Garza 'quiet' for primaries

Garza county is so "politically quiet" with the upcoming primaries only nine days away that some of the county candidates are complaining.

But Precinct 3 County Commissioner Mike Cisneros isn't upset. Opposed by three opponents in his bid for reelection to a new four-year term, Mike is laid up in Highland Hospital in Lubbock with a broken leg.

He has enlisted his wife, daughter and friends to campaign for him. Both Democrats and Republicans will hold primaries this year — and all the presidential candidates voters have been reading about and seeing on TV lately will be on the ballot.

The Demos will have a non-binding presidential preference referendum with

Post teachers voted $800 annual hike

Post teachers were voted an across the board $800 cost of living pay raise for the 1980-81 school year by school trustees last Thursday night after clearing the high school library of a teachers committee and The Dispatch editor "to discuss" the pay boost.

The board unanimously voted to increase teachers salaries here from $400 over state minimum to $1,200 over state minimum.

It was the first pay increase voted by the local school board in 20 years, since the $400 "over state" was adopted in 1960. State salaries have been raised many times since, however.

The increase for some 80 teachers on the faculty will cost the school district approximately $56,000 per year.

Jack Lott, school board president, said the board "overlooked" considering pay increases at the end of the long meeting for auxiliary school personnel, but he said he felt sure the board would vote a pay increase for them before the start of the 1980-81 school year.

The auxiliary personnel increase also had been on the April agenda along with the teachers.

The four-teacher committee representing the teachers who sat through the long session included Nancy Shaw, president of the local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association, Sandra Alexander, Ida Jones and Nancy Vaughn.

Asked if they had any comment to make to the board on teachers pay before trustees went into "closed door session", Mrs. Shaw said her group recommended following TSTA recommendations, a copy of which she said she had given Lott, and that the teachers were "opposed" merit pay raises.

The Dispatch asked Lott if the board had voted on the request for the executive session and was told the trustees okayed the closed door by a unanimous vote.

School trustees last year had some long discussions on how to attract teachers for the Post schools and a sizable pay boost suggestion was put on the table at that time, but no action was taken. The matter hasn't been discussed since.

A survey was made at that time to determine what other West Texas school districts were paying "above state."

BANQUET SPEAKER — Dallas Cowboy Secondary Coach Gene Stallings, above, will be the speaker here Monday night at the All-Sports Banquet in the community center honoring Post High School athletes.

Banquet Monday for PHS athletes

Post sport fans will get their second opportunity to hear a Dallas Cowboy standout speak Monday night at the annual All Sports banquet in the Post Community Center.

Gene Stallings, defensive backfield coach for the professional football team, will be speaker for the Antelope Booster club sponsored event.

Coach Stallings is beginning his eighth season as the Cowboys' secondary coach. He already has presided over the development of two All-Pro safeties — Cliff Harris and Charlie Waters.

Stallings joined Tom Landry's staff in 1972 after seven years (1965-71) as head coach of his alma mater, Texas A & M University.

Gene was an All-Southwest Conference offensive end at A & M under Bear Bryant before spending one year as a student assistant coach. He moved with Bryant to Alabama as an

$14,245 spent on band— Board buys 80 uniforms

Post school trustees almost got "financial fatigue" before they finished a long four and one-half hour April session in the high school library around midnight last Thursday night.

Besides granting local teachers an $800 cost of living pay increase across the board, they also:

Approved purchase of 80 new uniforms for the Antelope Band at a cost of $14,245.60;

Authorized a $24,405 expenditure for basic kitchen equipment in the remodeling and expansion of the school lunchroom;

And authorized their architect to get an estimate on the cost of some school paving, which is sure to run into a sizable figure if voted by the board.

At least, trustees had one thing going for them — a report to expect a major boost in school district taxable oil valuation in the $20 million or more range.

All the money proposals also had their effect when the board got around to examining the monthly tax report. Noting a $54,000 tax delinquency on 1979 taxes, trustees ordered an up to date list of tax delinquents on real property prepared for both 1978 and 1979 for future study.

As they arrived, trustees looked over two different band uniforms for which bids had been received.

They selected for purchase the uniform favored by Band Director Steven See School trustees, Page 14

Broom sale here Saturday

The Post Lions Club will hold its annual Mop and Broom Sale here all-day Saturday with club proceeds going to fund its long standing project of providing eye glasses for the elderly and needy children.

Broom Sale Chairman Ray Bagby said the sales truck will be parked in the middle of the 100 block West Main in front of KPOS with Lions handling sales of a wide variety of cleaning products and specialty items from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The products are provided by the Lighthouse for the Blind, an excellent cause in itself.

Bagby said phone orders will be accepted and delivered by calling either 2139 or 2831.

A house to house sales canvass also is planned.

Bagby emphasized that all products which will be sold during the sale are top quality and urged Post residents and business folks to stock up Saturday in the cleaning department.

See the Lions' Broom sale ad on page 3 for a list of products.

Public meeting abuse

The old adage "money talks" is the only explanation offered to the public by school trustees when they went into one of those "closed door sessions" to decide on a pay increase for Post teachers.

With nobody looking in or listening, they agreed to an $800 across-the-board boost to each teacher, increasing the local pay scale for the next school year from $400 above state salaries to $1,200 above.

In shutting the door to the discussion, The Dispatch is convinced the board made a serious error which at least some of them will regret being a party too in the future.

Teachers salaries are the biggest item in the school district budget. That means the subject is of prime importance to the entire school district from a cost, or tax standpoint. It also is of prime importance from the standpoint that if higher pay is a lever to attract better teachers then all parents with school age kids are mighty interested from that angle.

Was it enough? Too little, too much? Were other ideas considered? What was the thought in selecting their particular method? Was merit pay discussed? If so, what were the trustees conclusions about merit pay? Lots of additional questions can be asked. But there are no answers.

In shutting the door, school trustees passed up a golden opportunity for better public relations with the school district's taxpayers, parents, and teachers.

When they close the door to discuss such an important subject, people invariably asked why.

So let's look at why?

The state public meetings law does permit local boards to close their doors to public scrutiny when they discuss personnel problems, or business actions in which advance public knowledge might be the board's detriment (costwise for example in a decision to buy property,) or in consultation with attorneys over legal matters which could result in future court action against the school district.

"The Good Life"

Richard West in the May issue of Texas Monthly wrote a wonderful article about Texas small towns entitled "The Good Life."

"There are places in Texas where the old virtues still survive," he wrote, "where you can leave your keys in the car or walk anywhere at midnight. Though Texas has more metropolitan areas than any other state, it still has an ample supply of unspoiled small towns."

West toured the state looking for the best small towns, between 1,000 and 10,000 population.

"Picking the best small towns is like choosing a friend," he wrote. "You look for trust (you can leave your house unlocked and keep your silver on display,) health (the town is economically and politically vibrant, dominated neither by a doddering, closed gerontocracy nor by the vulgar rich,) love for life (there are celebrations and festival that bring history alive and make the town more than a museum) and loyalty (as Lyndon Johnson used to say, 'They know when you're sick and they care when you die.')

West's own personal criteria for small-town greatness: A view and fine scenery, at least one cafe that serves good gossip along with hearty staples, a lively newspaper that acts as the conscience of the community, an enthusiastic church choir and a dramatic preacher, a good library, air

The law doesn't permit a lot of this, just in a few cases considered essential.

Actually, teachers' salaries overall doesn't really come under any of these headings in a true sense though its discussion was undoubtedly shuttered under "personnel." The board isn't examining a particular problem of a particular teacher here where public knowledge and an individual's rights might come jarringly into conflict.

Board action on teachers salaries is just making a business decision. There should be no secrets on such a general subject.

Why then was the door closed?

Basically, The Dispatch guesses, so that board members could speak their own thoughts freely without the teachers or the public knowing exactly who was for what and why.

That, to our way of thinking, is not a good reason to close the door of a business decision affecting a million dollar a year business, (or closer to a two million dollar a year business) in which almost every school district citizen is a "stockholder" with voting rights.

We have had some trustees tell us in the past that they did not favor closed door meetings and would insist on a vote on such a procedure as required by law.

They voted last Thursday night. They all voted to close the door.

Whether the board made a good decision on the salary increase with the facts they had at hand no one but trustees themselves actually know.

We're sorry it happened. It was a golden public relations opportunity missed for maybe a bit of personal protection. We don't like it and always try to make our point when something like this happens locally.

The Dispatch campaigned vigorously for the open meetings law long before the legislature finally passed it. And we will continue to stand up for it — and against its abuse.

you can breathe and water you can drink without worrying about chemical content, an honest mechanic, and a maximum of three minutes to cross town.

West names Alpine, Fredericksburg, Navasota, Shiner, and Canadian as his top five Texas small towns, which he calls "as different as the widely scattered parts of Texas they represent yet all share a pride and vigor that is unique to places where people have a sense of belonging together as a family."

Among his "near misses" West lists Athens at the edge of the Piney Woods; Granbury, home of the most princely town square in Texas; Castroville, Jacksonville, Palestine, Woodville, Floydada, which like most High Plains towns was eliminated because of long range water problems; and Rio Grande City in the Valley, which West notes is not incorporated, and is desperately poor, but "where else can you find three great Mexican restaurants within walking distance of each other?"

"Do not resist," he wrote, "when a tiny thought pops into your mind about 'I've got to get out of the city.'"

Of the cities, he writes: "Think about long lines and short tempers, locked doors and open classrooms, crowded streets and empty churches, horizontal homes and vertical parking garages, too few smiles and too many smells."

Richard West makes a score for the small towns. We bet he came from one.

Norman-Greene vows are exchanged Friday

MRS. JEFFERY LEE GREENE
(Jarita Lynne Norman)

Xi Delta Rho elects Hays

Kay Hays was elected president of Xi Delta Rho Monday night, April 14, during their regular meeting. Other officers are Christy Morris, vice president; Jenny Francis, secretary; Cheryl Blair, treasurer; Joan Smith, Extension officer; and Nancy Shaw, parliamentarian.

April 28 has been set aside as the next social for the club members at which time they will present the "Girl of the Year" award. This will be held at 7 p.m. The "Ritual of Jewels" ceremony was held for Jenny Francis Monday night.

Jarita Lynne Norman and Jeffery Lee Greene exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony Friday evening at seven o'clock in the Graham Chapel United Methodist Church.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Donny Crowson, before an altar draped with a garland of stephanos, orchid pom pom mums, greenery and orchid bows. On either side of the altar, there were tapered candleabra with greenery and orchid bows. The bridal aisle was marked with orchid satin bows.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jim R. Norman, Route 3, and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Greene are the parents of the bridegroom.

Wedding music was provided by Nancy Flannigan, cousin of the bride, at the piano. She accompanied Maritta Jackson as she sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, presented in marriage by her father, wore a flowing candlelight formal gown of sheer silk organza over a strapless bodice. The strapless bodice was adorned with re-embroidered guipure lace motifs. The sheer overblouse featured a high neckline accented by the lace motifs, long flowing sleeves which were gathered at the wrist, and a peplum style back. The skirt fell to a full chapel train. She wore a pleated picture hat tied in the back with a flat bow and long streamers.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white rosebuds, orchid pom poms and baby's breath. As she came down the aisle, she presented her mother with a long-stemmed silk rose and kissed her. Following the ceremony, she presented her mother-in-law with a silk rose and kissed her.

The bride carried out the wedding tradition with something old, her great grandmother's wedding ring; something new, her dress and a necklace, given to her by her parents; something borrowed, was the bridegroom's great grandmother's wedding band. She also wore a blue garter.

Attending as matron of honor was the bride's sister, Jamie Sims. She wore a long orchid gown of Selestia fabric with long tapered sleeves. She carried a long stemmed white silk rose with white ribbon streamers.

Benny Greene of Lubbock served his brother as best man.

Amber Sims, neice of the bride, was a flower girl. She wore a long dress of orchid dotted swiss with a white pinafore.

The candles were lit by Tina Greene, sister of the groom, and Jay Norman, brother of the bride.

Jimmy Norman, brother of the bride, ushered the mothers of the couple and the grandmothers, Mrs. Travis Gilmore and Mrs. E. M. Norman, down the aisle.

A reception followed in the Graham Community Center. Members of the houseparty were Jennie Cowdrey, Orabeth White, Glenda McClellan and Roxanne.

Guests were registered by Miss Patti Ann McClellan. Three brass candleholders with white frosted crystal rose votive candles and a crystal wedding bell adorned the registry table which was covered with an orchid and white lace cloth.

Assisting with the serving were Jodi Palmer and Karla Morris.

The oval serving table was covered with a candlelight gathered cloth and featured an orchid sheer drape which was gathered up at three points with white silk roses and ribbon streamers. The silk roses were made by Sue Maxey. The centerpiece was an arrangement of orchid and white carnations, pom pom mums and stock with single tapers on either side. The 4-tiered wedding cake, punch, mints and nuts were served. Crystal appointments were used.

Lil:

We have chosen this means to express our appreciation so that others in our community may know what a determining factor you were in helping to produce the best art show in our history.

We know that you were busy months before the show and were on call every day to each of us with problems or questions concerning the show.

We appreciate not only the contribution you made toward our recent exhibit, and others in the past, but your ability as President to lead us according to our individual temperaments and capabilities. This may be your finest work of art.

Fat cattle production is still high, survey shows

Sam Thomas, manager of agricultural development for Southwestern Public Service Company in Amarillo, has announced that 4,891,492 fat cattle were produced in 1979 in the 45,000 square mile area served by SPS. This is a decrease of 1.67 percent over the previous year but is still the third largest number ever produced in a 12 months period.

These facts were shown in a survey conducted by SPS each year since 1963. The survey is quoted throughout the United States as the most authoritative source as to the production of fat cattle in the Southern Great Plains area.

"During the 1979 period, the feedlot capacity came to 2,718,549, which reflects a reduction of 9851 head over 1978," Thomas said. "The total impact of the feedyard industry on the business community exceeded 13.8-billion dollars and the farm sale value exceeded 5,595-million dollars."

The total feedlots surveyed remained the same as last year. Lots with a 1000 head capacity and above decreased by 4 percent and lots with 5000 head capacity and above increased by 2.56 percent. Total feed lot capacity decreased by .03 percent.

Thomas said, "Over production of pork and poultry have caused prices on these products to drop and also caused the price of beef to drop. Beef prices are difficult to maintain at more than 1 3/4 that of pork. If this glut of pork and poultry continues, fat cattle prices could drop to 45 cents."

The feed yards used 195,659,680 bushels of feed grain and 1,222,873 tons of silage. At 50 cents per pound cost of gain and 400 pound gain per animal, the feedlot bill is estimated at $978,298,400. At 52 cents per pound cost of gain, the feedlot bill is increased to Restarting a car can use less gasoline than a minute's idling. Turn off your engine if you'll be stopped for more than a minute.

$1,017,430,336, and at 54 cents to $1,056,562,272.

Thomas said the interest cost at 16 percent for the time the animals were in the feed lot would amount to $241,248,385, or $49.32 per animal, about 5 cents per pound live weight or 8 cents on dressed weight.

The survey has made a major contribution to the development and growth of the industry and has been especially valuable in the vertical integration that has occurred in the SPS service area.

Huntley Nursing Home News

Sunday, April 13th, was a red letter day for Hulen Hoyle. He was 70 years of age, still working and happy with life. He had lunch with us and we surprised him with a birthday cake. The decorations on the cake were limited due to the space it took for seventy candles which he quickly blew out. Hulen has two jobs. He works at Colliers Drug and he works in the maintenance department at our home. We think the most important thing Hulen does is listen and talk to the residents. He always has a kind and encouraging word for all of us. Hulen, and his wife Bernice, have 10 children and 35 grandchildren. All of their children live in Post. Happy Birthday to you Hulen. We are happy to have you working for us.

Our thanks to Noel White for an enjoyable night of entertainment. Thursday night he came and played the guitar and sang country and western music for us. He has promised to come back once a month and sing for us. We are looking forward to having him with us again.

was the subject of our Wednesday Bible Study. Thank you Patsy Craig.

Game time winners for indoor basketball were Henrietta Nichols, Winnie Rogers and Victoria Vargas. Bingo Grand Prize Winner was Ida Stewart.

Arts and Crafts at our home is an important time. We are making decorated pots using seeds and flowers. They are very attractive and can be used for so many things. We are also working on a bisque quilt.

Our home was delighted to accept a painting from the Post Art Guild. We send sincere thanks to all the people who help to make this possible. Many of us can not go out often and through the painting you have brought the outside in to us. This is one more way that we have seen the generosity of the people of Post expressed.

We enjoyed the Walt Disney movie Friday, "The Teen Age Otter". Drinks and popcorn were served the residents, and afterwards, it is always time for some visiting and talking over the movie.

Sunday Services were conducted by the Church of Christ. We want to thank the large number of their congregation that attended this service. It made us feel good to have them attend with us. The singing was beautiful and the sermon very thought provoking.

Mrs. Emma Jones was 85 years young April 13th. Her family brought us a huge beautifully decorated birthday cake. We want to thank them for sharing her birthday with us. Happy birthday to Iva Sanders on April 17th. Iva is 80 years of age and enjoyed the birthday cake the dietary department delivered to her along with their rendition of "Happy Birthday."

Welcome to our three new residents. Willie B. Sullivan,

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Propst Warns Producers
National Cotton Council President Herman Propst told the Producer Steering Committee this week in Dallas that the greatest impact of the cotton dust problem ultimately will fall on producers.

Acknowledging that some producers think dust is only a textile mill problem, he said mills have an option not open to producers — namely, that of converting to synthetic fibers. "And if the cotton dust problem — with all its ramifications — causes them to do this in great numbers, I don't have to tell you what kind of impact that will have on us as producers." As strong as export markets are, Propst said a strong domestic market is still an absolute necessity if producers are going to continue growing cotton on a large scale. He also noted that the dust problem could eventually affect cotton exports since foreign countries generally follow the lead of the U.S. in adopting health and safety standards. The Anson, Tex., producer's remarks were strongly supported by W. D. Lawson, III, Gastonia, N.C., merchant, and Murray Williams, Altus, Okla., producer, who is chairman of the Cotton Board.

Priority for Dust Research
Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland and industry leaders agreed at a Washington meeting this week that the proposed two-year crash research program to identify and eliminate the byssinosis causative will require full government-industry cooperation and must be given top priority.

The secretary explained that the current emphasis on balancing the federal budget has made it necessary to re-examine funding possibilities for the program. A government-industry task force will now refine the plan presented earlier this year to USDA, and then seek early decisions on financing. Assistant Secretary P. R. (Bobby) Smith and Dr. Anson Bertrand, director of the Science and Education Administration, participated in the discussions, along with top officials of the National Cotton Council, the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, Cotton Incorporated, the Cotton Board, the American Cotton Shippers Association, Fieldcrest Mills, and Ranchers Cotton Oil Mill.

Exports Reported
Export shipments of 200,800 running bales of upland cotton during the week ended April 6 brought the current season's total to 5,970,800. Net new sales of 7,100 brought total commitments to 9,037,300. Sales of 214,000 bales for 1980-81 delivery were primarily to China (164,000 bales) and to Taiwan, Korea, and Japan.

And Cotton Yesterday
Commercial production of cotton in the Plainview, Texas Area started in 1906. Ginners J.N. Jordan reported a turnout of 730 bales.

Burlington profits and sales up second quarter

GREENSBORO, N.C. — Burlington Industries, Inc. today reported higher sales and earnings for the second quarter of its 1980 fiscal year compared to the second quarter of fiscal 1979.

Consolidated net earnings for the quarter ended March 29, 1980 were $29,865,000 or $1.06 per share on net sales of $751,377,000. In the second quarter of 1979, consolidated net earnings were $18,160,000 or 65 cents per share on net sales of $672,174,000. Included in net earnings for the quarter was a gain of 9 cents per share from the translation of foreign currency items compared to a charge of 12 cents per share in the same period last year. Additionally, the previously reported disposition of certain European businesses generated pre-tax losses which were more than offset by U.S. tax credits. The net effect of these transactions was a gain of 15 cents per share for the quarter.

For the six months ended March 29, 1980, consolidated net sales were $1,441,219,000 and net earnings were $45,261,000, or $1.61 per share, compared with 1979 sales of $1,298,597,000 and earnings of $36,835,000 or $1.32 per share. Earnings for the six months included a translation charge for foreign currency items of 5 cents per share compared to a charge of 20 cents per share for the six months ended March 1979.

William A. Klopman, chairman and chief executive officer, in his review of the quarter noted, "Operating results for the quarter improved as we had forecast. Our apparel operations were stronger overall, with denim, corduroy, worsteds, yarn and hosiery businesses turning in fine performances. In addition, textured wovens, reflecting an improving market, turned in better results than December."

"Our carpet and domestic groups operated satisfactorily, although they were seasonally weaker. Draperies, tickings and the industrial products areas turned in satisfactory results. Internationally, the Mexican and Canadian companies operated well, while the Italian and Irish operations were adversely affected by weak markets and the lingering effects of our expansion program. As we stated at the annual meeting in early February, the disposition of Burlington Jersey and Duetsche Burlington will have a positive impact on future operating results."

Summarizing, Klopman said, "Sales activity continues at a good pace overall and our open order position remains high. Looking ahead, however, we are concerned about the adverse effect of a possible reduction in consumer spending as a result of the Federal Reserve's credit restraint program. We continue to believe that textile products represent good value for the consumer compared to products whose prices have escalated more sharply during this period of high inflation. This consumer perception could help to cushion the impact of a recession on the textile industry. This outlook, combined with our good forward order position, leaves us cautiously optimistic about continued improvement in operating results.

Six attend FHA meet in Houston

Four Post High students and two sponsors of the Post HERO-FHA chapter flew to Houston last week to attend the annual convention of the Texas Association of FHA, which drew 7,000 students and advisors from across the state.

Local students making the trip were Susan Sawyers, president of the HERO chapter; Tammy Reece, FHA president; Laura Mason, HERO chapter vice president; and Toni Ammons, HERO and FHA member. The sponsors were Carolyn Sawyers and Marion Wheatley.

The convention was held in the Houston Astrodome last Thursday and Friday.

Grant Teaff, popular Baylor Bears coach, brought his own message of inspiration and faith to the delegates Friday night.

Workshops on topics of concern to young people such as careers, crisis, self-image, parenting, family, teenage pregnancies, and dynamics of FHA-HERO chapters were conducted.

The business of the Texas Association was conducted at the House of Delegates session Thursday evening, followed by a talent show. A state choir, composed of 130 Future Homemakers, was featured.

The Future Homemakers of America is a vocational student organization sponsored by Homemaking Education, the Texas Educational Agency with Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith, director, and Mrs. Betty Ramons, state advisor.

Seal coating for 84 in '81

The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission has approved the 1981 State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement program, including $224,000 worth of work on two projects in Garza County.

Slated for next year in this county is the seal coating 12.7 miles of US-84 from the top of the Caprock to the Lynn County line at a cost of $173,000; and of 1.2 miles of US-84 from .2 miles northwest of 15th street through Post to Third Street at a cost of $51,000.

LUBBOCK — Opposition to forced soil and water conservation practices, proposed by USDA as one possibility under the 1977 Resource Conservation Act (RCA), has become widespread, highly vocal and appears to be growing, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

PCG, acting on a board position taken in October last year, on numerous occasions has presented arguments against suggestions that government decreed conservation practices be made a requirement for farm program eligibility or be mandated by other penalty-bearing regulations.

PCG makes clear that the organization and its members are strong believers in conservation of soil and water resources, but maintains that the solution to conservation problems should come through the provision of "incentives to conserve, not penalties for failure to conserve."

The latest voices to speak out firmly in support of that same position are those of Representatives Thomas Foley, Democrat from Washington, and Kika de la Garza, Democrat from Texas.

Foley is Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and de la Garza is Vice Chairman of the Committee and Chairman of its Subcommittee on Department Investigations, Oversight and Research. According to a House mineral lease of 1,358.6 acres of County School lands in Garza County, Texas as shown abstract 397, patent No. 610, Vol. 22 less and exempt a strip conveyed to Pecos & Northern Ry Co., by deed 11-16-10, recorded Vol. 13, Page 270, Deed records, Post, Texas.

Bids will be opened at the regular meeting on May 12, 1980. The Court reserves the right to accept or reject any and all bids.

Rural mailboxes can be dangerous

COLLEGE STATION — Each year the nation has a significant number of fatalities, maiming injuries and extensive property damage resulting from car impacts with mailboxes on rural roads. The boxes are engineered at Texas A&M University, poised 42 inches off the ground, exactly the right height to smash through a windshield.

"What is amazing is how mailboxes line up at windshield height for subcompacts right up through full-size cars," commented Dr. Hayes E. Ross, Jr., a Texas Transportation Institute

Ross believes national mailbox safety standards are overdue. "Mailboxes obviously are not problems along major interstate routes," he said, "but they are on secondary and rural road systems."

To the Voters of Precinct 3

I take this method of requesting your support for re-election to a second term as your County Commissioner of Precinct 3 for the reason that I recently underwent corrective surgery and am still in Highland Hospital, which will prevent me from campaigning before the Primary election.

My doctors tell me that my physical condition will be greatly improved after a reasonable period of rehabilitation of approximately three months.

I had planned to go door to door campaigning and talking to each of you personally two weeks before election time; but since it is now impossible to do so, I have asked my wife, daughter and some friends to campaign on my behalf.

I feel that I have done a good job for ALL the people in Garza County during my first term as your county commissioner and I earnestly solicit your support for re-election.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — One of the toughest issues the Texas Legislature will face next spring is the permitting of wiretapping by law enforcement officers investigating narcotics trafficking.

Lawmakers failed last session to approve a wiretapping measure pushed by then newly-elected Gov. Bill Clements, but the issue will certainly re-appear for a second turn at bat.

This time Clements and his team will be better prepared.

He has vowed to make anti-drug trafficking legislation a perennial issue of his administration—and included it as one of his "Super Issues" for the promised special session, now called off, in August-September.

He has appointed a Texas War on Drugs Committee and named H. Ross Perot, Dallas multimillionaire, as chairman. Perot, mastermind of the heroic mission which rescued several Americans from Iranian jails last year, lends the committee his expertise and get-tough charisma.

Why the wiretapping bill failed last session is a matter of controversy.

Clements pushed the bill hard, but many legislators who voted against it were unsure of the "safeguards" against abuses which he said it contained.

Safeguards: The Crucx

More than one lawmaker explained to the press then that he or she was not going to vote for a wiretapping bill which might lead to the invasion of privacy of law-abiding citizens. It's a tough issue to buck, because to the voters back home, it looks like their legislator is not getting tough on drug crimes.

Clements knows that, and he's going to put them on the spot again: vote for the bill or look bad to the voters back home.

He's not concerned about abuses because he thinks the safeguards are adequate. When asked at a press conference last week if he thought the bill would endanger the privacy of Texas citizens, he said: "I think that kind of sentiment is sheer nonsense. It's not invading anyone's privacy except the criminal's. Personally, it bores me to hear bleeding heart statements from those who oppose it."

The Bill's Intent

Clements and Perot have come up with a three-pronged program to curb drug use and traffic in Texas.

They want to allow wiretaps on the telephones of suspected drug dealers.

They want to educate parents and children to the dangers of drug use.

They want better cooperation among Texas law enforcement agencies in efforts to curb drug traffic and use.

Law enforcement officials who seek approval to use a wiretap will be forced to get approval from their superiors and the courts. Stiff penalties will be added for officers who misuse the wiretapping law.

New Federal Judge

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice of Tyler was appointed chief federal judge of the Eastern District of Texas last week, succeeding retiring Judge Joe Fisher of Beaumont.

The judgeship, decided on seniority among the four federal judges in the district, means more administrative duties, but no more authority. Judge Justice will move the district headquarters from Beaumont to Tyler.

He was appointed to the federal bench in 1968 by President Lyndon Johnson.

Texas in Energy Post

An assistant attorney general in Texas has been chosen by President Carter to a post on the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission which regulates natural gas.

The appointment of David Hughes, though not official, was announced last week by U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Hughes is currently chief of the energy affairs division and has in the past year directed a lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978, a key law for the commission he will join.

He may face a tough confirmation fight in the Senate.

Group Auto Insurance

The Texas Insurance Board agreed to let insurance companies sell group auto insurance policies to persons 55 or older starting June 1.

The way for the new policy was cleared by a law passed by the last Legislature, which specified the groups had to be created for a purpose other than getting insurance.

One rule requires a company to grant auto coverage to everyone in the group, no matter how bad his or her driving record might be.

The board's directors were pessimistic on the number of insurance companies which would write the group policies.

Sales award to Middleton

HOUSTON, TX. — J. C. "Tom" Middleton, of Post, was honored recently for outstanding sales achievement by the Agricultural Group of Allied Chemical Corporation.

Middleton was the recipient of the Western Zone Product Award for sales of NZN, one of two awards given for sales of the nitrogen-zinc foliar fertilizer.

According to Lew Coalter, vice-president of marketing, the award was given "in recognition of Middleton's overall performance and individual contribution as measured by the amount of product sold."

Middleton, who headquarters out of the Omaha, NE office, has been with the major supplier of fertilizer products since 1965.

The award was presented during Allied's 1980 annual dealer meeting in San Diego, Ca.

Kirkpatrick 3rd in rodeo

BIG SPRING — Cliff Kirkpatrick, a freshman at Howard College in Big Spring, placed third in the team roping event at the Howard College NIRA Rodeo held April 10-12 in Big Spring, according to Skipper Driver, coach of the HC teams.

Kirkpatrick began rodeo competition at the age of 12 and won the calf roping championship in the AJRA that year. In 1975, he won the reserve world championship in calf roping.

Cliff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kirkpatrick of Post.

The HC Men's Team won first place in overall standings at the HC Rodeo, while Tarleton State University won second place. Third place went to Sul Ross State University.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

CONGRESS COULD move closer to a solution of the age-old problem of predator control, with passage of recently introduced legislation which would give the Departments of Agriculture and Interior a clear mandate to settle the issue for once and for all.

I am a cosponsor of H.R. 6725, the Animal Damage Control Act, which would make that intent on the part of Congress unquestionable.

Hearings on the bill, held April 16 in Washington, drew a wide range of testimony from producer groups and from what one of my colleagues called "the marshalled generals" of the regulator agencies involved: The U.S. Department of Interior and its Fish and Wildlife Division, and the Environmental Protection Agency.

It was interesting to note that support for continued research into chemical controls, most notably Compound 1080 for use in the toxic collar for coyote control, was expressed by all of the agency representatives — except the Department of Interior. Even the head of the Fish and Wildlife Division of Interior has recommended continuing research, only to be overruled by Secretary Cecil Andrus. Andrus' decision can only be described as a triumph of "politics" over scientific data, since the reasons he has given for halting 1080 research relate primarily to its unpopularity among environmentalists.

In my testimony before that hearing, I pointed out that one of the biggest losses to our state is an economic loss that can never be accurately calculated: The loss of a potential fiber industry to other areas not currently involved in sheep and goat production because of high predator populations.

I VOTED AGAINST passage of the Central Idaho

Multiple use management does destruction of the land that not mean the indiscriminate many would have us to believe.

Post Middle School's UIL One Act play held their dress rehearsal before UIL competition during the April meeting of the Post Parent Teachers Association held last Thursday in the Primary Auditorium. The play is directed by Priscilla Williams.

During the business meeting held following the dress rehearsal, plans for a flea market to be held June 7 were discussed. Members discussed attending the PTA annual conference May 2 in Lubbock. A discussion was held on attending the Regional Curriculum Study Hearing held by the TEA in Lubbock, May 1. Anyone interested in attending either of these activities should contact Carol Tobias at 495-3057 for more information.

Bomb threat at Southland

Spring "definitely arrived" Tuesday when Southland students were sent home early because of a telephoned "bomb threat."

Sheriff Jim Pippin said Wednesday that Mrs. Buck Craft, Southland school secretary, received a phone call informing her that "there was supposed to be a bomb" in one of the two school buildings.

The sheriff when notified asked that students be dismissed and sent home early to get them out of the way. Pippin and two deputies searched the two buildings thoroughly — and found nothing.

Mrs. Craft said the voice on the phone sounded like that of a mature Spanish man neither drunk nor on drugs.

It's easy to see where many of our priorities are.

The children of today are looking to us for ways they can prepare for their own style of life . . . families . . . and job opportunities.

To help, we'll need more electricity. It's true, electricity will play a big role toward helping expand the job market to include these adults of tomorrow. The modern use of electricity has contributed to a better educational system to prepare our young people for the new experiences yet to come.

Almost 10 years ago, the folks at Southwestern Public Service wanted to make sure there was enough electricity to keep today's wage earner working. They decided that the fuel used in their power plants should be coal because, coal would be more abundant and cheaper to use than the conventional fuel . . . natural gas.

Now, Southwestern Public Service has a new coal plant in operation and more on the way. Yes, coal plants will help stabilize fuel costs while providing a long-term, reliable, energy source to provide electricity.

It's good to be able to tell someone what they can depend on.

TEEN SCENE By Norm

First of all Holly Giddens deserves a GREAT BIG CONGRATS for winning third in the UIL events Saturday at Tech and she will journey to Austin to try her skills there next week-end.

To all the UIL entries you deserve the same as you represented our school in a great fashion. Donna won fourth, Kevin won sixth and Amy and Trushell finished high in the spelling, and Trushell won sixth in the mile. We're all proud of you for your efforts.

Speaking of the UIL events, I've never seen so many kids in one place in all my life. Along with the Tech students there must have been at least 5,000 extra UIL participants there.

I was supposed to meet Donna at the Student Center, I thought at 12 noon. (It turned out to be 2). Well after six efforts to locate the place and turning into one way streets (the opposite way, I have a thing about that) and dead ends and ending up in dorm parking lots, I finally found a parking area that said no parking and that's where I stayed! I located the Student Center and saw Mr.

Conner and Mr. Howard and finally found a man who knew where Donna was supposed to be. He said right across the street in the Business building.

Right across the street turned out to be the Texas Tech Library! After wandering around completely confused I heard someone call my name and was never so glad to see Jana Terry, Sam Butler, Derek Wall and Ray Mason who wandered around with me for what seemed like hours until we found this building that was right across the street BEHIND the Library.

To make a long story short, after missing her there, I went back to the track to watch Trushell run her mile (and she made a lot of hearts stop on that final lap), and then started hitching back to THAT BUILDING and picked up strays along the way such as Holly, Mrs. Hudman, Donna and Kevin. Everyone finally assembled at THAT BUILDING and Kevin introduced me to the crowd that was waiting for the shorthand results. WHAT A DAY!!!! I owe you one Kevin.

Kelly Mason is sporting a new car these days. A little ??? bright yellow. And he is also off his crutches now.

We wish Tammy Reece a speedy recovery. She is in Highland Hospital with her knee now in traction with tests to be performed later this week.

All you boys out there that are interested in playing Babe Ruth Baseball tell your parents to be at the meeting tonight (Thursday) at 7 p. m. in the courtroom. We need your help.

Well you know that the end of school is near cause the Seniors received their invitations today and the Juniors received their Senior rings and elections are being held.

The varsity cheerleaders and JV cheerleaders were elected Tuesday with Amy Thuet elected head, Marinette Hays, Donna George, Holly Giddens, Dee Dee Redman and Karen Davis as varsity; Reyes Bustos, Dodie Beggs, Rhonda Adams, Cynthia Poole and Norma Samora as JV. Congrats girls!

Class favorites and Mr. and Miss PHS were also elected and I hope to have the results for you before we go to Slaton today! Hold on.

The boys will go to their regional meet Friday and Saturday and we wish them the best.

Luann and Trushell did an outstanding job in their events at the meet last weekend. Luann represented us well in the high jump and Trushell, running 13th in the final lap of the mile, started dropping 'em like flies and finished sixth. Watch out for her next year!!!!

Greg Williams is sporting crutches these days. He pulled something or other in his knee. Get well Greg.

The Senior Play date has been changed to May 10. I was supposed to have a write up in this week's paper, but as usual I am running late so I promise to have the play cast and write up in next week's edition. Tickets are now on sale for the event, so be sure to get yours early so you'll be sure to have a seat.

STOP THE PRESSES!!!! Here they are: Freshmen favorites, D'Linda Tyler and Will Kirkpatrick; Sophomore favorites, Karen Davis and Mario Luna; Juniors, Drew Kirkpatrick and Holly Giddens; Seniors, David Poole and Donna

I'M WORKING HARD TO VISIT ALL OF YOU

There is only one week left now in my campaign to win the Democratic nomination for Garza County sheriff in the Democratic primary May 3.

I am going door to door throughout the county, not just in the city of Post, asking for votes and answering any questions householders may have about my qualifications in law enforcement and how I would handle various law enforcement situations.

I cannot see everybody, much as I would like to, because many folks aren't home when I call. But I am getting to see many of you both in town and country, enjoy our visits, and appreciate the reception I am getting from the voters.

Of course I intend to work hard at law enforcement for the entire county if you elect me your sheriff. That means we will pay attention to all the rural area problems as well as those we find in Post.

I have tried in this series of ads in The Dispatch to acquaint the voters with my ideas on law enforcement. From what I hear you are reading them.

Your Vote and Influence Appreciated in May 3 Primary

Picnics proposed for Garza elderly

Some summer picnics for the county's elderly who seldom get out is the newest project here this week.

A group of concerned citizens want to organize several picnics this summer — at least two. The Dispatch was told — for the senior citizens who sit out their days indoors or in nursing homes here.

"We'll go get them and bring them to the picnics and take them home again," a spokesman explained to this newspaper. "It's a labor of love. We want them to enjoy themselves."

To get the picnics rolling, the group wants senior citizens in this category who want to attend the picnics to call 3741 between 9 and 11 a.m. Monday through Friday. Names, phone numbers and addresses will be taken to determine how big a turnout can be planned for.

Then the concerned group wants volunteers to call the same number so they can find out who is willing to bake cakes, cookies, make sandwiches, drive cars, or help in other ways with the picnic project.

Their names, addresses and phone numbers will be taken.

When a planning session is held for the picnic, volunteers will be notified. When the picnic dates are set, the senior citizens list will be called to make final arrangements.

Remember, the phone number to call for both senior citizens and picnic volunteers is 3741.

Post high pair to state meet

Only two Post High students qualified in the UIL 1-AA regional meet in Lubbock Saturday to go to the state meet in Austin May 3.

Holly Giddens placed third in the regional in shorthand with the top three qualifiers eligible to compete in the state meet. Donna Baumann will be the regional alternate in shorthand as she placed fourth right behind Holly.

Both Post students scored over 95 percent in the shorthand competition.

Other Post qualifiers from district competition did not place in the regional competition in which Muleshoe won the overall crown.

The $24,405 purchase of the basic kitchen equipment was just one of several alternates which the board had put off considering in accepting the Pharr & Pharr Enterprises of Lubbock basic bid of $148,620 to remodel and enlarge the lunchroom to seat 250 persons.

The board considered several other kitchen alternates, mostly for additional equipment, but decided to take no present action and purchase the equipment at a later date as a school rather than going through the contractor if desired.

Included among these are a vegetable slicer, microwave oven, and laundry washer and dryer.

Included in the basic kitchen equipment was a walk-in cooler. Trustees were told it would cost $3,342 more to have the doors, walls and ceiling of the cooler lined with stainless steel inside and out instead of aluminum as bid. Trustees decided to go with the inexpensive aluminum.

Still to be ordered for the lunchroom are some 20 dining tables with foldup benches seating 12 each at a cost of approximately $10,000. The architect had three kinds of tables with prices for the board to consider but a final decision was delayed. The tables are on rollers so they can be easily moved for floor cleaning.

Trustees started discussing getting a paving bid for just an unloading dock for the lunchroom and then expanded that to include the parking areas on both east and west sides of the Middle School which had been put off this summer, some paving around the band hall plus parking areas around both the high school and the high school gym, including the gym parking lot, which are reportedly deteriorating after 19 years of use.

To start off the long session, trustees canvassed the voting in the spring school board election and then swore in the two new board members, Edwin Lewis and Pru Basquez.

The board was reorganized for another year with Jack Lott reelected president; Charles McCook, vice president; and Mrs. Juanella Hays, secretary.

Tom Milam of the Lubbock law firm of Crenshaw, Dupree & Milam appeared before the board briefly to answer any questions of board members as his firm has represented the Post schools on legal questions for 10 years or so.

Supt. Bill Shiver said only one present board member remains on the board since the verbal arrangements were made with the Lubbock firm to represent the school district.

The board saw no reason to go into executive session on this topic.

Milam explained his firm charges a $100 monthly retainer to the school district which includes office conferences and phone requests. Any additional legal work is billed to the school district at the rate of $60 an hour. The original rate was $40 an hour before inflation began to skyrocket.

Milam said the school district hasn't been involved in any law suits over the last 10 years of his firm's legal representation "although one came pretty close."

In other actions, school trustees:

Authorized the investment of $600,000 from the district's general fund in certificates of deposit for 90 days at 12 3/4 percent interest retroactive to April 1;

Voted to renew the district's commodities agreement which brings the district some $12,000 worth of free commodities from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Approved the recommendations of the text book committee for new textbook adoptions.

Authorized a right of way by Exxon across the school district's Justiceburg property to provide access to an Exxon drilling location for a fee of $650.

Approved a budget change request.

Okayed a school board policy for collecting money for payment from students of lost textbooks, library books and flutophones.

Voted individually for Dan Howard and Jack Alexander for directors for the Education Service Center. If elected, Alexander would become the first Post director ever on the board.

Every state primary now is crucial for Texan Bush. Actually, George makes a whole lot more sense to us than anybody in the field but we don't think most Americans are really listening these days to what the candidates say.

Somebody has been growing his own marijuana. Tipped sheriff officers found an old freezer chest, filled with dirt and fertilizer, growing 15 to 20 marijuana plants in a ranch pasture two miles south of town Sunday morning. They have hauled the "crop" into town and stored it, but it is pretty doubtful if the owner will ever claim it.
