Jack Russell In Oklahoma? Yes! Then No As Wires Cross; Reported to Have Shot Man

R. J. Russell, under two sentences for highway robbery but at large following a sensational jail break from the county jail here three weeks ago, may or may not be the object of a man-hunt in northern Oklahoma, it developed in Wichita Falls Wednesday night.

According to George Hodgins, chief of police, the sheriff at Alva, Okla., in a long distance telephone conversation shortly after noon Wednesday told him that Jack Russell was being hunted by a sheriff's posse with bloodhounds following a hi-jacking Tuesday night in which a party of three, one of which was said to be Russell, shot and killed an Alva man. The Alva sheriff's phone query was, according to Hodgins, to see if Mrs. Russell was wanted in Wichita Falls, the Oklahoma officer stating she was being held in jail there.

Report Unverified.

Attempts of The Record News to verify either the report that a man had been killed at Alva Tuesday night or that Russell was wanted in connection with such an offense had proven fruitless up to a late hour Wednesday night. The sheriff at Alva, in conversation with The Record News denied there had been a killing, that a man-hunt was in progress there or that he had talked during the day with chief Hodgins. Russell was unknown to him and that to the best of his knowledge nothing of the nature had happened at Alva recently.

Nothing in Oklahoma.

Similar attempts of The Record News to trace the incident through Oklahoma City met with failure also. Sheriff Fred Smith here denied having received any direct information from Alva regarding the affair but stated Wednesday night he was awaiting an answer to a query of his own to the Alva sheriff.

Russell is under two sentences from Wichita county for highway robbery, one being for seven years and the other for five years. In some manner during the day on which he was tried on the second count recently, he obtained a gun and used it to liberate himself from the county jail. His wife, who was held for a day or so on a charge of complicity, was released later and so far as is known now is not in the city.

Henning, engineer of division six, refuted statements of Phil Beattie's letter of Sept. 15 that an agreement existed between Hoffman and Henning to charge the state twenty cents a gallon for all asphalt in excess of .6 of a gallon to the square yard, in addition to thirty cents a square yard for surfacing. Beattie, Hoffman company field superintendent, wrote the letter to the main office at Eastland. 'LASSES' WHITE HAS FINE SHOW

Old Time Minstrels Speed Up to Suit Modern Audience

"Lasses" White Minstrels, coming to the Majestic theatre Monday and Tuesday, are better than ever, says The San Antonio Express this week. The minstrels showed in the Alamo city the first of the week.

The Express review:

"Lasses" White, Billy Doss, "Slim" Vermont with a background of two score other minstrels sung, danced and jested their way through an old time minstrel show, speeded up to the gait of the modern day, at Beethoven Hall last night. It had everything a minstrel show could have; a colorful first part in which burnt cork easily eclipsed the pale-faced orchestra, plenty of jokes quickly told and forgotten, songs without number which pictured in tuneful fashions many darkey woes and the ballad singer whose numbers brought visions of home, mother or sweetheart. Too there were dancers in this first part, notable among whom was "Slim" Vermont. Thatis not all. There is a remarkably good chorus which is heard to fine advantage in many instances and the orchestra directed by James Finney amply fills the bill.

"Lasses" White not alone is an unusual mimic of a widely known type of the southern darkey but he has shown clever showmanship in assembling a troupe which in all probability represents the best there is in minstrels today. Incidentally, he knows also that he is not the whole show. Doss, Vermont and the others divide the honors with him all the way through a second part quite as interesting as the first.

Included in the second part is "On the Links," is a dancing number, arranged by "Jack" Hayes and because of the continued popularity of jazz "Lasses" formed "The Jazz Syncopators, an instrumental combination which discourses the latest on that style of composition in what has been referred to as 'decidely zippy fashion.'" Finally there is a mighty funny afterpiece called, "The Blackville Fair" with "Lasses" as "Little Bit" Small and "Slim" Vermont as 'Snookums' Long, the type of characters in the portrayal of which these comedians excel. The ollo includes "Billy" Doss, the Tennessee boy with the smile, with a new monologue; Karl Denton, the Eltinge of minstrelsy; Morris Nelson, international famous yodler and others.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray.

Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

Misty Crepes Further Demand For Pleatings In Coming Styles, Says P.B.M. Buyer Back From Markets

Mrs. Lomax Finds Postel Shades Predominating With Spring Suits Fashioned in Mannish Mode; Simplicity Is the Key Note

"For smartness this spring, your skirt fulness must be hidden in cleverly placed pleats that only break into flaring lines as you move about," Mrs. James Lomax, head of th eready-to-wear department of P. B. M. department store said Wednesday in commenting on styles in the New York fashion centers from which she has just returned.

"The misty crepe remains or crepe Elizabeth in sheer dusty colors have furthered the vogue for pleatings, and the new frocks in one and two piece modes are youthful and becoming. Taffeta is the other leading fabric, and of course, popularizes the girlish basque. Taffeta blazes forth in new stripes and plaids, and a recent model posses solid taffeta ruffles over a contrasting shade of crepe Elizabeth.

"Pastel shades, lead the spring vogue strongly, and the most important groups are the light yellow-greens, the pink and rose tones the beige tones, and in dark shades, navy. There is a rich sprinkling of hand made lace in the new spring frocks, dyed to match the dress, and the effect is lovely in pastel colors. Pastel shades in the world of flannel and the new silky jerseys, form alluring sport togs, clever with unique pockets and many tiny pearl buttons.

"Hattie Carnegie, leading American designer, is extremely original in her frocks and has produced some of the smartest things of the season. A black georgette model by Carnegie is edged in white box-pleated ruffles, and a navy frock with phantom red trimmings has a coat to match.

Suits Very Short.

Spring suits are mannishly tailored with short double breasted coats, and very short skirts, kick-pleated. Navy mirroleen is effective, and the tweeds are important in soft blues, grays and tans, according to Miss Ruth Barnard, New York buyer for the firm.

"New blouses for wear with the suits are tailored to perfection, with high collars that pull through and tie on the shoulder, with mannish shirt collars, or with soft roll collars. Smart little vests, too, have made their appearance, and these mannish accessories are effective in phantom red, with the navy suits, or in soft greens, blues and greys with the tweed ensembles.

Satin Coats.

"Satin coats of black topped with a silky ermine or dyed fox collar are new and very smart for spring. For early wear, they are lined wit hthe softest wool kasha to match the fur at the collar, and the heavy satin used is called "wool back satin." Silk coats of bengaline and heavy failles are new, and their immediate acceptance for correct day wear is unquestioned.

"Charmeen coats in trim graceful lines are most important among all cloth coats. In the new greens and tans, they are lovely. The finely woven charmeen drapes beautifully into the new cape-back, and forms an effective background for new silk and metal embroideries. Navy and phantom red again makes a striking appearance, this time on a tailored coat with many buttons and tailored buttonholes.

"Tailored tweed coats possess a charm all their own, and the detail worked out in new pockets, cufflines, and finishings make one of them a necessity in any woman's wardrobe. A grey tweed uses fine silver pipings and smoked pearl buttons. A blue tweed has a mannish collar band of blue velvet, and touches of blue velvet at the cuff and pocket. Fitted, and flaring, the lines are smartly simple.

Tweed Sport Coats.

"Rough English tweeds of softest quality and strikingly beautiful color blends are presented in fine mixtures, or in huge bold plaids. Sometimes in straight line, and sometimes in the new cape-back, the coats are carefully cut for the maximum of swagger. Huge collars of natural fox or wolf top them, and they are finding immediate response among smartly dressed women for early spring wear and for utility coats of beauty and originality.

"The season is one of light shades and a studied, smart, simplicity," the buyers concluded, "The smartest hats, frocks, coats and dresses are alluringly simple in line and cut, but the line and cut must be right. Although the two-piece frock is highly important, the one piece frock leads the field, and if flares or ruffles are not in evidence, then your frock must sway in pleats as you move."

The correct hat, shoes, gloves, Jewelry, and accessories of the season will be discussed by Mrs. Lomax and Miss Barnard in a succeeding interview.

"Go West" and 5-Act Vaudeville At Olympic Thursday

Buster Keaton's most elaborate picture, "Go West," comes to the Olympic theatre today. It is universally hailed by critics as his greatest. In addition to thousands of laughs, the production sounds a new note in feature comedies. It is replete with thrills, and the plot blends pathos with side-splitting farce.

Keaton's first "western" picturizes the adventures of a youth who, unappreciated in his own home town, wraps all his possessions in a handkerchief and starts out to conquer the world. His mode of transportation is a boxcar.

Five acts of Levey vaudeville are to be offered. Tex Martin, "The Roping Fool," lives up to his program billing. There are none better in the present day vaudeville than this likeable chap. Everything that can possibly be done with the rope, Tex does.

Dixon and Freeman, well known to vaudeville, press a new act under the caption "A Minute Late" from the pen of Rudy A. Powell. The critics acknowledge Miss Dixon as possessing a beautiful voice, while Mr. Freeman never fails to please with his individual work. They characterize the high brown and black in a classy and novel way.

In offering the Tanglefoot Steppers, Geo. B. Flint, the producer, considered the Ziegfield of Chicago, has secured three dapper young dancers, "The Scott Twins, Roy and Warren who assisted by Alice Frederick execute a fast line of artistic dance interpretation including every type of tap and toe dancing. Youth and pep predominate.

Roy Dove and Girlie introduce 12 minutes of "Blythe Buffoonery," which will undoubtedly entertain all who witness the performance of this talented couple. Mr. Dove has appeared in all the representative continental theatres of the world. Their present tour makes the first appearance in the west of these sterling performers.

Clark Brothers, have been recognized for years as one of the best acts of its kind and they are certain to meet with hearty approval with our audiences. All their work is of the very highest class, and combines the element of thrill with new and novel tricks.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

METHODISTS OK NEW UNIVERSITY

Lincoln and Lee School At Kansas City Is Given Endorsement

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church today officially and unanimously endorsed the "proposed "Lincoln and Lee University" at Kansas City as a great Methodist university.

Bishop W. F. Anderson of Boston, head of the board, said he considered the university plan one of the greatest educational projects in the world and that the Methodist Episcopal church owed Bishop E. L. Waldorf of Kansas City its gratitude for his activities in that behalf.

Bishop Waldorf explained the plan for a national Methodist university which will stand partly in Missouri and partly in Kansas, to which he has been devoting much of his time for many months. Bishop E. G. Richardson of Atlanta, Ga., secretary of the board, also gave his hearty approval of the project.

Mexican General Hiding in U. S. Is Fearful of Death

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—General Francisco Coss, picturesque Mexican character whose exploits have been numerous since the overthrow of the Maderas, fears execution.

Coss is under $500 bond for alleged illegal entry into the country and his case is before the department of labor in Washington for review.

The general said today he anticipated a fate similar to that of Colonel Dometrio Torres last week, who was shot to death after his deportation from this country because of attacks on trains in the state of Coahuila.

"I am a political enemy of the present Mexican government and came to this country for protection when federal troops were persecuting me for my connection with the De LaHuerta revolution."

Coss maintained he entered the United States at El Paso March 4, 1925, and showed a renewal receipt which he said the authorities told him would not have to be renewed. He declared also that he had paid his head tax at El Paso.

Livermore to Take A Hand in Rubber Fortunes of World

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Jesse L. Livermore, the "boy plunger" of Wall Street, has joined the newly formed New York Coca and Rubber exchange, which friends interpret as a desire on his part to take a hand in the rubbed industrial market which now centers in England.

Unlike his stock exchange activities, always carried out through brokers, he has chosen the more direct contact of actual membership in his own name in the new exchange.

Friends then watched Livermore run a shoe string into a fortune before he was 21 and then lose it through speculations, only to gain other millions through brilliant trading, are watching his latest venture with interest.

Last year he is said to have made a fortune in the grain market, buying millions of bushels of wheat at $1.04 and selling at $2.

Miss Negri left here at midnight for California after a brief visit, she said, to consummate some business transactions.

Pros and Antis Both Partly Right In Evolution Dispute, Says Lodge In Opining On Ancestry of Humans

We Sprang From Animal Kingdom Some Where Down the Line, He Insists; No Essential Clash Between Evolution and Creation

BY JESSIE HENDERSON

Special Dispatch to the Record News
Copyright 1926, By The Consolidated Press Association

LONDON, Feb. 3. — Religiously inclined persons ought to be delighted at the news that they are descended from apes or other lower forms of life, instead of forever lambasting and contradicting the evolutionist school of scientists, who are spreading that doctrine. For if man has risen in a few million years as far as he now stands above the ape, there is hope that he may eventually evolve to a state approaching perfection.

This is Sir Oliver Lodge's latest contribution to the evolution debate which flared up with the trial of the Scopes case at Dayton, Tenn., and which still is going strong in England. Many persons know Sir Oliver Lodge as a convert to spiritualism. Many others know him as one of the outstanding scientists of the age. Many others will know him from now on as a great reconciler of modernists and fundamentalists. For Sir Oliver holds that both the evolutionists and the exponents of the Genesis story of creation are right—at least partially.

Once An Animal

Sir Oliver is convinced that man descended—or ascended from the animal kingdom. But with every new scientific discovery he is struck afresh by the essential truth of the book of Genesis, if Genesis is regarded as a poetic description of the mystery of the creation of the universe.

"I find people troubled by the idea of evolution, not only in America but here," Sir Oliver told the writer. The trouble is that theory of evolution has carried its enthusiasts too far; it has led some to exclude the idea of mind and purpose from the universe to replace it by mechanism.

"This philosophy was incomplete and it is now recognized as a faulty account of the universe. The mistake if it can be called a mistake, lay in putting that theory of evolution forward in opposition to the idea of creation instead of regarding it as a method of creation. The old idea of creation as a sudden achievement without intermediate steps or the extensive lapse of time, we now see to be erroneous and yet we perceive that the old idea contains elements of truth, just as the hypothesis of evolution did."

Quotes From Genesis

Sir Oliver quoted from Genesis: "In the beginning, God created the Heavens and the earth; and the earth was without form and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the spirit of God brooded upon the face of the waters. And God said 'let there be light,' and there was light."

"Though this is an inspirational and poetic account," he continued, "and therefore dramatically describes as happening in a twinkling what it took hundreds of millions of years to effect, the description is remarkably true to the actual process. Looked at as inspirational poetry, the essence of this chapter of Genesis is the perception first that there was a brooding of the Divine Spirit, a mind at work, planning and executing. This is a theory which many scientists, myself among them, accept. Second, that a cosmos sprang from the formless, from the void the world came into being, and light made its appearance.

"How, according to modern science was the universe born? The whole is born of two units, two elements of electric charge, the electron and the proton. The atoms of matter are born from these two and united by a third called ether or radiation; its popular term is—light. So we have the process; the brooding spirit; the planning mind: the void, full of electric charges being welded together by radiation to form whirling particles that become nebulae: the nebulae whirling at last into worlds.

Proceeds In Cycles

"My theory is that the universe has neither beginning nor end; cosmic evolution proceeds in cycles, first, the ether of space, full of radiation, then the knotting up of this ether into electrons and protons; the gravitating into nebulae of the resultant particles of matter; the rotating, heating and shrinking of the nebulae until they threw off streamers which form the birth of a new constellation, and of new worlds which in time disintegrate again, only to form new worlds once more. This process, I believe, is always going on and always has gone on in various stages today. The universe is a going concern, without beginning or end; in some sense it always existed.

"But while cosmic evolution proceeds in cycles, returning to its beginning only to start on again, mental and spiritual evolution proceeds always to higher planes. Undoubtedly the human body is inherited from the animal kingdom. This is a discovery of hope for it accounts for many of our difficulties. We have to overcome the relics of animal ancestry; work out the ape and the tiger.

"But there is not essential opposition between creation and evolution; one is the method of the other. They are not two processes; they are one, a gradual one."

50 Guardsmen Take Negro to Face Trial

RAMSEY LOSES PLEA IN COURT

Denied Permission to Act For Suppression of Confession

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 3.—(AP)—John Ramsey, held with W. K. Hale, wealthy Osage county ranch man, in connection with the killing of Henry Roan, an Indian, today was denied permission to file a petition in federal court to suppress a purported confession.

Judge John H. Cotterel upheld the contention of Roy Lewis, United States district attorney, that should Ramsey desire to suppress any evidence the proper method would be to enter a plea of abatement after the return of an indictment.

The court reminded counsel for Ramsey that their client was not under indictment, an indictment charging Ramsey and Hale with Roan's murder having been quashed. The two men are now in jail at Guthrie awaiting further action of the grand jury which reconvenes Feb. 12.

Europe Wants A Sensible Dance

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Europe is ready for a new dance and the dancing masters are ready to pay a goodly sum for one. The "Charleston" has been tried and found "not wanted." The fox-trot has endured for 20 years; the one step has had its day. The tango has met with a mixed reception, but the waltz apparently is to be eternal.

At the European dance congress which meets at Brussels this month a special prize of 10,000 francs will be awarded for "the dance most likely to replace the fox trot in popularity." The dance must be based on the waltz step.

Medals of Honor Awarded Rescuers of Sinking Ship

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—King George today awarded the gold medals for gallantry for saving life at sea to all officers and men of the American liner, President Roosevelt, who went in life boats to the aid of the crew of the British steamer Antinoe, including the two who were drawned.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Stephane Lausanne, editor of The Matin, today asked the government to award the Legion of Honor to Captain Fried and Chief Officer Robert Miller of the steamer President Roosevelt for their heroic efforts in rescuing the crew of the British freighter Antinoe and also to Master-at-Arms Uno Witanen and Boatswain's Mate Ernest Heitmann, who were drowned. He says it is a "reward which in every period France has given to the brave, whatever ther nationality or faith."

ISSUES REQUISITION.

AUSTIN, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson today issued a requisition on the governor of California for the rendition of E. M. Lynch, wanted on two indictments in El Paso county, for swindling in connection with passing worthless checks. He is in custody in Los Angeles.

MARRY IN HASTE

NEWS dispatches from Florida recently carried information that Count Ludwig Salm von Hoogstraten, one-time Austrian nobleman whose principal occupation seems to be playing tennis, had asked his wife, Millicent Rogers, for sufficient funds to live on while their marriage annulment proceedings are being thrashed out.

His wife, only daughter of one of the rich men of the country and heiress to some $40,000,000, more or less, is now learning as others have learned before her that affairs of the heart are more frequently than not pretty costly propositions unless they are mixed with a little head work too. She is finding the heart aches, the searing burns of gossip and the ruthlessness of pitiless publicity poor exchange for a brief but glamorous courtship and the doubtful prestige attached to such a title as the impecunious count could give her.

Romance is an appealing thing. It comes with a rush and under its intoxicating stimulus young folks seem oblivious of most evrything but each other. The result is a hasty a marriage on the theory that all the world loves a lover and that somehow or other the world will look out for their future.

A mounting divorce court docket the nation over testifies to the fallacy of the thing. Right here in Wichita Falls we see evidences of it daily in divorce court records. It is the same, in proportion, everywhere.

This case of the New York multi-millionaire's daughter, born in the lap of luxury and with every advantage unlimited wealth could command, serves simply as a more colorful illustration of the divorce evil. It is representative of the thousands of other cases involving less notable men and women who, under sudden impulse, let their heart alone dictate their marriage future. It is testimonial to the fact, too often lost sight of, that a little common sense and deliberate judgment stirred up in the romantic science or morals when a separation panacea later on.

The troublesome part of it, though, is that no young couple enraptured enough to consider a venture on the matrimonial seas will take time to investigate possible breakers ahead. With divorces increasingly easy to obtain, the tendency is toward still more hasty measures—and still less qualms of conciense or morals when a separation seems necessary.

THE HOHENZOLLERN MOVIE

IT it easy to sympathize with the British public which has not taken kindly to any showing of the moving picture produced by the former kaiser, depicting him in pre-war splendor and in exile at Doorn. The picture has received such angry protests that several theatres which billed it have announced its withdrawal.

It isn't that war prejudices are being clung to unreasonably. Great Britain cover from war hysteria. But resuming has shown a very fine tendency to relations with the German people certainly diplomatic, commercial and friendly redoes not include thrilling with pleasure at a movie of Wilhelm Hohenzollern. The bad taste of that gentleman in seeking to advertise himself in this way does not endear him to movie fans in any country.

TEMPERED WITH MERCY

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has a heart. He modified the courtmartial sentence of Colonel William Mitchell. He ruled that the colonel should receive all of his allowances and one-half of his pay during the five year suspension. Colonel Mitchell is a wealthy man. He did not need the half pay or the allowances. He has resigned his commission in the army and will go his way. He had his fun and being a good sportsman he is willing to pay the price.

PROFESSOR NATURE

The groves, the poet tells us, were God's first temples.

Nature was man's first school.

Thousands of years before the sluggard had been told to go to the ant, consider her ways and be wise, man was learning his first lessons from nature.

When he had so far advanced that his time was not all consumed in finding enough to eat, he could stop and think about what he saw.

From the mountains and fields he learned serenity; from the rushing waters he learned something of force and power.

From the plants that produced his first food he learned of the Providence of the Creator.

From the animals he learned that existence is a struggle, and that only the fit can survive.

Today men are going to the same school although they are taking advanced courses.

Hardly a month passes that Nature does not reveal to them some secret that she had kept hidden from them until their minds were capable of understanding it.

It was thus that radium was revealed, and to a woman, thus teaching other students of nature that the brain of the female is quite as acute and capable of reason as is that of a man.

It was by studying the air, one of the elements of nature, that men found it had density and could support weights, and thereby found out how the birds could fly, and how he too could do it.

It was from nature that he learned the use of metals, and of all the chemical compounds which today become necessary to his very existence.

And while nature has been teaching him practical things, which he needs for his comfort and health, she has been teaching him beauty and filling his

of the millions that he sees as suns, each perhaps with its little string of earth beads about it and still deny that all this harmonious motion is according to some vast plan, and that some incomprehensively great mind is master of it all?

What that mind is, how it operates is a greater secret than we have yet fathomed, yet we hope to know more about it some day. Already we have measured in our own little miles the distance between us and the other bodies in space, and have so charted their courses that we know to a second when even the erratic comets will return.

Outside walls is the great university. What men have learned and put into books that others might teach them are but the results of nature study.

When wars no longer engage man's attention, when he does not have to care for his own safety, or worry about starvation he will learn more in this school perhaps everything that he needs or desires to know.

But that will not be for thousands and perhaps millions of years. There will be no short courses in that university, no way to cram for examinations and get a degree.

SHINING THE FAMILY HONOR

NEARLY fifty years ago the owner of a one-man Illinois bank went to the wall with $220,000 less money in the strong box than the depositors had left with him. There were a lot of one-man banks in those days, and many of them crashed on railroad, wheat or other speculative deals. Usually the banker went west and staked a claim one jump beyond the last banking law. This man dug in at home among his creditors and before he died managed to pay many of them back.

The other day it was announced by his children that within 60 days they would pay the last heir of the last creditor the last cent of the bank failure loss, with interest at 5 percent. The family honor will be clean of a stain that existed only in its high standard of integrity. The old banker may have failed as a banker. He thought so. But he cut his mark high as a father.

What T-O Editors Are Saying

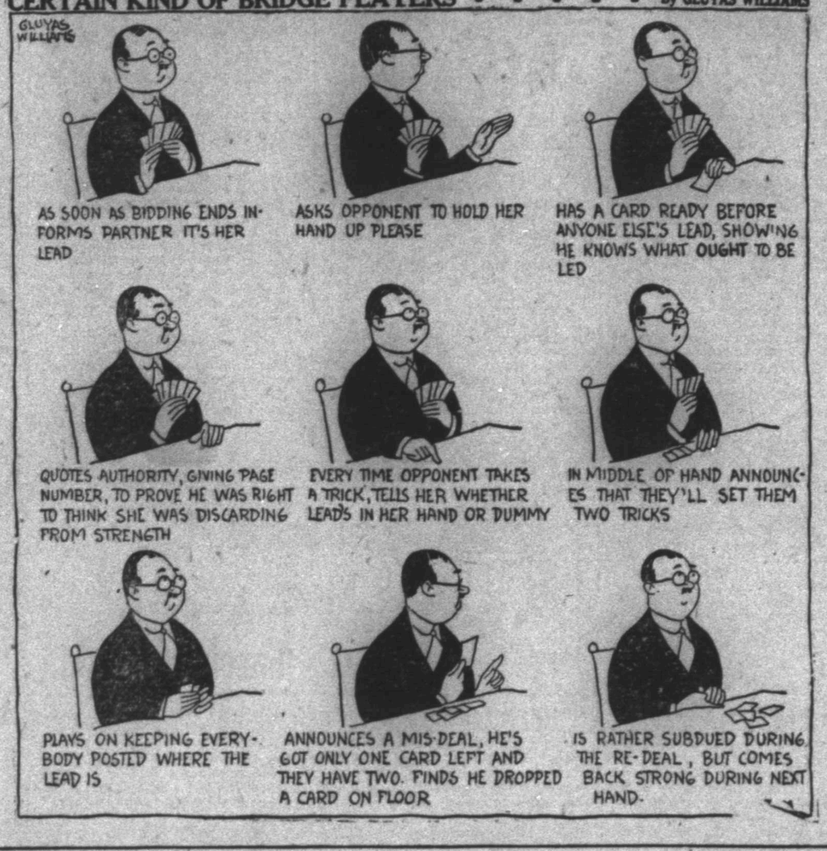

The Marietta man who thinks his family keeps his nose on the grind stone, ought to be thankful that it isn't an emery wheel.—Marietta Herald.

The village smithy no longer stands "under a spreading chestnut tree," the garage has taken its place; and the blacksmiths of today are so few that when one of them passes away it is a matter of comment.

But horse-shoeing is not the only picturesque occupation that has disappeared or is disappearing. In these days of machinery, few now make shoes by hand, although the "shoemaker" is still applied to cobblers who only mend them. The country has no "cradlemaker," nor the town a cooper who makes barrels by hand, though the word still persists as a surname. These surnames offer a most convenient method of recalling forgotten trades. Who would guess that Tracker or Thackery was the man who thatched the roof with straw; that Tyler was the one who tiled it, or Slater, he who roofed with slate? A few other names, as Collier, Fuller, the cloth cleaner, will show how numerous were the ancient crafts. Blacksmiths has no equivalent among English family names, unless it be the abbreviated Smith, though in German, there is Klingensmith, the clanging smith." But the horseshoer was a Farrier, dropped in our dictionaries but retained in the directories.

But with the passing of the old, new crafts are finding a place. Besides mechanics we now have mechanicians and besides undertakers, morticians. Modern life is more complex than that of the past and calls for specialists.—Bristow Record.

CERTAIN KIND OF BRIDGE PLAYERS - - - - - By GLUYAS WILLIAMS

"Love Bound In Wichita Falls"

By the Author of 'The Flapper Wife'

The next morning she was awakened by the sound if Flossie's voice downstairs and in a few minutes Flossie herself burst into the room. She threw a letter down on the covers of her sister's bed.

"'Nother letter of condolence, I suppose," she said. "If I were you I wouldn't read it—it'll just start you to bawling again!"

But Mary Rose had the envelope in her hands. She knew that writing! It was the fine, dashing hand of John Manners.

Without opening the envelope, she deliberately tore it into a dozen pieces and threw them in the waste basket in the corner. She felt that somehow or other it wasn't quite fair to Tom's memory to read a letter from John Manners.

But for weeks afterward she wondered what he had written to her.

"I came over to tell you some news," Flossie said to her suddenly. "Something wonderful."

Mary Rose looked at her and saw that something rather wonderful had happened to Flossie. Something that had given her face a sweetness and sofe wistfulness that it never had had before. Something that made her flush and laugh with a kind of nervous, embarrassed happiness under her sister's eyes.

"Yes—it's true," she said. "I'm going to have a baby!"

Mary Rose sat up in bed and put both her arms around her, and they clung together—closer in spirit than they ever had been in all their lives.

Flossie spoke again in a voice that was muffled by Mary Rose's shoulder: "Sam's so tickled that he could jump over the moon! We've only known about it for a few days."

"I never expected Flossie Middleton to be like this over the prospect of a baby," Mary Rose confessed to her mother that night, when Flossie and her pathetically proud young husband had taken themselves off home. "I thought she'd raise an awful rumpus if anybody ever suggested that she have a baby."

Mrs. Middleton gave a comfortable little laugh. "Oh, nature takes care of these things, always," she said. "The minute a baby is born, you'd be surprised to know what mother-love is born with it in the heart of the woman who brings it into the world! You wouldn't believe it, I suppose, if I told you that when I was young, I was just such a wild young thing as Flossie!"

Looking at her, Mary Rose couldn't believe it. It was impossible to think of her mother, with her quiet eyes and plain bands of gray hair, as ever having been young and beautiful and fly-away like Flossie.

"Life tames us all," said Mrs. Middleton, "Just give it time!"

Mary Rose felt as if it had tamed her already. Since Tom's death, she had not been able to think of going out to look for a new job. She couldn't bear to think of facing people again.

And et she knew that she had it to do—and soon, too. For there was not much money in the savings account at the bank. Not much more than a couple of hundred dollars.

"I'll start out next Monday and see what I can find," she made up her mind.

* * *

On the afternoon of New Year's day, as Mary Rose stood at the bay window of the little brown house, Mrs. Fitzroy's big black Conqueror car rolled smoothly down the street and stopped at the curb.

Ito, the Japanese chauffeur, got out and came up the front walk, with a black-edged letter in his gauntleted hand.

It was from Mrs. Fitzroy.

"Dear Mary Rose," it read. "The doctor and I wonder if you and your mother will come over to have tea with us. It is very lonely here for us, and perhaps you are feeling Tom's absence, just as keenly as we are on this holiday. Ito will drive you over. Affectionately yours, Maria Van Nault Fitzroy."

An hour later, Mary Rose was sitting in the doctor's study with him, while her mother and Mrs. Fitzroy had a cup of tea over the fire in the warm, rose-scented library of the big luxurious house.

"The house seems empty without the boy," Dr. Fitzroy said presently, not looking up from the flames that flickered in the grate.

Mary Rose nodded, silently. She noticed how much whiter the hair on the doctor's temples seemed to be than ever before, and how deeply the lines about his eyes and mouth had etched themselves this last week. For the first time since she had known him, he struck her as being old—old and broken.

He cleared his throat, and went on talking: "You know, Mary Rose, no one ever quite takes the place of a son in a man's life. He has his wife and his career and his friends—but his son is different, somehow. Everything that he does is for his son in a way. See what I mean?"

Again Mary Rose gave her little nod. "It's too bad you didn't have other children," she answered quietly. "Another son—or a daughter."

She watched him while he got up and walked down the length of the room and stood for a moment at the window, looking out at the cold, gray world.

He came back and stood behind her chair with his hands on her shoulders.

"His mother and I said that very thing today," he told her. "And we thought you might come here to live with us. We're very lonely and you're all the daughter we have."

"Don't make up your mind about it now," he added. "Think it over for a day or two and then let us know what you've decided."

* * *

The next morning at breakfast Mary Rose told her mother about it.

"If I were you, I'd go and live with them," Mrs. Middleton surprised her by saying. "Flossie is going to need me, anyway, now that she's going to have a baby. And if you lived with the Fitzroys she and Sam could move right in here."

But Mary Rose shook her head. She slipped to her knees and hid er face in the lap of her mother's old gingham house dress.

"How can I go and live with them?" she sobbed. "If I'd love Tom, as they think I did, I'd feel like a daughter to them. I'd want to be near them! But I didn't love him—I've never loved but one man since I was born! And he—he hates me!"

Mary Rose had struggled to keep John Manners out of her mind for weeks and weeks. But she couldn't keep him out of her thoughts. His face came between her and whatever she happened to be looking at, a hundred times a day. It was the last thing she saw, against the darkness of her bedroom, just before she closed her eyes in sleep at night.

She knew that she never would forget him as long as she lived.

CHAPTER LXII

A week or so later, Mary Rose told Dr. Fitzroy that she had decided not to live with them.

"I can't," she explained to him. "I have my own mother to look after. But will you let me do this—will you let me work in your office for a couple of months until I pull myself together?"

For Tom's death had been much more of a shock to her than it had seemed at the time. Sometimes now, when she tried to talk to people, she would suddenly and without warning burst into tears.

But as January came to an end and February passed Mary Rose began to feel more sure of herself.

The days in Dr. Fitzroy's crowded office were interesting and she was kept so busy that she had no time to think and to brood. And that was a very good thing for her.

Once a week, usually on Sunday nights, she went to the Fitzroys' big, lonely house to have supper with them.

She was there, with her mother, on the first Sunday afternoon in March when Doris Hinig dropped in to see Mrs. Fitzroy. The two, who belonged to the same bridge playing set, had become rather good friends.

"I think you know—Mrs. Fitzroy," Tom's mother said to her, when she brought Doris into the room.

"I knew her as Miss Middleton," the other girl said stiffly. She did not take the hand that Mary Rose held out in greeting, but turned quickly and said, "How do you do?" to Mrs. Middleton.

The four women sat down again before the fire.

"I came in to say good bye to you. I'm going to Europe for a year," Doris Hinig told Mrs. Fitzroy.

"How very, very lovely!" Mrs. Fitzroy murmured in her soft, beautiful voice, smiling sweetly. But there was a puzzled look in her eyes and Mary Rose knew that she was wondering the same thing that she herself was wondering.

If she was going to marry John Manners in June, how was she going to Europe for a year?

She looked sharply at Doris' fresh- colored face with its bright, blue eyes and clear-cut features. And she saw that the smile on it was fixed and set.

It was as if Doris had made up her mind to smile and never to stop smiling no matter whether she felt like it or not.

"Yes, I'm going back to France," she was saying to Mrs. Fitzroy in a voice that sounded too high and bright and cheerful—almost strained in its cheerfulness.

"I've never been really happy doing anything but work in the Red Cross. I honestly think I was cut out to be a nurse," she went on

Mary Rose looked at her fragile clothes, her slim ankles and wrists, and the frail loveliness of her face. She did not look as if nature had ever intended her to be a nurse.

She looked as if nature had never intended her to be anything but what she was—a lily of the field, who toiled not nor spun, and went about arrayed more splendidly than Solomon in all his glory or Sheba in all of hers!

The suit that she wore now was a fawn-colored thing of fine broadcloth trimmed with pale fox fur, and she wore a plain straw hat of the same color of her ash-blonde hair.

"Looks like a bride's going away suit," was Mary Rose's inner comment. "And I'll bet a cooky

But if her clothes were like treasures from a trousseau chest, Doris' face was anything but the happy face of a bride-to-be. In spite of her color, there were violet rings under her eyes and a droop to her mouth when it was in repose.

When she got up to go, Mrs. Fitzroy followed her into the hall and closed the library door behind her.

"That's the girl John Manners is going to marry," Mary Rose said in a low tone to her mother.

Mrs. Middleton gave one of her tiny snorts. "Well, I can't see that she looks very happy over it!" she said, pouring herself another cup of Mrs. Fitzroy's Ming Cha tea, and biting into a ladyfinger.

Suddenly she set both of them down. "Why, you're crazy, Mary Rose!" she said, shaking her head. I remember that piece about him in the paper, and it said the wedding was going to take place in June! So this girl can't be the one he is going to marry! She wouldn't be going off to Europe for a year if she was, would she?"

Mary Rose shrugged her slender shoulders. "That's what I'm wondering," she said.

POEMS THAT LIVE

"I Live"

The Scholar.

My days among the dead are past;
Around me I behold,
Where'er these casual eyes are cast,
The mighty minds of old:
My never-failing friends are they,
With whom I converse day by day.
With them I take delight in weal
And seek relief in woe;
And while I understand and feel
How much to them I owe,
My cheeks have often been bedew'd
With tears of thoughtful gratiutde.
My thoughts are with the dead; with them
I live in long past years,
Their virtues love, their faults condemn,
Partake their hopes and fears,
And from their lessons seek and find
Instruction with a humble mind.
My hopes are with the dead; anon
My place with them will be,
And I with them shall travel on
Through all futurity;
Yet leaving here a name, I trust,
That will not perish in the dust.
—Robert Southey.

NOISE

There are children in the hallways,
And they romp and race and run,
For it seems there's something always
When there's work that must be done;
I can hear a bellboy coming
With his whistel loud and shrill,
And a chambermaid is humming,
In the way that women will.
It's decidedly distracting,
When you have your work to do,
To have ev'ry body acting
Like they never thought of you:
And it makes a fellow snappy,
Till he sees a certain thing:
It's the fact that they are happy
That makes other people sing.
So let's put up with the shouting,
And the whistle, and the song,
For they beat a world of pouting,
And of thinking things ar ewrong.
Though they make our labor double
Though their noises may annoy,
It's so hard to bear life's trouble,
Let us try to stand the joy.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

By MRS FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

Father Lion Finds His Son But Loses His Temper.

"Good evening, father," growled Step-Lightly. "Fine night, isn't it?"

The Cub trotted toward the great creature on the rock, his uplifted tail waving a respectful greeting to his parent. Peter's feet wanted to stand right where they were, but Peter's mind told him that he had much better meet the Lion in the company of the Lion's little son than all by himself, so he trailed on after Step-Lightly.

"G-r-r-r! You young scalawag! What do you mean by prowling so far from home? Your mother is worried to death and so cross that I didn't dare to speak to her or she would have snapped my head off! You deserve a sound cuffing! You naughty Cub!" Father Lion scolded his son in a voice that made Peter shake in his boots, but Step-Lightly didn't seem to mind it.

"Tch, Tch!" chuckled the Cub, but he lowered his head so that Father Lion shouldn't see he was laughing, and he took good care Father Lion should not hear what he was telling Peter. "I'll bet a Jack Rabbit Ma drove Pa out of the cave—made him come to look for me. Pa is afraid of her, and I don't blame him much. She is the best mother in all Lion-Land, but she flies into a terrible rage if anything happens to one of her children, and thinking of me out in the desert lone, hungry, in danger perhaps, has made her wild." The rest of what Step-Lightly was saying was drowned by his father's roar.

"I have a good mind to carry you home by the nape of your neck, you rascal! Your mother tearing around the cave like a made Lioness and I spending the best part of an afternoon searching for you! You have spoiled hours of good hunting. I saw an ox in the distance, but I didn't dare take the time to bring him down. Why, I haven't even had a drink in goodness knows how long—passed the pool ithout as much as a sip, fearing all the while something might have happened to you.

"And after all my trouble and worrying I find you in the driest part of the desert I believe you could have picked out, and in the company of a miserable little Two-Legs. G-r-r-r! I am angry enough to attack an armed Man. A little Human is easy prey, I guess I will eat him up."

WHY JEWELERS HAVE GRAY HAIRS

By William E. Griffin

Jim Ormand was a chap who thought
That everything he got
Should be paid for when it was bought,
Tin pail or house and lot;
And just because he didn't blow,
As does the common boor,
Folks thought he had but little dough,
In fact, that he was poor.

Frank Parker, on the other hand,
Was thought to have a roll;
He lived upon a scale so grand
It scared you, on my soul!
'Twas known he owed the banks for loans,
The tailor each stitch,
The druggist for his ice cream cones—
Folks said, "He must be rich!"

Jim's wife loved pearls, and so he scrimped
And paid for two fine strings;
Frank Parker's wife, when'er she primped,
Wore imitation things!
How funny is the female sex!
What queer mistakes it makes!
At Frank's wife's stuff they craned their necks—
Jim's wife's pearls were fakes!

THE BARBER SHAVES HIMSELF
(Observed By Joseph D. Fauerbach)

"I think I need a shave—now just a minute while I lather my face. I'll be surprised at the rich creamy lather. It's a nice day today, isn't it? Let's see, have I heard the story about Pat and Mike in the powder mill? Yes, I believe I have. Yes, I heard the one about the flapper at the hoisery counter, too. Well, well, the razor doesn't pull a bit does it? And that towel wasn't a bit too hot. This is one of the best shaves I've given myself.

"Here's a good one! It seems that an old darkey had to spend a night in a graveyard, so he took along his rabbit's foot and —Oh, darn it all, I've heard that one. How do I shave my neck? Down the sides? Oh, yes. How does that razor feel? Let's see, haven't I shaved you before It seems like your face is familiar. I know I've seen that reflection in the mirror somewhere. I really need a massage to close the pores and soothe the skin. I believe I'll give myself one. No, I won't refuse. I insist on it! And a lemon rub, too.

"While I'm giving myself this lemon rub and massage I want to tell myself that little story a traveling man told me last week. Two Irishmen—I guess I've heard that one before. Can't I tell any stories I haven't heard? It's a shame! I feel so nervous I don't know if I can finish this or not. I really think I can argue myself into a shampoo. My head's very dirty, and this mild antiseptic soap will greatly benefit my scalp. No? Yes? Ah, I thank myself.

10 Shades Picked As Modes for New Styles This Year

LONDON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Leading British color experts have chosen ten shades which will be fashionable in women's dress this spring. The main tendency of the new fashion spectrum is a reaction from full colors to half tones of pastel shades, with a very definite, though unobtrusive brightness.

"Bright mauves," says one expert, "will give way to a soft shade which has been named foxglove. The fashionable blue will be airfoce, this being the color of the royal air force uniforms. Full browns after an extraordinary vogue will hardly be seen at all. Their place will be taken by more delicate shades.

"The two principal greens will be yellow green, named chartreuse, after the famous liquer, and palm, recalling the trees on the Riviera. Clouds, the new grey, is the color of clouds on a fine spring day. It will be worn during the later stages of court mourning for Dowager Queen Alexandra, but there is every indication that it also will become a general fashion.

"Two of the most daring and novel shades are dawn at Biskra," the experts added. "These are delicate shades in pink. Finally there is a beautiful pastel red called Rose Marie. The colors have been chosen so that they will blend in any combination for any purpose."

Mrs. C. W. Snider will be hostess to the New Century club members at her home Friday at a 1 o'clock luncheon.

ROYALTY AT WORK

FORT WORTH, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Not only "working to learn," but actually paying for the privilege of working, two Guatemala youths, sons of Vice-President Monterroso, are working on a blooded hog farm near here with the intention of taking American methods back with them.

Louis and Davis Monterroso, 20 and 18, respectively, have studied other things besides hog raising since landing in Fort Worth two years ago. Cotton raising, citrus culture, truck farming and poultry raising have already seen their apprenticeships satisfactorily ended.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. Adv.

Pimples

What can I do?

"OH, why can't I have a skin like other girls? Why do I have to have these ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads?

"If I could only find something that would clear up my skin and give me back my soft, rosy complexion, I know I would be the happies girl in the world! What can I do?"

Is that you talking? If it is, you don't have to worry a minute! Just build up the rich, red blood in your body. Then your skin will be as clear and soft as anybody's.

That's what S. S. S. has been doing for generations—helping Nature build rich, red blood! You can build red-blood-cells so fast that the impurities that cause breaking out on the skin hardly get into the system before the pure blood annihilates them—kills them right out—stops them from breaking out through the skin.

And then this rich, red, pure blood feeds and nourishes the tissues of the skin and keeps it looking healthy.

That's all there is to it. Healthy, vigorous red blood such as S. S. S. helps Nature build, makes you healthy all over. It beautifies your skin — drives away pimples, blackheads, blotches, rash, boils and eczema—gives you back your appetite—builds firm, plump flesh and fills you full of new life and energy.

NEW WHITEHILL HOME A BEAUTY

Builder Takes Advantage of Ideal Location to Build Well

Considerations of comfort dominated the planning and building of the handsome residence at 3208 Seymour road, in Lavinia Terrace addition, the home which is offered for sale by the J. M. Bland Realty company. The maximum of comfort and convenience were attained with no sacrifice of dignity or beauty, and the hose is an exceptional combination of the practical and the esthetic.

Ideal Location.

The builders and owners, the D. H. Whitehill Construction company, made the most of the opportunity offered by the location. The site is well up on the slope which the terrain makes in the western part of the city, and afforded a wide exposure to the southern breeze which is such an important factor in Wichita Falls, in the summer time. Mr. Whitehill was able to emphasize this advantage, in building the house. Of the four spacious bed-rooms upstairs, three are on the south side. The easternmost of the bedrooms is virtually a sleeping porch; ted windows on the south, east and north sides make it a truly inviting place to sleep. The other two bed-rooms have more than ample ventilation.

The location provides a sweeping view of the city and of the country to the north, west and south. From a practical standpoint, it is convenient to the new Crockett school, just a block away.

Dignified, Substantial.

The appearance of the house comports with its location. Dignity and substasec are built into it. The use of La Perla mat-face brick, with ruddy-shaded roofing, offers a pleasing contrast. In keeping with the general appearance of the house, there is an absence of "fussy" ornamentation, simplicity being the rule.

The floors are of oak, sub floored, with heavy paper between the two layers. The downstairs walls are strippled over Roof-Tex, in a delicate shade of brown which has won the admiration of all who have seen it.

The living room occupies the eastern end of the lower floor, and is not the least of the many charming features of the house. Its dimensions are 16x26. A stone fireplace that is a real work of art is among the appointments. The spacious dining room occupies the southwest corner of the lower floor. The kitchen is small and "step-saving" and is equipped for the maximum of household efficiency.

Hot Air Heating.

The Moncrief hot air heating system is used for the house, the furnace being equipped for either gas or coal. All outside openings are Athey weather-stripped.

There is a double garage with servants' rooms.

The house is 70 feet from the street, and all other houses built in this restricted area must comply to the same rule. The addition is restricted to finer homes.

AND TEX TELLS IT.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Tex Rickard characterized as "ridiculous" today a statement credited to Jack Dempsey that arrangements are being made to match the champion with Harry Wills in Madison Square Garden or elsewhere in the Metropolitan area on Labor Day.

"Dempsey evidently is 'kidding' somebody," the promoter commented.

ORIENTAL PUTS IN FURNISHINGS

Whitehill Residence Is Given Tasteful and Dignified Suites

Furnishings tasteful, colorful and rich, yet not gaudy nor too elaborate have been supplied by the Oriental Studios here for the new Whitehill house on Lavina Terrace. The structure has been furnished complete in a manner that fully comports with the architectural excellence of the home and these furnishings may, if the buyer so wishes, be included in the purchase.

Entering the living room of the building one finds, as a starter, a magnificent Black Chinese rug, 10x 20 feet in dimensions and which is said to be one of only three or four in the country. The furniture is by Maxwell Ray, Hanley Johnson and Phoenix, all furniture builders of note. Wide davenport, comfortable chairs and a judicious scattering of floor lamps give the room a comfortable appearance.

Bronze Fireplace.

An English bronze fireplace with large fire screen, candelabra and mantel fixtures and to the appeal of this room.

The nine-piece dining room suit is in the French Rennaisance style, finished in French walnut and Rosewood. A 12x15 rug covers the floor ad the beatury of the room is enhanced by a large wall tapestry behind the buffet.

In the breakfast room, a cozy alcove just off the kitchen, a set of table and chairs lacquered in Poppy, red and black have a genial appearance. An illuminated gold fish stand and other novelties complete the appeal.

Satinwood Suite.

Upstairs in the bedroms, furnishings have been carried out tastefully. In the master's bedroom a suite in Satinwood and mahogany has been installed with a Rug of Rose taupe chinelle on the floor. The guest room is furnished with a suite of Georgian walnut in the Adam period style with the same kind of rug on the floor.

The sleeping porch strikes a lighter vein and is supplied with twin beds in Chinese blue, with a special vanity groupe in the same finish. A Chinese rug is also supplied here. The fourth bedroom is equipped with a six-piece set all in Rosewood, a feature of which is a glazed chinz chair. An orchid Chinese rug is on the floor here.

Rugs are playing an important part in the furnishings and it was explained by the Oriental management that these represented the best to be obtained in floor coverings. A tone of quality and dignified simplicity, however, is struck in all the furnishings which are included.

Brunswick Radiola In Whitehill Home

A Brunswick Radiola, the last word in musical reproduction, has been selected for installation in the new Whitehill home. This instrument, combining the quality products of the famous Brunswick, plus a high-powered radio equipment in the same cabinet, has been put in the living room.

The Brunswick Radiola is handled locally by the Wichita Music company here.

CHRIS PLANS NEW BOAT.

Smith to Build Gold Challenge Racer For Himself.

Chris Smith of Algonac is busy planning and laying out the lines of a new gold challenge cup boat, to be run as his own entry.

This is a new thing for Chris Smith. He started building gold cup winners in 1914, when Mrs. J. Stuart Blackton's baby speed demon took the cup at Lake George. He built a cup winner for a syndicate of Detroit sportsmen, and then built gold cup winners for Gar Wood for several years. But he was always building champions for other people, not for himself.

The High School P. T. A. met Tuesday afternoon at the high school with Mrs. Homer Jones, the president presiding. The meeting opened with a prayer by Rev. W. N. Vernon and then the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting with Mrs. W. B. Babcock presiding. The report was made that there was $125 on deposit and the motion was made to fill the cabinet with supplies. The question of purchasing pictures for the high school was brought up, but nothing definitely decided upon. Mrs. W. P. Kilpatrick made a talk in regard to cleaning up the City Park, and a motion was made for the P. T. A. to meet Saturday and clean up the park.

Mrs. A. J. Gafford, the vice-president had charge of a very fine program, which consisted of a reading by Mrs. J. C. Mozley, who read "Home" by Edgar A. Guest and Rev. W. N. Vernon spoke on "Service," bringing out the points that the one that accomplishes things is one who works and not the one who does all the talking. He spoke of our tasks in life. The benedicition was pronounced.

Those present were: Mesdames Weller, Shaw, Magee, Frear, Corder, Mozley, Kipatrick, Smith, Vaught, Melton, Babcock, Williams, Harris, Jones, Gafford and Messrs. Vernon and Tibbitts.

Dies In Fort Worth.

Miss Isla Wilson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Wilson, of North Electra street, died at 7:30 Tuesday evening in the hospital in Fort Worth, where she went some two months ago, and although funeral arrangements are not complete she will be taken to Stoneburg, Texas, for burial.

She is a well known young lady of this city, having attended the local high school, for the past four years, and her father is the proprietor of the Armilda Barber shop, on North Main street. Miss Wilson is also a well known member of the Methodist church, in which she took an active part.

L. O. P. H. Bridge Club.

The L. O. P. H. Bridge club met on Tuesday evening with the Misses Hanna on West Ida avenue, with three tables of bridge. Those playing were: Misses Nina Jones, Jennie Coogrod, Virgie Hanna, Eula Tucker, Hair, Ellen Paxton, Edith Hanna, Velma Burns, Clelia Mallow, Grace Lana Hanna and Miss Pearl Taylor, a new accepted member in the club. Miss Cleli Mallow won the high score and was awarded a hand-painted door stop, while low score went to Miss Eula Tucker, and her prize was a hand-painted incense burner. The hostess served ice cream and cake with novelty doll favors, carrying out the suggestions of Valentine. The club is planning an open house meeting for February 12, the place to be decided upon later. The next meeting will be with Misses Paxton and Mallow at the home of Mrs. M. D. Goldsmith, on West Wharton avenue.

Vital Statistics from Electra.

According to the vital statistics for January in Electra as recorded by Col. Ed. C. Wilson of the registar, racial suicide does not seem probable, there being 45 births, with the girls in the lead by a majority of one, there being 23 girls and 22 boys, while the death rate was somewhat higher than usual, due to so many cases of pneumonia. There were 14 deaths.

Mid-Winter Revival to Start.

The First Baptist church of this city announces the beginning of a series of revival services to begin on Wednesday night at the church with Rev. W. J. Bugg of Austin conducting the services and a Mr. Lloyd of Fort Worth to lead the singing. Rev. Bugg is well known in Electra having been here two years ago when he conducted a revival.

Tank Factory Is Going Up.

The new tank factory being built by W. P. Lincoln, is progressing rapidly and when completed will cost $25,000. It will be equipped to build steel tanks such as are used for storage tanks in the local oil fields. The building is located east of the Dale Refining company and the floor space will cover 76 by 112 feet. It is believed that the factory will be ready to begin operations in the course of a few days and will employ ten men. The Fort Worth and Denver railroad has given concession to a side track being built to the plant.

Miss Giles Hostess.

The S. A. L. Bridge club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ed. Campbell on East Ida with Miss Effie Giles as hostess. High score went to Miss Mary McGann, a club member, and the guest prize was awarded to Miss Sallye Huffaker who each received lovely remembrances. A plate luncheon with Valentine favors was served to the following guests: Misses Mary McGann, Leta Mae Coke, Lois Reeves, Carrie Cross, Catherine Barr, Annie Laurie Smith, Sallye Huffaker, Minnie Maude Cox, Velma Porterfield, and Mrs. Cocke of Vernon, a guest, and the hostess. Miss Velma Porterfield will be hostess to the club next week.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

TRY A 25c BOTTLE

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.—Adv.

Sideache, Dizziness

"FOR a long time I suffered dreadfully with pains in my sides," says Mrs. Owen Stout, of Ada, Okla., whose picture is printed above. "At times these spells would become so bad I would have to go to bed. I dragged around and was pale and listless. I had no 'pep' or ambition. I did not want to go anywhere or do anything.

"When my sides hurt, I would grow dizzy if I was on my feet any, and I had to lie down most of the time. I had bad nervous headaches which caused me awful suffering. It seemed as if my head would split open from the pain up the back of my neck and across my temples. I was nervous and cross.

"I read about a woman who had taken Cardui for trouble similar to my own, so I thought this medicine would be worth trying. If it helped her, it might help me.

"I got a bottle of Cardui and began to take it. It was really remarkable how fast I improved after I began taking Cardui. In time the cause of my suffering was removed and I recovered my former health and strength."

Cardui has been in use for almost 50 years.

More Truth Than Poetry

BARBERS

No malice toward doctors or dentists I harbor,
Though both have proved often dispensers of pain,
But I freely admit that I don't like a barber
For reasons which presently I shall explain.
At nineteen or twenty my brow was surrounded
With locks which drooped gracefully over my eyes—
And back to the nape of my neck they abounded,
In a way that made every one gasp with surprise.
But the barber who cut them would glance at them sadly
As, snipping his scissors around me he strolled,
And murmur: "Your hair has been falling out badly,
You'll be bald as a baby when thirty years old."

"Unless," he continued (and if any twinges
Of consciences assailed him, he gave not a sign,)
"You take a nice course of massages and singes
And use night and morning these tonics of mine."
And so I submitted and did as he told me;
Massages and singes I took every week,
A half-dozen bottles of tonic he sold me
Which he said he dispensed to a popular shiek
I gritted my teeth like the veriest stoic,
As my head with his sinewy fingers he mauled,
And said to myself: "Though the treatment's heroic
At least I am sure I shall never be bald."

But after each session I had with this shearer
My head aching madly, I rose from the chair,
And saw as I looked in his fly bespecked mirror
That part of the hair that I had wasn't there.
In spite of his tonics, his rubs and his punches,
In spite of massages and singes and such,
It fell out in groups and detachments and bunches—
It rubbed off like paint at so much as a touch.
And now of a night when the lamps have been lighted—
My head is a gleam like an ivory ball,
And therefore this poem of hate I've indicted
To say that I do not like barbers at all.

ONCE UPON A TIME, LITTLE FREDDY WITH HIS FIDDLE—X

by W. J. ENRIGHT.

THE STORY UP TO NOW

ONCE A POOR LITTLE BOY NAMED FREDDY GAVE THREE PENNIES EARNED WORKING FOR THE SKINFLINT SHERIFF TO THREE BEGGARS, AND IN RETURN GOT THREE WISHES—A FIDDLE THAT MADE EVERYBODY DANCE, A GUN THAT ALWAYS HIT THE MARK, AND "FOR THE LAST WISH," HE SAID, "I WISH THAT NOBODY CAN SAY NO TO THE FIRST THING I ASK FOR." WITH THIS WISH HE GOT SOME FINE CLOTHES AND WENT BACK TO SEE THE SHERIFF. THE SHERIFF FELL IN SOME THORNS AND FREDDY BEGAN TO PLAY HIS FIDDLE.

© McClure Newspaper Synd

AT THE FIRST SCRAPE OF THE FIDDLE THE SHERIFF BEGAN TO DANCE AND THE THORNS TO TEAR HIS CLOTHES.

STILL FREDDY PLAYED ON AND THE SHERIFF DANCED AND CRIED AND BEGGED TILL HIS CLOTHES FLEW IN TATTERS. "NOW," SAID FREDDY, "I THINK YOU ARE ABOUT AS RAGGED AS WHEN I LEFT YOUR SERVICE, SO I SHALL STOP."

BUT FIRST THE SHERIFF HAD TO PAY FREDDY WHAT HE HAD WAGERED THAT HE COULD NOT HIT THE SPARROW. THEN FREDDY DROVE TO THE INN AND BEGAN TO PLAY AND ALL WHO CAME DANCED AND HAD A MERRY TIME.

BUT JUST AS THEY WERE IN THE MIDST OF THEIR FUN UP CAME THE WATCHMEN TO DRAG THE LAD OFF TO JAIL, FOR THE SHERIFF HAD SWORN THAT HE HAD WAYLAID HIM, ROBBED HIM AND NEARLY TAKEN HIS LIFE.

Tin Ears Flock In to Watch Yusko Wrestle Santel Tonight

TOP O' MORN STUFF
By Blondy Cross.

Skipper Fred ran the bases in another league yesterday, did 'em in nothing flat and jumped clear out of our class. Played ball figuratively speaking with the moneyed boys. Alvin took Brainard around and visited with the bankers.

* * *

McCutchen and McGregor over at the First National were out of town and they found Heavy Norton promoted and sitting in Mac's chair, very industrious and vested with lots of authority.

* * *

Basham and Robertson gave Fred the glad hand at the City National. Pat Simmons and Bob Waggoner fanned some with the straw boss at the Wichita State. Skipper and Prexy started into the Security to buzz a bit with Hugh Cotner, but saw Hugh awfully busy making a loan or something or other to some impressive looking individual, so postponed the social stuff for the time being.

* * *

SIGN HIM UP.

Cotner's head of the Wichita Falls amateur baseball federation, has had gobs of experience baseballically. Ought to be signed up as a sort of advisory board to the Spudders, in fact. Wouldn't hurt to take on one more advisor, anybow, considering the host of basso, falsetto and other vocally inclined diamond strategists who will make themselves heard frequently from the grandstand this summer just as soon as some pitcher walks a man, a domestic batter whiffs, or an infielder dropkicks one.

* * *

For more than an hour Wednesday afternoon, Fred was center of an enthusiastic crowd of ball microbes who had drifted into Spud offices for a hot stove session. As Lee McGee, seconded by Andy Anderson from Burk, put it: "Now's the time to learn their voices so next summer you'll know just who's giving those high-toned instructions from the grandstand and bleachers."

* * *

NO POETRY THERE.

Lee and Andy were joking. All hands got a good laugh, but there's more prosaic truth in those words than melodious rhythm. Won't be long now till the boys are paying their six bits each to crash in and yap lustily: "Ye-e-e-ow! Take 'im out! Get a pitcher!

"Hey, there! Manager, whaddaya gonna do?

"You're rotten, yuh ham-and-egger! Yuh couldn't hit a bass drum! Git a batter-r-r-r!"

* * *

DICK STILL SORE.

Dick Morgan eased into headquarters long enough to hint around that he won't need much spring training in order to get in shape. They all dread the old camp grind, these ball players do. Dick's still bothered over that tonsil operation performed last week. Isn't exactly sure that all is as it should be in region of the epiglottis. Afraid there's a bit of infection.

* * *

Tom Cochran loses enough golf balls as it is, says Eulas, and now he has to go and lose his car. Dick's been hunting for it, acting caddy for an, auto as it were.

* * *

Dick averred as how he'll be ready in plenty of time to chunk that game with Shreveport here on the opening day.

* * *

If Alec Ross would charge admission to all the wrestlers who'll be at ringside tonight the gate receipts would be exceedingly heavy in comparison to other matches staged here. Looks like half the tin-ear population of the nation has flocked into Wichita Falls to get a look at Frank Yusko in action with Santel.

* * *

It's more or less interesting how some people by a sudden quirk of the imagination become obsessed by one idea, a single goal, which dominates their every thought and makes it almost impossible for them to center on anything else until after they have either failed completely or come through victoriously. An example of this right now is a turn of mind Jack Gorman has registered. I was taking breakfast with Jack the other morning. Walter asked him what he wanted.

"Matty Matsuda!" Jack was quick to reply. For several months now Jack has carried nothing in his think tank other than what probably stacks up to him as a roseate dream, a match with the clever Jap welter and an ultimate victory.

* * *

Served up as a breakfast dish or, for that matter, in any other form Matty hardly would prove a very digestible piece of meat for Jack, so a number of mat students will tell you. But sooner or later Jack is going to force the issue so far that Matty will have to be brought in and thrown onto the canvas before him in order to keep the Plainview grappler from going nuts, also as a means of protecting Matty's reputation as an athlete willing to meet anything near his weight.

* * *

FOR WHY?

Two road shows on the same days! Looks as if somebody's slashing his nasal organ as spite to his face. That's the situation in Wichita Falls next week. There's plenty of room for a good road show every week, but the old burg's scarcely large enough to afford two large road organizations on the same date.

MEGARGEL WINS TWO

Megargel won two cage encounters over Seymour last night on the home court. Megargel high defeated Seymour high, 30-13. Walker of Megargel was high point man with ten. J. Hardegree of Megargel came second with eight.

The Megargel town team defeated the Seymour town team, 30 to 18. L. Hardegree of Megargel was high-pointer with 12 tallies. King and Daniels played good games.

LOOK OUT! JOHNNY.

Johnny Weismuller has a stack of world's swimming marks, but the other boys are beginning to snip off a few of them. Three of Johnny's tank swimming records were severely fractured at Buffalo recently.

THE CARD.

Ad Santel versus Frank Yusko. Two falls to a finish.

Jack Gorman versus Tommy Murphy. One hour limit match.

Harland Ross versus Buster Padgett. One fall, 15 minute limit match.

Time: 8 o'clock tonight.

Place: 812 1-2 Scott gym.

All principals were on hand yesterday ready to get together.

Santel arrived in good shape and rearing to mix it with the Jugo-Slav heavyweight champion.

Jack Gorman breezed in radiating confidence he will pin Murphy, and still yelling for a fling at Matty Matsuda, the Jap welterweight champ.

Each wrestler took a workout.

A host of wrestlers, mat promoters and managers of wrestlers, also, arrived. They've come to see Yusko perform. The foreign heavyweight is somewhat of an enigma to most of the American wrestling fraternity. He has been touted highly, and looms as a very formidable grappler.

Promoters and rival wrestlers alike are displaying keen interest in how he will stack up tonight with the light heavyweight champion. Yusko weighs 215 pounds and seeks bouts with leading American heavyweights. Wants a crack at the championship.

Among the arrivals Wednesday were Peter Buzukos, Jack Ryan, Nick Lutz, Billy Sandow (Strangler Lewis' manager,) Jim Browning, Nick Veicoff, Harry Demetral, Paul Jones, Laurie Bowman (manager and promoter from Little Rock), Jack Herman, and Lew Cutler (Oklahoma City matchmaker).

LION RUNNERS START MONDAY

Vernon high school's track prospects will get into action next Monday in preparation for the track season, according to an announcement made by E. A. Baggett, Lion track coach. An effort will be made to whip the squad into shape in time to enter the athletic events of the Fort Worth Fat Stock show.

Last season's track team won fourth honors at the track meet held show, and the Lion mentor has hopes of repeating the performance this season. Two of last year's mainstays, Ryan and Crouch, are expected to represent the Lions on the cinder path again this season.

Since the sale of Fair Park to private interests a few days ago leaves the Lions without an athletic field, the squad will work out on the high school grounds, although there is no track there.

JACK STILL SAYS HE'LL BOX WILLS LABOR DAY; NOW YOU TELL US ONE

The champion arrived here from Havana with his wife and staged an exhibition bout with his sparring partners.

TEN TEAMS REMAIN IN SAN ANTONIO POLO TOURNAMENT.

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 3.—Two teams were put out of the running in the elimination cup series of the Southwest Mid-Winter Polo tournament today noon when Eighth Corps area headquarters No. 1 defeated San Antonio on the Brookenridge Park field, 9 to 4, and Fort Reno, carrying a six-goal handicap, defeated Fort McIntosh on Harbord field, 13 to 7.

This leaves ten teams in the play, as follows: Eighth Corps Area headquarters No. 1 and No. 2, second division Yellow Jackets, Fort Reno, Fort Clark, Fort Meade, Camp Marfa, Wichita Falls, Austin, and Dallas. Unless there is a tie two of these will drop out tomorrow when Eighth Corps Area headquarters No. 2 and Fort Meade and Austin and Dallas clash.

WHOOPS! TEXHOMA!

Texhoma defeated Clara Outlaws Wednesday night on the Clara court in a heated cage affray, 52 to 39, after being forced into a five-minute extra period of play.

The game proper ended in a 38-39 deadlock. Then the Oilers broke loose in the aftermath and tabulated goals fast and promiscuously, scoring 15 points.

Allen, Oiler forward, was high point man with a total of 14 tallies. Patchney, elongated Texhoma pivot man, checked in for 13 points. Andree and Bob White scored seven each.

Clara had a White, too. He led in the scoring with 20 points. Farquar made nine points. Jordan tabulated eight with the losers.

Beauty of Wichita Falls waged a wonderful floor game.

Who's Best Runner In World? Why, Ask Joie Ray

Who is the best runner in the world? Ask Joie Ray, America's premier middle distance runner, and he will tell you that he and no one else is the greatest.

Ray wants to return to the amateur ranks and has petitioned the Central A. A. U. to reinstate him. He recently turned professional to give bag punching exhibitions in a Chicago department store.

Joie has complete confidence in his ability as a runner. He is of the opinion that a man can do anything if he only thinks so. He thinks that the power and speed of his legs will put him ahead of any man he races, and most generally it is true.

On the ship carrying the American Olympic athletes to Antwerp in 1920, Ray passed out postcards on which were written, "From Joie Ray, the world's greatest runner."

One might gather from this that Ray is objectional because of his "chesty" attitude. It isn't true. On the contrary he is very well liked because of this confidence in himself.

Joie runs with the perfect rhythm of a motor, his legs, as pistons, keeping uniform time. He needs no one to set a pace. Usually he takes the lead as soon as possible, and with his keen judgment of speed will make the mile in whatever speed he thinks is necessary to win. If he wants to make it in 4:30 he regulates his speed accordingly and usually finishes within a second of the alloted time.

No other runner in the history of sport has run a mile in 4:20 or better as many times as Ray. Since winning the mile championship for the first time, in 1915, he established the record of making the mile in better than 4:21 forty-seven times.

Recently he has received so many invitations to run in various parts of the country that he wants to return to the amateur ranks. He has also been invited to compete in professional races, but prefers the amateurs. If the A. A. U. officials continue to turn a deaf ear to his wishes. Ray can expose the methods in vogue among "amateur" runners of this as well as foreign countries.

It might be well for the officials to see that Ray is reinstated, if for no other reason than to block a serious blow at amateur track events in the United States.

JOIE TURNS PRO.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Joie Ray who until the invasion of Paavo Nurmi, held a dozen world's distance running records, today signed a contract to turn professional after 16 years competition as an amateur.

JUST A LITTLE REMINDER NOT TO BE CATCHING ANY FISH AT BIG LAKES.

Fish season's closed for three months at Lake Kemp, diversion lake, Lake Wichita and all connecting waters including canals, E. G. Hill, Isaac Walton president, repeats for benefit of anglers who may have missed early announcement that fishing would be "out" starting Feb. 1 and running through March and April.

The edict includes all kinds of fish. Not supposed to catch any one of the finny fellows at all.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

It surely looks as though America's own Helen Wills is one of the greatest women tennis players in the world, or else the foreign girls whom she has played to date, in France, are the poorest. The case with which she took Mlle. Rolande Vlasto, Miss Lily Cadle and others into camp, might properly be called consummate. Cablegrams regarding the California wonder's match with Lily Cadle stated, "Never has Miss Wills stroked with such severity or given a display of what may be expected of her when she meets Mlle. Lenglen." Helen had some fun at the expense of the gallery, in her match with Vlasto when she let the latter win a couple of games and then trimmed her handily.

FAMOUS FIRSTS.

Fast the post.
Come, first served.
In war.
In peace.
In the hearts of his countrymen.
Base.
Down—five to gain.

It is said that the peerless actor, John Barrymore, is a 33rd degree boxing fan, preferring the sport to acting. Which causes one wit to remark that the modern ring champion prefers acting to boxing. It can't be possible that he was hitting at Benny Leonard, Jack Dempsey or Harry Greb or was he?

We received quite a kick out of that dispatch from London which stated that the officials in the suburb of Hoxton refused to let two female boxers, Annie Newton and Madge Baker stage a bout. The matter was put up to the village council and as strange as it may seem the only favorable vote was from a woman member, who stated that if the girls wanted to maul each other, she thought it was perfectly all right.

How times have changed in the realm of golf. The other day Harry Cooper, 21-year-old Texas youngster, received the neat sum of $3,500 for winning the Los Angeles open tournament. Twenty years ago George Low captured the metropolitan open championship and defeated a brilliant field, making due allowance for the difference in time. Low's score was 294 for the 72 holes at the Hollywood Golf club. And what do you suppose his reward was? Exactly $150 and a gold medal. Verily, times have changed.

The village of Rockwell, near Manitowoc, Wis., boasts one of the most unique basket ball teams in the country. All five players are of the same family, father and four sons. The captain of the team and head of the family is one Paul Gosz and his four sons make up the rest of the quintet. We doubt if this can be equalled any place in the country, unless you want to give the palm to the five daughters of the once famous Kid Elberfield, who starts a southern tour soon with the following slogan, "The only girls' basket ball team in the world from a single family."

Dandy Dick Griffin Heads Legion Fistic Show With Jack Dalton At Scott Gym Next Monday Night

Dandy Dick Griffin, Fort Worth featherweight, meets Jack Dalton of Shreveport, formerly Dallas, in a ten-rounder, main event of the American Legion weekly fight program at the 812 1-2 Scott gym Monday night, announced Matchmaker Don Wofford Wednesday.

Griffin is in Wichita Falls now training daily at the Scott gym. Fight customers are invited to attend the workouts, said Wofford.

Dandy Dick is very popular with Wichita Falls fandom and a heavy attendance is expected at the embroglio.

Griffin and Dalton head an especially enticing card. Tex Ray, the Fort Worth flash, meets Buckshot Peoples, the Wichita Falls knockout youngster, in an eight-round semi-final.

The popular Tabby Levine has announced intention of returning to the ring in a four or six-rounder with the rugged Redcap Martin.

Lefty Hennie, the Scotland southpaw, tangles with Johnny Walker in a four-rounder, also, said Wofford.

There probably will be a battle royal.

Muny Net Courts Almost Completed

Municipal club tennis courts will be ready for service inside of 10 days or two weeks, said Charley Bunnenberg, Wednesday.

Two courts, running east and west and located directly in rear of the club house, are practically completed now. The wire netting backstops have not been placed yet, however.

BOB AND BILL TIE

Chicago Pro Golfers Shoot 285 In Hot Spring Golf Tourney.

HOT SPRINGS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Bobby Cruickshank and William Mehlhorn, both of Chicago, were tied this afternoon for first place in the south central open championship tournament, both finishing the 72 holes medal play with score of 285. Under the rules the tie will be played off tomorrow. Mehlhorn turned in a card of 71 on the last 18 holes of the tie count.

Al Waltrous of Grand Rapids, Mich., who had not been figured as having a chance in the finals, forged to the front at a dizzy pace this afternoon and turned in a score of 68 to tie MacDonald Smith's total of 286 for second place.

Electra All-Stars Nose Out Davidson

ELECTRA, Feb. 3.—The Electra All-Stars won a 46-43 decision over the Davidson, Okla., quint here Tuesday night in one of the hardest fought games ever played on the local court. At the end of the game the score was tied 43-43 and five minutes extra was played but failed to decide the winner. After two extra periods had failed to break the tie, the Stars got loose and tabulated three points in the third extra period to win the game.

Blankenship was the outstanding performer for the visitors, being high point man of the game with 11 field goals, accounting for 22 of his teams points. McCroskey led the Electra scorers with seven goals from the floor and one from the foul line for 15 points. Lawton Thomas was next with 12 points while Guy Thomas scored 11 and Jim Reese 8. Penson of the Davidson five, scored 12 points while Ridings accounted for seven marks in the score column.

AIN'T IT SO.

The New York boxing commission is supposed to be in existence to enforce the Walker law, not to meddle with the promotion of bouts or play politics with boxing promoters.

Landon-Hill Shades Tribe in Workout

Riley Rawls led Landon-Hill loopers to a 39-25 hard fought victory over his former Junior college team mates last night in practice affair on the Indian court. The erstwhile Redskin forward bopped the rung for 13 points.

Both teams used a number of subs with Coach Frazer shooting in the most reserves on the college side of the encounter.

Woodward Shows in Sunny South

HOUSTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—With but one more day to go before the Sunny South Trapshooting tournament at the Houston Gun club is completed, the program today finished the scratch shooting. Thursday the handicap event will be held with the largest field of the meet expected.

As in the prior events, E. F. Woodward, Houston ace, was the star performer of the shooting today. The local man broke 196 targets out of 200. John D. Clay, another Houston expert who has run into bad luck at one trap after shooting with unerring accuracy at the others, cast aside his jinx and finished a close second to Woodward, with a score of 194. C. W. Olney of West Allis, Wis., was third with 193, while Mark Arie of Chicago and Frank Trosh of Portland, Ore., were tied for fourth place with 192.

HE WANTS GORMAN

Peter Buzukos, former welterweight wrestling champion who lost his belt to Jack Reynolds who later was defeated by Matty Matsuda, wants Jack Gorman, he says.

"Get me a match with him. I've been trying all along to make 'em line me up with Gorman, but they won't pay any attention to me," Peter vociferously wailed last night in the Record News editorial department.

TIGERS BATTLE CLARA TONIGHT

ELECTRA, Feb. 3.—Jim Reese sent his Tiger quint through an afternoon of strenuous work Tuesday in order to have his charges in the pink of condition when they meet the Clara Greyhounds at Clara Thursday night. Reese continues to drill his regulars on breaking through the five man defense and this combination promises to give the Tigers an offensive attack that will be hard to stop.

The regulars were pitted against the second stringers for the first scrimmage of the week. The scrub five gave them a hard battle of it before the first string was awarded the verdict by a slim margin. In this scrimmage, Louis Kent had his eye on the basket, chalking up a number of neat goals during the fray, several from very difficult shots. Harry Preston at forward and Willis Carnahan at center, also helped the cause along with several nice baskets from the floor. Sylvan Cloninger and Lonnie Grisham at guards shined in a defensive way.

For the scrubs, Mike Brown at forward, was the outstanding performer, his goal tossing and guarding coming near proving disastrous for the winning five. Joe Miller at forward, and Ray B. Dickey flashed for the second stringers as did Toots Gilger at guard. This scrimmage proved to be one of the hardest fought of the season.

THAT NEW PANTHER PARK.

Fort Worth scribe in discussing recent baseball ruling made regards home run distance of 250 feet confides Cowtown's new ball park will be 85 feet further. Be 335 hoofs down both foul lines, he says, to the fence which will rise 16 feet. From the lines to center field it'll be 400 feet. That makes the new fence further than was the old and almost twice as high.

* * *

APPEARANCES DECEIVE.

At first glance one would fear such home run sharpshooters as Ping Bodie, Pete Turgeon, Lapan, DeFate, Washburn and Manager Brainard won't have much luck in the stockyards lot. But there's a catch to it all. Jake Atz allows as how Vache and Konetchy will pole 'em over. And if these boys can do it, then so can the Spudder bludgeoners, it stands to reason.

* * *

WIND AIDS RIGHT HANDERS.

Laying as it does, the new park will give an advantage to long distance right hand hitters, so avers the Fort Worth "expert." Then Ping should thrive in Cowtown much to the chagrin and heinous ire of the many quinine-tongued stockyards bleacherites. Incidently, George Distel, no exceptional home run slugger but a long distance hitter who wafts 'em right up to the Spudder fence all the time, is liable to find the Cowtown orchard sweet pickin's, and that's what we want—beat 'em right down there on the home lot. The south wind which killed the drive on some balls in the old park will help boost the same kind of hits in the new park, according to the scribe. Yeah, Gawge ought shine right up with Ping down there. Incidently, there're not but two left handers on the club, Fitzgerald and Query.

* * *

No, Fitz isn't with the Spudders; he's been sold to the Cubs, but the writer is willing to wager the rampant outer gardner will find his way back to the Spud fold before the season has gone the initial series.

* * *

They may right-hand pitch us to death this summer, but we've got four boys who can wallop 'em merrily. The starboarders don't stand much show with Fitz and Query, naturally. And strange to say, the records show Bodie and Turgeon crammed the apple off right handed flingers a whole lot more lustily than off the southpaws.

* * *

During a fanning bee yesterday over at the Spud offices Skipper Brianard mused at length on the uncanny ability of Estell at Dallas to steal a team's playing signals and signs. "But he ain't gonna catch ours," laughed Fred, "because we aren't going to have any."

Dick Morgan upped and averred as how Bad News Jeems Galloway is another who seems to take wicked delight in catching onto a club's signs and getting away with it time and again.

* * *

DEEMS POPULAR.

Can't tell how it's going to be after the race is on, but right now it appears everybody wants to give Jim Galloway a helping hand. The veteran first-baser and ball mauler of leading Beaumont's Exporters seems to have the interest and friendship of practically every mogul in the loop. Of course, it is admittedly good business for the mags to help Beaumont, the week sister as much as possible in order to keep the league race tight, the club going, and the customers whirling the turnstiles, but 'pears like Jeems just naturally has the friendship and backing of 'most everybody anyway.

* * *

WON'T BE HARD.

Little except the dry business of adopting a schedule is expected to develop at the Texas League meeting called by President Doak Roberts for Feb. 14.

Roberts already has several schedules drafted and will present them for consideration. As the president is one of the best schedule makers in the business and has been doing that little thing for the Texas League for more than several seasons there is little doubt but that one of the drafts he will present will be acceptable to all the clubs.—B. Rawls' Protest Is Withdrawn By Stephens Captain—Former Star Junior College Forward Eligible

Verbal protest entered Tuesday night by the Stephens Lumber company basketball team against the playing of Riley Rawls, former Junior college star forward, on the Landon-Hill team in a game which the lumbermen lost, was withdrawn yesterday by Captain Bertie Foster. No formal protest was made at any time to Drummond Harris, league secretary.

The original ineligibility charge against Rawls hinged on the fact no high school nor Junior college athletes under Commercial league rules are allowed to participate in league play. Rawls quit school Tuesday and played with Landon-Hill Tuesday night.

Perusal of the Commercial league constitution reveals Rawls was eligible. There are but three rules in the constitution which have any bearing on this patricular case.

Section 6 of article 5 reads:

"No student at either the Wichita Falls high school or Junior high school or Junior college shall be eligible to play in the league."

He Wasn't.

Rawls was not a student of any one of the three schools named Tuesday night.

Section 3 of article 5 touches the situation thusly:

"Each team shall be permitted to carry 10 players who shall be eligible to play. The manager of each team shall file with the secretary a written contract with each of his players not later than the 5th day of January, 1926. No player whose contract has not been filed at least seven days shall be eligible to play in any championship game."

Name Filed 14 Days.

Section 4 of article 5, the third rule bearing on the case:

"A manager may relense a player and subtsitute another at any time, but the one substituted shall not be eligible to play until seven days have elapsed from the date of filing the new name with the secretary."

There is no rule in the league constitution which orders a player to be eligible seven days before play. There is no rule declaring he must quit one team seven days before playing with another. The Landon-Hill club manager, C. E. Neal, filed Rawls' name with the league secretary 14 days before the former Tribe athlete was permitted to wear a Landon-Hill uniform, thereby making him eligible to play considering the fact he was not nor had been a member of any other team in the league nor a student at any of the aforementioned schools the hour of the game.

SLED HASN'T SIGNED

Many newspapers over the Southwest and West have carried announcement of the signing of Sled Allen by the Spudders as mound coach. No arrangements have been made with Sled, as yet. It is possible Sled will be in camp this spring, but no transaction with the veteran catcher has been enacted.

$100,000,000 Oil Lands Involved In Government Suit Against Oil Firm; Indians Have An Interest

U. S. Representing Greeks, Files Appeal in St. Louis From Unfavorable Verdict in Eastern Oklahoma Territory

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A half dozen representatives of the Creek Indians were present in the United States circuit court of appeals here today when a case was argued involving royalties and profits on production of approximately $10,000,000 worth of oil.

The government, representing the Creek Nation, had appealed from an unfavorable decision of the eastern Oklahoma federal court in a suit against the Cimarron River Oil company, W. A. Haynes and others to recover royalties and profits on oil taken by them from wells sunk in the beds of the Cimarron and Arkansas rivers in the Creek country.

The suit is directed against the Riparian owners of lands along the two streams.

The defendants' contention is that neither river is navigable while the government contends the rivers are navigable and hence the Riparian owners do not own to the middle of the streams as claimed.

Arguments were heard by Circuit Judges Stone, Kenyon and Booth. Because of the numerous lawyers present and the voluminous record the court lengthened the usual time allowed for arguments from one hour and fifteen minutes to five hours.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Flu

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonsful. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal, croup and children's choking up at night.—Adv.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The cotton market was again a dull and uninteresting affair today with exertmely limited trading and fluctuations showing a spread of only five to eight points. The disinclination to trade was due primarily to the immovable position of the March delivery month and the slack demand for spots. The premiums on higher grades on the one hand and the untenderable character of so large a portion of the crop on the other has discouraged any desire to trade and made the placing of hedges difficult. At the highest of the day prices showed gains over the previous close of two to four points and at the lowest prices were three to five points under yesterday. The close was a shade above the lows, showing net losses of one to three points on old crop months and a net gain of one point on December.

As Liverpool cables came in about as due and the start was steady first sale being one point up to two down. After a slight recession the market rallied a little later in the morning to 19.61 for March, to 19.01 for May and to 17.60 for October or two to four points above the previous close. At the lowest of the day, reached during the late afternoon March traded down to 19.53, May to 18.96 and July to 18.37 or five to eight points down from the highs. December in which there was but little trading made a new low at the close of 17.55 but at that figure was one point above the previous close. There was a slight rally right at the end.

Cotton goods markets were rather quieter, although prompt deliveries are said to be difficult to negotiate. The demand for spots was reported slack in the interior but there appeared to be a little more inquiry into the call market for the actual.

NEW YORK FUTURES.

NEW York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Cotton futures closed steady at net 4 points down to 1 point up.

	High	Low	Close	Prev. Close

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Slightly more business was reported in the cotton market today but buying selling orders appeared to be evenly balanced and prices fluctuated within a few points. After selling at 19.55 early, May rallied to 19.60 and closed at 19.57 compared with 19.61 at the close yesterday. The general market closed steady, net 4 points lower to 1 point higher.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of four points. Active months showed net losses of about two to six points in early trading under further near month liquidation and a little southern selling. These early offerings were absorbed by covering or trade calling, however, and the greater part of the losses was recovered in the afternoon. March selling up from 20.14 to 20.19 and October from 18.17 to 18.20. Last prices were within two or three points of the best.

The selling of near months here was accompanied by reports of disappointing spot demand in the south, but very little selling was reported here for southern account, while the steadiness of Liverpool was a sustaining factor.

Private cables reported hedge selling in the English market was light and had been absorbed by trade calling; also that there was a fair spot demand and continued large inquiry for cotton cloths in Lancashire.

Exports for the day were 21,093, making 2,503,029 so far this season, against 5,571,306 last year. Port receipts 22,178. U. S. port stocks 1,527,435 bales.

Market Gossip

Booth and Burmeister, brokers, basement Waggoner building, today received the following from J. S. Bache and company of New York and Chicago:

GRAINS.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Wheat: American markets have been dragging as compared with those abroad for several days, and Liverpool May which was recently around 4 cents under Chicago was only ⅝ cents under at the time that market closed today. There was a material revival in the export demand from both the United Kingdom and the continent today and sales of 1,500,000 bushels or more were said to have been made in all positions. There has been much more business passing for some time past than has been reported, and with wet weather in Argentine and around 50 per cent of the Australian shipments going to the Orient feel that importing countries will not let the cash wheat get away from them in view of he very small reserve afloat or in store. There has seldom been a season when there was such a close adjustment of supplies to demand the world over, and look for higher prices ultimately.

Corn and Oats: Coarse grains remain dull and failed to respond to the strength in wheat. Cash corn basis was little changed. Trade is largely local and there is little in the general situation at the moment attracts atenion.

Rye was firmer wih wheat, running into profit taking on the bulges and getting good support on dips.

Lard, favor buying side of this market on recessions.

CHICAGO PRODUCE.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Bullish sentiment became more pronounced in today's stock market which showed a tendency to break away, on the upside, from the narrow trading area within which it has been fluctuating for the last few weeks. Easier money rates stimulated the demand for stocks with the oils, sulphurs, foods, coppers, rubbers, and equipment, all giving good exhibitions of group strength. The upturn was accompanied by increased activity, the day's sales running over one and three-quarter million shares.

Oils bounded upward when it became apparent that recent crude oil and gasoline price increases were assuming nation-wide proportions. Pacific Oil was the leader of that group, moving up over two points to 80⅛, the highest price since the stock was admitted to trading over five years ago.

Nash Motors was the spectacular individual feature, soaring nearly 45 points to 585 also a new high record, on total sales of less than 1,500 shares. Other motors, which are believed to harbor a large short interest, displayed a firm undertone. Net gains of one to 2¾ points were recorded by General Motors, Mack Trucks and Willys Overland preferred, the strength of the last named being based on reports of the retirement of a large block of that issue.

Despite the fact that the weekly steel trade reviews reported little change in the situation a better demand was noted for those issues. U. S. Steel common closed fractionally higher at 133¼, but Sloss was up 3½ points to 129½ and Gulf States Steel scored an extreme gain of 2⅛ points at 88⅝, part of which was later lost. Wall Street hears persistent reports of a merger of independent steel companies but to date there has been no tangible evidence of a new combination being formed.

The advance in rubber shares was checked by the announcement of a reduction in prices by the United States Rubber company, the common stock of which showed a net gain of nearly one point to 83⅛ after having sold as high as 85⅝ earlier in the session. Goodrich closed 1⅝ higher at 70. Higher prices for the red metal accelerated demand for the copper stocks. American Smelting recording a net gaian of over two points at 140⅜ after touching 141½ the highest price since 1907. Federal Mining and Smelting jumped five points to 103, the preferred closed three points higher at 86½ and Anaconda moved up over a point to 49.

Rail shares lagged behind the rest of the list with heaviness cropping out in the eastern coolers as a result of the Baltimore & Ohio anthracite conference to reach an agreement. Canadian Pacific, for which a strong foreign demand has suddenly developed moved up to 162, the highest price since 1919, but later cancelled the day's gain on realizing. Louisville and Nashville and Atlantic Coast Line also showed independent strength.

Call money held steady at 4 per cent, but funds were available in the "outside market" as low as 3½. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges again moved within a narrow area. Sterling exchange continued within striking distance of gold parity, which is approximately $4.86⅝ for cables. French francs were slightly firmer just above 3.75 cents. Polish zloty rallied above 19 cents after being heavy earlier in the week.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Broadfed European demand for North American wheat, together with persistent rain hampering the movement of the Argentine crop did much oday to bring about a new advance in wheat values. Chicago closing prices on wheat were unsettled at one cent to 1⅛c net advance. May new, $1.77⅝ to $1.77½ and July $1.55⅛ to $1.55¼.

Corn finished ¼ to ⅝c up, oats at ⅛c to ⅜c gain and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 15c.

Unfavorable weather for the movement of corn had some little effect toward better prices both on corn and oats.

Buying on the part of smaller packers gave some efirmness to provisions.

Ft. Worth Youngsters Fail to Reach A Land of Promise

FORT WORTH, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The wild west seemed very real and very near to two ten-year-old urchins who started out from Fort Worth on misappropriated bicycles to become cowboys in the land of Buttes and Mesas, canyons and chaparral. After sixty miles of pedaling they decided it was farther to such a land than they had reckoned.

Sheriff Joe Gilbert of Parker county stopped the youngsters at Millsap, near the Palo Pinto county line. They told him of their ambitions but he was unsympathetic. He held them for Fort Worth probation officials, who brought them back today.

FREE BRIDGE FOR VERNON NEXT

Span Over Red River To Link Wilbarger-Tillman Is Sought

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—A free bridge over the Red river between Wichita county, Texas, and Cotton county, Okla., will be built by the Austin Bridge company of Texas at a low bid of $240,000 if the contract is approved by the attorney generals of Texas and Oklahoma.

Another free bridge may span the Red river in the near future. A one mile long, intended as a told bridge is being built by Staley brothers of Wichita Falls. It connects Wilbarger county, Texas, and Tillman county, Okla., between Vernon and Frederick on the Lee highway. The cost of the bridge when completed will be approximately $95,000.

The Staley brothers recently agreed to sell the bridge to the two connecting counties at cost and the states agreed to divide the cost with the counties.

Bids on the bridge were advertised and received at Vernon on January 16 and at Austin, Texas, January 2. The bids were opened yesterday.

Staley brothers were the only bidders. Because of this they were asked by the highway departments to make an itemized account on the costs of the bridge to show the bid at only the actual cost of construction. It was explained that the bid was in effect a sale of the bridge already partly built.

Lions Bear Down And Cut Loose On Some Real Roars

Wichita Falls Lions selected three new directors at club luncheon Wednesday listened to a first class vocal program, and enjoyed themselves in hilarious fashion casting the well-known raspberries at each other, outwardly barbed quips and quaps, but all exceedingly good-natured.

Wayne Somerville, J. L. Eggleston and Joe S. Dickey were named by a committee selected for the purpose as prospective new directors, but it was discovered Dickey is a vice president of the organization.

Dickey, when queried on the subject declared he didn't know whether or not he is an officer in the club and certainly hoped he isn't.

Charley Bunnenberg was selected as the third director instead of Dickey who sits in the director's board anyhow in his capacity as a vice president.

H. J. Bruce was accused of stealing the club gavel and charter for some heinous purpose or other, so a committee was appointed to obtain his resignation.

The vocal program was put on by a mixed quartet composed of Misses Mildred Martin and Katharine Sullivan, and Messrs. Baldwin Montgomery and Paul Rutledge. The quartet numbers got across wonderfully, and the listeners came near to refusing to allow the singers to quit. Miss Martin and Montgomery rendered an equally well received duet. J. S. Pitman accompanied the singers at the piano. The quartet was garbed in Spanish swashbuckler costumes.

W. R. Duke, chairman of the program committee, came in for a verbal licking, and club apology was made to the singers for the manner in which he introduced them, also apology was made that he was ever placed on the entertainment committee.

J. H. Crouch was forced to give an excuse "for bringing Harry Daugherty, a 'notorious Republican,' to the luncheon."

Somebody made a crack about P. B. Curd "leaving the First Campbellite church," and Dickey chirped in with: "Now there's lots of room left there."

Everybody took a verbal crack at everybody else, and the Lions roared vociferously, and had not he known it was all in play a certain "fearless sporting editor" visiting for the day would have been scared silly.

It was announced Arthur McArthur, life-long friend of James Whitcomb Riley, will be guest of the club next Wednesday and lecture on Riley.

MAJESTIC BILL LEADS 'EM ALL

Current Offering Sure-Fire Thing From Top To Bottom

You can't afford to miss the Majestic this week.

It's undoubtedly the classiest brand of vaudeville, most well-balanced, even-keeled, symetrically-rounded and enthusiastically entertaining card lined up on the starting mark of Mr. Keith's circuit preparatory to sprinting down through the Lone Star commonwealth the current season. And, brother, that's proclaiming voluminously.

If you don't believe in this particular instance the writer is a capable critic then all you have to do is go and see for yourself. Bet you a dollar!

Earruping Syncopation.

From the Lumars and the "girl without nerves" in the opening act, a rhythmic bit of higher acrobatics and injury-defying balancing stunts, on through to Ben Blue—Frank and Milt Britton and—"Their Original Brown Derby Band," a syncopation organization deluxe, the program sparkles with humor, hilarity—scientific and downright artistic laugh manufacturing.

The "Brown Derby" aggregation toplines the bill, and it deserves every bit of the position, what with a repertoire of musical selections rendered in a fashion snatching enough to convert the most rabid anti-jazz bug over the Tin Can alley harmony in double quick time. There's a clever take-off on old musical masters, and there's a couple of unique dancing and clowning stunts thrown in for good measure. They cop the grapes.

Japs Stop Show.

Keo Taki and Yoki, catechized on the program as "Versatile Entertainers from Nippon," may or may not be exactly that; you can take it or forsake it. Anyhow, they stopped the show Wednesday evening—not figuratively, but literally. When a couple of male foreigners along with one of the fairer sex from their native land put the brakes on an American vaudeville show, and skid her up to an exceedingly sudden halt without any grinding or burning of the brake linings then you've got to admit they must be good. It's another clever round of music, a touch of dancing and a trick or two there's no use telling you about, for the element of surprise ad

Ready to Sign Applications For Extending North Side Canal

FIVE MILES OF CANAL SOUGHT

Bonds to Be Voted to Take Care of New Improvement

Formal applications for the extension of the North Side irrigation canal into Clay county to irrigate some 4,400 acres of land lying near Thornberry on both sides of the Charlie-Byers road will be ready for the signatures of the property owners of the effected area within a day or so, according to G. A. Remington, general manager of the two irrigation districts. With the completion of the formal application for extension of the canal work can begin almost at once, it is stated. An additional amount of District No. 2 bonds will be issued to care for the cost of the extension, these to be paid off as in Wichita county by an irrigation tax, and a charge for the use of the water.

Involves $80,000.

The contemplated extension involves about five miles of new canal and will cost about $80,000.

About fifty per cent of the property owners of the affected district were present at a meeting in Mr. Remington's office Wednesday morning. The plans for extending the canal and irrigating the additional 4,400 acres were endorsed by those present in a general discussion.

Property owners present were R. D. Scott, J. V. Howell, J. B. L. Hansard, J. F. Weiss, R. H. Godfrey, F. S. Roop, T. C. Thornberry and Harry Bunnenberg.

Last Verse of a Famed Riley Poem Written in Bed

The last verse of one of James Whitcomb Riley's most famous poems—"When the Frost Is on the Pumpand the Fodder's in the Shock" was penned by the great Hoosier poet six years after the main poem had been written—and it was written in the dead of night with a pillow slip serving in lieu of copy paper.

This fact was revealed Wednesday to the local Optimistic club by Arthur McArthur of Travers City, Michigan, an intimate friend of Riley, who has lectured extensively on the man who is now in Wichita Falls.

"Riley woke up in the middle of the night," McArthur said, "and knew in a flash he had found the inspiration for the last verse of the poem for which he had sought for six years. He turned on the light, found a pencil but had no paper, and rather than risk sleep again and wait until morning when he might have lost it, he penned those last famous lines on the pillow slip of his bed."

The speaker embellished a remarkably interesting address with a liberal quotation of Riley's works, and for good measure though in some paraphrasing of his own. One recitation in particular in which he apostrophised at length on prohibition with a parody in the meter and after the style of "Little Orphan Annie" brought roars of glee from the Optimists.

Grandmother Gets Custody of Babe

The custody of Frank Joiner Jr., age 21 months, was awarded to Mrs. C. H. Joiner of Hamilton, Texas, grandmother of the child, by Judge Guy Rogers in the Juvenile court Wednesday morning. The child was deserted by its parents here some three weeks ago and since that time has been in the care of various persons, the last being Miss Katherine Henricle of the Texas Children's Aid Society.

In awarding the child to the grandmother Judge Rogers issued an injunction restraining the parents or others from ever seeking its custody again.

250 Auto Workers, Wives And Friends In City Attend Annual Banquet Here Wednesday Night

Local Automotive Circles Show Greatest Year in History, President Nolen Says; No "Knockers" Found Among Dealers

More than 250 men and women attended the annual open meeting and banquet of the Wichita Falls Automotive Dealers association, at the Wichita club Wednesday night. The crowd was made up of dealers, managers, salesmen and their employes accompanied by their wives and friends. It was pronounced the greatest meeting of its kind in the history of the organization which was formed in 1918.

Charles Nolen, president, acted as toastmaster at the banquet. He is assistant manager of the Dixon Motor company.

While the banquet guests were being served, Miss Anna Mae Cato, local favorite toe dancer, appeared on the platform and won generous applause by her work. Special music for the dances was furnished by a graphophone.

Joe MacGregor, accompanied on piano by Mrs. MacGregor, sang and recited three selections imitating Harry Lauder, famous Scotch artist.

Greatest Ever.

In his opening speech, President Nolen announced that the attendance and enthusiasm shown, was the greatest since the organization in 1918. "We now have six members here who were charter members," he said.

"When I entered the the automobile business back in 1914, there were five dealers here. Now we have 21 dealers in Wichita Falls. There are two of the dealers present tonight who were here at the first meeting."

Mr. Nolen said that there are 600 men employed in the automobile industry in Wichita Falls.

Luther Hoffman, attorney, was the feature speaker, taking the place of Hubert Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, who is ill and was unable to attend.

Hoffman kept the banquet crowd in an uproar as he told funny stories.

In joking certain members of the organization seated near him, Mr. Hoffman told of his experience in purchasing an automobile and of "the thousand automobile salesmen, who wore out the carpet of his office, in trying to sell a car to him."

"I didn't know that a car had one or six cylinders when I started to buy," he said. "And, I didn't know there was a three cylinder car—which I came near buying—it was so cheap.

No Knockers.

"But of all the thousands of energetic salesmen who tried to sell me, the highest compliment I can pay to them is—not a single one of them knocked the other fellow's car."

Mr. Hoffman in praising Wichita Falls as the "greatest city on this side of the earth," said:

"Wichita Falls has become a great city because of such live and energetic meetings as this—where business men and their fellow workers can get together and rub elbows.

"In America our country never has stood still. America always has been foremost in providing the most rapid means of transportation. It takes rapid transportation to move the world. Without transportation there can be no progress.

"The automobile industry has provided America with the greatest means of transportation that the world ever has known. Every man in this country who is helping to carry on this transportation business and make it better has a just right to feel proud.

Formal Approval Of River Bridge Delayed

Formal approval by the Oklahoma state highway commission of the letting of the contract for the proposed free bridge across Red river to the Austin Brothers Bridge company of Dallas on its bid of $230,000 has been withheld for a few days, according to a statement by Judge B. D. Sartin, who with County Engineer J. M. Isbell, returned Wednesday from Oklahoma City where they conferred with that body. The contract, already approved by the county commissioners of Wichita Falls, was given to Attorney General George Short of Okla., Wednesday to be passed on, Judge Sartin stated. He is expected to approve it in a day or so, following which it will be signed by the members of the Oklahoma state highway commission and forwarded to Wichita Falls. Judge Sartin expectes to take it to Austin early next week to submit it to the Texas attorney general and the Texas state highway commission.

Both the type of construction and the bid on the bridge offered by the Austin Brothers Bridge company are favored by the Oklahoma commissioners, Judge Sartin states, and formal signing of the contract was only withheld upon the request of the attorney general that he be permitted to look over it.

Further progress in the matter of constructing the bridge across Red river now is dependent upon the outcome of litigation at Austin in which the state highway commission has been enjoined from the granting of some $160,000 state aid. It is believed that a hearing on this matter will be held in the near future and the injunction removed.

Coins Go Slowly

Less than 400 out of a 5,000 allotment to Wichita county of the Confederate Stone Mountain memorial coins have been sold in Wichita Falls to date, according to reports of the committee in charge Wednesday. But ten days remain now until a report is to be made to the state committee, it is stated.

The half-dollars are identical in size with the ordinary half-dollar and may be used as such. They sell for $1 each and may be purchased at any of the banks in the city, half of the proceeds derived from their sale going toward the construction on the Stone Mountain Memorial near Atlanta, Ga.

LARGE PAVING MOVE STARTED

Assessment Notices Are Sent Out on Kemp Boulevard

Assesment notices on one of the largest single paving projects ever contemplated by the city have been sent out to property owners on Kemp boulevard between Avenues H and O, it was announced Wednesday. Assessments were sent to 83 property owners, of whom live in Wichita Falls. The assesment contemplated is $9.67 per front foot of property, or $483.54 for 50 foot lot.

Due to the width of Kemp boulevard, 20 feet on each side of the boulevarding in the center, the paving will prove one of the most costly projects attempted by the city since the beginning of work on Holliday street. The entire cost, according to a contract drawn up between the city and the West Texas Construction company calls for an expenditure of $57,304.77, of which $5,208.63 will be borne by the city. It involves 14,106 square yards of paving, 11,718 feet of curbing and gutter, and 17,302 cubic yards of excavation. Two inch asphalt on a five-inch concrete base is to be the style of the pavement, which will in length be something less than a mile. Bids have been called for an additional block on Kemp boulevard from Avenue O to Q. An ordinance is being drawn up to dedicate the remainder of the street to the city as far as the railroad tracks or possibly to Avenue X just beyond at an early date.

Clinic Library Is Being Moved

The library of the Wichita Falls Medical and Surgical clinic was being moved Wednesday afternoon from the Waggoner building offices of the clinic to the new hospital at Eighth and Bluff. Dr. Everett Jones stated in that connection that most of the equipment scheduled for transfer to the hospital would be taken out by Saturday of this week, although the hospital will not be opened for perhaps two weeks yet.

The Waggoner building offices will be maintained after the hospital is under way.

COMMITMENT SENT OUT.

Commitment papers for Frank Collier, former mayor of Wichita Falls, have been mailed to the warden of the state penitentiary at Huntsville, it was announced by Fred Smith, sheriff. When a deputy attempted to serve the papers Monday Collier was found to have left voluntarily and unattended for the penitentiary. At Huntsville actual beginning of Collier's term is understood to be held up pending arrival of the commitment papers.

Collier's three year sentence for manslaughter was affirmed by the court of criminal appeals at Austin about three weeks ago.

MILLIONS DIE OF INDIGESTION

Most Common, Yet Insidious Fatal Diseases Strikes Like Lightning and When Least Expected.

Protect yourself by strengthening your digestive organs with Ferraline—then eat what you please without fear of trouble.

Nature, with her infinite wisdom, has provided in Ferraline a quick and sure relief for the millions who are living in constant fear of that dreaded disease—Indigestion. Ferraline is not a concoction made by man but is a strictly natural product, and contains the essential elements which Nature has provided to strengthen and tone up the weakened organs of digestion.

Indigestion and weak blood march hand-in-hand. No dyspeptic can have pure rich blood until his digestion is made perfect again. Stomach disorders always weaken the blood and weak blood causes anaemia, weakness and nervousness.

If you have had warnings of indigestion, do not delay another day to accept the positive guarantee that your money will be promptly and cheerfully refunded if the very first bottle of Ferraline does not give you relief. Don't be misled into believing that heart-burn, gas, bloating, constipation, biliousness, sick-stomach, heart and kidney pains will gradually go away. These are danger signals warning you that the dread diseases, Indigestion, is gradually sapping your very life. Regenerate your digestive organs at once with Ferraline, then you can eat three good meals every day without discomfort. A 10-days treatment of Ferraline will cost you only $1.00 at your druggists. 55 Dogs Shot At City Pound as Cops War on Mongrels

A total of 55 dogs were shot and killed Wednesday by police at the city pound, following expiration of the 48 hour term in which they may stay at the pound after being picked up by officers. The dogs were picked up Monday by police after they had been found without 1926 license tags.

More than thirty more will be meted a similar death today, it was announced at police headquarters, that number having been picked up Tuesday, their 48-hour grace period expiring this morning.

As a result of the activities of officers in impounding dogs found without license tags for 1926 an increasing number of the licenses are being paid, a total of 175 having been issued late Wednesday. There were between 800 and 900 tags issued last year, it is stated.

Writes for Colliers'

E. Van Deventer of this city has contributed a signed article to the Feb. 6 issue of Colliers, national weekly, in which he remarks on the futility of mixing gasoline and whiskey.

His article was as follows:

The fact that four great railway systems show so far a record of not having killed a single passenger during the year is worthy of remark. Of course, a train has the right of way, good roads, employ experienced drivers. But what is most important perhaps is the requirement that the drivers must always be sober. There are no newspapers that stand up for the engineers' inalienable right to get drunk.

For years it has been the rigid rule that the engineer must remain sober. If he but stepped into a saloon he would immediately lose his job. Today there are twenty million engineers in the United States. They do not run on schedule. They do not run on a smooth and stationary track, yet there is no lack of newspapers and periodicals that advocate bringing back the saloons, or weakening the law so that liquor would be easier to get.

Henry Ford said that "the American people can have liquor if they want it. They can bring back the saloon if they choose. They are the rulers. But before they do this they must first do away with the motor car. They can not have both at the same time."

E. J. Geehan, a special agent of the department of justice, will remain in the city two or three days more in his investigation of case against Hosteter.

The jury was out approximately five minutes.

A Definition That We Try to Apply To Ourselves

"Success is a matter of adjusting one's efforts to obstacles, and one's abilities to a service needed by others. Most people think of it in terms of getting; success, however, begins in terms of giving."—from a recent magazine article by Henry Ford.

We of this Bank know how aptly that definition fits banking, how much of real success depends on giving.
