Civil Rights Legislation In Stalemate

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil rights legislation showed little progress today despite a long round of partisan charges and counter-charges.

In a House talkfest of more than six hours Wednesday, Northern and Western Democrats charged Republicans with maintaining a coalition with Southerners to delay or defeat civil rights proposals.

They contended it would react against any action on a new administration voting rights proposal made Tuesday. This would call for court-appointed referees to help safeguard voting rights.

Civil rights Democrats accused Republicans of "hypocrisy" and chided President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon for alleged lack of leadership. They challenged Republicans to help break a rules committee deadlock holding up civil rights legislation. They promised to work for an early vote on the Eisenhower plan by offering it as an amendment to the House bill if it is freed from the committee.

But when the talking was over, the petition to take the bill away from the rules committee was reported still 29 signatures short of the 219 needed.

Each party in the House acused the other of responsibility for the civil rights tieup.

The pro-civil rights Democratic strategy had been to pass a bill as early as possible in the House. It could then be used in the Senate to by-pass the Judiciary Committee which has bottled up Senate bills.

In both chambers, Southerners are playing their traditional delaying game.

Wednesday's speeches were shot through with references to the presidential campaign.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY) a Negro who supported the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket in 1956, declared "the minority press is watching closely" the proceedings in the House. He said Nixon's chances of being elected might be determined by the action of Republican members of Congress on civil rights.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, (D-NY) charging the GOP with "sheer hypocrisy from the President on down," also called on Nixon to take a hand.

Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif) said the vice president would be "tragically delinquent" if he did not do so.

Republicans getting in a word now and then, scolded Democrats for what they called making a political issue of civil rights and not exercising their responsibility as the majority party.

Declares U. S. Is Reluctant

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan called the United States today a reluctant debutante in the art of world management.

Touching on world problems at a luncheon in his honor, the touring British Prime Minister said the Soviet Union is a buoyant and imperialist nation but the United States is a reluctant debutante.

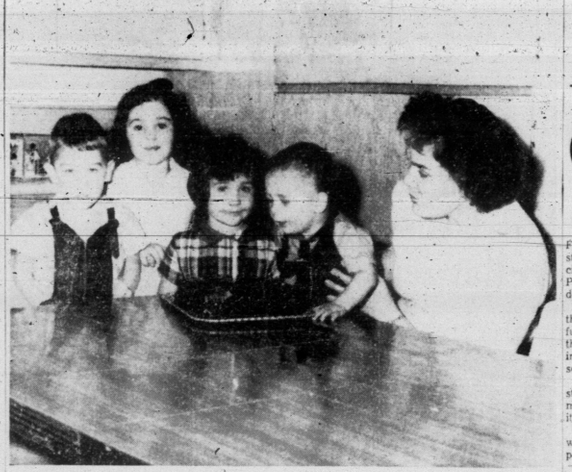

Indirectly mentioning President Eisenhower's coming visit to the Soviet Union, Macmillan said: "My visit to Moscow recently was not well received, but it seems nowadays everybody is visiting everybody else."

Goldminers here gave Macmillan a practical addition to his collection of hats.

Voters Not Bound In General Election

AUSTIN (AP)— Persons whose poll taxes or exemptions are stamped with a political party designation are not bound to vote for that party's nominees in the general election in November, authorities point out.

The statement came after questions arose by persons paying and receiving poll tax money.

General Strike In Algeria Is Eased; Censorship Off

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP) — Rebellious Frenchmen today eased a general strike which has paralyzed this city since their uprising against President Charles de Gaulle's self-determination policy for Algeria.

Food supplies began moving in the capital and utilities began functioning in response to sympathetic appeals to the barricaded insurgents by De Gaulle's representatives.

The army announced that a state of siege and martial law remains in effect in the tense capital.

But authorities lifted censorship without explanation to let correspondents tell the full story of the revolt since it broke five days ago. Armed insurgents still clung to the barricades. They were firmly in control of an area in the heart of the city. Paratroopers ringed it but made no move to invade.

Insurgent leaders called on the population to relax the general strike in answer to appeals from De Gaulle's delegate-general to Algeria, Paul Delouvrier and Gen. Maurice Challe, commander in chief of French forces in Algeria.

Challe stressed in his appeal that the French army was fighting to keep Algeria French — a declaration that the rebels have been demanding from De Gaulle.

The general strike paralyzed most Algerian cities since the uprising.

Restlessness of the Moslems created a danger of new violence. Some Moslems showed a back-to-work urge.

Street clashes broke out Mediterranean port of 50,000 about 200 miles, west of Algiers. French soldiers fired shots to disperse a demonstration by a crowd—mostly Moslems—marching on City Hall demanding work and shouting "Long live De Gaulle." There were reports that 20 Moslems were injured, but none by gunfire.

Home guards in Algiers, who are siding with the insurgents, intervened at a postal bank Wednesday, when Moslem employes tried to get it reopened, for business.

Gen. De Gaulle showed no indication of budging from his determination to let the Algerians eventually decide their own future —integration with France, home-rule under France or independence.

The solid support of De Gaulle by the people in France has shaken the spirits of the rebellious settlers but their leaders are holding firm in trying to force a modification of his policy.

The insurgents had counted on a wave of popular support in France — something like that touched off by the Algerian revolt in May 1958.

French army commanders took the side of the settlers in that bloodless uprising which toppled the Fourth French Republic and paved the way for De Gaulle to gain power. Many of the same rightists are leading the current revolt.

Polaris Has 4th Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A fourth straight success has moved the Polaris missile closer to the day when it will be carried aboard nuclear submarines. But a fizzle on the pad has left the future of the intercontinental range Titan undecided.

The Polaris performed perfectly Wednesday, boosting a dummy warhead to an Atlantic target 900 miles away in the third straight good test of the rocket's new inertial (built-in) guidance system.

Meanwhile, missilemen at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., successfully launched a tethered Minuteman missile from an underground concrete pit Wednesday.

The Minuteman, equipped with a first stage engine designed for short duration flight, was halted a few hundred feet in the air by nylon cable. The solid propellant missile is designed to carry nuclear warheads 6,000 miles or more.

Cubans Insist U. S. Is Cause Of 'Freeze'

By RICHARD VALERIANI

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government insists the United States is responsible for the freeze in U.S.-Cuban relations.

It has rejected what it calls "insinuations" by President Eisenhower that intrigues by International Communism may be causing the rift.

President Osvaldo Dorticos declared in a formal policy address Wednesday night that strained relations are "a direct consequence of the misunderstanding shown by the United States government toward the development and objectives of the Cuban revolution."

He added, however, that all problems between the two countries can be solved through normal diplomatic channels if there is "absolute respect for our sovereignty."

Dorticos' speech, carried on TV, was in reply to Eisenhower's statement at his White House news conference Tuesday.

The President announced a policy of nonintervention in Cuban affairs. He added the U.S. government is confident the Cuban people will "recognize and defeat the intrigues of International Communism which are aimed at destroying Democratic institutions in Cuba and the traditional and mutually beneficial friendship between the Cuban and American peoples."

Dorticos expressed "gratitude" over the nonintervention statement but said the Cuban government "rejects with all its energy" the implication that International Communism may be playing a role in Cuban-American relations.

The address by Dorticos gave him a rare opportunity to enjoy the national spotlight usually occupied by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Castro apparently was content to allow Dorticos to carry the diplomatic ball on this occasion. The bearded leader, whose TV blasts at the United States are considered a major reason for present relations, made an unusually mild speech Wednesday night at ceremonies marking the 107th anniversary of the birth of Cuban patriot Jose Marti.

He made only veiled references to outside influences in Cuba. "It is curious," he said, "that a people making laws within its territory for its own people has to get into difficulties of an international character."

Abilene Man Seeks Post In Congress

Roy Skaggs, Abilene businessman, announced today as a candidate for Congress from the 17th Congressional District.

Skaggs is district manager for a mutual fund investment company. He served as district clerk of Taylor County from 1938 to 1946, and for seven years was a member of the Abilene school board.

Skaggs was born and reared on a farm near Gorman in Eastland County. He graduated from Hardin-Simmons University in 1938.

He made the following statement in announcing his candidacy:

"I am asking the people of the 17th Congressional District for the privilege of representing them in Washington for the following reasons:

"It is my sincere belief that the 17th Congressional District (all of it) is entitled to positive representation.

"It is my further belief that any one man of integrity with ordinary intelligence seasoned strongly with good common horse sense, who has initiative and fortitude, can provide positive representation for this district.

"It is my conviction that nothing (absolutely nothing) is so big and so bad that nothing can be done about it.

"It is an obvious fact that there are faults within our government that need correcting. It seems inevitable that tremendous loss will accrue to all of us unless something is done to correct these faults and is done right away."

Skaggs enumerated problems which he said cried for immediate action.

1. "Foreign Aid should be re-evaluated on a realistic basis. More should be spent "for defense" and less "for tribute."

2. "Wanton wastefulness through cancerous, bureaucratic agencies should be brought to a grinding stop by consolidations and eliminations."

3. "The Supreme Court should be put back into the business of interpreting law under the Constitution rather than making laws by decree. To accomplish this, Justices should be selected on the basis of judicial qualifications rather than on the basis of political expediency."

4. "Unnecessary government interference should be stopped to the greatest possible degree and with free enterprise is to survive and if we are to survive as a capitalistic nation rather than deteriorating into a socialistic, welfare state—just half a step short of communism."

5. "At all costs (there is neither choice nor alternative here) and through the finest team work, the arms situation must be brought into balance with emphasis on nuclear warfare methods strongly implimented by conventional devices. Economies must be effected in methods—not in magnitude."

Skaggs said he was realistic and knew that he could not go to Washington, D. C., and reverse the processes which have been wreaking havoc on that nation so long.

"But, believing that I have a reasonable degree of intelligence and the courage of my convictions, together with a willingness to listen with an open mind to opinions of others, and being willing to work to determine the will and the needs of all the people of this 17th Congressional District, I sincerely believe I can be an effective representative," he declared.

Ask Students To Help Find Killer

NORTH BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—Authorities appealed today to Rutgers University students for help in finding "a maniac with a grudge" who killed four persons at a doctor's home.

Middlesex County Prosecutor Warren T. Wilentz, chief investigating officer, said an unnamed informant had seen the killer after the murder talking to two or three young men thought to be students at Rutgers, in nearby New Brunswick.

The slayer may have been asking directions in his getaway from the country estate where he bound and shot Edith Clarke, the invalid wife of a prominent surgeon, two women servants and the taxi driver who had brought him there.

"I haven't ruled out the possibility of a professional killer," Wilentz said Wednesday, "but I am leaning toward the belief the man was a maniac with a grudge."

The physician, Dr. Francis Clarke, 61, chief surgeon at St. Peter's Hospital in New Brunswick, told Wilentz he could think of no one "who would do a thing like this."

A 24-hour protective guard was placed around Daniel Ploranski, 65, gardener on the Clarke estate, who saw the bespectacled killer, about 35, drive away in the cab.

Ploranski went to view a man who was picked up after the cab was found abandoned Wednesday, but the gardener was unable to pick him out of a police lineup. Police held the man, William Ellis, 51, of Bridgeport, Conn., for arraignment on a disorderly person charge, but cleared him as a murder suspect.

The cab was found a few blocks from the Newark city line, about 20 miles north of the scene of Tuesday's slayings.

The dead in addition to Mrs. Clarke, in her 60s, were Miss Dorothy Moore, her elderly housekeeper and companion; Cora Thaddies, 29, a Negro maid, and Morris Michael of Newark, the cab driver. Each was bound and shot in the temple in a similar fashion.

Wilentz said the available evidence weighed against the possible motives of robbery, a sex attack on the women or a raid for narcotics by an addict.

Jubilant GOP Gets Glowing Report

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Exuberant Republicans heard President Eisenhower's assurance Wednesday night that his administration is making the United States the "strongest power on earth" in the military and economic fields.

From Vice President Richard M. Nixon came a clear message that while he would be happy to inherit Eisenhower's peace and prosperity laurels, he will not be content merely to stand on them as the new Republican presidential nominee.

In Washington, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York confronted GOP colleagues they can't count on Eisenhower's personal triumphs, because he said the voters will want to know in November "what happens next."

It was a rousing night for the Grand Old Party. More than 100,000 persons, paying from $25 to $100 a plate, gathered in 83 cities in 43 states for a closed circuit television "Dinner with Ike."

Like Eisenhower and Nixon, cabinet members and others high in Republican circles deserted Washington to address the dinners individually.

There was no public telecast, but those attending the dinners cheered vigorously a President who has as Rockefeller put it, "led the party like a general" instead of wandering in the wilderness.

There were thunderous cheers for Nixon, who spoke to 7,000 persons in the International Amphitheater in Chicago. That is where the Republicans are expected to give him their presidential nomination next July.

Even Eisenhower, who had sat smilingly at a table in the Pan-Pacific Auditorium in Los Angeles while other speakers were introduced, jumped up and waved when Nixon's countenance was flashed on the TV screen.

Rockefeller, who likes Ike but shows no signs of extending this affection to Nixon, got warm applause. He was mobbed by dinner guests seeking autographs when he descended from the dais to talk on hon about the banquet hall [illegible]

If there was a discordant note in an evening otherwise devoted to Republican unity, optimism and fund raising, it was that Rockefeller made no mention of Nixon while praising highly Eisenhower's accomplishments.

This led to some sharp questioning by reporters who followed his hand-shaking progress from table to table.

Why hadn't he mentioned Nixon, the man whose nomination he apparently assured by taking himself out of the presidential race?

"I came here to honor one man, President Eisenhower," he replied.

"What will you be doing in November?" a reporter asked in connection with the general election campaign.

"I'll be working up my message to the New Jersey legislature," the governor replied with a grin. The message ordinarily is delivered the following January.

Eisenhower sounded the keynote for the Republican campaign by bearing down on the theme that his administration had brought the country peace and prosperity without war.

The President told a cheering audience of about 7,000 persons that Democratic critics are wrong in contending that the Soviet Union has moved abreast or ahead of this country in military might. He said these critics are engaged in "noisy trumpeting about dazzling military schemes."

But it was his central theme of a balanced budget and a private economy that brought forth the loudest response. There were a total of 23 bursts of applause from the listeners. They rose to their approval when he said that some politicians "seem" to think mistakenly there is a "unlimited dollar—one that won't shrink."

Airman Content On Capsule Ride

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An airman was reported content and in excellent physical condition today after passing the halfway mark in a 72-hour test of an Air Force survival capsule in icy Lake Erie.

Despite rain and temperatures skyrocketing one minute and plunging to the low one during the night, Airman 1/C Bruce C. Barwise of Boyes, Mont., was "warm and relatively dry," according to Capt. Billy J. Mills, Air Force engineer in charge of the project.

On a boat nearby, Air Force researchers compiled data on his condition and the capabilities of the survival pod.

Barwise, a 34-year-old father of three children, was reported in "fine spirits" and free of the leg [illegible] he suffered when [illegible] day.

The Air Force hopes he will remain in the 2½ x 5½-foot capsule until Friday afternoon. The bright yellow aluminum shell has been designed as an ejection package for use in the supersonic B58 Hustler.

Barwise's 6-foot-2 frame is strapped in a pilot's ejection seat in a position "about like a man in a barber's chair, getting a shave and one other," he said.

His diet consists of high-sugar-content candy bars and gelatin. He also has chewing gum and cigarettes.

Risks are nothing new for Barwise, an airman first class from Bovey, Minn. He saw duty with the U.S. Navy Seabees in World War II as a demolition man on Okinawa, Saipan, Tinian, Guam, and in Japan.

After a short hitch in the Air Force, he tried lumberjacking in [illegible] Oregon, returned to the Air Force and turned to parachute jumping as a paramedic.

His family lives in Dayton, Ohio, a short distance from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, where he is stationed.

Deterrent Force Called Essential

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is conceivable that the Soviet Union will have enough long-range missiles within about two years to permit a massive missile attack on the United States, Gen. Thomas S. Power said today.

The chief of the U.S. Strategic Air Command said the only way the Soviet Union can be deterred from risking such an onslaught is for an alert force of American strategic bombers to be in the air at all times.

Power spoke at a meeting of the American Legion's National Security Commission.

"I am confident that the Soviets will be strongly deterred from risking an attack on this country as long as they know that they cannot destroy the alert force nor prevent it from retaliating decisively," he said.

In an address to the same group, Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) urged that more than a billion dollars a year be spent to keep SAC planes aloft at all times.

He urged increased spending also for other defense equipment.

Power said that when the Soviet Union reaches the estimated peak of its missile superiority in about two years, "we will have no active defense whatever" against their ballistic missiles. He said the United States will lack a fully-operational and tested warning system which "under all circumstances will give SAC enough warning to get the alert force airborne before it can be destroyed on the ground."

Power said that keeping a portion of his strategic bombers in the air had been tested thoroughly and found to be "entirely feasible."

Jackson said much more money also should be spent for ballistic missiles, Polaris submarines, Army modernization, and space research.

Gamble To Press A Countercharge

NEW YORK (AP) — Runaway heiress Gamble Benedict, charged as a wayward girl, goes into court today with a countercharge that she is being illegally detained by her socialite family.

The 19-year-old girl, who ran off to Paris several weeks ago with a married ex-chauffeur, Andre Porumbeanu, was taken to girls' term court in Brooklyn Wednesday by her grandmother, Katherine Geddes Benedict.

Magistrate Corning G. McKennee made Gamble a ward of the court while investigating the wayward minor charge.

McKennee paroled her in custody of Mrs. Benedict pending a further hearing Feb. 26.

Porumbeanu, 35, who flew in from Paris early Wednesday to be near Gamble, was in the Brooklyn Court House, but the pair did not meet.

In Manhattan Wednesday, Gamble's attorney, Philip Handleman, sought a habeas corpus writ charging the girl was being illegally detained by her family.

State Supreme Court Justice Samuel H. Hofstadter set a hearing for today.

Handelman produced in court a photostatic copy of a note scrawled by Gamble on toilet tissue. It read: "I am at 42 East 75th Street held by my brother. Help. Locked in. I love Andre."

Handleman said Gamble had the note smuggled to Samuel D. Mercer, a lawyer who represented her in Paris. Handleman didn't say how he got the note.

The Romanian - born Porumbeanu, married and the father of a young child, is estranged from his wife. He has said his wife has consented to a divorce and that he intends to marry Gamble. Since her husband's romance with Gamble, however, Mrs. Porumbeanu disappeared and is listed as a missing person. She is believed to be somewhere in Germany.

Outside the courthouse after the Brooklyn hearing, Porumbeanu vowed to Gamble as she was driven away with her grandmother in the family limousine.

Porumbeanu told newsmen: "A light came into her face when she realized I was here. She tried to roll down the window but they stopped her. They are treating her like an animal. She looks pale and somehow older."

Blast Kills Tom Franks

An investigation of an explosion in East Texas revealed that one of the victims was Tom Franks, cousin of Mrs. T. W. Thomas and Mrs. G. E. Woods.

The blast wrecked a house east of Talco, and the bodies of two men were found in the debris. Positive identification was established after a pocket knife recently given to Franks was found in the ruins.

The blast ripped the house at 3 a.m. killing Franks, 35, and Buford Dean Graf, 20.

An investigation as the nature of the explosion was being conducted.

Funeral services for Franks were held Saturday.

Franks received considerable publicity several months ago when he captured a 400-pound boar with five-inch tusks in the White Oak Creek bottoms near Talco.

In the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania there were licenses sold in 1959 to 72,000 archers to hunt deer by bow and arrow. And 1,300 deer were bagged by this method.

Outbreak Of Flu Closes More Schools

By The Associated Press

The widespread outbreak of flu reached a new peak in some areas of Texas forcing additional schools to close a pupil and teachers stayed home with the illness.

An estimated 30,000 students were absent in Houston Wednesday. Included were 17,006 from the 168,262-student Houston School District. The other 19 districts in the county reported over 2,500 absent.

Two parochial schools in Houston closed Wednesday—Our Lady of Mount Carmel elementary and Our Saviour Lutheran elementary.

Other schools closed Wednesday were those at Pleasanton in South Texas and the Boerne High School.

Supt. of Schools Joe Mitchell said all schools at Peasanton would be closed until Feb. 1. He said 349 students, or 23 per cent of the district's enrollment were absent.

Both Sherman hospitals reported Wednesday they were filled to capacity as the result of the flu outbreak. Both hospitals reported about 65 flu patients.

The flu outbreak caused schools at Laneville, southwest of Henderson, to be closed Wednesday. One-sixth of the student body was absent at Laneville and the schools will be closed till Feb. 1.

Our Lady of Mt. Carmel school in Houston reported 13 teachers and 350 of 1,000 students absent. Our Savior Lutheran school said one-third of its 211 students were absent.

This week's pneumonia deaths in Dallas totaled six by Wednesday compared to seven for all of last week and eight for the previous week. Dr. J. W. Bass, city health director, said.

No Plan To Draft Adlai

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — James Doyle, a national figure in a proposed drive to draft Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination, said today that there "will be no formal organization in that direction." But he didn't close the door on an informal move.

Doyle, a former Wisconsin party chairman, called a news conference after reports were circulated that he would become executive director of a national draft-Stevenson movement.

Instead he handed out a formal statement that said, in part: "There will be no formal national committee, no national headquarters, no executive director. There will be no campaign in the usual sense".

Doyle conferred with Stevenson in Washington last weekend.

Nothing will be done to impede the efforts of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), who already have declared themselves candidates in Wisconsin's strategic April 5 presidential primary, he added.

Knife & Fork Guest Night Here Monday

Dr. Amolak Ram Mehta, a Hindu from New Delhi who knows certain aspects of social and political life in the United States far better than do some of its own citizens, will be the guest speaker to address the Knife and Fork Club at its guest night meeting the evening of Feb. 1, 7 p.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Dr. Mehta is coming to the United States on this trip for the express purpose of addressing a number of dinner clubs of the Associated Clubs network to which the Knife and Fork Club belongs.

This is by no means Dr. Mehta's first trip here. He came here first soon after he had finished his post-graduate work at the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons in England. In 1923 and 1924 he toured the United States rather widely when he was selected for a traveling fellowship in the Rockefeller Foundation. Since then he has been in this country many times.

Although one of his coutry's outstanding medical men, Dr. Mehta also is an acknowledged authority on India's social and political life. A keen observer, he discusses fearlessly with all candor the problems of his native land, what it means to the rest of the world, and what can be expected in the future.

Members are asked to please mail checks for dinner plates (including their guests) to Scott Casey P. O. Box 2847 not later than Saturday.

Mrs. Hugh Lowry Guest Speaker For Atheneum Club

Mrs. G. W. Ferguson was hostess to The Atheneum Study Club when they met Tuesday at Martha Ann Womans Club.

Mrs. Frank Miller, president, presided over the business meeting. New officers for the coming year were elected.

The new officers are Mrs. Jim Taliaferro, president; Mrs. Max von Roeder, first vice president; Mrs. G. W. Ferguson, second vice president; Mrs. Frank Taylor, recording secretary; Mrs. Jurden Brunken, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. L. T. Vaughn, treasurer.

Mrs. J. D. Richardson introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Hugh Lowry, who is the president of The Snyder League of Women Voters. Mrs. Lowry's topic was "Voting, A Woman's Privilege."

She said in part:

"The key to good government today is the privilege of each citizen to vote his true convictions, this applies to both men and women. Although today women experience the same privilege as men, it has not always been so.

Women were given this privilege in 1918, after a long and hard fight for women's rights that lasted for almost a century. The first real blow for the cause was started in 1848 when Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucreta Mott announced a "Women's Rights Convention."

"The announcement and meeting that followed was the yeast that leavened the bread of thought that was to nourish and sustain the women's movement for many long years.

"Their act pierced the darkness of human thought with the clear, steady gleam of right and justice that would eventually bring free speech, education, employment, and ownership of property and children to all people—women as well as men.

"Susan B. Anthony, the greatest champion of Women's Rights, gave a lifetime to this work. Other women joined her. The seeds she sowed, harvested woman suffrage.

"We are not only indebted to the courageous women who pioneered for us and to the fair-minded men who gave us the privileges we now enjoy, but our debt goes farther than this— we owe our children, our children's children, and the generations to follow them an obligation to see now that the note past due to our predecessors. It is our obligations to see now that the sacred right of every citizen for [illegible] to count is not lost. the great birthright of "with justice and freedom for all."

"Nations have crumbled governments have fallen in the past because of the lack of true concern on the part of their people.

"Let us take time to study both sides of any given issue of government. Weigh the pro's and con's, think clearly for ourselves. Let us be alert- Stop! Look! Listen! — THINK. These senses God gave both male and ferhale— let.s use them.

"You have been given the privilege of voting— use it to the best of your ability."

Mrs. Lowry also stated that there are approximately 8,000 people in Scurry County who will be eligible to vote if they pay their poll tax.

FOR LEFTOVER PASTRY

When there's pastry leftover after making pie crusts, roll it out thin and cut into squares. Oil with a little mincemeat and fold over. Seal edges with fork times. For half a dozen hard-boiled eggs to be stuffed, mash the yolks with a quarter cup of mayonnaise-type salad dressing, half a teaspoon of dry mustard and salt and pepper to taste. The sharp tines of a kitchen fork will "fluff" the stuffing after it is [illegible] back into the egg-white cavities.

Altrurian Club Has Program On Poetry And Prose, Friday

Mrs. Arthur Blanchard was hostess for the Altrurian Club when it met recently at the Martha Ann Club.

Mrs. Giles Bowers presided over the business meeting.

Mrs. C. C. Miller gave the thought for the day, "The impulsive Do-gooder." She said: "Are you an impulsive do-gooder who stifles the impulse— does the thought cross your mind, 'I'll send this lady a bouquet from my garden, or I'd like to bake a pie for this person,' then you shrink and say, 'Oh, no, I don't know her well enough', or 'I guess that would be silly'.

"Every year I live I am more convinced that the waste of life lies in the love we have not given, the power we have not used, the selfish prudence that will risk nothing and which shirking pain, misses happiness as well.

"No one ever yet was the poorer in the long run for having once in a lifetime let out all the length of all the reins."

Mrs. J. W. Leftwich, Mrs. Blanchard and Mrs. A. C. Pruitt were in charge of the program. All members present contributed to the days program on literature, both poetry and prose in responding to roll call with a favorite poem or prose. In some cases the material was original as was this bit of versifying by Mrs. Earl Donaldson "Whoopee at Sixty" (or whistling in the dark).

"I finally made it! I knew that I would, if I could just keep doing the best that I could. I battled with babies and dishes and sin, but now I am sixty, and that means I'm in.

"Life's difficult hurdles are all left behind, I'm free as a hawk, I can really unwind. Romantic adventures are comfortably past, My painless new dentures are ones that will last.

"In youth my mistakes were all counted faux pas, but now I'm 'eccentric' and need not show cause. At thirty, you fear what folks may think of you, At sixty, you realize that they never do.

"From where I'm standing the future looks good, I wouldn't go back to the past if I could; At sixty I'm finding that life's so much fun, I feel down right sorry for those twenty-one". Charl Dee (11-22-59).

Mrs. Leftwich gave from memory, "Crossing the Bar" by Tennison, "I Envoi" by Kipling, "In Texas down by the Rio Grande" by Desperg, "Sick Inventions" by Inventors wife, also "I've got a letter parson from my son away out west. Bills in the legislater but he didn't say what for."

Mrs. Blanchard gave, "Pioneer Oh Pioneer" by Walt Whitman and "Daffodills" by William Wadsworth, then one of her own originals, "My Gold Field."

Edna Ferber's life and writings were chosen as the example of American prose for the program by Mrs. A. C. Pruitt. She gave excerpts from an interview which had been published last year in which a young reporter had spent the day in Miss Ferber's Manhattan apartment.

The reporter had questioned Miss Ferber about her feelings of America and the changes taking place in modern times. Miss Ferber, Pulitzer Prize winning novelist, writer of hit plays and best selling books, expressed a dissatisfaction about her beloved America in these words: "I don't know what is happening, but its happening. The problem is not material, not economic, it is spiritual. I fear nothing but blind prejudice, spite and jealousy."

In conclusion, short character sketches and quotations were given from the book "So Big" and "Cimarron".

Refreshments were served to 21 members.

Some Helpful Cooking Hints

HOW TO PLUMP RAISINS. Seedless raisins may be made plump by washing and spreading them in a moderate oven until the raisins puff up and lose their wrinkles.

FOR FLUFFY MERINGUE. Puffy, fluffy meringue is easy to make by separating eggs when they first come from the refrigerator and allowing the whites to stand at room temperature for awhile before beating them.

BREAD CRUMBS. To prepare soft bread crumbs, pull day-old bread into crumbs with fork or fingers. For dry bread crumbs, remove crusts from stale loaf and dry bread thoroughly in slow oven. Crush with rolling pin or put through food grinder or blender.

Backers Of Rockefeller Still Active

By RELMAN MORIN

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Undercurrents of sentiment for New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller are still running in New Hampshire today.

How deep and strong they may be is difficult to gauge since Rockefeller is not a candidate in the state's primary election March 8. Vice President Richard M. Nixon is running unopposed on the Republican side of the ballot. However—

1. The organization formed for Rockefeller is still intact. It became inactive after he announced last Dec. 26 that he would not try for the GOP nomination for president. "We're keeping our powder dry and waiting to see what will happen," says State Rep. Robert S. Monahan, one of the original leaders of the pro-Rockefeller movements.

2. They declined Gov. Wesley Powell's invitation to join the Nixon camp after Rockefeller's announcement in December.

3. Two men and a woman have filed for election as delegates "favorable" to Rockefeller. Another man is expected to enter the lists in the next few days. The four express varying degrees of optimism about their chances for election.

4. No movement to organize a write-in vote for Rockefeller has developed. However, it is generally expected that voters will inscribe his name on the presidential preference side of the ballot, known as the "beauty contest."

How many?

That's the big question. You hear of communities where pro-Rockefeller sentiment is reported still strong—frequent observers do not believe the feeling extends over the state as a whole.

5. The Greater Concord Chamber of Commerce invited attorney Robert P. Bass, a founder of the Rockefeller movement, to speak at a meet-the-candidates breakfast Wednesday. He accepted, stressed Rockefeller's qualifications, and quoted Nixon's statement, after Rockefeller withdrew, that the New York governor "is destined for continued leadership."

In short, the Rockefeller people remain hopeful that somehow, a ground swell will get underway and sweep Rockefeller to the nomination. They also hope that if they keep singing the praises of the New York governor, it will increase his potential write-in vote.

The hope seems slim. Nixon's backers — 23 have filed for election as delegates favorable to him — include most of the GOP political powerhouses in New Hampshire and Nixon's name is formally on the ballot, while Rockefeller's is not.

But Rockefeller backers point to Nixon himself as proof that write-ins sometimes work wonders. Nixon drew a stunning total of 23,000 write-in votes in New Hampshire four years ago at a time when there was talk of dumping him from the GOP ticket.

Rockefeller's name will be listed under those of delegate candidates seeking election as "favorable" to him. Under state law, the candidates were able to file as "favorable" without the governor's sanction and he was powerless to prevent his name from appearing on the ballot in this fashion.

The three who have already done so are Dr. A. John Lacaillade, Laconia optometrist, David D. Hewitt, publisher of a weekly newspaper in Hanover, and Miss Mary Koromilas of Dover.

A fourth, S. Russell Sterns, professor of engineering at Dartmouth College, is expected to file for Rockefeller.

They gave the same two reasons generally for advocating Rockefeller's nomination — "The people of New Hampshire should be given the right to choose" between him and Nixon, and because of Rockefeller's experience and his qualifications.

Gov. Powell said the main objective of the Nixon backers is to get out the vote so that Sen. John F. Kennedy, of Massachusetts, the principal Democratic candidate will not be able to "close the gap" between himself and Nixon.

Strictly speaking, Nixon and Kennedy are not in direct competition in the primary.

In the coming primary, Democrats and Republicans can only vote for candidates and delegates of their respective parties. The GOP vote is usually about 2½ times greater than the Democratic vote.

In 1956, for example, President Eisenhower received 56,464 votes in the Republican "beauty contest" to Sen. Estes Kefauver's 21,701 on the Democratic side. Both ran unopposed.

To enhance Kennedy's prestige nationally, the Democrats are working hard to close that 2½-to-1 "gap." The Republicans are working equally hard to get out the epublican vote so as to widen it.

Telescope Takes Ride On Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rocket-riding telescope has provided new information about the stars, says a Navy scientist.

Dr. Herbert Friedman of the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory said today the telescope was shot to a height of 88 miles last Nov. 17 from the White Sands N.M. missile range. It was powered by an Aerobee-hi rocket.

Friedman said the new technique offers a means of studying the stars and interstellar gas and dust until telescopes can be placed aboard orbiting satellites.

He told about it in a report for the American Assn. of Physics Teachers in New York.

A four-inch mirror in the telescope picked up images which were transmitted by radio to the earth. Scanning of the sky was accomplished by the spin of the rocket.

Main idea is to get more accurate readings of luminosity and temperatures of certain stars which give off invisible ultraviolet light.

2 Magazines Fear Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP)—Two major Protestant magazines say they believe Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), if elected president, would be subject to restrictions of the Roman Catholic Church.

The magazines, The Christian Century and The Lutheran, said Wednesday they base their view on the fact that Kennedy had withdrawn in 1951 from participation in an interfaith chapel service in Philadelphia. The magazines said the withdrawal was made at the suggestion of the Catholic Archdiocese there.

The chapel is a memorial to four chaplains who lost their lives in the torpedoing of a troop ship off Greenland during World War II.

The Christian Century said Kennedy had declined to attend the service on the ground that he felt he had "no credentials," because the Philadelphia Archdiocese was unable to support the chapel built in the lower floor of a Protestant church.

The Christian Century said that "if Mr. Kennedy were president, he would be subject to the same kind of discipline that he acknowledges as senator."

The Lutheran said editorially that if Kennedy became the Democratic presidential nominee, the religious debate would "follow him into the White House, if he should be elected."

His attendance at a Protestant service would be cause for confession to his priest and subsequent penance," the paper added. "His church could properly admonish him, because it does not recognize that there is any true religion other than its own."

The Lutheran, however, praised Kennedy for his "wisdom in facing the matter" of religious belief opening.

Guterma Convicted: More Legal Action Is Scheduled

NEW YORK (AP) — Alexander L. Guterma, who built a fantastic financial empire and saw it crumble overnight, has been convicted of conspiring to withhold financial reports from the government.

The conspiracy charge, based on Securities and Exchange Commission regulations, is only one of a long line of legal actions against Guterma that probably will take years to untangle.

He is accused in other indictments of milking the firms he took over of millions of dollars through devious schemes.

The jury found Guterma, an associate, Robert J. Eveleigh, and two corporations which Guterma controlled guilty of conspiring to wilfully withhold financial reports concerning the F. L. Jacobs Co. which the law required them to file.

Judge Lloyd F. MacMahon told the jury that he "would have voted as you did" and added: "I think the evidence was overwhelming."

He revoked the bail of Guterma and Eveleigh and ordered them held in jail for sentencing Feb. 3.

The Jacobs concern was a holding company which Guterma used to acquire many of his varied interests. The convicted Chatham and Comficor were allegedly "dummy" corporations he used to siphon company funds into his own pocket.

Judge's Precaution All Goes For Naught

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Superior Court Judge M. G. Woodward, noting the spread of flu in Stockton, picked several alternate jurors Tuesday for an arson-insurance fraud case.

"I don't want this case delayed," he said.

The next day, the trial was put over a week.

Judge Woodward has flu.

New Speed Record Set By Airliner

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Dr. Jose Castro Villagrana, 72, one of Mexico's most eminent surgeons, died Wednesday. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Sunday.

F. L. Jacobs Co., originally a Detroit auto parts firm, is now in the hands of trustees and pleaded guilty to the conspiracy charge at the beginning of the trial.

Until the government brought charges of SEC violations, Guterma was president and board chairman of Jacobs, and Eveleigh was vice president and treasurer.

Two of the remaining charges against Guterma involve schemes he allegedly used to milk the Bon Ami Co., a part of his financial structure, of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Woman Wants Only Part Of Loot Back

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The city police radio log noted that officer Tom Paxton called headquarters about a woman who had a theft complaint.

A car and officer Ashley Elliot were detailed to get the facts Wednesday night.

He reported: "Woman told him her girl friend had taken her mailbox and her husband. She wants mailbox back."

1,000 Texas Republicans At Fund-Raising Dinners

By The Associated Press

Nearly 1,000 GOP faithfuls poured into fund raising dinners in Texas Wednesday night and heard the Republican Party praised and Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) derided.

Some 350 South Texas Republicans paid an estimated $40,000 to attend the pheasant and wild rice dinner at San Antonio to hear Dewey Short, assistant secretary of the Army, and nearly 600 persons jammed the Houston dinner where Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) spoke. The Houston Republicans donated an estimated $60,000 for the GOP 1960 campaign kitty.

The Texas events were just two of 80 such dinners held Wednesday night across the country.

A dinner planned at Tyler was cancelled after officials were unable to sell enough tickets.

President Eisenhower, Vice President Nixon and other Republican dignitaries visited the dinners via a nation-wide closed circuit television hookup.

Lewis Wasserman of San Antonio, co-chairman of the GOP finance committee, sent a telegram to Los Angeles and noted the message was being sent from "the heart of the land of the Lyndon tree." The main GOP dinner with President Eisenhower attending was held in Los Angeles.

Moorman got a laugh from the San Antonio crowd when he described a linden tree by saying: "Lindens are trees of fine proportions with large cordate leaves and cymose yellowish flowers, which abound in honey."

Short pointed out the President's inability to please everyone and said some of the men the President has failed to please "are men with a near incurable itch for the presidency, some of them are not too far from here. If these Monday quarterbacks and backseat drivers who are raising all the fuss had a thimbleful of sense, they'd be half wits."

Senator Dirksen told the Houston dinner crowd that national "survival is going to require emphasis and the accent" in the 1960 presidential campaign.

Dirksen referred to President Eisenhower as a man of destiny and a great Texan.

Dirksen was introduced by H. J. (Jack) Porter, national Republican committeeman, who called him one of the greatest conservatives in the nation.

Porter was introduced by Thad Hutcheson, state GOP chairman. Hutcheson said several tables had to be added at the last minute to handle the Houston crowd.

"It is a very comfortable feeling for Republicans in Texas to have too big a crowd to handle. With tonight's dinner in San Antonio this means nearly 1,000 Texans have paid and paid well to-night to assure a Republican victory in November."

Vice President Nixon, in the lead for the GOP nomination for president, sent a telegram to the dinners in which he predicted a Republican victory in November.

Assistant Secretary Short drew a thunderous hand when he said: "God pity Russia or any other country that starts a 'shooting' war."

"The U.S., in spite of conflicting reports, mistakes, waste and extravagances, tonight is stronger than it has ever been in its peace time history," he said.

Reject Offer By Lone Star

DAINGERFIELD, Tex. (AP)—United Steelworkers Local 4134 at Lone Star Steel Company's Daingerfield plant voted Wednesday to reject the company's latest contract offer.

The local asked its negotiating committee to seek the entire Big Steel agreement.

Jim Smith, head of the union negotiating committee, said more than 2,000 members cast votes. Results were announced in the local.

Unless some agreement can be reached there is the "strong possibility of a strike," Smith said.

Negotiations will be resumed Tuesday in Tyler.

Union members have been working without a contract since Sept. 7.

The company's latest proposal offered a basic wage increase of 7 cents an hour with the company assuming full costs of insurance premiums, a 10-cent hourly pay boost with Lone Star and its employes sharing insurance costs as in their last agreement.

Lone Star employes have been receiving $3.11 an hour, the basic wage paid by major steel producers.

Prison Radio System Found

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — State Prison officials here have uncovered a secret radio network, run by and for prisoners, that was used to keep check on guards' movements.

The network's tiny transmitters sent voice signals to every inmate's radio, but the weak beams did not penetrate the thick prison walls.

None of the authorities here knew about the network until prisoners staged a riot Jan. 6. In the ensuing shakedown, the transmitters were discovered.

Warden Mark S. Richmond says that the transmitters were found inside radios belonging to certain prisoners. He said other prisoners who owned radios could pick up the broadcasts. "And almost every inmate had his own radio through which he could listen," the warden said.

The prison has 750 inmates.

Richmond said the network was used chiefly for keeping tabs on guards. If a prisoner were doing something wrong, and a guard headed his way, the prisoner would be informed via the network.

The Jan. 6 uprising lasted a few hours. Although no one was seriously injured, the building was damaged.

Radiation Fails To Harm Four Men

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. (AP)—Four men exposed to nuclear radiation Jan. 15 at this atomic laboratory town are back at work, and an official spokesman says they were unharmed.

A large jug holding 38 grams of plutonium in nitric acid broke. At the time, the spokesman said the plutonium was "enough to contaminate the room." The four, whose names were withheld, were in the room but "a good distance away, which was fortunate," he said.

Three of the men were scientists, the other a technician.

Girl Convicted Of Slaying Negro

SAVANNAH, GA. (AP) — Katie Ann Creel, 17-year-old white girl, faces life in prison for shooting to death a young Negro she mistook on a darkened street for a former boyfriend.

Willie Joel Ross, 17, was shot through the lungs and heart last July 4 just a month after he had graduated from high school.

Miss Creel testified before being convicted Wednesday that she thought Ross was a former boyfriend who had beaten her up during an argument.

Epidemic Closes School Lunchrooms

ECLECTIC, Ala. (AP) — All school lunchrooms in Elmore County have been closed because of an outbreak of infectious hepatitis, a liver infection commonly called jaundice.

School Supt. Ross McQueen said 62 cases had been reported in the county. The lunchrooms were ordered closed indefinitely Wednesday.

A state health official said about 300 first and second grade pupils will be vaccinated against the contagious disease.

Dr. Nesbit Takes Course At Houston

Dr. Jack A. Nesbit of the Optometric office of Drs. Blum and Nesbit attended a Postgraduate Contact Lens Fitting course at the University of Houston on Jan. 23-27. The course was taught by members of the faculty of the University of Houston College of Optometry, and included discussion of the latest techniques and methods used in the fitting of contact lenses.

It was pointed out that contact lenses can now be worn successfully by approximately 90 to 95 per cent of those people who have a great enough desire to wear them. It was emphasized that, while contact lenses are used mainly as a method of avoiding the wearing of glasses, there are people having certain ocular conditions whose vision could be helped satisfactorily with spectacles, but who often can attain considerably better vision with contact lenses. Among these conditions are keratoconus a condition in which the cornea is shaped somewhat like a cone, and monocular aphakia, the condition in which one eye has been operated for cataract but the other eye has not.

Also included in the course was a discussion of the new bifocal contact lenses. These are largely still in the developmental stage, and it may be another year or more before all patients desiring them can be fitted successfully with bifocal contact lenses. In the meantime, people who need bifocals can wear contact lenses for distance vision, and wear spectacles in addition to the contacts for reading and other close work.

Dennard, whose salary would have been upped to $20,000 in September, said he will return to his native Texas for personal reasons.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

Enthusiasm. In the final analysis, it seems that the older one gets, the less he has of it. With a few notable exceptions, of course, such as one's outlook on politics, the well-established theory that the younger generation is going to the dogs, et cetera. For it seems that every generation since time began has been a little but worse than the last in the eyes of the oldsters.

With the ebbing of this thing called enthusiasm comes a more critical eye when viewing the younger set as a whole. However, if you would care to disprove this "going to the bowwows" theory somewhat, there would be no better time and place to begin than this evening in the Travis Junior High gym, which is the site of the Lamar-Travis 7th grade basketball clash.

Plenty of youthful, exuberant enthusiasm will be displayed in that one, unless I miss my guess. A healthy rivalry has already been built up between the two competing schools, although both are still living in complete harmony under the same roof.

So batten down the rafters, boys, and turn 'em loose. And may the better five come out victorious.

Tors Carving Impressive Niche

WHO can stop Lamesa?

It's beginning to look as though nobody in 3-AAA will be able to touch them from here on in. For the Tornadoes sounded an ominous note Tuesday night on their home court, as they humiliated defending champ Lake View, 91-49. It was an awesome display of power on their part and completely eclipsed and obscured the previous high point total of 74 which had been high for the district games played to date. That 74 had also been compiled by Lamesa, however, in a prior thumping of Snyder.

That 27-2 lead which they ran up in the first quarter of the Lake View game bordered on the ridiculous. As mentioned, they appear to be unstoppable.

Although it is doubtful that they are "riding for a fall", the most likely giant-killer among the 3-4A crop gets its chance this Friday night, as once-beaten Colorado City assumes the task on its home court. The Wolves were upset by Sweetwater Tuesday to be bounced out of the ranks of the unbeaten, while Lamesa rolls along with a 3-0 district record.

Snyder's Tigers take, on two-time loser Lake View here Friday in the district's other featured tussle in a game which could go either way. The Tigers are both hungry and "due", while the Chiefs have been soundly trounced by only Lamesa, while taking the measure of Sweetwater and losing by nine points to Colorado City.

Leave It To Amos . . .

THE BLUE DEVIL, (8th grade) tussle with Runnels Monday was a fun dandy crowd pleaser eventually won by the Underwooders in overtime, 33-31. One of the Runnels boys made dwarfs out of the Blue Devil five, however, being a six-footer plus.

Had an inquisitive, eavesdropping ear tuned in to a discussion of same between Ralph Laswell and Ace Amos, with Ralph advancing the impression that the young timbertopper looked to be quite a bit older than the rest of the boys playing.

Which set the stage for the Amos-ism. "Well, I don't know, but some kid up in the stands kept calling him 'daddy'."

Aggies Embark On Coastal Invasion

COLLEGE STATION— (SpI) — Texas Aggie cagers, 12-1 for the season and on top of the Southwest conference standings by a half-game in the win column, are in the second week of a lay-off for semester examinations.

Bob Rogers' Aggies resume conference play Feb. 6 against Texas Tech here following a two-game invasion of the West Coast where they meet San Francisco Feb. 1 and Santa Clara on Feb. 2.

The Aggies have won four of five conference contests against 3-1 records for SMU and Arkansas. They can enjoy the top spot at least until Feb. 2 when Arkansas meets Tech at Lubbock.

The Aggies will fly to San Francisco Saturday morning, Jan. 30, for their western trip and will return Wednesday, Feb. 3. The Frisco game will be played at Frisco while the Santa Clara contest will be at San Jose.

Last outing for the Cadets was the 61-43 win over Rice in Houston Jan. 19.

Through 13 games the Aggies have been led in scoring by 6-5 Sophomore Carroll Broussard of Port Arthur. Broussard, only soph in the starting lineup, has scored 223 points for a 17.1 per game average, even though SMU limited him to four points and Rice to eight. His two best nights pointwise were against Texas—29 points in each of the two games against the Longhorns.

Wayne Lawrence, 6-7 senior from Pawcatuck, Conn., is next with 154 points and is the leading rebounder with 101. Following these two players are Pat and Don Stanley, the Buna twins with 121 and 111, respectively. Wayne Annett of Chicota has 109 and Kelly Chapman of Owensboro, Ky., has 95 points.

Rogers' starting lineup in all 13 games to date has come from these six players. Chapman has started the past two games in place of Don Stanley. Earlier in the season he also started once in the place of Annett.

Broussard also leads A&M scoring in league play with 77 points in five games for a 15.4 average. Lawrence is next with 61 followed by Don Stanley with 57, Annett 44, Pat Stanley 41 and Chapman 31.

Lawrence also leads rebounding for league games with 38 followed by Broussard's 33 and 30 each for Don and Pat Stanley.

And Aggies have beaten Baylor and Texas at home and TCU and Rice on the road, losing a two-pointer to SMU at College Station after trailing by 14 points midway of the second half.

After the West Coast road trip the Aggies close out the season with nine conference games, playing Tech here Feb. 6, Arkansas at Fayetteville the 9th and Rice here Feb. 13. A&M plays Texas at Austin Feb. 16 and return home to meet Arkansas on the 20th. The Aggies play SMU in Dallas Feb. 23 and Tech in Lubbock the 26th. Final two games of the season have TCU here Feb. 29 and Baylor at Waco on March 3.

Highlight of the season, to date was the overflow crowd here Jan. 15 when the Aggies defeated Texas by 11 points and filled White Coliseum for the first time in the six years the new plant has been finished. Over 8,500 people witnessed that one with another 400 fans turned away.

Cager Charged With Scalping Of Tickets

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Georgia Tech basketball star Dave Denton has been given a suspended $1 fine for scalping tickets.

Denton and two other Tech students pleaded no contest before Municipal Judge James Webb Wednesday.

The judge said Denton was widely known as a member of the Tech team, now ranked sixth in the nation in The Associated Press poll, and that in his opinion there was nothing at all in this case to detract from his standing.

The three students were arrested Monday night shortly before the Tech - Kentucky basketball game. Atlanta detectives said Denton tried to sell them two $2 tickets for $20.

Discovery of what is true and practice of what is good are the most important objects of philosophy, wrote Voltaire, the French dramatist-reformer, who died in 1778.

HUNT PREDICTS STALEMATE

Final Franchise Still In Doubt

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The American Football League winds up its first annual meeting today attempting to select its eighth team but with small prospect of doing it.

President Lamar Hunt of Dallas predicted that it wouldn't be accomplished although there are four applicants. He said this would necessitate a telephone ballot requiring a week or 10 days.

Atlanta, Oakland and San Francisco already have submitted bids in person while two Miami groups have asked to be considered. One of those, headed by Bob Neal, representative of a Cleveland syndicate will have a chance only if it fails to obtain a National Football League franchise and the AFL isn't filled by that time. The other, whose group wasn't identified by Hunt, will not be considered at all.

Hunt said a study of the relative merits of the applicants was the reason for postponement of the selection. Stadium facilities are the main point.

General opinion was that Oakland had the best chance of getting the open franchise because it is backed by Barron Hilton, owner of the Los Angeles club. He wants that city in the league to furnish a natural rivalry for his team. A unanimous vote is necessary to select the eighth member.

Hunt said, however, that he didn't think this necessarily meant Oakland would be picked. "Hilton wouldn't hold out if he felt the remainder of the league wanted some other team," he explained.

Atlanta, Oakland and San Francisco have all posted their $25,000 deposit money and Hunt said he felt each was a worthy applicant. But the league ranks the best of the three.

Oakland and San Francisco are considered virtually as one applicant since they would use the same stadia. Each has said it can have Candlestick Park or Kezar Stadium.

The AFL, which met late last night to get all details, but of the way preparatory to beginning balloting on the eighth club, watched the meeting of the National Football League at Miami.

The NFL is considering putting a club in Dallas in opposition to Hunt's AFL franchise.

Ruth Bookout Tops Golfers

Ladies Day golfing of this past Tuesday was highlighted by the showing of Ruth Bookout, who won the event of the day and also swept the individual honors in the process.

She was credited with having the low gross, the low net, and low putts for the day.

Ladies participating in the golfing activity in addition to Mrs. Bookout were Barbara Dyer, Isabel Wilson, Rhoda Black, and Jo Birdwell.

This coming Tuesday the ladies will hold their luncheon and business meeting at the B&B Steak House beginning at 11:30.

Lincoln Is Downed By Lubbock Dunbar

Lincoln High engaged Lubbock Dunbar here last night and bit off quite a chunk in the process, as the Lubbock team has compiled a 20-1 record for the season.

Their sole loss suffered was an overtime affair at the hands of Odessa.

Lincoln outscored but never outhustled, went down to a 66-52 defeat although the local quint led early in the contest.

The Lincoln girls also went under to the tune of 52-45, but the locals' Louise Archie topped all scorers with 28 points.

In the boys game Lincoln mounted the offensive early, and held a 17-15 advantage at the end of the initial stanza of play. However, with the count 18-16 for Lincoln, the Lubbock team caught fire and jumped into a 24-18 lead before Lincoln could recover, and went on to dominate the point making from that point on.

William Malone, a tall, rangy player who looked and played like Wilt the Stilt, was the difference in the game, as he hit from everywhere to lead his team to victory. He easily topped all scorers with 26 points, while Robert Deary and J. D. Robinson followed with 13 and 10, respectively, for Dunbar.

Charlie Archie was high for Lincoln with 14, while Randolph Williams popped the nets for 11 and John Choyce looped in 10. They were followed by Mack Taylor and Beauford Thompson, each of whom contributed 6. Joe Phillips, who had 4, and A. C. Thompson with 1.

The entire Lincoln team handled the ball well and were aggressive under the boards, while Williams looked especially good in the ball handling and dribbling phases and pleased the capacity crowd by stealing the ball from the opponents on more than one occasion and following up with drive-ins.

Beauford Thompson also electrified the gathering a couple of times with long set shots made good one of which he canned from mid-court and another from near mid-court.

As mentioned, Louise Archie was the biggest noise in the Lincoln girls' attack, her 28 points topping both team's efforts. Bobbie Morrison of Lubbock was next in the scoring parade, as she led her team with a total of 22 points.

The Lincoln girls fell victim to a strong second half in that game, as the local quint held a 30-27 lead at intermission, but were able to rack up on 15 points during a second half which fround Dunbar totaling 31.

Rounding out the Lincoln scoring were Louline Brooks with 12 points, and Pearlie Scott, who had 5.

Last night's games marked the final home encounters of the season for Lincoln. They next see action at Slaton on February 5. The locals can boast of a perfect record for the year against that team, as the boys have been successful in trouncing that team three times, while the girls were victorious in their sole outing.

Lamar And Travis To Clash Today

The Lamar and Travis 7th graders clash today for the second time this season, as Lamar seeks revenge for a recent defeat and Travis attempts to prove that the first encounter was no fluke.

Last week's action found Travis toppling Lamar by a 34-25 count, primarily on the strength of the shooting and rebounding of Leslie Brown and Tommy LaFountain. That victory enabled Travis to grace the Lamesa Tournament of this past Saturday, which they went on to win by blasting Andrews and host Lamesa by 37-22 and 20-18 scores.

Travis, coached by Bob O'Day, got off to a terrapin start this season, dropping their initial three contests, but reversed the trend abruptly and went on to win their next seven in a row before succumbing to the Roscoe 8th grade team this past Tuesday.

On the other side of the fence the B111 Hartsfield-mentored Lamar team also started slowly, as their first four games However they have bounced back to break even in their past four outings and sport wins over both Runnels and Goliad of Big Spring.

Today's battle will be reeled off in the Travis [illegible] with the game time being 6 o'clock.

NO CARD FOR THIS HANDICAP—Stewart (Skip) Alexander, left, who recovered from severe burns received in a 1950 plane crash and came back to win a berth on the 1951 U. S. Expansion Talk Still Foremost

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Expansion could come to the National Football League today if:

1. Agreement can be reached on how many teams to admit.

2. A decision can be reached on when to admit the new franchises —1960 or 1961, or even later.

3. A plan acceptable to at least 10 owners can be worked out on alignment of conferences, schedules and player allotment.

Wednesday, the owners meeting on the eighth day of their annual winter meeting simplified expansion if that is their pleasure. An amendment to the constitution was passed reducing from a unanimous vote to 10-12ths the number necessary to take on new teams.

George Halas of the Chicago Bears, chairman of the league's expansion committee, hailed the amendment as the most important change in the NFL in 25 years.

George Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, and Walter Wolfner of the Chicago Cardinals were the only negative votes on the amendment proposed by Edwin Anderson, president of the Detroit Lions.

The new commissioner, Pete Rozelle, who took over the chair at the meeting Wednesday, said the owners would vote on expansion either late Thursday or Friday. The decision could admit any combination of one to four teams.

Representatives of Dallas, Minneapolis-St. Paul, St. Louis and Miami, Fla., are here waiting for the league's decision. Each has applied for a franchise. The rumor is that Dallas will get in this year with the others approved for 1961 or later.

While the discussion on expansion went on here, Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League commented from Dallas that if the NFL should come into Dallas, it would "not be considered a kiss of love," indicating it might create strife between the two leagues. He said it was a poor example of harmony he sought.

Rozelle retorted: "Tell Mr. Foss that if the NFL does expand into Dallas it would hope to achieve the same harmony the NFL desires in New York, Los Angeles and perhaps. The AFL has team territories of New York and Los Angeles and is considering invading the older league's San Francisco grounds."

City League Cagers Will Meet Tonight

An organization meeting for the Snyder City League (basketball) will be held tonight at 7:30 at the Boys Club, reports Bob Womack.

It is urged that all prospective sponsors and those interested in playing in the league attend the meeting.

Blue Devils Enter Sweetwater Meet

Coach Ned Underwood's Eighth Grade Blue Devils travel to Sweetwater tomorrow with their work cut out for them.

The event is the Sweetwater Tournament which will be run off Friday and Saturday, and an imposing array of eighth grade quintets has been lined up for the session.

The Blue Devils have been placed in the double-tough lower bracket of play, with their first opponent being South Abilene, a team which has compiled an 11-1 season record thus far. That game will get underway at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening, with the winner and losers of that and the Colorado City-Abilene Lincoln tilts competing in Saturday's second round action.

South Abilene is one of the tourney favorites, and has a couple boys who top the six-foot mark.

Teams making up the upper bracket include Roscoe, Roby, Sweetwater, and Stamford.

The Blue Devils will enter the tournament with a 10-3 won-lost record, and are currently sporting a five-game wiping streak. Last week found them winning the Lamesa Tournament, which is the only tourney that they have entered for the year.

Norwegian Hearth Holds Special Spark

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Winter Olympics planners, faced with several problems, apparently have settled the latest crisis—where to get the flame for the Olympics torch.

Greek Olympics officials reflected traditional Mt. Olympus as a lighting place, so the 1960 staff Wednesday switched to Norway.

The flame for next month's games now is to come from a cottage hearth in Morgedal, considered the cradle of modern Norwegian skiing. The cottage belonged to Sondre Norheim, a 19th century Norwegian ski star.

The flame likely will be flown to Los Angeles, then brought here by a relay of 600 high school runners, each carrying the torch a mile.

Frank McGuire is in his eighth season as basketball coach at the University of North Carolina.

There's Really More Corn Than Sophistication In NYC

By INEZ ROBB

As a small town girl who came to New York to seek fame and fortune, the one unchanging aspect of this everchanging metropolis that impresses me most is the constant quantity of corn in its behavior pattern.

In the movies, New Yorkers look frightfully sophisticated. And in the Park Avenue Branch of its literature, they sound overwhelmingly recherche. But New York is composed of persons who hail from Ohio and points West. Galloping sophistication seems to assault very few, no matter what their trade or how long they live here.

These long thoughts were reinforced a few nights ago when I went to a dinner party on Park Avenue, which at once establishes that it had class. But the hostess was fighting combat fatigue because of the parochial character of her glittering guests, representing finance, politics and the seven lively arts.

A bona fide New Yorker, her mistake was to ignore the fact that in a city of more than 8,000,000 souls, the grapevine is so cozy and efficient that 60 guests in widely divergent fields are as fully aware of what each is doing as if the whole kit and kaboodle lived in Caldwell, Idaho. And you just can't explain it by extrasensory perception.

Her next mistake was to invite 24 persons to dinner and the rest of the 60 to join the first group at 10:30 p.m. for midnight supper. That was the signal for all hell to break loose.

When word percolated on the party line, the guests invited at 7:30 p.m. for dinner assured the guests invited at 10:30 p.m. for supper that they, the 10:30 p.m. contingent, had heard incorrectly. 'Nonsense' said the 10:30 p.m. mob; it was the 7:30 p.m. guests who needed hearing aids.

Then each group got to thinking that perhaps it was in the wrong. So 60 persons called the hostess to find out whether the party was at 7:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

When the situation was finally straightened out and the phone quit ringing, the hostess began to wonder if, in fact, these people were her friends and what had ever made her think them so attractive in the first place.

Next, as all hostesses must, this hostess discovered 72 hours before the dinner that she was in desperate need of that scarcest of all the world's scarce commodities, an extra man. In fact, she needed two extra men to balance the dinner table.

Her mistake was not to draw fresh blood. But in New York an extra man is an extra man. There were two such men on the 10:30 p.m. or supper list. These she called and invited to the 7:30 p.m. dinner.

So now, in this enormous megapolis, where firmly fixed legend says no one ever knows his neighbors, word quickly spread that the hostess had changed her mind and invited all the guests to dinner. That's when the dam gave way.

Supper guests who had planned to come after the theatre hastily cancelled tickets and phoned to say they would arrive on the dot of 7:30 p.m., despite their previous misunderstanding.

Well, the long and the short of it is that the telephone company is declaring an extra dividend, that the number of confused supper guests who came to dinner nicely balanced the number of confused dinner guests who arrived for supper and that the hostess, after tearing up her guest lists, has gone to Jamaica to recuperate.

Financing Education Is Problem

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato: Who should pay for a boy's college education, his parents or Uncle Sam?

At present millions of U.S. parents are impoverishing their old age in order to help their offspring win one of civilization's most prized status symbols, a university degree.

Most student shoulder a share of the burden by working part time to meet some of their expenses. But the main financial blow falls on their parents—that is, unless their son is one of those rare lads who can hit a bull's eye with a football at 60 yards.

Many a family has to mortgage its homestead in order that its tribal scion can pursue subjects such as "The History of Early Roman Band Instruments" at old Siwash. Maybe father and mother make do with an old suit or old dress so junior can buy a tux to attend his fraternity dance.

The only help Uncle Sam gives in most cases is to allow the parents a $600 annual deduction from their gross income for each son or daughter still in college after the age of 18. This small deduction, many parents feel, is a downright affrontery of common sense.

An embittered father I know had something to say on the subject.

"When you get right down to it, a good case can be made for the idea that the federal government, not me, ought to pay for sending my boy through college," he declared.

"I'm just a sucker, in a way. I am breaking my back and risking bankruptcy so that my son will get his sheepskin. It is worth while for him, as it will help him get a better job.

"It is just $10,000 down the drain.

"Now, on the other hand, Uncle Sam will make a lot of money out of that $10,000 my son's education cost me.

Campaigns Make Uexciting Start

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within the space of a few days Democrats and Republicans have opened their 1960 campaign against each other. It's been an unexciting start. But they've set the stage for all that will follow.

The non-inflammatory beginning reflects not so much a lack of energy on the part of the politicians as a lack of burning issues that can excite the voters.

If there's anything unusual about this campaign, as it gets under way, it's the contrast with the beginning of the 1952 campaign when the country was split by McCarthyism and the Korean War.

Neither the Eisenhower administration nor the Democrats, who control Congress, have shown any fierce zeal for years in promoting or pushing anything more than ordinary programs.

The reason probably lies in this: That the American public seems fairly content. Otherwise, there would be tremendous pressures to get more far-reaching things done and there would be a lot of public excitement.

Unless something unforeseen occurs between now and election day the mild tone of the Democratic and Republican campaign openings is likely to continue.

If so, then the voters in November are apt to choose the next president not so much on party or party programs as upon his individual personality.

Last Saturday night at a big dinner here the Democratice-srp dinner here the Democratic presidential hopefuls ganged up to make a punching bag of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Wednesday night, as a speaker at one of a series of Republican dinners across the country, Nixon had a chance to hit back. But he replied in subdued tones, like a man determined not to let himself get needled into losing his temper.

The big speech of the night came from President Eisenhower in Los Angeles.

He and Nixon teamed up on one point. Both replied to Democratic criticism about the adequacy of American defenses against a Soviet attack.

Both men said our defenses are sufficient to discourage the Soviets from military adventure against the United States. The argument on defense will probably continue through the campaign.

Junior Editors Quiz on EXPRESSIONS

QUESTION: Why do we use the expression "Your ship came in"?

• • •

ANSWER: As man began to explore the world in which he lived, he began to set sail on voyages of discovery.

The growth of trade brought many men to the sea. In the 1800's, the clippers left New England seaports on long journeys around the world. The usual trip was two years. A ship returning from such a voyage would be loaded with treasure from many lands.

When a ship had been gone two years, the families of the crew and the ship owner would begin to set watch for it. Many of the houses near the shore were built with small, railed balconies from which the sea could be seen. These balconies were called the Captain's Walk—or sometimes the Widow's Walk.

A ship returning after a long voyage usually brought a fine return in money. And so the expression "Your ship must have come in" came to mean any venture that was successful.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: If you are near any coast town—particularly in New England—look for old houses with the square platform on top, like the one drawn here. Color this drawing, making the sea blue and the rooftop shingles brown.

More Beef In Diet Is Being Urged

DALLAS (AP)—Americans are eating 81 pounds of beef a year but the former president of the Cattlemen's Association says they should eat 100 pounds per person each year.

Jay Taylor, of Amarillo, former president of the American National Cattlemen's Assn., said Wednesday that "What we need more than anything right now is a good advertising program."

During his term as president, Taylor led a movement to promote beef nationally. He said per capita consumption has increased from 67 pounds to 81 pounds.

"But it should be 100 pounds per person," he said at the opening of the association's four-day meeting.

More than 2,500 cattlemen from 40 states are expected for the convention.

Speakers today will include Gov. Price Daniel and U.S. Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco.

Taylor said the recent drop in meat prices has hurt a number of people, but the decrease might be a blessing to others in sounding a warning not to over produce.

"We can't continue to increase numbers of cattle without running into trouble," he said. He believes cattle prices will remain good through the first six months of the year.

At a business session C. W. McMillan, executive secretary of the association, warned that agricultural chemicals must be used properly and the industry must continue to maintain the public's confidence in beef.

U. S. Tanker Surrounded By Problem

ST. NAZAIRS, France (AP)—A spokesman for the North Atlantic Marine Co. said Wednesday he thought a solution to the problem surrounding the U.S. tanker Wang Importer would be worked out soon.

The tanker is under a court seizure and two firms are trying to collect debts for which they claim the ship's owners are liable.

The 17,000-ton American ship was impounded a week ago by order of a St. Nazaire Commercial Court. The crew of the tanker was paid Tuesday.

The court order was handed down after the Societe Algerienne Des Petroles claimed it was owed $93,643, and the Societe Egyptienne Maritime Commerciale claimed $30,000 dollars from the owners, North Atlantic Marine of New York.

The U.S. Embassy in Paris offered its help to reach some kind of temporary solution. Through the embassy, the U.S. Navy Ship Importation Service agreed to underwrite insurance on the vessel and French authorities agreed to take care of certain details related to docking the ship.

The Wang Importer is likely to be in dock at St. Nazaire for several months while legal and financial questions are worked out.

Purchase Of School Site Is Protested

DALLAS (AP)—Oak Cliff homeowners vigorously protested the Dallas school board purchase Wednesday night of a site rumored for a new Negro high school.

School officials had declined to say specifically the new school will be a Negro high school, but location of the 12-acre tract puts it in an area heavily populated by Negroes.

Friendly Bandit Frightened Away

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A gunman entered a delicatessen Wednesday night and announced: "I am the friendly bandit. Give me what you got."

Anthony R. Mulec, 28, part owner of the store, was handed over change from the cash drawer when suddenly, said Mulec, from his residence at the rear came a shout: "a lot of gunfire and people hollering, and this 'friendly bandit' suddenly ran out, jingling loudly from about $60 in silver in his pockets."

Mulec's daughter, Denise, 3, was watching a TV Western. "I guess the TV scared him," said Mulec of the holdup man.

All Top Candidates Have Suffered Ills

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The six men currently regarded as top contenders for presidential nominations this year were not always as frisky as they appear today.

The ills of the flesh have assailed in varying degrees all of those who figured prominently in a campaign likely to put a premium on physical stamina.

In seven years in office President Eisenhower has had three serious illnesses, including a heart attack, and voters can be expected to pay more than ordinary attention to the health of the prospective candidates.

As the likely Republican nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon maintains that he has no worries on that score.

But vigorous as he appears, Nixon at 47 is subject in times of stress to what he calls a nervous stomach. He also has a touch of hay fever now and then.

Because he has high blood pressure, Nixon watches his diet closely, particularly while campaigning. Doctors keep a check on his cholesterol (blood fat) count because of his blood pressure.

Aside from infrequent rounds of golf, Nixon takes little exercise except to walk from his office in the Senate office building to the Capitol, a distance of about two city blocks, a couple of times a day.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), 42, an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, gives every evidence of having recovered from a spinal injury for which he underwent surgery in October 1954.

Kennedy was injured when the torpedo boat he commanded in World War II was hit by a Japanese destroyer. He first was operated on in 1945 but his condition worsened in the early months of 1954 and he was forced to use crutches.

He was on the operating table four hours that year, and returned to the hospital in February 1955 for removal of a metal plate that appeared to be slowing his recovery.

Those who see Kennedy slide down comfortably in a chair these days and toss his leg casually over its arm are convinced he has no further spinal trouble.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), 48, another avowed candidate, has not had a serious illness since pneumonia almost took his life when he was 7 year old.

However, he has had two operations, one for a double hernia, and the other an appendectomy. Those who see Humphrey going at top speed on long hour days have no fears about his health.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who obviously is available for his party's top nomination, is the only one of the group who has had a recorded heart attack.

Johnson, now 51, was stricken at the home of a friend in Middleburg, Va., in July 1955 with what was described as a moderately severe heart attack. He had been operated on in March of that year for removal of a kidney stone.

Johnson is something of a despair to his wife and doctors who want him to take things a lot easier than he does. But the Democratic leader is a wound-up man who has trouble slowing down, even when he takes a rest on his Texas ranch.

None of his colleagues gives a thought these days to the Johnson heart attack. His dynamo has not slowed down—and he seems as vigorous, health. And President Eisenhower's recovery from his heart attack has gone a long way to remove that ailment as a barrier to election to the presidency.

Like Nixon, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) has been bothered in the past by high blood pressure. Symington, 58, is an unannounced candidate who says he would like to be president.

Symington's recovery from a March 1947 sympathectomy appears to have been complete. This is a delicate operation in which the sympathetic nerves to the spine are severed to relieve high blood pressure.

A golfer who often shoots in the 70s, Symington was back on the course three months after the operation. He says he feels fine physically and looks it.

Adlai E. Stevenson, who currently is avoiding being proposed as a potential nominee, has had kidney stone trouble, like Johnson.

In June 1952 shortly before he was nominated for president by the Democrats, the first time, Stevenson underwent an operation for removal of kidney stones. He had a similar operation in April 1954.

However, Stevenson's doctors annually pronounce him in good health. He is now 60 and the pace he maintains indicates he has few worries on that score.

Although not regarded as among the top contenders, Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) has declared himself a serious candidate for the nomination. The 66-year-old Morse has had some difficulties with animals.

At an Orkney Springs, Va., saddle horse show in 1951 Morse was knocked cold by a horse's kick. The senator suffered a broken jaw and lost some teeth. In 1949 he was injured when he was thrown to the ground in a sulky race at Salem, Ore.

In 1953 Morse collapsed in the Senate reading room after a two-hour speech opposing confirmation of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense. He attributed this to what he called a "codeine blackout," explaining he had been taking the pain-killing drug because his injured jawbone had been scraped to remove a slight infection.

Recently, he fell out of a hayloft and sprained his wrist.

Student Revolt In Paris Fizzles

PARIS (AP) — For a time, a tiny corner of the Sorbonne was a vest-pocket imitation of the barricaded insurrection in Algiers. But it wilted from hunger and fatigue.

The rightist deputy Jean-Marie le Pen, called Wednesday for a student strike to back up the Algiers insurgents.

The reaction of liberal arts and medical students was a ho-hum.

But law students will be law students. No sooner had Le Pen made his call than 30 budding lawyers—self-styled rightists to a man—headed for the Sorbonne University.

Too late.

The doors to the law school were barred by fire-breathing left-wing scholars.

The rightists retired to the Student Union lounge, locked the door, hurled defiance and prepared to make a stand.

Outside, the youthful leftists set up a patrol.

"We just want to prevent them from preventing us from going to classes," said one.

"If we let them out of there, they'll start picketing and then we'd have to force our way through to class."

Came lunch time.

Five rightists emerged from the room and made a hurried, unmolested exit. The rest stayed put.

At day's end, lack of food and fatigue depleted the ranks of both leftists and rightists.

By 7 p.m. the law school was empty.

Said Dean Gabriel Le Bras in a communique:

"Courses went on as usual Wednesday, Jan. 27."

The ordinary Frenchman has not yet taken to the streets to demonstrate his feelings about Algeria.

Blood Test Spots Danger From Asthma

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — A blood test probably is the best way to determine whether a person in an asthmatic attack is in danger of dying, a specialist in lung diseases reported today.

A few drops of blood from an artery in the arm supplies the test sample. It is tested for its carbon dioxide content.

If the carbon dioxide level is high, the outlook is "ominous." If the level is low, a few simple procedures, even a home remedy, can bring him out of it, said Dr. Solbert Permutt, of Denver, Colo.

Dr. Permutt, chief of the radiopulmonary division of the National Jewish Hospital in Denver, addressed the western section of the American Federation for Clinical Research.

The records of 24 patients seriously ill with asthma formed the basis for the finding. All the patients were fighting for breath—inhaling and exhaling large amounts of air but getting no better.

The job of the physicians, Dr. Permutt said, was to determine whether they were getting too much or too little air in the microscopic sacs where the blood picks up oxygen and gives off carbon dioxide.

Five of the 24 died. In all five of the fatal cases there was too much carbon dioxide in the blood, meaning that the patients had been getting too little oxygen.

The treatment was to give drugs that would relax the walls of the breathing tubes to permit a greater oxygen input. Compounds such as cortisone proved useful.

Pilgrims End Long Journey

MEXICO CITY (AP)—An estimated 40,000 Catholic pilgrims from the state of Mexico arrived Wednesday from Toluca, ending a 45-mile walk over twisting mountain roads in near-freezing weather.

The eight-mile lor.. mass of humanity marched through the capital to the Basilica of Guadalupe.

As they reached the church, a banner carrying the image of the Virgin Mary and a large Mexican flag were unfurled as the pilgrims sang the national anthem. This was followed by hymns.

The journey took two days. About 1,000 went ahead on bicycles. Two doctors, 11 nurses and two ambulances accompanied those on foot, but leaders said there were no casualties en route.

Dress-For-Dinner Edict Gains Steam

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The sweat-shirt rebellion against Drury College's dress-for-dinner edict gained momentum Wednesday night. Outside agitators, armed with french bread and soup, joyously joined the revolt.

Undergraduates from Southwest Missouri State College, across town from Drury, set up a "come as you are" soup line on the Drury campus.

Attracted by signs reading "have soup, will feed Drury in need" and "SMS foreign aid," more than 200 Drury rebels spurned the steak and potatoes served in the college dining hall to partake of the soup line's spare fare.

Uniform of the day was sweat shirts, sweaters and bobby sox.

The dining hall served only 12 diners and most of them were faculty members of the little privately endowed school. Tuesday night, the dining hall had served 62. Its normal quota is 250.

The student strike began Monday. At issue is the refusal of Dr. James Findlay, president of Drury, to relax the requirement that students who eat in the dining hall must dress for dinner. Men must wear coats and ties. Women must wear heels and hose.

In past years, the rule has been relaxed during the week of final examinations. This year, Dr. Findlay ordered it enforced. He explained that dressing for dinner is part of Drury's "educational plan to teach something about the social amenities."

Most of Drury's 700 students live off campus and are not involved in the revolt.

Assault Case Due To Reach Jury Today

EL PASO (AP)—The case of cotton farmer Moody Bennett was expected to go to the jury today.

Bennett, charged with assault with a deadly weapon on federal officers, said Wednesday he acted in self defense.

Last Nov. 13, border patrol inspectors Thurston McCutcheon and Carey Whitman, looking for suspected illegal aliens, went to Bennett's farm below Marfa.

McCutcheon and Whitman claimed Bennett drove up in a car and shot McCutcheon's horse from under him. Bennett was wounded in the arm in an exchange of gunfire.

Bennett testified he saw two "cowboys" ride through his cotton field and told them to get out. He said one of the pair fired into his automobile and hit him in the arm.

Bennet said the horses were frightened by the shots and that he tried to frighten them further so the riders couldn't attack him.

He said he waved his rifle at the animals.

Then it looked like the red horse (McCutcheon's) was coming at me, so I stuck my rifle at the horse's head and killed him, Bennett said.

"I recognized McCutcheon for the first time and threw my gun in front of me 20 or 25 feet away. McCutcheon then came over, pointed his gun at me and said, 'I'll kill you now but the gun didn't go off.'"

The farmer said McCutcheon [illegible] with a pistol and Whit[illegible]

Driver Of Bus Not Blamed For Crash

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A driver whose speeding bus killed two North Americans last week was released Wednesday on the grounds the bus was faulty and he was not responsible for its mechanical condition.

David Rice Groome, formerly of Greenville, Miss., and Joseph Landon Tyack of Mount Airy, N.C., both officials of a Mexican cigarette company, died in the accident.

A bus driven by Eulallo Garcia Nuenz plowed into their car as it was turning into the parking lot at an automobile show.
