Tin Can Drive Collects Vital War Material

If you are a housewife . . .

If your food comes out of cans . . .

If you wonder what you can do to help . . .

Turning in all used tin cans is one of the biggest helps any housewife can give just now, Ben Hurst, county salvage chairman, declared early this week.

Women wishing to donate their tin cans may bring them to the Cicero Smith Lumber Co., Mr. Hurst, who is manager of this firm, said. These cans are picked up by Bill Burden of the Shamrock Coca Cola Bottling Co., who ships them to a designated buyer.

"We've been a little slow in turning in our cans, but I believe that when we realize the serious need for them by the war industries, then we'll have no trouble getting these in," Mr. Hurst said.

"The copper situation in the United States has become very critical and because of this the demand for tin cans to be used in the precipitation mining of copper has likewise become critical," he added.

All tin cans of one gallon size and smaller which have been flattened are wanted. The ends may be cut out and the labels removed or the cans may be flattened as is. Lightly burned and lightly rusted cans will be accepted.

These cans are now being sold for about $6.00 per long ton, f.o.b., which is only enough to cover the cost of handling them, Mr. Hurst said.

Mr. Brown pointed out that it is necessary for each operator to bring the measurements of the various plots of ground on the farm, and that he should know what he is going to plant in each plot. The farm cut-out maps or aerial maps may be brought along also.

If the measurements of the various fields are not already known, the operator can measure these with a chain, long rope, wire, or any other device by which he may get an accurate measurement.

Man Convicted In Jeffus Death

Emmett C. Smith, charged with murder without malice in connection with the death of Tyson Jeffus of Wellington on the night of May 14, 1942, was sentenced to serve three and a half years in the state penitentiary by a jury of Wheeler County men in district court Wednesday, April 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffus had moved to Wellington from Mobeetie only a few months before his death and was operating the Green Gables Service Station.

Main argument of the defense was that Smith was suffering temporary derangement of mind by reason of concussion caused by being struck by an automobile earlier the same night Jeffus was killed.

The incident occurred on the Wheeler-Canadian highway as Mr. and Mrs. Jeffus were returning home after attending the graduation exercises of their daughter in Mobeetie.

Mr. Jeffus stopped his car to see if he could be of assistance to men whose car was in the ditch.

County Banks Buy $180,000 In War Bonds

Three county banks recently purchased $180,000 in United States War Bonds as a part of the second War Loan Drive, R. D. Wiley, county chairman, said early this week. Although the total amount of bonds bought by individuals and firms during the drive is not yet known definitely, Mr. Wiley said it would be well beyond the $10,000 mark.

Final reports on the drive were expected this week from the state War Bond headquarters at Austin.

"We sincerely appreciate the cooperation and the patriotic support of every person who bought a bond during this campaign," Mr. Wiley said. "In view of the heavy expenses that most of us are meeting during the present months, those of us who have worked with this drive want to assure you that every dollar you invested is going where it is needed the most in this nation's war effort."

Ration Board To Hear Of Price Regulations

Mr. E. N. Lewis, Chairman of the Collingsworth County War Price and Rationing Board, today announced that on Friday, May 14, 1943, representatives of the Dallas Regional and Lubbock District Offices of the Office of Price Administration will be in Childress to conduct meetings with the Price Panels and Price Clerks of the War Price and Rationing Boards of Collingsworth, Hall, Childress, Motley, King and Cottle Counties and with representatives of the wholesale and retail grocery trade in these counties.

The meeting with Price Panels and Price Clerks will be held at 2:00 P. M. in Childress. The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint the members of the various boards with the new functions of Price Panels and with the new simplified Price Regulations.

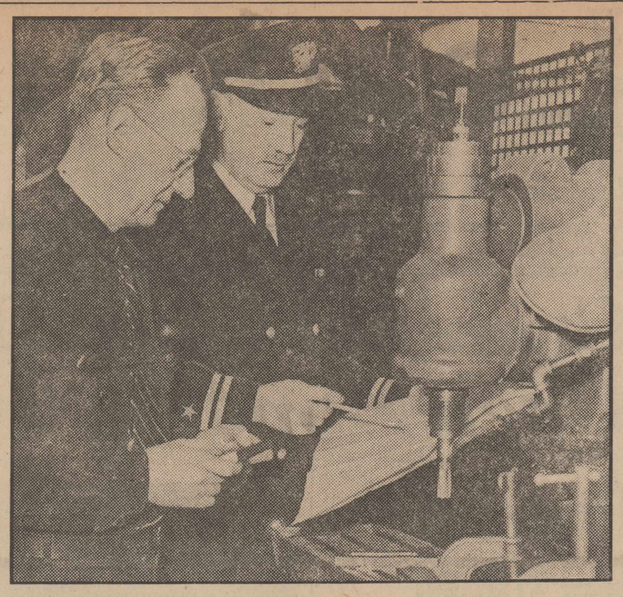

In the past, merchants throughout the country have had to contact the nearest branch of the Office of Price Administration in order to secure copies of regulations and to have these regulations explained. In line with the new policy of delegating certain functions to Price Panels throughout the country, the members of the Price Panels will be handed certain regulations as a start toward the completion of the general plan. These regulations will be explained and discussed in detail, so that in the future the Price Panels will be in a position to assist the merchants to a better understanding of the regulations, thus eliminating the necessity of contacting the nearest branch of the OPA on every problem which might arise. As the Price Panels become familiar with their new duties they will be handed additional regulations with the end in view that they will eventually be in a position to solve most of the problems locally, thus eliminating to a great extent the delay and sometimes confusion resulting from the necessity of contacting the nearest OPA office.

The meeting with respesentatives of the wholesale and retail food trade will be held at 8:30 p. m. in Childress. The importance of this meeting cannot be too greatly stressed. New simplified food regulations will be gone into in detail and everyone engaged in the wholesale and retail food business is urged to attend and to bring their individual problems to the attention of those conducting the meeting. This meeting is not intended as a general meeting where the regulations are merely explained, but is intended also to bring out the various problems with which the merchants are confronted and to solve them.

It is understood that Mr. Howard R. Gholson, District Director of the Lubbock District Office, will be here, with Mr. Clarence W. Nichols, Regional Executive of the Dallas Regional Office, Mr. J. B. Mooney, District Price Officer, and Mr. H. T. Gehring and Mr. W. A. Robertson, District Price Specialists.

This meeting in Childress is one of a series aimed at contacting all the War Price and Rationing Boards throughout the Lubbock District of the OPA, as well as representatives of the wholesale and retail food trade in the whole area.

Although the rate of savings by the American people this February was double that of February a year ago, this trend alone is not enough to check inflation, according to financial experts.

Singing, skits, athletic events, and picture shows were features of the Quail Community Day on April 17.

One of the main interests of the day was the exhibit of work by every class in school. Prizes were awarded the best exhibits, selected by three parents. First prize for the grade school was given the first grade, taught by Mrs. Hazel Graham. In high school, the typing room, which displayed Journalism and Typing, was awarded first place. Just before noon an athletic program was held in the gymnasium, including both boys' and girls' basketball and boxing. Coaches Herman Moseley and Elver Brown were in charge of this part of the program.

In a baseball game, the school boys defeated their fathers. At the same time an educational movie was shown in the study hall for those who did not wish to see the ball game.

Chicken Raising Hints Given

Raising the chicks after getting them from the hatchery is the main problem for amateur poultrymen . . . and sometimes for the more experienced, too. Proper spacing in the brooder house and disease prevention are the main elements in bringing them successfully into production, says Rose Erisman, County Home Demonstration Agent. And correct spacing is the chief of these.

Crowding opens the gate to diseases which pick off chickens that otherwise would become needed producers. The capacity for a brooder house having 100 square feet, for example, is 200 chicks.

Fowl pox, or sorehead and coccidiosis, levy a heavy toll on eggs and chickens. Both are preventable, Miss Erisman says. Beginners, or those who have experienced outbreaks on their farms, should make vaccination of flocks for fowl pox a "must" this season, especially the pullets after the cockerels have been sold. Vaccination, which costs approximately one-half cent a pullet, is the safest chicken insurance.

Sanitation is the best preventive of coccidiosis—clean feeders and waterers, and clean, dry litter, with emphasis on dry. Coccidia need moisture to develop. Stirring the litter, moving the feeders and water fountains to new locations in the house daily will keep it down. Feeding of sulphur in the mash, along with good sanitation, also has proved successful as a preventive. The recommendation is to add two and one-half pounds of dusting sulphur, or unconditioned 325 mesh sulphur in 100 pounds of feed. Chicks must be at least three weeks old and running in the sunlight before sulphur is fed, and it cannot be fed to chicks which are in batteries.

Collingsworth County boys who have been inquiring for information on Rabbit raising will be interested to know that the home demonstration agent has received this information in her office and will be glad to have the boys come in for any assistance that she can give them.

Rubber Tires Will Replace Steel Wheels

COLLEGE STATION. — Texas farmers who have purchased tractors and other implements with steel wheels since May 1, 1942, now may convert to rubber tires, the Texas USDA War Board has announced.

Purpose of the action which is being taken by the USDA, OPA and Office of the Rubber Director, is to help farmers increase efficiency of their operations at a time when maximum results must be obtained from farm equipment.

County OPA War Price and Rationing Boards will authorize the conversions on the basis of certification of individual farmer's applications by county USDA War Boards.

In making certifications to farmers for converting from steel to rubber, major attention will be given to the increase in food production which will result from the change. Since there is a shortage of rubber, the aim is to obtain the greatest possible farm output from the amount of rubber being made available for this program, the board said.

Standards which the county war boards will use in certifying applications for tires are: (1) that it is necessary for the equipment to be moved from farm to farm for most efficient utilization, and (2) that the soil type or topography on which the tractor or implement is to be used is such that steel wheels are a handicap.

Many tractors purchased since May 1, 1942, now are being used to perform custom work and necessarily must be moved from farm to farm as quickly as possible to get the most out of the manpower and equipment involved.

Manufacture of new tires and tubes will not be required under the new program since sufficient supplies already are in stock.

United Gas Explains Gas Reduction Schedule

By offering a wholesale rate schedule which was approved by the Federal Power commission, the United Gas Pipeline Company helped avoid delay in any rate reductions which retail consumers may receive and also saved the expense which would have incurred in extensive hearings on the rate reduction question.

This was brought out in the text of the Federal Power commission's recent opinion, which said that amended wholesale rates charged by the company will be reduced $2,195,287, on the basis of 1942 revenues.

The opinion relates that the commission inaugurated a general investigation of the company's wholesale rates in December, 1939, and upon completion of its field work assembled its material in exhibit form, showing conclusions reached.

"United had also completed its exhibits," the opinion continues, "preparatory for a hearing in these proceedings, and on December 11, 1942, giled an application for a pre-hearing, as provided in section 50-59A of the provisional rules of practice and regulations under the Natural Gas act, as amended.

"The application was granted and after an exchange of exhibits, the date and place of such conference was fixed for February 10, 1943, in the federal building at Shreveport, La.

"As a result of this conference United agreed to file, and on April 1, 1943, did file with the commission amendatory contracts effecting a reduction of rates for resale gas, for domestic and commercial consumption in the sum of $2,195,287 annually, based upon revenues for the year 1942. Prior to the filing by United of these amendatory contracts, the complainants and intervenors were fully advised of the details of the proposed rate reduction at conferences held in the commission's offices in Washington, D. C., on March 22 and 23, 1943.

"We have accepted for filing the rate schedules submitted by United and by the attached order make them applicable to sales and deliveries of natural gas (for resale for domestic and commercial use) on and after either March 20, March 26, April 1 or April 10, 1943, as provided in the established monthly billing periods.

"The proceedings have been carried out with the full cooperation of the original compainant, Louisiana Public Service commission. By the procedure followed in these matters, the company, the consumers, the commission and the taxpayers are saved considerable expense that would have been incurred if the matter had proceeded to formal hearings.

"There is also avoided the delay in rate reductions that might otherwise have occurred.

"In arriving at the amount of the reduction which United agreed to make, the staff applied the principles laid down in our decisions in natural gas rate cases, included the elimination of write-ups, the determination of the proper depreciation reserve and allowance of a 6½ per cent rate of return, etc."

Issuance of the commission's order does not automatically assure rate reductions for consumers in communities which receive gas sold at wholesale by the United company. The Federal Power commission has no jurisdiction over rates charged by the municipalities or companies selling gas at retail to consumers and the commission order does not in itself alter the retail rates.

LETTERS From the PEOPLE

April 21, 1943
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Deck:

I am trying to do my duty as a soldier by working in the aircraft production industry. I am building flying fortresses and Vega Ventura Bombers for the U. S. armed forces. If it were not for the production of airplanes our army wouldn't get far in this war.

I belong to the Lockheed-Vega Buck-of-the-Month Club to aid suffering of others. Ten percent of my salary is also going into war bonds.

I have my family here, my wife and three children, and we like the country fine.

I have four brothers in the armed service from Wellington and my mother still lives there.

Best regards to all the home folks.

Yours truly,
Cleddie P. Terry

Wellington Leader,
Wellington, Texas,
Dear Mr. Wells.

For years poultry raisers have been confronted with the problem of a loss each year among their baby chicks, also chicks of various ages, because of the so-called cannibalism among their flocks.

Some two years ago a remedy was published for the cure of this in some of our farm journals and was likely in your valuable paper, at this time. For the benefit of those who have not tried this worth-while remedy, and for the numerous new poultry raisers, it is repeated:

Add one teaspoon of salt to each gallon of drinking water for only one-half day at a time. Can be repeated every few days.

This has been tried from time to time and has proven to be a sure cure.

Mrs. Jim Light,
Aberdeen community.

Anaheim, California

Dear Deck Wells:

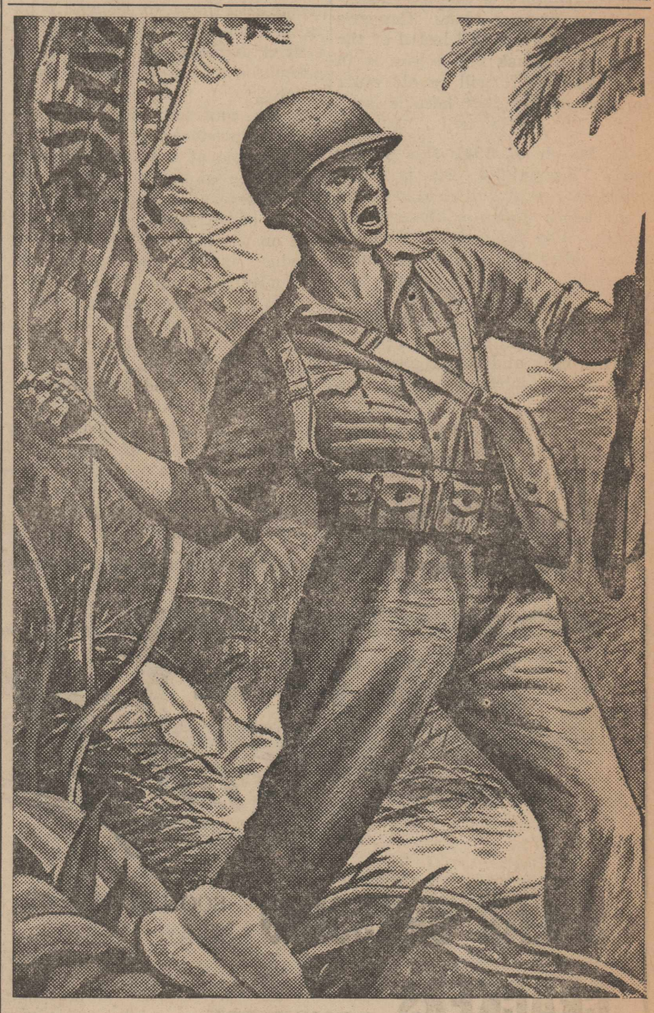

I am writing to have you change our address as we don't want to miss a single copy of The Leader. We surely enjoy it. There are two boys working at Douglas Aircraft where my husband works, that are from Quail and we always let them read the Leader. They say it is just like a letter.

Thanks so much.

Mrs. H. O. Hankins.

Clad for swift jungle action

WITH their cool open-neck shirts and lightweight trousers, our tropical soldiers are dressed for comfort and unhampered fighting efficiency.

Whatever the climate, the Army has planned months in advance to style garments for comfort and long wear. Including the underwear, which is just the right fabric and weight to keep our men comfortable wherever they are.

You can enjoy up-to-the-minute styling and easy comfort in your underwear, too. For, during the past 40 years, the makers of HANES Underwear have applied fine craftsmanship to the knitting and tailoring of underwear in correct sizes, styles and weights.

For example, the HANES-designed Crotch-Guard Sports (shown at right) provide gentle athletic support. For complete summer comfort, wear them with a HANES Undershirt. Knit to exact chest size. Its highly absorbent fabric evaporates perspiration more quickly — keeps you cooler and your top-shirt fresher. P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

In ordinary years the business of the hatcheries begins to slow down by this time of the year. This year they are booked to capacity three weeks in advance and some are booked ahead further than that. Farmers who formerly bought from 50 to 100 baby chicks now think nothing of ordering 300 to 600 at a time. The year of 1943 will record the greatest production of poultry in the history of this county.

* * *

But the number of hogs is also startling. Last week $35,000 worth of hogs were shipped from Wellington. Local hog raisers estimate that more than a million dollars worth of pork will be produced in the Wellington area this year. Furthermore the production of beef will be greater in dollars and cents than the production of pork, and the sale of cream and milk will rival that of eggs. Agriculture is the oldest industry and Collingsworth County is quite a factory.

* * *

In April I wrote a guest editorial for Capper's Farmer. I could say that an overwhelming demand from the readers of The Leader caused me to reproduce it. The exact truth is that two farmers who do not take Capper's Farmer, but who had heard of the editorial did ask me to run it in The Leader. It will be old stuff to most of you; but here it is:

* * *

In March of 1941 this writer said: "Everything else is being urged to run at full capacity, and it is being done on Government credit. Why not turn the farmers loose? Let them pile up huge surpluses. Guarantee them a fair price for their products. It is wealth. In time it can be used as such. Wheat, cattle, corn, hogs, poultry, milk and butter are much more real wealth than gold and silver."

That was long before rationing; long before any shortage of farm labor developed. It was simply a country editor putting into print what he felt was a deep-rooted sentiment among the farmers of his home county. They want to produce.

Today food and fiber represent real wealth just as they have always. But in a time of war, food becomes something more important than wealth. It is a weapon. Our nation is using it in winning the war, and it will be used again in writing and keeping the peace.

Because of this fact, which was obvious to many thoughtful farmers, there now comes a clear-cut challenge to the men who till the soil and tend the flocks. It is a call to produce more of practically everything than they ever did in their lives. It comes at a time when many serious obstacles must be faced.

Farm machinery is rationed and frequently there are delays in obtaining parts for repairs on essential implements. There is a serious shortage of skilled farm labor.

I am confident that the challenge to produce more will be met in the face of adversity. I have confidence in the resourcefulness, the perseverance and the determination of the men and women who live on the land. Their ability to produce is not matched by the agricultural people of any other nation on the face of the globe.

They will husband their farm machinery with the greatest care. They will repair it far ahead of the usual time, and for once, they will use ALL of their native genius for production in overcoming a critical shortage of farm labor.

From the apple orchard of Oregon to the potato hills of Maine, from the citrus groves of California to the cotton fields of Georgia, from the cattle ranges of Texas to the wheat fields of the Dakotas, this challenge will be met.

More than ever before in the history of our nation, the American Farmer is a soldier in the fight for freedom.

* * *

Dr. E. W. Jones had three soldiers from the Childress Bombardier School as his guests over the week end. He was so impressed with their enthusiasm and their good manners that he has decided to enlist the aid of other people in having a number of these boys over each week end to eat home cooked meals. It is a splendid idea.

* * *

There is another matter that the people of Wellington should consider. When these cadets graduate, their parents come to see them. Childress is not able to take care of all of them. Why don't we open our homes to these parents. If you have a room why not list it with The Wellington Leader. We will find out the date of the graduation and keep you posted.

* * *

Here is more about doing some good for our town by extending a little hospitality. There are two officers of the Childress Bombardier School living in Wellington. How about some of you women calling on their wives and inviting them to come to see you. They are Lt. Eugene Duggan, who lives at 1104 West Avenue, and Lt. Glen Stitt, who lives at 1208 Dallas Street.

Sugar And Jars Available For Canning Season

There's lots of talk these days about home canning and the other methods of food preservation. . . The OPA has announced that sugar for home canning of 1943 fruit crop will be available to homemakers just about as it was last year . . . that is, you won't have to give up your blue point stamps. . . . And lately the containers division of the War Production Board has asked home canners to get acquainted with a new glass top lid. It's a steel-saver, one that'll fit any standard home canning jar as well as the commercial pack screw-top jars with the same thread and mouth-size.

More than 634 million of these glass-top closures are being made this year. That's part of the government's effort to meet the needs of the biggest home-canning year in history.

But today's big talk on canning is along a little different line. It's a warning that the wrong methods of canning bring danger to you and your family. Rose Erisman, County Home Demonstration Agent, recommends only two methods of canning as being safe, preventing spoilage, and retaining the maximum amount of food value, flavor, texture and color. One method is to process in a pressure cooker meats and vegetables with the exception of tomatoes and pimientoes. The other method is the water bath for fruits, tomatoes, and ripe pimientoes.

The steam pressure cooker offers the safest way to can meats and non-acid vegetables, Miss Erisman says, because it can maintain a high temperature which destroys one of the most dangerous bacteria—the botulinus. Now is the time to check the accuracy of your pressure cooker, before the canning season slips up on you.

"FOOD, TOO, HAS BECOME PART OF THE GRAND STRATEGY OF WINNING THIS WAR"

We cannot win without FOOD—nor can we produce FOOD without FEED.

Feed Crops Include grains, hays—and COTTON

COTTON, for generations, has been the chief source of protein in the United States.

COTTON produced more concentrated protein (cottonseed meal and cake) than any other crop in the season 1941-42. . . . More tons of protein were produced from cottonseed than from any other crop, from August 1, 1942, to January 1, 1943.

But—we do not have enough COTTONSEED CAKE and MEAL to supply the demand.

ENOUGH COTTON MUST BE PRODUCED IN 1943 TO SUPPLY THE COTTONSEED MEAL AND CAKE NEEDED!

Editorial

Probably in no other state of the Union, says Business Week magazine, has the war stepped up the industrial tempo as it has in Texas. The magazine cites the figures:

In the first year of the war, employment in all manufacturing industries in the United States rose from 13,500,000 to something over 15,500,000, or 15 1-2 per cent. In Texas the increase was more than twice as great, percentagewise, from 241-,000 to 321,000, or 33.2 per cent. In other non-agricultural industries, the disparity of rise between Texas and the rest of the country was even greater—3.4 per cent for the United States, 11 per cent for Texas.

In all non-agricultural employment the rate of increase in Texas was double that for the rest of the country and at the end of 1942 Texas had 1,410,000 of its 6,500,-000 citizens so employed . . . Together, private industry and the federal government have invested since 1940 close to four billion dollars in Texas war production facilities—far and away the greatest record in the South. The government's stake, according to WPB, is around $1,600,000,000 . . . There is plenty of evidence about the state that, industrially, Texas is now playing with blue chips. You can't build—or start to build—a billion dollars worth of plants, as Texas did last year, without doing something to the skyline. No longer do oil well derricks monopolize the show, as they had for a quarter of a century, mute testimony of the state's supremacy in petroleum and natural gas. The derricks are sharing the horizon with superstructures of strange silhouettes.

Magnesium, chlorine, bromine, synthetic rubber, caustic soda, shipbuilding, steel, aircraft, tin, glass, helium, ammunition—these are among the new products in Texas. The list of products already available in Texas when the war began was an impressive one of itself.

The magazine article does not undertake to answer the question to which all this new activity gives rise, the question of what the return of peace will do to the state's new industrial empire. It is a question that Texas must face squarely, with all the efficiency and statesmanship that it can muster.—Wichita Daily Times.

• Small World

New York isn't such a metropolis after all, at least not for two Wheeler boys now serving Uncle Sam. In a letter received this week by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mason from their son, R. D., young Mason tells of bumping into M. L. Gunter on Times Square, New York's business center. He stated that M. L. is O. K. and enjoying his stay in the city. Mason stated that he expects to visit home folks if an anticipated furlough materializes.—R. J. Dison in The Wheeler Times.

• Contrast

Contrast betrays many of the weaknesses which age has no cloak to conceal. The present generation of automobiles left stranded on civilization's forgotten mesa, is able to retain a simulated dignity because of gradual disintegration. Decay is slow and even without the shocking dissimiltude of new and shiny vehicles parked along side. If the world had no more children to replenish the depreciation of life, then the process of age would be slowed in appearance for a brief period, but unchanged in fact.—Douglas Meador in The Matador Tribune.

• Tree Destruction

We have noticed here of late the many of the trees and shrubs that the state highway department planted along the highways are either killed or badly damaged. The greater part of the trees have been destroyed or damaged by live stock being driven along the highways. Persons moving stock should keep them herded away from the plantings. The trees and shrubs have been started at great expense and it's a shame to have them destroyed through thoughtlessness and carelessness.—Van Stewart in The Ochiltree County Herald.

• In 1945—If

We speak glibly of how long the war is going to last and how much toil and effort, blood and tears, how much spending and doing without it will entail, but we hardly realize what we say. You can't foretaste something you've never tasted, but you can't realize that a fire burns until you've been burned. If the war lasts into 1945, as is freely predicted, a great many things are going to be different in that year to what they are now. For one thing that automobile they are telling you must last for the duration. You will fully realize what that means by that time. You will be nursing the wheezy old boat along the like of which you've never done before. And your washing machine, and how you'll watch such little things as the radiants in your butane or gas heater. And we may even see the day when the young 'uns get a good scolding for breaking dishes or stopping the car with the brakes, or letting the calf get loose with the only rope that is any account on the place. All those little old things will be important and quite important in 1045—if.—Homer Steen in The Floyd County Hesperian.

• Cattle Market

It was such a time as this when cattle went so high during the last war and we remember so many of the prominent cattle men and traders in this section woke up one day and realized they were broke. The present market is being run entirely by speculators and the only one who will not get hurt will be the stockman who owns his herd and has a place and feed for them.—J. A. Koch in The Quanah Tribune Chief.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

by BOYCE HOUSE

Texas has many large and medium-size cities—but there was a time when the third best "one-night show town" in the State was a place with only 6,000 inhabitants—Eastland.

C. U. Connellee, founder of the town, used some of his oil wealth along in 1919 to build what was perhaps the biggest and finest theater between Fort Worth and El Paso. After the boom, the showhouse came under the management of A. C. Stalcup, an alert showman, who capitalized on the seating capacity and the network of good roads that linked Eastland to many nearby towns: Cisco and Ranger were only 10 miles and Breckenridge, Brownwood and Abilene were not more than 80 minutes away.

The first big road show to play at the Connellee was "Up in the Clouds"—and your columnist saw the attraction from the very top row in the gallery—that was almost being "up in the clouds!"

Stars whose names were famous a generation ago trod the boards of the Eastland playhouse. Margaret Anglin appeared in "The Woman of Bronze." Willie and Eugene Howard—(they're still Broadway favorites)—headed a big musical revue. Raymond Hitchcock, one of the great comedians of all time, brought "Hitchy-Koo."

He had attended the Rotary luncheon at noon, and then that night he stood in front of the stage as the audience was filing in and greeted the mayor and other leading citizens by name. They were flattered, of course, and the crowd applauded. Afterward, it was learned that the secretary of the club was seated only a foot from Hitchy and murmured the names as the celebrities entered!

The biggest rival of Ziegfeld's Follies came to town—the New York Winter Garden's Passing Show, and that afternoon the bankers and oil men loaded the 50 lovely chorus girls in automobiles and took them for a tour of the oil field.

Capacity audiences thrilled to the melodies of "Blossom Time," laughed at Lasses White's minstrel and chilled at such mysteries as "The Bat" and "The Cat and the Canary."

Scenery, costumes and companies of these road shows were the same as were seen in such metropolises as St. Louis, New Orleans and San Francisco. The size of the stage and its equipment were such that elaborate lighting effects were possible. Broadway was brought into the land of derricks and mesquite.

All of this was many years ago. Memories cling about the old stage and perhaps it has ghosts of light-footed dancers, glorious-voiced singers and gay, glamorous women.

"U Ranch—established in 1876 by D. H. Earnest and W. J. Holland.

"Weather Forecast by Uncle Bill Kellis:

"Today, Fair, dry and windy.

"Tomorrow, Fair, windy and drier.

"Sunday will be a clear, dry day.

"All the rest of the week will be like Sunday, only a little drier, dustier, sandier, windier. There won't be any rain to speak of during the entire week."

And the ranch motto is: "Thankful for a rain or a calf any time."

THE FAITH OF OUR MOTHERS

Motherhood is the crowning glory of womanhood, because of the wonderful opportunities which come with motherhood. Some one has wisely said: "When God wanted a great man he first made a great mother."

When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice, I am persuaded that in thee also.—II Timothy 1:5.

Gas For Gardeners

Victory gardeners cultivating plots away from their homes are eligible for extra rations of gasoline this summer, if they can show need for extra mileage, the OPA has announced. Mileage rationing regulations are amended to provide up to 300 miles for six months for Victory Garden travel, if the car owner: (1) is regularly cultivating a tract of vegetables of 1,500 square feet or more; (2) cannot get to his garden any other way and shows his labor is necessary to do it; (3) arranges, if possible to share his car with other gardeners.

War Expenditures

In 1918 American war expenditures were only 18½ billion dollars; in 1943 they will exceed 100 billion dollars. These figures show sharply the difference in cost between the last war and this one. There were four Liberty and one Victory Loan drives in the last war, with a total goal of less than 19 billion dollars; but to finance the present war the people of the United States must raise about 70 billion dollars before the end of this year. In that war, our task was chiefly to fortify a line of trenches in France; in this war we must equip and supply our armies on all the far-flung battle-fields of the world.

Employment Stabilized

Workers planning to quit their jobs to accept other employment either in home area or in other sections of the country should confer with their present employers first, War Manpower Commission officials warn. Under WMC employment stabilization plans announced last week, workers in essential industries must have a statement of availability signed by his most recent employer or by the WMC before he can be hired in another essential industry; he can't accept work in a non-essential industry at higher pay; he can quit a non-essential employer without a release to accept work in an essential industry. Agriculture is high on the list of the 34 essential industries. Complete information concerning the stabilization plan can be obtained from any U. S. Employment Service office or WMC office.

Meat Points Changed

Reductions on 25 items and increases on 16 were point value changes affecting meats, fats, fish and cheese made effective May 2. Advances largely were confined to prime cuts of beef, veal and pork. Reductions were in the variety meats, canned fish and other special productions already having a low ration point value.

Change In Tire Ration

Passenger car drivers with mileage rations exceeding 240 monthly now are eligible for any grade of new tire when their present casings are not recappable.

Mileage For Workers

Seven hundred twenty miles a month will be allowed hereafter for in-course-of-work driving, instead of the 470 miles previously allowed. This does not change the mileage allowed for driving between home and work. A car owner formerly eligible for a "B" ration book only may qualify for additional gasoline if he (1) shows he needs it for course-of-work travel; (2) meets regular car-sharing requirements; (3) shows he is not already allowed as much as 720 miles a month.

Job Records

To help high school students find their proper places in the army (or in war industry), each one will soon be asked to make a card record of his school and job history. These "educational experience summary record" cards will contain such information as A students, academic standing and achievement, vocational and pre-induction preparation, wage earning experience, aptitudes, significant hobbies and Social Security Number.

Casualty Totals

Announced casualties of the United States armed forces from the out-break of the war to date (whose next of kin have been notified) total 78,235. This total, arrived at by combining War and Navy reports, includes: dead 12,123; wounded 15,049; missing 40,435; prisoners of war 10,628.

* * *

Tire, Car, Bicycle Quotas

The quota of new passenger car tires for rationing in May is 1,006,882 compared with 1,058,000 for April. Certificates for purchase of these tires go to drivers whose mileage rations exceed 240 miles monthly and who do not have recappable casings. New passenger cars in May total 50,000 compared with an April allotment of 38,000. The bicycle quota for May is 58,200, unchanged from April.

Estimating that more than 3,000,000 boys and girls between 14 and 18 will hold full or part-time jobs this summer, Katharine F. Lenroot, Chief of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, has issued a warning that the health of young workers must be protected. She said thousands of boys and girls under 18 are being permitted to work excessive hours, often late at night, to the detriment of their school work.

Shoe dealers cannot hold or lay away shoes for customers beyond the end of the period in which a current war ration shoe stamp is valid unless they receive the shoe ration stamps in advance, the OPA has announced. Another amendment provides that house slippers and moccasins designed for indoor use only are not rationed.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

Tuesday Evening
April 27, 1943

Dear Faye, Buddy and Billy:

I will drop you a few lines this afternoon to let you know everything is fine with me and I am hoping the same for all of you. I have not heard from you since I wrote you last, but I have changed stations again so that accounts for no mail. I guess I will get all of my mail at once, then I will have a hard time trying to answer all of it.

I am kinda on a little rest period now for a few days. It surely helps a fellow to get a little rest when he has been in combat with the enemy for some time. It seems like we have the Axis Powers pretty well under control and we are hitting them hard, as radio reports indicate.

Faye, I received the Air Medal on one bombing mission over a Japanese base. I am proud of it and I am glad that I am able to play a part in missions like that. We are all looking forward to the day and days that we will be dropping bombs on Tokyo.

Faye, I saw Clifton Morris a few days ago. Boy, was I surprised to see him. It was just like seeing someone from home. I have run across quite a number of my old buddies that I used to know back at Texas A. and M. and NATC. It is surely good to meet up with someone like that when you are so far from home.

I guess you are keeping very busy at home. I imagine everybody is. I expect to see you all before long but I don't know just when that will be. It seems like ages since I have seen any of you, although time does seem to pass away fast when you are busy. That is why I like to stay busy.

Billy, I guess you are getting to be quite a big man. Has your Daddy taught you how to run the tractor yet? How is your pony, dog and football practice?

I must close.

With love,

Nolan.

(This letter was written by Cpl. John Cotney, a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wooldridge. Although he lived in Altus, he visited here a number of times and is known here.)

North Africa
March 2, 1943

Dear Uncle Leslie and All:

This letter is one I have intended to write several times. I hear from you quite often through mother. I suppose she has told you I am in North Africa. This is quite a place over here. So much different than I ever thought. It seemed quite bare when we first came in November but now it is rather pretty. Everything has greened up considerably. For a while we were in the Sahara Desert. Yes, it was rather sandy. But I have seen it almost as bad in Oklahoma. We are now up in the monutains and it is so much better up here but I don't know for how long. I think it is supposed to warm up before long. However we are fixed up pretty nice. We have a big pyramidal tent. Seven of us stay here. We have a stove, electric lights and also a large shylet. We have eggs which we buy from the Arabs every night. Nothing for us to eat four eggs each. We do have plenty otherwise. But it is a long time from supper to breakfast.

Edna, I received your good letter a few days ago. I'll admit it was a surprise but a pleasant one. I know you miss Grant a lot. I hope he gets his furlough but I imagine in these kind of times it is rather hard. So far we have very little hopes of returning until after the war. And at present it looks like it might be some time.

Lloyd, how is the old farmer? You know I am ashamed to mention your letter. It has been so long and I haven't answered. But, boy, since I got into the Army, they have really put me through the wringer. I suppose it is better late than never. So may I ask you to forgive me for this time. You know I have been lots of places and a lot of miles since I saw you last. I saw quite a lot of the states in England in six months, in the Rock of Gibraltar and in North Africa. I was writing mother tonight and I was telling her I have been in 17 different camps, so you can see we are on the move quite a bit. Until just lately we have lived in pup tents or rather shelter halves. That has been a handicap to read and write. Days have been short and we couldn't have lights in our little tent. I hope we never have to live very long in them again. Just enough room for two to sleep.

I suppose you already know what my job is, but in case you don't, I am in Tech. Supply. I like my work. It deals with all the parts for our planes. In some respects I was lucky to get in this outfit. We have made the best record of any squadron over here. This squadron is the oldest Air Corps squadron in the states. It originated before the last war. We have had personal compliments from .Washington and Churhill. Bragging, ha.

Well, I suppose I had better close before the censors get after me. I hope this finds all of you well. I will appreciate hearing from you at anytime.

With best regards to all,

John.

(Following is a portion of a letter received by Mrs. E. D. Koen from her son, Alvis D. Koen, who is somewhere in the Pacific.)

March 10, 1943

To my precious beloved mother:

Mother, darling, I haven't received any mail in quite some time, neither have I been able to send any, but to show you that your son is always thinking of his mother, I am writing every chance I get.

I sincerely hope this finds you and the rest of my loved ones well and able to carry on with the many burdens of life this war stricken world has bestowed upon us. Things are looking much better on the battle front but the end is not yet in sight. With God's helping hand we will be blessed with a great and glorious victory some day. Peace and happiness will be enjoyed again by everyone. What a great day that will be. Our many sacrifices and hardships of today will be greatly rewarded for those who live to see it.

March 20: Ten days elapsed and still no mail. Neither have I been able to send any but my hopes are high. I know I have some mail somewhere and that is all that counts. I hope that it doesn't take too long for this to reach you.

April 5. Happy days and sleepless nights. Mail, mail, and more mail. Mother darling, I received three yetters from you. L. C. Jones read the letter you had put in the paper. I have received a number of letters from the good old Baptists, who read the letter telling how much they enjoyed it and are praying for my safe return. Such comforting letters bring tears to my eyes and I feel so unworthy of the credit I am given at times.

I lay awake nights wondering how you are making out under these very pressing circumstances. If I were only there I would feel so much better. But I must serve my country, which helps to protect you and the many other mothers and keep you free from slavery and treacherous hands of the enemy. Some one has to give up the luxurious life and make the sacrifices. I have thanked God many times that I am able to do my part, small though it is.

I guess I have said enough for this time. Until you hear from me again, I will be looking forward to receiving more of your good letters. I will pray every night for your protection and guidance through life.

Your sailor son,

Alvis D. Koen.

(The following letter was received recently by relatives of John D. Christoph, son of John Christoph, Sr. John is somewhere in the Australia war area and has been overseas since the beginning of the conflict.)

April 18, 1943

Dear Friends:

I can't think of much to say only that I get homesick every now and then. I am overseas serving just like other boys are and proud that I can do my share of the work there is to be done. I surely miss the friends that I left behind and would like very much to see them and get letters from them. That is about the only thing that cheers us up when we can hear the mail call and get a letter from home.

I have seen lots of action and have learned a lot of things. I have been to a number of different places and met so many nice people.

Write me sometime. I would be glad to answer.

Yours,

John D. Christoph.

Charles C. Roberts

On February 9, 1924, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Roberts of Chillicothe, Texas, knew they had a new son but they did not realize how mechanically minded he would be. When we think of Charles, we think of that grand drummer in the Wellington band for four years and also the guy that goes whizzing around in his little blue car, "Claudie."

Before Charles moved here, he attended Chillicothe school for six years, then moved here and completed his school work. During this time he has been president of the band one year.

When Charles thought back, he decided he liked preflight and speech best of all the subjects he had ever taken. Charles plans to join the U. S. Air Forces where he will be an airplane mechanic.

After the war, Charles wants to play drums in a famous orchestra. We are sure Charles will do well in both the Air Corps and playing drums. We'll just say good luck, Charles, you deserve it.

Windel Cleburn Brewer

Brewer? Brewer? Brewer? What Brewer? None other than Windel Cleburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brewer was born at Quail, Texas, on August 31, 1924. After attending Abernathy and Loco schools for seven years, he enrolled in our local schools where he has finished receiving his education.

We've never quite understood why, but most kids call him "Curly." Windell has been a very good athlete in our school where he played football three years, basketball three years, participated in boxing one year and track one year.

After participating in these activities during high school, he was rewarded this year by being chosen all district left end in football, also he has liked those activities so well, he plans to be an athletic coach after he is dicharged from the Army which he plans to join in June.

Keep tackling and making those goals, Windel, and you'll get a long way.

John Thompson Forbis, Jr.

If you're good at speaking long names just try this John Thompson Forbis, Jr., Buddy. Everyone knows him as Buddy. Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Forbis are the parents of this boy with such a pleasing personality and that big smile for everyone. Buddy came into existence on May 24, 1926.

Wellington has the pleasure of saying that Buddy spent all his school years here. By the many different class offices Buddy has held you can tell that he is popular, who knows, he may be president of the U. S. some day. Buddy has served as secretary of the Freshman, Junior and Senior classes while in high school. He was reporter during his sophomore year. In 1942 he was mayor of high school and in 1941 he was vice-mayor and he was the high school host of '42-'43, but of all the places Buddy has stood out, there is one better yet, and that is: Buddy Forbis, Sweater Boy of '43!

Buddy's favorite subjects are English and Bible. Buddy plans to attend S. M. U. and major in theology. When his education is finished he has chosen the ministry as his profession.

Buddy kept the bench warm in football this year, but on the side he did some good playing and honestly, he lettered. When we hear a bass drum we think of Buddy because he was in the band and could he play that drum! Buddy did his part by serving on the paper staff in 1940 and also was on the annual staff the same year.

The Seniors were happy this year to have Buddy in the Senior play. Buddy graduated at mid-term with high honors.

Good luck, Buddy!

Billie Dan Cunningham

Billie Dan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cunningham, Route 2, of Wellington. He is another one of those little Seniors. Billie first appeared in this world on March 19, 1926.

We're happy to say that Billie Dan has gone to school here for four years. He went to Rolla three and one-half years, to Lillie two, to Quail one-half, and to Cross Roads for one year.

Billie Dan's favorite subjects are vocational agriculture and typing. He plans to attend school at John Tarleton.

Billie Dan may be little, but we know that he is capable of achieving whatever he may try to do. You have our sincere best wishes for the future.

Charles Jones III

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Jones were sitting on top of the world when their son, Charles III, was brought to their house on August 10, 1928 at Dallas, Texas.

Being a very intelligent boy, Charles is the only Senior this year who is finishing school in ten years and also he is the youngest Senior in our class. Charles has spent nine years of his schooling here and one in Dallas.

The band held Charles' membership for three years and we all know that he did very well too. He took declamation one year and served on the paper staff one year also.

When we think of Charles, we also think of Parsons Drug (that's where he works, girls). Charles plans to attend Texas University. He won't tell us what subject he intends to major in, but we predict him as a doctor. Good luck, Charles. We're all behind you.

J. D. Bruce, Jr.

Although he's one of those very quiet boys, he has a winning personality, yes, it's none other than J. D. Bruce, Jr., who on December 24, 1923, made his way into this world at Atoka, Okla. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bruce. Although he has only gone to school here three years he has made many friends as well as he did at Bean Hill and Midway where he previously attended school.

One year J. D. thought he had all the knowledge he needed, but after staying out of school one year, he decided to return to try to obtain further education which he did so well.

Typing, math and shorthand are his favorite subjects, quite unlike his favorite work, farming and caring for livestock.

J. D. isn't quite sure if he will attend school next year, but if he does, it will be at a military school. J. D., whatever you do, we are sure you will make the best of it.

Louis Virgle Bruce

Louis Virgle Bruce? Of course you know him as L. V. Bruce, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bruce, who was born October 15, 1925, at Caddo, Oklahoma.

Making friends is L. V.'s hobby and from the looks of things, he's really enjoying his hobby. L. V. attended school at Bean Hill and Midway before enrolling in Wellington High where he has attended school for the past three years. While attending school at Midway he was active in baseball, basketball and track.

Vocational agriculture and history are L. V.'s favorite subjects. He has been president of Junior Chapter conducting team in the F.F.A.

L. V. does not plan to attend school next year, but we still wish for you the very best of luck.

Charles Frank Hajek

Yes, it was none other than Charles Frank Hajek that was born on August 27, 1926, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hajek at Wellington, Texas, who now resides at 1105 South Dalhart street. Wellington schools have been honored with "Chuck's" presence all eleven of his school years. During these years, Charles has been secretary of the Senior Class, president of the Spanish class, and vice president of the band.

Band, speech and history are the favorite subjects of this fine student. Besides going to school, Charles holds a job at the Ritz Theatre where he is assistant operator. Charles has been a member of our band for six years.

Charles is undecided for sure about his future schooling, but at present he thinks he shall attend Texas Tech at Lubbock next fall. We want to say, Good luck, Chuck.

Margaret went to school at Buck Creek seven years and at Wellington four years. Art, music and keeping a scrap book are her hobbies. Her favorite subjects are typing, and homemaking. This is the girl we see walking with Drebon Mars every day. No wonder she is interested in homemaking. More power to you, Margaret.

Goodbye and good luck, Margaret.

Dorotha Jane Lindsey

"Shorty" Lindsey was born on April 10, 1926. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Lindsey of 1011 West Avenue. We call her "Shorty" because she is another member of those little seniors. Dorotha Jane went to Preston Bend, Texas, schools one year but the others have been spent in the Wellington schools.

"Shorty's" hobby is collecting photographs. Her favorite subjects are typing and office practice.

Dorotha may be little but she's loud. She was a member of the pep squad two years in high school and played volley ball and baseball one year in Junior High. Dorotha doesn't know what school she will attend next year, but she plans to work in an office.

Good luck, Shorty. We're all behind you.

Eva Nell Wood

At Littlefield, Texas, on Nov. 4, 1926, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wood, now of Loco, became the proud parents of a daughter that we know as Eva Nell. She has spent four and a half years of school in Wellington and six and a half at Fresno. Typing and shorthand are her favorite subjects. She plans to enter business college at Lubbock and major in business administration. Her chosen profession is stenographic work.

Eva Nell is one of those quiet girls and by her hobbies any one could tell that. They are reading, sewing and collecting pictures.

We want to wish you a lot of luck and success, Eva Nell, and we know you'll reach the top.

COTTON WEEK PROCLAIMED

Gov. Coke Stevenson, declaring that "cotton and cottonseed products are vital to winning the war and the peace," signs a proclamation asking Texans to observe National Cotton Week May 17 to 22. During National Cotton Week farmers, manufacturers, chain stores, independent merchants and civic groups will emphasize the importance of cotton. Watching the governor sign the proclamation are (left to right) Capt. Burris C. Jackson, Hillsboro, chairman of the Statewide Cotton Committee; L. T. Neva Irene Harrison

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Harrison told the town of their new addition on September 18, 1926, and that new addition was Neva, who came to live with the Harrisons.

Neva has spent all her school years here at Wellington, we're happy to say. Typing and mathematics are her favorite subjects. She has chosen her profession to be a typist.

Neva played volleyball one year. She was a member of the glee club two years.

We wish Neva all the luck and success for the future that she may need.

Vivian Dee Scarberry

On February 25, 1926, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Scarberry of Wellington were the proud parents of a new baby whom they named Vivian Dee. Vivian has attended school here all eleven years of her schooling. Wellington is proud to say this, too.

Typing is Vivian's favorite subject. Vivian was a member of the Junior High glee club two years and was also a member of the Skyrocket pep squad two years. She did some loud yelling and a lot of good boosting for our team.

Max was treasurer of FFA Chapter in 1941, in 1940-41 he served as secretary of chapter conducting team, and in 1941-42 he was treasurer of the conducting team. Max has played baseball two years and entered track two years.

Max plans to enter Spartan Aircraft School at Tulsa, Oklahoma. He intends to major in aircraft mechanics or engineering. He intends to be an aircraft mechanic or engineer when his education is finished.

Good luck, Max. We know you'll make it.

Fred Sanford Covey

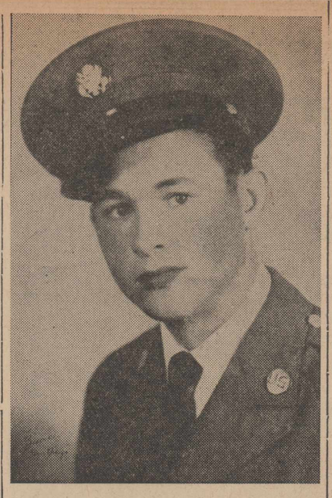

Fred first appeared on the scene of life on November 16, 1925, at Childress, when Dr. Stork made a call at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Covey, now of Loco.

For four years Wellington can proudly that we have been honored to have Fred in our high school. Arlie claimed him for six years and Dodson had him one year. Fred played softball two years and entered Junior track two years, but best of all he has played football on the Rocket team three years and we can say that Fred was a real football player.

Hunting and outdoor games are Fred's hobbies. We can well believe that. History and typing are his favorite subjects. Fred was a member of FFA conducting team two years. He is undecided where he will go to school next year, but when his education is finished he has chosen aviation mechanics to be his profession.

If Fred goes out into life and out for success as he did football we can assure you that he will succeed.

Good luck, Fred, we are all behind you!

CPL. JAMES McCLENDON

Good luck, Thelma, we are confident of your success.

While it is not known definitely how much additional money this will give the schools of the county, since the scholastic census is not complete, it is believed that it will mean at least $6,500 more than was available for the present school year.

WHEN all the Totties were on shore, they heard the friendly diver roar. "Be careful, now, and be good, too, but have a lot of fun.

"Just walk back in the trees and there you'll find a treat that's really rare. I'd like to go along, but I have work that must be done."

His big scow then pulled off the sand and, as the diver waved his hand one of the Totties shouted, "Hope we'll meet again some day."

THE diver soon was out of sight and then wee Scouty said, 'Ah right, let's start our hike. We want to reach some place before it's dark.

"I'm curious as I can be to see what we are going to see." Then, suddenly, the Totties jumped, as Duncy shouted, "Hark!

"I heard a noise right through those trees. Oh, my I'm shaking at the knees!"

"Just follow me, right now, because I'm going to find out what was that," said Coppy. "I am not a crazy fraidy cat."

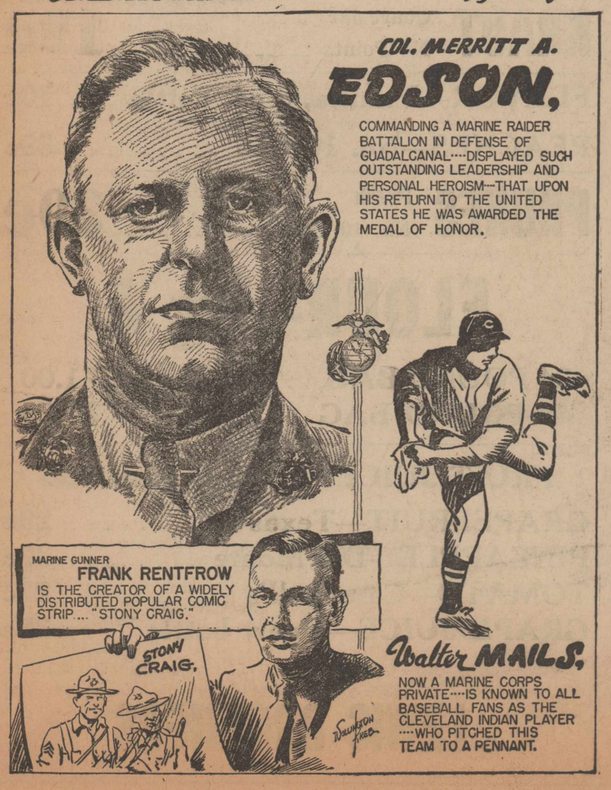

THEY traveled on a little while and then the bunch began to smile, as Dotty pointed to an archway, shouting, "Gee! That's grand!

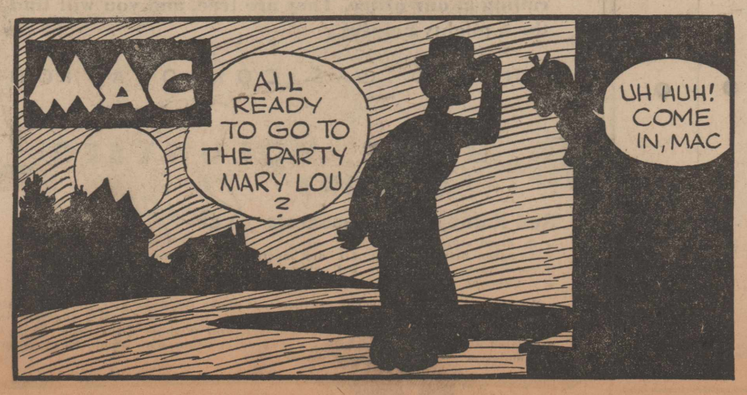

"We're going to a place I'll love. Look what the sign says, up above." No wonder 'twas a happy bunch. The big sign read, "PET LAND."

They rushed up to the entrance where they ran into a sudden scare. Before them was a box, and from the cover came a shout.

"Hey! Who has played a trick on me? In here it's dark as it can be. Won't somebody please jerk the little hook and let me out?"

(The Totties open the box in the next story)

Hawaii Is Theme Of Junior-Senior Banquet

By FRANCES M. SMITH

The banquet presented the seniors by the Junior Class of Quail High School Saturday evening, May 1, was one of the loveliest presented in the history of the school.

On arriving, guests assembled in the school gymnasium where they were told that they were going on a voyage. The trip "over" was a magnificent success! Some of the voyagers were so enthusiastic that they were visiting in the ship lounge after only a few hours out in order that they might send cards home announcing "Wonderful trip; wish you were here."

Once in Hawaii, and off the gang-plank, the guests found themselves in what in normal conditions might have been a study hall, but what a change! Gone were the tables and chairs, the books, and ink wells, and teachers. Instead they were greeted by dusky-eyed maidens dressed in grass skirts and wearing brief biouses, who saluted them in soft voices and presented them with leis.

Fully entering the banquet hall, one noticed that the ceilings were no longer bare; swinging and swaying down in a gay profusion of colors were balloons intermingled with streamers in pastels of pink, white, lilacs and spring green. At the far end of the hall a Hawaiian scene had been painted on a huge blackboard.

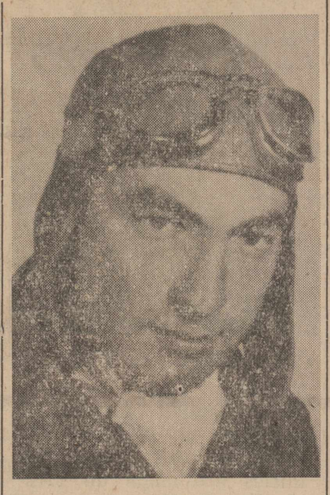

At the opposite end the library door and windows had been completely covered by streamers from ceiling to floor. Throughout the evening lovely maidens swayed in and out during the serving.

Lehua and palm trees and flowers were in profusion. Approaching one's place, one walked over a rich green carpet of grass and was fanned by the streamers touching one's head from above.

Master of ceremonies for the evening was Frank Coleman, Jr., and Tommy Dean Tate was toastmaster. Glennis Maxwell gave the response, and Mary Kathryn Stephens gave the farewell address. The Quail sextet, Alpha Neeley, Naomi Neeley, Glennis Maxwell, Janice Leggitt, Louise Moss, and Irene Lowe, beautifully gowned, sang "Song of the Islands." Ramona Meason and Barbara Wilson, dressed in the traditional Hawaiian manner, played several guitar and ukulele numbers. Miss Juanita Stinnett played several Hawaiian piano selections, and guests joined in singing "Blue Hawaii."

Speaker of the evening was the Rev. H. H. Kinkeade, whose talk in regard to the future of the spring graduates was most assuring in spite of the war. "The young people of Quail," he said, "carry with them the spirit of their community; with such a spirit they will go far." He went on to say that long before he came to live in Wellington he had heard of Quail and the Quail School.

Much credit goes to Mrs. C. B. Leggitt and Miss Leitha Lowe, sponsors, for their work in putting the banquet over.

She never wore a soldier's uniform in all her life. She couldn't shoot a machine gun for shucks, bless her heart. But she will be serving on one of the busy fronts in this war—the kitchen front—and she will help win!

Like so many other American mothers, she has learned that health depends on what we eat. For instance, in cooking vegetables on top of the stove, she knows that the best and most healthful way is with the minimum of water and a low or simmer flame.

Suppose she wants to have kidney beans for dinner—she cooks them over a low flame, slowly, until they are tender, in water in which they have been soaked (about 2½ hours). Below is one of her favorite recipes using dried beans—you'll want to try it, not only because it's nutritious, but also because it's patriotic.

Here's another thing she knows—that you can get your free copies of the Home Volunteer Booklets on nutrition, conservation, and meal-planning simply by calling at our office. They are free, and you will find them mighty helpful.
