Blinding Dust Swirling Over Three States

VISIBILITY CUT TO MINIMUM IN WIDE AREA; STORM REPORTED AS WORST THIS YEAR IN MOST SECTIONS; STRIKES CITY EARLY

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 15.—Dust swept in blinding billows over northwest Texas, northwest Kansas and most of Oklahoma today for the second time in two days.

The worst storm raged in the Panhandles of the two states where visibility dropped to one block at Guymon, Okla., and Borger, Tex., and 200 yards at Amarillo.

Dust-laden winds pushed into eastern and central Oklahoma and far southward to Ardmore, where dust cut visibility to one mile and was growing steadily worse.

Visibility was reduced to one and one-half miles at Tulsa before the dust began to clear away and light dust clouds were reported at Muskogee and Bartlesville.

A 40-mile north wind drove the dust into the Texas Panhandle.

Weather bureau observers said the Plains region needed rain badly and moisture quickly would put an end to the dust.

A blinding dust storm swept over northwestern Kansas today. Visibility at Colby was reduced to less than a block.

DUST CARRIED ON 32-MILE WIND HERE

Swirling about with a 32 mile per hour wind, a dust storm struck Lubbock about 8 30 o'clock Monday, reducing visibility at times to less than three blocks and reminding South Plains residents of the storms of 1935.

It was purely a dust storm, very little sand being found in the dust. Municipal airport said reports from Kansas City, Mo.; Wichita, Kans., and Oklahoma City and Wynoka indicated similar conditions prevailed there.

The storm struck Amarillo about 6 o'clock this morning. F. W. D. C. dispatchers said the storm extended from Childress to Texline.

Mercury Sunday attained a maximum of 70 degrees and was down to

OTHER WOMEN TELL STORIES OF ASSAULTS IN BUFFALO; ONE WARNED TO KEEP MOUTH SHUT

(By The Associated Press)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 15—An 11-man homicide squad was assigned exclusively today to the search for the knife-slayer of 18-year-old Mary Ellen Babcock as new attacks on women stirred further alarm in remote neighborhoods.

Two attacks yesterday and one today brought the total number of attempted assaults against women to eight since the body of Miss Babcock was found in a field Feb. 6.

Two men found Miss Margaret Galitzdorfer, 23, staggering weakly after resisting an attempted assault. Her clothes were torn. She had been attacked she said by two men taking her home from a restaurant.

Two other new attacks were reported over the weekend. Police said they did not believe any were connected with the slaying.

Miss Annette Skolyn, 21, told police two men pummeled her in front of her home after telling her to warn her sister, Virginia, to "keep her mouth shut."

Virginia Skolyn, 29, was found unconscious in a vacant lot early Saturday and told police she fainted when a taxi driver threatened her with a knife and attempted to assault her. Miss Lillian Grytten, 17, said a prowler tried to seize her as she neared her home yesterday and ran when she resisted him.

TWO ARE DEAD AFTER RAID

COLORADO VALLEY IS BEING COMBED FOR FUGITIVE TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 15—Officers combed the Colorado river valley today for a man who escaped during a raid on a still last night when W. W. Thomason, an internal revenue agent, and a man identified tentatively as Pete Martinez were shot to death.

The bodies of Thomason, about 35, and a man known only as "Pancho," were found by officers who seized the still and captured a man and woman near Mount Bonnell, five miles west of here.

Was Left To Guard

M. M. Mitchell, also a federal agent who with M. E. Carter, a state liquor enforcement officer, conducted the raid, said Thomason left him to guard the man and woman.

The two officers, he said, investigated the surrounding territory. Carter said Thomason came across a man prowling in the thickets and gave chase. He said he later heard

FACTORY WHISTLES IN ACTION AGAIN; MANY RETURN TO JOBS

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Feb. 15 — Factory whistles called approximately 75,000 employes back to work today in General Motors plants reopening throughout the nation following settlement of the six-week strike.

Within a few days the corporation expects to have the 135,000 who were idle at the peak of the strike again at their work benches and office desks. The back-to-work movement started Saturday with the return of 3,000 men at Flint, Mich.

40,000 Report Today

The Chevrolet company, the largest producing division of the corporation, ordered 40,000 workers to report today to plants in Detroit, Bay City, Flint and Saginaw, Mich.; Toledo, Ohio, and Muncie, Ind.

The big Buick plant at Flint summoned 12,500 of its 16,000 workers. It plans to have the full force on duty by the middle of the week.

The group which resumed work at Flint Saturday was employed in one unit of the Fisher body plant No. 1 — one of the three occupied by sit-down strikers.

Virtually all the 43,000 General Motors employes in Flint, which be-

OFFICERS KIDNAPED IN PRISON REVOLT

FRESH GUARDS ARE RUSHED TO SCENE

TELEPHONE LINES ARE CUT WHEN CONVICTS STAGE BREAK

(By The Associated Press)

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 15. — Four or more prisoners kidnaped a captain and steward at Caledonia prison farm in Halifax county this morning and escaped in the direction of the Virginia state line.

Capus M. Waynick, chairman of the highway and public works commission, said Captain R. D. Hinton, in charge of personnel at the farm, and Steward W. L. Roberts were overpowered and taken by "the heavily armed" prisoners who commandeered a state prison truck.

Lines Are Severed

All telephone lines to the farm had been cut, Waynick said, and guard reinforcements were rushed from here and other points in case other trouble had developed at Caledonia.

The fugitives, Waynick said, headed from the farm toward Halifax, then turned toward the Virginia line "and it's our theory they went on into Virginia."

The big prison farm is located on the Roanoke river in northeastern North Carolina, only some 50 miles from Virginia.

Alarm Is Sounded

Waynick said word of the uprising was given by Charles Creech, of the Caledonia staff, who had to drive some 10 or 15 miles to Halifax to a telephone.

Identity of the escaping prisoners, and the exact number that took part were not known here.

"Our information is that Hinton and Roberts were overpowered somewhere up around the headquarters near the center of the farm," Waynick said. "We do not know whether there is other trouble."

There are some 400 white prison-

GUNS CHANT SONG OF DEATH FOR TWO AS MASKED KILLERS RAID ROADHOUSE

(By The Associated Press)

HEFLIN, Ala., Feb. 15—Two masked gunmen killed two men and wounded a woman and a man in a roadhouse near here late last night. Today Sheriff W. T. Prestridge predicted arrests "within the next three or four days, because it looks like jealousy and I think I know who did it."

Black stockings pulled over their heads, the gunmen "kicked in" the roadhouse door, uttered only the words: "Put your hands up," and then opened fire on seven persons in the building.

Burt Austin, 25-year-old proprietor, and Herbert Clayton, 27, of Muscadine community, were killed.

Mrs. Ruth Jean McDaniel, 20 and comely, fell with a bullet through the abdomen. Physicians at an Anniston, Ala., hospital offered little hope for her recovery.

A man whose arm was broken by a bullet was identified only as "a Mr. Bell from Tallapoosa, Ga.," by Sheriff Prestridge.

HOUSE SILENT ON CHANGES

TEXAS SOLONS REFUSE ACTION ON COURT PLAN OF FDR

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 15—The Texas house of representatives adopted a resolution today, 88 to 44, placing it on record as neither favoring nor opposing President Roosevelt's plan to reorganize the Supreme court.

"It is the belief of the house of representatives," the resolution said, "that the national congress and the members of the Texas delegation can properly settle as such representatives that controversy without suggestions from this body."

Refuse To Table It

The house refused to table the resolution, by Rep. Walter E. Jones of Jourdanton, but did table an amendment by Rep. Homer Leonard of McAllen, 70 to 53, which would have expressed opposition to altering the court setup except by constitutional amendment.

Jones' resolution was an outgrowth of action by the house last week in declining to adopt a resolution which would have endorsed the presidential court proposition. Jones said the action had been misinterpreted.

The Texas senate, however, has gone on record as opposing the new court plan and urging the Texas congressional delegation to work against it.

Funeral services were to be conducted at the Methodist church here at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. J. Edmund Kirby. Masons were to direct graveside rites. Marr Funeral home directed arrangements.

The pioneer farmer was survived by his widow; two sons, Roy and J. A. Wheeler, and Miss Josie Wheeler, all of Ralls; one granddaughter; one brother, Marsh Wheeler, Robertson, and one sister, Mrs. J. S. Wayne, Cuero.

OFFICERS ARE BUSY OVER WEEK-END

SEVERAL PERSONS ARE ARRESTED AND LOOT SAID RECOVERED

One attempted safe burglary and negro domestic difficulties kept police busy Sunday and last night.

In addition, two negroes who had stolen two bicycles were arrested and the bicycles recovered. One negro, who was carrying a pistol, will be charged with that offense.

Explosive Is Used

Chisel and explosive both failed to open the safe in the office of the Standard Milling company of 1502 Fourth street Saturday night, said Sam W. Fort, police identification officer.

The building was entered through a toilet window. The unopened safe showed, the officer said, that both chisels and explosive had been used.

Two Plainview negroes, one 26 years old and the other 19, were arrested in the Santa Fe yards late Sunday night by Chas. Chase and Sid Caraway and two bicycles stolen earlier were recovered, said Don Reeder, assistant police chief.

Pistol Is Recovered

An automatic .32 caliber pistol, which the older negro said he stole from an automobile here at a circus last fall, was recovered. Police are holding the gun for identification.

The bicycles were recovered before the owners, David Jarratt of 2318 Ninth street and Billie Templeton of 2308 Ninth street, had learned of the thefts.

Three negro men were arrested for wife-beating, the police docket showed. One 21-year-old negro woman was arrested as suspect in the knifing of a negro man, Alvin Wright.

One of the men was fined $15

SONJA HENIE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15—America has a tendency to narrow one's hips and broaden one's vocabulary, said blonde Sonja Henie today as she skimmed over the ice in Madison Square Garden —10 pounds thinner than when she arrived in this country.

Sonja, little Norwegian skating star, did a neat pirouette on the tips of her skates and explained meanwhile that her eleven-months' stay in this country had:

She Loses Weight

Slimmed her figure from 120 to 110.

Smartened her vocabulary with some snappy American slang.

Taught her that one can stay up until midnight without looking wan. Always before, she'd gone to bed at 10:30.

Miss Henie, who will do her interpretation of "The Dying Swan", on skates in the Garden tonight, still has never tasted a cocktail or cigaret.

Paris Again Gives Warnings To Italy

BLOCKADE FOR COAST OF PORTUGAL NOW IS CONSIDERED

(By The Associated Press)

France, with warning words to Italy, is prepared to demand international control of foreign support for the Spanish insurgents by February 28, authoritative sources said today.

Authoritative predictions that a Franco-British blocade of the Portuguese coast would be sought if Portugal remained adamant against supervision of its borders followed Premier Leon Blum's declaration that France cannot accept continued violations of non-intervention.

Flagrant Violation

Blum told Italian Ambassador Vittorio Cerruti that the landing of Italian forces near Malaga, Spain, was a flagrant violation of non-intervention and France would not tolerate "open invasion" of Spain.

Two British destroyers fired at an airplane, "believed to be a Spanish insurgent plane," official sources reported in London, when it attempted to bomb them off the coast of Algeria.

The plane was said to have dropped six bombs near the destroyers

TEXANS ARRIVE IN CAPITAL TO SEEK CASH FOR WORKS PROJECTS IN STATE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—Gov. James V. Allred of Texas came to Washington today to ask President Roosevelt for Public Works administration allocations of $9,359,000 for state projects for which 91 communities have voted bonds.

He planned to give the president a brief, listing not only the projects but showing Texas' per capita for PWA allotments was $18.70, placing it 24th from the top of the state list and that 59,719 persons were on rolls of the state employment service December 19. He also had information showing that sponsors of projects had approved bond issues of about $15,000,000.

The governor said he hoped to present similar data to Secretary Ickes, PWA administrator, and to ask Secretary Woodring for national guard airplanes for the Houston guard unit.

A former peace officer was being sought for questioning in connection with the accident.

The Ballman car overturned several times, eye witnesses said, and all three occupants were thrown from the automobile. They were taken to West Texas hospital for treatment by two Oklahoma traveling men who reached the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred.

Taken To Floydada

Body of Mrs. Ballman was taken to Floydada early today by a Harmon Funeral home ambulance for burial. Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist church of Floydada with Rev. Cecil R. Styles Turn South For Color, Design

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP)—Women are going South American in the colors and designs of their clothing—for the next few months at least.

Edith Marie Reuss, pretty young fabric designer who figured it out many weeks ago, attributes the trend partly to interests stimulated by President Roosevelt's recent visit to several South American countries.

"How do I know? Well, sometimes you have to be almost psychic. Designing," she explained, "is like matrimony. In matrimony you get married and hold your breath.

"In designing you consider tremendous political events and trends of color and mix a bit of individuality in your patterns. Then you have to sit back and wait."

The South American influence is appearing only in the smartest shops now, she explained, but it probably will become the strongest American style in years.

"Chinese and Dutch East Indian colors will be minor trends. Stripes and taffeta plaids will have their inning," she said.

"We're coming out of a period in which brilliant colors of tyrolean origin have been dominant," Miss Reuss said.

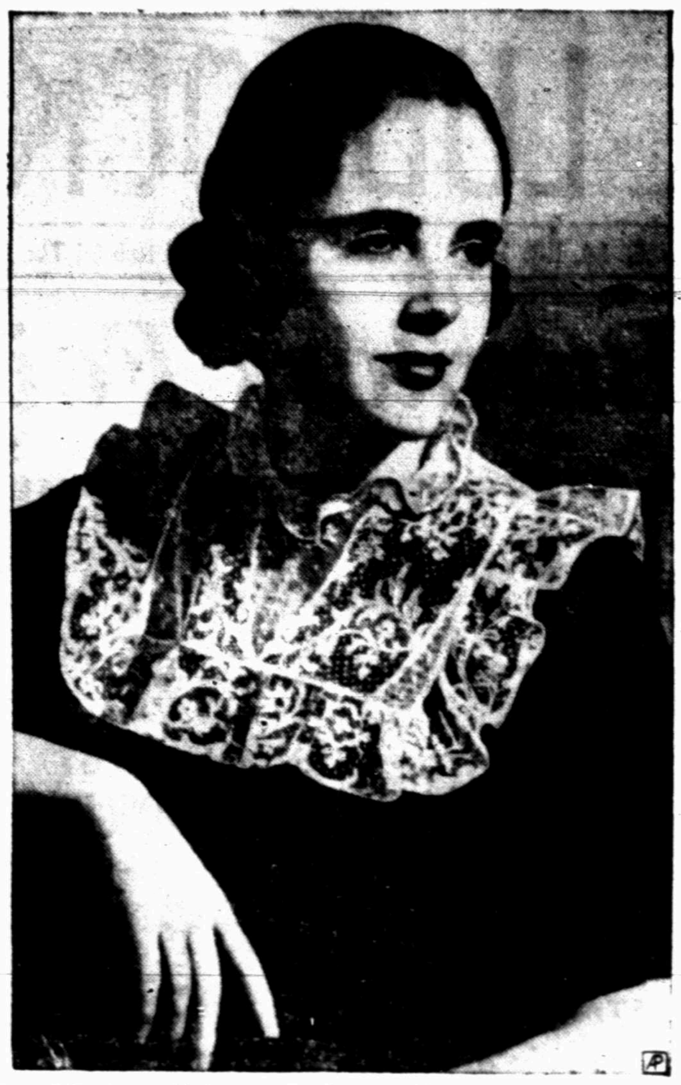
New Collar Makes 'New' Frock



One of the best midwinter tonics for a world-weary, jaded frock is the addition of a crisp white lingerie collar. This one, made of lace and net, cut like a square bertha and finished with a little frill at the neckline and edge, gives new life and chic to a simply cut black crepe frock.

PATIENTS ARE SANE AGAIN

CURING OF INSANITY BY INSULIN USE IS DESCRIBED

SPOKANE, Wash., Feb. 15 (AP)—Dr. John B. Plastino, Spokane physician, announced today he had "restored to sanity" two dementia praecox sufferers by administering insulin.

"The immediate results are astounding, but only time will tell as to the permanency," Dr. Plastino said.

Great Discovery

The physician, known here as a specialist in the use of insulin, said he used a treatment discovered by Dr. Manfred Sakel, of Austria. He described it as "among the greatest, if not the greatest" discovery thus far in medical science.

One of the patients, Dr. Plastino said, completed the treatment several months ago, and is "undoubtedly normal at the present time." The other treatment was completed more recently, with the same result, he said. Treatment of a third patient will be completed in a few days.

"The restoration to sanity is produced by a coma through use of insulin," he explained. "Depending upon the patient, the insulin is used in units ranging from 150 to 600 each treatment. From 10 to 14 treatments have been necessary."

Within three or four minutes after restoration, Dr. Plastino said, the patient regains pre-coma normality and usually asks for something to eat.

Want To Forget It

"I make it a point to talk with the patient after each treatment," Dr. Plastino continued. "Without a single exception my patients recall their attitude during the period of insanity, but want to forget it. As the treatments draw nearer to the end they do not want to discuss their past."

Dr. W. Keller, superintendent of the western Washington state hospital recently disclosed six out of 12 mental patients there had shown remarkable improvement after receiving insulin treatment but he declined to pronounce them cured.

Schooner's Skipper Maps A Cruise To South Seas With A Co-Ed Crew

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 15 (AP)—Intending to sail with a co-ed crew, for Tahiti and Pitcairn Island, young Captain Norman Tornberg is fitting out the former pilot schooner that for years stood watch off Boston Harbor. And his paretty sister, Betty, is scheduled to go along as hostess.

"Liberty" is the old boat's name. She's 114 feet long and built with the seaworthiness required of pilot vessels. She was a press boat last year when President Roosevelt cruised along the New England coast. And before that, the late Captain Clayton Morrissey, racing fisherman, used her off the Delaware breakwater on a treasure hunt.

But several other windjamming expeditions to far places have set forth ahead of "Liberty" in recent weeks.

Captain Irving Johnson's 92-foot "Yankee" is bound around the world, with a crew that is paying for the privilege of doing the work—excepting the cook, who gets paid. There are two women and the captain's year-old son on the "Yankee."

When Skipper Charles J. Hubbard's "Zavorah" sailed out there was talk of a Central and South American treasure hunt, but the five men aboard said nothing.

And there's the "Chiva," which left Gloucester November 22, captained by Frederick E. Crockett, member of the last Byrd Antarctic expedition. This 60-footer, with two women aboard, is headed for New Guinea and the far east for scientific research.

CAPTAIN OF THE CO-EDS
Norman and Betty Tornberg are rigging out Boston Harbor's former pilot schooner for a cruise to Tahiti and Pitcairn Island. He plans to be captain of a co-ed crew.

SHIP'S HOSTESS
Betty Tornberg will be the hostess when her brother's schooner "Liberty" leaves Gloucester for romantic isles.

Geography Is Both Study And Problem

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 15 (AP)—Geography is both a study and a problem at the public schools in this winter resort.

The children study it and teachers work to give uninterrupted instruction to hundreds of pupils coming south with their parents at the middle of the term.

From every state and a score of foreign countries these transfer students come, and it's up to the schools here to pick up where their former teachers left off, whether it be irregular French verbs or logarithms.

"After the Christmas holidays," says James T. Wilson, supervising principal, "we sometimes have three or four hundred pupils in the office enrolling in a single morning, all from different sections of the country. But we build our curricula around the needs of our pupils."

This Is What We'd Call Real Sleeping

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15 (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Eddie Haws walked through a window, dropped 20 feet to the ground and walked back to bed—still asleep.

His father then nailed down the window.

Eddie's comment:

"No more pie for me before going to bed."

BAD MAN KILLED ONLY 4 VICTIMS

CUERO, Feb. 15 (AP)—Jack Day, veteran rancher of the Cuero section, says John Wesley Hardin, Texas bad man of last century, killed four and not 44 men.

"Some sources credit Hardin with killing 44 men," Day says. "He killed only four. Rather than a desperado, Hardin was a well-educated, good-humored man."

Day, who has spent most of his 80 years on ranches, says he worked with Hardin in 1875 in DeWitt county.

Hardin was killed in El Paso three years after his release from the Texas penitentiary, where he served two terms aggregating 18 years on charges of killing two officers. Hardin studied law while in prison and was preparing for a bar examination when killed.

Student Cashing In On Unusual Hobby

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 15 (AP)—Helen Stevenson, comely freshman at Westminster college, is cashing-in on an unusual hobby—silver-smithing.

The only drawback, said this Pittsburgh miss, who is making enough money to help pay her way through school, is:

"I hate to sell anything I make."

Miss Stevenson has her own studio in the college art department. Working a few hours daily at odd times, she estimates she can make from 30 to 40 rings, bracelets and pins in a year. The designs are her own.

Jim Thompson, Indiana university junior from Fort Wayne, rides a 20-year-old horse to and from school each day.

But This Happened Back In Old Days

FINDLAY, O., Feb. 15 (AP)—In an era of high taxes, L. V. Rodabaugh gets some solace out of looking over old papers kept by his father, the late Simon Rodabaugh, since 1840. Among them is a tax receipt for 1846. Written in longhand on heavy parchment, it bears the words: "Tax of $13.94 received in full," for 680 acres of fine farm land. On a quarter-section of land that was not so highly regarded, the tax was only $3.40.

LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL
LUBBOCK, TEXAS, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1937

Copyright, 1933

MIDLAND, Feb. 15.—If and when West Texas Professional Baseball league is organized, the city of Lubbock very likely will place a representative club therein.

And there is the possibility, somewhat stronger today than it was twenty-four hours ago, that such a league will be formally organized at a meeting tentatively set for the afternoon of February 28.

The meeting, to be attended by prospective club owners and managers and interested fans probably will be held in Lubbock, with J. Alvin Gardner, who will be petitioned to serve as league president and who will no doubt accept, presiding.

And now, if you have choked that down, the reporter will proceed to go into a bit of detail concerning the three-hour official meeting and the four-hour unofficial session at the Scharbauer hotel here Sunday afternoon and night.

J. Walter Morris, whose midriff circumference is somewhat greater than when he shortstopped and managed in the Texas League shortly after the turn of the century but whose heart, body and soul is still wrapped up in the national pastime, presided at the meeting and called the roll.

He was answered by representatives from Midland, Monahans, Odessa, Wink, Hobbs, Texon and Lubbock. Regards were sent by Big Spring, Roswell and Clovis.

Said George Elliott of Odessa: You may count us in, not only now but at the conclusion of the season.

Said D. C. Perry of Wink: We are already in. We will outdraw any club in the circuit.

Johnny Neal of Hobbs: We're ready. What are you guys waitin' for?

Bill Collyns and Jess Rogers of Midland: Put up or shut up. And we're puttin' up, now or any time.

J. Snipe Conley of Big Lake and Texon: I believe the time is ripe for a league, and I wish we were big enough to get in. We may, anyhow, if you need us.

A Lubbock representative: Shoot the woiks, pal. I guess we'll string along. In fact, knowing what I do, if there's a league we'll be in it—I think.

THIS WAS NOT a meeting to organize a league, but merely an informal session to talk over the prospects and hear the plans. Mr. Gardner, the Texas League prexy, was not present, although he had been here a few days earlier. Urgent business called him back to the Dallas office, but he'll be at the next meeting, in all probability.

It is the hope and intention of Messrs. Morris and Joe Pate, who have been studying the situation in a town-to-town survey for the past couple of weeks, to organize an eight-club circuit, to arrange a 120-game schedule, to encourage night baseball and to wind up with the Shaughnessy play-off plan.

It is not the intention of this reporter, who attended Sunday's meetings here merely as an innocent bystander and a newshawk, to paint a rosy dream-picture that won't come true. We are confining ourself to facts today; the "editorial comment" will come later. Just now, we are not letting our hopes get too high, because there are many wrinkles to be ironed out. It does appear, however, that Lubbock will be in the league—if five or seven other towns come across. We can tell you no more about that just now.

Morris pointed out that the league, if organized — and he and Pate seem quite optimistic—would be operated as a Class D organization, with a $1,000 monthly salary limit, and that each club, in order to get by comfortably, must realize between $9,000 and $10,000 for the season. And that means that the daily "gate" must average 330 to 350 cash customers if the receipts pay the freight.

So much for the financial angle, which is a rather important angle at that.

As for the league setup, Pate will make another swing over the territory this week in an effort to definitely "sew up" three other clubs, five being practically assured if Sunday's testimonials mean anything. He will visit Roswell and Clovis and Amarillo. It was pointed out, particularly by the Lubbock delegation, that Amarillo would be a logical spot. No feelers have been extended that way, and Amarillo's league inclinations are not known. But there's a possibility, and is was generally agreed that it would be fine and dandy if Amarillo would get in.

Bill Collyns, secretary of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, was elected temporary chairman of the West Texas league yesterday. Said he would do his best to swing the next meeting to Lubbock, and the delegates present were in accord.

BROWN PRIMED FOR BATTLE

BIG HEBREW TO MEET LOUIS WEDNESDAY IN 10 ROUNDS

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 15 (AP)—Confident Natie Brown wound up training for his 10-round bout with Joe Louis Wednesday night.

Brown, a 200-pound Washington, D. C., Hebrew, is one of the few boxers to have stayed the limit with Louis since the Detroit negro turned professional two and a half years ago. Louis won the decision in 10 rounds in Detroit two years ago.

Has No Fear

Questioned in his dressing room after yesterday's workout, Brown replied "certainly I don't fear him. If anything, it is the other way around."

In yesterday's drill, Brown boxed two rounds with J. D. Turner, 210-pounder from Crockett, Tex. Brown dealt out an unmerciful beating to the Texan before calling a halt.

Louis will complete his training in Chicago today.

MAXIE STAGES A "RUNOUT"

ROSENBLOOM SAYS HIS FINGER IS INJURED AND CAN'T FIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 15 (AP)—Maxie Rosenbloom, veteran New York heavyweight, was accused today of "running out" on his scheduled 10-round bout here tomorrow night with Lee Ramage of San Diego.

Matchmaker Joe Waterman called the bout off, substituted Joe Bauer of Cleveland for Rosenbloom, and described Slapsie-Maxie's actions as "the worst run out I have seen in 30 years of boxing."

Has Chipped Bone

Rosenbloom, apparently through Dr. Harry Martin, member of the California athletic commission, refused to go through with the fight because of a chipped bone in his little finger.

Frank Bachman, Rosey's manager, who said he knew nothing of the fight cancellation until sports writers told him, snorted with disgust and said: "He hurt that finger more than a year ago and since then has fought five times."

Bachman, obviously angry he had not been advised of the development, said his ex-light-heavyweight champion told him Dr. Martin had advised him not to fight.

Billiards Tourney Wide Open Affair

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—The national amateur pocket billiards tournament was a wide-open affair again today following the first defeat of the 1936 champion, Lewis Brooks of Philadelphia.

Attention will be centered tonight on the meeting between Arthur Cranfield of Syracuse and J. Howard Shoemaker of Douglaston, L. I.

Cranfield, 20 years old, is the youngest player in the tourney and has a chance to take the lead by winning tonight. Last night Ex-Champion Edward C. Rogers of Glen Cove, L. I., took the lead from Brooks by winning 125-70. James Parks of Detroit turned back Ted Snyder of Brooklyn, 125-123.

HOLDS CHAMPIONSHIP

GOLIAD, Feb. 15 (AP)—Hawthorne Jack, owned by F. A. Doyle of San Antonio, today held the open all age championship of the Capital City Field Trial association. The winner was handled by F. A. Storey. Flap Jack Ferris, owned by R. A. Johns of Austin, was second and Navasota Shoals, owned by W. V. Bowles of Houston, was third. The two-day meet ended yesterday.

The American flag was hoisted over Wake island, in mid-Pacific, July 4, 1898, by Gen. F. V. Greene.

Ponies Seek To Cinch Southwest Cage Title

OPPONENTS IN CHASE READY TO GIVE UP

SIX VICTORIES AND SINGLE LOSS NOW MUSTANG RECORD

DALLAS, Feb. 15 (AP)—Southern Methodist sat atop the Southwest conference basketball heap today and surveyed a battered bunch of playmates that are almost ready to concede them the title.

Six victories and a single loss was Southern Methodist's record as they prepared to play two games this week that could cinch the title for them. The Methodists, looking for their first title, meet Baylor, in a four-way tie with Texas, Arkansas and Rice, at Waco Wednesday night and then tackle Texas at Austin Saturday.

Coach Jimmy St. Clair's sophomores knocked over Texas A. and M., 28-25, and Rice, 38-36, last week.

The second place tie will be broken at Houston Wednesday when Texas meets a Rice team, that despite its crippled condition because of ineligibilities, fought S. M. U. almost to a standstill and whipped Texas Christian, 45-36.

The Owls will entrain for Fayetteville after the Texas game for a two-game series Friday and Saturday night with Arkansas, only mathematically left in the race they won last year. The Razorbacks rallied with 45-19 and 36-32 triumphs over Texas A. and M. last week.

The Aggies, knocked down from second to sixth place, are idle.

Baylor meets Texas Christian in the other scheduled game at Fort Worth Saturday night.

Indoor Track Season At Championship Stage; Big Meet Slated On Saturday

DON LASH AND GEORGE VAROFF SET TWO NEW RECORDS FOR THE ATHLETES TO SHOOT AT

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP)—The New York Athletic club games at Madison Square Garden, heralded as "the meet of records," brings the indoor track season up to the championship stage this Saturday. The national A. A. U. title meet comes the following week.

But if any more record breaking is to be done Saturday's stars will have to step fast and jump high. . . Two of the greatest performances ever recorded indoors—Don Lash's two miles in 8.58 and George Varoff's pole vault of 15 feet 4 7-8 inches—were turned in at Boston last Saturday.

Likely To Stand

Lash's great feat—no one was within 100 yards of him at the finish—likely will stand this week although the Hoosier star is slated to run against the same field. It took 11 years to take that fifth of a second off peerless Paavo Nurmi's "unbreakable" indoor mark, made in the N. Y. A. C. meet.

Varoff is not listed as a pole vault competitor but he likely will be invited. It was at the N. Y. A. C. meet three years ago that Keith Brown set the record Varoff broke.

Sam Allen, the Oklahoman who lowered the 45-yard high hurdles mark to 5.7 seconds and Johnny Donovan of Dartmouth, who beat him in a 5.8 final, also are listed to compete here over 60 yards.

STOLLER DISCARDS HIS SECOND FIDDLE

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 15. (AP)—Fleet Sammy Stoller has discarded that second fiddle.

The University of Michigan ace sprinter, until now generally finding the track summaries in the sprints reading "Second, Stoller," has darted ahead at this date, of the country's leading sprinters.

All this partly because Jesse Owens, his rival from high school days in Cleveland, through college and into the Olympics, has turned professional. Friends say Stoller's persistence is another reason.

Sammy, black-haired Jewish youth who once admitted he saw "perhaps more of Jesse Owens' back than anybody else," is making a bid for national recognition, with his Saturday night victory in the Boston games as a starter.

Stoller's victory was the high spot in a career heretofore frustrated alone by Owens.

BEARS AND BRUINS of California and U.C.L.A., respectively, hold all Pacific coast records for close cage scores. The two teams have met 32 times. Twenty games have been decided by two baskets or less! Twelve have been won by 1- or 2-point margins. Average score: Bears 33, Bruins 30 plus. Despite the closeness of the series, California has won 26 of the games.

INDIANS HAVE CHANCE TO GET LOU GEHRIG FROM THE YANKS

BY SCOTTY RESTON
(Pinch Hitting For Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians probably can get Lou Gehrig from the Yankees if they want to give up Hal Trosky. . . This is no wild guess . . . The Gehrig-Jake Ruppert fight, like an iceberg, is nine tenths below the surface . . . Who did this fellow "Irl" Tubbs, new Iowa coach, ever develop? Several fans have asked . . . Well, as coach at Central High in Superior, Wis., he developed a boy called Nevers. . . . Ernie Nevers . . . Ever hear of him?

• • •

Tom Meaney of the World Telegram tells about Dazzy Vance's explanation of his annual "satisfactory adjustment" with the Brooklyn Dodgers. . . . Said the Dazzler: "I didn't get as much as I expected, but it's more than I thought I'd get" . . . Those Rideout boys recall the old rumor that Joe and Charlie Sherman of Brooklyn once won a cross country run by having Joe run the first half and Charlie the last.

• • •

Reggie McNamara, the so-called iron man, has had his hair dyed. . . He doesn't want the grey to show . . . Reporters asked "Lefty" Gomez of the Yankees what he was going to do about his cut (he made $20,080 last year and was offered $7,500) . . . . "Cut?" roared El Goofey, "that's not a cut, that's an amputation!"

OLD JINX NOW BROKEN FOR GOLF STAR

BRILLIANT RALLY FOR HOME STRETCH MADE IN SUNDAY ROUND

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

HOUSTON, Feb. 15. (AP)—Lighthorse Harry Cooper headed for Georgia today, a broad grin and a bulging pocketbook publicly announcing the death of a "runner-up" complex that has plagued his golf game for years.

Just when it appeared he might again succumb to his old jinx of drawing up second in the stretch, Cooper took a hitch in his game and came home with 289—or four under par—to win the 72-hole $3,000 Houston open tournament.

Jinx Believed Chased

He pocketed $700 for top money and started for Thomasville, Ga., and the Glen Arven tourney there to add, he grinned, to the $4,440 he has won in five tourneys on the winter swing. Triumphs at Los Angeles and Houston caused him to believe the jinx had been chased.

Five shots ahead of the field after 54 holes, Cooper wobbled on the outgoing nine and slipped three over par on the first holes. The gallery of 3,500 which had watched him methodically bat out a 69 on the morning round feared Cooper, the man who has been "jinxed" out of every major title, might falter again.

Rallies With Birdie

He rallied with a birdie at the 4th hole, however, and then settled down to a steady par 36 on the final nine that brought him in winner by four strokes over Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y.

Jimmy Demaret, youthful hometown favorite, muffed a great chance to overtake Cooper on the final 18 holes. Four under par going into the seventieth hole, Demaret dropped his second shot in a hole and failed miserably on his recovery—finally winding up with a six on the par four hole. He three-putted the home green and tied for the fourth spot with Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., at 285.

Others In Race

Other scores: Harold (Jug) McSpaden, 288; Abe Espinosa, 289; Henry Picard, 290; Denny Shute and Horton Smith, 291; Craig Wood, 292; Ed Dudley, 292; Lawson Little, 294; Jack Burke, Zell Eaton, Ben Loving and E. J. Harrison, 297.

Three Texas amateurs, Reynolds Smith of Dallas, Walker cupper Don Schumacher of Dallas, Texas amateur champion, and Hack Williford of San Antonio, tied for low amateur prize with 299 totals.

Houston open officials assured Fred Corcoran, tournament bureau manager of the National P. G. A., the city again would be on the winter tour next year with prospects of a larger purse.

Hey, Skaters! Try This For Barrels Of Fun

It takes a good skate to do this little trick which features Heinie Brock at the Ice Follies in Madison Square Garden, New York City, in what may be the greatest ice folly of them all. But when you know how, it's barrels of fun. If he shouldn't stave off trouble during his flight, Heinie could almost use those prodigious coat-tails as a parachute to make a safe landing.

HONOR IS GIVEN FORMER STUDENT

Rex Johnston, a 1936 graduate majoring in agronomy in the division of agriculture, Texas Technological college, and a graduate student in Iowa State college, Ames, has been given a signal honor by the school, Dr. A. W. Young, associate professor of agronomy, states.

Mr. Johnston was selected from a group of 10 graduate students at Ames to work with a specialist in soils classification under Dr. Kubiana, of Vienna, Austria, who comes here April 1 for a six months' study.

Dr. Kubiana, Mr. Johnston wrote Dr. Young, will use a new method of microscopic soil classification, which has been in use in Europe for some time. It is an entirely new method of soil classification for American soils.

The Tech graduate received a teaching fellowship in Ames. He is working on his M. A. degree. The ten graduate students were selected by the Iowa school. The Vienna expert said he could only handle one professor or instructor and one graduate student at a time.

"I consider this a very high honor for a Tech graduate and a distinct tribute to a school of agriculture as new as this one," said Dr. Young. "The opportunity for Johnston is an excellent one to open possibly a new field of agricultural research."

BIG HUNT SUCCESSFUL

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—The greatest three-month kill of predatory animals in Utah history was accomplished in July, August and September. One hundred and thirty trappers working under the U. S. Biological Survey accounted for 3,910 coyotes, 269 bobcats, 14 bears and 10 mountain lions. Saving to livestock growers is estimated at $200,000.

New Parsonage For Methodists Bought

The Lubbock district of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, has purchased a new parsonage for the district, at 2316 Eighteenth street, the former Judge Connor home, said Rev. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder, today.

Addition of another room, to be used as a study, is being made, said the presiding elder. The structure is of brick and is larger than the former parsonage, a frame structure, 1724 Broadway. Mr. and Mrs. Pearce are living in the new location.

When the place has been completely refinished, it is planned to hold a district-wide open house.

That Girl on Broadway says if you brood over your troubles you'll have a perfect hatch.

* * *

The last of Will Rogers remarks is worthy of remembering along with the fact that the federal debt now averages $267.36. Said Will: "You can't see a bucket of water down now-a-days without the government building a bridge over it."

* * *

WHILE things are kind of drifting along and both sides are awaiting the ruling of the court in regard to the meter squabble, it is a good time, we think, to bring up the question of what ought to be done along the line of parking regulation in Lubbock.

The Plainsman was reminded of the fact first by a thoughtful letter from a reader printed on this page the other day and spurred into action by receipt of a postcard from J. B. Maxey who with his wife and son is sojourning in balmy climes.

Wrote Barney from St. Petersburg, Florida:

"Dear Plainsman: While looking things over down here I notice that parking meters are located at every seventh parking space. The charge is 5 cents for 30 minutes. This gives persons in a hurry about three parking spaces to each side of the street in each block. We might do well to look into that angle for our city."

The card was written just before the Maxeys took off for a boat trip to Bermuda.

* * *

Regardless of the outcome of the court suit, it is plain to all concerned that there must be some system of parking control in Lubbock.

Mayor Ross Edwards says if the city wins the suit the meters will probably go back—but on a two-hours-for-a-nickel basis. A representative of the meter company in The Plainsman's office the other day said his company was not only ready and willing to swap the one-hour meters for the two-hour kind—but is anxious to do so. He says a 60-day trial will win Lubbock over to the two-hour meter.

However Barney Maxey's idea from far-away Florida is something to think about. It is an idea with many variations.

* * *

THE Plainsman is of the opinion that three one-hour meters in each block—and on each side of the street—might solve Lubbock's problem better than two-hour meters at each parking space.

Since city officials swear by all that's good and holy that they want to put the meters in to control parking and not as an additional tax on the motorist or to pick up some extra change they might think over this new wrinkle evolved from the St. Petersburg system.

* * *

If this column should be missing tomorrow you'll know the worst has happened.

The Plainsman is going to do a little orating at a banquet in Brownfield tonight and although the Brownfield boys have promised to keep that Old Lone Wolf Andy Jack Stricklin, editor of the Terry County Herald, at the far end of the table you can't tell what Andy Jack is liable to do under pressure.

Andy Jack has been threatening all kinds of dire injuries to The Plainsman, if and when your humble servant appears in Brownfield—with not even pistols at 50 paces or hatchets hand to hand barred.

Brr-rr-rr. [illegible] fear and trembling.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says another good thing about telling the truth is that you don't have to remember what you said.

* * *

A couple of friends were exchanging confidences here the other day.

"Say, Bill," asked the first one, "how are you getting along with that Lamesa school teacher?"

"Aw," said Bill disgustedly, "I ain't bothering with her no more."

"What was the trouble?" pursued his buddy.

"Well, I written her a letter and she sent it back marked with 19 mistakes."

* * *

HERE AND THERE: Federal job hunters living a far piece from Washington have an edge over residents of the capital and Virginia. . . . Majority of the new government employes are from the South. . . . The Social Security board, housed in seven rented buildings, is squawking for a handsome structure all its own and since "spend, spend, spend" is the Washington slogan, it'll probably have its wishes come true . . . Secretary Of Agriculture Wallace has 170 of the 335 government press agents in his department . . . The Federal Trade commission has 187 attorneys drawing from $3,600 to $10,000 per year each and wants 86 more, heigh ho. . . . Washington also will soon get a huge combination auditorium and stadium in which future army-navy grid games will be held.

Dr. Bradford Knapp is an expert with Indian clubs and some years ago was unusually prominent with a bull whip . . . Julien Blitz and Dana Bible look a lot alike in the face . . . Several of the most promising Freshman gridders at Tech last fall have slipped away to greener pastures . . . Two of 'em including Willard Anderson, the scooting back, went to Oklahoma City university . . . Leaders of Big Business are carefully refraining from howling over Mr. Roosevelt's plan to kidnap the judiciary because they're afraid their opposition might redound to the President's support . . . Pretty smart figgering, we'd say . . . Lotsa folks planning on building new houses this spring . . . Clifford Jones, of Spur, chairman of Tech's directorate, believes credit inflation is well on the way and thinks with interest rates sure to rise now's the time to buy real estate—particularly farms and ranches.

RUSHTON Chester Hankins, Avalanche reporter, made the best crack Saturday regarding the visit of the legislators . . . In a note he wrote at 3 a. m. Saturday to City Editor Gordon Webb, who was to come on at 8 a. m., Hankins typed: "Legislators in session here last night passed numerous bills, most important being at 2 a. m. when a guy looking for a 5 rolled a 7." Haw . . . Prof. R. A. Mills, the genial Tech man, nearly fainted when he saw The Plainsman at the Vienna Choir Boys' performance t'other night. . . . "You're slipping, you ex-roughneck—you're slipping," was all he could gasp. . . . Wonder what he thought when he read in the papers Thursday that The Plainsman played a couple of "piano selections" at the Rotary club? . . . This year's particular brand of flu sure does leave its victims weak . . . Hope YOU miss it and we do mean YOU!

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

SYNOPSIS: Rex Moore, with whom Laurie Moore is in love and to whom she has pretended to be married so that Rex's career should not suffer, has flown the Atlantic both ways, but has crashed on the Irish coast. He was last seen by some Irish farmers; then he vanished. Laurie is frantic, and Mark Albery, airplane manufacturer, who employs them both, is trying for news. Albery also is in love with Laurie.

Chapter 3: DR. PRIEST

At that precise moment, Rex Moore was closeted with Sir Fabian Priest, the most famous oculist in England, who had made a long and thorough examination of his eyes.

"It's a most unusual condition, Mr. Moore," the doctor was saying. "It is quite impossible for me to make a definite statement now. I must have you under observation for a week or two. You say you were totally blind for more than a year?"

"Yes, and—was cured by Professor Varick of San Francisco."

"And after that cure you never had a return of the blindness until yesterday."

"That's right. I called it crashing, but it had nothing to do with my engine or any part of the plane. I simply lost my sight all of a sudden and I suppose my head too. I went stone blind. I was lucky enough to make a fair landing—I couldn't tell you how. And as it was a lonely spot, it was half an hour before anybody came near me and by that time my sight was coming back. So that nobody knows anything about it but you, Sir Fabian."

"I quite understand," the great man reassured him. "Of course, I shall strictly respect our confidence. That is my job. These nervous conditions are hardly understood," he went on with deep interest. "I have myself had three or four cases and one almost similar to yours, but that patient did not follow a dangerous profession.

"I cannot say much for a week or two. I am of the opinion that the first temporary blindness was caused by a cranial injury when you crashed into the ocean. There may be some actual injury to the optic nerve. You said you had certain curious sensations in New York the other day?"

"Yes, but I didn't take any notice. I put it down to the fuss and food and speeches."

"Well, we must be thankful that you got over safely, Mr. Moore."

"You must tell me the truth, Sir Fabian. Do you think it might come on again at any moment?"

"I can't rule out the possibility. Of course, you must have been in a state of physical and nervous exhaustion."

"I don't want comfort. I want the naked truth."

"I have told you. I must reserve my opinion for a little while."

"You think I might go blind altogether?"

"It is possible."

"But I must try the Pacific flight. I've nearly made my preparations. Can you do anything to help me hold out a bit longer—a few weeks, even?"

He was a pathetic figure, this tall young man with the lean-jawed face and the angry mouth, begging in a harsh whisper for what perhaps even the greatest eye doctor in the world could not do.

"I will do everything I can. As your attack of yesterday was so slight, I have a good deal of hope."

"I must do the Pacific flight," muttered Rex Moore in an unreal, inspired voice. "I must do it. After that—I don't care."

His handgrip as he took leave of Sir Fabian was as strong as a madman's. And there was a kind of madness in his mind as he remembered suddenly that he must go and face Laurie.

The bottom of his world had dropped out as if the earth had actually given way beneath his feet. He was dazed as he drove through the streets towards Chelsea, his haversack and his flying coat and helmet on the seat beside him. He seemed to hang in space.

He suffered the pangs of hell as he pictured himself in darkness again. The agony yesterday had almost driven him mad. And then, the blessed relief, when the black world turned slowly grey. If he went blind, a bird that would never unfold its wings again, a blinded eagle? Far better death.

There was indeed madness in his mind, as he absently answered the porter's amazed and half-scared greeting, and went up to the flat.

Laurie opened the door.

She exclaimed at the sight of him.

"Oh! How ill you look! Are you hurt?"

"No, no," he said impatiently. "What have you heard?"

"That you crashed. Oh, I'm sure you're hurt! Rex, your face is grey, and why you can hardly stand!"

"I'm all right," he said gruffly, and strode by her into the hall. "I had a shake up, that's all. Made a forced landing. It wasn't really a crash. I came back in the ordinary way without waiting to have my 'plane seen to. I wanted to dodge the newspaper men, and I've done it."

The length of this speech seemed to exhaust him. He stood, blankly staring at her and leaning against the wall.

She poured out some brandy and brought it to him. She thought he was going to faint.

He gulped it down and in a few moments the color came back into his face. She did not know that the shock of seeing her had unmanned him. He loved her. It was true. It wasn't a dream. But what was the good now, when he might go blind?

Laurie was very pale. In her face one emotion chased another—fear, relief, doubt. How more than beautiful she was in those moments that revealed her woman's heart and soul!

But Rex Moore was set on his inexorable path. He must not weaken. At any moment he might go blind and become a helpless log. He must not forget that. Already he had treated one woman with rank ingratitude. He must not drag another one into his life.

Laurie recovered herself, too. "I am glad you are safely back," she said. "Mr. Albery said on the telephone just now that you had made a marvelous new record."

The name jarred on Moore's already taut nerves.

"You've been talking to Albery? Where is he?"

"In the country." Her voice was cold because her heart ached so bitterly. It wasn't true that he loved her.

"What did he know?"

"Nothing, except that you had landed somewhere in Ireland, and then disappeared, and telephoned to the air field. I knew nothing but that you had left America. Mr. Albery told me that. You didn't send me a word."

"I behaved like the boor I am," he said shortly. "I apologise."

"You needn't. I am sure you must have been very busy."

"Laurie!" He looked away from her. "There is something I must say. Before I left the other day—I had no business to say such things to you. Can you forgive me?"

Laurie went cold. Angry, humiliated beyond belief, she could have raged at him. She wanted to. But she said in a perfectly natural voice:

"I said we were mad. Of course you didn't mean it."

"It was a mistake."

"I know." She repeated, "I said we were mad."

"You feel as I do, then—it was that we were carried away? You were feeling kind to me because I was going off on the flight, and you had an idea it might be dangerous?"

"Yes, it must have been that. It doesn't matter. We need not talk about it. Now that you're back we can carry out our plans, as we always intended to. If you think—" Her voice took on a sharp note of challenge—"if you think that I have paid my debt."

He gave a harsh laugh.

"Now it's your turn to rub it in! You've more than paid your debt."

His whole being was in a turmoil. He loved her with the whole strength of his manhood. But—blindness! The terror that might lie before him through the long years. He did not know. He did not know yet.

He forced himself into calm. His will was forged into steel through the constant companionship of danger.

"Laurie, be frank with me! Do you want to stick by me, so that I can carry on my job? Or do you want the truth to come out—that we've been fooling everybody ever since I came back? You said you hated me the other night, when I left. I don't blame you. Was that the real truth? Do you hate me so much that you'd be glad to bring the pack down on me? To see me found out?"

Laurie and Rex make decisions tomorrow.

THE VISIT OF THE TEXAS LEGISLATORS

Senator G. H. Nelson and Representative J. Doyle Settle, in whose legislative districts Texas Technological college is contained, are to be both thanked and congratulated for the success of their "party" to members of the Texas House and Senate here last week-end.

While it is regretted that more of the representatives and senators were not included in the group, we must remember that it is a long way from Austin to Lubbock—and back—and that those who did respond to the invitation of Messrs. Settle and Nelson showed a gratifying interest in Tech, Lubbock and this section, or they would not have assayed the long journey.

Local committees functioning under George P. Kuykendall, the director general, Tech students, officials and faculty members, under the generalship of Dr. Bradford Knapp, Business Manager W. T. Gaston and Directors Clifford Jones and Spencer Wells, carried out well their roles of hosts. If any legislator returned to the capital without knowing everything he wanted to know about Tech, it was because he forgot to ask.

By and large, the visit of the legislative officials was successful and, to quote Board Chairman Jones, "certain to do the college a great deal of good."

Doubtless, as a fore-runner of other days, the week-end event will result in one more widely attended the next time the legislators are invtied here. vited here.

From Hollywood
MOVIE SIDELIGHTS
Behind The Scenes With The Stars Of Talkietown

By PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15.—All over the lot: Great waves are lashing a wrecked fishing schooner as it tosses madly about. Tangled in the heavy rigging and wire stays of a broken mast is Spencer Tracy, half submerged in a boiling sea.

He pleads with Skipper Lionel Barrymore to cut him loose to drown. His voice is faint in the howling wind.

Wild-eyed Freddie Bartholomew clings to the rail. He sees the gear break, sees Tracy fall into the water to meet a hero's death.

All this happens on Stage 12 of the M-G-M lot before Director Victor Fleming yells "Cut!" Then the boat stops rocking, the waves become ripples, the gale blows itself out.

Tracy, grinning, though seeming to be soaking wet, is hauled out by vigilant workmen. The action is for a thrilling climax to "Captains Courageous," and it is movie magic at its best.

The boat is on pneumatic rockers in a big tank three feet deep. The wind is the product of airplane-motor blowers, and the waves are caused by tons of water rushing down a row of chutes.

Tracy hasn't suffered much from exposure. He wears rubber underwear which is watertight at neck, wrists and ankles, and is lined with cotton.

Also he has been protected from falling spars by a steel cage built around him, but made to look like part of the scrambled rigging.

The studio is taking no chances with its valuable star. It wants him to die realistically, but it doesn't want him to get hurt.

Knows His Chips

Round-and-round the little ball goes. Where it stops is in a slot numbered 26. Dismay is written on the faces of Sally Eilers and David Niven as the frozen-faced croupier rakes in a large stock of the chips.

But it isn't so bad as it appears. The gambling is for a scene in "We Have Our Moments," and Miss Eilers and Niven will get their chips back before the camera is moved to catch their emotions from another angle.

The croupier looks exactly as Hollywood believes a croupier should look. He is thin and semibald, with pouched eyes and a beaked nose. His name is Andre Cheron and he says he never operated a roulette wheel in real life.

Eleven years ago he was a prosperous cafe owner in Paris. Then he went broke and came to Hollywood with the idea of starting another restaurant.

But here he had to work as a dress extra, then in several headwaiter roles. Finally he was cast as a croupier, and now he is typed in the part and has played it in 20 pictures. Yes, he was the croupier in "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo."

Cheron likes the work; finds it rather exciting even if the gambling isn't for keeps. He can count out chips and rake them in with professional skill.

And he can drone on and on in that peculiarly flat voice of a gamekeeper: "Faites vos jeux . . . Les jeux sont faits? . . . Rien ne va plus . . ."

Add Tricks Of Trade

Part of the action of "Swing High, Swing Low" occurs at one of the locks of the Panama Canal. In the picture you will see a good deal of the canal, and Fred MacMurray as a doughboy helping to guard it.

But MacMurray is doing his guard duty on the Paramount lot, and on a very tiny part of the lot, at that. He paces up and down beside a 30-foot section of cog road that is just like the track along the canal.

Also, there is a small plot of artificial grass. And a ship in the canal is represented by a 10-foot square section of the side of a vessel. It contains a single porthole.

These backgrounds appear astonishingly inadequate when a visitor sees the surrounding incongruities of a bustling movie lot.

But they have been calculated to the inch and the camera will see only what it is supposed to show. Then the shots of MacMurray and Carole Lombard will be interspersed with atmosphere and background shots actually filmed in Panama.

Many a fan will say, "The studio certainly didn't build another Panama Canal. They couldn't have faked that stuff. Lombard and MacMurray must have traveled clear down there just for those sequences."

Labor Relations Act Decision Adds Tension To New Deal's Campaign To Revamp High Court, Rodney Dutcher Avers

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The Supreme court is called upon to decide the validity of the National Labor Relations act at a time when the historic struggle over Roosevelt's program for "packing" the court is in full fury.

World-wide attention will be directed at the dazzling white palace of the court as the six-man conservative majority, along with the three liberal members, delivers its opinions in the shadow of the New Deal's effort to destroy its power over legislation by driving off conservative members or appointment of new liberal members to outvote them.

Dutcher

The fundamental clash over the Labor Relations act (often called the Wagner act) is between the New Deal determination to foster a strong labor movement which will bargain for increased purchasing power and broader distribution on national income and the determination of American corporations not to have their employes organized into labor unions.

In Five Cases

The act has come before court in five cases wherein the National Labor Relations board has found business concerns guilty of dismissing one or more employes for labor union activity, and otherwise violating the law. The five concerns are the Associated Press, the Fruehauf Trailer company of Detroit, the Jones & Laughlin Steel company, the Washington, Virginia and Maryland Coach company, and the Friedman-Harry Marks Clothing company of Richmond.

Here are the main provisions of the Labor Relations act:

Entitled "Act to promote equality of bargaining power between employers and employes, to diminish the causes of labor disputes . . ."

It created the National Labor Relations board to prevent "unfair labor practices," to hear complaints of employes wishing to hold secret elections among employes and to prosecute defiant employers in the federal courts.

It provides that representatives for collective bargaining by a majority of employes shall be the exclusive representative of all employes for bargaining as to wages, hours and other conditions of employment.

It prohibits as "unfair labor practices" any interference with, restraint or coercion of employes in their guaranteed right to organize and bargain collectively. It also prohibits any domination or interference with formation of any labor organization, or contribution of financial or other support to it.

It makes unlawful the act of any employer who refuses to bargain collectively or engages in any type of discrimination designed to discourage labor union membership or punish complaining employes.

Law Universally Defied

The lawyers' committee of the American Liberty League long ago advised employers to ignore this law, insisting it was unconstitutional, and it has been almost universally defied.

Employer lawyers headed by John W. Davis and Earl F. Reed of the Liberty league have attacked the act before the supreme court on a variety of constitutional grounds. It is alleged the act does not fall within the powers of Congress to regulate interstate commerce because: employer relations with employes are not matters of interstate commerce; the majority rule provision of the act violates freedom of contract; the constitution's "due process" clause is violated; the act is "arbitrary and unreasonable"; the act is a labor law and not a regulation of interstate commerce; enforcement of the act constitutes an unlawful interference with the normal right of business concerns to manage their own businesses.

The Associated Press also charges the act violates "freedom of the press" to select its own employes.

The court might hold the act was unconstitutional as it applied to manufacturing and constitutional as it applied to an employer more obviously engaged in interstate commerce such as a business company.

Denies Congress' Power

It is of tremendous importance to the New Deal that it be upheld in its insistence on the right to pass legislation covering manufacturing.

Manufacturing is involved in three of the five cases; but such recent majority opinions as tend to bear on this issue are not encouraging. In the railroad retirement opinion the court held the purpose of the retirement law was to promote the social welfare of the railroad workers and that there was no proper federal function in the Schechter decision which ended NRA. The court unanimously held Congress had no power to regulate wages or hours in any business which was local. In the Guffey Coal act case the majority held that "employment and fixing hours, wages and working conditions were related to production, not to commerce, and that hence Congress had no power in such matters.

Government arguments of the Wagner act have stressed the burden and injury to interstate commerce resulting from industrial strife and insisted that Congress thus had power to take measures to reduce such strife; and in the cases affecting manufacturing it says, as in the Jones & Laughlin case, that there is a "vast interstate movement in the regular course of business of materials to respondent's plant in Aliquippa, such as coal, ore, and limestone, derived from respondent's own properties and largely carried in interstate commerce by instrumentalities owned and operated by it." If the court performs as it often does, some of its members will find words to explain why Congress had no right to pass such a law and other members will find other words to explain why it did.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 1 point higher to 4 lower, with lower Liverpool cables partly offset by trade buying. March 12.62; May 12.46; July 12.30; Oct. 11.88; Dec. 11.85; Jan. 11.86.

Increased price fixing by the trade and cooperatives, and some far eastern and continental buying was reported while selling from the south and commission houses depressed later months. Bombay also sold but after moderately active trading at the start the volume of business tapered off.

Prices held steady over a narrow range. May fluctuated between 12.44 and 12.46 and prices shortly after the first half hour showed gains of 2 points to declines of 3 points. January domestic consumption of 678,078 bales was slightly below recent trade estimates. It compared with consumption of 692,921 bales in December and 590,484 in January last year.

Liverpool declined under moderate selling with traders there expecting modification of release terms for loan cotton although officials at Washington have declined to make any comment with respect to changes of the terms.

The market was steady late in the morning on continued good trade trend for nearby positions while contracts were supplied by hedging and liquidation.

May sold up to 12.49 and prices of midday were 2 to 3 points net higher for old crop positions and 2 lower for new crops.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 15 (AP)—Prices were slightly lower when trading resumed on the New Orleans cotton market today and trading was held to small proportions.

The market still appeared to be suffering from a lack of interest on the part of important speculative and trade interests. Most of the cotton that was sold was hedging by spot houses and most of the buying represented price fixing for domestic spinners.

May opened at 12.41, July at 12.29, Oct. at 11.87 and Dec. at 11.91 bid. There were no big changes from these prices during the first few minutes of trading.

Weather was favorable over most of the belt for plowing operations and reports from both the eastern and western belt told about farmers going into the fields.

News from Washington on the movement of loan cotton continued unavailable.

Outside interests were limited during the morning and prices were allowed to fluctuate narrowly within a couple of points of the previous close.

Even a record report on cotton consumption in January failed to bring a volume of buying into the ring. At mid-day March sold at 12.53, July at 12.29, Oct. at 11.80 and Dec. at 11.90.

Spot houses furnished most of the offerings.

The census bureau estimated 678,034 bales of cotton were consumed in January. This was 80,000 bales ahead of last year and established an all-time high for the month.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. (AP)—The stock market lacked resistance today and yielded fractions to around 3 points under modest offerings.

Brokers said declines were attributable in some measure to the Washington conference of Secretary Morgenthau and other monetary authorities designed to bring some regulation on the inflow of foreign capital.

Bonds were irregular, commodities mixed. The pound sterling and French franc improved.

Downturns were recorded by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Ludlum Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Case, Boeing, American Telephone, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Electric Power & Light, Kennecott, Anaconda, Pure Oil, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Can, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, New York Central, Southern Pacific and Loews.

Although Du Pont was off more than 2 points following declaration of a dividend of 75 cents, trading in this issue was inactive. In December a year-end payment of $2 was made. The company recently abandoned its policy of regular quarterly disbursements.

INEQUALITIES IN TAX LAWS CITED

Claimed inequality of the state tax law, passed at the third called session of the 44th legislature, which amounts to double taxation on certain legal documents filed in the county clerk's office, was called to the attention of legislators Saturday by the Lubbock Real Estate board. The letters were signed by R. A. McKinney, president, C. C. Jones, secretary-treasurer, and 16 other members.

"Under the terms of the ruling, made by the attorney general, this law has resulted in double taxation in many instances and sometimes triple taxation, for the reason that the attorney general has held that in the case of the sale of property in connection with which a vendor's lien is retained in the deed and a deed of trust is also taken, securing the same indebtedness, tax stamps must be placed on both the deed and the deed of trust," the letters point out. "The same thing applies to mechanic's liens and deeds of trust when taken jointly."

"It certainly was not the intention of the legislature to tax these liens more than once and this matter should be cleared up at the present session of the legislature," the letter sets out.

One letter was addressed to Senator G. H. Nelson and one to Representative Doyle Settle. They were signed by the following members of the board: Glen Hess, Charles H. Read, E. J. Ray and J. M. Griffith, Robert W. Wright, K. T. Thomas, L. D. Casey, R. Q. Pierce and son, Claude B. Hurlbut, George W. Brewer, J. A. Raley, jr., J. O. Green, E. B. Green, Raleigh Martin, W. C. Estes, R. S. Rodgers, L. H. Holt and Charles L. Adams.

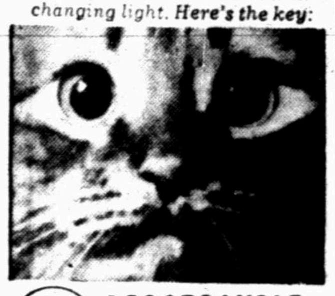
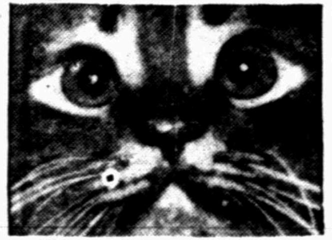
Cat-O-Meter

Feline Eyes Tell Correct Light For Work

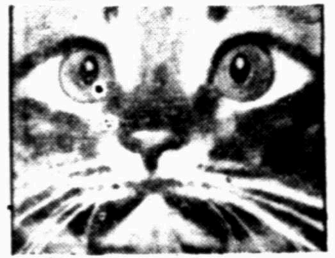
YOU can tell if the light is good enough to read simply by looking at your cat's eyes. They are perfect light meters, General Electric engineers discovered in recent tests, as the pupils widen or narrow in changing light. Here's the key:



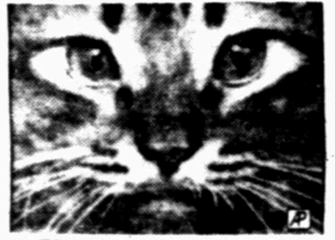
1 FOOTCANDLE—This is inadequate for any kind of reading.



4 FOOTCANDLES—This is still inadequate; would cause strain.



15 FOOTCANDLES—O.K. for large print; 25 required for small.



50 FOOTCANDLES—O.K. for drafting, sewing and other close work.

FOUR DEATHS ARE BLAMED ON WEATHER

(By The Associated Press)

At least four deaths were attributed today to freezing weather and snow storms that visited the northwest and far west over the week-end.

Highway traffic virtually was paralyzed by snow in parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas. Southern California suffered drenching rains and a dust storm swirled over the Oklahoma Panhandle.

Motorists Are Killed

Two Minnesota motorists were killed in traffic accidents during a blinding snowstorm. A South Dakota farmer lost his way in a snowstorm and perished within a mile of his home. A man missing for two weeks was found frozen to death west of Grant's Pass, Ore.

The frozen bodies of a man and woman were found in a snowbank on a side road near Dodgeville, Wis. The man, Charles Fetterman, 45, had been shot to death with a shotgun, found near his body, and the unidentified woman had been beaten to death.

Rescue Work On

Highway crews worked in 24-hour shifts to rescue marooned motorists in Minnesota. Federal weather observers said many side roads would remain closed until spring.

More than 200 families fled inundated homes in southern California. Police said about 1,000 Los Angeles basements were under water.

Relief crews won a five-day battle against snow to bring food supplies to Denny, a mining settlement in the northern California mountain region.

amount for that purpose last year.

The bill carried a total of $718,485,790 for the treasury and $782,469,361 for the postoffice department. Although the committee lopped $3,275,117 from budget estimates for the postal service, that appropriation was $1,884,772 more than the amount provided for the current year.

The treasury's share exceeded the present year's figure by the budget bureau.

Methods Criticized

In making its recommendations to the house, the committee criticized the treasury's method of handling appropriations for administration of the emergency banking and gold and silver purchase acts as "bound to produce in some measure unsatisfactory administrative conditions."

Most of the trouble, the committee indicated, lay in the difficulty of ascertaining from what administration funds the treasury personnel was employed.

West Texas hospital authorities this morning said the conditions of Ballman and the child were not critical. He is suffering an injured pelvis and the child bladder injuries, a deep laceration of the left leg and body bruises.

Relatives reported a wrist watch and about $21 were lost or taken from the purse of Mrs. Ballman. No money was missing from Ballman's billfold.

DALHART, Feb. 15 (AP)—Frank H. Dempwolf, 50-year-old Rock Island engineer, today was treated in a Dalhart hospital for scalds suffered when a locomotive overturned—an accident about which he had a premonition.

The derailment occurred yesterday on the Dalhart and Morse line eight miles east of here. Officials believed it was caused by sand on a grade crossing. The locomotive left the rails and overturned 200 feet past the crossing. The rest of the crew escaped injury.

FLASHES OF LIFE

But Not Speedy

DANVILLE, Va.—W. D. Hasty, arrested for speeding, told the judge a governor on his car prevented it from going 45 miles an hour, as charged.

The judge sent the two arresting policemen out to test the automobile.

"Thirty-six was the best we could do," they reported. Hasty was hastily freed.

No Love Token

CHICAGO—A smack on the chin has parted the Kisses. Mrs. Susan Hardy Kiss filed a suit for divorce against Michael Kiss. She charged cruelty, claiming he slapped her.

Sympathetic Sips

REGINA, Sask.—A sit-down strike was inaugurated in a restaurant here.

At the noon-time rush men entered and occupied every seat at the lunch counter. Each ordered a cup of coffee and for an hour sat drinking, chatting and smoking. Then each paid his nickel.

Some of the establishment's employes are out on strike.

Stuck In The Sky

ANCHORAGE, Alaska—Wild were the tales which won prizes in the annual liars contest here.

One concerned a mine where sourdoughs dug out electricity in big square chunks and sold them as storage batteries.

Another described air pockets so large airplane pilots were compelled to chop and shovel clouds into them before they could be crossed.

Feed 'Em First

GRINNELL, Ia.—Marital bliss lies in the formula: "Feed him, curse him and kiss him." Dr. Samuel H. Kraines, Chicago psychiatrist, told Grinnell college coeds. A husband doesn't mind a bawling out after he's well fed and a "kiss will clinch your argument," he explained.

Love Is Wonderful

NEW YORK — Then there is the sixth man:

He asked to be delivered to the home of his lady love on Park Avenue in a wheelbarrow on St. Valentine's day. The idea was that a telegraph company messenger boy would push the wheelbarrow and announce the sixth man was a Valentine.

Company officials refused when they found the suitor weighed 250 pounds.

The other five will be delivered by messenger boys at the usual district rate of 50 cents an hour.

Locked Door

COLUMBUS, O. — John Scott, burglary suspect, slipped from the grasp of Probation Officer Henry Cowley, ran down a courthouse corridor, and lunged against one side of a double door leading to the street.

The door was locked. Scott, dejected, submitted to recapture.

Then Cowley led him back to jail through the other side of the door—the unlocked side.

Grease Remover

KELSO, Wash. — The populace of Scantygrease has gone dignified. Citizens are tired of being "Scantygreasers" and, furthermore, they believe the name of their community no longer is accurately descriptive.

So they have petitioned county commissioners to rename the town "Delameter."

The region won its name half a century ago because fat was so scarce housewives used turnips to grease their frying pans.

Prosperous Era Is Seen In Territory

DALLAS, Feb. 15—That Texas and the Southwest are facing soundly prosperous conditions is the conclusion of A. Morgan Duke, president of the Gulf States Life Insurance company of Dallas, after a thorough study of figures and statistics made available in the past year's financial statement of progress made by that company.

"Life insurance," says Mr. Duke, "is one of the truest barometers of business conditions and the excellent progress and growth reflected not only by the statement of our company but those of all Texas life insurance companies indicates the sound basis of financial affairs in this state.

Progress Is Mirrored

"The annual statement of the Gulf States Life, just issued, shows that this company, which has just passed its ninth year, is making progress in every department of its operations as a Texas life insurance service institution. Assets of the company—all of which are invested in Texas real estate mortgages, bonds and other securities available for investment by a life insurance company—are shown by our statement to have reached $4,998,978.84, or a gain of $1,257,588.85 for the year. Insurance in force shows the extremely pleasing gain of one and a quarter million dollars. The company has paid a total of $3,682,129.53 to policyholders and beneficiaries since organization.

"The Gulf States is especially proud of the growth of its agency force during the year and of service rendered these agents and their policyholders by the home office. In numbers, efficiency and ability to serve its thousands of policyholders and prospective policyholders, agents of the company have grown during the year, and it is our promise to continue to develop the agency department to better serve all sections of this great state of Texas.

"One of the happy conditions indicated by the report of this company is the tendency of Texas citizens to patronize Texas institutions and to become Texas-minded to the extent that they prefer to invest their money in protection guaranteed by a financial bulwark of Texas investments. The Gulf State Life is glad to contribute its part to the growth of the state brought about by these investments, and to receive the confidence and patronage of its policyholders and the good-will of its friends."

Organized In 1928

The Gulf States company was organized as a legal reserve company nine years ago and from its inception it has shown a healthy steady growth to the point where it now stands among the leading life insurance companies of the state," Duke said. "The company [illegible] its own building [illegible] with the most modern service equipment available for the use of a life insurance company whose first thought always has been service to policyholders."

In conclusion, Mr. Duke stated: "We are happy to make this report, proud to be listed as one of the great public service financial institutions of Texas, and happy to be keeping pace with the growth of [illegible] as it enters its second [illegible] a Southwest Empire." Archie Copeland, district manager; Lonnie Langston and S. S. Prichard represent the Gulf States Life in Lubbock.

TEACHER RECALLS EXCITING DAYS OF CIVIL WAR AS BULLETS WHISTLED BY

BROWNSVILLE, Feb. 15 (AP) — Mrs. Theresa Clearwater, 83, observing recently her 53rd anniversary as a school teacher here, recalled incidents of Civil war days when shots exchanged between enemy soldiers passed overhead or fell near where she played with other children.

She grew up on the sands of Clarksville, now only a memory, at the mouth of the Rio Grande. Seven miles north, she says, Union soldiers were encamped at the north end of Brazos Island. Twelve miles west Confederate soldiers held White's ranch. Across the Rio Grande French and Austrian soldiers were entrenched at Bagdad and [illegible] westward Mexican soldiers faced the invaders.

Neutral Territory

"We were on neutral territory," Mrs. Clearwater says, "but nobody respected it. Cannonballs or shells shrieked across Clarksville to the Confederate lines from ships or field pieces or shots from Mexican artillery would fall short of Bagdad and drop into Clarksville. Meanwhile children sat on the sand and counted the shells or played games indifferent to the danger of artillery fire.

"I wasn't as much afraid of a cannon then as I am of a firecracker now."

She says the children of Clarksville watched the looting of Bagdad by negro soldiers who ran wild [illegible].

Clarksville was named for Mrs. Clearwater's father, William H. Clark, who came to the Rio Grande in 1846 with Gen. Zachary Taylor. The family passed through two disastrous hurricanes, the second wiping away the remnants of Bagdad. The Clarks lived in "the sand hills," as Mrs. Clearwater describes her [illegible] place, almost 30 years through [illegible] yellow fever and hurricanes [illegible] after the big blow of 1874.

Mrs. Clearwater taught school two years at Port Isabel and after an interval of two years began teaching here where she still is employed.
