some were in the offing.

House Approves Bills To Okay Bridges Across Rio Grande

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today two bills by Rep. West (D-Tex.) for construction of bridges across the Rio Grande from Texas to Mexico.

One authorizes the Hidal bridge company to build a railroad bridge across the river at or near Hidalgo, Tex., the other extends until July 31, 1949, the time in which Gus A. Guerra is authorized to construct a toll highway bridge across the river from Rio Grande City, Tex.

New Pumper Breaks Down During Fire, Fiery Chief Quits

WEST CARROLLTON, O., June 16. (AP)—This community's brand-new $10,000 pumper broke down yesterday in the middle of the biggest fire here in years, a $10,000 warehouse blaze.

Fire Capt. William Aufuldish, enraged at heckling by bystanders, tossed his fire hat to the ground, stamped on it and resigned from the force.

Mother Of Frank Todd Dies In Kansas City Hospital

Mrs. B. G. Todd, mother of Frank Todd, salesman with The Baker Company here, died in Providence hospital at Kansas City at 9:15 a. m. Wednesday after an illness of about three months, the son was advised yesterday.

The body is at Geo. H. Long mortuary in Kansas City, Kas., from where funeral services probably will be held Friday, according to information here. Other survivors include her husband, who is with the Santa Fe railroad.

Life Term For Bustillos Upheld

AUSTIN, June 16 (AP)—A life sentence given Robert Bustillos on a charge of murder in the death of a Lubbock police officer was affirmed by the court of criminal appeals today.

The court upheld sentence passed on Bustillos Jan. 16 by Judge Dan Blair of the 72nd district of Lubbock county.

Bustillos, the court's ruling said, went to Herrera's home on July 19, 1947. He approached the policeman from the rear, according to testimony, snatched Herrera's pistol from his scabbard, shot him "four or five times," then stabbed and cut him "several times."

The court record said it appeared that Bustillos had been arrested a day or two before the killing for possessing beer for sale, and had thought Herrera was instrumental.

CONDITIONAL PARDON REVOKED, ANNOUNCED

AUSTIN, June 16 (AP)—A conditional pardon which had been granted to Fred Blanton, who had been sentenced in Lubbock county to 20 years for murder, has been revoked by Gov. Beauford H. Jester, for failure to report to parole advisors.

He was sentenced Dec. 14, 1937, after conviction of murder of Zema Lee Blacknell. The trial was in 72nd district court.

At the same time, it was announced that the governor had granted an emergency parole to Clarence Hill, 22, of Sweetwater, who had been sentenced to five years from the 99th district court of Lubbock county in 1947, after a plea of guilty of passing a forged $10 check to Earl W. Ince.

Hill's mother was ill, and he was paroled to Nolan county, it was announced.

A conditional pardon was issued to Henry Egbert King, sentenced to 20 years in 1937 from Hale county, for murder.

An Important Asset

CITIES and towns of the South Plains have an asset they should exploit and protect in their municipal tax rates, which were shown in a recent compilation by the League of Texas Municipalities to be the lowest on the average of any region in this state.

One of the first questions asked when any business or industry considers moving into a new state or community is: "What is your tax rate?" Right now, one of the chief reasons many important factories in New England, New Jersey and several other Northern and Eastern states are looking for new locations is because of the taxes they are required to pay.

As it happens, Texas and most of its cities and towns can give a satisfactory answer when inquiry is made as to tax levies. Taken as a whole, they are below average. And localities in our own area, taken as a whole, can give a more satisfactory answer to such inquiries than those of any other portion of the state.

But this sort of advantage inclines to be illusive. It is an asset which can be lost easily. It requires protection. It calls for all the effort that can be made to resist unreasonable increases in state tax levies. It demands a tight rein by the citizens of each community on the amount of local taxes they allow to be levied.

It is to be hoped that people in all cities and towns on the South Plains will do that. It is a safe prediction they will do it, in their consciousness that they are protecting an asset which will attract new businesses and industries, thereby stimulating growth and prosperity of the kind which is likely to endure.

Is This A Threat?

THE threat implied in the recent report that UN headquarters may be moved out of the U. S. unless Congress approves a $65,000,000 "loan" for headquarters skyscrapers in New York, will not set well with many Americans. If those seeking the "loan" put it on an "or else" basis, many citizens of this country might feel inclined to tell the organization to go ahead and move.

Threats certainly will not strengthen public support for the "loan." More than a few Americans might feel that a removal would be good riddance of a costly agency with which they are stuck as long as headquarters remain in this country. Even those who favor the retention of headquarters aren't likely to react favorably to pressure tactics.

As to whether there is any real likelihood of a change of headquarters, no one can say. But it seems a certainty that many nations will think seriously before they support a removal which might require them to foot the bills which Uncle Sam now pays almost in entirety. Uncle Sam might feel less liberal about paying this substantial and growing expense if headquarters should be located elsewhere.

Excuse Us If We Seem A Little Worried

The Innocent Impostor

By RENEE SHANN
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Patience Mond, primly brought up by two maiden aunts, is in love with Paul Taylor, whom her aunts have forbidden her to see because they have never been properly introduced. Charlotte, Patience's twin sister, whom she has not seen since childhood, is a stage star rehearsing a show in London. She invites Patience up to spend a day with her, dresses her smartly from own wardrobe. Patience meets Roger Dickson, popular actor and Charlotte's boyfriend. Roger is attracted to Patience, says he is going to see her again. On the way home, Patience stops in a lane to rub off her makeup before facing her aunts. Her face is covered with cold cream when Paul comes upon her. She knows she looks a fright.)

XV

SUDDENLY Patience flew into a temper. "What are you doing here, anyway?" she demanded angrily.

"I followed you. I was so intrigued to know what was going on. It's surprising to find you're a dark horse. You who always pretended you were such a dear little innocent! Incidentally, who were those flashy friends who saw you off at the station?"

Patience's eyes blazed.

"They weren't flashy."

"Well, they hardly looked the sort your revered aunts would approve of. A bit stagey, I thought them. But the girl was a knockout, I agree. Unfortunately I didn't see much of her. She would keep turning her back towards me."

Patience opened her handbag with trembling hands to feel for her compact and powder-puff. In her confusion she spilled the entire contents on to the ground. Paul immediately stepped forward and helped her to pick them up. The lipstick that Charlotte had given her rolled the farthest and he chased it and handed it back to her.

"That new?"

"Yes."

"You didn't use to use one."

"I know."

Paul looked at her speculatively.

"I'd be interested to know what you're up to, Patience."

Patience tossed her head.

"And I'd be interested to know why you imagine I should be answerable to you."

"That's easy. Because we're in love with east other."

"Don't be silly."

"You think that's silly?"

"Very. I've never been in the least in love with you."

"No?" Suddenly he moved to her and his hand came down on her shoulders. "You know quite well that's not true. You were in love with me. You still are in love with me. But the trouble's been you've not had the spunk to face up to it. But now—well, something's changed you."

He paused a moment for breath and his brow darkened. "I don't like it. I don't like you in that smart dress. It doesn't suit you and you look a mess with all that muck on your face. For two pins I'd take you right back to your aunts and tell them they'd better keep a closer eye on you. Yes, and I'll tell them too that by refusing to let you see me they're only running their heads into a pack of trouble. That engaged to me, you'd have come to no harm. Whereas now—"

Patience raised her hand. She slapped his face with a firm, stinging blow. Then she pushed past him, reached for her bicycle, got on, and peddled swiftly away down the lane.

* * *

SHE didn't look back as she turned the corner. She didn't stop to take her handkerchief from her pocket to wipe away the tears that rained down her cheeks. Only as she neared home did she make an effort to pull herself together. She got off her bicycle and once more looked at herself in the mirror from her handbag. Her face now was pale and her eyes showed that she'd been crying. Luckily there was a little stream nearby. She bathed them till they returned to normal. Then she took out her powder-puff. Ah, that was better! Better outwardly at least. Because inwardly she was still seething. How dare Paul behave as if he'd every right to order her about? How dared he suggest that Charlotte and Roger were flashy! Never would she speak to him again.

Her aunts were waiting for her when she got in. She stood in the doorway forcing herself to smile at them.

"Ah, there you are, dear child," said Miss Alice.

Miss Helen looked up from her mending, her brows contracting at sight of Patience.

"Patience dear, what on earth have you got on?"

"A dress that Charlotte gave me, Aunt Helen."

"I can't say I care much for it. And those shoes! Really the heels are quite ridiculous. Especially in the country."

"But I don't propose to wear them in the country, Aunt Helen. The whole get-up's for London.

Miss Alice said, a trifle nervously, that she thought it was very pretty. Miss Helen turned on her angrily.

"It's not suitable for Patience, Alice."

Patience's eyes grew stubborn.

"I like it, Aunt Helen."

"Well, I hope you'll refrain from wearing it down here. And most certainly you can't go to the dressmaking academy in it. It's altogether too flashy."

It was an unfortunate word. It touched Patience on the raw.

"That's absurd. Honestly, Aunt Helen, I do wish you'd realize that I'm grown-up and it's time I ceased dressing like a schoolgirl."

Miss Helen looked at her coldly.

"I think you forget yourself, Patience. That's not the tone of voice I expect you to use to me."

Patience bit her under-lip sharply. Hasty words struggled for utterance, but she held them back. She dropped down on a low stool beside her Aunt Alice and in answer to her questioning began to give her a rather censored version of her day in London.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

AMONG the many, many lovely letters I have received from all over the country since I have retired to a horizontal life, instead of the accustomed verticle one, is from my good friend, Basil Carparell, in which he writes:

"Looking at life from a soft mattress is neither profitable nor pleasant, so I hope you will be out among the birds, the bees and the bad boys sooner than you expect."

BRANDEIS

I do agree with my friend that lying on a mattress, soft or hard, for weeks on end is not very pleasant.

But it is profitable. It is profitable to my physician, who calls on me three times a week at, I don't know yet how much a call, and it is certainly profitable to me.

Profit is not just a matter of money or gain.

Profit means not only having more possessions but getting more out of the possessions you have.

It has taken these four weeks of illness to make me realize how wealthy I am and that a million dollars could not make me any richer.

When we are well, when we are hurrying and scurrying for living or for enjoyment we don't see our real treasures. But when we lie in bed with little to do but reading and eating, there is so much time for contemplation and, well, for looking at life.

Ordinarily, most of us get up in the morning, dress, eat our breakfast, rush off to work, do a day's job, have an evening's fun or rest, and take the whole procedure for granted.

* * *

But when you are laid up, it is an altogether different story — particularly when your sickness happens to be something where you never know one minute whether the next one is going to be the last.

You kiss your wife good night. The lights go out. For a while you toss and do a lot of thinking—much of it morbid thinking.

Then you go to sleep.

* * *

MORNING comes. You wake up. The sun is shining. The birds are singing. The wistaria is peeping into your window. The flowers on the dresser say "Good Morning" to you.

Just another morning? No!

Each morning seems like a gift from Heaven.

Each morning you feel like saying a prayer of thanks to the Almighty who has given you another day of His wonders, another day on this glorious earth of trees and flowers, of sunshine and rain, of love and devotion, of an opportunity to serve, each of us in his own way.

I hear of so many sick people becoming selfish and selfcentered, pitying themselves and bemoaning their fate.

Between sickness and health I would choose health, of course.

But I do believe that a siege of sickness is a wonderful cleansing agent for the spirit and for the soul.

I am writing this for all of you who are confined to your beds these lovely spring days and for you whom sickness may strike some other day.

Stop liiking in, I say to you. Look out and watch the wonders of the world.

I don't like being sick. That I admit.

But sickness, strange as it sounds may be the best medicine you have ever taken.

GOP Bid Snubbed

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg's heroic rescue efforts on behalf of a more generous sum than the House allowed for the Marshall Plan furnished the final evidence that he really does not want the Republican presidential nomination, in the opinion of his colleagues on Capitol Hill.

TUCKER

Although it won him acclaim from Administration spokesmen, certain eastern newspapers and magazines and some newspaper and radio commentators, it made him few friends among many national and state leaders who actually control delegates.

It also made enemies among important House members who had supported a smaller appropriation, including pals of such rival candidates as Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts and Senator Edward Martin of Pennsylvania.

CONSENSUS: Despite the favorable publicity which ERP has received in headlines and on front pages, there is evidence that it is not really popular with millions of Americans, who may suffer shortages, higher prices and increased taxes as a consequence. It would undoubtedly have less support if it were not considered a necessary move to prevent Russia from overrunning the European Continent, the Balkans and the Far East.

A political realist himself, Mr. Vandenberg recognizes this latent sentiment regarding expenditure of billions for foreign aid. He knows how hard he had to labor to persuade Capitol Hill Republicans to go along with his nonpartisan foreign program.

Therefore, it is the consensus that the man from Michigan really means it when he says, again and again and again, that he does not want the nomination and that the Republicans should look elsewhere.

ELIMINATION: Mr. Vandenberg's one-man crusade, however, as well as the fact that it had the reinforcement of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, may have a decisive effect on the fortunes of the leading presidential candidates at Philadelphia. It may mean the elimination of both these men when they and the dark horses swing into the stretch.

In the event of a Dewey-Taft-Stassen deadlock, and on the assumption that the convention will be afraid to "take a chance with Taft," Sen. Taft can probably name the nominee by switching his 200-odd delegates at the psychological moment. He could start the bandwagon parade toward Mr. Dewey, Mr. Stassen or somebody else.

HOPE: It is obvious that he would not favor the Minnesotan. There has been hope in the Dewey camp that he would turn to their man. Likewise the Vandenberg people would appreciate a nod from the Buckeye statesman.

Now it becomes questionable whether he would line up with any of this trio of "internationalists." Although he has compromised several times for the sake of harmony, Mr. Taft has generally preferred the House version of foreign aid bills.

It is because of this prospective shift in the alignment among the leading presidential contenders that the supporters of Speaker Martin take new heart. Assuming that Senator Taft withholds his favors from the New York Governor, Senator Vandenberg and Mr. Stassen, they argue that "the real fight will be between Dewey and Martin."

FARM: Recent primary results involving farm policies and personalities have sent the Republicans and Democrats on Capitol Hill into a neck-and-neck race to enact a permanent agricultural program that will win them the electoral ballots of the states lying between the Mississippi River and the Rocky Mountains.

Two upsets occurred in the Iowa corn belt, where Governor Robert D. Blue and Representative John W. Gwynne, both Republicans, were defeated. Although local factors figured in each contest, the outcome suggests some dissatisfaction on the farm front.

The other primary warning and perhaps a more significant one, was the easy victory scored by Clinton P. Anderson, former Secretary of Agriculture, over John J. Dempsey in the New Mexico race for the senatorial nomination. Mr. Anderson ran on his agricultural record, and had the backing of the Administration. The result indicates that the general New Deal farm and conservation policies are popular in that area.

PARITY: It was immediately after these upsets that the legislative leaders threw out the suggestion for prolonging the session by holding meetings between the two conventions. The original plan had been to quit June 19.

And the main business will be passage of a so-called permanent farm program. It will not be novel in purpose or details. It will perpetuate the parity system under which the federal government supports farm prices at certain levels. It will continue benefit payments in return for soil conservation. It will also strengthen the Commodity Credit Corporation, the agency which can affect prices by buying or selling key farm products.

Again the farm bloc proves itself to be the smartest bunch of traders and legislators on Capitol Hill. Knowing the G.O.P. cannot win without their states' electoral ballots, they are going to "get theirs while the getting is good"—in a presidential year.

LOCOMOTIVES: "Is it true," asks T. D. of Columbus, O., "that we are selling to Russia locomotives that are badly needed in this country?"

Answer: Here is the situation: Many months ago, when we were more friendly with Russia, the State and Commerce Departments allocated several score of locomotives to Moscow. But when an embargo was placed on any products that might conceivably be used for military purposes, shipment was held up. The locos are now stored around New York, and they are said to be deteriorating.

They are steam engines, and they were built for the broad-gage lines in Russia. Thus they cannot be used elsewhere in Europe, where the tracks are narrower. Inasmuch as almost all American roads are shifting to Diesels, they were built without any objection from the Office of Defense Transportation.

But the fact remains that their construction did eat into our already insufficient supply of steel and other heavy materials.

STRAY: "Could a non-political stranger get a stray ticket to the Republican convention at Philadelphia—and a bed?" wonders R.O. of Lansing, Mich.

Answer: Stay as far away from Philly as you can during the Republican, Wallace and Democratic conventions. Tickets are out of the question, and at the G.O.P. meeting there will be hardly enough hotel space for all the candidates, their boosters and their headquarters.

HST Puts Pressure On Solons

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

ABOARD TRUMAN'S SPECIAL TRAIN—Whenever President Truman stopped on his tour across the country one question always was asked of those who accompanied him in the role of reporters and observers. It was:

"Has the President done himself any good?"

It is difficult to make any positive answer as yet and also difficult to get the true perspective from close up and, as it were, looking from the inside out. But after long experience, reporters develop a sort of sixth sense or "hunch" instinct which, though it does misfire frequently, nevertheless is helpful in an over-all assessment. This "hunch" instinct is herewith applied for what it is worth by one who has traveled as a reporter with presidents and presidential candidates for many years.

Was Fulfilling Duty

In making any analysis, it must be said at the outset that President Truman made his trip for one reason—to tell the people about the Republican Congress and what it has failed to do about some important problems that concern everybody. He did this, in the first place and naturally, to make the issue for his own campaign for re-election, which is in keeping with our political tradition. He is the head of one of our great political parties.

But, beyond that—and this is often overlooked—he did it also in his capacity as President of the United States, and, for the time being, general manager of that great business which is the United States government. Congress is a part of that institution, that business. To report on Congress is part of his duty, as he said repeatedly on his trip across the country, and quite logically. As steward of the public interest, that is part of his job.

From the reaction of the crowds that have heard him—and continue to hear him as he returns East—it can be said that the President has aroused a curiosity about Congress, if not doubt and suspicion, which is all to the good. It is healthy.

It is evident, too, that many in his audiences have found out, for the first time, what has happened in Congress on important measures that concern them. He has told the story simply in an effort to separate what he himself stands for and what he has so repeatedly recommended to Congress, and what Congress has done about those things. It is complicated, but the "hunch" is that he has accomplished something there. That is a gain for the country, whether for him personally or not.

How successful he has been will depend upon whether the people begin to express themselves on Congress. It is late. Congress is winding to its close. If the public is aroused, this might react in one or both of two ways.

Republican congressional leaders might decide to recess instead of adjourn and bring Congress back into session during the summer, though this would represent a plea of "guilty" to the President's indictment, which is hard for politicians to admit, and also it would provide Democrats with a convenient forum in an election year.

Has Faced Problems

Another possible effect is that the President's campaign against the Republican party through his attack on the 80th Congress, which it controls, may make the party more careful at its convention in Philadelphia next week to select a candidate not too closely identified with GOP old guard standpattism. That would represent a gain for the nation in this critical period, though Mr. Truman could do better perhaps against such a candidate. This conceivably might work in favor of Republican candidates not identified with Congress.

As for advancing his own personal political fortunes, the President has had two obstacles. One he points to himself, if unconsciously, when he tells of the prosperity of the country which naturally tends to make people apathetic about the necessary reforms that he advocates. It's hard to provoke a full belly and pocketful of loose change, even when the latter goes so fast to fill the former.

The other is the appeal of Henry Wallace and his third-party candidacy, which is particularly potent along the Pacific coast, in Washington and California, as it is in big urban centers in populous eastern states with large electoral votes. Mr. Wallace draws from the Democratic party. President Truman made an obvious bid to this vote along the Pacific coast by stressing his social welfare program and by calling, for the first time in his tour, upon the still-magic name of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The President started late on his career of advanced progressivism in an aggressive way. It may all turn out to be an adventure in futility as far as he personally is concerned. But he must be given credit for trying hard and for stirring up the people, at least to some extent, so that, even if he cannot win—and that still seems very doubtful—the people might get a beter deal from Republicans than they otherwise might.

A gadfly is useful in politics.

STOCKS GIVEN SHARP SETBACK

NEW YORK, June 16. (AP)—Steady selling pressure kept the stock market in lower price ground today despite several feeble efforts to climb. It was the most decisive setback in nearly two weeks.

Losses of fractions to more than a point were well distributed throughout the list. Even the long-popular oil group joined in the retreat.

A handful of issues showed independent strength, some reaching new 1948 highs.

Sales of 1,580,000 shares, compared with 1,630,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost .3 of one point at 71.3. Of the 1,065 shares which appeared on the ticker tape, 619 declined and 254 advanced.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP) — Cotton futures moved irregularly today on repeated flurries of liquidation in nearby July. There was considerable switching from nearby July to later months, anticipating first notice day on June 24. Some traders continued to expect heavy deliveries of cotton against July contracts with a question as to whether leading spot firms would readily take up all the cotton offered in view of the slow export situation. Mill buying developed mostly on the scale down.

Spot cotton markets were quiet.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP) — Grains moved ahead in a strong and active market on the board of trade today. Wheat paced the advance and was up nearly 3 cents at times.

A number of reasons supported the buying, ranging from restoration by the Senate or House cuts in the foreign aid bill to a lowering of margin requirements, effective tomorrow.

In addition, wheat was aided by reports of a slight improvement in domestic flour business and a boost of 2½ cents in the government's buying price for cash wheat.

Wheat closed 1¾-2¾ higher, July $2.31-$2.31⅛, corn was 1⅛-2½ higher, July $2.20¼-⅛, Oats were ¾ to 1 cent higher, July 94⅝-½.

mission to put it back on 20 days and keep it there."

Opposing Nichols' point of view, Clair Bryson of McMurry Refining company asked continuance of the field on 21 days in the 31-day months of July and August.

"I do not think this would materially affect the field pressure," he said.

Thompson opened today's hearing with the prediction there will be no need for gasoline rationing this summer.

Commissioner Olin Culberson suggested repeal of statewide rule 50 requiring dikes and firewalls around oil tanks and tank batteries.

He proposed a new rule whereby dikes or firewalls would be required only around permanent tanks or tank batteries within the corporate limits of a city within 5000 feet of a highway or inhabited dwelling, or within 1,500 feet of a school or church.

Commisioner Bill Murray questioned whether this would be opening the way to "any greater pollution of water." No opposition to Culbertson's suggestion was voiced by operators.

Hiram Brown of Talco Pipeline company reported the company will take over connections of American Liberty Pipeline company in the Conroe field, Montgomery and Webb counties, June 30.

E. H. Foster of Phillips Petroleum company revealed that physical assets of Standish Pipeline company were taken over by Phillips Pipeline company May 13. He asked the change in name be reflected in commission records.

R. L. Denton of Midland, Magnolia representative, spoke in behalf of 30 operators asking that statewide oil hearings be held in cities other than Austin if Austin hotels can not assure that room reservations be held.

Teacher Shortage In Texas Is Surveyed

AUSTIN, June 16. (AP)—Nearly half the children of Texas are getting inadequate educations because of a shortage of teachers and buildings, a Texas State Teachers association survey reported yesterday.

The exact percentage affected by these shortages is 46.7 of the school children, said Joe Humphrey of Abilene, vice president of the TSTA.

The survey found a need for 2,500 more teachers and "thousands" of additional classrooms to relieve the heavy congestion in public schools, Humphrey said.

Classes with as many as 65 pupils were found in the survey of Texas schools. Thirty pupils is the maximum classroom lead for efficient teaching recognized by the National Education association and other organizations.

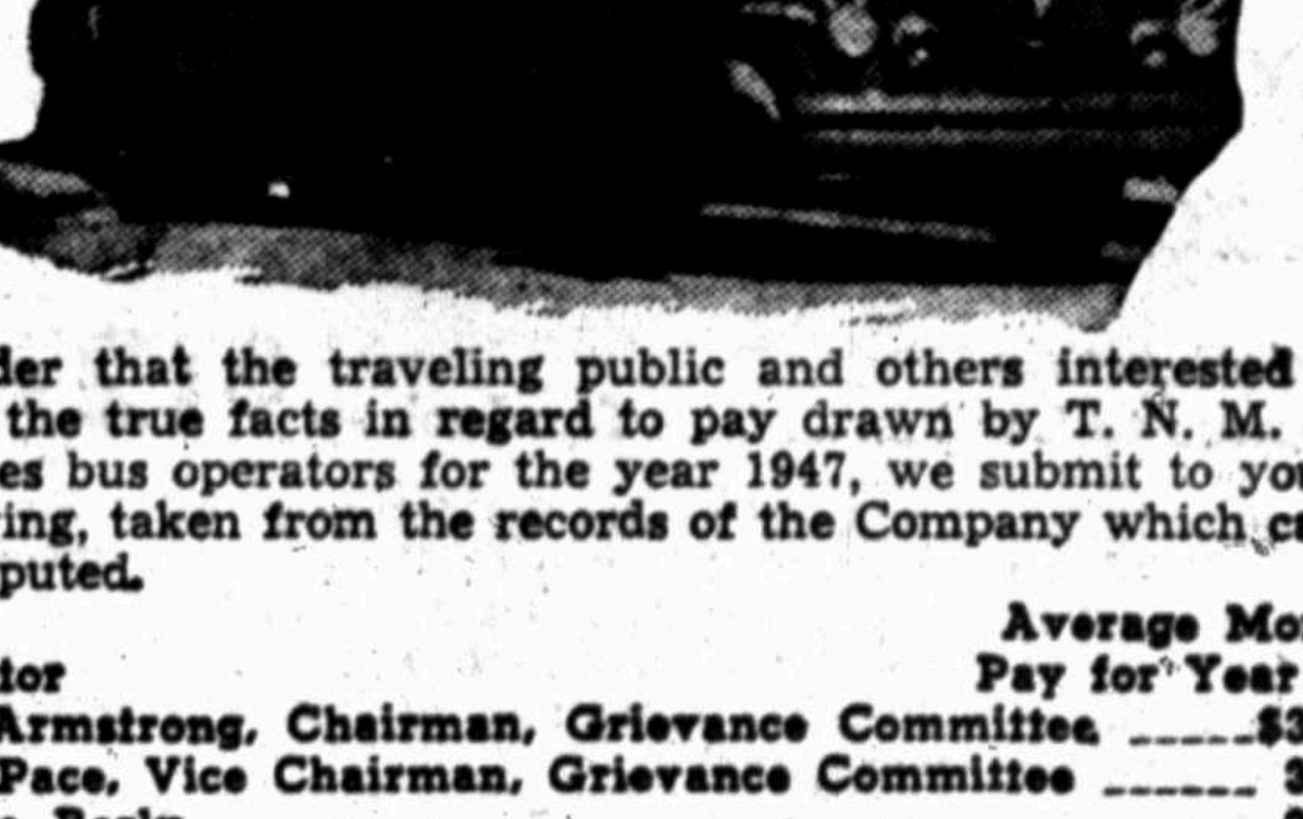

The need for additional space and teachers is more keenly felt by elementary schools than by junior and senior high schools, the survey indicated. The study was conducted by Willie Mae Floyd of Abilene, Texas representive on the NEA advisory committee on tax education and school finance.

The average monthly pay to all other operators in the southwestern area, including Greyhound, Continental, Dixie-Sunshine and other large operators, for the year 1947 was $288.00 per month. The average compensation paid by T. N. M. — O. Coaches to its Class-A operators for the year 1947 was $380.69 per month.

The management of the Company offered to make many adjustments in working conditions and rates of pay which would have been beneficial financially and otherwise to its bus operators, but all such offers were flatly rejected by the Union and its members.

In the face of the above, is the present strike justifiable?

This statement is made based upon the records of the Company for the reason that many half-truths and omission of facts are being spread by the representatives of the striking drivers.
