Other Western Republics May Follow Action

Vessels Sabotaged Upon Orders From Italian Consulate

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—The possibility of using 70 seized Italian, German and Danish ships to relieve the shipping shortage in the Atlantic ranked first in speculation over their eventual disposition today, as diplomatic circles wondered whether other western hemisphere republics would follow suit and seize European ships in their ports.

Maritime commission and coast guard officials insisted that the seizures were intended to prevent sabotage, and that they were not preliminary to confiscation and American use. All 70 vessels were placed under protective custody during the week end.

Thorough Inquiry Seen

A recapitulation showed a total of 28 Italian, 40 Danish and two German ships to have been placed in protective custody.

The possibility that Latin American nations would seize immobilized European ships in their harbors was advanced in diplomatic quarters. These reports were believed responsible in part for the sailing preparations of several German ships in South America, in an attempt to run the British blockade.

A charge by the captain of one of the Italian ships that the Italian naval attache here had ordered the sabotage of the vessel pointed to the probability of a thorough inquiry by the state department. Officials speculated whether this might lead to the placing of greater restrictions on the movement of Italian diplomatic and consular officials in this country.

Italian Embassy Silent

The United States already has asked the Italian embassy to report at all times the movements of the naval, air and military attaches, and it also requested the closure of Italian consular offices at Detroit, Mich., and Newark, N. J. This was done in retaliation for similar moves by Italy against American diplomats.

The Italian embassy, however,

Ship Seizures Anger Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, March 31 — Germany will "certainly not regard American action in respect to Italian and German ships as an act of friendship", an authorized spokesman told the foreign press today in advance of an official release on the subject.

The whole idea of what is and is not private property is shaken by the United States action, the commentator said, declaring that the ships belonged not to governments but to private firms.

To Reveal Attitude

Some time today, it was authoritatively stated, the German government's attitude on the United States seizure of German, Italian and Danish ships most likely will be made known.

"We can at present indicate neither the tendency, nor the time, nor the subject matter of a coming press release," authorized quarters said.

"Naturally, America's action is one which demands the closest scrutiny and investigation. The matter is probably of prime historical significance."

SLAV CRISIS NEAR

Germans Warn Only Miracle Can Halt War

Axis Nationals In Yugoslavia Flee; Nazis Impatient

(By The Associated Press)

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 31. — Relations between Germany and Yugoslavia grew worse by the hour today and the German legation secretary declared that only an "unexpected miracle" could save the situation.

The secretary announced that German Minister Viktor von Heeren was leaving for Berlin, and at the same time the Yugoslav minister to Germany, Dr. Ivo Andric, arrived unexpectedly from Germany.

Would Invade Nation

An unofficial German source declared Adolf Hitler intended to wait only until midnight to issue an ultimatum demanding demobilization of the 1,200,000-man Yugoslav army—the same demand which was reported to have touched off last week's upset of Yugoslavia's "Axis" government and the catapulting of King Peter II to the throne.

Hitler was said by this source to be waiting only until all Axis nationals could get out of the country, and then if the Yugoslavs failed to meet the expected ultimatum Germany would set her war machine to rolling.

Peace Not Impossible

A great exodus of Axis nationals, on orders from Rome and Berlin, was proceeding. All trains leaving the city last night and early this morning for Germany and Italy were jammed, and many seeking to leave were left standing on the station platforms.

The deadline for completion of this exodus was reported set for midnight.

The German legation secretary who yesterday described the situation as "serious but not hopeless" declared today it was "practically hopeless" and added: "A decisive turn for the better is not impossible, but it would be an unexpected miracle."

A special train ordered for tonight was expected to take the last of the Axis nationals except legation members out of the coun-

Charles Lane Badly Injured In Mishap

Charles Lane, 24, of 1943 Texas avenue was in serious condition early this afternoon in Lubbock sanitarium with injuries suffered when the dump bed of a truck on which he was working was released and struck him Sunday mornin.

An employe of the White Way service station, Lane was working under the machine and apparently accidentally released the bed to the truck.

An attending physician said his lung was punctured and several ribs fractured.

Former Tech Student Dies After Accident

Friends here have been notified of death of Marshall Teal, 22, former student of Texas Technological college who was injured in an automobile accident Saturday night.

Teal, who worked at Vanderbilt, was injured near Burkburnett, according to reports here. He died Sunday.

He attended Texas Tech in the 1937-38 session and the fall semester of the 1938-39 session. He was registered in the agricultural division, from Burkburnett. He was a nephew of T. Teal of near Lubbock.

Fiery Raid On French Coast

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 31. — RAF bombers and fighters blasted the French "invasion coast" and German channel shipping by daylight today in a fiery follow-up to a night raid on the Nazi battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau at Brest.

The air over the Dover strait was declared "humming" throughout the morning and early afternoon with British planes, and the heavy crump of falling bombs could be heard plainly on this side of the channel.

Tankers Are Afire

Observers watching through glasses also saw water shooting into the air near the German-occupied shore. This was believed to be a continuation of attacks on German shipping which earlier in the day was reported by the air ministry to have left two German tankers afire and sinking off Le Havre.

In last night's attack on Brest the air ministry said that no direct hits were observed on the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, but that their docks were "straddled from all directions by medium, large and very large bombs."

The 26,000-ton Nazi sister ships are believed by the British to have led the assault by surface craft and U-boats in recent merchant

Fascists Lose Five Ships In Major Battle

English Fleet Is Unblemished In Routing Italians

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, March 31.—Five Fascist warships—and perhaps two more — were sunk by British naval forces in a great, week-end sea battle in the eastern Mediterranean and more than 1,000 survivors have been picked up, the admiralty declared today.

About 1,500 Italian seamen were believed to have perished, since the normal complement of the vessels the British said were destroyed was about 2,500.

Land At Athens

Except for attacks by German dive-bombers, a communique said, 200 or 300 more could have been rescued during the engagement—biggest of the war—in which the British also claimed serious damage was inflicted on an Italian battleship of the 35,000-ton Littorio class by aerial torpedoes.

Athens dispatches said survivors of three destroyed cruisers, the 10,000-ton sister ships Fiume, Pola and Zara, had been landed at Piraeus, port of Athens, along with men from a destroyer which the British have not claimed.

Navy's Greatest Success

The admiralty said the destroyers Vincenzo Gioberto and Maestrale were sunk, along with the three cruisers, that a third destroyer was a "probable" victim and that the 5,069-ton cruiser Giovanni Delle Brandewere possibly had been sent to the bottom.

The destroyer in the Athens reports was given as the Alfiera, which is not listed in recent authoritative naval manuals. There is a Vittorio Alfieri, however, and naval officials said this might be the one meant.

Naval officials unhesitatingly called the action, in which Greek naval forces participated, the royal navy's outstanding success

T. E. Buckner Is To Head Higgins Bank

T. E. Buckner, assistant cashier of the First National bank for the past 16 years, is to leave Lubbock the latter part of April for Higgins where he has purchased a large block of capital stock in the First National bank there an announcement from Higgins said today. Buckner is to be president of the bank, word from Higgins said, succeeding his uncle, T. H. Black, president for 33 years.

Buckner, a resident of Lubbock 21 years, formerly worked in the Higgins bank. He was auditor of the Fourth National bank in Wichita, Kas., before coming to Lubbock.

Buckner said today he resigned his position in the local bank last Tuesday and planned to arrange his affairs which will include the sale of his residence at 1722 Thirty-second street in order to report to Higgins May 1.

"Misery" Finally Conquers The Worn Out Body Of "Old Jeff"

(By The United Press)

TEMPLE, March 31. — Old Jeff told the white folks that the "misery" that racked his body sometimes was "just mo' than a good darkey can stand," and that he "reckoned it won't be long" until he'd be "seein' General Sam."

Old Jeff was a former slave. He used to be the servant and personal bodyguard of General Sam Houston years and years before the "misery" set in his back and legs.

The 101-year-old negro was named Jeff Hamilton, but all the folks around here knew him as "Old Jeff." He would have been 102 on April 16, but when they took him to the Highland colored memorial hospital he "lowed as how that's a fur piece away."

He lay in bed, hardly moving, occasionally moaning and complaining of the "misery in my laigs." Doctors said he didn't have much chance of living to be 102 — wore his body out working wheh he was young, they said.

Last night he died.

"White folks is always good to Jeff," he used to say.

And the white folks started chipping in today to help buy some flowers for "Old Jeff."

Grandchildren of General Houston will have charge of the funeral.

House Okay On Legislative Redistricting Is Expected

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 31—After only two hours of debate, the House today passed to final reading a bill redistricting the state House of Representatives for the first time in 18 years. The vote was 87 to 50.

Foes of the measure offered a long string of amendments but all were voted down by comfortable majorities.

Rep. DeWitt Kinard of Port Arthur, floor leader for the measure, said that if members desiring changes would come to him before it is brought up for final reading he would try to agree with them on reasonable amendments.

Kinard, in talks to his colleagues, contended that the new districts would be much more in line with existing population than the present districts.

"At present," he said, "we have districts with as few as 19,000 people and as many as 150,000. That spread would be considerably narrowed by this bill."

The proposal generally would give additional representation to the big city counties and parts of West and South Texas and decrease representation of sections of North and East Texas.

Rep. Mark Halsey of Lubbock, co-sponsor of the bill, said it would give West Texas eight more representatives.

Kinard proposed a few changes in the bill recommended by the legislative districts committee. Grayson county would have only one representative instead of two and the flotorial district in that area would comprise Grayson, Collin and Rockwall counties instead of Grayson, Collin, Rockwall, Cooke and

Ethiopia Crumbling Fast

Il Duce Faces Knockout Blow

(By The Associated Press)

CAIRO, Egypt, March 31.—The British army of the Nile, eager for quick completion of its conquest of Italian east Africa, is advancing rapidly west of newly-occupied Diredawa in Ethiopia and toward Asmara, capital of Eritrea, the middle east command announced today.

The advance by south African forces who entered Italian-abandoned Diredawa Saturday and severed the only Fascist rail line leading from Addis Ababa to the coast at Jibuti, was declared matched by a developing "general forward movement" in other Ethiopian sectors.

Prisoners Increasing

"The number of prisoners is steadily mounting while guns and other war materials abandoned by the enemy in his withdrawal are being collected in large quantities," today's GHQ war bulletin said.

In Eritrea, the middle east command announced tersely that "our advance toward Asmara is continuing."

The British moved up from captured Harar, second larget town in Ethiopia, to cut the Addis Ababa-Jibuti railroad at Diredawa, whose Italian defenders withdrew inland.

That would break the Italians' only rail link with the outside world and leave them to fight

Beauty Costs High For Negro Woman

What cost, beauty treatment?

For Fannie Mae Johnson, a negro woman, plenty.

Fannie Mae, in a complaint filed Sunday by Ralph Brock, county attorney, charged Woodie Johnson, 31, her mate with making her sit up all night without a quilt after he had cut off the gas, then bouncing a flatiron off her head and doing mop-up work with his fists. All because, she said, she was "out a bit late" at a beauty shop.

Police, summoned by one of the woman's four children, jailed Johnson.

Oklahoma Governor Is Granted Supreme Court Review In His Fight Against Denison Project

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 31 — Governor Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma was granted a supreme court review today of a decision sustaining the constitutionality of federal construction of the $54,000,000 Denison dam across Red river in Texas and Oklahoma.

Appealing from a decision by a three-judge federal court in eastern Oklahoma, Governor Phillips contended the hydroelectric and flood control project violated state rights, would inundate approximately 100,000 acres of Oklahoma land and destroy many miles of highways and bridges.

He asserted that much of the land to be inundated had large oil reserves and the state would suffer "great loss in its taxable revenues."

Governor Phillips sought an injunction against the Guy F. Atkinson company, the contractor, and Cleon A. Summers, United States attorney for Eastern Oklahoma, charged with condemning land for the project.

He contended that unless they were restrained they would commit "illegal and void acts and invasions to the irreparable injury" of Oklahoma.

Once before, the governor sought supreme court aid in his effort to halt the project. The tribunal refused, however, on February 12, 1940, to act, in advance of rulings by lower federal courts, on a petition seeking to enjoin the secretary of war from proceeding with the construction.

The governor also appealed to the supreme court recently from a decision temporarily restraining him from interfering, by use of troops and a state court suit, with work on the $20,000,000 Grand river hydroelectric project.

A ruling was refused by the tribunal on the ground that the governor should have appealed first to the federal circuit court for that area from the decision by a three-judge federal court at Tulsa.

Two Killed In Truck Mishap

(By The United Press)

HENDERSON, March 31.—Passersby told today how they watched two men burn to death in an overturned lumber truck, unable to render them assistance.

The dead were Luther Webb and Bunt Deaugh, both about 30, of Kilgore.

Trapped In Cab

Police said they were trapped in the cab of the truck when it apparently went out of control and rolled into a ditch near Henderson. Other motorists stopped and attempted to pry open the cab doors.

They still were trying when the truck caught fire. The heat drove the would-be rescuers away and Webb and Deaugh died, screaming in the flames.

Mrs. Oran Wilson Is Injured In Collision

Fracture of the right arm was suffered by Mrs. Oran Wilson of 1919 Fifteenth street in a collision at Seventeenth street and Avenue O at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

A car driven south on Avenue O by Tommie Polk, a negro, was in collision with the right side of the car driven west on Seventeenth by Mrs. Wilson.

A Rix ambulance took Mrs. Wilson to West Texas hospital, where surgery was performed in order to set the bone. Her condition was satisfactory, said a hospital authority.

The Wilson car struck a tree and ran into a house following the collision.

At home hours later, the professor looked outside; received a practical lesson in economics. His garage was on fire.

Europe's Food Demand Boosting Farm Prices

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 31 — The farm commodities price picture is showing its brightest tinge since the fall of France.

Many important agricultural products, revived by hopes that Europe's demand for food eventually will be met in some way, now are selling at around the highest levels since the collapse last May when the German armies swept into western Europe.

Demand Is Growing

Hopes that the American agricultural machine, reversed by elimination of much of the European market for foodstuffs, might again be thrown into high gear, as it was a quarter century ago, lay in growing lend-lease assistance to Britain and in the increasing scope of the war itself.

Government entrance into the market for such important farm commodities as eggs, dairy products, lard and large scale defense requirements for hides, wool and foods has increased demand. Of paramount importance also has been a growing demand from civilian consumers as national industry fattens payrolls and strengthens ability to buy.

Other Factors Cited

Progress of farm legislation in Congress, with talk of higher commodity loans, also has been a factor.

Elevation of farm prices has occurred despite the excellent outlook for 1941 crops due to the

New Proposals Would Include Death Penalty

Disputes On Four Fronts 'Settled' By Labor Board

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 31.—Rep. Leland M. Ford, R., Calif., today introduced a bill to put strikes against the United States or in defense industries in the category of treason, punishable by 25 years' imprisonment, or by death if the strike causes fatalities.

Ford introduced his bill, which was referred to the House judiciary committee, shortly after the new national defense mediation board announced it had obtained settlements of all four strikes referred to it by Secretary of Labor Perkins last Thursday.

Penalties Severe

Ford said in a brief House speech that "constructive labor need not fear" his bill. It provides that:

"Whoever incites, advocates, calls, participates in or assists any strike against the United States or at any place where articles, materials, supplies, vessels, building structures, or facilities for use, directly or indirectly, by the land or naval forces of the United States or by the United States in the prosecution of the national defense program are being produced, repaired, constructed, reconstructed, installed, transported, or otherwise handled or worked on, shall be guilty of treason and on conviction thereof shall be imprisoned for 25 years without parole or reduction of sentence for good behavior, or if resulting, directly or indirectly, in the death of any person, shall himself be punished by death."

The resolution joined numerous other anti-strike proposals under study by the judiciary committee. Chairman Hatton W. Sumners (D-Texas) said last week that the group might consider the "electric chair" as punishment for persons found guilty of stopping defense production.

Agreements Reached In Four Disputes

(By The Associated Press)

The new defense labor mediation board created by President Roosevelt to try to speed production in industry announced today that the first four strikes turned over to it had been terminated.

In three instances negotiations will continue between the management and unions in regard to wage increase and other demands. The fourth strike was settled before the board took any formal action.

Week End In City Is Quiet

Two automobiles were reported stolen over a comparatively quiet week end, said Lubbock police.

H. H. Dungan of 911 Fourteenth street said a 1936 Buick coach, gray, license number 846-264, had been stolen from him, and Carter Motor company reported a chain to its parking lot had been severed and a 1940 Dodge sedan, license 849-193, taken.

Break-In Attempt Seen

Possibility of an abortive break-in attempt of Meinecke Bros. hardware, at 1631 Broadway, was read by investigators into tell-tale pry marks left on a rear door. The hardware store was burglarized last week when someone broke a skylight, let himself into the store with a garden hose employed as a rope, and left with $170 from two registers.

A "small hole" was found in L&L Jewelry store, in 1200-block Avenue H, but police discounted a burglary attempt.

Complaint Is Lodged

Several members of the Jehovah Witnesses cult were complained of in vicinity of 2700-block Avenue P, but police had not been informed of any property owner's having "pitched one out on his ear."

An attempted car theft was reported from 2138 Nineteenth street, a call having been received from M. N. Langley.

A Mexican "who didn't know north from south and who admitted having been fingerprinted in connection with a girl's stabbing at New Braunfels" was taken to jail when found aimlessly wandering early today and looking through windows of a Lubbock business district.

A small camera was stolen from

Senator Urges Ban Upon U. S. Convoys

WASHINGTON, March 31. (U.P.)—Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R-NH) introduced a joint resolution today to prohibit convoying of merchant vessels by United States warships.

He said his resolution would give the nation "an opportunity to see whether the administration and the members of the Senate meant business when they say they are opposed to our entering the war."

Tobey, who voted against the British aid bill, said that his resolution would enable President Roosevelt and the Senate to "translate their public statements into specific legislation to keep the country from taking a step into war."

Insurance Murderer Pays With His Life

BELLEFONTE, Pa., March 31. (U.P.)—Paul Petrillo, mild-mannered lieutenant of Philadelphia's mass murder-for-insurance ring, paid with his life in Pennsylvania's electric chair today for the murder of one of the ring's 100 victims.

Petrillo was the first of three condemned ring members to be executed. A 49-year-old father of seven, who left his south Philadelphia tailor shop to help dispense death in five states, he maintained a stolid calm to the end. His execution fulfilled the sentence imposed for the 1932 arsenic slaying of Luigi La Vecchio, immigrant laborer, for a share of his $1,600 insurance.

Retail Sales Hit New High

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 31.—A high level of merchandise demand for February, increases in value of construction contracts and in petroleum output for the same month, and a generally satisfactory outlook for livestock and agriculture were recorded in the monthly business review of the Dallas Federal Reserve bank released today.

The review covers activity in the 11th reserve district, embracing the states of Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona, and New Mexico.

At All Time Peak

"On a seasonally adjusted basis, department store sales were at an all time peak for that month, and the distribution of commodities through wholesale channels exceeded that of a year ago by 14 per cent," the review said.

"In the industrial field the value of construction contracts awarded was at a much higher rate than a month earlier or a year ago, due to increased awards for publicly financed projects.

"Daily average petroleum output was the largest since May, 1940, and crude oil runs to refinery stills rose further to a new high level.

Need Warm Weather

"The outlook for agriculture and livestock in this district is generally satisfactory, but warm, sunshiny weather is needed over a large portion of the district to stimulate the growth of plants and range vegetation and to permit farmers to proceed rapidly with plowing and seeding operations."

Representative firms in 17 retail lines, other than department stores, averaged about 16 per cent higher sales in the first two months of the year than in the same 1940 period, the report said.

Business Failures

The number of business failures in the district declined from 41 in January to 33 in February but the average liability of defaulting firms increased and their aggregate indebtedness rose 50 per cent to $415,000, more than double that in February, 1940, the review said.

Rains and snow in late February and early March relieved temporarily a deficiency in surface moisture in eastern New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle and afforded some relief from dust storms which had damaged wheat in local areas, the report on agriculture and livestock showed.

February rains, high winds, and frosts, damaging truck crops in the south Texas vegetable area, delayed further harvesting and shipment of vegetables, the report said, and planting of spring vegetables through most of the Texas commercial producing areas was later than usual.

Miami Gets "Strict" About Its Gambling

MIAMI, Fla., March 31 (AP)—City Judge Cecil C. Curry sentenced two men to a minute in jail today.

Accused of gambling with dice in a store doorway on Flagler street, the defendants declared they were merely deciding which would pay for their dinners.

"With all the gambling going on in this town," said Judge Curry, "we have two men brought in for gambling on the sidewalk. I find you guilty and I sentence you to one minute each in jail."

The 60-second sentence gave the men barely enough time to enter a cell, sit down, get up and walk out free.

Pari-mutuel horse race betting machines were legalized in New York state Nov. 7, 1939.

Hold-Up Man Didn't Want To Be Held Up

LOS ANGELES, March 31 (AP)—Streetcar Conductor G. W. Tamplin told police a bandit boarded his car and robbed him of $10, then demanded a transfer, explaining "I want to catch another streetcar."

The strongest of all woods is the African teak oak, which will withstand a pressure up to 855 pounds.

A Laxative Leader has to be Good!

The hardest test of any product is the use-test. It is especially true of a laxative, which is used under all kinds of conditions.

Yet one herbal laxative has been tested in use by four generations, and proved so good that today it's one of the leaders all over the Southwest—BLACK-DRAUGHT.

This spicy compound of vegetable ingredients has proved itself. The basic herb is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" which helps tone the lazy intestinal muscles. Other herbs in the blend make BLACK-DRAUGHT easy-to-take and gentle in action.

When you need a laxative, give BLACKDRAUGHT the use-test.

RAF Aerial "Shepherd Dog" Of All-Important British Convoy Plan

Battered Kingdom Turning Eyes Toward America For More Aid

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of stories appearing in The Evening Journal by Lyle C. Wilson, Washington manager of the United Press and his findings "inside" Germany, and Joe Alex Morris, United Press foreign news editor, who gives the latest first hand account from Britain. Follow their informative, up-to-the-minute articles, to be run alternately, in the Evening Journal).

BY JOE ALEX MORRIS
(Copyright, 1941, By United Press)

There was cheese for lunch at headquarters of the RAF coastal command, and the commander-in-chief was pleased because good cheese is scarce in England these days. Many things are scarce on a besieged island that must fght desperately to keep its supply lines open.

"Our boys," he said, glancing proudly around the officers' mess, "are like aerial shepherd dogs. They bring the convoys home."

The commander-in-chief is Sir Frederick Bowhill, whose reddish-gray eyebrows curve upward like sharp spikes. His background is the navy. From that he moved into naval aircraft, and finally into command of aerial patrols from Iceland to Norway, down the European cast and far out over the Atlantic ocean.

The coastal command today is in the thick of an unprecedented battle against German submarine and air siege. The battle is Britain's greatest immediate danger, and Hitler's chief hope of victory in 1941. As a decisive factor in the war, it ranks ahead of air raids on British cities or the threat of invasion, although all three phases of conflict are coordinated. Good cheese as well as other essential supplies come in or are kept out in ratio to the effectiveness of British sea and air power as typified by the RAF coastal command.

MORRIS

Into the sea and air battle this branch of the service has thrown many American-built planes, including the Lockheed-Hudson reconnaissance bomber and the new American consolidated PBY. American-built flying fortresses also have been assigned to this RAF branch and may already be in operation.

Destroyers' Role Important

But the greatest danger to Britain — and it is indeed grave —is lack of escort, destroyers and submarine chasers.

The 50 World war destroyers from the United States are now playing an important role in keeping the supply lines open but the mere fact that these ships were required immediately illustrates the seriousness of the siege.

Apparently all of the American destroyers have now been refitted and are doing the job for which they were taken over. But the first phase of their service was filled with difficulties. The destroyers were longer, narrower and less maneuverable than the British type. The United States told British naval officials that they were in bad shape and offered to put them in order, but the British were in a hurry.

They Did The Job

Six were immediately put into dry dock to be refitted. The others went into service at once and were refitted later, half a dozen at a time. Those that went directly into action suffered many minor mishaps. Steam joints burst at sea. Engines required frequent repairs. There were temporary breakdowns that forced them into port for brief periods, but in the end they did a job that had to be done regardless of difficulties.

The British believe that destroyers, cooperating with the coastal command's "aerial shepherds," can lick the submarine "wolf pack" now ranging the Atlantic as they were licked before the capitulation of France. British methods of submarine detection have been extraordinarily effective. They are based on a secret principle that apparently puzzled the Germans until the surrender of France. Presumably, the detection device which had been given to France fell into German hands, as there has been a change in U-boat tactics in recent months.

U. S. Only Answer

Early in the war, the U-boat fired its torpedoes and then submerged. The motors were shut off and the crew walked around in stocking feet to avoid any noise that might be picked up by the ordinary sound detector. That system proved ineffective against British detection methods.

Now the German submarines usually attack in the twilight. At such time they can see the convoys but their own periscopes are hard to spot. They fire torpedoes from a considerable distance and then run at full speed on the surface, where a U-boat can travel faster than when submerged.

The best defense against that type of attack is more escort ships, coordinating their work with airplane patrols. But when the British look around for more escort ships, they find no quick solution except in the United States navy.

Solutions—All America

Three solutions of this predicament were suggested to me: That the U. S. might undertake to escort cargo ships; American entry into the war so that the United States navy could go into action against the submarines; further trades of U. S. warships to Britain.

Big long-range flying boats go far out to sea to meet incoming ships. Sometimes the convoy has been scattered because of U-boat attack or a storm and is far off its course. The flying boat must locate it in fog or storm or darkness under conditions which usually bar the use of radio communications.

Plane Convoy Big Help

When the merchant ships have been found the aerial "shepherd dog" herds them back on their course and rounds up strays. Then, instead of flying over the convoy, the coastal command plane circles far out over the sea. The convoyed ships may not even see the plane after it has signeled with blinker (instead of radio) the position and the course. The purpose of the circling action is to make sure that no submarine is close enough to the convoy to strike at it within a given time.

The flying boat may stay out for 12 to 14 hours, returning at night to its base. Another plane takes up the patrol before dawn and the relay continues until the convoy is close enough to make port before any U-boat can traverse the area already inspected by the flying boat.

American Planes Praised

Sir Frederick Bowhill strongly praised American war planes used by his coastal command.

"They have done yeoman service," he said, referring especially to the Lockheed-Hudsons which were used for reconnaissance bombing at a time when Britain had no other craft for that job. "The important thing is that the men have confidence in them. The other day one of them had quite a scrap over Norway. It gave good account of itself (from the commander-in-chief that probably meant it shot down an enemy plane or two) but one of its motors was knocked out. It's a long way across the North sea but the other motor brought it safely home."

In addition to greater use of airplanes, the British are trying to combat U-boats with an improved type of small craft called a corvette, which can be turned out rapidly. The ship is about 600 tons and built along lines that would be suitable for a whaler.

The corvette carries a crew of perhaps 25 or 30 men and has small anti-aircraft guns for protection. It is seaworthy but rolls at an extreme angle.

The corvette is designed to carry depth charges for use against submarines. It helps make up for the shortage of destroyers. A number of corvettes already are in service and more are coming off the ways.

Insurance Head Issues Report

(Special To The Journal)

DALLAS, March 31.—Texas is already beginning to feel the effects of money being poured into the state through the medium of national defense projects, in the opinion of President A. Morgan Duke, of the Southland Life Insurance company, in submitting the thirty-third annual statement of that company.

COPELAND

Duke pointed out that production records for the first three months of the year for the company would justify the belief that the state is entering one of its brightest economic periods. This, together with the company's record of accomplishment for the year 1940, forms a basis for his conclusions, he said.

Duke expressed the opinion that industrialization of the state has been speeded up tremendously by defense projects, and this industrialization, coupled with the state's high standing as an agricultural producer and its resources in oil and minerals, should give Texas a prosperity that cannot be rivaled by any other state in the union.

"The Southland Life Insurance company, I am glad to say," said Duke, "has an outstanding record of accomplishment for the year 1940. Excellent gains have been registered in all departments.

WRIGHT

"We are especially proud of the record made by agents in the West Texas district, under the direction of Archie Copeland, district agency manager, with headquarters at Lubbock," said Duke. "Neil H. Wright, district agent for 32 years and other agents in this district kept pace with the high volume of insurance written by those in other districts."

Pennsylvania Thief Shows Consideration

DUNCANSVILLE, Pa., March 31 (AP)—Charles Clapper says that if his car had to be stolen, he is glad it was taken by a considerate man.

The automobile, stolen while Clapper was in church, was found abandoned more than 50 miles away.

It was unscratched. The radiator had been drained to prevent freezing—and the gas tank had been filled.

The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Letters from readers are welcomed at all times and on all subjects, however, no letter of more than 500 words will be considered for publication, and all letters befitting, or impugning the motive of any individual, firm or corporation must include for publication, the true name of the author. The Editor shall be the sole judge of whether or not letters may be published and cannot engage in correspondence concerning them).

SOLVES WRECK PROBLEM

Dear Plainsman: You say in your column you do not understand why there are so many accidents on the corner of Tenth street and Avenue L.

Since my shop is near this corner I am in a position to observe what "goes on" here. I believe the greatest trouble is that motorists disregard the speed limit—they go by here at speeds of 40 and 50 miles per hour all day long. And although the vision is good in all directions on this corner, they go too fast to stop in an emergency.

I believe the best solution would be to erect a stop light, both here and on the corner of Main and L which is equally as dangerous.

Very truly yours,
Maurine Jons,
Lubbock.

FLYING BLIND?

Foggy weather is dangerous because it reduces vision. Planes stay in airports.

Yet many workers with "foggy" vision—with faulty eyesight that dims and distorts everything they look at—earn their living at machines with moving parts. They drive cars. They cross busy streets. Danger dogs their footsteps. But they don't know it—because they think they are seeing all right. The only way of being sure that sight is right is to have it examined.

Good vision is a benefit available to all. Optical science can correct 95 percent of visual defects.

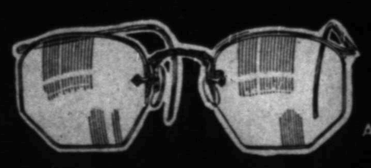

Good vision means safer living, and happier living . . . Work more quickly and more efficiently performed . . . freedom from eyestrain, headaches, and fatigue . . . greater pleasure in reading, sports, and other leisure-hour recreations.

Make sure that you see clearly, easily, quickly. Have your eyesight examined by your Oculist at least once a year!

Local Girl Scout Leaders To Attend Regional Meet In San Angelo Tuesday

Staff Group To Be There

Sponsors of Girl Scouting in the Cactus region are to meet in San Angelo Tuesday and a number of Lubbock Scout leaders, members of the council and the advisory board are planning to attend. The theme for the conclave which is to be held at the St. Angelus hotel is "The Place of Girl Scouting in the Present Emergency."

Among staff members from the national office in New York who are to be present are Mrs. Alice Carney, community organizer; Mrs. Cecile Hardy, health and safety advisor; Miss Edith Sinnett, director region 9; Miss Katharine Shankland, field advisor; Miss Mie Crysler, field advisor; Miss Oleda Schrottky, dramatics advisor.

Opens With Singing

The morning session will be opened at 10:30 o'clock with singing, followed by a talk on "Girl Scouting in Relation to Current Needs" by Mrs. Philip Montgomery, regional chairman. Sessions for council and council members will be held from 11 a. m. until 12:30 p. m. Topic will be "The Community Needs the Girl Scouts." At the same time a session will be held for troop leaders and troop committee members.

During the luncheon hour at the hotel, reports from committees will be heard. The afternoon session will begin at 2 o'clock in the Community House for Girls. "Health and Safety Education" will be discussed, with special emphasis placed on the 1941-42 program.

Mrs. Carney will lead the inspirational closing ceremony from 3 until 3:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Bruce Rindlaub, local commissioner, has announced the conference is open to all adults interested in scout work.

Ladies Of The Press To Hold Annual Meeting

Almost to the half-century mark as an organization, the Texas Women's Press association will hold its annual meeting in Bryan, April 6-8, Mrs. Cicero J. Parchman of Houston, president, has announced. Mrs. Ross Woodall, Huntsville Item editor, is making up the program for the 48th annual convention, listing former gov. Pat M. Neff, now president of Baylor university, and Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M. college, as guest speakers. Mrs. Albert Dines of Dallas, the association's poet laureate, will conduct the annual poet's hour.

Asbury Class Plans For Monthly Social Hour

The Pal union was organized Sunday night by a group of young married couples in Calvary Baptist church. It is affiliated with the Baptist Training union. Officers are J. E. Whitehead, president; Joe Taylor, vice-president; Mrs. Velda Wells, secretary; Melvin Harvey, treasurer; Mrs. Katherine Harvey and Rayford Tanner, group captains. Mrs. Edna Taylor will be Bible reader leader.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Arliss Coward, R. Q. Kinney and Mrs. Tanner.

Benefit Show Is Tonight

Spring styles will be modeled by Junior Welfare League members tonight at a style show and dance to be sponsored by the league at 8:15 o'clock at Hotel Lubbock. Proceeds will be used in financing the well baby clinic.

Those to take part are Mesdames Harold Humphries, George A. Simmons, jr., George Dale, Bruce Collier, M. T. Hill and Miss Leona Allen.

Admission to the style show will be fifty cents and dancing will be fifty cents a couple. C. A. Rogers orchestra will play.

Lubbock Youth Hikes Waiting For Horse

Suggestive of the flier years ago who joined the "pursuit" squadron in the Philippines and was put to flying an amphibian, is the case of Pvt. Walter L. Schenck.

Private Schenck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Schenck of 1924 Fifteenth street, is with troop C, 12th cavalry, at Fort Bliss.

Methods there have been confusing, no less, to young Schenck, who was about ready to pass the bar examination and join his father in law practice.

"We march six to eight miles a day—on foot," he said in a card. "Haven't seen my horse yet."

But he has "more clothing than I ever had, including a pair of the biggest shoes you ever saw."

He'll get his horse all right—after a while. The marching is just part of the conditioning tactics for Uncle Sam's soldiers.

Commercial License Deadline April 15

Period for the payment of 1941 license fees on commercial motor vehicles has been extended through April 15, according to a telegram from state highway officials in Austin to H. B. Bryan, Lubbock county tax assessor-collector.

He emphasized that the extension applies only to commercial vehicles. Tuesday midnight is the deadline for the registration of passenger cars.

ACE TO MEET

The history of education through four generations will be traced at a meeting of the Association of Childhood Education tonight at 7 o'clock at Seaman hall. A singsong is planned.

The art of camouflage dates back to the beginning of the Christian era.

Happy In Jail After Pulling Comedy Act

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Frank Donadio, gatekeeper for the Staten Island ferry, slammed his gates in the face of commuter William Walsh.

Walsh stepped into a nearby bakery, purchased a lemon meringue pie while the ferry made the round trip and was first on line at Donadio's gates on his return.

Walsh is now serving a 10-day jail sentence, but he's happy.

He threw the pie in the gatekeeper's face.

Lee Harrison's Barbecue Marks Editor's Birthday

Lee C. Harrison, Lubbock oil man, yesterday entertained three-score local business and professional men at a barbecue at his home, 3101 Nineteenth street, honoring Chas. A. Guy, "The Plainsman" of Avalanche-Journal newspapers, on the latter's birthday anniversary.

The party, held around tables in the Harrison backyard, began at 3:30 p. m. and lasted until shortly before 6.

Fort Worth Man Is Barbecuer

Arthur Heeman, Fort Worth attorney and close friend of Harrison, who invented the specially-designed barbecue oven, presided at the pit and carved delicious cuts of barbecued beef for the guests. A sumptuous array of 'all the fixin's' was on two large tables in the rear of the Harrison home.

Following the meal, George W. Dupree spoke briefly concerning "The Plainsman's" birthday, declaring that "it is difficult to hazard a guess on his age; sometimes you think he's 65 and at other times you think he's about 18."

The honor guest responded briefly and Mr. Harrison also made a short informal talk.

Bride's Gown Made From A Parachute

EVANSTON, Ill., March 31. (AP)—When Richard W. West saw his bride, Miss Betty Lingle, march down the aisle, he blinked in surprise as he noted the wedding gown.

Miss Lingle had ordered the gown fashioned from a parachute West once had used in bailing out of an airplane. A few embellishments added by the deft hands of a seamstress had transformed the 'chute into a gown that occasioned plenty of "oh-h-hs!" and "ah-h-hs!"

Classroom Teachers Are To Have Party Tonight

Junior High division of the Classroom Teachers association is to entertain with an April Fool party for other members tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the girls' gymnasium at Junior High school.

Lewis Magee is president of the division; Mrs. Jay E. Gordon is program chairman and Miss Mary Lou Roberson is refreshment chairman.

About 200 teachers are expected to attend.

Sharp Protest From French

(By The United Press)

VICHY, March 31. — The government today sent a sharply worded note to London protesting an attack by British naval units on four French merchantmen escorted by a French destroyer off the coast of Algeria.

The protest was sent to London by way of Washington since France and Britain do not maintain diplomatic relations.

Shots Are Exchanged

Government authorities threatened to re-examine the question of convoying French merchantmen as a result of the engagement in which shore batteries in Algeria and British naval units exchanged fire when the convoy refused to halt.

The convoy carried no war materials destined for Germany, an admiralty communique asserted. The four vessels, the admiralty said, had cargoes of Madagascar and Indo-Chinese rice and sugar, vegetables and barley.

Vice-Premier Jean Francois Darlan warned recently that, if necessary, he would order French warships to convoy food ships and a spokesman intimated that the government again would consider this question at a cabinet meeting later in the week.

Only A Symbol

Officials said the destroyer Simoun was with the convoy only as a "symbol" and not as an actual escort.

Late reports said that the French lost three dead and four wounded in the "battle."

French spokesmen said that the British detachment included a cruiser and five destroyers. They asserted that the British ships were "heavily damaged" by "numerous direct hits."

South Plains Scottish Rite Masons To Observe Maundy Thursday Here

Plans were under way here today for the annual observance of Maundy Thursday by South Plains members of the Scottish Rite of Free Masonry, Ed Parker, secretary of the South Plains Scottish Rite club, announced this morning.

The event is set for 7 p. m., Thursday, April 10, and will be held in the main ballroom of Hotel Hilton. The usual ritual will be observed and a banquet will follow, said Chas. A. Guy, president of the organization.

All South Plains Scottish Rite members, from the fourteenth degree through the thirtysecond, are eligible to attend both the ritualistic program and the banquet, Guy said. They are urged to bring as their guests for the dinner, only, Master Mason friends.

The South Plains Scottish Rite club covers the 15-county South Plains area and all Scottish Rite Masons living or visiting in the section are automatically members of the club.

Loyd Kennedy, Morton attorney, is vice president of the organization.

WOMEN, here's 2-way relief!

Month after month, some women go on suffering from periodic functional pain and discomfort. Then they learn the help of CARDUI!

Probably that is because CARDUI increases appetite and the flow of gastric juice; so aids digestion, and helps build up strength, energy, physical resistance for many. That's one way it may relieve periodic pain due only to functional causes.

But it may also help relieve periodic distress if you start taking it by the directions 3 days before your time. Remember, modern facts and over 50 years of popularity invite your confidence in CARDUI. Adv.

Dare You Touch Your Drapes?

You've observed it, too—some women never have the drapes in their home cleaned from one year to the next. Touch such drapes and they feel grimy and gritty. A film of smoke and street dust has spread over them. Moths have made a feast of them. They look dull and lifeless.

Your drapes cost real money—dry cleaning costs only a fraction of what you paid for them. BRAY'S CLEANERS' thorough, odorless process restores the feel and freshness of the fabric—renews the richness—brings back the color and charm. Drapes from many of the finest homes in town come to BRAY'S regularly for a dry cleaning "fresh-up."

Prices, of course, vary with the size and makeup of drapes. But if you telephone 1878, a trained, courteous sales girl will gladly give you an estimate. No obligation, naturally. Why not call now—telephone 1878.

Reports Claim Italian Ships Fought Among Themselves By Mistake

Inky Darkness Covered Clash

BY GRATTAN P. McGROARTY
United Press Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1940, By The United Press)

ALEXANDER, Egypt, March 31—Italy's crippled fleet, ripped by the British navy in a historic fight in the Ionian sea, may have completed its own disaster by fighting among itself after the British ships had left, it was understood authoritatively today.

The commanding officer of the battleship Warspite, flagship of the British Mediterranean fleet, disclosed that after the British attack, considerable heavy gun firing was heard in the distance from the Italian ships, and it was thought they were firing at each other.

Mistake Easily Possible

There was no possibility, he said, that the Italians were firing at British ships as there were none in the vicinity.

In the darkness of a black night, the commander said, such a mistake by the Italians was not improbable because it was likely they could not distinguish their own forces, especially in view of the complete rout which had befallen them after the first few hours of their battle with the British fleet.

It was believed that the heaviest firing came from the 35,000-ton battleship of the Littorio class which the British torpedo planes had crippled.

Hit Three Times

The ship, it was suggested, had limped along at half speed for hours to run into the remnants of the fleet the British had beaten and a mutual mistake occurred.

The battleship had been seen to turn for home after the first attack by the British planes.

It was known, authoritative sources said here, that the battleship—Italy's newest and most powerful—was hit three times at least by airplane torpedoes.

Two British planes were lost during a long day of attacks from the air on the battleship and cruisers.

Two Nazi Planes Downed

German Junkers-88 dive bombers appeared over the British fleet but did no damage because of a deadly fire from anti-aircraft guns and the attacks of British fighter planes, and two of them were shot down.

The captain of the destroyer Havoc, which went in to finish off the Italian cruisers set afire by the 15-inch gun broadsides of three British battleships, radioed Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, the commander in chief:

"I am hanging on to the stern of the cruiser Pola. Shall I board her or blow her stern off with depth charges?"

Cunningham's reply was not disclosed—but the Pola was sunk.

Admiral Cunningham called the action "a notable success over the enemy."

English Are Praised

"Skillful handling of our cruisers and the untiring effort of the fleet air arm kept me well informed of the enemy's movements and well-pressed-home attacks by torpedo bombing craft on the Littori so reduced the speed of the enemy fleet that we were able to gain contact during the night and inflict heavy damage," he continued.

"The devastating results of our battleships' gun fire was an ample reward for months of patient training. This work was completed by destroyers in the admirable way we have come to expect from them.

"The contribution of the engine room departments in this success can not be over-emphasized. Their work not only in keeping their ship steaming at high speed for long periods but in the work of maintenance under difficult conditions has been most praiseworthy.

"I am grateful to all in the fleet for their support on this and all other occasions.

"Well done!"

The British Mediterranean fleet now has steamed back to port without a scratch and without a single casualty after its victory.

REVERSE ENGLISH

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)—Commonwealth's Attorney W. T. Spencer, jr., reversed the procedure when he announced his intention to run again for the office he has held since 1930. Said he, with a grin: "Nobody has asked me to run—but I'm going to run anyway. I need the job."

Covering Balkan Crisis Harder Than Working Jig-Saw Puzzle

(By The Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland, March 31—"Bulletin! — Budapest, the Hungarian radio reported Yugoslavia's three regents and entire cabinet had resigned."

Those words, dictated over the telephone by Max Harrelson in Budapest to William B. King in Bern on Thursday morning, threw into high gear the Associated Press Balkan staff of veterans of dozens of news beats.

Before Harrelson had finished his story, his first sentence crackled out over Bern's big radio into New York.

Plans Months In Advance

This was the story which the Associated Press staff, from Bratislava to Athens, and from faraway Ankara, Turkey, to headquarters in Berlin, 1,400 miles distant, had been awaiting night and day.

Plans made months before the war began carried to America accurately and quickly the news of Yugoslavia's coup d'etat.

Yugoslavia herself was cut off from the outside world for more than 20 hours, but the Associated Press men in seven other countries moved into action, tipped off by "blitz" telephone calls telephone calls (the middle-European designation for super-urgent rate messages.)

Hardly had Harrelson's first bulletin reached New York than Witt Hancock in Istanbul, Wes Gallagher in Salonika, Daniel de Luce in Athens, and a dozen other highly-trained men in Ankara, Sofia, Buchahest and throughout southeast Europe were tracking down answers to the questions, "What is happening? What underlies it? What is to come of it?"

Behind the walls of Yugoslav censorship, Robert St. John, one of the aces of the Balkan staff, was writing the story hour by hour, ready to dictate it quickly to Bern when he was able.

Worked In Relays

After more than 20 hours, the Belgrade telephone operators, wearied by St. John's insistence, let a call slip through. E. C. Daniel in Bern took it, but the line was quickly cut.

Then, according to prearrangement, St. John got a call through to Sofia, Bulgaria, and Sofia relayed his story to Bern.

When Sofia was cut off, Budapest was reached, and took up where Sofia left off. When Budapest was cut off, the running account was relayed finally through Istanbul and Bucharest.

The criss-cross of communications again was paying dividends.

Long ago every member of the Associated Press Balkan staff learned the complex arrangement of Balkan communications, which are almost as intricate as the muddled Balkan political picture.

Takes Many Risks

St. John once rode across the Rumanian frontier on horseback into Yugoslavia to get an open telephone to give America the news of Rumania's iron guard revolt.

St. John, a veteran of the flying bullets of Rumania's revolutions and of the flying bricks of Rumania's earthquake, was nearly mobbed by an angry crowd when he tried to photograph the wrecked German tourist agency in Belgrade.

But when the Serbs learned he was an American, they not only relented but carried him back to his hotel on their shoulders.

Cupid Beckoning To Good Will Envoy

NEW ORLEANS, March 31 (AP)—An unnamed Laredo, Tex., girl has captured the heart of Pan-America's newest and youngest goodwill envoy. Julio Cesar Beerrezbeitia, 20-year-old Venezuelan Boy Scout who arrived here today on a walking tour to Washington to meet President Roosevelt, said he had written the girl's parents proposing marriage. He hopes they will agree, then he'll settle down.

But he doesn't like to stop walking which he has been doing for three years, having traveled all the continental South and Central American countries. He will place Venevuelan flower wreaths on Washington's tomb and Bolivar's monument in Washington and New York.

Private Must Like Life In The Army

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., March 31 (AP)—Private Dayne Penny of Bucyrus, Ohio, blinked in surprise when an officer called him to unit headquarters and asked him, "when are you going home?"

"Home?" queried the bewildered soldier, a member of the 134th field artillery band.

"Didn't you know your enlistment ran out 15 days ago?" asked the officer.

Penny gasped, dashed to a telephone and told his wife to "come get me."

GARNER GAVELS AT UNIVERSITY—Two University of Texas co-eds, Dorothy Ball of Houston, (left), and Jane Jester of Corsicana, compare the big, the little, and the beginnings of the state school's newly-acquired Garner collection, housed at Texas Memorial museum in Austin. Part of the 167 gavels collected by the Texan during his eight years as vice president, the awesome-looking instrument on the left was presented Garner by Chicago's Norwegian Democrats. The tiny gavel held by Miss Jester was made from the twigs of Observation oak, the tree from which General Andrew Jackson first sighted the Indians just before the battle of Horseshoe Bend in 1814. The collection was given the Texas museum, along with a collection of original cartoons—another collecting hobby of Garner's—the vice-president's 40-year-old campaign satchel, and many other personal effects. The collection is to be housed in a special Garner room at the museum.

Co-Ed's Ideas About Marriage Assailed

OBERLIN, O., March 31 (AP)—An Oberlin priest has asked the postoffice department to consider barring from the mails "The Oberlin Review," student newspaper at Oberlin college, for printing a column in which a 19-year-old co-ed suggested:

"Marriage should not necessarily demand sexual fidelity or constancy. The sensible marriage should be a kind of business arrangement."

Miss Marjorie (Midge) Myers, of (414 West 120th St.) New York City, daughter of Dr. C. C. Myers of the U. S. navy, expressed the views in a "review" column discussing "what's wrong with marriage?"

Oberlin deans declined comment today.

THE SMOKE OF SLOWER-BURNING CAMELS GIVES YOU
EXTRA MILDNESS, EXTRA COOLNESS, EXTRA FLAVOR
AND 28% LESS NICOTINE
than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—less than any of them—according to independent laboratory tests of the smoke itself.

THE SMOKE'S THE THING!

IT'S NEWS! Not the picture kind—but news of first importance to smokers like you.

Independent laboratory findings as to Camels and the four other largest-selling brands tested—the four brands that most smokers who are not Camel "fans" now use—show that Camels give you less nicotine in the smoke. And, the smoke's the thing!

But that's only the start of the story! Camel brings you the extra mildness, extra coolness, extra flavor, and extra smoking of slower-burning costlier tobaccos. Get Camels your next pack.

Dealers feature Camels at attractive carton prices. Why not get a carton—for economy and convenience?

By burning 25% slower than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—slower than any of them—Camels also give you a smoking plus equal, on the average, to 5 EXTRA SMOKES PER PACK!

HOT AFTER HISTORY!
It's Donahue of Pathé who follows the news the world over with camera ...with CAMELS!
He's off again for more of those exclusive pictures you see in the newsreels. Below, you see how Bob Donahue gets exclusive "extras" in his smoking. He smokes Camels, of course. Only Camels give you those "extras" of slower-burning costlier tobaccos in a matchless blend.

"I'LL TELL YOU," said Bob when he got his picture taken (above), "I smoke a good bit in my job. And my cigarette has to be more than mild—it has to be extra mild. Camel is the one brand I've found that gives me extra mildness and at the same time a flavor that doesn't go flat on my taste."

Make Camels your next cigarette purchase. Smoke out the facts for yourself. Enjoy that famous Camel flavor to the full with the pleasing knowledge that you're getting extra mildness, extra coolness, and the scientific assurance of extra freedom from nicotine in the smoke. And—the smoke's the thing!

Grapefruit League May Be Confusing, But It Doesn't Hide Yankees' Power

Cubs' Big Bats Booming Loud Warning Now

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

All is confusion in the Grapefruit league, as no doubt the baseball people wish it to be, and you still can't tell the names, number and salaries of all the players from a box score.

But anybody who can swim through McGuffey's third reader is welcome to try reading between the lines of this form sheet for a few conclusions.

They Mean Business

The New York Yankees mean business this year and have shown it by taking over the lead in the citrus circuit. They have won 15 out of 20 games and the machinery is oiled and running smoothly. Rookie Phil Rizzuto has hit safely in 14 consecutive games and been deferred by his local draft board. The rest of the American league might as well start cringing now.

The opening of the major league season still is two wekes away, but the Philadelphia Athletics already are in a slump. After winning 13 of their first 16 exhibitions, they lost four out of five last week. And the Phillies have plummeted to the grapefruit cellar.

Cards Unsettled

The St. Louis Cardinals, who had their team all set on paper during the winter, are shuffling their cards like a magician—the hand is faster than the eye. Don Padgett, who definitely was going to return to the outfield, again is a catcher. There is a new infield combination every other day. Leftfield was to be the exclusive property of rookie Harry Walker, but Ernie Koy is the fellow out there most often now.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who were in the National league cellar until June last year, are 15th in the Grapefruit league with a record of 7 and 12. They have lost all five games they have played against the Chicago Cubs, who will be Pittsburgh's opening day foe.

Cubs Boast Power

The Cubs, who are in a position to cause considerable commotion this season, won six out of seven games last week and piled up the stupendous total of 117 hits in the seven sessions.

The Cincinnati Reds have done better than any other National league club, winning 12 and losing 7, but Catcher Ernie Lombardi still hobbles on that injured ankle and Pitcher Paul Derringer is home nursing a pain in his groin from being hit by a batted ball.

TICKETS ON TODAY

Tickets for the Chicago White Sox-Chicago Cubs exhibition baseball game, to be played at Hubber field a week from tomorrow, go on sale today at five downtown agencies, priced at $1.10, 85 cents and 55 cents.

Handling the tickets are Jarrett-West Drug, Mark Halsey No. 2, Hotel Lubbock, Hotel Hilton and Hub Clothiers.

Inter-City Women's Golf Play Planned

First official matches in the newly formed inter-city women's golf league are to be played at Lubbock Country club on Wednesday, April 16, it has been announced.

Teams from Big Spring and Odessa, and possibly from Midland, are to compete, along with the Lubbock term, in the first of a series of monthly matches to be held in alternating cities.

Lubbock Country club women golfers are once more urged to turn in medal scores to serve as basis for handicaps during the season. Three 18-hole rounds are required, but each time a player shoots as many as nine holes she is asked to turn in the medal, and continue until she has posted the equivalent of three complete rounds. These scores should be turned in as quickly as possible, since handicaps are to be used in the inter-city matches. April 15 has been set as deadline for the handicap scores.

The Country club women will observe Ladies Day this Wednesday, with pairings for match play to be made at the clubhouse.

Senators Out--As Usual

Washington Short On Power: Lewis To Clean Up; West Figuring In Plans

HARRIS

LEWIS

(By The United Press)

ORLANDO, Fla., March 31.—It took just 10 minutes in the dugout with Bucky Harris, the one-time "boy manager," to find out that the Washington Senators have no designs on the American league pennant.

Bucky still can smile when he talks about his ball club, but behind the cheerful exterior there beats a sad heart. He needs a lot of everything, including pitching, hitting, catching and new blood.

For the last four years Washington gradually disintegrated, dropping a few points each year and falling into seventh place last season. In the days when Harris was the "boy manager" and the toast of Washington, he brought a club from fourth place to the pennant in one season. Getting his present outfit out of seventh place will be a considerably tougher job.

So hard up for power are the Senators that Harris has had to install Third Baseman Buddy Lewis in the cleanup spot. In five years in the big show Lewis never has driven in more than 91 runs in a season. A bachelor, Lewis may be drafted this summer.

Brightest spot is the pitching staff. Dutch Leonard, Sid Hudson and Ken Chase round out a respectable starting trio. Beyond them Harris is up a tree. Walter Masterson, who showed signs of coming around late last season, may get the No. 4 spot. Steve Sundra, who won 11 straight in 1939 but was able to cop only four games last season, was bought from the Yanks and is likely to see plenty of action. The veteran Danny MacFayden was signed as a free agent after being cut adrift by Pittsburgh. Alex Carrasquel is left to fill in.

The outfield looks better defensively, with Ben Chapman from the Indians in left, Doc Cramer from the Red Sox in center and speedster George Case in right. John Welaj and veteran Sam West will handle the utility jobs.

"Judge" Henry Gives Verdict On Golf Feud

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 31. — Hand me down my wig and robe, son, I am going to sit in judgment on Johnny Bulla and Ralph Guldahl.

They're a-feuding, you know. It started in Asheville when Bulla quit the "Land of the Sky" open golf tournament rather than finish a round with Guldahl. "Too slow," said Bulla. "Much too slow. I'd rather never win a tournament than play with Guldahl."

Let us consider the case.

Takes His Time

Guldahl is slow, there can be no doubt of that. He wiggles, he waggles, he squirms and he jiggles before making a shot off the tee. He is deliberate to the point of exasperation on the fairway, and when he reaches the green he studies a putt as if it were a strange animal, washed up on the shore from some mythical land.

I have heard it said that a jar of molasses — given a pair of knickers and a set of clubs—could beat Ralph around a course, even in freezing weather. I have also heard it said that one of the reasons he has to study a putt so long is that the grass grows and changes in length between the time he addresses the ball and finally taps it toward the hole.

Must Study Both Sides

But don't let us overlook this fact. Guldahl's name is written twice on the United States National open cup. That is the blue ribbon of golf, the open, and to win it just once is the goal of every man who swings a club for pay. Bulla's name is not on that cup. One must wonder if Bulla would adopt a more leisurely pace around the course if he knew deliberation on every shot would write it on the big silver mug.

But a judge must study both sides of the argument, and Bulla has one, whether he has won a National open or not. Guldahl—and I am sure he does not do it with malice aforethought—is unfair to many of his fellow professionals when he plays so slowly. The average professional golfer is much faster than Guldahl. He makes his shot and moves along. Too, the average professional is a high strung creature.

Has The Solution

More often than not he is making every shot in the hope of paying the rents, buying baby a new bib, and the missus a new frock. To be paired with Guldahl really does something to their nerves. It hurts their game and what hurts their game hurts their livelihood. Bulla is not the first to object to Guldahl's slowness. He is the first to make an open break with Ralph, but this reporter has heard a score of pros grumble about being paired with him.

My summation: Bulla was tactless and rude in making his break with Guldahl so obvious.

Guldahl could be more considerate. He could play a bit faster without hurting his game. In my opinion a man who knows enough about golf to hit the ball as well as Ralph does, gains nothing from a five minute study of every lie, every roll. He could reduce this study by two minutes and be just as efficient.

Here boy, take my robe and wig. I'm finished, and next time bring me a wig that doesn't have a cowlick.

Sooner Jockey--Who Ran One Two-Dollar Bill Into $12,000 Job--Hopes For Derby Winner

(By The Associated Press)

FORT GIBSON, Okla., March 31.—If the third time really holds the charm, the winner at this year's Kentucky Derby will be ridden by Leon "Buddy" Haas—the Oklahoman who ran a two-dollar bill into a $12,000 job.

Back in his home town after the California racing wars, Buddy looked in the saddle today and decided the law of averages would just about put him astride the winner in the classic at Churchill Downs on May 3.

He rode his first derby entry in 1939, finishing sixth with T. M. Dorsett. Last year he came in third, on Dit. This year, Buddy believes he's due.

HAAS

Under contract to Charles S Howard, the Oklahoman will be up on Porter's Cap in the Derby preview at Maryland's Havre de Grace next month.

The showing of both horse and rider may tell whether Haas will team with the Howard favorite at Louisville. If he doesn't ride Porter's Cap in the Derby, Buddy says, he'll be on the King ranch entry, Dispose, whose pappy was Discovery, runner-up to Cavalcade in 1934.

Haas, whose $12,000 a year is reportedly the highest salary paid any jockey on the American turf, grins as he recalls his first ride here ten years ago.

May Be Trainer

The owner of a ten-dollar mare boosted the Fort Gibson youth into the saddle and told him to go out and win the race. If he didn't he wouldn't get paid.

Young Haas brought his mount in first—and received a two-dollar bill for his work.

Soon afterward, a Tulsa oil man, F. B. Koontz, hired Haas to ride for him at $30 a month plus room and board, and the kid was on his way. He signed his first $12,000-a-year contract with Howard in December, 1939.

Haas, who is married and has two children, believes he still has three more years among the winners. Then, he says, he hopes to accept one of many offers to become a trainer of thoroughbreds.

National AAU Ring Crowns At Stake

BOSTON, March 31. (AP) — The nation's outstanding amateur boxers—146 in all—start today on a three-day quest for eight National AAU boxing titles, with none of the octet of crowns being defended by the 1940 wearers.

The AAU districts represented are: Adirondack, Arkansas, Central, District of Columbia, Iowa, Main, Midwestern, Missouri Valley, New England, Ohio, Northeastern Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pacific, Southeastern, Rocky Mountain, Inter Mountain, Ozark, Southern, South Atlantic, Metropolitan, Middle Atlantic, Niagara and New Jersey.

Hogan Winner At Asheville

(By The Associated Press)

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 31. —Having scored his first individual victory of the winter and entrenched himself more solidly as the head of the cash-won list, Ben Hogan goes on to Augusta today as one of the top choices for the Masters' golf tournament starting there Thursday.

Several days ago 14 of the leading pros made Byron Nelson their choice to win the Masters, with Sam Snead second and Hogan third. But the fact that Hogan proved in yesterday's final rounds of the "Land of the Sky" open that he can come from behind under pressure is likely to make him a dangerous man all the way.

Masters Is Jinx

Ben never has done very well over the Augusta national course. That weighed against him in his colleagues' poll, especially since he came into the Masters fresh from three Carolina victories a year ago and did vritually nothing.

But Hogan didn't do very well over the Biltmore Forest Country club course yesterday morning, either. Still he had it in him to rally for a two-under-par closing 69 that beat Lawson Little by two shots.

See-Saw Finish Wild

The see-saw finish was as wild as the stock market in October, 1929, except that scores were going up as well as down. Hogan led Little four shots starting the day; lost nine with a 75 to Lawson's great 66 to be five back of the U. S. open champ at lunch time and then made up those five and two besides when Little took a baffling final 76 because he couldn't get a putt to drop.

All in all the Asheville tourney, with Hogan the winner for the second year, should have been named the "tournament of too many putts." Never have we seen so many fine golfers miss the cup so often from inside of three feet.

Open Bowling Champs Named

Amarillo Cops Team Honors

All but one of the earlier marks withstood the assault of final-night keglers Sunday night as the South Plains Open bowling tournament ended.

The 2,900 posted by Herring hotel of Amarillo a week ago was good for first place in Class A teams, as was the 1,219 registered in Class A doubles by Bleakney and Grimes of Amarillo.

But L. W. Bell of Lubbock came in with a 628 to win a close contest in the Class A singles from Charles Lyle of Amarillo, who had 626. Perot of Abilene posted a 625 for third.

Amarillo Keglers Tops

McMinn made it almost a clean sweep for Amarillo in the Class A program by tying for the Class A all-events crown with Perot of Abilene. Each had 1,791.

The Class B team mark of 2,489 recorded by Humble Service of Roscoe in the first week of play was good for the title in that division. 80 Taxi of Midland had a holdover mark of 2,458 for the Class C championship.

Leaders in each division: Class A teams — Herring Hotel Amarillo, 2,900; Rio Grande Steel, Albuquerque, N. M., 2,644; Scharbauer Hotel, Midland, 2,626; Dr. Pepper, Wichita Falls, 2,578; Abilene Laundry, 2,171.

Other Honors Divided

CLASS A DOUBLES — Bleakney and Grimes, Amarillo, 1,219; Crites and Bell, Lubbock, 1,196; Steel and Douglas, Big Spring, 1,175; Grommon and Edwards, Midland, 1,132; Waldie and James, Albuquerque, 1,118.

CLASS A SINGLES — L. W. Bell, Lubbock, 628; Charles Lyle, Amarillo, 626; Perot, Abilene, 625; Allen, Wichita Falls, 613.

CLASS A ALL-EVENTS — McMinn, Amarillo, 1,791; Perot, Abilene, 1,791; Bleakney, Amarillo, 1,776.

CLASS B TEAMS — Humble Service, Roscoe, 2,485; Cosden Oilers, Abilene, 2,471; Hilton Hotel, Lubbock, 2,463; Wellman International Power Units, Odessa, 2,377; Phillips 66, Pampa, 2,329.

Pampa Duo Wins

CLASS B DOUBLES — Thompson and Goldson, Pampa, 1,136; Nesselroad and Murphy, 1,071; Hayes and Brimbley, 1,045; Pruitt and Doaken, 1,037; Deakins and Allison, 1,034.

CLASS B SINGLES — Francis, Lubbock, 572; B. Hackendorff, Midland, 551; Hayes, 528.

CLASS B ALL-EVENTS — Hayes, 1,546; Delmar, 1487; Raymond, 1,473.

CLASS C TEAMS — 80 Taxi, Midland, 2,458; Berry's Alleys, Pampa, 2,370; Piggly Wiggly, Lubbock, 2,361; Panhandle Laundry, Amarillo, 2,357; Plains Laundry, Amarillo, 2,345.

CLASS C DOUBLES—Andrews and Sexton, Abilene, 1,048; Young and Culberson, 1,024; Francis and Peel, Lubbock, 988; Turner and Thomas, 973.

CLASS C SINGLES — Daniels, Big Spring, 508; Kimbro, Lubbock, 497.

ONE IN A MILLION

SPOKANE, Wash., March 31. (AP) —Disgusted after a poor 9-hole round, R. R. Rogers told his golf partners he would try just one more shot before quitting the game forever. He didn't quit. The shot was a hole-in-one.

FROM a Lubbock school teacher, who prefers to remain anonymous, comes a tear sheet from the April number of the Woman's Home Companion containing a brief article by Katherine Fox.

Under the heading, "Miss Murphy Takes Over," Authoress Fox tells an interesting story of what we presume is a real happenstance. But whether the article is based upon fact, or fiction, it embraces an idea which might well be followed in Lubbock and every other town and city in the United States.

We give you "Miss Murphy Takes Over," from the Woman's Home Companion:

"Teachers don't always have a great deal of fun in a town or a small city, for often they have no good place to entertain. So last year, I asked my small son's teacher if she would care to have a party at my house for her friends. I told her that our house would be hers that evening. No one in the family would put in an appearance and she could do as she pleased—play the radio or the piano, sing, play games or bridge. I supplied bridge tables, covers, linen and cards, but she brought her own tallies and prizes.

"My husband and I prepared a little supper and I took Miss Murphy into the kitchen before hand to show her about the coffee arrangements and where everything was My husband and I went to see a double feature at the movies and so got ourselves out of the way.

"Miss Murphy invited teachers, both men and women, to her party and appreciated the evening out of all proportion to the trouble to us.

"Several other mothers gave their children's home-room teachers the same sort of party after I told about the success of ours. In one case, two mothers clubbed together for the small expense necessary. It seemed to foster much understanding and good will."

The teacher who sent the tear-sheet to The Plainsman typed the following note at the bottom:

"I wish someone had done this for me 15 years ago. I am past caring now, but wouldn't it be nice if some of these Lubbock folk would do for some of the younger Lubbock teachers what was done for Miss Murphy? I would imagine that it would do more to create a better parent-teacher relationship than all the P-TA's in the land."

* * *

THE PLAINSMAN thinks the idea is a plumb good one—so good, in fact, that he's suggesting to the Little Woman that if either of our school kids have teachers from out-of-town that we offer them the use of our shanty some evening before school is out.

Further, this column recommends a similar action on the part of other Lubbockites who would like to make a stay here happier for some young school teacher who does not have her own facilities for entertaining.

Of course, it is possible that some teachers wouldn't care to accept such favors and if not, that's their business.

But some would be glad to do so and would embrace any such invitation.

ALMOST anything can happen in this advanced age and, as the boys say, it usually does.

Comes now Dr. George Sheffield Oliver, of New York City, who promises to elevate the lowly earthworm from mere fishing bait to the status of a highly useful and beneficial instrumentality for human welfare.

The worm, the good doctor points out, eats decaying matter of all kinds. What the worm throws off as waste is one of the richest plant foods known. He wriggles along the ground and through all sorts of vegetation with the greatest of ease, thereby helps the oxygen and nitrogen metabolism of plant life. The air tunnels he leaves behind him turn to water channels when it rains.

Once these facts had definitely and scientifically been determined through long research, Doctor Oliver became a worm operator. His little animals have saved many a farm. They make vegetables grow bigger and better, to employ a term used largely only by chambers of commerce, and turn listless pullets into laying hens while marginal lands become fruitful.

Just how far the doc will be able to go in the way of uplifting via the worm route remains, of course, to be seen.

But it's a good trick if he can do it!

LOCAL NEWS: The Plainsman is the proud possessor of the first two hand woven neckties being sold nationally by Lubbock's new Shuttle Shop under the trademark "The Plainsman." The ties are the product of Plains Weavers and the label on each is bordered by such famous ranch brands as the Pitchfork, the XIT, the Spade, etc. The Shuttle Shop and Plains Weavers are operated by Mrs. Joe Quinn, who recently moved her weaving business here from New Mexico when her husband took over the service department of Texas, New Mexico Oklahoma Coaches, owned by Mr. Quinn's uncle, Mr. Joseph Bowman. Mrs. Quinn believes the purchasers of hand woven materials will go for Texas Plains products as quickly as they have been going for New Mexico Indian products. . . . Mrs. L. A. Coward, of 1615 Avenue H, relays the interesting information that her father, W. G. DeLoach, of Sudan, recently completed his 27th consecutive year of keeping a diary. During the 27 years, Mr. DeLoach has lived almost entirely in Crosby and Lamb counties and his diary forms a history of the average farmer's every-day life in a new agricultural country. The diary is contained in six large ledgers. Mrs. Coward tells us, and has frequently been found useful to the family and to others as proof of dates and events. The work contains an account of Mr. DeLoach's experiences of every day since March 23, 1914. Mr. DeLoach is now 60 years old and has lived near Sudan for the past 16 years. . . . "Dr." John Odell Morgan, new head football coach at Texas Tech, will continue what The Plainsman considers to be the finest program for boys in our bustling community—the Kiwanis Knothole Gang—this coming summer. For a number of years the Knothole Gang has been supervised most efficiently by Russell T. "Dutchy" Smith, who has retired from his coaching at Tech and left the city. However, "Doctor" Morgan was the founder of the gang in the years he spent here prior to going to Auburn and Houston to coach at Alabama Poly and Rice, respectively . . . That Debs Garms you're reading so much about in the baseball news to date, and who was the National league's top hitter in 1940, got his first professional experience back in the late 1920's when he played for the Abilene club of the old West Texas league. He could hit then, too, as local fans who used to gather in the old Merrill park will well remember.

CHAPTER 1

Beatrice Huntington Davenport was 20 years old. She had a shining, dark brown mink coat. She had a shining, black limousine. She had a chauffer to drive it from one night club to another, from New York to Newport and down to the pier when she went off on a cruise.

She had a big white house on Indian Creek, in Miami Beach, Florida. She had a 10-room apartment here in New York, on Park Avenue, where three maids did nothing but wait on Beatrice. She had four room-size closets full of evening dresses, sports clothes, lounging pajamas, costume ensembles. There were racks full of shoes and shelves of hats.

She had a barrel of junk jewelry; an antique silver case that contained two diamond bracelets, a matched pearl necklace, half a dozen wrist watches and pin watches, a ruby and platinum brooch that separated into a pair of clips; and a huge, square emerald ring.

Beatrice Huntington Davenport had stocks and bonds and real estate. And she had an immense, sprawling store that extended in a solid square from Fifth Avenue to Sixth. It was eight stories high, crammed to the doors with exactly the same sort of things Beatrice had at home — diamond bracelets and evening dresses, sofas and silver foxes, silk stockings and suede handbags.

Beatrice Huntington Davenport had, too, a trust company with huge, chased-bronze doors and acres of polished mahogany desks at which important looking men in conservative business suits sat—presumably managing the stocks and the bonds and real estate.

She had a tight-lipped man whose picture appeared sometimes in the columns of morning newspapers (but she had never bothered to meet him herself) whom the trust company had appointed as general superintendent of the department store. Only this morning she'd seen his narrowed eyes loking out at her from the paper. "The Man Behind Huntington's" read the caption. Beatrice smiled.

The man behind Huntington's had always been — and was now, in his jealously laid down policies and far-sighted provisions — her grandfather, Michael Kingan Huntington.

Grandpa had founded Huntington's. He started by peddling pins and needles and shoelaces from a pack on his back. Then came a little store on Grand Street. Cutting prices and indulging in practices which made his competitors choke, Grandfather had seen the little store on Grand Street grow into an emporium on Fourteenth—and at last into this imposing Huntington's which was a New York landmark.

Lastly, Beatrice Huntington Davenport had Mr. Curtis Weeming, who was small and bald and 73 years old. Mr. Weeming was given to rubbing his hands and bleating piteously. Mr. Weeming—theoretically — managed Beatrice.

Right now, in his office on the 45th floor of a skyscraper on Rockefeller Plaza, Mr. Curtis Weeming was wringing—not rubbing—his dry little hands. Mr. Curtis Weeming was pleading. "But Miss Davenport, this is incredible! Miss Davenport, I must protest! Miss Davenport, I simply cannot allow —"

He took a deep breath. "Miss Davenport, your grandfather would not have approved!" This was the most solemn sentiment Mr. Weeming could possibly utter. ". . . worked for your grandfather for 30 years, I knew his mind as no one else could possibly — and I am certain —"

"Nuts, Mr. Weeming!" said Beatrice Huntington Davenport. She sat in a brown leather chair, with her slim silken knees crossed. The mink coat was carelessly thrown back. A cunningly contrived topknot of mink perched on her golden curls, and her red lips smiled. "You tell those armor-clad knights behind those chromium grilles in that trust company to pay that check — and pay it now! Clarence must have those polo ponies. This delay is silly!"

Clarence, you see, was her fiance. The rest of his name was Fernando di Grandezzi. Clarence was dark, and tall, and fascinating.

Clarence not only had to have these polo ponies, but he had also acquired, in the last few weeks, a long and speedy racing car; a cigaret case the twin of the one in Beatrice's handbag; and some dozens of custom tailored suits about which Mr. Weeming was still debating. Had Beatrice actually ordered these for Clarence—or had Clarence ordered them for Beatrice?

Mr. Weeming knew that Beatrice saw nothing unusual about the gifts of cars and airplanes. But clothes? He wriggled uncertainly. He had no way of knowing Clarence's superb delicacy. No way of visualizing the suave, finished manner in which Clarence indicated his latest needs. All Mr. Weeming knew was that Beatrice paid for things. Casually, matter-of-factly, constantly.

Another thing Mr. Weeming didn't know was that any girl to whom Clarence was likely to be engaged would have automatically supplied the same things. Because, otherwise Clarence wouldn't be engaged to marry her. Beatrice understood that. It didn't matter.

Two months ago, Beatrice had first laid eyes on Clarence. He was so different from the men she'd always known! He had manners, for one thing. He kissed her hand. He bowed from the waist. He had an accent — slight, and husky, and Continental. Also, Clarence was a realist. He did not, as the sons of grandfather's business associates, take for granted the fact that money was an evil—that one must be apologetic about mentioning it, about spending it.

Nor did Clarence resemble those other men she knew — the ones who were poor but proud and worked very hard at blueprints so they might eventually build bridges; or grubbed along in some dingy office, so that some day they'd be a third vice president. No. Clarence said, with engaging frivolity, "A million dollars, theese is not saved out of a pittance, eh? What I could earn, it would be pathetic. Me, I prefer visiting. My hostesses have invariably been so lovely! How was it, I did not see you in Hawaii?"

The Frothinghams had just returned from Hawaii, where Clarence had been their house guest. Beatrice knew that Clarence was

TEXAS' NEW HIGHWAY LAWS

Deserving place high in importance among accomplishments which may be listed to the credit of the present session of the legislature is the measure providing for revision of motor vehicle speed laws.

The proposition has been approved by House and Senate with minor differences which should be adjusted without difficulty. It is to be hoped, and expected, that the governor will approve it without unnecessary delay.

The law will permit speeds of 60 miles per hour in daytime and 50 miles at night for private automobiles; 55 miles at any time for motor buses; and 45 miles in daytime and 40 miles at night for trucks. All are reasonable speeds and are in harmony with traffic regulations in other states.

However, this measure isn't going to be worth a plugged nickel unless it is enforced. It will have exactly the same fatal fault as the present out-moded laws under which there has been little more than a pretense to enforce the speed limits.

Enforcement, of course, is going to require strengthening of the Texas Highway Patrol. It is going to require more active cooperation by local and county officers in all parts of the state. But if the patrol is strengthened, the local officers cooperate and the courts do their full duty in the infliction of proper penalties, then Texas will have a worthwhile law which will do a great deal toward the promotion of traffic safety on the highway.

"Gimme Hitchhikers" Line The Road To National Defense

John S. Taxpayer Wants To Know "How Come?"

BY PETER EDSON
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 31—John S. (for Sap) Taxpayer, reconciled and ready to finance his country's defense effort, might be more willing to give till it hurts if assured that some of the "We'll get ours back" boys would be a little less rapacious.

EDSON

For while the country at large has accepted the fact that everyone must make sacrifices to help save the world for democracy (again), congressional and administrative lavishness in appropriating billions of dollars has stirred every selfish instinct of every self-centered group which thinks itself entitled to government aid. So the broad highway to victory is lined with gimmie hitchhikers ready to grab a hold as the caravan of government contract trucks goes by.

The whole spectacle is of course natural. No one can forget easily the long lean years when profits vanished, when trade dwindled, when layoffs stretched into unemployment, when the three R's of relief, regulation and reform were primary education for the New Deal. When defense spending began by billions, the inclination was to get back part losses, and if this meant at government expense, dandy.

Follow The Leader

Perhaps the first to have extensive ambitions of recovered profits were manufacturers seeking prime contracts for war supplies, for memories of profiteering in the last war were still pleasant. Countering the prospect of these hopes, however, was the public demand and the administration determination that in this effort there would be no profiteering.

In the same class were the firms given contracts for construction of new plants for defense production, firms given contracts for construction of new camps and cantonements, and the land agents who bought acreage for new military reservations.

Speed has been essential and many of the contracts, instead of being let on the competitive bid basis, have been let on the cost-plus-fixed-fee basis in which the government pays all costs, regardless of extravagances or economy of management, and awards the contractor a percentage, usually 3.2 per cent for supervision and profit. To just what extent there has been irregularity in the awarding or operation of these contracts may come out in the investigation by Senator Harry S. Truman's committee. Washington opinion is none too hopeful, owing to the committee's limited funds and the questionable strength and ability of the committee itself. Definitely, what is not wanted from this committee is a liberal coating of whitewash. What is wanted is a thorough probe of every rat hole.

Labor, no less eager than capital to recoup losses, has come in for its full share of dirty looks. The record of even a few exorbitant assessments of union initiation fees, of strikes in defense industries, of demands for wage increases, has already resulted in the appointment of the new Labor Mediation board and may result in recommendation for new labor legislation from the House Judiciary committee.

The farm bloc, seeing capital and labor making efforts at a comeback to get theirs, has moved in with demands for increased parity payments from $200 million to $400 million to raise the prices farmers get for the things they sell. And so powerful is this farm bloc that the Senate Agriculture committee recently heard John H. Bankhead of Jasper, Ala., recommend that farmers go on strike for a year, so as to raise prices. This, mind you, in a year of all-out defense effort.

Government agencies, instead of vying to see which could cut requests for appropriations most, have actually competed to get control of defense funds.

Every department of Federal Security agency—the WPA, NYA, SSB, B. of E., and USES, to mention only a few by their familiar and unfamiliar initials, have found reasons to increase their spending. Even organized labor supports WPA claims for more relief money, so as to keep unemployed wage levels high.

Government workers have their hands out, too—and if everyone else is getting it, the theory is "why not?"

Comes Back To The Taxpayer

All these grabs for government gravy have certain inflationary implications. If everyone is to get more money, the tendency is for prices to rise. Shortages of some materials, soon to be felt in manufacture and sale of everyday articles for private use, will provide a too-easy excuse for raising prices.

Retail merchants on the whole have co-operated with the plea to keep prices down. There have been some instances of a desire to regain losses, but the theory of the more farsighted trade associations has been that greater sales volume, greater turnover and therefore greater profits can be gained by keeping prices down.

What is generally overlooked in this mad scramble for federal folding money is the simple fact that the more billions appropriated, the more the taxpayer must eventually shell out. That's fundamental, but in times like these, of shoot-the-works psychology, we forget the axioms.

There are only three banks in Iceland.

Murphrey's Superior Pullets
We have a nice supply of 2- 3- 4- 5-week old English White Leghorn pullets, from flocks mated with males out of R. O. P. breeding pens, with records of 260 to 300 eggs, and over. We have the day-old pullets, strait run Leghorn chicks, heavy breed chicks, and Leghorn day-old cockerels, each Tuesday and Friday, at prices that will please you.
Murphrey's Hatchery
1964 Ave. H — Lubbock — Phone 2711

A poorly balanced ration fed to growing pullets reduces the number of eggs as well as the weights per egg. Purina Chick Growena, an especially prepared ration, is built to help give you full, well-developed pullets, ready to lay lots of eggs in the shortest possible time. What's more, Growena is economical to feed. Actually it takes but 16 lbs. to carry a bird through the growing period. No matter how you look at it, it doesn't cost to feed pullets right—IT PAYS!
Come in to see us about your growing feed needs today.

Planes Hunting Santone Cadet

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, March 31.—Several squadrons of planes were sent out from Kelly field this morning to search for E. Lawrence Hastings, jr., senior flying cadet, who has been missing since he failed to return from a routine training flight Sunday night, officials announced today.

Hastings, who is scheduled to graduate with his class April 25, left the field about 7:30 p. m. Sunday on a flight to Buchanan dam, Temple and return. He checked into Temple airport by radio at 9:22 p. m., officials said, but has been unreported since.

Cadet Hastings is a native of Lexington, Illinois. Kelly field officials have broadcast an appeal for all persons to be on the lookout for the plane and report any unusual circumstances involving an army plane that might come to their attention.

Pair Admit Slaying Santone Salesman

SAN ANTONIO, March 31 (U.P.)—Sheriff Owen Kilday said today that Jack A. Ruper and James B. Alford, held in San Andreas, Calif., had confessed that they beat to death R. L. Agnew, San Antonio salesman.

Agnew's body was found in a gully on the outskirts of San Antonio March 16. He had been beaten brutally with a pistol butt.

Kilday said he had received a telephone call from Sheriff Joe Swinge of San Andreas and that Swinge had informed him Ruper and Alford had confessed.

Naval Triumph

of the war.

At the other end of the Mediterranean, other British warships sought to halt a French convoy and exchanged shots with shore batteries on the Algerian coast, the admiralty said, in the fourth clash between Britain and her former ally since France capitulated last June.

Britain contended that the French opened fire to prevent the normal process of "visit and search" and an authoritative source declared she intends "fully to maintain" her belligerent rights of blockade despite French objections.

English Charge "Leak"

A spokesman for the ministry of economic warfare said Britain had information that a "German program" for shipments from unoccupied France to Germany included important war materials.

This schedule, he asserted, included "priority" between January 16 and March 1 for the following items among others: 30,000 tons of bauxite, 10,000 tons of aluminum, 1,700 tons of raw rubber and 2,200 tons of Chilean nitrate.

"It long has been known that French merchant ships have been carrying goods to French ports from which they soon reach Germany," he said.

(The French contended yesterday's action was caused by British aggression. They said the French merchantmen were sailing between two North African ports, hence their cargoes could not reach Germany.)

Two British planes are missing as a result of the action against the Fascists in Ionian waters off Greece, between the islands of Sicily and Crete, and two German dive bombers were shot down, the admiralty said.

"Severe losses were inflicted on the enemy," the admiralty's third communique on the encounter asserted, but "no damage or casualties have been sustained by any of our ships."

U. S. May Use Seized Ships

had no comment to make on the ship seizures or the possible consequences. A spokesman said the embassy was awaiting information from various Italian consuls regarding the 28 Italian vessels involved in the seizures, and that such reports might require several days.

Several Feared Useless

Both the Italian and German embassies also were awaiting official notification of the action by this government. The German embassy indicated that there would be no comment from it until such notification is received.

A spokesman for the Danish legation said that the United States action was the "beginning of the solution" of what is to be done with Danish ships tied up in this country. He declined to elaborate.

Twenty of the 28 Italian ships seized had been sabotaged by their crews, some so severely that they constituted menaces to navigation.

The "battle of the Atlantic" is now raging with German submarines, surface raiders, and airplanes attempting to destroy Britain's sea life-lines and starve her into capitulation. Britain already has lost over 5,000,000 tons of merchant shipping and her crying need is ships. The seized ships total over 300,000 tons. It was suggested that their use in American service, would permit the release of that amount of American shipping to the British.

Government officials have been studying the legal aspects of the United States requisitioning foreign vessels in American ports to relieve this country's ship shortage.

Normandie Is Safe

There are no plans to seize the huge $80,000,000 French luxury liner Normandie, of 83,425 tons and one of the three largest ships afloat, or other French ships in American ports, government officials said. There are also some Dutch, Belgian, and Norwegian ships in American ports but these are mostly responsive to the orders of the British admiralty.

The seizures, effected by the coast guard assisted by the navy in some cases, were officially described as a means of putting the vessels into protective custody. Its dramatic execution recalled April, 1917, when the United States entered the war and the navy and coast guard swooped down on 105 German ships refuged in American ports. The Germans had wrecked them, but they were quickly repaired and German ships carried 500,000 American soldiers to France.

The seizures were ordered one day after the Italian crews had received orders to wreck the interiors of their ships and came before this wrecking could be completed. The master of one of the ships said the order was issued on Friday by the naval attache of the Italian embassy here.

It was recalled that when proposals for seizing foreign vessels were first heard here a few months ago, official spokesmen in both Berlin and Rome hinted that seizure would be construed as an act of war.

Tonnage totaled about 300,000. The number of crew members was estimated at between 2,500 and 3,000; about 1,600 of them from the German and Italian ships.

A German embassy official said no action would be taken by his government until official notification of the treasury's move has "because the Danish government has complete sovereignty." been received. As for the Danish vessels, he added that his government could take no action A member of the Italian embassy said he "did not wish to be interviewed."

Danish legation officials declined comment but informed diplomatic circles said the Danes were not likely to protest "except under duress."

it out around Addis Ababa, with British and native forces closing in from the east, south and northwest.

British military observers, who said they expected to see Emperor Haile Selassie's Ethiopian flag over Addis Ababa soon, declared the Fascist survivors of the long battle for Cheren also seemed in a hopeless position as they retreated toward the Eritrean capital, Asmara.

The British placed the Italian casualties in the seven-week fight for Cheren at 5,000 to 6,000 and said "so far we have captured 3,775 prisoners including 68 officers."

greatly improved moisture situation.

Chicago wheat is near 95 cents a bushel for spot delivery, somewhat lower than a year ago but 25 cents above the level to which it fell last summer. Corn is around 70 cents, about a dime a bushel higher than a year ago and the top price for this time of season since 1937.

Hogs, at better than 7½ cents a pound, show an increase of more than 2½ cents over a year ago and near the best levels since 1938. Best cattle are more than 3 cents higher than a year ago, while lambs are the highest in 3½ years. Wool, hides and lard prices have risen 18 to 36 per cent since the war began, most of the upturn coming in the past year.

While the RAF swarmed over the channel, German "Big Berthas" on the French coast pumped shells into the Dover area. The shelling started at 11 a. m. (4 a. m. CST) and continued at irregular intervals.

The Belgrade press described Yugoslavia's two big factions, Serbs and Croats, as closer together than ever before since the formation of the new government.

Yugoslavian Troops Mass On Frontiers

ROME, March 31. (U.P.)—The official Stefani news agency reported from Belgrade today that Yugoslavia has concentrated the bulk of her troops on the Albanian, Greek and Hungarian frontiers.

The Stefani agency reported that 1,500 Montenegrins who resisted a call to armed service have been placed in a concentration camp and that others are hiding in the mountains.

Two Fliers Injured When Plane Crashes

SAN ANTONIO, March 31 (A.P.)—Second Lieut. Eugene L. Flynn, 23, of Corsicana, and Flying Cadet Lewis L. Bowen, 21, of Champaign, Ill., were injured yesterday when their basic training plane crashed into a plowed field near Randolph field.

Field officials said Flynn suffered a fractured right leg, bruises and cuts on the face, and Bowen a broken right collarbone, cuts and bruises.

Stock Market

STOCK IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, March 31 (A.P.) — Specialties worked up a little rallying ambition in today's stock market but most leaders shuffled over an irregular narrow route.

While an assortment of preferreds managed to get up as much as a point or so, many others in the "pivotal" classification were hard put to it to cling to minor fractions. Prices were at their best in the forenoon, tending to waver in the final hour. Small declines were plentiful at the close.

Dealings were inconsequential during the greater part of the session, transfers approximating 400,000 shares.

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown Sheet never got far ahead. This week's steel mill operations were estimated off .6 of a point at 99.3 per cent of capacity.

Up occasionally were General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, North American, Electric Power & Light, American Water Works, Public Service of N. J., Kennecott, Atlantic Coast Line, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Dupont, Sears Roebuck, Eastman Kodak and Philip Morris.

Carrier loans continued to advance in the bond division. Commodities were uneven. Wheat at Chicago lost ⅛ to ⅝ of a cent a bushel and corn was down ⅛ to 1⅝. In late trades cotton was off 35 to 50 cents a bale.

SCHOOL IS DESTROYED

NACOGDOCHES, March 31. (U.P.)—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Cushing high school and gymnasium early today. Damage was estimated at $45,000.

Strikes Would Be Outlawed

Carolina, representing the public on the mediation board's panel which met all day yesterday with company and striking CIO union representatives from the Bridgeville, Pa., plant of the Vanadium corporation of America, announced this morning the fourth strike had been ended.

The union men will go to work as fast as their jobs become available and strike issues, including the hiring of five non-union guards, were left for future investigation and negotiation.

The Vanadium company normally employs 225 men at Bridgeville. It makes ferro-vanadium, a steel alloy ingredient used in making armaments.

Other Actions Taken

The other three walkouts which the labor department asked the board to take over ended as follows:

Chicago—CIO union members voted to end strikes at four International Harvester plants and negotiate before the board their demands for elimination of piece work, wage increases and union recognition.

AFL workers agreed to go back to work at the Cornell Dubilier corporation, South Plainfield, N. J., tomorrow and continue negotiations for wage increases. If no agreement is reached, the mediation board will be asked to take up the case again.

Agreement Ratified

CIO unionists ratified an agreement for settlement of a strike at the Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel corporation at Johnstown, Pa. They had walked out in protest over a scheduled election by the Employes Representation Plan which the CIO claims is a company union.

Another strike sent to the board was settled before the board had to take formal action. This was at the Universal Cyclops corporation, Bridgeville, Pa.

In the meanwhile a CIO walkout at the Allis Chalmers plant in Milwaukee was still unsettled. Despite pleas by Secretary Knox and the office of production management the unionists voted Saturday to carry on the strike, although the company reopened the plant. The firm has $45,000,000 of defense orders, mainly for the navy.

This strike has not been certified to the mediation board.

New York—Coal mine labor and management were still deadlocked over the wage issue as they sought to work out the terms of a contract to replace one expiring at midnight today. John L. Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers union, says the men will not enter the mines without a contract. Dr. John R. Steelman, chief federal conciliator, sat in on the conferences in what he said was an "exploratory capacity."

ARRIVES IN ITALY

ROME, March 31. (A.P.)—Japan's traveling foreign minister, Yosuke Matsuoka, arrived at Brennero, Italy, at the German frontier, at 6:40 a. m. today (11:40 p. m. Sunday, EST) to confer with Premier Mussolini and other leaders at the southern end of the Rome-Berlin Axis.

DECLINES POST

ABERNATHY—Seth R. Lindsey, who has been high school principal the past year, has declined reelection. W. C. Jenkins, president of the board of trustees said. Miss Maruine Coffee, a grade teacher, also declined reelection. Contracts were offered the rest of the faculty. R. Lee Snider was renamed superintendent a month ago.

News Briefs

Tenant Meeting Held—The five Lubbock county farmers for whom the tenant-purchase division of Farm Security administration has bought and improved a farm, met with FSA officials this morning in the district courtroom. Marvin C. Wilson, district supervisor; Mrs. Juanita Butler, district home management supervisor; John E. Key, rural rehabilitation supervisor; Miss Gertrude Brent, home management supervisor and Walter F. Johnson, water facilities supervisor, met with the group.

Court Date Changed—May term of U. S. district court will not begin until May 26, instead of May 19, according to a letter from Judge T. Whitfield Davidson of Dallas, presiding, Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy court clerk, said. No reason for the change in the date was given in the letter.

Good Moisture Had — Borden county during March has received more than enough moisture for planting and range purposes, W. W. Percifull, of Gail, Agricultural Adjustment administration secretary for the county, said here this morning. Weeds and wild rice are growing nicely, he said, with the grass beginning to show green.

No Enlistments—With no enlistments in the regular army this morning, because of report day, total for the month was 127, said Major Walter Jessee, district recruiting officer. One possible recruit was held over for Tuesday. The district staff had to prepare its monthly report and mail it to Fort Bliss by early this afternoon.

Here For Conference—Searbon B. Collins of Morton, representative of Mrs. C. C. Slaughter of Dallas in a FSA project in Cochran county, was here this morning en route to Amarillo for a meeting with regional Farm Security administration officials. He was accompanied to Amarillo by Earl Wise, a regional supervisor. Collins said moisture conditions in his county were excellent and that Roy Hickman, county farm agent, said they were the best for this season of the year, he had seen.

Postmaster Returns — Amos Howard, postmaster, accompanied by Mrs. Howard and their daughter, returned late Sunday from McAllen and the Rio Grande valley, where he attended a state postmasters association meeting. After the convention the Lubbock group drove to Brownsville and to Matamoras, Mexico, across the Rio Grande river. W. D. T. Storey of Littlefield, and Mrs. Storey, J. F. Wiles of Olton and Postmaster Kelley of Earth were the only others from this section at the meeting.

Sailor Visits—Odell Light, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Light of 615 Avenue N, arrived Saturday night for a week's furlough before returning to his San Diego base. Within two weeks he expects to be assigned to duty aboard ship, "a cruiser, I hope." He enlisted Feb. 30, for a four-year term.

Douglas Talks To Jaycees—Jack Douglas, secretary of the South Plains Automobile club, spoke to members of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce on traffic safety at Jaycees luncheon program at the Hilton today noon. He cited irregularities in traffic supervision in Lubbock and urged a more intensive program of safety by the junior chamber members.

Nazis Close Border Because Of Tension

BASEL, Switzerland, March 31. (A.P.)—Berlin today unexpectedly cancelled the usual monthly three-hour opening of the Swiss-Alsatian frontier to permit an exchange of visits of the border populations.

"Tension in the national situation" was given as the reason.

Couple Killed When Auto Is Overturned

CARTHAGE, March 31. (A.P.)—Frank Hughes, 21 and Hazel Windham, 21, both of Center, Texas, were killed last night when an automobile overturned about 15 miles from here on the Carthage-Center highway.

Injured were Jimmie Sue White of Texarkana, Maurice McLendon, 19, of Center, and another Center youth.

House Favors Redistricting

Montague as provided in the committee bill.

Cooke and Montague would make up a separate district.

Hardeman county would be removed from the Foard-Knox-King-Haskell flotorial district.

Several representatives protested against what they called "the abolition of my district." The bill's supporters replied that because of population changes, some districts had to be eliminated.

"The constitution," argued Kinard "says that the legislature shall redistrict the state after each federal census. That constitutional mandate has been ignored long enough."

Rep. Taylor White of Odessa asked the measure's critics if they didn't agree the more populous districts were entitled to additional representation.

Heavy Taxpayers

"I represent 13 counties with a population of 80,000," he said, "which is about twice the average population. We pay that district are heavy taxpayers."

Lonnie Alsup, veteran blind representative from Carthage, and Rep. Jasper N. Reed of Texarkana led the attack on the bill.

"This bill would enlarge the representation of the big cities," said Reed. "The big cities already are being well taken care of in the legislature."

As the new week opened, leaders in the Senate shaping financial legislation hoped to get the bill making appropriations for institutions of higher learning to the floor with little delay, following the track made recently by the judiciary appropriation bill, now in conference committee.

Tax Hearing Continues

The Senate state affairs committee, continuing the hearings on the omnibus tax bill recently passed by the House and other taxing proposals, planned to hear tonight all phases of taxation relating to the natural gas industry.

The hearings will be concluded Wednesday with discussions of sulphur, carbon black, soft drink, oil well cementing, wholesalers, gross receipts, corporation franchise and other business taxes.

The subjects of utility, telephone, liquor, stock sales, motor vehicle loan and oil taxes were considered last week.

Strike Bill Gets Attention

The Senate state affairs committee had set down for hearing tomorrow a bill by Senator John Lee Smith of Throckmorton to deal with strikes and lockouts and might take up at the same time the anti-strike bill sponsored by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and recently approved by the House.

The governor announced he would discuss strike-lockout legislation on the radio tonight at 8:15 o'clock.

A bill setting up an arbitration board to settle differences between employes and another making it a felony to prevent a person from following his lawful employment had been scheduled for hearings before, respectively, the House labor committee this afternoon and the House criminal jurisprudence committee tomorrow night.

Resuming work after a week-end recess, the legislature faced the prospect of a heavy increase in mail if Governor O'Daniel has still the power to "turn the heat" on legislators.

In his Sunday broadcast, he appealed to voters to write their representatives to revive his $26,800,000 social security appropriation bill, predicting that unless the legislature "changed their ideas" the whole social security program would be "scuttled."

At one point in his address, he called the legislature "pussy-footing," but at another said he was not criticizing the members for their votes on the appropriation bill. He also said he would be glad to send the record of a representative's vote to any voter.

"The way it looks to me at this time," he said, "the social security problem, number one of this state, will turn out about like it did two years ago.

The state department first was known as the department of foreign affairs.

U. S. Industry To Face More Sabotage From Axis

Hitler To Stop "At Nothing"

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Italian sabotage aboard Fascist merchant ships in American ports is a natural corollary to the attitude adopted by the Axis at the time of the passage of the lend-lease bill—the claim that the United States had to all intents and purposes entered the war on the side of Britain.

This sabotage is merely a further indication that the Axis—and it simplifies matters if one doesn't forget that Herr Hitler is the Axis—intends to pursue the course which seems most profitable, irrespective of relations with this country.

Same As In World War

With that understanding of the position it is logical to take the sabotage as fair warning of more to come. There is no reason to assume that the present war will deviate in this respect from the World war, when this country was swept with German sabotage of all sorts prior to our entry into the conflict. The idea was to hamstring industry and shipping, thus hampering us in preparing for possible war ourselves, and impeding aid which the Allies were getting from America.

It has been made clear that this country is full of spies and fifth column agents who are prepared to strike as the signals come from their chiefs. The fact that the present sabotage is directed at Axis property in our ports, doesn't alter the complexion of the situation.

The Nazis have declared that American aid will not be permitted to reach Britain no matter what the cost. In this connection it should be borne in mind that this is the critical moment of the war when Hitler especially wants to keep help from Britain—while he is expending every ounce of his energy in a supreme effort to knock her out completely.

The most striking development in the European war itself was the great British naval victory over the Italian fleet off the Isle of Crete. The British admiralty claims the sinking of at least five Fascist warships in what was the biggest sea engagement thus far in this conflict.

Italians Nearly "Out"

This represents a further grave blow at Italian sea strength. The British believe that it reduces the Fascists to two, or possibly four, battleships, from the eight with which they started the war. Six cruisers also are listed as destroyed, apart from smaller craft of various sorts.

The sum total of all this is that Italy's navy has been reduced to the point where it has comparatively small striking power left with which to face the British Mediterranean fleet.

Dollars To Doughnuts

supposed to be the property of Mimi Frothingham. So she said, "I wasn't there, but I'm here now."

And his black eyes looked down into hers while they danced. Mimi Frothingham frowned, from the side lines. And two hours later, Mimi Frothingham was searching for Clarence in a fury. But Beatrice and Clarence were in a silver airliner. Flying to Havana. To see a horse race. To play roulette. To become engaged to be married.

The magnificent emerald in Beatrice's jewel case was Clarence's actually. "To sell it—how foolish!" he explained. "A family heirloom—we are of the Pazzi, you understand—the stone has a history, a lineage. But for a bethrothal ring—what an investment!"

Learning of her engagement, Mr. Curtis Weeming had done everything but weep. He went all the way to Florida when she returned from Havana, to falter, "This isn't wise, Miss Davenport." He was a man who always grimly did his duty. "Your grandfather always made it perfectly clear what sort of man he expected you to marry. He warned me to be firm on that point! He wanted you to marry a business man. A man who could conserve, even increase, the Huntington estate."

"But it's the Davenport estate now. Besides, he should have put that in his will."

"Your grandfather always said positively you had enough of his blood to be practical!" wailed Mr. Weeming. Oh, Miss Davenport, when I remember how he used to say, 'She's got my chin! She's no weakling, that girl. No pretty-boy's going to flim-flam her—she won't go marrying any counts or dukes and figure in any divorce suits'—"

His voice broke. Michael Huntington had not only been his best friend, but his idol, as well. "You must realize, Beatrice, that you need a husband who will be able to take over the reins of management after—er—" He looked at her beseechingly. After he was gone—

But Beatrice said, "Pooh! You'll be here, lecturing on thrift to my grandchildren, you old fake!"

Mr. Weeming's long and doleful countenance became even more dolorous. "I—er—I'm certain you—you have not given all the facts much thought. If you continue in this manner, Beatrice—if you insist on marrying this—this Clarence—your grandchildren may not—er—may not be possessed of very much of this world's goods for me to manage!"

Beatrice laughed outright. "That will be just dandy! Grandfather always said it was more fun to be poor. Made a man of him. He said there was no percentage in never having any battles to fight. Bred the spine right out of the best families. Remember?"

Mr. Weeming thought of Clarence, whose grandchildren these would be, too, and shuddered.

Now, in the office high above Rockefeller Plaza, he was shuddering again. Beatrice was blazing away about that check. He said, "This is a tremendous expenditure. Totally unnecessary. Unjustified. An investment that is not only extreme, but that deteriorates half an hour after you have made it. What could be realized on a string of polo ponies should you er—decide to liquidate?"

"Nuts!" said Beatrice again. "Now, look here. Clarence called me from Westbury, upset because those ponies were not in their stalls. Will you please see that my check is honored at once?"

She drew herself up, shrugging into the mink coat, and Mr. Weeming thought suddenly that for all its feminine roundness, her grandfather had been right about her chin. It was, indeed, alarmingly reminiscent of old Mike's. "I'm becoming seriously annoyed with you, Mr. Weeming."

She went out through the private, unmarked door to the corridor. For a moment, adjusting her coat, she stood in the hall thinking. "Weeming certainly must be put in his place every once in a while or he positively tramples one!"

Behind her, the door had not clicked, but stood a little ajar. Suddenly she heard a voice coming from Mr. Weeming's office. The voice of someone who must have been in the little room beyond, waiting for her to go.

"Why do you take that from her?" the voice asked in exasperation. It was a deep, masculine voice. Pleasant, rich, young.

"That girl's the world's most useless object! There isn't even hope for the future. She'll be divorcing this Clarence before she gets around the corner from the church. She's the kind that'll marry a prize fighter next and then an orchestra leader and by the time she's 40 she'll take up with a college freshman or a handsome rookie cop. The foul heiress pattern! Polo ponies for Clarence!

"You know what I think?" The pleasant timber of the voice hardened, and even as Beatrice stood there, stunned and rigid, his next words exploded against her eardrums. "I think a girl like that should be quietly and competently chloroformed. More in sadness than in anger. But chloroformed."

Former A. E. F. Chief Passes Through City

Major Gen. James G. Harboard, U. S. A. retired, former chief of staff of the A. E. F., accompanied by two Santa Fe officials, passed through Lubbock Sunday afternoon enroute from Clovis to Alpine and Presidio, R. F. Bayless, agent here, said this morning.

G. W. Harris, Chicago, chief engineer of the Santa Fe and G. H. Minchen, Amarillo, assistant general manager of the Western Lines, were in the party, with their private cars. The party was due in Alpine late Sunday night and were to leave early Monday by automobile for Presidio.

General Harboard is a director of the Santa Fe as well as head of the Radio Corporation of America. The general recently expressed a desire to revisit a military territory in which he served along the Mexican border prior to the World war. He was with Gen. John J. Pershing along the border in 1916, and from there was taken to France as chief of staff to the commander of the A. E. F. in 1917.

With William Allen White, editor of the Emporia, Kan., Gazette, he failed to secure entry into West Point, so he taught school, later enlisting as a private in 1889. Commissioned as a second lieutenant in 1891 he served in the Philippines and in Cuba, and was a major of cavalry when the war opened.

News Briefs

Fire Damage Slight — Firemen of central station made two weekend runs but reported slight damage. At 6:15 o'clock this morning gas from a coupling in a floor furnace slightly damaged a restricted space in the R. H. Forbes residence at 2115 Twenty-eighth street. At 11:10 o'clock Sunday afternoon the M. E. Pickel residence at 2312 Thirtieth street was slightly damaged when a couch caught fire that spread to the floor.

Privates Transferred—Won't be long until Puerto Rico will be the address of Ronald Smallwood of 3124 Twentieth street and Lloyd G. Adams of 2011 Eighth street. It has been announced from Jefferson barracks, in Missouri, that the Lubbock boys, privates in the U. S. army air corps, have been transferred, Adams to Chanute field, Rantoul, Ill., for an airplane mechanics course, and Smallwood to Lowry field, Denver, Colo., for an aircraft armorer's course.

Meeting Time Changed—An educational meeting planned by the Agricultural Adjustment administration and the farm bureau for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at Idalou, has been changed to 7:30 o'clock that night, because of a conflicting county-wide farm bureau date, Walter Y. Wells, AAA administrator, said this morning. Meeting will be in the community building.

Announce Contract — Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, Inc. of Tahoka has let a contract to Reinhard and Donovan, Oklahoma City, for construction of 17.35 miles of high line, to serve 75 members. Bid was announced as $30,142. The line is to serve Hockley county south and west of Levelland, in the Sundown area. Price and Hawk, Lubbock, are engineers and Garland L. Pennington, Tahoka, is superintendent.

Hearing Date Set—State sugar beet committee of the Agricultural Adjustment administration is to meet Monday of next week here and at that time all applications for sugar beet allotments for 1941 are to be made, said Walter Y. Wells, county AAA administrator. W. O. Fortenberry, Monroe; S. M. Twilley, Lamb county, and Francis Carthel, Floyd county, are on the state committee.

Patrolmen In Examination — Fourteen state policemen eligible for promotion to sergeant took an examination Sunday afternoon in the library of Junior High school, said Capt. W. W. Legge. Results of the four-hour quiz will not be made known immediately, it was expected. Patrolmen of Lubbock, Big Spring and Plainview competed.

New Clovis Theater—Preston E. Smith and W. O. Bearden, Lubbock theater owners, announced the leasing of a building in downtown Clovis, N. M., which is to be remodeled by Joe Sellers and L. M. Ward, owners, for a new theater. Approximately $15,000 will be spent in remodeling and the work will be completed some time in May. Tentative date for opening of the show house, to be known as the Sunshine theater, is May 15.

Meeting Tonight — Residents of Southwest Ward community are to gather in the school house tonight at 7:30 o'clock for a community meeting to discuss the 1941 supplemental cotton program, the 1941 farm program and the county farm bureau work. C. C. Jobson, county farm agent; Walter Y. Wells, Agricultural Adjustment administration secretary, and R. L. Hooten, county farm bureau chairman, will speak, among others.

Sunday Temperature — Sunday's maximum temperature was 72 degrees, the state experiment sub-station reported. Minimum this morning was 40 degrees.

Car Crash Victim In Serious Condition

Examination of H. H. Roberts of 402 Avenue C revealed fracture at base of the skull, in addition to deep cuts of the left knee and left heel and a head laceration, an authority at Lubbock sanitarium said this morning.

Roberts was injured shortly before midnight Saturday when his automobile struck the center pillar of the North Avenue H underpass. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Newton and L. E. Countess of Idalou, who witnessed the crash, said they were riding north when they saw Roberts' car, apparently out of control.

Roberts' condition remained serious this morning

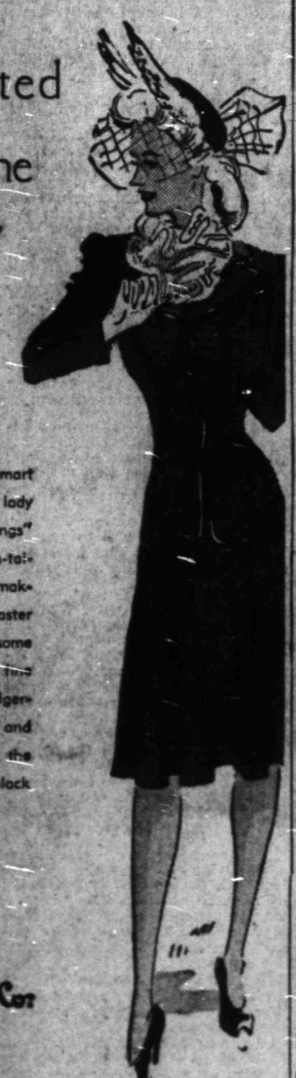

Japanese Minister's Visits Prove Jinxes

(By The United Press)

The day after Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka arrived in Berlin to cement ties with the Axis, the Jugoslav government which had signed its country into the German-Japanese-Italian alliance was overthrown.

Today, as he arrived in Italy, Italy admitted the loss of three cruisers and two destroyers in a battle in which the British said their fleet suffered no losses.
