Allison Makes Statement to Voters

ALVIN R. ALLISON

Thanking the voters of the 119th Legislative district, Alvin R. Allison, Hockley County Judge who carried all of the district's nine counties and led his run-off opponent by more than 7000 votes, issued the following statement to the Terry County Herald yesterday:

"I was hog enough to want your vote and I want to take this opportunity of extending my sincere thanks for the support that the voters of the 119th district gave me in Saturday's primary.

Words cannot express my appreciation for the vote of confidence the people placed in my candidacy at the polls Saturday. I want you to know I am going to do all that I can to merit that confidence the voters of the 119th district have placed in me.

To all my friends and supporters I will again say, 'Thanks a million,' and tell you that 'I am man enough to appreciate it.'"

SENATOR NELSON PLEASED WITH VOTE OF HOME PEOPLE

To the people of West Texas as a whole, and more particularly to those of the 30th Senatorial District, I wish to express to you my sincere appreciation for the confidence expressed in me when they went to the polls last Saturday.

I had rather to have been defeated for Lieutenant-Governor, and to have received the over-whelming support of those about home who know me best, than to have won the race and had those about me say by their vote I was unfit for the job I sought.

I am not discouraged nor down hearted. I feel that for one from the western Plains with a new name in state politics to have polled near 200,000 votes from all sections of Texas is a creditable showing. It is an indication that this section of the State will be recognized by other sections of Texas through the election to high places in our State government before many years shall have elapsed.

To those in my district who are interested in the education of the youth, both in our towns and in the rural areas; to those who are interested in Texas Technological College, one of the greatest institutions in Texas today; to the aged, the blind and the dependent of this area; to those who are interested in the development of our natural resources and the general expansion and betterment of this area, including farming and ranching, I want all of you to know that I am continuing my study of these problems to the end that I may be of greater service as your Senator.

It shall be my purpose to work in harmony with the Governor, the next Lieutenant-Governor, the Railroad Commission, the Department of Agriculture and other agencies of our State government to the end that West Texas may receive her fair share of the fruits of government.

Four of the Five Drug Stores Stage Parties

The Palace, the Alexander, and the Corner Drug stores on Main street had score boards Saturday night with large crowds around them, intent on getting the latest from the county as well as state and district races. On the south side of the square, the merchants of that area, joined by the Brownfield News, had a board.

The Corner Drug store, with the co-operation of the Herald had the Texas Election Bureau bulletins and leads, beginning at 7 p. m. and last until 2 a. m., Sunday. This was the first time in several years that any firm has received bulletins direct from the Texas Election Bureau, said to be the most reliable vote gathering force in Texas, and controlled by the dailies. It is said exclusively to newspapers. A total of around 1450 words was received here in that time, according to Mr. Breneman, local Western Union Manager.

Anyway, it was a great election party, and enough boards were up that no one had to be greatly crowded to "see how their ponies were coming in," as it were, and the people seemed to be immensely pleased with the service. Loud speakers greatly aided in getting news on the board in minimum time.

He Had Rather Have A Terry Co. Water Well

We people of the Plains section where there is an inexhaustible supply of pure clear, cool water always at the finger tips, as it were, forget that right down below the caprock there is a world of territory that would appreciate just one of our wells, with a good windmill attached.

For instance, Mr. J. A. Isbell, of Albany, who is here visiting his daughter, Mrs. T. G. Sefton, watched a big sluice of water brought to the surface by the Sefton windmill, for some time the other day, according to Mrs. Sefton, and then remarked: "If I had that well and windmill on my place in Shackelford county I'd be satisfied. I'd rather have it than an oil well."

And by the way Mr. Sefton has had as high as 15 producing oil wells on his place at one time. Mr. Isbell celebrated his 75th birthday Saturday.

Woods Home Burned Wednesday Night

The Red Woods home in the south part of the city burned Wednesday night, destroying or ruining all the furnishings, but the outside walls seem to be alright, with a fresh coat of paint.

The family was away from home, and firemen have no idea how the fire started, as it had gained a lot of headway before discovered. Mr. Woods being away, the Herald was unable to find out whether he carried insurance or not.

Office of County Supt. Created

The people of Terry County have elected Mr. Lee Fulton to serve them in the capacity of County Superintendent. The Commissioners Court, at the request of County Judge R. A. Simms, passed an order creating said office in Terry county, and proceeded to appoint Mr. Fulton to serve in the capacity till January 1, 1939, when the regular term begins. It seems necessary at this time to set up the office in order that the salary and other school matters beginning with the school term, might be made. In other words, had not the office been set up now or by Sept. 1, this year, the party coming into office the first of January, 1939, would have to work for a salary now paid the County Judge, namely, $75 per month till the beginning of the next school term.

In most cases it has been a real pleasure to serve in the capacity as your school superintendent. I have tried to be of service to the schools, and the school interests of Terry county. I wish for the incoming superintendent a very successful administration and trust you will give him your best co-operation.

—R. A. Simms

Post-Lubbock Teams Play For Top Prize

Taylor's Mens Store team, champion locals, was eliminated Tuesday night, and the Wilson Tailors, Lubbock, were eliminated by Lubbock Poultry & Egg to the tune of 16 to 4. The Lubbock P. & E. then played the Postex Mills of Post, winning 8 to 7.

This left the Postex bunch and the Poultry & Egg team in a tie for the Lions Club top prize, and the game will be played off tonight (Thursday) at the local field, and promises to be a battle royal and worth the money.

Amateur Boxing Match Draws a Good Crowd

The first of a series of Boxing bouts between local and surrounding section amateur boxers, was staged at the outdoor arena at the Venetian Auditorium, Wednesday night.

A good crowd was on hand, to give the youngsters encouragement. It is believed that many more such matches will be staged from time to time.

Mrs. C. D. Kerr and daughters, Margaret and Mary Frances, from Detroit, Texas, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gaston and family.

O'Daniel is Your Gov. And My Governor.

No, we are not an original O'Daniel man. Far from it, and we expect no consideration from the new administration, for like all administrations, it will favor its own, and that is pure dee politics whether you wish to believe he is a politician or not. But we are guessing that so far as appointments, so far as favoritism is concerned, the O'Daniel administration, will not be very different from others.

However, Wilbert Lee O'Daniel is to be our governor just as he is yours who voted for him, and the Herald along with other good Democrats and good sports, will do all in our power to help make his administration a success, and to abound in the good of all Texans. We hope all others will so look at the matter, regardless of who they supported in the July 23, primary.

Mr. O'Daniel, the governor-elect, has had no experience in statesmanship; he has made some rather rash promises, some of which can be fulfilled with a constitutional amendment only, such for instance as repeal of poll tax payments. He has promised a whale of a lot of money to all people over 65 years of age, regardless of their needs, and at the same time has promised not to boost our taxes.

He is a good business man, and if he can do all this without raising the taxes on the already overburdened taxpayer, his name will go down in history as one of Texas' greatest governors. On the other hand, if he fails, well the people will just forget it like they have forgotten the promises of many candidates, in the next two years, and give O'Daniel a second term.

Let us all hope that his administration abounds in good works, and that every patriotic son of Texas soil will rise up and put their shoulder to the wheel of progress. Let us hope that W. Lee O'Daniel puts a factory on every hill in Texas.

Mrs. Hudgens Loses Brothers in Wreck

Lynn Cleveland, 38, of Odessa, and Don Cleveland, 29, of Dallas, brothers of Mrs. Clarence Hudgens of this city, were killed when their truck collided with a car driven by negroes, near Eastlune, Monday. They were with Dudley Brothers show, and were hauling electrical equipment and 90 gallons of gasoline, which took fire.

The brothers were horribly disfigured and burned, and as they could not be embalmed, Mrs. Hudgens who with her sons, Don and Lynn, are visiting her son Jim at Los Angeles, who is employed in an airplane factory, decided not to make the trip home. The bodies were buried at Granbury, Texas, Wednesday, Clarence attending, being the only one of the Hudgens family in Texas.

The victims are survived by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cleveland of Fort Worth; a sister, Mrs. H. H. Brown, also of Fort Worth; and Mrs. Hudgens, Lynn Cleveland leaves a widow and two children at Odessa.

Kansas City Firm to Build Local Postoffice

According to information given out by the Treasury Department Monday, the Martin Construction Co., Kansas City, Mo., secured the contract for the erection of the Brownfield Postoffice building. The contract price is $46,970.

Of course this does not include anything except the material and building and does not include the furnishings and fixtures. The floor will be of tile, and marble wainscoting some three or four feet high in front of the fixtures. The private office of the postmaster will be well furnished with nice rugs on the floors.

There was $75,000 appropriated for the building and site, $3,500 of which was spent for the site. Contractor has a reasonable time to get material on the ground, and some 200 working days to finish the job.

Another question: Where did that million dollars go Candidate O'Daniel said was being raised to defeat him? The Herald just does not feel that it is its share of this swag.

With the gathering up of fragments of the Saturday primary, helping friends that were nominated, in the runoff or defeated compose a card of thanks, has taken our time, and we did not get to reply to friend Hill's last editorial. Next week, perhaps.

Now, let us ask Thinking Out Loud Landrum, of the Dallas News, one, where he is so good at asking new dealers questions. Recently he intimated that we new dealers would acknowledge that the moon was cheese if Roosevelt said so, if he could keep us from twisting out a direct answer. Let us grant for a moment that he told us the truth, so as to ask him one. Now, Editor T. O. L., do you and other Hoovercrats, Jeffersonians and what-nots think FDR has done one single thing since he has been president that is commendable in the sight of God and man?

Monday there will be a county-wide election on the proposition of dispensing beer legally in this county. It becomes the duty of every voter to go to the polls and express their sentiment on the proposition. The Herald believes that every American citizen who pays his poll tax has an inalienable right to cast their vote as they please. They paid their money for the privilege, not us; not anyone else, and those who assume to dictate how one votes is indeed a dictator or would be dictator. But the Herald believes that it is important that a large vote be cast, so that the results will satisfy all concerned for some time, and spare the expense of elections.

Friday, Saturday and Monday Specials

We have ordered a carload of W. Lee O'Daniel's Hill-Billy flour. Will arrive most any time, and be on sale at a special price.

Whether you like him or not, or whether you voted for him, shouldn't make any difference now, and it won't if you are a Democrat. He is, or will be, our governor and we are for him Lock, Stock and Barrel, until we have good and sufficient reasons to change our mind.

So if you have never tried his flour—come and buy a bag, it's guaranteed.

We think that any man that can get the vote that he received and get it single handed, is due a big hand; let's give it to him by buying a bag of his flour.

No. 2250
THE STATE OF TEXAS,
COUNTY OF TERRY,
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS.
AUGUST TERM A. D. 1938.
TO THE HONORABLE DISTRICT COURT OF SAID COUNTY:

1. Now comes S. E. Roberts, who resides in Randall County, Texas hereinafter called plaintiff, complaining of Mrs. May W. Sharp, a widow who resides in Albuquerque, New Mexico, Sallie W. Panneck joined by her husband S. W. Panneck, who resides in Albuquerque, New Mexico, Orell Gambrell and her husband James H. Gambrell, who resides in El Paso, Texas, W. E. Harris who resides in Carrizozo, State of New Mexico, Jeffie Ray Rowe and her husband John A. Rowe, who reside in Los Angeles, California; Estell Harris Rogers and her husband G. L. Rogers of Albuquerque, State of New Mexico; Annie Bell Counts and her husband G. A. Counts who reside in West Point, New York; and Elizabeth Brownfield, Martha Brownfield, Jane Brownfield and A. D. Brownfield Jr. children of A. D. Brownfield, Sr. and their deceased mother Mattie H. Brownfield, who resides in Florida, State of New Mexico, that said defendants are all the children and children of deceased children of W. R. Harris and M. J. Harris, now deceased, hereinafter styled defendants; and for cause of action, plaintiff represents to the court that on or about the 1st day of January 1938, he was lawfully seized and possessed of the following described land and premises situated in Terry County, State of Texas, holding and claiming the same in fee simple to-wit: All of the South One-half of Section Number Sixteen (16) in Block T. Located by virtue of Certificate Number Eight (8) issued to the D. & W. Ry. Company original grantee containing 320 acres of land.

Beginning at a stake the N. E. Corner of Survey No. 1 Block M in the Southeast corner of this tract. Thence West 1900.8 Vrs. to stake the Southwest corner of this tract. Thence North 950.4 Vrs. to a stake for the N. W. Corner of this tract.

THENCE East 1900.8 Vrs. to a stake for the N. E. Corner of this tract.

THENCE South 950.4 Vrs. to a stake for the S. E. Corner of this tract and the place of beginning.

2. That on or about the 1st day of January A. D. 1938 defendants entered upon said premises and ejected plaintiff therefrom and unlawfully withheld from him possession thereof.

3. And for further cause of action plaintiff will show to the court that on the 30th day of October A. D. 1909 the land and premises described above belonged to the community estate of W. R. Harris and his deceased wife M. J. Harris, that on the 11th day of May A. D. 1909 the said W. R. Harris was appointed Community Administrator or survivor of the Community estate of himself and his deceased wife M. J. Harris, that he duly qualified by taking the oath of office and giving bond as required by law on said date. That on the 30th day of October A. D. 1909, believing that he was the sole owner of the said land above described tract of land he the said W. R. Harris executed a Warranty Deed, as an individual conveying said land to M. V. Brownfield, that on that date the said W. R. Harris was the legal Community Administrator of said estate. That he erroneously executed said deed as an individual instead of as Community Administrator of the Community Estate of himself and his deceased wife M. J. Harris; That since the 30th day of October A. D. 1909 the said M. V. Brownfield and his assigns has been in peaceable possession of said land and premises and have paid all taxes on said land assessed. On account of the error in the execution of the deed by W. R. Harris to M. V. Brownfield a cloud has been cast upon the title to said land.

Wherefore plaintiff prays Judgment of the court that defendants be cited to appear and answer this petition, that plaintiff have judgment for title and possession of said above described land and premises, that the Deed of W. R. Harris as an individual conveying said land to M. V. Brownfield be declared to the act of W. R. Harris as Community Administrator of the estate of himself and his deceased wife M. J. Harris, and for such other and further relief special and general, in law and in equity, that he may be justly entitled to.

C. B. Fleisher, Attorney for Plaintiff S. E. Roberts.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND and the Seal of said Court, at office in Brownfield this 27th day of July A. D. 1938.

Behind the Scenes In American Business

NEW YORK, July 25.—BUSINESS

—No let up appeared last week in the slow but persistent march toward recovery which was signaled a month ago by a dramatic upswing in prices of corporate stocks and commodities. Shoe retailers, along with other dealers in consumer goods, reported a distinct improvement in sales. With shoe prices generally lower than last year, shoe merchants are making every effort to duplicate this year the 1937 sales volume of nearly three pairs for each person in the U. S. From Detroit came word that July sales of new automobiles may be better than the June total of 188,000 cars. Meanwhile, it is reported that used car dealers are meeting with success in reducing the number of second hand cars on the market. News from both the steel and electric power industries is encouraging. Steel mills are operating at 36 per cent of capacity, the highest rate thus far in 1938, and power production last week was the highest since January 29.

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Treasury, it was disclosed last week, will ask Congress to remove future federal, state and municipal bonds from the tax exempt class, to extend the income to federal employees and to permit states to tax federal bonds and incomes of federal employees within their borders. Most businessmen consider this a worthy aim.

Taxation of government bonds should help businessmen to raise capital. Suppose a retired businessman has $10,000,000 to invest. If he puts it in government bonds at 3 per cent his annual return would be $300,000 upon which no tax would be levied under present laws. In order to give him this much net return, private business would have to offer him at least 10 per cent on his money, or $1,000,000 a year. Because after he'd finished paying the approximately $675,000 federal and state income tax on the $1,000,000 his actual income would be whittled to $325,000. Obviously men of wealth at present are not anxious to risk their money in private business when in many instances they can get the same net return by investing in relatively safe government bonds.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR—Combination comb and brush, so that the hair can be combed and brushed in one motion . . . Rubber flower pot; when the earth cakes around the plant, it can be broken up by merely squeezing the pot . . . Paper bag within the cloth bag of a vacuum cleaner; dirt collects directly in the paper bag, which is removed badly and discarded without exposing contents. . . . Photographic paper that can be developed into a picture merely by exposing it to steam.

RETAIL SURVEY—Businessmen large and small read with interest this week a survey published by Standard Statistics, Inc., which discusses the current status of federal an state legislation as it affects multiple outlets. Particular interest centers around the conclusion of the survey that time is running against the proponents of punitive taxation calculated to run the chain stores out of existence.

"Farmers have no sympathy with those who would cripple the chains," the survey says, "because they are important customers of large rural chain organizations and are against anything that would tend to raise prices in these outlets. More important, the farmer knows that the chains perform highly useful functions in taking surpluses of farm products off the market. Consumers and organized labor are also opposed to anything that tends to raise retail prices."

MEN'S CLOTHING—Clothing merchants, looking for higher wool prices are losing no time now stocking up on men's suits, overcoats and winter underwear, making due allowance of course for the possibility of a somewhat lower sales volume this fall and winter than last year. In the last month alone raw wool tops have risen from 75 cents to 82½ cents. Supplying Mr. John Doe with his new fall suit is a complicated business. Companies that make the cloth started designing patterns a year ago. The cloth was woven in their mills last fall, sold to manufacturers mostly located in eastern seaboard cities. They in turn began cutting and sewing the suits last winter. Right now salesmen for these manufacturers are on the road in all parts of the country selling 10 suits, here, a hundred suits there, depending on the needs of retail merchants.

HEADLINES IN NEW YORK — General Electric Co. sales in first half are $131,000,000, off 23 per cent from a year ago . . . Willys-Overland reduces prices up to $26 on 1938 models . . . Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. re-employees 1,400 workers; President John D. Biggers sees improved fall prospects for glass industry . . . Argentina to sell $25,000,000 bond issue in U. S. . . Industrial stocks in Japan dropped 21 per cent in value in last two months. British Parliament for first time in years seriously considers resumption of payment on war debt to U. S. . . $2,984,566 net income of National Biscuit Co. for 2nd quarter is slight gain over first quarter . . . FHA forecasts biggest residential building year since 1929 . . . Refiners' gasoline stocks cut as heavy demand continues.

MAKING OUR HIGHWAYS SAFE FOR TRAVEL

AUSTIN, July 25.—Texas streets and highways are definitely safer for the motoring public as shown by a steady decline in fatal traffic collisions, state police reported today.

Final tabulations of casualties in June revealed that 115 persons were killed in 1,026 accidents, a saving of 44 lives if compared with June, 1937, a total saving of 130 lives during the first half of 1938 compared with the same period of last year. There was a sharp drop in the number of crashes recorded in June compared with 1,417 reported in that month last year, when Texas' final death toll reached the unprecedented high mark of 2,043 fatalities.

A selective enforcement program—the placing of state patrolmen at strategic points where surveys show the largest number of fatal collisions taking place—which was put into effect recently, is the reason for the diminishing death rate, safety officials believe. With 300 mounted officers patrolling death stretches of highways there are authoritative predictions that Texas will rank as a safe state of the nation by the end of the year.

Encouraging to the recorders was the continued decrease in the number of pedestrians who met death under the wheels of vehicles, in most instances when pedestrians crossed streets at places other than intersections. The pedestrian death toll has steadily declined from 40 in January to 21 in June.

The fatal smash-ups involving bicycle riders brought a sharp warning from Captain Homer Garrison, Jr., assistant state police director, who pointed to the four death crashes of this type last month as examples of carelessness. He urged that riders of cycles carry lights and abide by traffic regulations that guide motorists.

In addition to the four deaths there were 27 bicycle riders severely injured in collisions.

An analysis to determine the primary causes of 1,026 of the fatal and more serious crashes in June revealed that 99 involved drivers and pedestrians who had been drinking, 94 drivers ignored laws governing right-of-way, and 78 were driving too near the center of highways or on the wrong side. Speed ranked fourth as the principal contributing causes in 72 of the 1,026 collisions.

Regarding the 1938 traffic situation, Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the safety department, commented: "In urging Texans to bring to their state a national record for traffic safety, we would like for every driver to take personal inventory of his driving faults, and correct them. None of us are perfect drivers, so there is an urgent need for individual responsibility." Police can prevent many collisions but too often they have to assist at inquests over dead traffic victims—all unnecessarily killed."

WHAT ARE THE DUTIES OF BANK DIRECTORS?

Stated in simple terms, it is the duty of bank directors to direct.

They are elected by the owners of the bank, the stockholders who delegate to the board of directors the responsibility of management. The directors, in turn, hire the officers who, with other employees, carry on the daily work of running the bank.

But the final and inescapable responsibility for the bank rests upon its board of directors. It is their job to exercise control and supervision of its affairs. It is their duty to know about the important phases of the bank's business and the manner in which it is conducted.

Our directors actively direct the affairs of these banks. They meet regularly to pass on important matters, to make decisions and establish policies which guide our officers in the daily management of the bank.

Peak Climb Climaxes Truck Run

A rugged climax to a gruelling grind was this climb up Pikes Peak by the Chevrolet Long Distance Safety and Dependability Run truck which has covered more than 50,000 miles of the nation's highways since January 10. The American Automobile Association sanctioned and observed run exceeded by more than 20,000 miles any previous AAA-observed test. The above photos depict the ascent of the world's highest motor road. Upper left shows Stanley Reed, official AAA observer who accompanied the truck on its record-shattering run, recording a barometric reading. Upper right are the AAA officials who certified all records of the climb. Lower right are Harry Hartz (left) and Louis Unser. Hartz, widely known in auto racing circles, drove the truck over its thousands of miles, while Unser, winner of the annual Pikes Peak climb the past three years, was at the wheel of the truck on its ascent. The two center views illustrate typical road conditions which the truck conquered on the 12½-mile push from the peak's base to the summit, 14,099 feet above sea level.

THE OLE SWIMMIN' HOLE is the center of many of the battles of the Citizens Military Training Camp, being held at Fort Sill from July 5th to August 3rd for 1,100 Oklahoma and Texas boys. Swimming is just one of the many interesting sports.

REFRIGERATOR ROLLS

2 c Milk
2 t Salt
¼ c Sugar
1-3 c Shortening
1 Cake Compressed Yeast
6 c Sifted Bread Flour (about)
Scald milk, place in large mixing bowl with salt, sugar and 1-4 cupful shortening. Cool. When lukewarm, add crumbled yeast cake and 3 cupfuls of flour and beat thoroughly. Gradually stir in remaining flour, adding just enough to make a dough slightly stiffer than that for bread. Turn on floured board and knead until smooth and elastic, adding flour as necessary. Place dough in greased bowl and brush with melted shortening. Cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk (2 to 4 hours). Knead and return to the bowl. Cover tightly and place in refrigerator until ready to use. About 1 hour before baking remove desired quantity, and shape as desired and place in greased pan; brush with melted shortening, cover and let rise in warm place until very light. Preheat oven to 425 degrees F. Bake 15 to 20 minutes. Makes about 3 to 4 dozen rolls. — Courtesy of West Texas Gas Co.

Down the Road to Death or Wounds

SEEING IN THE DARK

When night falls, Death stalks the unlighted American highway. The night driver has from four to ten times as many accident-provoking hazards to contend with as the motorist who confines his use of the road to daytime travel. Steering a motor vehicle over a dark highway, despite the low volume of traffic on the road after the sun goes down, is as uncertain a process as a roll of the dice. It's an extremely dangerous game in which is always the stake and in which Death usually holds the winning cards.

Twenty-three thousand eight hundred or 60 per cent of the 39,700 persons killed in traffic accidents last year met Death on the highway after dark. The rapidity of modern, streamlined transportation has catapulted the American highway user beyond the security he used to enjoy within the range of his headlights at a slower speed and in a less powerful vehicle. The headlights of the 1938 model motor vehicle are doing more than a good job when they penetrate as much as 200 feet of darkness. If you are driving at the rate of sixty miles an hour, your motor vehicle will cover those 200 feet in a little under two seconds.

Not much chance in two seconds, in that limited range of visibility, to clearly define the obstacle ahead, to make up your mind what to do to avoid collision, to slam on the brakes to swing your vehicle around and beyond the hazard, with Death chuckling up his sleeve at your frantic efforts. And, all too often, that's the end of you, except for the fact that you are next day added to a string of figures that last year totaled a disgraceful 23,800. All because you couldn't see in the dark.

Night traffic-accident fatalities have increased close to forty per cent since 1930. During that same period of time motor-vehicle deaths during daytime hours decreased three per cent. It has been determined that your chances of becoming involved in a fatal traffic accident at night are twice as great as they are during the day. It has been further determined that the cost of night accidents range from $2,000 to $8,000 a mile.

Well, you say, I'm interested, but what proof is there that highway lighting reduces the night traffic-accident fatality and serious injury rate? One of the most convincing answers to that question is the four-year study of the parkways of Westchester County, New York. With lights in full after-dark service, the ratio of day to night accidents was 1 to 2.2; with lighting reduced 40 per cent, the ratio jumped to 1 to 3.7, and with all lights turned off, the rate climbed to 1 to 4.8. Here's another good one. Recent figures obtained from the New York State Highway Department concerning Route 17-C, at Binghamton, show that highway illumination reduced night fatalities 67 per cent, entirely eliminated serious night injuries, dropped night pedestrian accidents 75 per cent and cut all night accidents in half. An outstanding example of another state's interest in lighting highways for safe night driving is New Jersey's recent illumination of White Horse Pike, running fifty-six miles across the state from Camden to Atlantic City.

Keith Kaiser of Sweetwater was a visitor in the home of Flem McSpadden, Thursday.

Jerry and Janet Youngblood were in Lubbock shopping Monday, July 25th. They leave for a tour of Mississippi, August 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Mon Telford and Mon Junior left Thursday for Lampasas to attend a reunion of Mrs. Telford's people.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By Julian Capers, Jr.

AUSTIN—Thundering down the home-stretch in the great 1938 Texas gubernatorial sweepstakes, as this column is written, were eleven entrants. The zero hour is Saturday, when nearly a million poll-tax and exemption certificate holders were expected to go to the polls and eliminate nine of the horses. The two leaders will then go into the second and final heat, August 27.

As they neared the finish line, three horses were leading the field, running so close together that few dared to predict the final outcome. They were—in alphabetical order—Bill McCraw, the Attorney General; Lee O'Daniel, the Fort Worth flour man; and Ernest O. Thompson, the railroad commissioner. Next in line was Tom Hunter, still in position to get into the money with a last minute sprint.

Which two of these four will qualify for the second heat was the big question puzzling the political experts. They freely admitted the freakish O'Daniel boom has them confused, although the great majority believed O'Daniel was a certainty for the run-off. Thompson and McCraw were battling to a finish for the other place in the runoff with opinion sharply divided as to which will be successful. Thompson forces, supremely confident, believed the constructive campaign of their candidate, kept scrupulously clean and without mentioning the other candidates, will bring their man under the wire a winner. McCraw, with slashing attacks on O'Daniel, in which he has raised the issues of sectionalism, poll-tax payments, and hill-billy music, claimed the race is between himself and O'Daniel. But those opposing him asserted his campaign has collapsed, and his sudden switch from wise-cracks to bitter sarcasm is evidence that he feels he must do something to reform his shattered lines, or go down.

The Attorney General has found O'Daniel a worthy foe in the exchange of repartee, and the flour candidate has laughed off McCraw's vicious attacks with little apparent damage to his cause. The big surprise of the campaign may lie in the question of how much O'Daniel talk will resolve itself into votes Saturday. There is still a possibility that the flour man may pull up lame, and find Thompson and McCraw fighting it out for the Governorship.

Allred Is Judge

More than a year ago, this column gave its readers a detailed forecast that Gov. James V. Allred would be judge of the new South Texas Federal District Court. The prediction was unqualified, based upon information from a high Washington source. Later, other Texas newspaper correspondents carried rumors of the event, but weakened from time to time on their stories, and hedged. This column has never weakened, its source repeatedly confirming the original story.

Any political commentator writing from Austin is required to make a good many guesses in a year. Many go wrong, naturally, but to stay in business, the commentator must score more hits than misses. This commentator therefore, takes some pride in the development which this week landed Allred in this judgeship, exactly as forecast in detail.

Will Quit About Sept. 1

The Governor indicated he will resign after the second primary, immediately after President Roosevelt announced his appointment at Wichita Falls. Soon after his return to Austin, he issued a statement hedging on this statement to some extent, and saying he wanted to serve as much as possible of his term as Governor out. That hedging statement was in response to pressure from friends of Jerry Mann and Ralph Yarborough, candidates for Attorney General against Lt. Gov. Walter Woodul, who will become Governor when Allred steps down. Smart observers here figured the knowledge that Woodul will be Governor nearly five months will be worth 25,000 to 50,000 additional votes to Woodul, and probably put him so far ahead in the Attorney General's race that there will be no runoff. Recognizing this, Woodul's opponents put pressure on Allred.

But Allred's hedging statement is obviously just that. The newly created court opens its first term on Monday, Sept. 5. Allred is the new Court's first judge. It is a 10 to 1 bet that he will take his seat on the bench when the new court opens for business, with a crowded docket.

And Senator Tom Connally will sleep sounder during the next two years, knowing that Jimmie Allred will not oppose him for re-election in 1940.

Notes

The full name of Gov. Jimmie Allred is "James Burr V. Allred" and not James Veto Allred, as one newspaper suggested during the last special session—the Governor told reporters this week. His three names came from three uncles, and the "V" doesn't stand for anything, that being the first name of one of the uncles. . . . Judge Robert Lee Bobbitt, chairman of the State Highway Commission, and fearless advocate of what he thinks is right in politics, added impetus to the Thompson campaign this week, when he made a half-hour radio campaign speech for Ernest Thompson, giving the Amarillo his unqualified support. . . . Successor to Capt. L. G. Phares, deposed chief of the highway patrol, is Captain Fred Hickman, veteran of the patrol service since its organization in 1930. Hickman has had 15 years experience in every phase of law enforcement work, and is popular with county peace officers throughout the State. He came originally from Whitesboro, Grayson County. . . . The State tax rate probably will not be fixed by the Automatic Tax board, which includes the Governor, Comptroller and Treasurer, until after the elections. Thirty county assessors failed to file estimates of taxable valuations by the deadline date, July 15, as required by law. The Board probably will meet by July 20, and postpone action. Two of its three members are candidates for re-election, and would not rather levy taxes until after the voters have spoken. . . . Five million dollars of the new road construction, to keep Texas Contractors and their laborers busy during the remainder of this calendar year, will be let by August 1. The Highway Department opened bids on over $2,000,000 of work this week, and called for bids on another $3,000,000 for July 30.

Miss Alma Fern Green is in Canyon visiting this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Louder were visitors in town Tuesday.

School Transfers Must Be Made By Monday

According to Judge R. A. Simms, those wishing to transfer their children from one district to another, must do so by Monday, as that will be the last day allowed for transferring.

As we understand the law, children so transferred will carry the state appropriation with them, to help pay their tuition in the school in which they propose to attend school. Otherwise they may have to pay tuition if the transfer is not made before that date.

OPENING WILL ROGERS HIGHWAY TO BE CELEBRATED

AMARILLO, July 26.—Irvin S. Cobb, author-actor; Leo Carillo, film star and a number of other motion picture notables who were associated intimately with Will Rogers, plainsman and philosopher, are interested in "Old Southwest Days," the pageant to be staged here, August 15-16-17. Interests in the celebration to mark official opening of the Will Rogers route, Highway 66, is keen because the pageant will depict not only historical highlights, but also interesting in the life of the humorist and humanitarian.

Business leaders and officials of the Southern California have completed plans for a mammoth motorcade, to leave the Pacific Coast, Aug. 12, for Amarillo.

A similar motorcade will be formed at the eastern terminal of the route, Chicago.

More than 1,500 persons, many of whom will be from other cities have parts in the pageant.

It's a Toss-Up—A Toast to Taste

A trick of the old-time bartender—tossing a drink from glass to glass—is being revived by modern maidens at summer drink fountains. This brings tree-ripened freshness to canned fruit juice, grapefruit growers in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas have found. The explanation: Grapefruit juice, which is packed now in its full fresh taste, is put up in vacuum—all air removed. To serve, "put the air back." Fountains and restaurants featuring the drink this summer pour the grapefruit juice from cans into their motor-driven mixing machines to aerate it.

Fence Increases The Feed Supply

It is easy to see an extra stack of hay in the barnyard, but many a potential extra stack escapes notice because it is scattered over the farm, in fence corners, along the branch, or grows in crop fields after they are laid by. No farmer would see it all in one pile; he would reach for his shot gun if anyone threatened to take it away without paying for it. There is only one way to save such odds and ends of grain or forage, which is to let livestock do the harvesting. Whether it is crab grass in the corn field, shattered grain in the oatfield, bermuda in unplowed nooks and crannies, it is meat, milk, or wool in the raw.

A stock tight fence around a single field so that it can be grazed may easily be worth more than an extra stack of hay in the barnyard. Not only is the feed worth more if grazed when green; not only is the yam of harvesting avoided; not only is feed saved which cannot otherwise be used; the humus is left in the land in the manure; every day that the animal feed themselves is one day less day of serving it to them on a pitchfork. The time it takes to build a fence will shorten the chores for many a year.

The division of the farm into three or four sections for systematic rotation of crops is the first essential of good farming. The present agricultural adjustment act conforms to this principle of management in designating "soil depleting" and "soil conserving" crops, leaving permanent pastures and the remainder of the cultivated land in a different category. But crop rotations cannot be fully utilized to the best advantage without livestock and poultry; livestock cannot be kept more efficiently and economically unless they have access to each of the farm whenever it supplies feed which they can harvest for themselves; and every field and pasture can be grazed only when it is properly fenced.

It would be highly desirable to fence the entire farm at once, after carefully planning for convenience and permanency, but not every farmer can do this. Since we must set up a rotation system, however, to receive the benefits of the national farm act, and good business judgment requires that we make the most of the rotation both in the interest of immediate income and of permanent productivity, we can begin by fencing at least one field a year until the entire farm is subdivided.

A few years ago Jack Shelton added a farm flock of sheep to Luling Foundation farm's productive capacity by the simple expedient of fencing in a creek which wound its way through the cultivated fields. Enough grass grew on its sloping banks and in its sharp bends to keep the sheep, and incidentally, they kept down the weeds which formerly served only to seed the nearby plow land.

Lightning Strikes State Highway Camp

R. T. Roane informed us this week that during the rainstorm Monday afternoon 16 miles west of Brownfield on 84, lightning struck a small shack, which was destroyed, along with a few tools and four barrels of gasoline. Luckily no one was hurt by the bolt.

This fire was seen for miles, and rumor has been going that all tools were destroyed, which is far from the truth. In fact, work will be continued uninterrupted.

Mr. Roane stated that the gasoline barrels seemed to go hundreds of feet in the air as they exploded.

Trees Grow in Semi-Arid Plains

No longer is it necessary that the Plains country be a vast, treeless expanse. Farmers are finding that adapted species attain a growth of 10 to 12 feet within three years if given the benefit of additional water and frequent cultivation. Water diverted from a roadway has been diverted to this tree site on one of the Soil Conservation Service demonstration projects.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr. (left center), Chairman of the Board of General Motors Corporation, visiting Detroit to address Chevrolet's School of Modern Merchandising and Management, commended the work being done by this unique business training school for the sons of automobile dealers. These young men came to Detroit from all parts of the country to study every phase of automobile merchandising and management. On Mr. Sloan's right is Wm. E. Most Candidate Take Defeat Philosophically

To be defeated for office is a hard blow, and the man or woman who can rise above defeat, can really take it. We have never seen defeated candidates take it better than in the recent primary. They are still friendly with every one, and have a smile for all.

Occasionally a defeated candidate will get it into his head that there was some crooked work done, or that all men (and women these days) are liars, and that they do not have any friends. Occasionally there is a little crooked work even in our own small populated west Texas counties. But we are persuaded that little of such happened in the late primary.

As to no friends, because you are defeated, that is no sign at all. Perhaps you are personally more popular than the man that defeated you, but the voters perhaps were of the opinion that the other fellow would make a better state, county or precinct officer than you. They may be mistaken, of course, but they have a right to their own opinion, also to their vote—it didn't cost you or me a penny.

We have heard many people express themselves before the primary that this had been one of the cleanest county elections they had ever seen, with less mud slinging. So, if you are in the least swelled at any one, clear up, and smile, smile and smile!

Highway Work On 84 Started in Lynn

State highway No. 84 from Toluca east to the Lynn-Garza county line, is now under construction, according to a news release in last week's Lynn County News. Work on the project started early last week. All of the unopened portion of Highway 84 lying in Lynn county, a distance of fourteen and one-half miles, is included in the improvement program.

This is a state and WPA project, and no definite time is designated for its completion.

Immediate work will be building lake fill and drainage structures, but it is hoped caliche laying will follow soon, and subsequently an asphalt topping applied.

Says a Hole-in-One Not Such a Thrill

Evidently Tom May sent a copy of the Herald to Dr. John R. May, in which we commented somewhat on the doctor's making a hole-in-one recently on a golf course at Little Rock, for he comes back with a letter of date July 11, and tells us that a hole-in-one is not such a thrill after all, as one cannot help but know that it is generally purely accidental.

The doctor stated that the Herald brought back memories of the time spent in Brownfield years ago with his family, when the Herald was just a "yearling" and the town wasn't so big either. He promises to pay us a visit some of these days, and invites all old timers to drop by and see him when passing through Little Rock.

Dr. May is superintendent of the Pulaski County Hospital, which takes all kinds of cases, strictly charitable, except mental cases. This hospital has 200 beds with a daily average of 190 patients. He has a resident staff of three physicians and three internes, with a consultant staff of over 100 doctors.

LEA COUNTY, N. M. IS JUSTLY PROUD OF FINE, NEW BUILDING

An architectural Believe It or Not—that is the new $250,000 court house for proud Lea county, N. M., at Lovington.

And—possibly the only case of its kind anywhere in the Southwest—not a cent is owed on it, despite its having been completed only recently. Taxes on oil taken from the rich pools of the county allowed for constructing the building for cash.

There was enough left for paying $35,000 in cash for a law library too! Of four stories, counting the basement, the building is one of the most modern anywhere. The architecture is modern and emblematic in the exterior walls and tower here and there in interior walls tell stories of Indian culture in New Mexico.

O. R. Walker of Lubbock, architect, said furnishings have only recently been installed.

The facade of the structure is of buff brick trimmed with cut stone and having a granite base. Spandrels are of cast aluminum.

The jail has a terrazzo floor that is cleaned by pouring scalding water on it.

And the map of Lea county, with important roads, oil fields, towns and other distinguishing characteristics is worked into the terrazzo floor in front of the elevator in the ground floor lobby.

Completion of the building was announced approximately six months ago—Lubbock Avalanche.

W. T. C. OF C. TO APPROVE RAIL DIFFERENTIAL INCREASE

ABILENE, July 26 — Continuing its policy of many years standing in opposing maintenance by railroads of the differential rate territory in West Texas, as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will intervene at a hearing in El Paso, August 1 in support of the Texas Railroad Commission's refusal to authorize intrastate freight rate increases, recently authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission in this territory.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce, through its traffic committee, although not opposing the original application for general rate increases, did oppose the extension of the increase in the 50 year-old differential territory in West Texas. This territory, which includes 70 West Texas counties, bears a 15 per cent penalty above the basic rate on its shipments.

If the regional organization is successful in its fight to defeat the proposed increase in this area, it will result in practically eliminating the differential territory, and will mean the saving of millions of dollars to the farmers, livestock raisers, business men and other citizens in the area. Terry county is in the differential territory which includes all counties west of a line running approximately from Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Big Spring and San Antonio.

The Texas Railroad Commission refused to grant the increases in the differential territory and on certain commodities. The proposed increases are 5 per cent on livestock, 5 per cent on cottonseed and products except cottonseed oil which would bear a 10 per cent increase and 10 per cent on class traffic which includes merchandise and goods.

THAT CONFIDENCE

For more than three weeks the stock market has been rising, with both volume of trade and prices reaching levels not seen since last year. A rising market does not necessarily mean prosperity right away but it does mean that a great many people have confidence in the prospects of sound business in the near future, because this has been no simple crowding out of shorts but buying securities for cash delivery. And confidence, like fear, is infectious.

MRS. CHESSIR PASSES

Mrs. Daniel Chessir, 75, better known perhaps to old timers as Mrs. N. W. Jones, passed away of a heart attack about noon Wednesday, after a brief illness beginning Tuesday night.

Funeral arrangements had not been made Wednesday afternoon, as word was awaited from some of the children who do not live here.

Mrs. Jones was born and reared in Arkansas, and she and her former husband, who passed away in September 1935, reared a family of boys and girls. They moved from Floyd county more than 20 years ago.

Mrs. Jones was a consecrated member of the Church of Christ. Her second husband and her six children survive.

L. F. Bookman, traveling salesman for the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., accompanied by editor Stotson Henry and son, Paul, of the Lorenzo Enterprise, were here Monday, and were pleasant callers at the Herald office.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lawlis were pained to hear of the loss of their girl at Sundown in Hockley County last week. We understand that it was a total loss with not nearly enough insurance to cover it.

Mrs. J. N. Campbell, wife of Rev. Campbell of Meadow, was in our city Monday. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Paul Campbell and little son, Clarence Newton, of Mercedes, who are visiting their parents and grandparents. A mighty fine youngster, even if he don't live in old Terry County.
