16-18 percent drop predicted...

County oil 'til it runs out'...

The outlook Tuesday was "bad" news but not necessarily "new" news as representatives of Thomas Y. Pickett — the Dallas-based firm employed to estimate taxable values for the Scurry County oilpatch — offered a report to local taxing entities.

The noon meeting was sponsored by the Scurry County Appraisal District and saw representation from virtually all local bodies with taxing jurisdiction — Scurry County, the college district for WTC, Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh ISD's, and the City of Snyder.

No concrete estimates were offered for values of Scurry County oil as of Jan. 1, 1985. But the bottom line figure given as direction for upcoming budget planning sessions was to expect overall a 16 to 18 percent decline in value for the county as a whole.

A similar decline of approximately 15 percent in value was noted here last year.

"From now until it runs out," said Grant Hammond, chief petroleum engineer for the Dallas firm, "you can expect a steady decline. And it won't ever reach a plateau. It will just gradually work its way down."

The "decline" includes total annual production and a corresponding drop in the reserves of oil and gas still under the ground.

These two elements are used to figure the county's mineral value coupled with the third element of price per barrel.

Regarding price, Hammond reminded the crowd that the type of crude produced in Scurry County's Canyon Reef formations is currently at its lowest level since 1979 — the year before decontrol pushed the price of oil

Summit may be far off

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — The Reagan administration, hinting that a superpower summit is a long way off, is stressing that any meeting requires "a lot of groundwork" and must hold the promise of being more than a get-acquainted session.

"We think it would be a big letdown — not only for Ameicans but also for the rest of the world — if the two leaders were to meet and accomplish nothing," White House Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan said Tuesday.

It was learned the administration does not want to fix a summit date now, believing that would force a premature or hasty end to ongoing U.S.-Soviet discussions on a variety of problems.

Regan, asked if a summit were more likely in 1986 than in 1985, said, "No, I see no time frame as having been set or any change in the time frame over the last several days."

Regan briefed reporters in a hotel meeting room that serves as the White House press room while President Reagan relaxes on vacation at his mountaintop ranch, 25 miles away.

Schedule okayed for career ladder selections

'Skepticism' voiced by school administrators, trustees

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

Some 71 teachers with Snyder ISD — winnowed down from the 200-plus teachers now in the system — are now projected to receive career ladder supplement monies equaling $1,500 by the final week of school.

Snyder school trustees approved this schedule Tuesday — an action taken with the advisement that local administrators view the plan "with a great deal of skepticism."

Those were the words of Superintendent Bob Hawes, who pointed to "problems caused at other districts" already involved with career ladder allocations.

In addition, he charged the state is "forcing" teacher selection decisions on local districts without benefit of either proper guidelines or training.

And in a final note, he questioned the legality of "allowing the state to pass rules which might cause boards to raise local taxes."

To sum it up, Hawes commented, "We're scared of this thing."

Regarding funding, the Snyder ISD is directed to spend $107,000 this year for career ladder. With a minimum supplement of $1,500 directed, this means no more than 71 classroom teachers will be eligible.

The history of this selection process at other school districts, administrators have noted, has been dissention among teachers who do and those who don't qualify.

Hawes said he is doubly frustrated by the lack of direction regarding who can be chosen. "The state told us they would provide all Texas districts with guidelines on who should qualify and training for our administrators in making these selections.

"It looks like now we're not going to get either one this year. And what's the sense in local districts spending a lot of time

In-district transfers go to committee

In-district transfers for elementary-age youngsters in Snyder will now be considered by a seven-member committee comprised of each local elementary principal and Assistant Superintendent Jack Gorman.

The new policy provision was approved Tuesday during the April meeting of the Snyder school board.

The meeting marked also a reorganization of the board, including the beginning of new three-year terms for Lillie Sullivan, who has held her place 1 seat since 1979; and Mike Jordan, who won a first term for place 2 last Saturday.

New board officers were elected also with Mike Reed named new school board president. It marked his second stint as president, serving previously during the 1982-83 school year. Lillie Sullivan was also named vice president.

Regarding the in-district transfer rule, trustees changed the old policy, which saw the full board considering such requests based primarily upon recommendations submitted by the child's physician. Such transfers were generally based upon "health reasons," which included both mental and physical health.

Two months ago, trustees directed school administrators to prepare possible policy changes. It has been noted that the policy placed an unfair burden on physicians — placing them in the middle between their patient's requests and school district policy.

Under the new policy, parents or guardians requesting the transfer will meet with the committee to discuss the individual case.

If the request is denied, the parent or guardian will then have a final right of appeal to the school board.

The school district reserves the Week's cancer effort due forum Thursday

As part of its effort to increase public awareness about cancer research and technology, the Snyder Unit of the American Cancer Society will host a cancer forum Thursday.

Set for 7:30 p.m. in the Texas Electric Service Company Reddy Room, the forum will feature a slide presentation on colorectal cancer — cancer of the colon and rectum. Dr. Harold Miller and Dr. R. Mark Pate plan to lead a question and answer session following the slides.

The presentation is part of week-long activities related to the yearly Cancer Crusade, the local organization's annual fund raiser. The goal this year is $20,000.

Dr. Miller received a bachelor of arts degree in chemistry from the University of Texas. After completing medical studies at Southwestern Medical School in Dallas in 1978, he served his internship in internal medicine at Keesler Medical Center in Buloxi, Miss. He established his practice here in August, 1984.

A native of Alpine, Dr. Pate completed his undergraduate studies at Tulane University in New Orleans and his medical studies at Southwestern Medical School. He completed his surgical internship and general surgery residency at

'Gas' clarified

The cost of service adjustment figures for Lone Star Gas Company quoted in Tuesday's SDN article were incorrect in that the monthly charge for residential customers after the increase will be $6.80. The figure quoted was $7.10.

In addition, for commercial customers, the rate after the increase will be $10.80. The figure quoted was $11.10.

Company officials note also that in May the summer gas rates will go into effect, dropping these costs after the increase to $4.80 for residential and $7.80 for commercial. The $6.80 and $10.80 figures will actually go into effect next October.

Leslie Butler, who chose not to seek his second three-year term on the Snyder school board, was given a plaque of appreciation Tuesday by fellow board members.

Butler served on place 2 on the board. The honor was presented to him Tuesday by J.D. Hinton, outgoing board president.

U.S.-Japan trade deficit...

A matter of dollars, sense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Generations of cultural differences, diverse views of how to conduct business and a U.S. economy roaring ahead of the fest of the world are among the obstacles to lessening trade tensions between the United States and Japan.

AP Analysis

"We really are talking about different ways in which two sovereign entities look at things," Lionel Olmer, undersecretary of commerce for international trade, said recently before a trade group in Washington.

Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone sought to go above the heads of an entrenched Japanese bureaucracy and his politcal opponents Tuesday when he spoke directly to the Japanese people, urging them to "please buy foreign products."

There is a long way to go before that happens.

The Japanese rely on exports to pay for the raw materials they must buy for their island nation and imports are shunned.

Japanese industry and a massive bureaucracy have set up a series of mazes on the way to the marketplace that foreign companies find almost impossible to navigate, and the prime minister in that country's political system is not strong enough by himself to decree an end to the situation.

Meanwhile, the United States is asking Japan to be less Japanese.

"A fundamental premise of American trade policy for a generation has been national treatment: you must do unto our companies essentially what you do for your own," Olmer said. "That is, treat American companies in Japan the way you treat Japanese companies in Japan."

But, he said, "We're now asking for something quite different. We are asking for American companies in Japan to be treated as Japanese companies are treated in the United States."

That is something the Japanese are not yet willing to do.

Rep. Tip O'Neill meets Gorbachev

MOSCOW (AP) — Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, speaker of the U.S. House, met new Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev today and presented him with a letter from President Reagan.

O'Neill and a delegation of U.S. representatives were the first congressional delegation to meet the Soviet leader since he came to power March 11.

The talks were expected to focus on U.S.-Soviet arms control negotiations and the recent speculation about a summit meeting between the U.S. and Soviet leaders.

Gorbachev received the legislators in his personal Kremlin office, located in a secluded building behind the wall that flanks Red Square. No details on the meeting were immediately available.

O'Neill told reporters outside his hotel this morning that he was carrying a letter from Reagan, but refused to disclose its contents.

A pool of American reporters were admitted to the office a few minutes before the meeting began and allowed to photograph Gorbachev, O'Neill, House minority leader Robert Michel, R-Ill., and other U.S. and Soviet officials.

Gorbachev arrived ahead of the U.S. delegation and joked briefly with the journalists. "Can Soviet and American journalists really work together?" he said.

Soviets reportedly broke old agreement; test missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite announcing a halt, the Soviet Union deployed some 70 SS-20 nuclear missiles during a 20-month moratorium and has now flight-tested a modified version of the triple-warhead weapon, the State Department says.

The late Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev announced the unilateral suspension in March 1982 after the United States refused to join the Soviets in a freeze on medium-range nuclear weapons while negotiations to reduce missiles in Europe were in progress.

It was a move similar to the one announced last Sunday by the new Soviet leader, Mikhail S. Gorbachev, and rejected by the Reagan administration as a propaganda ploy also designed to protect an 8-to-1 Soviet advantage in intermediate-range nuclear warheads.

Brezhnev lifted the moratorium in November 1983, as the United States began to install new Pershing 2 and cruise missiles in West Germany, Britain and Italy, targeted on the Soviet Union.

During the 20-month period, the State Department said late Tuesday, the Soviets delpoyed about 70 SS-20s or about 210 warheads. Also, the department said in response to reporters' questions, "we continued to see significant construction activity at SS-20 sites."

According to U.S. figures, the Soviets have deployed 414 of the mobile SS-20s, of which 276 are targeted on Western Europe and the remainder on China and Japan.

Today's three no-trump contract could easily be lost through careless play. South won the queen of diamonds and led a spade toward dummy's K-Q. When dummy's king held, South played a heart to his ace and played another spade. West played the eight and dummy won the trick once again. Here was the opportunity for careless play. Should South play another spade, West would win and knock out the ace of diamonds. Declarer would eventually have to let the opponents in with either a heart or a club, and they would run the rest of the diamonds to beat the contract.

Instead, after dummy's second spade has held the trick, declarer should switch suits and go after clubs. But correct technique is vital. Since West has overcalled in diamonds and shown at least three cards in the spade suit, the likelihood of club shortness is strong. Just in case West has a singleton club honor or the nine, the king of clubs should be played first from dummy. If an honor appears from West, declarer can play the club 10, letting it ride unless East covers it with an honor. This play assures only one club loser. If no significant card shows up on the king, declarer can still play another club. If both defenders follow, South can then give up a club. Finally, if West shows out originally, declarer can still play a spade to see if that suit will divide 3-3.

This two-edged line of play gives declarer the best play for three no-trump. But note well that both black suits have to be attacked in the proper way or declarer will go set.

Beautiful pecan trees and regular harvests of high quality pecans begin each spring with frequent zinc sprays. Good foliage is the secret to optimum growth, healthy trees and regular production. Mature pecan trees can have double the amount of foliage with three or four zinc sprays in April and May. Leaves on mature trees are full grown by June, so spray early and frequently. Young pecan trees can grow six feet instead of six inches in one year if zinc is sprayed onto the foliage every two to three weeks from April until August. This is of course in combination with a good management program according to Dr. George McEachern, state extension horticulturist.

There are two types of zinc which can be used in Texas, zinc sulfate or NZN. Each is effective. Commercial pecan producers have used zinc sulfate with good results for over 40 years. Caution will need to be used, however, because zinc sulfate can kill many types of plants. So spray it only onto pecan foliage. NZN is a new type of liquid zinc. It was developed by Dr. J. Benton Storey of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. NZN is highly soluble, less toxic to other vegetation and readily available at many garden centers.

The commercial rates of zinc for spraying pecan foliage in Texas are two pounds of zinc sulfate or one and one-half quarts of NZN per 100 gallons of water.

The homeowner should use two teaspoons of zinc sulfate or NZN in one gallon of water.

Other forms of zinc, such as zinc chelates or tree injectors, have been tested but have not been found to be an effective source of zinc for pecans in Texas.

Zinc is utilized by pecan foliage for the manufacture of a growth hormone called indole-acetic-acid. Without zinc and indole-acetic-acid pecan growth is greatly reduced. The leaves will be small and the shoots will be short and in clusters forming what is commonly called "zinc rosette." Zinc is not readily translocated from shoot to shoot. Consequently, frequent zinc sprays are needed if new growth is to receive zinc. This is also why good coverage is important.

There are over 600,000 acres of native pecan trees in Texas. Yet strange as it may seem pecans are one of the few plants that connot absorb zinc from the soil. Texas soils frequently contain very high levels of zinc but because of the high pH nature of alkaline soils a high percentage of the soil zinc is not soluble in the soil water and is thus unavailable to the pecan. Applications of zinc to the soil are of no significant value to pecan trees in Texas.

Relative humidity has a great effect on foliar absorption of zinc. In far West Texas, extreme difficulty can be encountered in getting the zinc into the leaf. Along the Gulf Coast, absorption can be extremely easy. Zinc should not be concentrated to 2X or 4X rates because foliage burn can result during periods of high humidity. The use of spreaders are not recommended because they can result in accelerated drying and reduced zinc absorption.

A pecan grower can determine if his zinc sprays are effective by observing the amount of terminal growth the trees make during the year. Mature trees should make five to ten inches of shoot growth annually. Non-bearing trees should make 24 inches of shoot growth each year. In addition, leaves collected in August or early September can be analyzed in a chemical laboratory to detemine the concentration of zinc in the leaves.

Zinc alone is not the answer to perfect pecans. It is, however, a very important cultural requirement. With good zinc management other cultural practices such as fertilization and irrigation will be more effective. However, fertilization or irrigation without zinc sprays is of little value. So, zinc sprays are one of the pecan growers most important first steps to success each year.

Krill, tiny crustaceans about as long as a person's thumb, are the oceans' largest single source of protein. They are a key link in the food chain that supports marine life in the Antarctic.

Dear Abby

Split in Religious Belief Causes Family to Splinter

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Our only daughter, "Sally," lives in a beautiful home 400 miles from us, but her husband, "Joe," has forbidden us to visit her in their home.

I finally wrote Joe a long letter addressed to his office (he's a successful surgeon), telling him that I thought we were entitled to come for a visit. He returned the letter on which he had scribbled, "Tell it to Dear Abby," so that's what I'm doing.

My husband is a Christian church minister—Disciples of Christ—so we sent Sally to a good Bible college, hoping she would marry a fine ministerial student. Instead she met Joe, an Episcopalian. They fell in love, and he won her over to his church. They were secretly married after graduation and we ceased all communication with Sally for several years. Last year she let us know we were grandparents.

Abby, they had our grandson christened in the Episcopalian church, and we know from the Scriptures that all must be baptized by immersion to be saved, so my husband told them they had condemned our grandchild to hell. After that they broke off all communication with us.

In your column you have said that grandparents have the right to see their grandchildren. How do we go about enforcing those rights?

CUT OFF IN VIRGINIA

DEAR CUT OFF: There is a right that outranks grandparents' rights—it's the constitutional right under the First Amendment that grants every citizen freedom of religion. That means the right to worship (or not worship) according to one's own conscience. Your daughter, an Episcopalian, baptized her child in accordance with the rules of that church, so for you to accuse her of condemning her child to hell because your religion differs from hers is an insult.

Until you respect your daughter's right to religious freedom, forget about your "rights" as a grandparent. You have none.

DEAR ABBY: Because I have had a mastectomy, I am all too familiar with the comments of insensitive people concerning breasts.

A large-breasted (and proud of 'em) friend no doubt meant to console me when she said, "Well, you didn't have too much in the first place!"

My husband of 21 years withdrew from me physically, saying, "You just have to understand; I've lost my desire."

Her head is screwed up.

His head is screwed up.

My head is on straight. And so is my prosthesis. I feel. I hurt. I care. I love. I forget. I cry.

A WHOLE WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." (Robert Burns)

DEAR ABBY: Set me straight. Since when is it all right for a female guest to wear black to a wedding? I know that black is "in" now, but where I come from, it simply isn't worn to a wedding.

At a recent evening wedding I couldn't believe the black outfits—even the soloist wore black! Lots of white numbers, too, which I always thought should not be worn to a wedding.

Did I miss an issue of Vogue? Tell me true, Abby.

BEMUSED IN BUFFALO

DEAR BEMUSED: For women, colors are preferred over black and white, but neither is forbidden at a wedding.

Six MIAs remains returned

By The Associated Press

The families of American servicemen whose bodies were returned from Vietnam say the positive identifications of the remains brought disappointment, shock and loss — but also relief from "Just not knowing, that's what hurts."

"It definitely is a relief," Clara Harris of Hoover, Ala., said Tuesday after learning that authorities had identified the remains of her son, Maj. Cleveland S. Harris, who was shot down Feb. 29, 1968, over North Vietnam.

"This is the first positive information we've had in 17 years," said Eddie Harris, the flyer's brother. "There have been tentative, jumbled reports ... Everytime something happens, we bury him again."

"I can go to bed at night now and know where he is," Mrs. Harris said. "Just not knowing, that's what hurts."

The remains of five other servicemen also were identified Tuesday, leaving almost 2,500 military personnel still listed as missing in action in Vietnam. The Pentagon said the six would be flown to California today.

"It's a closed book," said Joseph Chwan of Harrisburg, Pa., after his brother's widow gave him the news. "We can rest easy and confident that the facts are as presented and in actuality it is Mike's remains."

Capt. Michael D. Chwan and Maj. Chambless Chesnutt were both aboard a jet fighter shot down over North Vietnam on Sept. 30, 1965.

"I was shocked after 19½ years of not having an answer," said Chwan's widow, Dana. "I never really expected that his body would be returned so he could be buried in American soil."

Mrs. Chwan, who was three months pregnant when her husband was killed, was not at her Tampa, Fla., home when officers from MacDill Air Force Base arrived to notify her. Her daughter, Michele, 19, who never saw her father, received the news.

"I didn't think I would cry, but I just couldn't help it," she said.

Mrs. Chwan said later that she never held out much hope of seeing her husband alive because she had been told by another pilot who saw the plane go down that the men inside couldn't have survived.

"I am grateful to the Vietnamese government for releasing the remains so that I can put the feelings of uncertainty to rest," she said.

Patti Chesnutt, who now lives in Houston, called the return of her husband's remains "the last chapter."

"I didn't know what to say 20 years ago. I still don't know what to say," she said.

Chesnutt, pilot of the plane, and Chwan, his navigator-weapons officer, had been reported missing in action. The two had trained together at MacDill in Tampa before going overseas.

The brother of Air Force Col. Joe Killian, another of the six servicemen whose remains were positively identified, said Tuesday that the time for grieving is past.

"He was flying a Thunderjet when he got hit," said Harold Killian, a retired Air Force colonel living in San Diego. "When they last saw him his head and helmet were laying over against the side of the canopy

5 science students to visit laboratory

Over 800 science students and teachers will visit Los Alamos National Laboratory during April, for the Laboratory's traditional Science Youth Days. Included in that figure are five Snyder High School students who will visit the facility Friday.

The students are Phyllis Whitfill, Gabriel Hinjos, Phillip Greer, Jeff Featherston, Sonya Adams. Roy Burk, science teacher, will accompany them.

This year the laboratory will also host the International Edison Birthday Symposium at the invitation of the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation.

The international portion of the program, Wednesday through Friday, will draw 75 students and teachers from 25 U. S. states and 10 foreign countries.

These participants will be joined on Thursday and Friday by over 400 science students and teachers from New Mexico, Texas, Arizona and Colorado, for lectures by some of the nation's top scientists, and for tours of several laboratories where work in progress will be explained.

At Los Alamos, the guests will be greeted by top laboratory officials. Keynote speakers are Hubert Alyea, emeritus professor of chemistry at Princeton University, and Tung H. Jeong, associate professor of physics at Lake Forrest College, Ill. Both men are well known in the field of science education.

On April 18-19, over 400 more science students and teachers from the four-state area plus California will visit Los Alamos for the more traditional Science Youth Days.

The International Symposium and Science Youth Days are aimed at acquainting young people with career opportunities and allowing them to meet and talk with scientists.

Los Alamos National Laboratory is operated by the University of California for the Department of Energy.

Preliminary jury panel selected for Von Bulow

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A nurse and a medical technician are among 16 people who will be questioned by lawyers picking jurors for the retrial of Claus von Bulow, accused of trying to murder his heiress wife with insulin injections.

But some or all of the candidates could be replaced by others who have also passed an initial round of questioning by a judge. Jury selection is expected to last at least an additional week.

Prosecutor Marc DeSisto on Tuesday began asking the 12 women and four men general questions about their backgrounds and whether they were familiar with insulin, hypodermic needles or syringes.

Von Bulow, with hand on chin, carefully studied the potential jurors as they were called to the jury box and questioned.

The Danish-born financier is accused of injecting Martha "Sunny" von Bulow with insulin at the family's Newport mansion during the Christmas holidays of 1979 and 1980, twice sending the Pittsburgh utilities heiress into comatose states. Doctors say she will never recover from the second coma.

Von Bulow, 58, was convicted in 1982 on two charges of attempted murder, but the convictions were overturned last year by the Rhode Island Supreme Court on state constitutional grounds.

Villagers carry off dead people

SANTA CRUZ LOMA, El Salvador (AP) — The villagers who survived the night of terror count the bodies of those who didn't — some charred or shot, others with throats slashed. They say at least 20 people were killed by guerrillas disguised as government soldiers.

At least seven of the dead were identified Tuesday as off-duty civil defense troops who were dragged from their homes and shot or had their throats cut, they said.

Two children and a pregnant woman were among five people killed when a mortar shell struck their house, said Jesus Valles, the commander of the volunteer civil defense forces in Santa Cruz Loma, a cluster of huts 25 miles southeast of San Salvador.

Villagers gathered at the house and stared. Some wept. One fingered a rosary. Straw crucifixes somehow were not damaged although they decorated walls of the one-room cottage that was now a rubble of adobe and brick.

The house once had been civil defense headquarters and was used as a gun repair shop. Roberto Dominguez, 27, said he was on patrol when his house was shelled and machine-gunned and his family inside was killed.

He was the former head of the civil defense in the town and claimed the rebels had passed the word earlier that they were going to kill him and his family.

While bodies still lay on the smoldering rubble, the survivors recounted how 300 to 500 leftist rebels approached the village on Monday evening and and left in the dawn light on Tuesday.

"They arrived on foot and we saw them and shot first," said Valles.

Former British prime minister Winston Churchill died at his London home Jan. 24, 1965. He was 90.

Thomas Bradley wins fourth term

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voters showed what "this great and culturally diverse city can do" by electing Mayor Thomas Bradley to a historic fourth four-year term by the largest margin of his career, the triumphant Democrat told supporters.

Bradley's resounding win over his nearest challenger, Councilman John Ferraro, who tried to tarnish the generally positive image Bradley enjoys, was even bigger than his 64 percent to 32 percent victory in 1981.

Ferraro conceded the race early today with 24 percent of the vote counted. With 1,711 of the 2,367 precincts in, or 72.3 percent, Bradley had 220,055 votes, or 67.9 percent, to Ferraro's 98,163, or 30.3 percent.

"Los Angeles has made history tonight," Bradley, 67, the son of Texas sharecroppers and grandson of slaves, told supporters. "You have shown (what) this great and culturally diverse city can do.

"You have shown that this city elects its leadership based not upon the question of color or sex or where one was born or where one worships, rather on the content of one's character, on the performance of that individual."

After congratulating Bradley, Ferraro, 60, told his supporters, "Not all is lost. I ran a good campaign. I can hold my head high."

Prisoner is given life term

PALESTINE, Texas (AP) — Jurors deliberated less than half an hour before sentencing an inmate already serving 10 years for robbery to life behind bars for the near-fatal stabbing of a Texas prison guard.

The same jury earlier Tuesday deliberated "about two hours" before finding Wesley Johnson guilty in the July 18, 1984, knifing of Randall McFall, a Texas Department of Corrections sergeant at the Coffield Unit.

"Sgt. McFall was one of the most seriously injured guards we've had in the last year or two," said David Weeks, a special prosecutor assisting local district attorneys to clear their dockets of TDC cases.

Small enterprises that you can handle in your spare time could turn out to be a source of additional income for you in the year ahead. Put your time to profitble uses.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your chances are favorable for getting what you go after today, but be certain that what you acquire is what's needed to actually make you happy. Looking for romance? The Matchmaker set can help you in your search. To get yours, mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You might have to contend with a someone who will try to block your efforts with unsavory tactics today. If you're on guard, he'll have no effect.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) For shared ventures, be sure to select associates wisely today. Involvement with the wrong individual could produce undesirable results.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be willing to make concessions when dealing with others today, provided you don't have to do something that directly opposes your own best interests.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Practice sensible health habits today so that you won't be tempted to overindulge in some manner or try to push yourself beyond your physical limitations.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are offered something today from a person you know from experience isn't overly fond of you, examine the parcel carefully to see if any strings are attached.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) The results aren't likely to work out too well today if you try to make companions over in your own image. Appreciate others for what they have to offer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You are not expected to be an expert in all areas, so don't place unrealistic demands on your talents today by attempting things beyond your scope.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A wise approach to business matters today is to be a bit tightfisted. Also, do not expect to get something for nothing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Occasionally when we find ourselves in an uncertain position, we can bluff our way through. Unfortunately, this ploy won't work for you today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Others cannot be relied upon to solve your dilemmas today. Utilize your own resourcefulness to extricate yourself from tight corners.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Subdue temptations today to spend funds that you know you shouldn't to get something you think you should have just because a friend has one.

Cushing resigns from WTC; takes position at Panola JC

JOE CUSHING
...resigns

Western Texas College women's coach Joe Cushing has resigned and taken a similar position at Panola Junior College in Carthage, Dave Foster, college athletic director reported today.

"At this point in my life, I feel it would be in my best interest to resign as women's basketball coach and to assume those same duties and responsibilities at Panola Junior College in Carthage, Texas," stated Cushing, in a formal letter of resignation which was opened this morning by Dr. Don Newbury, WTC president.

"We hated to see him leave," said Foster. "In the seven years he was here he's done a lot for the school, the program and the community. He is an outstanding coach. He'll be hard to replace."

Cushing, a graduate of Angelo State University, compiled a 182-56 record at Western Texas. His teams never finished below second in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference.

He set a school women's basketball record of 27 wins in the 1983-84 season, and rewrote the books again with a 31 victories this past season. His 1984-85 squad lost in the finals of the regional tournament to NJCAA national runnerup Odessa College by one point.

His respective season records were 23-11, 26-10, 25-7, 24-8, 25-7, 27-8 and 31-6.

"Joe Cushing is the dean of women's basketball coaches of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference and in my judgement one of the finest coaches in the state. His record speaks for itself but in all of his responsibilities he has been dedicated, efficient and, above all, a coaching gentleman. We wish him well in his new job," said Dr. Newbury.

A search for a new women's basketball coach at WTC "will begin immediately and hopefully will be named before the end of the semester (May 10)," added the president.

Cushing, reportedly in Carthage today, could not be reached for comment.

Richardson hired as Arkansas coach

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - Arkansas Athletic Director Frank Broyles says he talked to basketball coaches from coast to coast and border to border before choosing as Eddie Sutton's successor Nolan Richardson, who coached at Tulsa University, just 90 miles from Fayetteville.

Richardson, who becomes the first black head coach in the Southwest Conference, compiled a 118-37 record at Tulsa. He took the Golden Hurricane the NCAA tournament three times and the National Invitational Tournament once, winning it his first year.

Before coming to Tulsa, Richardson coached Western Texas College of Snyder in three straight trips to the junior college national tournament, winning it in 1981 with a 37-0 record.

The job was offered to Richardson on Tuesday morning, Broyles said, hours before the new coach was introduced at a news conference. The announcement came a week after Sutton quit to replace Joe B. Hall at Kentucky. Sutton guided Arkansas to nine straight NCAA appearances.

Richardson, 43, said Sutton made the Arkansas program one of the country's best and was responsible for raising the quality of SWC basketball.

"I do not have maybe the size feet to maybe fit his shoes," Richardson said. "I hope there is no one alive that will. But I do have the size that fits Nolan Richardson's shoes."

Broyles said that he offered the job only to Richardson. The former Tulsa coach and Villanova's Rollie Massimino were the finalists for the job. Villanova won the national championship this year.

Richardson was offered the same five-year contract Sutton had, Broyles said. Richardson, asked what role money played in his leaving Tulsa, said, "Money plays a part of every decision. I don't think it was the main topic, but it was close."

Broyles said he wanted a coach who was compassionate, a teacher, a coach who knew the value of the team concept, a winner and a coach who would continue Arkansas' honest program.

Andrews snips Tiger 2-4A winning streak

Andrews' Mustangs played near flawless baseball here Tuesday night to blank Snyder 2-0, snapping the Tigers' 15-game District 2-4A winning streak.

The loss was only second in 2-4A history for the Tigers, who had posted a 32-1 record over the past three-plus years. It had been since April 27, 1983 that the Tigers, eight-time district champions, had lost a loop ballgame.

More importantly, the loss drops Snyder to 2-1 for the current district season and puts them a game behind both Andrews and Pecos. Pecos, a 18-0 winner over Fort Stockton, will host the Tigers on Friday night.

"They had a little better pitching tonight and fundamentally they were more sound," said a somber Coach Albert Lewis of the defeat. "We'll pick up and go on. We've got to get ready for Pecos now."

Andrews' lefty Shay Morris limited the Tigers to only three hits. It was his third straight shutout in district play.

The Mustangs got their first run on Chris Upton's two-out single in the third inning. Carlon Branson had reached on a fielder's choice after first-up Danny Neighbors drew a walk. He advanced to third on a routine ground out, then scurried home on Upton's basehit.

The insurance run came in the seventh when Neighbors hit a grounder past shortstop Jimmy Cain and later raced home on a single from Branson.

Charlie Bollinger, 6-1 now, was charged with the loss. The Tiger righthander allowed six hits and struck out nine batters.

Justin Webb provided most of the offensive fireworks for the Tigers. The junior outfielder led off the fourth with a single and reached second on a sacrifice bunt by Bobby Velasquez. One out later, Jimmy Cain stroked a well hit ball down the third base line but third-sacker Branson was able to control it enough to tag out Webb, who was racing from second.

Webb also doubled in the sixth inning but was left stranded.

Snyder's only other hit was a single in the third by Velasquez.

In all, Snyder left six baserunners stranded. Andrews left eight.

The loss leaves the eighth-ranked Tigers at 13-4 for the season. Andrews is 9-6.

2-4A roundup

Pecos and Andrews remain the only two undefeated teams in District 2-4A baseball after both earned shutouts Tuesday night.

Pecos clobbered Fort Stockton 18-0 and Andrews blanked Snyder 2-0. In the only other 2-4A game, Lamesa earned its first victory with a 3-0 shutout of Monahans.

Pecos pitcher Erasmo Acosta, 3-0, allowed only one hit and recorded seven strikeouts as the Eagles drilled Fort Stockton. Richard Morales, 0-2, was the loser. He gave up 10 runs through the first four innings - nine of them unearned. Relief pitcher Guy Gladson gave up eight fifth-inning runs, including a three-run homer to Lance Windham. It was Windham's fifth of the season and complimented Pecos' 13-hit attack.

Pecos has now chalked 43 runs in three district games.

Lamesa's 3-0 win over Monahans was authored by Gilbert Arredondo, who allowed one hit and fanned five batters in five innings. Arredondo is 1-2 for the season. Johnny Gonzales earned a save.

The outcome spoiled a 13-strikeout effort by Monahans' losing pitcher Trey Ford. Ford allowed only five hits, but Lamesa scored all three of its runs on wild pitches.

Monahans collected only two hits for the night.

In action Friday, Snyder will attempt to climb back up the ladder as the Tigers trek to Pecos while Lamesa takes on Andrews in Andrews. Also, Fort Stockton vies Monahans.

Nelms hired as new Snyder Tiger head volleyball coach

Viki Nelms, who led Chillicothe to back-to-back district championships, has been hired as head volleyball coach at Snyder High School, replacing Penny Bane, who resigned after the 1984 season.

Nelms, a graduate of Arkansas State University, will also assume the duties of assistant basketball and track coach and will teach health and physical education.

She coached at Portageville, Mo. from January 1981 through May of 82 and has been at Chillicothe since that time. Her latest duties include varsity volleyball, basketball, track and tennis for the Class 1A Eagles.

Her District 9-A champions were ranked fifth in the state this past season before losing in the bi-district playoffs to Windthorst.

In three years at Chillicothe she composed a 29-41 volleyball record, improving the team from 2-23 in 1982 to 13-12 in 83 and 14-6 in 1984.

"We're excited about her coming," said SHS Athletic Director Dennis Tomlin. "She'll bring to the program some head coaching experience. Her ability to take a program that is down and build it into a winner makes it more exciting because we feel we already have a good program and she can take it even further."

WTC Rodeo set Thursday

An estimated 250 contestants from 18 colleges and universities will be on hand at Scurry County Coliseum beginning Thursday for the Western Texas College NIRA Rodeo.

The first of five performances of the annual event will get underway at 8 p.m.

The rodeo will continue through the weekend with performances at 8 Friday and Saturday and at 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Snyder school students are invited to be guests for the opening performances, which include crowing of the 1985 WTC Rodeo Queen. The free tickets must be picked up in the high school principal's office. They will not be available at the coliseum box office.

Students from Hermleigh, Ira and Borden County schools will be admitted free on Saturday afternoon and are also to pick up tickets and their principal's office.

Senior Citizens will be admitted to the Saturday afternoon rodeo for $2.

Tickets for each rodeo performance are $4 for adults, $3 for students and $6 for box seats. Advance tickets can be purchased at Bar H Bar Western Wear, from Rodeo Club members or Rodeo Queen candidates or by calling the WTC Student Activities office at 573-8511, extension 275.

At stake in the rodeo are points for individuals and teams which will be used at the end of the season to determine who advances to the College National Finals Rodeo.

Highlighting Thursday's performance will be top all-around contender Tuff Hedeman of Sul Ross State University. Hedeman, who leads the region standings in the all-around, bull riding and saddle bronc riding, will be competing in every men's event Thursday. He is also winning all-around and bull riding in the PRCA this season.

Up for Western Texas Thursday will Tobin Tate, Chris Carpenter, Glenn Jordan, Don Eddleman, Greg Rhodes, Okie Hopkins, Mike Carrillo, Nixie Brewster, Niki Moist, Tana Whatley, Tina Morris and Tresa Ratliff.

Spencer, Smith ink with 4-year schools

Victor Spencer and Anthony Smith were expected to sign respective letters with four-year colleges today, reported Western Texas College men's basketball coach Phil Spradling.

Spencer, from nearby Lamesa, was to ink a pact with Texas Wesleyan while Smith, from Dallas, was to sign with Howard Payne.

"I think both of these young men have made decisions that will benefit their futures," said Spradling. "Anthony has a good chance of playing for Howard Payne in the point guard position. I think he'll do a great job. He can shoot the ball, he can handle it and he can push it down the floor," he said of the 6-0 sophomore. "Victor is the same way. He's a great athlete and I think he'll be a leader for Texas Wesleyan."

Spencer averaged 13 points a game for WTC as a sophomore and had 85 steals in 31 games.

Smith averaged 3.7 points in an offense that had him sharing playing time with several others on WTC's guard-rich 1984-85 squad.

Scramble on for Kosar

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. (AP) - Both the Minnesota Vikings and the Cleveland Browns have engineered trades aimed at acquiring University of Miami quarterback Bernie Kosar and the Vikings say they will lose no time in trying for an agreement.

The Vikings made their announcement first, saying they had reached an agreement with Houston for the Oilers' first-round pick, No. 2 overall, in the April 30 National Football League draft. But then the Browns said they had made a deal with the Buffalo Bills for their selection the first, in the supplemental draft, if one is necessary.

Report: wild rice is not really rice

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ah, the natural, exotic aroma of wild rice as it cooks with freshly bagged duck, pheasant or quail.

Only thing, says the Agriculture Department, wild rice "is usually not wild and it's definitely not rice." What then?

"Wild rice is really a grain more akin to oats than rice, and most of it is now cultivated in commercial paddies," says a report by the department's Economic Research Service.

It's called rice mainly because of appearance, according to Barbara Stucker, an agency rice analyst. The brownish seed resembles a kernel of long-grain rice.

Also, like long-grain rice, wild rice is the seed of an aquatic grass and grows in shallow water similar to the irrigated paddies of long-grain rice, she says.

The wild rice report is in the current issue of Farmline, a monthly magazine published by the USDA agency. It said wild rice has become big business.

"Until about 20 years ago, most wild rice grew naturally in the lakes and slow-moving streams of northern Minnesota and bordering Canada," the report said. "The crop was harvested by native Americans — members of the Ojibway Indian tribe — who processed it using traditional methods passed down from their ancestors."

The Indians usually sold or traded the wild rice locally, although a small part of the crop always ended up on the gourmet market.

Today, boxes of wild rice and mixtures of wild and long-grain rice are common on supermarket shelves. And their is hope the market can develop further, according to Reynold Dahl, a professor of agricultural economics at the University of Minnesota, St. Paul.

Dahl says that U.S. cultivation of wild rice began in Minnesota in 1967 and in California as recently as 1976. The two states account for all U.S. commercial production. As far as world output, Canada is the only other producer.

In 1965, the report said, total U.S. production of wild rice was 435,000 pounds and Canada's, 12,000 pounds. Last year, U.S. production was 5.55 million pounds and Canadian output 840,000 pounds.

Dahl said that wild rice cultivation was helped along by the interest of Uncle Ben's Inc., a leading long-grain rice processor, which had developed a packaged mixture of wild rice, long-grain rice and herbs.

The company would go along with national marketing only with a dependable supply of wild rice, he said. As a result, Uncle Ben's began contracting with three Minnesota farmers to plant acreages of new varieties developed by the university. From 900 acres, the state's crop has grown to more than 25,000 acres. And that doesn't count production from Minnesota's lakes and streams.

Ms. Stucker said the blends are popular because wild rice along has a nutty flavor that is considered rather strong by some people. Also wild rice prices are high and can vary greatly, from a low of about $4 per pound in Minnesota to $7 to $20 in other parts of the country.

About 170,000 families in India in 6,900 villages have licenses to grow opium poppies, according to National Geographic. India supplies two-thirds of the opiates required annually by pharmaceutical firms in the United States, its best customer.

Lewis plans European trade trip

AUSTIN (AP) — House Speaker Gib Lewis, acknowledging that the trip sounds more enticing that Gov. Mark White's visit to Honduras, heads to France Thursday as part of a trade mission.

Lewis said he might miss a day or two of House proceedings because of the trip.

"I think they can function without me or anyone else for one day or two," he said.

Speaker Pro Tem Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, presides when Lewis is unavailable.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, and other Dallas-Fort Worth leaders will fly to France to mark the start of American Airlines service to Paris and Frankfurt, Germany. The original schedule called for Lewis to go to both cities, but he said Tuesday he only has time for the Paris stop.

"It's just a simple trade mission over to Europe on behalf of the Dallas-Fort Worth area," according to Lewis, who said his wife Sandra also would make the trip.

Dallas Mayor Starke Taylor and Fort Worth Mayor Bob Bolen also will go.

The European trip will not be paid for by state money, according to Lewis.

Committee turns into duo battle

AUSTIN (AP) — A 10-member joint water conference committee meeting turned into a battle over bays and estuaries between a coastal senator and a West Texas representative.

"Bays and estuaries is a multi-million dollar industry and unless we come up with a plan protecting this, it's not going to sell on the coast," said Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi.

But Rep. Gerald Geistweidt, R-Mason, said bays and estuaries "provide less food and jobs than do other areas in the state that need water."

Both lawmakers are part the joint water committee composed of five representatives and five senators who are trying to resolve differences in House and Senate comprehensive water proposals. A final version of the plan will be placed on the November ballot for voter approval.

"We need to put together a plan that can be sold to the people as a good broad-based water plan," Truan said.

Truan and Geistweidt bickered over whether bays and estuaries should take priority over other areas which need a part of the state's water resources.

"In the coast, bays and estuaries is the life and blood of millions of people. It provides jobs, industry besides providing food," Truan charged at Geistweidt. "You have dirt farmers in your district, I have sea farmers."

House sponsor Tom Craddick, R-Midland, asked Truan to place the bays and estuaries on the priority list.

Prison land could bring millions

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill to allow the state prison system to sell millions of dollars worth of farm land and plow the proceeds back into land or prison construction has been approved by the Senate.

The Texas Department of Corrections has estimated the value of the 3,620 acres in Fort Bend and Harris counties at $105.7 million, but Sen. John Sharp, D-Victoria, said, "That's what we think is the minimum."

"If you go into Fort Bend County and Harris County and start talking to people about 'What do you really think this stuff is worth?,' you get above $150 million in a hurry," Sharp said.

"I think when these things start going for bids, you're going to see fantastic prices," he told reporters.

Sharp noted that the TDC Central Farm, with 14 tracts totaling 1,279 acres proposed for sale, is near Texas 6, U.S. 90 and the Southwest Freeway.

"They run some cows on it, a little cotton, a little maize. ... Grow a little cotton on $20-a-square-foot land," Sharp said, laughing at the thought.

The bill provides that proceeds from the sales could only be used in acquiring other land or constructing or improving prison facilities.

Sharp said, however, that if another Senate bill establishing the Capital Trust Fund becomes law, the money from the land sale would be placed in that fund, with first preference given to prison construction.

House backs tougher penalties

AUSTIN (AP) — The House has voted to allow prison terms of up to 10 years for inmates convicted of carrying deadly weapons behind bars.

In a preliminary vote Tuesday, House members backed the Senate-approved bill that would raise the penalty from the current 180 days.

"Surprisingly, right now it's a misdemeanor offense," said Duncanville Rep. Ray Keller, House sponsor.

More than 30 Texas Department of Corrections inmates have been killed and 470 injured since January 1984. Many of the injuries have been inflicted with deadly weapons fashioned from eating utensils.

The measure, aimed at reducing prison violence faces another House vote.

House members also gave tentative voice vote approval Tuesday to a Senate-passed bill allowing the Texas Youth Commission to retain custody of juvenile offenders until age 21. Now, TYC must release offenders when they reach 18.

The new law, if approved, would give TYC officials the option of keeping offenders until 21.

A Senate-approved measure clearing the way for alcoholic beverage ads on race cars also garnered preliminary House approval in a Tuesday voice vote. State law now bans outdoor advertising of alcoholic beverages, except with specific permission from the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

The commission has not allowed such ads on race cars.

Bill favors state land for dump site

AUSTIN (AP) — A farmer-rancher has warned a Senate committee that a proposal to locate a low-level radioactive dump site in Texas could lead to the dumping of more dangerous nuclear wastes in the state.

James Lynch of Hudspeth County, his daughter Bonnie, and others opposed a bill that would favor location of a low-level dump on state-owned land.

Supporters included a spokesmen for McMullen County in South Texas, which has been considered for a disposal site, and the Nueces River Authority.

Rick Jacobi of the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority said that of 750,000 acres of "available" state or university land, 500,000 acres are in Hudspeth County.

Lynch said Hudspeth County geological formations in the area are "porous," making them "subject to sinkholes that form an easy pathway to contamination of the aquifer."

"Choosing university or state land for a dump site does not guarantee the best site," said Lynch. He predicted that a low-level site "would graduate to high-level."

Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, and Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, presented the House-approved bill to the Senate Health and Human Resources Committee, which left the measure pending.

Berlanga said the bill would delay licensing of a low-level dump site for 2½ years, which would allow the 1987 Legislature to review licensing regulations, and would prohibit location of a site within 20 miles of a reservoir.

Reputed narcotics trafficker arrested

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A key suspect in the kidnap-killing of a U.S. drug agent, charged with violating several federal laws, told a judge at his arraignment that he had been tortured and forced to sign a confesssion.

"The signature is mine, but the statements are false," said Caro Quintero. He was kept behind bars during all of the 14-hour court hearing on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, Elsa Valencia, a spokeswoman for the Mexican Attorney General's office said a man authorities believe to be Mexico's top drug trafficker was arrested Tuesday with 23 other people in the Pacific coast resort of Puerto Vallarta.

She identified the man as Ernesto Fonseca, 60. Fonseca and the others, who were not identified, were turned over to the army and then transferred to Mexico City, where they were being held at an undisclosed location, she said.

A large quantity of weapons also was seized, she said. Officials did not provide further details.

Caro Quintero, allegedly one of Mexico's major drug traffickers, is charged with "crimes against the health" of the nation, criminal conspiracy and weapons smuggling. The Attorney General's office has said he also could be charged with homicide or kidnapping in Guadalajara.

Crimes against health of the nation may include a variety of narcotics charges, including producing and trafficking in illegal drugs.

The court file signed by Caro Quintero says Enrique Camarena Salazar, a U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent, was brought to his house after he was kidnapped Feb. 7. Caro Quintero greeted the agent and brought him into the house, it said. It gives no further details.

The badly beaten bodies of Camarena Salazar and a Mexican pilot who worked with him were found March 5 on a ranch 60 miles southeast of Guadalajara.

Six Jalisco state policemen and a former officer were charged with murder last month. In confessions they later repudiated, claiming they were tortured, two of the policemen admitted they kidnapped the two and took them to Caro Quintero's house in Guadalajara, 335 miles northwest of Mexico City.

The court file on Caro Quintero said he owns seven homes and five farms in Mexico and in the past year had purchased at least 30 automobiles for use as bribes to police and other Mexican officials.

The confession says Caro Quintero paid the equivalent of about $300,000 to a top Mexican police official to be able to leave Guadalajara on Feb. 9, when he was seen boarding his private jet.

Tuesday's appearance was Caro Quintero's first since his capture along with five others in Costa Rica last week. Although he looked fatigued and his face was shadowed by stubble, Caro Quintero did not show any signs of having been beaten.

The six were kept behind a wall of bars that separates a hallway leading to the prison from rooms where court officials read testimony and record prisoners' statements.

Judge Pedro Elias Soto Lara has 72 hours from the time he received the case on Monday to decide if there is sufficient evidence to continue holding the men. If he decides there is, he has up to one year to reach a verdict. Under the Mexican legal system, there is no jury trial.

Oil production declines noted to as high as $39 a barrel.

The price quoted Tuesday was $28 a barrel.

"The only cure would be an unforseen price increase or technology," he said.

It wasn't all bad news, as he noted the fields which comprise the majority of the Hermleigh ISD tax base experienced a slight increase in production during the year. This was characterized as an isolated case, however.

With the "gloom and doom" predictions for decline, however, recent reports for production during 1984 released by the Texas Railroad Commission still place Scurry County as the 8th largest oil producer in Texas.

It was noted, however, this ranking reflected an 8.2 percent decline when compared to 1983. In 1974, Scurry was the Number 1 ranking county.

For the immediate past year, production was set at almost 27 million barrels of oil. The figure the previous year was more than 30 million. Exact figures for each were 27,866,108 bbls. and 30,365,899 bbls.

Regarding value, Scurry County had more than $2 billion worth of oil and gas related values last year.

The report from the Thomas Y. Picket group included also local oil production figures for the four major producing oil field units here as of Jan. 1, 1984. These figures included:

—SACROC Unit: 19,535,909 bbls., a 10 percent decrease from 1983's total of 21,718,762.

—Sharon Ridge Unit: 2,116,046 bbls., 2,100,353 of this in Scurry County for a 1.3 percent increase from 1983's Scurry total of 2,071,560.

—Cogdell Unit: 2,314,638 bbls., 1,574,040 of this in Scurry County for an 11.4 percent decrease from 1983's Scurry total of 1,574,040.

—Diamond M Unit: 182,789 bbls., a 10.2 percent increase over 1983's total of 165,785.

These four units accounted for 23,393,091 bbls. as of Jan. 1, 1984. This equals almost a 9 percent drop in production from 1983's same total, when 25,530,146 bbls. were produced.

Career ladder decisions made developing their own criteria when the state says next year they'll give us a plan which will supercede it?

"What I'm saying is, if we're going to spend this kind of money, we ought to at least do it right," he said.

Acknowleding their own reservations about career ladder — and with an encouragement to Hawes to continue seeking revisions in the law at the state level — the school board approved the schedule for implementation here unanimously.

As part of this motion, they also appointed the committee charged with overseeing its implementation here this year. This committee will consist of Assistant Superintendents Jack Gorman and Dr. Tom Scannicchio; Central Elementary Principal Charles Anderson; and two teachers to be named by these committee members, one from the elementary and one from the secondary level.

Copies of an 11-page document detailing provisions related to career ladder here were also to be distributed to all Snyder teachers Wednesday morning.

The time sequence related to local career ladder monies will be:

—April 19: Meetings with campus faculties completed.

—April 26: The deadline for teachers to return applications to the campus principals for career ladder monies. This application will include providing information regarding experience and educational training above basic certification.

—April 29: The deadline for these applications to be returned to the personnel office.

—May 6: A meeting slated of the selection committee.

—May 18: Written notification to be sent to all applicants and supplemental checks mailed to those chosen.

Southwestern. Part of his internship and residency was also completed through the University of Texas Health Science Center's department of surgery at Parkland Hospital and affiliated hospitals, Children's Medical Center, Veterans' Hospital and Dallas Presbyterian Hospital. He began serving Snyder in April 1984.

Prior to coming here, both doctors practiced in Alpine — Dr. Miller for four years and Dr. Pate for almost three years.

Western Days winners named

Van Hale was named winner in two of the three Western Days contests held Tuesday at Western Texas College.

Hale won both the tobacco spitting and horse shoe pitching contests. Richard Merritt took first place in the cow chip throwing contest, with second place going to Okie Hopkins. Darren Greenway was second in the tobacco spitting competition.

Western Days were sponsored by the Student Senate to get students in the spirit for the WTC NIRA rodeo which opens Thursday night in the Scurry County Coliseum. Students were encouraged to dress in western clothing Wednesday and were to be judged for prizes.

Competitors in a beard growing contest will be judged at 11:10 a.m. Thursday in the Student Center.

Hospital Notes

ADMISSIONS: Vickie Hess, 2612 36th; Gerald Childers, 2505 Avenue W; Margaret Molina, Rt. 2; and Karen Durst, 800 28th.

DISMISSALS: Henry Green, Christopher Wood, Helen Howell, William Watson, Dessie Jones, Ben Garcia, Mary Zalman and Alta Couch.

Births

Sheila and Mike Stanley of Hermleigh are the parents of a baby girl weighing 6 lbs. 11 ozs. born at 4:12 p.m. on April 5 in Malone and Hogan Hospital in Big Spring. Named Tiffany Gayle, she is welcomed home by a brother, Robert. Grandparents are Billie and Richard Stanley of Snyder and Ken and Carolyn Miller of Lubbock.

Japanese land prices gaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmland prices in Japan last year showed the smallest gain since the mid-1960s, says a report by the Japan International Agricultural Council.

Even so, Japanese farmland prices "remained on a high plateau" of about $17,000 per acre, the report said.

Japan has only about 13.3 million acres of farmland.

By comparison, U.S. farmland totals more than one billion acres and in 1984 declined in price for the third consecutive year to an average of $739 per acre nationally.

Hit-and-run here Tuesday

Two minor traffic mishaps — including one hit-and-run incident — were reported to Snyder police Tuesday.

Marvin L. Hobbs of 314 32nd St. filed the hit-and-run report at 12:21 p.m.

He told police that his 1981 Chevrolet had apparently been struck by another vehicle while parked in the N. 100 Block of College Ave. earlier in the day.

Involved in the day's second accident at 8:33 p.m. in the 3500 Block of College Ave. were a 1981 Chevrolet driven by Amy Denise Camp of 2912 Ave. U and a 1980 Chevrolet driven by Michael Darwin Byrom of 2202 41st St.

No injuries were reported in either accident.

Police handle overdose report

Snyder police investigated an apparent drug overdose reported shortly before 11 p.m. Tuesday.

Officers and units of Aid Ambulance-Snyder were dispatched to a north Snyder residence at 10:54 p.m. where they found a 44-year-old woman suffering from an apparent dose of various types of tranquilizers.

The woman was taken from the scene to Cogdell Memorial Hospital for treatment and was reportedly recovering Wednesday morning.

In other action, city officers jailed two local men on public intoxication charges and one for being intoxicated in a licensed premises.

right to select the attendance zone the child will attend if the request is granted, it was noted.

Tuesday's meeting of the board included also a 2½ hour closed executive session with board members talking with a group of local parents regarding classroom behavior of a Snyder elementary teacher.

The board went into closed session at around 8:18 p.m. and returned into open session at 10:40 p.m. No action was taken after coming back into open session.

School board members attending were Mike Reed, J.D. Hinton, G.A. Parks Jr., Allen Grimmett, Lillie Sullivan and Mike Jordan. J.M. (Mule) Kaysar was absent.

In other school-related decisions, the board voted to:

—Employ Vicki Nelms of Chillicothe as the new head volleyball coach at SHS (see related story page 7).

—Approve the count of school election ballots from Saturday's vote.

—Set Friday as the deadline to accept bids for exterior cleaning work at the high school and junior high buildings.

Dr. Lamb

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Crash dieting is dangerous

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 42-year-old male in good health, but in the last several years I have had a weight problem. I do not follow an exercise program, but I work seven days a week and walk a great deal. I'm 6 feet and weigh 210. This is very uncomfortable for me, so I made up a weight-loss diet that consists of three cups of orange juice, one and one-half cups of 4 percent cottage cheese and three slices of bread daily. Between meals, I have a carrot or some lettuce, and I have a cup of orange sherbet in the evening. Will I be able to reach 165 without medical problems?

DEAR READER — You may get to 165 pounds on that diet, but you may not be in good health, since it's a terrible diet. A person can lose weight on any diet that restricts calories so that fewer calories are consumed than are used.

The problem with such low-calorie diets is that the thyroid shuts down to decrease the metabolism. This is Natures's way of helping people survive when they are starving.

In addition, most people who go on crash or severely restricted diets regain the weight they lose.

A better way to lose weight is to follow a balanced diet. This can be the basis for a continued balanced diet after one has lost weight. I am sending you the Health Letter, Special Report 17, Flexible Weight Control Plan, which provides such a diet plan. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

In addition to walking, you must do strength exercises to build up your muscles. Muscles use calories even when they are not worked, which helps to prevent obesity. The pounds may not disappear as quickly, since muscles weigh more than fat. However, as you develop muscles and lose fat, your measurements may change even when your weight does not.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read in your column that chewing tobacco contains licorice, which contains a chemical that causes the body to lose potassium. Would licorice candy be dangerous to one's health if one ate a lot of it? I eat licorice about a pound bag of licorice in two weeks. Will this cause me to lose potassium?

DEAR READER — No. Licorice candy made in the United States does not contain real licorice, but uses an artificial flavoring. That is not true of some licorice candy from Europe, which is made from the real thing. Sometimes natural is not best.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I cannot find any skimmed-milk brands with nonfat milk solids added. What are some brand names?

DEAR READER — Almost all commercial skimmed milk in grocery stores is fortified with 2 percent nonfat milk solids. Different brands taste different and you may like one brand better than another. Borden's Skim-Line is one possibility. Note that the carton reads "protein-fortified skim milk." The protein is from the added 2 percent non-fat solids. That is usually what the term "protein-fortified" means.

One also can use Carnation's nonfat dry milk powder, which can be mixed as rich as one wants and is particularly useful in cooking.

Gramm considered C. American trip

AUSTIN (AP) — He wouldn't criticize Gov. Mark White for making the trip, but U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm said he decided against going to Central America this week because the visit might have looked political.

White is in Honduras to check on Texas National Guard troops on maneuvers in the troubled region.

"I talked to the Pentagon at great length about it," Gramm said of the guard training. "I'm confident they have made every effort to make the area safe. But I would have liked it better had they gone somewhere else."

During a visit to the state Capitol for a speech to lawmakers, Gramm told reporters, "I thought about going. In fact, I looked into it before the governor had decided to make the trip.

"But I decided against it. I thought that with the guard there it just might look political if I did it. I'm sure the governor looked at it and made a decision he wanted to do it. I certainly don't criticize that decision," said the freshman Republican senator.

The Honduras training "is the kind of training that we need if we are going to integrate the guard and the reserves into the overall military establishment of the country," according to Gramm. "That's what we are committed to, because we don't have the money for a standing army the size we need to keep the peace."

Central American political unrest "should alarm all Texans," he said.

"I am concerned if El Salvador goes communist and becomes a staging area against Mexico that we are going to have millions of political refugees coming across our southern border. And they're not going to Massachusetts. They're coming into Texas," he said.

Auto hubcaps reported stolen

Police are investigating a misdemeanor theft report filed Monday evening involving a set of missing hubcaps.

A.T. Underwood of 1109 21st St. called police at 7:34 p.m. to report the hub caps had been stolen from his son's car.

No value was estimated. The items were taken from a 1977 Chevrolet Monte Carlo.

In other action, city officers logged one misdemeanor arrest Monday night jailing one suspect on charges of public intoxication.

More than half of the electric power in the United States comes from coal. Other important sources are water, natural gas, and oil. Other sources, such as wind and geothermal energy, provide less than 1 percent.

The giant planets, Saturn and Jupiter, composed of much the same material as the sun, emit more energy than they receive from the sun.
