Freakish, Miniature Tornado Partially Wrecks Homes In Suburban Addition

FAMILY HERE ESCAPES WHEN STORM STRIKES

Wichita Falls Experiences Hottest Day Recorded In Two Years

LIGHT RAINS FALL

Temperature Reaches 107 Degrees While Clouds Threaten Rain

While the city still broiled under a new two-year heat record of 107 degrees Wednesday afternoon, a prankish wind which within a small radius assumed the proportions of a miniature cyclone swooped down over the Westmoreland park section, picked up part of a roof from the G. Soderlund home, tossed a garage into a peach orchard, and uprooted a line of telephone poles.

The young tornado ripped a section off the roof of the neighboring Adair home as well, bringing the damage total to around $1,500. The only casualties reported were several deaths in the Soderlund poultry yard, where the chicken houses were unroofed. Several members of the Soderlund family were at home at the time of the storm, but were unhurt, suffering chiefly from surprise when they glanced up to find the roof off their heads.

Deluge of Rain

A deluge of rain, as limited in its scope as the wind, followed, drenching the exposed rooms and ruining several suites of furniture.

The remainder of the city, like the remainder of the section, had to content itself with the meagerest of sprinkles, though the still heat and a few low-hanging clouds gave a promise of relief from the long seige of hot dry weather which has held the section for the past two weeks.

The mercury here climbed one degree above the record for the past two summers when it reached 107 at its maximum after one of the rare hot nights almost unknown in Northwest Texas. The minimum for the 24 hours which ended at five o'clock Wednesday was 82 degrees and the wind velocity remained unusually low.

Scattered Showers

Promise of a break both in the heat and the drouth was bright in spite of the disappointment Wednesday, scattered showers and sprinkles over Southern Oklahoma and Northwest Texas reminding the sweltering sufferers that the skies may yet offer surcease. The rain at Graham, heavy for a few minutes, was accompanied by another freakish wind before which awnings, trees and shingles went down. Only minor damage was reported and the shower was regarded as inadequate for the needs.

Seymour and Floydada both enjoyed brief downpours during the day Wednesday. It rained a little at Crowell and more at Frazier and Foard City. Katy dispatchers reported a sizeable downpour at Altus and Supply, and a hard rain at Dunlap.

Paducah, Quitaque and Benjamin were tantalized by the merest of sprinkles, but clouds still hovered over the section.

Embargo on Manganese Asked Against Russia

WASHINGTON, July 30. (US)—Immediate embargo on importations of Russian manganese to protect the American industry was demanded by Senator Tasker L. Oddie, Republican, of Nevada, chairman of the senate committee on mines and mining, today.

In a letter to Assistant Secretary of the Treasurer Seymour Lowman, Oddie charged the Soviets with slashing their manganese prices below the cost of production, thus enabling them to flood the American market despite the tariff law.

British Leaders Laugh At Labor Revolt Rumor

LONDON, July 30. (US)—Rumors gaining circulation today that a revolt among younger members of the Labor party, aiming at the deposing of Ramsay MacDonald as prime minister and Philip Snowden as chancellor of the exchequer, was received with laughter at the Labor party headquarters today.

The Labor chieftains acknowledged that a difference over the unemployment problem had caused friction within the party, but that this would be discussed at a meeting of the party which is approaching.

Cop Identifies Foster As Man Who Fled From Lingle Slaying

CHICAGO, July 30. (AP)—The policeman who pursued a fleeing gunman from the Randolph street pedestrian subway where Jake Lingle was assassinated June 9 identified that fugitive in court today.

Pointing to Frank Foster, said to be a Capone gangster, Policeman Anthony Ruthy asserted positively: "That's the man." The police had asserted that the man whom Officer Ruthy tried to catch was the slayer.

His testimony was un unpleasant shock to Foster's defending counsel, who had called the traffic officer as their final witness in an effort to free the gangster from the county jail, where he had been held 10 days since extradition from Los Angeles.

TAX RATE SET AT 69 CENTS

School Levy Placed at 35-Cent Limit

AUSTIN, July 30. (AP)—Texas property owners will pay a tax of 69 cents per $100 valuation on their holdings during the fiscal year starting September, 1930, the state automatic tax board decided today. The tax is one cent higher than the rate for the 1929 fiscal year.

Based on property valuations in excess of four billions of dollars, the tax will yield $10,883,512.95 in revenue.

The tax for educational purposes was raised to the constitutional limit of 35 cents, 4 cents higher than last year, while the ad valorem tax was reduced from 31 cents to 27 cents. The tax for confederate pensions was set at 7 cents. The ad valorem tax is 8 cents under the limit of 35 cents.

The educational tax was expected to pay an apportionment of $17.10 per student during the next fiscal year.

The ad valorem tax rate was set originally at 28 cents but was reduced on motion of Gov. Dan Moody when State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher reported the deficit in the treasury would not be as large as estimated because a large amount of the current appropriations would be unexpended Sept. 1. The deficit had been figured at $1,228,000.

State Comptroller George H. Sheppard, Governor Moody and Treasurer Hatcher comprise the board.

Postoffice Lease Probe To Start in August

WASHINGTON, July 30. (US)—With hearings planned in several states, the Blaine committee of the senate will start its investigation of postoffice leases next month.

Investigators are now concluding the work of sifting a mountain of evidence which indicates that Uncle Sam has wasted vast sums in the payment of excessive rentals for postoffice substations.

Most of these one-sided contracts were made in the Mid-West where a few professional bidders were successful in negotiating scores of contracts with the government, in many instances without the slightest financial risk to themselves.

Mrs. Watkins Files Suit in Baby Mix-Up

CHICAGO, July 30. (AP)—The baby imbroglio over who's who in the Watkins-Bamberger families was the basis for a $100,000 damage suit filed today against the Englewood hospital by Mrs. Margaret Watkins, mother of one of the infants she alleged were exchanged at the time the two mothers left the hospital.

Mrs. Watkins charged that the hospital forced her to accept a child marked with the name of another mother, and has deprived her "of the joy of loving, rearing and educating a child of her own flesh and blood."

AUSTIN, July 30. (AP)—Contracts for the construction of $1,076,309 in highway work were awarded here today by the state highway commission in one of the heaviest bidding sessions this year. The contracts called for completion during the present construction year.

The largest contract was for 8.9 miles of concrete in Navarro county on highway 14, the low bidder being J. S. Clements of Shreveport, La. The second largest contract was for one 120-foot steel truss span and 38 concrete girder spans over White Rock creek in Caldwell county, awarded to Grant Williams of Oklahoma City at his bid of $108,820.

The following contracts were let: Haskell county, 14.3 miles grading and trainage from Jones county line to Haskell on highway 30; large structures, Word & World, Itasca, $47,623.12; small structures, Mackey and Hopper, Oklahoma City, $48,998.78.

Bids also were ordered on highway 70 from Roby to the Fisher county line provided the plans are ready by the September meeting of the board. Maintenance of a three-mile road connecting highways 70 and 84 in Fisher county also was taken over by the state.

Request of a Brown county delegation for designation of a state highway from Brownwood to Cross Plains in Callahan county was referred to the state engineer.

Shamrock V Emerges Safe From Veil of Mist

HORTA, Island of Fayal, Azores, July 30. (AP)—The Shamrock V, Sir Thomas Lipton's pride on which he pins his hope of capturing the America's cup this September, was safe and sound in Horta harbor tonight after having been out of contact with her convoy for five days.

The Shamrock was proceeding in company with the steam yacht Erin five days ago when mist and rain swallowed her from view. The craft carries no wireless and all attempts to regain touch with her were fruitless.

Ottawa Sees Special Session of Parliament

OTTAWA, Ont., July 30. (AP)—A special session of parliament probably before Sept. 11, appeared to be assured today as a consequence of the Conservatives' triumph in Tuesday's election.

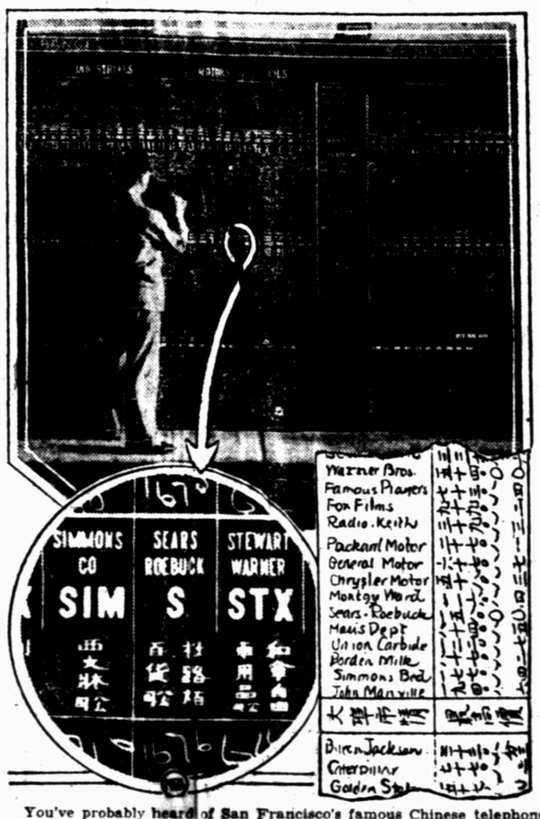

Indications were that Premier-elect R. B. Bennett might take over the reins of office from the Liberal prime minister, Mackenzie King, within the next 10 days.

$250,000 Fire Sweeps Section of Houston

Stock Market Goes Chinese

You've probably heard of San Francisco's famous Chinese telephone exchange, but few people know that the city has an oriental stock exchange, too. Above you see a complete board in operation in a stock trading room in Frisco's Chinatown. The young Chinese marker memorized the whole list in 48 hours as well as the phonetic Cantonese symbols for each American stock issue. Left, below, is a closeup of the board showing both Chinese and English symbols for the stocks, while at the right, below, is a daily stock sheet telling how various stocks have fluctuated.

Shamrock Negro Again on Way To Death Cell After Day in Jail Here

Jesse Lee Washington, negro, convicted of the brutal slaying of Mrs. Henry Vaughan near Shamrock and en route to the state penitentiary at Huntsville to be electrocuted for the crime, spent Tuesday night and the greater part of Wednesday in the county jail here, it was revealed by members of the sheriff's department.

The negro, heavily chained and guarded despite his small size, was brought to Wichita Falls by Ranger Sergeant M. T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzaullas, accompanied by Ranger A. G. Goss. Their prisoner was lodged in the county jail during the early morning hours and removed from his cell to continue the journey to the penitentiary about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, officers said.

The two rangers brought the negro here after they had spent the earlier portion of the night in Vernon, where Sergeant Gonzaullas remained during an investigation of the tragic accident in which his car struck and killed Ueil La Verne Barrett, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Barrett. The accident occurred about five miles northwest of Vernon. The child, officers said, was riding on a wooden scooter on the highway when he darted out in front of the ranger's machine. Gonzaullas reported he made a frantic effort to avoid striking the boy but was too late when the child turned directly into the path of the car. They rushed the child to Vernon, but his injuries had proved almost instantly fatal.

Following inquiries into the accident, in which county and district officials were participating, the rangers with their negro prisoner, who had meanwhile been left in the Vernon jail, continued their journey southward, stopping at Wichita Falls where Gonzaullas has friends and relatives with whom he visited Wednesday.

WESTVILLE, Okla., July 30. (UP)—Four men who robbed the National Bank of Westville today and escaped with approximately $5,000 apparently had made good their escape tonight, officers here admitted.

MONTREAL TO GREET R-100

Dirigible Expected to Land Late Today

MONTREAL, Quebec, July 30. (AP)—With the greatest airship the skies have ever known bearing down on Canada on its first long flight from England, St. Hubert's airport outside this city teemed tonight with preparations for its reception.

Out beyond the great mast where the R-100 will swing tomorrow night, long rows of tents were raised to house the 600 soldiers and police who will handle the huge crowds expected to gather from all over the province.

In the hangar itself provisions were made to take care of the 44 men who are sailing the ocean air in Britain's latest bid for aerial supremacy.

Throughout the day the wireless station at St. Hubert's was in intermittent touch with the mighty dirigible, which is larger than either the Los Angeles of the United States navy or the Graf Zeppelin of Germany.

From ships at sea and from the R-100 itself it was learned the airship was sailing smoothly over the aerial highways of the Atlantic and from late afternoon reports it was learned the R-100 was then off Belle Isle straight. It could be estimated with fair accuracy that the time of arrival here would be late tomorrow, probably between 4 and 6 o'clock.

(UP)—After endorsing efforts of the Farmers National Grain corporation, a subsidiary of the federal farm board, representatives of farmers cooperatives from 28 states today condemned action of the board in its attempt to force cotton producers to join the Farm Bureau Cotton association in Texas. Rawlins, who said the baby belonged to the Roja woman, ordered the arrest of both. The baby's body had been wrapped in kerosene soaked blankets.

THOMAS GORE HAS SLIM LEAD OVER OIL MAN

Wrightsman Trails Blind Opponent by Margin of 407 Votes

MURRAY LEAD GAINS

'Alfalfa Bill' Accorded 40 Per Cent of Ballots In Sooner Election

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 30. (AP)—Thomas P. Gore, who emerged after a decade of private life to assail big business and blame financial distress on the Hoover administration, continued tonight to struggle on virtually even terms with Charles J. Wrightsman, wealthy Tulsa oil operator for the lead for the Democratic senatorial nomination voted on at yesterday's primary election.

There was every indication that they would be matched Aug. 12 in the run-off primary election.

Has Slight Lead

Gore, with 40,529 votes, had a lead of 407 over Wrightsman when 1,723 of the state's 3,338 precincts had been reported. Three former Oklahoma governors lagged behind in the same race, Henry S. Johnston, an ousted one, running third with 30,355, Lee Cruce fourth with 23,077, and J. B. A. Robertson, avowed wet, fifth with 8,551. J. C. Walton, a fourth ex-governor, also ousted from office, will be in the general election in November as an independent candidate, Senator W. B. Pine, Republican incumbent, had a lead that apparently relieved him of the necessity of entering the run-off.

William H. Murray, self-labeled commoner, who also carried a pledge of tax reform and relief to drought shriveled farming communities, had widened his lead in the contest for the Democratic guberntorial nomination to nearly 40,000 votes over Frank Buttram, his nearest rival in the field of nine. Murray had 87,253 votes and Buttram 48,234. E. B. Howard, former first district congressman, maintained a slight lead through the day over M. E. Trapp, still another former governor in the consolation flight for third place. On the 2,174 precincts compilation, Howard had 27,447 votes, Trapp 26,477.

Murray Confident

Murray predicted during the day that his majority would swell to more than 50 per cent of the total vote, giving him the nomination without a run-off contest. His prediction, however, was not supported

Bar Against Norris Scored by Stebbins

LINCOLN, Neb., July 30. (UP)—The Nebraska state supreme court today was charged by W. M. Stebbins, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination, with being an unwitting ally to Senator George W. Norris, his opponent, when it barred George W. Norris, Broken Bow grocer, from the race. Stebbins urged that Senator Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota, chairman of the senate campaign investigating committee, investigate fully why the appeal should have been made to Chief Justice C. A. Goss when the grocer's formal withdrawal was in the pocket of John Robertson, Senator Norris' son-in-law.

WATCH DOGS

U. S. Warships Sent To Protect Americans In China

WASHINGTON, July 30. (US)—An armada of 30 American warships was today ordered to stations on the Yangtse river and coast ports in China as the communist reign of terror spreads to communities where American lives and property are in danger.

Reports to the state department today painted a grave picture of the situation in the town of Changsha, which was looted by communist troops yesterday after the American gunboat Palos had taken out 43 Americans. The fate of the five who refused to leave is unknown. In the meantime the town is in ruins. Nearly every building was burned to the ground after the demand of the 10,000 invaders for a ransom of $650,000 had been refused.

CECIL STOREY FLAYS MOODY

Defeated Candidate Withholds Support

Special to The Record News

VERNON, Texas, July 30.—Still withholding his support from either of his successful rivals in the attorney general's campaign, Cecil Storey today issued a statement again scoring Gov. Dan Moody for "butting into" the attorney general's race.

"I do not think that I am assuming a dictatorial attitude to again call my friends' attention to the fact that I resent to the depth of my heart the unwarranted and dellberate butting into the attorney general's race on the part of Dan Moody. His acts were inexcusable and without parallel within the history of Texas politics. His excuse in order to try to justify his conduct was more like that of a child than of a person past 21 years of age.

"I am informed that there is now going on in Texas the buying up of newspapers and the combination of political influence on the part of certain candidates for political honors in Texas. Every Texan should be on his guard and see that money and the power to control the press should not defeat the voice of the people at the polls."

The latter part of Mr. Storey's campaign was enlivened by bitter clashes between the candidate and Governor Moody in which Mr. Storey accused the governor of interfering in the campaign in behalf of his opponent, R. L. Bobbitt, Moody's appointee.

RAIL BOARD HEARS VIEWS OF OPERATORS

Production Cut of 125,000 Barrels Daily Seen As Probable

WITNESSES ARGUE

Many Specific Problems Must Be Solved By Commission

AUSTIN, July 30. (AP)—Restriction of oil production in Texas by 125,000 barrels daily appeared probable today after a hearing before the state railroad commission but it appeared improbable that any plan could be worked out in less than two weeks, or perhaps a month.

The restriction to 737,000 barrels daily, to be equitably divided among all pools in the state, was recommended by a special committee of operators named at the request of the commission to suggest a plan for enforcing the new pipe line common purchaser law.

Proration Favored

While the majority of those attending today's hearing appeared to favor the proration plan in its general aspects, many disagreed as to specific instances, which probably will be taken up in individual hearings.

If it should be decided to give each field a separate hearing, no less than 25 days would be required to complete the hearings alone.

Adoption Expected

Although the commission did not act today on the committee recommendation, it appeared the sense of the meeting that definite action would be taken as soon as a few disputed parts of the reports were cleared up. It seemed certain that the committee's recommendations would be adopted essentially as they were made with these exceptions.

In presenting the committee's recommendations, a picture of the probable disastrous effects of following the haphazard system now in vogue in the state was drawn by Robert R. Penn, chairman of the special committee and vice chairman of the curtailment committee of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association.

Darst Creek Cited

Penn predicted that if other fields should follow the example of Darst creek, where the proration order has been nullified by a court injunction, the market soon would be

Democratic Executive Committee To Prepare Ballot Aug. 11 for Run-Off

DALLAS, July 30. (AP)—The Texas election bureau tonight had accounted for 784,574 votes in Saturday's Democratic primary, complete returns having been received from 173 counties and partial reports from 252.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson of Austin had received 227,883 votes for governor and Ross S. Sterling of Houston 160,004, Mrs. Ferguson's plurality being 67,849. They were to enter the run-off primary of Aug. 23. Clint C. Small of Wellington, third high in the 11-man race for governor, had 131,380 votes.

Albert Sidney Johnson, secretary of the state Democratic executive committee, announced today the committee would meet here Aug. 11 to canvass the returns and prepare the ballot for the run-off.

Former Gov. James E. Ferguson, husband of Mrs. Ferguson, who spent the day here with friends, said he would open his wife's campaign at Cooper, Delta county, but he was uncertain about the date, probably next Wednesday.

Sterling's advisers were to meet here Monday to formulate plans for his campaign.

Former Gov. Pat M. Neff lacked 8,660 votes of having a majority over his three opponents. The standing of the other candidates in the run-off races was unchanged by the latest totals.

'Steady Pressure' Against Big Liquor Violators Announced as New Plan

WASHINGTON, July 30. (AP)—Maintenance of "steady pressure" against the larger violators of the dry laws was announced today by Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock as a guiding policy of the reorganized enforcement unit.

"I will not have our agencies following the course of least resistance and wasting their time upon pitiful, picayunish, non-commercial cases, he said. "I think the prohibition laws can be successfully enforced against commercial operations. I propose to make that our objective and not to dissipate our energies in other fields.

"I shall insist a steady pressure be maintained against these commercial violations. I disapprove sensational methods."

Woodcock's statement was issued after a day spent in conference with the 12 administrators, recently appointed to take charge in the field, and a group of special agents responsible directly to national headquarters for investigation work.

Establishment of schools for training enforcement agents, institution of a system of daily reports from all enforcement districts and an effort to obtain uniform sentences for approximately similar violations, Woodcock said, also are to be undertaken.

SHEEP RAISERS HOLD MEETING

Under-Consumption Is Blamed for Low Prices

BRADY, Texas, July 30. (AP)—Retail prices of meat are too high in comparison with prices paid producers and this situation is responsible for the existing under-consumption of meat, T. A. Kinkaid, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association said in his address before the annual convention here today.

"It is under-consumption, not over-production of meat which is responsible for the present poor livestock market," Kincaid said.

He said there was not an over-production of wool, declaring the United States produces only 65 per cent of the wool consumed within its borders.

Kincaid's charges were amplified by Dayton Moses, attorney for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, who endorsed the $400,000 lamb advertising campaign but urged the people in the goat and sheep territory should lead in patronizing home-grown meat products.

Kincaid characterized the recently-enacted tariff bill as the best ever enacted for livestock producers' interests and said he was proud that the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association aided in procuring its passage.

Touching on state legislation, he said the association's legislative committee during the past year had been instrumental in preventing the passage of many bills which would have been detrimental to interests of sheep and goat raisers.

Dr. N. F. Williams, chief veterinarian of the Texas livestock sanitary board, denied the popular belief that the germ of contagious abortion in dairy cows and Malta fever in goats can be transmitted to humans through milk of these animals. He spoke of the disease eradication work accomplished by livestock sanitary activities throughout the United States, which, he said, in monetary value amounted to $500,000,000.

E. B. Baggett, secretary of the association, reported a balance of $11,000 in the treasury and a membership gain of 137 during the past year.

Confession Made in Insurance Bombing

SOUTH RIVER, N. J., July 30. (AP)—Leo Wladyke has admitted, police declared today, that he consented to the bombing of his home and embroidery factory when a stranger proposed the destruction to collect $15,000 in insurance.

The home and factory were razed yesterday by a time bomb and in the ruins was found the body of Peter Barone, itinerant laborer.

Barone, Wladyke was quoted as saying, suggested the bombing, offered to accomplish it for a share of the insurance, and threatened to kill Wladyke, his wife and children unless he consented.

Wladyke was held for further questioning. Police said he and his family were in a nearby field, fully clothed, when the blast occurred, but that Barone, caught within the building, had apparently miscalculated the time of the explosion.

Idaho Population Placed at 437,440

BOISE, Idaho, July 30. (AP)—Census figures compiled by the Associated Press today gave Idaho a total population of 437,440. This represents an increase of 5,574 or 1.29 per cent over 1920.

The figures include a preliminary estimate for Valley county, with a population set tentatively at 3,518. Returns from two precincts of this mountainous and sparsely settled county have not yet been received. Its population in 1920 was 2,524.

WASHINGTON, July 30. (AP)—Iowa's state total was announced by the census bureau today as 2,467,900 an increase of 63,879 or 2.7 per cent.

This total was less than the 2,468,747 based on announcements of the local supervisors. The census bureau said the new figure was also subject to revision in the final official count.

16 Arrested for Smuggling Dope

WASHINGTON, July 30. (AP)—Sixteen persons are under arrest as the result of an investigation into the smuggling of narcotics into the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan.

Harry J. Anslinger, acting director of the narcotic bureau, said today the ring leader of the conspiracy, Margaret Horan, was arrested in New York yesterday and that a guard, C. C. Drake, also was held. The names of the other prisoners were not announced.

Anslinger said the narcotics were traced to friends and relatives of the prisoners in Louisville, Nashville, and Bowling Green, Ky. From there, he said, they were mailed to Drake at Leavenworth and then delivered to the prisoners.

Gold Exports Reach Total of $30,000,000

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—Two shipments of gold, totaling $5,000,000, went forward to France today on the liner Aquitania.

Today's consignments brought to a total of $30,000,000 exports of gold to France on the present movement, which started about two weeks ago.

The Guaranty Trust company announced receipt of $3,100,000 in gold from Venezuela on the steamer Lara.

How New York's Millions Tried to Escape Heat Wave

Here's what happens when New Yorkers try to escape from crowds on a torrid day by going to the beach. The scene's at world-famous Coney Island, where more than a million hot, perspiring residents of America's largest city swarmed along the shore the other day—and found their neighbors there, too, each on his own grain of sand! Other beaches in the New York area presented similar pictures during the recent nation-wide heat wave.

Lone Policeman in Faroe Island Town Unable to Halt Flag Demonstration

COPENHAGEN, July 30. (AP)—The one policeman in Thorshavn, Faroe islands, was unable to halt a flag demonstration yesterday which resulted in postponement of the opening of the Lagting, or parliament.

The demonstration, accompanied by agitation against Denmark, owner of the Faroe group, came on St. Olaf's day. Saint Olaf is the patron saint of the islands and a large crowd was in the capital attending the festivities.

Poul Paturssohn, son of the Faroe member of the Danish senate, led a crowd to the Lagting building and cut down the Danish flag, replacing it with a large Faroe banner.

Later the Danish flag was replaced but the lone policeman was unable to arrest young Paturssohn because enthusiastic supporters carried him away on their shoulders.

The Faroes have the status of a Danish country and the local flag has no official recognition. Premier Stauning said today that "no responsible Faroe representative ever claimed the right to a special flag in the islands."

The Faroe group, composed of 21 islands in the north Atlantic west of Denmark, is inhabited by persons of Norwegian descent. Their spoken language is a North German dialect but they write in Danish. Fishing is the principal industry.

SCHOOL HEADS HEAR WALTON

A. & M. Head Addresses Superintendents

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 30.(AP)—Educational progress in Texas is not keeping step with industrial and other forms of advancement, T. O. Walton, president of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, said today in an address before the conference of county school superintendents at the short course here.

"The time has come when we must take stock of our entire educational system, which is in as pitiful a condition as it has been in during the last decade or an even longer period of time," he said.

"Too much emphasis is placed on the mode of financing and too little on the type of product turned out by educational institutions. The public is going to measure its financial support of the educational system by the standard of the system's products."

President Walton advocated utilization of a certain per cent of the tax income from natural resources of the state to set up a permanent fund for the support of education.

Rail Counsel Would Serve Two Concerns

WASHINGTON, July 30. (AP)—Herbert Fitzpatrick, vice president and chief legal officer of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, today asked the Interstate Commerce commission to approve his taking a similar position in the organization of the Missouri Pacific system.

The Missouri Pacific railway recently passed into control of the Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland. O. P. Van Sweringen in going on the Missouri Pacific board of directors notified the commission he had resigned a number of official posts on eastern railroads.

Fitzpatrick, however, specifically noted in his application that he intended to retain his status of chief legal officer for the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Chicago-Alton Road May Reduce Rates

CHICAGO, July 30. (INS)—The Chicago & Alton railroad, between Chicago and St. Louis, proposes to lower its fares to meet motor bus competition, President W. G. Bierd announced today.

Within 30 days he said the Chicago & Alton will ask the Interstate Commerce commission for permission to reduce its rail passenger rates to a level with bus fares. It is planned to operate one reduced train between St. Louis and Chicago daily.

Radio telephone service to Hawaii is planned as first link in the transpacific service.

Body of American 'Middie' Sent Home

CHERBOURG, France, July 30. (AP)—The body of Midshipman Francis H. Worthington, 19, who committed suicide during a visit of Annapolis students to Paris July 1, was taken aboard the U. S. S. Utah today after a brief ceremony on the docks.

Worthington, who was a resident of Grover, Colo., will be buried at sea today just off the French coast, his farewell request being for a sailor's grave.

The three American battleships of the Annapolis summer training squadron—the Utah, the Florida and the Arkansas—steamed to Cherbourg from Edinburg today and are scheduled to reach Norfolk, Va., Aug. 14.

While the others anchored outside today, the Utah entered the roads. The commander, with an armed squad, came to the dock in a ship boat and was met by a file of French sailors.

The French sailors stood on one side of the flag-draped casket and the Americans on the other. After a brief ceremony the seamen presented arms and the body was taken to the Utah.

CLEVELAND, July 30. (AP)—J. E. Casey, former president of the Citizens National bank of Galion, Ohio, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in federal court here today on charges of misapplying bank funds and of falsifying the bank's records. Federal bank examiners have reported a shortage in the bank's accounts in excess of $160,000, allegedly caused by Casey's manipulations.

DALLAM CALLS ROAD ELECTION

New $550,000 Bond Issue Before Voters

Special to The Record News

DALHART, Texas, July 30.—On Aug. 30, Dallam county citizens will vote on a $550,000 road bond issue for the purpose of paving highways 5 and 54. The issue was called at the request of a large number of Dalhart and Texline citizens at the regular meeting of the commissioners court this week. At the same time it was necessary for the court to rescind their action of a week earlier to call an issue of $750,000 for paving highways 5, 54, and 41.

The new issue will have the united support of the towns of Dalhart, Ware, Perico, and Texline. It is through these towns that state highway 5 passes. Due to the fact that highway 54 passes through the towns of Conlen, Chamberlain and Dalhart it is believed that the issue will receive the support of the residents of these places. If this proves true the road bonds will receive more than the two-thirds majority necessary.

The recent election which was defeated was for paving all three of the highways and was defeated by a strong vote at Texline, Ware and Perico.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 30. (AP)—Two unmasked men robbed the First National bank of Westville, Adair county, today and escaped with an amount of money not immediately determined, G. W. Peters Named Receiver With Clarence Saunders

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 30. (AP)—J. R. Peters eastern chain grocery executive summoned here to attempt reorganization of the Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., was named co-receiver of the grocery chain today by Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson.

The appointment was requested by creditors with claims of more than $500,000. A court petition said Mr. Peters was selected by a banking syndicate which holds $500,000 in notes against the chain.

Mr. Peters joined L. M. Stratton of Memphis, original receiver. The petitioner said Mr. Saunders has pledged cooperation in handling the chain, but the latter said today the stores could not be made solvent unless they were refinanced.

Burning of Valuable Paintings Brings Probe

BOSTON, July 30. (INS)—Police and the state fire marshal's office today launched a double investigation into a suspicious fire which destroyed three score paintings, valued by the collector, John T. Barton of Swampscott, at $700,000 and did $50,000 damage to his showrooms in Newbury street, back bay, last night.

Barton, who said the paintings were insured for $174,000, said some of the burned paintings were Giovanni Domenico Tiepolo, "Dream of St. Joseph," $30,000; Winslow Homer, "Rescue," $25,000; "Last Supper," 17th century; Alexander H. Wyant, "Landscape and Brook," Winslow Homer, "Lady Sitting at a Rock," $8,000.

Talkie Patents Basis of Litigation

WILMINGTON, Del., July 30. (INS)—General Talking Pictures, Inc., and the De Forest Phonofilms, Inc., filed two suits in the U. S. district court here today seeking an accounting, restoration of property and a permanent injunction charging infringements of 16 patents. The R. C. A. Photophone, Inc., and the R-K-O Radio Pictures, Inc., were named defendants.

The R. C. A. Photophone firm was charged with infringements of six patents most of them for recording and reproducing apparatus invented by De Forest and Dr. Reis and in the showing of talkie films. The R-K-O firm was charged with the infringement of 10 patents, also used in modern motion pictures.

The suits are the outgrowth of a recent decision made here by Judge Hugh M. Morris favorable to the complainant firms.

ALLAN D. MONTGOMERY

SARTIN WINS RUN-OFF PLACE

Montague County Vote Decides Issue

B. D. Sartin was definitely placed in the run-off with Guinn Williams for nomination to congress Wednesday when complete returns from Montague county were received here, leaving only one or two small boxes in Wise county unaccounted for. The completed count for Montague, somewhat reduced Mr. Sartin's lead, but left W. D. McFarlane still in third place, 468 votes behind.

With probably 150 votes uncounted in Wise county, which could in no way affect the present standing of the candidates, the totals for the district Wednesday were: Williams, 15,348; Sartin, 11,468; McFarlane, 11,000; Smith, 4,183.

Murray Holds Big Plurality

by additional returns which gave him slightly less than 40 per cent.

In 906 precincts, Ira A. Hill, state senate party leader, had 17,766 votes as compared to 10,902 for James Harris of Waggoner, former national committeeman, in their contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Rexford B. Cragg, the third candidate, had 2,601 votes. The ratio of Hill's lead indicated his nomination in the first primary.

All congressional incumbents apparently had weathered the first threats against their continued tenure.

Haun Defeated

The touted threat of Carl B. Haun, Blackwell Oil company executive against M. C. Garber, Republican eighth district congressman, melted under returns from 299 of the 470 precincts in the district, which gave Garber 9,196 votes and Haun 4,808. The eighth is the only normally Republican district in the state.

Wesley Disney, Tulsa attorney with a vote of 2,754 was leading in 94 of the first district's 548 precincts in the Democratic congressional race and Henry Craig of Picher was second with 1,729. Charles O'Connor, Republican incumbent, was unopposed.

Democrats had high hopes of retrieving the first and fifth districts which followed the Hoover flock into the Republican fold in 1928. In the fifth district however, it was probable that F. B. Swank, defeated two years ago by Stone, would have to enter a run-off campaign with Gomer Smith, Oklahoma City. Although Swank had a lead of 3,631 over Smith in 308 of the district's 447 precincts, there were six other candidates in the field precluding the possibility of his receiving a clear majority.

G. W. Featherston Dies at Hospital

George W. Featherston, 52, a resident of Wichita Falls for several years, died in a local hospital about 11:30 o'clock Wednesday night following a brief illness which necessitated an emergency operation Tuesday morning in an effort to save his life. The operation was undergone after Featherston's condition had become critical and the efforts of physicians proved unavailing.

The body was taken in charge by the Dalton-Powell Funeral home. Arrangements for funeral services were not made Wednesday night. Mr. Featherston is survived by his widow, the family having resided at 1203 Travis street.

For the past year and a half, Featherston had been from time to time connected with the George H. Hodgins Merchant Police and Private Investigation agency. He spent the early years of his life in Henrietta and was for a time a deputy sheriff at Chickasha, Okla., having also held other positions as a peace officer. During the past year he had also been connected with P. F. Hunter in work in the oil fields at Olney.

Wichita Courts Plan August Vacation

While district courts in Wichita county remain idle during the month of August, the 30th district court will be convened Monday in Archer City by Judge Allan D. Montgomery for a four-weeks term in which criminal cases scheduled for trial will be called on the docket, according to an announcement at the courthouse here Wednesday.

An agreement was formed between the district judges and attorneys by which a general court vacation during August will be observed here. No jury panel has been summoned for the month. Courts included in the vacation agreement are the 78th and 89th district courts, with Judges W. W. Cook and P. A. Martin on the respective benches. The court session for the 30th district opening Monday in Archer county will last until Aug. 30, Judge Montgomery said.

Judge Given Prison Term

Brooklyn Magistrate Gets 12 Years for Fraud

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—W. Bernard Vause of Brooklyn, former Kings county judge, was sentenced today to six years in prison on federal conviction for using the mails to defraud in connection with the affairs of the bankrupt Columbia Finance corporation.

Federal Judge Coxe imposed sentences of five years each, to run concurrently, on the former judge on each of 12 counts of mail fraud and one year on a conspiracy county, to be served when the mail fraud term is served.

Solomon Cruso, former president of Columbia Finance, was sentenced to two years on each of 13 counts, the terms to run concurrently, and Abraham Rayman and Joseph P. Barmak were sentenced to a year and a day, sentences running concurrently, on each of 13 counts.

Harry Cruso, found guilty on the conspiracy count, was placed on probation for two years.

Samuel Schuchman, principal defendant convicted with Vause, was sentenced to two to five years on six fraud counts, and two years on the conspiracy conviction. The total term he will serve will be about five years.

Rites Today For Victim of River

Last rites for Lem Gibbons, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gibbons of 2202 Broad street, who drowned while swimming in the Wichita river near Thornberry late Tuesday, will be held at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Charlie, Texas. The body will be taken overland to Charlie Thursday morning by the Albert's Funeral home.

The tragedy occurred about eight miles from Thornberry while Gibbons and a few companions were swimming in a deep portion of the river. The young man was in midstream when the current apparently became too strong for him and he went under, after shouting for help. One of his companions, none of whom were strong enough swimmers to rescue him, ran to a nearby house and obtained help. The body was recovered a short time later and the young man was rushed to the Wichita General hospital, where a pulmotor from the Merkle Undertaking company was used in a fruitless attempt to revive his heart action.

Survivors include the parents, five brothers and two sisters.

Lions Club Leaders Win Damage Suit

Dr. R. H. Graham and others won an instructed verdict in their favor Wednesday morning in the 89th district court at the close of the trial of the $5,000 damage suit brought against them by R. L. Elrod on a claim growing out of alleged permanent injuries he claims to have sustained while working at the Municipal zoo here.

Elrod, according to his petition, fell off a nail keg while working as a carpenter on a pigeon coop at the zoo, the fall breaking his arm. Dr. Graham and the other defendants, members of the Lions club, were named as sponsors of the zoo and employers of Elrod. R. O. Kenley represented the defendants.

OLD OFFICIALS TAKE DEFEAT

Jefferson County Puts In New Lineup

Special to The Record News

WAURIKA, Okla., July 30.—Jefferson county will begin the new year with an entirely new set of county officials, those who sought re-election to their offices having met with defeat at the hands of newcomers in the political field, according to the complete count of election returns from the county's various precincts Wednesday.

Even in races where more than two candidates were running, the incumbents failed to obtain enough votes to place them in a run-off with the new office seekers. One unusual feature of the race in this county was the election of a woman, Mrs. Fred Sparkman, to the office of county weigher. Mrs. Sparkman, wife of a former county weigher, won a majority over E. R. Chassin, the incumbent, and Guye Cole sufficient to nominate her to the place without a run-off.

The race for sheriff was the closest in the county, four candidates having been grouped in the first portion of high votes out of a field of 13 candidates. W. N. Vass was high man with 1,029 votes, while his opponent in the run-off will be Linzy Gonza, who drew 882 votes. The present sheriff, S. E. Driskill, received 846 votes, losing a chance to be in the run-off by a small margin. Will Arner, a fourth candidate, obtained 739 votes.

O. O. Peters won an overwhelming majority over his two opponents for county clerk, receiving almost three times as many votes as Dallas McLemore and E. Bartholomew combined.

Lester Wray, with 1,760 votes, and Ward Cashion, with 1,543, will be opponents in the race for county tax assessor, the incumbent, T. B. Leverett, who had held the office for 22 years, having lost the race when he took only 1,293 votes.

J. A. Storey will oppose G. M. Hudson in the run-off for county superintendent Storey having received 2,175 votes and Hudson 1,342. Charles G. Morris, present superintendent and candidate for re-election, dropped out of the race with 1,244 votes.

RICHARDSON WINS OVER MORRIS

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., July 30.—Complete returns from Cotton and Comanche counties show how close a contest was engaged in between R. L. Richardson of Lawton, and Toby Morris of Walters for district judge. Richardson is winner by 113 votes the talley shows.

Chief of Police D. Moncrief and Neal Christian will contest in the run-off for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, Christian led Moncrief by only 37 votes.

County Attorney John W. Tyree was defeated for his second term by Dwight Malcolm. There was much interest in these three contests.

Oil Curtailment Wins Approval

flooded to such an extent that prices would fall to the levels of 1901 when oil sold for 10 cents a barrel.

He also described the probable effect upon tax returns to the state, and proceeds from oil lands to the University of Texas and the state available school fund, should such a condition be allowed to develop.

Recommendations for the several producing sections, which in some cases draw fire from producers in those sections were:

Panhandle, cut from 96,450 barrels present production to 80,000 barrels; North Central Texas, from 74,450 to 69,000; West Central, from 55,700 to 52,000; West Texas from 293,950 to 276,350; Van field, held at present production of 25,000; Southwest Texas, from 72,400 to 66,150; gulf coast from 183,500 to 150,500.

Specific recommendations also were made for each of the pools in these sections.

Two Objectors

Two of the principal objectors were operators of the deep wells in Reagan county and the gulf coast producers.

The owners of the deep wells declared the University of Texas was a partner in their business and regents of the university should be consulted before any proration order was placed in effect. The possibility of injury to the wells was cited, spokesmen declaring these wells cost $250,000 each to sink. A special hearing with testimony from engineers was requested and this was the first of several such requests.

The Yount-Lee interests in the gulf coast field objected strenuously to any attempted proration there on the grounds that the field had a market for all the oil it was producing, and that it was not equitable to attempt to cut heir possible profits to benefit operators in other sections of the state who were handicapped by the lack of demand.

Members of the committee answered with the statement that should the Ector field or others in West and Northwest Texas be turned loose, soon the gulf coast field would not have a market.

The Yount-Lee spokesman, Beman Strong, also charged that it was an attempt to indirectly fix prices, which was beyond the power of the state railroad commission.

Individual Petitions

Among the individual petitions presented was one from the chambers of commerce of Cisco, Ranger and Baird, represented by F. D. Wright of Cisco, who read a resolution asking special consideration for the 7,720 wells in that district with an average daily production of three barrels.

The Independent Petroleum association, which with the Mid-Continent originally asked for the hearing, declined to approve or disapprove the committee's report. Claude Wild, representing this association read from a prepared statement warning the commission that to "summarily accept the special committee's figures" might prove disastrous.

This statement recommended that before the commission acted it endeavor to discover whether there was excessive drilling; who was doing the drilling, and if the pipe line companies were interested in the drilling. It also recommended that the committee determine whether the pipe line companies and other purchasers of Texas oil were importing oil. Wild also expressed the opinion that each field should be given a separate hearing.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 30.—Funeral services were held for Mrs. G. A. Moore, 56, at the First Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock with Rev. W. W. Rivers pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Interment was in the Electra cemetery. Officers Take Ancient Gun From Negro Boys

Three small negro boys with apparently warlike ambitions failed to stage any attacks with their stolen firearms, the ancient vintage of which would probably have prevented much sharp shooting, when they were arrested "with the goods" Wednesday by J. A. McDonald, county juvenile officer. The ancient—but probably one-time trusty—shotgun which they took from a barn near the city was of the old-time double barrel, muzzle loading type and appeared to have gone unfired for at least 40 years. Rust had encrusted the barrel and time had almost rotted the stock, but the trigger action was still intact and the wooden ramrod was still in place under the barrels. Mr. McDonald said the old-timers around here would remember the time when they could shoot deer and wild turkey in the wilds near the present site of the city with one of those old cap-firing guns.

THREE ENTER GUILTY PLEAS

Court Passes Sentence After Trials Here

Three pleas of guilty in district courts here Wednesday brought sentences aggregating four years and one month for persons accused of various offenses, according to information given by Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney.

W. A. Patton, who told Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court that his real name was C. A. Newell, pleaded guilty to a charge of automobile theft, receiving a two-year term in the state penitentiary and by his action exonerating a young man who was charged with the theft at the same time Patton was arrested. Patton, officers said, had refused to talk since his arrest, his silence having been broken when he was taken to the city hall by Charlie Gant, deputy, to be fingerprinted by Jimmy Gonzalez, head of the criminal investigation bureau here. At first Patton smeared the printing ink and would not keep his fingers still in order to make a good print. Finally, Deputy Gant said, the prisoner told of taking the car and admitted what his fingerprints would have shown, that he had been out of the penitentiary only 10 days at the time he stole the car.

C. L. Snyder, charged with driving while intoxicated, entered a plea of guilty and received a 30-day term in the county jail from Judge Allan D. Montgomery in the 30th district court. Clyde York, charged with forgery, also pleaded guilty in the 30th court and was given a two-year suspended sentence.

HOW WHITE IS WHITE?

WE USUALLY think of newly laundered things as pure white. But the truth is that most of the time they are not white at all. Sometimes they are gray, sometimes they are yellow, and sometimes they are even blue. It all depends on the soap.

White things will emerge from washing absolutely white if they are washed with a soap that is absolutely pure. And White King Granulated Soap is pure. No "filler" or foreign matter—nothing but the finest vegetable and nut oils, good enough to eat!

It's economical too! Because White King is condensed, a little of it goes a long way. One teaspoonful in a wash basin, one cupful in the washing machine—plenty, even in hard or lukewarm water. Safe and swift for blankets . . . dishes . . . delicate colored fabrics. Your grocer has it.

Clean the scalp -check DANDRUFF

WHENEVER you wash your hair—and most people do it once a week—douse full strength Listerine on the scalp either before or after the rinse. Then massage the scalp and hair vigorously for several minutes.

You will be simply delighted by the wonderful feeling of cleanness and exhilaration that follows this refreshing treatment.

Moreover, it is unquestionably one of the best treatments for dandruff—for preventing it, and for overcoming it once it has started.

Many hundreds of women have told us that since making Listerine a part of the weekly shampoo, their scalp feels better, their hair looks more attractive, and they are never troubled with dandruff.

Of course, if dandruff does get a start, it will be necessary to repeat the Listerine treatment systematically for several days, using a little olive oil in conjunction with it if the scalp and hair are excessively dry.

Listerine removes and dissolves the dandruff particles and heals and soothes the scalp. Also, if infection is present—and most dermatologists define dandruff as a germ infection—Listerine immediately combats it.

As you know, Listerine kills germs in 15 seconds; even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) yield to it in counts ranging to 200,000,000—yet Listerine is safe to use. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Our "Treaty Navy"
Nature's Upper Hand
The Communist Camp
Good-bye to Carnera

By EMILE GAUVREAU

President Hoover signs the naval treaty, limiting for the first time all types of fighting craft for the United States, Great Britain and Japan. The man on the street will wonder where the word "limit" comes in, now that the United States will have to spend $1,071,000,000 to "build up" to the treaty's provisions. A "treaty navy" will cost plenty, but will not be as satisfactory as our own, which we could have built without foreign dictation.

Nature is cruel when it wants to be. Eighteen deaths occur in one day in the metropolitan area as a result of the heat. At times nature seems to be like an enemy eternally armed. One must be ready to withstand her heat and cold, her winds, her blasts, her epidemics. Nature is gentle only to those who know how to subdue her. Science and experience have taught us this lesson.

Four congressmen, investigating the Communistic menace in America, visit a camp of Communists in Newburgh, N. Y. They expected to find a retreat with the red flag in perpetual wave, and wicked pamphlets read to the chanting of the internationale, and maybe infant Nihilists armed to the teeth. Instead they find poor people enjoying a summer's outing with simple fare and bathing suits. Investigating the moneyed vacationists at the fashionable beach clubs might furnish a more interesting report.

The order from Washington bidding Primo Carnera, the Italian boxer, to quit the country establishes a worthwhile precedent. A so-called fighter who "wins" victories on a foul may be considered undesirable. But don't blame Carnera too much. With thousands of fools ready to pay real money to witness fake exhibitions, there will always be a few Carneras on the horizon to rake in the cash.

The Academy of Medicine in Paris, investigating automobile accidents, finds that the majority of them are directly traceable to poor health of the drivers. Over here the responsibility could be fixed upon poor booze.

Whenever civilization runs out of ideas it goes back to its primitive contemporaries. An expert says that the inspiration for the new dances is derived from the "moochi-moochi" of the natives of Zululand, in darkest Africa. In London they are already teaching this latest craze to the younger generations.

Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, who found time besides running his church to engage in underground politics, fight Al Smith, and gamble in the stock market with a dubious firm, conducted a courtship while all this was going on. Writing to his light of love, he says: "I am in the second cabin again. It will be lonesome. I shall try to sleep and get over the question of what headline I will see staring me in the face every morning."

The good bishop made the headlines. Perhaps his bride will have influence enough to keep him out of the papers.

"There are no cracks in the city structure," says Mayor Walker, in a "graft-must-go" speech, "but there are a few finger marks on the wall." Some people less charitable about it, are being so bold as to call it the handwriting on the wall.

The Best Time to Live

THE "good old days," which are so regarded because we have conveniently—though perhaps, unconsciously—trained our memories to recall only the good things and forget the bad, weren't as good as they are popularly supposed to have been.

You can take this from Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, dean of the supreme court of the United States, who, in his 90th year, finds the complex life of 1930 richer and more interesting than that of 1865 when, already a lieutenant colonel at 23, he left the Union army to pursue a career at law. The venerable jurist gives his opinions in the current issue of the Golden Book magazine.

"When it is said we are too much occupied with the means of living to live, I answer that the chief worth of civilization is that it makes the means of living more complex, that it calls for great and combined intellectual efforts instead of simple, un-co-ordinated ones, in order that the crowd may be fed and clothed and housed and moved from place to place. . . . Because more complex and intense intellectual effort means a fuller and richer life. They mean more life. . . . Life is an end in itself, and the only question of its being worth living is whether you have enough of it."

Though our own experience with life is many, many years less than that of Justice Holmes, we believe as he believes. Our mode of living today calls for greater effort than that of a generation back, but we are compensated with richer and fuller lives. We enjoy more conveniences, comforts, pleasures and opportunities than our grandfathers ever thought possible. True, life is faster, competition is keener, but the compensations therefore are abundant.

Regardless of those who pine for "the good old days," we think there has never been a better time to live than the present. And, in addition, we look to the future for improvement. Our children may pay a greater price for their lives, but the compensation will be commensurate with the increase.

Cruelty to Animals

THE STORIES of dogs who lay shivering in the rain, or crying plaintively under the stars, hugging the slim green mound which held one whom they idolized, took up a good many pages in the old school reading books. Children read them, learning not only the pronunciation of words, but the meaning of loyalty. And dogs are really loyal—more than one has given his life for his master.

We wonder if the man in a distant city who prepared a terrible punishment for a dog the other day didn't know this.

Apparently he didn't. He kept on, throwing more and more dirt into a hole where he had placed the little animal. He packed it harder and harder, until finally the dog was covered, and he couldn't see the eyes. Just the nose was left above the ground.

Then the man went away.

Neighbors, hearing the dog's cries, came, found the nose, and dug the animal out.

The dog had been digging holes in his yard, the owner explained. He had cured other puppies of this habit by burying them in the ground for a time, noses exposed so they could breathe. He was merely trying the same method of punishment and training with this puppy.

It is a little hard to realize that there are people in the world who still viciously inflict suffering on animals. But occasionally we have to wonder if there aren't some people who might profit a little by a few hours of . . . say, burial with merely their noses exposed.

To Spank, or Not to Spank?

ACTING on the impulse, the most natural thing for his dad to do would be to give Billy Jeavons a spanking, but we don't think we would favor that at all.

Billy—in case you have forgotten—is the 11-year-old Cleveland, Ohio, youngster who stowed away in a big passenger plane bound for Detroit. Puzzled by the unwieldiness of his ship, the pilot landed on lake Erie to investigate and discovered Billy hidden in the tail. They couldn't very well drop Billy out in the middle of the lake, so the pilot put him in the cabin with the passengers and carried him on to Detroit, returning him next day.

It would be pretty hard for us to spank Billy for what he did, even though he was foolhardy. For he's shown himself as a boy with plenty of courage—not a namby-pamby sort of kid, but one who probably is going to be a real man with plenty of nerve and courage when he grows up and tackles the problems of the world.

Yes, we are glad it was Billy's dad—not us—who had to make that momentous decision as to whether to spank or not to spank.

Our Invisible Ruler

LEST WE become too proud of ourselves, let us reflect just a moment and consider how puny we really are.

Man has made many advances. He has flown the oceans, built instruments that will carry the human voice around the world, probed the mysteries of the stars, made machines that will do the work of a million slaves and accomplished many other things.

But we are still powerless in the face of a far greater power.

Italy's great earthquake, dealing widespread death and destruction, demonstrates that in the hands of the forces of nature we are as helpless as children, despite all the glorious advances that science and education have made. Something utterly beyond our control may rule our fates and our destinies, and possibly our lives.

In the pattern of the universe, our world is a mere speck. When the forces that lie beyond it all express themselves we realize then how weak and helpless we really are.

WALTER WINCHELL

On Broadway

(Copyright, 1930, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

In the Vernacular

According to a recent number of a monthly, Noah Webster, the big verb and adjective man, who is remembered for his famous corner on words, tossed off without a break in his lexical stride, this definition of the word "slang": "Slang: To use abusive language, to use slang, an insulting word, a new word that has no just reason for being. Origin: Cant of thieves, gypsies, beggars, etc.: new language or words consisting either of new words or phrases in arbitrary senses, and having a conventional but vulgar or inelegant use; also the jargon of a particular calling or class of society; popular cant."

All of which any Broadway peasant might dismiss with: "Mebbeso, but it sounds like a lotta applesauce to me because that mug Webster certainly don't know his groceries." But Mr. Webster, it seems, knew his dictionary. Slang, briefly speaking, is verbal shorthand, a language coined by various groups to crystallize in one word or phrase a frequently needed and complicated meaning. There is army, hobo, railroad, circus, stage, underworld slang and other kinds of argot, but the slang of show business has, perhaps, more color and certainly a wider currency than any other.

Probably because Broadway is where the theatrical business begins (and ends, for most of its followers), it is the slang capital of the world. It is difficult to imagine any other spot on the globe where the citizenry takes so readily to slang, and one suspects that the reason why the articulations of the show business are chiefly in slang, is that most actors were "born in a dressing room" or neglected their schooling to go on the stage. Consequently, they are naturally more accomplished in the art of mimicry than they are in the three R's, and even the youngsters whose parents are stars and can afford special tutors for them, are exposed to the idiom of the theatre long before they begin kindergarten. It is not, therefore, unjust to assume that the majority of show people are no more than semi-literate. The terms in which they evaluate their fellow-men are sufficiently indicated in the gag about the two acrobats who, between performances in a Brooklyn humpity-dumpty, strolled through the residential belt. Observing a plump man slumbering in a porch-hammock, one of them said: "Humph, looka that guy enjoying life. I'll bet he's so ignorant he can't even do a handstand!"

The average member of the show business (and one speaks quite naturally of all Broadway natives in the same breath) would rather perfect his "personality," his specialty or his stage style than achieve an education. When he has developed a dance routine distinguished by hair-raising steps or if able to arouse an audience to gratifying applause with his songs or fables, it does not matter very much whether he can swap conversation with what he calls "highbrows." Hence, his daily commerce is accomplished in the language he understands—slang. He doesn't hope that he "makes good." He hopes that he "clicks." He trusts that he doesn't "flop," "brody" or "lay an egg" meaning that he hopes he will not fail. And when he "wows 'em" or "panics 'em" he has been a hit, and, when a person snubs him he doesn't call that person a snob, a "high hat" or a "ritzy person." He merely decides that he has been "up-staged." The greatest distance from the "apron" back to the rear wall is up-stage, or as far away as you can get from the footlights. Lately, "tall millinery" means "high-hat" also.

T. A. Dorgan (Tad) contributed gracefully to slang of all sorts. He created the famous "Yes, we have no bananas," which later became a popular song, although Tad never drew a cent of royalty from it. Another of his classics was "the ball-and-chain," meaning the wife. Jack Conway was responsible for a lot of current slang, which first appeared in his Variety reviews of vaudeville and burlesque shows. Conway coined such colloquialisms as: "Meet the headache" (meet the wife) . . . "She has plenty of S. A. (plenty of sex appeal) . . . "That's a lotta baloney!" (that's the bunk) . . . "Play the chill" (putting on airs) . . . "They got belly-laughs" (meaning an act that drew abdominal upheavals) and many others that naturally an army will dispute. Variety, incidentally, created the labels "big time" and "small time," differentiating the first-rate circuits.

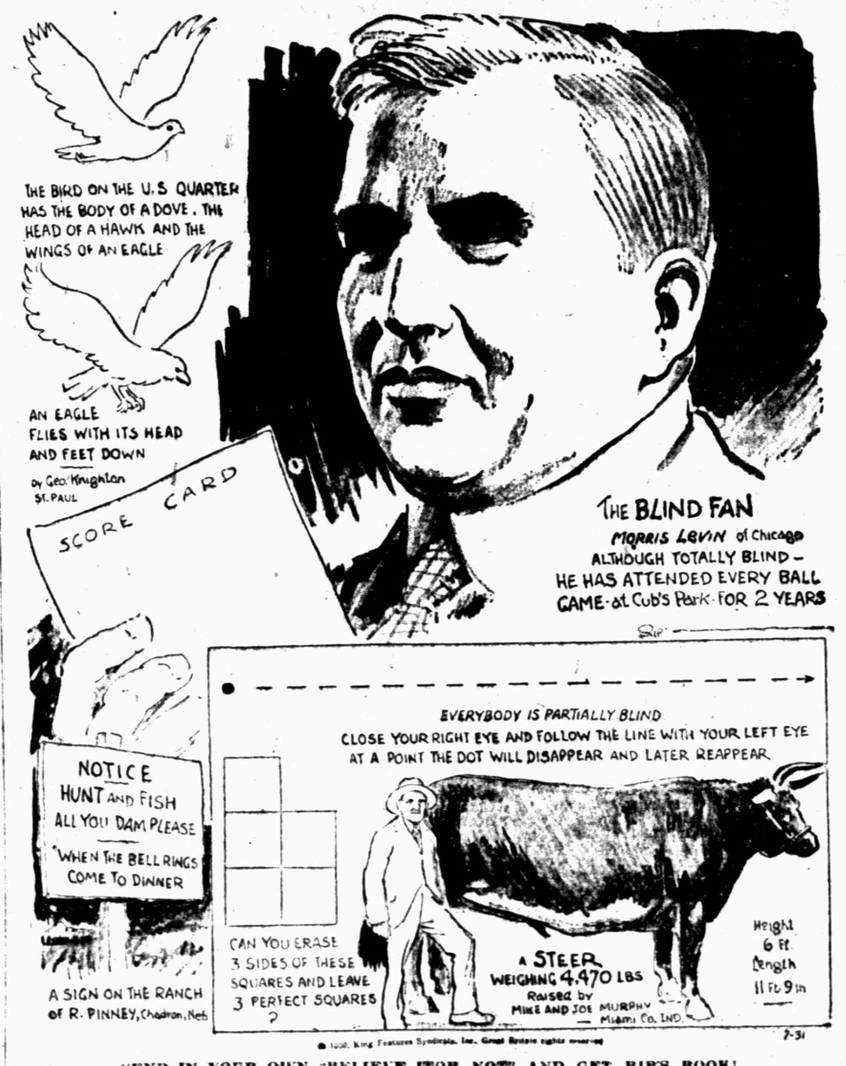

The word "hoofer" is show business for dancer, meaning one who "hoofs"—dances, clogs or uses his pedals. Entertainers who "hoof" used to "hop-the-buck." When Bonnie Glass, the wife of Ben Ali Haggan, first danced at the Palace Theatre in New York she was described (by the famous exploiter, Walter J. Kingsley) on the foyer billboards as a "high-toned hoofer." When her husband first saw that billing he swooned.

There are numerous other word-coiners, but only the names of Damon Runyon, Bugs Baer, Johnny O'Connor, Rube Goldberg, Johnny Stanley, James Gleason, Wilson Mizner, Jefferson Lee (of 47th street) and Tommy Lyman come at the present recording. But there are hundreds of Broadway wisecrackers who rate recognition for pieces of slanguage now famous. "He's a phoney" is Broadwayese for "he isn't on the level—he's a fourflusher," etc . . . "Laughing soup," "canned heat," "giggle water" or "dream sirup" is liquor . . . To "beef" or "squawk" is to complain . . . A "flicker" is a movie . . . When you have the "needles" your nerves are jerky or you've the "heebie-jeebies," the b-j's being a Billy DeBeck creation. "To make whoopee" is to get good and drunk.

A "turkey" is a third-rate show. "Taking him for a ride" is underworld for enticing a person to his death . . . A "rat" or "heel" is a double-crosser or a worthless person . . . A "femme" or "broad" is a girl . . . "Rolled off my knife" is being indifferent to trouble . . . The "run-around" is stalling or failing to keep a promise . . . A "poker-face" is a "dead fan" or a lifeless facial expression, commonly used by card players . . . Abel Green first referred to Broadway as "Mazda Lane," while others call it "Orange Juice Gulch," "The Tungsten Belt," "The Chow Mein Stem," "The Big Artery" or "Coffee Pot Canyon" . . . A "torso-tosser" or "hip-flinger" or "thigh-juggler" is a kooch dancer.

Most of the argot that Broadway invents or borrows is relished and rolled on the tips of main stem tongues, but little of it is comprehensible west of the Hudson or north of Harlem. Some wise-acre once said that a nation without its slang is in the period of decadence. The glory of Greece and the heights of Roman civilization never left slang to posterity. Perhaps, if they had, Caesar's "Commentaries" might not be so difficult to swallow. If the greatest Roman of them all ever said that Cleopatra had "a mess of S. A." history carries no record of it. But hundreds of years later, Will Shakespeare dug up the whole affair and was panned by the critics because he delved into the argot of his day to put it over. Today his slang is the classic of literature. So it may be with Broadwayese.

"STEP-CHILD"

BY ROB EDEN

Kay Smith can remember nothing of her past. Not even her name. She works in the office of Dane Talbot and is in love with him, though he is engaged to Jutie Drew. Believing she is a notorious confidence woman, Kitty Banning, detectives seize Kay and submit her to a gruelling examination. Kay demands photographs of the woman to prove her own innocence.

"See, look at this!" She indicated the card.

CHAPTER XIX

Detective Inspector Ralf was grinning at the girl poring over the pictures. Why she should want them, he didn't know. Sort of a joke when a girl wanted to look at her own pictures. Well, let her have her fill of them. Probably vain—wanted to see if they did her justice.

His grin changed into a frown in the next instant, for Kay toppled off her chair in a faint. Hastily he summoned the matron, and until she arrived, applied such restoratives as he had in the office.

When the matron came, Kay was lying on the table, cold cloths on her head, Ralf rubbing her wrists.

"Funny she should faint like this," he remarked to Grant, puzzled.

"Tuckered out, I guess," the other answered. "Too much for her."

The card with the three pictures had fallen to the floor. Ralf's feet were tramping on it.

Finally Kay opened her eyes, and looked in a dazed unbelieving fashion. So strange. These two men, and the woman. The room, the desk. Where was she? It came back to her then, all the nightmare she had been through that evening . . .

The pictures . . . Her lips formed the words, but neither Ralf nor Grant understood.

"Pictures," she managed to say audibly at last. Her head ached terribly, and the room was whirling around now. She sat up on the table, and looked vaguely around.

"Yes," Ralf glanced around, then retrieved the card from the floor. "This what you want?"

Kay jerked it away from him, and looked at it again. "I could not see before—it was so blurred, and then I must have fainted—" Now she was studying it eagerly, looking closely at one picture, then the other, and the last. One front face, one left profile, the other right. Crude, stark pictures, not softened at all. Police pictures. The face in full relief.

A wild surge of joy shot through Kay. She could not speak, suddenly could not see. She wasn't Kitty Banning!

She turned her eyes from the card to Ralf. "You see—" but the rest of the words wouldn't come, so she pointed to the pictures. Ralf smiled tolerantly.

"See what, Kitty?"

"I'm not Kitty Banning!" There, she had said it! Her eyes were bright, too bright under their rings of dull blue black. A flush of color flooded her cheeks.

"Not so fast, Kitty!" A hard brittle light showed in Ralf's eyes again, the light that had been there when he questioned her. "You can't renege on this confession!"

But she wasn't afraid of him now. She had proof.

"See, look at this!" she indicated the card. Ralf ignored her gesture. He was facing her belligerently.

"You can't get away with this!"

"Please, her voice quivered with anxiety, and her fingers shook as she still held out the pictures. "You must look—you must believe me. This girl, Kitty Banning, if this is her likeness, isn't I. Can't be. Don't you see? Are you blind?"

Something in her desperation, her appeal moved Ralf to take the pictures and look at them. Soon he was studying them carefully, Kay peering over his shoulder.

Relief

Yes, the girl was like her, very much like her. The blonde wavy hair, the large brown eyes—except that Kitty Banning's were a trifle closer set than Kay's. The same shape to the face.

At first glance the photographs might have been Kay. At second they were not.

Kitty Banning's nose tilted a little. Kay's was straight, well sculptured. A fleeting, direct likeness. Indeed the two girls might have been sisters so close was the resemblance. Even twin sisters.

Ralf's eyes were now on Kay, now on the card. He was not so sure of himself. The eyes, the hair. Suddenly, he twisted Kay's head in profile, and then laid the card on his desk, silently.

"You have my apologies, Miss Smith. My sincere apologies. You're a dead ringer for Kitty Banning—but you aren't Kitty. The front view—it's almost identical, but the profile is different, I'm sorry." He was genuinely affected. Kay felt sorry for him herself, as he stood there, ill at ease, playing with an ink well on his desk. His eyes would not meet hers.

Kay's shoulders swung back. Her fatigue seemed to have left her. She felt refreshed, rejuvenated. She knew now. There would be no more guessing, no more uncertainty. The one thing that mattered. She wasn't Kitty Banning. She didn't know how wrought up, how worried she had been until now—when she knew definitely that she wasn't Kitty Banning, that she had never known Jim Whalen, that hovel in Langly, Mickey. . . .

"You can make a lot of trouble for me, Miss Smith," Ralf said slowly. "It's all my fault—I should have had the pictures in the beginning. You always think of those things too late. But I was positive you were Kitty Banning. As positive now as I am you're Kay Smith, as you said you were. I interviewed Kitty two years ago, had her in this office for an hour. Until she pulled a fast one on us, and skipped, when we were least expecting it. I would have sworn when you came in that you were Kitty. Your looks, your voice, everything had you as Kitty. Even the pictures—unless you examined them closely you won't find much difference. It's amazing. I don't understand it.

"And as I said, you can make a lot of trouble for me—" Then it was she felt his age, for he looked very old as he stood before her, his hair gray, deep lines etched in his face.

"I'm not saying a word to anyone about this — night," she exclaimed. "I'm happier by far than when I came in. At least I know I'm not Kitty Banning—"

"I don't understand—"

"I know you won't, and I'm not going to tell you. Something I want from you, though, something I must have."

"Anything, Miss Smith," wearily he answered her.

"Those pictures."

"You may have them — or if there are no more copies now, I'll send them to you—" He consulted Grant who promised that she should have copies as soon as they could be made.

A sharp knock on the door. Ralf

He quarreled with the other members of the council, and with Capt. John Smith in particular. The Record News Offers A Booklet on Desserts

The recipes given in this booklet have been collected from many famous hostesses, including women who are or have been prominent in the official circles of the nation's capital. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, for example, tells how she makes butter scotch pie, and Mrs. Emily Newell Blair gives her recipe for Missouri lemon pie. There are scores of equally interesting recipes for pies, puddings, cakes, cookies, doughnuts, assorted desserts, and salads, and the booklet is one that should be in every kitchen cabinet.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We were told by a person of authority only Wednesday that if we wouldn't think about the weather it wouldn't seem half so warm.

But how can one help thinking of it when perspiration runs into the eyes and blinds her enough to keep her from knowing half she writes on the typewriter?

◆ ◆ ◆

We have repeated over and over to ourselves "It is not warm," and it has had no more power over our temperature than thought had over our toothache, try as hard as we did with that.

◆ ◆ ◆

We have not yet reached the pleasant point where we can convince our mind that we have no body.

◆ ◆ ◆

We have even heard darkies complain. Though today, as we passed a barber shop, we saw a colored boy sitting comfortably on a high stool with his head hanging on his chest as he snored. We watched a moment, expecting to see him tumble, but there was not a change in his movement.

◆ ◆ ◆

We fear there will not be much longer any "garden flowers." we are glad that florists can still care for them and bring them to blossom.

◆ ◆ ◆

We can imagine nothing more deplorable than to have things decorated with paper flowers. Making paper flowers is, nine times out of ten, making terrible mockeries of nature and they remind us somehow of "graven images."

◆ ◆ ◆

We used the wrong word in the preceding paragraph. We said "decorated." We have never yet seen paper flowers used when they really were decorations.

◆ ◆ ◆

Never mind, we start Sunday for a country where our memory tells us of pastures green and flowers in abundance. If we do not find them, we may become morose.

◆ ◆ ◆

But we can understand now how this state is one of men who won't give up. They face the winds and drouths and the too heavy rains with the same valiant spirit.

◆ ◆ ◆

Not only men. We met just now a mere girl in years—a graduate of the high school here and then of the T. I. A., who has climbed high for a girl of her age.

◆ ◆ ◆

One of her friends told us of her. She said that she was secretary in the offices of Hughes, Schurmann & Dwight, in New York, N. Y., and draws down a man's size salary.

◆ ◆ ◆

You may know Alice Copeland. It takes bravery for a girl to go from where she has friends to a strange city and though ever so lonely at times, to make good. And she has made good.

◆ ◆ ◆

The men of our family have always expressed a strong preference for red hair. Miss Copeland has lovely red hair. And when you count those you know, do you not find that most people with red in their hair, are men and women who stick to a thing until they have made a success?

Wife Is Lucky To Have Hubby Who Reads, Says D. Dix

Can Wife Cure Her Husband of a Love of Reading? What Are a Crippled Girl's Chances of Marriage? Foolish Children Who Plan to Marry to Escape School.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married for 22 years to a husband who is in most ways pleasant and obliging, but who has one fault that irritates me very much. He persists in sitting in the corner with either a book or magazine or a paper and when he becomes absorbed in what he is reading it is impossible to move him to conversation or even to get him to answer questions of the most commonplace sort. Please tell me what I shall do in order to cure him of this boresome habit.

—MRS. A.J.

Answer—Why, Mrs. A. J., if I had a husband whose only fault was a love of reading, I should be down on my knees thanking God for having given me such a treasure instead of complaining of my lot. Why, woman, you don't know when you are well off!

Suppose, instead of sitting in the corner of an evening, that he was off running the streets? Suppose, instead of being absorbed in a book, that he had ears and eyes only for some flapper about half your age and who had half your weight? Then you would have cause to worry.

Believe me, sister, as long as a man stays put by his own fireside of an evening and takes his romance vicariously in novels, his wife is a lucky woman.

If you are so keen on talking and can't get any other audience and if there are any particular questions you wish to ask him, why don't you make a bargain with him?

Tell him that if he will give you a half hours's talkfest just after dinner every night you won't interrupt his reading. That will appeal to his sense of justice. Also, he will see a means of buying peace, and I will bet you my new hat that he will agree to the arrangement.

But if he doesn't, why not find some one else to talk to? You have neighbors and friends and there is always the ever-useful telephone over which you can converse.

Perhaps you will say that these do not take the place of a husband and you feel that it is his duty to entertain you. So it is, to a certain extent, but you must consider his rights in the matter, too, and that he is as much entitled to spend his evening reading as you are to spend yours talking.

It always strikes me as curious that women never seem to think that man has any rights and privileges in the home that he spends his life toiling to support. It is only the exceptional man who ever has a room of his own that he can furnish as he likes and in which he can do as he pleases. It is only the exceptional man who even has a closet or chiffonier of his own. Generally speaking, anything is good enough for hubby and any old hook will hold his clothes.

Nor does the wife realize that the evenings are her husband's only time of relaxation and that during the few hours when he is free of the grind of his daily labor he must get rest and refreshment of body and soul if he is to go on with his job.

If she did she wouldn't save up all the odd jobs for him to do at night. She wouldn't begrudge him an evening off now and then and she wouldn't take the book away from him that he wanted to read.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a girl 21 years old. My mother died when I was 13 and I have not been happy since because I am crippled. My sisters call me an old maid and say no man will marry me because I am lame, although I am prettier than they are. When any man tries to talk to me they say that he is just making a fool of me. Do you think a man could ever fall in love with a crippled girl?—C. G.

Answer—Why not? If a man is big and fine and noble, he will be looking at your mind and heart, which are straight and beautiful, and not at your poor, deformed foot. As a matter of fact, I know two or three lame women who are married to splendid husbands.

I think your sisters must be as cruel as the wicked sisters in the fairy tale and that you are far luckier than they because they are lame in their souls, while you are lame only in body.

But facts are facts, C. G., and it seems to me that the brave thing to do and the wise thing to do is to look them squarely in the face instead of shutting our eyes to them.

It is foolish to deny that men require far more physical perfection from women than women do from men and that they are far more repulsed by any bodily defect in a woman than a woman is in a man.

Because a man is ballheaded or fat does not keep a girl from liking his attentions or falling in love with him, but any girl who was fat and ballheaded would never get an invitation from a man to go anywhere. Still less would she ever get a proposal of marriage.

All of us know women who have married men who are hunchbacked or blind and deaf and dumb or who have been terribly maimed because the women could see the splendid heart and soul and brain that was housed in the poor, battered body. But you seldom hear of a man marrying a woman who is greatly afflicted.

So, while you are not predestined to be an old maid because of your lameness, it is undoubtedly true that you will have fewer chances to marry than if you had two good dancing feet.

Therefore, I would advise you to think as little as possible about love and matrimony and to fit yourself to make a good, independent living for yourself. If you do that you will have something to interest you, money to be comfortable and independent on and you can live a happy life whether you marry or not.

Then, if Mr. Right comes along, well and good, and if he doesn't you will not have lost out.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—We are two very troubled schoolgirls, aged 15 and 16. We are very much in love with two boys who are 17 and 19, and we are thinking of getting married because we are all so tired of going to school. What do you advise us to do? —MAUD AND MARY.

Answer—I advise you not to try the experiment of jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, because if you do you will surely get badly burned.

You are tired of going to school. Believe me, my children, you will get a lot more tired of matrimony if you undertake it at your tender age. School lasts only a few years, but marriage is forever, unless you go through the horror of divorce. Your school hours are short hours, but marriage is a 24-hour job, with no holidays and off days for a wife and mother.

You think that marriage is a picnic. Look at your own mother. Isn't mother up before anybody else in the morning and isn't she the last to go to bed at night? Isn't she the one who does the hard chores? Isn't she the one who stays at home when everybody else goes on excursions? Isn't she the one who has the shabbiest clothes and bears the heaviest burdens?

Don't be in a hurry to understudy mother. Don't make the mistake of thinking that matrimony is a soft snap and don't be foolish enough to ruin your life in its beginning by marrying another silly kid. The whole four of you ought to be spanked and sent to bed without your suppers for even talking about getting married.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Two Greathouse Students Have Movie Offers

Two students of the Greathouse Conservatory of Music have definitely been promised parts in a movie production to be screened within a year, it is announced.

During two months in the summer, when Miss Dorothy Greathouse and a group of her pupils were in California, an audition was secured with one of the leading directors. The audition, it is stated, was a decided success and was followed by a screen-test as well as a microphone and wax tests.

The director was enthusiastic concerning the poise and stage presence of the pupils and much interested in their development professionally while Miss Greathouse was also producing lovely voices.

Students whom Miss Greathouse considers have unusual talent may secure auditions or tests. The conservatory has made the connection which will assure an entree into films.

Ed Reeder of Wichita Falls is one of the students who sang in Los Angeles theaters and was offered several contracts. He will return later to Los Angeles, it is announced, to take part in a production which will be produced in the near future.

New Way Closes Ugly Pores

—blackheads disappear!

Whenever I see a face that would be beautiful—if it weren't for disgustingly large pores, blackheads and oily skin that spoil make-up—I feel sorry.

For out in Hollywood they have a wonderful recipe for a lotion that so easily corrects these flaws and quickly makes the skin nice and smooth.

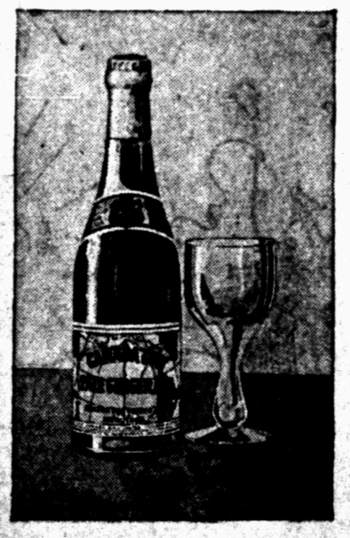

The very minute you put it on the face and neck it gets down deep into the skin and cleans out the dirt. It removes blackheads, closes the pores and erases tiny tell-tale wrinkles. Soon the skin becomes silken in texture, youthfully fresh and healthy. There is no oiliness to fight or perspiration to damage make-up and make you look done-in.

Just get 3 ounces of Orchard White from any druggist, mix it with the juice of 2 lemons and you have a full quarter-pint of a lotion far finer and more effective than any special soap, cream or liquid you have ever used.

Note: In the summer this Hollywood recipe keeps the skin free of freckles and guards against that leathery look caused by wind and sun.

Girls made excuses to avoid dancing with him

—until he ended 'B.O.' (Body Odor)

THE HOT NIGHT was just an excuse. She couldn't tell him the real reason. It was far too personal. She couldn't bring herself to mention body odor, even by its polite nickname, "B.O."

Fortunately his uncle, a physician, was more frank. On from the West for a visit, the first in years, he soon sized up the situation—had a talk with his nephew . . . No more "B.O." now—no more polite snubs or unexplained business setbacks. He enjoys a warm welcome from friends—steady advancement in his work—since he learned the easy way to avoid offending.

"Warmer tomorrow"—beware "B.O."

Hot, sticky, perspiry days—sultry nights—no one is safe from "B.O." Don't think you are because you don't notice it. We seldom do in ourselves, because we so quickly become used to an ever-present odor. But others instantly notice it.

Why risk offending—ever? The remedy is so simple, so sure. Adopt Lifebuoy as your toilet soap. Enjoy its cooling, refreshing, antiseptic lather, so abundant even in hardest water. It washes away stickiness and fatigue—leaves you "fresh as a daisy", pores purified, every trace of "B.O." gone. HEALTHFUL COOKING
Continued

Broiling, grilling and roasting are much alike, and consist in cooking food by direct radiation in an unconfined atmosphere so that the steam is allowed to escape. Broiling and grilling are used for the small cuts of meat, and roasting for the large joints. These three processes aim at quickly coagulating the surface of the meat so that the interior juices are locked in, and those which do escape are used to baste the meat to prevent drying. Because of the high temperature on the surface of the meat, a particularly tasty substance is produced which gives the delightful flavor.

Salisbury steak when broiled has a peculiarly fine flavor. Overbroiling the meat should be avoided, or it will taste scorched, but if it is properly basted this can be avoided.

Grilling

When grilling, the cuts are cooked quickly and it is necessary to use more tender and expensive meats. Fish, small steaks, chops and bacon may be done in this way. The food is put under the hot flame or over the hot coals and seared on both sides. It is frequently turned to insure even cooking, and a chop may be cooked in nine minutes in this way, while a steak takes no more than 10 to 15 minutes. This process of broiling or grilling is used for meat which is cut flat and not too thick.

Steaming

Steaming is one of the most valuable methods of cooking that may be used for vegetables, for it retains their full flavor. The use of the heavy aluminum cooking vessels for this purpose is very satisfactory, as they distribute the heat evenly over the interior to prevent scorching. There are also regular steamers which may be used to prepare vegetables. This method preserves all of the flavors and juices as well as the mineral elements which may be partially destroyed by prolonged intensive heat.

Fireless cooking is a very fine method of preparing food which is not used as extensively as it might be. It is a process of very slow cooking at a moderate temperature and can be used for either meats or vegetables. Often very tough meat or chicken can be made very tender if it spends six or eight hours in the fireless cooker.

Cooks can avoid monotony in the preparation of their foods if they will learn to use these different methods. The same foods when prepared by boiling, stewing, baking, frying or steaming may assume an entirely different flavor and appearance with each method. I am sure that there need be no monotony in preparing wholesome foods if a little thought is given to their preparation.

Cooks may be among the greatest helpers of mankind if they really learn the dietetic principles as well as the science and arts of cookery. I am pleased to know that cooks are taking more of an interest in the pietetic principles, and the time may yet come when cooks will serve properly prepared foods in wholesome combinations so that the average person may not need to worry so much about foods and their proper selection.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Enlarged Joints

Question—Mrs. E. K. G. writes: "The joints of my fingers are becoming enlarged and ache at times. Am I getting rheumatism? Are there any special foods I could eat to prevent it? My mother is troubled with the same thing, and says it is hereditary."

Answer: You are developing a form of rheumatism known either as arthritis or arthritis deformans. In my opinion the cause is due primarily to the absorption of poisons from the colon. See that your bowels are kept open with two or three bowel movements a day, even if you must take laxatives or enemas. There is no special food which causes rheumatism, but the cause is only from bad mixtures of food and a sluggish colon.

Gaining Weight

Question—E. J. writes: "I would like to know the easiest way to gain weight."

Answer: Gaining weight is not an easy matter. It is first necessary for you to recover the functional cause of your thinness. One thing certain, you cannot gain weight and be healthy by using any stuffing process. You must first of all get well, and your weight will then gradually come to the normal.

Pyorrhea

Question—A. J. asks: "What causes pyorrhea, and what is the cure?"

Answer: Pyorrhea is caused by an infection of the gums which have been irritated from hyperacidity of the stomach. In addition to following a correct fasting and dieting regime (instructions for which I send you upon receipt of self-addressed stamped envelope) you should brush your teeth night and morning with lemon juice diluted with water, rinsing your mouth afterward with water in which a small amount of bicarbonate of soda has been dissolved.

Turkish-Persian Rift Caused by Kurd Drive

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 30. (AP)—Relations between Turkey and Persia have been disturbed by the Turkish campaign against Kurdish outlaws in the region of Mount Ararat. An authoritative Angora source today disclosed a demand from Persia that Turkey pay an indemnity for the alleged penetration of Persian territory by Turkish forces.

Editorially the official newspaper Milliett says:

"Turkey is determined to defend even at the price of its blood the revolution and the republic which she created at the same price. No political or individual consideration can deviate us from this supreme determination. Those who commit hostile acts against us had better learn this truth without delay."

Davison Begins Tour Of Army Air Fields

WASHINGTON, July 30. (AP)—F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war for aeronautics took off today for Montgomery, Ala., on the first leg of a 10,000 mile aerial inspection tour of army air fields.

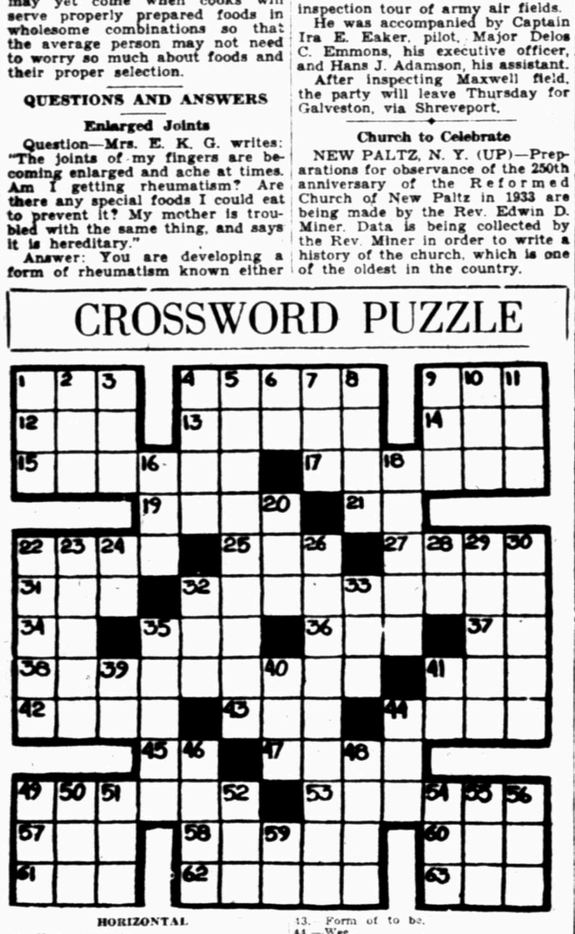

He was accompanied by Captain Ira E. Eaker, pilot, Major Delos C. Emmons, his executive officer, and Hans J. Adamson, his assistant.

After inspecting Maxwell field, the party will leave Thursday for Galveston, via Shreveport.

Church to Celebrate

NEW PALTZ, N. Y. (UP)—Preparations for observance of the 250th anniversary of the Reformed Church of New Paltz in 1933 are being made by the Rev. Edwin D. Miner. Data is being collected by the Rev. Miner in order to write a history of the church, which is one of the oldest in the country.

SPUDDERS LOSE OPENING NIGHT GAME WITH HOUSTON, 12 TO 5

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

A little cussing now and then bolsters up the best of men. The other day we remonstrated with fans hereabouts concerning their timidity in discussing the Spudders in print. In short, we wanted them to come across and give their opinion as to who is the fastest runner between the plate and first.

The little admonition brought immediate results. What happened proved that our fans take a great interest in the team, of course, but that they hesitate to break down and let the other fellow know it. As R. A. Parrott, of the Continental Supply company, says in a letter, they are "waiting for the other fellow to voice his opinion."

Mr. Parrott, after due apologies, joined in the contest and wrote this interesting letter:

"Dear Rambler:

Have just finished reading your Rambler's Corner in The Record News, and note what you have to say in regard to the contest among the fans to pick the fastest Spudder in the chase from the plate to first base.

Guess I was just like every one else, i. e., waiting for the other fellow to voice his opinion. It wasn't that I was not interested, and I believe this applies to every one else in Wichita Falls.

I believe that Jack Crouch is the fastest man between home and first, and if you don't watch him he will make a triple out of a single."

Others sent in their answer Wednesday. Coyal Francis, of the Texas Electric Service company, had this to say:

"Dear Rambler:

In regard to your contest as to who is the fastest runner from home plate to first base, I wish to state my choice is Mr. Garland Orr, the utility outfielder for the Spudders."

And then H. R. Chamberlain, of the Continental Supply, etc., shot this up:

"Dear Rambler:

In your contest as to who is the fastest runner between home and first base on the Spudder team, wish to advise that after due and careful consideration have come to the conclusion that Bettencourt is entitled to this honor."

It's looking more interesting every day, mates. Everybody seems to have a different idea about these fast-stepping Spudders. The more the merrier. Send in your choice to the old Rambler and let's have some fun out of this thing. When the team comes back from the road trip, Harry Van Emden and myself are going to start amassing statistics on the problem. Van has a stop watch and knows how to use it. We'll time every man on the team—that is, Van will—and I'll stand loyally at his side with pencil and take the figgers down. Then we'll award a prize to the fan coming closest to the true answer.

Wednesday the Spudders lost temporarily one of their most loyal fans. Mrs. Wayland Sandford, wife of the well-known attorney, departed for Duluth, Minn., on a month's vacation. In a coupla weeks Mr. Sandford himself will journey to far-away Minn. How the team will get along without these two we cannot say. Mrs. Sandford is in her reserved seat for nearly every game, and whenever he has time off from the office Mr. Sandford is at her side. Both have seen the boys in the big leagues play, but they claim they get just as many thrills watching the Williamsmen.

Incidentally, Mrs. Sandford's patronage at the ball park is another testimonial for baseball as a pleasant recreation for people who lead busy lives. Mrs. Sandford is a writer of national reputation. Her "copy" is in demand by the best magazines in the country. And she has two cute little daughters to take care of. In between writing short stories and novels and cooking spinach, etc., she takes an intelligent interest in the Spudders. She knows every player at sight and has a fair estimate of the ability of each. And Jack Burns is her favorite player.

She's gone now, but she'll be back for the last, furious games of the season.

Jack Crouch, ill and disabled, has been put on the 30-day suspended list, and Claude Robertson has been placed on the active list, Guy Airey, Spudder secretary, announced Wednesday. Jack has left the team and should be in town today for a much-needed rest. The team will miss his hitting and the sparkle he puts into the catcher's job. But he will be back in the game before long, since the player limit is to be removed Aug. 9. As soon after that date as he is able to don the mask he will be back on duty.

Roadsters Lose in Tenth To Fort Worth Nine

The Seymour Roadsters, sandlot champions of Wichita Falls, met with defeat Tuesday afternoon at Fort Worth when they encountered Mallow's Stars, one of the best sandlot nines in the Panther City. The Wichitans however, bore marks of battle when they returned here, as they kept the Stars at bay for nine innings, finally losing in the 10th, 6 to 5. Score:

WILTSE HIT HARD IN SIXTH

Stoner Breaks Strikeout Record at Santone

HOUSTON, July 30. (AP)—Four hits and a base on balls and two double steals in the sixth inning tonight spelled doom for the Spudders, the Houston Buffs scoring four runs in that frame to start a rally that was climaxed in the ninth by the scoring of four more. The victim in the sixth inning was Hal Wiltse, who was ineffective under the lights. Wiltse was relieved by Lester White, who in turn was jerked for Hillin in a desperate attempt to regain the lead the visitors held in the early part of the game.

STRIKEOUT STONER STOPS TRIBE, 5 TO 1

SAN ANTONIO, July 30. (AP)—Lil Stoner, the Panther pitcher of no-hit fame, stood the Indians completely on their heads with a brilliant strikeout performance here tonight, Fort Worth winning the opening game of the series, 5 to 1.

The 18 strikeouts broke the modern Texas league record. Willie Mitchell, San Antonio hurler, struck out 19 Galveston batters in 1909.

Stoner allowed two hits, both by Flippen and struck out 18 men during the game, five in a row twice, and retired the side in the second and seventh on strikeouts.

Ballew, Joe Moore and Carson whiffed three times.

The Indians filled the bases in the last frame, but got nowhere with such pitching as Stoner was feeding them. Score:

WACO, Texas, July 30. (AP)—In 13 stormy innings the Dallas Steers nosed out the Waco Cubs here tonight, 6 to 5. Defeats Diegel

Tommy Armour, Detroit, won the Canadian open golf championship Wednesday in a 36-hole playoff with Leo Diegel, defending champion.

ARMOUR WINS CANADA'S OPEN

Scotch Stylist Beats Leo Diegel in Play-Off

ANCASTER, Ont., July 30. (AP)—Tommy Armour, great Scotch stylist, today won the open golf championship of Canada, by defeating Leo Diegel, unorthodox American pro, 138 strokes to 141 in a 36-hole play-off for the title.

In the championship proper at 72 holes last week the two pros tied with scores of 277, Armour turning in a sensational 64 on his last round to 67 for Diegel.

The scoring today was higher, Armour making the two rounds in 69 each, a stroke under par for each 18, while Diegel, after keeping pace with his friend in the morning, slumped to 72, two over par, in the afternoon.

Diegel faltered at the 11th hole of the afternoon round, the 29th hole of the day, when he took seven, three over par, while Armour holed out in the conventional four. The three strokes gained here marked Armour's margin of victory.

This hole proved the nemesis of Johnny Farrell Saturday and today it cost Diegel the title he had won four times. Leo hooked his drive into bushes, took two strokes to go 10 yards coming out, was short with his approach and finally on the green in five, took two putts. Armour, in the meantime, drove straight and true, sent his second on the green, and holed out in two putts for his par.

Diegel won the championship last year with a great 274 and Armour was the runner-up, two strokes behind.

Griffiths Wins Over Tom Heeney

QUEENSBORO STADIUM, Long Island City, July 30. (UP)—"Tuffy" Griffiths of Sioux City, Iowa, scored a technical knockout over Heeney, the so-called "Hard Rock" from New Zealand in the final round of a 10-round bout here tonight.

Griffiths weighed 187; Heeney 205½.

Griffiths had Heeney all but out in the ninth round, the bell saving the Anzac.

When the bell for the 10th round sounded, Griffiths danced madly into the center of the ring. Not so Heeney. He was dazed and after taking one step toward the center of the ring he turned back and faced his corner. Referee Arthur Donovan held Griffiths away until Heeney indicated he did not care to go on.

The outcome seemed inevitable in view of the proceedings up to the end of the ninth. Griffiths led practically all of the way.

Heeney had a shade in the first round when he planted several hard blows and the next two rounds were virtually even. Tuffy, however, piled up an overwhelming margin of points and would have been an easy choice for the decision had the bout gone the limit.

Heeney got over one strong right to the head in the first minute of the bout. This made the Sioux City boy sit down on the ropes. He sprang right up, however, in no way damaged.

YANKS WIN PAIR

BOSTON, July 30. (AP)—The New York Yankees slugged their way to a pair of victories over the Red Sox today, but it took them 10 innings of the first game to get started. George Pipgras pitched a good game in the second contest and New York won, 10 to 1. Scores:

Buckley Murder Probe Takes New Tangent

DETROIT, July 30. (AP)—The theory that radio Announcer Jerry Buckley was slain because of his promise to expose law violators in the suburb of Hamtramck formed the basis of a new police investigation tonight.

The new theory of Buckley's assassination was based on the radio announcer's statement that he would take up the Hamtramck situation in the near future. Hamtramck, completely surrounded by Detroit, has reproduced in miniature the political and criminal upheavals of the metropolis.

According to a Norwegian scientist, wireless waves travel more than a million miles from the surface of the earth and are then reflected back by a layer of electricity.

(UP)—The alleged unfair action the National Boxing association took in regard to Primo Carnera, Italian fighter, prompted the withdrawal of Nebraska from the association and the resignation of Ira Vorhies, Nebraska athletic commissioner, as treasurer of the national association.

The resignation and withdrawal of Nebraska from the association have been accepted by Stanley Isaacs, president of N. B. A., Vorhies announced late today.

"I do not believe that Carnera has been suspended legally by the National Boxing association, as he has not been given a hearing and found guilty of breaking any of the rules and regulations of any state which is a member of the national association," Vorhies declared.

Vorhies criticized Isaacs for not making public the charges that were investigated regarding Carnera, and for not having the members of the association vote on the suspension of Carnera.

"Even though the Nebraska commission was threatened with suspension if it allowed the Beare-Wright-Carnera fight to be held in Omaha, owing to the fact that Carnera was suspended by the National Boxing association, Carnera has been allowed to box four or five exhibitions in the state of Ohio, the home of Isaacs, since this commission received the notificaton regarding indefinite suspension of the fighter," Vorhies said.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—A break of about $1.00 per bale in cotton prices here today under a renewal of liquidation combined with southern and local selling, carried the market into new low ground for the season. Failure of bullish features in the weather and crop news to stimulate more aggressive buying may have accounted for some of the selling while weakness in other commodity markets was considered a contributing factor. The new October contract sold off to 12.30 or 23 points net lower and closed at 12.34 with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 15 to 20 points.

The new December contract sold off to 12.50 and March to 12.80, while May declined to 12.87, making net declines of about 17 to 23 points on the active months. Considerable trade buying was in evidence around 12.50 for December and 13.00 for May. This steadied the market, but the selling continued and closing quotations were within 2 to 4 points of the lowest.

Showers were reported at eight or nine stations in Texas, and the forecast was for showers in South Texas, which some traders here thought might possibly foreshadow changing weather conditions.

Liverpool cables said covering in that market had been supplied by realizing and reported sales of cotton cloths to China, with India business at a standstill. Exports today 9,261, making 6,824,160 so far this season. Port receipts 6,717. U. S. port stocks 1,558,706.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 30. (AP)—The cotton market worked lower today in moderate active trading. The weather continued to be the dominating influence. The opening was 5 to 9 points down despite favorable Liverpool cables. Although there was a prompt rally of 6 to 10 points on covering, the market soon eased off again and around mid-session showed losses of 18 to 20 points. This decline was attributed to rains in South Texas. The market continued to ease off slowly in the late trading, making new lows 23 to 24 points below the highs but rallied at net points at the end. The general market closed steady at net losses for the day of 16 to 18 points. Liverpool came in about as due. First trades showed losses of 5 to 9 points on drouth fears but prices promptly rallied on covering October advancing to 12.68 and December to 12.75 or 6 to 10 points up from the early lows.

Prices soon weakened however on private reports of Texas rains later confirmed by the weather map and the detailed weather reports and although the weekly weather report was bullish prices gradually eased off until October traded down to 12.38 and December to 12.57 or 18 to 20 points from the highs. After making new lows in the late trading 23 to 24 points below the highs with October at 12.34 and December at 12.52 prices rallied a few points from the lowest and closed 16 to 18 points net lower for the day.

Port receipts 8,476, for week 22,304, for season 8,695,762, last season 9,550,883. Exports 7,443, for week 14,413, for season 6,641,148, last season 7,936,353. Port stock 1,569,582, last year 533,691. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 32,153, last year 80,807. Spot sales at southern markets 2,488, last year 5,470.

Selling Volume Increases But Values Are Kept Down by Bears

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 30. (US)—The volume of selling increased during today's stock market and resulted in substantial reactions throughout the list. The influence of the exceedingly cheerful remarks from the Steel corporation was completely offset by renewed outbreak of weakness in leading commodities.

The bear crowd permitted no respite to the market, except for a brief period at the opening when the bull leaders attempted to capitalize the steel statement. Offerings were freely made of all leading stocks and increased the nervousness which had been created by the market's disappointing action the previous day.

The selling was not all of bear character, considerable public liquidation and selling of speculative holdings taking place. A brief rally occurred after steady selling during the morning, but prices failed to hold and the close found most issues at or near the bottom levels of the day.

Over two and a half million shares changed hands and the extent of the decline is measured best by the average decline of over seven points in the highest-grade industrials, three points in Utilities, and about a point in the Railroads. Only the Railroad average broke through the lows of Monday a week ago, when the last vicious break occurred in the entire list. Both the industrials and the Utilities, however, are close to the last low points.

Hardly a leading stock was exempt from the selling wave. While a good deal of the initial selling was undoubtedly by bears, the more discouraging feature of the market was its failure to hold after this selling subsided. The lack of support furnished the market inspired talk that the big bull leaders had withdrawn from the constructive side. While this was emphatically denied by certain of the publicly-disclosed bull leaders, the market was inclined to observe the price trend itself. It is generally admitted that the market's strength has been due chiefly to the aggressive sponsorship of the bull leaders. Their withdrawal would undoubtedly remove one of the strongest supports to the market. It is a fact that hardly any public following has been attracted to the market by the recent aggressive sponsorship and the bull leaders could hardly maintain their leadership more than temporarily without public support.

In bullish circles there was a disposition to accept the market's weakness as a logical sequence to its recent advance. The Steel corporation's statement, the bulls pointed out, indicated that the expectation of business improvement in the near future holds even in the highest quarters. A rumor was broadcast, however, that the Ford plant would extend its "vacation" and this offset the good effects of the Steel remarks. The Ford story, when run down, proved unfounded. The weekly steel review of the Iron Age furnished little cheer beyond a repetition of hope for betterment. The recently vulnerable issues such as Safeway, Southern Railway and Warner, again were under constant pressure. The leaders, however, suffered sharp reactions. Steel closed off 3⅛, Radio 2⅞, American Can 3⅜, General Motors 2⅛, Westinghouse 5⅞, Atchison 2, Consolidated Gas 4, American Telephone 5, and others sold off more sharply.

A rather important development of late, one which has surprised many shrewd observers, has been the steady selling by the public. Various large commission houses have for days found themselves selling on balance. Thus, the public as a whole have not only refused to follow the advance but have taken advantage of the uptrend to sell some of its holdings. The bull leaders, therefore, have been faced with the necessity of finding other buyers and apparently a great part of the buying demand has come chiefly from shorts and from speculators who change their activities quickly. The market is in an important test stage; its immediate trend depends on whether or not the reaction in prices will encourage sufficient demand to offset the large and powerful bear crowd's operations. The market itself will demonstrate whether the bull leaders have withdrawn.

In a few stocks the buying on the downside was reported of good character. These included American & Foreign Power, National Power, General Motors and the Coppers. Gillette was a firm feature on buying inspired by talk of a possible merger with Auto Strop, and a large short interest. Vanadium, which had been one of the most manipulated stocks, broke seven points, Allied Chemical 14.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 30. (AP)—Wheat was in fair demand here today on the cash grain market but holders were unwilling to follow the sharp decline in prices and trade was dull, with no sales and prices at the close merely nominal. Exporters were bidding around 88⅝ for ordinary wheat delivered Texas gulf ports. Mill bids were around 89 to 90c for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas common points.

Other grains were largely in like condition but from different causes. Offerings were very light and the quoted prices convey dealers' ideas of what grains should bring rather than what they are bringing, with few sales on which to base a market.

Estimated receipts: Wheat 94 cars; corn 7; oats 5; barley 1, and sorghums 2.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn No. 2 mixed 98½ to 99½; No. 2 white 1.03 to 1.0 ; No. 2 yellow 1.02½ to 1.03½.

Oats, No. 2 red 46 to 47.

Barley No. 2 nominally 57 to 58.

Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds 1.65 to 1.67; No. 2 kaffir 1.55 to 1.57.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 97 to 98c; No. 2 white corn 1.02 to 1.03; No. 2 yellow corn 1.01 to 1.02. No. 3 white oats 43½ to 44c, to which add one cent for delivery Texas group three points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 30. (AP)—Grain prices collapsed today to a standard seldom equaled even in times antedating the world war. Wheat fell below any point reached since July, 1914, when Europe's unprecedented military needs and relative scarcity elsewhere sent breadstuff values skyward. In violent contrast, today's transatlantic demand for wheat from North America was at various stages, the slackest in a long while, and harvest reports from places northward toward Canada pointed to millions of bushels soon to be added to big stocks on hand.

Wheat closed heavy at virtually the bottommost level reached, 2¼@3c a bushel under yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅝@1⅛c off. Oats as well as wheat established a new low price record for the season, finishing 1⅛@1⅜c down. Provisions, however, scored gains, latest quotations beig 2@20c net higher.

One of the severest jolts that staggered the wheat market today came from an estimate that the world's wheat crop this season will aggregate 4,080,000,000, a total 192,000,000 bushels more than was the case a year ago.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Corn, though, showed brisk rallies at times owing to official confirmation of severe wide-spread damage from drought and heat, with no improvement of the corn crop situation looked for unless general rains are quickly received.

Offerings of provisions were scarce, a circumstance related to upturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities:

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, July 30. (US)—With wheat prices at their lowest level in years flour buyers are apparently deserting their policy of contracting future supplies in great volume on the after harvest market, and are content to cover only nearby requirements, the Northwestern Miller comments in its current issue. Little fear seems to exist in the trade that values will advance, it says. Sales in the southwest are averaging about the capacity of mills, a decline of 20 per cent in the last week. Spring wheat mills of the Northwest, whose new crop season is not yet underway, are selling only 40 per cent of capacity.

A preliminary official estimate of Germany's oats and barley crops this year is placed at 410,000,000 bushels for oats, against 513,000,000 last year, and for barley 132,000,000, compared with 138,000,000 bushels in 1929, according to Broomhall.

Wires from Bucyrus, Ohio, assert that rather than market their wheat and oats at present prices, Crawford county farmers are feeding their present crop to livestock. They claim that as a fat producer wheat is worth $1.12 a bushel as hog feed, in comparions with the offerings on the market at Toledo of 80c a bushel.

The weekly government crop report issued today said in part: Showers in the western corn belt region, especially in Kansas and beneficial rains in the north central districts, notably in Wisconsin and some nearby localities, were helpful, although in general heat and drought have continued with further serious harm to the crop. Cooler weather, which at this time of writing is moving over the corn belt, will help only in checking deterioration, but no widespread improvement will come without general and generous rainfall.

Sunset Ships First Car of Watermelons

Special to The Record News

SUNSET, Texas, July 30.—The first car of watermelons to be shipped from Sunset this year was loaded Monday afternoon. It is expected that a number of cars will be loaded and shipped this week, but a great deal of the melon crop of this section is being hauled on trucks to West Texas and Oklahoma.

The best melons of the early crop have been bringing from 20 to 35 cents each, but the early melons are about all gone now. Melons of the late planting are beginning to ripen, but, excepting a few individual crops on sandy bottom land, the lack of sufficient rain has caused them to fall short in size and numbers.

The melon crop has brought many dollars to the farmers of this section this year, especially those who live along Denton creek east of Sunset.

Hoover Asks Cabinet For Budget Estimates

WASHINGTON, July 30. (UP)—President Hoover sent out word to his cabinet members today to hasten submission of their estimates as to how much expenditures should be cut this fiscal year.

The first order was issued about 10 days ago when Mr. Hoover explained expenditures authorized for this year were $209,000,000 more than last year.

The president fears a tax increase may be necessary unless this is pared down.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 30. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit again was very uneven with prices firm to higher at some points while at others considerable difficulty was experienced in maintaining steady values. Chicago scored $11.00 on strictly choice heavy steers and secured $10.50 for best yearlings. Good 1425-lb. winter Kansas grassers in Kansas City made $8.25 while three loads of 1100 to 1225-lb. Texas cake feds went at $7.75. Straight grass steers at the river markets cashed largely from $4.50 to $6.75 with occasional loads to feeder buyers at $6.50 to $7.00. Receipts were estimated at 31,200.

Hogs were on a firm to 20 cent higher basis, lights and medium weight butchers showing the most gains. The day's extreme top of $9.85 was paid at Chicago. Offerings were around 57,500.

The decline on fat lambs was checked at least temporarily, most markets reporting killing classes of sheep steady with some strength on fat lambs. Choice rangers in Chicago topped at $9.00 while at Omaha best western lambs brought $8.35. The supply approximated 41,500.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, July 30. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Mixed butcher cattle predominated in the receipts here today, although the arrival included about 10 loads of slaughter steers. One load of well finished yearlings was received, and, while butcher cows were fairly plentiful, desirable fat cows proved very scarce.

Slaughter steers appeared rather quiet. Yearlings also held steady, but slaughter cows, including low cutters, ruled dull, weak to about 25c lower.

Slaughter steers ranged from $4.25 to $7.00. One load of good to choice fat yearlings topped at $9.50 and bulk of the butcher cows found an outlet from $3.75 to $4.25.

Slaughter calves had to sell on packer account at declines of 25c or more. Some good medium weight and heavy fat calves were reported up to $7.00 and $7.25, but most of the weighty averages sold from around $4.00 down.

One load of smooth 196-pound rail hogs brought $9.00 and best truck hogs sold at the same price. Bulk of the desirable truck hogs changed hands from $8.75 to $9.00.

Very good feeder yearlings moved out at $3.25. A part deck of good fat lambs ranged up to $6.75 and truck lots of desirable fat lambs were reported up to $6.00, cull sorts around $2.00 to $3.00.

Skirts to Stay at Present Length

NEW YORK, July 30. (AP)—The Associated Dress Industries of America have decreed that hem lines in this country in the fall shall remain where they are. The Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers, Inc., has announced that it intends to resist the move of French designers to lengthen skirts.

David N. Mosessohn, executive of the Associated Dress Industries, said:

"There is much misapprehension in the minds of American women as to the importance of Parisian style dictatorship.

"Retailers here who are style-conscious recognize to the full that styles are American created. And they are already completely aware that the newer dresses and gowns on display in authentic showrooms conform to practically the same lengths as those of the past season."

Montague Cotton Holds Its Own Under Drouth

Special to The Record News

SUNSET, Texas, July 30.—According to the reports of farmers, the cotton crop of this section is doing well this year. There seems to be a promise for this to be the best crop of several years.

A good rain would help, but cotton isn't needing rain as much as some other crops are, farmers say.

June corn seems to be doing fairly well on bottom land, but feed, peanuts and late watermelon crops are needing rain at this time.

Pastures are in need of a heavy shower of rain to give grass a new start to grow, also there is need of a rain sufficient to furnish a supply of water for livestock.

There are 92,500 motor buses in the United States, according to the Chicago Motor club.

SULPHUR FIRM RESTS CASE

Citizens Committee to Attack Tax Claim

WHARTON, Texas, July 30. (AP)—The Texas Gulf Sulphur company, resisting a tentative tax valuation of $32,000,000 on its Wharton county properties, rested its case before the county commissioners today after seeking to prove, through witnesses from a hostile camp, that the figure was discriminatory. The court was recessed to give the citizens committee, which seeks to make the valuation final, time to prepare its offensvie.

Walter Hudgins, manager of the J. B. Hudgins estate of Hungerford and an active member of the committee, and J. B. Gary, another committeeman, were put on the stand by the company.

Hudgins testified that on Jan. 1, 1930, he had 1,260 head of cattle in the county, whereas the record was purported to show that he rendered only 1,000 head. Gary estimated the value of some of his lands at $45 to $50 an acre and the tax record indicated that in his voluntary rendition he had valued the land from $2 to $3 an acre. The commissioners had raised the valuation.

R. H. Hancock, chairman of the citizens committee and manager of the El Campo Rice Milling company, the sulphur interests' last witness, was an unwilling one. He declined to make estimates as to stock his company had on hand Jan. 1, and said he would not testify in such connections unless forced to do so. Sulphur counsel said it would not seek compulsion.

The hearing had developed allegations, made in behalf of the sulphur company, that Hancock offered to "call off" a political attack on County Judge John Norris and some of the commissioners if the valuation was made at $32,000,000. H. J. Russell made such an affidavit, and quoted Judge Norris as saying he did not care what the valuation was, if it was just.

The sulphur company's rendition was $11,300,000.

Ousted Officer Captures Robber

KANSAS CITY, July 30. (AP)—Harry Chamberlain, dismissed police sergeant, last night overpowered and captured an armed holdup man in the shadow of the police station he once commanded.

The robber, Edward Daugherty, escaped from the Missouri penitentiary, held up a cigar store in Chamberlain's presence. The former sergeant commandeered a taxicab and pursued the youth who also left in a cab.

The bandit's taxi was forced to halt by a traffic jam. He jumped out and attempted to clear a path by flourishing his gun. Chamberlain ignored the weapon and leaped on Daugherty, holding him until the arrival of two of his former officers.

Chamberlain is being reconsidered for reinstatement to the police force.

Court Order Disbars Arkansas Attorney

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 30. (AP)—A circuit court order permanently disbarring Harney M. McGehee, Crawford county candidate for prosecuting attorney, was entered today by Judge Marvin Harris. A jury last week found McGehee guilty of unprofessional conduct in connection with the handling of a divorce case in Pulaski chancery court.

Attorneys disagreed over the effect the disbarment would have on McGehee's candidacy for prosecuting attorney of the 15th judicial district. The disbarment came too late for any action toward removing his name from the ballot.

Michigan's state finger print bureau, founded in 1921, now has 850,000 prints on file.

"STEP-CHILD" by Rob Eden

A young man popped his head in the door. "Hear you have Kitty Banning in here," he cried as he came in and closed the door after him.

"No, I haven't," Ralf snapped. "This is a friend of mine, Miss Smith, Benson of the Journal—"

Kay acknowledged the introduction politely, and Ralf dismissed the reporter.

"You said you wouldn't mention this, Miss Smith?"

"I won't. And you'll see, of course, that I'm not bothered again."

"You shall never be bothered again. I can't thank you enough—in this game I'm in, it's the little slips like this that count. If you'd been Kitty Banning, it would have been a big feather in my cap—now—" his hands gestured futively. "Call a car, Grant, and see that Miss Smith gets safely home."

He never knew why Kay shook hands with him so warmly, why she fairly ran from the office, as if she had not a care in the world. She refused the car Grant had for her, preferring to go home by herself. She wanted to think, to realize what had happened. To gloat over the fact that she wasn't Kitty Banning.

She could face Dane again. Edith, all of them—she wasn't Kitty Banning.

Her mind kept singing the phrase over and over again, hilariously.

She forgot she felt grimy, dirty from her all night vigil, forgot how raw her nerves had been, as she danced up the steps of the apartment house and let herself in with her key. Edith was sitting on the couch, pale and haggard. She sprang up, excited, hysterical when she saw Kay.

"You! Kay! You don't know how worried, how frightfully worried I've been! All night—I phoned Mr. Talbot and Doctor Raleigh—"

"I couldn't call—but I'm all right, and I'm so happy, Edith—"

"Gordon Drew said he brought you home, left you here—"

"He did, Edith—was Dane worried?"

"Terribly — he and Doctor Raleigh just left."

Dane worried. Maybe he cared a little. Ever so little— She hoped so. Well, Kitty Banning was off her mind, anyway. That was something.

But still, she didn't know who she was. . . .

Tomorrow—Kay Gives Up Job.

SUIT ASKS OIL RECEIVERSHIP

Moody III Brings Charge Of Mismanagement

WILMINGTON, Del., July 30. (AP)—William L. Moody, III, of Houston, Texas, filed a receivership bill in federal court today against the Superior Oil corporation, which has oil and gas properties in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Moody did not allege insolvency, stating assets exceed liabilities, but charged gross mismanagement, negligence and extravagant expenditures on the part of the company in drilling wells. He alleged unless the company pays bills and notes amounting to a million dollars he will be held responsible for the debts.

He also alleged that creditors and stockholders of the corporation were becoming restless and threatening suits and that if suits were filed irreparable loss would result to the company.

NEW LUMBER RATES UPHELD

I. C. C. Sustains Reduction In Wichita Levy

Reduced freight rates on lumber from the Northwest to points on the Fort Worth & Denver railway south of Amarillo, and on the Wichita Valley railway were sustained by a recent decision of the Interstate Commerce commission, according to the bulletin issued Wednesday evening by the traffic department of the local chamber of commerce.

Reductions in question were granted by the commission early this year. A petition asking reconsideration of that case was filed immediately by the Southwestern Carriers' association, Southern Pine association, Texas Lumbermen's association, and the California Lumbermen's association, in an effort to prevent the approval of the reduced rate schedule covering shipment of lumber from the northwestern states. The petition was refused in a recent decision of the Interstate Commerce commission, according to the bulletin.

A complaint filed more than a year ago by the Southern Pine association asking for reductions in freight schedules from East Texas and Louisiana into Texas probably will be prosecuted as a result of the recent decision, it was stated.

Optimists Hear Talk by King

Optimism which consists of maintaining a constructive attitude in criticising modern life was commended by Bert King before members of the Optimist club Wednesday noon.

Deploring the inclination of the younger generation today to "debunk" every institution of thought and action by destructive criticism, Mr. King urged the importance of keeping one's self constantly in the arena of activity rather than on the sidelines as a spectator who is hard to please.

Referring to a current "period of depression and despondency," the speaker declared that such institutions are breeding grounds for creative work, and that a new prosperity will be the result.

Jim Hanks was chairman of the program, and introduced Mr. King. Miss Katherine Kilander, pianist, played two modern compositions and R. D. Ford led a short club singsong.

Harry Gross, Loren Taylor, Homer Bennett and Dr. W. P. Lowry were appointed as a program committee for the month of August.

Texan Slated to Head Lions International

Reports of the annual convention of Lions International recently held at Denver and a prediction that Julian Hyer of Fort Worth will be elected president of the organization in 1931 were made before members of the Lions club Wednesday by Dr. R. H. Graham, district governor of Lions clubs.

Mr. Hyer was named first vice president in the Denver convention. Lions International will meet in Toronto, Canada, in 1931, it was said, and Dr. Graham urged members of the local club to make preparations to send a large delegation to that meeting.

Musical entertainment Wednesday consisted of violin solos played by Miss Viola Grace Doern, accompanied by Mrs. G. W. Barker.

By ELEANOR FLEMING

MAJESTIC: Dorothy Mackaill in "The Flirting Widow." Our Gang comedy. Terrytoon musical novelty. News reel.

STRAND: "The Border Legion" with Richard Arlen, Fay Wray and Jack Holt. Charley Chase comedy, Eddie Cantor act and Paramount sound news.

STATE: Ken Manyard in "Mountain Justice." Comedy and sound news.

GEM: "The Trespasser" with Gloria Swanson. Comedy and screen song.

Hidden behind a name designed to draw the crowd and thus apparently an ordinary sort of picture, "The Flirting Widow" is one of the most delightful surprises of a lifetime—like finding an oyster in oyster soup (or discovering that someone reads your colyum).

◇ ◇ ◇

"The Constant Wife," a delightful "drawing-room drama," was christened "Charming Sinners" on its transposition to the screen. Whoever paid 50 cents to see a constant wife when he could see charming sinners for the same price, reasoned the official name-givers. They were right at that, I suppose—except that the hundreds who have gone back a second and third time to see "Charming Sinners" have gone because of the perfect presentation of real drama on the screen, and not because the name sounds scandalous.

◇ ◇ ◇

"The Flirting Widow" is another name given a tame-sounding play to draw in the half-dollars. "Green Stockings" doesn't sound so shocking, but everybody remembers a blond widow or two and chuckles reminiscently as he digs into his pockets for the price of two tickets. Then he gets a surprise—there isn't any widow—there isn't any wild love scene—there isn't even any flirtation. The utterly delightful play, "Green Stockings" has been carefully reproduced on the screen by a good cast and affords one of the best means for laughing one's head off that has ever been shown here.

◇ ◇ ◇

Basil Rathbone's description of Colonel Smith's dying message to the desperate fiancee is one of the funniest shots in history—for which I suppose we may thank Director William A. Seiter. Second place could be divided between Emily Fitzroy's drunk scene and the hysteria she suffered when introduced to Basil Rathbone.

◇ ◇ ◇

San Antonio Area Needs Cotton Pickers

SAN ANTONIO, July 30. (AP)—A call for several thousand cotton pickers has been issued by J. H. Fallin, superintendent of the United States department of labor employment service bureau here.

The picker movement to the cotton areas of South Texas is unusually light this year, Fallin reported. The number of pickers leaving San Antonio daily on the Corpus Christi and Lower Rio Grande valley highway totals only about 300. In order that the demand for pickers be properly met, the picker movement through this district should be at least 1,000 a day for the next 35 or 40 days, he said.

The crop is good, he reported, and picking wages are in keeping with the price being received for cotton by the farmers.

Scores Pay Final Tribute To E. P. Walsh in Services Here

Scores of persons Wednesday paid final tribute to E. P. Walsh, former county clerk and county auditor, when funeral services were conducted at the home, 1406 Grant street, at 5 o'clock. Dr. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church, officiated at the services at the home and members of the various Masonic bodies had charge of the Masonic rites at the grave. Interment was in Riverside under the direction of the Dalton-Powell funeral home.

Mr. Walsh succumbed Tuesday morning to a three weeks' illness which was followed by a heart attack. Although his health had not been good for two years, he was actively engaged in the auditing and accounting business until he became seriously ill.

He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Miss Annette Walsh.

Clemency Pleas for Prisoners In State Jails Take Myriad Forms

AUSTIN, July 30. (AP)—Pleas for mercy for men and women confined in state penal institutions take myriad forms, a perusal of clemency records in the governor's office shows.

Behind the stilted legal phraseology of the official proclamation granting a convict a day, week or month of freedom is seen many pathetic stories of men forced to leave destitute families behind when they entered the prison gates.

Possibly as many as 75 per cent of all furloughs granted are to give the convict a chance to go home and work in support of his family. Many of the petitions show five, six and more children, depending upon the little their mother can earn for sustenance.

Another popular reason at this season is to make crops. This basis for a furlough, in the case of one convict, led to one of the unusual parole requests.

A Bee county farmer, up for manslaughter, was furloughed to help with his crops. At about the time his furlough would expire, oil was struck nearby. To return to prison probably would mean to let slip a chance of selling or leasing his land. He placed his case before the parole board and was given an extension.

Another man asked and obtained leave to visit San Antonio in order to clear up title to some land he owned in Mexico.

Many convicts are released temporarily to obtain medical treatment. One of these, the proclamation said, was a total invalid.

Then there was the negro bootlegger whose friends believed he had "learned his lesson because he was a naturally good negro."

Intoxication will bring about revocation of a furlough quicker than any other cause, the records show. One boy was reported by his father, who said the lad had been arrested three times for drunkenness and in two fights since he was freed.

Wichita Woman Wins Store Contest Prize

Mrs. Mabel Chancellor of 1634 Collins street, who is in charge of the dress goods department in the W. T. Grant company store at 914-916 Indiana avenue, has just received a cash prize from the company for a suggestion she offered in a recent prize contest conducted by the company for the best ideas for reducing operating expenses. Her suggestion is expected to effect considerable economies in the operation of the company.

The contest was conducted during the month of May and included all the employes in over 300 Grant stores from Maine to Florida and from the Atlantic seaboard to the Rocky mountains.

Mrs. Chancellor, through her experience, was able to devise some short cuts, the adoption of which will effect savings in time and materials. The committee of company executives, in awarding the prize, congratulated her on making such a valuable suggestion.

QUAKE TORN AREA REVIVES

Reconstruction of Smitten Area Begins

POTENZA, Italy, July 30. (AP)—Today, a week from the fateful morning when well over 2,000 slumbering citizens met death from an earthquake that devastated Southern Italy, saw the smitten area looking to the future with renewed hope.

The government's promised 100,000,000 lire (about $5,230,000) for restoration of buildings, the resumption of normal food provisioning, the evacuation of the last remaining injured and the practical completion of burying the dead are all elements warranting this optimism.

In addition, the government has profited by the terrible lesson and already has begun the construction of houses which will be as nearly as possible earthquake proof. They will be finished before winter.

Relief work in general has advanced so far that the government yesterday was able to turn to what may be called the luxury side thereof—an inventory of the damage done to the artistic treasures of the region.

Commendatore Galli, superintendent of antiques and arts for the Abruzzi and Lucania districts, reported that the Melfi cathedral was badly damaged both as to the cupola and facade, but believes that a harmonious restoration can be effected.

The beautiful cathedral of Rapolla, an early fifteenth century structure rebuilt after the earthquake of 1851, will need much repairing. However, the Norman church of Santa Lucia in the same town, dating from the thirteenth century, is intact and can be used as a cathedral for some years.

Galli was delighted to find intact the Grottio of Sannicola, in Monticchio. It contains priceless Byzantine frescoes.

A new straw to finish the season. P.B.M.'s Men's Dept.—Adv.
