Russia Deadlocks Parley With Firm Attitude On Veto-Voting

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2—Russia was reported tonight to have taken an emphatic "no retreat" attitude on a veto-voting issue which once again has deadlocked the Big Five and the United Nations conference.

This stand was dictated straight from Moscow.

Said the official British information services:

"Unfortunately, there seems no reason to believe that the movement of the conference along the final phases of its journey will be facilitated thereby."

The core of the issue is this:

Should the Big Five—Russia, China, Britain, France and the United States—have absolute veto powers in the all-powerful security council of a proposed world league, even over the mere discussion of situations which might threaten the peace?

Airing Of Disputes

All but Russia are willing to interpret the veto privilege as inapplicable to the airing of disputes in the security council. Small nations, with a measure of British and American sympathy, want to go even farther and lift the veto from investigation of controversies and action to adjust them pacifically.

But a Russian paper laid before the Big Five delegation chiefs declares that the Soviets want the widest possible interpretation of the veto. They are insisting that it cover discussions as well as investigation, peaceful settlement and the use of force against aggressors.

If the Russian view were to prevail, conference officials said, the veto would be inapplicable only to such procedural matters in the council as setting up its staff, calling meetings, creating auxiliary agencies and adopting parliamentary rules under which it would operate.

Specific Example

Boiled down to fit a specific example, the Russian position was said to be that if a member of the United Nations dropped into the mail a complaint against any other nation, the security council could receive the document. But any of the Big Five could use its veto power to prevent opening of the mail or any discussion of its contents.

Some American delegates said they saw little chance that Russia would give any ground, now or later. Others were hopeful the Soviets would move toward a less rigid line as Big Five deliberations continue on the biggest issue of the conference and other problems welded to it.

The veto question also is involved in such matters as selecting the chief executive officer of a world organization, picking judges for a new international court, and revising the charter at some future time. Under present plans, the council would have to take action on all these.

May Let Issue Pass

Because of the impasse, a disposition appeared to be developing among some delegates, the Americans particularly, to tell the conference the Big Five can't agree on an interpretation of the veto formula and to let the Russian version and that of the other four great powers stand side by side.

That would leave it up to the conference to accept or reject a veto-voting formula whose mean-

Levant Trouble Continues As De Gaulle Levels On Britain

(By The Associated Press)

Sporadic firing continued in Damascus yesterday as French leader Gen. Charles de Gaulle charged that British agents had precipitated uprisings in Syria and Lebanon against France.

The peaceful solution of the crisis in the Middle East—calmer since British Ninth Army troops took over trouble spots — hit a snag when De Gaulle clearly indicated he was unwilling to submit the problem to a three-power meeting of the United States, Britain and France.

Wants Russia Included

The French leader, however, said that he was willing to take part in a four-power conference that would include Russia. He suggested that the four powers negotiate the question of the "whole Arab world"—an oil rich area where British interests predominate.

De Gaulle told a Paris press conference that Russia, too, had interests in the Middle East, and he urged that the Big Four together with the Arab states, should settle the issue peacefully and "not from the point of view of stupid rivalry."

In the Syrian capital of Damascus, angry Syrian crowds caught and killed two Senegalese soldiers trying to reach French headquarters from their outposts, while British troops strove to protect the French.

Taken From Barracks

French troops were being taken from their barracks in the city by the British under cover of the curfew — but some French conscripts fired on passersby from a barracks wall and wounded two.

Gen. Olivia-Roget, French officer who directed the bombing, shelling and machine-gunning of the ancient capital which started Tuesday night, was dismissed from his command by British request. Syrians looted some French houses.

Sudden Council Session Is Set

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sunday, June 3.—Supreme headquarters called upon the American war correspondents committee early today to supply five men on a pool basis to go to Berlin to cover the initial meeting late today of the four-power Allied control council for Germany.

Twelve hours earlier the SHAEF press relations information office, answering a query on whether the meeting was to take place this week-end, said: "Supreme headquarters has no information about the reported meeting. It is not denying the meeting may take place later, but not this week end."

Gen. Eisenhower is the U. S. representative on the council. The other members are Soviet Marshal Gregory Zhukov, British Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, and the French Lt. Gen. Pierre Joseph Koenig.

From competent sources it was learned that the boundaries for the occupation of Germany had been agreed upon for some time, except for minor details. No official announcement was forthcoming, however.

It was expected that the four military men would work out a plan to move their respective troops into the right occupation areas on a time schedule, and at the same time set up a framework for the Allied Control council.

The meeting was expected to last two to three days. When the next meeting will take place was not known. It has been announced in the United States that Gen. Eisenhower is expected there by June 18, and it was considered unlikely that there would be a further meeting until he returns to Europe.

Sets Control Policy

The job of the Allied council is to set up a control policy, the carrying out of which will be left to the occupation armies. The move into the respective occupation areas will take some time.

Supreme headquarters arbitrarily set the number of correspondents to cover the meeting at five, saying there were no places for more. The places were divided one for the American news services, one for special newspapers, one for radio commentators, one for still pictures and one for motion pictures.

There was no indication of how many British and French correspondents would be taken. American press relations officers said they did not know. The American correspondents' committee, which has repeatedly urged full press representation at such events, accepted the pooling arrangement under protest.

Warehouses In Area Approved

DALLAS, June 2. (AP) — The Dallas regional office of the War Production board said today it had received notice of WPB approval of a number of Texas construction applications, including cotton warehouses for five West Texas communities, and schools for Borger and Raymondville.

Three Lubbock companies were authorized to build the warehouses for handling and storing cotton, each warehouse to cost $18,000. Union Compress and Warehouse company was authorized to build at Tahoka, Sudan, and Littlefield; the Trinity Compress and Warehouse Co., at O'Donnell, and Panhandle Compress and Warehouse company at Childress.

School at Borger

Approved also was a federal works agency project for a two-story school building of 19 class rooms at Borger to cost an estimated $722,326.

The Raymondville school, also a Federal Work agency project, would cost an estimated $91,248. It calls for a one story, eight class room building including a cafeteria and kitchen.

Other projects approved included:

J. W. Perry & R. O. Canon, incorporators of the Permian Building Company, Inc., Odessa, authorization for an eight story office building, estimated cost $400,000.

900 Convicts Riot, Score Are Wounded

JESSUPS, Md., June 2 (AP) — Sixteen prisoners were shot and three guards and a state trooper wounded before 900 Maryland house of correction convicts, who apparently rioted because of a meat scarcity, could be driven back into their cells and order restored.

For more than three hours the inmates, all serving short terms for minor offenses, ran wild in the cell tiers despite dousings with fire hoses, tear gas and an offer by the state superintendent of prisons, Harold E. Donnell, to talk to a committee of their number.

The men, about 70 per cent of them negroes, fought back with buckets of scalding water and bottles and with clubs torn from cell furniture and fittings, smashing thousands of windows in the huge building and starting a quickly-quelled fire in the shirt shop.

Dr. John Clark, prison physician, said none of the prisoners was seriously hurt.

Yanks Make New Landing On Mindanao In Drive To Clean Out Isolated Jap Forces

ALL TOGETHER, LET'S RAISE THE FLAG! — Associated Press Photographer Joe Rosenthal took a picture of U. S. Marines raising a U. S. flag on Iwo Jima and the war-packed drama and pathos of the spirit of the picture has captured attention of the world. In the cartoon above, Cartoonist Fitzpatrick has paraphrazed Rosenthal's picture, so to speak. Let's capture the enthusiasm of the boys fighting over there with the spirit we manifest in the Seventh War Loan by raising our flag on high just as the Marines did on Iwo Jima.

MANILA, Sunday, June 3. — American forces made their sixth amphibious landing on Mindanao island Friday in a move designed to encircle and exterminate isolated Japanese garrisons.

The landing was made at Lauyon 75 miles south of Mindanao's capital city, Davao, and on the western shore of Davao gulf.

Doughboys rushed ashore against light opposition, quickly secured their beachhead and moved inland in search of the enemy. The landing was made under cover of strong aerial and naval support.

The Japanese pulled back from the beach under shelling by a destroyer force commanded by Rear Adm. A. D. Struble.

Radio Station Destroyed

Yanks found a destroyed Japanese radio station near Lauyon.

The maneuver was a shore-to-shore operation, shifting some American forces, probably from Maj. Gen. Roscoe B. Woodruff's 24th Infantry division in the Davao sector.

It was not immediately indicated how many Japanese were in the Lauyon sector, an important area, for that city guards the entrance to Davao gulf. Heavy guns set up along the coast at Lauyon or to the north could harass any shipping entering the gulf.

Japanese in the Lauyon area probably were cut off on southern Mindanao as Woodruff's outfit bisected the island in their recent sweep through the center to attack strong enemy forces guarding Davao.

50,000 Said on Island

Gen. Douglas MacArthur recently estimated 50,000 Nipponese troops remained on Mindanao, the bulk of them in centrally located Bukidnon province. However, Woodruff's division has encountered stiff resistance and been forced to repulse strong counterattacks northwest of Davao. Another strong force may be in the Lauyon area.

In all, four U. S. infantry divisions are engaged in the Mindanao campaign. The 31st, 40th and Americal all are in the north-central sector, where the bulk of the enemy forces are believed cut off in Bukidnon's rugged terrain but will have to be wiped out before the island is secured.

Moving northwest from Davao, the 24th Infantry division has liberated numerous towns in its drive inland on enemy forces pocketed between the Davao and

County Lags Badly In War Bond Drive

Lubbock county's Seventh War Loan is lagging badly!

That was the announcement of War Bond drive leaders Saturday after checking up on sales of the past week.

Up until Friday night, a total of $559,400 in series E bonds had been sold, less than a third of the county's $1,700,000 E bond quota. The figure did not include $157,489.70 in bonds sold during

DIG DEEPER!

The war has produced any number of facts that have to be faced in the years to come.

One of these, and the most human, is the monthly hospital patient load. Our wounded veterans are being lodged in the hospitals in greater numbers each day. The increase is more than 1,000 a month.

Remember this INCREASE is 1,000 a month. And imagine what it costs, how many $25 War Bonds are needed to see that every last one of them is returned to normal. Quite a task, just to imagine it.

It is but one reason why the Mighty Seventh War loan is seeking nearly as much as was sought in the first two drives last year. That is why Lubbock county citizens are asked to purchase $1,700,000 in E bonds, 60 per cent more than in the Sixth War Loan. As time goes on our wounded will increase even more. We must purchase more and bigger bonds to help them back to normal and refit them for life.

Dig deeper in the Seventh. You must dig deeper if the county's E bond quota is met.

Thursday and Friday in the downtown employes drive as the bonds had not been processed at the bank. But with this total included, E bond sales are still about two-thirds short of E bond quota set for the county.

The total of all bonds sold in the drive, including E bonds, stood at $2,577,598.25, a little more than half of the $4,540,000 over-all quota for the county in the Seventh War Loan.

"The average citizen of Lubbock county isn't buying his or her share of E bonds, and if sales don't pick up in the next four weeks, we're going to fall pitifully short of our quota," E. K. Hufstedler, jr., chairman of the city drive declared Saturday.

Leaders In County

Slaton and Shallowater independent school districts continued to lead the county Saturday in percentages of E bond quotas; Shallowater having reported sales of approximately $35,000 the first two days of the drive as compared to a quota of $32,000 in E bonds. Slaton was nearing its $124,000 E bond quota after staging a "special emphasis day" Memorial day when citizens purchased bonds in special observance of Memorial day.

Roy Boyd, rural chairman in the drive, reported Saturday that all independent school districts were conducting their campaigns but that no figures had been reported.

Halsey Loose Again With His 3rd Fleet

Yanks On Okinawa Tear Into Fading Jap Defenses As Drive Nears Close

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Sunday, June 3—Peppery Adm. William F. Halsey just returned to action in the Pacific with his U. S. Third Fleet, sent carrier planes against potential suicide plane bases of the Japanese homeland on Kyushu island Saturday while the 10th Army tore into disintegrating enemy forces on Okinawa.

Today's fleet communique reported carrier planes of Halsey's fleet, operating under Vice Adm. John S. McCain, shot down two enemy planes, destroyed 11 on the ground and damaged 23 more at Miyazaki, Kokubu, Tushira, Kagoshima and Chiran. Two enemy surface craft were destroyed off the coast.

Halsey Ready To Rove

Halsey was disclosed yesterday to have gone back into action against the Nipponese, boasting his fleet could move anywhere from the North to South pole and even, if need be, into Tokyo bay.

In the Okinawa campaign, now in its closing phases, the 10th Army divisions ranged below the collapsed Naha-Yonabaru line Saturday for general gains up to 1,000 yards. They were backed by tanks and heavy artillery, due to a cessation of rainy weather which had deluged Okinawa with 13 inches of rain in 10 days.

Enemy resistance was moderate.

The Third Fleet's assault on enemy suicide plane bases came at a time when Tokyo radio was trumpeting that huge successes had been scored by such attacks on shipping at Okinawa and that the attacks would be stepped up. But Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said today that enemy air action through Friday continued on a small scale as it had the past few days.

Gains On Okinawa

Aground on Okinawa, in the west coast sector southeast of fallen Naha, the First Marine division yesterday gained 1,000 yards below Shuri and crossed the Naha-Yonabaru east-west highway.

Near the center, the 96th Infantry division captured Ohan village which is two miles below captured Shuri and pushed on below Chan toward Tera village. The Yanks seized high ground near Kamizato.

On the east coast side, the Seventh Infantry division pushed southward in a move aimed at cutting off the Chinen peninsula and reopening the Nakagusuku harbor, once anchorage of the Japanese fleet.

The Seventh captured Ogusuku town, two and a half miles south of occupied Yonabrau and speared toward Shinazato.

Meanwhile, the 77th Infantry division mopped up Japanese stragglers around fortress Shuri.

Thunderbolts Lash Area

Today's communique reported a strike by Army Thunderbolts at Kyushu Friday preparatory to the Third Fleet assault.

Escort carrier planes Friday also blasted Sakishima, southernmost group of islands in the Ryukyus below Okinawa.

In addition to hitting Kyushu, Halsey's planes on Saturday struck Minami Daito island, 200 miles east of Okinawa.

Among the Kyushu targets of Halsey, Kagoshima has both land and seaplane bases for Navy planes. Miyazaki, on the southeast coast, has a three-runway air base.

Emphasizing the slow mopup character of bypassing operations in the Pacific, Nimitz said 63 Japanese were killed and 63 captured between May 20 and May 26 on Iwo, Saipan, Tinian and Guam —the last base the headquarters of the admiral making the announcement.

Japs Trying For Line

Japanese survivors of the shattered Shuri line on Okinawa appeared to be mustering a large portion of their waning strength for a last-stand defense of Naha airfield, largest on the island.

Sixth Marine division patrols operating south of Kokuba river reported that Naha peninsula on the west coast was "alive with enemy troops" in the vicinity of the airfield south of Naha city.

On the eastern flank the Seventh Infantry division, knifing southward from Yonabaru, reported stiffening Nipponese resistance yesterday in the Ogusuku village area at the base of Chenin peninsula.

Naha and Chenin peninsulas form the wings of the arrowhead-shaped southern end of Okinawa, where the estimated 25,000 survivors of the Japanese Okinawa garrison, originally figured at about 85,000, will make their final stand.

The nubs of Japanese resistance on the east and west indicate the Nipponese are broken into widely separated forces to meet the onslaught of American 10th Army

German Butchers Plead For Mercy

AHRWEILLER, Germany, June 2. (AP)—Testimony ended today in the trial of three German civilians accused of killing an American airman last August, with one defendant, Peter Kohn, 22, breaking into sobs as he told his story of the fatal clubbing.

"I remembered how many dead people we had in Speicher," as result of an air raid, he cried. "I forgot myself."

Airman Not Identified

The airman, attacked when he parachuted to earth, has not been identified.

The shabbily-dressed defendant, who lost his left arm in battle against the Russians near Orel in 1942, said he struck the flier with a 3-foot club "only on the arm or shoulder." But under cross-examination, he said "I might have hit him on the head. I don't know. I lost control of myself.

"It is possible I kept on hitting him after he was down on the ground. I don't know."

The defense called only three witnesses—Kohn, another defendant, Matthias Krein, and the village priest. After closing argument by the prosecution and defense, the eight-man American military commission will give its verdict, which will not be announced for several days.

Signed statements by the three defendants were admitted as evidence today. In them Kohn said he beat the airman with a club, Krein said he made no movement to halt the clubbing even though he was a member of the German rural police, and Matthias Gierens, 37, said he hit the flier with a hammer.

Food Curbs To Be Lifted Quickly When Japs Beaten, Bowles Says

WASHINGTON, June 2 (U.P.)—Food price and rationing controls can be lifted quickly after the Japanese war is won—within a year if victory comes that soon, Price Chief Chester Bowles said today.

Bowles also said gasoline rationing would end with the end of the Japanese war.

The price administrator told a congressional committee yesterday he expected civilians to get more meat beginning in July as a result of new OPA measures.

Bowles, in an interview, gave the United Press the latest official word on the future of rationing controls.

Sugar Situation Tight

Referring to the possibility of lifting food controls soon after V-J day, he said he meant all controls on all food except sugar. The sugar situation is tight and generally expected to get tighter.

"But food controls must be kept this year—if they're not, things will blow up," Bowles declared.

The office of Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D., N. J.), meanwhile, said the senator was misunderstood when reporters quoted him as saying price and rationing controls must remain until 1950.

It was asserted Wagner told reporters any estimate—such as the year 1950—was "pretty strong." His office emphasized that he did not mean controls should continue until that time.

Bowles declared that fresh fruits and vegetables would be free of price regulations now if he weren't certain that they would have to be put under control again this fall.

To Free Automobiles

He predicted that as soon as the 1,000,000 or more automobiles needed for the most essential users are produced—which should be in a year or so—automobiles would be freed of both price and rationing control.

He said that building materials probably would be among the items kept longest under price control because of the great reservoir of demand.

Rent control, he suggested, might continue under city management for some time after OPA's demise.

Bowles said he was confident the price control act, due to expire June 30, would be extended for another year without too many "weakening" amendments.

He said he depended on the great middle section of the people to back OPA, adding that it was encouraging to see by the polls that an overwhelming percentage of them did.

"There's the five per cent who are chislers and cheaters; the 20 per cent, like my father-in-law in Maine, who hate government regulations but seeing the necessity observe them; and then the great group in between who want to be honest and yet don't want to be suckers," he put it.

"These are the ones OPA is depending on. We're depending on them to keep their morale high."

Meat Program Making Headway

Bowles revealed that the government's new meat control program "already is making great headway." He told Congress he expected more meat on eastern tables by July 1. June supplies, however, were estimated by OPA at seven per cent under May.

The price chief said OPA already had put thousands of black market slaughterers out of business under its new regulations.

This, he declared, was evident from the fact that 11,000 nonfederally inspected slaughterers had failed to register with OPA under the new meat control program.

"By May 25, only 15,220 nonfederally inspected slaughterers had registered with OPA for their quotas," Bowles said. "It is safe to say that the great majority of the 11,000 who failed to apply had been operating in the black market. Today they no longer can do business."

Meat enforcement cases are instituted at nine times the rate of two months ago, he revealed, or 15 times the rate of two years ago. There were 1,207 new cases opened in the last three weeks.

Pfc. Turner Kimmel Home On Furlough

Pfc. Turner Kimmel, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Kimmel of 2405 Twentieth, is home on a 30-day furlough from Torney General hospital at Palm Springs, Calif., after serving eight months overseas.

For two months he was in a French hospital and then was flown to a hospital in England for treatment of a fractured foot sustained when he jumped from a second story window of a burning house. His company had taken a French village and had set up quarters in the houses there. Later the Germans shelled the village in a counter-attack and the house in which Pfc. Kimmel was billetted burst into flame.

Since he had the choice of jumping out of the window or burning with the house, he chose the former and did a good job of shattering his right arch. The wound, bad enough in itself, was augmented by the anemic condition his system was in from sleeping in the snow and other hardships of being a front-line soldier.

Before going into the Army in 1942 in the ASTP, Pfc. Kimmel was a student at Texas Tech where he was a member of Silver Key social club.

U. S district court, Lubbock division, was adjourned Saturday by Judge T. Whitfield Davidson after the civil docket had been cleared in the morning's short session. The court will not be in session again until the October term.

One judgment was given by the court in its closing session, with several other cases involving violations of the rent control act being passed at the request of Frank R. Murray, attorney for the Office of Price administration.

In the case of Chester Bowles, OPA, vs. William A. Wilbanks a judgment was rendered against the defendant ordering him to pay $45 for exceeding maximum regulations, and to file a notice of change of tenancy.

Letter Received From Sgt. Jack Calvert

Friends here have received a letter from S/Sgt. Jack H. Calvert, formerly of Lubbock, who was taken prisoner in October of 1943 by the Germans and was liberated May 12 from the Austrian camp where he was imprisoned.

Sgt. Calvert was in the 18-day march from Stalag 17B to Braunau, Austria, birthplace of Hitler, where they were left in a wood with guards surrounding them. Their only shelter, according to the sergeant's letter, was branches from trees that they could cut with pocket knives.

The B-17 gunner was shot down when his plane was on the return trip to its base in England and only 20 miles from the safety of the Swiss border. He was graduated from High school at Ralls and was working in Lubbock before entering the Air force. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Calvert, live in Tokio.

Sgt. Calvert is now in Le Havre, France, awaiting transportation home.

Jobs No Problem For Chemistry Student

James Lee Day, 20-year-old son of Mrs. Lemmie Day of 2504 Twenty-ninth, is having troubles of a different sort in completing his education at Northwestern State, at Alva, Okla.

Would-be employers are "after" the sophomore chemestry major.

Home last week for a brief visit with his mother before registering for the summer term, he showed her correspondence in point, one offer being from the Gulf Oil company, which held out the attractive position of chemist in Persia.

Day, however, explained he prefered to complete requirements for his degree first.

SAFEGUARDING THE EYES OF TEXAS

Did you ever see an advertisement for "Free Glasses"?

No—you would rightly suspect a "catch" in such an offer. Yet it would make more sense than another kind of unscrupulous advertisement which you may see, offering a "free examination" with bargain glasses. ❦ The truth is that in the correction of faulty vision, glasses are far less important than a careful examination—and other professional services which are essential to discover and correct the difficulties in your individual case. ❦ The notion that faulty vision can be corrected merely by "buying a pair of glasses" may be costly to your precious eyesight as well as to your pocketbook. Glasses alone, without competent professional services and technical skill, cannot improve your eye comfort and visual efficiency.

Solon Seeks To Cut Deeply Into Army's Power In Courts Martial

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP)—A move to cut deeply into the Army's court martial powers over peacetime trainees conscripted under proposed universal military training legislation is being pushed by Rep. Kilday (D-Tex).

Just how far he proposed to go in curbing the military's powers in taking punitive action against its own personnel, Kilday was uncertain when he gave his views at a committee meeting yesterday.

Peacetime Power

But he indicated that he favored removal of court martial powers in peacetime except in cases involving minor infractions of regulations. Certainly, the Texan said, in time of peace military personnel accused of major crimes should be dealt with by civil courts.

A member of the military committee, Kilday said he will submit his proposal as an amendment to legislation providing for compulsory peacetime military training.

The administration of military justice, Kilday declared, "lies fallen in ill repute" because of recent reversals of courts martial sentences after publicity had been given to them.

As a result, he added, the public is losing confidence "in the administration of military justice" and "the people think that nothing can be done for courts martial cases unless they can bring outside pressure."

Draft Plan Hearing

Kilday stated his views as the House committee on post-war military policy set the stage for the opening of hearings on peacetime draft proposals.

The committee, headed by Rep. Woodrum (D-Va), will start its public sessions Monday with Undersecretary of State Joseph Grew as the first witness.

Woodrum said several score of witnesses will be heard during the two weeks allotted for public sessions, with proponents and opponents being given the same opportunity to present their cases.

Witnesses already listed include spokesmen for veterans' groups, religious and educational organizations and discharged service men.

Compulsory Training

While the Woodrum committee cannot send legislation to the House floor, it is expected to recommend that the military affairs committee give favorable consideration to legislation which would make every able-bodied youth liable for one year of military training after the war.

The legislation is expected to touch off one of the most bitter fights of the present session of Congress.

Congressional Medal, Legion Of Merit Are Presented To Texan

WITH U. S. THIRD DIVISION In Austria, June 2. (AP)—Double honors were conferred today on 20-year-old Lt. Audie Murphy of Farmersville and Greenville, Tex.

Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commanding the Seventh army, presented the young lieutenant with the Congressional Medal of Honor for valor, and then to Murphy's astonishment took the Legion of Merit from the pile of decorations and pinned that on the young Texan.

Besides half a dozen generals and other high ranking officers, nine senators who had just landed at the Salzburg airport on a jaunt to Hitler's retreat at Berchtesgaden stood on the reviewing stand and each shook Murphy's hand.

Five other members of the Third division also received decorations for bravery, with the entire division turning out for dress parade.

Himmler Planned To Degenerate People

LONDON, June 2 (AP) — The Luxembourg radio said today that a new secret document had been found in which Heinrich Himmler planned to reduce the people of eastern Europe to the status of uneducated brutes "available for roadbuilding and quarries and as mobile workers."

Jews would have been exterminated entirely under the Nazi plan and others would have been taught only to write their names, perform hard labor and learn that "it is the divine law to obey Germans," the radio said.

"The higher SS and police officers will have to decide which child is racially high grade and Germanic enough to get a higher education. Such a child will be sent to Germany and educated in the German way," the radio quoted the paper as saying.

"If this plan is followed systematically for 10 years there will be only an inferior population left available for road building and quarries and as mobile workers."

Eisenhower Due In Washington June 18

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of the Allied expeditionary force, is coming back to the United States for a visit, the War department announced today.

He is expected to arrive in Washington on June 18. A tentative schedule of visits to other cities includes New York on June 19, Kansas City on June 21, and Abilene, Kansas, on June 21.

The capital is arranging a ceremonious reception for the general but details have not yet been completed.

The War department said the hour of his arrival and the programs in each city he will visit will be announced later by the mayors of those cities.

Mayor LaGuardia announced that the day of Gen. Eisenhower's visit in New York would be proclaimed "Eisenhower day" and that the general would go to West Point from the metropolis.

Crude Oil Stocks Near Record Low

TULSA, Okla., June 2. (U.P.) — Despite end of the European war and all-time high production, the nation's crude petroleum stocks continue near the record low level of 221,000,000 barrels.

At this time last year, crude supplies in storage and in pipelines amounted to 234,000,000 barrels.

Crude output last week set a new record, the fifth in as many weeks, at 4,868,050 barrels a day —or an increase of 353,000 barrels in the last year.

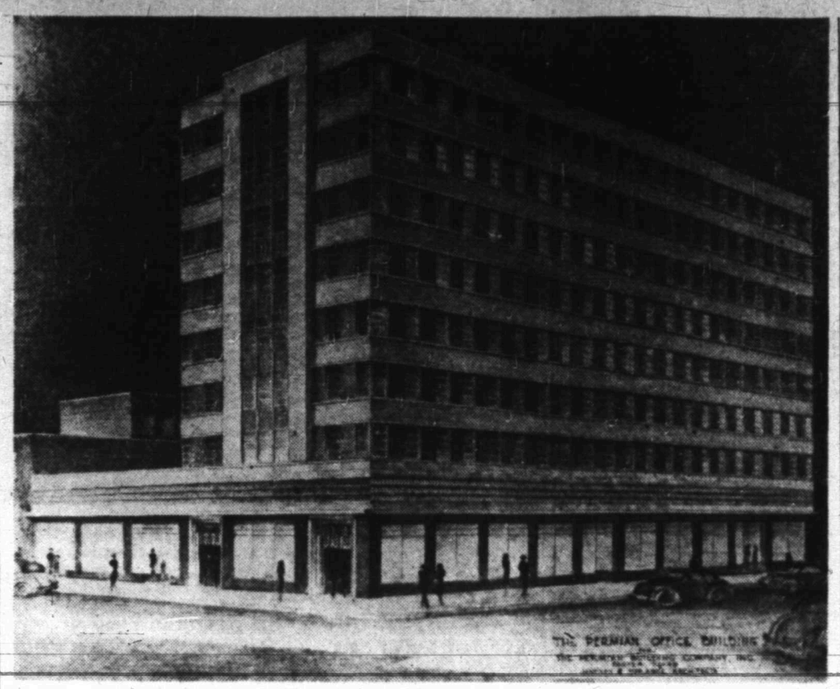

Latest reports placed gasoline stocks at 89,000,000 barrels, nearly 2,000,000 above a year ago. The military, however, had a tag on so much of these supplies that the portion for civilian consumption is relatively little larger.

Indications now are that the PAW will insist upon all-out crude production until the end of the Japanese war, despite protests from some states that they now are overproducing many wells.

May War Expenses Are Second Highest

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP)—Despite the end of hostilities in Europe, United States expenditures for the war in May were the second highest on record.

The Treasury's daily statement showed today that the government spent $8,155,892,930.80 on war activities last month, not including the expenditures of government corporations.

NEW OFFICE BUILDING PLANNED AT ODESSA—The South Plains may have the oil field but Odessa and Midland are going after the headquarters. The former city has planned the modern eight-story office building shown above and Midland has the green light on a proposed ten-story structure. The building above will be known as the Permian building. It is being financed by John W. Peery and R. O. Canon and associates and will cost an estimated $500,000. Designed by Haynes and Strange, Lubbock architects, the structure will be built of brick, stone, concrete and glass blocks and will be located on the corner of Sixth and Grant streets in Odessa.

New Mexico GOP Calls For Election

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 2. (U.P.)—New Mexico's Republican party, through state chairman Philip Hubbell, today had called upon Gov. John J. Dempsey to call a special election to name a congressional successor to Rep. Clinton P. Anderson, newly-appointed secretary of agriculture.

Chairman Hubbell said that the GOP party in "a spirit of fair play" has waited for Dempsey to call an election before making the request, "but now," said Hubbell, "it seems he is trying to alibi his way out of calling one.

"We feel that New Mexico in now of all times, should have a 100 per cent representation instead of just 50 per cent."

NAVAL FLIER KILLED

DALLAS, June 2. (U.P.)—Naval Air station authorities today announced the death last night of Ensign R. T. Boalch, 23, when his training plane he was piloting crashed on the runway at the naval air station training squadron at Grand Prairie, Tex.

Reds Connect British With Austrian Crimes

LONDON, June 2. (AP)—The Soviet Tass agency charged today that Fascists, operating under what it claimed was the protection of the British military administration in Carinthia, had committted crimes against the "Austrian and especially against the Slovene population" of the region.

In a dispatch from Belgrade the agency said that the "terror was especially intensified" when Marshal Tito withdrew his Yugoslav troops out of this southern Austrian region upon Allied demand.

U. S. SOLONS IN EUROPE

LONDON, June 2 (AP)—The U. S. House military subcommittee has arrived here for a four-week inspection tour of the European theater during which it will study the question of disposal of surplus Army equipment.

It is estimated that 600,000 Americans now have cancer.

Parcel Post Bill Passed By House

WASHINGTON, June 2. (U.P.)—The House has passed and sent to the Senate a bill to increase parcel post rates three cents a pound in the first six zones and two cents a pound in the seventh and eighth zones.

The vote was 63 to 9.

Rep. William C. Cole, R., Mo., told the House the measure would repeal a provision in the revenue act of 1943 hiking parcel post rates one cent a pound for the duration of the war plus six months.

The proposed rates are intended to put parcel post service on a self-sustaining basis.

Records Reveal Hitler Lived In Deadly Fear Of Allied Air Raids

By JACK FLEISCHER
United Press Staff Writer

BERCHTESGADEN, June 2—Adolf Hitler lived in deadly fear of Allied air raids.

In the last half of the war, when Allied planes were attacking in full force, German civilians guardedly remarked that the fuehrer seldom was caught in raids because he purposely avoided cities.

It is known that Hitler never used the superb shelter in the basement of the building housing his Munich apartment. As far as is known he was caught only once in a Munich raid and sweated that one out in his bombproof super-shelter under the fuehrerhaus.

Always Protected

While civilians had to be satisfied with whatever shelter basements and insufficient public shelters provided, Hitler saw to it that wherever he had headquarters there were tremendous underground bunkers.

These bunkers consisted of several underground levels, connected by tunnels, with enough rooms to house Hitler and his personal staff, headquarters officer, Nazi bigwigs or representatives permanently assigned to his headquarters.

These bunkers, costing millions of reichsmarks and untold man hours of labor were constructed of steel and reinforced concrete with walls and ceilings from three to 12 feet thick.

Installations were elaborate, including power plants, excellent ventilation and plumbing, telephone switchboards and radio apparatus.

Furnishings and Food

Furnishings in the offices and private quarters were first class and there always were large stores of food, wines and liquors.

Such underground headquarters existed, among other places, at the Berghof estate at Obersalzburg, the summer chancellery outside Berchtesgaden, the Berlin chancellery, the Eastern front headquarters, Western front headquarters, and the high command headquarters at Zossen, 25 miles south of Berlin.

But a stenographic record of a conference in the Berlin bunker revealed that Hitler was worried even in these quarters.

He was afraid that they no longer were safe against raids, especially the blockbuster and 11-ton bombs.

Luftwaffe Briefing

The subject arose when a luftwaffe briefing officer, Von Buelow asked:

"During the time when you, mein fuehrer, are not at Obersalzburg, may we save on using the artificial fog there?

"Now, artificial fog is used every time a plane approaches and it's a great drain on chemicals."

"Ja," Hitler said, "but naturally then everything will be lost—one must realize that. That's one of the last refuges we have. Nothing will happen to the bunker and it doesn't matter about my house, but the entire establishment will be lost."

Hitler was afraid the bunkers could not withstand the impact of the new, heavy Allied bombs and kept repeating, when the size of the bunkers was mentioned, that "it's not entirely safe."

"The real question is," he said, "can headquarters function if all the installations above ground are gone?"

His staff replied affirmatively.

Hitler then said that the Germans must reckon that above ground installations would be destroyed for "they (the Allies) naturally get reports about what's destroyed."

"I fear that here too many foreign workers were used to remove debris," he said, "probably in the same genius like fashion they used at the chancellory. They (the Allies) will receive a report on damage . . . then the attack will be repeated.

Then They'll Blow It Away

"That's entirely natural and if the attack is repeated then one must reckon that one day they'll blow away the place."

A brief discussion followed about details of the construction at Zossen, with Hitler still very skeptical.

Hitler did not get around to giving any decision on whether the use of artificial fog should be continued at Obersalzburg. An American air raid destroyed a large part of the town but Hitler's bunker withstood the attack.

WTCC Has Just Begun To Fight On Freight Rates, Letter Says

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

ABILENE, June 2.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, pioneer and leader in a six-year war to bring equality in freight rates to Texas and Southwestern territory has just begun to fight against discrimination. As evidence, it is bringing out its three-point program.

Points in the regional program include: 1. To help organize and participate in hearings for working out the Interstate Commerce commission's order on setting up a system of uniform classifications. 2. To instigate further proceedings for complete parity in scales. 3. To explore the entire field of commodity rates to win equality with other sections on like commodities moving in volume.

The Interstate Commerce commission on May 15 ordered the nation's rail carriers to institute uniform freight classifications and work out interterritorial rate scales knocking out all discriminations and bringing parity to all sections. The regional chamber calls for the continued cooperation of all affiliated and allied agencies in carrying out the three-points of its program to see that this is accomplished.

A letter to the chamber's 176 directors, the 136 organizations linked to the Freight Rate Equality federation and to all chambers of commerce in West Texas asks for their cooperation and support in the measure. Signers were Presidents E. W. Hardin and J. M. Willson of WTCC and FREF respectively, and D. A. Bandeen, secretary-manager of both groups.

Suspension In Sugar Permits Is Ordered

Acting district Office of Price administration director Earl Kerr announced Saturday that issuance of home canning sugar in the Lubbock district will be suspended one week, beginning at the close of business yesterday and ending Saturday, June 9.

Applications will continue to be received but no certificates will be issued before June 11. Issuance will be no more than 70 per cent of the 1944 issuance for home canning purposes.

Purpose of the one-week moratorium is to enable ration boards to make an accurate check on the issuance of home canning sugar to date, and to work out a system of issuance to stay within their quota.

He was First White Child Born On Plains

Death Of Bob Smith Recalls Memories Of "Old Days"

By JAMIE HYATT
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Memories of the "old days" on the South Plains were brought to mind recently with the death of R. B. (Bob) Smith, 64, who was the first white child born on the Staked Plains. He died May 17.

Born at the "Rock House," historic monument to the time when the South Plains country was a desert of grass on which buffalo and Indians were more at home than the white man, the story of Bob Smith is the story of this section.

Son of "Uncle Hank" and "Aunt Hank" Smith, who came to the Plains and settled on Blanco canyon 10 miles north of Crosbyton in 1878, Bob Smith was born March 6, 1881. The Rock House was built by the elder Smith as a convenience for buffalo hunters and ranchmen and "Aunt Hank" was given the appointment of postmistress. Mail came in from Fort Griffin by horseback and later twice a week by buckboard from Colorado City.

"Mother" To All Cowboys

"Aunt Hank," as she was affectionately called by everyone, was mother to all the cowboys in the area, and offered the hospitality of her home to anyone who stopped by. When a cowboy got sick, he came to her for nursing and mothering until he recovered. In the melting-pot tradition of the United States, she was born in Scotland and her husband was born in Germany and they met and were married at Fort Griffin, Texas.

Bob Smith, who has contributed a large collection of relics to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum at Canyon, had a desire to establish a museum at the State park at Crosbyton for displaying mementos of frontier days. He could tell stories from his childhood of buffalo herds, buffalo hunters and of Indians who dropped by the Rock House to get food.

One story was of how some Indians stopped and asked for buttermilk and water and saw a batch of hot rolls his mother had been baking. Before she could get the Indians out of the house, they had talked her out of almost every roll. The Indians on the plains were friendly and caused little trouble in their treks across the buffalo grazing lands.

Married Barbara Massey

After he grew up, Bob Smith went to a Christmas party at Old Emma courthouse where a Christmas tree and square dance were one of the two big events of the year, and met Barbara Massey, newly moved there from Irdell in Bosque county. For several months they went together to all the singing conventions, dances and other parties.

When she was 18 and he was 20, they were married and spent their honeymoon in a covered wagon out on Crawfish draw. Bob's place, where he was running some cattle. When his father died, Bob Smith acquired the Rock House and stock farm as his share in the estate and he and his family lived there until 1912 when they moved to Floydada to send the children to school. After 12 years the family moved back and stayed until 1939 when they came to Lubbock. The Rock House is now the home of the Smiths' youngest son, Alvin (Fluke) Smith.

House In Perfect Condition

Still in perfect condition, and with the addition of a long sleeping porch the only alteration in its appearance, the Rock House still stands on the edge of Blanco canyon on what used to be the Mackenzie trail. But the passing of the man who made it his home for over 60 years closes another chapter in the history of frontier days on the staked plains.

A list of survivors includes his wife, Mrs. R. B. Smith of 2702 Twenty-first; four sons, Henry J. Smith of Hot Springs, N. M., Reuben and Alvin Smith of Crosbyton and Frank Smith of Amarillo; one daughter, Mrs. E. H. Brown of Crosbyton; a brother, George W. Smith and a sister, Mrs. Mary Kirk, both of Crosbyton; and 14 grandchildren, two of whom are in the armed forces.

New Crop Pest Is Feared Here

Reports received through the office of Jason Gordon, Lubbock county agent, indicate that a new plague may strike at farmers of the South Plains in the immediate future.

The mild winter just past is an encouraging factor to grass hoppers and Gordon states that a few complaints have come to his attention of a growing 'hopper threat. 'Hoppers are more easily controlled when poisoned on the concentrated hatching beds during their early life stage the county agent says. He said it was most important that the poisoning be done before the hoppers have opportunity to damage crops. Hatching beds are found by closely examining weedy turn rows, fence rows and on margins of pastures adjacent to cropland.

Reports Are Urged

Gordon warned that inspection should be made in the very near future and also that reports of hoppers should be brought to his attention immediately. A like plague struck in the spring of 1942 and a program to furnish poison was set up here. However, he said, this is not available now and it will take some time to establish the program and furnish the poison free to farmers, if it can be done at all.

Poison bait may be made by mixing 100 pounds of millrun bran, three parts by volume of sawdust, cottonseed hulls or peanuts hulls, and 16 pounds of sodium fluosilicate or paris green.

This is to be mixed thoroughly while dry and then enough water added to make a moist, crumbly mash and broadcast thinly for maximum effectiveness during the early morning. It should be spread where grasshoppers are concentrated and feeding.

Rural School Funds Still Tied Up In Dispute As Adjournment Nears

AUSTIN, June 2. (U.P.)—Texas' rural school appropriation was left a disputed topic tonight as the 1945 Texas Legislature got ready for its final two days.

Just before adjournment until Monday, the Senate granted another conference with the House, but Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith named the same Senate members for the committee. An attempt to instruct them to reduce the $28,000,000 two-year grant to which they already have agreed in a former report was held out of order.

Could Mean Special Session

Failure to reach an agreement would necessitate a special session of the legislature if rural schools were to receive the additional aid. It supplements $25 to $30 apportionment per scholastic delivered by the state to city and county school districts alike.

The report is being returned to a conference committees because the House yesterday refused to adopt it for a second time.

Although sine die adjournment is set for noon Tuesday, clocks may be turned back.

The Senate by a two-vote margin, today voted to reassemble (without the House) on Jan. 8, 1946, to confirm or reject any recess appointments the Governor may make.

Several Appointments

The Governor already has appointed persons for vacancies running until fall. But Sen Weaver Moore, Houston is mentioned as a specific appointment likely to come up a new chairman for the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission—highest paid state appointive job.

Claude Williams, Longview, present commission head, has announced his contemplated resignation if other plans mature.

Such a confirmation session of the Senate would be unprecedented. Sen. Allan Shivers, Port Arthur, questioned its validity.

The Senate session today refused to take up either the bill to license chiropractors or the bill to require pre-marriage health examinations for women. Both had passed the House. They received majority vote today but at this stage two-thirds vote was needed to consider them.

Other Senate action today set up a five-member commission to investigate natural gas resources, prices and related matters and report to the 50th legislature, and a 15-member commission to make a survey of hospital needs in the state.

Amended and sent back to the House was a bill to license old age homes A bill appropriating $10,000 for emergency cattle tick extermination was finally passed.

Resolutions called on the public welfare department to adopt rules to prevent old age pension frauds, and to pay expenses of Texas delegates to regular meetings of the council of state governments.

Twenty minutes of Monday's session was ordered set aside for passing local bills. The House adjourned late Friday until Monday.

Lt. Lowell K. Hess Expected Home Soon

First Lt. Lowell Kenneth Hess has been liberated from Stalag Luft I, Barth, Germany, and hopes to be home soon, a cable and letter to his wife, Mrs. Jaunita Hess of 1802 Ave. S, told her.

HESS

First news that Lt. Hess had been liberated came through the Red Cross, with the word from him coming the following day. He had completed 17 missions as pilot of a B-24 with the Eighth Air force in England when he was shot down Feb. 25, 1944, over Regensburg, Germany. His last letter was written December 9.

Lt. Hess is the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Hess of Garland, Utah, and is a graduate of the advanced flying school at Lubbock Army Air field. His wife is the former Jaunita Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Ward of 1406 Twenty-third.

Torrid, And Nude, Blonde Is Dressed By Houston Police

HOUSTON, June 2. (U.P.)—Arresting officers said she was a rude nude but—"man, what an eyeful!"

Summoned by complaining neighbors, Patrolmen E. E. Campbell and W. P. McCulloh arrived at the apartment of a certain 34-year-old blonde and knocked at her door.

The blonde appeared at the door "stark naked" and, curling an eyebrow, demanded to know what the blank blank the cops wanted.

Whey they told her she had been accused of disturbing the peace, the torrid blonde went into a tantrum and refused to put on her clothes for the trip to the station.

"I won't do it," she said flatly. "And you can't make me."

They did—much to the delight of a quickly assembled crowd of neck-craners.

Battle-Loving Halsey Back With Fleet And New Blows Indicated

By HAMILTON FARON
Associated Press Staff Writer

GUAM, Sunday, June 3.—Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey was back in the Pacific war today at the head of the Third Fleet, and the Japanese reported that the action-loving seadog already was throwing carrier planes against their homeland.

Halseys return, announced here by Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, coincided with indications that new far-reaching blows against Nippon were in the making.

As he took over on his flagship off Okinawa, relieving Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, Fifth Fleet commander, May 27—Halsey declared he was ready to strike anywhere "from the north pole to the south" and right into Tokyo bay.

Tokyo Reports Raid

Tokyo radio reported, without American confirmation, that "approximately" 200 U. S. carrier-based aircraft, "escorted by flying boats" bombed and strafed air bases in southern Japan for two hours Saturday morning.

The broadcast said carrier-based Wildcat and Corsair fighters came over southern Kyushu island "in 10 formations" between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. (6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Friday, U. S central war time). They also "strafed trains."

Nimitz announced that Spruance and his carrier force commander, Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, who started their Fifth Fleet cruise with the first carrier plane attack on Tokyo last Feb. 16-17, would have temporary headquarters here. No new assignment was announced for Mitscher.

McCain Also Returns

Vice Adm. John S. McCain returned to sea with Halsey, resuming command of the Third Fleet's carrier.

Nimitz also disclosed that the amphibious phase of the Okinawa campaign was over and this carried the implication that expanded operations against Japan could be expected.

The fleet admiral announced that, a scommander in chief, Pacific ocean areas, he was assuming direct control of all forces in the Ryukyus, including Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner's Tenth Army of soldiers and Marines on Okinawa.

Spruance previously had been the over-all commander in the Ryukyus.

Vice Adm. Harry W. Hill, in another change of command, replaced Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner as immediate head of the amphibious forces in the Ryukyus. Turner is commander of all the amphibious forces of the Pacific fleet.

Awarded Navy Cross

Nimitz disclosed that Spruance had been awarded the Navy Cross for "extraordinary heroism" in the Iwo Jima and Okinawa operations and that he would be engaged in planning mightier campaigns. These might include invasion of Japan's mainland or strikes against the China coast.

In a short talk here, Spruance said the Okinawa campaign "has resulted in the greatest naval casualties encountered in any of our operations to this time." Navy losses through May 23 were previously announced as 4,270 killed and missing and 4,171 wounded.

Spruance's command, in its four months of operations, softened up Japan with carrier raids for the Iwo Jima invasion and, after supporting that campaign, turned to the Ryukyus and Okinawa. This operation, during which the fleet has been subject to continuous Japanese suicide air attacks, included repeated carrier raids on southern Japan airfields.

Halsey and McCain, in their previous Third Fleet cruise, supported the U. S. Seventh Fleet's Philippine invasion coverage; helped cripple the Japanese fleet in Leyte gulf and off Formosa and then raided the China and Indo-China coasts.

One of Halsey's first acts on reassuming command was to order his battleships to fire several rounds at Japanese positions on Okinawa.

"I just wanted to leave my calling card," said the outspoken admiral, whose victory formula is "kill more Japs and sink more ships."

Nimitz further announced that the Navy's "forward area," including Guam, Saipan and Tinian, had been changed to the "Marianas area." Vice Adm. John Hoover continues in command of the area.

Survey Planned On Stock Worms In Area

Visiting in the office of Jason Gordon, Lubbock County Agent, briefly Friday was T. P. Jones, bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, of Dallas.

Jones' stop in Lubbock was in the interest of a survey to determine infestation of screw worms in livestock of the section. He reported that west of Lubbock county two to three percent of the stock was infested.

However, Gordon said, it was impossible to trace the percentage in this county but there were a few cases in scattered sections.

The survey is being conducted by the bureau to determine the allocation of materials for stemming its growth. Gordon recommends Fly Smear 62 for halting the worms.

It has been reported "down state", Gordon said, that the fly population was very heavy and that they begun a shift northward. He warned that Lubbock county may catch them and if so, a very bad epidemic among stock could begin.

Worrying About Moisture For Planting?

June's Rainfall Record Is Consistently Good In Area

Worrying about whether it's going to rain in time for the farmers to plant early enough to make a crop?

Well, you can stop worrying a bit. The records at the Texas Experiment sub-station east of Lubbock indicate that we're in for ample rainfall in June.

June's Record Promising

Let's take a peek at them:

Back in 1916, it rained only .39 inch in May, yet there was a total of 1.52 inches in June which gave the farmers ample moisture for planting and an average crop was harvested.

Then in 1921 we had only .43 of an inch in May but torrents fell in June to total 7.71 inches and a crop was assured.

In 1924, the records show that .90 inch fell in May while June had 1.79 inches and the average yield was 228 pounds of cotton lint per acre.

In 1927, only a trace fell in May but June had 2.91 inches and farmers planted cotton as late as June 14 and averaged 145 pounds per acre.

Only .35 inch fell in May, 1942, but June rainfall totaled 1.74 inches and a crop was assured.

In May, 1945 only .46 inch of moisture was registered at the station, so if the 34-year history of rainfall here continues as it has in the past we're in for four or five times that much this month.

2.10 Inches This Year

The only discouraging note in the glance at the records for this year is that only 2.10 inches of precipitation have been recorded this year as compared with a mean of 6.11 inches which shows that we are about two-thirds short of average rainfall.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the station, who is usually optimistic about crop conditions one day and pessimistic the next, declares "we usually can expect some rainfall in June."

"We still have quite a few days for it to rain before we reach the borderline in planting dates," Jones added. "We still can get in a pretty good acreage of cotton and grain sorghums and be able to expect more than an average crop.

Tractors Speed Planting

"As you'll note, most of the dates in the records covered the era of horse-driven machinery in this area and now with power-driven tractors, we can get a crop in more quickly," Jones added.

"The first ten days of June are still good planting dates for all crops," Jones pointed out. "The next ten days are fair and after that if the crops are not planted, we begin to expect a sub-normal crop unless we get a big break in the weather later in the year."

Jones said hundreds of farmers operating irrigation systems have good stands of cotton and feed up now, but they may suffer if rain is not forthcoming as there will be a great difficulty in maintaining the stand.

Former Lubbock Man Writes From Japan

Bob Savell, 22-year-old former Lubbock man who has been a prisoner of the Japanese since the 131st artillery battalion was swamped by the enemy on Java, has written a card to his mother, Mrs. Cora Savell of Vallejo, Calif., where she moved a year ago from Lubbock.

He wrote Oct. 15 from Fukuoka, on Japan's Kyushu island. His evident homesickness found expression in his asking categorically of every member of his family: Whether his father's business went well; if Juanita was in college; where "Tiny" was; whether Eugene had started to junior high school.

He even asked:
"How's the bicycle?"

De Gaulle Blames Britain, Urges Russian Help In Levant Problem

By RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, June 2. — General de Gaulle charged today that Syrians who fought the French "carried arms furnished by the British and suggested that a four-power conference including Russia negotiate the question "of the whole Arab world"—an area where British interests predominate.

When asked to give the names of the "crowd" of British agents which he said precipitated the Syrian and Lebanese uprising, De Gaulle said "everyone knows their names, and I would blush to give them to you."

Outlines French Side

"We must finish with 'diktats' and crises," said the French leader in outlining the French side of the Levant dispute which has found the Syrians and Lebanese refusing to negotiate with the French because of French wishes for concessions in their homelands.

"It would be a most monstrous absurdity," said De Gaulle, "if, having ended the war against Germany, we should find ourselves confronted by bloody incidents between the Allies."

De Gaulle told of French-British political and economic clashes indicated his refusal to submit the Middle East dating from the last World war and clearly in the Middle East problem to a tripartite meeting of France, Britain and the United States, as proposed by Prime Minister Churchill three days ago.

He declared Churchill's message "will change nothing," adding "I haven't thought it necessary to reply to this message.'

Russian Interests Cited

Reminding his listeners at a press conference that Russia has interests in the Middle East, De Gaulle said:

"There are many who are interested in this question. First of all there are the Big Four—France, Britain, the United States and Soviet Russia. And there are also the Arab states.

"These constitute a group. If they want to settle the question in a normal manner—and I hope peaceably—they must consider it all together and not from the point of view of stupid rivalry."

De Gaulle said France was entitled to military bases the same as Britain and the United States and charged that the "British attitude" in the Middle East was one reason for France's inability to give full independence to Syria and Lebanon.

Wants Russia Invited

De Gaulle indicated his willingness to submit the explosive question to international discussion providing Russia was invited to participate and "the question of the whole Arab world, including Egypt, Iran, Palestine and others" was discussed.

(Most of the Arab countries, which have formed a pan-Arab league and have indicated their willingness to back Syrian-Lebanese demands for independence, form a rich reservoir of oil and also are in a militarily strategic position at the crossroads of the world).

De Gaulle said he had invited the correspondents to the conference to give them a background on "an international crisis" about which "there have been spread such a great number of false or tendentious reports."

News Briefs

Among the graduates to complete their high school courses and receive diplomas at Peacock Military Academy, San Antonio, this past week, was Lonie D. Montgomery, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Montgomery of Lubbock. Montgomery, a second year cadet, attained the rank of staff sergeant in the corps of cadets while at Peacock. He plans to enter the Texas Technological college at Lubbock. Wayne Eugene Angel, son of Mrs. Elva Angel, also of Lubbock, attended Beacock this terms as an underclassman.

Supply Of Labor Increases Here

A nine per cent increase in flow of job seekers has been noted in the local U. S. Employment Service offices according to M. W. Waldron, office manager.

Sending a cheering note to the area's employers Waldron said labor market was due to begin its turn toward giving the employers their choice, and swinging away from job choosing by those seeking work.

Cutbacks from war industries, armed forces discharges and the recent dry weather have turned a flow of applicants to the local office that has placed a heavy strain on the facilities of service.

Branch Offices To Open

To offset the gradually increasing flow of traffic, two branch offices will be opened June 15 in Brownfield and Levelland. The former will handle job seekers from Terry, Yoakum and Gaines counties, while the Levelland office will take care of Cochran and Hockley county applicants.

Chester O. Hill will manage the Brownfield office while a Levelland native, Frank M. Lawless, will be in charge at the latter branch. Both offices will stress aid to returning veterans, and also handle all employment services available in the local USES headquarters.

Although the dry weather has caused farm hands to seek temporary employment elsewhere, the majority of applicants this month has asked permanent and postwar jobs, Waldron said.

This increase in stabilization, Waldron added, is due to the given reasons, with applicants desiring no more temporary work and becoming hesitant to leave present positions due to the influx of war workers and others who might replace them permanently.

Several Floyd Men Home From War

FLOYDADA, June 2.—Several Floyd county homes were made happy this week by the return of sons, brothers and husbands who have been in battle on many fronts or held as prisoners of war.

Col. Dan W. Jenkins, who was shot down over Belgium 18 months ago and held in a German prison camp, arrived home this week. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jenkins. Pfc. R. C. Henry, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Henry, sr., who was captured in Italy in 1943, arrived home Tuesday.

Lt. Don T. Shaw, after four years in military service and three years in the Southwest Pacific, is back home for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom W. Shaw. He is due to report for reassignment at Santa Barbara, Calif., the first of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Whitaker received a telegram this week from their son, S/Sgt. Howard Earl Whitaker, stating he had arrived in Boston and expected to be home soon. He has been overseas two years, campaigning in Italy, Sicily, France and Germany. He was wounded in Germany April 6 and has been in a hospital in England since that time.

Hearing Set On Thomas' Appeal

PLAINVIEW, June 2. (Special) —The appeal of Jim Thomas, 50-year-old convict, from his second conviction in connection with the murder almost two years ago of Dr. Roy E. Hunt, Littlefield physician, will be presented Wednesday before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin, said District Attorney Harold M. LaFont.

Two or more members of the defense counsel will make oral arguments and will file a brief based on six bills of exception, including charges there was insufficiency of evidence and that testimony of Jo-Ann Hunt, 5 years old at the time of the murder, was incompetent, LaFont said he understood.

Found Guilty Jan. 13

A 106th district jury of Dawson county recommended the death penalty in finding Thomas guilty as charged, Jan. 13. The preceding fall, he had been similarly convicted in a trial at Plainview but had obtained a retrial when jury misconduct was proved. Venue was changed to the Dawson court of special Judge J. E. Garland upon 64th District Judge C. D. Russell's own motion.

The law allows 90 days for perfection of appeal in such cases but, since there was so much testimony and because the case was so important, Judge Garland granted an additional 60 days to the defense, LaFont said.

30 Days For Decision

Judgment of the appellate court may be expected to take approximately 30 days before any announcement on its decision is made, attorneys said.

"The court of criminal appeals shall hear and determine appeals in criminal actions at the earliest time it may be done, with due regard to rights of parties and proper administration of justice," as provided by statute.

Thomas has been in the penitentiary since his last conviction. He was on parole from a penal sentence when Dr. Hunt was slain. That parole was revoked immediately after his arrest.

Talomo rivers.

The Lauyon landing was supported by aerial and naval units and the 24th division push by bombers and fighters.

On Luzon island, the 25th Infantry division continued its advance into the Cagayan valley from Santa Fe while to the east the 33rd Infantry division occupied positions on Highway 11 seven and a half miles northeast of Baguio. These operations were supported by medium, attack and fighter bombers which dropped 220 tons and fired many thousands of rounds in assaulting Japanese supply dumps and concentrations.

The U. S. 13th and Australian air forces carried their neutralizing attacks on Borneo into a fifth successive day with more than 140 tons of bombs, attacking air facilities, personnel and supply areas and supporting Australian ground forces mopping up operations on nearby Tarakan island.

Installations Fired

MacArthur said rocket firing planes caused many fires and personnel casualties north of Jesselton while light naval units shelled shore installations near Lahud Datu.

Air patrols sank a freighter off the west coast of Borneo and damaged a river boat while other aerial units attacked Japanese outposts in the Celebes, Halmaheras and Lesser Sundas.

Heavy bombers dropped 370 tons of explosives on Japanese headquarters areas at Taihoku on northern Formosa as they continued their daily pounding of that big island. They destroyed many buildings and caused such large fires that smoke rose 4,000 feet.

Medium bombers attacked warehouse areas at Giran on the eastern Formosa coast. Strafing fighters attacked targets throughout the island, destroying much transportation equipment, including 14 locomotives, and military installations. Four American planes were lost.

13 Freighters Wrecked

Patrol planes ranging the Asiatic coast from Indo China to the Yangtze river wrecked 14 freighters and several smaller craft, fired shipyards and damaged coastal rail facilities. Attacks were made both by day and by night.

Australian ground troops in southern Bougainville outflanked an enemy position on the Buin road and are advancing southeast toward Monoitu. Medium bombers and fighters swept the Wewak sector of New Guinea, Rabaul, Kavieng and Bougainville, bombing and strafing Japanese bivouac areas and ammunition dumps.

Levant Troubles

a world broadcast, reviewed the Vatican's prewar German policy and expressed hope that the German people, purged of Nazism, "can rise to new dignity and new life."

In Moscow, President Truman's personal representative Harry Hopkins delayed his departure for Washington after a farewell dinner at the Kremlin. Informed sources said Hopkins was staying a short while longer to turn his attention to "new work." There was speculation that the Levant situation may have had something to do with the delay.

Unconfirmed Scandinavian reports said that Allied military had arrested Col. Gen. Georg Lindemann, former commander of German forces in Denmark.

Nurse Here To Aid Bradley's Welcome And Greet Husband

Mrs. George O. Hubbert, jr., of 2521 Twentieth, a nurse at Lubbock General hospital, is en route to Philadelphia on an expense-paid trip awarded her by the Citizens committee of that city to help welcome returning war heroes, among them her husband, a captain in the field artillery of the Army.

The program will honor Gen. Omar H. Bradley, commander of the victorious 12th army group, Gen. Carl Spaatz, U. S. Strategic Air Force commander, and 50 of their retinue of aides and officers, including Capt. Hubbert.

A former student at Texas Tech and onetime employe of Lubbock General hospital, Capt. Hubbert wears the Silver star for gallantry at Anzio. Capt. and Mrs. Hubbert have two children, George Frnka, 6, and Paulette, 2. While Mrs. Hubbert is away the children are staying with the officer's mother, Mrs. Lily Hubbert, of 2521 Twentieth.

The Associated Press said the military party is due in Philadelphia Monday and that elaborate welcoming plans have been mapped.

Transient Fined On Gun-Toting Charge

George Ross Davis, 20-year-old transient, was fined $100 and costs Saturday in county court on a plea of guilty to a charge of illegally carrying a pistol.

Davis, who told police that he had been discharged by the Navy, was arrested Friday night after police had received several complaints that he had displayed the weapon downtown. He had not paid the assessment last night.

A San Angelo soldier, P. E. Biddle, 19, paid $100 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of liquor law violation. He and another soldier, who was not charged, were arrested by police early Saturday in possession of 12 quarts of whisky and a quart of wine.

Hubert Brown, 19, was charged with felony theft of a case of cigarets from Miller & Miller Motor Freight lines. He was held in county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

World Conference

ing was not agreed on even by the great powers which drafted it.

Unless they can break their deadlock, some delegates suggested, the best the Big Five can do is inform the conference that in practical operation there might never be a ban on security council discussion of a dispute, that this represented the Russian viewpoint, too, but that the Soviets want to retain and use veto rights over discussions if they ever consider it necessary. Some delegates talked of skipping the veto plan at San Francisco and calling another conference later on to work on that one issue.

May Change Later

There is a chance that Russia might hit hard now for what she wants and then swing around later to acceptance of the ideas of the other major powers. She has spoken up for conference unanimity in the past and has displayed an ability to yield at some spots when in the minority.

Further, Britain and the United States once more are standing firmly against her.

A commentary of the British information services, an official governmental agency, declared today that preventing the security council from taking cognizance of any matter seeming to threaten world peace "would be the complete negation of the intention underlying the Dumbarton Oaks proposals which form the accepted basis of the projected new world organization."

Britain's Attitude

Britain, the statement said, would like to see the veto apply only to the "employment of force to restrain an aggressor." Discussions, it said, "have established a close identity of Anglo-American views on this and kindred aspects of the great power veto."

Apart from the veto issue, the commentary asserted, technical experts have dug up "not less than 17" other points on which the Big Five ought to get together. But, it added, "the Russian attitude seems to indicate an unyielding standpoint on many questions still calling for agreement between the Big Five."

Senate Votes Recall Session For Jan. 8

AUSTIN, June 2 (AP)—The Senate today voted to call itself back into session on Jan. 8, 1946, to consider nominations made by the governor. It was the first time in legislative history that such action has been taken.

The move was a direct reflection of differences between Gov. Coke Stevenson and some members of the present Senate, over nominations. A number of nominations have been rejected, and there has been much behind-the-scenes bickering on the subject.

The simple resolution calling for the extraordinary session was offered by Sen. Weaver Moore of Houston, who assured the Senate that it was not made in bitterness.

"I believe the Senate has the constitutional power to take this step," he declared. "I think it is a good custom to start."

doughboys and Marines.

Into this southern area Adm. William F. Halsey, jr., hurled tons of heavy shells yesterday — his "calling cards," as he put it, to announce his return to action with the U. S. Third Fleet.

Halsey, absent from the Pacific war areas for four months after his Philippines seas victories over the Japanese fleet and forays into the China sea, relieved Adm. Raymond A. Spruance of the Fifth Fleet, who had opened and protected the Okinawa invasion. Spruance has established temporary headquarters at Guam.

Shuri Cleared Out

American headquarters said yesterday 24th Army corps infantrymen reorganized their forces and cleaned up remnants of the Japanese garrison at Shuri fortress, granite center of the Nipponese defense, which took doughboys and Marines two weeks to crack.

Tokyo radio broadcast a Domei, Japanese news agency, claim that 303 American vessels had been sunk and 263 heavily damaged in the Okinawa area since March 23.

News Briefs

The sheriff's office received a report of a man beating his wife at a house on the Tahoka highway. By the time Raymond Land, chief deputy sheriff, and Deputy Tom Cannon arrived the man had got a taste of what he had been dishing out — a good "working over" from his 20-year-old son. An assault charge probably will be filed against the man, who is in the county jail.

Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, Methodist district superintendent, who is to speak this morning at 11 o'clock at St. Johns church here, is to address a young adult fellowship meeting at Lorenzo at 2:30 p.m., and speaks at Tahoka Methodist church at the night service, he announced last night.

Grew said that "Dimitrov is a Bulgarian political leader representing a large democratic element with a long and honorable record of loyalty to democratic principles and the Allied cause."

Piled-Up Butter No Worry To WFA Heads

DALLAS, June 2 (AP)—Butter piling up in warehouses of the Southwest because point values are too high for housewives to buy it doesn't worry War Food administration officials in Washington; in fact, they seem rather pleased about it because it will mean more butter available for the low production months, Latham White, acting regional director of WFA's office of distribution, said today.

More Charges Made On Argentine Group

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, June 2. (AP) — The Argentine opposition group Patria Libre (free fatherland) charged today that the Argentine government closed 14 newspapers recently and arrested at least 10 editors in suppression of a free press.

A report issued through a group of former Argentine government officials in exile here asserted that the Argentine undersecretariat of press information devotes part of its annual budget of 6,000,000 pesos ($1,500,000) to subsidize newspapers "published irregularly."

The report charged that two Nazi newspapers "which systematically insulted Roosevelt and Churchill and eulogized Hitler and Mussolini now owe more than 125,000 pesos ($31,250) to the government."

All newspapers are subject to censorship, the report added, while foreign correspondents "are unable to send and receive dispatches freely."

Spain Denies Rumor Of Laval Suicide

"The report is not true," the Spanish spokesmen told the United Press in Madrid.

Rumors of Laval's alleged suicide circulated in London earlier today on the basis of an apparently garbled exchange telegraph recording of a Luxembourg radio broadcast.

OPTIMISM BOOSTS PRICES

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Investment demand, generally based on peace-time optimism, continued to lift assorted rails and utilities to 8-year tops in today's stock market although late selling stemmed the upswing of the carriers and losers were plentiful at the close.

Dealings were relatively fast from the start. Transfers of 980,000 shares compared with 700,000 a week ago and were the largest for a short stretch since Feb. 3. The Associated Press 60-stock average was unchanged at 66.4 but up .3 on the week. The utility composite moved up to a new high since 1937. Of 764 issues registering, 352 were up, 219 down and 193 unchanged.

At best levels for the year or longer were Canadian Pacific, against the liveliest sprinter; Consolidated Edison, Electric Power and Light, American Water Works, Engineers Public Service and American Woolen. In front were Laclede Gas, North American, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and U. S. Rubber.

Casualties included Goodyear, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Boeing, Du Pont, Kennecott, American Can, Eastman Kodak, J. C. Penney and Western Union "A."

Transportation bonds did selectively well.

Devers Takes Over Command In Europe

PARIS, June 2 (AP)—Five armies composed of all American and French troops who fought on the Western front and still remain in Europe were placed under temporary command of Lt. Gen. Jacob L. Devers today.

Devers, who commanded the European theater of operations before General Eisenhower was given the invasion assignment, took over Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army group, in addition to his own Sixth Army group, in Bradley's absence. Bradley is due in New York tomorrow for a visit.

Devers will command both Army groups from Bradley's headquarters. Under his command are troops of the U. S. Third, Seventh, Ninth, and 15th armies and French First Army.

Borden Among Three Counties Over Top

DALLAS, June 2. (AP)—Three Texas counties have topped their Seventh War Loan E bond quotas, as officially reported by the Federal Reserve bank, Nathan Adams, state chairman of the war finance committee, said today.

Borden county was first to reach the 100 per cent mark, with Sutton and Real counties tied for second place, Adams said.

A slight upward trend was noted in the state war loan efforts since last report. The purchase of $173,963,138 in E bond brings Texas up to 44 per cent of the goal; while total individual sales, including E bonds, have reached $132,625,905 or 42.5 per cent.

Industry Doubts New Meat Setup

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — A spokesman for a segment of the meat industry said today that OPA's county-by-county distribution program will not alleviate the meat shortage.

"I predict this order will not bring one ounce more meat to the housewife's table than she is now getting" said Joseph Dancansky, general counsel of the National Association of Non-Slaughtering Meat Processors and Wholesalers, inc.

New OPA Program

The OPA plan, announced yesterday, requires all packers to resume the same pattern of distribution they followed in the first three months of 1944. Its purpose is to give each area the same proportionate share of meat it received at that time.

The War Food administration meanwhile acted today to move a slightly larger quantity of federally-inspected beef and pork into civilian markets during the summer by reducing percentages set aside for government use beginning tomorrow.

The WFA action is designed principally to make available to civilians the amount of meat previously allotted them for the April-June quota, which was at the annual per capita rate of about 115 pounds dressed-weight basis.

Industry Proposed

In his criticism of the OPA plan, Dancansky contended that the only real solution of the shortage can be found in allocating meat direct to wholesalers and meat processors who were in business before the war.

He added that the plan will not stop "illegitimate slaughterers from gouging the public through illegitimate wholesale or retail channels."

New Ford Features Numerous Styling And Design Changes

DETROIT, June 2 (AP)—The first Ford passenger automobile to be built since February, 1942, will feature numerous styling and design changes, including a heavy bar horizontal front end grille and the adaptation of several war-developed engineering advances.

This was disclosed today with announcement by the company that it has completed a hand-made model of the super deluxe line it will put into production with the rest of the car industry after July 1.

First of the automobile manufacturers to uncover its planning for production of its 1946 models, Ford emphasized that production was not expected to begin much before 60 or 90 days. Because of the limited production and priority restrictions, it was added, the average motorist probably will not be able to obtain a new car for a year or two.

Although some details were withheld, a company statement said the 1946 Ford will embody more mechanical improvements than many pre-war annual models, resulting in greater economy and better riding comfort.

A somewhat wider engine hood cover, a re-designed instrument panel, improved interior trim and hardware and other new styling features also are incorporated in the new model.

Today's announcement made no mention of prices.

South Plains Oil Development Acttivities . . .

New San Andres-Permian Producing Area Indicated In S. W. Cochran Test; Two Outposts Hold Interest

POSSIBILITIES of daily production of as high as 150 barrels of oil per day natural have been indicated by Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Edwards, southwest Cochran county discovery for a new San Andres-Permian producing area.

Outposts to the discovery well in the Hudson area in southeast Cochran county, and to the Ownby field in east Yoakum county have been completed. A Garza county wildcat is to drill to 5,500 feet. Two explorations in east Gaines county which found water and no oil in the expected pay zones, have been abandoned and a south Gaines county prospector is indicated about a one-mile south extension to the Doss-Eubank producing area.

Swabs 150 Barrels

Stanolind No. 1 Edwards, in section 13, block L, psl survey, ten miles west of the Slaughter field, and almost on the Cochran-Yoakum county line, swabbed 150 barrels of oil and 24 barrels of wash water in 22 hours, from uncased hole between 5,025 feet and the total depth at 5,090 feet.

In a subsequent test, after a 12-hour shutin, the well swabbed 76 barrels of oil and 21 barrels of salty water.

That indicated that all of the water from the drilling fluid had not been recovered. Operator was preparing to set a packer and test bottom ten feet of the hole at last report. It may be necessary to do considerable more swabbing before all the water can be gotten out of the pay section.

Yoakum Well Completed

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company No. 1 Katy Foy, in northeast Yoakum county, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 28, block D, John H. Gibson survey, a southeast outpost to Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1-9 Hudson, discovery for production about two and one-half miles southwest of the Slaughter field, has been completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 79.98 barrels of 30.2 gravity oil.

The pay section at 5,095-5,142 feet had been treated with a total of 7,000 gallons of acid in two stages. The oil was accompanied by eight per cent water.

Well Makes 245 Barrels

George P. Livermore, Inc., and Malco Refineries, Inc., No. 1 Gilstrap, 330 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of lease in section 487, block D, John H. Gibson survey, on northwest side of the Ownby field, in east Yoakum, reported official Railroad commission potential test gauge of 245 barrels of 32-gravity oil from pay at 5,245-5,306 feet, after treating with a total of 10,000 gallons of acid. Flow was through a ⅝-inch tubing choke.

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Altman, et al., in southeast corner of section 1255, TT survey, on east side of the Hitt section of the PHD area in northwest Garza county, is to be drilled ahead from its current total depth of 3,687 feet, in lime, to at least 5,500 feet, according to a supplemental application filed with the Railroad commission. So far the test had found only slight traces of all and gas and had drilled through some water possibilities.

No other project in the area has drilled below 4,000 feet, and the deeper objective on the Altman should give more information on the area.

Plugged And Abandoned

Honolulu No. 1 J. T. Hall, in section 1256, TT survey, in the Hitt section of northwest Garza has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 3,568 feet, in lime. It had slight shows of gas, but developed considerable sulphur water between 3,440 feet and the bottom.

Honolulu No. 1 Richardson, in section 1282, BS&F survey, in the northwest Garza district, was bottomed at 3,522 feet, in lime, and was installing a pump to make a test. The project tested for about six gallons of water per hour and had over 1,000 feet of oil in the hole. It is expected to be completed for a small pumper.

Good Producer Seen

DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., Lubbock, No. 1 Colthrop, south Gaines county exploration, in section 12, block A-24, psl survey, one mile south and slightly west of the initial producer in the Doss-Eubank field, from the Clear Fork-Permian, was to re-acidize, in the open hole between 6,980 feet and the total depth at 7,200 feet. The well swabbed an average of six to eight barrels of oil per hour, after swabbing off residue following washing with 1,000 gallons of acid. Some observers believe it will be the best producer of the three wells in the area which have so far found the pay in the lower Permian.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Bishop, northeast Gaines county exploration in section 45, block H, D&W survey, about five miles south of the Cedar Lake pool, has been plugged and abandoned on total depth of 5,187 feet in lime. Only slight oil stains were encountered and sulphur water developed above the total depth.

Gaines Test Abandoned

Honolulu No. 1 Cunningham, in section 98, block G, WT survey, seven miles east of Seminole, in east Gaines, has also been abandoned, after a dose of water, on the bottom of 5,471 feet. It had no oil indications and very little gas.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-A Jones, in section 3, block A-6, psl survey, in extreme northwest Gaines, which had tested for production in the Wolfcamp-Permian, above 9,224 feet, had started making new hole, with a larger derrick, and had reached 9,397 feet, and was drilling ahead, toward a new objective of at least 11,500 feet, to make tests of the pre-Permian sections.

Sinclair Prairie Oil & Gas company No. 1 Northup, in northwest Gaines and about three-quarters of a mile southeast of the Russell field, had reached 6,990 feet, in lime, and was drilling ahead. The project is in section 451, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Progress In Other Tests

Shell Oil Co., Inc., No. 1 Cox, in the northeast quarter of section 452, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, another Russell field step-out, and to drill around 7,800 feet for the Russell pay, had reached 5,996 feet in lime, and was coring ahead.

Humble No. 1 Humble fee-Eubank, southwest Gaines wildcat, in section 6, block AX, C H. Eubank survey, had made hole below 6,722 feet in lime, and was drilling ahead.

The Texas company No. 1 Higginbotham, in labor 16, league 379, Hutchinson county school land survey, in west Dawson county, had reached 7,384 feet, in lime, and was continuing.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Lizzie Cole, slated 6,000-foot exploration in northwest Dawson county, was moving in and rigging up a rotary and was to start shortly.

D. D. Feldman No. 1-A Edwards, northwest Lynn county exploration in section 312, block 3, EL survey, had penetrated under 6,929 feet in lime.

No. 1 Rollins Continuing

George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 Rollins, northwest Lubbock county prospector in section 5, block P, EL survey, had made hole below 6,467 feet in lime and was continuing. Unofficial reports indicate this project, which so far has not reported any shows of oil in the Permian, will drill ahead, and may be carried to 10,000 feet.

Humble No. 1 Tucker, in northwest corner of section 119, block A, Thompson survey and an offset to the initial producer in the Anton field, in southeast Lamb county, was installing a pump, to complete, after swabbing for considerable time at rate of 12 barrels of oil per hour from plugged-back total depth at 5,820 feet, in Permian lime. The well had been treated with several shots of acid.

Other Lamb County Tests

Humble No. 1 Leftwich, in west half of section 32, block 1, Thompson survey, and another outpost to the Anton field, had reached 5,027 feet, in dolomite.

Humble No. 1 Bagwell, in labor 25, league 673, State Capital Lands, three miles southwest of Littlefield, was drilling under 5,908 feet in dolomite.

El Paso Natural Gas company No. 1 West Texas Land & Mortgage company, in section 55, block A, MB&B survey, in northwest Bailey county, was drilling past 9,125 feet in dolomite. No petroleum signs have been reported.

No Shows Reported

Stanolind No. 1 Slaughter, central Cochran county wildcat, now on a plugged-back total depth of 10,430 feet, in upper part of the Ellenburger, was swabbing to cleanout to test. No shows of oil had been reported, but apparently the operator did not want to quit the project without exploring all possibilities.

The Texas Company No. 1 Butler, in southwest corner of labor 9, league 70, Val Verde county school land survey about three-quarters of a mile north of the discovery well in the Levelland field, in west-central Hockley county, was to re-treat with acid in the section at 4,787-4,840 feet. After initial injection of 3,000 gallons the well swabbed 52 barrels of fluid in 24 hour, with a shakeout of 14 percent basic sediment and drilling water.

Texaco No. 1-B Coble, in labor 19, league 67, Hardeman county school land survey, and one and one-half miles west of nearest shows for production so far developed in the Levelland area, had reached 3,525 feet, in anhydrite and red rock and was drilling ahead.

Terry County Tests

Honolulu No. 1 Lockett, in section 22, block E, EL survey, northwest Terry county wildcat was bottomed at 6,196 feet, in lime and was shutdown on account of pump trouble.

Texas Pacific No. 1 Williams, in southwest corner of south half of section 13, block K, psl survey, and a north outpost to initial producer in the Alexander area in northwest Terry, was swabbing to cleanout, after treatting pay section at 5,025-5,146 feet, with 2,000 gallons of acid. The project had indicated possible yield of about five barrels of oil per day.

Livermore No. 1 Wiese, northwest Crosby county wildcat to 10,000 feet, in section 64, block C, D&W survey, had reached 4,925 feet, in lime, and was continuing.

Floyd Project Spudded

Livermore No. 1 Alexander, Floyd county exploration to 6,500 feet, in J. C. Cooper survey No. 345, had spudded and was drilling below 1,100 feet, after cementing surface casing before that depth.

Sohio Petroleum company No. 1 Mays, in west Kent county, in section 44, block 4, H&GN survey, had reached 5,932 feet, in shale, and was drilling ahead.

Shamrock Oil & Gas company No. 1 Byrd, in section 66, block T, Thompson survey, in east Lamb county, has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 8,550 feet in dolomite. It had no oil. This project was drilled by Woodley Petroleum company to 7,265 feet, and was then taken over by Shamrock and deepened.

Capt. Luther White Tells Of Heavy War Damage In Germany

Allied bombs and artillery and mortar barrages have pounded the devil—or much of it—out of German cities, you'd gather from a letter written by Capt. Luther Willard White, photographic officer for a heavy bomb squadron stationed in England.

Written to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. White of 2317 Sixteenth, the letter describes a seven-hour flight since VE-day over a heavily-hit sector of the Reich. Everywhere along the route from Ostend, Belgium, there were "coastline defenses of all kinds, posts, barbed wire and slit trenches; gun pits and pill boxes, rubbled cities of Liege, Aachen, Duren, Cologne, Dusseldorf and Duisburg; twisted ruins and hollowed shells of buildings and factories and marshaling yards where sprawl wreckage of all kinds of rolling stock; bomb and shell craters, burned and knocked out tanks, zig-zag slit trenches, rows of tank traps, bombed out airfields, rivers cluttered with hundreds of barges and boats, and the twisted girders that mark sites where there were bridges. Only pontoon bridges constructed by our engineers now span the swiftly flowing German rivers that we saw."

The officer said the roads, pocked by fury of battle, were strewn with German army ordnance, and "here and there would be a knocked out German tank and hard by the graves of the German crew marked with their helmets and a cross and flowers set out by civilians."

He described the efforts of civilians to move their personal belongings out of the wreckage of their former homes, but said Germans dressed for Sunday appear sleek and better attired than the English. Landing at Duisburg, the party found not more than 20,000 persons left of the more than 500,000 belonging there—and most of them women.

Captain White was on leave in England and Scotland on VE-day. Going into a London club, he met Miss Ina Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Langston Bacon of 2223 Ninth, and who is in the Red Cross Recreation service. Her station is Herrington, near Northampton. They went to the Shakespearean theater and saw "Merry Wives of Windsor" and visited Glouchester cathedral begun in 729.

Captain White was an engineering student two years in Texas Tech. He is 27, and has been overseas two years.

Bond Drive At LAAF Passes $200,000 Mark

Civilian and military personnel at Lubbock Army Air field "turned on the steam" as their part of the mighty Seventh War Loan campaign headed into the final month with the field's total for the drive passing the $200,000 mark this week-end.

A campaign which got under way Wednesday for all personnel of the base to buy bonds as a material memorial to those who have died winning the victory reached its climax Saturday with some $14,479.50 as the total for the four-day drive. Both civilian and military personnel carried on intensive campaigns which paid off in bond sales, several in the $500 and $1,000 classes.

The field thus far has invested $212,372.64 in bonds, cash value, more than for any previous War Loan drive in the history of the post, but still short of the record $264,000 quota for the mighty Seventh. However, with only $51,726.36 yet to be sold during the month of June at the post to put the field over the top, officials are hopeful that the goal can be reached before the June 30 deadline.

Development Of New Rat Poison Revealed

DALLAS, June 2 (U.P.)—A secret poison, known as formula 1080, may soon be doing to the rat population what DDT is accomplishing against the insect world.

Dr. J. Dowis, acting city health officer, said samples of the new potent poison, developed by the United States public health service, are being tried by the city health department, and added that "formula 1080 is the most marvelous rat eliminator I have ever known."

The highly secret formula is so potent that one ounce is diluted in a gallon of water.

Joan of Arc, the French patriot, was born on Jan. 6, 1412, in the countryside of Domremy.

Junior Baseball Leagues Set To Start Season This Week

American Loop To Open Play Monday

Lubbock's second season of junior baseball will get underway Monday as the American Legion program starts another summer session that provide lots of fun and recreation for close to 150 boys under 18 years of age.

The American League race, that loop for the younger who range from 9 to 14 years of age, will start the double round robin first half at the Boys club diamond Monday, and complete the first half of play on July 11, with six teams fighting for the top honors.

Civic Club Sponsors

Lubbock civic clubs, the same six clubs that last year sponsored the American League teams, will again be back this year with greater backing than ever before, and with promise of the league race being much closer than that of last year when the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs battled it out to gain the crown as champions of the league.

The teams have been reshuffled for the coming season, and leaders of the program believe that they have balanced the league much better than it was balanced last year. Several well known stars from last year's teams are back in the fold, but the experienced boys have been well distributed over the field.

The rosters for the league teams, as of June 1, have been completed. Any new boy wishing to get into the program will have to present his name to the eligibility committee, composed of H. J. McCabe, Dell Morgan, Stoney Wall and Bill Dean. The name can be turned in to McCabe at the City Recreation department any morning between 9 and 12 o'clock.

Several of last year's leaders are back at the helms of the clubs for another season, and assures the league with capable leaders for this season.

Junior Tourney Dates Are Named

The dates of June 21 to 24 have been set for the annual Lubbock invitation junior baseball tournament, and invitations are being mailed out to the cities in the West Texas area for teams to enter the big show here.

Favorable response has been received from Wichita Falls and Hedley teams, and one and maybe two Lubbock teams will be entered in the four day tournament. The tournament this season will be limited to eight teams, the first clubs to send in their entries to tournament officials.

West Texans Invited

The tournament is expected to draw the cream of the crop in West Texas American Legion play off entries, and will serve as a warm-up session for the American Legion teams to get acquainted with the brand of ball that they will encounter in the battle for the state title.

A suitable cup has been promised to the winner, donated by the Lubbock Baseball club of the West Texas-New Mexico Baseball league, through the courtesy of Sam Rosenthal, president of the Lubbock club. The cup will go to the Legion post winning the tournament, and will rotate until some club has won the cup three years in a row.

Invitations Go Out

Invitations are being mailed to Amarillo, Lamesa, Big Spring, San Angelo, Odessa, Hedley, Wichita Falls, Abilene and several other towns that have indicated that they would have junior baseball teams this season.

Tournament officials are working on housing for the visiting teams and on the setting up of the lights for night play at Chapman field. Lights of the Lubbock baseball club have been promised to the junior baseball teams by Rosenthal, and will be installed before tournament time. The building of stands and other details needed for the tournament, as well as league play, is also being pushed toward completion.

Golf Caravan Hits Summer Trail Soon

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP) — The fancy dans of the fairways, who wallop to fill their wallets, renew their annual quest for cash next week as the Montreal Open touches off the $250,000 (war bond value) summer tour of the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

Fred Corcoran, PGA tournament bureau manager, said at least five of the nation's top pros would invade Canada for the $13,333 event at Montreal's Islemere Golf and Country club, Thursday through Sunday.

The meet, first of two Canadian tourneys on the PGA summer schedule, was expected to lure Byron Nelson, leading money winner of the winter tour, Slammin' Sammy Snead, Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Jimmie Hines and Ky Laffon.

First United States competion on the program will be the $17,500 Philadelphia Inquirer Invitational at the Larneck Country club, June 14-17. Remainder of the schedule for the next four months:

More TCU Athletes Wounded In Battle

FORT WORTH, June 2. (AP)—War casualties among former TCU athletes mounted to 14 Friday when word was received of wounds suffered on Okinawa by Marine Billy Hearne and Jim Gibson. Both are recovering from shrapnel wounds in the head. Hearne lost the sight of his right eye. Nature and extent of Gibson's wounds are not known. Both were members of the 1942 TCU football team—Gibson at halfback and Hearne an end.

Three other members of the '42 team, all Marine officers, were wounded on Iwo Jima: Phil Roach, Kyle Killespie and Drummong Slover. Slover and Roach are now in the Navy hospital at Norman, Okla., and have been reported as making full recoveries. Gillespie is now on leave visit here and in his hometown of Paris.

Bob Quin Award Goes To Rice's Bill Henry

HOUSTON, June 2. (U.P.)—The Bob Quin award, most coveted of Rice Institute athletic prizes, went last night to big Bill Henry, Dallas, six-foot eight-inch All-America center who has paced the Owls to the heights of basketball glory the past three years.

Accepting the award at the R Association's annual meeting, Henry had this to say:

"This illustrates to what low depths Rice Institute athletes have sunk during the war."

Big Bill, who has elected to graduate before another basketball season rolls around, gained fame as the greatest pointmaker in the Southwest Conference with his spectacular cage play. He sparked the Rice Owls in their drive to the conference championship in the 1944-45 season and to the conference co-championship the year before.

COACHES TO ORGANIZE

HAMILTON, N. Y., June 2 (AP)—A National Association of Baseball Coaches will be organized at a meeting June 29-30 in New York City, Colgate Coach Eppy Barnes said today. Barnes and Joe Bedenk of Penn State, sponsors of the organization, said in a letter to college baseball coaches that a recent survey of 682 colleges showed only 242 were actively competing in baseball.

Ott Slaps $500 Fine On Pitcher Voiselle

ST. LOUIS, June 2. (AP)—Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants today announced that Bill Voiselle, his top pitcher, had been fined $500 for disobeying instructions in pitching to a batter.

In last night's game with the Cardinals, with the Giants leading 3 to 1 in the ninth, Voiselle had two strikes and no balls on Johnny Hopp, Cardinal rightfielder.

Voiselle's third pitch was a change-of-pace slow ball over the plate, Hopp clouting it for a triple and scoring a runner from third. Hopp later scored himself to tie the count, after which the Redbirds went on to win, 4 to 3.

Ott said he previously had warned Voiselle about throwing a "fat pitch" under such circumstances.

Shallowater Nine Fills Big League

Lubbock's "Big League" baseball will get started Tuesday afternoon at Chapman field, with Skipper Conn's Hunt Oilers and Manager Finis Vaughn's Purina Millers blasting off the lid in the National League junior baseball race. The game will start at 6:30 o'clock.

The National League roster of teams was rounded out Saturday with the addition of Coach Hack Galey's high stepping Shallowater High school nine. The Shallowater boys are in the state high school tournament at Dallas this week, so will not open league play until next Monday, when the schoolboys tangle with Dickenson Motor company, fourth team in the league.

Waller Takes Club

H. D. "Dirty" Waller, an old time baseball star, will pilot the Dickenson nine this season, and round out the list of managers for this season.

There are still openings on several of the teams, and any boys wanting to get the change to play are urged to contact H. J. McCabe at the city recreation department any morning from 9 to 12 o'clock.

The National League teams swing into the first half race Tuesday and will play four days a week until the close of the first half on July 10.

Evenly Matched Race

The teams have been divided up as well as could be judged by the league officials to assure a close race this season, and an interesting one.

A number of "name" stars of last year are back in harness again this year, and fans are already showing a great interest in the manner in which a number of graduates from the American League will perform in the faster company this season.

The first half schedule follows:

June 5—Hunt vs Purina.
June 7—Dickenson vs Purina.
June 11—Shallowater vs Dickenson.
June 12—Hunt vs Purina.
June 13—Shallowater vs Hunt.
June 14—Dickenson vs Purina.

July 4—Shallowater vs Hunt.
July 5—Dickenson vs Purina.
July 9—Shallowater vs Purina.

Longhorns To Receive Horned Frog Athletes

FORT WORTH, June 2. (AP)—The University of Texas is slated to get all eight of the varsity athletes which the Navy training program will move out of TCU at the end of June.

Not an athlete will go to either Rice or the University of Oklahoma which are sharing in the division of the 90-man class.

The Sailors who are to switch from the Purple to the Orange are: Monroe Harrelson, Ransom Jackson, Don King, Bob Crow, Bob Reedy, Ronald Pearson and Howard Overbeek.

Harrelson and Jackson were football lettermen at TCU last fall. They rated All-Conference selection as baseball players. Don King, Joe Busch and Bob Crow were also on the baseball team that finished second in the conference race. Pearson and Overbeek were basketball stars of last season. Reedy is a football and track performer.

Three Dallas Teams Enter State Tourney

DALLAS, June 2. (AP)—Three Dallas teams will compete in the annual Texas High school baseball tournament here this week.

Marshall withdrew today from the tournament due to loss of players. Coach Odus Mitchell said four boys who had accepted summer jobs would be unable to get away from their work. Adamson of Dallas was substituted for Marshall by Graham Pierce, president of the Southwestern AAU, sponsor of the tournament.

Sunset, winner of the Dallas city title, and Forest, runnerup, are the other local teams in the meet. Adamson finished third.

The tournament opens Monday night at 7 oclock with Waxahachie meeting Wilmer-Hutchins. At 9 Forest plays Garland.

Tuesday at 7 p.m. Hondo plays Abilene and at 9 p.m. Sulphur Springs battles Shallowater.

Wednesday at 2 p.m. Austin plays the Waxahachie-Wilmer-Hutchins winner, at 4 p.m. Adamson meets the Abilene-Hondo winner, at 7 p.m. Waco engages the Forest-Garland winner and at 9 p.m. Sunset plays the Sulphur Springs-Shallowater winner.

Semi-finals will be played Thursday and finals Friday.

Jake Powell Leaves Washington In Huff

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP)—Jake Powell, 35-year-old outfielder, quit the Washington Senators today and told newspapermen, "I'm through."

Powell learned before the start of today's game with the Chicago White Sox that he was being benched. He left the park in civilian clothes. Vince Ventura took his place in left field.

Powell has not been hitting well this spring and made a costly double error on a hit into his field in Friday night's game, which the White Sox won in 11 innings, 11 to 9.

Formerly a star with the New York Yankees, Powell is a Maryland policeman when not playing baseball.

TIGERS MOVE HOME

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—The Brooklyn Tigers of the National Football League won the right today to play their home games in the huge Yankee Stadium, effective in 1946.

ONLY BROTHER COMBINATION—Shortstop Granville, 18, and Garvin Hamner, 21, form youngest and only second baseing combination in the history of the major leagues. Granville joined the Phillies right off the Richmond, Va., high school campus. Gar was the most valuable player of the Richmond Colts in the Piedmont League.

Sam West Due For Discharge

Sam West—Lubbock's contribution to the majors and one of the "iron men" of the big time—is going back to civilian life after almost three years of service in the Army Air Forces.

West, a member of the Physical Training Department and coach of the baseball team at Lubbock Army Air Field since he entered the service in the fall of 1942, Saturday left for the separation center at Ft. Bliss where he will receive his discharge under the Army's plan of releasing men 40 years old and older.

Future "Undecided"

About his future plans—whether he will take another crack at the majors after 16 years in the big time—West was still "undecided." However, it was known that he had "given some thought" to another shot in the national pastime.

As a result, one of the steadiest careers in baseball, one which some sports writers wrote off as "finished" when West entered the armed forces back in 1942, may be resumed. But nothing definite has been decided along that line yet.

Went Up Quick

The grinning Texan got in some of his earliest baseball while playing for Rule High school. He was with the minor leagues in Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana and Oklahoma for a couple of seasons, then started his quick surge to the majors with a stopover with Birmingham of the Southern Association. After playing with the minor clubs, Sammy put in a couple of seasons with Birmingham and then jumped to the majors.

He first played with the Washington Senators in 1927 and did such a good job of it that he stayed with them six years, joining the St. Louis Browns for five seasons and then back to Washington for almost four more years.

Joins White Sox

In 1941 he went to the Chicago White Sox and played through the end of the 1942 campaign with the Windy City entry in the American loop, both at his old post as an outfielder and as a first baseman.

During the many years that West snagged 'em in the majors he set two fielding records for the junior circuit which still stand. His .996 fielding average with only one error for the 1928 season is still tops. He also is the only player in the American League to catch 400 flies a season for four different seasons, 1931, 1932, 1935 and 1936.

The glitter of the All Star spotlight caught West during the 1933, 1934 and 1937 seasons while he was a member of the hapless St. Louis Browns of that time, strictly no kin to the present crop, and he was chosen on the "dream team" three seasons.

In addition to his outstanding performances afield, Sammy often accounted for winning runs in crucial contests.

Likeable, quiet and baseball through and through, West continued making hosts of friends in the armed forces just as he did during his stay in the majors and soldiers who were associated with him during his service have unstinting praise for him.

MAURIELLO BEATS DUDAS

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Tami Mauriello, New York heavyweight, qualified for an outdoor return bout with Joe Baksi by knocking out Steve Dudas in the first round at Madison Square Garden last night. Dudas, Edgewater, N. J., veteran, was down three times before the final blow. Mauriello weighed 200, Dudas 198.

A complete schedule of eight major tournaments, headlined by the annual invitation amateur tournament and Kattman Cup matches on Aug. 9-12, was announced Saturday night by the Lubbock Country club tournament committee, and are in addition to the three already held at the club.

The committee, composed of Powell McWhirter, general chairman; Chick Trout, tournament chairman, and Herbert Schroeder, club professional, has mapped out one of the most enterprising schedules held at the club since Pearl Harbor, and will put the golf game back into the limelight as a major sport in Lubbock.

Draws Top Field

The invitation amateur and cup match tournament in August will draw the top flight amateurs from West Texas and eastern New Mexico into Lubbock for the top firing. The Kattman cup will be the property of the Lubbock Country club, and will carry the names of the winning team.

The two teams will be made up of eight or ten Lubbock golfers competing against a like number of out of town golfers picked from throughout the area included in the tournament. In the cup matches Aug. 9, the singles will be played in the morning and doubles in the afternoon.

There will be 18 holes of qualifying rounds shot Aug. 10 with match play on Aug. 11-12 and finals on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 12. Chick Trout will be in charge of the tournament.

Qualifying rounds for the Presidents Cup matches will close today, and send the 64 low net qualifyers into the playoffs in handicap match play that will reach the finals June 24. The tournament honors Bill Eisenberg, president, and Charles Whitacre is in charge of the tournament.

The next tournament on the schedule will be the senior tournament, for golf veterans 50 years old, or older, and will start qualifying rounds on June 25, and run through July 1. Finals will be July 15. It will be match play, eight players to each flight. Hubert L. Allen will be in charge.

An 18-hole handicap medal play Flag tournament will be held July 4 at the club, with Charley Young in charge of the tournament.

The Directors Cup match tournament will be held next, and will follow the same pattern of the Presidents Cup matches, now going on. Entries will qualify July 16 through July 22, with the finals scheduled for Aug. 19. Cliff Dean is in charge of this tournament.

Junior Meet Set

The summer schedule reaches all branches of golfers, and the kids will be given their day from July 28 to Aug. 4 in the junior tournament for golfers under 21 years of age. Details will be worked out for this tournament later, and Walter Alderson will be in charge. There will be two age flights run in the junior tournament.

Following the annual Invitation Amateur and Kattman Cup matches, the annual Club Championship tournament will be held in September. This will be match play, 16 players to the flight. Qualifying will start Aug. 26 and run through Sept. 1. Finals will be Sept. 16. Raymond Marshall is in charge of this tournament.

The remaining tournament on the schedule still has many details to be worked out, but sometime this season an Army Members Championship tournament will be staged, with Sgt. R. L. Stuart in charge.

Golfer Gets Pair Of Birdies On One Hole

Paging Bob Ripley.

Believe it or not.

A. E. Miller lay claim to getting TWO birdies on the five par, No. 7 hole at the Lubbock Country club Saturday afternoon, and he has three witnesses to back up his story.

Playing in a foursome with W. L. Hale, Tom LeMond and Sid Oglesbee, Miller teed off on No. 7 and his drive brought down a scissor tail bird, and with enough force to break the wing and kill the bird. He pitched on over on the green, and sank his putt for a birdie four—his second bird.

SETS DOWN RULE

CHICAGO, June 2 (AP)—Chairman Leslie M. O'Connor of baseball's advisory council re-notified major and minor league clubs today that no contracts nor terms of acceptance with players in the armed forces or on the National Defense Service list would be recognized if made or negotiated while the player still is in that status.

Penalties will be imposed if dates are falsified.

Giants Even Up Cardinal Series

ST. LOUIS, June 2. (AP) — The league leading New York Giants evend things up in their series with the St. Louis Cardinals by nosing out the World Champions 3 to 2 at Sportsmans Park tonight.

The Red Birds loaded the bases in the ninth after Napoleon Reyes fumbled Marty Marion's grounder. There was only one out but George Fallon struck out and Del Rice flied out, spoiling the Cards' chances to win by one score, as they did last night when a St. Louis rally ended in a four to three triumph.

The Giants made four errors.

Giants Crippled By Loss Of Weintraub

ST. LOUIS, June 2. (AP) — The New York Giants, already saddened by the loss of five of their last six games in the West were further disheartened today when they learned that their first baseman, Phil Weintraub, who wrenched his knee in Friday night's game with St. Louis, will be out of the line-up for about 10 days. Al Gardella, brother of outfielder Danny, and recently obtained from Jersey City, will take his place.

Counts Set For Work And Golf

You'd think that Weldon Counts would want an extended vacation before reporting back to work as a civilian.

After all, he's just discharged after having served 36 months, minus 14 brief days, in the China-Burma-India theater of operations.

COUNTS

But C. I. (Stoney) Wall, general superintendent of city plants of West Texas Gas company, had a hard luck story. He needed men. Counts had been employed in the plant before his induction March 21, 1941. So—

Pulling subconsciously at his civilian straw hat ("it doesn't someway feel like it belongs on my head") and dauding with a handkerchief at moist palms (that too seems to go with the fighting man's readjustment, say the psychologists).

Ready For Golf

Counts said he did "intend to play a little golf as soon as I can get around to it." He is one of the longest hitters of the section and rates top flight or thereabouts when he can get his woods and irons to working at the same time. He has been well known in West Texas tourney play, and often a real golfing threat.

Counts, son of Mrs. M. L. Counts of 1113 Sixth, could have laid claim to 10 more points than the 91 we "turned in" when asked at the Santa Barbara redistribution center May 12 if he desired discharge—he is eligible to wear two more battle stars than he affixed to his campaign ribbons. He was with the medics of the U. S. Army—or thought he was until he successfully found himself with the Air Transport command and a B-25 base of the Air corps, then detached, then with an engineering outfit.

"We had work to do," he puts it. "Sometimes that meant one thing, sometimes another." He was in all nations of the CBI theater; was with "Vinegar" Joe Stillwell's command that trained Chinese in those rough days after Stillwell had been chased out of Burma; administered, in moments he was in fact with the medics, to the physical needs of Chinese soldiers and civilians; "had no more trouble with bombs dropped on us by Jap planes than the other fellows over there," and, in general, worked on both the Burma and the Ledo roads and fought disease and weather and fatigue and homesickness for months that "got pretty monotonous at times."

Points To Spare

As to his discharge, it was "relatively simple—and the military took care of it smoothly." Counts had come home, at last, on a 21-day leave. At its expiration, he reported to the redistribution center, where he was asked if he wanted a discharge. That was on a Thursday and next morning he was informed his "points" were more than sufficient, that the discharge would "go through." He was sent to the separations center at Fort Bliss, El Paso, where only 48 hours was required to muster him out, on May 27. He returned to Lubbock next day as a civilian.

Like many other ex-servicemen, he has not given especial attention to provisions of the so-called GI Bill of Rights. Like the others, he knows that its terms, or some of them, continue to lack full interpretation since the courts have not passed on them; further that there are congressional amendments shaping.

But the gas company has its own bill of rights. It will give Counts a two weeks paid vacation, "just like the rest of our employes," Wall said. "Just as though he had not been away—as though the year was not half gone. Counts bumped into Mr. (R. F.) Hinchey (vice president and general manager) who said: 'What are you doing with clean clothes on? Why don't you get on your dungarees and come to work?'" Hinchey said the vacation could come when Counts was ready, that right now Hinchey and Wall had a general plant operator's job that, with a little schooling, will be a better position than the one Counts quit to go to war. Counts was the first man to leave the gas company for service, the first to return.

Record Saved When Rain Breaks Up Tilt

CHICAGO, June 2. (AP)—Thanks to a sudden downpour of rain, Stan Hack's perfect fielding record for 1945 still is intact.

The Chicago Cubs third baseman had handled 138 chances perfectly in 34 games, up to yesterday. Then, after one perfect play, he booted the next—throwing wide to second in the fifth inning with the bases loaded. Three runs scored, giving Boston a 5-1 lead.

But rain halted the game and washed out Hack's error, as no records are maintained on games under 4½ innings.

AGE DATE RETAINED

AUSTIN, June 2 (U.P.)—An 18-year age limit, dating from May 1, has been retained by the Texas Interscholastic League for participations in sports contests sponsored by the league, it was announced here today.

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Ed Klieman blanked the Yankees with six hits to record his first victory of the season as Cleveland defeated New York 4-0 today to even their series at one game apiece.

Ed (Specs) Klieman, sophomore hurler of the Tribe blanked the first placers with six hits in his first starting assignment, to annex his first victory of the season.

Three singles in the second inning off Ernie Bonham, making his first start in three weeks, following a layoff because of a lame back, gave the Indians their first run. In the ninth, after play was resumed following the long interlude, the Tribe pounced on Bonham for five singles and three runs before Emerson Roser stopped them.

The Yankees only scoring threat came in the final frame when the first two men got on via a single and a walk, but the lanky right-hander stopped the next three men.

Fliers Cancel Rest Of Season's Games

Lubbock Army Air Field's Fliers have cancelled the remainder of their 1945 baseball schedule, it was announced at the field Saturday afternoon, because of a shortage of manpower, the loss of several key players — including the coach and assistant coach—and the press of an intensified training program at the big AAF Instructors School for instrument pilots.

Simultaneous with the announcement that the Fliers were cancelling the rest of the season's play, it was announced that Staff Sgt. Sam West, coach of the club and a veteran of the major leagues for 16 years before he entered the service in 1942, had left for the separation center at Ft. Bliss to receive his discharge under the Army's plan of releasing men 40 years old and older.

Several Releases Given

Staff Sgt. James Wilson, assistant coach of the team and also a former professional player with the minors, left with West to receive his discharge.

West's and Wilson's leaving alone did not constitute the reason for the club's decision to quit play for the remainder of the summer, but was one of several factors contributing to the decision.

Lt. Joe B. Holmes, athletic director at the field, said that a combination of circumstances necessitated the move.

"We regret to halt this phase of the athletic program before the season is well under way, but due to recent losses of some members of the team and the prospect of loss of others, together with the fact that there originally were only a few men out for the club, we deem it necessary," Lt. Holmes said.

He further explained that several of the men, some of whom were combat veteran returnees, were on furloughs and that others had furloughs coming up and because of military duties had to take them only when available, making it almost certain that the team would be somewhat crippled and not at full strength at any time during the season.

Berliners Warned Of Retribution For Disorders During Occupation

By W. R. HIGGINBOTHAM
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 2—Berliners were warned today that 51 persons would pay with their lives every time arson or an act of violence against Russian occupation forces is committed.

Dr. Arthur Werner, new lord mayor of Berlin, revealed in a radio broadcast last night for the first time there have been disorders in the Soviet-occupied German capital, apparently the work of Hitler youth members or the Werewolf underground movement.

50 Nazis Will Pay

He warned that 50 Nazi party members would be seized as hostages and put to death along with the actual offender every time such a crime is committed in the future. Werner added that anybody who knows of an intended act and does not report it to the police also will be executed.

Werner disclosed that Germans had committed "outrages" against Red Army troops, but he did not give any details.

"Berliners, Hitler's war crime has thrown our home town into the deepest disaster of its history," said Werner, who was put into office by the Russians.

"Criminals are still to be found who by crazy actions want to prevent the return to peace and quiet. Human lives and property that had been spared by war have already fallen victim to their treacherous activities.

Senseless and Criminal

"As far as these outrages are directed against members of the Red Army they are both senseless and criminal provocation of an occupying force, whose good understanding and friendly attitude toward the population is a primary and essential prerequisite for the establishment of normal conditions and for general well-being."

Werner warned that the "well deserved punishment" of paying with his life would be handed out to anyone making attacks or setting fires.

Anyone who carries out an attack against a member of the occupation troops or against a person invested with official functions, or who commits arson out of political hostility, will in addition drag 50 former members of the Nazi party into the abyss along with himself," said Werner. "Their lives will be doomed simultaneously with that of the attacker or incendiary."

Then, indicating members of the fanatical Hitler youth might be responsible for the disorders, he said:

"I warn all deluded and misguided persons, particularly members of the former Hitler youth, against a continuation of such acts. Parents and teachers, make it clear to your children what a senseless and harmful crime against the nation all kinds of outrages constitute in these days.

"You should all help to bring those who are misguided and deluded back to reason. As for criminals, however, hand them over to just punishment."

Another Berlin radio broadcast reported that all permanent residents of the city had been ordered to report at once to their local labor offices. The broadcast said that all men from 18 to 65 and women from 15 to 50 would be subject to a mobilization made necessary by the reconstruction of Berlin.

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — Rural America's traditional county fair won't be rubbed out by travel conservation measures.

FBI Checks Clues In Tulsa Sex Slaying

TULSA, June 2. (U.P.) — FBI laboratory reports indicated today that the sex fiend murderer of Mrs. Panta Lou Liles "had many characteristics" similar to those detected at a double murder scene in the same neighborhood more than two years ago.

Mrs. Liles, 20 year old comely redhaired wife of a sailor, was found bludgeoned and her body ravished on May 15. Federal Bureau of Investigation chemists have made a careful analysis of stains and other unspecified clues left by the killer at the girl's apartment.

Tulsa officers said today the FBI reports indicate that the murderer could have been the same man that killed and violated the bodies of Mrs. Clara Stewart and her daughter, Mrs. Jack Green, in an apartment only a block from the Liles residence on Jan. 14, 1943.

One suspect in the case was arrested Friday at Jeffersonville, Ind., it was reported today. He is a 35 year old man wanted here for investigation in the rape of a 12 year old girl. Officers were en route to Jeffersonville today to return him here.

Lt. Glenn Burleson, Squadron Bombardier, Awarded DFC For Distinguished Action

First Lt. Glenn W. Burleson, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. N. Burleson of 1115 Thirty-first, was recently awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flight.

Squadron bombardier of the 765th Bombardier squadron, 461st Bombardment group, Lt. Burleson flew as bombardier in the lead ship of a wing of B-24 Liberator bombers dispatched to attack the marshalling yard at Bronzola, Italy on April 11, 1945. At the initial point, he led his formation on the bomb run.

BURLESON

A strong tail wind threatened to make this run an unusually short one. As Lt. Burleson leveled the plane on a heading for the target, the automatic pilot of his bomber started malfunctioning, making it difficult for his pilot to make a satisfactory bomb run. Because of the mountainous region in and around the Brenner Pass vicinity, the target was obscured until the last 15 seconds of the run.

Wing Encountered Flak

Just as Lt. Burleson was able to pick up the target, his wing encountered accurate enemy anti-aircraft fire. These obstacles made synchronization of his bombsight extremely difficult. Because of the malfunctioning of the automatic pilot, Lt. Burleson could not obtain a satisfactory level for this mechanism and just prior to "bombs away," he was forced to compensate through the sight for this error in the bombing problem.

Despite these difficulties, through expert judgment and brilliant bombing technique, Lt. Burleson led his wing over the objective on a highly successful bomb run and photographs showed 30 strikes among the goods wagons and on trackage in the yard, seven hits on the south choke point, four direct hits on the warehouse at the West edge of the yard, and one direct hit or very near miss on a railroad bridge just south of the yard.

Exceptional professional skill, leadership and judgment that Lt. Burleson displayed on this occasion was most instrumental in the spendid success of this mission.

Leading Bombardier

Lt. Burleson has been a leading bombardier of his squadron approximately eight and one-half months, starting his career as a crew bombardier. He was then selected as flight bombardier and his performance of all assigned duties in that capacity was so outstanding he was elevated to the position of squadron bombardier. He has participated in 24 missions against the enemy and has 168 operational hours to his credit.

Reported missing in action over Austria Feb. 21, Lt. Burleson returned to his base in Italy March 22. Besides the DFC, he has the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Presidential Citation with one Oak Leaf Cluster, and the theater ribbon with five battle stars.

At present Lt. Burleson is flying supplies to isolated areas which cannot be reached by other means of transportation.

Texan Is Commended For Daring Action

FORT SILL, Okla., June 2. (U.P.) —Quick thinking and bravery on the part of Pvt. Orvel E. Luster, Quitaque, Tex., saved from destruction recently a self-propelled 155 mm howitzer used as training equipment at the field artillery replacement training center here.

When backfire of the heavy motorized gun caused its camouflage nets to burst into flame, its crew abandoned it. But Luster leaped into the driver's seat and drove it into an open field where he extinguished the blaze.

His action brought a letter of commendation from Lt. Col. Charles W. Stratton, battalion commander.

Two Girls Admit Abducting Baby

PHILADELPHIA, June 2. (AP)—Two teen-age girls told police today how they abducted three-month- old Thomas V. Ripley, jr., from a coach at his home Thursday, Detective Lt. Ervin Mock reported.

Mock identified the girls as Irene Jones, 15, and her sister, Janet, 11.

The child's body was discovered in a vacant lot eight hours after he disappeared. A post mortem examination revealed that he died of a broken neck.

The girls will be charged with abduction and theft of a carriage, Mock said. No other charges were mentioned.

Girls Blurted Out Story

Hardie Scott, an attorney engaged by the girls' mother, Mrs. Bonnie Stanley, who operates a convalescent home here, told Mock the girls blurted out their story when their mother questioned them about being absent from school Thursday afternoon.

The girls told Mock they decided to remain away from school Thursday afternoon and were strolling down a street when they saw an empty perambulator. Janet put her doll in it, she said, and they pushed the coach away.

Discovered Ripley Baby

Later, the girls said, they discovered the Ripley baby in the yard of his mother's apartment, and decided to take a stroll.

Both girls told Mock they intended to return the baby later, but that their mother refused to allow them to go out again.

The Ripley child was the son of Mrs. Barbara Ripley of Philadelphia and ex-Marine Thomas V. Ripley, who had been staying with his parents in Ventnor, N. J.

GASOLINE BURNS FATAL

BRYAN, June 2 (AP)—Robert Beal Warren, 4, died in a clinic here of burns suffered from flaming gasoline. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Warren of Caldwell.

FOOT ITCH
ATHLETE'S FOOT

RELIEF GUARANTEED OR MONEY BACK

At least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

Beware of It Spreading

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get relief from this disease as quickly as possible because it is both contagious and infectious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Why Take Chances?

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to destroy the germ, whereas, upon contact, laboratory tests show that H. F. will kill the germ Tinea Trichophyton within 15 seconds.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of relieving Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. H. F. gently peels the skin, which enables it to get to parasites existing under the outer cuticle.

Itching Often Relieved Quickly

As soon as you apply H. F. you may find that the itching is relieved. You should paint the infected parts with H. F. night and morning until your feet are better. Usually this takes from three to ten days.

H. F. should leave the skin soft and smooth. You may marvel at the quick way it brings you relief.

Don't wait for Athlete's Foot to become serious. Get H. F. today.

THANKS FARMERS
IN BEHALF of our boys in the armed forces, we wish to thank you for the way you responded to our plea for large clean grade A eggs. Because of your patriotic cooperation, we have been able to get their eggs to them much faster than could have been possible otherwise. We still have many more war department orders to fill, and the government is looking to you to help us meet our increased quotas.
If you haven't heard of the way that you can make more money, and still be helping our soldier boys, ask your neighbor, or we will give you the information. Your large clean grade A eggs are still desperately needed. Thanks again

Burma Job Finished, Air Units Transfer

CALCUTTA, June 2. (AP) — Their job in Burma completed, American air units have left the Eastern Air command in Southeast Asia to fight the Japanese in another unspecified theater, it was announced today.

The Air Transport command will still operate to China, however.

Maj. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, the American who started the EAC from scratch on a gloomy Dec. 15 in 1943, relinquished his command to Air Marshal W. A. Coryton, his assistant since last December.

"With the fall of Rangoon, our mission is accomplished," Stratemeyer said in a farewell message. "I have been impressed beyond words by your seriousness in purpose and the ability to work successfully together with a minimum of friction and a maximum of accomplishment."

Huge Army Show At Camp Hood Planned

DALLAS, June 2. (AP) — New flame throwers, recently taken off the military secret list, and ten-mile artillery target shooting will be two of the powerful "Tactics for Tokyo" that will be demonstrated at the Camp Hood war bond show June 5.

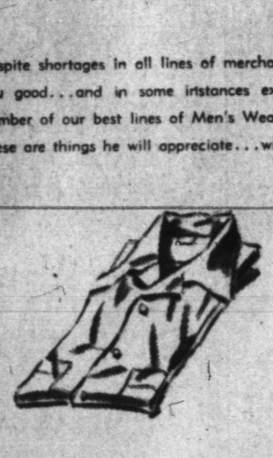

Said to be the largest Army show ever presented in central Texas, "Tactics for Tokyo" is expected to attract about 8,000 civilian spectators, all with war bond admissions, according to local war loan leaders.

All Camp Hood units will take part in the program, which will include a parade, bus tour of the camp at 1 o'clock, display of weapons and heavy artillery, a firing demonstration, an infantry attack, and a tank destroyer demonstration. The M18 Hellcat destroyer and the bazooka, both developed at Camp Hood, will be seen in action.

Crushing Power Now Arrayed For Japs As D-Day Anniversary Nears

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

The first anniversary of D-day in Europe approaches with Japan caught in a fast closing and even more deadly power net than that which crushed Germany into unconditional surrender in less than a year.

It was June 6, a year ago, that Allied forces stormed ashore in Normany to begin the drive to a junction with Russian troops on the Elbe that brought the German downfall.

SIMPSON

Now by presidential announcement, the United States alone is now moving to bring into action in the Pacific far greater strength in men, ships and planes than it ever deployed against Germany. Britain is pushing her redeployment to the Orient, its pace rendered a little uncertain by events in the Levant that briefly reawoke the guns in the Middle East in a Franco-Syrian clash that threatened to bring French and British troops into conflict. The enigma of Russian policy toward the war with Japan remains unsolved.

Blueprint Joined Up

Nevertheless the blueprint of Allied strategic action against Japan mapped to Congress by President Truman was being rapidly filled in. With or without Russian help and regardless of disturbing policy clashes with rescued France, the means for carrying out the agreed policy for bringing Japan to her knees in a minimum of time and with a minimum of losses was at hand.

That policy as Mr. Truman pointed it out to Congress was as simple in outline as it was difficult of execution due to the vast distances involved in bringing the full Allied weight to bear beyond the Pacific.

Mr. Truman reduced the joint Allied plan of action to a four-point pattern calling for (1) "Pinning down" the foe for piecemeal destruction, (2) "Concentration of overwhelming power" against each segment selected for attack, (3) Using every mechanical means in "massive concentrations" to reduce battle casualties, and (4) Applying "relentless and increasing pressure" everywhere constantly to give the foe no chance for rest or regrouping or to conserve his "dwindling" war supplies.

PRESS AIDE — Charles G. Ross, 59, above, Washington correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, has been appointed President Truman's press secretary, effective May 15. Earlier, J. Leonard Reisch had been appointed, but pressure of being director of three radio stations prevented his accepting the job.

Remodeling Truman Home Poses Problem

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., June 2. (U.P.)—Tradesmen, merchants and old friends of President Truman gathered in the Independence Town square today to ponder the niceties of receiving the nation's first family on its initial hometown visit.

Renovations of the sprawling old Victorian house which has been the family home were far from complete and it wah a little embarrassing to contemplate the new first lady threading her way to the threshold through a welter of ladders and paint buckets.

Mrs. Tuman and Miss Margaret, her daughter, were to leave Washington late today. Preceding them was Mike, Miss Truman's newly acquired Irish setter.

Texas Centennial Conferences Planned

AUSTIN, June 2. (U.P.)—The first of several Texas centennial of statehood conferences will be held in Houston June 9, it was announced today from Centennial Commission headquarters here.

Open to the public, the conference will begin organization of a historical centennial unit to inaugurate programs in that area of the state.

The Houston conference will be followed by ones at Dallas and in other parts of the state. Dr. Valin R. Woodward, Arlington, and John Spellman and Dr. William E. Howard, both of Dallas, have been named to arrange the Dallas conference, it was announced.

New Deal Election Favors Change To Independent District

Qualified voters of New Deal common school district No. 3 voted 36 to 22 Saturday for incorporation into an independent district and re-elected the board of trustees.

The new status will involve the same territory as that encompassed by the old district, which comprises 113 sections.

Proponents of the independent district said the change would bring several benefits. The district would have centralized control in being free of direction from the county school system, and would be favored in the tax setup, they said for example.

When the change becomes effective, New Deal will be the third independent district in the county, the others being Lubbock and Slaton.

Re-elected as trustees were Troy T. Edwards, B. B. Christy, B. E. Attebury, R. E. Myers, J. W. (Bill) Vanstory, G. G. Flinn and Earl Wortham. Other names on the ballot were those of Vernon Bartlett and C. S. Wales. P. E. Crosnoe received one write-in vote.

Charlie Fortenberry was presiding officer of the election.

67 WELLS COMPLETED

AUSTIN, June 2 (U.P.) — Completion of 67 oil wells and 35 gas wells during the week was announced today by the Texas Railroad commission. These pushed totals for the year to 1,666 oil wells and 320 gassers, compared with 1,419 oil wells and 107 gas wells during a corresponding period in 1944.

POLIO CASES REPORTED

CORSICANA, June 2 (AP)—Dr. Will Miller, acting director of the Corsicana-Navafro Health department, said last night five cases of poliomyelitis have been reported in the Corsicana area. A mass meeting has been called for June 13 to inaugurate a general clean-up campaign.

BRADLEY TO ARRIVE

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley, commander of the 12th Army group, will arrive at LaGuardia field tomorrow from Europe, the Army disclosed today.

It has been found that the feet of the average women college students today are .2 of an inch longer than that of women students of fifty years ago . . . the modern length being 9.4 inches as compared with the earlier 9.2 inches.

Bans Lifted On Metal Plumbing Fixtures

WASHINGTON, June 2. (U.P.) — The War Production board today lifted restrictions on the use of metal in the manufacture of plumbing fixtures.

Control of the manufacture and distribution of the fixtures, including bathtubs, sinks, lavatories and drinking fountains will be continued.

The agency also lifted restrictions on manufacture of clay sewer pipe.

Restrictions on the manufacture of padlocks were lifted although WPB will continue to control distribution.

BANS ON INDUSTRIAL EQUIPMENT REVOKED

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP) — The War Production board today revoked a general limitation order which had restricted manufacture and distribution of 26 industrial equipment items.

Among the items the order had covered were fractional horsepower electric motors and generators; paper shredders; portable conveyors; ceramic machinery and equipment; concrete products machinery; fans, blowers and exhausters; lifting magnet and wire working machinery.

Easing Of Tax Burden Planned

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP) — Legislation definitely ending the 95 per cent excess profits tax on Jan. 1 of the year following the end of the Japanese was urged today by Rep. Robertson (D-Va).

He wants it in the $5,000,000,000 business "cash position" tax aid program soon to come before Congress.

The Virginian, a member of the House ways and means committee, said he would offer an amendment to the tax bill stipulating the date.

Meanwhile, Committee Chairman Doughton (D-NC) let it be known he is having legislation drawn embodying the joint congressional - treasury department plan to improve the cash position of business in the reconversion period.

Would Increase Ready Cash

The legislation, without the excess profits repealer, would have little effect on the ultimate tax liability of businesses but would increase their ready cash for reconversion by speeding up payment of credits on excess profits taxes and various postwar refunds provided in present law.

The bill to be introduced by Doughton is expected to provide:

1. An increase in the excess-profits tax specific exemption from $10,000 to $25,000, effective with the tax year 1946.
2. Permission to take the postwar credit of 10 per cent of the excess profits tax currently with respect to tax liability of 1944 and subsequent years, increasing corporation cash balances by $830,000,000 in 1945 and $710,000,000 in 1946.
3. Advance to January 1, 1946, in the maturity date of outstanding postwar refund bonds.
4. Speedup of refunds resulting from carry-backs of net operating losses and of unused excess-profits credits.
5. Speedier refunds from the recomputation of deductions for amortization of emergency facilities.

Texas U. Navy Student Dies Of Poliomyelitis

AUSTIN, June 2. (AP)—Sidney James Stokes, 20, of Kelseyville, Calif., Navy V-12 student at the University of Texas, died yesterday at McCloskey general hospital at Temple of poliomyelitis, Capt. R. J. Valentine commandant, announced today.

All swimming and physical training classes for the navy and civilian programs at the university have been suspended as a precautionary measure until Monday.

Margaret Mitchell wrote the last part of "Gone With The Wind" before the first part.

Huge Expense Of Invasion Cited

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — The ships that took part in the initial invasion of Okinawa cost about $7,800,000,000

Announcing this today, the Navy said almost $1,000,000,000 more was spent for airplanes, consumable supplies, equipment for the ships and the Marine landing forces, and for the training of personnel taking part in the action.

The bill to the Navy alone of nearly $8,800,000,000 was more than twice as much as the Navy spent in World War I.

It does not count any Army expenses in the Okinawa fighting.

The estimates were in a report to the Treasury from the secretary of the Navy.

"Where Bond Money Goes"

Red R. Gamble, director of the Treasury's war finance division, cited them as another example of "where your bond money goes."

The entire quota for individual bond-buyers in the 7th war loan drive is $7,000,000,000—or less than it cost to build the ships attacking Okinawa alone.

The Navy spokesman said in his message:

"A single major amphibious operation today requires hundreds of naval vessels — battleships, cruisers, aircraft carriers, destroyers and many types of auxiliary and landing craft. There must be hundreds of planes to provide the air cover essential to success.

"To fight these ships and planes there must be thousands of highly-trained men. Not to speak of the cost in casualties, the cost in dollars staggers the imagination."

Truman 'Not Happy' Over Argentina

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP) — The White House affirmed today that President Truman is "not happy" over the situation in Argentina.

It also was announced that the President told a group of visiting Latin American journalists yesterday that he was in "complete and unqualified" accord with the good neighbor policy of his predecessor, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, was asked if the President had been correctly quoted by the Latin American reporters in saying that he was not happy over the situation in Argentina.

Ross replied in the affirmative, adding:

"The President is not happy over Argentina. He was correctly quoted."

McCarthy To Put 16 Million In Buildings

HOUSTON, June 2 (AP)—Glenn H. McCarthy, developer of the Anahuac and other oil fields, announced today that he had applied to Washington for priorities to permit the construction of one 18-story building, three twelve story structures and two ten story apartment hotels with commercial sections.

In addition he said he planned to build numerous smaller buildings for stores, banks, movies and so on as well as overground and underground parking spaces, swimming pool and a year around ice skating rink.

McCarthy estimated at $16,000,000 the sum needed to finish the project on a 15-acre site at the end of Main street.

Sailor Masquerading As Woman Arrested

WHEELING, W. Va., June 2. (AP) A 31-year-old sailor who masqueraded for 10 months as a woman, sadly wiped the rouge from his cheeks, removed his gingham house dress and said "I know you're looking for me," Deputy Sheriff George Gonter reported.

Gonter said he and a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent arrested Raymond Russell Clark at his home in Wheeling on a charge of desertion from the Little Creek, Va., naval station on June 27, 1944.

Negro School Raised To University Class

AUSTIN, June 2. (U.P.) — Gov Coke R. Stevenson today signed the bill of the Texas Legislature to raise Prairie View Normal school for negroes to the university class by designation. No money for additional buildings or equipment is provided.

The new law authorizes establishment of courses in law, medicine, engineering, pharmacy, journalism or "any other generally recognized college course taught at the University of Texas."

The governor approved also bills permitting the pooling of University of Texas mineral interests in development of natural gas deposits, and providing public notice to protect assignment of accounts.

DELIVERY BAN EASED

WASHINGTON, June 2. (U.P.)—The Office of Defense transportation today authorized wholesalers of fresh fruits and vegetables to make six deliveries a week by motor truck in June, July, August and September. Previously dealers were restricted to five deliveries a week. ODT allowed another weekly delivery in order to prevent food spoilage.

Houston Polio Cases Total 22 For Year

HOUSTON, June 2 (AP)—It now appears that Houston faces its worst polio epidemic in history, Dr. Austin E. Hill, city health officer, said today.

Eight year old Martha Lou Pounds, who was in school Monday, died today at the polio ward.

Two new patients admitted brought the city-county total to 22 so far this year, with three deaths, compared with 11 cases and two deaths at the same time in the previous high year of 1943.

In addition, 12 out-of-county patients have been brought to the Jefferson Davis hospital polio ward, and two of these have died.

Harry Hopkins Delays Return To Washington

MOSCOW, June 2. (AP) — Harry Hopkins today delayed his departure for Washington, turning his attention to what a well informed source said was "new work." There was speculation that the Levant situation might have something to do with the delay.

Hopkins was Premier Stalin's guest at a sumptuous dinner in the Kremlin last night.

Stalin was said to have been in rare form at the dinner and particularly pleased the Americans when he proposed a toast to President Truman. Prime Minister Churchill was also toasted and there were toasts to continued Allied collaboration in peace.

Receptions For Brides-To-Be And Artists Highlight June Society

The Woman's Angle

SCATTERINGS

OBSERVATION—According to the National Safety council, there have been 769,000 deaths from automobile accidents since the turn of the century. Perhaps there would be fewer accidents if the drivers would keep their eyes on the car behind the car in front of them.

Dick Powell has purchased the radio rights to Raymond Chandler's books with the purpose of using them in his own mystery air show this summer. Chandler is author of that terrific, "Murder My Sweet," which starred Powell in the movies. . . . Lubbockites who have visited hospitals where wounded war veterans are patients say they find themselves with a deeper faith in God and man after those experiences. . . . Ninety per cent of today's brides and bridegrooms want double wedding rings, compared to 15 per cent before the war.

JOHN GUNTHER, who is working on a book to be entitled "Inside U.S.A." will devote an entire chapter to Texas. He has covered 20 of the 48 states already and will wind up on the West Coast. He does all of his work alone, has no research staff or secretaries. . . . Slacks worn by women might not be so unflattering if the wearers wore a size that matched their hips and took a pleat in the front fullness at the waist and darts at the back. And if women would only wear slacks long enough to hit the first row of laces on their walking shoes! . . . Rather than lose her place in a long line at the grocery store we saw a mother buy a package of bird seed, floor polish and shoe strings already checked and which had been surreptitiously placed in her basket by her eager little boy. . . . U-shaped collars are flattering on most throats. . . . Although we would not like to be chairman or even on the committee, the Woman's Angle wishes someone would re-organize the Civic Music association.

Mrs. W. P. Garvin, who is spending a month in Hollywood, sends a program of last Sunday's Memorial services at First Presbyterian church in that city which featured movie star Dennis Morgan in a solo, "The Lord Is My Light," and as soloist in two anthems sung by the Cathedral choir, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Onward Christian Soldiers." She described him as "perfect in looks and in voice." He is a member of that church. . . . American legs may be the prettiest in the world but the feet attached seldom walk off with any prizes. ON VITAMINS — A 56-page booklet, "What To Do About Vitamins," written by Dr. Roger J. Williams, a University of Texas professor, is fresh off the University of Oklahoma Press and may be yours for one dollar. . . . His advice: (1) Vitamins are essential to life itself; (2) if you don't get enough vitamins you won't keel over dead tomorrow, but you may die sooner than you expect; (3) get as adequate a supply of minerals and vitamins in your food as you can, but this doesn't mean that drug store pellets are always useless; (4) if you use the drug store variety, make sure you're getting the variety and quantity you pay for; (5) add your bit to public opinion's pressure in behalf of safe foods — those that have not been "refined" till all vitamins have been squeezed out.

TOPNOTCH dress designers say that the basic dress of tomorrow may be navy blue instead of black. A war torn world, tired of mourning, has seen enough of sombre black, they say, and navy can be worn just as often, with the same variation of accessories. It's more flattering to the average woman, too! . . . There is a new golden hair shade called "moonbeam blonde." . . . Wish something could be done to shorten the shades on the traffic light at Thirteenth and Ave. L. When you are on the sidewalk it is almost impossible to see when the light changes.

IT LOOKED THE SAME

THIS little essay, "It Looked the Same," was written by Ens. George L. Hay II.

It looked the same up there in the blue, painting the clouds a silvery hue. But when it lit the still lagoon, I knew it was not a Texas moon. Then for a moment it seemed when the morn was new and the flowers kissed with glistening dew, the same. But now the illusion is gone and I know it was not a Texas dawn.

It looked the same all green and lush and covered with a mesquite-like brush. But now that it's damp with fresh-fallen rain, I know it is not a Texas plain. Perhaps just as red and graceful a bloom; perhaps just as sweet and fragrant perfume. But I feel the soil in which it grows and I know it is not a Texas rose.

Perhaps it was Mars the God of war who put them here. Just hoping for me to come and view them here. Then laugh when I shed a homesick tear. But I think it was the God of those who pray who set them here that I might this day forget the war. Forget the foam, that lies between me and my Texas home.

Howdy Folks:

Friday was a busy day at the Decorators Studio, 1302 Ave. N. All the girls were on the job with the exception of Mary Ellis who was in Dallas with her father who is there for treatment. It was the first of the month and Josie Lee and Alma were sending out statements, Jean was taking care of customers along with other duties and Fredda was head over heels in the carpeting end of the business.

For two weeks the girls have been engaged in helping brides with their selections of china, linens, silver, crystal and pottery, wrapping packages and delivering. Attractively wrapped packages were every place. Each bride had a little corner with wedding gifts to be delivered and perhaps another corner for shower gifts. It isn't an easy job to keep packages for six different brides separated and the girls hope if they have made a mistake brides and customers will help them correct these mistakes. The girls were commendable in their praise of every one who had so graciously made purchases and had been patient and kind. They expressed their appreciation.

If you had left an order for Apple pottery or Coronado pottery to be filled, please come in and get these as room is precious and someone else would like to have the pottery they have put up for you in case you do not want it.

H. A. is vacationing for three weeks. It looks as if the girls will be uncrating furniture, tending the fish, carrying out trash, and doing many odd jobs. Besides, the maid is going on a vacation and someone will have to take over her duties—wonder who?

Captain Nathan B. Eubank who has been at Cairo, Egypt has been transferred to Dakar. He seems happier—maybe it is because he says he is just three hops from Home Sweet Home.

Murphy, the bride wore a white satin gown with elegance reflected in the deep shoulder wide yoke of heirloom lace, from the wedding gown of her mother, and a fall of lace cascading in front to the hem of the train. A duchess shaped coronet of lace held the imported shadowy illusion that fell beyond the satin train.

Mrs. W. F. Elmendorf, jr., San Antonio, was matron of honor and Miss Shirley Timberlake, San Antonio, was maid of honor. Misses Beverly Giles, of Lubbock, Nonrie Brett and Polly Brett, San Antonio, were bridesmaids. They wore dusty rose dresses with lace fitted bodices, lace peplums and full net skirts.

Mother of the bridegroom wore a powder blue chiffon gown with lace trimming.

The bride attended San Antonio Junior college and the University of Texas where she pledged Chi Omega sorority.

TRY THIS AMAZING BARCEL RECIPE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Right in Your Own Home, You Can Lose Pounds of Excess Weight Without Starvation Diet or Strenuous Exercise

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy — no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcel Concentrate. Pour this into a bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears —how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Perhaps you are overweight due to over indulgence in food or the wrong kind of food. With the Barcel home recipe method, you do not have to starve yourself or go hungry. Just follow the simple instructions given on the label and you should get satisfactory results quickly. The very first pint you make up should show results.

LOSE UGLY FAT WITH BARCEL

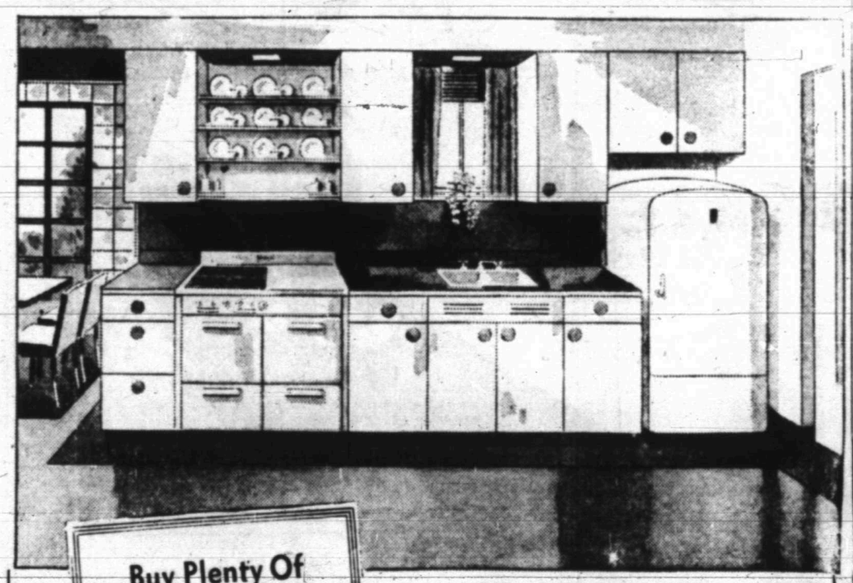

Why not slim down your figure without a lot of fuss and bother? Try the Barcel way. Wear your streamlined frocks and slacks gracefully. Remember, if the very first bottle of Barcel doesn't show you the sensible way to lose weight, your money will be refunded.

Thirteen Texans In LAAF Class

Lubbock Army Air field is rapidly becoming one of the "crossroads of the world" for the veterans of the AAF who have fought the enemy in flak-filled skies over every battlefront in the world from the Philippines to North Africa and Japan to the Reich.

Men who flew at Guadalcanal and Leyte and who helped pave the path for the torturous 2,000 mile return to Tokyo's doorsteps, men who fought the Luftwaffe at Salerno and over Berlin—a few of each are now stationed at the big west base taking the "post graduate" course of instruction in "all weather" instrument flying.

Thirteen Texas men are in the latest class of combat veterans to arrive at the field, four of whom are from this area.

The 13 bomber, fighter and cargo plane pilots have amassed the impressive total of more than 1,350 missions against the enemy, have played leading roles in some of history's greatest aerial blows.

Four From This Area

The four men from this area include one Lubbock man, 1st. Lt. Jack D. Tippit, son of Mr. and Mrs H. E. Tippit of 1705 Avenue T, a former student at Texas Tech, and a veteran B-24 pilot with the 13th Air Force in the Southwest Pacific; 1st. Lt. Dore D. Stephenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Stephenson of Anton, a heavy bomber pilot with the Eighth Air force in the ETO; 1st. Lt. James W. Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett of Borger, also a former student at Texas Tech, and a C-47 pilot with the Fifth Air force in the Southwest Pacific and 1st. Lt. James B. Williams, jr., also of Borger, a B-24 pilot with the Eighth Air force in the European theater.

The most decorated man in the group, however, is Maj. Fred V. Purnell of Angleton, Texas, a fighter pilot who fought the Japs back when it was really rough. Based on Guadalcanal, Biak and nearby islands, Maj. Purnell flew some 125 missions against the Japs as a P-38 and P-40 fighter pilot, got two Jap Zeros in one rough interceptor raid over Guadalcanal for which he was awarded the Silver Star for heroism in action. He also has the DFC with one cluster, the Air Medal and the theater ribbon.

Other Texans In Class

Other Texans in the class include 1st. Lt. Clyde B. Stokes of San Antonio, a B-24 pilot in the Eighth Air force, has the DFC, the Air Medal and three clusters and theater ribbon and four stars; Capt. Frank J. Teagarden of Dallas, a B-24 pilot and veteran of the European theater, has the DFC, Air Medal and 10 clusters, Unit Citation and the theater ribbon and two stars; 1st Lt. Leon L. Lenderman, also of Dallas, a C-47 cargo plane veteran of the 13th Air force in the Southwest Pacific with more than 300 combat missions to his credit carrying paratroops and supplies in the Solomons, Bismarck area and New Guinea, Palau and the Philippines, has the DFC, Air Medal with six clusters and the theater ribbon and three stars;

1st. Lt. Jack C. Springer of San Angelo, B-17 pilot with the Eighth Air force, has the DFC, Air Medal with four clusters and the theater ribbon and four stars for missions against the enemy in the European area; 1st. Lt. Richard J. Anderson of Lufkin, C-47 pilot with the Tenth Air force in the China-Burma-India theater, flew 201 missions, most of which were subject to attack, has the DFC and two clusters, the Air Medal and four clusters and the theater ribbon and two stars;

Capt. Clyde E. Cribley of Grand Prairie, B-24 pilot with the 15th Air force who has the DFC, Air Medal with three clusters and the theater ribbon with four stars; Capt. Charles E. McDowell of Waco, veteran C-47 pilot with the Tenth Air force in the CBI, flew 25 missions carrying paratroops and supplies, has DFC with three clusters, Air Medal with five clusters and the theater ribbon and three stars; 1st. Lt. Kinney Hellums of Smithville, B-17 pilot in the European area, has the DFC, the Air Medal with three clusters and the theater ribbon and two stars.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium on skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy . . . It helps keep the skin soft and pliable . . . thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin . . . for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use.

Water Safety School To Be Held In Park June 15-24

Water-minded persons of all ages will be given opportunity to learn new aquatic skills during the water safety program of the Red Cross June 15-24 at Municipal pool in Mackenzie state park.

Instructors trained in teaching the latest water technique as developed by the Red Cross will serve during the school.

No Charge Made

Announcement of the school was made by Mrs. Julia Cane, chairman of water safety of the Lubbock county chapter. No charge is to be made for the instruction, the only requirements being that enrollees bring written evidence of physical fitness and those under 18 have parental consent.

Enrollees will be divided into groups according to age and ability, Mrs. Cane said. Non-swimmers will learn fundamentals and beginners will be given intermediate instructions. First aid also will be taught, leading to awards in both junior and senior courses. There also will be classes in functional swimming, the course the Army has endorsed as vital training for inductees.

All groups will learn how to make rescues without personal risk, Mrs. Cane said. Students will be taught how to use the ring buoy, how to form human rescue chains and many other aids. New and safer methods of rescue also will be taught experienced swimmers, she reported.

To Teach Hazards

"Besides rescue measures, all students enrolled will gain a greater understanding of water's natural hazards," she said. "Knowing how to meet such conditions will add much to the pleasure, as well as to the safety factor in swimming. It is obvious that such training ultimately will have its effect on the annual drowning rate."

The tentative schedule provides for classes as follows: 7 to 7:30 a. m., nurses class; 9 to 9:30 a. m., children 10 to 15 years of age; 9:30 to 10 a. m., children 8 to 10; 10 to 10:30 a. m., children 6 to 8; 10:30 to 11 a. m., women, all ages; 12:30 to 1 p. m., men, all ages; 9 to 9:30 p. m., nurses.

Instructors Volunteer

Instructors who have volunteered are C. H. Hamilton, Curtis Barrett, Russell Wimberly, Marvin McLarty, John McLarty, Billy Wayne Harliss, Sammy Self, Charles Akey, jr., John Ike Kennedy, Sloan Fortenberry, Mrs. Cane and Johnny Birdwell.

The Red Cross staff assistants corps is to help in registration and checking attendance.

June 12 has been set as deadline for registration for the schools. Blanks are to be filled in and submitted at the pool.

Qualified instructors who would assist were invited to telephone the Red Cross office before June 12.

Bad Unemployment Problem Is Feared

WASHINGTON, June 2. (U.P.)—Government and industry were faced today with the challenge of keeping war production at a high pitch while preparing to make jobs available for an estimated 15,000,000 jobless war workers in the event of a sudden collapse of Japan.

This problem has worried government heads throughout the latter part of the war. There was tremendous pressure last year to pass legislation to prepare for the reconversion period, and laws were enacted authorizing an Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion to oversee the job.

The Normandy breakthrough last autumn changed the emphasis to increasing production and the word "reconversion" in the OWMR was almost forgotten for a time.

Today the emphasis came full circle back to reconversion with a new warning of a very serious unemployment problem if Japan folds unexpectedly soon.

The important Senate military affairs committee has submitted an official report to Congress asserting that "early termination of the war against Japan would actually find the national economy unprepared" for peace.

Berton, whose months of combat qualify him for shore duty except in case of emergency, expects either to return to South Pacific combat or be offered a choice of three shore stations for future assignment. He served as RDM, Voyd as soundman. They have two presidential unit citations, the Asiatic-Pacific campaign and the American defense ribbons. Berton was presented one citation for outstanding operation as radar operator in a storm at sea. Voyd one for outstanding performance as a plane guard for an aircraft carrier. Other citations, because of naval censorship, cannot be discussed, family members said.

Army To Begin Tobacco Ration

Cigaret rationing for all AAF Central Flying Training command military personnel and civilians authorized to purchase at the Army exchanges will get under way Monday, with the weekly maximum set at six packages per person, it was announced at Lubbock Army Air field, Saturday afternoon where officials have been busy putting the system into effect.

Rationing cards, which will be punched as quotas are bought each week, have been issued to both military and civilian personnel.

The new War department rule rationing tobacco at Army installations in the United States will also effect cigar and pipe smokers. Effective this week, 24 cigars or four ounces of tobacco will be the weekly limit. Only tobacco products not included in the new ration program are snuff and chewing tobacco.

Only Army Units Affected

The program is effective only at Army installations, the order affecting only those sales made at Army exchanges.

Those persons eligible for tobacco ration cards include all military personnel, civilians authorized to purchase at Army exchanges, one dependent adult member of each military family, and prisoners of war and members of Italian Service units.

POWs, however, will have to learn to roll their own, for their ration cards will not permit them to buy cigarets or cigars. Furthermore, their tobacco ration will be only half that of the GI.

Ration Cards Small

The ration cards will be small enough to carry in an ordinary billfold and will be marked off in "cells." Each "cell" represents one point good for three packages of cigarets, 12 cigars or two ounces of tobacco. Two points will be alloted each week. As a tobacco purchase is made—either in "one-point" or "two point" lots—the ration card will be punched.

Soldiers going on furlough or leave will be permitted to use their points in advance, providing their leave or furlough extends beyond two days of the following ration week, which begins on Sundays, ends on Saturdays.

Men readying for overseas service at replacement depots and staging areas, patients in regional and general hospitals and personnel returned from overseas at redistribution centers will be able to purchase ten packages of cigarets, 32 cigars or eight ounces of tobacco each week. This ration increase does not apply to regular station personnel at those points.

At the present time the Army is allocating 25 cigarets daily per men to overseas troops wherever supply and transportation permit.

B-29s Using 4 Types Of Incendiary Bombs

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP) — The Chemical Warfare service disclosed today Superfortresses are dropping at least four different types of incendiary bombs on Japan and that research is under way to develop more fiery calling cards.

Two of the bombs spread flaming synthetic lava formed by jellied gasoline, powdered magnesium, liquid asphalt and other ingredients.

One is the M-76 or "goop" bomb, a 500 pounder, which scatters lava into corners and other out-of-the-way places. The other is the 10 pound M-74 equipped with a mechanism which throws gobs of burning lava for distances of 25 yards.

The two other types of bombs are the 100 pound M-47 and the six pound M-69 cluster. The M-47, packed with jellied gasoline in a thin wall, is capable of scattering chunks of fire for distances of 40 yards. The M-69 is made up of bomb clusters scattered by a time fuse, releasing a shower of fire sticks.

Houston Gun Plant Expected To Close

HOUSTON, June 2 (AP)—Maj. Vernon Packard, ordnance officer in charge of the $36,000,000 Dickson gun plant here, announced today that procurement of materials would cease on August 31.

John H. Teer, general manager, said that while a definite order cancelling production of eight-inch howitzer gun barrels contract had not been officially received "it looks as if it will be definite."

If the plant closes it will affect about 1500 workers. A crew will be kept on the job awhile to wrap up the heavy machinery and put the plant in a stand-by condition, Teer said.

Jap-Americans To Train Returned Vets

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP) — G. I.'s being shifted from Europe to the Pacific will learn how to fight the Japanese from American soldiers of Japanese ancestry, it was revealed today.

Special teams of Nisei—Japanese Americans — will demonstrate Japanese uniforms, weapons and methods. These teams have been undergoing special training at a camp in Maryland in readiness for providing instruction to soldiers returning from Europe.

Teams consist of 15 members including two officers and 13 enlisted men, 11 of the latter being Nisei.

Prior to the war, there were 500,000 automobile builders in the United States.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Filmtown Facts And Fancies

HOLLYWOOD, June 2. — Any time MGM wants to lend us the props, I will gladly pull Greer Garson's carriage down Hollywood Boulevard, all the way from the Hitching Post Theater to the Seven Seas Bar. The red-headed babe is wonderful. She is also an interviewer's nightmare.

Greer Garson

We chatted for two hours in her charming Stone Canyon home. During that time she played with her poodle, Koko, her cat, Mei-Mei, showed me endless pictures of her hubby, Lt. Richard Ney, USNR, poured tea (no crumpets) and later, a nip of sherry.

She also enacted scenes from movies, told funny stories, corny gags ("As the skunk said when the wind changed: 'It all comes back to me now' "). All of which was very charming but difficult to assemble into a column.

* * *

BY PATCHING together bits of conversation, I am able to present these results:

"I shall try not to discuss your legs," I told Greer, referring to the recent controversy in the public prints that she might be knock-kneed or bow-legged. Actually she is neither, but has a rather classy set of gams.

"Yes, I guess my legs have been straightened out," she replied. "Now what else would you like to talk about?"

"Would you like to divorce Walter Pidgeon—professionally?"

"Oh, no," she laughed. "It's wonderful working with Walter. But I do think it's good for us to work with other people now and then.

"However, I insist that he will not wear a beard in any more of our pictures."

"You don't like beards?"

"Yes, I like them. But in 'Madame Curie' all Walter had to do was waggle his beard in the air and he stole the scene. We can't have that, you know."

* * *

I MENTIONED that she was noted for her gay roles on the London stage and asked if she was contented to continue her "great lady" characterizations, as she does in "Valley of Decision."

"I would like very much to do some light comedy," she said, "but then I get letters like this."

She showed me a letter from an Australian serviceman who thanked her for her "beauteous portrayal of the nobility of a faithful, loving, courageous woman." He said it made him realize "an even greater love for my wife and a more earnest desire to be worthy of her."

"How can I play comedy in the face of that?" she asked. "It would be like destroying Santa Claus."

U. S. Diplomats Arrive In Czechoslovakia

WASHINGTON, June 2. (AP) — An American diplomatic mission has reached Prague to establish an embassy in Czechoslovakia, the State department announced.

Efforts to send such a mission to the Czech government have been going on since the administration of President Edouard Benes returned to Czech soil some months ago. Arrangements had to be made with Soviet military authorities.

The American mission is headed by Alfred W. Klieforth who will be counselor of embassy; John Brewins, secretary; Lt. Col. Aage Woldike, military attache; and other secretaries and assistants.

Ambassador Designate Laurence A. Steinhardt, who recently returned after a long period as ambassador to Turkey, was still in this country at last report. He is expected to leave soon for his new post.

Prize Roll Goes To Young Star

HOLLYWOOD, June 2. (U.P.) — Blond Jacqueline White has been destiny's tot on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot for the last three years. But she didn't know it.

The pretty native Angeleno has been getting one of the studio's class A-1-A buildups.

"Acting lessons, voice lessons, how to walk and sit, hair styling —" she laughed. "I got more grooming than a Kentucky Derby winner."

The payoff is that young Jacqueline has walked off with one of the year's prize roles. She's been chosen to play Ma Baxter in M-G-M's screen adaptation of Majorie Kinnan Rawlings prize-winning novel.

Made Better Test

The part was a catch many more experienced actresses were angling for. Director Clarence Brown chose Jacqueline for just one reason—she made a better test than anyone else.

"I was afraid at first she might be too pretty for the part," he admitted. No embittered backwoods mother would have Jacqueline's blond, gleaming hair, her blue, alive eyes, her fair complexion.

"But after we mussed her up a little and put her against the proper swamp country atmosphere," he grinned, "we knew she was just what we wanted."

Niece Of Knox

Studio talent scouts grabbed Jacqueline right out of college when they saw her in a University of California at Los Angeles production of "Ah, Wilderness." Up to now she's played just one part before the cameras—the second feminine lead in "Song of Russia."

Jacqueline, niece of the late Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, admitted to a very talented family.

"You ought to drop around some time and watch us," she invited. "My sister Betty practices her interpretive dancing, my sister Helen plays boogie-woogie on the piano, I recite Shakespeare and my mother advises us all. My dad? Oh, he just sits and reads the paper; he's retired."

Red River Invasion To Be On Radio Show

DENISON, June 2. (AP) — The radio program, "We The People," will come to Denison tomorrow to broadcast a portion of the Red river invasion bond show at 9:30 p.m.

The three survivors of the Iwo Jima flag-raising portrayed in the official picture of the Seventh War Loan drive will be on the broadcast. Other participants are Andrew J. Higgins, sr., president and founder of the Higgins industries of New Orleans; Capt. R. A. McDerby, skipper of the two invasion craft which navigated the Red river last week and Walter Saunders, whose boat made a trip up the Red river in 1905.

Southern Solons Hurl Filibuster Threat At Efforts To Save FEPC

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — For the second time this week, southerners hurled the threat of a Senate filibuster today at legislation which they vehemently oppose.

Newest object of their disaffection is the Fair Employment Practices committee, created by the late President Roosevelt to prevent employment discrimination because of race, creed or color.

Now operating as an executive agency, the FEPC faces dissolution. The House appropriations committee yesterday denied it funds in the war agencies supply bill for the 1946 fiscal year.

Friends of the FEPC, and they are plentiful, have no known chance to reinstate the funds in the House because of rules there which would prevent consideration of an amendment to provide the money.

Senate May Provide Funds

But they are optimistic about the chances of supplying the appropriation in the Senate.

Senator Chavez (D-NM) told reporters an attempt to rescue the FEPC "will surely be made" in the Senate.

On several past occasions when southerners in the House blocked FEPC, the Senate saved it and the House finally gave in.

Southerners predict any Senate move to approve the $559,000 allotment carried for FEPC in the budget would signal the start of a filibuster—a speech-making marathon which would delay action indefinitely.

Truman May Act

Some FEPC backers believe President Truman may ask Congress to keep it alive, presumably by urging action on separate legislation to give the FEPC statutory authority and strengthen its powers.

Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the House labor committee, one of the FEPC's most ardent supporters, said she was not chagrined over the outlook. Mrs. Norton has circulated a discharge petition to force House consideration of the authorizing legislation but so far has been unable to obtain anything like the 218 signatures needed.

Earlier this week, southerners threatened to filibuster to stop legislation outlawing poll tax payment as a prerequisite to voting in any election at which federal office is at stake.

The anti-poll tax bill will come before the House June 11 by way of discharge procedure, 218 members, a majority of the membership, having signed the petition forcing a vote.

Twice before in recent years the Senate has defeated House-passed poll tax measures through filibuster or threat of filibuster.

MAY LIVE IN FRANCE

PARIS, June 2. (U.P.) — King Carol of Romania was reliably reported today to have asked the French government for permission to live in France with his red-haired mistress, Magda Lupescu. Carol and Madga now live in Mexico.

Balsa, the lightest commercial wood in the world, is doing its bit in the war effort in bombers, life saving equipment, combat boats and mine detectors.

Officers Elected By Yellowhouse Lodge

C. C. Sherrod was elected worshipful master of Yellowhouse lodge 841, AF&AM, at Friday night's stated meeting and election for the fiscal year commencing June 25.

Other officers elected were B. F. Herring as senior warden; Morris B. Cranford, junior warden, and Cliff Elliott, outgoing worshipful master, as tiler.

Reelected were L. C. Ellis as treasurer; Hugh J. McClellan, secretary, and Burton S. Burks to a three-year term as a trustee.

Other officers will be appointed by incoming officers, who will be installed after June 24.

Approximately 75 Masons attended.

McClellan said work in the Entered Apprentice degree would be conferred at 7 o'clock Monday and Wednesday nights.

Farm Products Prices Show Little Change

AUSTIN, June 2 (U.P.)—Mid-May farm products prices in Texas showed little change from a month earlier, the U. S. Division of Agricultural statistics reported here today.

All meat-animal prices were identical, but considerably above a year ago. New crop price levels for wheat, barley and sorghums will not be quoted until mid-June, the division announced.

New Mexico Stops Sugar Certificates

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 2 (U.P.)—Issuance of home canning sugar certificates in New Mexico was "temporarily" discontinued today. The announcement was made by the regional OPA office here.

Office of Price administration spokesmen said that canning sugar ration allotments have exceeded quotas in the state.

Amazing Pep For Men 40, 60 or More

If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is an inexpensive method that may change your whole outlook on life. Just ask your druggist for Casella stimulating tablets (either 48 or 200, the 200 size costs much less per dose). Take as directed on label and feel the thrill of living again. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 60 or more. Take these tablets regularly until you feel that you have regained the pleasure of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged? Why not try Casella tablets and regain the verve and zest of a much younger man? Women too, will find Casella tablets beneficial.

Milk Supplies Are Crowding Storerooms

FORT WORTH, June 2. (U.P.)—Dairy industry storerooms were becoming more and more crowded today as government rules and regulations kept the industry's two major products—milk and butter—from flowing freely to consumers.

A heavy backlog of butter has existed for several weeks due to the high 24-point ration requirement for the product, but with most of the state's schools closed this week, milk, too, started accumulating in enormous quantities.

Dairymen are not allowed to move the milk that has been going to schools into the open market because of the War Food administration's "quota system," which permits distribution of only a pro rata amount to housewives.

Children who have been getting the quota-free milk at schools now will need the milk at home, but dairymen say it will be impossible to stepup deliveries under the quota setup.

WFA officials were being asked to revise their milk distribution regulations in order to meet civilian needs.

WFA and OPA officials already have revealed that they have passed on to Washington the request for lower point requirements for butter at least until the surplus has been moved.

Slightly Handicapped Men To Be Drafted

WASHINGTON, June 2 (U.P.) — Selective Service is preparing to draft into the Army 25,000 men between 18 and 25 who are slightly below the normal physical requirements for induction, it was learned today at the War department.

These inductions, scheduled for June and July, are expected to make possible the early release of veterans with more than 85 discharge points who have been assigned to non-combat duties in the United States because of physical disabilities suffered overseas.

It was expected that many of the 25,000 will be men with slightly substandard eyesight. Men with hernia or afflictions of the feet and joints will not be taken.

Food Sources In Pacific Sought

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) — Civilian food experts soon may be moving in the wake of battle in the Pacific to spend the return to crop production, particularly world-scarce sugar.

Rep. Anderson (D-NM), confirmed yesterday as Secretary of Agriculture, recommended to President Truman during a White House conference that food men be sent into Pacific invasions with the Army to hasten soil rehabilitation when the shooting stops.

"All the Pacific islands clear to the China coast are potential sugar producers, and we're not getting it," Anderson told a reporter after the conference.

"I recommended that some machinery be set up so that we can realize the full food possibilities of any area liberated."

The revived production in the islands could go to the Army and Navy there, lightening the drain on civilian sugar supplies in this country.

"The situation is tough and we're going to have to get tough to meet it," Anderson said. "It's going to be hard to convince the American public how desperately short sugar is."

Anderson told the president either the army or some civilian agency could be placed in charge of rehabilitating Pacific sugar production, but added: "Personally I'd prefer that it be done by civilian food experts from the War Food administration."

As Secretary of Agriculture Anderson will head WFA.

In addition to Pacific sugar, he suggested that the same plan be used to rehabilitate liberated Europe to ease the drain on world food supplies for that continent. A similar suggestion was made in the first report of the House food committee which he heads.

Poll Tax Fight Threat To U.S. Unity; Henry Wallace Turns To Right

"Anything For A Vote"

Peanut Politicians Busy Again

WHETHER or not a majority of the members of the Congress — with one eye glued, of course, upon the ballot box—will be able to blast states' rights and outlaw the poll tax is as yet an unknown quantity. But that effort to apply federal power in this regard is certain to kill a lot of valuable time in coming weeks and to engender, too, much hard feeling that is unnecessary and is certain to be hurtful to national unity.

Whether or not the poll tax is either fair, or just, is a moot question, as well as one in which there always shall be an honest division of opinion. But there is nothing moot about the fact that the poll tax is not a federal affair but, instead, is a problem for the individual states to decide for themselves.

We have the poll tax here in Texas.

Presumably, most Texans approve the poll tax, else it would have been wiped out by state legislation a long time ago.

But whether the majority of Texans want, or do not want, a continuation of the poll tax is something that should be discovered by a referendum here in Texas—then the majority decision abided by. In short, Texans and Texans alone should be allowed to say whether or not Texas shall have a poll tax.

Massachusetts, for instance, doesn't have a poll tax.

Texans have never insisted that Massachusetts install one; their representatives in Congress have never tried to dictate in that regard to Massachusetts. By the same token, Massachusetts representatives in Congress should not attempt to dictate to Texas, nor should the people of Massachusetts take any dish whatsoever in the way Texans run Texas.

• • •

SPEARHEAD of the current anti-poll tax drive in the national House of Representatives is a radical named Vito Marcantonio, who is as foreign in concept to Texas as a resident of the Fiji isles. A New Yorker who represents in Congress a part of Harlem and a polyglot population as a whole, he has no idea of what Texas people are like, what they want and what they do not want. Furthermore, it is our judgment that Marcantonio is not one whit interested in the question of whether Texas has or has not a poll tax, per se. He is attempting to force Texas to eliminate its poll tax because he believes his stand will make him a few more votes at the next election time in New York.

What is true about the basis of Marcantonio's interest in the poll tax is also true about the great majority of politicians who are forever beating their breasts on the subject on the floors of the House and Senate. Opponents of the poll tax are, to the greatest extent, merely interested in buttering their own bread because they come from sections or districts where opposing the poll tax is a popular thing. It is interesting to note that the loudest howlers against the poll tax are those members of Congress whose states and districts have no such tax.

• • •

AS long as there are peanut politicians in the land, there will be biennial fenagling in Congress about eliminating the poll tax.

Perhaps some day — perhaps this very year—the federal government will kidnap a definite state right in this regard and cram down the throats of people who may wish otherwise the elimination of the poll tax.

But you can bet your bottom dollar that win, lose, or draw, those who stand for states' rights will go down swinging and, as a result, there will be enmity and splits which cannot be quickly healed at a time when continuation of national unity is to be most desired.

The Marcantonios of Congress don't care a snap of their fingers about national unity if they think that by breaking it wide open they can add one more supporter against the day when they must again stand for re-election.

This is something to remember when, after the damage is done, they plead for a unity which they, for selfish reasons, will be guilty of blasting.

When the majority of Texans — and the majority of citizens of the other six states which still have a poll tax—decide that the tax is bad, it will be taken from the books. Don't be misled about that.

But until the majorities do so agree in the individual states affected, that is their business—and not that of the Marcantonios who may be representative of thinking in their own districts, but certainly are not representative of the nation as a whole.

Maybe you have suffered in your time, but did you ever have the sneezing hay fever and a crick in your neck at the same time?

• • •

Power Of International Cartels Must Be Broken

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The International Security organization being put together at San Francisco by representatives of the United Nations will be little more than an empty shell unless the power of international business and industrial monopolies, known as cartels, is broken.

This is obvious to anyone who has followed the numerous investigations by the Justice department and congressional committees over the last several years. They have disclosed how these international monopolies operate outside the pale of government, how they influence international politics without the people knowing anything about it or having anything to do with it, and how, in the case of Germany, they became instruments for building her war machine.

STOKES

The hands of the United States are not clean, either, for some of our biggest corporations entered agreements with the Germans. It took a series of anti-trust suits to dissolve these restrictive agreements, covering strategic war materials, and seizure of patents by the Alien Property Custodian to free us from the entanglements so that we could equip ourselves to fight.

• • •

Germans Busy Again

The Germans, though defeated in this war, are back at it again—"business as usual"—as evidence accumulated by government agencies has revealed. They will try to enlist American corporation interest again, as they did after the last war, or seek protection now behind alleged American, British or French interest.

Many of the cartel agreements involving American corporations which restricted patents, divided world markets into exclusive territories, and controlled prices, date back soon after the last war. They were, in effect, secret treaties, though not subject to inspection by our Senate or anybody else. They were just as important, if not more so, than political treaties.

• • •

AN effort to correct this, as far as American corporations are concerned, is embodied in bills pending in Congress sponsored by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.,) and Representative Voorhis (D., Calif.,) which require registration and publication of any cartel agreement in which a United States corporation is a party.

A more immediate problem is that involved in the control of German industry, in which the United States will share. This will require expert investigation to ferret out the ramification of German interest and investment in industries all over Europe, as well as in this country. It will require also disinterested personnel to advise and formulate policy. The Foreign Economic administration and other government agencies already have sent investigators abroad to do this.

• • •

A Tip To Congress

Involved in the policy making are the technical advisory committees of FEA which will work here, and men who will work under the American group control council in Europe under Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay. Some key figures on the Technical Advisory committees, who have been named here previously, are men with associations in international finance or affiliated with corporations, either monopolistic in nature themselves, or tied up previously in secret agreements with German interests, or both. The same is true of some men who will work abroad.

Congress might well take a look at this set-up, or at least watch developments with these associations in mind.

• • •

THE importance of all this is emphasized in a recent comprehensive and well-documented speech by Representative Voorhis, who showed how for the last two years Germans have been establishing enterprises under their own direct control in Spain, Sweden and other countries, and how they have been hiding their funds.

He said "it appears that as much as 40 per cent of the entire industry of Spain is at present in the hands of Germans." Likewise the Germans have been registering a greatly increased volume of patents in Sweden. The Germans have greatly increased their holdings in the French aluminum trust, part of an international cartel with indirect connections in this country.

There should be no question about the type of mind which handles these problems on our behalf.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

LAST Wednesday I invited a friend of mine, a business man, out to our place for the week-end.

He accepted and said he'd be out Saturday afternoon.

"Why don't you come Friday afternoon?" I asked him. "The weather man has promised us sunshine and warmth and here it's spring and it will do you good to take that extra day."

He couldn't think of it, he said.

BRANDEIS

"I have so much work to do and don't dare to leave the office alone when we are so busy right now."

• • •

Well, he won't come until Saturday afternoon. But I was thinking of something my doctor told me a few years ago.

. had worked very hard and was run down and nervous.

"You need a rest" he said. "Take a trip. Take two weeks off."

"I couldn't think of it," I said, just like my friend. "I've so much work to do and I don't dare to leave the office alone."

"All right," was his reply, "but remember this: When you have a real breakdown and you are flat on your back and the ambulance drives up in front of your house, nobody is going to ask you how much work you have to do."

• • •

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT was a great president, whether you liked him or not. The world needed him badly. But now that he has gone, the world goes along just the same. Rockefeller died and Standard Oil is still the same name it was when he was alive. Henry Ford will die some day and millions of cars will still roll off the assembly line.

Napoleon died and Shakespeare died and Caesar died and Pasteur died. We all remember them, but we get along without them.

Men are great not by their presence but by their deed. If there had never been a Shakespeare or a Pasteur or a Verdi, there would have been a poet or a scientist or a composer just as great.

Achievement is no man's monopoly. Achievement is the result of talent and effort that is nature's gift to many.

To say that you can't take a day off from your work to enjoy happiness and rest is either utter conceit or fear.

If it is fear, it is the fear of having others find out that you are really not so important as you want them to think you are.

Liberal Friends Upset

(Washington Merry-Go-Round)

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Some of the Liberals who fought so hard for Henry Wallace's confirmation are now beginning to wonder how much he is the prisoner of old line bureaucrats inside the Commerce department. Privately they say they don't see much difference between his administration of commerce and Herbert Hoover's.

What has particularly aroused Wallace's Liberal friends is his appointment of a committee to study the U. S. patent system. Wallace appointed the committee upon receipt of a letter from President Truman which reminded him that the American patent system had been misused by unlawful monopolies and needed overhauling.

PEARSON

Whereupon Wallace appointed a committee to study patents which included two men considered staunch defenders of the present patent setup. They are: Charles F. Kettering, vice-president of General Motors, and Dr. Vannevar Bush, director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development. This caused Justice department experts to hit the ceiling.

Kettering had previously told the Temporary Economic committee that he knew nothing about patent laws, while Bush is considered notorious for his subservience of big business. Critics say that Bush made his Office of Scientific Research an instrument for strengthening the patent monopoly of big business during the war.

In the early war days, both Kettering and Bush served as members of a patent committee to ascertain whether patents were interfering with the war effort. They came out with a report completely whitewashing the existing patent system.

So now Wallace, great Liberal, appoints two men who say the patent system is OK, on a committee which President Truman says should remedy the "misuse" of patents.

"FULL EMPLOYMENT" AT 'FRISCO

ONE of the hottest backstage battles at San Francisco was over the simple but significant words, "full employment," and whether these words should go into the final charter as an expression of hope for future mankind.

The "full employment" clause was quietly slipped into the charter by Australia's Herbert Evatt and New Zealand's Peter Fraser. No country where free elections are held could afford to oppose it, because all vote-getting politicians must be in favor of "jobs." However, the backstage maneuvering was a classic of international wire-pulling.

First fuss was kicked up by the American delegation after gentle Dean Virginia Gildersleeve of Barnard college reported to a closed U. S. meeting that the Commission on Social and Economic Welfare of which she is a member had endorsed "full employment." Senators Connally of Texas and Vandenberg of Michigan promptly hit the ceiling. Both said the Senate would turn down the charter if "full employment" were inserted.

"Folks will say it will lead to an international WPA," reminded the gentleman from Texas.

Vandenberg called it nothing but "an international New Deal," while others moaned about "a quart of milk for every Hottentot." Result was that Secretary Stettinius, who personally favored the "full employment" phrase, began to back water, and asked his aides to work out a compromise formula.

Next day, master strategy was evolved. Miss Gildersleeve was instructed to go before the Social and Economic Welfare commission, propose that the wording of the phrase which had already been approved and voted on be changed so as to include "education" as well as "full employment" as one of the aspirations of the United Nations. If her commission could be persuaded to reopen its discussions, Dean Gildersleeve was also instructed to try to put some qualifying language around the words "full employment" in order to soften them.

GOES TO BAT

MISS GILDERSLEEVE appeared that night at the commission meeting, and asked on behalf of the United States that the entire discussion be reopened because the American delegation wanted to include the word "education."

Whereupon Australia's Foreign Minister Evatt jumped up to ask whether that was all Miss Gildersleeve had on her mind, or whether the U. S. was merely using this as a wedge to reopen the whole question after it had been voted under normal democratic procedure.

Evatt was swiftly seconded by Prime Minister Fraser of New Zealand. Someone else proposed that the commission act first on the education question, then pry into the aims of the American delegate later. Evatt again sprang to his feet, warned the commission that he had seen the U. S. pull the same trick before, reverse an already voted decision to admit the World Trade Union congress. Despite his protest, however, a vote was taken and the word "education" was included.

Miss Gildersleeve next urged that qualifying language be added to make certain the charter did not give any country the right to interfere in the domestic affairs of another. But Fraser objected, saying the United States was trying to weasel out of the original vote

"Everybody has agreed with the first part of the American proposals," Fraser said, referring to the inclusion of the word, "education."

"It's a good night's work the lady has done," he continued. "She ought to rest on that. The Atlantic Charter spoke of freedom from want. How can you have freedom from want without full employment?"

The Russian delegate then pointed out that the whole principle of non-interference was adequately covered in the charter.

"There's not a state here," he added, "that would tolerate interference in its own internal affairs. After an act by this commission to admit the World Trade Union congress was vetoed by the United States, we now find the same country opposing another demand by the working people of the world—that of full employment. There will be some real explaining to do if we water this section down too."

• • •

U. S. DEFEATED

MISS GILDERSLEEVE vigorously defended the American position, said the United States is not opposed to full employment. She was supported only by the Peruvian delegate, who said he too feared the phrase might lead to interference in the domestic affairs of another country.

Australia's Evatt again sprang up to say that he was mystified by the U. S. approach. Reading from speeches delivered in the last campaign, Evatt continued:

"I note that President Roosevelt ran on a platform of full employment. I have here several speeches by Governor Dewey in which he endorsed full employment. And here are some talks by Mr. Truman who is unequivocal on the question, so I can't see why there should be an argument."

In one corner of the room, a Canadian delegate moaned: "We've got a national election coming up in a few days. We'd have our heads chopped off if we came out against full employment."

In the end, Miss Gildersleeve was defeated, had to report her failure to the U. S. delegation. Finally a face-saving formula was worked out by Senators Connally and Vandenberg, Representatives Bloom and Eaton, whereby the commission included in the appendix of the charter a record of the debate, showing that it was clearly meant that the phrase "full employment" did not give any nation the right to interfere in the domestic affairs of another.

Satire Features Molloy's "Pride's Way"

Story Of Charming Old Ladies Told In Gentle Manner

ROBERT Molloy, whose novel "Pride's Way" (Macmillan), is the Literary Guild's selection for May, has had a thorough exposure to all the technical faults of modern literature. As a reviewer he has witnessed an endless parade of sins of commission and omission, and in his case creative ability, which is popularly believed to diminish as critical sense increases, reversed the formula.

"Pride's Way" is the gently satirical tale of Charleston in 1910, told through the twilight days of two old ladies to whom finally pride is all. This intense feeling for heritage wells up when a minister castigates family bickerings and Miss Julie, the elder sister, leaves her daughter and son-in-law to rejoin Miss Tessie, ending a six-year silence between the two.

Squabbles follow, and Miss Tessie, sharp-tongued, pettily vindictive, gradually becomes "queer." She publicly confesses imaginary sins, decides after a time that she is self-cleansed, and encourages belief in her "saint-hood." Her antics distress the rest of the family, and their reaction is humorously, yet tenderly recorded. The old ladies are charming, as is their city—and as is Mr. Molloy's capably-handled first novel.

War Against Crooks

ALAN Hynd, who in "Betrayal from the East" dealt with Japanese spies within the U. S., turns to cops and robbers in "The Giant Killers" (McBride), an exciting account of the activities of the Intelligence Unit of the U. S. Treasury Department. Under the direction of little-publicized Elmer Lincoln Irey, Treasury agents have put the skids under countless front-page crooks, and Mr. Hynd reports their exploits in an even dozen yarns. They are stories of perseverance as well as daring and ingenuity.

When the White House ordered Al Capone put in prison "if it took 10 years to get the evidence," Irey's first task was to get two of his men into the Big Boy's inner circle. How he schooled the agents in 10 years of Brooklyn history (including statistics on the Dodgers) so that they could answer any questions put to them by the gangsters, is an example of that perseverance. And how it paid off in a hair-raising game of fox-and-hare makes gripping reading. It was in the course of the Capone case, incidentally, that the largest bribe ever offered to a law enforcement official was made. Irey could have had a million and a half, in exchange for letting Big Al off. It was, as everyone knows, no dice.

Hynd tells how Boss Pendergast tried to get James A. Farley to intercede in favor of a murderer who was in income tax trouble. There are the stories of Moe Annenberg, Huey Long, the Lindbergh kidnaping, and a number of con-men so slick they could have sold socks to a garter snake. Although there is unconcealed evidence of occasional fictionalizing to lend realism to scenes, "The Giant Killers" is a capable job, and pays a deserved tribute to Irey and his men.

"Nine Mile Bridge"

HELEN Hamlin comes naturally to the way of life she describes in her book "Nine Mile Bridge, Three Years in the Maine Woods," just published by Norton. Her grandfather and her uncle were game wardens and Curly was a game warden too. She met him at a lumbermen's dance at Churchill Lake, fell in love and married him.

In "Nine Mile Bridge" (name of the camp at the headwaters of the Allagash river) she tells the story of their first three years in the north country woods, where the only link with civilization was the telephone wire of the forestry service. Only a handful of people lived in those 15,000 square miles of unbroken wilderness and the young couple lived snowbound for months out of the year.

Few brides could take the isolation of such a life, but as Helen Hamlin told a French-Canadian at Lac Frontiere, "We are rich. We are healthy and we live the way we want to live."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

UNCLE SAM'S MIGHTY SEVENTH

Here's a pile driving punch we're planning for the Japs that can pack just as much power—clean to the final knockout—as you put into it. "You" means every man and every woman from among the 138,000,000 people in this nation who aren't out on the firing line. And Uncle Sam's Mighty Seventh is the 7th War Loan drive which aims at raising $14,000,000,000 with which to finance the final Victory blow of World War II. It's going to take a lot more investments in War Bonds to put all the power that's needed into this punch . . . more than you've ever put into a single War Loan before. It means every one of us must buy, not just more bonds, but bigger bonds, than we ever bought before. Do it now!

Unconditional surrender from the Japs—the only thing that will spell the end of World War II—is farther away than you think. True, our daring Navy has carried our fliers within bombing distance of Tokio; our valiant army has retaken most of the Philippines. But don't count on this war to be over, and don't count on seeing our boys come back home with complete victory until we've rooted the Nips from Burma, from China and from Manchuria. Take a look at your map and figure it out for yourself. It's going to take a lot of gasoline, a lot of ships and tanks and a lot of shells to finish off the job. These things cost money. How much it will cost in time —and in lives—is going to depend a lot on how much money you are willing to invest in complete victory now. BUY BIGGER BONDS AND MORE OF THEM.

Pope Cites Church's Fight On Nazism

VATICAN CITY, June 2. (AP)—Pope Pius XII in a world broadcast today expressed the hope the German nation "which we love" would "find its way back" into the family of nations after the "satantic spectre" of Nazism had been dispelled.

Addressing the College of Cardinals who paid their respects on the occasion of St. Eugene's day—his name day—the Pontiff said the Catholic church had fought Nazism consistently.

Nobody, he said, could charge the church with not having pointed out in time the dangers of Nazism to Christian civilization. Even during the war the German Catholic clergy had explained the Vatican's stand to the people, the Pope added.

Speaking from his private library, Pope Pius described the peace established in Europe after six years of struggle as "very fragile." He declared that passions aroused by the conflict must cool before a peace "founded on the rights of all peoples could be forged, in which the social and economic causes of a possible new war could be controlled."

Japs Using Hitler's Strategy Of Delaying Action, 'Inner Fortress'

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign News Analyst

President Truman's disclosure that the U. S. army in the Pacific ultimately will be twice its present size, and "bigger than our army was in Europe at its height," will fall on sorry ears in a Japan which already is apparently abandoning its hold on southern China and concentrating its strength in the north.

There are signs the Mikado's war-lords are adopting Hitler's strategy for his desperate last-ditch stand. This was to fight a delaying action and ultimately to retire into his inner fortress for a finish fight. Meantime he pinned his slender hopes on some circumstance causing a quarrel among the Allies. Apropos of this, the well-informed British official military commentator Veritas makes these observations:

Japs Awaiting "D-Day"

"Japan at the present time finds herself in a situation not unlike that of Germany before D-day. In a sense the Japanese are awaiting their own D-day. They have suffered considerable reverses in outlying territories, their naval power has been crippled so that it can no longer protect their sea lines of communication or keep Allied forces out of Japanese home waters, and Allied submarines and air attacks have already destroyed a large proportion of their ocean-going transport.

"In these circumstances Japan is evidently falling back on the 'fortress' technique, and adopting the 'fortress' mentality. Just as Germany planned to hold the Reich with its neighboring countries behind impregnable defenses and with supporting bastions in the Balkans, Italy and Norway, so, in very much the same way, the Japanese are proclaiming their intention to carry on the fight to the death in defense of Japan itself, with Korea, Manchuria and northern China. Their large garrisons in the Asiatic Balkans (Malaya, Sumatra, Siam, etc.) will of course fight to the last, but it is not improbable that Tokyo is now resigned to their eventual loss."

Reminder Issued On Filing Service Prices

Of the approximately 300 concerns and individuals in the Lubbock Office of Price administration engaged in jobbing shop operations performed in making metal products and repairing industrial machinery only a half dozen have filed their service prices, rates and rate-computing reports with the district office on June 1, as required, District Price Executive J. B. Mooney announced.

No action will be taken against sellers delinquent in filing their statements until June 15, Mooney said. At that time they will be subject to having maximum prices fixed by OPA retroactively to March 15, 1945, when the new regulation became effective.

In India the practice of plastic surgery arose to enable those whose nose tips had been cut off for adultery to correct the mutilation.
