Two Men, Fem Face Charges After Blast

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Two truck drivers and a woman have been charged with second degree murder in the death of a truck driver whose 21-ton cargo of dynamite exploded when apparently struck by a bullet.

Charged with second-degree murder are Bobby Lee Shuler, 29, Gerald Lee Bowden, 29, and his wife, Sharon Lynn Bowden, 27, all of Joplin, Mo. The men were identified as striking truck drivers.

Two other men questioned through the day were released Wednesday night.

A woman who had been questioned was released by county authorities but was kept in Greene County Jail as a witness for federal authorities.

In Kansas City today Burt C. Hurn, U.S. district attorney, said federal officials are participating in the investigation and that some of the persons involved including the woman held in Springfield are expected to appear before a U.S. grand jury in Kansas City Friday.

John Galt, 48, of Oklahoma City, the driver of the truck, was killed early Wednesday in the blast which left a hole 30 feet deep and 50 feet wide in Interstate 44 about 12 miles west of Springfield.

The truck was operated by Tri-State Motors, Inc., of Joplin, which has continued operations despite a strike by a Teamsters union local that began Sept. 14.

R. E. Perkins, vice president of the firm, said Shuler and Bowden had worked for the firm before the strike and were members of Teamsters Local 823.

The truck was en route to a mining area in southeastern Missouri, Perkins said. It was part of a three-truck convoy and at least one of the other vehicles, which carried no load, was fired at, he said.

A witness said he saw a shot fired at Galt's truck from a car. Police later found an abandoned car matching the description and bearing Tennessee plates.

Highway patrol investigators found a 30-30 rifle and expended cartridges along an exit ramp of the four-lane highway.

The shock wave of the blast rolled through Springfield, where residents at first thought there had been an earthquake, and was felt 15 miles away.

The largest remaining fragment of the truck was an eight-foot section of frame. Other pieces were scattered over a quarter-mile area.

Swift, Certain Punishment Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, says only "an aroused citizenry and swift and certain punishment by the courts" can turn back the increasing number of assaults on policemen.

Hoover made his remarks in the October issue of the FBI's Law Enforcement Bulletin. "When a law enforcement officer dies at the hands of a killer," he said, "part of our system of law dies with him."

MONEY-GALORE Police End Happy Times

SYLVA, N.C. (AP) — Policemen were trying to piece together the details today of the whirlwind trip of a young textile worker who is accused of stealing $100,000 and then spending and throwing away all but about $30,000 of it.

Police said they brought the money-galore days of James Harland Kirkland, 23, to an end Wednesday when they were tipped that someone visiting a Gastonia hospital was flashing wads of bills.

Kirkland has been charged in the mountain town of Sylva with grand larceny and second-degree burglary. He is free on $12,500 bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Arnold of Cherokee reported to the Jackson County Sheriff's Department Sept. 12 that about $100,000 — they didn't know exactly how much — had been stolen from a closet in their home while they were away. The Arnolds own several tourist-oriented businesses in the mountain area.

Kirkland was questioned by Henry Lambert, an unpaid Swain County deputy who works as a night watchman over the Arnold businesses.

Lambert said he met one woman who said a young man gave her $50 and told her to buy some milk for her baby. He added a young boy told him he asked a man for a loan of $1.50 and the man gave him a $50 bill.

Detective Sgt. Charles Fowers of Belmont said he had been told some of the money was thrown in the Tuckasee River near Bryson City and some more was thrown on a trash pile.

Doctor Guilty Of Murder Plot

HOUSTON (AP) — A jury convicted Dr. A. H. Burkhalter today on a charge of complicity in the murder of his former partner, Dr. Robert Pendleton Jr. of Pasadena.

A punishment hearing was set for later in the day before Judge George Walker.

Nixon, Tito Talk Over Crisis In Middle East

President Given Friendly Welcome

KUMROVEC, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Nixon and President Tito, having spent two hours talking over world problems in Belgrade, came to this old home town of the Yugoslav president today in a pouring rain. Their wives and aides accompanied them.

HE'S POPULAR

Almost every one of the 283 residents of the village were on hand to greet them despite the cold, wet weather. They came here from Zagreb, the Croatian capital, by car because the bad weather barred a planned helicopter trip.

Tito and his wife left Belgrade ahead of the American chief executive and were on hand here to greet President and Mrs. Nixon.

In Belgrade, the Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said the two presidents explored in their talks means of settling the Middle East crisis that would take into account Palestinian interests.

BIG NEED

"The need was expressed ... that conditions be created for a peaceful solution of the present political crisis and that care be taken over all aspects of this complicated international problem, including the interests of the people of Palestine," Tanjug said.

Beside U.S.-Yugoslav cooperation, Nixon and Tito devoted their greatest attention to "the present situation in the Middle East following the death of President Nasser.

The two presidents also stated their policies on Indochina. Tanjug said, meaning Tito repeated Belgrade demands for full withdrawal of U.S. forces.

There was no indication immediately what trend the Nixon-Tito conversations in the federal executive council building took, but undoubtedly they covered the difficult situation in the Middle East.

Tito may not make the 28-mile trip to Kumrovec but was expected to return to Belgrade with Nixon aboard the President's plane.

'MOTHER AND CHILD'

Nixon arrived at Tito's office half an hour behind schedule. By pre-arrangement with the Yugoslav leader, he had stopped en route to meet with Dragoslav Markovic, president of Serbia, largest of the country's six republics.

After spending about 15 minutes in the downtown Serbian Council Building—and receiving from Markovic a bronze sculpture entitled "Mother and Child" for the White House collection, Nixon went to the Federal Executive Council Building for his meeting with Tito.

For several downtown blocks, crowds were almost as large as when the President arrived in Belgrade Wednesday.

Pot Charges Pain Five AF Cadets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five Air Force Academy cadets have resigned this school year rather than face court-martial boards on marijuana charges. Allegations of drug violations have been made against another 14 students.

Air Force officials at the Pentagon say the accusations have led to an investigation into the use of marijuana and LSD on the Colorado Springs, Colo., campus.

Until this year, 13 cadets had been dismissed for possession, use or sale of narcotics during the school's 15-year history. All violations occurred since 1967.

The Air Force confirmed the current investigation in response to queries by The Associated Press. However, it stressed that "no academy-wide investigation of drug abuse is under way or planned."

The allegations of drug abuse against 14 cadets were made by their classmates last week. This followed the resignation earlier in the month of five cadets who had been charged with drug violations.

The Air Force said three resigned the first week in September as a result of marijuana charges brought by the academy. Two were charged with possession of marijuana and the third with possession and bringing marijuana onto a military reservation.

Colorado Springs police arrested two other cadets Sept. 12 after a search of their car allegedly turned up marijuana. Police dropped the charges and turned the pair over to the academy. The two, both seniors, subsequently resigned rather than go before a court-martial board.

In a statement concerning the other 14, the Air Force said:

"The investigations are based on alleged reports brought to light last week through the cadet chain of command. There is no evidence at this time that all cases have substantive facts to them. This will be determined when the investigations are completed."

Use of marijuana and other drugs by members of the armed forces has increased each year since 1965. Defense Department officials contend the problem is a reflection of conditions in civilian life. A House Armed Services subcommittee investigating drug use in the military was told Wednesday that an estimated 30 per cent of all armed forces personnel have smoked marijuana at least once.

The only known incident of drug use at West Point, according to the Army, was the resignation last year of two cadets who had marijuana. The Naval Academy expelled 13 midshipmen for smoking marijuana in February, 1968. There have been seven other cases since.

Red China Celebrates, Socks U. S., Kremlin

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China celebrated its 21st year of existence today with a mass rally in Peking and generally muted attacks on the United States and the Soviet Union.

Half a million soldiers and civilians wound through the Gate of Heavenly Peace Square under the eyes of Mao Tse-tung, the 76-year-old Communist party chairman, and his heir-designate, Defense Minister Lin Biao, 63.

TOUGH TIME

Lin, in the only speech of the occasion, boasted that "our national defense has been greatly strengthened" and that "U.S. imperialism and (Soviet) social-imperialism are most isolated and are having a very tough time."

But the tone of his brief remarks was restrained. There was no reference to a possible launch of a Chinese intercontinental ballistic missile which some Western sources had predicted would highlight the anniversary celebration.

Mao and Lin, described by Peking Radio as in good health and high spirits, mounted the rostrum in midmorning to the cheers of the thousands within the square. After Lin's speech, the parade lasted for two hours.

FORBIDDEN CITY

Some 1,000 guests were on the red walls of the Forbidden City, the ancient palace grounds flanking the square. Among them was Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the ousted Cambodian MOURNING FOR NASSER — An Egyptian woman throws up her arms and wears an anguished expression in Cairo Thursday while waiting for funeral procession of late United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdul Nasser to pass.

Weeping Egyptians Mass For Procession

CAIRO (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser, hero of the Arab world, was laid to rest wrapped in a simple white sheet today after a funeral that provided an emotional explosion for millions of adoring Egyptians.

Nasser's body was taken from the casket after prayers by Egypt's top religious leader, Sheikh Mohammed Fahhan, director of Al Azzhar University.

Verses from the Moslem Holy book, the Koran, were read by religious leaders as they placed Nasser's body in the grave in the garden of the Manshiet el Bakry mosque in a Cairo suburb.

ADORED LEADER

Outside the mosque thousands of distraught Egyptians cried and shouted as their adored leader was interred.

Solemn-faced Egyptian dignitaries, not striving to hold back their tears, lined up at the graveside as the body was lowered. People broke through and rushed into the mosque garden to see the final moments of Nasser's funeral. The flag covering the casket was torn.

It was an emotional explosion for the Egyptians and the Arab world.

EXPLOSION

An explosion which began as millions of wailing, tearful Arabs and Egyptians massed along the 13-mile funeral route as an army helicopter started their beloved leader on his final journey.

The helicopter flew over the mourners and landed at the starting point of the funeral cortege, an island in the middle of the Nile River.

Nasser's two sons, tears pouring down their cheeks, watched as the coffin draped in the red, white and black colors of Egypt was placed aboard a caisson to be drawn through the streets of the capital.

Acting President Anwar Sadat also broke down in tears as he led a file of dignitaries past the flag-draped coffin.

A Cairo Radio announcer interrupted his account of the scene and wept: "We have no one but you, O Gamal, why are you leaving us, where are you going?" The whole Arab nation calls out for you."

WIDOW FAINTS

Crowds waved countless pictures of their fallen leader and chanted: "Nasser, Nasser, you cannot die."

Nasser's widow, Tahia, fainted and was taken to a nearby army office where she was treated by doctors.

Leaders of Arab nations lined up with other world leaders behind the caisson as the procession started toward a bridge connecting the island with the Nile bank.

RAINY DAY GIRLS — Diane Zambrano, 6, and Mary Conny Zambrano, 5, daughters of Sgt. and Mrs. Aureliano Mgreño, 1804 Main, make faces at the raindrops falling on the car window downtown during this morning's shower.

Mrs. Nixon Tees Off On Parents

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Pat Nixon told Yugoslav women journalists today she thinks it's up to parents to take a very strong stand to make clear to their children the danger of using narcotics.

"If young people are busy and have to work for their money, they don't have time to get in trouble," Mrs. Nixon said on her second day in Yugoslavia.

Chatting over coffee in a beautiful blue and white drawing room of Belgrade's Old Palace, Mrs. Nixon answered questions about peace, President Nixon, and women.

The First Lady agreed with one reporter who said an international women's organization could help keep world peace.

"How about us starting it?" Mrs. Nixon asked.

She was also asked her views on bringing up children and whether she followed the suggestions of Dr. Benjamin Spock. Mrs. Nixon said she did not follow Spock. "I just gave them love and attention—holding them when they were fed," the First Lady and mother of two grown daughters said.

Later Mrs. Nixon was accompanied by the first lady of Yugoslavia, Jovanka Broz, on a visit to the Belgrade center of the Young Pioneers, Yugoslavia's boy and girl scout organization. Her activities came while President Nixon and Yugoslav President Tito held private talks.

Afterward, Mrs. Nixon joins them for a trip to Zagreb and a visit to Tito's nearby birthplace. Youthful singers and dancers performed for the Nixons at an evening reception Wednesday, and the President invited them to Washington. Tito did the translating; both he and his wife, Jovanka, speak English, which made the socializing easier.

Blocks Sale Of Property In McAllen

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A federal judge has issued a restraining order blocking the sale of property in McAllen, Tex., which had been scheduled for public sale Oct. 6 by the McAllen State Bank.

Four Seasons Nursing Center of America, Inc., which partially owns the property, is being reorganized under Chapter 11 of the Federal Bankruptcy Act. The court order was requested by Norman Hirschfeld, court-appointed trustee of the Oklahoma City-based firm.

The McAllen bank made a $75,000 loan to five stockholders who own 70 per cent of the property, using the McAllen Four Seasons as collateral. The note has since been refinanced and the bank is seeking $84,000.

The parent corporation owns the other 30 per cent of the McAllen nursing center, which was built at a cost of $65,504.

Hirschfeld said he has offered to pay off the McAllen bank, saying that sale of the property to anyone other than the trustee would do irreparable damage to Four Seasons.

Prior to the bankruptcy action, Hirschfeld said, Four Seasons entered into a plan with the McAllen stockholders in which the property where the center was to be built was to be secured by the McAllen nursing center clear of all liens.

DISSENTERS — Charles H. Keating Jr., right, President Nixon's only appointee to the Commission on Pornography, and the Rev. Morton A. Hill make their dissenting opinions known yesterday during a Washington news conference at which the commission's report was made public.

Three Rip Call For Repeal Of Adult Antismut Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential commission's call for repeal of U.S. adult antismut laws has been blasted as "the Denmark option" by three dissenting members—but two others say it doesn't go far enough.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew dismissed the 18-member Commission on Obscenity and Pornography report out of hand during a speech in Salt Lake City Wednesday night. He called it a product of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's administration.

'NOT OUR BABY'

"It's not our baby," Agnew said of the 12-member majority's report. "This commission was not named by President Nixon. As long as Richard Nixon is President, Main Street is not going to turn into Smut Alley."

However, two members of the commission, both sociologists, said the panel should have recommended repeal of all U.S. antismut laws, including those banning the sale of pornography to children.

"There is no substantial evidence that exposure to juveniles is necessarily harmful," said professor Otto N. Larsen of the University of Washington and Marvin E. Wolfgang, chairman of the University of Pennsylvania's sociology department.

DIRTY PICTURES "There may even be beneficial effects," they said, "if for no other reason than the encouragement of open discussion about sex between parents and children—relatively early in young lives."

But Charles H. Keating Jr., President Nixon's only appointee to the commission, accused the panel of "following the Pied Piper of Denmark." He said its proposals would turn the United States into a "pagan, animalistic" country if Congress paid any attention to them.

The commission's recommendations Wednesday to repeal adult censorship laws but enact

Pornography Text Lights

By The Associated Press

Here are key passages from the report of the Presidential Commission on Obscenity and Pornography issued Wednesday:

The commission recommends that federal, state and local legislation prohibiting the sale, exhibition, or distribution of sexual materials to consenting adults should be repealed.

Extensive empirical investigation, both by the commission and others, provides no evidence that exposure to or use of explicit sexual materials play a significant role in the causation of social or individual harms such as crime delinquency, sexual or nonsexual deviancy or severe emotional disturbances.

On the positive side, explicit sexual materials are sought as a source of entertainment and information by substantial numbers of American adults.

The commission recommends the adoption by the states of legislation... prohibiting the commercial distribution or display for sale of certain sexual materials to young persons.

laws against publicly displaying obscene pictures or selling them to children would parallel Denmark's liberal sex laws.

LIVE SEX SHOW

The commission said it was not opening the door to live sex shows like Denmark's, which it said would remain subject to local indecent exposure, sodomy and disorderly conduct laws.

Chairman William B. Lockhart, dean of the University of Minnesota school of law, did not disavow the Denmark comparison at a news conference, although he denied the commission was following Denmark's laws.

He said there might be a short-lived increase in U.S. demand for erotica if adult laws were repealed "but as in Denmark that will not be lasting." He said in the long run U.S. demand for erotica probably would decrease, as he said it has in Denmark.

NOT DENMARK

Father Morton A. Hill of New York City, who joined Keating and the Rev. Winfrey C. Link of Hermitage, Tenn., in accusing the commission of slanting its report in favor of the pornography industry, said the effect of repeal would not be the same in America as in Denmark.

"The United States is not Denmark," he said. "Denmark does not have the crime we do, the unrest, the explosiveness. The Danes themselves told me when I was there these laws would bring disaster to America."

The commission's long-expected recommendations got little immediate reaction from Congress but one of the key proposals in Hill, Keating and Link's minority report was immediately introduced in the House.

NEDA Hopes To Give Latinos Toehold In Business World

WASHINGTON (AP) — A little-publicized agency, created to give Mexican-Americans a toehold in the free-enterprise system, is seeking to place $1 billion in capital under direct control of Spanish-speaking people within five years.

In its first month as liaison between the Spanish-speaking community and federal lending agencies, the National Economic Development Association—NEDA—has processed $5 million in loan applications.

"Our goal for the first year is $50 million," Ben Fernandez, head of NEDA, said in an interview. "We believe this is the way to effect economic and social change—and we are doing it within the system at virtually no cost to the American taxpayer," he said. "We don't want a handout. All we want is the opportunity to compete."

NEDA has a three-phase program: advising Spanish-speaking Americans seeking to start or expand a business; guaranteeing scholarships and on-the-job business training for students; and attempting to break Mexican-Americans into financial ownership.

NEDA figures capitalization must be the base of any such undertaking, and aims to help organize 50 savings and loan associations and 50 banks—all managed by Spanish-speaking businessmen—within two years. "Assuming normal growth, each of these 100 institutions should be $10 million in size of capital at the end of a five-year period," Fernandez said. "That's $1 billion capital under direct control of Spanish-speaking people."

There are no Mexican-Americans among the top management of any of the nation's 6,300 savings and loan associations, and no more than five Mexican-Americans hold top positions in the 13,000 banks in the United States, Fernandez said. NEDA is operating on a $600,000 federal grant. Fernandez says his organization is the first self-help group to embrace Mexican-Americans in the Southwest as well as millions of Cubans and Puerto Ricans in Miami and New York. Fernandez, a product of Indiana's sugar beet fields who became a wealthy economist in charge of his own marketing research firm in California, has become a free-enterprise evangelist to the growing number of militant Mexican-American youths. Fernandez doesn't see NEDA as the answer to all problems of Mexican-Americans. "But it's a good start."

A LOVELIER YOU Exercises Designed To Trim Diaphragm

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely may get away with a bit of extra flesh in some areas of the figure, but never at the diaphragm. It is a "connecting link" between the bosom and waist. Let it carry an excess inch and the lines above and below, however trim, look lumpy.

Fashion's wide skirts, bared midriffs and plunging necklines are no help. Perhaps you have already discovered that fact. If so, take this reducing advice at once:

1. Stretch out, back on floor, with legs straight and arms at sides. Keeping shoulders on floor, raise head and jackknife legs so that knees come up to waist level. Now try to touch knees to nose. After three tries, very gradually return to stretched-out position. Work up to 10 complete repeats.

2. Sit erect and cross-legged on floor. Pull abdomen in; chest up and shoulders down. Holding position, take a deep breath and slowly exhale. Repeat 5 to 10 times, working for increased expansion and contraction of rib cage.

3. On floor, lie on back with knees bent so that feet rest flat. Press hands to upper thighs, fingers pointing upward. Now slide hands toward knees and simultaneously lift head and shoulders. Slowly return to starting position by rolling back along floor, inch by inch. Twenty times.

African Women Aid Their Nations

"African Women's Roles in Nation Building" was included in the program given Tuesday for the Lalla Baird Circle, Wesley United Methodist Church. Mrs. Brent Hollis, 108 Airbase Road, was the hostess. Mrs. David Pohl worded the opening prayer and spoke on "African Women's Roles and 'Soul Sisters.'" Mrs. Ray Anderson discussed "Goodwill Industries."

Mrs. M. O. Hamby, chairman, presided and gave the devotion. The circle will serve as hostess for the general Women's Society of Christian Service meeting Oct. 6 at the church. The next circle meeting will be Oct. 13 in Mrs. Anderson's home, Old San Angelo Highway.

Hem Controversy Promotes Pants

The controversy over the hemlines continues, and many designers are playing both ends of the knee.

Although most of their collections are shown in the mid-length, they can be purchased in shorter lengths.

Many go a step further and refrain from even using the word "mini" and "midi," enjoying those extra inches of safety that lie in "calf-length" or "above-the-knee."

Gaucho pants are riding high into fashion's front ranks for fall and winter.

Most are matched with over the hip vests and long-sleeved crepe or satin blouses for around-the-clock wearing. For daytime, there's wool jersey, for evening, velvet.

Unida Party Makes Little Headway

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A federal judge set a hearing Wednesday for Oct. 10 on a Mexican-American third party's request—twice denied in state courts—to be listed on the Nov. 3 ballot.

U.S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears ordered the Raza Unida (United Race) Party to file its petition with the court before noon today.

The recently organized party seeks a court order to be placed on the general election ballot in three heavily Mexican-American South Texas counties—Zavala, La Salle and Dimmit.

The 4th Court of Civil Appeals and the Texas Supreme Court denied the request earlier this week and Raza Unida lawyer Richard Clarkson took the case at once to federal court here.

ABSENTEE VOTING
Noting absentee voting and the general election is drawing near, Judge Spears set aside Saturday, Oct. 10, for a hearing. Court normally is not held on the weekend.

Clarkson changed his tactics Wednesday, saying he plans to prove the Raza Unida candidates' civil rights have been violated. In the state courts, he primarily argued points of law dealing with the Texas election code.

During a conference Wednesday with the judge and lawyers for the opposing side, however, he asserted that the three counties have placed more stringent requirements on the new party than the Democratic or Republican parties. This denied the candidates their civil rights, he said.

For example, he said afterward, one county contended the Raza Unida candidates must personally prove to the county that they are qualified to run for office.

However, he said, the word of the party chairman traditionally has sufficed for candidates running on the two major party tickets.

The Odessa lawyer also told the court that the Raza Unida parties have been organized in the three counties "along racial lines."

The November election, he said, will amount to "all Anglo candidates elected, or all Mexican-American candidates elected."

SAD CHOICE
"That's a pretty sad choice for the court to make," Judge Spears said.

"It is your honor," Clarkson said, "but we feel in this particular situation . . . the people involved will feel they will not have a choice anyway."

"You want all or nothing?" Spears asked.

"Yes, sir," Clarkson said. Clarkson previously has said a major reason for the third party was to nominate Mexican-Americans for such offices in the counties involved as county judge and commissioner.

Before now, he has said, Anglos were virtually the only ones nominated, thus giving Mexican-Americans a "choice between Anglos and Anglos."

ELECTION CODE
Clarkson told the court Wednesday that in Zavala County (Crystal City), only Democrats and Raza Unida candidates are seeking office. He said there were no Republican candidates. Also, he said, only Raza Unida candidates have filed in two of the races—for precinct commissioner and peace justice.

The men currently in those posts are not seeking re-election, he said.

Lawyers for the three counties contended Wednesday that two state courts, including the Supreme Court, already have ruled against the party; that its pleadings and affidavits are deficient; that the case was presented "piecemeal;" and, particularly, there were numerous violations of the Texas Election Code.

October Ushered In With Dry, Pleasant Weather

By The Associated Press
October dawned dry and mostly clear in Texas today with crisp, pleasant temperatures in all sections of the big state.

Strangely, Galveston was reporting one of the highest early morning readings, 69, while only a few miles away Houston had one of the coolest morning readings, 58.

What little cloudiness existed was in far western areas and in the central coastal section.

Winds were light, mainly from the south.

The Weather Bureau said morning temperatures ranged from the 50s to the 60s. Cloud cover was expected to increase over the southwest Friday with partly cloudy conditions in Northwest Texas and mostly fair skies elsewhere. Another cold front was to begin pushing into the state Friday, touching off rain ahead of it.

Conditions Wednesday were ideal. September faded off the calendar in a good mood with clear skies and temperatures in the 70s and 80s.

Weathermen said nights will be cool and afternoons mild for the next several days, marred occasionally by brief showers.

Ex-Principal Wins Hearing

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A demoted school principal will have a hearing in Austin Oct. 21 before Texas Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar, it was announced here.

Felipe Reyna was demoted last spring as principal of an elementary school in the South San Antonio School District. He was assigned as a classroom teacher and assistant principal at another school.

A parents group protested and demanded a school board hearing, which was granted. The trustees upheld their decision.

Reyna's lawyer, John Serna, said Edgar's office informed him the hearing has been granted.

Pioneer WT Oilman Dies
MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled today for Joyn Emery Adams, a pioneer West Texas oilman and geologist who died in a hospital here Wednesday.

Adams, 71, had been a resident of Midland since 1929 when he came here to work for Standard Oil of Texas. He remained with the company 37 years until retirement. Since then, he has been a consultant geologist with offices in Midland.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter, sister and two grandchildren.

WILL CELEBRATE 75TH, 'DON'T LOOK BACK OR...'

DALLAS (AP) — What does a man say after 75 years of marriage to the same woman? "Don't look back or the past may catch up," said O. A. Prather, 94. He and Mrs. Prather, 90, will celebrate their 75th wedding anniversary Friday.

"Our wedded life has been built on a foundation of unity and cooperation . . . joint responsibilities on a 50-50 basis," said Prather, a retired contractor for house painting and paper-hanging. Even after retirement he continued to paint his home, giving it a going-over as recently as 1965.

The two Texas natives were married in Waco Oct. 2, 1895. They moved to Dallas in 1911, when the mule-drawn streetcars, or "mulecars" in Prather's words, were the thing on Dallas streets.

The couple has two living daughters, four grandchildren, ten great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Labor 'Boss' Claws Meany

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 76-year-old Meany, but opposed leading union official has criticized AFL-CIO President George Meany for supporting White House policies in Vietnam and "socializing" with President Nixon.

"Labor is less effective than it should be because too many leaders of the AFL-CIO refuse to acknowledge that we should be getting completely out of Indochina—now, not on some leisurely, procrastinating basis," said Secretary-Treasurer Patrick Gorman of the AFL-CIO Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen.

THEIR CHOICE

"If some labor leaders want to spend their spare time socializing with the leaders of this administration, that's their choice—but then they have no basis for complaining when their members back home become confused or critical," Gorman told a group of newsmen.

He apparently referred to Meany's attendance and that of some 75 other union leaders at a White House dinner with Nixon last Labor Day.

"It's just about impossible to criticize the administration's economic and domestic social policies one day and then 'fraternize' with administration leaders the next without creating a substantial credibility gap for union leadership," Gorman said.

ONE OF FEW

Gorman is one of the few high AFL-CIO leaders to openly criticize Meany on this score.

Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders, while supporting Nixon's course in Vietnam, have sharply attacked his economic policies as creating unemployment without controlling inflation. The AFL-CIO leaders have also attacked Nixon's record on civil rights, education and other domestic policies.

"I am completely opposed to it," Gorman said of the AFL-CIO's support of Nixon's policy of gradual withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam while "Vietnamizing" the war.

"In addition, I think the AFL-CIO ought to be taking stronger steps to bring labor together. I mean specifically by bringing the Auto Workers and the Teamsters back to the house of labor. They need us, we need them," Gorman said.

THAT'S A NO-NO

Gorman, 77, said he still considered himself friends with the He's not a man who doesn't understand the problems. Why he says the things he does just bewilders me," Gorman said.

"I don't like the idea of socializing between the president of some 15 million people in labor unions with a President of the United States whom everybody knows has no kinship with the aspirations of organized labor," Gorman said. Asked if he was thinking of pulling his union out of the AFL-CIO?

"No, no, no, no," he said. "We can do more by staying in as part of the organization."

Gaskins Wins Scholarship

Kelly Gaskins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, Knott, has been named a winner of the Santa Fe Educational Awards for 1970. Gaskins, a freshman at Texas A&M University, also will receive a $500 college scholarship.

Seven other 4-H students were named winners in Texas and will be, with Gaskins, among the Texas delegation attending the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago Nov. 29-Dec. 3. Gaskins was among four of these students selected to receive scholarships.

The eight students have a combined total of 70 years in 4-H, an average of 8.75 years each.

Bible Fund Up

Two more contributions have been received for the Bible Class Fund, pushing it past the $4,700 mark. They include America Business Club $50 and Mrs. Wanda L. Roman, $10, making the new total $4,730.30.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. (Matthew 11:28)

PRAYER: O Lord, look in compassion upon us and be our help. Through Thy church minister to youth in conflict. Deliver those ensnared by the strangling power of drugs. May we reach out and help them find their strength in Thee. Amen.

Down For Count This Time

Hopes for a reform of the electoral college have been beaten ostensibly for this session of Congress. The Senate voted 53-34 to shut off debate and bring to a vote a proposal for a constitutional amendment which in effect would permit the election of the president and vice president by popular vote. This was five short of the two-thirds necessary for imposing the seldom-used cloture rule. Sen. Mike Mansfield, the majority leader, promptly moved to set it aside temporarily. Sen. Birch Bayh, leader in efforts to pass the proposed amendment, said he intended to move again for cloture, but the view of Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., leader of the opposition, seems more realistic. He said the proposal, passed 339-70 by the House, was dead for the session.

In brief, the amendment, which would have to be ratified by two-thirds of the states, provided that none could be elected President unless he received at least 40 per cent of the popular vote, and if none had this high a percentage, then a run-off would have to be held. President Nixon had endorsed the idea.

Opposition is chiefly in the less populous states which, under the electoral system, might exercise more power and hopefully some day force an election of a President by the House. The side-tracked proposal may not have been the best alternative, but it would parallel what most states do in naming their governor and other officials. The old electoral system is creaky, outmoded, and could someday confront the country with a constitutional crisis.

Like Rabbits

Robert S. McNamara pinpointed a crucial problem the other day when he urged a massive drive by all nations to control population.

McNamara, now president of the World Bank, told the bank and International Monetary Fund members that one billion births should be prevented in the next 30 years.

The alternative is a rabbit-warren world, with the gap between rich and poor continually widening, he said. This includes nations as well as individuals.

An uncontrolled birth rate will bring people into the world at an ever accelerating pace. More people mean more pollution, more poverty, and more conflicts.

Governments at all levels have more problems now than they can handle. Jammed urban centers are decaying. Air, water and land have been damaged.

Unless the population explosion is slowed and controlled, the outlook is for more of the same, multiplied many times.

Art Buchwald Now About Those Commissions—

WASHINGTON — There's probably nothing more embarrassing for the President of the United States than to appoint a commission to investigate a serious situation in the country, and discover he's part of the problem.

THIS SEEMS to have happened with the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, and the White House is taking it very hard. There is even some talk of a presidential commission to investigate unrest on presidential commissions.

A spokesman for this group, Harvey Troglodyte, told me:

"It's a terrible thing for this country, not to mention the fall elections, when a presidential commission blames the President and his Administration for what's going on in the United States."

"It sounds like another Pearl Harbor," I said, trying to ingratiate myself to him.

"WE'RE NOT GOING to let it happen again," Troglodyte said. "If we can't have a presidential commission that supports the President we'll do away with presidential commissions for good."

"That's a very serious step," I said. "It's not our fault. The President appointed the commission on campus unrest in good faith. He told them to get to the bottom of the student crisis and give him the answers to the hard questions that confront us."

Billy Graham

Would you explain why a God as powerful, intelligent, and of such tremendous capabilities, needs, or wants, the puny and senseless worship of people? Are you theologians imputing vanity to God?

The word worship means, "To have intense love or admiration for," according to the dictionary. Are you implying that love, admiration and adoration, are puny and senseless?

It is human and natural to admire and to pay honor to those who deserve and merit it. We look up to those who are more knowledgeable, purer, or those who have performed great feats or accomplishments. God is the epitome of greatness, and it is therefore proper that we "worship" Him. But, I did not invent the idea of worship. It is clearly taught in the Scriptures. So, your quarrel is with the Bible, not with me.

David said, "O come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our maker." Psalm 95:6.

Jesus said, "It is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve." Matthew 4:10.

In Revelation we read: "Fear God, and give glory to him: for the hour of his judgment is come: and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of water." Rev. 14:7.

Worship is a form of saying thanks to God for His goodness. Man stands tallest when he is on his knees. It is proper for finite man to feel humbled in the Presence of the Infinite God.

What Others Say

A student was killed by a bomb blast at the University of Wisconsin recently, but there were no protests of sympathy for him like those that followed the killing of students at Kent State University.

Perhaps there were no demonstrations because it wasn't the police that killed the graduate student, merely a bomb believed placed by a "subversive organization." Or perhaps it was because the student was 33 years old and a father of three children, and not one of the "in" crowd.

In the college scene today and in far too many places, the prank calls are turning into real threats to lives and property.

Police are called pigs by many groups, including some students who should begin to realize that they are being used to that they might be the next ones to be blown up by those they think are friends.

Add if students don't want campus activity to get out of hand, then they had better begin taking an active part in patrolling and cleaning up their own ranks of "quick triggers" and "bombers."

John Cunniff Japs Sold On Electric Cars

NEW YORK (AP) — Perhaps it is their nature or the flexibility of their businesses or simply the desire for profit, but the Japanese, it appears, are taking the electric car a bit more seriously than American manufacturers.

True, electric cars are being manufactured in small quantities in the United States, and have prototypes of these vehicles of the future. But the market, it appears, exists now rather than tomorrow.

A survey by Opinion Research Corp. indicates that 50 million Americans would consider buying a short-range, limited-speed electric car if one were on the market at less than $2,000.

This vehicle would be designed to go 40 miles an hour and to travel about 150 miles before having its batteries recharged in a home charging unit, specifications that many engineers feel can be met through intensive effort.

Meanwhile, two big Japanese battery manufacturers have begun setting up the machinery for making electric cars operable and efficient in that country by developing a nationwide battery rental system.

The incentive to Japanese manufacturers is a decision by the government to replace many delivery cars, public service vehicles and midsize vans and other short distance vehicles now operating in major cities within the next three to five years.

The battery stations are absolute essentials in the eyes of the Japanese, because the present designs of electric vehicles restrict them to less than 100 miles without recharging.

Without such stations, therefore, travel by electricity would be seriously limited, to say nothing of the possibility of cars being stranded all over the highways.

The Japanese are embarking on their electrification program despite drawbacks to using lead batteries that have caused American manufacturers to proceed cautiously. But noise and pollution, the Japanese feel, must be dealt with now.

To make the lead battery more efficient, both companies of them already have completed an experimental device that reduces recharging time from eight to five hours.

A prevalent American attitude is that the electric car is impractical with existing batteries, and that for the electric car to be really worthwhile, a revolutionary fuel cell must be developed.

The Japanese seemingly have decided to go with what they have rather than wait for perfection. And American people, judging from the OPR survey, may be in a somewhat similar mood.

Hal Boyle How About You?

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Acres for acre, life in Manhattan is noisier and probably more deadly than in any Brazilian jungle.

Everybody hates his own picture in his high school yearbook when it is first published, but 25 years later, glancing through it, he decides he wasn't such a bad-looking kid after all.

Four out of five men have something hidden in their office desks that they wouldn't want members of their family to see. How about you?

The human race will never be universally courteous and helpful until the Lord sends down an affliction that will force every member of it to use crutches at least one day a week.

Whenever I see anyone eating a piece of pizza pie with every outward appearance of enjoyment, I deplore his taste but admire his stomach—and wish only that he were wrecking it in a nobler cause.

An old-timer is one who remembers when no family went on a picnic without taking along a tin cup.

One of the things that bothers me about dogs in a big city is that so many of them live out their existences without ever having the fun of burying a bone in a backyard.

One solution of the miniskirt-maxis controversy that has upset style-conscious women would be to have them wear mini-length petticoats and over them a maxiskirt made of see-through plastic. That would certainly solve the problem from the male point of view.

Some people make it a point of pride never to be unduly stirred by anything. When shown Niagara Falls for example, Oscar Wilde remarked only that they would be far more impressive if the water ran the other way.

Mischief must be rare in heaven. Otherwise long ago some merry angel would have painted a beard on the rainbow.

There is a connection between brains and money—but not a happy one. It doesn't take a lot of brains to make a lot of money; even a little money, however, can at times upset the brainiest of men.

One of the reasons many people wouldn't want to live their lives over again is that they can't stand the thought of having to fill out all those government forms a second time.

Over-All Health

SANDTON, South Africa (AP) — A by-law requiring women's hair-dressers to wear overalls at work is being enforced by local health inspectors.

Hair stylist Ronnie Dreger, who came here from London last year said: "It's the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard of. Never once in the 16 years I ran a salon in London was I required to wear an overall."

The national secretary of the South African Hairdressers' Employees Industrial Union, J. Daniel, supported the council and said: "Hairdressers who do not wear pocketless overalls tend to put combs and scissors in their pockets instead of in sterilizers."

To Your Good Health Stopping The Pain Of Heel Spurs

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.
Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you advise cutting out a heel spur? Or what treatment? What causes it? I do a lot of walking. —L.W.

Dear Doctor: I would like to know why my heels hurt so bad. I can hardly walk on them. I have tried soaking with a foot soap but nothing seems to help. —Mrs. K.M.O.

A "heel spur" is an accumulation of calcium in the tendon on the bottom of the heel, a result either of some injury or an infection — more likely the former.

This little lump of calcium, like a small pebble in your shoe, is painful when you put your weight on it.

Incidentally, I am not saying that Mrs. K. M. O.'s trouble is a spur. It may be something else, and she'll do best by having her doctor diagnose the trouble. Spurs aren't the only cause of pain.

However, heel spurs are a rather frequent problem. In most cases it is the location of the calcium "spur" that makes it so annoying. A comparable calcium deposit, or even a larger one, might give little or no trouble when located in a spot where it is not subject to pressure as it is on the heel. But on the heel, it has to take your whole weight.

Generally speaking, the best treatment is to use some sort of pad or lining in the shoe to relieve the painful spot from pressure. Soaking one's feet can't be expected to solve the trouble.

In some instances, an injection of cortisone subdues inflammation and pain and brings relief, but if the heel is subsequently bruised again, the trouble can return.

In some severe cases, surgery to remove the calcium deposit may be the only satisfactory answer — but such cases, in my experience, are the exception rather than the rule.

Why go through the surgery and be forced to stay off your feet until the heel (or heels) has healed? The better way in the great majority of cases, is to accept the fact that pressure on that small calcium deposit is the cause of the pain. Then a proper padding to take the pressure off the spot is the simplest procedure.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible for a man to catch a sex disease by kissing a woman, mouth to mouth? —B.W.

Possible, if conditions are just right — if the woman has an active infection (usually syphilis) and particularly if there is any open break or cut in the tissues of your mouth.

However, this is a possibility rather than a probability. Most venereal disease is transmitted by sexual intercourse.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim That Mysterious Realm

It's that time again. I HAPPENED to overhear a couple of coffee-drinkers talking in a foreign — but familiar — tongue the other day, and it hit me. Football is back. Not that it was ever really gone.

"Did you see the way he faked that pass down the middle, flanked to the right and then ate the pigskin on the 10?" one of them queried to get my attention. Not that he was talking to me — but a rhetorical question like that is bound to draw attention. I felt like throwing down my Women's Lib armor, giving him a steely-eyed glance and saying: "Please, sir, not in mixed company."

SOMEHOW, I feel that sports is one of the major barriers between women and the realization of equal rights for them. It doesn't seem to matter how many homes women manage, businesses they run or causes they champion and goals they accomplish. There is nothing more superior looking, sounding or acting than a man discussing sports in front of a woman.

My 10-year-old brother even manages to look down his nose at me (no mean feat since I'm taller than he is) when I stare blankly in response to an enthusiastic comment about the number of yards in Roger Staubach's touchdown.

HE HAS TROUBLE remembering his own birthday, but just ask him when Craig Morton's birthday is. (Morton plays football for somebody — or does he?)

This unusual memory seems to have become a recognized trait in most men. Not only has it been classified "for guys only," but it also is "for GOOD guys only."

JUST THE OTHER night I watched an old movie on television. Right at the first of the movie Jeff Chandler tells an old has-been football star: "I saw you play 15 years ago in Chicago." Then he proceeded to give him a detailed rundown of the has-been's exceptional performance in that particular game. Fifteen years! Come now.

I DIDN'T REALLY believe it, but at least it established Chandler as the good guy. We knew right off that he was a football fan of the first magnitude, and as such he had to be the hero. It didn't matter that the has-been turned out to be the villain. He was only a football star — it's the fans who keep things in line. —JEAN FANNIN

David Lawrence Cuba Sub Base Poses Grave Problem

WASHINGTON — Just as one crisis seems to be ending, another appears on the international horizon. The hijacked hostages have been released in the Mideast, but only 90 miles away from the coast of the United States the Soviet Union has begun to construct a base for submarines which can fire nuclear missiles.

FOR A CENTURY and a half the United States has held fast to the doctrine that no European nation should be allowed to establish a foothold anywhere in the Western Hemisphere. This has been known as the Monroe Doctrine. Today, as nuclear-powered submarines are able to cruise underwater and sneak up to the coastlines of a nation, reconnaissance planes survey the approaches from the sea carefully, a Soviet submarine base in Cuba constitutes a grave threat to the safety of the American people. For a friendly Soviet Union would not need such a base so close to American territory.

The Pentagon says, however, that there are firm indications the Soviet Union is establishing a permanent submarine base in Cuba. When this word reached Capitol Hill, both Republican and Democratic party spokesmen expressed their astonishment and promptly pronounced the move dangerous.

"I DO VIEW it with alarm," said Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Democratic leader. "It raises the most serious questions in the light of President Kennedy's statement after the 1962 Cuban missile crisis that offensive weapons must be kept out of the Western Hemisphere to assure peace in the Caribbean."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican of Arizona, in a statement declared: "The construction of a strategic submarine base in Cuba would be in keeping with current Russian moves aimed at shifting the world balance of power away from the United States."

"THESE MOVES, coupled with Soviet military activity in the Middle East and Russian-supported military activity in Indo-China, all support the conclusion that the Soviet Union is now engaged in its boldest bid for world domination since the Cuban missile crisis of 1962."

Such comments certainly were not expected after the reports that the Soviet Union was beginning to work with the United States in the arms limitation talks and was starting to use its influence toward bringing peace in the Middle East.

ONE EXPLANATION may be the curious way Russian foreign policy develops. The Cuban submarine-base idea was doubtless authorized when the United States began to strengthen its fleet in the Mediterranean. Since that time the Washington government has renewed arrangements for a military base in Spain and also in Greece. The growing size of the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean has caused concern here.

The members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have been reluctant to see the United States cut down its standing forces in their countries, so President Nixon has turned toward naval strength as one means of emphasizing America's continuing desire to fulfill its NATO obligations. Indeed, Mr. Nixon's decision to make a trip to Europe, focused on the Mediterranean, is believed to have been related to his desire to reassure the members of NATO that the United States is not abandoning the co-signers of the treaty.

The Soviet Union, meanwhile, viewing such moves, has come back to its missile-base idea of 1962.

AS FOR CUBA, if it becomes a military base for the Soviets, the nations of the Western Hemisphere will be more cautious about their future relationships with the Havana regime. Maybe Mexico will not wish to renew its treaty providing for air travel between Mexico City and Havana. This would be a big handicap to the Cuban government. A universal boycott of Cuba would add to the troubles of the Cuban people, but it seems inevitable if the Castro government continues to permit its territory to be used for a missile base from which attacks can be launched against neighboring countries.

Andrew Tully Softening Of Campaign Issue

WASHINGTON — As a campaign issue, inflation lost some of its muscle for the Democrats with the government's announcement that the cost of living in August posted its smallest increase in nearly two years. But it is not a license for smugness within the Nixon administration.

ON THE DEMOCRATIC side, despite public attempts to downplay the improvement, a top aide of the Democratic National Committee put it in pragmatic terms.

The aide, who reflects the thinking of Chairman Lawrence O'Brien, was pessimistic. "We need that inflation issue," he said. "It's the best one in our bag. We're not going to get any aid and comfort from headlines saying that Dick Nixon has reduced the cost of living."

On the other hand, some top Republicans refuse to dance in the streets — yet. What the Consumer Price Index shows is merely a trend toward a much lower rate of inflation, spelled out in the statistic which says that seasonally adjusted rate of price increases over the past three months was only 3.5 per cent, compared to 6.0 per cent in the three months ending in May and 7.3 per cent in the three months before that.

THE REPUBLICAN problem is getting these figures over to the housewife prowling the supermarket. Shopping for hamburger, the housewife may find it difficult to go into ecstasies over the fact that a pound of that staple has increased by only one cent instead of one and a half cents. After long years of high prices, she has a right to expect a bit more in the price-cutting department.

In other words, while Republicans salute the trend, the objective observer has to wonder whether it is significant enough and came soon enough to do GOP candidates some real good in November.

MOREOVER, the Democrats have continued their sniping at Nixon's campaign against inflation. It is too little and too late, they charge. But the Democratic economists — Walter Heller, Gardner Ackley and Arthur Okun — do make some points.

ONE IS THAT Nixon's failure to continue the Kennedy-Johnson policy for wage and price restraint resulted in an unnecessary boost in the cost of living. Another is that the economy continues sluggish and slack as a result of Nixon's tight money policy. They also noted that the full cost of this slack may reach $150 billion or more in lost production and incomes.

Obviously, what GOP candidates need is a continuance of the present downward trend. Figures for September will be released late in October, only a week or so before the Congressional elections, and if they show a further decline in the cost-of-living increases, the headlines trumpeting this good news will provide a boon for the Republicans just when they need it most.

MEANWHILE, the Republican gain is real as of today. With Nixon's de-escalation of the Vietnam War, inflation is not only the Democrats' biggest issue, it may be their only one. The GOP has pretty well preempted the safe streets and campus unrest issues.

By The Associated Press

Cutbacks, labor disputes and outright shutdowns are putting thousands of Texans out of work—many in the past week—and leaving others insecure about their future. More layoffs may be forthcoming.

A national strike and cutbacks in defense spending is getting most of the blame.

Texas Instruments, Dallas County's largest employer, laid off 1,200 employees and the General Dynamics plant at Waco announced it was closing down, leaving 1,481 employees jobless. Both announcements came in the past week.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration laid off 175 employees Wednesday in Texas, part of an agency-wide cutback of 900 persons.

NASA said space industry contractor employment at Houston will drop to 6,100 by July of 1971 from about 8,400 employees 18 months ago.

TI LAYOFFS

Announcement of the TI lay-off brought out pickets at the sprawling TI plant in Dallas County.

Norman Riffe, who described himself as coordinator of the Dallas Peace Action Center, said, "Two weeks ago 2,200 people were laid off at Texas Instruments. On Thursday 4,400 more people are expected to be laid off. These actions should clearly demonstrate to everyone the futility of trying to build a stable society and economy on war and violence."

A spokesman for TI denied rumors of further layoffs.

"There is no basis for the rumors," the spokesman said.

A major blow in September was the Sept. 15 strike against General Motors, which idled 4,000 United Auto Workers members. Most are on the payroll of the GM assembly plant at Arlington.

Tom Barrow, Texas Employment Commission director of reports and statistics, said many jobless Texans were blaming the strike for costing them their jobs in related fields.

CLOSING PLANT

Last Friday the A.O. Smith Corp. announced it was closing its plant at the Houston Ship Channel, which employs 400. Manager William M. Bradley blamed the shutdown on a slowdown in the economy and foreign competition.

The plant manufactures large diameter pipe for pipelines. The Smith plant is adjacent to Armco Steel, which supplied plate for the Smith plant. The closure likely will affect about 200 of Armco's 5,400 Houston workers.

The unemployment rate for Texas in August was 3.7 per cent, up from 3 per cent in February and 2.6 per cent in August of 1969. The latest figure represents 176,500 jobless Texans in a work force of 4.6 million.

Barrow said the latest figure still compares favorably with the 5 per cent national unemployment rate. "But we have had layoffs and cutbacks that have hurt us in Texas," he said.

Efficiency Data Guns Down Myth

AUSTIN (AP) — The prejudice of many Anglos that they are more ambitious than Mexican-Americans is not based on facts, two Texas scholars say.

Comparison of efficiency ratings of Mexican-American and Anglo postal clerks, firemen, policemen and sales clerks shoots down the myth, they reported.

Dr. Norval Glenn, University of Texas sociologist, and Dr. Charles N. Weaver of the St. Mary's University Business School in San Antonio, made the study.

Despite the tendency of the Mexican culture to emphasize "acceptance and appreciation of things as they are" and to be "fatalistic" and lack a strong future orientation, Glenn and Weaver report their findings "strongly suggest that the traditional Mexican culture is not as great a barrier to economic and occupational advancement as many observers have believed."

They said, "The Mexican-

Americans exceeded or about equalled the Anglos in the ratings and indicators."

Glenn and Weaver said the data they accumulated "do not support the hypothesis that Mexican-Americans are less ambitious than Anglos."

One aspect of the traditional Mexican culture—placing obligation to family above individual advancement—may actually be a spur to "superior job performance and high achievement motivation," they reported.

They said they believe, "Many Latins strive for promotions and pay increases not so much for personal aggrandizement as for means to discharge strongly felt obligations."

The "most important implication of our findings is that the alleged cultural handicap of Mexican-Americans apparently is not a valid reason for discrimination in employment and promotion," Glenn and Weaver

Hike In Dumping Fees Postponed

HOUSTON (AP) — A hike in the city's fees for dumping garbage has been postponed from Oct. 1 to Dec. 1 at the request of the private refuse haulers.

The city now charges 10 cents a cubic yard to dump garbage at a city landfill site and the price was due to jump to 35 cents by Oct. 1 and 45 cents Jan. 1.

Guaranteed Annual Pay?

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic U.S. Senate candidate, again claimed Wednesday that the Nixon welfare reform bill amounts to a guaranteed annual income.

Bentsen's opponent, Republican U.S. Rep. George Bush, supports the bill and asserts it is not a guaranteed annual income.

"George Bush knows that, regardless of what you call it, the welfare reform bill which he supports provides for a guaranteed annual income of $1,600 for a family of four," Bentsen said. "Even President Nixon, in a message to Congress on Sept. 11, referred to his welfare reform proposal as a 'basic national income supplement for all needy families with children.'"

"If this isn't a guaranteed minimum income, I don't know what is," Bentsen added.

Globe Receives Festival Money

The Globe of the Great Southwest, Odessa, has been granted $5,025 by the state fine arts commission to provide salaries for a core group of professional actors for the group's annual 11 weeks long summer Shakespearean festival.

Funds to support such grants, which total $51,363 among 17 organizations for the fiscal year which began July 1, were made available for distribution in Texas by the National Endowment for the Arts in Washington.

Among the organizations also receiving grants are the San Angelo Symphony Society, San Angelo, $2,000, to host a second annual national full symphony and selected and to tour the winners.

FORSAN'S DEFENSIVE ALIGNMENT — Changes will have to be made for the Wall game Friday night because of an outbreak of injuries but here is Forsan's regular defensive alignment. Up front, from the left, they are Vard Griffith, Ricky Klahr, Van Barton and Phillip Medlin. The linebackers are Steve Yeats, Chuck Chrene, Darrow Cobb and Jacky Willis. Deep men are Mike Murphy, Jeff Williams and Tommy Brumley. The Buffaloes play in Wall.

Mets, Cubs Battle For Runner-up Spot

By The Associated Press

The National League East battle—for the No. 2 spot—will be settled tonight when the New York Mets and Chicago Cubs meet while in Philadelphia the surprising Montreal Expos can avoid a basement finish with a victory as the regular season comes to a close.

Bill Hands stifled the Mets on seven hits Wednesday as the Cubs moved into a second place tie with their 2-0 triumph, setting up a confrontation between Chicago's 21-game winner Ferguson Jenkins facing Jim McAndrew, 10-13.

WORTH $1,000

Second place is worth approximately $1,000 per man while the losing team will pick up about $300 apiece. The East champion Pirates have a five-game lead as they get ready for Saturday's opening playoff game against the Cincinnati Reds.

The Expos exploded for four third inning runs to stop Philadelphia 5-4 and move one-half game ahead of the Phillies into fifth place.

Carl Morton, Montreal's rookie right-hander will be on the mound today trying to push the Phils into the cellar. The youngster has taken 18 games this season and is a prime candidate for NL Rookie of the Year honors.

In other NL action, Houston edged San Francisco 4-3, St. Louis shaded Pittsburgh 4-3 and San Diego topped Los Angeles 2-1. Cincinnati and Atlanta were not scheduled.

The Cubs snapped a scoreless tie in the sixth inning as Mets' starter Nolan Ryan walked four Cubs for a run and Chicago added a tally in the seventh on Tommy Davis' run-scoring double.

The Expos trailed 3-1 in the third, when with two out, Jim Gosger drove in a run with a single, John Bateman followed with a two-run hit and Bobby Wine capped the inning by driving in Bateman with a triple.

In the West, Houston clinched fourth place, beating the Giants on John Edwards' run-scoring single with one out in the ninth off reliever Don McMahon. Larry Dierker, 16-12, was the Astros' winner.

Juan Marichal went the first eight innings for San Francisco. Bobby Bonds ripped his 26th homer for the Giants.

The Dodgers missed a chance to clinch second in the West as the Padres snapped a three-game losing string. Los Angeles leads the Giants by one-half game.

We share the frustrations of Cal Lowery and James Pearce, who have suffered injuries which will prevent them from playing Friday night. We wish them speedy recovery.

See you at the arena!

A&I Ranked 7th In AP Grid Poll

By The Associated Press

Montana won and got four first place votes but finds itself in third place in The Associated Press Small College Football Poll, down a notch from the previous week.

Akron moved into second place behind No. 1 Arkansas State in the poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

Akron, No. 3 last week, got only two first-place votes but garnered 202 points, three more than Montana. Akron won 19-6 over Northern Michigan last Saturday, dropping Northern Michigan from a tie for 16th out of the rankings. Montana dropped Northern Arizona, previously No. 11, out of the rankings with a 20-0 victory.

Arkansas, 12-3 winner over Southeastern Louisiana, remained on top with five first-place votes and 221 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten are North Dakota State, Delaware, Texas A&I, Eastern Michigan, Drake, Tampa—which moved to ninth from 16th—and Tennessee State.

Louisiana Tech, eighth last week, dropped from the rankings after a defeat by Lamar Tech which took over the No. 17 spot.

BREAKFAST IS AT ST. MARY

The Quarterback Club's breakfast Friday, where friends of football get a change to mingle with the players, will be served in the St. Mary's Episcopal Church dining hall, Tenth and Goliad streets.

A fee of 25 cents will be exacted both from adults attending the breakfast and the players. Serving time will begin about 7:15 p.m.

Sunday morning church services will also be held at St. Mary's Episcopal at 10:30 a.m. Players and adults will meet outside the church and attend as a group.

Sophs Host San Angelo At 7:30 Here Tonight

Deprived of the chance to play last week when Colorado City cancelled out at the last moment, the Big Spring Sophomores return to competition in Memorial Stadium at 7:30 o'clock here this evening against the San Angelo Sophs.

The Sophs blew the duke to Midland Lee's Sophs in their opener, 34-6, but came back to swarm all over Coahoma's B team, 42-0.

This will be the first home appearance for the Sophs. Tim Smith, former all-state footballer for the Big Spring Steers, is head coach of the Sophs.

Big Spring's Junior Varsity is not booked to play again until Saturday, when it opposes Abilene High on the road at 1:30 p.m.

The JVs are 0-2, having yielded to Snyder, 8-6; and Andrews, 14-12.

Five other local teams return to play this evening. The ninth grade Brahmas, 2-1 on the year, visit San Angelo for a 7:30 joust with Edison Junior High.

Smith, McNamara May Get Bad News Soon

By The Associated Press

Preston Gomez and Harry Walker are in, but Mayo Smith and John McNamara may be out as managers as the major league baseball regular season ends today.

Gomez and Walker were rehired Wednesday as managers of the San Diego Padres and the Houston Astros, respectively.

ending speculation that they might not return.

In contrast, the future of Smith at Detroit and McNamara at Oakland is clouded.

A Detroit official said a press conference is likely to be held Friday. Most observers feel the Tigers will announce then that Billy Martin, former Minnesota manager, will be named to replace Smith.

Charles O. Finley, Oakland owner, has declined to confirm or deny reports that he will not re-hire McNamara as manager of the A's.

Walker and his entire coaching staff were given one-year contracts for the 1971 season. Gomez and his coaching staff similarly received new one year contracts.

Spec Richardson, general manager of the Astros said, "In no way can I blame Walker and his staff for our sore-arm pitching. We looked for additional pitching and couldn't find it. So we are as much to blame."

BIGGEST MELON Sunland Opens Big Season

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. — Purses totaling about $1 1/2 million — biggest in the history of Sunland Park — will be on the line in the 1970-71 season which kicks off on Saturday.

The inaugural weekend of the 85-day split meeting includes 12-race programs on both Saturday and Sunday, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Saturday's season-opening agenda will be topped by the Inaugural Handicap, a six-furlong run for older horses which offers a prize of $4,000-added.

Gross purses for the '70-71 season were originally estimated at about $1,250,000. But, according to General Manager Art Johnson, the surprising growth of Sunland's big-money events will push the gross purses up around the million-and-a-half level.

FUTURITY DEC. 6

Heading the list of top events is the Sunland Park Thoroughbred Futurity on Dec. 6, which was originally pegged at about $40,000 but now appears a certainty to top out at around $50,000. The list of nominees to the Futurity includes virtually ever juvenile thoroughbred of reputation in this section of the country — including Swapsann, the undefeated daughter of Kentucky Derby Winner Swaps, and Texas Sky, winner of the $146,000 Land of Enchantment Futurity at La Mesa Park.

The Sun Country Futurity — expected to evolve into one of the world's richest horse races — is carded as a mainstay of the spring portion of the split fall-spring. The two-year-old quarter horse dash is expected to carry a total purse of around $200,000.

The Riley Allison Thoroughbred Futurity on closing-day, May 9, is expected to top out at around $75,000. This is a boost of some $30,000 over the last running.

The 1970-71 stakes schedule also reflects hikes in the Spring Inaugural Handicap, which was boosted from $3,500-added to $4,000-added; and the upgrading of the Sunland Park Derby from $6,000-added to $7,500-added.

The fall campaign will extend through Dec. 6. After a two-week break the spring meeting will get under way on Dec. 26, extending through May 9.

PACT RENEWED

As part of the renewed agreement with the Juarez Dog Track, which practically eliminates any conflict between both border racing establishments, Sunland will schedule the first Friday program of the season on Oct. 23. The Friday agendas of both Oct. 23 and Oct. 30 are set for the twilight first-post of 3 p.m. Friday night racing, starting at 7:30 p.m., kicks off on a regular basis on Nov. 6.

All Saturday and Sunday program throughout both meetings will cover 12 races, starting at 1:30 p.m. Ten-race programs are booked for the Friday agendas.

Early-season indications point to the finest-caliber racing stock in recent years, according to Racing Secretary A. C. Kemp who sifted through some 2,500 stall applications before giving the green light to 974 head.

The Cody Stable of Mount Pleasant, Tex., will be back at Sunland after a successful debut in the Southwest last year. Under the direction of Trainer Bill Morrow, the Cody Stable is scheduled to ship in a 12-head group which includes Praise Allah, a stakes winner in New Jersey; Sir Turbance, a $10,000 campaigner; Edmire, a winner for $7,500; and King of Ridan, a three-year-old.

COMMISSIONERS TABLE RETROACTIVE BENEFITS
... Mayor Arnold Marshall, Eddie Acri, Garner McAdams, George Zachariah

Commissioners Approve First Reading Of Pension Benefits

By HOWARD SIMMS
City commissioners passed the first reading of an ordinance increasing city employee retirement benefits at Wednesday night's special budget session and approved the purchase of a car for the city manager.

Bob Brock's low bid of $2,969.93 on a Ford Custom 500 was accepted over the slightly higher bid of Broughton Truck and Implement Co. on an American Ambassador. The city manager will have unrestricted use of the car, to be equipped with two-way radio, in lieu of a monthly car allowance.

Two changes in the municipal employee retirement system approved by a majority of the commissioners at their Sept. 22 meeting were nullified by procedural errors. "We will scratch our previous action and start all over again," George Zachariah explained. Jack Watkins had protested the action at that time saying the item had not been passed three days with the city agenda.

The ordinance doubling the city's share in the fund payments on a "from now on" basis was passed on the first of the required three readings. Employees now pay five per cent of their salaries into the fund, up to a salary limit of $7,200.

RATIO CHANGE
The city has been matching this on a 1-1 basis, but will change to a 2-1 matching payment rate beginning Jan. 1 if the ordinance passes the next two readings. This change will cost the city about $18,935 during the 1970-71 fiscal year.

D. A. BRAZEL
... questions legality

A second ordinance providing for retroactively doubling city participation in the fund by matching again the amount paid into the fund over the last 20 years for employees still on the payroll was tabled after again meeting stiff opposition.

One reason for postponing action on the matter was the absence of Commissioner Wade Choate.

The estimated cost of the retroactive benefits is $223,733. The Texas Municipal Retirement System allows to be spread over 20 years in annual payments of $11,188.

LEGALITY QUESTIONED
D. A. Brazel told the commissioners he thinks the retroactive feature would not be legal. "It would cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars, and it is my understanding that it is illegal for a commission to make expenditures binding on their successors. This would bind commissions for the next 20 years, and you have not provided any means or special funds for defraying the cost."

"I am convinced by further investigation that the city employees would rather have this money now in the form of a wage increase above the $20 a month raise provided in the budget."

Herb Prouty, city attorney said that he was not sure but thought future commissions could terminate the prior service payments at any time. Mrs. George Thomas suggested that an opinion be sought from the state attorney general on the legality of the proposal.

Both Garner McAdams and Eddie Acri said they would not approve the proposal if it was binding on the future commissions.

DIDN'T UNDERSTAND
"I didn't understand it, if it was ever explained to us in the budget work sessions, that this $11,000 has to be paid each year for 20 years. It wasn't published or anything. I can't vote to obligate folks for 20 years," McAdams said.

Acri said he would rather use the money to raise employee salaries by $25 instead of $20. Zachariah, hesitant to make such a change with Choate absent, asked that the proposal be tabled while the legality of the measure is referred to the attorney general.

PAY INCREASE
A number of sanitation department employees sat through the discussions and after the meeting told the city manager and some of the commissioners that what they want is a pay increase beginning immediately instead of Jan. 1 and instead of increased retirement benefits.

They also asked that arrangements be made to shorten their working hours in accordance with shorter hours included in budget plans for police, firemen, and street department employees. One said he would like to be home with his family on holidays instead of working those days and getting a day off after the holiday.

Acri and Crow said they need time to work out these changes, and Crow added that the new containerization system will probably put the city in a better position to make changes after the system gets going.

Nothing New In Commie's Peace Plan, U.S. Insists

PARIS (AP) — The United States said today that a careful review of the Viet Cong's latest eight-point plan for peace has turned up nothing that could advance a negotiated settlement of the Vietnam war.

South Vietnam also told the 86th session of the Paris peace talks that it has tried in vain to discover something new in the plan, presented Sept. 17 by Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, the Viet Cong's top delegate. South Vietnamese Ambassador Pham Dan Lam issued an urgent reminder that his country is very much a part of the war and insists on a major voice in any peace settlement.

NO CHANGE

U.S. Ambassador David K.E. Bruce told the conference that "I have seen nothing which leads me to revise my opinion that your fundamental demands seem unchanged." These demands — unilateral U.S. withdrawal and a new Saigon government — have already been rejected by the United States.

Bruce said the demand for the removal of Saigon's president, vice president and premier remains unacceptable. He implied that to make such a demand was a "breach of our agreement" to begin plenary talks.

Bruce and Lam expressed their positions as speculation mounted that secret talks between North Vietnam and the United States had begun on the basis of Mrs. Binh's self-styled "peace initiative."

Bruce and his deputy, Philip C. Habib, must report to President Nixon in Ireland this weekend on the status of the talks. Last weekend Nixon sent his principal counselor, Henry A. Kissinger, to Paris to confer with the delegation.

WAR SCHEME

Bruce said when he took over the U.S. delegation recently that he had been given broad latitude by Nixon to seek a settlement but could only exercise the latitude when the other side showed some flexibility.

Mrs. Binh's proposals have drawn U.S. interest and could be the signal of this long-sought flexibility.

'I'VE BEEN CREASED ALL OVER' 'This Is My Last Day With The Texas Rangers'

CARRIZO SPRINGS, Tex. (AP)—Texas Ranger Capt. A.Y. Allee, who says he's "first, last and always for the Rangers," is officially a civilian today.

He completed his final day with the elite force Wednesday, retiring after a career that spanned nearly 40 years.

Alfred Y. Allee joined the Texas Rangers in 1931, just as his grandfather and father had before him.

GOOD AND BAD
"My father and grandfather and great-grandfather were all in law enforcement," he said, his voice rumbling and booming, "and I felt like I wanted to carry on—and stand between the good people and the bad."

His son, A. Y. Allee Jr., also joined the Rangers and is now stationed at Ozona.

"I've slept it, I've dreamed it, it's been my life," Capt. Allee said, "and I'm going to retire gracefully."

More than 300 persons honored Allee at a reception here Sept. 12. Among the crowd was Col. Wilson Speer, head of the Department of Public Safety, who told Allee he may be called on from time to time to come running with his help.

"You won't have to call very loud for me to come running," Allee said.

His only break in service with the Rangers came in 1933, when he left for a chief deputy sheriff's post in Bee County. He returned to the force in 1935 and has been with the Rangers since.

HUNT, FISH
Allee, who became 65 Sept. 14, says he plans to "hunt and fish and let these women come out and bait my hook."

In a more serious vein, he said he intended to spend more time on his 755-acre ranch near here and with his two grandchildren. "I don't guess I'll be anything when I retire," he said recently, "but if I can help the Rangers any way, I will. I'm first, last and always for the Rangers."

Allee says he has "no regrets whatsoever. I wish I could recall about 35 years. I would do the whole thing all over again."

In his long and colorful career, Allee has bounced back from gunshot wounds, heart attacks and a broken neck to continue enforcing the law.

"I've been shot at more times than I can count on both hands," Allee once said. "I've been creased all over. But I've never been shot deep enough."

HIS ENEMIES

Allee has hundreds of friends—he's known in virtually every South Texas town—but he also has enemies and harsh critics. Militant Mexican-American organizations have fired verbal salvos at him constantly in recent years.

But his friends give a far different view.

San Antonio Lawyer Fred Semaan, a longtime friend, tells how Allee has referred 15 or 20 persons to him because they needed an attorney but were broke.

to see you?" Semaan recalled, imitating Allee's deep, gruff voice. "That poor guy doesn't have any money but he's in trouble. You go ahead and represent him, and I'll pay you for it."

Semaan said he always told Allee there was no need for him to pay. "People don't know these things about him," Semaan said. "He's a helluva fine fellow."

Allee, who will be succeeded by Ranger Jim Woods of Corpus Christi, dropped by to see Semaan in San Antonio Wednesday to give him a certificate making him an honorary Texas Ranger.

He had to leave before he could see Semaan, so he left the lawyer a note. He signed it off this way:

"This is my last day with the Texas Rangers."

HOW BIG A FACTOR IS MIDDLE AMERICAN VOTER? STATISTICS TELL STORY

GOP Wooing Mortgage-Owning, Law-Abiding Workers

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The blue collar middle American voter, long thought to be locked in the embrace of the Democrats his father voted for, is regarded by Republican strategists as the key to success in this year's elections — and perhaps many beyond them.

For in the wooing of this mortgage-owning, law-abiding workingman, GOP leaders see a chance to break the Democratic status as the majority party and to usher in a long Republican reign.

HIS DESIRES

They have met with successes here and there but the extent of any conservative shift is far from certain as Democrats counterattack on economic issues they think will keep labor Democratic.

Who is this middle voter and what does he want?

The picture is readily drawn and statistics abound to flesh him out: He's a fledgling suburbanite, more prosperous than he ever expected to be but fearful that the social turmoil of the time may take away what he has only now begun to enjoy.

RIGHTWARD DRIFT

An Associated Press survey among politicians, political scientists, psychologists and others five weeks before election day finds wide preoccupation with the apparent rightward drift of at least part of the American labor movement.

Items:

—The state AFL-CIO in New York has endorsed Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a move supporters of his opponent, former Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, hope to upset later this month.

—A high Republican political tactician, who declined to be quoted by name, confirmed in an interview that the focus on the blue collar middle American has become a key to the party's national effort.

Through the campaign speeches of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, the theme runs clear: "The time has come for someone to represent the workingman in this country, the forgotten man . . .," as he put it in Illinois.

INTEREST RATES

—George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, lamented recently that the Democratic party was disintegrating under the influence of extreme liberals and alienating many of the nation's 20 million unionists.

On the other side, Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has been stumping the country talking about interest rates, unemployment, economic bumbling by the Republicans—all the while aiming to draw the worker's mind to the bread and butter issues which Meany said in an interview would be decisive in determining whether labor leaves the Democrats in substantial numbers.

How big a factor is this middle voter? Election statistics tell the story.

At the time of the 1968 elections, 42 per cent of this electorate were men and women who work in some capacity with their hands. Add the housewives in such families and a solid majority emerges.

RACE IS ON

Suburbia accounted for 35.6 per cent of the total vote. And the rush to the countryside races on, figures in the 1970 census shows.

This exodus has been accompanied by significant changes in the racial population pattern. Whites moving into the suburbs are being replaced by blacks in the inner cities.

Organized labor estimates more than half its members now live in the suburbs. More than 75 per cent of those under 40 have moved out from the cities, indicating the way of the future.

Families with annual income between $5,000 and $15,000 accounted for 66 per cent of the vote in 1968. Some 80 per cent of union labor now falls within these limits.

AVERAGE AGE

In 1968 the average age of the American voter was 47. Even if 18-year-olds are allowed to vote in the 1970s, the average voter age will remain in the 40s. The under-30 group, while growing, accounted for only 17 per cent of the vote in 1968.

Twenty-two per cent of 1968's voters had elementary schooling or less. Twenty-six per cent had been to college.

Ninety-one per cent of all voters are white; 68 per cent are Protestant; 51 per cent are women.

That's the statistical base on which the political strategists and pollsters find growing concern with law and order, with alleged permissiveness, with student disorders, with racial unrest.

While such surveys turn up conservative feelings on law and order, they show at the same time liberal attitudes on the traditional social issues.

NEEDY, AGED

This shows in approval of programs for the needy, for medical and Medicaid and sympathetic attitudes toward the hungry and the aged.

However, a common misconception is that the American workingman, having prospered, is now thinking only of the social issues and has become less concerned with economic ones.

Dr. Walter Menninger, psychiatrist at the famed Menninger Foundation and a member of the President's Commission on Violence, said in an interview that suburbia's aversion to disorder "is related to what you have to lose—and particularly if you have just earned or accomplished some things."

Concerned about his economic security, the blue collar worker sees lawlessness, radical change in moral standards, attacks on accepted institutions as a threat to a world in which he has achieved some status and comfort and of which he is extremely protective.

CAMPAIGN TRAIL

The application of all these concerns shows daily on the campaign trail.

The term "Democratic permissiveness" is heard almost every time a Republican opens his mouth these days. The line runs that Democrats have been sympathetic to radicals and have accused the Republicans of not understanding.

"The American people don't understand it either," Agnew said. "And they don't approve of it."

President Nixon took up the same theme at Kansas State University when he warned of the "cancerous disease of violence and terror," and berated "destructive activists" on campus.

At the same time, Democrats are working to separate social and economic issues.

"Liberals don't favor crime, or mugging, or riots in the ghetto or on the campus," former vice president Hubert H. Humphrey told the American Bar Association recently.

"Both hard hats and the liberal-als—who some people would have you believe are running off in diverse and divergent directions—are all for law and order," Humphrey said.

HHH'S POINT

But Humphrey drove straight to the vital point when he admonished:

"Liberals must stop using the words 'well-meaning' about those who see violence and law-breaking as the way to influence public policy."

Both parties thus are talking on the law and order issue and they are aiming it at middle-class working people.

The Republican hope is to erode the Democratic hold on the labor vote, wed it to the traditional conservative vote and the south and hold it into a winning coalition.

It is too soon to say now labor is going in 1970.

But as the election approaches, political scientists and politicians seem agreed that the center wants security—economic, physical and emotional.

$25 Million Bond Sale Date

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Louie Welch of Houston said the city will propose a $25 million bond sale for Oct. 2, $10 million of which will be for sanitary sewer improvements.

The $10 million would go for sewer lines, sewer plant enlargements, lift stations and other improvements, Welch said.

The city has been under pressure by the Texas Water Quality Board to improve sewage disposal.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My children have all urged me to write and take exception to your answer regarding all the "selfish slobs" who bring crying and talking babies to church services.

You said, "If a child makes even one annoying sound he should be removed from the audience for the duration of the service."

We are Mormons, and Mormons believe in large families. We also believe the whole family should attend church together. Maybe the young people who are having problems with drugs, immorality, etc. would be living differently if they had been taken to church when they were babies.

Babies by nature cry. Children by nature sometimes speak out. Adults by nature are often intolerant of others—especially of children. I admire the minister who is impervious to distractions.

I suspect that if Christ were giving the sermon one day and your writer complained to Him about the children, He would repeat what He said once before, "Suffer little children and forbid them not to come unto me: for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Yours, very truly, MRS. C.D.H., BLACKFOOT, IDAHO

DEAR MRS. H.: Thank you for pointing out the other side of the coin. You show yourself to be more compassionate than I in this instance. May I amend my advice and apply the rules of baseball to disturbances in church? Three times and out! I would like to know how clergymen feel about this.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law, who lives in another state, is "things crazy." She has traveled all over the world collecting things. Her home is a museum—not a home.

My husband and I and our two children, ages three and five, visited her recently and it was pure agony. She watched the children like a hawk and it was, "Don't touch that," every other minute. My husband went right along with her, spanking the kids every time one reached to touch something.

I got so nervous I finally sent the children outside. My mother-in-law followed them to be sure they didn't step on her flowers! (She spanked the 3-year-old twice in 20 minutes for daring to touch one of her pansies.)

These children are not bad. And they're certainly not wild or destructive. They have an intelligent curiosity about everything, and what harm is there in touching a flower?

I refuse to visit her with the children again. I've told my husband that if his mother wants to see US, she has good health and plenty of money, and she can lock up her museum and visit-us in our home. My husband says I am wrong. What do you think?

ALL SPANKED OUT
DEAR ALL: I think you're right.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

'Hectic Summer' Sighs Mother-Of-The-Bride

By MARILYN NEVELS

Mrs. Owen Ivie has retired as a recent mother-of-the-bride to recuperate from the hectic summer. The Ivies' Number Two daughter, Sandra, was married to Bobby Massey Aug. 29. In addition to the usual preparations, Mrs. Ivie made her daughter's floor-length wedding veil, trimmed with lace and seed pearls, and baked the bridegroom's cake, using the Cocoa Poundcake recipe given below. To decorate his cake, Mrs. Ivie made marzipan fruit. "The marzipan took a half a day to make and was a lot of trouble, but a lot of fun, too," recalled Mrs. Ivie, who calls herself "a homebody." She enjoys family activities, cooking and sewing. She made the tablecloths for the bride's and the bridegroom's tables, and used to make many of her daughter's clothes. Adding to the busy excitement of the summer were the visits of many relatives to see the Ivies' new home at 3 Coachman Drive. The family moved there in May. "We had been looking for a new home for a long time and couldn't be happier if we had designed it ourselves," Mrs. Ivie said. "We have a view all the way from Cosden to the VA Hospital, and the patio is so restful at the end of the day." Mrs. Ivie enjoys the spacious, modern kitchen with picture-window view in their new home. She does a lot of baking in the kitchen, and enjoys baking with yeast. "You really feel as if you've achieved something when you bake with yeast," she said. She often makes dinner rolls and freezes them for future use. During the past six years, the Ivies' three daughters have attended Texas Tech University and their youngest, Nancy, is a junior there. Thus the Ivies have spent a great deal of time attending events in Lubbock, and are big Red Raider fans. Each daughter has played in the band at Tech. Their oldest daughter, Mrs. Richard Watts, Oakland, Calif., was a percussionist. Mrs. Massey, a flutist, and Nancy, a bass clarinet player. However, the girls rarely played as a trio at home, as their instruments did not "blend" too well, according to Mrs. Ivie. She has her own instrument, a piano which she has antiqued yellow. "I hope to get the rest of the living room to go with the piano," said Mrs. Ivie, who plans to use Mediterranean furniture. Whether their trips are to Lubbock or to the mountains in New Mexico, Mrs. Ivie enjoys traveling. She often accompanies her husband, who is general manager of the Colorado Municipal Water District on trips to Austin and even as far as New York City. "Everyone should go there once," said Mrs. Ivie of New York. Due to busy weekends at Lubbock and weddings, Mrs. Ivie has cut down on her activities. "I used to belong to the Child Study Club until my daughters said, 'Mother, we're too old.' I do volunteer work at the VA Hospital in the X-ray department," Mrs. Ivie said. She has volunteered there for 2 1/2 years, registering patients for X-rays and occasionally running X-rays through the developing machine. Mrs. Ivie prefers baking and pastry-making to cooking and the family favors her coconut cream, Dutch apple and pecan pies. She created the Guacamole Dip by experimentation, leaving out garlic as a personal preference. When entertaining, the Ivies usually have 16 people and serve a buffet supper. Then the punch recipes come in handy.

NUT-BROWN DATE BARS

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1 1-3 cups sifted flour
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
2 eggs
1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1/2 tsp. vanilla
2-3 cup cut-up pitted dates
1 tbs. grated orange rind
1/2 cup medium-fine chopped walnuts

Cream butter and granulated sugar; with a spoon, work in 1 cup of the sifted flour. Pack into buttered square cake pan (8 by 8 by 2 inches). Bake this base in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until lightly browned — about 25 minutes. Meanwhile sift together the remaining 1-3 cup flour with the baking powder and salt; set aside. Just before base has finished baking, beat eggs until thick and ivory color; gradually beat in brown sugar, then vanilla; fold in the sifted flour mixture, dates, orange rind and walnuts. Spread over hot baked base and return to 350-degree oven until firm and brown — about 30 minutes. Cool on wire rack; cut in bars. Store in tightly covered tin and the base of these bars will stay delightfully crisp for a couple of days.

BREAD PROVIDES the average American more of the nutrition he needs at less cost than any other food. Americans pay tribute to the staff of life on Oct. 6, proclaimed by a Congressional resolution as the national "Day of Bread."

Nation To Note 'Bread Day'

Bread, man's staff of existence for 10,000 years, will receive recognition Oct. 6 as Americans observe the second annual "Day of Bread."

Established in 1969, by a joint congressional resolution, a Day of Bread is to be observed annually each October. The purpose is to recognize the essential role that wheat and wheat-products play in our lives.

Of all food products, bread has universal acceptance as the one most basic. "Bread" gains greater meaning throughout the world as governments concern themselves with the increasing problems of feeding the hungry and undernourished, both in this country and abroad.

In the United States, diseases such as pellagra and beriberi were virtually eliminated following the enrichment of bread, begun in 1941.

The bread enrichment program was prompted by an alarming incidence of nutritional deficiency diseases found throughout the country in the 1930's. Bread and flour were selected to widen the distribution of the "enrichment" ingredients, including essential B vitamins and food iron to go with the proteins and minerals. Today, bread is as much the staff of life as it was 10,000 years ago when man first learned to make it. The average American gets more of the nutrition he needs at less cost from bread than any other food according to bakers.

A Day of Bread has been observed in West Germany for 20 years. It spread to other countries of Europe, to the Americas and the Far East. Last year, President Nixon, the governors of 35 states, and the mayors of scores of cities, proclaimed the first Day of Bread in America.

In Texas, local observances are being coordinated by the Texas Bakers' Association in conjunction with wholesale bakers, retail bakers, and local food stores.

Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and boiling. Remove from heat; stir in vegetable puree, milk and cream. Chill. Stir well before serving. Makes about 1 quart.

Have Sardines For Light Meal

Give zip to sardines.

SOUSED SARDINES

Juice (about 1 1/2 tbsps.) of 1/2 lemon
1/4 cup dry white wine (chablis)
1/4 tsp. dried crumbled thyme
1/2 small onion, thinly sliced and separated into rings
1 can (3 3/4 ounces) brisling sardines
Minced parsley, if on hand
In a small, wide, shallow dish, stir together the lemon juice, wine and thyme. Arrange the onion at each side of dish. With a small spatula, carefully lift sardines from oil and place in center of dish; spoon marinade over them. Cover with transparent plastic wrap and refrigerate for 2 or 3 hours, spooning marinade over them a few times. If parsley is used, sprinkle it copiously over sardines before serving. Makes 4 servings. Nice served with Egg, Pimiento and Romaine Salad.

Coconut is the top crop on the remote Seychelles Islands. The 92 small islands in the British Crown Colony dot the Indian Ocean about 1,000 miles east of the Kenya coast.

CALLING ALL HOME MAKERS

By Ted Hatfield
DID YOU EVER WONDER WHO CREATES FASHION TRENDS?

Many manufacturers who must keep up with all the trends in decorating styles and fashions take the credit for creating these changes — or at least they may give some credit to their designers.

But the person who really deserves the credit for the changing trends is YOU, the consumer. This is equally true whether you're talking about dress fashions or furniture fashions.

All that the manufacturers and designers can possibly do is interpret your likes and dislikes; it is you who will make the final decisions as to what styles and colors you will buy.

Actually, as far as furniture goes, the public never had it so good. Selection-wise. Never in years has there been such a bonanza of diversified style trends going at one time.

The furniture industry today is offering the widest selection of colors, textures, styles and designs to suit every decor and taste imaginable.

So whatever trend you like best, visit us for a fine selection in the wonderful world of furniture.

The Old Notion Of 'Buyer Beware' Is Facing Death?

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission's new chief of consumer protection is heading for Washington determined to use dormant legal power to enforce a square deal for millions of American buyers bewildered by false advertising claims or stuck with shoddy products.

OLD STUFF

"The old notion of 'buyer beware' is going out the window," Robert Pitofsky, a law professor at New York University, said in an interview Wednesday. "The people won't stand for that sort of thing anymore."

Pitofsky, 40, was counsel to the American Bar Association 16-man panel which investigated the FTC and concluded it should either be reformed or abolished. President Nixon decided to reform it and one of the men he called on was Pitofsky, a Democrat.

VERY RIGHT

"What we're doing is probing for a new relationship in a mass production economy," he said. "Why has the FTC been a failure?" he asked rhetorically. "There's nothing wrong with the idea of the FTC—in fact, there's something very right about it."

"What's needed is to get the agency to act aggressively and use the powers it already has—we don't need any new laws to make the FTC effective."

These were virtually the complaints the ABA panel made in its report Sept. 15, 1969, that led Nixon to name the panel's chief, Miles W. Kirkpatrick, to head the agency and Kirkpatrick, in turn, to appoint Pitofsky.

Pitofsky was formerly a lawyer with Thomas E. Dewey's firm specializing in antitrust cases.

"Starting a couple of years ago," he said, "I started drifting into this. I began to appreciate the enormous potential of the consumer movement."

THAT'S HIS JOB

He then repeated charges made in the report that the FTC, until the last year or two, had wasted its limited resources on trivia. Asked for examples, he listed such things as prosecutions for faulty punctuation in advertisements, labeling furs and insisting that sewing machine manufacturers refrain from calling them automatic when a pedal had to be used to activate them.

The FTC, he said, has "only minimal resources, it has a million cases, and has to decide where to put the emphasis. At the present time there are 12,000 complaints a year."

"As a practical matter," he added, "the individual consumer can't defend himself, and that's our job."

FOLLOW UP

Pitofsky's bureau is the only government agency armed with legal powers to look out for the consumer. Virginia Knauer, Nixon's chief of consumer affairs, has only prestige and moral force.

"The problem is so vast you get submerged in it," he said.

Fear Fuel Shortages In America

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials seeking to avert the threat of widespread fuel shortages this winter say that severe weather may impose temporary shortages on some industries.

But they say they are relying mainly on market forces, fuel producer cooperation and public self-restraint to avert a threat of widespread shortages.

Modest government actions aimed at lessening the threat were announced Tuesday.

Officials emphasized that home heating needs take first priority and that no homes would be left without fuel.

Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, and George A. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, outlined the administration's approach in a joint statement and a news conference.

Circumstances have raised different threats for different parts of the country, they pointed out.

The East Coast, dependent on imported residual fuel oil for more than 90 per cent of its needs, faces possible shortages because of developments in the Middle East which have reduced the availability of both the oil and the tankers which carry it.

The Southeast faces possible coal shortages because of a shortage of railroad hopper cars, they said.

In the Midwest, they said, delays in construction of atomic power plants have contributed to increased demand for fossil fuels, especially low-pollution ones, for power generation.

Prof Quits, SMU Hints It Will Pay Off Pact

DALLAS (AP) — Asst. Prof. Pat Canavan, center of a dispute at Southern Methodist University about his appearance and actions, has resigned and officials indicated today the school will pay off the $12,000 to $15,000 contract.

Canavan resigned only a month after arriving on the campus. SMU officials, declining further explanation, ordered administrators to make no comment and barred newsmen from a mid-afternoon meeting of Dean Jackson Grayson Jr., business school faculty members, students and Canavan.

But according to the student newspaper, "The Daily Campus," Canavan resigned in the wake of "pressure from members of the Dallas business community."

A source who attended the private meeting said Grayson acknowledged there were strong critics of Canavan's lifestyle.

They objected to his dress—usually blue jeans—a parachute that hung from his office ceiling, his long hair and classes that included so-called sensitivity training.

The young Yale graduate was actively recruited for the faculty and was paid more than the usual base salary for beginning assistant professors. One faculty member recently described him as "one of the brightest men in America today."

Canavan apparently went afoul of the University because he often attended classes barefoot and gave the appearance often associated with the radical student element.

In an interview printed by the college newspaper recently, Canavan's comments often were sprinkled with four-letter words.

Howard County Post 355, American Legion, will meet at 8 p.m. tonight for a regular business meeting in the post home. The auxiliary will hold its regular meeting at the same time.

Larry Phillips, commander, said several items are on the agenda and urged all members to attend.

The auxiliary tonight will make final plans for the Ladies Social Evening Friday at 7 p.m. at the post. Further information about the activity can be obtained from Mrs. William (Nancy) Gonzalez.

Dowdy Trial Is Postponed

BALTIMORE (AP) — The bribery-conspiracy trial of Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., scheduled to begin next Monday, has been postponed indefinitely because of Dowdy's hospitalization.

U. S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen said Tuesday he would await a report on Dowdy's condition before setting a new trial date. Special prosecutor Stephen H. Sachs predicted that the trial would be delayed for at least two months.

Dowdy, an 18-year congressional veteran, has been hospitalized in Texas since Sept. 8 after aggravating an old back injury. He was due to undergo spinal surgery.

The congressman is charged with acceptance of a $25,000 bribe to intercede on behalf of a now defunct Washington, D.C., home improvement firm.

Amman Is Almost Back To Normal

Life was almost back to normal today in war-torn Amman, but an Arab truce team was dispatched to investigate Palestinian guerrilla charges of renewed fighting in northern Jordan.

In Cairo, kings and presidents gathered with millions of Arab mourners for the funeral of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, who died Monday of a heart attack.

At the United Nations, the United States appealed Wednesday to Israel and Egypt to resume the Middle East peace talks, stalled since Sept. 6 after Tel Aviv accused Cairo of moving Soviet missiles into a cease-fire zone along the Suez Canal.

HIJACK ATTEMPT
Early today, seven Arab commandos were flown to Cairo after being released by Britain, Switzerland and West Germany in return for the freeing Tuesday of the last six hostages from multiple hijackings of airliners by guerrillas Sept. 6 and 9.

One of the freed guerrillas was Leila Khaled, who had been held in Britain 24 days for her part in an abortive hijack attempt.

She and the other six arrived in Cairo in time for Nasser's funeral. They were escorted by Egyptian security police from the airport to Palestinian headquarters in the Egyptian capital and planned to participate in the funeral cortege.

The last six hostages, all American men, arrived in New York Wednesday after being released in Jordan to intermediaries from the International Red Cross.

Amman Radio said a full cease-fire was effective Wednesday in the Jordanian capital, with army troops withdrawing to positions three miles from the city's outskirts and guerrillas in Amman gathering at their headquarters and surrendering their arms.

CIVIL WAR
However, Damascus Radio broadcast a guerrilla charge that Jordanian troops had launched artillery and ground attacks against Irbid and Ramtha, five miles from Syria.

Irbid, Jordan's second largest city 50 miles north of Amman, was the scene of violent fighting during the civil war between King Hussein's forces and Palestinian guerrillas led by Yasser Arafat.

On Sunday, Hussein and Arafat met in Cairo, and, under the auspices of Nasser and other Arab heads of state, agreed to halt the fighting and allow an Arab truce commission to supervise the cease-fire.

AIRPORT OPEN
The truce team sent observers Wednesday to investigate the situation in Irbid and Ramtha which are 10 miles apart and are considered guerrilla strongholds.

The team expressed hope that the way could soon be opened for the second phase of the truce agreement, which calls for the return of government troops to their bases and the withdrawal of guerrillas from cities and villages.

The commission also said the Amman airport was open to civilian flights, interrupted with the outbreak of fighting Sept. 17.

Says Slayer's Note Fuzzy

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Arnold Proskin says a note left by Joseph W. White, who shot four state secretarial workers to death last Thursday and killed himself, "did not spell out any particular reason" for his actions.

The note was found in one of White's trouser pockets after the rifle-shooting rampage in the State Labor Department building, White, 25, and the secretaries all worked there.

His victims were Sandra Peters, 24, Patricia Chromik, 22, Mary Ann Reinisch, 27, and Linda Willis, 21.

Proskin said an investigation "did not reveal any connection between White and his victims other than that normal to co-workers."

One phrase in the note read "sic transit gloria mundi"—Latin for "thus passes world glory."

Turn Over Jets To Viets

BIEN HOA, Vietnam (AP) — Two squadrons of A-7 jet attack bombers were turned over to the South Vietnamese air force today, raising to 28 the number of squadrons now operated by the Vietnamese.

The 40 aircraft were transferred from the U.S. Air Force's 3rd Tactical Fighter Wing in ceremonies at this big air base 15 miles northeast of Saigon as part of the Vietnamization program.

By 1972, plans call for the Vietnamese air force to have 50 squadrons, 1,200 aircraft and 45,000 airmen.

Moody Foundation Linked With Gambling In Nevada

AUSTIN (AP) — Roy Cohn of New York, who once helped investigate alleged Communists, zeroed in on a monument of American capitalism Wednesday, the $400 million Moody Foundation of Galveston.

The fast-talking lawyer with heavy eyelids sought to show the foundation had indirectly financed Las Vegas gambling.

SWEET CHARITY

His unsolicited, unsworn testimony was before a committee of legislators and laymen who are trying to learn if Texas needs new laws controlling charitable foundations.

Cohn, counsel for the late Sen. Joe McCarthy's red-hunting investigations, was accompanied by a New York public relations man and illustrated his testimony with colored slides, including an interior view of a casino.

He said one of his New York clients, former Texan Larry Hurwitz, was turned down recently in an attempt to buy the Galveston-based foundation's controlling interest in the National Hotel Co.

'SELF-DEALING'

Through a complicated series of transactions, involving Moody-controlled American National Insurance Co. and a St. Louis bank, two former officers of the insurance company acquired an interest in the Dunes Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas, Cohn alleged.

Further transactions resulted in the officers obtaining stock with a potential profit of over $1 million Cohn claimed.

"If the Las Vegas enterprise had been that of American National instead of personal, 70 per cent of the profit would have gone to the foundation," he said.

Cohn also said the foundation, 14th largest in the nation had engaged in "self-dealing" in the sale of its interest in the National Hotel Co.

'Big Three' Face Antitrust Suits

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has filed antitrust suits against the "big three" auto makers, alleging they simultaneously abandoned fleet discounts for state and local government cars.

Martin announced Wednesday he had filed the suit in federal court in New York City.

He alleged General Motors, Ford and Chrysler conspired to fix prices and eliminate competition in their bids on vehicles.

"Abrupt and simultaneous removal of the long standing customary fleet discounts by the manufacturers has resulted in substantial price increases on vehicles," Martin said.

The increases have been as much as $800 per car, he said, adding that since May 6, the date of the increase, the state has bought more than 700 vehicles.

"This concerted artificial price inflation could cost the state of Texas over $1 million per year or substantially reduce the number of vehicles so urgently needed by the many state agencies, and some larger cities and counties are similarly affected," he said.

Martin said Louisiana, Florida, Oklahoma, Vermont and New York City also filed against the auto manufacturers.

Housing Idea Draws Crowd

HOUSTON (AP)—The city attorney proposed Wednesday that the City Council look for a method of controlling federally subsidized housing projects as about 300 persons crowded City Hall to protest such projects.

City Attorney William A. Olson proposed a subdivision ordinance that would regulate such things as green space, parking space, street widths, availability of water and sewer and drainage.

Olson offered to put a group of lawyers to work on the problem.

The 300 protesters jammed the City Council chamber to protest a project on which the interest for construction funds will be subsidized by the federal government.

Local government has no authority over interest-subsidized projects as it does rent-subsidized ones and councilmen told the protesters to march on the Federal Building one block away.

Minority board member J. W. McCullough said the CSAE has asked the Charlotte, N.C., Board of Trustees, one of those the court is hearing, to join their suit as a friend of the court.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♠ Dbie. Rdbie. 2 ♥
2 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: King of ♠

A shrewd diagnosis of the declarer's predicament enabled West to pin a defeat on South's four spade contract by pressing home a lethal assault against which the latter had no effective counter measure.

West opened the king of clubs against the final contract and East followed with the nine as the beginning of an echo to show a doubleton.

South realized that if he won the trick, West could be expected to put up the ace of spades when trumps were led and then give his partner a club ruff.

In an attempt to disrupt his opponents' line of communications, declarer followed with the deuce of clubs permitting West to hold the trick. Now it was the latter's turn to deliberate.

South was marked with both of the missing aces to warrant his opening bid. Alho a club continuation would ostensibly present the declarer with a trick, West still still give his partner a ruff on the third round—providing that he made the proper lead at trick two.

West continued with the queen of clubs, not a small one, and South was led with the ace. A spade was led and West put up the ace to lead a third club. East ruffed and returned a diamond. South played the four from his hand and West scored the setting trick with the king.

Observe, that if West had led a small club at trick two, declarer can put up North's jack and then discard the ace of clubs on the ace of hearts. When West gets in with the ace of spades to lead a third club, South is in position to overruff East and thereby limit his losses to one spade, one diamond and one club.

By continuing with the queen of clubs, West placed the lead in the declarer's hand and inasmuch as the latter had no quick entry to the dummy for the discard on the ace of hearts, he was unable to prevent the ruff.

Shell Gets Lead Out

HOUSTON (AP) — The Shell Oil Co. introduced a new non-leaded gasoline coast to coast today.

The company announced Wednesday that it would be the first major marketer to do so on a national basis.

The new gasoline will be available today in essentially all of the company's domestic marketing areas as about 30,000 new pumps are being installed to handle the new third grade.

"Just about everybody wants to get the lead out of gasoline as soon as possible," said M.B. Holdgraf, vice president of marketing.

The new gasoline will be in the 91-octane range and Holdgraf said it will meet the engine specifications of nearly all 1971 automobiles.

LeTourneau Deal Told

HOUSTON (AP)—The Marathon Manufacturing Co. of Houston has acquired 90 per cent of the R. G. LeTourneau Inc. of Longview.

In making the announcement Wednesday, Marathon said it acquired 1,663,942 shares of LeTourneau stock from the LeTourneau Foundation and LeTourneau College.

An agreement in principle was announced Aug. 28. LeTourneau, an innovator in heavy construction equipment, manufactures machinery for earthmoving, logging, material handling and land clearing. It also is a major producer of mobile offshore drilling platforms. Marathon manufactures electrochemical leisure-time and metal fabricated products.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Oct. 1, 1970 9-B

dent of the Longview firm, was elected to the Marathon board. A company spokesman said the purchase involved cash, long term notes and common stock, although terms of the transaction were not announced.

OPPOSITION TO GARBAGE SYSTEM AIRED Commissioners Adopt $3,200,203 Budget

By HOWARD SIMMS
A $3,200,203 city budget was adopted in Wednesday night's special commission meeting despite opposition on the planned container refuse collection system, questions on travel expenses and membership dues paid for city officials, and suggestions that each department be prevented from spending above its budget allocation.

About 50 concerned citizens turned out for the public budget hearing, and several expressed their views in a lengthy discussion on the container system.

City Commissioner Garner McAdams asked City Attorney Herb Prouty for a clarification of the legality of the use of time warrants approved by the commission Sept. 22 as the means of paying for the containers.

Prouty said state law requires that provisions must be made for a revenue increase to cover the expense without imposing a financial burden on future fiscal years, and a sinking fund must be set up earning at least two per cent interest capable of paying off the principal and interest on the warrants as they become due.

MRS. C. R. RHOADES
... muddy alleys

$11,000 was budgeted to pay a fifth of the cost, and the five year time warrants will enable the city to pay the rest during the following four fiscal years.

D. A. Brazel asked why the ordinance approved by the commission last week authorized a city issue of time warrants earning a maximum of 8 per cent interest when the city charter and state law set a 6 per cent limit on interest rates.

Prouty said Brazel was correct and the notice to bidders on the warrants would have to be changed to specify 6 per cent.

George Thomas asked what the ultimate cost would be if the "containerism program is expanded to cover the whole city."

NARROW ALLEYS
Crow said some areas of the city would have to retain the present can system because the alleys are not wide enough, unless the residents would consent to placement of the containers along the streets. He said the total cost has not been estimated, but the $50,000 under discussion would convert only one of the four present can routes to the new system.

"You've been worrying about what it's going to cost, but have you figured out how many people actually want the cotton-picking things," Brazel said.

"Ladies I have talked to are violently opposed to them. We've been getting some rain lately and I haven't found a lady yet who wants to walk through the mud to carry her garbage to one of these buckets."

FLIES, ODOR
He added that flies and odor problems would make the commission unanimously unpopular with the ladies if the system is approved.

"It is not a perfect system," Crow said. "But other cities have tried it and are getting good results — better looking alleys and financial savings."

Eddie Acree said alleys in Midland and Odessa, where

Mrs. Harold Davis spoke in favor of the system, saying $11,000 is a moderate price to pay for an improvement which she feels will better the city by doing something to improve the alleys that individuals are unwilling to do for themselves.

To a question posed by Omar Jones, Crow answered that the system would eventually eliminate some jobs, but would free labor now tied up in emptying for increased alley and container maintenance.

Brazel brought up two other questions also raised at last year's budget hearing.

TRAVEL EXPENSES
He asked that travel and convention expenses and membership dues paid for city employees belonging to organizations such as the Texas Municipal League be itemized more fully. He added that the city should reconsider the policy of paying expenses of the wives of city officials attending out of town meetings.

He also suggested controls on overspending in each department: "I understand that transfers are frequently made from a department operating in the black to one operating in the red, and I think expenditures should be assigned to the proper departmental budget in the interest of living within the budget."

Mayor J. Arnold Marshall suggested that these questions be taken up with the administrative policy committee which will meet next month.

At the end of the discussion the budget was approved without change.

TAX RATE SET City Dads Give Approval To $987,136.50 Tax Roll

Tax rolls were approved and the tax rate officially set in the budget session Wednesday night.

The 1970 property tax rate is the same as last year's: $1.40 per $100 assessed valuation, with assessments at 60 per cent of market value.

Ad valorem taxes levied this year will amount to $801,430.84 on real property and $185,705.66 on personal property for a total of $987,136.50, an increase of $18,722.24 over last year. An estimated 91 per cent will be collectable.

Ky Has Right To Be Heard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., says South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky has a right to be heard at the March for Victory rally here Saturday, the march committee said.

The committee said Poage asked the Rev. Dr. Carl McIntire, chairman of the march committee, to extend the congressman's welcome and best wishes.

Ky said last weekend he had decided not to attend the rally to speak. But McIntire has said there is still an outside chance the vice president will appear.

The tax billing process has been going on for about a month now, and account statements were mailed Wednesday morning and should be received by the taxpayers within two or three days.

This year the portion of Kentwood disannexed last year was dropped from the tax rolls, and tax officers had to pull the account cards for property in that area.

After property values were assessed and adjusted by the equalization board and the tax rate tentatively set at the beginning of September, 12,209 tax accounts had to be processed and the statements printed.

Tax Collector Lee Herndon, Deputy Tax Collector Juanita Jennings, and Elva Biffar took turns on the billing machine and telephoned a job that took a month last year into two weeks. Then they went back and pulled statements on accounts that are handled through loan companies. The loan companies pay the taxes and include the cost in the homeowner's monthly house payment.

People who pay their taxes before January 1 will get a discount of one per cent for every month they are early. Beginning Feb. 1 a one per cent penalty will be charged for every month they are late. On July 1 the taxes will be considered delinquent and additional penalties will be charged.

Friday night, the committee announced, Wednesday there will be a memorial service for Americans who have died in Vietnam. The full scale rally is set for Saturday on the Washington Monument grounds.

Friday night's service will be on the steps of the U.S. Capitol Building. Participants include the Catholic War Veterans, Disabled American Veterans, The American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.
