Bluebonnet Club Members And Husbands Attend Annual Dinner Party In Home Of Mr. and Mrs. Meador

An elaborate dinner party was attended last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meador, 1213 Main, by members of the Bluebonnet club and their husbands. This was an annual "husbands' party" in the club.

The four-course dinner was served at small tables, each of which was centered with a burning pink taper, the light being the only one used. Place cards, which were hand-painted in bluebonnets, by Mrs. W. J. Miller, marked the covers and favors were bluebonnets.

The dinner was served by Mesdames J. S. Johnson, W. S. Posey, W. H. Meador and S. C. Adams, a committee from the club, and later in the evening games of bridge were played with Mrs. R. D. Benson and Mr. Meador making the club high scores and Mrs. Earl Sproule making the visitors' high count.

Members and guests in attendance were Mesdames and Messdames J. S. Johnson, W. H. Biedose, S. C. Arnett, W. J. Miller, W. H. Meador, R. A. Milk, W. W. Rix, W. B. Price, A. V. Weaver, J. H. Hankins, Mesdames R. D. Benson, W. S. Posey, Earl Sproule and Miss Lucille Rupe of Seymour.

RALLS NEWS

By MRS. G. H. NELSON

RALLS, Nov. 24.—Superintendent A. E. Sanders and J. M. Rankin, principal of the high school have gone to Houston to attend the State Teacher's association.

The Ralls Parent-Teachers association, though getting off to a late start, has begun to do things. The call meeting of last Thursday was highly successful in that more than twice the average number were in attendance. The club voted to have all this year's meetings at the ward school building, and to meet on Thursdays after the first and third Sundays of each month. Some interesting objectives for the year's accomplishment were pointed out by various members of the club, reminding us that the schools are in need of many, many things. The club voted to sponsor a program to be given by the Tech Quartet in the near future.

The Negro Minstrel, given by the fine arts department of the schools at the grade school building or last Friday night was a successful performance, and was well attended. The proceeds benefited the athletic fund.

Mrs. J. M. Rankin and Mrs. A. E. Sanders are spending a few days in Abilene.

Mr. Ribble, of the Texas Floral company, Lubbock, visited Ralls churches Sunday morning, leaving a lovely basket of Chrysanthemums at each church. It is superfluous to add that they were highly enjoyed and appreciated by the congregations.

A carnival at the high school building, given by the high school faculty together with Parent-Teachers, on Monday night of this week, offered everyone an opportunity to become young again and have a roaring good time. Practically the whole town took advantage of the occasion, and were out in holiday spirit. A good buy-out on a new piano for the high school was raised.

Mrs. Roy Moore is spending the holidays in Oklahoma City, with her mother.

Dr. L. B. LeGear, nationally known poultry expert of St. Louis, will lecture and do clinic work for the possession of Crosby county tonight in Ralls at the grammar school auditorium. Dr. LeGear was brought to Ralls by the Ralls Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. M. C. Butler Is Hostess To Bridge Club Yesterday

STOICAL WIDOW AND PARAMOUR TO FACE TRIAL

CHARGED WITH MURDER IN DEATH OF WOMAN'S HUSBAND IN SEPT.

(By Associated Press)
MAYS LANDING, N. J., Nov. 24.—A stoical little widow, member of an old Baltimore family, and a poultry raiser past middle age, but with a spry manner and twinkling eyes, will come to trial here November 28 on charges of having murdered the woman's husband, a 72-year-old retired physician.

The woman is Mrs. Margaret Lillendahl, whose husband, 31 years old her senior, was shot to death in his automobile on a lonely lane near Vineland last September. The poultryman is Willis Beach, 55 year old neighbor of the Lillendahls, who the state alleges was Mrs. Lillendahl's lover.

The tiny court room of this fishing village will be the scene of the trial, although it is hardly large enough to accommodate the scores of newspaper men who will come to report the case. Justice Luther A. Campbell, member of the New Jersey supreme court, will preside. He frowns upon attempts to make a "circus" of the trial and has forbidden the presence of news camera men in or about the court house.

Robert H. McCarter, former attorney general of New Jersey, who successfully defended Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers in their trial for the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, will defend Mrs. Lillendahl. He has been conducting his own investigation of the Lillendahl slaying, using the same operative who worked for him in the Hall-Mills case.

Mrs. Lillendahl has read and prayed much since she was placed in jail October 2. Her prayers, she says, are offered in the hope that a jury will believe her story that she saw her elderly husband shot to death by negro bandits. She is calm and unwavering in her tale of the holdup.

Suffering from periodical attacks of heart disease, Beach has spent much of his time in the Atlantic county jail in tirades against detectives, who he asserts subjected him to third degree methods and forced him to flee and remain in hiding until a grand jury was ready to hear his story.

Dr. Lillendahl little is definitely known. Until 1925 he lived

Veteran Newspaper Correspondent Dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 24.—(By Associated Press) Sim L. During the scourge he worked tirelessly and thousands of residents who fled depended on him for information about friends and relatives left behind, as well as about the progress of the epidemic which took more than 4,000 lives. He had covered many other big stories in his long career.

Unidentified Man Is Auto Wreck Victim

TRIAL DATE IS SET BUT POSTPONEMENT ASKED BY GOVERNMENT

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 24.—An unidentified man, believed to have been about 21 years old, was killed early today when his automobile turned over about five miles from Alexandria on the Boyce river road. He was driving toward Boyce, and was alone, Texas license, number 632-302 was on the car.

Parish authorities said the young man may have been Joe Robinson, night hostler at the Zimmerman Front saw mill. Police were preparing to be counsel for defense following consultation with defendants agreed to a postponement.

The chief objection to the postponement on the part of the defense was the question of whether they would be able to have present H. W. Adams, whose testimony the defense claims is "extremely vital" and who, having been convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Robert Smith, might not be available as a witness by the time the conspiracy case is called.

TRIAL DATE IS SET BUT POSTPONEMENT ASKED BY GOVERNMENT

(By Associated Press)
TEXARKANA, Ark., Nov. 24.—Judge Frank A. Youmans, in the United States district court for the western district of Arkansas, Texarkana division, Thursday morning overruled a demurrer to the indictment in the case alleging conspiracy to assassinate government liquor case witnesses on the part of thirteen Miller county persons and set the trial to start February 29, 1928. Counsel for defense urged immediate trial, but on presentation of representations of S. S. Langley, United States district attorney that his physical condition was such he feared he would be unable to withstand the strain of a trial such as prepared to be counsel for defense following consultation with defendants agreed to a postponement.

The chief objection to the postponement on the part of the defense was the question of whether they would be able to have present H. W. White CAKE

A Tested Recipe

1/2 cup Crisco	3 egg whites
1 cup sugar	3/4 cup milk
2 cups flour	1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons baking powder	1/2 teaspoon salt

Cream Crisco with sugar. Stir in alternately milk and sifted dry ingredients. Fold in thoroughly beaten egg whites. Add vanilla and turn batter into two greased layer pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes.

Ice with coconut or maple icing, or Crisco white icing.

Crisco White Icing

2 cups confectioners' sugar	1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon Crisco	1 teaspoon almond or lemon extract
1 tablespoon milk	1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream Crisco with egg and salt. Add milk and rest of sugar and flavoring. Mix well.

Crisco gives me delicious cakes that you simply cannot tell from butter cakes—light and tender, with a fine, even texture. But Crisco is by no means limited to cake making. I find that I can always depend on Crisco for flakier pie crusts, fluffier biscuits, dainty desserts and for all frying.

To test your cooking fat—taste it.
Crisco's sweet flavor will astonish you.

20,000 TO SEE TITANIC STRUGGLE OF AGGIES AND LONGHORNS

TEXAS HAS BIG EDGE IN LONG YEARS OF PLAY

CONFERENCE TITLE IS AT STAKE IN CLASH AT AGGIELAND

(By Associated Press)
 COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 24.—Approximately 20,000 football fans today for the annual Texas-Longhorn football game on Kyle field will witness the thirty-fourth struggle between the teams and the Aggie contest for a conference championship.

33 years the university Longhorns have rolled up 413 points against the Aggies—176 points, accounting for a total of 10 Aggie and 9 Aggie victories, and three scoreless ties.

The Aggies have the advantage in the Longhorns in the games won and lost this year, but the certainty of football as a whole especially the uncertainty as to outcome of an Aggie-Longhorn game places the result even more useful in the realm of speculation, even though most deplores the Aggie to win.

HARD LUCK OF DRURY IS NOW PUSHED ASIDE

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA STAR NOW ATOP OF DIZZY HEIGHTS

(By Billy Evans)
 Morley Drury, captain of the Southern California football team, is this season reaching to dizzy heights often predicted for him before an injury put him out of the running at such times.

Morley is known as the "hard luck" player of the Pacific coast. Last season was his worst year, a knee injury for a time threatening to ruin his career.

It must have been a great source of satisfaction to him when in the recent clash with California, hated rivals, Drury had the greatest day of his career. His remarkable performance played a big part in the decisive 13-0 victory the Trojans scored over the Bears.

All young Mr. Drury did against California was to gain 24 yards from straight formations, make five spectacular tackles, nipping California rallies, and stop the opposition's greatest threat by intercepting a forward pass and returning it 50 yards.

Fame came quickly to Drury in his sophomore year, he being the only member of that class to make the varsity as a regular. A triple threat man he soon earned the name "Sticky Fingers" because of his ability to receive passes as well as pun and gain through the line around the ends. It is said he has never muffed a pass that he received squarely in his hands.

During the 1926 season he was injured in the third game of the year against Washington State and wasn't able to play again during the remainder of the regular season, finally managing to recover sufficiently to perform against Notre Dame in the post season contest.

Noted for his ability to kick goals from the field, Drury, because of his leg injury, didn't try to turn the trick in the game against Notre Dame. Both were missed, Southern California losing 13-12. Earlier, Stanford won over Jones team by the same score because the substitute kicker failed in both attempts to score a point after touchdown.

This year, essaying a comeback after nearly a year of idleness on the gridiron, he is performing in sensational style and bids fair to be a serious all-America candidate.

On form, Southern California and Stanford look like the class of the Pacific coast, although Washington is deserving of serious consideration. For that reason the game scheduled with Notre Dame at Chicago on December 6 looms as one of the choice grid tidbits of the season.

One of the best ball toters on the coast, Drury will be pitted against the sternest sort of opposition, when the team of which he is captain meets Notre Dame. Incidentally, the fighting Irish have a number of backfield performers who by their work will offer a chance for comparison.

So far this season Drury's knee injury hasn't in any way handicapped him and it is hoped that his good fortune will continue on to the end of the season.

COAST FIGHTER BEATS WALLACE IN DETROIT BOUT

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 24.—Jimmy McLarnin, another of the clever boxers the Pacific coast has sent east seeking titles, beat a preeminent challenge of the lightweight throne of Sammy Mandell last night when he hammered his way to a 10 round victory over Billy Wallace of Cleveland.

"We want Mandell next," said Don Foster, manager of McLarnin after the bout. "Jimmy has beaten Wallace and Kid Kaplan, the outstanding contenders of the division and is entitled to a title bout."

Jimmy came from behind to punch out his victory. Carrying the millage to his foe, in the early rounds, Wallace was weakened considerably in the closing rounds due to the terrific right hooks to the head, and his lead slumped. Neither fighter backed up an inch throughout, and the final bell found them slugging toe to toe in one of the furious exchanges that marked the contest from the starting gong.

TECH TO SHOW NEW MACHINE IN BUFF GAME

MANY HUNDRED BUFF ROOTERS ARE HERE FOR HARD BATTLE

Today the Matadors work their last game of the 1927 season, and two of the lads, Leslie "Al" Jennings, and Windy Niehaus, captain of the first Bullfighter machine, are closing their college football careers with the final organization of the game with the Buffs this afternoon. As the Herd of Bisons from the Palo Duro Canyon romp out on Tech's gridiron they will be greeted with an entirely revamped and reorganized machine.

Many New Formations
 Throughout the stretch of workouts since their last game with the A. C. C. Wildcat and the Scarlet and Black wearers have been drilled with new plays and formations. The Buff scouts will not recognize the Matador machine today, for what they have secured in previous games of the Tech eleven will be of little use today.

Coach Ewing V. Freeland has followed his team very closely throughout the final week of practice and feels that the new organization will be able to produce the necessary offense to count victory over the Teachers.

Passing and plenty of it will be expected of the Buffalo Herd today and in the last work prior to feature game with the Teachers Coach Freeland worked diligently and carefully with his secondary defense for the afternoon program of passing, which is coming from the Bisons. The usual aerial route taken by the Buffs is via the crump to Kiehl route. Kiehl switches from the receiving end and passes to Crump occasionally—and other routes will be taken by Oscar Eckhardt in the affair.

Buff Rooters Arrive
 The special train bearing some 300 rabid, frenzied, and shouting Buff followers arrived in Lubbock shortly before noon today. They were all expressing utmost confidence in their team and are here to win. On the other hand, the Texas Tech studs were busying themselves throughout the morning of the eventful game chasing around in "open jobs" giving out information as to Tech's victory.

Four thousand South Plains, West Texas, and Panhandle fans are expected to file through the gates of Tech's new athletic field this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Traditions

CHAMPIONSHIPS ON GRIDS TO BE DECIDED TODAY

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Championships either sectional or national, depended on many football games, throughout the country today.

EAST
 Pittsburgh, tied this season only by Washington and Jefferson, meets Penn State, in the eastern classic at Pittsburgh-Washington and Jefferson, tackles the Mountaineers of West Virginia at Morgantown.

SOUTH
 Georgia, claimant of the national crown, battles Alabama in an effort to keep the seasonal slate clean. Tennessee meets Kentucky in another important clash.

SOUTHWEST
 Texas Aggies tackle Texas university and Southern Methodists meet Texas Christian in engagements that have a decided bearing on the sectional champion for the season.

MISSOURI VALLEY
 Another conference title is at stake in the struggle of Missouri to brush aside Oklahoma. Nebraska entertains the undefeated Violets of New York university in the outstanding inter-sectional clash of the day.

CANADA SAYS SERVICE DELAYED BY ABSENCE OF RULING HEAD

(By Associated Press)
 OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 24.—Following receipt of dispatches from Mexico City quoting newspaper editorial criticism of Viscount Willington's failure to inaugurate inter-capital telephone service Monday by conversing with President Calles, it was stated today that the Mexican government had been notified the governor general would be out of the city and had been asked to postpone the event.

It was denied that any government official attempted to substitute for Viscount Willington in conversing with President Calles. Mexico City dispatches indicated President Calles had refused to talk with a minor Canadian official.

El Universal Grafico is quoted in dispatches from Mexico City as referring to the conversation between President Coolidge and President Calles when Washington-Mexico City service was begun, and then continuing: "But the governor general of Canada is so busy that he has no time to talk with President Calles and delegates this function to a minor employee. It means that Canada does not understand Mexico, which is without the arrogance of powerful countries but nevertheless has the decorum of a dignified country and is ready to demand the attention and courtesy which Mexico has the right."

With the recent appearance of summer weather in Australia there was a demand for electric fans to give relief from heat and insects.

Wolves Ready for Baylor Game

HOUSTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Coach Heisman has drawn his Wolves to a fine edge for this afternoon's final game of the Southern conference season at Rice to meet the Baylor ears from where the Wolves meet the Big Bears from Waco in their annual Thanksgiving day encounter. To Rice and Baylor, this carries all the significance of a meeting for upon the outcome of the battle rests the ignominy of last place without next to this latter alternative may be in such a game as to be regarded as something desired and consequently at for.

BIG TEN LOSES BIGGEST STARS IN GRID PLAY

(By Associated Press)
 CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—More famous gridiron athletes how themselves out of the Western Conference this season than for many years.

Michigan is one of the hardest hit, by the prospective graduation of 27 members of the varsity. Benny Oosterbaan and Louis Gilbert, leaders of the Wolverine offense, are two of the brightest stars that will not twinkle in the Big Ten next year.

Minnesota loses Captain Herb Josting, one of the greatest fullbacks the Middle West has seen, and several other cogs in Dr. Spears' powerful machine.

Chicago loses virtually its entire line, including Captain Kenneth Rouse, a tower of strength to the Maroons.

The passing of Captain Cotton Wilcox robes Purdue of one of its greatest players in many years.

At Northwestern, Captain V. Gustafson, a fellow townsman of Ted Grange, and Tiny Lewis, the only effective ball carriers on the purple squad, have finished their college football careers.

Always noted for turning out high class tackles, the Iowa squad loses in Captain Nelson the best lineman the Hawkeyes have had since "Duke" Ester was graduated.

On the Wisconsin team, Toad Crawford bears taps, and Illinois will miss Captain Bob Reitsch.

It has been a tough year on stars who glittered one day and were dimmed the next, through injuries or lack of strong support.

Great Britain now claims all the speed records for aeroplanes, submarine, steamship, railway, automobile and motor cycle.

NEW OWNERS OF INDIANS PLAN REVIVED TEAM

(By Associated Press)
 CLEVELAND, Nov. 24.—With the change of ownership of the Cleveland Indians baseball club, died-in-wool sportsmen now control the destinies of the American League team.

Alva and Charles L. Bradley, who, with John Sherwin, Jr., and Percy J. Morgan have purchased a controlling interest in the club, say they did so because of civic pride, but their friends see in the move an outlet for their sporting blood.

Sherwin and the Bradley brothers are officials of a trust company here and Morgan is head of a photographing company.

The new owners declare they will endeavor to put Cleveland "back on the baseball map," and send a rejuvenated fighting team into the lists next spring.

The Bradley brothers were football players of local note in their youth. Friends tell a story of how an opposing player had roughed Charles unfairly in one game. Charles restrained his anger without fracturing any of the rules of the game until the player took a crack at Alva. Then he opened up a two-fluted attack and was expelled from the game.

"What did you slug that fellow for?" his coach asked.

"I didn't care how much he hit me," said Charles, "but when he landed on Alva, that was different. Anyone who wants to fight Alva has to whip me first."

The two brothers have been inseparable in their business and sport undertakings.

Sherwin has claimed riding and driving as his favorite hobby, and friends recall how he drove Nichol B. and some of the other horses of his stable down the stretch at the Glenview track in the "good old days."

Hunting and golf have been Morgan's pastimes. He goes around a course in the 80's.

Oil Men Consider Effect Of New Gas

(By Associated Press)
 FORT WORTH, Nov. 24 (AP)—Consideration of the effects of anti-knock gasoline and high compression motors on their business will be the feature of the annual meeting here Monday and Tuesday of the Texas Independent Oil Men's association.

The association, which is composed of independent refiners and oil dealers is already on record as condemning the 3-cent gasoline tax, which amounts to 50 per cent of the wholesale price, "as class legislation against all motor car owners and a staggering burden which no other business could bear."

Labor Federation Offers Its Aid

DENVER, Nov. 24 (AP)—Denouncing the coal mine operators, the state industrial commission and the Industrial Workers of the World, the Colorado State Federation of Labor today issued a statement offering its services in bringing about a "fair" settlement of the coal mine strike in Colorado called by the I. W. W.

The statement, signed by Earl Longue, president of the federation, and John E. Gross, secretary-reasurer, said that "it is an uncontradictable fact that the miners have a real grievance regardless of those leadership part under whom they are attempting to regress their grievances."

"Sidelined Main Issue
 The statement said the industrial commission has "in a cowardly way, sidestepped its responsibility," and has been "playing politics" rather than investigating conditions of the coal industry.

"It is becoming more evident daily," the statement continued, "that neither the Industrial Workers of the World nor the leaders in this strike have any desire to bring about a settlement of benefit to the coal miners."

The coal companies were accused in the statement of encouraging I. W. W. organizers and driving organizers of the American Federation of Labor and the United Mine Workers from company property.

Thanksgiving

When the hardy men and women of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, 253 years ago, set aside one day in the fall for offering thanks to Divine Providence for the blessings they had received, a disinterested observer might have remarked that they really didn't have a great deal to be thankful for.

To be sure, they had managed to wrest a living from the inhospitable New England forest. They had repelled or made friends with the "hostile tribes of Indians"; they had established their colony on a firm footing after many trials, and the ever-menacing danger of famine and want had been pushed, temporarily at least, into the background.

Yet all of these things are things which we today would number among the bare essentials of existence. The colonists were a mere handful of strangers, nesting on a tiny section of a mighty, unexplored continent. They were governed by a corrupt and cynical court, far across the ocean. The harvest of the year, looking to the future, might have doubled in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, would have been anything more than an isolated colony; the odds seemed all against any every extended spread of civilization on these newly-opened shores.

Despite all of this, however, the old New Englanders set aside a day for thanksgiving and feasting; and today we follow the ancient custom and do likewise.

Suppose we compare our position with theirs for a moment.

The last of the wilderness has been tamed, as far as we are concerned. The remaining redskins are content on reservations, or else are drawing fat royalties from oil wells given them by the Great White Father in a moment of temporary aberration. The threat of famine has been removed, although it is rumored that here and there in this great land Scavenger Army soup kitchens are doing business today. None of us need fear anything much more terrifying than indigestion—today's domestic and foreign enemies have vanished, the country is at peace and the problems that vexed our fathers are no more.

No wonder, then, that we celebrate Thanksgiving.

But wait! There is more to it than that.

The members of the Massachusetts Bay Colony came to this country not chiefly for material gains, but for certain intangible spiritual ends. They were willing to penetrate wild forests and defy painted savages, and to die thereby, if need be, in order that they might have room for their souls to grow. And the wellspring of thanksgiving that moved them to make a holiday came not only from the arrival of relative prosperity, but more especially from the feeling that at last they had found complete freedom—freedom of spirit as well as of body, freedom in which their most sacred aspirations and ideals could flourish unchecked.

It might be interesting for us to assign a statistician or two to see just where we stand today in that regard.

If we offer thanks merely for our well-filled stomachs we are alluring ourselves, not with the Pilgrim Fathers, but with the swine.

But if we give thanks in the same spirit our forefathers gave thanks, the holiday has value for us.

Which is it?

Mayor Thompson took 1500 people to Washington with him to impress upon the Congressional committee the need of flood relief. We suspect that before that committee gets through with Big Bill, it will have to call in the Red Cross for its own members.

General Gomez had a large funeral at which thousands marched. The Mexican government showed its liberality by not interfering.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says

That Girl on Broadway says from the turkey's standpoint today is certainly a misnomer.

"Praise God, from whom all blessings flow," starkly correct, here below!"

Even the heart of the acknowledged atheist; must respond to the words of that grand old hymn today as the people of America bow in thanks for the many gifts from above. We Americans have a lot to be thankful for—so much in fact that the bare Thanksgiving that is observed throughout the length and breadth of the land today will seem almost a sacrifice. If we are a united people, had set aside today for prayer, for meditation, and had sent to heaven our thanks in unison we could not, in a thousand days, show enough appreciation for the benefits which are ours.

Prosperous America! Progressive America! Peaceful, happy, for the most part well fed and well clothed. No wonder our eyes have been partially dimmed, and our hearts somewhat hardened to our many blessings. We haven't one iota of an idea of conditions in other parts of the world—opposite conditions to those we enjoy here.

If all of us, as individuals, were permitted to peer into the sorrows, the hardships and the stark necessities of other countries, we would be shocked into laying aside our pleasures and our frivolities for one day, at least, to offer thanks to the Supreme Being Whose hand has guided us aright.

Contrast Thanksgiving of today with the first observed in this country. Where great Pilgrim riders near at hand, ever-looked poverty and hardship unknown in this time, and paused to thank God Almighty for life and for hope, today the "mooch cars" carry furred women, well fed children and prosperous fathers to football games and other similar celebrations. Where pious families knelt before pine-log fires in log cabins hewed from surrounding forests, then, we gather in our homes—even the most modest of which appear as mansions alongside of those first American dwellings—and take Thanksgiving Day as a matter of fact!

"We can not continue this." We must get back to the simple faith of our fathers. We can not as a nation continue to take Thanksgiving as a matter of course. We must remember to thank Him and to enjoy Him for His goodness, mercy, prosperity and civilization. America is inherently religious. We have not thrown our religion away—we have merely placed it to one side in the hurry and worry of this business-man's age. We must pick it up again and start anew where we left off. God is not mocked.

If you haven't already done so—and the chances are you have not—gather your family together this evening and with humble heart and happy spirit give thanks to Him who has made everything possible. It won't take much time and surely God, who has given you all your time, has a right to a few minutes of it on this day which our forefathers set apart for thanks. If you can think of nothing else to say—to thank Him for—turn to that thought of a great English poet, Rudyard Kipling, who in his "Recessional" so aptly besought: "Lord God of hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget—lest we forget!"

We all revere the eagle.

And his righteous scream, far heard, But we bow before the turkey. Today the national bird!

That Man on Avenue Q says this is one day when we can't refer to one bird as "The Terrible Turk."

Very often the people who have the most to be thankful for are the least likely to realize it.

If you look closely you'll find that most self-made men have cheated themselves.

That Girl on Broadway says she can't see any reason for clocks on hosiery unless they're supposed to tell you when it's time to change.

Under the early English law foot ball was made a crime. The Plainsman has seen some games which should come under the scope of the old British statutes.

Scientists estimate that a goose may live to be 200 years old and no doubt after dinner today there are many who agree with the idea.

The half-cent of 1796, the rarest of all United States copper coins, has brought as much as four hundred dollars at auction sale, a news dispatch says. That, my friends, shows what "interest" will do.

Duke Fernando of Spain, arrested in Paris as a swindler, says he would like to make a fresh start in America. We need several young men like that in this country.

New Congress Will Find Old Issues—Even Dating As Far Back As George Washington, Dutcher Writes From Capital

IN NEW YORK
AND BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—When the gang world "gave the works" recently to "Little Angle," successor to "Kid Dropper," the press informed the world that "he fell with a bullet through his back." That's the way New York gangsters fight; they strike from the dark and shoot in the back. It is their cowardly code never to give their enemies the slightest chance. They never meet an opponent in fair fight; they travel like wolves, in bands when the hunt is on; they speed by in high-powered cars, sniping from a window and then speeding on again.

THE East Side, though it has a highly developed sense of law and order, invariably closes its eyes when gang war is on. Crowds may be gathered in the push-cart market places when a pistol cracks from a passing car—as was the case in the slaying of "Little Angle"—but no one seems ever to remember the number of the automobile; no one appears who saw anything or heard anything.

Thus fear works as an accomplice. The good folk of the East Side have no desire to involve themselves in gang affairs. They shrug their shoulders and leave the police without open clues. In the end the gang world tries its own cases, convicts—and kills.

YET, in spite of outward secrecy, news of gang doings travels with telegraphic speed.

The gangs are supposed to talk in whispers, but somewhere there is a sounding board that seems to shout such whispers in many directions.

Not long ago two suspects were jailed in a spectacular gang war. Learning from past experiences the police kept secret the day of the hearing and yet one hour before the Essex Market court opened, a mob of 1500 had gathered in the street.

A GANG chief travels generally with a bulky, fear-inspiring body guard at his side. Many of these mysteriously ferocious chieftains have been rat-like weaklings, with pinched faces, undernourished bodies and mere cunning than strength—they could not hold their own in any equal contest and so go about, day and night, accompanied by a huge brute—usually a down-and-out prizefighter.

THE gangster business today is largely a "bruiser" business. The chiefs hire out their gangs for "rough work" in labor troubles. Labor fights in this part of the world are mean fights, accompanied by cracked heads and bruised bodies.

For, perhaps $50,000 a "Little Angle" would undertake to "settle a strike" for the bosses. In fact it was just a transaction. I am told, that sent Angle to his grave with "a bullet in the back." He roused a few jealousies through the appointment of lieutenant.

So he "got the works." Tomorrow the new chief who takes his place had best look out. "Little

Eloquent pleas concerning the sanctity of homes raided by prohibition agents without warrants are generally only cheap imitations of the court argument of James Otis in 1761 against the Writs of Assistance. Otis proclaimed that "special warrants only are legal" and: "One of the most essential branches of English liberty is the freedom of one's house. A man's house is his castle, and whilst he is quiet, he is as well guarded as a prince in his castle."

Patrick Henry, in his long-winded oration against the federal constitution, raised the issue of congressional appointment which he denounced. He objected to the wording of the provision that representatives should "not exceed one for every 30,000" on the grounds of ambiguity. Henry may have been overheard, but his protest, that "four of the smallest states, that do not collectively contain one-tenth the population of the United States may obstruct the most salutary and necessary amendments" is reminiscent of the present day plaint about the difficulty of adding new amendment so repelling any existing.

Other instances of repetitive history might be cited endlessly.

PROSPERITY FOR THE SOUTH PLAINS SEEN

The South Plains of Texas has made greater progress toward safe farming during the past year than any ten years of its history. The farmers have come to realize diversification, coupled with the cow and hen, is the one thing that should not be neglected on the farm. Hundreds of chickens and turkeys have been added to the population of the South Plains. Several hundred more hogs have been added to the farms. And many different farm crops have, taken the place of the single crop of a few years ago. Practically all the farmers, and in this immediate section adopted the cash plan this year and as a result bank reports show deposits far in excess of a year ago. The production of cotton and feed crops for the present year will not equal those of last year. Rain has been scarce and spotted, however, about one fourth of this section will produce good crops and the other three fourths will far exceed expectation. Production of Terry county will be sufficient to supply all demands, and some to spare.—Meadow Review

It is a kind of prosperity that does not run people wild either. It comes gradually upon the people, and they do not realize that they are so well off, and they do not lose their heads and buy everything in sight at no matter what price. They have their living at home, and money to buy their groceries that must be bought, and also money to buy their clothes, and the things they need about the house. This makes real prosperity, and the kind that lasts and is not just for a few days and gone. This kind of prosperity will make the South Plains the richest section of the Southwest and it will make homes on the South Plains in place of tents that have no place to live, only a camping ground for a year at a time.

BIG COMPANIES NOT AFRAID TO TAKE THEIR CHANCE

The West Texas Gas company "cut their gas loose" Tuesday and now cooking and heating is balmy.

Everybody is crazy to see the new Ford. In a year everybody will be crazy to find a road where there aren't any.

An honest confession is good for the soul, but bad for the lawyer.

Avoiding is like compound interest. You start with a small figure and keep doubling it.

Many a man is driven to ask the leading question.

done in halls by this modern, convenient and economical process. My, but it looks good to see no blue flame emanating from the little holes in the gas burners instead of having to wag in some coal, gather up some kindling and get all "fussed up" building a fire these cold mornings.

To our mind, the advent of natural gas in this city is one of the greatest boons and building-footing ever accomplished. It is a pleasure, a convenience, an economy, as well as a stimulus to industrial enterprises. Folks like comfort and modern conveniences these days and natural gas fuel is among the greatest of these.

Folks more folks will move to Dallas from month to month for here they can get all the conveniences afforded by large cities, and yet they can live among friends, where they know one another, and where the community spirit of cooperation abounds.—Halls Banner.

It was at one time necessary for every town on the South Plains to pay a bonus on every thing that came to town, for the people with the money to put over propositions were afraid that there would not be enough to carry them through profitably. It is not so now. Big enterprises are willing to come in and take their chances at getting business to make money, and hence the establishment of the gas business in this section of the country without the paying of a big bonus.

GARNER TO SEEK SUPERINTENDENCY STATE SCHOOLS

(By Associated Press)
NACOGDOCHES, Nov. 24.—Without seeking glory and honors at the cost of service to the people whom he hopes to serve, W. F. Garner of Nacogdoches, today announced his intentions of being a candidate for superintendent of public instruction in Texas in next year's election.

Mr. Garner is widely known for his work in the public schools of East and South Texas where he had been actively engaged for a number of years. He was graduated from Sam Houston Normal Institute (now Sam Houston State Teachers' College) and received his B. A. and M. A. degree from the University of Texas. He also has done a considerable amount of work towards his Ph. D. degree at Austin.

Among the things advocated by Mr. Garner are equalization of funds for rural aid; better rural schools; the placing of the county superintendent upon a higher professional basis; better trained rural teachers; freeing the office he seeks of "text-book politics," by removing the superintendent from the text-book commission, and a "well rounded educational system for the entire state."

BANDITS HELD BUT ROBBERIES SHOW INCREASE

SOUTHWEST IS AROUSED BY "INDEPENDENTS" IN BANK RAIDS

(By Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 24.—Although the three large gangs of bank robbers have been disorganized by arrests and convictions, bank robberies are increasing in the southwest, due to the operations of "independent" bandits.

The "independents," going in groups of two or more, rob only the small banks and usually get comparatively small amounts of money. Most of these robbers select banks in territory with which they are familiar.

Records of the state bureau for criminal identification show that more banks have been robbed in Oklahoma in the last two years than in the five years preceding. But the amount of money stolen has not shown a proportionate increase. When the large gangs "monopolized" the field they chose the large banks in which the plunder would be commensurate with the possible penalty.

The independent bandits are as bold as those who followed skillful leaders, in the opinion of Charles Worley, superintendent of the Oklahoma bureau for criminal identification. Only one robber wore a mask in the last two years in Oklahoma and he let it drop in his neck when he shoved a pistol against a banker's ribs.

The three large gangs of bank robbers which have been broken up were led by Matthew Kimes, Lawrence (Red) Calloway and Ray Terrell and Elmer Inman. Fragments of these gangs dart out of hiding now and then to rob a bank, but they keep out of reach of the law.

Terrell and Inman were sentenced to prison last winter, but escaped on their way to the penitentiary. Kimes is serving a life sentence for the murder of an Indian deputy sheriff. Calloway was arrested with his wife recently on a charge of robbing an Oklahoma bank of $46,000.

U. S. SECURITIES WILL BE EXEMPT FROM TAX, PLAN

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Exemption of federal securities from the surtax will be recommended to congress by Secretary Mellon.

Such action would remove all federal securities from the taxation field and would be in line with recommendations made in a speech by Under-Secretary Mills recently at Worcester, Mass., in which he declared that because of the exemption of corporations from the surtax, corporations fixed the price of government securities, and prevented their wide distribution.

Secretary Mellon also believes that the lifting of the surtax on federal securities would put them more on a par with state and municipal offerings which are free from the surtax and under present conditions make a more attractive investment.

Since the war time bond issues are being rapidly called, the treasury hopes by eliminating the surtax to encourage a wider distribution of federal securities which they claim is more wholesome than by having the majority of federal issues closely held by corporations.

COURT ORDER IN TEAPOT CASE IS FORMALLY GIVEN

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Certified copies of Justice Suddens' order citing Harry F. Sinclair, W. J. Burns and four others to show cause here December 5, why they should not be punished for contempt for their part in the jury surveillance scandal were issued today by Assistant District Attorney Neil Burkishaw.

Through arrangements with counsel, William J. Burns, founder of the Burns detective agency, W. Sherman Burns, its manager, and C. L. Vetsch, manager of the Burns Baltimore office, will accept service in the office of Charles A. Douglas, their attorney here.

METHODS USED BY FARMERS IN EGYPT UNIQUE

REPRESENTATIVE HERE ON TOUR STUDYING CO-OP METHODS

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, Nov. 24.—Egyptian farming and marketing methods were described by Hamedin Ibrahim, a representative of the Egyptian ministry of agriculture, who visited here on a tour of the United States. He is making a year's study of co-operative marketing methods in America.

In describing the method used by his government in forcing a reduced cotton acreage, the minister said farmers who refuse to reduce their acreage by two-fifths during the next two years are subject to a heavy fine or long imprisonment under a three year project to reduce the cotton yield 60 per cent.

In Operation One Year "The cotton reduction program has been in operation for one year and will be conducted during the next two cotton growing seasons," Ibrahim said. "All violators of the rule were given the full penalty last year."

Egypt has tried to establish a co-operative marketing system since 1909, the minister pointed out in discussing the marketing situation. He believes that it will enable the farmers of his country to procure at least a 15 to 25 per cent higher price for their agricultural products, especially cotton.

Co-Op Sales Held Good "Co-operative marketing in the United States is considered the most perfect in the world," he said. "Farmers of this country are extremely fortunate as they sell for next Monday."

The citations for Sinclair and his confidential associate, Henry Mason Day, will be served on them by United States Marshals at their offices in New York, probably on Friday. Sheldon Clark, of Chicago another of Sinclair's confidential associates, will be served in Chicago as soon as the order can reach there.

Assistance Asked By Stranded Ship

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 24 (AP)—An SOS message sent at 7:25 a. m. today by the Japanese steamer Tenpoisan Maru was picked up by the Seattle harbor radio. The message reported that she was stranded off Grays harbor on the Washington coast and was in need of immediate assistance.

The harbor radio said the steamer Emma Alexander of the Pacific Steamship company, was only 12 miles from the stranded ship and in communication with her and would probably go to her assistance.

The Tenpoisan Maru was believed to be in a precarious position on the big sand bar off Gray's harbor. A heavy gale was reported off the coast.

The steamer Dorothy Alexander of the same company was also reported to be in the vicinity of the Japanese freighter. She left Victoria, B. C. southbound shortly after midnight.

Blankets and Comforts

Their Beauty And Fineness Will Win Your Approval

Have you ever noticed the covering in the homes of the "old Families?" Most always you will discover one or more "old" blankets—some purchase which has gone on and on giving service year after year. Twenty years is not unusual for these old fellows—possibly a wedding gift presented long ago to a happy bride who now delights in her attractive grandchildren.

Carry your investigation a little further. Look at the quality of this item. Invariably you will find that originally it was of the best possible quality—that in making this purchase, some one very wisely followed the rule of saving by purchasing the best. The fine wool blankets we delight in selling will give this same kind of long term service—the kind that when figured on the "cost per year" basis will far out-distance in value the "bargain" blanket, that many times may appear the cheaper.

It Will Be A Pleasure To "Get Out" These Fine Blankets Year After Year

- 66x80 Part Wool blankets in bright plaid patterns—a feature at pair only $4.85
- Part wool blankets in solid colors—bright shades—68x80. Size—priced pair $5.85

DISSOLUTION OF JOCKEY CLUB IN KENTUCKY ASKED

(By Associated Press)
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 24.—Attorney General Frank E. Daugherty today instituted suit in the Jefferson circuit court in behalf of the state of Kentucky for dissolution of the Kentucky Jockey club and for forfeiture of its franchise, alleging that further continuance of the club as a corporation is detrimental to the interests and welfare of the commonwealth.

The petition came close upon the heels of a bitter gubernatorial campaign in which J. C. W. Beckham, democrat, had asserted that if elected he would work toward repeal of the state law permitting the club to operate the pari-mutuel betting system. He was defeated by Judge Flem D. Sampson, republican, who claimed that the matter was not an issue in the campaign. Sampson got a majority of approximately 46,000. One of Beckham's supporters, Circuit Judge Thurman, in public speeches accused the Jockey club of spending thousands of dollars to defeat Beckham but this was vigorously denied by club officials.

RUTH AND HER AIDE MUST DIE EARLY IN YEAR

ITALIAN CONVICTED IN DOCTOR'S DEATH IS GIVEN NEW TRIAL

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—As far as the state's highest tribunal is concerned, a woman and her paramour who brutally murdered her husband for insurance must die in the electric chair. A grief-stricken Italian, who killed a physician when his child died of diphtheria, has another chance for life.

Ruth Brown Snyder, of Queens Village, Long Island, and Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman, will be executed the week beginning January 9 for the murder of Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, whom they killed March 20. Meanwhile, Francesco Caruso, who last February in Brooklyn killed Dr. Caspar S. Pendiola after the death of his six-year old son, will have a new trial.

Governor Only Hopes
Only the clemency of Governor Smith, who has usually been guided by unanimous ruling of the court, can save Mrs. Snyder and Gray. The court of appeals yesterday denied them a new trial and today set the date of execution.

The couple who beat Snyder over the head with a sash weight and strangled him with picture wire, received the news of the decision in contrasting manners in the death house at Sing Sing.

The mild-mannered, bespectacled little salesman said: "Thank you! I'm sorry to hear that."

Mrs. Snyder wept and sobbed. Caruso pined insanity.

Caruso, who looked up from the white face of his dead son, Giovanni, into what he regarded as the laughing countenance of Dr. Pendiola and stabbed the physician to death, was convicted of murder in the first degree in spite of his plea of temporary insanity induced by the doctor's apparently jocular manner of informing him of the child's death.

"I go crazy," was his defense when he told how he stabbed the physician who had administered anti-toxin in an effort to save the child.

Caruso thought the doctor had killed the boy with poison.

The court of appeals yesterday found the evidence in Caruso's case insufficient to justify a conviction of murder in the first degree.

PROGRESS MADE IN MERGER PLAN GIVEN BY LOREE

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Progress was reported today in plans for the southwest rail merger sponsored by Leonard F. Loree.

Operating an accounting officials of the Kansas City Southern, the St. Louis Southwestern and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas lines are expected to resume conferences next week to get together on the report prepared by Coverdale and Colpitts, engineers, who have made an extensive survey of the properties in an effort to reach an agreement on equitable terms for the consolidation.

Cause of Delay

Wall street hears the delay in presenting the final report has resulted from differences in claims relating to "excess maintenance." It also is understood no change is contemplated in the plan to designate the Missouri, Kansas and Texas the "key road" with its average-earning power as the basis for exchange securities of the other two lines.

Reports also are current that in order to induce holders of Kansas City Southern four per cent preferred stock and St. Louis Southwestern, five per cent preferred stock to agree to the merger, it is proposed to offer equivalents of 4 1/2 per cent and a 5 1/2 per cent preferred issue to each.

Home workers in Saxony receive less than 24 cents for fastening 1-0 sizes of brushes into brushes, according to a new wage scale.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion soothes, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

DRY LAWS HELP W. C. T. U. Research Chief Says Death Rate Is Lower

(By NEA Service)
EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 24.—Alcohol killed 8,063 people in 20 large American cities in 1926, but had the drinkers died last year at the same rate as before prohibition, alcohol would have killed 15,247.

That announcement is the result of a study by Miss Cora Frances Stoddard, director of scientific temperance research of the national W. T. C. U.

The W. T. C. U. expert used the reports of the health officials, running back in most instances to 1910, and also had authoritative statements from large life insurance companies.

Quotes Actuary
Arthur Hunter, vice president and chief actuary of the New York Life Insurance company, is quoted as saying: "For the three years, 1924 to 1926 inclusive, the ratio of deaths from alcoholism per 10,000 was one-third of that for the years 1914-1916 inclusive or for the years 1904 to 1906 inclusive."

The death rate from wood alcohol and denatured alcohol has been unchanged since 1921—0.2 per 100,000, while the actual deaths from these causes among Metropolitan Life Insurance policy holders fell from 90 in 1920 to 23 in 1926, it was declared.

New York and Maryland
The highest death rate from poison and alcoholism is in New York and Maryland which offer no protection against bootlegged poison according to Miss Stoddard. Death rate per 100,000 people in the three cities of New York, Rochester and Baltimore was given as 12.2 as against 12.6 in 1910.

Alcohol mortality in large cities where there is state enforcement shows a lower death rate, the official declared. These cities include Chicago, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Newark, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Boston. Their combined alcoholism death rate was put at 16.3 per 100,000 in 1916 and 7 per 100,000 in 1926. Statistics beyond 1916 were not obtainable.

COOLIDGES PLAN QUIET DAY AND TURKEY DINNER

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Laying aside his customary activities, President Coolidge turned today to a quiet and traditional observance of Thanksgiving.

His plans called for attendance with Mrs. Coolidge at church services, and dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns of Boston, as their guests. The Coolidge family circle itself was incomplete, for the president's son, John, was unable to leave his studies at Amherst college long enough to make the trip to Washington.

The public was invited to the White House early in the afternoon for a concert by the army band, in the nature of a serenade to the president. For many years it has been customary in the army for its band to march to the quarters of commanding officers for a Thanksgiving day concert. This year's observance was arranged with a view to honoring the commander in chief in this way.

Speaking through a network of radio broadcasting stations, the president last night made a personal appeal to the people of the nation to give thanks for a year of peace and domestic tranquility.

THANKFULNESS

T. E. May, former chief of police, but now agent for the Cities Service Co., wishes to thank his many friends and patrons for the support they have given him. He wants them to know that everytime they purchase oil, gas or kerosene from a Cities Service Station they are helping him.

Cities Service products are good products, and Mr. May has many customers who demand these products. When they buy he is benefitted—when they do not he loses. So he asks that his friends all patronize Cities Service Stations, and says they may rest assured their business will be appreciated.

He says: "I stand ready to aid you in any way possible, and you have no idea how I appreciate your patronage."

FRANK SWACKER, Secretary of District Attorney.
CURRIE, VANCE's valet.
K. VAN DINE, The Narrator.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
 Vance prevents Markham from creating Leacock when Pfyfe's story implicates the captain. It brought out that Pfyfe had been Alvin Benson's power because of a forged check. Leacock came to the murder, but Vance sees the confession as a lie to help Miss St. Clair, who had been Benson the evening of the murder.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XLVII

Vance sighed. "Don't you want to be of any use at all in this case?" he asked Pfyfe.
 "What good did it do you to see an ass of me in front of that man?" spluttered Markham. "I can't see that you got anywhere, all your tom-foolery."
 "That!" Vance registered utter contempt. "The testimony you've given today is going to help in this case. In fact, it's the only thing that could help the case. Furthermore, we now know that the gloves and the handbag, who the lady was that called Benson's office, and what Miss St. Clair did between 12 and 1 and why she first had tea with her fiancé, the jewels came to be there, and why the Captain took his gun and then threw it away, and why he confessed."
 "Doesn't all this knowledge bother you?" It rids the situation of its much desired.
 He stopped, and lit a cigarette. "The really important thing the lady told us was that her friends never she invariably departed at midnight when she went out of an evening. Don't overlook or belittle that point, old dear. It's most important. I told you long ago that the person who shot Benson knew he was dining with him that night."
 "You'll be telling me next you know who killed him," Markham scoffed.
 Vance sent a ring of smoke circling upward.
 "I've known all along who shot the lighter."
 Markham snorted derisively.
 "Indeed! And when did this revelation burst upon you?"
 "Oh, not more than five minutes after I entered Benson's house that first morning," replied Vance.
 "Well, well! Why didn't you confide in me, and avoid all these trying activities?"
 "Quite impossible." Vance explained jocularly. "You were not ready to receive my apocryphal knowledge. It was first necessary to lead you patiently by the hand out of the various dark forests and morasses into which you insisted upon straying. You're so devilishly unimaginative, don't you know?"

A taxicab was passing, and he hailed it.
 "Eighty-seven West Forty-eighth street," he directed.
 "Now for a brief chat with Mrs. Platz. And then—then I shall pour into your ear all my maidenly secrets."
 (Wednesday, June 19, 9:30 p. m.)
 The housekeeper regarded our visit that afternoon with marked uneasiness. Though she was a large powerful woman, her body seemed to have lost some of its strength, and her face showed signs of prolonged anxiety.
 "Sitkin informed us, when we entered, that she had carefully read every newspaper account of the progress of the case, and had questioned him intently on the subject."
 She entered the living room with scarcely an acknowledgment of our presence, and took the chair Vance placed for her like a woman resigning herself to a dreaded but inevitable ordeal.
 When Vance looked at her keenly, she gave him a frightened glance and turned her face away, as if, in the second their eyes met she had read his knowledge of some secret she had been jealously guarding.

Vance began his questioning about pretense or protestals. Mrs. Platz was Mr. Benson very particular about his toupee—that he did often receive his friends without having it on?
 The woman appeared relieved.

"Oh, no, sir—never."
 "Think back, Mrs. Platz. Has Mr. Benson never, to your knowledge, been in anyone's company without his toupee?"
 She was silent for some time, her brows contracted.
 "Once I saw him take off his wig and show it to Colonel Ostrander, an elderly gentleman who used to call here very often. But Colonel Ostrander was an old friend of his. He told me they lived together once."
 "No one else?"
 Again she frowned thoughtfully. "No," she said, after several minutes.
 "What about the tradespeople?"
 "He was very particular about them. . . . And strangers, too," she added. "When he used to sit in here in hot weather without his wig, he always pulled the shade on that window." She pointed to the one nearest the hallway. "You can look in it from the steps."
 "I'm glad you brought up that point," said Vance. "And anyone standing on the steps could tap on the window or the iron bars, and attract the attention of anyone in this room?"
 "Oh, yes, sir—certainly. I did it myself once, when I went on an errand and forgot my key."
 "It's quite likely, don't you think that the person who shot Mr. Benson obtained admittance that way?"
 "Yes, sir." She gasped eagerly at the suggestion.
 "The person would have had to know Mr. Benson pretty well to tap in the window instead of ringing the bell. Don't you agree with me, Mrs. Platz?"
 "Yes, sir." Her tone was doubtful, but evidently the point was a little beyond her.
 "If a stranger had tapped on the window would Mr. Benson have admitted him without his toupee?"
 "Oh, no—he wouldn't have let a stranger in."
 "You are sure the bell didn't ring last night?"
 "Positive, sir." The answer was very emphatic.
 "Is there a light on the front porch?"
 "No, sir."
 "If Mr. Benson had looked out of his window to see who was tapping could he have recognized the person at night?"
 The woman hesitated.
 "I don't know—I don't think so." "Is there any way you can see through the front door who is outside, without opening it?"
 "Sometimes I wished there was."
 "Then, if the person knocked on the window, Mr. Benson must have recognized the voice?"
 "It looks that way, sir."
 "And you're certain no one could have got in without a key?"
 "How could they? The door locks by itself."
 "It's the regulation spring-lock, isn't it?"
 "Yes, sir."
 "Then it must have a catch you can turn off so that the door will open from either side though it's latched."
 "It did have a catch like that," she explained, "but Mr. Benson had fixed so it wouldn't work. He said it was too dangerous—I might go out and leave the house unlocked."
 Vance stepped into the hallway, and I heard him opening and shutting the front door.
 "You're right, Mrs. Platz," he observed, when he came back. "Now tell me: are you quite sure no one had a key?"
 "Yes, sir. No one but me and Mr. Benson had a key."
 Vance nodded his acceptance of her statement.
 "You said you left your bed-room door open on the night Mr. Benson was shot. . . . Do you generally 'ave it open?"
 "No, I'm always shut it. But it was a terrible close that night."
 "Then it was merely an accident you left it open?"
 "As you might say."
 "If your door had been closed as usual, could you have heard the shot, do you think?"
 "If I'd been awake, maybe. Not if I was sleeping, though. They got heavy doors in these old houses, sir."
 "And they're beautiful, too," commented Vance.
 He looked admiringly at the massive mahogany double door that opened into the hall.

HARDY YANKEE FLOOD VICTIMS TURN DOWN AID

COMEBACK SPIRIT IS LEADING FARMERS IN REBUILDING SOIL

BY W. W. CHAPLIN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WATERBURY, Vt., Nov. 24.—Can the New England flood lands stage a comeback? Or are they permanently "sunk" spiritually and financially by the waters that washed away whole farms and smaller holdings that had taken a lifetime to build up?

This is one of the principal questions now engaging the attention of Red Cross and other relief organizations and the state and governmental agencies which have the responsibility of rehabilitation.

Planning Comeback

The observations of ten days in the Winooski valley of Vermont, the heart of the flood district offer ample evidence that the flood sufferers will not permit themselves to be submerged by their misfortunes without an ardent struggle as man has ever fought against adversity.

When this reporter first passed up the Winooski through Richmond and Jonesville and Waterbury and Middlesex into Montpelier and Fayre, the water had scarce retreated from the battered homes and the streets were still deep in mud.

No Self Pity Heard

Food was scarce, clothing was unobtainable water was hard to get and of very doubtful purity, there was no heat, and water was shaking its first cold flakes over the barren land. But in all that drear expanse of suffering not one whimper of self pity was heard, no single cry that all would be lost unless the outer world should lend a helping hand.

Hardly had the water receded sufficiently to permit venturing into the wreckage-langled streets when meetings were held, committees formed, relief arranged for the most needy, supplies of all sorts pooled and distributed in communitarian style, guards placed to prevent looting.

Meet Own Problems

As the days passed and aid began to come in from the outside it was found that the most pressing problems had already been met by the sufferers themselves. Relief workers were amazed at the spirit that had survived the flood.

They explained it to some extent by pointing out that the life of a Vermont farmer at best is an existence calling for every ounce of energy and resourcefulness. This Spartan training they believed, was now bearing fruit.

"In the larger villages and small cities," one Red Cross worker told The Associated Press, "like cities everywhere, the people will probably take all the help they can get and maybe even ask for more. But on the farms clarity in any form is spurned, and in many instances we find our advances rebuffed with a brusqueness that seems like ingratitude at first glance, but which we realize in fact to be the finest self pride of these people who are accustomed to meet their own problems and cannot lean on others."

Spirit Of Independence

This spirit of independence was found everywhere the reporter went among the farmers.

"Why, I've got 25 cord of wood left," she farmer said. "If any of my neighbors have lost their wood they can come right in and take what they need. And if I'm out of chickens John Jones over the hill saved his whole stock and I know they're mine for the asking. We don't need any help to speak of. We get along all right."

This spirit is the answer, the Red Cross believes, to the question whether Vermont and other New England flood sections can "come back." But the Red Cross also knows that the rehabilitation ensured eventually by that indomitable spirit can be vastly hastened by organized relief work, and so

CHICAGO SCORES VICTORY IN LAKE DIVERSION CASE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Chicago scored a material victory today when former Justice Charles E. Hughes submitted a report to the supreme court as separate master in the Lake diversion case upheld the present diversion permit issued by the Secretary of War as valid.

It was contended the entire control of the diversion through the Chicago sanitary canal remained solely with congress and that if a situation developed in which Chicago sought to create or continue a withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan without the sanction of congress or administrative officers acting under its authority, the lake states would be entitled to bring a bill to restrain such action.

The report covered the three pending cases brought by Wisconsin, Michigan and New York, several other lake states having joined with Wisconsin. It recommended that the suits which are now before the supreme court should be dismissed without prejudice to the right of the lake states to institute suit to prevent a diversion of water from Lake Michigan in case such diversion is made or attempted without authority of law.

Bitter Bread Of Charity

The farmers of the flood lands must eat the bitter bread of charity for a little time, because there is no other bread to eat. But leavened by their own unconquerable spirit, it will be sweetened in short time and soon again the hardy people of the soil will be living once more on the produce they have wrested from the rolling hills and valleys of their homeland.

FLOODS LEAVE EAST STRICKEN WITH HORRORS

INDELIBLE IMPRINT IS LEFT ON MINDS OF ALL CHILDREN

BY W. W. CHAPLIN
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

WATERBURY, Vt., Nov. 24. (AP)—Educators and social workers are wondering whether one of the greatest losses in the New England flood region may not have been one which was not reckoned with at all at first—whether perhaps the very spirit of childhood has not been washed down the swollen rivers and out into the lakes, never to be regained.

Pale With Fear

There are children in this village whose ruddy cheeks pale and whose eyes flutter with a nameless fear when there is talk of those two awful days when the peaceful Winooski ran amuck.

In the brick school house on the hill there is a blackboard which still bears a childish chalk drawing of a severe lady, hair knotted light on her head and scowling brow. Below this caricature, in youthful scrawl is the word "Teacher."

Scenes Of Horror

Before that harmless prank could be discovered, before the board was cleaned, the flood waters descended on the village and scenes of horror were enacted which yet may be seen in the youthful eyes that must have laughed in glee at teacher's caprice.

Miss Alice Jennings, a teacher in the school, who ever since the flood has been working night and day in Red Cross headquarters, told The Associated Press something of what the disaster meant to her former charges.

"Two of my boys," she said, were in the lower part of town when the first house went down. They had been helping in the rescue work and had come in sight of the house where two of their schoolmates lived. They saw the water high about the house and rising all the time.

"From upper windows I heard the children, and beside them were the frantic parents, screaming for help. The boys rushed to get assistance, but could find none quickly and returned to see what they could do alone. They stood on the edge of the rising flood and saw that house lurch like a man jostled in a crowd."

"Slowly the building tipped upward, tore from the foundation with a wracking scream of breaking timber, and floated off, lamp alight—for it was dusk—the occupants screaming, and nothing to be done."

Answering Wave

The boys on the shore waved into the growing dark, their hearts pounding in their chests and their tongues thick in their mouths, and they thought they saw an answering wave from the window where their schoolmates leaned. And then the house was gone and the boys crept home, dry eyed but torn with great wracking sobs.

Briefly they told their tale, and then would say no more.

"Don't talk about it," they told their mothers. "It was something we never will be able to talk about as long as we live."

Village Evacuated

The children of Waterbury, at least the younger ones, were evacuated during the days after the

DEATH VALLEY'S OWN DESSERT IS OFFERED PUBLIC

(By Associated Press)

STOVE PIPE WELLS, DEATH VALLEY, Calif., Nov. 24.—Thanksgiving dinner of Death Valley's own dessert "Flora and Fauna"—cactus and flat of choice, edible plants—will be offered by one Stove Pipe Wells today, follows:

Cholla cactus cocktail.
Pile of chuckwalla (unlovely appearing but edible monster lizard).
Soap-nectar of wild turnip.
Death Valley crackers—(baked in the sun).
Miners' lettuce and cactus hearts salad.
Death Valley grown celery hearts, radishes, onions.
Friend antelope valley steak.
Baked Panamint mountain grouse.
Death Valley pumpkin pie.
Sweet tack (cookies) sun baked.

Flood in the village of Stove, several miles up the road to Smugglers' Notch above the water line. And one would see them in the streets or peering from the curtained windows of houses, staring as though at visions never to be effaced, uncommunicative, nervous, children who perhaps never again would be lighthearted enough to laugh at a harmless caricature drawn on a school blackboard.

cactus shaped and flavored).
Ice cream frozen at Death Valley's frozen dessert factory.
The foods, the menus claims, all have been tested, tasted, tried and declared excellent.

WET SPONGE PASSES

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 24 (AP)—The sponge and water bucket have passed into oblivion from the Stanford football field, victims of hygienic progress. On orders of the department of physical education they have been replaced by a tank on wheels from which water is sprayed with a pressure pump to revive fallen grid warriors.

PICKING NEAR END

ALPINE, Nov. 24 (AP)—Cotton picking is practically over in the Big Bend district, with only a few small patches in the Rio Grande Valley near Presidio remaining. Fruit crops are all gathered and alfalfa is about the only crop that has not been gathered. It is expected that there will be another cutting of this crop before frost.

Finding a burglar in his bed room, Rev. William W. Anderson, parish minister of Bearden, Scotland, captured the man and turned him over to the police.

A PIONEER— Steadfast In Spirit! Ambitious But Humble!

Our sturdy fore-fathers who withstood untold privations, faced innumerable dangers, were steadfast and ambitious in their purpose—the securing of liberty—that precious element of our present government.

Through the bleak, snowy winters they worked and suffered and hundreds died of exposure and lack of food and care.

Then Spring came, crops in little meager patches produced sufficient food to stay off starvation. Fall came, the crops were gathered. Another bleak winter was on—but there was food. There were reasons for Thankfulness. So this day, in that year, was set aside by them for a day of expressing thanks to Almighty God for His protection and blessings.

Surely, we favored people of modern America, have more reasons for humbly expressing thanks to Him for the untold blessings of this great age. There is food aplenty for everyone; there is shelter and warmth, protection agencies for the disabled, the aged and for those who are unable to care for themselves.

To compare our means of transportation—the train, the steam ship, the automobile and the airplane, with that in use by our fore-fathers is to appreciate more fully the nature of the thousands and thousands of blessings and comforts of today.

We of Lubbock and the South Plains, have more reasons than any people to be thankful: for this wonderful section, its fine people, health giving climate and the abundance of opportunities.

Thankfulness! In a Spirit of humbleness we express our gratefulness for our blessings and for those of our people!

Flashes Of Life (By The Associated Press) Women Displeased MINNEAPOLIS - Paul Pointe Paris fashion designer, who believes that woman's charms are revealed too much by the present modes, is far from popular with the Minneapolis Woman's club. Characterizing his recent lecture here as "the biggest farce yet put over on the American people," members of the club mailed him a $2,000 check labeled "paid under protest." There was a box office deficit of $600.

No Comparison NEW YORK - What are the horrors of war compared with the fights of bulls and bears? Captain Jerome B. Sullivan was unscathed by German guns while serving with the Second division. But he slipped on the floor of the Curb exchange while executing an order for a customer and broke an arm.

So Sentimental RENO - Lots of unhappily married folks come to Reno, Ernest LeRoy Smith, who flew to Hawaii, and Miss Norine Harper of San Francisco came to be happily married. It was a matter of sentiment, Smith explains. He was born in Reno.

A Regular Boy BUCHAREST - King Michael has been having a fine time with his American sled. The first snow of the winter has come.

Get Wrong Cargo NEW YORK - A truck load of dolls has been hijacked. Five armed men held up a garage in Brooklyn and made off with 5,000 worth of things that would gladden the hearts of kiddies at Christmas. It was a mistake. They thought it was a load of something that would warm the stomachs of thirsty adults.

Another Tangent PHILADELPHIA - The donkey is unsightly and does not represent the virtues of democracy, in the opinion of the women's democratic club. Therefore it has resolved that the symbol should be abolished.

Usual Interview NEW YORK - J. P. Morgan has been interviewed again. The text follows: "My usual answer: I have nothing to say."

BOSTON BANKER HALTS PLAN TO DRAFT COOLIDGE (By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 - Phillip M. Tucker, Boston banker, who started the chain letter petition to draft President Coolidge into the presidency in 1928 today issued a statement requesting that all work on his plan cease immediately.

Mr. Tucker denied printed reports that Frank W. Stearns, the president's close friend, had endorsed his chain letter plan. "Mr. Stearns had nothing to do with the idea," he said. "I went to see him before launching the plan, but made no mention of it to him. My visit was only to make certain that Mr. Coolidge's health would stand the strain of another term in the White House. Former Senator William Butler who is a close associate of the president, had no knowledge of or part in the plan," Mr. Tucker asserted.

OUR BIGGEST AND BEST

SALE

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25TH, heralds

the event of the most remarkable merchandise moment we have ever announced to the public of Lubbock. It establishes an epoch in price-concession and enables every family in this city as well as surrounding cities regardless of their requirements or the limitations of their purse to know and enjoy the great conveniences and advantages which this store can bring. Everyone will buy wisely who buys in quantity—such values happen along too rarely.

If the purchase of the finest merchandise at a full thirty-five to fifty per cent off means anything to you, then consider this sale, as your made to order opportunity. It's an event of arousing interest to families who appreciate the best in quality at far lower costs than are usually possible.

Whether you attend good sales or not, make this one an exception. You will never regret it. You have the surprise of your life in store for you.

This is a sale of super-values—values that eclipse all the others that we have ever offered. Perhaps the very merchandise you regretfully passed by is here now at a reduced price. Please remember that artists' cats of our stock have been materially reduced in price to a clear-away of every piece of merchandise that we have. Exquisite quality available at remarkable economy. This advertisement tells in part only of the many values that are to be offered.
