Aircraft Eject Pilot From His Seat

ATC, RANDLOPH AFB, Tex. — The high speed and performance characteristics of the jet aircraft have brought wide scale use of pilot ejection systems. The seat of the airplane, using the force of a rocket or a 40-millimeter cannonshell located in the pilot's seat mechanism.

These powerful charges can be dangerous to anyone unfamiliar with their operation. A jet with an unfired ejection seat crash away from the vicinity of an Air Force base could be like dropping a bomb.

Though the ejection system was originally intended to be fired in the air to get the pilot out of an emergency, there are circumstances in which the ejection seat could still pose an explosive charge.

This could happen if a solo pilot ejected from a two-seated airplane or if a pilot did not get out before the crash.

The airplane canopy also carries a small charge used to blow the canopy away from the pilot when the pilot ejects. There have been cases of canopies ripped off of jets accidentally by the windstream. In such an event the canopy's charge would not have been fired and it would be a hazard on the ground. In normal operation the canopy tears off in flight. The jet will be flown to the nearest suitable airfield for landing.

In addition, the fuel aboard the airplane would have the potential of causing a fire or explosion.

Anyone who is the first at the scene of an Air Force jet accident should use caution near the plane. If it can be determined there is no one in the cockpit it should remain closed. The immediate scene should be promptly notified of the nearest Air Force base.

It should appear absolutely necessary to remove an occupant of a great care is necessary. A military jet has a danger of being painted on its side by the cockpit if the aircraft is ejected with an ejection seat. It is possible, no one should touch any part of the airplane or Air Force flying safety inspectors arrive.

Surplus Items Offered for Bid At Sheppard AFB

SHEPPARD AFB, Texas — Miscellaneous surplus property at Sheppard Air Force Base is being offered on a sealed bid sale by the Fort Worth Defense Surplus Sales Office, Fort Worth Army Depot.

The items include miscellaneous hardware, hose and tubing, chemicals, medical equipment and supplies, recorder, calibrator computer, photographic equipment plumbing fixtures and accessories, valves, lubricating, dispensing equipment, medical equipment, dental equipment and supplies, washers, water closet bowls and gas furnaces.

Inspection of the property may be made from December 17 through January 6 excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays between the hours of 8:00 a. m. and 3:00 p. m. by contacting Pete W. Hogan, redistribution and marketing officer, Building 2135 at Sheppard Air Force Base.

Bids should be mailed to the Fort Worth Defense Surplus Sales Office, Fort Worth Army Depot, P. O. Box 6988, Fort Worth 15, Texas, 76115, where they will be opened at 8:00 a. m. January 7th.

Channel 3 to Telecast New Year's Activities

The sky's the limit when it comes to CHANNEL THREE's color coverage of the 75th Annual Tournament of Roses Parade Wednesday, January 1st from 10:30 to 12:45 p. m. In addition to four strategically placed color cameras on the ground or in towers, the network will employ a fifth one positioned in a blimp riding high above the Pasadena parade route. Arthur Godfrey and Betty White will describe the colorful spectacle.

The float bearing the Tournament of Roses Queen, Nancy Kneeland and her court of six Princesses will be followed by 59 more floral floats designed around the parade theme "Symbols of Freedom." Among these symbols of freedom are floats titled, "The Statue of Liberty," "Freedom of Choice," "Foundations of Freedom," "Fourth of July," "In God We Trust," Lincoln's Address," and "The Four Freedoms."

San Antonio, Texas will honor the Alamo on the city's float entry. Formed with various shades of chrysanthemums, it will be a replica of the set used in the film, "The Alamo," depicting the building in smoldering ruins. Aligned in front of the Alamo will be a group portraying its defenders.

More than 2,100 musicians will pass the cameras during the televising of the Tournament of Roses Parade, including the 110 member United States Marine Corps Band which will have the lead position over 22 participating units. Five out-of-state high school bands will also march in the Rose Parade.

In addition to all the celebrities on the floats, there will be quite a few on the ground. James Franciscus of "Mr. Novak," Bill Dana of "The Bill Dana Show," Whitney Blake of the "Hazel" show, and Abby Dalton of the "Joey Bishop Show" will view the parade.

Following the parade, CHANNEL THREE will present color coverage of the Sugar Bowl Game in New Orleans in which the University of Mississippi opposes the University of Alabama (12:45) and the Rose Bowl Game between the University of Illinois and the University of Washington (3:45)

WELCOME NEW YEAR . . . New York's Times Square isn't the only famous location that becomes crowded with merrymakers waiting to welcome the New Year. The photo above shows crowd gathered at State and Randolph Streets in Chicago. Despite often near-zero weather, Chicago's Loop is crowded with people who came downtown to welcome a New Year.

New Kiplinger-Hammond Book Analyzes Trends That Will Affect U. S. Growth

WASHINGTON — What will the country be like in 10 or 15 years? According to the newly published Kiplinger-Hammond Economic Forecast Atlas of the World, population will have grown by one-third, average family income will have increased from $7,200 to about $10,000 in constant dollars, and there will be 20 million more workers looking for jobs — of whom 95% to 96% will meet with success in finding one.

The Atlas, in maps, charts and text, takes a look at changes to be expected here and throughout the world and analyzes their effect on the economy of the United States. "Many countries will just begin to develop along lines that the U. S. has already pioneered," it notes. "Other nations, which heretofore have merely supplied us with raw materials, will start making goods we've produced for years. This means that some of our jobs will vanish while others become more lucrative — and this shift alone will alter life and living in entire cities and regions right here at home."

The Atlas, published by The Kiplinger Washington Editors and the C. S. Hammond Company, points out that the U. S. gross national product will rise from nearly $600 billion in 1963 to around $1,000 billion, or $1 trillion, in 1975. "But there will also be inflation to watch for."

Average consumer price rises may work out at only 1 1/4% or so a year. . . . But if you add that 1 1/4% a year for 10 years, you get a 16% rise in the cost of living.

And when you compound it over 15 years, it means 25% increase in living costs." A special Kiplinger editorial task force, headed by Clarence M. Wright and Charles A. Cerami, compiled an economic outlook for each state, emphasizing which states will pull ahead in population growth and in economic opportunity and which will merely hold their own, or lag behind.

"The addition of some 50 million people will raise new problems," they note. "State and local taxes will go up to help pay for schools, hospitals, streets, sewers, highways and the like. Competition for the best jobs and the best men to fill them will be rugged."

In addition, the forecast takes a look at the industries which are likely to show the most growth — food, automobile, power, steel, railroads, trucking, airlines, retail sales, consumer durables, chemicals and plastics, etc. — and where their growth will have the most impact. The text also includes special report on defense, "A Business Prop," and on investing, "Keep Up With Growth and Change."

The Southwest — Texas, New Mexico and Arizona — will grow 46% almost 5 1/2 million new residents. "Part of these will be attracted by defense business, but all three states are adding other industries fast, making their economic base wider and stronger."

Oklahoma and Arkansas both started shrinking 10 to 15 years ago. "But folks got busy — state officials, private businessmen, civic leaders, others — and worked out programs to attract new business and industries. These two states will show more rise in the future, both in population and economic activity."

Proclamation MARCH OF DIMES

WHEREAS More than 250,000 American babies are born each year with a significant birth defect while approximately 11 million of our children and adults suffer from some form of arthritis or other disabling rheumatic disease, and

WHEREAS Exemplary medical care utilizing the skills of many specialists working together is not available to a majority of those stricken by these crippling, and

WHEREAS The March of Dimes now supports nearly 70 hospital treatment centers where improved treatment is being developed, and

WHEREAS The medical leadership these centers provide sends out waves of influence which serve to spread new knowledge, new techniques and new public awareness for the benefit of victims of all chronic disabling conditions, and

WHEREAS The March of Dimes is financing the work of research scientists seeking eventual breakthroughs toward the possible prevention of birth defects, arthritis and perhaps many other human ills, and

WHEREAS Funds are also needed for continued assistance to polio patients, health scholarships for our young people, and support of the new Salk Institute for Biological Studies, THEFORE, I JAMES E. FRYE, Mayor of Burk Burnett, Texas, do hereby proclaim January, 1964, as March of Dimes Month and do urge all citizens to contribute generously to this campaign.

Roger W. Babson Weekly Report

ROGER W. BABSON

The Burk Burnett Star will publish Roger W. Babson's BUSINESS AND FINANCIAL FORECAST for 1964 on Thursday, January 2, 1964.

We are calling this feature to your attention because 1964 will be a year of many changes. Mr. Babson's 1964 Forecast will contain predictions covering such important topics as: GENERAL BUSINESS, 1964 ELECTIONS, TAX CUT, LABOR, INFLATION, AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK, STOCK MARKET, REAL ESTATE, COST OF LIVING

BACKGROUND OF ROGER W. BABSON

American business has no more inspiring personality than Roger W. Babson, international business commentator and investment adviser. An outstanding feature of his philosophy has been his lifelong insistence on the importance of both religion and advertising in business.

Born and reared in an old fashioned atmosphere of hard work and hustle on a farm in Gloucester, Mr. Babson went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Upon graduating, he turned instinctively to financial and business activities in which his father was engaged.

His exertions, however, undermined his health; he contracted tuberculosis and was sent West "as good as dead." It was while he was convalescing from this dread malady that he worked out some of the possibilities and problems of business forecasting. His weekly releases are used by over 400 newspapers and his financial reports by 20,000 corporations and estates. His research work is carried on by a large staff of experts.

Mr. Babson founded Babson Institute for Men; and in cooperation with the late Mrs. Babson developed Webster College for Women, both nationally known educational institutions. Here young men and women may concentrate on the fundamental of honest and efficient business administration. Later, he founded a Midwest Institute of Business Administration, located in Eureka, Kansas, the center of the United States. He has been active also in the establishment of other mediums of service to the public, such as the Grayly Research Foundation, located at New Boston, New Hampshire.

Mr. Babson has probably done more than any other man to create among his millions of newspaper readers an interest in simple business problems, and to instill a broader vision in businessmen, enabling them to meet the ups-and-downs of the business cycle.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Kress and daughter of Burns Flat, Oklahoma, and Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Brummage and daughter of Dallas were holiday visitors in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Dunbar of Burk Burnett.

March of Dimes Contribution Is 'Help Right Now'

"Your contribution to the March of Dimes means help right now for some child crippled by birth defects or arthritis," declared Mr. Jerry M. McClure, Burk Burnett Chairman of the January 1964 campaign. "This help is available," he said, "through the nearly 70 March of Dimes financed treatment centers where teams of medical specialists are providing improved treatment and early diagnosis."

Mr. McClure pointed up the importance of this center network to the 250,000 babies born with birth defects each year and to the 40,000 children among the 11 million Americans who suffer from arthritis.

"In a short period of time, these centers have provided knowledge and treatment techniques which are now widely used. For example, birth defect centers have demonstrated the value of shunt surgery — the insertion of a plastic tube to drain off excess fluid and prevent enlargement of the head — in hydrocephalus cases. Arthritis centers have firmly established the importance of medical teamwork in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis," he said.

A new aspect of the March of Dimes Center program, explained Mr. McClure, will bring the benefits of improved diagnosis and treatment virtually into the homes of many birth defects and arthritis victims.

In addition to supporting these centers, the National Foundation, through the March of Dimes, still provides patient care for hundreds still suffering the effects of polio right here in Wichita County.

"The March of Dimes believes that every child afflicted with birth defects, arthritis, or polio should have the best care possible. You can help to provide it by giving generously this January," he said.

Short Services Were Held Sun.

Services for Mrs. W. B. (Winnie) Short, 65, of 310 Hayworth, who died Friday morning in a Wichita Falls hospital, were conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday from First Baptist Church at Burk Burnett.

Officiating was the pastor, Rev. Lamoin Champ. Burial was in Burk Burnett Cemetery under direction of Owens and Brumley Funeral Home.

Born Oct. 19, 1898 at De Leon, Tex., Mrs. Short had resided in Burk Burnett for more than 20 years, moving here from Crowell.

Survivors include her husband; a son, Bill Fred Short, Wassenaar, Holland; a brother, Lewis Rucker, Ft. Worth; two sisters, Mrs. Grace Norris, Dallas, and Mrs. Jennie Wallace, Crowell; two grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. Pallbearers were R. M. Knox, J. R. Story, Jr., C. L. Jenkins, R. E. Dunham, Jr., W. T. Davidson and R. O. Brookshier, Jr.

Guests of Mrs. Ray Matherly and family, 617 Glendale Street, during the holidays were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gieger, Telco, and her brother, J. T. Gieger, his wife and daughter, Gayla Sue of Fort Worth.

Supersonic Jets Altus to Kerrville To Fly Over Burk

OFFUTT AFB, Nebraska — Strategic Air Command has announced the opening of two supersonic test corridors effective January 2, 1964.

The routes to be flown are from Altus, Oklahoma, to Kerrville, Texas and over the length of Lake Michigan.

Flights along these routes may occur daily and normally will not be scheduled between 10:00 p. m. and 7:00 a. m.

SAC E-58 Hustlers, the free world's fastest bomber, will fly at supersonic speeds up to Mach 2 (1,300 m.p.h.) at altitudes above 35,000 feet. They will fly in a 40-mile-wide corridor and may travel in either direction.

Because of the high altitudes, the sonic booms created are comparatively weak in strength. Although sometimes startling or distracting in their suddenness, the booms will in no circumstance cause personal injury.

Annual C. of C. Banquet Scheduled Fri., Jan. 17

The Chamber of Commerce Banquet will be held Friday night, January 17th at 7:00 in the new high school cafeteria.

Guest speaker will be Lee D. Herring, vice president of the Grand Prairie State Bank.

Tickets are now on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office or from any director.

Carry On

President Lyndon B. Johnson in his Thanksgiving plea to his fellow citizens for their help, their strength and their prayers, pointed out manifold blessings that many may have forgotten in the full week of emotional upheaval that began with a sniper's rifle shot in Dallas on November 22nd.

And their is profound truth in his statement of Thanksgiving evening that "a deed intended to tear us apart has bound us together." In the vast confusion and numbing shock assassination—unthinkable in our time, it had seemed—this nation was, for 100 minutes without a chief executive. And then in the space of an oath, given in the cabin of the aircraft to which President Kennedy's body had been brought, President Johnson contained the distraction of grief with his first executive order. "Let's get this plane to Washington," he said.

In his address to the joint session of the Congress in which he had served 32 years, almost to the day, President Johnson declared that belief in the integrity and independence of the Legislative branch "is deep in the marrow of my bones." And he said: "With equal firmness, I believe in the capacity of the Congress, despite the divisions of opinions which characterize our nation, to act—to act wisely, to act vigorously, to act speedily when the need arises."

With this his fellow countrymen will generally agree. But, in a calmer hour, the President will realize that it is because of those "divisions of opinion" and not "despite" them that the Congress is wise and capable and the nation strong. Just as the Republic goes on, so does the source of its strength—the two-party system.

The order-of-the-day, if we read it correctly, is "Carry On."

will watch with interest those elected as conservatives and how they vote on this matter. As for the liberals, who control both houses of Congress, they will put it through. In 1789 the first members of Congress were paid $6 a day for every day they attended. The lawmakers paid their own travel expenses, meals, lodging and incidentals."

WEST POINT, MISS., TIMES-LEADER: "To many people, the best and easiest solution to any public problem is to get some special law, or 'benefit' from the government. The pattern normally is to—cry for help—demanding some law or regulation—when that phase of the action has arrived, those in authority can call for a new bureau to enforce the new laws or carry out the new benefit being enacted—which in turns calls for new taxes and new federal employees to staff the bureau. Under the above pattern, Washington bureaucracy has grown to over two million, and taxes have skyrocketed."

SARANAC, MICH., ADVERTISER: "I always take a good long look at the guy who suggests we raise our taxes for this or that. Generally he leaves me wondering if perhaps he might not be paying his fair share."

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

A news item before me tells of a building trade union which has just secured an increase of 95¢ per hour or $33.25 additional pay for a 35 hour week. The new hourly wage is just under $7, the new weekly rate nearly $250 or about $12,500 a year.

This is a little more than double what the majority of American workers with comparable skills are getting. High construction costs aggravate the housing problem and increase the demand for more and more rental subsidies for people in the lower income groups just a few days ago, the Director of Welfare in New York City announced that the number of families requiring help with their rent was steadily and rapidly increasing. The principle cause of this phenomenon is, of course, high wages of building trade workers and excessive taxation.

Men who earn $3 an hour cannot buy much of the output of men who get $7 an hour. That leads to a demand for subsidies. But subsidies mean higher taxes which in turn drives all costs upward and leads to the demand for more subsidies.

The only thing that will stop this inflationary spiral short of an authoritarian government is a free market wherein wages are not established by monopoly pressure groups but by what one's ability will bring in the free market. If we all bring our skills and products to the market place and exchange them for what others are willing to pay for them, a balance will be maintained with a job for every man at steadily rising real wages. On the other hand, if we do this but divide ourselves into innumerable pressure groups each trying to see how much it can get out of others, the stronger groups get more at the expense of the weaker groups, unbalance develops, government intervention in the form of subsidies for the weaker groups immediately follows, and the end of that process is authoritarian government with fixed wages and prices, a static government managed economy with hardships, and low standards of living for all.

Teens Turn Out by Thousands To Join March of Dimes TAP's

Thousands of teenagers across the nation have found a way to have fun while doing an important community project.

They have joined the Teen Age Program (TAP) of the 1964 March of Dimes in the fight against birth defects and arthritis.

Many are helping to carry out the public education program against birth defects, today's greatest unsolved childhood medical problem. Others are assigned to help with the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes. A great many choose to think up their own projects in their schools or suburbs.

Whatever job, it is important, because the fight against birth defects is vital to every young person who plans to have his own family someday, after completing school and career preparations.

Heading the TAP program are Judy Meyers, 18, Aurora, Colo., and Philip Dawson, also 18, Jamestown, N. Y., who are the national TAP co-chairmen for the 1964 March of Dimes this January.

Judy, a freshman at the University of Colorado, was a vice president of Mu Alpha Theta, mathematics honor society at Aurora High School, and Philip, a freshman at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, was a member of the National Honor Society at Jamestown High School.

Both young people feel that a high scholastic rating is not only desirable but necessary in today's world. Both feel that good marks give a teen leader added prestige with his peers.

"It's terribly old-fashioned to think that the Big Man on Campus is a 'C' student," Judy and Philip said. "More often than not, he's an 'A' student who is also aware of the importance of community activities."

Judy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Meyers of Aurora. She became a March of Dimes volunteer several years ago because she wanted

GETTING TO KNOW YOU: Little Virginia Paige, 5, who was born with a birth defect, gets acquainted with Philip Dawson, 18, of Jamestown, N. Y., and Judy Meyers, also 18, of Aurora, Colo., who were appointed national co-chairmen for the 1964 Teen Age Program (TAP) of the March of Dimes. Thanks to the latest medical techniques, provided by March of Dimes funds, you'd never know that Virginia, who lives in New York with her parents, was born with a serious birth defect.

"to do something useful." She decided to study languages at the University of Colorado for the same reason, because she thinks that linguists can be of service to their country in the coming years.

Philip, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dawson of Jamestown, comes from a family active in community service. His father is a deacon in the First Presbyterian Church of Jamestown, and a district commissioner for the Boy Scouts of America. Philip first heard of the March of Dimes through his mother, who was active in the Mothers' March for the March of Dimes during the years the Salk vaccine was being developed and tested.

Currently, Philip plans to go on to law school after college. He has tentative plans for a career in politics, "because I feel that this is an interesting part of our present-day life."

Both young people feel that if teens throughout the country are told the importance of the March of Dimes programs against birth defects, arthritis and polio, they will volunteer in great numbers for January's March of Dimes.

They based their predictions on two things, (1) neither Philip nor Judy ever had any trouble in finding volunteers for their March of Dimes projects in their home states, and (2) both teens pointed to the fact that the Peace Corps never has any trouble in finding volunteers.

"Young people today want to do something useful, along with putting forth every effort to do justice to their scholastic programs," the two national March of Dimes volunteers said. "Just because a teen wears sloppy clothes sometimes, and is a little loud other times doesn't mean that he doesn't want to do something worthwhile. The vast majority of teens want very much to be good, useful citizens."

Q—How much time remains for Korean War veterans to get educational benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A—The educational provisions of the so-called Korean GI Bill expires for all on January 31, 1965. Thus about one year remains to take advantage of that provision.

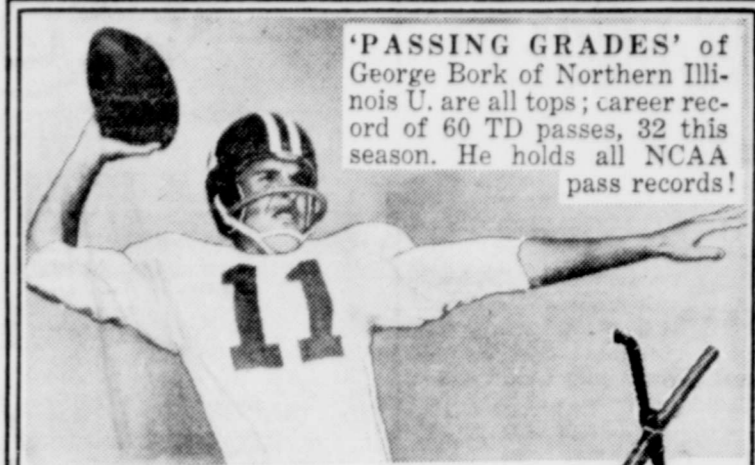

Q—I read that a person worked for the VA for more than forty years. Yet the VA wasn't formed until 1930. Explain this.

A—Originally, there were several organizations that served veterans in various ways. One of the earliest of these was the Bureau of Pensions. Another was the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers. The Bureau of War Risk Insurance originally insured wartime shipping but later took over service to veterans. Several of these groups were combined into the Veterans Bureau in 1921, and this new organization was combined with the other groups to form the veterans Administration in 1930.

Average annual rainfall at Phoenix, Arizona, is 7.62 inches.

People, Spots In The News

'PASSING GRADES' of George Bork of Northern Illinois U. are all tops; career record of 60 TD passes, 32 this season. He holds all NCAA pass records!

'SPLIT PERSONALITY' to nth degree is created by make-up of film actress in Nice, France.

'PLUMBING SHOPPER' Dianne Musselman can carry whole bathroom section assembled by Tube Turns Plastics, Inc. because it's of thermoplastic, weighs only 26 pounds. Same thing in metal would weigh 250!

'INSPIRATION' beyond call of duty is supplied as gal cheerleader encourages Oklahoma U.'s Larry Shields on 65-yard punt-return touchdown.

VETERANS Questions & Answers

Q—I started school September 16 under War Orphans Assistance Act. I understand I would receive $110 a month while attending school. My first check received on October 20th was for $55. Why didn't I receive $110?

A—VA pays for period of enrollment and considers 30 days a month. You attended 15 days during September, the month the check covered, so you were entitled to one-half of $110. Your last month of training will be figured on the same basis, following completion of monthly certification of attendance signed by you and the school.

Q—Is it true that there will be a reunion of ninety-four World War II airmen who escaped from France in 1944 in "Operation Bonapart"?

A—Yes. Three of the Evadees who live in Buffalo, New York, are arranging a reunion of the veterans who participated in Operation Bonapart. It is scheduled for May of 1964, 20 years after the escape. For details, write Ralph K. Patton, 327 Mt. Vernon Road, Buffalo, New York.

Q—Can a peace time veteran obtain treatment in a Veterans Administration outpatient clinic or by a private doctor and have the VA pay for it?

A—Outpatient treatment or treatment by an approved private physician as well as certain medicines are given without charge ONLY to veterans (either peace time or war time service) with a disability incurred or aggravated in service.

Q—If a veteran has named his mother as beneficiary of his insurance and then marries and has children, will his new family or his mother receive the insurance money in case he dies?

A—The VA is required by law to pay the insurance pro-

LONELY? NOT NECESSARILY SO

Please do not use my name or city. I am a widow, children married and gone away, and all of a sudden I feel like an outcast. What will I do to feel needed again?

ALL ALONE

Dear All Alone. Now is the time in your life when you can feel more needed and loved than ever before. With the Christmas Season in the air, and good will toward men, you can visit hospitals, visit orphanages, and start a whole new way of living. Try to find something that will let you give a part of yourself to people who need a kind word or just a listening post. Most hospitals love to have someone volunteer, there are organizations just crying for help along these lines. Cheer up, you are needed all over the world — just off. You won't be lonely long, you will Wake Up Younger each day.

WHAT TO DO?

Dear! Helen: I have been so busy all of my life that I never had time to take up a hobby. What do others do that retire, and still have outside interest?

Want to do SOMETHING?

Want to do something! There are more than enough hobbies to go around, and here are a few suggestions. Many people like to try their hand at painting or sketching. This isn't an expensive hobby, get some watercolors and go, man go. Some like to fish, ardent fishermen say there is nothing like it. Get that tackle and begin. Others would prefer going back to school to catch up on something they missed on the first go-round, there are night schools in every town and city. Contact your schools, or club groups, hobbies abound, all you have to do is have time, and now you have it. HAVE FUN!

TEENAGERS FOR DEAN-AGERS

Two years ago I formed a club of teenage girls. We do many civic things in the community and have won praise. Now I would like to start a project to help the elderly and shut-ins. We would visit, bring cakes, home-baked bread, etc. On a preliminary list I have two nursing homes and a retiree hotel. But how can I get a list of these who truly needs us?

Bless you! Go to your nearest social work agency or family welfare agency, for names of the most needy. In San Francisco a great program like this has evolved. Write for the Handbook for Marian Visiting, Catholic committee for the Aging, 251 Laguna Street, San Francisco, California. 94102. Terrific ideas!

NEED HELP ON A PROBLEM? Write to Helen Alpert, National Senior Center, Lehigh Acres, Florida, or in care of this newspaper. Write today for the free list of the many booklets and services available to you, compliments of this column.

Contemporary Study Club Met Dec. 17th

The Contemporary Study Club met December 17, in the home of Mrs. Dan Hofacket with the vice president, Mrs. Oran Wilson, presiding.

The Hockafet home was beautifully decorated for this gala occasion.

The project committee reported that various articles, including gifts for patients were taken to the State Hospital. Clothing was donated to the Fowler Home. Toys were given to the Duvall's for distribution to the unfortunate children at Christmas and also some was given to the Boy Scouts.

A very interesting and delightful program was given by Mrs. Fred A. Eastman, on "Faith and What Christmas Means to Me."

Gifts were exchanged by the members.

Lovely and delicious refreshments were served to the members and two guests, Mrs. J. M. Willingham and Mrs. Gail DeFreze, by the co-hostess, Mrs. Eugene Griffin.

You wonder how a man ever made the grade, and then you meet his wife, and get the answer.

... and they sang praises

"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

LUKE 2, 13-14

I personally have a poor singing voice . . . this may be one of the reasons why I have so much appreciation for those who have good voices and use their talent for the Lord. At every Christmas, church choirs put forth extra work and effort so that they may present to the world the wonderful story of the birth of our Saviour. I plan to attend these services, knowing that my heart and soul will be nourished and lifted high . . . won't you come too?

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

WINTER SPORTS

Snow and ice usually come to mind when people think of winter sports. But oddly enough, butt-welded steel pipe plays a big part in today's winter activities. Ice in indoor skating rinks, for example, is kept solid by refrigerant pumped through steel pipe beneath the skating surface.

To go skiing, you have to get to the summit of a steep slope. Sturdy butt-welded steel pipe chairs and T-bars lift you to the top safely.

"Curling" is an ancient Scottish sport. A 42-pound stone is sent sliding down an ice runway. Players with brooms race along, sweeping path so that the stone will reach its target. Even in this quaint old game, the runway is kept frozen with modern butt-welded steel pipe refrigerating systems.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VEAN SANFORD

POLLUTION

Every outdoorsman is interested in the pollution problem. That is the reason the recently released 1962 report of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, covering fish kills, should bring us to our feet.

Texas with a total of 68 reports last year was exceeded only by Pennsylvania, which had 86 fish kills reported.

Oil well and industrial waste was responsible for most of the cases reported in Texas. Agricultural and domestic pollution also was blamed in several of the reports.

Some of these cases were accidental, where bad situations got out of control. Others were from careless management.

As cities grow larger and more complex, pollution problems increase. Excessive uses of detergents through the sewer systems also are adding to the problem. Some locations now are banning the use of certain detergents, used for cleaning clothes.

Fortunately health agencies are working hard to prevent pollution, but it takes closest cooperation on the part of industries and even municipalities.

Oil operators, paper mills and other large industries, such as chemical plants, are facing the constant problem. Now most of the care. There was a time when the majority didn't.

According to the report more than 7,000,000 fish were killed last year by water pollution. This does not take into consideration the massive kill of 37,800,000 which took place in the San Diego harbor in August, 1962. Nor does it include several states which make no reports.

Nationwide domestic sewage was the principal killer, accounting for nearly half the total amount.

The big kill in San Diego was the result of the dumping of a large quantity of oil in the coastal waters. Oil is toxic to fish.

Another big kill was reported in the Anacostia river near Washington, D. C. last September, when 3,100,000 fish were killed by the dumping of raw sewage.

The river mileage involved last year was 1500, with 25 miles of shoreline and 2600 acres of lakes.

Many Texas municipalities, particularly the smaller ones, face a problem in private dumping of waste. It is pathetic to cross many of the smaller streams of Texas in the vicinity of small towns and take a look at the creek beds. Many of them are filled with old automobile tires and bodies, refrigerators or just plain garbage refuse.

Perhaps city officials could pay more attention to such disposal. Or the individual himself can be more careful where he dumps his refuse.

Some town solve this problem with a public dump

FISHING LINES

By DICK WOLFF

Fisherman worry about whether they're using the right lures and using them properly. Let's start by conceding that most lures will catch fish. Reputable manufacturers design them for easy casting, good working action, and proper handling. Materials are selected to endure the rigors of rugged bottoms, rocky snags, constant moisture, and of course, the smashing strike of a game-fish. Finally, new lures are tested for fish-appeal by teams of anglers, before customers get a crack at them.

The real problem is to carry lures that produce even when conditions are poor. With so many appealing lures available, it's a rugged task to pick those that "score" when nobody around is catching fish. But choosing the right combination is one reason why ten per cent of anglers catch 90 per cent of the fish.

The best selection of lures must have all types, spinners, spoons, and plugs. Plugs should be both floating and underwater kinds. Colors should stand out against the lake bottom or stream bed when fished deep, or against the sky when fished near the surface. Another consideration is how closely the color resembles the game fishes natural diet.

Reviewing last summer's mailbag, one particular lure was a stand-out. It is a scoop-nosed plug called the ABU Hi-Lo. The versatile ABU Hi-Lo can do just about everything. The reason is an adjustable metal lip. Set forward, the lip will carry the lure very deep where the big ones move to escape the heat. Set back, the ABU Hi-Lo will operate as a surface plug, or near surface plug.

One of the most informative letters was from a Las Vegas reader who fishes for nearby Lake Mead's famous large mouth bass. He wrote: "I favor the light 3/4-ounce ABU Hi-Lo in red and white and also black patterns. When fishing in darkness or near-darkness, I work the shoreline with the lighter-colored pattern using it as surface plug. Then, as the sun comes up, I follow the bass into deeper water adjusting the Hi-Lo to various depths. Here the darker color works best because it stands out against the light-colored sky. On Lake Mead I like to use my Ambassador 5000 reel for 'free spool' bait-casting and 2216 Garcia tubular fiber glass rod. A light eight-pound test Platyl line goes well with this combination."

Other lures that make a lot of good fishing sense are ABU-Reflex spinners and ABU-Toby and ABU-Koster silver spoons. They're all durable fish-getters in both fresh and salt waters. With a few of each, along with several ABU Hi-Lo's, a sports fisherman is carrying about the best combination of lures available.

ground. Here individuals may dispose of their litter, where it is later covered over with dozers.

Sportsmen can give a big assist in stopping this pollution in a fight against litter and by giving support to their city and county government.

But the greatest good can be done by individuals, who persist in littering the highways and open spots with beverage bottles and cans.

The state spends many millions of dollars each year on the care and development of roadside parks. Yet many people will drive into these parks, make use of them and leave litter scattered around.

A landowner who has a nice stream on his place told me he would be glad to take the lock off his gate.

"But I can't stand the litter," he says. "Every time someone uses the picnic grounds, I have to go down there and do a cleanup job."

This same attitude is found on the part of many individuals fishing off T-heads on the coast or around the jetties. They'll leave their old waste fish around to rot and stink.

As outdoorsmen, we must do our part to stop this pollution that is costing us millions of fish each year. It is important both at a local and national level.

Contemporary Study Club Met Dec. 3rd

The Contemporary Study Club met December 3rd in the home of Mrs. Leo Evans, the president, Mrs. Joe Crowley presiding.

A motion carried that we give a Christmas basket to a needy family here in Burkburnett. Members were to donate staple foods. Meat, fresh fruit and gifts to be purchased with club funds.

It was also decided that members donate gifts and other articles to the State Hospital for the patients. Shoes for a needy family were donated by the members. Mrs. H. S. Thaxton volunteered to deliver them to this family.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank everyone for their many acts of kindness during the illness and death of our loved one. You are each remembered with deep gratitude.

May God bless each of you.

Burk Study Club Met In VanLoh Home For A Christmas Party

The Burkburnett Study Club met Monday night in the home of Mrs. Harold Van Loh for a Christmas Party. Mrs. Jack Smith and Mrs. M. E. Bean as co-hostesses. The guests were served punch as they arrived.

Mrs. E. D. Potter introduced Mrs. Maxine Creel who played a beautiful piano medley of Christmas Carols.

Mrs. Potter told of the lovely Christmas Season which is at hand and introduced Mrs. Otto Egdorff of Wichita Falls, who gave an interesting lecture on the Madonnas of the World, Madonna meaning "My Lady." Also meaning, "A pictorial or carved representation of the Virgin Mary." Mrs. Egdorff had 50 or more pieces from her collection on display which fitted perfectly with the traditional decorations of the party rooms. She has collected these very fine replicas from all over the world during her many trips abroad.

Each member brought a gift for the Fowler Home. A letter was read from Col. Jane Sewell, a corresponding member, wishing everyone a Merry Christmas and enclosing a check for the Fowler Home.

After an exchange of Christmas gifts among the members the refreshments were served from a buffet table. Mrs. Geo. McClarty, the president, presided at the coffee service.

Members attending were: Mesdames Glen Bear, James Bohner, E. Y. Buckner, Maxine Creel, Francis Felty, Jim Frye, Howard Henderson, Jack Mathis, W. G. Mayberry, E. D. Potter, Geo. McClarty, W. H. Preston, Hugh Preston, Jr., Rudolph Robinson, F. C. Royce, D. H. Smith, guests, Mrs. Gary Bean and Mrs. J. H. Brumley and hostesses, Mrs. Van Loh, Mrs. Bean and Mrs. Smith.

Let's Go Fishing

HUNTING CRUISE
Can't find a place to hunt? Then drag out your fishing boat. It can be as helpful as an instructor on a covey of quail. While the average man sets a trap for a quail, the sportsman sets a trap for a quail. The average man sets a trap for a quail, the sportsman sets a trap for a quail. The average man sets a trap for a quail, the sportsman sets a trap for a quail.

Obtain a county map and you'll see why. Observe the location of the regions generally hunt. Since the average man sets a trap for a quail, the sportsman sets a trap for a quail. The average man sets a trap for a quail, the sportsman sets a trap for a quail.

All you need to reach a spot are a boat and motor. Enough water to float the boat and a well trained wife to keep you up at the end of the night. Be careful, caution the sportsman, that you use your rig primarily for transportation, not as a shooting platform. Though game laws vary, most states a boat and motor combination is considered a vehicle and is subject to the same regulations as your auto. Since the real pleasure of hunting is the stalk, beach the craft at the edge of the customary man's hunting. Whatever your game, cruise hunting can be the answer. It's mainly for the guy who likes to get away from the crowd, and if he's lucky, haul in a heavy buck the easy way. Why not check your maps tonight?
