Triple Shot Hikes Sky Defense Plan

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Two sentry satellites and a "pygmy" satellite rocketed into great egg-shaped orbits today in a complex triple launching that could lead to U.S. development of a foolproof system to detect illicit nuclear explosions in space.

The trio of radiation-sensing packages rode into space atop a single powerful Atlas-Agena rocket which blazed brilliantly in the early morning darkness at 3:22 a.m. (EST).

The Air Force reported 20 minutes later that the 10-story-tall booster had drilled the three satellites into separate highly elliptical orbits.

The exact path was not known immediately but early tracking information indicated the payloads were very close to the intended course ranging from 120 to 63,000 miles above the earth.

All three space messengers were flashing clear radio signals to ground stations.

It was the fourth time the United States had orbited three satellites with one rocket. The record is four in one shot set by another Atlas-Agena last year.

The pygmy satellite was injected into its pre-planned path shortly after the three satellites separated from the booster today.

Because of an intricate flight plan intended to station the twin Sentry satellites at the high point of the course, officials will not know until about 10:30 a.m. Sunday whether the launching is completely successful.

Small rockets aboard the pair are to arrest them at widely scattered points 63,000 miles up—one about 18 hours after launching, the other about 37 hours later.

The Sentries, each weighing 493 pounds, are forerunners of a network of satellites that will peer electronically more than 200 million miles into space to discover if the Soviet Union or any other nation cheats on the partial nuclear test ban treaty by exploding a rocket-borne bomb far from earth.

The 4.5-pound pygmy, which rode along as a hitchhiker, was to aid the study by measuring electrons during wide-swinging sweeps through the Van Allen radiation belts.

Officials said knowledge of electron characteristics in the belts that extend 40,000 miles above the earth would be valuable in noting changes if a nuclear explosion occurred outside the atmosphere.

In a similar manner, the two nuclear detection satellites were to draw a radiation chart of space, including what happens when their sensitive instruments are struck by surges of charged particles from a solar flare or cosmic ray shower. With this knowledge, operational satellites would be able quickly to differentiate between natural radiation and that created by a sneak nuclear burst.

Officials of the Atomic Energy Commission said the pair of Sentries could be used as a limited operational tool, just as two earlier satellites in the series have been utilized. The initial watchdog satellites were hurled into orbit last Oct. 16, just six days after the nuclear test ban treaty was signed by more than 100 nations, including the United States and Russia. France did not sign.

The treaty prohibits nuclear testing in the atmosphere, under water or in space, but does not forbid underground detonations.

Water District Asks For Permit To Build 2nd Lake

BIG SPRING — The Colorado River Municipal Water District will seek a permit for a new lake to impound half a million acre feet of water in Coke County above Robert Lee.

Directors of the District today authorized the filing of an amended application to cover a change from the original location in southern Mitchell County, and to include the construction of pollution control devices upstream.

Communities in 11 counties of the region will be asked to project their municipal and industrial water needs as a guide for firming final engineering. All are wholly or partly in the Colorado River shed and include Mitchell, Scurry, Ector, Midland, Martin, Howard, Glasscock, Sterling, Coke, Nolan and Runnels Counties. Communities and agencies not previously requesting that their needs be taken in consideration for planning will be given an opportunity now.

So huge is the project, that when the permit is granted by the Texas Water Commission, two years will be required to complete construction of the massive earthen dam and its appurtenances.

Cost of the program could approach $12,800,000. This will be financed privately with revenue bonds as have other stages of the CRMWD, now in its 13th year as the supplier of Member Cites, Odessa, Big Spring, and Snyder, and of other communities, industries and waterflood projects.

Engineers estimate that the proposed lake will impound as much as 488,000 acre feet at capacity. Diversion of 50,000 acre feet a year for area use is asked, or up to 70,000,000 gallons per day.

This is 2.4 times as great in capacity and yield as Lake J. B. Thomas, which now furnishes most of the CRMWD supply. Its 14,950 surface acres at peak would make it the largest body of water in West Texas. Its dam, stretching four miles across the river valley, and towering 132 feet at its highest point, would be one of the largest man - made structures in the region. It could call for compaction of 9,200,000 cubic yards of dirt. Protecting this would be a gated morning-glory service spillway which would control the discharge of the top 20 feet of the reservoir. There also is a natural emergency spillway, a mile wide, which would accommodate the lake were it ever to swell to twice its rated capacity.

Portions of State Highway 158 (Robert Lee - Sterling City) and FM 2034 (Water Valley-Robert Lee) will be inundated as will one bridge. Two miles of FM 2034 will have to be rerouted as will six miles of State 158, which will enter Robert Lee on the south instead of the north as is now the case.

Only the overwhelming advantages of the Robert Lee location as a long range water supply persuaded the Engineers, Freese, Nichols and Endress, to recommend moving 18 - miles downstream from the site originally studied just above the south Mitchell County line. While this created problems such as relocation of eight miles of highway and putting approximately two dozen oil wells in the dry, the safer foundations, the higher quality of water, the doubling of the average depth and yield over the upstream site was too much to turn down.

Charles B. Perry, Odessa, President, indicated that little time will be lost in submitting the application to amend the one filed in 1959 and under which the District was given a provisional permit in 1960.

The intervening five years, a swell as many thousands of dollars, have been spent in exhaustive research on how to abate and control salt water pollution in the river, and in determining the most practical plan from the standpoint of

Sheppard Assured Days Of Freedom

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 40, convicted wife slayer who spent his first night of freedom Thursday in nine years, was assured of more days and nights of freedom today.

The former suburban Cleveland osteopath who has served nearly nine years on a second-degree murder conviction in the bludgeon slaying of his wife, had expected to be returned to prison today.

But these late developments assured Sheppard of more days of freedom.

United States marshals declined to pick up Sheppard—who is staying at a plush Columbus motel—without an arrest order.

Judge Lester L. Cecil of the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals declined to issue such an order. Cecil issued a stay order Thursday, about 24 hours after a U.S. District Court judge granted Sheppard freedom on a habeas corpus motion. But the stay came after Sheppard's release on $10,000 bond.

The Ohio attorney general's office said the legal process probably would take several days. In the move to amend, there presumably would be a hearing, perhaps about the middle of next week, in the U.S. Sixth District Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Bank Cashier Is Abducted

WELLS, Tex. (AP)— A lone thug held up the state bank at Wells, an East Texas town near Lufkin, and abducted the cashier, Robert Newland.

The bandit was described as about 24 years old, six feet tall and with curly hair. He wore a short sleeve blue shirt.

The robber fled in a 1962 Chevrolet truck, loaded with feed sacks and with a baby seat in front.

Jury Decides Too Much Is Revealed

CHICAGO (AP) — Miss Toni Lee Shely, the 19-year-old model who revealed the topless bathing suit at a public beach, discovered Thursday she had revealed too much.

She was found guilty of indecent exposure by a Municipal Court jury of eight women and four men after nearly 3½ hours of deliberation.

Sentencing was postponed to allow the defense time to file a motion for a new trial. The maximum sentence is a $200 fine and one year in the county jail.

Good Times Logged By Rodeo Entrants

A crowd, estimated by rodeo officials at 2,500, was generous with their applause Thursday night for those cowboys who were able to master the stock they drew in the second night of the 28th annual Scurry County Rodeo.

New marks were set in several events for the cowboys and cowgirls to shoot at during the final performances tonight and Saturday night.

A mark of five seconds flat was posted by Tim Roberts of Lubbock in the bulldogging event. Second went to Clyde Clyde Kennedy of Abilene with a time of 9.4 seconds.

Three other steer wrestlers were unable to drop their animals, and took "no time" in the event.

Only two bareback bronc riders were also able to stay aboard their horses for the 8-second ride. They were Fred Cargill of Snyder riding a horse called "Thistle" and Ed Harland of Texhoma, Okla. The judges awarded first place to Cargill.

In an exciting wild mare race, Windy Stoneman of Tahoka was able to cross the finish line. In the event, three cowboys attempt to saddle the untamed horses, and then one of the three must ride to the finish line. Out of six tries so far in the rodeo here, the horses have won the event five times.

Results of other events Thursday night included:

Calf Roping: 1. Royce Kitchens of Cisco, with 13.2 seconds. 2. LeRoy Hodges of Tuscola, with 13.4 seconds. 3. Burl Mardis of Muleshoe, 13.6 seconds.

Barrel Race: 1. Marie Voss of Snyder, 17.9 seconds; 2. Pattie Mitchell of Stanton, 18.8 seconds. 3. Wanda Boater of Big Spring, 18.9 seconds.

Saddle bronc riding: 1&2. (tie) Ed Harland, Big Spring, and Kenneth Cunningham, Big Spring. 3. Keith Loyd, Big Spring. 4. Bill Barrett, Waco.

Team tieing: 1. N. A. Pitcock of Aspermont, 31 seconds (including a 10 second penalty for breaking the barrier). 2. Jerry Springer of Snyder, 44.1 seconds. 3. Rufus Hart of Snyder, 62.0 seconds.

Bull Riding: 1. John Billy Koonsman, Snyder. 2. Pat Adamek, Tahoka. 3, Fred Cargill, Snyder.

Stockholders calf roping: 1. Roy Beaver, Snyder, 14.7 seconds. 3. Edwin Parks, Snyder, 16.2 seconds. 3. Brent Murphy, Snyder, 20.7 seconds.

In the goat - sacking event for children 12 years of age and under, Billy Bowden and John Ellis crossed the finish line first with their goat. Phil Ator was the next to cross the line with a goat in a sack.

Rodeo performance are at 8 p.m. at the rodeo grounds on west Thirtieth Street.

RODEO EVENT—Connie Robinson of Snyder is shown rounding a barrel during the running of the barrel race Thursday evening at the second performance of the Scurry County Rodeo. Miss Robinson posted a good time — 19.6 seconds — but it was good enough to win only fifth place. The third performance of the rodeo will be at 8 o'clock tonight.

HARDING'S DAUGHTER

Reveals Well-Kept Secret

By DAVE SMITH

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—A Glendale housewife and mother of three has yielded up a secret kept for more than 20 years: She is the illegitimate daughter of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States.

Mrs. Henry E. Blaesing, 46, speaking in a tired voice, said she is the late president's daughter by a mistress, Nan Britton.

"I've talked to so many reporters today," she said. "I haven't even had a chance to talk to my sons to find out what they think of all this."

News stories about recently discovered love letters from Harding to another mistress, Mrs. James Phillips of Marion, Ohio, referred to Nan Britton and to the "love child" Miss Britton said she bore out of wedlock.

The Los Angeles Herald Examiner found Mrs. Blaesing living in this suburban community.

Miss Britton, now 67, lives in Evanston, Ill.

"We are very close," said Mrs. Blaesing. "She's a wonderful person."

Mrs. Blaesing, listed as Elizabeth Ann Christian on her birth certificate, was born Oct. 22, 1919, in Asbury Park, N.J. Harding, then a U.S. senator, was 53, married, childless and just one year away from the presidency.

In 1921 Elizabeth Ann was adopted in Chicago by her mother's sister, Elizabeth, and her husband, Scott Willits. They also live in Glendale now.

"I was the most logical one to adopt her," says Mrs. Willits. "I had no children, and that way we could keep her in the family. She thought we were her parents until her mother took her back when she was seven."

Mrs. Blaesing recalls:

"My mother told me when I was very young that President Harding was my father. He died in 1923. I don't remember ever seeing him. I believe, though, that my mother sent him photographs of me and my mother told me that he sometimes inquired about me."

Mrs. Blaesing says knowledge of who her father was created no problems for her.

"I had a normal childhood," she says, "but then, I didn't go around telling people about it."

She continued:

"I do recall that when she (her mother) spoke of President Harding she always talked of him in glowing terms. Mother wasn't bitter. All through the years she never spoke badly of him. It was all love, adoration and affection. She told me she loved him very much. She still does."

Mrs. Blaesing was married on Sept. 18, 1938, in Chicago.

The Blaesings moved to California at the end of World War II and settled in Glendale three and a half years ago. Blaesing is manager of an office building. They have three sons, 17, 13 and 10.

Until Thursday, Mrs. Blaesing says, only her closest friends and a few members o the family have known of her parentage. Even her sons hadn't known.

Barry Moves To Cement Control

By JACK BELL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Launching his presidential campaign with the declaration that "extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice," Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater moved today to cement his control of the Republican party.

Goldwater told cheering [illegible] delegates as he accepted the GOP nomination in the Cow Palace Thursday night that it is the cause of Republicanism to ensure that power remains in the hands of the people.

"The Good Lord raised up this mighty republic to be a home of the brave and to flourish as the land of the free — not to stagnate in the swampland of collectivism—not to cringe before the bullying of communism," he declared.

Cheered throughout his speech he got his biggest hand from delegates who had been warned about the threat of extremist elements to their party when he said: "Extremism in the defense of liberty is no vice. Moderation in the pursuit of justice is no virtue."

Clad in a dark business suit and wearing, as usual, his horn-rimmed glasses, Goldwater marched triumphantly into the glare on the podium after his unanimously elected running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, had accepted the vice presidential nomination. Balloons cascaded down on the Arizona senator as pandemonium broke loose.

Miller, noted as a rough-and-tumble campaigner, played down his role with a short speech in which he said he was happy to be standing in the campaign at the side of "a man who more than any other I have ever known in American life speaks the truth to the people, courageously stands for principle, and devotes himself completely to keeping America free."

The formalities having been observed and the 28th Republican Convention over, Goldwater turned his attention to taking over the command of the GOP National Committee.

The presidential candidate acted in advance to pick Dean Burch, second man in his campaign command, to replace Miller as head of the committee. He has said he wants to bring the committee actively into the campaign and to channel any future patronage through it.

The triumph of Goldwater's conservatism left some wounds unhealed among some of those who had opposed his nomination. Michigan Gov. George W. Romney said that unless the nominee demonstrates that he is willing to go beyond the platform in some vital areas, such as civil rights, "I will go home and campaign for Michigan Republicans."

economics, water supply and engineering.

In addition, the District invested $2,750,000 in a pipeline which roughly parallels the Colorado River, partly because a contracting oil company agreed to take up to 1,000,000 gallons per day of salty water drawn from the normal low flow of the river.

When in 1958 the District expended about $3,600,00 to provide more adequately for peaking demands of cities which grew far faster then estimated, E. V. Spence, General Manager, told the Board that another major reservoir was imperative to the water security of the area. The original application was filed August 4, 1959, being approved the following year with the understanding that the actual permit would not issue until the CRMWD showed that it could control salt water pollution, which would make a lake impracticable in time.

In cooperation with other government agencies and private concerns, the District obtained an order banning the disposal of oilfield brines in upper Mitchell and southwestern Scurry Counties. This was thought to be the major source of artificial pollution of the normal low flow of the river, which content sometimes was much saltier than sea water.

After 20 to 25 years, a substantial amount of the salt in the soil may be leached out, said Spence, but in the meantime the District plans to intercept the flow with low water structures. Brine will be drawn off and pumped into the pipeline or otherwise disposed of. The structures are so low that flood waters, relatively free of saline or other pollution, will flow over them and down to the new lake. At least two of these will be constructed in Mitchell and Scurry Counties, and there could be more. As an additional protection on quality of water in the new lake, a pipe 10 feet in diameter will be put through the base of the dam in order that saltier water, which tends to stratify at the bottom of the lake, may be drained if necessary.

Another major problem encountered during the course of studies was the presence of layers of gypsum and anhydrite (compressed gyp) at and near the Mitchell County site. To a much lesser degree this was present at the Coke site, and by extending the north flank of the dam and cutting a core trench in the channel, geologists and the engineers, Freese, Nichols and Endress, of Fort Worth, said there would be no danger of leakage. Under prolonged saturation and pressure, gypsum may melt, leaving an underground void where it was. Some reservoirs have thus had their contents mysteriously drain under or around their dams.

The CRMWD noted in its application that it had been successful in a substantial reduction and the halting of further discharges in the watershed of brined and other wastes which cause pollution in the project area. The application also included an amendment adding recreational use in order that area people might make use of the lake, and also the right to use brackish water intercepted in the normal low flow.

In filing the amended application, the District does not waive any of the rights acquired under the previous presentation and application.

4 In Family Die In Crash

EL PASO (AP)—Four members of an El Paso family were killed when their car and a tractor - trailer truck collided late Thursday night on Interstate 10, about 12 miles east of here.

They were Mrs. Carolyn Owen, 26, Peggy Owen, 3, Dwayne Owen, 5, and Susan Owen, 2.

Victoria Owen, 13 months, was injured.

Officers said Mrs. Owen was taking an attendant from the service station where her husband works to assist a stranded motorist and just as she pulled back on the pavement after letting the attendant out her car collided with a truck driven by Roy William Evans, 44, of Pecos. Evans was also treated for minor injuries and released.

3 Directors Are Named

ARLINGTON (AP) — The president of Great Southwest Corp., Angus G. Wynne Jr., has announced the election of three of the Pennsylvania Railroad as directors of the corporation.

Great Southwest is an industrial complex between Dallas and Fort Worth. It controls Six Flags Over Texas, an amusement park near Arlington.

The new directors are Stuart T. Saunders, chairman of the board of the Pennsylvania Railroad; David C. Bevan, chairman of its finance committee, and W. R. Gerstnecker, treasurer.

The Pennsylvania Co., a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania Railroad, recently increased its holdings to approximately 50 per cent of the common stock of Great Southwest Corp. Its represenatatives on the board replace Toddie L. Wynne, T. L. Wynne, Jr. and O. P. Corley who resigned. George Thompson, Jr. also resigned, leaving a vacancy on the board.

Boys' Club Set For Annual Camp

Herb Barnett, manager of the Boys' Club here, has announced that due to a shortage of funds, a charge will have to be made for the camp sessions of the club this year.

Barnett said that it was with a great deal of regret that the decision was made to make the charge, but added that without the money the campers would pay, it would be impossible to have a camp session this year.

The charge to each camper, which will be $5, was made necessary, Barnett said, because of the reduction in funds available from the United Fund this year. Had the fund made its goal, he said, and the Boys' Club received the allocated part of the original goal, another free camp this year would have been possible.

Some of the activities in which the campers will participate include horseback riding, swimming, hiking, fishing, go-cart driving, campfire activities, cookouts, physical fitness, tent camping and boating. Three good meals are served each day, and each camper is covered by insurance.

Barnett said that he felt that the camp experience was one of the most valuable parts of the Boys' Club activities, and that he was urging each member to try to earn the money to pay his way. An installment plan has been set up so that the boys may deposit money toward their camp fee at the main desk of the club.

Skeleton Of Indian Is Discovered

CANYON (AP) — A well preserved skeleton which archeologists say is that of an Indian entombed about 1100 A.D. has been found in Palo Duro Canyon of the Texas Panhandle.

Dr. Jack Hughes of West Texas State College and an archeologist for the Panhandle Plains Museum termed the burial vault discovery as "an outstanding find of extreme importance."

The vault was discovered on the rattlesnake - infested side of a rugged cliff.

Jim Sorenson, proprietor of Six Gun City, a museum-type establishment near the canyon, came across the vault while clearing another cave.

It was sealed with stones. Sorenson said he notified authorities after clearing the entrance and finding the skeleton.

Hughes said the hands held an 11-inch flint knife still sharp enough to skin a deer. The skeleton was encased in a breastplate that contained a clam shell.

He said the Indian, either a chief or a counsel chief, was possibly a member of a migrating tribe. He said the man was of high station because of the manner in which he was buried and his dress. He estimated the man was about 25 when he died.

Man Injured When Pistol Discharges

An Abilene man received a gunshot wound in the leg at about 9:30 p.m. Thursday night when the gun he was using to shoot rabbits accidentally discharged.

Ray Perkinson, 22, was working on a rig near Vincent. It is reported that he and his brother had gone to check a water pump and were returning to the rig when the mishap occurred.

They were in the car when the .45 automatic pistol discharged. Perkinson's brother brought him to Cogdell Hospital where he was given emergency treatment. He was then transferred to Hendrick Hospital in Abilene by Bell - Seale Ambulance Service.

Perkinson's injury was not believed to be serious, as apparently no bones were broken.

Kenneth Eugene Trent of Snyder pleaded guilty in county court Thursday afternoon to a charge of illegal transportation of alcohol in a dry area.

Trent was arrested by officers of the sheriff's department at about 3:45 p.m. Thursday. The case was heard at 4:30 p.m.

Following his plea of guilty, Trent was assessed a fine of $200 plus costs of $26.35 and was sentenced to 15 days in jail.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me? I want to be a virgin when I get married, but it's getting harder every day. I shoplift for kicks (have never been caught) and I [illegible] when I can get it. People say I look like a tramp, and I guess I do. All this is because my father is trying to run my life. He won't let me out after 6 p.m. unless he knows where I'm going, who with and how long I'll be gone. Even when I tell him the truth, he says I'm lying. I'm sick of being watched like a criminal. I know I'm running with the wrong crowd but they are the only ones who understand me. I am overweight and my mother never lets me forget it. I break everything I touch because I'm so nervous. If you don't tell me where I can get some help soon, so help me, Abby, I'm going to find some high place to jump off of.

WANTS TO DIE AT 15

DEAR WANTS: Show a copy of this confession to your family doctor or pastor. If you can't communicate with your parents, take your misery to a trusted relative. That you recognize your shortcomings and WANT to get help means your "jump" would be meaningless and a tragic waste of life.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a son and a daughter. Both have been married many years. Several years go I made an heirloom quilt. I could never make another one as my eyes are not good enough and there was much close work involved. I have been offered $100 for it many times, but have refused [illegible] would like to have it for her son, who is now a teen-aged girl. This girl is very unappreciative, and has never taken very good care of her things.

My son asked me years ago if I would "will" it to him. He has a lovely wife who would take good care of it. I don't want to hurt my daughter's feelings, but I would rather see my son and his wife have it. What should I do?

PONDERING

DEAR PONDERING: Treat yourself to the pleasure of giving it to your son and his lovely wife while you are living.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have heard that when a person is under an anesthetic he talks very plainly and usually says things he would never say if he were conscious. Is this true? I am scheduled for some surgery (not serious) soon and this is very important to me. Is there any other way a person could be "put under" for an operation and be assured that he will not talk? I can't ask my doctor because he belongs to our club and we know a lot of the same people and he might wonder why I am asking. Please don't use my name.

MRS. BLANKETY BLANK

DEAR MRS. BLANKETY: Find out who your anesthetist will be and ask him. Don't worry. Whatever you say will probably be disregarded. Only psychiatrists get paid for listening.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO DAVID: Don't give up. It's usually the last key in the bunch that opens the door.

GIFT TEA—Miss Helen Claire Joyce, bride elect of Mr. Travis E. Hatter, of Tucson, Ariz., was honored with a tea Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Martha Ann Woman's Club. Political Convention Fun Party

Whether you re rooting for Lyndon or Barry, this month and August are sure to be exciting months as both political conventions meet to choose their presidential candidates. Make an informal party out of it in front of your television set.

Unless you're terribly partisan, invite small groups in on the evenings of both conventions. Otherwise, you have a group in during the convention of your party choice and team up with a friend of the opposite inclination so that she will have the group for that convention.

Since all eyes will be focused on the TV set, don't plan on an elaborate dinner. Plan a buffet with politial names such as "Political Ham," "Congressional Corn with Red Herring," "French Fries a la Filibuster," and "Debate-nut Bread." Afterwards, serve "Baby (candy) Kisses" and Espresso coffee.

As the evening draws on, you might want to serve heaping bowls of popcorn along with liquid refreshments.

Since all eyes will be on the television screen, plan your decorating around that focal point. Consider, for example, a miniature bandwagon with a donkey and an elephant pulling it from either end. You can make the bandwagon from half of a half-gallon paper milk carton with large buttons or circles of cardboard for wheels. Decorate it with red, white, and blue miniature streamers. The donkey and elephant can be made of paper and pipe cleaners, each with a red, white, and blue "blanket" on its back.

Inside the bandwagon, arrange red carnations, white stocks, and blue cornflowers for a continuation of the patriotic color scheme. In addition, give each guest an identifying flower for his lapel buttonhole or her dress — red carnation for one party, blue cornflower for another, and white carnation for the independents.

If you start the party an hour or two before the returns start coming in, you might work up a game of charades with two teams. Only those stunts which have a political theme can be acted out. Then turn on your TV set and cheer for your favorite candidates.

Still Man–Hunting?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Girls who've wondered whether there is a chance in this generation for a plain homebody type to find a husband, with all the emphasis on careers for women, might be heartened by the story of Jennie, an 18-year-old. Jennie considered herself practically on the shelf because there "was nothing really outstanding about me," she says.

So imagine Jennie's surprise when the most sought after boy in their senior class asked her for a date.

He had never spoken to her before. But for that matter very few boys bother, she says.

"Well, we went out that evening and I had a wonderful time, the best I ever had in my life. He is handsome, nice and very polite. When we came home from the movie, mother was waiting to meet him. They got along fine."

When her date left he thanked her for a pleasant time and her heart was beating like it never had before, she says.

"But then I didn't see him to speak to for an entire month," Jennie says, "even though we share the same classes at times.

At last their paths crossed so infrequently she had the distinct impression he was avoiding her.

"Mother would ask me time and again, until I wanted to scream, "Why doesn't that nice boy take you out again?" or "Why not ask that nice boy to dinner?"

"Well, I'd say to Mother time and time again 'How can you ask a boy to dinner after just one date?"

But that's exactly what Jennie did.

"Don't ask me how I got the courage. It isn't like being popular and knowing that a boy will just jump at the chance. But finally I looked at myself in the mirror and figured "What can I lose?"

He accepted at once in response to a note and her mother said: "Why don't you cook the dinner yourself, dear."

"Now Mother," she said, Don't try matchmaking with this fellow, He's too popular."

But thinking it over, she decided to cook the meal, because "I love to cook" she says.

"He ate everything but the tablecloth and I think it was because Mother was holding on to it. He just kept saying, 'Everything is just so good,' it did my heart good to watch," says Jennie.

After dinner they took a walk and he told her it was the first time a girl ever had invited him to dinner.

"Do you know that most girls don't keep anything but soft drinks in their ice box, and say they are on diets, except when you take them out," he said.

When they got back home she filled up a little box with cookies, and he practically flipped, she says, as he went away with the box under his arm.

Then Jennie got a letter. In it, he explained their first date was a set he'd lost on a football game. But he felt so contrite since their last meeting, he wanted to see her again, please.

Jennie is a forgiving type, or "we just wouldn't be engaged today," she says happily. That last line of the letter helped, too.

"I'd like to see you again because nice girls like you are hard to find," he said, "especially nice girls who can cook."

"And you know, I can't help but think mother is right," says Jennie, "because she told me "It's easier to get a man that way today than it ever was

New York Plus Jewish Is Funny

TO AN EARLY GRAVE. By Wallace Markfield.

All right already, everyone knows about the eccentric Yiddishers of Manhattan. For years stage comedians have made smott cracks about bagels and lox. Also gefulte fish.

And novelists find these Yiddish types excellent material for comedy and tragi-comedy.

So what gives? So Markfield has written a really comic novel about some of these characters. Like Braverman, whose departure to an early grave touches off this narrative.

Morrow, Offensteen, Weiner and Levine have been his friends. In Levine's Volkswagen they set forth to the wilds of Brooklyn for the funeral. To the wrong location you think they would go? And you've never read anything like the funeral oration they hear, only this couldn't be Braverman who is the corpse.

Before the riotous odyssey - in - miniature has ended, you know a great many things about Braverman and his fiends.

Final Week At Girl Scout Camp

On Sunday, July 19, the final session of Girl Scout established camping will begin at Camp Boothe Oaks near Sweetwater. Session V will begin with check-in at 2 p.m. on Sunday; and the session will end at 2 p.m. on Saturday, July 25.

The 1964 season at Boothe Oaks marks the twelfth summer of the camp's operation. Boothe Oaks is the established campsite of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, which has its headquarters in Abilene. The camp is operated in accordance with the standards of Girl Scouts, U.S.A and the standards of the American Camping Association, of which the camp is a member. Miss Fane Downs, District Adviser in the West Texas Council, is Camp Director.

During the first four sessions in 1964, there were 332 campers at Boothe Oaks. There has been an average of 80 established campers per session — plus the advanced or Pioneer Unit which was held for experienced campers from June 9-20.

Another group of 80 campers is expected for Session V., so the total attendance during the 1964 season will be approximately 412 Girl Scouts.

The 1964 sessions at Boothe Oaks have given Girl Scout campers an opportunity to enjoy the usual camp activities such as swimming, campcraft, cooking and sleeping in the out-of-doors, archery, hiking, care and use of tools, and pursuit of individual interests, through work on proficiency badges.

Special events that have been planned by the campers themselves this summer have thus far included all - camp swim meets and special all - camp parties (among the latter have been a Hawaiian Luau, a Mexican Fiesta, and costume parties). The campers who were at Boothe Oaks on the Fourth of July enjoyed a full day of patriotic observances, picnics, games and relays, a parade by the campers, a watermelon party — and finally a night - time fireworks display. Another special treat for the campers was a visit by the NASA Spacemobile to Boothe Oaks on July 3.

Girls at Boothe Oaks participate in an outdoor program that is based on the lasting values of the Girl Scout movement — and a Girl Scout will tell you that adventure and fun await girls who attend a session at an established camp!

Snyder girls attending Session V (July 19-25) at Camp Boothe Oaks are: Carol Ann Block, and Sherry Huddleston.

Unique Campaign Brewing In '64 Presidential Race

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Republican party under conservative Sen. Barry Goldwater now begins a presidential campaign that is unique in the 20th century and will be remembered for generations.

The four-day convention that made Goldwater the party's candidate against the Democrats' President Johnson was dull because his selection was a foregone conclusion. But the implications are profound.

This 1964 campaign will be vastly different from the kind the Republicans have waged for decades. Previous ones hardly did more than urge restraint on the expansion of federal power and programs.

But Goldwater wants to return to some aspects of the past. In his acceptance speech Thursday night he said "we must and we shall return to the proven ways—not only because they are old but because they are true."

For example: Although Democrats and Republicans agreed in the Employment Act of 1946 that the government has a responsibility for the general welfare, Goldwater has said it must withdraw from social welfare programs.

He did not necessarily budge from that position Thursday night when he said, "we must assure a society here which, while never abandoning the needy or forsaking the helpless, nurtures incentives and opportunities for the creative and the productive."

And, as he has said before, he would diminish both the role and the power of the federal government. He said:

"We Republicans define government's role, where needed, at many levels, preferably the one closest to the people involved: Our towns and cities, then our counties and states, and only then the national government.

"That is the ladder of liberty built by decentralized power. On it also we must have balance between branches of government on every level."

Never once in his speech did he say a word about what he thinks should be done on civil rights for Negroes although, because of his vote last month against the Johnson-sponsored civil rights bill, this will be a major and perhaps blazing issue of the campaign.

It is hard to believe this will not be one of the roughest campaigns in this century—perhaps the toughest.

Less than two weeks ago Goldwater said one of the main issues of the campaign would be the "scandal hanging over the White House."

Two nights ago, discussing Johnson's role in civil rights, Goldwater called him a faker and a phony.

Thursday night he said "our people have been given bread and circuses, spectacles and even scandals." And he talked of "corruption in our highest offices."

At this moment it is impossible to know how much appeal Goldwater will have to the masses of voters, or even to liberal Republicans, although it seems clear he will need all the Republican support he can get.

If he loses, particularly if he loses badly, Republican power in this country will probably be shattered for years. If he wins, the country will have to reverse its course and take a sharp turn to the right.

Then a whole new evaluation of the government's role at home and its foreign policies would begin.

In the past, at least back to 1940, the two parties have looked pretty much like twins, except for semantic hair-splitting on issues that looked more synthetic than real.

Thus for years voters have not been given a clear choice between liberal and highly conservative parties.

They'll get that chance this year.

Junior Editors Quiz on PT Boats

QUESTION: What does PT on PT boat mean?

* * *

ANSWER: A torpedo is one of the most deadly of naval weapons. It can be headed for an enemy vessel under its own power while the boat which dropped it streaks away out of range of enemy guns. After the torpedo was invented, fast light ships were developed to drop torpedoes and then make a fast getaway. The PT boat is the modern version of this idea. "PT" means "patrol torpedo", meaning the boat is used on patrol missions as well as for dropping torpedoes. These craft skim or "plane" over the surface at speeds up to 37 miles an hour. It is the shape of the hull as well as their light construction which enables them to "plane" in this way.

The main picture shows a PT boat sliced in half by a Japanese destroyer which came looming up out of the night. It was August 2, 1943; the officer in the water is Ensign John F. Kennedy, skipper of the PT. As day broke, the man later to be our President ordered his men to swim to a nearby island. He towed a disabled man to shore, despite an injury to his own back. For this heroism, he received the Navy and Marine Corps Medals, as well as the Purple Heart.

Paul Newman Gets Raise Of $7.50

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Newman, who can earn up to a million dollars in a single movie, got a $7.50-a-week raise on Broadway the other day.

"It brought my take-home pay to $103.50," said Paul, celebrating over a can of beer in his dressing room.

He and his wife, Joanne Woodward, are appearing in a limited engagement in a new comedy by James Costigan, "Baby Want a Kiss."

The play was produced by the Actors Studio Theater; and Newman and Miss Woodward took their roles as a gesture of loyalty to the Actors Studio and the part it played in furthering their careers.

"We were fortunate we could take six months out of our lives to do this," said Paul.

The handsome, curly haired actor, who spent three years riding Navy torpedo planes as a radioman in World War II, seems to have taken the place of Clark Gable as a symbol of masculine virility to millions of feminine film goers.

And Paul has found that the price of being a Broadway matinee idol is that on matinee days the throng of fans waiting at the stage entrance keeps him a virtual prisoner in the theater until after the evening performance. He doesn't like mob scenes, or being pawed.

Opening his second can of beer, his ration between shows, Newman remarked:

"An actor feeds on the satisfaction that he has given people a creative experience."

Paul, who is built as trimly as a college quarterback, feels that the public unconsciously tends to think his screen roles reflect his own personality.

"Many get the idea I'm humorless, just because I play such intense, hard-driving physical characters. But I'm no Rock of Gibraltar.

"To me life is full of terror. Life is terrifying to anyone who has a conscience.

"But the only way to live is to try to overcome your own fears, by doing what you're afraid of. Anything that frightens you ought to challenge you."

Teachers Get Raise

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Trustees of the San Antonio Independent School District have voted teachers a $50 annual increase plus increment hikes of $10. Salary ranges from bachelor's degree holders will now be $5,600 to $6,550, compared with last year's range of $4,440 to $6,450. The range for teachers with master's degrees will be $4,800 to $7,000.

New Dove Season Set

AUSTIN (AP) — New Texas seasons for mourning and white winged doves, as well as some other migratory game birds, were set Thursday by the State Parks and Wildlife Commission.

The commission provided four days of whitewing shooting in South and West Texas border counties under a regulation issued last week by the U. S. Department of the Interior authorizing a 1964 season.

No whitewing season was allowed last year.

The north zone mourning dove season opens at noon, Sept. 1 and runs through Oct. 30. Shooting hours are from noon until sunset. Bag limits are 12 per day and 24 in possession.

Mourning doves may be shot in the south zone from Sept. 26 through Nov. 24, except in counties having a special open season on white-wing doves, where the season will close Nov. 20.

Whitewing season will be Sept. 5 and 6 and Sept. 12 and 13, opening at 2 p.m. and closing at sunset each day. Counties included are Brewster, Brooks, Cameron, Culberson, Dimmit, El Paso, Hidalgo, Hudspeth, Jeff Davis, Jim Hogg, Kenedy, Kinney, La Salle, Maverick, Presidio, Staff, Terrell, Val Verde, Webb, Willacy, and Zapata.

Mourning doves may be taken during the whitewing season. Bag limits will be 12 doves per day and 24 in possession, but only 10 per day may be whitewings, with not more than 20 whitewings in possession.

The north zone consists of Val Verde, Kinney, Uvalde, Medina, Bexar, Comal, Hays, Travis, Williamson, Milam, Robertson, Houston, Cherokee, Nacogdoches and Shelby Counties and all counties north and west. Other counties are in the south zone.

The commission also set regulations for these other migratory game birds:

Rails and gallinules (except coots) may be taken Sept. 1 through Oct. 20, from sunrise to sunset. Bag and possession limit is 15.

Woodcock — Nov. 27 through Jan. 15, from sunrise to sunset, with a daily bag limit of five and a possession limit of 10.

Wilson's snipe or jacksnipe—Nov. 27 through Jan. 15, sunrise to sunset. Daily limit is eight and the possession limit is 16.

AT BAT — BAWLING BILLY—Billy Lee, 1½-year-old son of pitcher Don Lee of the Los Angeles Angels, wasn't very happy when his dad tried to lend a hand at the plate in Los Angeles during the annual fathers-sons game. The game was staged between games of the twi-night double-header with the Detroit Tigers. (AP Wirephoto)

Texas Loop Hurler Has No-Hitter

By The Associated Press

El Paso southpaw Nick DeMatteis hurled a no-hitter in beating Tulsa 1-0 Thursday night and might have hung up a perfect game but for a couple of minor errors.

As things turned out, he threw to only 29 batters and just one advanced as far as second base. The performance spelled defeat for righthander Jerry Wild, who threw a three-hitter at the El Paso Sun Kings.

Impressive as it was, DeMatties' feat served only to nudge El Paso up a notch in fourth place, leaving the club 11 games back of league-leading San Antonio.

The Sun Kings scored in the first inning on a sacrifice fly by Larry Stubing after a walk, a single by Tony Eichelberger and a wild pitch by losing moundsman Wild.

Spencer Scott, a pinch hitter, stroked a two-run single with the bases loaded in the ninth inning as the cellar dwelling Fort Worth Cats nipped the San Antonio Bullets 2-1. There were two out when Scott dropped a feeble looking fly behind shortstop to score Withrow and Bob Pfeil.

Second place Albuquerque forged within half a game of first as Al Norris, another pinch hitter, socked a three-run homer in the ninth inning to whip the Austin Senators 6-3. Norris, batting for winning pitcher Nick Willhite, drove in Vic Pagel and Don Williams, who worked Austin reliever Ron Herr for walks.

They change opponents tonight with Albuquerque going to San Antonio, Austin to Tulsa and El Paso to Fort Worth.

Walt Alston Enjoys Steady Hum Of Bats

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers aren't staging any music appreciation nights for Manager Walt Alston, but he has to be enjoying that steady hum of hits.

The defending world champions, closing the gap on the National League leaders since the All-Star Game, continued their heavy hitting at St. Louis Thursday night by walloping the Cardinals 10-2 behind a 13-hit attack.

Ron Fairly again was the key to the attack, collecting his third homer in two nights plus a pair of singles and driving in four runs while the Dodgers finished the three-game set against the Cardinals with 30 runs and 39 hits.

Since the All-Star break, a period of nine games, the Dodgers have hit at an amazing .303 clip with Fairly showing the way at .412. More important, however, has been the awakening of defending batting champion Tommy Davis, finally starting to hit with regularity.

Davis, who hit .326 last season while winning the batting title for the second straight year, has hammered away at .342 since the All-Star Game and lifted his average to a modest, but respectable .268.

The over-all hitting surge has carried the Dodgers to the .500 level for only the third time this season, cut three games off their deficit and pulled them to within eight games of first place—the closest they've been to the top since June 22.

Meanwhile, Philadelphia and San Francisco again exchanged places in the battle for first place. The Phillies rode three hits by rally - starting Cookie Rojas to a 7-5 victory over Pittsburgh and a lead at four percentage over the Giants. Milwaukee's Hank Fischer stopped San Francisco on four hits, 6-0.

Third - place Cincinnati also closed the gap in the tightening race, moving to within 3 1-3 game of the lead by downing Houston 3-2 and the Chicago Cubs crushed the New York Mets 11-1.

In the American League, Baltimore regained first place by defeating the New York Yankees 6-1, the Chicago White Sox belted Bostor 9-3, Cleveland outslugged Kansas City 12-9 in 10 innings and Washington beat Minnesota 7-2. The Los Angeles Angels and Detroit were not scheduled.

Fairly, who has hit only six homers all season, provided the Dodgers with the only runs they needed by slamming a three-run homer in a four-run, first-inning uprising. He wound up the St. Louis series with six hits and 10 runs batted in.

The victim of the Dodgers' first-inning surge was Ray Sadecki, the Cardinals' big winner who now is 10-7. Joe Moeller won it with Bob Miller's relief help.

The Phillies, winning only their second game in the last eight, scored two runs in the third inning after Rojas started things with a single and came back with three more in the fifth after Rojas smacked a leadoff double. Rojas also collected another single.

The Phillies went against the book in the eighth when Jack Baldschun, working in relief of Art Mahaffey, walked Jerry Lynch intentionally, filling the bases and putting the potential winning run on with two out. Baldschun got out of the jam by striking out Donn Clendenon.

The Braves handed the Giants their third straight setback and added to their own streak by posting their eight victory in the last 10 game and the 14th in 19 games.

Fischer brought his record to 7-5 and contributed to his own support with a two-run double. He didn't need it as Hank Aaron, Joe Torre and Dennis Menke homered off Gaylord Perry.

The Reds scored the clincher in the third inning, breaking a 2-2 tie, and then held off the Colts behind the relief pitching of Bob Purkey and Sam Ellis. Marty Keough scored the winning run, beating out a hit to deep short and racing home from first on Deron Johnson's two-out single.

Ernie Broglio was touched for 10 hits but won his first game for the Cubs since he was acquired from St. Louis June 15. He had heavy support with Billy Cowan supplying a two-run homer and Len Gabrielson contributing a double and two singles.

Won't Turn Pro Despite Score Of 66

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—A youngster who can shoot a 66 in one of the major amateur golf tournaments in the nation sounds like a good prospect for the play-for-pay ranks.

But that's not true in the case of Charles Kennon, a 23-year-old medical student from Baton Rouge.

"I play for the fun of it," said Kennon, son of former Gov. Robert Kennon.

Young Kennon vaulted into the lead of the 58th annual Southern Amateur Golf Tourney Thursday with his torrid 66, which equalled the competitive course record for the rolling, strategically trapped Shreveport Country Club course.

His five-under-par score gave him a 36-hole total of 136 and all-time low medalist honors for the Southern.

Kennon went into today's third round with a one-stroke advantage over Dale Morey of High Point, N.C., two time Walker Cup team member.

Morey, winner of the North-South title slipped to a 61 Thursday after setting a course record with a 66 the previous day.

In third place was Howell Fraser of Panama City, Fla., who, like Morey, played his collegiate golf at Louisiana State. Fraser had a 67-71—138.

Next came Bob Lowrey Jr., of Huntsville, Ala., with a 68-72—140.

Brazosport Coach Gets Top Honor

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas sports writers have singled out J. B. Carroll of Brazosport as high school baseball coach of the year.

The selection of Carroll, a comparative newcomer among the state's coaches, was announced today to complete the list of those cited in balloting by the Texas Sportswriters Association.

Carroll's Brazosport nine, expected to finish no better than third in Dist. 12, crashed through the state Class AAAA baseball championship, beating favored Sherman in the title game. For the season it compiled a 24-9-2 record.

The choice means Carroll will be honored along with three other coaches cited as tops for the year in their fields by the sports writers at an Aug. 6 luncheon in Fort Worth. It will be held during the annual coaching school of the Texas High School Coaches Association.

Named as coaches of the year earlier in the annual poll were Don Smith of Abilene Cooper, whose team captured the state Class AAAA track crown; Chuck Curtis of Garland, mentor of the state Class AAAA football champions, and Fabian Lemley of McAdoo, coach of the state Class B basketball titlists.

Schneider Is Put On Disabled List

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves placed rookie southpaw Dan Schneider on the disabled list and purchased right-hander Cecil Butler from Denver of the Pacific Coast League Thursday.

The 21-year-old Schneider, who has a 1-1 record, is hospitalized with a back injury.

Ray Berres, 55 - year - old Chicago White Sox coach, started as a catcher with Waterloo, Iowa in 1929.

Gary Player Earing His Keep At Nicklaus' House

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—You can't say that Gary Player isn't earning his keep over at Jack Nicklaus' house—and it's pretty steep keeping.

Player, who is Jack's house guest at the PGA golf tournament this week, paused between efforts to eat Nicklaus out of house and home, and gave his host a hint that straightened out his swing.

That's a little like adding an extra story to the Empire State building, or an extra steak on little Gary's plate.

But Jack says he can use all the help he can get this week. He's trying to defend his PGA championship before the home folk, and grab the last spot in the golf World Series.

Meanwhile, Player, known as the South African locust, is setting a grocery bill record, Arnold Palmer is dropping over at night and trouncing Nicklaus at snooker, and baby-faced Bobby Nichols is leading after the first round of the PGA with a record

Nichols' round, achieved with the aid of a $5 putter he found on the back shelf in the pro shop in Anchorage, Ky., was also a record for the revamped 6,851-yard Columbus Country Club course.

Nichols, who comes from Louisville, went to Texas on a football scholarship and wound up playing golf instead, was sharper with his bargain basement putter than Palmer was with the snooker stick.

He finished with a three stroke edge on Nicklaus, who had his best opening round in a major championship all year with a 67. Mike Souchak also had 67.

Palmer had a menacing 68, along with five others, including former British Open champion Bob Charles, the New Zealand left-hander, Billy Casper and Don January.

Ben Hogan, the 51-year-old, two-time champion and all-time great had 70, even par, along with Player, and Tony Lema, the new British Open king, had 78. U. S. Open champion Ken Venturi was at 72, not out of it but needing to get moving.

Nationals Take FL All-Star Tilt

Jerry Loper of the American League All - Stars set the record, but the National League won the ball game, 14-12, in the Farm League All - Star baseball game Thursday night on the Little League diamond.

Loper came to bat five times and to say that he contributed his bit to the American cause would be a gross understatement. The first four times up he hit the ball out of the park. His home runs came in the first, second, fourth and fifth innings, and after each one the American Leaguers held the lead in the ball game. In all, Loper drove in nine runs.

Jerry Beard bashed a home run in the first for the Americans, and Gary Shields swatted one over the fence in the fourth for the Nationals.

As it worked out, Shields' blow may have been more crucial than any of the others since it was the big wallop of a 7-run uprising that pushed the Nationals into the lead for the first time.

In fact, the American League held an advantage of 6-0 after two innings of play on the strength of Beard's homer and two of Loper's circuit blows.

After the big fourth, the Nationals fell behind again in the top of the fifth when Loper hit his fourth home run of the evening. However, the Nationals picked up three runs in the bottom of the fifth to go ahead for keeps.

Colorful Dental Salesman In Semifinals Of Publinks

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — You can put Yates Adams down as one of the most colorful golfers the game ever has seen.

The 27-year-old dental salesman from High Point, N.C., has reached Friday's 36-hole semifinals of the National Public Links tournament at Francis Gross course with a wildly cheering Adams Army behind him.

Adams is a rawboned 6-foot-7, talks a blue streak and peers out from big glasses.

He would be conspicuous anywhere, even if he didn't wear brown plaid Bermuda shorts and a white tee-shirt.

He has only nine clubs — all battered, including a wedge that is as smooth as a tablespoon.

The talkative Adams insists he hasn't the money to know where his next hamburger is coming from and he buys one golf ball at a time. He plays with it—whether it is cut or not—until it is lost.

Even a caveman would be able to swing a club better than Adams. He cocks his legs better than he does his wrists, and he lets go like a discus thrower. His follow-through brings the club twirling over his head. But the ball drills out there 280 yards.

On the greens, Adams, at times creeps up on the ball, his putter wagging, and taps the ball without taking a stance. And it goes in.

In Thursday's quarter-finals, Adams defeated defending champion Bob Lunn of San Francisco 1 up.

"If I never saw it I wouldn't believe it," said Lunn.

"I didn't even know Lunn was last year's winner, said Adams.

"I just go out to play. As for pressure I don't know what that is. The only time I may have it is thinking if my clubs will stay together until I finish this tournament — which is the first major one I've ever been in."

In the semifinals Adams will face Bill McDonald, a music major at Washburn University in Topeka, Kan., where his father is baseball coach. The other match sends 20-year-old Norwegian born Arne Dokka of Sherman Oaks, Calif., against Dean Wilson, 31, an Omaha Postal clerk.

Frisco Reflections

By SAUL PETT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Reflections on the Republican National Convention:

Harold Stassen's mistake was that he peaked too early— in 1948.

Bill Scranton's mistake was that he didn't peek—at the letter somebody wrote and signed for him calling Goldwater everything but a Democrat.

Bill Miller became the GOP vice presidential nominee in 54 minutes, in this free and open convention. It took longer than that to get from the lobby to the 12th floor of the Mark Hopkins.

The only quiet hotels this week were in the suburbs—of Portland.

This is going to be the first campaign in history in which you could publicly call a candidate for president a ham. At 5:30 a.m., while the delegates were trying to sleep it off, there he was talking to all those kids in amateur radio land: "This is K7UGA, Portland 6. The handle is Barry. Baker Able Robert Robert Yankee." Some day, on the hot line, he may hear: "The samovar is Nikky. Nyet Immovable. . . ."

Dick Nixon thanked the convention for letting him run for president in 1960. Isn't four years a bit long for a bread and butter note?

On the platform, Nixon had something nice to say about almost everybody, Goldwater, Eisenhower, Scranton, Rockefeller, Lodge, even the press. He felt differently about reporters in 1962, just after losing the governor's race in California. Must be that, in the last two years, the delivery boy has finally learned to hit the porch.

At the end the press was coming back strong. Tuesday Gen. Eisenhower got the loudest hand of his speech when he denounced "sensation-seeking columnists and commentators." People in the gallery yelled "Throw 'em out!" But on Wednesday they gave us back our room keys. Thursday morning the Washington delegation caucused and adopted a resolution praising press coverage of the group. An hour later the Virginia delegation did the same. Thursday night Nixon was swinging over. With two more days we might have gotten Barry into the Newspaper Guild.

In convention week, same-day laundry service means same day next week. And so we leave our hearts and shirts in San Francisco.

Texas Delegates Are 'Gratified'

By GARTH JONES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Texas Republicans appraised today their part in the Republican National Convention.

"Very gratifying," said Sen. John Tower, head of the 56-member delegation. "I believe the result of our work here will be of tremendous help to the Texas Republican party."

A large number of Texas delegates had a hand in convention activities—from the time Mrs. Ike Kampmann, San Antonio, handed a gavel to the temporary chairman until the Texans' tumultuous "viva-ole" cheer after Sen. Barry Goldwater's speech accepting the presidential nomination.

GOP record books may not mention the Texans as originators of the "viva-ole" cheer but it is unlikely that other delegates will forget it. On opening day a strong-lunged Texan shouted "viva" and the rest answered with a shout of "ole," pronounced "o-lay." Day after day convention participation in the cheer increased until the entire hall rocked with the yell Thursday.

The Texans still don't know how the yell started, except that some unknown delegate to a 1962 state convention in El Paso gave it, apparently after an enthusiastic trip to Juarez, Mexico.

There was plenty of hard and serious work before and during the convention.

Mrs. Kampmann, national committeewoman, worked for several months with a subcommittee on planning the convention program.

Tower was a key writer of the party platform and gave one of the seconding speeches for Goldwater.

Mrs. Tobin Armstrong of Kenedy County was a member of the platform committee also.

State GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell, Dallas, headed a complex and extensive communications system to keep party leaders in close touch with activities of delegates from 11 southern states.

Mrs. Richard Bass, Dallas, and George Bush, Houston, nominee for the Senate, appeared in an opening day skit.

Harry Bass, also of Dallas, was the official custodian of the big Texas flag that was waved during each demonstration.

U.S. Rep. Ed Foreman, Odessa, spoke Monday urging election of more GOP congressmen, then made a seconding speech for the vice presidential nominee, Rep. William E. Miller of New York. Also giving a seconding speech for Miller was Rep. Bruce Alger, Dallas.

The sermon this week, "On Playing Church", is taken from the 5th Chapter of Ephesians, verses 21 through 30, with the text being "as Christ loved the church and gave himself up for her."

Summer is a time that far too many people play at going to Church, rather than making the worship the high point of the week. Come and worship God, then see if you are really playing at going to church or if it is a meaningful experience in your life.

Ike Doubts Best Ticket Was Named

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former President Dwight D Eisenhower says he will support the Goldwater - Miller Republican ticket although "it was not my personal choice."

This comment of Eisenhower, which came on television Thursday, had a certain ambiguity. It was not clear when he talked of his choice whether he was referring to vice-presidential candidate William E. Miller of New York alone or to both Miller and presidential candidate Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Eisenhower expressed his views in replies to two questions during an interview on the American Broadcasting Company television network. Eisenhower was employed by ABC as a consultant during its news coverage of the Republican National Convention, which adjourned Thursday night.

One question about Eisenhower's estimate of the ticket's strength specifically mentioned Miller. To this, Eisenhower replied:

"Well, I think that my own particular choice might have been some other person, but Bill Miller has been an effective chairman and a good congressman. He is a man with a great deal of energy. He makes a good speech, he is never lost for words, and he certainly will make a hard campaign.

"So I have already pledged that I am going to support the Republican ticket, and I don't by any means—even think of reneging on the pledge. I will be doing my best."

But another question discussed the ticket in general Eisenhower was asked if he believed the Republicans have the strongest ticket.

"Well, I don't know," he replied. "After all, remember, I have had a very short tour in politics. This may be the very best ticket that could have been put together, but I will do my best to support it, although, as I say, it was not my personal choice."

Banker Asks For Foreign Financing

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A prominent Mexican banker has criticized what he called "nationalistic" arguments against direct foreign investment and said they are needed to develop Mexico's economy and living standards.

Anibal de Iturbide, chief executive of the Banco Commercial Mexicana, said in an address to the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico City that arguments against direct foreign investments are anti-economic and unscientific.

"It is possible to develop the Mexican economy with our own resources, but this would mean such a slow process that the economically weaknest groups of the population would take several generations to become part of the privileged groups which have already reached a standard of living which allows them to reasonably satisfy their needs," he said.

Iturbide said direct foreign investments or foreign financing are a better choice than inflation as a means to stimulate production.

As for the "nationalistic" arguments against direct foreign investment, he said:

"I say the only thing we are upholding with this nationalistic theory is our desire not have to compete with people who are perhaps better prepared than we are."

Iturbide said that direct foreign investment takes numerous risks and performs many valuable economic functions before it can make a profit. And, he said, contrary to common belief foreign investments often reinvest profits, instead of taking them out of the country.

Budget Hike Is Sought

AUSTIN (AP) — An almost twofold budget increase was asked Thursday by the newly-formed Texas Tourist Development Agency, including funds to double its advertising program.

Agency officials, including Chairman James M. Gaines of San Antonio and executive director Frank Hildebrand, reviewed for budget examiners their $574,006 spending proposal for 1965-67. The budget includes $400,000 for national advertising, twice the $200,000 included in the current biennium's $292,292 appropriation.

Gaines said national advertising of Texas' attractions for vacationers is essential because the consumer today has been so indoctrinated to buy the nationally advertised brand that he tends to overlook the product which is not constantly before him."

He said the agency, which the legislature set up in 1963 at Gov. John Connally's request, aims at overcoming the image of Texas as "a desert wasteland, populated by cows and oil wells."

Traffic accidents in 1963 left an estimated 1,600,000 persons disabled, cost the nation more than $7 billion in property damage, medical expenses, wage losses and cost of insurance.

Volunteer Group Distributes Food

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Roman Catholics and Protestants have joined hands in a voluntary program that is getting American food to more than two million needy Brazilians.

The program, which gets its supplies from U.S. Food for Peace, is the biggest of its kind in the world.

It began three years ago with a handful of workers. Today, nearly 100,000 men and women, half of them on a part-time basis, contribute their time to this task. Many are retired businessmen and housewives.

The U.S. government supplies the food and transports it to Brazilian docks. But once there, the job becomes the responsibility of Brazilian men and women and organizations headed by the Brazil Voluntary Agency. This allies the Catholic Relief Service, the Protestant Church World Service and Lutheran World Relief, all cooperating with Brazilian agencies.

Costs of the program in Brazil are almost totally paid by the Brazilian church organizations. The Brazilian government helps by giving duty-free entry of the food from America, providing some warehouses and some transportation.

But the firm backbone of the operation is the mass of men and women who volunteer their time.

Through them, food is distributed in cities such as Rio De Janeiro and Sao Paulo, and, more difficult, in many small towns and communities in the vast Brazilian interior.

The network now includes 12,000 Catholic distribution centers that reach two million persons and 3,200 protestant centers that reach half a million.

Wallace Not Talking Yet

TALLASSEE, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace says that if he doesn't win the presidential election in November, "I'll give the votes I do get to the party that stands up for states rights and local government."

But the governor sidestepped Thursday night any comments on growing pressures that he get out of the race because he might split the Southern conservative vote between himself and the Republican nominee, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Neither did he comment on his future political plans, saying only that I'll let the national parties know what my plans are when they let me know what theirs are."

Wallace told The Associated Press earlier that he might have something more definite to say Sunday on CBS's "Face the Nation" telecast.

That Word in Anger...

You spoke it loudly and without concern, but did it solve any problems for you? You told him off, but did you get the order? Sure, relief at the time may seem sweet and bear up your own ego, but soon a dirty, gray regret sets in. Count ten??? Ah, you'd better count to a hundred or more and, by so doing, have a word fitly spoken. God said, "Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry: for anger resteth in the bosom of fools." Eccl. 7:9. Angry words can't be called back. One can't unsay them. The damage they do may be irreparable. Want to quit your foolishness? Then, seek out righteous men for your companions and ask God to help stay your tongue for, "He that is soon angry dealeth foolishly."
