It's been plenty dry throughout Texas this year, which causes hardships for wildlife as well as human beings and domesticated animals, but there is little danger that Texas will lose its No. 1 ranking as a deer hunting state.

That is the word from the Parks and Wildlife Dept., which predicts that the upcoming deer season in Texas is not likely to be much below average.

And an "average" season in Texas is pretty good, they remind. Last year, hunters took over 290,000 deer from the estimated herd of three million or more animals. The kill and the total deer population put Texas in a class by itself.

The drought apparently has taken a toll in some deer areas, but a massive winter "die-off" expected by some observers didn't happen because of generally mild temperatures during the cold months.

People over in Colorado City have found that their historical museum which opened last October is quite a drawing card. In less than 10 months no less than 6,138 visitors registered at the museum. This, of course, does not account for all of the visitors, since many do not take time to sign the book.

Attendance at the museum has been so high this summer that the Colorado City Museum is going on a seven-day week until school starts.

Those who have signed the registry represent eight foreign countries, 42 states and 176 towns in Texas.

NIXON'S THINKING CHANGES

1971 Deficit Second Largest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration rolled out final figures today on the nation's second largest budget deficit since World War II, a fiscal 1971 red-ink figure between $20 billion and $25 billion.

The precise figure, set for announcement by the Treasury Department, is topped only by the $25.2-billion deficit rung up during fiscal 1968 under former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

But the 1971 deficit is not apt to attract wide criticism from Democrats, who have urged President Nixon to spend even more to give the economy more steam.

It does reflect a dramatic change in Nixon's economic thinking since he became president. When the fiscal 1971 budget was submitted to Congress in early 1970, Nixon said it would show a $1.3-billion surplus.

"I have pledged to the American people that I would submit a balanced budget for 1971," Nixon said in that budget message. "This is particularly necessary because the cost of living has been rising rapidly for the past five years.

"The budget I send to you today—the first for which I bear full responsibility as president—fulfill that pledge."

The projected $1.3-billion surplus for the year ended June 30, 1971, quickly faded away. Unforeseen outlays, some uncontrollable increases and some unwanted spending voted by Congress sent the deficit soaring.

Nixon, meantime, adopted the policy that the economy should be expanded with increased federal spending and declared himself a believer in Keynesian economics—the idea budget deficits are necessary during periods of economic slack.

But the economy has failed to pick up as snappily as Nixon wanted, adding to the budget deficit through a shortage in revenues.

When Nixon submitted his fiscal 1972 budget to Congress, he projected the 1971 deficit officially at $18.6 billion. The jump past $20 billion is largely traced to failure of the economy to provide expected tax money.

The administration appears certain to set another mark, the largest back-to-back budget deficits since World War II.

FOR FRIDAY MOON LANDING

Apollo On Course

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 15 explorers hurtled "right by the book" on course to the moon today, bothered only by such pesky spaceship gremlins as a broken piece of glass and a brief voltage drop.

Flight director Glynn Lunney said the problems all were minor and posed no threat to the astronauts or the planned landing on the moon Friday.

David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden retired an hour late Tuesday night after spending extra time helping the ground troubleshoot a rash of nagging electrical and communications difficulties. So Mission Control Center let them sleep an hour later today.

No major activity was scheduled and officials want the astronauts well rested for six busy days ahead in the vicinity of the moon.

Lunney was asked if the total of five problems reported so far on the mission was unusual, especially in electrical systems.

"I don't think you can make too much of the electrical problems," he replied. "We always seem to have these nagging sorts of problems. When you consider the complexity of the hardware, I think we're doing quite well."

Lunney also commented on the quietness of the crew, who rarely say anything unless spoken to by Mission Control.

"The Apollo crews generally have been very quiet on the way out to the moon," he said. "They go over their checklists and discuss procedures with each other. They train mentally for the lunar activities. I expect a lot more from them when they reach the moon."

A series of four minor problems cropped up Tuesday after the astronauts had overcome a potentially damaging electrical problem in the main spaceship engine system.

Steel Earnings Are Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Corp. today reported a sharp increase in earnings for the three months ending June 30 but forecast a drop in profits in the final half of this year.

U.S. Steel Corp. had announced big earnings gains Tuesday but cut its quarterly dividend to 40 cents a share from 60 cents. The dividend reduction reflected the threat of a steel industry strike July 31 and an expected decline in steel products shipments later this year.

Bethlehem declared its regular 30-cent dividend.

Bethlehem, ranked second in size to U.S. Steel, earned $47,854,000, or $1.08 a share, on sales of $1,011,764,000 in the second quarter. This compares with $26,176,000, or 59 cents a share, on sales of $763,862,000 a year earlier.

In the first half of this year Bethlehem earnings totaled $80,979,000, or $1.83 a share, or sales of $1,783,732,000, compared with $54,482,000, or $1.24 a share, on sales of $1,526,020,000 in the 1970 first half.

Bethlehem said first-half shipments and especially those in the second quarter were abnormally high as consumers built up inventories as a hedge against a strike.

U.S. Steel Chairman H. Gott had cited this factor in his announcement Tuesday.

Railroad Union Rejects Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The union striking four railroads has rejected a Labor Department request that a neutral board impose a binding settlement in the dispute. The union said the offer showed "complete bias of the government toward the management position."

Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson asked Tuesday for responses by today on his arbitration suggestion, but the United Transportation Union reply came within two hours.

"Collective bargaining can never work as long as government remains a slave to management and interferes when collective bargaining is beginning to succeed," said UTU President Charles Luna in rejecting the offer.

The railroad industry has not yet replied.

The Labor Department recessed joint union-industry talks Monday, saying no solution was in sight.

With the union threatening to strike six more railroads Friday, Hodgson recommended a panel of three neutral experts be selected by both sides or by President Nixon to reach a binding settlement.

Despite the increasing problems White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "We have no plans at this time to send legislation to the Hill" to seek an emergency settlement.

The UTU struck the Southern and Union Pacific railroads 12 days ago and extended the walkout last Saturday to the Norfolk & Western and the Southern Pacific. Some 120,000 employes have been off work and 20 per cent of rail shipments tied upm

A 5 p.m. strike deadline today against the Long Island Railroad was postponed by the UTU pending developments in Washington.

The six railroads with 45,000 employes, targeted for strikes Friday are the Duluth, Mesabi & Iron Range, the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern, the Bessemer & Lake Erie, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, the Alton & Southern Terminal in St. Louis and the Houston Belt & Terminal in Houston. On Aug. 6, the union has slated walkouts against the Baltimore & Ohio; Chesapeake & Ohio; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific, and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas.

The main issue is a change in work rules recommended by a presidential emergency board last fall and accepted by three other rail unions. Management says the rules are needed to help offset a 42-per-cent wage increase over 42 months.

UTU president Luna said in his telegram to Hodgson: "To resort to arbitration at this point when we have established the right to the exercise of economic strength through court action would be foolish.

Lone Star Gas, Co. Sets Record

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Record annual earnings of $2.08 per share have been reported by Lone Star Gas Co. for the year ending June 30.

The new earnings figure is compared with the previous year's earnings of $1.93 per share, President W.C. McCord said Tuesday.

He said the increases were attributed to non-utility segments of the companym

Formal Tax Meet In Borden Today

GAIL — A formal tax hearing was scheduled in Borden County for 10 a.m. today. The Borden County Commissioners Court, convening as an equalization board, was to meet at the request of some oil companies.

McGovern Calls For Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., called today for an immediate but selective six-month freeze on wages and prices "to end this vicious and destructive cycle" of inflation.

McGovern said labor, economists, and political leaders in both parties have suggested the action but President Nixon won't act.

"And I don't know why, either, unless his fascination with foreign policy has made him forget that Congress authorized a wage-price freeze months ago," said McGovern, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

In a speech prepared for the International Platform Association, McGovern said military spending should be cut back, and the war in Vietnam ended, to produce savings of $20 billion a year.

With that money, he said, we can start rebuilding this country "until we can finally put keeping them jobless as pawns in the fight against inflation."

Senate Refuses To Curb Debate On Rescue Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today refused for a second time to curb debate on a corporate rescue bill designed to save financially ailing Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

The cloture vote was 59 to 39 or 7 short of the needed two-thirds.

Lockheed supporters picked up strength since the first attempt Monday when cloture was turned down by 42-47 or 18 votes short.

The vote was taken two hours after the Senate decisively defeated an amendment that would have denied Lockheed favored status in the bill and possibly pushed the firm into bankruptcy.

Although the earlier vote indicated unexpectedly strong support for $250 million in federal loan guarantees for Lockheed, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said he wanted still more time to "educate the Senate."

Administration backers immediately prepared another petition for debate-limiting cloture. A vote was set for Friday.

Administration supporters say enactment of a bill without preferential treatment for Lockheed would delay aid until the cash-starved company is beyond help.

Sensing defeat with five of their number out of town, Lockheed backers blocked a vote Tuesday on the amendment by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., to put the big company on equal footing with other firms in seeking government loan guarantees.

But Stevenson planned to call up the amendment today.

Following that vote, the Senate scheduled another try at limiting debate on the over-all bill to provide up to $250 million in federal loan guarantees for any large company whose collapse might endanger the economy.

Case Charges Laos Aid Inconsistency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case accused the Nixon administration today of "glaring inconsistency" in its accounts to Congress of American financial aid to irregular forces fighting in Laos.

The New Jersey senator asked the administration to disclose all details of U.S.-aided operations in Laos, including the cost, the personnel and agreements involved, and "most importantly, when will it all end?"

Case said the State Department advised him July 15 that support for irregular forces from Thailand fighting in Laos is being provided under the U.S. military aid program.

Case said that aid directly contradicts June 14 testimony to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and also violates legislation forbidding use of defense appropriations to support foreign mercenary forces in Laos.

Case quoted Laird as saying flatly: "The military assistance program will not fund that program."

"The North Vietnamese and their allies certainly know we are fighting them in Laos, so why can't the American people who are [illegible] have the same information?"

19 Killed In Bus Accident

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Nineteen persons died and 32 were injured Tuesday near Guadalajara in the head-on collision of a passenger bus and a transport truck carrying tequila, Red Cross officials in Guadalajara reported.

The bus, of the Altena Line, was traveling from Mexico City to Guadalajara when it reportedly veered into the path of the truck between Guadalajara and Zapotlanejo, 37 miles east of the Jalisco State Capital.

Mom won't give her permission

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1971 by Ch. Sun. Tribune N. Y. News, Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My problem is every time I ask my mother for permission to do something or go somewhere she says, "I can't give you permission until we find out how your father feels about it."

The problem is my father is hardly ever home, and when he is I have to wait until he is in a good mood to even bring up the question, and by that time it's too late.

Don't you think my mother should be able to give me permission to do things without my father's okay? Most of the time when I ask my father he says, "Whatever your mother says is all right with me."

SIGN ME . . . NO PERMISSION

DEAR NO: How old are you? Permission for what? To ride your bike in the street or to bum thru Europe with a pal for two months? You will have to fill me in on a few details before I can give you a sensible answer.

DEAR ABBY: I was married less than a year to a fine young man who had a very Slavic sounding name. He died tragically. Now my mother wants me to take whatever legal steps are necessary so that I may use my maiden name again. [My maiden name is very phonetic and very, very Anglo-Saxon.]

I can't seem to bring myself to do this, and I don't know why. Certainly not out of regard for my inlaws for they treated me shamefully after the accident that killed my husband, implying had he not married me he would be alive today. [Or worse.]

Sometimes I think I would take back my maiden name if my mother hadn't put so much pressure on me. I would hate to think getting a promotion or impressing an eligible man favorably would depend upon my name. I would appreciate your opinion.

MISS WASP [NIK]

DEAR MISS WASP [NIK]: Granted, a "very, very Anglo-Saxon" sounding name can be an asset and a name that's typically Slavic can be a handicap when dealing with bigots. But do what your heart tells you to do. You sound to me like a young woman with good sense.

DEAR ABBY: A stamp collector's wife should appreciate a good thing.

The husband who is a real pain is the rail fan. Everything he goes in for costs money, from model railroads to travel abroad to ride on some kind of steam or diesel he's never experienced before. He will take the slower train for the longer ride. He plays recordings of train whistles and counts the wheels on locomotives. If he goes in for electric railroads he may drive a thousand miles to ride a trolley somewhere, and his dream is to ride up front with the engineer.

The stamp nut may go to auctions or meetings but he doesn't get his family up at the crack of dawn to ride a railroad train to nowhere with stops to photograph switches, signals and rolling stock. Count your blessings!

CLEVELAND

DEAR CLEVELAND. Count yours. Railroad trains are becoming as extinct as the whooping crane.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STAN: Your wife has taken up bird-watching recently. And you're the bird she's watching.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Vaccinations Near One Million Mark

HOUSTON (AP) — The number of horses sick and dead from Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis grew hardly at all Tuesday in Texas, and officials said the one million mark was near in vaccinations in the five-state area under federal quarantine.

The death count for horses rose by just three to 1,318, while the number of sick horses stayed at 1,874.

The disease, which is much milder in people, has been confirmed in 23 persons, the State Health Department said. That figure also was unchanged.

A spokesman at the federal emergency center set up here to fight VEE, said 610,678 horses have been vaccinated in Texas and the job is about 90 per cent complete.

He said 167,492 horses have been vaccinated in Oklahoma, 126,048 in Louisiana, 56,400 in Arkansas and 22,884 in New Mexico.

Spraying against mosquitoes which carry the disease was continuing, officials said. So far, 40 private and Air Force planes have sprayed 2.8 million acres and eventually 8.7 million acres will be covered before the program ends early next month.

Louisiana officials said the spraying in that state was nearly finished. About 15,000 horses remain to be vaccinated in Louisiana, they said.

In Oklahoma, vaccinations are nearly complete and in Arkansas about half the horses have been vaccinated, state officials said.

All of the confirmed cases of VEE have been found in 11 Texas counties, although Oklahoma officials were checking out three deaths. Dr. Lloyd Millern chief of the Oklahoma animal health division of the UMS. Department of Agriculture, said some horse deaths at this time of year were normal.

In Washington, the agriculture department said the way has been cleared for limited commercial production of an experimental vaccine that has been used in the immunization program.

Up to now, all the vaccine has come from the Defense Department and could be obtained only in the five affected states.

Officials said the National Drug Co. already was producing the drug under Army contract.

Safety On Farms Is Urged

The week of July 25 through the 31st has been proclaimed National Farm & Ranch Safety Week by President Nixon. The theme is "Protect Yourself-Work Safely."

Scurry County Farm Bureau is joining with other Agricultural organizations along with Texas Safety Association in urging all persons who live on farms and ranches as well as those who have agriculture-related jobs to be more conscious of good sound safety practices at work, in their homes and on public roads. More than 7,000 farm residents were killed in accidents during 1970 and many more suffered disabling injuries. During the decade of the 60's, an average of more than 250 Texans died each year in farm related accidents with water, fire, and machinery taking the biggest toll of lives.

This tragic loss can be curtailed and even halted with the use of safety "Protection" tools such as seat belts, fire extinguishers, SMV emblems & tractor roll guards, and crush resistant cabs. Tractor overturns accounted for 60 per cent of the accidental deaths involving tractors in the U. S. in 1970. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the lives lost in tractor overturns could have been saved by protective cabs or roll bars, and safety belts. Protective cabs will prevent falls from moving tractors, second only to overturns as a cause of tractor-related deaths and injuries. They can also prevent operators from being struck by obstructions, low branches, flying objects and broken parts. Owning a tractor without a protective cab or frame is like playing russian roulette with your health, finances and possibly your life.

Scurry County Farm Bureau urges farm families not only to observe National Farm & Safety Week July 25-31 but to practice Farm Safety throughout every day of the year.

TRIBUTE PAID BROMANS — Mrs. M. L. Broman receives a gift from W. A. Vestal, right, master of ceremonies at a testimonial dinner honoring her husband. Broman, left, received a plaque from the city in recognition of his service as a city councilman and mayor. Broman recently announced his resignation as President of the Board of Trustees of the Scurry County Junior College District so that he and Mrs. Broman may move to their retirement home near Athens.

Bromans Honored At Dinner Tuesday Night

M.L. Broman, former Snyder Mayor and City Councilman who recently announced his resignation as president of the Board of Trustees of the Scurry County Junior College District, was honored Tuesday night at a testimonial dinner at the Snyder Country Club.

The event was arranged by members and former members of the boards on which he has served and by Chevron Oil Co. people with whom he worked before his retirement from that firm two years ago.

Broman and his wife, Eleanor, came to the Country Club thinking that they were attending a meeting of the junior college district board and their wives. Instead, they found approximately 100 persons, including members of the city council who served while he was councilman and mayor, as well as present members; members of the junior college board and administrators, county officials; representatives of Chevron Oil Co., city officials and personnel at city hall and a few others who have been closely associated with Broman in civic and community projects, along with wives and-or husbands.

Bill Vestal, city councilman who formerly was employed by Chevron when Broman was superintendent of the SACROC Unit, was master of ceremonies. He recalled Broman's ability to inspire his staff and promote high efficiency, and his special interest in safety, which resulted in SACROC making a record of over 1.3 million man hours without a lost-time accident.

City Manager George Patterson gave a brief resume of Broman's service as a city councilman and as mayor from 1961 to 1968. Broman served in this capacity at a time when Snyder experienced some of its greatest problems, one of the biggest of which was a loss of population in the late fifties and early sixties. Broman provided leadership which ultimately resulted in projects which reversed the trend, Patterson said. The projects, which were outlined by a long range planning committee in 1964, were implemented sufficiently under Broman's administration as mayor to win Snyder an "Operation Sparkle" award from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in 1968 and an All-America City award in 1969. Patterson noted that two essentials-concerned citizens and quality leadership-are required for such progress and that Broman's leadership was a major factor in Snyder's amazing progress in the late sixties and the early seventies.

Dr. Robert H. Hargrove, vice president of the junior college board, praised Broman for his service to the college, noting that he made himself available full time when the young college district needed him most.

"He is not only the man who serves on councils and boards, but he also is the man who lives across the street a good neighbor," Dr. Hargrove said of Broman.

"When the board held its first meeting in the commissioners court room after the election on Nov. 22, 1969, we unanimously elected Borman as our chairman," Hargrove recalled. "I believe that is the best vote we have ever taken."

T.D. Cramer, who succeeded Broman as SACROC Unit Superintendent for Chevron, called attention to Broman's proficiency in that capacity. SACROC includes one of the four largest fields in north America and is regarded as a model among repressuring units, Cramer said. It attained this standing under Broman's leadership.

Dr. Robert L. Clinton, President of Western Texas College, paid tribute to Broman for his work in starting the community college here. Not only did he make himself available for full-time duty before the college got an administrator on the job, but he has continued to make himself available whenever needed to assist the administration in any way possible, Clinton said.

Responding to the accolades, Broman said that it was with considerable regret that he and Mrs. Broman would be leaving Snyder to make their home in East Texas where they had prepared to retire.

"I think some of this was flattery," Broman said, referring to the tributes, "but we appreciate it more than we can ever tell you."

A gift was presented Mrs. Broman and a plaque from the city was presented Broman.

Astronauts To Scrutinize Rille

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — When the Apollo 15 moonwalkers look into 1,200-foot deep Hadley Rille on the moon Saturday, they'll be like two penniless children peering through a candy store window.

They can look but not touch.

The rille, or canyon, is too steep for David R. Scott and James B. Irwin to descend safely on foot. They can only describe what they see and take pictures.

That's frustrating to scientists who would like to know what's at the bottom of the intriguing gorge. They would like progressive samples from the slope.

It's like earth geologists having to be content with standing on the rim of the Grand Canyon of Arizona looking down, unable to climb about the canyon and sample its rocks. Hadley Rille could be as old as the solar system, 4.6 billion years old.

"The scientific need to examine rocks from the bottom of the rille is so great that many people have tried to solve the problem of how to get them," Simmons said. "One prominent scientist suggested that the astronauts use a crossbow with a string attached to an arrow for retrieval."

That idea and others were abandoned.

But Scott and Irwin will have a camera with a telephoto lens to photograph the opposite wall of the rille. And they've been carefully schooled in what to look for in the wall.

Heroin Ring Is Cracked

BANGKOK (AP) — Narcotics agents from Thailand, South Vietnam and the United States in their first combined operation have cracked a major heroin ring supplying American soldiers in Vietnam.

They seized 97 pounds of pure heroin—one of the largest hauls ever in Asia—and 680 pounds of smoking opium. The cache, with a black market value in Saigon of $4 million, originated in Burma and Laos and ended up in the hands of the Saigon police.

Two South Vietnamese sailors were among the 25 persons seized in a round-the-clock operation that had agents pouncing in Saigon, in a Vietnamese fishing village and on an offshore island in the Gulf of Thailand.

The seizure took place Sunday and Monday and was disclosed in Bangkok by Gen. Nityz Bhanumas, secretary-general of the Thai Narcotics Board. He said the first information about the ring—which was led by a wealthy Chinese merchant in the Cholon section of Saigon—came from informants he developed in an investigation he directed last month.

The general said none of the heroin or opium was processsd in Thailand but it was hauled through the country by truck and loaded on fishing vessels along the Thai coast.

"My nation is a major transit route for illicit drugs," he added.

Family Planning Specialists Free M.D.'s For Other Duties

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Women, some with no previous medical experience, are performing breast and pelvic examinations, administering tests for uterine cancer and handing out advice on contraceptive methods in an experimental family planning clinic here.

Such duties in both private medical practice and public clinics normally are handled by doctors, usually highly trained specialists in obstetrics and gynecology. But doctors at the pioneering clinic in this Los Angeles suburb like the arrangement because it has freed several physicians for more important duties.

And the women patients prefer the women clinic staff members, apparently identifying with the new nonphysicians.

In fact, the clinic's director reports, the program is so successful it may be the answer to the growing shortage of doctors to staff family planning clinics springingup in the U.S. and abroad in response to movements to curtail the world's spiraling birth rate.

Called family planning specialists, the 20 women, nurses, medical assistants and women with no medical training, are being trained at the Family Planning and Pap Clinic at Harbor General Hospital, a 700-bed county-operated facility affiliated as a teaching hospital with the University of California at Los Angeles.

Operated with federal funds from a converted military barracks, the clinic now is visited by more than 2,000 patients each month.

"We're quite pleased with the results so far in training these people," said Dr. Donald Ostergard, 33, clinic director. "And we think they may be at least part of the answer, to the physician shortage in the family planning field.

"If every woman in the U.S. that wants or needs family planning and cancer screening were to request it, physicians would be hard pressed to provide it. The need, of course, is even greater in other countries."

Without the 20 specialists in Harbor General's clinic, many of whom are still being trained, the clinic would need four or more doctors in addition to a regular nursing staff, Ostergard said. But the clinic has only one full time physician, involved mostly in teaching the family planning specialists, plus Ostergard on a part time basis.

He estimates that a clinic staffed with specialists such as those in the program could handle 90 per cent of its patients without a doctor.

"I can foresee clinics with a doctor available by telephone or with a doctor who would arrive at the end of the clinic session to see problem patients," Ostergard said. "Our specialists could do much in both urban and rural settings to increase the availability of family planning services."

Harbor General began the program a year and a half ago with registered nurses. The nurses did so well, Ostergard said, that the program was extended to licensed vocational nurses, who have less medical training.

They too did well, so several medical assistants who had only a few months experience in a doctor's office or a vocational school joined the program.

"They did a fantastic job too," Ostergard said, "so we decided to try people with no medical background."

The staffers receive almost 80 hours of classroom instruction in medical terminology, anatomy, contraceptive methods, breast and pelvic examination techniques, cancer, recognition of gynecologic disease and other subjects. But most of the training is handling actual patients with a doctor checking each procedure until she is judged competent.

In almost 3,000 examinations conducted by the trainees and checked by a doctor, the specialists missed only 10-15 per cent of the abnormalities that a doctor would need to examine.

A side benefit has been the rapport the specialists build with their female patients.

"One of our specialists can take up to an hour with a patient," Ostergard said. "A doctor could never do this in a typical family planning clinic." And a doctor doing nothing but family planning clinic work runs the risk of becoming bored and appearing unconcerned to patients, he said.

One problem facing the program is the role family planning specialists will play in private medical practice and clinics not affiliated with a teaching hospital. Most states still don't have laws permitting nonphysicians to take over certain doctor's duties. And many private physicians feel such specialists would harm the doctor-patient relationship.

"Eventually there will be a tremendous need for these people in the private doctor's office," Ostergard said. "It's just a matter of educating doctors."

And movements to change laws to allow use of nonphysicians are making progress in several states, he said.

Here's the Answer

A.—About a year ago I put down carpet tiles in our family room. They are the type that have a foam rubber backing with a stickiness so that no adhesive had to be applied. A couple of weeks ago I decided to move a few of the tiles to another location. Now they are beginning to pop up and it is evident that the adhesive has lost its grip. What can I do about this?

A.—The adhesive used on that kind of tile is of the non-drying variety and should not have lost their gripping ability. What is more likely is that there is a lot of dirt and dust on the bottoms of the tiles. This condition prevents the adhesive from securing itself to the floor. Go to a carpet store and get an aerosol can of spray adhesive made especially for this purpose. Spray it on the backs of the tiles and press them in place again.

Follow the directions on the container on the correct amount to use, since overspraying will destroy the gripping effectiveness.

Q.—I want to change the color scheme of our bathroom. Can such things as wall tiles, the tub and the toilet bowl be painted different colors?

A.—Yes if you remember a couple of painting fundamentals. Paint will not hold to a glossy surface. And every trace of wax, dirt and dust must be removed before starting to paint. Ask your dealer for the proper paint for those types of materials. You've given yourself quite a job.

Q.—I finished a room in our basement except for the ceiling. I want to put up acoustical tiles. Will this stop upstairs noise from coming down to the basement?

A.—To a limited extent, just as any extra material placed in that area might help prevent the passage of some sound. But what it will do is keep the noise in the basement room from going upstairs. In other words, acoustical materials are not designed to check outside noise from coming inside. They are intended to absorb sound that is generated within the room in which they are installed.

Q.—We have a rustic summer house that is not completed? The subfloors are down but not the finish floors. I'd like to get the pegged plank effect in at least two of the rooms. Can you tell me how to do this?

A.—Use wood dowel plugs over countersunk screws. You can buy dowels in various sizes. A hole, the size of the dowel selected, is drilled to a depth of ½ inch in the face of the flooring. A smaller hole for the screw is drilled in the center of the plug hole. After the screws are driven securely, plugs cut from the dowels are glued into place over the screws and sanded smooth.

Cardin Designs For Today, Not Yesterday

PARIS (AP) — Every woman knows that a little black suit is good for a decade of luncheons. And the ones who go to Pierre Balmain want to buy clothes, not look at them.

Gray flannel is just as classic, whether it makes a pleated skirt, a narrow sheath or Balmain's new coat, with huge armholes and an elbow-room shirt sleeves. Everything just covers the knee of course.

Fur is fun at any time of day and anywhere from cuffs, huge shawl collars to a bushy mink beret. If you like a sleeveless turtleneck with your suit, try one in leopard. Balmain's biggest innovation in the furry field: an astrakhan coat that unzips.

Pierre Cardin manages to pack more dynamic news into a two-hour show than anyone. He opens his collection with a short speech outlining his approach to fashion. Among his remarks:

"I am giving you Paris of today, tomorrow but not yesterday. There are two main silhouettes, figure-skimming with a small waist, and a wider one."

This last concerns his new square cut which created a sensation. A wide piece of fabric is designed as a square dress or coat. The length of the square reaches the wrists of the outstretched arms. There are slits or circles or triangles or slashed seams at the sides. Striped bands lend swing or hemline interest. Black patent belts mark the natural waistline.

He also makes the sleeves end in deep points, sometimes trimmed in fur. White flannel, or tweed, or violet or orange or blue coatings checked are used.

This season Cardin also says he has studied every sports activity. They are outfits for ski wear, mountains, golf and wear by the sea. And a good half of his collection is for city wear.

Cardin gives great play to ponchos and winged capes cut in new ways, sometimes forming part of the dress or doubled over, or cut away in uneven poncho-like lines often matching the dress.

Oklahoma Is Reaping Benefits Of Waterway

By DALTON BLAIR
Associated Press Writer

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — When John Steinbeck wrote of the Dust Bowl in the 1930s few persons could even dream of a major waterway through Oklahoma.

But today Tulsa stands at the head of navigation on the 440-mile Arkansas-Verdigris River system, linking the Midwest to the Mississippi River and beyond by boat. This once landlocked "oil capital of the world" is now the nation's most inland port city.

Barge traffic so far has only scratched the surface of its potential. But oil, grain, fabricated metal, coal and newsprint are already moving. Spacecraft hardware is a possibility in the future.

Newsprint was the first shipment to come up the winding course of the Arkansas and Verdigris. Shipments of Pipe for Oklahoma industry followed.

The future of commercial traffic is indicated in a number of actions already taken.

The Willbros Terminal Co. has signed a $1.5-million agreement for a bulk fertilizer warehouse, conveying system, two railroad spurs and roads and parking areas.

Williams Bros. a pipeline company which operates in 10 states, estimates it will handle 150,000 tons of phosphate fertilizer for Oklahoma and Kansas farmers.

North American Rockwell Corp. has recommended Tulsa as one of three potential manufacturing sites. Both it and McDonnell Douglas Co. has Tulsa plants and both are bidding for a role in producing the reusable space shuttle that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans for the future. The possibility of shipping hardware downriver is obvious.

Also along the river between the Mississippi River and here are ports of Muskogee, Okla., and Pine Bluff, Little Rock and Fort Smith in Arkansas.

Navigation began in December 1968 from the Mississippi to Little Rock. A year later it was opened to Fort Smith, then to Muskogee and finally to Tulsa at the first of this year.

Army engineers estimated when it was opened that the system would carry 13.2 million tons of cargo annually.

Additional benefits, engineers say, will be savings of $40.4 million annually to shippers. Power generated from six reservoirs on the system will be valued at $14.8 million.

Will Rogers may have been right when he quipped once that it would be cheaper to pave the Arkansas than make it navigable. But he didn't know of the fringe benefits.

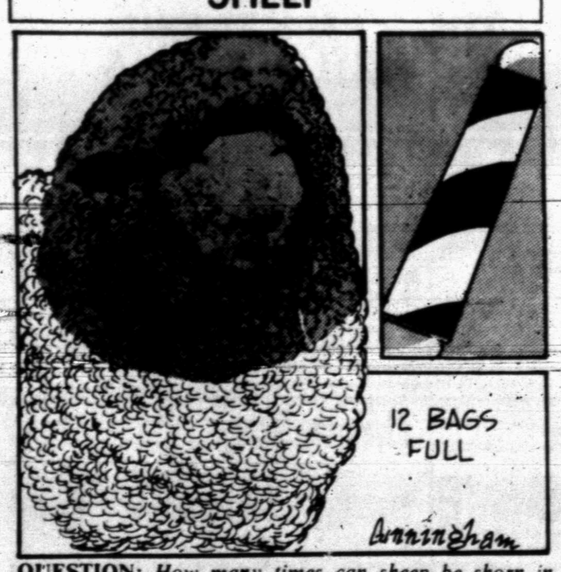

Book Abusers Now Face Fines

WOOD-RIDGE, N.J. (AP) — Chronic abusers of library privileges now face fines of $100 and 10 days in jail under a new law here.

The fines can be applied for failure to return a book within 30 days of final notification by the library, for unauthorized transfer of a library card, and for damaging library materials.

"We will not exercise this extreme measure unless we absolutely have to," said Bonnie McDonald, director of the Wood-Ridge Memorial Library. She added that constant abusers who refuse to heed regular overdue notices and ignore personal phone calls to return overdue materials have forced the measure.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHEEP

QUESTION: How many times can sheep be shorn in their lifetime?

* * *

ANSWER: Sheep are among the most important animals domesticated by man, since they provide both food and clothing. Sheep were known to man in early times and are frequently mentioned in the Bible. Wild sheep were raised for their skins, milk and meat. As man concentrated on domesticating sheep, he became interested in their coats or wool. Originally, the wild sheep had coats of short, stiff hair, but later, through scientific breeding, luxurious wool coats were introduced. One of the first fibers that man ever used for making cloth is wool.

Once a year, usually in the spring when warm weather is ahead and the sheep no longer need their coats for protection against the cold, the sheep are given a haircut and all the wool is sheared. The wool is washed and combed and then spun into yarn. Sheep live for about 13 years, so they are shorn about 13 times in their lifetime. Australia and the United States lead in the production of wool.

Wonders Plentiful In This World

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a poor man's philosopher wonders about:

Whether things will get worse before they get better.

When will the millenium come?

Why spiders spin their webs in the most inaccessible corner of a room.

How prices can go on rising when millions of people are being thrown out of work.

Why so many women want to make a war of words before they make love.

Why there are so many objections to a generation gap when everybody seems to get some benefit from it.

What makes every man want to have at least one love affair with a red-haired girl some time in his life?

How three men living in a vast desert will always manage to find something to differ about—so that two will gang up on the other one. It is the same way with children. No three of them can play harmoniously together.

Whether it is better to be lonely by yourself or bored in company.

Are all heads of foundations and philantropies unctuous, or do they just seem that way?

Why is it that man has a better brain than insects but poorer eyes?

How will William Faulkner, Ernest Hemingway and John O'Hara be rated as short story writers and novelists 20 years from now?

Can an airplane be built that will fly at twice the speed of sound without making twice as much sound as the human ear prefers to hear?

What good is politics on an empty stomach?

Why is it that, looking around you at civilization today, you feel that you've arrived in the middle of a wild cocktail party which reminds you of one you attended before?

What price progeny?

Will the dime hamburger ever make a comeback in our time?

If the population explosion continues, will it become necessary to breed cows with six milk faucets instead of four?

How about motor cars? Would it be better to limit their number or simply pave America?

If I promise not to destroy your ecology, will you promise not to wreck mine?

Who steals the people's money?

Who killed the American dream?

Yes, there is always plenty of wonder about in this wide and wonderful world.

Research Vessel To A&M

COLLEGE STATION Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M has been selected to receive the first of a new class of oceanographic research vessels to be built for the Navy. Each ship is expected to cost about $3.5 million, including scientific equipment.

Dr. Jack K. Williams, Texas A&M president, said delivery of the ship is expected in the winter of 1972. The craft will be berthed at the university's new Mitchell Campus on Pelican Island in Galveston.

The University of Hawaii also will receive a ship built under the Navy's new program. Texas A&M will be responsible for outfitting and installing scientific instrumentation aboard the Hawaiian vessel, with the work to be done at Galveston.

Texas A&M, the state's only institution of higher learning with sea-going capabilities, currently operates three oceanographic vessels, in addition to three craft used for water pollution research in bays and estuaries. The university's Texas Maritime Academy also operates a converted oceanliner as a training ship.

Dr. Richard A. Geyer, head of Texas A&M's Oceanography Department, said the new ship will be 165 feet long and accommodate 28 persons, including scientific party and crew.

The twin-screw, steel-hull craft will cruise at 12 knots with a range of approximately 8,000 miles.

"This new vessel will greatly enhance our capability to conduct a comprehensive program as we continue to expand our deep-water programs in the Gulf of Mexico, Caribbean and Atlantic," Dr. Geyer said.

Funds to assist in operating the new ship will be provided by the Office of Naval Research and the National Science Foundation.

Players May Form Coalition

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The heads of the four major professional sports' players associations have discussed forming a coalition which could establish a mutual strike fund and mount a major battle against reserve clauses, according to a daily newspaper here.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, told of the discussions in a report in the Minneapolis Star Tuesday.

"I don't want to give the impression that any union is just around the corner," Miller was quoted as saying. "There are no specific proposals at this time."

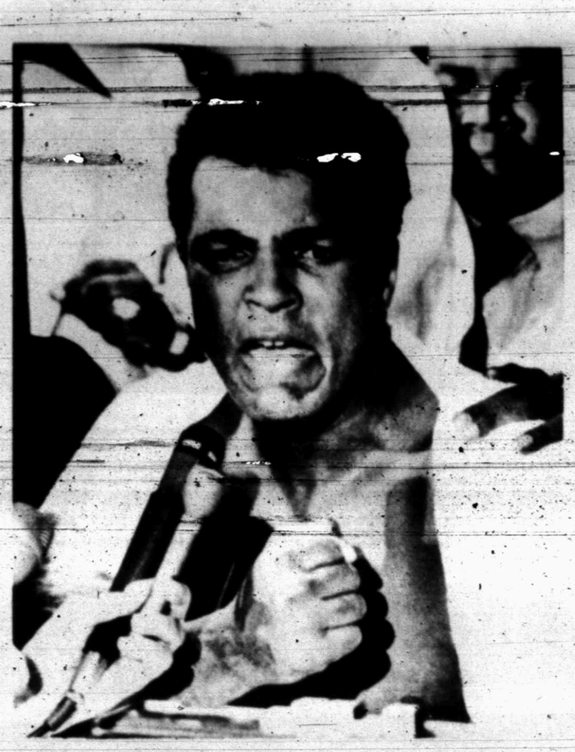

However, Miller did admit such a coalition was discussed at a recent meeting in Washington, D.C.

Arnie, Nicklaus PGA Favorites

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Super Mex Lee Trevino is back in action, with a new partner, but has to take second billing to the awesome combination of Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus in the $200,000 PGA National Team championship that starts Thursday.

Trevino, his nerves frayed by his game suffering from almost four months of steady competition, missed the cut for the final two rounds in the Westchester Golf Classic last week and took the opportunity to get his first rest in 16 weeks.

But even with the rest and Lee's overwhelming credentials—leading money winner this season with more than $197,000, the U.S., Canadian and British Open crowns, plus two other titles-the Trevino-Johnson duo has to take second place in the pretourney picks to Palmer and Nicklaus.

For one thing, they're the defending champions in this 72-hole event in which scoring on each hole is based on the better ball of each two-man team.

It's the same site as last year, the beautifully conditioned Laurel Valley Golf Club layout—Palmer's home course—a site that may become a permanent home for this event.

And Palmer and Nicklaus—dominant figures in the game until Trevino elbowed his way into that select company this year—have an unmatched history of success in team competition. They've won this national championship two of the last three times it's been played and teamed to take the World Cup competition for the United States four times.

Each is enjoying one of his better seasons in recent years. They rank second and third on the money list, Nicklaus with $167,000 and Palmer $164,000. Each had won three times, Nicklaus including the PGA and Palmer winning $50,000 first prize in the Westchester Classic, the richest event on the tour this season.

Still, the team of Trevino and the 45-year-old Johnson, a 15-year tour regular and consistent money winner, has to be considered. Trevino finished in a tie for 14th last year when he teamed with business partner Jesse Whittenton, a one-time professional football player.

Rambin Gets Scholarship

MONROE, La. — One of the leading high school golfers in Texas, Glenn Rambin of Snyder, has signed an athletic scholarship with Northeast Louisiana University.

NLU Coach Wallace Hargon announced the signing of Rambin, who tied for medalist honors in his district this spring and was tenth in the state junior tournament in 1970.

Rambin lettered three years in golf at Snyder High and also earned two basketball letters. He was the district medalist and runnerup in the regional tournament as a junior. Glenn was also active in other extracurricular activities in high school, serving on the student council for three years.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall M. Rambin of 4001 Irving in Snyder, Glenn plans to major in business at Northeast.

The addition of Rambin is expected to strengthen a NLU golf team that was one of the nation's strongest clubs last year, finishing sixth in the NCAA Championships in Chico, Calif., in June. All of Hargon's 1971 lettermen are returning next year.

Thomas Holdout Is Club Matter

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League said Tuesday as far as he is concerned the Duane Thomas holdout affair is a "club matter."

Rozelle said Thomas' recent remarks about club officials broke a rule in the league's by-laws.

"There is a provision in our constitution which says no one employed by the league can criticize somebody else in the league," Rozelle said. "I've fined owners for just such a thing. And the players are bound by it, too."

On the football field, the Cowboys scheduled their first scrimmage today against the veterans of the San Francisco 49ers.

Dallas announced Tuesday it has traded eighth round draft choice, Ron Jessie of Kansas, a wide receiver, to Detroit for a future draft selectionm

The Cowboys also cut two free agents, running backs Bob Ewon of Washington State and Steve Taylor of Utah State.

Snyder Rebels Defeat Rotan

The Snyder Rebels defeated Rotan 3-0 Tuesday night in the first round of the Junior Teenage League Playoff Tournament being unreeled in Towle Park this week. The Rebels will meet Colorado City, who was victorious over Haskell 2-0, in the second round of activity tonight.

The meet, which is a double elimination affair, will continue through Thursday, with a possibility of going on to Friday night. The two losers of last night's contests are not out of it yet. They will meet in the first game this evening, which is scheduled at 6:30. The loser will be eliminated, but the winner will play the winner of the Snyder Rebel-Colorado City contest in the first game of Thursday's action. The winner then will play, immediately following, against the winner of tonight's contest between Snyder and C-City. Since no team is eliminated until it has two losses, the tourney could last until Friday.

The Rebels, with Bill Murray as the manager and Eldon Perry serving as coach, reached the playoffs by winning their league with a 7-3 record. For the playoff activity, they were authorized to pick up three players from the other teams of the league, so Manager Murray selected Robert Braziel from the Oilers, Larry Beard of the Dodgers, and Ralph Lewis from the Braves.

Snyder's game Tuesday was a defensive battle, with superb pitching by Robert Braziel, who yielded only one hit, a 4th inning double by Bub Allen, the opposing pitcher. Allen allowed only 3 hits by the Rebels, but the local team made them count, and combined them with walks and Rotan Errors to garner the 3 runs.

The first Rebel run came in the second when the first man up, Braziel, singles and came home on a double by left fielder Danny Brumley. The second run was scored in the 5th when Brumley walked and eventually worked his way around the bases. Helping was a single by Sid Perry, first baseman.

Two Rotan errors and two bases-on-balls resulted in the final Snyder run, coming in the 6th inning and being scored by Larry Beard. He got on base on an error by the third baseman.

The losers only had one man to reach third base, and that was Allen after he had hit his double in the 4th frame. They had two men to reach base in the 4th, one on a walk and the other when he was hit by the pitcher. Altogether, Braziel struck out 16 batters.

In the contest against Haskell, C-City scored both of its runs in the third inning of a walk and two singles.

The winner of the tournament will advance to the state tournament, which will be played in Sweetwater in the early part of August.

U.S. Trade Surplus Continues To Decline

By MICHAEL J. REILLY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans says 1971 may be the first year of this century the United States has been unable to maintain a surplus in its foreign trade.

"Our economic future depends on maintaining our technology," Stans told the House Science Committee Tuesday. He said the U.S. trade surplus of exports over imports, which has been declining in recent years, may hit zero for the first time since 1893.

The surplus was $2.7 billion last year, down from $7.7 billion in 1964, Stans said.

The last official comment on the balance of trade was July 8 when the Commerce Department forecast a $500,000 surplus for 1971. It predicted exports would rise 7 to 8 per cent, while imports increased 13 to 14 per cent.

Stans urged Congress to consider stimulating technological advancement to break the cycle.

"It may well be time," he said, to modify antitrust regulations so that industries can pool resources and make advances he said are needed.

Although the Nixon administration hasn't decided "which way we want to go," Stans said, four options exist:

—Direct federal grants, cost-sharing and loan guarantees for technological development; and such indirect aid as tax breaks, investment credits and depreciation allowances.

—Establishing a "federal focus," such as a single agency, to forecast future developments and set up programs encouraging inventions and innovations.

—Freeing individual firms from costs of technology by, perhaps, spreading development risks among several companies.

—Encouraging voluntary standards for innovative equipment, particularly for export.

"I do not presume today to suggest which of these options are most effective or even most desirable," Stans told the committee. "A thorough analysis by both executive and legislative branches is necessary."

The trade deficit with Japan is a major reason for the expected big drop in the balance of trade. Stans said the United States is importing over $2.5 billion more this year from Japan than it is expecting. The deficit was only $100 million in 1965.

He described the trade balance with Japan as "already serious and growing worse."

Disabled Vets Get Free Car Licenses

AUSTIN (AP) — Details of a new program to provide free 1972 automobile license plates to some disabled veterans have been announced by the Texas Highway Department.

The program was set up by the 1971 legislature.

To qualify, an applicant must:

—Be a Texas resident;

—Be a veteran of the armed forces of the United States;

—Have a disability rating of 70 per cent or more;

—Be drawing compensation from the federal government as the result of service-connected disability.

A qualified veteran is entitled to register one passenger car or light commercial vehicle with a capacity of one ton or less for his own use without paying the prescribed registration fee. There is a statutory fee of $1 which must accompany each application.

Specially designed license plates will be issued with the letters "DV" appearing as either a prefix or suffix to the license number. The words "disabled vet" also will appear on the plates.

Vehicles with disabled vet plates will be exempt from paying parking fees charged by any governmental authority other than the federal government. This includes parking meters.

The license plates will not be available until the beginning of the 1972 registration year. The law provides that the disabled veteran must make application by Oct. 1 preceding the registration year for which the plates are requested.

The veteran's disability rating must be verified by the Veterans Administration or the branch of the armed forces from which he draws his disability compensation.

Also, the Texas title to the vehicle must be issued in the name of the veteran.

Application forms and instructions may be secured from the Texas Highway Department, Motor Vehicle Division, 40th and Jackson Avenue, Austin, Texas 78703.

The forms also will be available from motor vehicle division district offices in Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Port Arthur, El Paso, Fort Worth, Dallas, Lubbock, Amarillo and Longview, as well as county tax offices; county veteran service officers; American Legion headquarters in Austin and veterans of foreign wars headquarters in Austin.

Widow Is Sworn In

GONZALES, Tex. (AP) — An unpaid assistant to her husband for 25 years, Mrs. Alice Sutherland Romberg has been sworn in to replace him as Gonzales County judge.

John Romberg, the Gonzales County attorney for five years and the county judge for 20, died last Wednesday.

With Mrs. Romberg at the swearing-in ceremony was her mother-in-law, Mrs. Olga Romberg, whose husband — John's father — had been Gonzales County Judge for 30 years. Mrs. Alice Romberg's sister, Elizabeth Carpenter, was press secretary for Mrs. Lyndon Johnson when her husband was president.

Mrs. Romberg will hold office until the November 1972 elections. Gonzales County, a center for pecan and poultry production, is east of San Antonio.

Lost Ring Found

HALES CORNERS, Wis. (AP) — A ring which was lost 16 years ago was found in its owner's backyard—which had been bulldozed, filled, graded and sodded since the band was first missed.

The ring was lost by George Polakowski when he was building his home in 1955, and found recently by his 19-year-old nephew, Dale Demski, as he helped put in a new patio.

"I just couldn't find it after working on the house all day, Polakowski said. "I told my wife that some guy in 100 years would tear the house down and find it."

Kennedy Halves Gathering Dust

WASHINGTON (APz — Nearly 200 million 1971 Kennedy half dollars are gathering dust in government coffers, going largely unused for reasons the Treasury Department can't fully understand.

"I can't understand the population," said Mary T. Brooks, director of the U.S. Mint, shaking her head. "They're not using them."

The situation has reached the point Federal Reserve banks are calling commercial banks to spark demand, figuring if the public knows there are plenty of new half dollars, bearing the likeness of former President John F. Kennedy, demand will pick up.

"There are vending machines by the thousands sitting in warehouses," Mrs. Brooks said in an interview. "The owners are dying to use them if the banks would use the half dollars."

But commercial banks say they are not ordering the coins because the public demand is too weak.

"I can't understand it," she said. "The half dollar weighs exactly the same as two quarters and there would be less rattling in the pocket. They're much less trouble."

The 1964-69 Kennedy halves, which were part silver, never were in general circulation because the public stashed them away as collectors' items even though more than one billion were minted, she said.

Congress last year gave the Treasury authority to mint an unlimited number of the new copper-nickel coins. But there was a full year, 1970, in which the public became unaccustomed to seeing the half dollar.

"If the country knew there were plenty of them around, they'd probably start hoarding them, too," Mrs. Brooks said.

But neither the part-silver nor the nickel-copper coin is worth much for collecting, she said, because of the large number minted and because the value of the silver in the older coins is less than the face value.

Mrs. Brooks said more than 300 million of the 1971 halves have been minted since April, with a little more than 100 million in circulation as the Mint rolls out more of them every day.

She said everywhere she goes, she asks businessmen if they have any Kennedy halves. "They tell me, 'Why, they're not making them any more.' And I reply, 'I beg your pardon, I just got through making 300 million of them.'"

GIs Ask For Hope, Girls

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Three thousand GIs at two remote bases in Alaska recently signed a petition asking for a visit from Bob Hope and "Girls! Girls! Girls!"

The comedian, who has been entertaining troops for nearly 30 years, got the message. When Hope takes off from Los Angeles International Airport tonight for Fairbanks he'll take 130 girls, USO volunteers from 17 to 25 years old.

Performers accompanying Hope will include Fess Parker, the Sunday's Child vocal trio and the Celebration rock group. They'll entertain servicemen at Eielson Air Force Base and Ft. Wainwright and return Sunday.

Texola To Serve Cola

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — From now on it will have to be cola in Texola.

That's because this small Oklahoma community has lost its right under the state constitution to have a liquor store.

Ralph L. Stevenson, alcoholic beverage control director, said he was revoking the license of Texola's only liquor dealer, Floyd R. Wright Jr., because the town's population had slipped to 144.

The Beckham County town barely qualified for a liquor store in the federal census of 1960 when it had a population of 202.

The constitution states that liquor stores can be established only in towns of 200 population or above.

Retail Buyers Well Paid

(2nd of 2 parts)

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

If you want a job spicy with financial risk and competitive excitement, consider becoming a retail buyer. The buyer — man or woman — is the key departmental exec in a store, responsible for profits or losses.

JOB INVENTORY: Buyers anticipate customer demands and purchase merchandise from manufacturers and wholesalers for stores to sell. They interpret sales and inventory records; maintain proper merchandise assortments; develop new items and new suppliers; supervise display and other departmental promotion, price merchandise; and supervise (or actually perform the function) training and rating of department personnel.

Because buyers work extensively with people and records, they must know (1) their store's policies (2) their merchandise (3) customers' tastes, style choices, etc., and (4) their "market" (suppliers).

CAN TRAVEL. Buyers may order from traveling salesmen, by telephone directly from the seller, or go to large cities to see merchandise. Some buyers travel as much as one-third of their time to manufacturers' showrooms, many of which are in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and overseas. Buying trips are hectic, but interesting.

(Another kind of job is the resident buyer who lives in a major market city, and often represents several independent stores.)

PERSONAL: Buyers need intelligence, analytical ability, the courage to gamble on goods which may be sold as much as six months later, a knack for business arithmetic; an appreciation for merchandise and an interest in what's new.

MONEY AND SETTING: In smaller stores, good buyers soon make from about $8,000 up. The National Retail Merchants Association says a typical range in larger stores, generally speaking, is $15-40,000. Trainees can earn about $6,500-13,000.

Retail employees also receive a store discount — about 20 percent.

The retail buyer may have to work some nights and weekends (probably Saturdays, at least). Stores are attractive and air conditioned. Buyers are in line for promotion to merchandise manager, and are sometimes lured away from key marketing positions by their own suppliers.

THE MERCHANDISE MANAGER is an administrative exec whose duties include the supervision of about 8 buyers, usually from related departments. The merchandise manager helps set a store's merchandising policies; for example, making sure that quality standards and price lines are properly maintained. About 10 percent of merchandise managers are women. The merchandise manager's median salary for those who are officers of their companies is over $25,000/year.

Community College's Objectives Outlined

"What is a community junior college?" This was the topic of the program presented to the Lions Club in its weekly meeting Tuesday in the First United Methodist Church. Giving the program was Larry Thompson, assistant professor of journalism and English at Western Texas College.

Thompson, who is a member of the Lions Club, compared the junior college with the four-year college or university, showing some advantages of a college like citizens will have here in Scurry County. He pointed out that of a hundred students who begin as freshmen in a four-year school, only about 22 usually graduate. That is a loss of approximately 80 per cent who drop out before they complete what they started out to do.

On the other hand, the community junior college might have up to 90 per cent to complete the programs that they have embarked upon. These figures give a good indication of one of the advantages of the community junior college.

Thompson emphasized that three important functions of Western Texas College are those of transfer, continuing education, and terminal education. Those who wish to transfer to a four-year institution will be able to get two years of basic, transferable courses.

The continuing education will be available to all who would like to continue learning in various fields. Courses will be offered in any subject if there is enough interest expressed by the people of the community.

The terminal education will be for those who will want to complete their learning or training in various fields at Western Texas College. Numerous terminal programs have already been set up and more are planned for the future.

Thompson pointed out that Western Texas College belongs to the community, and that the officials and faculty appreciate the interest that the people of the community have in the college.

Thompson received his bachelor of arts degree from Texas A&I University and a master of arts degree from Sul Ross University. He has completed 30 hours of course work toward his doctorate at Texas Tech.

John Wayne Sues Paramount

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Wayne has sued Paramount Pictures for $1.7 million over the sale to television of "True Grit," which won the veteran actor his only Oscar.

Wayne's suit, filed Tuesday in Superior Court, contends that Paramount sold too cheaply, short-changing Wayne's residual share of the profits.

Paramount should have known, Wayne says, that he "stood a good chance" of winning the Academy Award for 1969, which would increase the value of the film.

But instead of selling "True Grit" separately or with a select group of films, Wayne says, Paramount let it go in the fall of 1969 to the American Broadcasting Co. with 24 other films in a $15 million package.

Onassis' Daughter Is Wed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Christina Onassis, 20-year-old daughter of Aristotle Onassis, has married 47-year-old Joseph Bolker, a Hollywood real estate man.

"I did not know who it was until I got there," said District Court Judge Carl Christensen, called to a local law office Tuesday to perform the brief civil ceremony.

"I asked, 'Is this the famous Onassis family?' and she said, 'I am the daughter.'"

There were half a dozen spectators, apparently none from the family of the Greek shipping magnate who is married to the widow of President John F. Kennedy.

The judge said the couple flew here from Los Angeles and returned after the ceremony. There were unconfirmed reports they were honeymooning in Mexico.

Blacks See No Threat From Family Planning

NEW YORK (AP) — A study of black families has found that a majority of those in the reproductive age range do not accept the idea that birth control programs are an attempt to eliminate blacks from the population.

Some militant blacks have argued that family planning programs are aimed at black "genocide," the deliberate elimination of a cultural group.

But the study also found that a significant minority—among men 30 and under—did agree with the thought that encouraging birth control on blacks is an effort to eliminate them.

Further, the study found significant feelings of racial consciousness among blacks and recommended community control of birth control services and the inclusion of young black males in policy making and executive functions.

As for attitudes toward birth control methods, both abortion and sterilization were rejected by large numbers of those interviewed.

The study was conducted in 159 black households in a medium-sized city in New England, not identified, by researchers at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, and reported in a publication of the Population Reference Bureau.

Authors of the study are Dr. William A. Darity, head of the school's public health department; Dr. Castellano BM Turner, assistant professor of psychology, and Dr. H. Jean Thiebaux, assistant professor of public health.

The Population Reference Bureau noted that government population policy—"or nonpolicy"—has resulted in birth control activities being confined largely to bringing to the poor the same ability to control family size the rest of society has.

"Inevitably," the bureau said, "that has meant that official birth control centers have been concentrated in poor communities, a disproportionate share of which are black. This concentration has led some militant blacks to proclaim that family planning programs are aimed at black 'genocide'."

In one phase of the study, individuals were asked to respond to the statement, "All forms of birth control are designed to eliminate blacks." Fourteen per cent agreed; 86 per cent disagreed.

"It is significant to point out here, however," the report said, "that 29 per cent of the males 30 and under agreed with the statement while 100 per cent of the males over 30 disagreed with the statement."

In response to the statement, "Encouraging blacks to use birth control is comparable to trying to eliminate this group from society," 2 per cent agreed and 72 per cent disagreed.

Corona Pleads 'Not Guilty'

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — Juan Corona replied with a terse, "Not guilty, sir" 25 times at his arraignment on charges of hacking to death 25 transient field workers.

Corona, a farm labor contractor, used the same words Tuesday each time Superior Court Judge John Hauck read a count from the grant jury indictment accusing him of killing the victims and burying them in orchard graves.

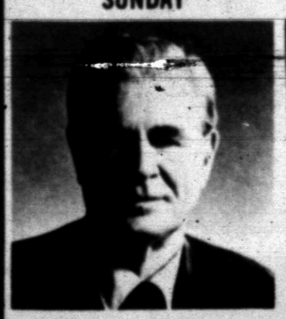

Jury selection was set to begin Oct. 5 after Dr. Thomas Leavenworth, Sutter County medical director, testified Corona should be recuperated from a mild heart attack by then.

Corona waived his right to a speedy trial, complying with Leavenworth's advice.
