RUM FLEET OFF TEXAS

Motive For Bedroom Murder Sealed By Death of 3 Texans

MARRIED COUPLE KILLED; SLAYER ENDS OWN LIFE

Officers Fail to Discover Secret of Winnsboro Tragedy

MAN WAS UNDER BOND

Money Matters Mentioned; Bank Shortage Also Is Recited

Associated Press Dispatch

WINNSBORO, Texas, June 20.—W. K. Bradford shot and killed himself after he shot to death his daughter and son-in-law early this morning.

The dead: Mr. Bradford, 50 years old, retired merchant.

Chester C. Chapman, 30 years old, assistant cashier and director of the First National bank of Winnsboro and son of J. L. Chapman, state commissioner of insurance and banking.

Mrs. Chester Chapman, 25, daughter of Mr. Bradford.

An automatic shotgun and pistol were used. The tragedy occurred in the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, who died in their night clothes. Mr. Bradford was fully dressed except that he wore no shoes.

Dead Man Was Under Bond.

Mr. Chapman was under a $52,000 bond as a result of a federal complaint filed last March in connection with an alleged shortage of funds in the First National bank here, of which Charles H. Merrix, of Winnsboro, former candidate for governor, is president.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were reared at Farmersville, where Mr. Chapman was bookkeeper and teller of the First National bank of that place for 4 years. His father was cashier for 20 years.

Bradford a New Comer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman had lived here for several years. Mr. Bradford moved to Winnsboro from Farmers.

Smiling Slopes Of Etna Changed Into Desolation

Associated Press Dispatch

CATANIA, Italy, June 20.—The smiling fruitful and thickly populated slopes of Mount Etna and the surrounding country as the correspondent of the Associated Press saw them in the past, have now become with ghastly suddenness "the land of dreadful night."

Through the thick darkness, which can almost be felt, glows the crimson of the lava flowing from the broken lips of the craters, extending for miles and gradually growing darker as the molten mass cools and hardens, until cracks and crevices appear on the surface through which can be seen bubbling up the boiling lava from beneath.

The fields of Fiume Freddo, Diana and Calatabiano, once green and beautiful, now covered with heavy deposits of dust and cinders, tremble and heave beneath the feet while the roaring sounds accompanying the eruption mingle with the rumblings of lorries through the darkness carrying away the refugees and their possessions from the doomed villages.

At Castiglione, in a chapel with statutes of the Madonna and saints with candles burning before them kneeling figures prostate themselves in prayer.

WISCONSIN KILLS DRY REPEAL LAW

Associated Press Dispatch

MADISON, Wis., June 20.—The state senate tonight killed the Tucker bill, which would have killed the Severson state prohibition law. The vote was 19 to 12. The action was taken when the bill was brought up for engrossment in the senate tonight. It had previously been passed by the house.

THE WEATHER

Oklahoma and West Texas: Thursday and Friday partly cloudy and somewhat unsettled.

East Texas: Thursday and Friday partly cloudy.

THE DAY IN WICHITA FALLS

The next to the longest day in the year, yesterday was clear, with no clouds in sight. The highest temperature recorded was 97 degrees at 4 p. m., while the lowest was 81 degrees at 6 a. m. The days are nearly as hot in the morning as they are in the afternoon and yesterday a record was broken, the minimum temperature recorded, the lowest before Wednesday being 80 degrees.

AL SMITH TALKS POLITICS

FRENCH LICK, Ind., June 20.—Al Smith and Tom Taggart — like Caesar—came, saw and—unlike Casius Julius—merely talked things over.

Smith is the democratic governor of New York, regarded, justly or unjustly, since he signed the dry enforcement repealer of the New York state prohibition law, as the champion of the damp democrats.

Taggart is the Indiana democratic boss—the court of last appeal when

Government to Clean Up On Stock Brokers With Complaint Filing Today

RIVER DRAGGED FOR BODY OF WOMAN

International News Dispatch

LIBERTY, Mo., June 20.—Authorities here today continued to drag the Missouri river for the body of Miss Orian Johnson, 21, formerly an art teacher in the University of Missouri. The girl is thought to have committed suicide by plunging into the river 4 miles south of here late yesterday.

George Smith, driver of a taxicab in which Miss Johnson is said to have driven to the river, told authorities the girl instructed him to return for her in an hour, which he did, finding no trace of her.

Stenographer And Coca Cola King Wed In Atlanta

International News Dispatch

ATLANTA, Ga., June 20.—Asa G. Candler, coca cola king, was married to Mrs. Hay Little Ragin, public stenographer, at 11 o'clock today in the chapel at Emory university. The ceremony was attended only by relatives and a few friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The announcement came as a complete surprise to friends of both bride and bridegroom.

The wedding is said to be the culmination of a romance which began less than six months ago when Candler met Mrs. Ragan in her office in the Candler building.

Mrs. Ragin, while a public stenographer, did a great deal of work for the law firm of Candler, Thompson & Hirsch, counsel for Candler in the famous Madame Onezima DeBouchel case.

Injunctions Planned On Houses Where Frauds Charged.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 20.—Definite steps to close the doors of many stock brokerage houses, against which complaints have been received, will be taken in the supreme court tomorrow, it was announced tonight by Deputy Attorney General John Dwyer. Injunctions against various brokers will be asked he said.

Dwyer said he would act under the Martin act, passed recently by the state legislature, which authorized the attorney general to investigate brokers and suspend them by injunction in case fraudulent practices were disclosed. The deputy attorney general has been conducting his investigation quietly since the passage of the bill, he said.

STEAMSHIP LINE TESTS DRY RULING

International News Dispatch

LONDON, June 20.—The White Star line today decided to test the United States "dry ship" edict. The Olympic sailed for New York carrying liquor for the return voyage sealed by British customs officials. In order to seize the liquor it would be necessary for American officers to break the British seals.

AUTO PLATES PURCHASED.

AUSTIN, Texas, June 20.—Contracts were let by the state board of control today for 300,000 pairs of automobile number plates, 12,000 automobile dealer paltes, 800,000 motor vehicle seals, 100,000 motorcycle seals and 20,000 chauffeur's badges. The contracts involve an expenditure of over $100,000. The number plates and seals are for distribution in 1924.

Ability to Recall Movie Details May Free Dual Natured Killer

International News Dispatch

CHICAGO, June 20.—Upon the ability of Fred Thompson, who for years has posed as a woman, to recall the details of a moving picture he claims he saw may depend whether he goes free or is held to answer to a charge of killing Richard C. Tesmer in a holdup.

Thompson, compelled to parade in his feminine attire before Tesmer's widow, was positively identified by her as the slayer.

"I'd know that smile, those eyes, that voice anywhere," said Mrs. Tesmer.

Confronting the prisoner again later when the tell-tale stubble of a man's beard had begun to sprout through the paint and powder on his cheeks and when his voice had become throaty and masculine, she did not back up on her identification.

"Say, that woman's crazy," bellowed Thompson. "I was at a picture show at the time her husband was bumped off."

"What was the picture you saw?" he was asked.

Immediately the prisoner reverted to the feminine half of his dual nature.

"Oh, it was the dearest thing," he said, "and the ladies wore the dearest costumes."

Today he was being questioned in effort to extract from him proof that his alibi was true. The feminine side was uppermost again, however, and all of a woman's inconsistency and lack of logic were in evidence.

The same craving for drink was being shown by Frank Carrick, who 14 years ago "married" Thompson and says he did not discover his wife's dual personality until six months later.

GIRL HERO

17-Year-Old Girl Dives Into River After 10-Year-Old Boy And Swims Back 500 Feet to Bank

International News Dispatch

WICHITA, Kans., June 20—The Riverside residential district here today has a 17-year-old girl hero—Eunice Worden, who dived into the Arkansas river after Jimmy Morgan, 10 years old, when the latter had fallen into the river, fought off his frantic efforts to clutch her about the arms, and swam with him 500 feet to the bank.

Exhausted by her efforts to overcome the boy's struggles and swim to safety, the plucky girl was ready to sink, when her foot struck a sand bar near the bank. The girl, going for a swim after a game of tennis, saw a pair of overalls floating down the river. She saw a foot protruding from one leg of the overalls and jumped into the river.

LAWTON PICKED BY WATER MEN

Association Honors Local Man With Highest Office of Body

F. N. Lawton, general manager of the Wichita Falls water department, was elected president of the Southwest Waterworks association at the annual election of officers Wednesday afternoon. W. F. Anderson of Tulsa, Okla., was named vice president, and R. D. Morgan of Mexia, Texas, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The election of Mr. Lawton came as a signal tribute to him for services he has rendered the association since his connection with it. Active in the work of the organization since he first

Four Jailed For Silence On Oil Town Flogging

Associated Press Dispatch

HOUSTON, June 20.—Four Goose creek men were fined by Judge C. W. Robinson in criminal court this afternoon for refusing to answer questions propounded to them by the grand jury regarding floggings at Goose Creek, and sentenced to jail for contempt of court until they are willing to answer the questions. They are J. E. Harper, C. A. Kubley, W. E. Yiles and W. S. Bradley.

The four men were released on their honor until Thursday afternoon, when they were ordered to report to the sheriff and begin serving their sentences.

Several grand juries have investigated conditions at Goose Creek and the last group of investigators returned a report in which they said that for many months up to last January a condition of lawlessness had prevailed at the oil town. There have been many reports of floggings in that community and several indictments have been returned.

Giant Leviathan With 450 Guests Bound To, Indies

International News Dispatch

ABOARD AMERICAN STEAMship Leviathan, June 20.—(By Wireless)—After passing through a thick fog, which caused the giant Leviathan to reduce her speed from 18 to 12 knots an hour, the steamship with her party of 450 guests on board was off the New Jersey coast today en route to West Indian waters.

Last night the vessel ran into fog and extreme precautions were taken. Lookouts were increased, speed reduced and the great fog horn was kept booming continuously.

A moving picture entertainment was given, but many of the guests got more excitement on deck as the world's greatest liner crawled through the murky weather.

OKLAHOMA "U" MAY GET OUSTED COLLEGE HEAD

Dr. Meiklejohn of Amherst to Be Proposed to Regents

FORCED TO RESIGN

Brooks Went to Missouri As Walton Became Governor

Associated Press Dispatch

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 20.—Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, resigned president of Amherst college, may be approached by the board of regents of the University of Oklahoma, who are seeking a new president for the institution, it was learned today.

Frank Butram, local member of the board, announced that he would present Dr. Meiklejohn's name at the next board meeting. If the other regents agreed, Mr. Butram said, overtures would be made to the former Amherst head.

The University of Oklahoma has been without a permanent president since June 1, when Dr. Stratton D. Brooks retired to become president of the University of Missouri. Dr. Brooks' removal under the new state administration had been forecast before he resigned.

AMHERST ATTACKED AT STORMY LUNCHEON

AMHERST, Mass., June 20.—Amherst college's story commencement is over. Breaking his silence for the first time since the announcement of his enforced resignation yesterday, Alexander Meiklejohn, president since 1912, at the alumni luncheon today, charged the trustees with failure to support the ideals they set out with and challenged the soundness of the entire fabric of American college education.

Twelve seniors and one member of the class of 1922 refused to accept their degrees at today's commencement exercises. Tonight two faculty members announced their resignations and other instructors declined to deny that they might also leave.

The resignation of Meiklejohn yesterday at the request of the board of trustees was the result of a difference of opinion between the president and members of the board and many of the alumni regarding the former's educational policies which had come to be regarded by many as too liberal to coincide with the traditions of the college.

Governor Orders Troops To Guard Savannah Negro

Associated Press Dispatch

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—This city was quiet tonight with state troops guarding the Chatham county jail where a mob early today made an unsuccessful attempt to seize Walter Lee, a negro, charged with attacking a young married woman, Monday afternoon.

Following the issuance of a proclamation by Governor Hardwick at Atlanta, declaring Savannah in a state of insurrection, Brig Gen. R. J. Travis, commanding officer of the 118th field artillery, was designated by Adjt. Gen. Lewis T. Pope to take charge of the situation here.

Seventeen persons arrested last night in connection with the rioting were arraigned in city court today and bound over on charges of rioting and carrying concealed weapons.

The spirit of the rioters was broken early this morning, after several hours of unrest in which several officers were struck by missiles thrown from the crowds and one man, Oscar C. Parker Jr., was killed by an accidental shot.

Bankers of Panhandle Warned to Be Conservative

Associated Press Dispatch

PLAINVIEW, Texas, June 20.—Bankers must protect their stockholders and depositors more and be more conservative with loans in the immediate future than in the last few years, Joe Zach Miller of the Commerce Trust company, Kansas City, declared in the address at the closing session of the nineteenth annual Panhandle Bankers' association convention here today.

Miller is the third generation of one of the most prominent bankers' families in the southwest. His father served many years as governor of the federal reserve bank of Kansas City. The family began its banking career in Williamson county, Texas.

FARM-LABOR BOARD TO PROPOSE LAWS

International News Dispatch

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 20.—The executive board of the Farm-Labor Reconstruction league today was summoned by J. Luther Langston, state manager, to meet July 7 to discuss petitions for the initiation of five laws.

Th measures to be discussed are: Fair election laws, state-owned cement and plaster plant, tax on gross receipts of public service corporation tax, exemptions on $1,000 worth of improved property, co-operative banking law.

TOUSSAINT CASE DRAWS EXPERT ON MELANCHOLY

Murder on Dark Night In Lonely Street Is Mentioned in Legal Tangle At Anson.

Special Dispatch to Record News

ANSON, Texas, June 20.—With a jury completed before 4 o'clock in the afternoon, testimony was started Wednesday in the case of Henry J. Toussaint who went on trial here today for the murder of his father, O. H. Toussaint, in February, 1921.

The case has been transferred here from Wichita county where, in a previous trial, the defendant was convicted and sentenced to hang. A new trial was subsequently granted by the court of criminal appeals.

Both state and defense announced ready when the case was called by Judge Chapman at 10 o'clock and selection of the jury started without any preliminary legal angling

Jury Selected

The twelve men who are to decide Toussaint's fate are A. G. Arnold, contractor; Henry Monday, farmer; George W. Bristow, farmer; W. B. Hogans, farmer; C. S. Brewerton, farmer; Clarence Johnson, salesman; Walter Buchom; farmer; J. W. Burifoy, banker; W. C. Russell, banker; T. M. Doyle, farmer; W. M. Carrelton, farmer and Terry Smith, merchant.

Each of the purors examined were questioned by the state as to whether or not they had conscientious scruples against the death penalty, while the defense laid stress on ascertaining whether the jury, if it believed a man to be insane, would hold him accountable for his actions.

Venire Of 80 Called

A special venire of 80 men had been summoned for the trial but not all of the panel was exhausted.

With the jury selected, the physical facts of the killing were established and E. E. Knickerbocker, an expert on melancholin, introduced. The witness, who said he was a Salvation Army worker at Houston, testified as to the effects of this malady on the individual. A legal squabble came up during the questioning, involving whether or not any man, able or not to distinguish right from wrong, would way lay his father on a dark and unfrequented street and plan a murder with the cool deliberation that Toussaint is alleged to have done.

The state rested before adjournment in the afternoon and defense testimony will be introduced this morning. It is considered likely that rebuttal testimony of the state will start sometime Friday.

A number of witnesses in the case were in Anson Wednesday when the trial opened and the others are expected in Wednesday evening.

AUTO DRIVER KILLED IN 30-FOOT CRASH

Associated Press Dispatch

TYLER, Texas, June 20.—Driving his car over an embankment, 30 feet high, Albert Phillips, service car driver, sustained a fractured skull today. Two passengers escaped injury. The accident occurred on the Tyler-Overton pike.

Doctors Held In Slaying of Boy At Duncan, Okla.

International News Dispatch

ARDMORE, Okla., June 20.—Officials here today were preparing to file murder charges in connection with the slaying Saturday night of Eulis Coffey, 18, Duncan, Okla., who was shot and killed in the home of his uncle, Wallace Coffey, constable of Lonegrove. Officials claim that the killing of the boy was a mistaken identity case, the shots having been intended for his uncle.

According to officials Henry Keith, 21, has confessed to the slaying and John Keith, 17, his cousin, admitted he was present. Keith in his confession is said to have implicated Dr. A. S. Heflin, charging that the physician offered him $200 to kill the constable. Both Dr. Heflin and his father, Dr. A. Heflin, who are held by authorities, deny any implication.

LAW LOSES

Oklahoma Sheriff Takes Prisoner To Los Angeles to Defeat Efforts for Habeas Corpus

International News Dispatch

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—Leading his prisoner into the cockpit of an airplane, an Oklahoma sheriff today established what is said to be a precedent in the history of man hunting by flying with his man from California to Arizona, thereby defeating alleged efforts made in Los Angeles to obtain a habeas corpus for the prisoner.

So far as known, this is the first time an officer of the law has had to resort to such a novel expedient.

The official is Sheriff Tom Cavanir of Oklahoma City. His prisoner is Haywood Rector, 17-year-old negro, accused of having fired a cotton press in Oklahoma City in 1921.

HARDING OFF ON ALASKAN TOUR

Small Boy Gets Honor of First Speech Made by President

Associated Press Dispatch

ON BOARD PRESIDENT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, NEAR CUMBERLAND, Md., June 20.—President Harding made his first speech after leaving Washington for a 15,000-mile trip to the Pacific coast and Alaska today at Martinsburg, W. Va. It was addressed to a small boy in the streets, who hailed the president and received in turn, "Hello, there."

The train had stopped for water when the president appeared on the rear platform. The small boy was the first to recognize the chief executive, and called, "Hello, Mr. President." Others, including a number of railroad workers, who had been waiting at the station, followed the boy's example, shook hands and wished the president a pleasant journey.

The president spent the first hours aboard the train enjoying the scenery along the upper Potomac and in complete relaxation after the long hours spent at his desk in preparation for his more important addresses, and in clearing up official business. During this time he made the acquaintance of the train crew and pleasantly reprimanded some of the trainmen who had been too busy to visit the president's car.

Marrs Not to Appear in Federal Textbook Hearing

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, Texas, June 20.—State Superintendent S. M. N. Marrs will not appear in person at the hearing before Federal Judge Duval West at Waco, June 26, on the injunction application of the American Book company, Marrs stated today. The state superintendent is preparing a statement. He expects to leave soon for San Francisco to attend the annual convention of the National Educational association. The suit involves textbook contracts.

MEXICO CITY ASKS 1924 CONVENTION OF WORLD ROTARY

Associated Press Dispatch

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Entertainment and sports greatly overshadowed business for the thousands of Rotarians and "Rotary Anns" here today, the third day of their international convention.

Nearly all of the delegates and visitors repaired to the coliseum tonight for the president's ball, the one annual social function of Rotary International, a more or less informal affair.

The Mexican delegation formally invited the organization to hold its 1924 convention in Mexico City.

Bank President In Stupor When Protege Takes Million and Half

International News Dispatch

WICHITA, Kan., June 20.—Five years ago, Phillip A. Drumm, trusted officer of the American State bank here, began a series of defalcations which ended Monday night with the wrecking of the bank, supposed to be one of the strongest financial institutions in the Southwest.

Authorities investigating the losses said it was possible the irregularities had extended back over an even longer period of time than since 1918. These defalcations appear certain to run in excess of one and a half million dollars.

J. T. Haynes, head of the Kansas Gas and Petroleum company, Frontier Refining company and Penn-Western Oil company, allied companies, today is an outstanding figure in the case, as representing nearly one million dollars of the amounts loaned by Drumm. A large stock interest was held in some of Haynes' concerns by Drumm, but the former bank cashier today declared these were held prior to the time of the defalcation.

J. N. Richardson, head of the defunct bank, and for dozens of years held in banking circles as one of the most ultra-conservative bankers in the middle west, today was still in a sort of stupor as the result of the breaking of the confidence he had placed for 20 years in Drumm. The cashier had been Richardson's protege having been taken into the bank as a messenger boy a score of years ago.

MOTOR BOATS FLOCK TO SHIP NEAR GALVESTON

Mysterious Steamer Painted Black Eight Miles Off Coast

SHIP FLIES NO FLAG

Cases of Whiskey Piled on Deck of Stranger, Captain Says

Associated Press Dispatch

GALVESTON, June 20.—The first appearance of a rum fleet in the gulf off Galveston was reported here today by incoming ship captains who state that a large steamer has been laying anchored about eight miles out in the gulf for the past ten days. Fleets of small boats were reported going to and from the steamer.

Platform Alongside Ship.

The mysterious rum steamer is described as a vessel of about 2,000 tons, painted black. She is anchored in about 60 fathoms of water, between Galveston and Heald bank lightship and is slightly off the regular steamship lane.

Fleets of motor boats were seen approaching the steamer which has a platform alongside for the convenience of the smaller craft. The crew of the steamer was said to resemble Filipinos and were of unkept appearance. The vessel flew no flag and ship captain was unable to identify her.

Cases Loaded in Boats.

Federal officials here had no report on the rum ship. One of those who saw the ship said that cases of whiskey could be seen piled on her deck. They also saw cases being loaded into motor boats.

The vessel was said to be of the lake type, similar to rum ships which have been plying their trade off Sandy Hook. A white man in an officer's uniform was seen on deck.

Jury Of Farmers To Try Ross For Allison Murder

Associated Press Dispatch

LUBBOCK, Texas, June 20.—Ten jurors have been selected for the trial of Tom Ross, ranchman, charged with slaying Dave Allison, range inspector. Five additional jurors were selected today before the special venire of 100 had been exhausted. Five were obtained yesterday.

In procuring ten jurors during the past two days, the defense exhausted 14 of its 15 challenges and the state 8. It appeared probable today that the jury by which the defendant cowman will be tried will be composed almost entirely of farmers.

RED RIVER MARKING BEGINS ANEW TODAY

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, Texas, June 20.—Marking of the state boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma which was delayed recently by floods and heavy rains will be resumed tomorrow, State Reclamation Engineer A. A. Stiles stated today. Stiles left Austin tonight for Bridgetown, Wichita county, where he will meet Arthur D. Kidder, second commissioner, in the location work. Three-fourths of the boundary line to be determined has been fixed, Stiles said.

Text Contracts Not Valid, Say State Attorneys

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, June 20.—No state body can delegate authority for approving contracts to one of its members or other persons, state's attorneys contended in the hearing before the supreme court today on the American Book company's application for mandamus against State Superintendent Marrs. The suit involves text book contracts alleged to have been let last December.

It was declared by attorneys for Marrs that no contracts exist since those in question were not approved by the text book commission before it adjourned last December and that final approval was made by the governor. An issue of fact was raised by the state as to whether any contracts exist.

The relator's attorneys contended that the contracts were entered into by the state committee in due form if the custom of fact is recognized by the court. It is said the application probably will be dismissed for adjudication in district court.

TWO MORE BILLS SIGNED BY NEFF

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, Texas, June 20.—Two bills passed by the third called legislative session were approved by Governor Neff today. The Moore bill reappropriating over $400,000 of unexpended funds for purchasing additional lands for the state university was approved as was the Jacks bill requiring the rendition for taxation of all stocks sold by mercantile establishments or department stores.

CONVENTION TO CLOSE TODAY

Most of Delegates Expected to Leave City This Afternoon

Before dusk tonight the twelfth annual convention of the Southwest Waterworks association will be history.

Officially scheduled to come to a close sometime this afternoon it now appears that the session will be brought to an end possibly at noon[If this is the case, the larger portion of the delegates will leave on afternoon trains. But few will be here Friday morning.

The final day's program is to start in the convention hall at 9 o'clock this morning with a paper "Algae and Its Treatment," by W. H.; Mahlie, chief chemist of the Fort Worth waterworks. A second paper, "Tests for Overdose of Alum and Chlorine," to be given by N. G. Tyler, dean of the College of Engineering at Oklahoma A. & M., follows this, and still later a third lecture and demonstration, "New Methods of Water Service Distribution" will be given by Tod Williams, superintendent of the Wichita Falls waterworks.

A round table discussion of matters relating generally to the waterworks industry closes the morning meeting.

In the afternoon, in case it is necessary to prolong the affair, committee reports, unfinished business matters, selection of the 1924 convention city and the official adjournment will be taken up.

LAWTON PICKED

become associated with the waterworks business, Mr. Lawton has come to be recognized throughout the southwest as one of the leading water department authorities of the day.

He Planned Convention.

As vice president for the past year, he has done much for the advancement of the association and with Wichita Falls entertaining the 1923 convention, his work has been increased many fold. Arrangements for the convention have been largely in his hands and the success of the meetings which close today have attested to the thoroughness with which he has labored.

It was largely through Mr. Lawton's efforts at the 1922 convention in Hot Springs that Wichita Falls obtained the 1923 meeting.

Anderson From Tulsa.

Mr. Anderson, who succeeds Mr. Lawton as vice president, is a well-known waterworks authority of Tulsa who has been prominently identified with the association for several years. He has been state governor of Oklahoma for the past year. R. D. Morgan, city engineer of Mexia, was sent back to the secretary-treasurer's chair by acclamation.

At the same election, state governors for seven of the eight states included in the association. No executive for Nebraska was named yesterday to succeed H. B. Knouse of Omaha, this being left to a later date.

Cleburne Man Elected.

J. W. Hockaday of Cleburne was elected governor of Texas. Mr. Anderson was re-elected for Oklahoma, B. F. Ulrich of Manhattan for Kansas, Joe W. Kelley of Las Vegas re-elected for New Mexico, W. M. Fowler of New Orleans for Louisiana, W. H. Gallagher of Independence re-elected for Missouri and H. J. Foster of Helena for Arkansas.

The nominating committee of the convention was composed of Jesse Shaw of Tyler, Ed Bullock of Hillsboro, Bert Carroll of Waco and Tom LaRue of Chickasha, Okla.

MYSTERY SHROUDS DEATH OF 18-YEAR EAST TEXAS GIRL

Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, June 20.—The nude body of 18-year-old Gussie Coombs was found this morning near her bed at her home in Garden Valley, near Tyller, according to information received here. Mysterious circumstances surrounding the death have caused an investigation to be made, especially as regards bruises on the back and elbows. The girl retired at the usual hour last night, apparently well and happy, her parents said this morning. Poison had caused her death. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Coombs.

Recognition Commission Opposes Mexican Minister

International News Dispatch

LAREDO, Texas, June 20.—According to reports here today, President Obregon of Mexico has sent Gen. Perez Trevino to San Francisco to endeavor to persuade Gen. Plutarcos Calles to announce his severance with the Obregon government. Calles is in San Francisco under medical treatment and is said to be the only hindrance in the way of recognition.

It is said Calles' alleged bolshevistic views are objectional to the American recognition commissioners now in Mexico City.

LIVESTOCK FREIGHT RATE CASE ENDED

Associated Press Dispatch

AUSTIN, June 20.—Decision in the well known livestock rate case was reached by the state railroad commission today. The decision was not revealed tonight and order will be issued tomorrow. The case involves rates on less than carload shipments of livestock. It is understood the decision will hold that rates should be charged according to actual weight of shipments and not under the minimum weight rule.

THE KEMP LIBRARY
A Sketch By Frances Coffin Boaz

To a stranger within the gates of the city, the first thing that interests him is the thing outside the gates—the oil fields of national notoriety.

After he has drunk in deep the wonder and magic of miles of derricks pumping black gold, he rides about this mushroom city of the southwest plains and admires the innumerable charming bungalows

In the heart of the city as comes suddenly upon a square that has a flower mottled lawn, flowering trees, mesquite and myrtle redolent of southern charm and hospitality. The setting for the Kemp library.

It is a two-story brick building with arched colonial windows. The entrance is distinctively southern, with white pillars that extend to the roof. The invitation to the general public to read and rest at such an oasis is appreciated by the T. B. M., the more tired business women and the gentlemen tramps who follow the oil fields.

Kemp library is the most beautiful building in the city. Mr. Kemp is the man who gave this nook for books to Wichita Falls. Of course, Mrs. Kemp co-operated. With a feeling nearing reverence, I stood in the library corridor and respected the donors. Only noble, unselfish, cultured people do such things. The world needs more such people who have the spirit of the golden rule in their breasts.

I hear some reader say: "But it takes money to build a library."

'Tis true. Evidently the Kemps share the lofty views of the poet Shelly, who said; "I desire money because I think I know the use of it. It commands labor; it gives leisure to those who will employ it in the forwarding of truth; which is the noblest present as individual can make to the whole."

Mr. Bradford is survived by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Jess Whitman, of Farmersville, La.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Chapman will arrive here tomorrow.

FATHER OF WOMAN WAS WEALTHY FARMER.

Associated Press Dispatch

GREENVILLE, Texas, June 20.—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chapman, who were killed at Winnsboro, Wood county, at an early hour this morning, were well nown in Greenville where they frequently visited while residents of Farmersville.

Chapman and his wife were shot at an early hour while they lay in bed at the home occupied by the Chapmans and Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Bradford, parents of Mrs. Chapman. Mr. Bradford shot his son-in-law and daughter and later shot himself, using a shotgun.

Officers Silent.

An investigation made by the Winnsboro justice of the peace and by the sheriff of Wood county threw but little light on the tragdy and at a late hour tonight neither of the officers would give out a statement for publication regarding the killing.

Chapman had ben assistant cashier of the First National bank at Winnsboro the past two years and was formerly connected with a bank at Farmersville, in eastern Collin county.

Blame Financial Matters.

Financial matters were given, unofficially as the motive believed behind the shooting, but officers were reticent to discuss the motive that led up to the shooting.

The bodies will be taken tonight by rail to Farmersville where a triple funeral will be held tomorrow morning.

J. L. Chapman, state bank commissioner and father of the young man who was killed had not arrived at Winnsboro from Austin at 8 o'clock tonight.

W. K. Bradford, father of Mrs. Chapman, who did the shoting, was a wealthy farmer of east Collin county and made his home at Farmersville several years, moving to Winnsboro two months ago. He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Whitman, Princeton, Collin county.

Plot to Blow Up British Palace Foiled, Is Claim

International News Dispatch

BELFAST, June 20.—The Northern Whig today published a sensational story that the recent London round-up of Irish republican adherents had foiled a plot to attack and attempt to blow up Buckingham Palace.

According to the Northern Whig women spies, working for the Irish rebels, made plans to blow up the Thames bridges, railway stations and fire stations.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S.S.S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:

AL SMITH

it comes to swinging the Indiana delegation at the national conventions.

That the two made plans to conquer there is no doubt.

But just what the plans discussed are remains a dark and sacred secret.

Taggart, always regarded as a political sage of no mean ability, takes issues with the students politic who declare that prohibition and the world court are to be the two big issues in the coming presidential campaign of 1924.

"Taxation and prosperity, those twins in politics, will be the over-shadowing issues," Taggart said in an interview.

"We must get that idea clearly in our minds," said Taggart. "Regardless of whether we are individually wet or dry, my judgment is the democratic leaders realize, as do our opponents, politically, that no one is going to win an election unless we can convince the country we stand for the solution of these big business problems, particularly as to the farming situation.

"What are the facts? The farmers are paying war-time prices for what they buy, and are selling at the low level. You are not, in my judgment, going to make much of a hit with the farmers by trying to make them see that their prosperity rests solely on whether we are going to modify the Volstead act. The same, in my opinion, applies to men in all lines of business.

"What the democrats must do, and they doubtless will do, is to emphasize the need of an actual return to normalcy all along the line. Those who want the Volstead act modified must first elect a congress that will do it. A president cannot do it.

"And until congress raises the alcoholic content of beverages there will be no relief for those who want relief in this respect.

"The trouble is that too many of your men in public life vote dry and live wet. The situation in my judgment, will not be cleared up, one way or the other, until members of congress decide to vote their private convictions, one way or the other."

Smith, in the meantime, refuses to discuss the political situation insofar as the presidency is concerned, though he is believed to hold that his action in signing the Cuvillier bill repealing the Mullen-Gage law will go far toward clarifying the beer and light wine issue.

COTTON MILLS ACTIVE.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Cotton spining activity in May was the second highest month in the history of the industry, having been exceeded only by March this year, the census bureau's monthly report today shows. Cotton growing states made a new record in spinning activity, have exceeded the March record by almost 4,500,000 active spindle hours.

President Frees 27 War Prisoners On Eve Of Trip

Associated Press Dispatch

WASHINGTON, June 20. — Immediate release of more than a score of federal prisoners convicted of violating war laws, but with continued detention of almost as many more was ordered today by President Harding before leaving on his western trip.

The president acted on 158 pardon and commutation cases, a record-breaking number in the opinion of the department of justice officials.

Interest centered in the cases of those convicted of violating espionage, drafts and other war laws, whose applications had been pressed by various organizations and persons of prominence. There number 48, and the president granted commutations of 27, but denied applications in 21 cases, including a group of 20 alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World, convicted at Sacramento, Cal.

Sentences of 22 alleged I. W. W. members, convicted in the celebrated Chicago trials and sent to the Leavenworth penitentiary, were commuted to expire at once. Three of four alleged I. W. W. members, convicted at Wichita, Kan., received commutations.

NOISES IN VALVES

The commonest engine noises are valve clicks and slaps, both of which may be detected by the rythmical regularity of their occurrence. The reason for noisy valve operation is too great a clearance between the valve and its seat. In the case of overhead valves, too great a clearance between the lifter and the push rod will cause this trouble. The remedy is obviously the reduction of the clearance to the correct distance and this should be done while the engine is heated, in which condition the valves necessarily operate.

Occasionally noise in the valve mechanism is caused by the lifter being in its guide. To locate this trouble the entire lifter assembly will have to be removed. A worn lifter will have to be replaced, though in some cases, the guides may be sprung slightly so that they will grip the lifter more tightly, and this eliminates the trouble.

Another possible location of noise is at the cam, between which and the follower there may be too much clearance. Replacing the worn parts will usually eliminate the trouble. Worn valve stems or guides may also cause noise, and the removal of the valve springs will enable one to locate noise at this point. There should be no side play of the stem in its guide. bushings should be fitted in the guide or a new valve with an oversize stem should be installed.

While the valve system is the commonest point of noise troubles in an engine it is not the sole location where this trouble may arise. The bearings in an engine are of such construction as to require copious lubrication, or they will burn and flatten out with a knock as the result. The ordinary remedy is to take up the bearings by removing the shims between the two halves or trim the metal from the removable part of the bearing. In doing this, care must be taken to see that the bearing touches the shaft all around without being too tight.—Automobile Digest.

Incoming President and Retiring Leader Honored at Kemp Banquet

Honoring the incoming president, the retiring president and other members of the association, the Waterworks Manufacturing association was host Wednesday night at a banquet in the Kemp hotel ballroom. A large crowd attended the affair, which ended with a dance.

Addresses by Joe H. Patterson, former president; F. N. Lawton, newly elected leader; R. D. Morgan, secretary-treasurer; Charles Ade of the Association Journal; Jimmy Judge, southwestern representative of the H. Mueller Manufacturing company, and others appeared on the program. Jesse Shaw of Tyler acted as toastmaster.

The dinner was a hilarious affair, with will "organize)" choruses at various tables competing with each other in vocal efforts. Warblings with an anti-prohi tinge proved the most popular, but some of the musty favorites of a decade ago were resurrected and done full justice.

The addresses of the officers dealt largely with the need of co-operation among members of the association and of predictions for a greater advancement in the year to come than that which had been recorded in the past. Mr. Morgan kept the crowd in a constant titter with his remarks on various phases of association life.

One of the hits of the evening come when Jimmy Judge, after a brief but effective discourse on the sterling qualities of Tod Williams, local water superintendent, presented that worthy with a tiny pair of B. V. D's. They were given, the speaker said, to compensate Tod for something he had lost at the Hot Springs convention.

Music by a jazz orchestra was provided for dancing that ended the evening.

TULSA BIDDING FOR NEXT MEETING OF WATER MEN

With the 1924 convention city to be decided on this afternoon, campaigning for the next meeting of the Southwest Waterworks association got under way with spirit Wednesday. Tulsa, Okla., entered the list early Wednesday morning and made it a three-cornered race between itself, Oklahoma City and Topeka, Kan.

Representatives of each of the three cities were claiming last night that they were to be the hosts in 1924. Some intensive lobbying was started around the convention hall when delegates began to arrive yesterday morning and this continued without interruption throughout the day.

Topeka stuck up some commanding signs extolling the virtues of the Kansas metropolis

Broker's Personal Bank Account Investigated

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 20.—The personal bank account of President Silkworth of the Consolidated stock exchange on three occasions tallied with checks totaling $12,000 drawn by the bankrupt brokerage house of E. M. Fuller & Co., it was brought out today in bankruptcy proceedings before Referee Cofin.

When the checks were placed in evidence, Silkworth denied that the money he had deposited came from the checks or from any other bankrupt member of the Consolidated. He admitted, under questioning, however, that he had speculated on his own account.

Lectures Heard at Third Day's Session of Waterworks Meeting

The third day of the waterworks association convention here brought more discussions, lectures, demonstrations, inspections, observations, and last but not least, more good, times.

Opening late in the morning in a hall that was oppressively hot despite electric fans and ice water, the delegates settled down to a protracted list of papers and lectures. T. L. Amiss of Shreveport, V. M. Ehlers, state sanitary engineer of Texas, J. W. Carpenter of Dallas and J. W. Hockaday of Cleburne were on the program.

The convention picture was taken on the steps of the county courthouse at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Executive Committee Coming to Plan Convention of Association

Plans for a coming convention of the Northwest Texas Press association to be held here sometime in the near future are to be formulated Saturday afternoon at a meeting of officers and members of the executive committee here. The session will be held at the Kemp hotel.

The date of the meeting, a tentative program and other matters will be taken up by the committee here. The convention will bring scores of newspaper men and women from this section of the state to Wichita Falls.

Included in those to be at Saturday's meeting will be President O. C. Harrison, R. S. Shuffler, Buford Jones, Harry Koch and W. Dixon.

Harding Sells His Paper

Associated Press Dispatch

WASHINGTON, June 20.—President Harding has disposed of his control of the stock of the Harding Publishing company, publishers of the Marion Star, to Louis H. Brush and Roy D. Moore.

The sale, however, did not constitute a complete severance of Harding's connection with the newspaper, whose editor he was for so many years. It was announced at the White House that he would retain some stock in the company and would continue to be associated with the Star in an editorial capacity.

NEW RADIO STUNT TO SEND HARDING'S SPEECH OVER NATION

Associated Press Dispatch

ST. LOUIS, June 20. — President Harding's voice probably will be heard in virtually every section of the United States by radio, when he speaks here tomorrow night, it was announced today.

The address will be broadcast from a powerful local station, and simultaneously from the American Telephone & Telegraph company's station in New York city. The sound waves will be dispatched to New York city by an all-metal circuit and should a person at a receiving station halfway between the two points hear the speech both from New York city and St. Louis he would be unaware of the fact, as the difference in time would be only 1-196th of a second.

The step is the first in a plan to link up as many as 30 broadcasting stations in the United States. Then the president, sitting in his study in the White House, could speak in a microphone, with no more effort that if he were speaking to some one in the room, and be heard in all parts of the country.

CUTTING IN ON CLOSEUPS

The Movies By Joedie Fisk

OLMPIC—Kenneth Harlan and Miriam Cooper in "The Girl Who Came Back."
STRAND—Hobart Bosworth and all star cast in "The Stranger's Banquet."
EMPRESS—Tom Mix in "Stepping Fast."
MAJESTIC—Noah and Wallace Berry in "Storm Swept."
GEM—George Chesbro in "Love of the Service."

LOTS OF ACTION IN TOM MIX PICTURE—

Tom Mix opens at the Empress today in "Stepping Fast" and the story lives up to it's name. There are quick dashes from California to China and back again.

The conflict is caused by a treasure-mine in the possession of an American girl living in China. Two rings, one in her possession, contain the necessary map. Hers is obtained from her by a trick, but the other one, in the hands of the hero, succeeds in aiding the deserving ones to get to the treasure just in time. Claire Adams plays the leading feminine support, and Ethel Wales unites with Edward Jobson in instilling a little comedy. Joseph Franz, the director, deserves credit for making every situation count. Tony, the stars' famous horse, appears in a few scenes, but has a close rival in the dog, who adds considerable human interest in at least one scene.

PRISON STORY OPENS AT OLYMPIC TODAY—

"The Girl Who Came Back" is a prison story with some unique turns. It is playing Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at the Olympic.

An unsophisticated country girl, unfortunate in her city associates—such is Sheila Weston. When the two blase shopgirls with whom she works and rooms take her to a dance hall one night, she is dazzled by the lights, the jazz—and the attentions of Ray Underhill. Ray works fast and soon wins her consent to a justice of the peace wedding. Before they leave the justice's house after the ceremony, officers arrive and arrest them both as auto thieves. Ray pleads Sheila's innocence, but she has been seen driving the car and the officers refuse to believe him. Each is sentenced to prison.

In jail, Ray's cell-mate is "648," a trusty, and a man "framed" in a bogus trust company deal. "648" is the only man in prison to whom old "555"—a lifer—ever speaks. For him the old man has a strong affection, and has made "648" his heir to Kimberley diamond claims, explaining everything to him in their infrequent talks.

Sheila's release comes first and she goes to the jail on visitors' day to see Ray. She is seen by Ramon Valhays, the man responsible for "648's" conviction. Valhays comes to see the trusty, but "648" refuses to see him.

Guided by "555's" instructions, Ray and "648" escape together and go to a house owned by "648," where they secure clothing. Ray discovers that his convict friend has money hidden in the house, and takes a key to the front door with him when they separate.

Ray goes to Sheila's and is followed by officers and captured. However, he manages to give her the key to "648's" house with directions how to reach it. Alone, weary of the eternal grind, told by the landlady to move, under police surveillance, Sheila decides to take the money and make a new start. In the house "648" catches her red-handed, but it is dark and during the struggle she escapes with the money without being identified by him.

Six years later, in Capetown, "648" has become a wealthy diamond mine owner, known as Norris, and Sheila a famous and popular beauty. She believes the report she has heard of Ray's death, so when she and Norries meet, and fall in love, she marries him.

Then comes the time when Norries must return to America and repay the money to those whose trust he had apparently betrayed. Stifling her misgivings, Sheila accompanies him and his work is nearly completed, when Valhays calls on Sheila—with Ray!

They try to blackmail her—she fears Norries' discovery of her past, and after writing him a confession, starts to run away. Valhays has anticipated this, and intercepts her. Norries has found her letter and is reading it when he hears a scream. He rushes out and attacks Valhays, but the latter eludes him in the shrubbery. Then the police, who have been trailing Valhays, reach the place. In the subsequent battle, Ray and Valhays mistake each other. Ray, however, has had a chance to tell Sheila that they were never married—the justice was a fraud.

Mutual explanations between husband and wife result in perfect understanding and a future full of promise.

REGULAR STUDIO NURSERY FOR KID ACTOR—

Bruce Guerin, the baby screen star, is now a happy kid, his toys having been moved into his private dressing room at the Warner Brothers' coast studios.

Curtains featuring Mother Goose rhyms drape the windows and room, and Bruce's name is on the door for all the world to see.

The little rascal likes his studio nursery room so well, that the director has to coax him out for the camera work.

VIOLA DOES SOME NEAT DANCING IN PICTURE—

Viola Dana has done toe dancing and ballet dancing on the stage, but in "Rouged Lips," her newest Metro picture, she has been called upon to learn at one and the same time the Irish jig and the Highland fling and her director-instructor, Harold Shaw, who has spent many years in the British Isles says she's doing it admirably.

Viola, if you have noticed—and if you have not, watch the little finger of her left hand in "Rouged Lips," when this picture appears. That little green scarab ring never leaves her finger. Viola says it always insures an excellent performance.

JACK AND MARILYN NOW HAPPY IN HOLLYWOOD

Jack Pickford and Marilyn Miller, his bride of almost a year, are cosily settled in a Hollywood bungalow for the summer. Miss Miller settled in the film colony following the closing of "Sally," musical comedy show in which she was starring. She expects to remain for several months—until the new Ziegfeld stage productions, in which she will star next season, is ready for rehearsal. Then she will return to the east.

Jack Pickford is now preparing to launch a new screen feature, work on which will take up most of the summer. No title has been selected for the new story, but it is understood that it will be a Kentucky mountain picture of the type in which he has won great popularity.

Marilyn is enjoying her vacation at the studio with Jack, down on the beaches, and away on extended trips.

Lights Go Out on Klan Ceremonial And Suspicion Rests on Anti Crowd

Special Dispatch to Record News

MUNDY, Texas, June 20.—Leaving as rapidly as they had come, the 5,000 and more klansmen who invaded this community Tuesday for a mammoth klan initiation and ceremonial had made their departure by Wednesday morning. All of the visitors left between midnight and daylight Wednesday morning. Most of them had reached their homes before the sun was up.

The special trains from Wichita Falls and Abilene departed about 2 o'clock and were scheduled to arrive at their respective stations before daybreak.

The ceremonies here did not go through on schedule time and part of the ceremony was dispensed with entirely, when the lights at the ceremonial grounds went out shortly before midnight. Although no definite proof has been obtained, it is the opinion here that the electrical system had been tampered with and the darkness came about as a result of wilful malice.

Efforts to repair the damage were unsuccessful, and hence part of the initiation was necessarily put off.

FARMER'S TROUBLES LINKED WITH WAGES, DECLARES GOMPERS

International News Dispatch

CHICAGO, June 20. — Let the farmers organize and work out their own salvation, independent of the law makers.

This was the advice of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, given in a speech before the national wheat conference here today.

The problem of the farmer who finds himself bankrupt because of the low price of wheat, is linked with the question of wages for industrial labor, Gompers asserted.

"You will not induce the people to eat more wheat if you threaten the income out of which they buy wheat," he said. "The income of the farmer can never be greater if industrial wages are either to stand still or to go down. The product of the farm is largely bought by the populations of the cities and the populations of the cities are composed mostly of wage earners."

Germans to Be Forced Into Ruhr Industry Work

Associated Press Dispatch

DUSSELDORF, June 20. — The French are preparing to confiscate and to requisition a force of Germans to operate all the Ruhr valley industries, the outputs of which may be turned to the account of reparations, it was stated here today.

Jail sentences up to 15 years will be the penalty for Germans who refuse to work in operating the plants. Sabotage may be punished with death sentences after trial by court martial.

LADIES NIGHT AT LIONS CLUB

Next Weekly Session to Be Held at Muny Golf Grounds

"Ladies' night," with a special program, is being arranged by the local Lions' club for next Wednesday evening. The affair will be held at the clubhouse on the municipal golf grounds, after which the entertainment program will be given. A committee was appointed Wednesday noon at the club luncheon to make plans for the evening.

These events are given periodically by the club, at which time wives of the members are guests.

Whites Sway to Rhythm of Music At Holy Roller Meeting Which Is Blocking Traffic On Pike Here

Hundreds of white people are nightly attracted to the large negro Holy Roller revival which is in progress a mile from town on the Henrietta pike.

Last night no less than 250 cars were parked two and three blocks from the tabernacle up and down the pike, as well as around the seats at the revival. The negroes conducted a revival last summer at the same place, and hundreds of people attended every night, but the crowd this year far surpasses that of last, and is increasing every night. Between two and three hundred people were in attendance Wednesday night. Most of the whites are contented to sit in their cars or stand around the platform, but many take seats directly in front of the platform where the chorus is located.

Booths are located around the revival where one may buy anything from barbecue to soda water. More booths are being constructed, and the proprietors of the completed booths, all of them colored, seemed to be reaping a fat harvest.

The services seem to have a peculiar fascination for the whites. There is no designated preacher, one member of the chorus taking upon himself to read a little scripture. After that the majority of the colored folk present begin to testify, and this continues from intervals varying in length from 30 minutes to two hours. Each testifier talks from five to ten minutes.

All of the choir is a part of the orchestra, and all begin to pat their hands in perfect rhythm as soon as the pianist begins playing. The pianist is blind, but she can play the piano to perfection, and it is always she who selects the song and begins singing and playing at the same time. The choir joins in on about the second or third chord.

At times there are several instruments in the orchestra and the players out out the music in such a snappy way that it is hard for the whites surrounding the platform to restrain from keeping time with their feet or by swaying their bodies. At times the excitement becomes so great that one of the members of the choir will leap to her feet and dance across the platform in perfect time to the music, praising the Lord at every step she takes.

When the pianist is taking a rest, a song might be heard over in one corner of the platform; then it is immediately taken up in the other and separate groups are chanting separate parts at the same time. One of the favorite songs without the aid of the pianist is "Don't Miss that Train." The negroes put all the earnestness in the world in their music.

Contrary to expectations, the whites in the crowd maintain perfect order. In order to get a ringside parking place for one's car, one must be on the grounds by dark, as a steady stream of cars are arriving from that time up until 9 o'clock.

COUNCIL WILL MEET TONIGHT

Paving Protests Regarding Huff and Thirteenth Will Be Heard

The regular meeting of the city council for the present week will be held Thursday night, it was announced Wednesday. No session was held Monday evening because of the Southwest Waterworks association convention banquet.

Several important matters are to come up for attention, included in which will be a hearing of protests on the paving of Thirteenth and Huff.

A report will probably also be heard from E. M. Mann, city attorney, who spent Wednesday in company with several other legal advisors of North Texas communities enlisting aid in the fight on an increased gas charge proposed by the Municipal Gas company.

CHILLICOTHE MAN HAS TOES CUT OFF

Special Dispatch to Record News

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, June 20. Coley Thurman, 27, blacksmith, had the toes of his left foot cut off by a freight train about 12 o'clock Tuesday night, as he was returning from Quanah. The accident happened near the Fort Worth & Denver depot. Medical aid was immediately given. The injured man is resting nicely.

A celebration to commemorate the 30th anniversary of the entry of C. J. Barnard into business for himself.

Starting out in the little town of Celeste, Texas, and continuing up to the present time in the P. B. M. Co. Mr. Barnard has been continually at the head of the various partnerships which have been and still are in effect.

To fittingly celebrate this long career of commendable effort and as a tribute to the loyalty and continued patronage of the many patrons of the P. B. M. Co. this celebration is inaugurated.

During the Progress of This Celebration Every Thing Will Be Reduced

In some departments the prices will be less than half of the original figures and in every department prices that offer substantial savings will be in effect.

Every article will be sold with the same understanding that always obtains in every transaction here. That it is of first quality and originally priced as low as possible consistent with sound merchandising.

GOING WEST.

According to Washington advices, the dry democrats of America are determined that the national convention next year shall not go to the city of New York. They prefer Chicago or St. Louis. Chicago is wet, St. Louis is wet, but surrounded by territory as dry as the Sahara.

It is said that the McAdoo supporters favor a western city and that William Randolph Hearst has a choice, San Francisco is a Hearst town. There he broke into the newspaper business many years ago and those who are close to him say that the California democrats, or at least those who profess to control the machinery of the party, are willing to accept Hearst first aid in getting the convention for the Golden Gate city. There is a rumor afloat in Washington that Hearst is for a third party next year and has advised Henry Ford to waste no time on the donkey or its trainers.

Senator Oscar W. Underwood has not taken himself out of the race. His lieutenants are said to be willing to have the convention anywhere, provided it is not too far west, where the drys and radicals abound. All the republican and democratic politicians, and campaign managers who believe that it is the duty of the voters to stand hitched when once he has been placed are watching and waiting.

They do not know which way to jump. As a matter of fact the old guard republicans are the least disturbed. President Harding is their leader. He is to be renominated. He will have the administration behind him. He will have the machinery of the republican party behind him. He will be given the support of a large contingent of voters, known as the business element, who believe in letting well enough alone.

There is a Lafollette bloc. This bloc may carry three or four states, in November 1924. Should this happen there will be interesting proceedings under the big dome in the city of Washington.

AGE OF GASOLINE.

This is the gasoline age, A. C. Bedford who speaks for the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, recently submitted interesting figures. He said that in 1906 the petroleum industry with combined assets not exceeding $750,000,000 existed primarily to supply the world with 33,000,000 barrels of kerosene principally in kerosene lamps. In the year 1922 the petroleum industry produced 55,000,000 barrels of kerosene which was sufficient for all its needs.

Moreover, in 1922 the petroleum industry with combined assets of 10 times those of 1906 existed primarily to supply the world with approximately 150,000,000 barrels of gasoline per annum, largely for use in motor vehicles, representing an investment of between $10,000,000,000 and $12,000,000,000.

Chairman Bedford asserted that "the development of the oil industry has been left to those who are willing to engage in it, and free from either patronage or undue restraint it has became as a factor in the commercial life of the nation perhaps second only to the railroads. It promised even to outstrip railroads and for what reason? Because the railroads have been subject to government control and regulation."

Eighteen years ago the motor vehicle was a crude affair. Now car owners have 12 billion dollars invested in the modern makes and petroleum represents an investment of billions. Fast travelers are the American people.

GARRETT'S MONKEY ISSUE.

Congressman Finis J. Garrett, of Tennessee, is the ranking minority member of the house of representatives. He is of the opinion that the democrats will capture the lower house next year and that he would make an ideal speaker. For this reason, Garrett will not make the race for the senate.

Congressman John M. Garner, of Texas, has many friends the country over, including many democratic members of congress, who believe that he would make an ideal speaker, and thus there will be two candidates from the south in the race for the coveted prize. However, this is counting chickens before they are hatched.

In the republican slump of last year the democrats lost the house by 24 majority counting Lafollette congressmen as republicans. This may happen again next year. Garrett, of Tennessee, has a paramount issue. It is not the dry issue. It is the evolution issue. This is the way he words his issue:

"I cannot accept any teaching that man sprang from any degree of life lower than man. The power which would create a bug or a monkey could create a man."

The gentleman from Tennessee has followed the Bryan issue and hopes to win on it. Darwin died a good many years ago. He did not but a wide swarth while in the land of the living. His books never met with a wide sale in this or any other country. Now a disciple of the party of Thomas Jefferson hopes to win immorality in the political hall of fame as an opponent of so-called Darwinism and the origin of the species.

ALLEN AND GOMPERS.

Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, and Samuel Gompers, of New York, are political and economic enemies of long standing. As governor of Kansas, Allen was responsible for the enactment of what is known as the industrial court law. This law was a wage fixer, as well as a strike breaker.

Samuel Gompers speaking for the American Federation of Labor led the opposition to its enforcement. He declared that its provisions were tyrannical, that it deprived the wage worker of the right to strike, that as a wage fixer it was in direct conflict with the constitution of the United States, and that Allen and the Kansas lawmakers responsible for it had introduced Russian methods and Russian oppression in their statute, which had provoked nationwide controversy.

Alexander Howat, the somewhat notorious leader of the radical miners in the coal fields of Kansas, was given a long term in jail, having been convicted of violation of the Allen measure for the suppression of strikes and the fixing of wage schedules in certain industries within the border lines of the sunflower state.

Now the supreme court of the United States has knocked out a section of the Allen industrial court law, holding that coppulsory wage fixing is not within the province of legislative authority. This is a knock-out for Allen. It is a vindication of the point long ago raised by Gompers.

So it appears that the supreme court of the United States is not on the side of capital nor upon the side of labor but clings at all times to the constitutional rights of the many.

There are many Americans who believe that labor strikes should be prohibited. There are millions of Americans who insist that the rights of a worker to strike is not only constitutional but inalienable and that to be deprived of it by law would leave him in the position occupied by a Mexican peon in the days of Diaz or a Russian serf in the days of the Romanoffs.

Allen is dejected; Gompers is elated; there is a big hole in the Kansas industrial court law. If it is not dead, it is worthless to all intents and purposes. Compulsory arbitration has been given a knockout; legislative wage fixing has been given a knock out; the theory that the state can keep a worker from going on strike has been given a knock out.

Texas has what is known as the open port law. This law does not attempt to regulate wages. This law does not attempt to prohibit or prevent workers from quitting their jobs. The law does prevent workers who are on strike from interfering with workers who have taken their places.

Former governor, Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, should make a study of the Texas open port law. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has made a study of the open port law and he has as little use for it as he has for the Kansas industrial court law before the supreme court of the United States annulled its most important provision.

Now Governor Jonathan Davis, of Kansas, threatens to call a special session of the legislature for the repeal of the act. Davis is a democrat with farm labor leanings. He is a dirt farmer and in his campaign last year he declared for the repeal of the Allen act.

UNCOMMON SENSE

By JOHN BLAKE

Seeing the Other Side.

There is a right side and a wrong side to every question.

Often it is very difficult to determine which is which.

It is impossible unless one looks at them both.

In fighting a battle it is important to see the enemy's point of view, as well as to know his objective.

The general who understands what the enemy is fighting for will know better how hard he is likely to fight for it.

The statesman who understands his opponent's point of view, and who can measure his sincerity, is better equipped for a political battle than he could possibly be otherwise.

In the eternal conflict between capital and labor, both sides are prone to see only their own end of the dispute, and to pay no attention to the other.

Now and then, when a disastrous strike threats not only to ruin the particular industry in which it occurs, but to starve and freeze to death the rest of the community, public opinion forces a conference.

Then each party is compelled to look at the other fellows' side of it.

The result is peace, at least temporarily.

Life is a series of encounters of various sorts.

Men do not think alike, or look at things alike.

They are creatures of prejudices, often opinionated and narrow.

And the one thing they dislike to do most is admitting that there is any justice in a cause against which they are arrayed.

Sometimes there isn't, it is true. As between the footpad and his victim, the victim has all the right with him.

But this is an exceptional case.

In racial and religious disputes, a little mutual respect and regard for common rights would go far toward curbing bitterness.

In this world we MUST like with other people.

They have their ideas. We have ours.

Perhaps we can never accept their point of view. But at least we can find out what it is.

And we can easily tolerate it, as we would have them tolerate ours.

Conflict of opinion there always will be.

But if we get in the habit of thinking that even if the other fellow is wrong he may be HONEST about it, we will get along with him better, and abate no whit of the rights for which our fathers fought, and which we so valiantly seek to preserve.

TODAY AND YOU

CANCER.

Today is one of calm benignity. You may be fairly certain of sure but slow success in everything you undertake this day.

A child born today will be beautiful in physique and energetic in mind—curious, inquisitive and affectionate.

You are the master of your fate if today is your birthday—the captain of your soul. For it is written that you shall make your life just what you want it—just that and more.

Whatever you sincerely wish to do you may. But it will always be problematical whether you wish to do anything enough to accomplish it, for you are innately indolent, and by habit indifferent. In fact little interest you and almost nothing excites you.

Of course, you have appetites and desires. You are fond of eating and very probably drinking and you are in constant danger of over indulgence. You are fond of the gay whirl of society and nothing delights you more than entertaining people with your graceful wit, unless it is being entertained by them.

You love the theatre and you have a natural dramatic talent which you are bound to cultivate if only in your own home.

Your natural laziness makes you an exteremely practical person in business. You never indulge in unnecessary action and you have a faculty for perceiving the easiest way to do a thing amounts almost to genius.

You should try to work yourself into a position for solving complex problems, for you are quite capable of inventing new and startling systems. You would make a wonderful efficiency expert if only you would arouse the desire to do so.

There is some danger of ill-health during the coming year, be therefore conservative and neither overwork or overplay.

You are affectionate and jovial and can always find time for pleasure, especially when you know there will be opportunity for flirtations.

Well known people born on this date are: Henry Holden Huss, musician; Henry Guy Carleton, author and playwright;; Daniel C. Beard, artist and author.

SUNSHINE PELLETS

By DR. W. F. Thomson.

Consider the "skeeter"—
Wonderful thing;
But a screen'll defeat'er
Poisonous sting.

A new broom sweeps clean—but the vacuum cleaner.

There's more in the blood than seen by the eye.

Another triangle: He sighed—she sighed—sea side.

From June 'til late in August
We're like the Gypsy free;
We journey to the mountain
From the mountain to the sea

Our chief summer complaint is—where do we go from here?

If you reach 45—in good health—thank your ancestors.

Where flies are rare and the water's good, pitch your camp in the neighborhood.

The "skeeter" hath a mighty wing
The flee, a mighty leg;
And when he jumps from rat to man,
He scatters deadly plague.

The difference between opportunity and a cynic is that opportunity knocks but once.

IRRIGATION

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

How Is Water Held in the Soil?

The amount of water that any particular soil can retain after a rain or an irrigation is dependent upon both its chemical and mechanical condition. A soil that has plenty of humus or vegetable matter in it will retain water better than a soil without humus.

After a rain or an irrigation there are three kinds of moisture or water in the soil—hygroscopic, capillary and gravity.

Hygroscopic water is the water that exists in soils that to all appearances are perfectly dry. It can only be removed by baking in an oven at a high temperature. It is not available for plants. It forms from 1 to 10 per cent of the total soil moisture.

Capillary water is similar to hygroscopic water except that it exists in a thicker film around the soil particles. It also has the power of moving which hygroscopic moisture does not. A familiar example of the movement of capillary water is the spread of water when one end of a cloth is dampened. It is the water that is used most by plants.

Gravity water is really the excess water which exists in the soil after an irrigation or a rain and which escapes by flowing to a lower level. It fills the voids between soil particles and as it flows away leaves behind the valuable capillary water. Gravity water, which fills the voids in the soil is highly injurious to plant growth if it is retained, as plants require air as well as water if they are to grow well.

Therefore the water that is retained normally in the soil is capillary water and it is held there because of the affinity that exists between the soil particles and water.

This is a merry old world. The New York state chamber of commerce adopted a resolution declaring for the modification of the Volstead act. Dry members of the chamber protested. They asserted that they had not been given sufficient notice. Then the resolution was recalled and will be submitted later at a regular meeting of the full membership of the chamber. For a dead issue prohibition is certainly showing signs of life in the empire state of the East.

OUT MAKING HIS NEIGHBORHOOD CALLS

The VANISHING MEN

By Richard Washburn Child

Peter goes to Amerjen and ransacks the house on the Hudson for some clew to the mystery. He finds two volumes of "The Explorations of Father Carlos in the Mescalero Desert." He reads Father Carlos' description of "The Lost Pueblo" and the old missionary's reference to an immense figure of "the serpent with feathers like a bird" on a wall. But from each book following that point had been ripped a number of succeeding pages.

Peter procures another book, in which he finds the missing pages and a map of the region explored by Father Carlos. Next he had an accountant examine the personal books of Parmalee, with a view to finding out especially what an account known as "XD" meant, and then employed a hand-writing expert to determine whether the endorsement on the check made by Brena was written by the same person who wrote the words "this sign" on the slip of paper bearing the Aztec figure. Brena returns to New York and is shocked to learn that Peter has disappeared.

From Colby Pennington she learned that Peter had gone to Texas, and that on the 24th of the month he expected to be in the town of Kremlin Wells. This was a small town in the desert, on the border between Texas and New Mexico.

Within an hour Grena, without even hand baggage, was on the train bearing her on the first stage of her journey to Kremlin Wells. She must be there by the 24th. She had a sense of racing with death.

And she won. At 3 o'clock in the morning of that day she alighted from the train in Kremlin Wells, to peer into the face of a dary-eyed Mexican. She was frightened for a moment, but at the mention of Peter's name the Mexican said "Come" and led the way to a ramshackle hotel. Up the stairs she followed him and watched while he opened the door of a room.

His lantern's circle of light widened as he held it higher until it covered a cot on which a waking sleeper was pushing himself up on one arm and reaching under a pillow with the other hand.

"A lady," the Mexican said, setting down the lantern and departing. The man on the cot sprang up, raised the lantern and gasped.

"Brena!" he exclaimed.

"Yes, Peter. Thank God, Peter, I came in time."

"Time—time for what? I'm all right, dear."

"Yes, Peter; they said you'd had a message—a call. You are the third—I couldn't stand it. It was you—that's different."

"You're tired out."

"No, I'm not; Peter," she said. "I want you to be glad I came."

He dropped the lantern; it went out. He put his arms around her and bent her head close to his shoulder as he patted her hair with the open palm of his hand.

"Glad? Me? Glad? Brena, I can't say it, dear. The cup runs over at the brim!"

"I've been in mortal fear, Peter," she whispered, and shivered in his arms. "I thought I had sent you away to your end—the Thing that took the others."

"No," said he.

"Can you tell, Peter?"

"I can't tell—sure. I can guess. I guess I'm going to fix everything. If not, there's something too big—too ghastly—"

"But if you never came back to me—if anything—" She stopped.

"Why, Peter, I pray for relief from the hideous idea that I had let you start at all."

"Look here," he said, severely, "did you send me that warning—to the steamer?"

She was silent.

"Answer."

"Yes: I thought I must stop you, dear."

For a long time they sat on the edge of his cot without a word. At last, "Peter."

"I'm almost at the point where I scorn Brena," said Peter, after a time. "I've brought a high-powered car here. Two hundred of miles into this hell of a desert! And tomorrow, I go tomorrow."

He struck a match and relit the lantern.

"Tell me, Peter," she said, brushing the red-gold hair back from her forehead.

"I did tell you. I said I had a theory—a theory about where they went—Hemlepin first—and Parmalee. If I am not right, heaven help us! I've not been afraid yet—not in my real self. If I'm right, I'll laugh at myself for toting a gun around. But if I'm wrong now, I'd be afraid. I'm no coward, but I'd writhe with fear!"

Her eyes were full of a troubled expression.

"I can't."

"But you don't tell me, Peter."

"Why not?"

"Because if I was wrong it would always appear to you that I had been the inventor of injustice. Let me test your faith in me, Brena. Give me three days more."

"Yes, but when you ride off into the desert—to danger, maybe—I'm going, too!"

"You can't."

"Yes, I am going with you, Peter!"

"It might be too hideous."

"I am going."

The strange authority with which she sometimes spoke was now in her voice and in her eyes; it was as if she were speaking, not out of herself alone, but were one who voiced a decree of those who had willed an inexorable end.

"Let me show you, then, where we are going," he said. "Let me show you a map. Let me show you now we shall have to steer our way over a trailless waste by compass af if we were at sea! It's a country of terrible distances and heat and thirst. If the car breaks down, they'd never hear of us."

"We'd be out there for years," said Brena. "We'd have our hands—like this—together. But very bony, I suppose. I'd rather—do that, Peter—than—not have—each other—"

He picked her up in his arms. He heard her whispering, "I'm not ill, Peter. I am tired. And I don't have to pretend with you, do I? He felt her warm breath.

He put her down at full length on the cot, and sitting beside her moved his finger-tips across her white forehead, Brena's limp hand, that still rested in sleep upon his bare neck, was warm with the promise of living expectancies.

* * *

They were driving through a country without mercy to living things. After miles of hard pulling through the bare, loose surfaced plain, they found that all vegetation—even the cacti—became sparse, and the emptiness was that o the frontier of death itself.

Peter turned to look at Brena. Her face, illuminated by the moon, was lifted a little; with the hair blown back by the hot wind, her eyes glistened like those of one who rides toward battle in a calm spirit.

She felt, perhaps, his gaze, and turning smiled. She wondered why he had been unwilling to tell her why they went, what he sought, the facts he had found.

"Will you tell me—afterward?" she asked.

"Yes—if I win," he answered. "I will tell you then. Before that, I've no particular right to do it—not till I'm sure. The thing is too tremendous!"

She pulled back the silk sleeves from around her arms that in the pale moonlight were those of an ancient Grecian marble. She folded them, and as they drove on she fixed her dark eyes again upon the north with the same calf, the same suggestion of being the possesor of a spirit as eternal as that of the sea.

When the moon had reached the bottom of the bowl of the sky, DeWolfe stopped the car to fill the radiator.

"We are coming into the most arid land of the world, where no rain falls and there is no dew. It is the country of eternal stillness. There is no life; not even the insects exist here. There is no motion. There is no sound. Listen!"

"I'm glad I'm with you, Peter," she said. "There is a threat here, isn't there?"

He nodded. "We've been 75 miles. To a man on foot without water that would be death—a horrible death, with the sand dragging at the feet—with the heat burning all moisture out of the body, with the silence and the stillness inviting him to madness, and his aching limbs gradually turning his footpath around and around in smaller circles to a center of death."

At the end of a hundred miles dawn began to come in the brilliant colors of silken veils of rainbow diversity shaken out from the east. With startling suddenness the air of the desert became the tint of heliotrope.

The dark sky split into great cracks where jagged peaks of the red glow had climbed and then with a slang the yellow rays of day came over the horizon like long golden spears of a charging host held low above the sands.

Peter allowed the car to come to a stop and shut off the engine.

"Both of us need a rest and water," he said to Brena. "And you need breakfast."

She did not talk to him as he looked over the car, nor when having looked back along the slight cut of a prehistoric torrent bed, now almost to its old banks with drifting sands, he squatted over a map, measuring and consulting a pocket compass. His anxiety was evident.

They went forward again, however, under the full light of day into a trackless waste, where there was not even a depression to guide them and where Brena, holding the compass in her hands, gave directions to him as he moved the wheel. At the end of 20 miles more Brena uttered an exclamation.

"What is that on the desert?" she asked. "Peter, look! There to the left."

A little point of light shone on the sand as if a diamond had caught the sunlight. Peter stopped the car again to pick it up and showed it to Brena. It was an empty vial of white glass.

Peter sprang out of the car, and walking around in widening circles searched the ground. He apeared excited.

Time and time again he looked at the little glass vial.

"Some one has been here," said Brena. "I'm just Irish enough to say that, Peter!"

"Hush," he said. "It's seen more than you have seen. It means everything to us!"

At 9 o'clock they came within sight of a great mound on the desert.

"There it is!" exclaimed DeWolfe. "Look, Brena. And there's the haze on the horizon—the haze that the Jesuit missionaries told about. It comes from the colder air of the Mescalero Ridge!"

"And it means that we have found our way?"

"Yes, found our way! There's 90 miles more."

"To the oldest city, Brena, in America. To a city at the base of a high cliff, built of clay, which crumbled centuries ago into dust. The wall is left perhaps as it was two centuries ago. A dry well. A windless place occupied only by horned toads and perhaps one other misshapen thing."

At 8 o'clock they came within sight of the tableland upon which mountains were set like piles of food upon a giant's doorstep.

And this step up—this mesa—with its precipitous edge, marked the end of the desert.

"The cliffs that rise to that table land are impassable," said Peter, with his eyes alight and his voice filled with excitement. "The city was built below their protection, around a great well and walled in front with thick fortifications. We shall see them, Brena."

POEMS THAT LIVE

TO THE EVENING STAR.

Star that bringest home the bee,
And sett'st the weary labourer free!
If any star shed peace, 'tis thou
That send'st it from above,
Appearing when heaven's breath smooths the brow
Are sweet as hers we love.

Come to the luxuriant skies,
Whilst the landscape's odours rise,
Whilst far-off lowing herds are heard,
And songs when toil is done,
From cottages whose smoke unstirr'd
Curls yellow in the sun.

Star of love's soft interviews,
Parted lovers on thee muse;
Their remembrancer in heaven
Of thrilling vows thou art,
Too delicious to be riven
By absence from the heart.

Tourist Traffic Booms

International News Dispatch

SAN ANTONIO, June 19.—Tourist traffic in Texas has materially increased during the past week and all cities in the state are reporting continued heavy tourist movement, according to the weekly road summary of the San Antonio road information bureau.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A PUZZLE

The Indian, when stricken with ague or gout,
Or whatever sickness he had,
Would order musicians to gather about
And beat on their tom-toms like mad.
The noise took his mind off his aches and his pains
And when for a time he'd endured
A concert of popular Indian refrains,
He found himself thoroughly cured.

This method not only diseases could heal,
But it served to prevent them as well.
There was for the Indian but little appeal
In being laid up for a spell.
The thought of those tom-toms tattooing all night
Afflicted his soul with a chill,
And of symptoms the red man was prone to make light
Unless he was awfully ill.

One Congreve has told us that music has charms
To soothe the uncivilized breast,
But we never suspected the tom-tom's alarms
Such curative powers possessed.
Now we know why he whooped when he fell on the foe
He had tracked for a fornight by stealth;
He did it to waken that glorious glow
Betokening excellent health.

But what puzzles us is the fact that today
Where jazz music flies fast and thick;
Where trombones go "Oompah!" and saxophones bray
That any one ever is sick.
The Indian was healthy, of that we are sure,
No horse could be healthier, BUT
If for what ails humanity noise is a cure,
We all should be sound as a nut!

RISKY VENTURE

In a presidential race there is no consolation prize.

AN ADMIRABLE QUALITY

Mr. Bryan certainly has the courage of his publicity.

TOO LATE

The Sioux Indians want the United States to give them $750,000,000. But the government gave the last $750,000,000 it had to Libera and other little nations during the war.

Wichitan Honored With Many Social Affairs at Paris

Mrs. Frank Ramsey of 2015 Eighth street is the guest of friends in Paris, Texas, and, according to the social columns of the morning paper at that place, she is furnishing inspiration for many delightful social affairs. A clipping of a party given Tuesday afternoon reads as follows:

Honoring Mrs. F. W. Ramsey of Wichita Falls, formerly of Paris, Mrs. John Hamilton entertained with several tables of forty-two on Tuesday afternoon, and high score was won by Mrs. J. H. Wilson.

Mrs. D. S. Hood of Dallas was an out-of-town guest.

After the much enjoyed games with old friends and neighbors of Mrs. Ramsey, the hostess served delicious cream and angel food cake.

CLOSUIT-HENSLEY NUPTIALS SOLEMNIZED.

The marriage of Miss Lillian Closuit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Closuit, 2011 Lucile, to Harvey H. Hensley, taking place at the home of Mrs. B. D. McMillin on Thirteenth street at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, is announced. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few intimate friends, and the young people left for a short wedding trip.

The bride is a popular young woman with a charming personality, while the groom is one of Wichita Fall's most promising young men, connected with the McCarty Oil company.

MRS. MONTGOMERY HOSTESS TO CIRCLE.

Mrs. C. B. Montgomery was hostess to Circle No. 2 of the First Methodist Church, South, Home Missionary society at her home Monday afternoon when an interesting memorial service for Miss Bell Bennett was held with Mrs. Harrison, chairman of the program.

Mrs Guy Rogers led the devotionals taken from Isaiah's "Vision," and Mrs. J. B. Stokes led in prayer. Mrs. Shappell talked on "Obedience to the Vision," and Mrs. Presson talked on the "Scarritt Bible School." Mrs. Clyde Foster talked on "Distinguishing Points of Isaiah's Character," and Mrs. J. T. Harrell talked on "How to Raise the Memorial Pledge."

During the business session, 25 members answered to roll call; 94 visits to the sick and strangers were reported; and $48 collected on the pledge.

Refreshments of ice cream and angel food cake were served during the social hour to Mesdames Stayton, Guy Rogers, J. B. Stokes, Shappell, W. H. Downing, J. D. Bright, Bert Bean, Sherrill, O. B. Womack, Harrison, Dulaney, Cooper, Presson, Hanks, Barnhill, W. C. Cole, J. T. Harrell, Bowman, Richardson, Clyde Foster, C. W. Snider, Kilgore, Drummond and Lipscomb.

"BUNCH" PARTY AT FISK HOME

Complimenting Miss Glenore Fisk, who has just returned from school at Southern Methodist university, Miss Josephine Fisk entertained "The Bunch" Tuesday evening at the Fisk home on Lucille street.

The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing, and later the group congregated on the porches with guitars for a "sing."

During the evening fruit punch and lady fingers were served by little Misses Jean and Lois Fisk to Misses Bulah Gardner, Louise Deaton, Faye Cameron, Louise Campbell of Burkburnett, Katy Simmons, Glenore Fisk and Josephine Fisk and Messrs. Steve West, John Tyson, Ben Howle, James Calvert Jr., Gerald Vinson, Drummond Harris, Philip Pink and Will McClure.

Today's Poem

BAYOU SONG.

Some sing of limpid hillside streams
That dashing downward clash in spray—
I sing of one that ever dreams
And loiters through the long sweet day.

I sing of one whose waters brown
Murmur a sleep song, sweet and thin,
Where hoary cypress rears his crown
And draws his knees beneath his chin.

Old whiskered cypress huge and stern,
So crabbed that his knuckles tie
In every spot of freakish turn
So boats can hardly pass him by.

Between low banks thick walled with green,
To the soft whispers of the pine,
Vain cottonwoods look down and preen
Themselves in mirrors dark and fine.

The thorny holly strings its beads
Like waxen rubies, and with fire
Hibiscus glows beneath the sweet
And bee-sought honeysuckle spire,
With waters spreading life and bloom,
And garlanded with swimming light,
Through the still dusk of woodland gloom,
The bayou takes its quiet flight.

DULL HEADACHE AND BILIOUSNESS

Thedford's Black Draught Has Been Used In This Virginia Lady's Home For More Than 30 Years

BEASLEY, Va.—Mrs. Jeanette S. Carneal says that she has kept Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine in her home, here, for more than 30 years, and has given it to members of her family when they needed it. Of her own use of Black-Draught, Mrs. Carneal says:

"I have suffered from constipation. I get in such bad condition sometimes that I do not know what to do. My head aches with a dull kind of an ache, and I get bilious. I have found Black-Draught to be the best relief for this I have ever tried. We have come to depend on it in our family as a family friend.

"Black-Draught is very convenient to take. I take a half spoonful in water as long as I need it and it is the finest regulator for the bowels. I got stopped up and had a full, swollen feeling through my stomach, sometimes I would even faint, they would be so bad.

"Now, when I feel myself getting the least bit constipated, I immediately begin the use of Black-Draught. I have given it to my children and my grandchildren. Everybody here takes it. Sometimes my granddaughter eats too much, and this is followed by sour stomach—she runs at once for Black-Draught. I am glad to recommend it."

Stunning Wrap Is Fur Trimmed

In casting a critical eye over the coats and hats of the present season it is somewhat difficult to tell where the late winter and early spring styles leave off and the summer and fall one begin. So many spring coats are made of practically the same materials as the winter ones without the interlinings, of course.

Furs are almost as much in evidence as they were last winter. Hats of silk and even velvet, or at least velvet trimmed, are so popular that only the warm rays of the sun convince one that summer has really come.

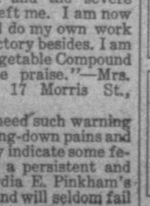
The coat pictured here is an advanced fall model but wouldn't it be a stunning wrap in which to motor on cool evenings. The material is called Klo Ka Mosaic and is too heavy to wear over light summer dresses. While it preserves the correct straight line effect the big, loose sleeves give it a delightful wrappy effect. It has a collar and cuffs of opossum fur, and is fastened at the extreme left (which is also eminently proper this season) with a single large button.

One very practical feature of the new coat is the "kicker," a band of dark lining about a foot wide, to protect the light lining from the heels of the wearer.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:



"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 48, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

Attractive Affair Honors Mrs. Clyde Foster, Wednesday

Fragrant and colorful spring flowers, including nasturtiums, sweet peas, roses, carnations and daisies, formed an attractive setting for the lovely party given by Mrs. J. Truman Stevens and Mrs. F. A. Farmer Wednesday afternoon complimenting Mrs. Clyde Foster, who is moving soon to Corsicana, at the home of Mrs. Stevens on Lucile street.

An informal program featured the diversion for the afternoon in which Floyd Ard gave two piano numbers, Alma Ruth Walker, two readings; Mrs. George Thorburn, a vocal number and Miss Pearl Smith two readings.

A feature of the afternoon also was the presentation of a lovely miscellaneous shower to the one who drew the lucky number, who proved to be the honoree.

Punch was served throughout the afternoon with little Miss Alma Ruth Walker presiding at the punch bowl.

A dainty color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the decorations, also in the refreshment course with daisies as plate favors.

Besides Mrs. Foster those present included Mesdames F. O. Harrell, D. C. Lyon, Bert Adrian, C. M. Simpson, Wayne Somerville, J. A. Harrison, A. R. Watland, Hugh Weaver, A. C. Dulaney, A. C. Walker, Shelby Drake, Guy Rogers, Elbert Hanks, D. J. Carithers, George Thorburn, Misses Pearl Smith, Alma Ruth Walker and Floyd Ard.

TWO CHARGED IN FIRING AT PRIESTS

Associated Press Dispatch

POCAHONTAS, Ark., June 20.—Burton Knott was being held in jail here today pending arrangement of $500 bail and Henry Daniels, 19, was at liberty under bond as an aftermath of a disturbance which interrupted a church conference at Enbleberg, near here, Monday night and was followed by the firing of a charge from a shotgun into the home of Father Hearinger, Catholic priest at Engleberg, and the wounding of five persons, including Father Hearing and three visiting priests.

It was stated at the sheriff's office here today that an investigation indicated that the shooting was due to an escapade in which several youths are believed to have been involved and that it was not due to any premeditated attempt to kill.

Your Heart and Home Problems Solved By Elizabeth Thompsun

Dear Mrs. Thompsun: I am a man in my twenties and have been married once by my wife is dead and there is a woman that I truly love and she truly loves me, though she has a husband, but they are separated. I have talked to her and tried in every way to get her to go back to him, but she says she will not and the reason they separated was because he is so jealous of her and mistreats her and she says there is no pleasure in a home like that.

I like her husband, too, and I love her well enough to treat her right. She said she never did love her husband. She has two children and I have two. What would you advise me to do.

SMILING FACE,
Iowa Park, Texas.

I could never advise a marriage of that kind. I can't see how it could possibly be happy. The woman should by all means go back to her husband. If she behaves as she should, her husband would have no cause to be jealous nor to mistreat her. She should not have to be talked to by any one outside of her family to see her duty. She is depriving her children of their father, which in itself is deplorable. She should sacrifice, now that she has children, for their sake. And as she has decided that she no longer loves her husband, she would probably decide that way again concerning the next man she married, and so on down the line. It is not good to mix up families. It is enough that you have children when it comes to marrying a second time. Do not marry a woman with children also.

Dear Mrs. Thompsun: I am engaged to a young man. He is always asking me to go with him to his home to meet his folks. I believe that his mother should come to see me before I go to his home to see her. Please advise me. PUZZLED.

Your fiance's mother ought to call on you before you go to her home. If she invited you herself, however, it would be all right for you to wave the face that she has not called, and go. Tell your fiance that you want his mother to invite you herself, or come to see you.

And You Depend On Your Luck

Spudders Lose Lead By Dropping to Crabs

FOUR HURLERS KNOCKED HARD IN SLOW CONTEST FILLED WITH MANY ERRORS AND WILD SLAMS

Cotter Gets Tenth Homer of Season With Clout Over Right Field Wall; Spudders Overcome Big Lead in Seventh But Lose.

GALVESTON, JUNE 20.—The Spudders lost a flat-sided contest here Wednesday afternoon and also the Texas loop leadership when the Crabs played less rotten ball in nine slow innings for a 13 to 11 win. The game was featured by errors galore, and so many base hits that the Spudders got across a few runs while the Crabs were recuperating from their exertion on the bases. Pat Newman's crew took the lead in every department, even beating the Spudders in error-making, with five bad blunders to count against the three made by the Spuds.

A quartet of hurlers was used in the fray, two working for each club, and each with about the same results. Galveston ran wild over Meine and Carlson for 18 base hits, while the Salms were pounding Connally and Deviney for half that number, counting their eleven runs on nine bingles.

Hook Cotter got his tenth home run of the season when he gave the pill a ride over the right field wall with Tanner on base, and galloped across the rubber with the league leadership in clouting again in his possession. Ostergard duplicated the feat with one over the left field wall.

The Sand Crabs got to Meine in the first, and the entire crew went to bat, while four scores were marked up for the home club. Bittle walked, and after Wisterzil flied to Bescher, went to third on Ostergard's single to right. Brown popped a single back of first, scoring Bittle and sending Ostergard to third, from where he scored on Munson's single to second, Brown being held at second. Kearns loaded the bases with a hot one through Tanner, and Distel scored Brown and Munson through second, Kearns taking third and Distel second on the throw to the plate. Meine tagged Kearns between third and home, and the inning ended with Connally out to Weiss.

Scare in Second.

In the second the Spudders got started, but not quite fast enough, for as they piled up runs the Crabs kept enough ahead to be safe. After Cotter went out to Kearns, Grigsby walked, going to second on Weiss' single the next second. The bases were filled when Berger walked, and Grigsby and Weiss were walked across the rubber when Bischoff and Meine watched four balls go by. Connally was unable to keep even a slow ball down the path, and Deviney relieved him, only to get in as bad a fix in the next frame, when two more runs were added to the Spudder count.

Tanner singled through short, but was forced at second by Cotter. Cotter romped across the plate when Grigsby sent a fast one to center for a double. Weiss tripled to left, scoring Grigsby, and ruined the Spudders' chances when he was out at the plate trying to stretch it to a home run. Berger fanned.

Crabs Count Four.

While the Spudders were counting the four scores in two innings, the Crabs turned the same trick, counting one in the second and three in the third, with a series of base bingles that, mixed with errors by the Spudders, gave them easy counts.

In the fifth two more crossed for Pat Newman, and the Spudders took a back seat. However, in the seventh they got started on Deviney, and rattled his offerings to four corners of the big lot, tallying six runs in the stanza.

Spuds Cross Rubber.

Wisterzil helped things get started when he juggled Tanner's grounder long enough for Tanner to get to the initial sack. Cotter sent Tanner in ahead of him with a homer over the right field fence, and Grigsby walked. Weiss struck out, and Wisterzil again presented the Spuds with a chance by throwing too high at first and letting Berger get on, while Grigsby took second. Bischoff beat out a slow one toward short, loading the bags, and Carlson, batting for Meine, forced Grigsby across when he was hit by a pitched ball. Bescher forced Carlson to second, Berger scoring and Bischoff taking third. The bases were again filled when Coombs walked, and Bischoff and Bescher scored when Distel kicked Tanner's grounder. Cotter went out at first, stonning the rampage with the Salms only one run behind.

But if the Spudders had any hopes of winning they were nipped when the Crabs sent another across in the eighth frame. Singles by Wisterzil and Ostergard, followed by a double by Brown, sent Wisterzil across the rubber, giving the Crabs their last counter in the two-run margin.

Keeping Pace In The Chess Match

Or a Wee Bit Ahead

Houston In Cold Storage Quanah at Bat

Quanah—Knight Takes Pawn. Wichita—Bishop to King 4.

This game is rapidly developing into an "end game." For the chess fan this is enough said; for the uninitiated a word of explanation might be in order.

An end game is so named because that is the best name for it, according to the best authorities. It is the end of everything beautiful in maneuvering and dissolves itself into a slaughter house instead of the majestic advance of two miniature armies, matching their forces against each other; advancing, retreating, sidestepping, and again advancing, until the far side of the board is reached, the king hemmed in, cornered and mated. An end game means the slaughter and annihilation of all the fighting men, one by one, until only pawns are left and then a mad scramble to race the pawns across the field in a wild attempt to get a lucky pawn into the king row before the other side can do the same, and by exchanging the pawn for a fighting piece, eventually with the king and one fighting piece, corner the other king if a "stale-mate" doesn't bob up on the horizon somewhere. An end game is a long drawn out, uninteresting affair as a rule and not to be compared with a board full of fighting men strategically placed matching strength against strength and giving the chess expert something to puzzle over when he looks at the board and tries to figure out which side has the advantage in position. Swapping a queen for a queen, a bishop for a bishop, a knight for a knight, etc., etc., can be eliminated and time saved by leaving the fighting pieces in the box in the first place and playing a "pawn game."

Swapping fighting pieces in a chess game until they are all eliminated is about as exciting as popping clay pipes in a shooting gallery, or playing Simon says thumbs up.

Million-Dollar Loss in Flood at Fremont, Neb.

FREMONT, Neb., June 20.—The receding waters of the Platte and Loup rivers today revealed thousands of acres of ruined crops, hundreds of dead livestock and jumbled debris of farm buildings. A fine sediment of silt was left in the towns of Fullerton, Bruel, Bristow and Lynch, Neb., where water reached a height of three feet.

The total damage in the vicinity of Fremont is placed at $1,000,000, which is considered a conservative estimate.

ST. LOUIS WINS ROTARY GOLF MATCH

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Local players carried off the honors in the Rotary International golf tournament, which was held over the Glen Echo Country club course here this evening. Jack Hurd and Eddie Lassar won the team event with a total score of 165, and Hurd won the individual trophy for the lowest medal score with a card of 74.

SARAZEN CORRECTS FAULTS

Mashie Shot Must Be Made Firmly

In this photograph, America's open champion shows the correct stance for making the mashie-iron shot. In his story Sarazen tells the things to avoid in making this stroke. Genial Gene writes exclusive for The Record News.

By GENE SARAZEN.
World's Champion Golfer.

In any round of golf you will always find a number of shots that are between a mid-iron and a mashie. Many players use a jigger for such shots, but generally I favor the mashie-iron, one of the most useful clubs you can have in your bag.

This is the club that Walter Hagen made famous and is the kind of iron he plays best. The mashie iron has a wider blade than the ordinary mashie, although there is not any more loft in the face, if as much. The shot with this club is similar to a mid-iron except it is much firmer.

The blade of the club is wider and lofted more than a midiron so that the ball will be carried higher in the air and will not run so much when it comes down.

Firmness throughout the stroke is the keynote of this shot, and this firmness begins right with the stance. As I have said before, as you approach the green, you stand closer to the ball in playing the shot.

You will notice in the accompanying picture that I am fairly well over the ball, although not quite as much as I would be in addressing a mashie or mashie-niblick shot. The distance between my feet is not quite two feet, about 22 inches. The right foot also is about 22 inches from the ball, and the left foot about 24 inches.

When playing this shot remember to keep the hands well down, mine are far below the waist line and close to the body. The arms, particularly the left one, should be in practically a straight line and nearer the perpendicular than they were with the wood.

In addressing the ball with the mashie-iron it is well to have the heel of the club on the turf, with the toe slightly raised so that the club will get under the ball better.

When addressing the ball and throughout the stroke, the player should keep a firm grip on the club. Notice also that my head or chin is at a slight angle to the ball. This enables me to keep the head in fixed position during the backswing and to keep the stroke firm.

You will note there is a slight bend to the knees, but don't stand in a slack position on the address and also don't stand too rigidly so that your position is unnatural.

Spuds Due Back Saturday For Three Weeks Stay On Home Lot

The Spudders are coming home!

They are going to play here Saturday, when the Beaumont Exporters invade the Salm camp for three games, and will stay at home for ten days before biking to Fort Worth for a one-day melee with the Cats on the Fourth of July. Then back home for another long stay.

They will complete their road trip by playing the Galveston Sand Crabs at Galveston Friday. Topping the loop and with a long stay on home grounds, with a long stay on the home grounds, they will have every chance in the world to get a good march on the Cats and any other contenders for the top, by snatching a few wins from the invaders.

The road trip which gave them the first position, was one of the most successful they have ever made, either this year or last, as they left the home lot in second place, changing positions several days before the end of the circuit.

They have not met the Aizmen on the trip, but will have a chance to beat them when they play at Fort Worth on the fourth, and again the next day, when the Cats invade Spuddердom for the second game. While at home they will meet Beaumont, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, Shreveport and Fort Worth, missing Dallas. With the exception of the one day at Fort Worth, they will be in their own camp for 19 days, playing every club in the loop with the exception of the Steers.

Conventional Three-Ups Exception At Fast Birmingham Toruney

ROEBUCK COUNTRY CLUB, Birmingham, Ala., June 20.—Thrill producing golf predominated today in the first match play of the 21st annual championship tournament of the Southern Golf association being played over the Roebuck course. The conventional three-up and two-to-go scores were the exceptions; there was fight in every shot and the contestants apparently liked the extra holl game better. There was only one crushing defeat, that administered by Glenn Crisman, the Selma Boy, who put out J. Perry Greene, of Atlanta 9 and 7.

Four of the 16 matches were carried beyond the home green, but it remained for Sax D. Crawford of Birmingham and Chick Ridley of Atlanta, who were among the last to finish the day's round, to set up one of the longest extra hole matches ever played in a Southern amateur meet.

Crawford set a heart-breaking pace for the Atlanta op the first nine holes, turning 3 up after scoring a difficult par 37. Ridley kept pegging away despite this stiff opposition and picked up two holes on ten and eleven then held Crawford to the margin of one down until the home green, where he evened the match.

Starting the extra holes Crawford remained steady, playing his shots dead to the pin and most of the time on the inside on the green, but Ridley used his chip shot effectively and played long puts accurately. They went through the first three extra holes in par figures, and it was only when Ridley's fourth shot stopped on the lip of the crp on on number 4 and Crawford sank his three that the match was over.

Crawford's totals: for the 22 holes was 92, 4 strokes over even 4s.

RICKARD THREATENS LAW ON LEONARD'S FIGHT WITH TENDLER

International News Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 20.—Promoter Tex Rickard threatened the law on the crowned head of Benny Leonard, lightweight champion today.

Rickard promised suits against Billy Gibson, Lenorad's manager; Charley White, Chicago mitt artist, and any and all persons who interferred with a meeting of the two punchers.

At the same time the Cromwell Athletic club of New York, lease holders for fights at the Yankee stadium, announced the signing of Leonard and Lew Tendler, Philadelphian, to meet in a 15-round decision go to be staged July 23.

"But they can't fight—Leonard has to fight White first," Rickard answers. Rickard had Leonard and White signed to meet October 3, last, in Jersey. Leonard's jaw became infected. A postponement resulted. "I'll go to court, that contract is still good," Rickard insists.

"I met Willard—I know," says Johnson.

Spudders Get Stueland, Right Handed Cub Hurler, Under Option; Will Report to Locals Saturday

George St ueland, of the Chicago Cubs, was released last night and will report to the Spudders at once to take his place on Salm's hurling staff, where he is badly needed. Stueland will come to the local club under option, and will probably report here for the opening of the home series Saturday.

Stueland is a right-hander who was picked up by the Cubs two years ago, and has ben working in bad luck in the big loop, but is among the best of the young recruits in spite of his hard luck.

He has worked in several games, losing by errors and poor support, but his hurling has been up to par. His lack of experience causes his failure to stick.

He will be of decided value to the Spudders at present when the regular hurlers are not showing up in true form, and will probably take a regular turn in the box as soon as he reports here. Salm has been in need of a good right-hander all season and has been maneuvering for the young Cub pitcher for some time.

ELI AND CRIMSON READY FOR REGATTA

International News Dispatch

REDTOP, Conn., June 20.—Long distance work was discontinued by both Yale and Harvard crews today. Both 'varsity eights are now in excellent condition for Friday's regatta. Light practices only were indulged in.

Final hard practice was engaged in last night by both the blue and crimson crews. Harvard's 'varsity eight, rowing upstream, with a light tide and wind, made four miles in 22 minutes and 12 seconds, unofficial. Yale, heading townstream, made the same distance in about 20 minutes.

HURLERS DUEL GOES TO FOX

Five Runs in Third Enough to Give Methodists Victory

The Floral Heights Methodists yesterday took the Nafziger Bakery club into camp in a fast seven-inning melee winning 8 to 5. Fox, hurling for the winners, and E. Carpenter, for Nafziger, each allowed seven hits in the fray, but the Methodists got the best of the hitting, crossing the plate in the third for five runs that gave them a lead which was kept throughout the game.

Every man with the exception of McClure and Fox, on the Methodist club, scored. Score:

Wheezes From The Press Coop

Someone said a long time ago that all goes up must come down, but that does not mean that it can't go up again. The Spudders dropped into second place yesterday, but it won't take them long to get back on top when they get started at home!

* * *

Yesterday's melee was a contest of slow playing with the Spuds and the Crabs trying to make the most errors, but the Crabs won with five blunders to their discredit. The game was filled with wild hitting, which, aided by bad fielding, brought the total runs high.

* * *

Hook Cotter, pounded out his tenth home run of the season and again took the lead in fence clouting. His smash yesterday cleared the right field wall by several inches.

* * *

Meine and Carlson played in ill luck and the Crabs pounded everything they had to offer to the four corners of the lot, getting 18 safe hits in the nine stanzas, and counting 13 runs. They got started in the first inning, and kept it up, crossing the plate with monotonous regularity throughout the game.

* * *

The Spudders had one good inning, when they counted six runs in the seventh. Errors by the Crabs helped greatly, and with a few singles the Salmites overcame the Galveston lead, only to lose it in the same inning, when the Crabs crossed twice.

* * *

Connally got in bad in the second inning when he walked Grigsby and Weiss across the plate. Downey took up the work for the Sand Crabs, with little improvement.

* * *

The Spudders got a new hurler last night when the Chicago Cubs released George Stueland to work with the local pitching staff. He is good and can be used at present, being just the man Skipper Salsa has been needing all season. A right-hander on the staff will round it out and Stueland is good enough. He will report Saturday and will probably take his place regularly in the home series next week.

Two more games face the Spudders before they come back to the home camp Saturday. Following the completion of the Galveston series, the Salmites will meet Beaumont here for three games, opening a three week's stay on the home lot. The play at home will be broken on the fourth of July when the Spuds go to Fort Worth to meet the Cats. They return the next day to play the Cats here. During the stay they will get a chance at every team in the league with the exception of the Dallas Steers.

Waurika

NEWS AND PERSONALS

WAURIKA, June 20. — Complimentary to her sister, Mrs. Charles Stuard of El Dorado, Kan., and to her cousin, Miss Margaret Easter of Sentinel, Okla., Mrs. Miles Murphy entertained a few of the maids and younger matrons of the town Tuesday evening, when she gave a "42" party.

The house decorations were roses, vases and baskets of them placed effectively in various parts of the house.

In the games Mrs. Donald Stuart proved herself either the luckiest or most skillful and was remembered with a compact vanity, while Miss Grace Dunkin, who was unfortunate enough to have the lowest score, was remembered with a box of powder. The guests were given a string of beads and a compact vanity as guest prizes.

After the games were over the hostess served a lovely collation to Mesdames J. S. Cole, Fred Pittman, O. O. Teeters, C. A. Holding, Fred Koeniger, E. B. Ellis, Murray Huntley, Donald Stuard, Robert Dunn, John Brown and Misses Edwina Alexander, Beth Johnston and Grace Dunkin.

Russel Jones of Wichita Falls spent Monday night in Waurika the guest of his sister, Mrs. C. A. Martin, and Mr. Martin and Miss Hazel Jones.

"Dutch" in Dutch Is Due for Ride

DUTCH RUETHER

According to reports around the National league, Owner Ebbetts of the Brooklyn Dodgers wants to sell or trade Dutch Ruether, southpaw heaver. Ruether is disgruntled and as a result hasn't been of much use to the Dodgers of late, 'tis said. Ebbetts and Manager Robbie would like to trade him for an infielder. Ruether's departure would still leave one "Dutch," young Frank Henry, on the Dodger hurling staff.

R. A. KING WINS TITLE OF TRAPS

Makes Score of 88 Out of 50 Pair in Shoot at Amarillo

AMARILLO, Texas, June 20.—R. A. King of Wichita Falls today became the champion all-round trapshooter of Texas when he won the state doubles championship in the closing event of the annual state shoot. His score was 88 out of 50 pair. Will Lambert of Guthrie, Okla., made high score, with 92, but not being a resident of the state, was ineligible for the honor.

Grover Spencer of Denison led the professionals in today's event with a score of 83.

A. R. Cooke of Wellington made the high average on singles for the three-day shoot, piling up a count of 392 out of a possible 400 targets. He also made the highest straight run of the program, that of 157 unfinished targets this afternoon.

Curing Your Golf Troubles

By Jim Barnes

Dear Sir:

Can you tell me how to get line drives on my tee shots? I constantly hit the ball high up in the air, so don't get the distance that I ought to. As a rule I manage to hit it cleanly, but occasionally I dig in behind it a little too soon. I have tried using very low tees, but this doesn't seem to make much difference? Any help that you can give me will be gratefully received.

J. L. K.

Answer:

Probably your trouble is due to getting the weight back on your right foot too much, and keeping it there as the clubhead reaches the ball. This may be due to swaying back toward the right rather than turning the body or provoting enough. To be sure that you are pivoting make your left hand do most of the work in starting the club back. This will cause your left shoulder to turn around toward the right, and your left knee to bend in somewhat.

Then at the top of the backswing be sure that you keep enough pressure on the ball of the left foot to give you a sense of good balance of the weight. In other words don't sway to the right in taking the club up so that practically all of the weight is on the right foot at the top.

Then on the downswing hit on through and out along the path of the ball, and don't try to scoop the ball off the ground. If you hit through properly the loft of the clubface will take care of the ball without any effort on your part to get it up.

Also, if you are using an upright swing, you might try swinging more flatly. That is take the club more back and around the body rather than lift the hands too high. When you sig in behind the ball as you mention, you are no doubt dropping the right shoulder, or maybe ducking the right knee.

The latter is noticeable in players who are constantly making a conscious effort to lift the ball up.

(Jim Barnes will suggest a remedy for your golf faults. Write him, care of the sport editor, enclosing stamped envelope, if you want a personal reply.)

CARTER TEST TO HOLD UP

Well Begins Flowing by Heads, Indicating an Excellent Showing

Flowing intermittently by heads at the rate of 40 barrels with each flow several times daily, the Roy I. Carter test, block 53, Wichita valley lands, Archer county, Wednesday was pronounced by leading oil men of Wichita Falls, who had visited the test, as a strike that had already made good and would hold up.

The Carter well has been in the limelight the past ten days, and the fact that it began flowing by heads Tuesday indicates an excellent well. Interest in acreage is gaining in the neighborhood near the new producer, and two new tests in the vicinity of the well are to be started right away and others are pending. Holbrook & Woods will put down one of the tests.

LANNING & MONNINGER ANNOUNCE NEW LOCATION.

Lanning & Monninger announce the third location within the past few days, the new test to be located on the Lyles farm, Wade survey, near Dundee, in Archer county. The company also begins a test for Jeffreys & Hardesty on a wildcat between Archer City and Windthorst, which is to open up a new area.

The third new test or Lanning & Monninger will be on the Sides farm in the Burkburnett area.

FINDLEY & MINNOCK TO BEGIN TEST.

Findley & Minnock will begin a test soon on a location recently made on the McCall and Sanders farm, Denton county school land survey in Archer county.

STALEY & WYNNE TO BEGIN TEST.

Staley & Wynne are to begin their No. 3 well on the Kemp-Kempner tract, a location having been made on the Chancellor survey in Archer county.

TAYLOR BROS. TO BEGIN NO. 1 TEST.

Taylor Brothers will this week begin their No. 1 test on the L. C. Herron farm in Archer county on a location made in W. Shavin survey.

ANOTHER TEST FOR TAYLOR FARM.

Another new test will go down on the Taylor farm in Archer county, A. T. Silby to begin drilling a well here at once.

Second Peter Oils Well Makes 60 At Depth of 1,058 Ft.

By RALPH SHUFFLER.

OLNEY, Texas, June 20.—The second well of Peter Oils, Inc., on the Kemp lease five miles southwest of Olney is on the pump and making better than 60 barrels per day, which, considering the depth, 1058, and the high gravity crude it is producing (testing 39.8) is considered by the operators as one of the most promising developments in either Young or Archer counties during the year.

Fifteen days drilling with a Star machine and only 17 days from date of Spuding in until oil is going into storage. These wells can be drilled with a Star for not more than $3,000. At 50 barrels each and even at present prices, they will pay out in 30 days. Every indication is they will be of long life, for other shallow production in this territory has so proven. Take the old Miller field east of town for instance: The original discovery well out there which was brought in in 1912 is still pumping its ten barrels daily—as much as it ever produced. Also in Electra, the shallow production has held up over a like period.

In the Swastika area there are 4 new wells preparing to set casing in cement on the sand. They are Swastika Syndicate's Nos. 3-A and 5-A, Walling and Clark's No. 2 and American Refining company No. 2. All of these wells found the pay at the expected depth, and cores taken indicate that they will be average producers for the field. Swastika's No. 3-A cored nine feet into an unbroken sand, and promises to equal if not surpass their No. 2-A, which so far is the banner producer of the field, making better than 400 barrels daily.

First Electra Wheat

Special Dispatch to Record News

ELECTRA, June 20.—Frank Weddle, living nine miles north of Electra, brought the first wheat into town. The yield is only about eight bushels to the acre. However, the quality is good, testing out better than 59 pounds to a bushel. Weddle received $1 a bushel for two loads.

Trammel Test Encounters Sand At 925 Feet

Special Dispatch to Record News

ARCHER CITY, Texas, June 20.—Great interest is being manifested here over the showing in the Trammel Oil company's test on the W. L. Andrews land, J. C. Turley survey, six miles south of Archer City. Sand was encountered at 925 feet, and has been penetrated four and a half feet. Operators who have visited the test are of the opinion the well will be good for 25 barrels when drilled in.

Staniforth & Maer have let 50-50 contract to William Hawkins for drilling test on north 20 acres of lot 4, block 93, Carter lands.

The Dalmar Oil company's Crawford & Plowman No. 5 H. Corzine survey has drilled 26 inches into the sand encountered at 1,018 feet. Bailing out has started, and the well will be on the pump by Thursday. It is rated as 20-barrel producer.

Sunshine No. 3 Hits Sand For 400 Bbls. Daily

The Sunshine's No. 3 Parrish in Archer county came in yesterday for an estimated daily production of 400 barrels, according to reports received by officers in Wichita Falls, who say the well made 250 barrels in the first two hours.

The same company's No. 2 Parrish is drilling at 1,479 feet; No. 4 Parrish is drilling at 200 feet, and No. 5 Parrish is rigging up.

SEEKS FUGITIVE BROTHER

Lloyd Johnson, Minneapolis ad Man.

LOS ANGELES, June 00.—Lloyd Johnson has turned his back on civilization. He 'phoned Sheriff Barnett of Madera, California, that he will penetrate the recesses of the Sierra Nevada mountains to search for his only relative who is charged with murder.

Bruce Manners, Johnson's half brother, shot and killed Clois Bolton U. S. mail carrier, May 8 according to police.

He eluded federal sleuths and deputy sheriffs of Grand Forks, California, and dashed into the silent mountains where he is believed to be sheltered by friendly Indians. Manners was a prospector in the mountains for a number of years.

Johnson says he will appeal to his fugitive brother to return to civilization and face the charge. Johnson rushed from Minneapolis, Minn., where he is prominent in advertising circles, and announced that he would spend his life trying to bring his only relative, Manners, back to civilization and will then help him face the courts.

According to police Manners shot Bolton when, the latter obstructed his passage in a doorway.

MANGUM APPOINTED RECEIVER OF BANK

Special Dispatch to Record News

HENRIETTA, June 20.—The Merchants & Planters bank, which has been closed since last Sunday morning, has gone into receivership, W. J. Mangum, local business man, having been appointed at the instance of the county commisioners court. Mangum made bond and took charge at once.

The county had $65,000 on deposit in the Merchants & Planters bank, and County Attorney Vincent Stine has been instructed to bring suit against the county treasurer and his bondsmen for the recovery of same.

Burkburnett
NEWS AND PERSONALS

BURKBURNETT, June 20.—On Friday evening about two hundred Lions, Lionesses, Whelps and invited friends met at the Y. M. C. A. grounds and went in a body to the Magnolia Pump Station park on the Prescott farm and enjoyed a delightful picnic evening under the bright lights of the pretty grounds.

A delicious barbecue supper was prepared and served by Mr. Kane Burkburnett's noted caterer, assisted by local Lions. Following the feast, a few hours were spent in swimming for the young whelps, garden games and social exchange for the grownups and young people.

The occasion was one of enjoyment throughout the hours, and all honor is due the club committe in charge of the management of evening entertainment.

Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Reeves returned from Tennessee where they visited relatives for two weeks.

A. G. Dunn was in Devol Monday in charge of the funeral of the late Charles M. Hammond, whose death occurred at Lockney, Texas, last Saturday. The deceased was 53 years of age. The burial was conducted with Masonic honors.

R. L. McKinney, of Dallas, who organized the Lions club in Burkburnett, was a special guest at the Lions picnic at the Magnolia park Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hale, Mrs. Rutledge and son, Jack Rutledge, and Leonard Warn enjoyed a jolly week-end outing at Temple, Okla., and fishing on Cache creek.

Jasper Stevenson spent a short while with his relatives, H. E. Warn and family recently en route from Mineral Wells to St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. W. O. Utts returned Saturday from a week's visit among relatives in Collinsville, Texas.

Mr. S. S. Denham, formerly of this city, but now of Electra, left this week with Mrs. G. L. Hill and family for an overland trip to Colorado where she will meet her sister for a summer outing.

Among the many week-end parties composed of Burkburnett citizens in Medicine Park, Okla., none report a more delightful outing than the following: Misses Winnie Waldrop, Louise Campbell, Eliza Biskley, Eunice Jordan, Billie Rivers, Ercy Cannon and Lottie Saunders; Frank Stevens, Herbert Saunders, Clarence Mitchell, Ben Knauth, Doc Jordan, Milton Gleeson and Jim Cato; chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Campbell. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Robinson of the Tydal Western community.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton and Mr. and Mrs. E. Wyatt spent the week-end outing in Medicine Park, returning home Sunday night.

Mrs. S. J. Mills is spending a while in Wichita Falls attending her daughter who is a patient from appendicitis in the hospital of that city.

Tom Pruitt, A. R. Thomas, F. U. McCutchen, E. B. Grenzell, W. F. Billings spent the Saturday night and Sunday in Medicine Park.

Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Rockett will return this week from Jayton, Texas, where he has been holding a revival service. The regular morning worship will be held next Sunday at the Presbyterian Church, immediately after Sunday school. All members of this congregation and their friends are urged to be present next Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Spencer, on avenue D, have as their guests this week, the two Misses Spencer, his sisters, and their daughter, Miss Spencer, who makes her home with her aunts in Virginia. The three ladies are en route from their eastern home to California where they will spend the summer season.

Judge Kay of Wichita Falls, addressed the Methodist congregation Sunday morning, making a most interesting and inspiring talk on honest labor and service for others as the one road to contenment and true success in life. There were many scientific truths, some clever wit and a world of deep thought for Christian living in every day life which will be helpful to all who heard Judge Kay's splendid address.

Greeting for in Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Moore and sons, now touring the west, report them at Mt. Hood, Oregon, recently.

School Bonds Sold

Special Dispatch to Record News

ELECTRA, June 20.—Sale has been made to the state department of education of bonds voted for the building of a high school here. The amount was $196,000, and the paper bears 5 per cent interest. Par and accrued interest was paid, less expenses incident to the sale.

The bonds were contracted to a Little Rock, Ark., firm before they were voted in April. However, because of the necessity for postponing the election 30 days, and due to delays in getting approval of the attorney general, this purchase was nullified.

Hemphill Well Good For 20 Bbls. Hour at 2,540 Ft.

GRAHAM, Texas, June 20.—The Hemphill-Hatfield No. 2, three miles northwest of Herron City on the L. H. Hatfield lease, came in today at 3 a. m., and is estimated to be good for 20 barrels an hour. Tanks are being hastily erected. They drilled into the 2,350-foot sand, but it proved a dry hole, and they went on to the 2,540-oot sand, which is proving a good producer.

Lion Delegate Leaves

Special Dispatch to Record News

ELECTRA, June 20.—Rev. R. B. Curry left today for the international convention of Lions in Atlantic City. He goes as a delegate of the local jungle. During his absence from Electra his pulpit will be filled by Rev. N. L. Linebaugh of Oklahoma June 24; Rev. Sam Black, presiding elder of the Wichita district, July 1, and by Rev. W. B. Groseclose of Dallas, commissioner for the Methodist orphanage, July 7.

The Increased Activity

In the oil-producing and refining district tributary to Wichita Falls and consequent heavy demand for tankage has taxed our facilities to the utmost, yet we have with few unavoidable exceptions been able to care for the requirements of our customers, which is our first concern. STOCKS TUMBLE TO LOWEST YET

Another Exchange Failure Demoralizes Stock Market

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 20.—Failure of another exchange house demoralized today's stock market and sent prices tumbling to their lowest levels of the year. Coming within 24 hours after the president of the exchange had issued a statement that "the committee on business conditions has checked up the various names touched by rumors and in each case has found no justification for any suspicion of weakness." The latest bankruptcy brought about a vast flood of liquidating orders by frightened investors which were increased by the heavy offerings of professional short interests.

The market opened firm and seemed destined for a good rally when the suspension of the bankrupt firm was announced. Supporting orders were rushed into the market and the higher prices were maintained for a time after the bad news had become apparent. The pressure became too great, however, and quoted statues began to crumble all over the list. The selling reached its climax in the final hour when more than 450,000 shares, comprising more than one-third of the day's business, changed hands. The ticker did not stop recording quotations until 22 minutes after the market closed.

Eighty stocks, including nearly all the leaders, broke below their previous low prices for the year, net losses of 1 to 4 points being quite common at the close.

Rails held better than industrials, but even this group showed an average loss of 1¾ points on the day.

Call money held at 5 per cent throughout the day. Time money was quoted at 4¾ for the shorter maturities and 5 per cent for the longer dates with business quiet. Commercial paper was still on a 5 per cent basis.

Foreign exchange held fairly steady. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.62 1-16; French francs around 6.25 cents and German marks at .0008⅝ cent.

COTTONSEED OIL
Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 20.—Under continued liquidation of the summer months, cottonseed oil showed further weakness today and closed 1 to 16 points net lower. The break in wheat and lard, with adverse Wall street news, added to the pressure against the market and checked all outside buying interest. Sales 18,400 barrels. Prime crude nominal; prime summer yellow 12.00; July 10.96; September 10.83; December 8.72; all bid.

Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 20.—Early rallies in the cotton market were followed by declines under a renewal of July liquidation and scattered selling which appeared to be stimulated by reports of another failure in Wall street. July sold off from 26.73 to 26.08, making new low ground for the present movement, but the delivery closed 30 points up from the lowest, with the general market closing very steady, net 15 points lower to 35 points higher.

The market opened steady at a decline of two points to an advance of five points on all months except August, which was 35 points higher. The weather map made a favorable showing, but the market developed considerable firmness during the morning. New crop months led a late forenoon advance.

Early Buyers Disappointed

An impression evidently prevailed that July liquidation was nearly over and there was some covering by near month shorts on the advance to 26.73 for that position. October sold up to 24.44 and December to 23.97, making net advances of about 30 to 35 points on the new chrop positions, but the market became very nervous and unsettled during the afternoon. Early buyers were evidently disappointed by the extent of the further July liquidation. October broke to 24.01 and December to 23.55 or about 7 to 12 points net lower. The close was well up from the lowest on covering and there was talk of a little trade buying in the new crop months.

Exports today were 1,591, making 4,549,202 so far this season. Port receipts today 6,480; United States port stocks 339,888.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK
Associated Press Dispatch

FORT WORTH, June 20.—Although the market held to a near steady level, the trade Wednesday was extremely dull and it was late in the day before the yards saw a clearance. A large part of the supply arrived at an unseasonable hour, that being factor that contributed to the market's slowness. Receipts were estimated at 4,000 head of cattle and 500 calves. Buyers found only two or three cars of grass steers here on the morning rounds, but there were several cars of fed cattle.

An advance of 15 cents was recorded in the hog division, where receipts were held down to 500 head. Shippers took over practically the entire supply, their top being $7.35. Bulk sales made a range of $7.15@7.30. Pigs remained steady at a general range of $5.25@5.50.

Lambs were 25 cents higher than at last week's close, but sheep prices remained steady. The best wethers here went at $6.90 and good lambs cleared at $14@14.25.

RAW SUGAR FIRMER
Associated Press Dispatch

NEW YORK, June 20. — Raw sugar market was firmer and prices were ⅛ cent higher to the basis of 5⅝ cents for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 7.16 for centrifugal. There were sales of 27,000 bags of Cubas at 5¼ cents, cost and freight, equal to 7.03 for centrifugal, 5,000 bags of Porto Ricos at the same level, and 26,250 bags of Philippine Islands at 7.16 for centrifugal.

The raw sugar futures market was firmer on covering and buying by commission houses. The close was 17 to 18 points net higher. Closing July 5.31; September 5.37; December 4.97; March 3.98. Refined sugar prices were unchanged, but a much better inquiry was reported. Fine granulated 9.25 to 9.90. Refined futures nominal.

"Prison" on Ellis Island Denounced

LONDON, June 20.—Ellis Island was denounced in the house of commons today and the suggestion was advanced that Great Britain ought to retaliate if the American government does not change the methods of detaining British subjects there.

Harry Becker, independent conservative, asked the under-secretary of foreign affairs, Ronald McNeill, how many English men and women are "incarcerated on Ellis Island" owing to the British quota of immigrants being filled.

Becker also asked if the under-secretary's "attention has been called to the fact that sometimes as many as 150 women and children of all nationalities and colors are placed in one room to sleep."

September and December Prices Make New Low Marks

Associated Press Dispatch

CHICAGO, June 20.—After announcement of an important failure on the New York stock exchange heavy selling here tumbled September and December wheat prices down today to a new low record for the season. July wheat was weaker than September and December, but kept above the season's low record for the July delivery—$1.01 —made on Oct. 6, last. Today's close was nervous at 2⅝ to 3½ cents net decline, with July and September both at 1.03¾ to 1.04 and December 1.06½ to 1.06⅝. Corn lost ¼ to ⅝ cents and oats ⅝ to ⅞@1 cents. In provisions the outcome varied rfom unchanged figures to 27 cents down.

At first the wheat market had a noticeable upward tendency that appeared to be due chiefly to improved prospects of export business.

Corn and oats receded with wheat. Provisions reflected the late weakness of grain.

COOLIDGE GETS DEGREE.
Associated Press Dispatch

NORTON, Mass., June 19.—Vice President Calvin Coolidge was awarded the honorary degree of doctor at laws at Wheaton college today. In conferring the degree, President Samuel V. Cole said: "You are the first man to receive a degree from the first and only college that has arisen in the bounds of the old Pilgrim jurisdiction."

BERGDOLL WILL BE ARRESTED AGAIN

International News Dispatch

TOPEKA, Kan., June 19.—Erwin C. Bergdoll, draft evader who is to walk through prison doors to liberty tomorrow, will not know freedom long, according to federal authorities here.

A warrant charging him with "conspiracy with intent to evade the draft" has been received by the United States marshal here, and he will be arrested on it as he comes from prison, it was said. The new charge has a technical difference from the one on which he was first sentenced to four years imprisonment.

ILLINOIS ONE-YEAR DIVORCE REPEALED

International News Dispatch

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 19.—The senate this afternoon passed the Thon bill which repeals that section of the Illinois divorce law prohibiting divorced persons from marrying within one year. The bill also legalizes all marriages performed in violation of the old law. It now goes to the governor.

Free Barbecue And Rodeo For Archer City Folk

Special Dispatch to Record News

ARCHER CITY, Texas, June 20.—The seventh annual rodeo and championship cowboy contest of North Texas will be held in Archer City, July 3 and 4, under auspices of the local American Legion.

A free barbecue will be given. In the forenoon each day independent baseball teams will meet for the championship of North Texas.

Red Lyon's famous string of bucking horses and steers will be shipped here from Ryan, Okla., for the occasion. Liberal prizes will be awarded winners of events. A special prize will be given the contestant who successfully rides Jumbo, a bovine weighing approximately 2,000 pounds.

All contests will be held in the ball park. Each night there will be dancing in a large pavilion. Plans are being formulated to take care of a crowd of from 10,000 to 15,000 people. A free camping ground will be furnished.

Freight Rates to Vary on High-Class Livestock

Associated Press Dispatch

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Railroads were given permission today by the interestate commerce commission to vary rates on livestock used for breeding, racing and show purposes in accordance with the value placed upon the animals by shippers.

A schedule of rates was approved fixing the value of horses and mules under existing rates when shipped for racing, show or breeding purposes at $150 per animal, and railroads were authorized to add 2 per cent to the freight rates whenever the shipper chose to add 50 per cent to the stated value and an additional 2 per cent for each further 50 per cent of additional value declared.

Similar provisions were made for prize cattle shipments, the beginning value being fixed at $75, while for hogs the basic value was $15.

Straw Hats and Ice

PEOPLE always begin buying straw hats and ice at this time of the year—but we ice men envy the straw hat manufacturer. He has the buying season all figured out. The thermometer helps demand, but supply is no problem at all.

Starting right now we will have many days when our drivers and delivery service will be taxed to the utmost to keep people supplied with that necessity of life known as ice.

But we're used to it. That's part of our business—meeting the emergency. Test us by 'phone call and you will see how well we serve.

Just a Minute

Is it a farm investment you desire? If it is, do you expect to buy a bargain when you invest? Do you expect the farm to be good agricultural land? Do you desire land 100 per cent irrigatable? Ask yourself these questions, because they are to be considered in buying land in this locality. Here is a farm that has all these qualifications, containing 190 acres, located on the Wichita River, just south of Iowa Park, that I offer this week only at $75 per acre.

F. Kolp, doing business as Black Cat Water Co., et al., in a certain cause in said court, No. 13879-B and styled C. F. Kolp, doing business at Black Cat Water Co. et al., vs. J. A. Moore, and placed in my hands for service, I, W. W. Murphy, as sheriff of Wichita county, Texas, did, on the 12th day of June, 1923, levy on certain real estate and personal property, situated in Wichita county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: Being the following described personal property, to-wit: Being 740 feet of 10-inch casing; 3,000 feet of 2-inch line pipe; 1,700 feet of 6-inch drill pipe; 320 feet of 12½-inch casing; 2,360 feet of 8¼-inch casing; 2,360 feet of 6⅝-inch casing.

Being the following described real estate: Being an oil and gas lease and leasehold estate in and to a certain 53-acre tract of land out of Section 14, H. T. & B. R. R. Co. Survey, Wichita county, Texas, Abstract No. 505, and being a strip of land lying immediately east of the west one-half of said Section 14 North to the right-of-way of the Fort Worth & Denver City Ry Co., which said 53-acre tract of land stands in the name of the said defendant, J. A. Moore, on the deed records of Wichita county, Texas, together with the derricks, tanks, pumps, engines and all appurtenances and equipment used on or in connection with said leasehold estate, and levied upon as the property of J. A. Moore and that on the first Tuesday in July, 1923, the same being the 2nd day of said month, at the location of said personal property, and at the courthouse door, of Wichita county, in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said order of sale, I will sell said above described real estate and said personal property, at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said J. A. Moore.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Record News, a newspaper published in Wichita county.

Witness my hand, this 12th day of June, 1923.

W. W. MURPHY,
Sheriff Wichita County, Texas.
By Mrs. W. E. Carter, Deputy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon C. J. Lowrie doing business as the Beverly Oil company, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the County Court at law, Wichita County, Texas, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, on the first Monday in August, A. D. 1923, the same being the 6th day of August, A. D. 1923 then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 12th day of June, A. D. 1923, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 6133, wherein George Tunal is Plaintiff, and C. J. Lowrie doing business as the Beverly Oil company, is Defendant, and said petition alleging that, on or about the 25th January A. D. 1923, said defendant was the owner of an oil and gas lease described as the Beverly Oil company lease, situated in Wichita County, Texas, in the Northwest Burkburnett Oil field. That during the year 1922 defendant employed plaintiff to act as pumper for it at $150.00 per month; that there is due this plaintiff under said contract of employment and labor thereunder the sum of $525.00 which defendant herein has hitherto failed and refused to pay notwithstanding the fact of repeated requests so to do to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $525.00; that on or about the 25th day of January A. D. 1923 plaintiff perfected and filed his laborer's lien as the law requires upon the property on which he performed said labor situated on said lease, a copy of which is attached to plaintiff's petition and made a part thereof; that defendant is also indebted to plaintiff herein in the further sum of $75.00 for services on said lease not covered by said perfected lien.

Wherefore plaintiff prays the court that the defendant be cited to appear and answer plaintiff's petition and on a hearing thereon he have judgment for his damage as aforesaid and for a foreclosure of his lien on said property and for costs suit, etc.

Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas on this the 13th day of June, A. D. 1923.

ALMA Y. MILLER,
Clerk, County Court at Law, Wichita County, Texas.
By M. F. YEAGER, Deputy.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a certain Execution issued by the Clerk of the 78th District Court of Wichita County, on the 9th day of June 1923, in [illegible] cause wherein Oriental Oil Company, plaintiff, and Harding Oil Company, defendant, in which cause a judgment was rendered on the 17th day of November 1922 in favor of the said plaintiff, Oriental Oil Company against said defendant Harding Oil Company for the sum of Two Thousand and Seventy Nine Dollars and Two Hundred Eighty Six and 49-100 Dollars, with interest thereon at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from date of judgment, together with all costs of suit, I have levied upon, and will, on the first Tuesday in July 1923 it being the 3rd day of said month, at Wichita Falls, Texas, within legal hours, proceed to sell for cash to the highest bidder, all the right, title and interest of Harding Oil Company in and to the following described personal property, levied upon as the property of Harding Oil Company, to-wit:

One Hundred Thirty Five Barrels of Lubricating Oil in a tank situated in the south part of Burkburnett on the Westbrook Land.

The above sale to be made by me to satisfy the above described judgment for Two Thousand Seventy Nine and Two Hundred Eighty Six and 49-100 Dollars, in favor of Oriental Oil Company, together with the costs of said suit, and the proceeds applied to the satisfaction thereof.

W. W. MURPHY,
Sheriff, Wichita County, Texas.

CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Mr. Keefe:

Just a line to tell you about a dream I had last night. I dreamt it was a world series game in Chi and the crowd was carrying you off the field on their shoulders. Do you beleive in dreams and would not it be grand was my dream to come true? You owe me a letter so will not write any more now, but felt like I must tell you about the dream.

LIONS PEP UP ITS MEMBERSHIP

Sergeants and Generals Will Round Up Buck Privates

A new plan by which it is hoped to stimulate interest in the club's activities has been launched by the local Lions' club with the dividing of the membership into rival sides. Attendance will be placed on a competitive basis, with the side making the best attendance showing each week eligible to a prize of some kind. This latter feature will be provided by individual members from time to time, and will be awarded by drawing to some one on the winning side.

Two sergeants, one for each division, were appointed, and these in turn named five generals, whose lot it is to round up the buck privates each week and convey them to the meetings.

Program committees for each quarter were also named to be in charge of this feature of the weekly sessions.

Jeff Bivens was elected treasurer of the organization Wednesday, relieving H. J. Bruce, secretary, of some of the detail work.

A report was given by P. B. Curd, chairman of the zoo committee, on progress being made toward establishment of a zoo in Scott and park. He announced that animals could be purchased in Fort Worth at any time the local organization saw fit to start work.

30 Jurors Called For Federal Jury To Report Monday

Summons have been issued from federal offices here for 30 petit jurors, to be on hand next Monday morning when the special term of federal court opens, Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas will be on the bench.

It was stated Wednesday by officials here that approximately 100 criminal cases and less than half a dozen civil matters would be brought up for attention. A large percentage of the criminal cases are liquor violations, a number of which were passed over from the last term of court.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR HASKINS TODAY

Funeral services for A. A. Haskins, 38, local contractor, who died last Sunday night as a result of injuries received in a refinery accident at Burkburnett Saturday, will be held from the Hines undertaking chapel Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, with Rev. Lawrence Holt of the Sacred Heart church officiating. The body will be sent to Colorado Saturday for burial.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Miss Gladys Haskins, and several brothers and sisters living in Colorado and Oregon. Mrs. Haskins has suffered a collapse after the death of her husband, and it is doubtful whether she will be able to attend the funeral.

The funeral has been delayed pending arrival of a brother from Oregon, who is scheduled to arrive in Wichita Falls Thursday.

O'Neil Wins $413

Judgment for $413 was awarded Jimmy O'Neil in the county court at law Wednesday in his suit against J. A. Fisher et al.

The case was one on a debt alleged to be owed the plaintiff for services rendered the defendant as an oil field worker. He was paid at the rate of $9 a day for 42 days, and $5 a day for seven days.

50 APPEAR BEFORE EQUALIZATION BOARD

Numerous complaints were being made Wednesday to the city tax equalization board on boosts in tax valuations on city property. Approximately 50 individuals appeared before the board during the day to register a protest.

The board will be in session again today to listen to complaints.

"In Bad as a Tailor,"

By H. Schaffner-Marx, author of "Trousers and Trousseaus," "Pants and Petticoats" and other authoritative works. H. Schaffner-Marx comes across with another literary masterpiece which marks him as one of the most versatile young scribes of the century. "In Bad as a Tailor" should not be confused with the less classical work, "Sinbad the Sailor." In his latest work, Schaffner-Marx casts aside all technical formalities and gives us a soulful sympathetic viewpoint of a poor tailor whose only environment is pants, clothes racks, Hoffman pressers and stylebooks. Read it and you will be less inclined to cuss your tailor when he starches your seersucker or burns a hole in the seat of your dress suit.

WILMETH CAPTAINS LIONS CLUB TEAM TO DEFEAT BURK

A Lions' club baseball team, organized with the expressed intention of "cleaning up" some of the local amateur teams and then taking on Burkburnett, was formed Wednesday noon at the regular weekly luncheon of the club. Leo Wilmeth was appointed captain and announced that practice will start at once.

A letter has been received from the Burkburnett club stating that a team has been formed there and that the Burkburnett men are anxious to hook up with Wichita Falls. It was also indicated that games might be arranged with other teams in this city. A number of the members present at the luncheon stated that they would be glad to take part.

BETTER WHEAT YIELD IS SEEN

Average Expected to Reach Eight Bushels to Acre

Threshing is now in full swing through the county, with prospects of a better wheat yield than was at first expected. Efforts to make an estimate of the yield per acre is still a hazardous proposition, County Agent Guy R. Jones stated Wednesday. He was of the opinion, however, that it would average about eight bushels to the acre.

One farmer near Burkburnett was reported to have made a 15-bushel-an-acre yield, but it was stressed that this would not prevail around that territory.

Spiritualists Give Play to Build Church

The benefit play held at Labor temple Wednesday night to raise funds to be applied for the erection of the First Spiritualist church building was well attended by members.

The program was comedy, showing the tricks of radio and many ludierous situations were presented. The headliners were Cervin and Warren of Oklahoma City, who gave several slapstick dialogues and dancing features. Norah Malone of Los Angeles, as the leading lady, won applause from the audience.

MURPHY WILL NOT RESIGN

"I Was Elected to Serve Two Years, and I'll Be Sheriff That Long"

Sheriff Pat Murphy told the world Wednesday that the rumors floating about town that he was about to resign were nothing but pure fabrications, or even less.

It has been reported for the last day or so that the sheriff was considering relinquishing his office, but when approached on the matter Wednesday he suggested rather vehemently that there was nothing to it.

"I was elected to be sheriff for two years," Pat declared, "and if I live that long I'll be sheriff that long. If the bootleggers and gamblers and professional vags around here think I'm getting out they've got a few more thinks coming."

Negroes May Recover

Reports from the hospital last night said that the negress, Eugenie Ragsdale, who was seriously injured in a cutting scrape on Elm street Tuesday night, had greatly improved since she was brought to the hospital and that there were strong hopes of her recovery unless further complications set in.

She received knife wounds about the face and neck, and it was at first thought that there was no hope for her recovery. Costello Bartlett, the negro who was injured in the scrape, was not brought to the hospital, and although his wounds are painful, they are not dangerous. He is suffering from wounds about the face and a deep cut in the right shoulder.

Woman Wins Suit

Judgment for the plaintiff amounting to $120 was awarded Mrs. L. Wyles in the county court at law Wednesday in her suit against the National Bond and Investment company.

The suit was one for foreclosure of a chattel mortgage on an automobile.

Wheat Takes Drop

A few wagonloads of wheat were sold at the local elevators Wednesday, but still the harvesting has not been as general in this vicinity as it was at first thought.

Wheat No. 1 took a 3 cent drop and is now selling at 90 cents, while wheat No. 2 is selling at 87 cents, with No. 3 oats selling at 40 cents.

Where Will the Wolf of Poverty Howl?

—not at the doors of those who set up barricades against poverty; not where people practice a little self-denial; save a little each week; protect themselves against material misfortune.

And the one "protector" that can be relied upon in any emergency is—a bank account. Get the bank habit and the wolf will never get near your door.
