City Wins Grant For Reclamation

The City of Big Spring has been awarded a federal demonstration grant—valued at $90,000 over three years—to be used in reclaiming some 25 acres of agricultural land under a sanitary land fill program.

Ernest Lillard, director of public works, planned and filed the request with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare last year. Word was received here Wednesday that the first year of the grant had been approved. Congressman Omar Burleson said $35,481 had been awarded, which Lillard explained was the exact amount he asked in the initial year.

Only One In Nation

It is the only project of this nature currently approved in the United States, Lillard was told by HEW officials. It will be located on land belonging to E. W. Richardson and the Crawford Estate, across IS 20 from the main gate of the Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. refinery.

Lillard has obtained cooperation from the Soil Conservation Service, which will handle the engineering studies, and the Texas Highway Department, which will construct a spilling basin on the roadway to slow heavy runoff water.

Two deep ravines on the acreage will be filled and made useful for ranching, Lillard explained. Heavy runoff water that created these ravines will be re-routed about 200 feet east, and the waterways will be designed so as to avert land erosion. The ravines are not now suitable for any purpose, he added.

Work on the project will not begin for several months, he said, as there is considerable planning to be done. Once started, supervision of the area will be very close and the site will be fenced.

Several Factors

"We made the application on the basis of several factors," Lillard explained. "First, we pointed out the value of reclaiming the land for agricultural purposes. Second, we listed highway and area beautification. Third, we pointed to the prevention of interstate highway damage. And of course, the grant is based on our ability to demonstrate methods for land fill and refuse disposal."

The City of Big Spring began using the sanitary land fill method of garbage disposal about 2½ years ago, initially on the old dump ground near the sewage disposal plant. One big ravine on North Birdwell Lane was filled and the land reclaimed, and Lillard has made arrangements for a similar project in this same area.

COUPLE OF DOZEN

Python Lays Eggs

FORT WORTH (AP) — Forest Park Zoo's 20-foot python has laid about two dozen eggs, a rare occurence for a captive, says zoo director Elvie Turner.

Zoo officials plan to remove half the eggs for artificial incubation and permit Mama Python to take her chances with the other half.

Incubation for python eggs takes 45 to 60 days, they said.

Ask Mayor's Recall

ABILENE (AP) — A petition to recall Mayor Ralph Hooks circulated among Abilene residents today after some citizens objected to the city council's voting to set up a public housing authority.

A group styling itself The Committee of Local Government circulated the petition. The committee also circulated a leaflet saying they objected "to the establishment of a new federal-state agency in Abilene with sweeping powers over persons and property."

Committee members said that provision of a rent subsidy program, which could be established by the housing authority, would allow low income families to move into a neighborhood with higher rents and lower property values in such an area.

They said they also objected to the council's failure to submit the housing authority proposition to the voters for approval.

To get a recall election, the protesting group would have to obtain signatures of 10 per cent, or about 2,400, of the city's voters who qualified themselves in the last city election.

ROAD WARNINGS FOR WEST TEXAS' SNOW-COVERED ROADS

Santone Flooded, Twisters Strike

By The Associated Press

At least two persons drowned and three others are reported missing after a cloudburst flooded homes, washed away cars and snarled early morning traffic in San Antonio.

TORNADOES

Tornadoes spun out of the storm earlier to strike houses in Kerrville and Lometa, but no injuries were reported.

San Antonio police said the body of a boy was recovered from a flooding street on the northeast side of the Alamo City.

The body of a woman was later recovered from the San Antonio River. Police said she may have been swept into a storm sewer several miles away and carried to the river.

Officers also said two adults are missing from a car which was swept into a creek and a boy is missing after reportedly falling into high water on the southside.

A tornado, striking two miles west of Kerrville, uprooted a tree which fell on a house. A house near Lometa, 17 miles northwest of Lampasas, was badly damaged by a twister. A tree was uprooted there.

Police reported barricades went up all over San Antonio as fast as they could be erected to keep cars from plunging into dangerous waters.

Meanwhile, the cool front that triggered the deluge set off snow mixed with blowing dust on parts of the South Plains in West Texas and caused widespread rains.

The San Antonio rain reached four inches in two and a half hours and still fell heavily.

The police issued a plea that only emergency travel be made but the plea did not reach sufficient people or was ignored, for massive traffic jams occurred all over the Southwest Texas city.

Low streets were under water and many highways were impassable.

In just over two hours, at the height of the storm, police and firemen answered more than 100 "life in danger calls" from motorists stranded by rising water and from residents trapped in their homes.

The San Antonio River, which normally winds serenely through the downtown area, turned into a raging torrent, flooding some restaurants and other businesses in the downtown area. The river was only a few feet below bridges in the heart of the business district.

Dozens of cars were reported swept away by rising water.

The rains slacked off after 9:30 a.m., but the run off choked streets and drainage ditches and continued to snarl traffic.

More rain was forecast.

The Amarillo Weather Bureau radar said snow covered 60 per cent of an area 50 miles in diameter centered over Turkey, some 75 miles southeast of Amarillo.

The combination of snow and blowing dust occurred around 7 a.m. at Lubbock on the South Plains.

FORECAST

Snow, mixed with rain, was forecast for the Panhandle tonight and early Friday. Showers were expected for all other sections except west of the Pecos River in extreme West Texas.

Sneak Storm Slips In Here

A sneak snow storm, which moved into Big Spring without warning shortly before dawn today, had developed into the heaviest fall of the winter by mid-morning. At that hour, the temperature was still a degree or two above freezing and the huge white flakes were mostly melting as they struck. At 10 a.m. the snow was brisk and temperature 36.

COLLECTING

However, some snow was collecting on grass and parked cars were donning white masks. Roofs were coating whitely. The temperature was not unpleasant, and there was little wind. The snow was extremely wet and where it was melting as it struck, streets were running rivulets of icy water.

The earlier phase of the storm was a light rain which left sidewalks wet. By 8 a.m. this had amounted to .06 inch moisture at the U.S. Experiment Station. The snow came on the heels of a very mild night and as an aftermath to a spring-like Wednesday.

The moisture will be most welcome to the county which is short of rains so far. Since January began there have been only four dates in which measureable precipitation was recorded. On Jan. 3-4 each day showed .02 inch rain, and Jan. 8, the measurement was .08. To 8 a.m. today the fall was .06. This brought the January total to a meager .18 inch. December was anything but wet, with only .78 inch accumulated from nine days when light rains, snow or sleet was reported.

ROAD WARNING

Meantime, the Weather Bureau has issued a hazardous driving warning for this area for late today and tonight with a prediction that roads and bridges will become slippery before dawn Friday.

North winds, whipping at 20 to 35 miles per hour, were supposed to move in to drive the sleet and show across the country. The snow and slush is to continue with the temperature in the upper 20's tonight. The clouds will begin breaking away Friday and some warming will develop.

Moon Budget Is Curtailed

HOUSTON (AP) — A Manned Spacecraft Center official says the present space budget makes it impossible to carry out all the exploration of the moon scientists have recommended.

Robert F. Thompson, spacecraft center manager for the Apollo Applications Program, said Wednesday six of the planned AAP flights—half the program—have been eliminated because of the budget squeeze.

FIRST MISSION

It was announced Monday that the first mission of the proposed AAP series, a relatively minor flight, had been eliminated.

Thompson said the program now is limited to three manned and two unmanned flights.

AAP proposed the use of Apollo hardware, Saturn rockets and modified spacecraft for long earth orbital missions during which medical engineering and scientific experiments could be carried out to learn more about man's ability to live and work in space and the equipment he can best use there.

Other observers said NASA will request $450 million for AAP in fiscal 1969 budget to be presented later this month. This would provide a start for eight manned earth orbits and three manned lunar missions after the first astronaut landing on the moon. The flights would be conducted between 1970 and 1973.

The moon flights would be scheduled in 1971, 1972 and 1973. On two of the flights, two astronauts would explore the moon for three days. The 1973 mission would involve a lunar exploration of seven to 14 days.

Thompson said no lunar exploration flights are now scheduled for AAP.

His remarks were made in an interview on the eve of a day-long meeting of scientists and engineers from throughout the country at the Manned Spacecraft Center to discuss some of the proposed hardware for scientific exploration of the moon.

Thompson said the present AAP, as altered by the budget, looks like this:

A mission in which three astronauts will be launched into earth orbit in an Apollo spacecraft; the Saturn 1B rocket will be sent into orbit. No spacecraft will be carried by this rocket.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON

LBJ Draws Cool Reaction

Some Supporters

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union remarks on peace prospects drew a frigid response from some fellow Democrats and other initial congressional reaction pointed to continued hostility toward increases in taxes and spending.

His brief remarks on the prospects for peace drew applause —but not from Democratic Sens. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and J. William Fulbright of Arkansas. They are two leading critics of Johnson's war policy.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination on a platform of opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policies, said: 'We still are told the nation can wage and win two wars —the one in Vietnam and the war on poverty. We are waging one, but not winning either."

The President's renewed appeal for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge, coupled with his announcement that spending would be increased by some $10.4 billion, drew criticism or opposition from such prominent Democrats as Sen. William Proxmire, chairman of the joint Economic Committee and Sen. Russell B. Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Republicans joined in the attack.

But other Democrats came to the President's support, including Speaker John W. McCormack and House Democratic Leader Carl Albert.

The key congressman on the tax issue, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, of the House Ways and Means Committee, declined comment, saying he wanted to see Johnson's spending figures first. The budget is due for presentation to Congress by Jan. 29.

Mills has been maintaining that unless there is a significant spending cut he would not go along with a tax hike.

Long, Mills' counterpart in the Senate, said he's still opposed to a surtax.

Proxmire said he was "disappointed the President failed to recommend sharp reductions in public works and space spending, and that he continues to press with such force for a big increase in taxes. This is a serious economic mistake."

MAHON

Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee, a Democrat, generally endorsed Johnson's speech. But he added that "in all but the imperative necessities, we ought to close our eyes to each and every increase requested over the present level."

Major Points By President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here in brief are major points of President Johnson's State of the Union message Wednesday night:

Vietnam—Reported progress on all fronts. Pledged U.S. resolve would not flag.

Peace Talks—Said U.S. conditions for ending bombing and starting talks remain unchanged—North Vietnam must reciprocate militarily.

Domestic Programs — Proposed $2.1 billion program to employ hard-core jobless; $1 billion to revitalize urban cores; 10-year program to build six million new housing units for low and middle-income families; plus numerous consumer protection measures and a program aimed at cutting the U.S. mortality rate.

Crime—Requested $100 million for federal aid to local and state police agencies. Asked for 100 new assistant U.S. attorneys and 100 more FBI agents; for tougher drug violation penalties and more federal narcotics agents; for a stiffened gun control law.

Economy-Taxes—Said prosperity would be threatened unless income tax hike wins congressional approval. Reported "unified" budget would be about $186 billion, with an $8 billion deficit assuming tax hike clears Congress. Urged foreign travel curbs.

UP TO 47 PER CENT

Oil Allowable Increased

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission pushed the statewide oil allowable for February to 47 per cent of potential today, the second consecutive monthly increase.

The market demand factor will permit maximum production next month of 3,685,179 barrels a day, compared to 3,611,892 under the January allowable of 45.7 per cent. One year ago, the production factor was dropped one point from January to 36.5 per cent in February.

Written nominations by major purchasers of Texas crude oil totaled 3,138,101 barrels a day for February, an increase of 52,691 from this month. The Bureau of Mines forecast of the February demand for Texas crude was 3,170,000, an increase of 10,000 from January.

Nine of the 14 major purchasers requested more oil in February, and commission chairman Jim Langdon noted this and one additional factor in announcing the February allowable increase. That factor was the level of foreign imported oil, which Langdon said was "dragging." We're actually supplementing foreign oil imports."

Cong Commander Falls In Ambush By U. S. Troops

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers lying in ambush along a trail killed a Viet Cong battalion commander from a regiment which overran a South Vietnamese district town two weeks ago, U.S. headquarters announced today.

The ambush was one of five clashes Wednesday, scattered from below Saigon to the demilitarized zone, in which U.S. forces reported killing 119 Communist soldiers at a cost of seven Americans killed and 29 wounded.

VENGEANCE

A U.S. communique termed the paratroopers' ambush "vengeance on the Dong Hai Regiment which attacked the district town of Tan Uyen in the early morning hours of 6 January."

An ambush squad from the 187th Airborne Infantry, which arrived in South Vietnam last month, caught Lam Hiep, 28-year-old commander of the Dong Hai Regiment's D800 Battalion and two other Viet Cong on a trail 25 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said.

The paratroopers killed Hiep and another Viet Cong, but the third man apparently escaped. In an exchange of fire, one American was killed and one wounded.

A pouch full of documents, a Russian pistol, a map and a compass were found on Hiep's body. The documents disclosed his identity and showed he had commanded the battalion since April, 1966, at least.

Lam Hiep's rank was not reported, but he probably was a major. Last month U.S. troops killed a North Vietnamese regimental commander in the Que Son Valley 35 miles south of Da Nang.

Fifteen miles to the north of the ambush site, two other new paratrooper units were accidentally hit by two rounds of 105mm artillery fire by an American battery. Two paratroopers were killed and 21 wounded.

Although ground action has been light this week, heavy Communist assaults last week were reflected in the weekly casualty summaries from the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands.

U.S. headquarters said 278 Americans were killed in action last week, the highest in six months, and 1,323 Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 357 government troops killed last week and 946 wounded, one of Saigon's heaviest weekly tolls of the war. But the total of 2,216 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese reported killed were 652 less than the record toll reported the week before.

AIR WAR

In the air war, U.S. planes flew 82 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday, and the two crewman of an Air Force F4 Phantom reported the "probable" downing of a MIG21 in a brief engagement.

The biggest of the ground fights in South Vietnam Wednesday came after a reconnaissance patrol of the Army's Americal Division ran into a Viet Cong unit of unknown size near Quang Ngai, in the coastal lowlands 325 miles northeast of Saigon.

Viet Casualties Take Sharp Rise

SAIGON (AP) — American casualties in the Vietnam war rose sharply last week. The U.S. Command reported today that 278 men were killed in action and 1,323 wounded, compared with 184 killed and 1,132 wounded the week before.

The South Vietnamese Command reported its casualties also went up markedly.

Enemy casualties last week dropped to 2,216 killed, the two commands said, a major decline from the record 2,868 reported for the previous week.

Of the 1,323 Americans wounded last week, the command said 711 required hospitalization.

The report increased the total American combat casualties in the war to 16,549 killed and 102,197 wounded. The command said another 968 Americans are listed as missing, captured or interned since Jan. 1, 1961.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 357 government troops were killed last week, 946 were wounded and 110 were missing or captured. These tolls are among the heaviest of the war for South Vietnamese forces.

South Vietnamese casualties reported for the week before were 263 killed, 657 wounded and 83 missing or captured.

Of the 2,216 enemy reported killed last week, South Vietnamese headquarters said 605 were killed by government troops and the rest by U.S. and other allied forces.

HORRIFIED, SCREAMING

Sisters Die Mysteriously

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP)—Five years apart, two sisters died mysteriously in the same sudden way: They looked around horrified, screamed piercingly for 10 seconds, then stopped breathing.

Police said Army S. Sgt. Robert Rush told them Wednesday that his wife Patricia, 23, woke him about 6 a.m., screamed and collapsed.

Resuscitation attempts failed.

Officials waited today for autopsy results.

Mrs. Rush's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stephens of nearby San Luis Obispo, told newsmen that in 1963 their daughter Beverly, 17, emerged from a swimming pool and died in the same way. An autopsy failed to disclose a cause of death.

The Stephenses have two other daughters, Barbara, 17, and Diana, 11.

"Naturally," said Stephens, "we are very concerned and anxious about my other daughters."

EX-PARATROOPER PLAYS SPY?

Cubans Claim Yank Shot Down

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An American citizen identified as an ex-paratrooper who tried to sneak into Cuba in a private plane with a gun and cameras has been shot down, the Cuban radio said today.

The broadcast identified the downed pilot as Everett Jackson, 27, of Los Angeles.

The radio said the plane was shot down over the Bay of Cadiz at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 29 by antiaircraft guns as it "infiltrated" Cuban territory.

Jackson had dropped a parachute package containing a carbine rifle, 200 bullets, maps, cameras with telephoto lenses and a set of binoculars, the broadcast said.

The Coast Guard in Miami said it had no report of a missing plane matching the description given of Jackson's plane. The Federal Aviation Administration in Miami said its reports on missing aircraft were not available.

The plane was described in the broadcast, monitored in Miami, as a Taylorcraft with identification No. L96467.

BUYS PLANE

Robert M. Cheatwood of Miami said he sold the 1946 Taylorcraft to Jackson for $1,200 on Nov. 18, 1967. He said the plane had the registration number N96467.

"I got the impression when I sold him the airplane that he had something in mind," Cheatwood said. "He wanted to go out without doors on it. He said he was a photographer and wanted to take pictures out of it."

"He asked if it was safe to jump out of it. He said he was a paratrooper," Cheatwood said.

Mrs. Jim Holland, operator of a flight service office at Homestead Airport, said Jackson purchased gasoline Dec. 28, the night before Cuban radio said he was shot down. The address he gave was in Miami's Southwest section where many Cubans live.

'HE OWES ME'

"He said he would leave early the next morning to go up north," said Mrs. Holland. "He owes me $26.98."

The broadcast said the pilot was shot down north of the Central Cuba city of De Rancho Veloz and the plane fell on an island called "Falcon's Key."

"The pilot was captured by forces of the interior minister," the broadcast said.

SERVED IN GERMANY

The newscast said Jackson identified himself as a former member of the 82nd and 101st Airborne units, who had served in Germany with the 11th Division.

He said he left Homestead Airport about 50 miles south of Miami at 4 p.m. Dec. 29 "and he had come to Cuba with the purpose of infiltrating into the national territory," the broadcast said.

Cadiz Bay is located about 125 miles due east of Havana and 60 miles northwest of the Las Villas provincial capital, Santa Clara.

Rich Guatemalan Machine-Gunned

GUATEMALA (AP) — Defying a sweeping police roundup to check terrorism in Guatemala, gunmen killed a wealthy landowner Wednesday, one day after the slaying of two U.S. military officers.

Alfonso Alejos de la Cerda, 77, was machine-gunned in a suburb of the capital, and his driver was wounded. He was an uncle of Roberto Alejos, a presidential candidate in 1962, and of Carlos Alejos, a former ambassador to Washington.

Havana Radio, reporting the assasination, said another nephew "gave his farm for the training of Cuban counterrevolutionaries and mercenaries for the Bay of Pigs invasion in 1961."

Alejos was shot a day after assassins in a speeding car machine-gunned U.S. Army Col. John D. Webber Jr., 47, Houston, Tex., head of the U.S. military advisory group in Guatemala, and Lt. Cmdr. Ernest A. Munro, 40, Rockland, Maine, head of the U.S. naval section.

The Rebel Armed Forces, a Castroite group known as FAR, said it assassinated the Americans in retaliation for leftist guerrillas killed by Guatemalan army groups trained by the U.S military mission.

Police made a large number of arrests as they searched for the assassins of the two U.S. officers and other victims of the terrorists.

Military police combed through homes and offices and set up roadblocks. Entire blocks were sealed off by police armed with machine guns. Cars were stopped at checkpoints and searched for arms.

Marine Sgt. Harry L. Greene, 41, of Omaha, Neb., was wounded with two U.S. officers and was reported in fair condition. Army Sgt. Maj. John R. Forster, 42, of Seattle, Wash., was struck in the arm by shattered glass and was released Tuesday after treatment.

The government put more guards on the U.S. Embassy and other American installations and sent regrets to Washington.

Webber and Munro were the first U.S. victims of a wave of rightist and leftist terrorism that has taken more than 1,000 lives in the last year and a half. Two Guatemalans were assassinated Tuesday, and one terrorist was killed.

In Washington, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said about 5,000 U.S. citizens live in Guatemala and several hundred U.S. tourists are usually in the country.

"All possible precautions are being taken by our own people," he said.

Sicily's Earthquakes Death Toll Nears 400

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — The known death toll in western Sicily's earthquakes neared 400 today, but U.S. Embassy men from Rome said they have found no evidence of any Americans killed or injured.

The quakes Monday wrecked a dozen towns and villages, injured more than 1,500 persons, and hundreds are still missing.

The hilly inland region is seldom visited by tourists, but the embassy in Rome sent a special staff to help the Palermo consulate handle the hundreds of queries from the United States about Americans or relatives possibly in the area.

JITTERY TEAMS

Rescue teams, jittery from the shock of 32 tremors which followed the devastating quakes, continued poking under rubble and found two survivors Wednesday, still breathing after nearly 60 hours of confinement.

In Salaparuta, eight bodies were dug out of debris but a woman in her 60s had survived by huddling under a staircase as her two-story building disintegrated. She was taken to a field hospital in serious condition.

Dr. Francesco Scanga, Italy's chief of public hygiene, led special teams spraying the debris to avert epidemics.

Police set up patrols against looters. Four youths were arrested in Palermo Wednesday night while trying to break into a bakery.

The island's major problem remained getting food, medicine, tents and blankets to an estimated 40,000 refugees preparing to spend a fourth night in the open. They were spread in small encampments throughout the western tip of the island, with only about 3,000 tents for shelter.

Do You Want To Pay More for Milk?

PLEASE READ THIS CAREFULLY . . IT COULD AFFECT YOUR COST OF LIVING!

TO ALL QUALIFIED VOTERS:

During the years we have been serving you, it has been our policy to hold food prices to an absolute minimum. We, however, must tell you there is a real danger that we will not be able to maintain low retail prices on milk if certain state legislation, which has been proposed, becomes law.

During the 1967 session of the Texas Legislature, a bill was introduced, which would have established a Texas Milk Commission with the power to fix the minimum price our customers pay for milk. Fortunately, the bill failed to become law, but there is a real possibility that another bill will be introduced during the next session. Gibson's Discount Centers, together with several other leading Texas super markets, have taken a position against this type of legislation. It is our conviction that price legislation is detrimental to free enterprise; that it is a further step toward governmental control of business, and not in the best interest of the consumer.

This proposed legislation does not affect the price paid to the dairy farmer, as this is already controlled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, but it will dictate the minimum price we woud be allowed to charge our milk customers . . . not the maximum price. You, the customer, already dictate that price.

We need your assistance to prevent this from happening. If you are a qualified voter in Texas, your name on a petition will help to provide an opportunity for voters of Texas to take a stand against milk price fixing, by such a Texas Dairy Commission. If enough signatures are secured, the voters will have an opportunity to vote against high milk prices during the May primary elections, which will indicate to the Texas Legislature your true position on this issue. In states which have established miilk commissions, the retail prices have been increased as much as 28%. We feel sure that you don't want that to happen here.

Starting Thursday morning, Jan. 11 at 9:00 A.M., Gibson's will open registration booths in each of its Gibson's Discount Centers. These booths will contain petitions to both the Democratic and Republican State Executive Committees, to submit to the qualified electorate at the general primary election to be held in May, 1968, the following question, which shall be presented on the ballot in the following form:

THIS PROPOSITION IS ONLY AN EXPRESSION OF PUBLIC OPINION AND HAS NO FORCE OR EFFECT AS LAW:

This is a sample wording of the proposition that would be placed on the voting machine or the ballot in May, 1968.

FOR enactment by the Texas Legislature of a law creating the Texas Dairy Commission with the power to regulate and fix the retail and wholesale price of milk.

AGAINST enactment by the Texas Legislature of a law creating the Texas Dairy Commission with the power to regulate and fix the retail and wholesale price of milk.

YOU DO NOT VOTE FOR OR AGAINST ON THE PETITION. YOU ARE SIMPLY EXPRESSING YOUR DESIRE FOR THE ABOVE PROPOSITION TO BE PLACED ON THE BALLOT IN MAY, 1968.

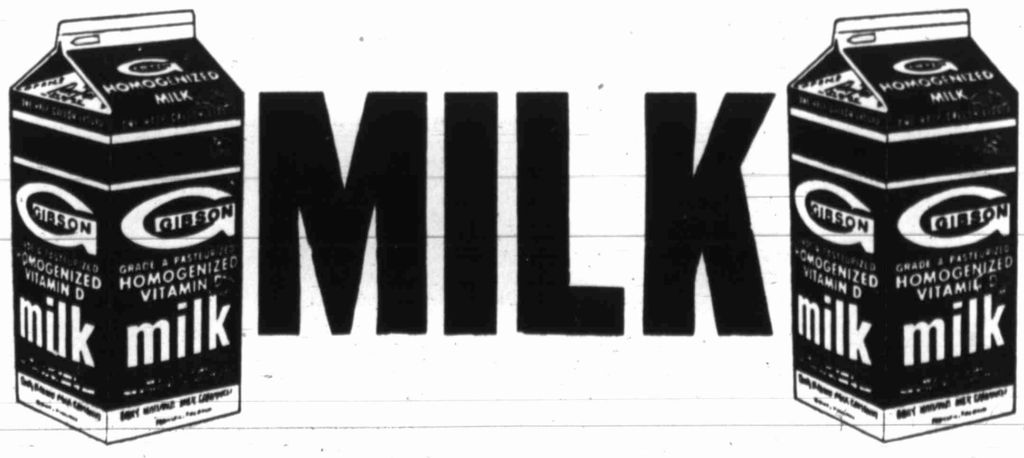

We, of Gibson's, are against legislation that controls retail pricing. We feel that controls of this nature should be decided by the voters through the use of the ballot.

We are asking your support by asking that you petition your party to place this issue on the primary ballot so that the people can determine the issue for themselves by voting—and not be compelled to leave the decision to the legislators—and lobbyists.

A Devotional For The Day

I lift up my eyes to the hills. From whence does my help come? My help comes from the Lord, who made heaven and earth. (Psalm 121:1-2, RSV)

PRAYER: Dear Father, we bow in awe as we behold the world Thou hast made. In humility we ask with the psalmist, "What is man, that thou art mindful of him?" We thank Thee for Thy love and care made manifest through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Too Restrictive

There was a time when unscrupulous, greedy men operated sweat shops which were sustained by child labor. In good conscience, the nation rebelled against this intolerable condition and enacted statutes to prevent the exploitation of children.

But somewhere along the line this protection has become entangled with minimum wage requirements, which realistically were intended for adult situations. In numerous instances, however, it has blocked off businesses from helping boys and girls who are anxious to work, to learn a business, to employ their time constructively and creatively.

The National Federation of Independent Businesses passes on this observation of the owner of a medium size food market in a smaller New Mexico city: "I had one boy who worked for me who is today vice president of a Seattle bank; another who now works as a government saline water plant specialist; another who now works all over the world manning satellite tracking stations; another who now teaches school; another who won first place in state public speaking contest and is now working his way through college in a grocery store . . ." He lists several more instances where boys who learned to work in his store went on to become successful individuals.

But not any more because the wage requirements and other regulations make it impractical to employ boys even under enlightened working conditions. You can understand his perplexity of spending thousands of dollars to train young men when many of them could be trained in private, small businesses if common sense prevailed.

Removing Unsightliness

In a meeting this week in Chicago, William H. Miller, vice president of American Oil Company, told a meeting that his company will assume oil industry leadership in community beautification by razing abandoned service stations which are unsightly.

In the last analysis, he added, it will be up to individual suppliers and jobbers as well as owners to take action to remove this blight. In his company's case, it is going to demolish abandoned stations not suitable for other acceptable uses. "We recognize that this is going to cost a good deal of money. But we believe that in the long run — and not too long run, at that — the benefits of greater public respect will mean greater opportunities for us to serve the public."

This is a commendable step, and one worthy of emulation. All across the country there are thousands of decaying, unsafe, unsightly stations which have fallen victim to change in traffic routes and patterns. What an improvement it would be if they were wiped off the landscape.

And what an improvement it would be here if owners could be persuaded to demolish old buildings which have no further prospect of use. Some of this can be done under the city's program dealing with hazardous buildings, but owners could extend the blessings by acting on marginal buildings.

And finally, what about those dead trees all over town? These are ugly and sometime unsafe, but they are on private property.

Johnson As A News-Maker

WASHINGTON — As a President in office in an election year Lyndon Johnson is out to demonstrate how he can dominate the news and keep attention focused on the man doing the job. Such is the enormously expanded power of the Presidency that this advantage cannot be exaggerated.

Following the State of the Union message a stream of recommendations, statements and exhortations will pour from the White House. These are not merely the speeches or white papers of a candidate for office. They are official papers commanding the headlines.

IN FOREIGN POLICY the authority of the Chief Executive carries the same weight. Already preliminary planning is beginning for an Asian summit to be held probably in early April.

Early next spring he will be on the television screens again demonstrating his devotion to the defense of freedom in Asia. And a third visit to the troops in Vietnam will be beyond doubt be on the schedule of a jet-propelled President.

THE FOREIGN MINISTERS of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization are to meet in Wellington, New Zealand, on April 2. After they have met for three days, it is now contemplated, heads of government of five or six of the SEATO powers will come for a full-dress summit.

Both on the domestic and the foreign side 1968 will be for the President the year of the big promise. The promissory notes will not fall due until 1969, since the shadow of a record budgetary deficit and the urgent need to stop the serious outflow of the dollar overshadow the current year.

THE PRESIDENT will recommend a large-scale plan for reshaping the cities and breaking the barriers of the ghettos. The plan will lean heavily, according to advance indications, on private enterprise to carry a sizable part of the load with tax incentives as the carrot. He pledged in his television interview in December that if private enterprise failed to absorb the jobless in the slums the government would become the employer of last resort.

WHILE THE Chief Executive can create news and often take the play away from his challengers, he cannot forestall bad news. New outbreaks of urban rioting — what dire prophets foresee as a form of guerrilla warfare — would present Johnson with horrendous choices. He would surely have to call on Federal troops to prevent loss of life and destruction of property. The prospect of an urban ghetto cordoned off for an indefinite period in a kind of apartheid can hardly cheer the Executive, on whose shoulders the heaviest responsibility falls.

SIMILARLY IN foreign policy the President can lead but he cannot anticipate reverses. Great pressure is being put on the South Vietnamese government to demonstrate reform and pacification and, above all, to show what the South Vietnamese army can do. American officials are pressured to come up with hopeful reports.

One thing is sure — at home and abroad the President will be both literally and figuratively all over the place. His swinging impact as a newsmaker cannot be discounted.

Billy Graham

I heard you preach a sermon once on the radio on the commandment "Thou shalt not steal." You had some thought provoking things to say, but I have forgotten most of them. Could you refresh my mind on the deeper meaning of theft? F. T.

Stealing goes much deeper than the taking of objects which do not belong to you. Although few of us have been guilty of thievery, most of us have broken the commandment, "Thou shalt not steal."

Almost every sin is bound up with stealing, and this loathesome sin can be seen in just about every one of the Ten Commandments. When we make "unto ourselves graven images," we rob God of the reverence and respect which is due Him. When we bear false witness we steal from our neighbor the dignity that is his. When we break the Sabbath we steal precious hours that belong to God alone. When we commit adultery, we pilfer the love and affection that belongs to another. Even when we use God's name in vain, we rob Him of the praise and glory that should be His.

When we fail to live fully committed Christian lives, we are robbing God of the most precious thing in the world: a life surrendered to Him. In a thousand ways we have all stolen, and the Bible exhorts, "Let him who stole, steal no more." God blesses the honest, upright man, and His blessing cannot be upon us if we rob Him of His glory, and of the honor He merits.

Miners Make $4.50 A Week

PATNA, India (AP) — Bihar state has 467 of India's 788 working coal mines, employing more than 200,000 persons daily, the government's chief inspector of mines reported.

The report says Bihar's coal workers earn a "fairly high" salary in comparison with other Indian workers. They average 33 rupees ($4.50) per week.

Zsa Zsa Goes Ga-Ga Over Frog Legs

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In the future you may be able to eat your wornout wool suits and sweaters instead of throwing them away. Scientists in New Zealand have found a way to turn wool into food proteins. They don't have the taste thrill of steak—but they are said to maintain life.

WE ARE HAVING a pet population explosion as well as a human one. Dogs and cats in the United States now number about 50 million, or one for every four people.

Incidentally, advocates of equal rights might look into the fact that most local governments discriminate against lady dogs. Average license fees for a male dog are only $1.31, but for a female dog they are $3.10, according to the American Humane Association.

If you're having Zsa Zsa Gabor to dinner soon, be sure to serve frog legs as the main course. She jumps at every chance to enjoy her favorite delicacy.

DID YOU SHOW up for work today? Well, two million other Americans probably didn't. That's the daily job absenteeism rate.

President Johnson wants us to cut down on foreign travel, so if you want to please him why not see America first by visiting Rome, N.Y., Athens, Ga., and Paris, Ill.

Quotable notables: "Be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living, and your belief will help create the fact."—William James.

Clotheshorse: John Whyte, one of Manhattan's top male models, has a $10,000 wardrobe. Make you jealous, ladies?

SAFETY STATISTICS: U.S. motor vehicles now travel 900 billion miles a year, says the National Foundation for Highway Safety. But 87 per cent of accidents are caused by vehicles that account for only 17 per cent of the total mileage.

Prosperity note: Every hour of the day, the federal government now spends at least $1 million more than it takes in. Uncle Sam apparently believes in the old saying, "You can't take it with you."

WORTH REMEMBERING: "The only people with whom you should try to get even are those who have helped you."

Folklore: If you don't have money in your pocket on New Year's Day, you'll be broke the rest of the year. Getting a hair cut drives away bad spirits. Drinking a potion of pine bark boiled in water will cure ulcers. If a butterfly flies into your house, that's a sign of an impending wedding.

ODDITIES to tell at the next cocktail party you attend: Baby sitters now earn a billion dollars annually. All bears except the polar bear have poor eyesight. About 20 per cent of U.S. citizens change their address each year. Female insects usually have more body fluid than males.

Unforgetfable household hint from the Farm and Home Almanac: "To keep peanut butter on bread from sticking to the roof of your mouth, turn the bread upside down."

It was Clarence Darrow who observed, "If a man is happy in America, it is considered he is doing something wrong."

LBJ's Message Called Mild

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union message to Congress Wednesday night was not one of his masterpieces.

He cut it to the bone. No trimmings. And also no color. No hint this would be his most critical year with its presidential election. No political overtones. Just straightaway.

And two of his main points at least—Vietnam and an income tax boost—were simply repetitions of his 1967 State of the Union message.

THIS WAS the way he chose to launch his 1968 presidential campaign—no one seems to doubt he will run again although he hasn't said yes or no—for every thing he says this year will affect some voter's view of him.

In short, he left the heat and the oratory for later this year. He confined himself strictly to American conditions.

He didn't even go into details about the one thing which has kept the Vietnam pot bubbling and boiling. This was North Vietnam's suggestion Jan. 1—it could be a phony—that it is willing to start peace talks if the United States will stop the bombing unconditionally, and all other acts of war.

EVER SINCE Hanoi made this suggestion American critics have called for an end to the bombing, either temporarily, to see what Hanoi is up to, or permanently.

Johnson ignored the critics directly, simply saying the bombing would stop if talks "took place promptly."

But the one thing he made clear—despite all the criticism he has had to endure because of the war and the fact that a war still going on at election time may affect the outcome—is that the United States will continue the war.

This is the same position he took in his State of the Union message last year.

LAST YEAR he also asked Congress to impose a six per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes. Conress ignored him in 1967. Wednesday night he asked for the surtax again, but now he wants a 10 per cent hike.

He had hardly anything new to add to what he said last year about trying to prevent crime in the streets and asked Congress this year to approve the crime control proposal he made in 1967.

Skin-Planning Has Its Limitations

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am interested in having both cheeks of my face planed. Would I have to go to a hospital? Can parts be planed, and not the entire cheek? How long does it take for the skin to heal? What is the cost? — Miss K.P.

Call it skin planing, dermabrasion, sanding, or whatever, the process has its uses and its limitations. It consists of removing the outer layers of skin, then letting new skin grow there.

The treatment, ordinarily done by plastic surgeons or by dermatologists trained in the technique, depending on the size of the area to be treated.

It takes from 10 to 14 days for the skin to heal — and care must be taken to protect it from any infection. The original planing has to be done under surgically sterile conditions.

Various rotary tools have been used, sometimes sterile steel wire brushes, sometimes a gritty-surfaced revolving cylinder, giving the term "sanding." The purpose is the same, and the planing is done under local anesthesia.

The exactly correct depth of skin must be removed, deep enough so the surface oozes blood, not deep enough to destroy the underlying skin layers from which the new skin will grow.

Thus you cannot expect the planing to be inexpensive. Exact cost is difficult to estimate without knowing the magnitude of the individual case. When I am asked — as so often I am — about cost and "where to find a specialist for this," the only satisfactory reply I can give is this: Go to your regular physician and ask to be referred to the proper specialist. Ask him what the cost will be, then you can decide whether to have it done.

Keep in mind that this is not like sandpapering a piece of wood. One is dealing with living tissue. Irritated tissue can become scarred. Some degree of scarring, therefore, is possible from skin planing.

I do not mean to alarm anyone considering having this done. Specialists skilled in the process know what they are doing and get good results.

However, they also must evaluate a patient's condition and decide whether suitable improvement is going to result. I have known of individuals being refused by plastic surgeons and dermatologists. One went to quite a number and was turned down by all because they could not promise that planing would be beneficial.

What are ulcers? How should they be treated? What can you do to help rid yourself of ulcers and stay rid of them? For answers, read Dr. Molner's helpful booklet, "How To Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed." For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Sounding Off For Signing On

Probably few things the City of Big Spring has ever done has resulted in so much outside interest as its campground for trailers at the east entrance to the City Park. City Manager Larry Crow has said that he has not received so many congratulatory letters for anything in his many years as an administrator.

LITTLE WONDER. The campground is ideally located for the camper, and it has almost every modern convenience — particularly in the matter of restrooms and hot running water. The park has had night after night of "full house" as a result.

As we have maintained from this corner in past times, such a facility was certain to prove popular and we have other sites that could be developed in the same manner. Moss Creek Lake is the best example.

THE RECREATIONAL facilities are already there. The camp ground is already there. The City has made big strides in recent years in providing more and more facilities for the convenience of the camper. But the casual tourist would have trouble finding it.

The signs are few and none of them point out the advantages to be found at the lake. Also, the roadway leaves something to be desired in getting there.

WE SEEM TO have a paucity of signs to a number of other tourist curiosa. In Colorado, the roadways are practically lined with signs giving the name of every peak.

We have a major signpost of another era in the Moss Lake area, and no sign to tell its history or even its name.

We have one of the saltiest places in the world on the west edge of town, but no sign.

WE HAVE a beautiful drive in our state park, but no sign. And the list might go on. For instance, you would be hard pressed to even find a city limits sign on some roadways.

We do a lot of worrying about major developments and museums and parks, as well we should. But the little things are important as well. Like a few sighs.

South Vietnamese Have A Say-So

WASHINGTON—Probably the most significant development in the Vietnam war situation in a long time is a speech just delivered by the President of the South Vietnam Republic, in which he criticized the United States for assuming the initiative in negotiating peace in Vietnam. He feels that this is the function of his own government.

ACTUALLY, President Nguyen Van Thieu is right from the standpoint of International law. For the United States has sent its troops to the battle region at the request of the South Vietnamese government and is, therefore, in the status of an ally which may consult with other allies and with the government at Saigon. But the final decision as to whether North Vietnam shall continue to be bombed and whether armed forces should be sent into Cambodia in "hot pursuit" rests with the South Vietnamese government.

THE SOUTH VIETNAM President declared that any unconditional halting of the bombing of Vietnam is "preposterous" and "absurd," and he urged instead that every pressure be exerted against North Vietnam and the Viet Cong unless they stop their aggression.

The speech, which was delivered to South Vietnamese newspaper editors, is said to reflect a fear among officials of the Saigon government—particularly the military men—that President Johnson may conclude a peace agreement with the Communists which will be unsatisfactory to the South Vietnamese government.

THIS IS THE first time that even what may prove to be a mere difference of opinion, rather than a rift, between the United States and the new government in South Vietnam has appeared. It could have constructive results, because too many people in the United States, particularly in Congress, have been talking as if the United States is in complete control of the actions of the South Vietnamese government and as if the latter would do as bidden by the Washington administration. This naturally produces resentment and causes uneasiness in South Vietnam.

THE GOVERNMENT of South Vietnam is fighting to preserve its independence and to repel the aggressor forces of North Vietnam which are trying to conquer the South. It cannot afford any peace arrangement which might weaken the South Vietnamese government and possibly lead to domination and a takeover by North Vietnam. President Thieu issued a plain warning when he said:

"The Republic of Vietnam most naturally should have the central role in any development relating to the events in Vietnam."

AFTER PRESIDENT Thieu's speech was reported in the American press, Secretary of State Dean Rusk issued a statement reiterating the basic principle that "the South Vietnamese people must determine their own future without external interference." He said the United States stands by its declaration of December 8 that "the imposition of any coalition government would be at variance with this principle."

President Johnson, to be sure, has made the same point before. But evidently there are individuals, inside and outside Congress, as well as organizations which seem to think the President of the United States can push a button and end the Vietnam war at will. The Johnson administration has indicated plainly that it will not make peace in Vietnam unless terms satisfactory to the South Vietnamese are obtained.

That Domino Theory

WASHINGTON — One of the most discussed political theories of our time is the so-called "domino theory" which the administration uses to justify most of the reasons why we are in Vietnam. The domino theory is based on the premise that countries in Southeast Asia are like so many dominoes, and if one falls, the next one will fall until every country out there is down and taken over by godless communism.

WHILE THERE has been a great deal of talk about the domino theory, very little attention has been paid to the man who originally thought it up, and I decided it was time somebody talked to him.

His name, it turns out, is Sam Domino and he lives in Forest Hills, N. Y., where I found him on a recent Sunday afternoon playing gin rummy.

When I expressed surprise at this, he explained, "Dominoes bore me."

"Mr. Domino, your domino theory is the touchstone of our American military and diplomatic thrust in Southeast Asia. Could you explain how you thought it up?"

"WELL, ONE evening we were having a buffet and there were about 20 for some chicken cacciatore when my uncle, who was first in line, slipped and fell backward. He knocked over my aunt standing in back of him and she in turn, knocked over my cousin, who knocked over my son and so on until all 20 people were on the floor. It suddenly occurred to me that if this could happen to people, it could happen to countries."

"So what did you do?"

"I wrote a letter to John Foster Dulles, who was then our secretary of state."

"But who named it the domino theory?"

"MY WIFE. She said when she read the letter, 'Sam, put your name on it so they won't give you any credit.' At first I was reluctant to do so, but then I figured I had nothing to lose so I specifically said that if they used any part of my letter, they'd have to mention me as the author of the theory.

"Much to my surprise, Dulles answered the letter. He said that up until I had written, the State Department had been fooling around with brinkmanship, which had been advocated by a man named Brinkman, who lived in Bethesda, Md. Dulles felt that the domino theory was a new approach to the cold war, and he thanked me personally for bringing it to his attention."

"How did he know it would work?"

"HE LINED UP 20 State Department employes in the cafeteria, and tried the same experiment. When the first one in line fell, the others fell behind him. This was proof enough as far as he was concerned."

"And so the domino theory was then practically applied to the countries in Southeast Asia?"

"Yup. From then through the Kennedy and Johnson administrations our whole commitment in that part of the world has been based on my theory. If it hadn't been for my wife, no one would have ever heard of me."

"YOU MUST BE very proud."

"I am, but I'm starting to get a little worried."

"What is that?"

"The other night I had another party and again my uncle was first in line and again he fell, but this time everyone was braced for it and no one else fell. It shot my domino theory to hell."

"You'd better get off a letter to Dean Rusk right away."

"My wife said I'd better forget it. I've caused enough trouble already."

Needs Police

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky State Police is turning to the ranks of returning military servicemen in an attempt to bring its force up to full strength.

Police headquarters gets the names and records of men being discharged from the service, and then contacts those who seem to meet physical and educational requirements for troopers.

The force has been unable to find enough recruits to increase its trooper strength by 50 a year, as authorized by the 1966 legislature.

CALLS 'REALLY TRUE' CEASE-FIRE FIRST STEP IN VIET PEACE TALKS

LBJ Proposes War Against Crime, Big-City Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposes expanding the war against crime and big-city problems and lists a "really true" cease-fire as a priority goal in any Vietnam peace talks.

TAX HIKE

The President, in his Wednesday night State of the Union message to Congress, again urged enactment of a 10 per cent income tax hike to help pay for new attacks on unemployment and slum housing.

Johnson said it would take a $10.4 billion boost in spending to finance on-going programs in reporting the fiscal 1969 budget would reach a record $186 billion—with a built-in $8 billion deficit sure to go higher if the tax boost isn't approved.

Only when he called for federal action to aid cities and states in combatting crime and to halt "mail order murder" through gun-control legislation did the President get enthusiastic reaction from the lawmakers during his 51-minute, nationally televised address.

Many members of Congress did not attend the joint session.

JOBS PROGRAM

Johnson's renewed demand that North Vietnam respond with military restraint to a halt in U.S. bombing found such war-policy critics as Sens. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., responding with silence amid applause.

Johnson drew greater applause in calling for a $2.1 billion program aimed at creating jobs for 500,000 hard-core jobless through federal-private business cooperation and a $1 billion slum rebuilding program.

In another major domestic proposal, the President suggested a 10-year program to provide six million new housing units for low and middle-income families.

He prefaced his domestic proposals, which included calls for new prenatal care and consumer protection programs, by saying:

"In our cities last summer we saw how wide is the gulf for some Americans between the premise and the reality of our society.

"We cannot change all of this in a day ... The issue is not whether we can change this; the issue is whether we will change this.

"I know we can. I believe we will."

Johnson's estimate that the Southeast Asia conflict will cost $25 billion in the fiscal year beginning July 1 was immediately disputed by Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican conference. Laird said the cost will be nearer $30 billion.

Asking for 100 additional FBI agents, the president predicted the nation will change frustrations into achievements to alleviate the despair in "the cities where the fires of disorder burned last summer."

"We can make progress only by attacking the causes of violence and only where there is civil order founded on justice."

The President failed to pack the House. On the floor there were 29 vacant seats despite the hurried movement of aides and pages to fill the yawning spaces.

WARNING

Of the 100 Senators only 53 were present, including 30 of the 64 Democrats and 23 of the 36 Republicans. Of the 435 House members, only about 250 were present. Some members may possibly have decided to listen and view the speech on television in less crowded and more comfortable quarters.

Johnson's renewed call for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge got a frigid reception. There was no response from the floor when he warned: "Interest rates have passed the peak of 1966; and if there is continued inaction on the tax bill they will climb even higher.

"I warn the nation that this failure to act will sweep us into an accelerating spiral of price increases; a slump in home building; and continuing erosion of the American dollar."

The "unified budget" which Johnson said he will present Jan. 29 will for the first time include expenditures for such huge government trust funds as Social Security and highway and other activities.

Sixteen Dutch Crewmen Battle To Stay Afloat

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen crewmen on a small Dutch freighter battled to stay afloat today as their foundering vessel was slammed by huge waves and high winds in a mid-Atlantic gale.

The Coast Guard reported the captain of the 239-foot freighter decided at dawn today to postpone a planned second attempt to abandon ship as snow squalls struck lowering visibility.

Although listing so badly her deck was awash on the port side, the ship was reported riding better as winds moderated to about 35 knots.

One crewman was reported seriously injured with a head wound.

RAFTS LOST

An attempt to abandon ship Wednesday resulted in the loss of two life rafts and a dinghy to the 25-foot seas and 60-knot winds leaving only two larger life boats aboard the freighter.

Two larger merchant ships were standing by and a Coast Guard C130 aircraft was circling overhead as the Ocean Sprinter labored along at about four knots some 1,300 miles east of here.

Fem Forger Is Sought

Efforts are under way today to identify a woman who has cashed seven forged checks in Big Spring in the last two weeks, using a different name on each check, and favoring pharmacies as the place to pass the bogus instruments.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said all of the forged checks are on Plains National Bank of Lubbock. None is for more than $20 and most are for much smaller sums.

He said that he has a photograph received from Lubbock of a woman who appears to answer the description of the one who passed the checks here. The establishments where she called are to be canvassed today to see if any employe remembers the forger.

27 Tax Pros Are Arrested

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of federal taxpayers and accountants face "very intensive investigation," U.S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau said after 22 Internal Revenue Service agents, four former agents and a certified public accountant were arrested.

They were charged Wednesday with bribery.

Morgenthau said the 27 men had paid $10,000 in bribes to an unidentified undercover tax inspector in an attempt to get him to disclose confidential information about themselves, including any evidence connecting them with bribes from taxpayers.

Morgenthau indicated charges will be filed against taxpayers and accountants for allegedly paying bribes to the agents for favorable audits of their tax returns.

"There will be a very intensive investigation of the tax returns these people (the IRS agents) were involved in auditing, and of the accountants and taxpayers they dealt with," he said.

Morgenthau said the $10,000 alleged bribes—in payments of $100 to $2,500—were given to the undercover inspector in restaurants, bars and other public places over 10 months and in most instances the meetings were secretly photographed by investigators.

Morgenthau said a special federal grand jury would begin hearing testimony today in the latest phase of the four-year-old probe of corruption in IRS offices here. An estimated 300 taxpayers, lawyers and accountants are to be called as witnesses.

Prior to Wednesday's arrests, the probe had led to the arrests of 65 IRS employes and 81 other persons — including taxpayers, lawyers, accountants and tax advisers.

For the land, damages and a water contract, the jury of view commission had made an award of $764,000. Parties to the suit because of mineral or life estate interests are Patricia Steph, Mrs. Gwen L. Tucker, and Mrs. Sadie Gwen Blackburn.

QBC Honors Grid Contingent At 7

Tickets will be available at the gate at this evening's Quarterback Club banquet honoring members of the 1967 Big Spring football team and their coaches.

TONY MASON

The meal will be served in the high school cafeteria, which seats 600, starting at 7 o'clock. Ducats sell for $3 each and the sponsoring organization is hoping for a full house.

The Daily Herald's Players of the Year will be identified and scrolls will be passed out to the top lineman and back. Several other awards will be made, including one for the boy who made the greatest contribution to the team in the eyes of the coaches.

Chief speaker of the evening will be the celebrated Tony Mason of the University of Michigan coaching staff, a silver-tongued orator said to be one of the most gifted talkers in America.

Mason will land at the Midland airport this afternoon where he will be picked up by head coach Spike Dykes and be brought to Big Spring.

Mason, who for 10 years coached outstanding high school teams around Niles, Ohio, will leave shortly after the banquet for Dallas where this weekend he'll speak at the annual Kodak Coach of the Year football clinic.

Banquet tickets can be purchased in advance from Don Newsom and Jess Slaughter, co-captains of the booster organization.

Incoming captains of the QBC will be announced during the meeting.

The Rev. Leo K. Gee of the First Methodist Church will deliver the invocation. Jim Baum will serve as master of ceremonies.

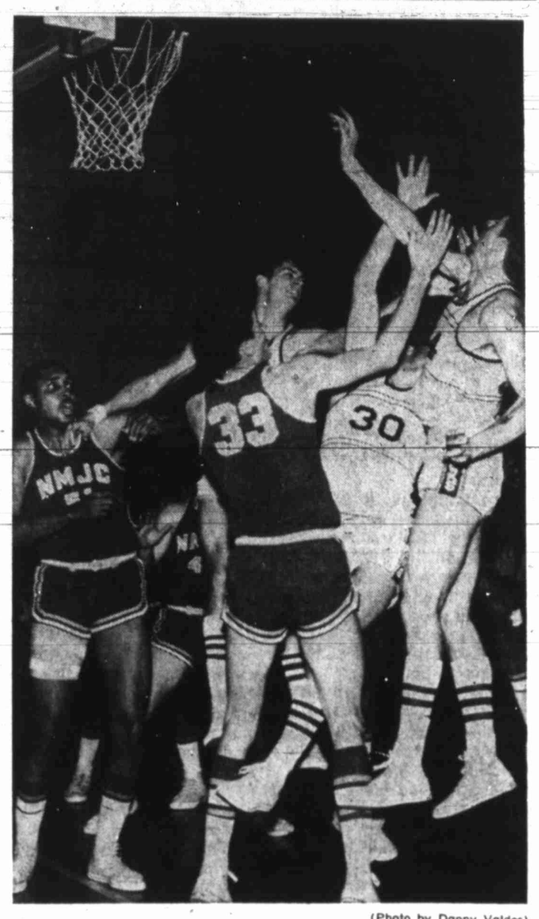

Football players present will total about 165, including 75 freshman boys.

Mason recently helped his boss, Bump Elliott, coach the North to a 24-0 victory over the South in the annual Shrine game at Miami, Fla. Mason had much to do with setting up the winners' defense.

The native of Sharon, Pa., once coached a high school team at Niles McKinley High in Ohio which went through 47 games without suffering a defeat.

One of his high school clubs was voted the mythical title of national champion. Two of his elevens copped Ohio state championships. Mason also coached in the Ohio high school all-star game. He coached high school teams in both Brookfield and Niles in Ohio. Over-all, his high school coaching record was a glittering 87-9-7.

Mason graduated from both Penn State and Westminister. He is in demand all over the country as a speaker.

With Tommy Hart

Joe Davis, who is quitting as a coaching aide at Rice University after 27 years, once told ex-Big Springer Peppy Blount that had he gone to Rice rather than the University of Texas he (Peppy) would now be president of Humble Oil Company.

Peppy actually signed to attend Rice but his commanding officer at Santa Ana Pre-Flight School in California, a Texas Ex, talked him into switching to the Austin school, where he gained quite a reputation for flagging down passes. Peppy played in the first Texas game he ever saw.

Blount, now a Longview attorney who works as a game official for the AFL, toiled in a game at Oakland the past season in which the New York Jets played (and lost to) Oakland. The Jets, he says, keep an official hopping.

Blount says he saw ex-Colorado City Jet Don Maynard give the defensive halfback three separate fakes on one play in Shea Stadium earlier in the year, with quarterback Joe Namath pumping the ball on each fake to add emphasis to the play, before Maynard ultimately broke free to catch the ball for a 30-yard completion. Those fakes, Peppy adds, often become difficult for the officials to follow.

Maynard probably had his best season ever with the Jets and he has enjoyed many outstanding ones in the AFL. He topped all receivers in yards gained with 1,434 and in average gain per catch (20.2). His 71 receptions was second on the club only to George Sauer (who caught 75) and his ten touchdowns were third high.

How much do Don's team-mates respect him? He was named the Most Valuable Player on the squad in a ballot conducted among the Jet players.

The Jets drew the astonishing total of 437,036 paying customers to their home games and lured 273,092 through the turnstiles on the road.

The grandstand at the high school baseball park here has been refurbished but the playing field still needs lots of work.

The best thing that could happen to the facility would be to replace the skinned part of the diamond with red clay but the cost may be prohibitive.

Baseball Coach Oakey Hagood had planned to stage an invitational tournament here in the spring but there won't be time before conference play begins March 26.

The resident Steers are defending champions of the Andrews meet, scheduled March 21-22-23, and are committed to return there.

The freshman basketball team at SMU averaged 102 points a game in its first four starts this season, yet failed to post a victory.

The caliber of opposition was excellent. The Colts' losses came at the hands of Kilgore (twice), Tyler and Lon Morris junior colleges.

Lee Roy Caffey, the former Texas Aggie, hit the jackpot in professional football.

He reasons he has earned $72,000 in extra game pay over a period of four seasons with the Green Bay Packers. He's plowing part of his profits back into watermelons which he grows on a farm near Thorndale—which he sells for a neat return in Green Bay.

Drake Powers Way To Win Over Cyclones

By The Associated Press

Beware of the Bulldog—even reserve Bulldogs.

Drake fought off Iowa State for a 72-67 victory over Iowa State Wednesday night, and it was a couple of reserves who put the bite into the Bulldogs' attack when it was needed.

In avenging an earlier defeat and running their record to 12-2 the Bulldogs built up a 28-10 lead, but Iowa State fought back to tie at 52-52 with 8:21 left.

Then, with Drake leading by just one point, 58-57, two foul shots by Willie McCarter, the key Bulldog, and four points by reserve Ron Gwin sparked the Bulldogs to a 66-57 lead with 3:15 remaining.

Iowa State again rallied, closing to within 69-65 in the final minute, but baskets by McCarter and another reserve, Nelson Whitaker, clinched it for Drake.

McCarter scored 2 points for the Missouri Valley Conference Bulldogs. Bill Cain put in 18 for Iowa State, a Big Eight team.

Georgia scored its last six points on foul shots, including four by Dick McIntosh, and edged Mississippi State 81-77 in a Southeastern Conference game at Starkville, Miss.

Georgia, 3-3 in the league and 8-4 over-all, was led by 6-foot-11 sophomore Bob Lienhart's 29 points. Tommy Payne collected 28 for State, 2-4 in the SEC and 6-8 over-all.

Virginia Tech, which got off to a stumbling start this season, posted its sixth straight victory by overcoming a 10-point deficit and downing Eastern Kentucky 84-74 at Blacksburg, Va. Tech now is 9-6.

None of the teams in The Associated Press' major college Top Ten saw action, but the top two ranked small college clubs posted victories.

No. 1 Evansville drubbed Valparaiso 97-74 at home, and second-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan set a school record by thrashing Kentucky State 125-80, also at home.

Tennis Team Is At Work

The weather is still cold outside but, to coach Frank Pulattie and his high school tennis team, it doesn't matter.

Every afternoon finds the coach and his 40 prospective team members working out, using all the high school courts and overflowing into the Junior College and city park surfaces.

The netters are working out in cold and high winds in preparation for the spring tour of dual meets, which begin in February. Pulattie has at least one meet scheduled for every weekend and additional practice rounds for the middle of the week.

Pulattie intends to enter team members in several area tournaments including San Angelo, Midland, Brownwood, and Abilene.

All these meets are intended to sharpen skills in anticipation of the district, regional and state meets, Pulattie stated.

Angelo is this year's host for the District 2-AAAA clashes, scheduled April 5-6. Winners there advance to Odessa for the regional matches April 20. Successful conquests there lead to Austin for the May 3-4 state matches.

SATURDAY CONFLICT AVOIDED

Region VI-B Finals Advanced By DeViney

Dr. Dawson DeViney of HCJC, director of the Region VI-B Basketball tournament scheduled here Feb. 29-March 1-2, said he had been authorized to change the starting times of two games in order to avoid conflict with the Region V (junior college) meet which will be staged here the same weeknd.

The third place contest Saturday, March 2, will get under way at 2 p.m. while the championship contest is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m. Ordinarily, the contests are at night. All the VI-B high school games will be in the HCJC Gymnasium.

The Region V juco tournament will be held in the more spacious high school fieldhouse. Eight teams will be involved in the junior college tournament, including the host school, HCJC.

The Region VI-B (high school) meet will involve five teams which earlier in the week will have survived bi-district action. Winner of the VI-B meet qualifies for the right to play in the State tournament at Austin.

One game will be played Thursday, Feb. 29, in the VI-B meet, starting at 7:30 p.m. Two contests are on tap Friday, with the first one scheduled for 7 p.m.

The third place contest in the Region V (junior college) meet begins at 7 p.m., Saturday while the title goes on the line at 9 p.m.

Winner of the junior college tournament becomes eligible to take part in the National Junior College tournament scheduled later in March in Hutchinson, Kan.

Big Spring is playing host to the junior college tournament for the first time. Co-sponsors of the Region V tournament are the American Business Club and Howard County Junior College.

Sucker Shift Outlawed By Rules Committee

MIAMI (AP) — Three types of guys who knowingly—but legally—contribute to college football's high toll of injuries have been outlawed by the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

These are the villains:

The safety who gives a fake fair catch signal, making himself immune from tackling, then throws a crushing block into an unsuspecting enemy coming down to cover the punt.

The flanker who goes wide, then cuts back into a neutral zone behind the line of scrimmage to clip a linebacker.

The lineman who goes into a sucker shift to draw the opposition offside.

These maneuvers, condoned by tricky coaches, have led to many injuries, Ivan B. Williamson, the committee chairman said Wednesday, and prohibiting them "will make football a safer game."

Under new rules, the safety who gives a fair catch signal will not be allowed to block while the ball is in play. If he does, his team draws a 15-yard penalty.

In the past, clipping has been legal in a zone three feet deep along the interior line. In the future, no player more than five yards outside this zone may enter it and throw a clip. The penalty will be the usual 15 yards.

To prevent sucker shifts, no lineman will be allowed to move before the snap of the ball once he has assumed a position with a hand on the ground. A shift will bring a five-yard penalty.

Ranger College Is Still First In Region V Poll

Ranger still leads the Region V basketball poll conducted among coaches following last week's games.

The Rangers had a 13-4 won-lost record at the time and was averaging 94 points a game, compared to 70.7 for the opposition.

Clarendon, also 13-4, moved up to second place on the ballot while Christian College of the Southwest (Dallas) slumped to third.

Howard County JC advanced to sixth in the vote, past Odessa and Amarillo.

The ratings:

Bengals Could Draft A 2nd Quarterback

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The college draft is the next shopping stop for the American Football League's new-born Cincinnati Bengals.

Paul Brown's Bengals were stocked with 40 veteran players in the AFL's expansion draft here but the head coach and owner of the new club made it clear that he expected more talent to come out of the college market.

"One thing I won't do," said Brown, "is to mortgage my club by trading draft picks for older players."

The Bengals, who choose second behind only Minnesota in the Jan. 30 collegiate draft, are likely to go after a quarterback. There are three good ones available, UCLA's Gary Beban, Alabama's Kenny Stabler and Florida State's Kim Hammond.

Cincinnati already owns one signal caller—John Stofa. He was acquired in a pre-draft trade with Miami in which the Bengals surrendered two collegiate picks.

"It was a good trade for us," said Brown, "because we got an experienced quarterback something you can't find everywhere."

Stofa, 25, sat out last season with a broken ankle and he'll have plenty of medical company in the Bengals' backfield.

Two of Brown's picks in the expansion draft are question marks because of severe leg injuries. Buffalo's Bobby Burnett, the AFL's rookie of the year in 1966, will try to bounce back from a broken right leg and Cookie Gilchrist of Denver hopes to shake the effects of surgery on his left knee.

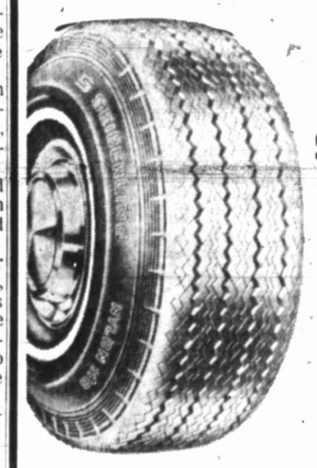

The Bengals also got an all-star—linebacker Frank Buncom from San Diego—as well as the Chargers' place kicker—Dick Van Raaphorst.

Kansas City contributed two familiar names to the Bengals in split end Chris Burford and linebacker Sherrill Headrick, both AFL veterans.

Up front, Cincinnati got Buffalo's Gary Bugenhagen, an All-American at Syracuse two years ago, and Oakland's Richard Sligh, a 8-foot, 300-pound defensive tackle, among others.

NEW FM 700 LANE PUT IN SERVICE
Crew finishes painting safety stripes on road

New Lane Opened On Rebuilt Road

Traffic was moving over the newly built south segment of FM 700 today and barriers have been thrown up on the east and west of the old crossing on US 87 at the south end of Gregg. The road was put in use at 1 p.m. Wednesday.

This is a major step in the development of FM 700 into a multilane road. Jarbet Company, the contractor, can now begin his excavation work for the underpass on the FM road under US 87.

Traffic which has been travelling over the old FM lanes since the construction began will now utilize the south lane, from intersection with the City Park road eastward to Goliad St.

The opening of the south lane to travel was being welcomed by the establishments at Highland Shopping Center, which have been handicapped by the partially blocked crossings at Gregg and Goliad.

State Highway Engineer's office estimated that Jarbet is about 45 per cent along with his $1,113,000 contract.

Jarbet began work in February, 1967. He has 300 working days, under his contract, in which to complete the job.

Viet War May Be Close To High Spending Mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials say the U.S. commitment to the Vietnam war may be close to the high water mark in men and money.

They said they anticipate "a leveling off of both money and forces in Southeast Asia in the coming year."

This could mean U.S. troop strength in Vietnam will stabilize near the 525,000-man mark, although it does not rule out further reinforcements if conditions dictate.

486,000 MEN

U.S. military forces in Vietnam now total 486,000 men, with the balance of the 525,000 due there within the next few months.

Discussing President Johnson's upcoming budget, these officials told newsmen they calculate that about $25.75 billion will be spent during the fiscal year to prosecute the Vietnam war—a $1.2 billion increase over this year.

All told, Vietnam war costs will account for nearly one-third of the $77.2 billion defense budget Johnson will send to Congress within the next couple of weeks.

While the fiscal 1969 military budget will be up $2.9 billion over 1968, it still will fall about $11 billion short of the World War II peak.

LEVELING OFF

The optimistic forecast of a leveling off in Vietnam came as officials discussed Johnson's State of the Union message to the House and Senate Wednesday night.

That forecast is in tune with Gen. William C. Westmoreland's confident statement while in Washington about two months ago that "we have reached an important point when the end begins to come into view."

Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, has spoken of a possible start on U.S. troop withdrawals within two years.

American optimism has soured in the past and there is no assurance it won't happen again.

CEILING RAISED

The Pentagon had hoped to hold the U.S. troop commitment to about 480,000 men by next June 30. But last summer, Johnson yielded to Westmoreland's request for reinforcements. The Vietnam manpower ceiling was raised by about 45,000 men.

Pact To Check Nuclear Arms Taking Shape

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have reached agreement on a complete draft treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons, authoritative Western sources reported today.

The completed draft, including an article on international controls previously in dispute, is to be submitted to the 17-nation disarmament conference when it goes back to work later today after a Christmas recess.

It was believed that the Soviet-American agreement on controls would result in acceptance of the treaty by West Germany, Italy and other members of the Common Market except France.

NO DETAILS

No details of the agreement on controls were immediately available. U.S. sources said earlier differences had been narrowed down to a matter of several words during meetings in the past few days of the U.S. and Soviet cochairmen of the conference, Adrian S. Fisher and Alexei A. Roschchin.

But India's position, believed the key to acceptance of the treaty by most neutral and nonaligned nations, remains that the draft document does not clamp down hard enough on nations that already have nuclear weapons.

If the Indians refuse to sign, Pakistan almost certainly will refuse also. It is believed this will encourage Israel to hold back, and then none of the Arab countries would sign.

DRAFT TARGET

India has been the most determined critic of the treaty and has attracted the support of a number of nonaligned nations.

The U.N. General Assembly, which is to reconvene in the spring, has asked the conference to try to have a complete draft treaty ready by March 15.

The original draft, presented in Geneva last Aug. 24 by the United States and the Soviet Union, lacked Article 3 dealing with international inspection.

The Soviet Union has insisted that the International Atomic Energy Agency, which has a membership of more than 90 nations, be recognized as the only body competent to police a nonproliferation treaty.

COMPROMISE

The Common Market countries, led by West Germany and Italy, seek a role for Euratom, their own agency which controls nonmilitary atomic energy development within the six-nation group.

Teague Asks Re-Election

DALLAS (AP)—Veteran Rep. Olin E. Teague has announced he will run for re-election in the 6th Congressional District, a seat he has held since 1946.

The new, 15-county district created by the last legislature includes the southern portions of Dallas and Tarrant counties.

Teague, a Democrat, is second ranking Democrat on the Committee on Science and Astronautics and is chairman of the subcommittee on Manned Space Flight.

As chairman of the Veterans' Affairs Committee, Teague has authored numerous laws benefitting veterans and their dependents.

These include the Korean GI Bill, the War Orphans' Educational Assistance Act and the Veterans Administration home loan program.

Hill Lists Leadership As Major Test For Governor

The paramount issue in the Texas gubernatorial campaign is going to be leadership, according to a probable candidate, Secretary of State John L. Hill.

Mr. Hill addressed the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday at the Settles Hotel.

"We've got some big programs coming up —the education commission report, water planning and development, crime, financing our needs on a reasonable basis," he said.

"The real test is going to be the ability to provide the know-how, the leadership and the strength to get things done for Texas."

Hill warmed to the subject, pointing to his close association with the inner workings of state government during the nearly two years that he has served as secretary of state.

In this capacity, he continued, he was privy to budgetary decisions, served as the liaison between the senate and the governor's office and acquired a personal acquaintance of every member of the legislature, enjoyd a "cabinet" member status in many of the major matters facing state government, represented the governor in many official matters in and out of the state.

This experience, plus a preoccupation with public service, led him to become an all but formally announced candidate for governor, he said.

"I believe in working with people," Hill added. "I can and do talk out matters with any reasonable people, and I'm convinced that's what the majority of Texas citizens want done.

"A first term governor has his troubles anyhow. There naturally will be differences, and some will be probing and testing even a person who is conversant with the background and mechanics of dealing with problems.

"But to come in from the outside with no knowledge of the workings of the office and of state government would be a tremendous burden which, due to the good fortune of experience, I would not have to bear. I feel like I will be in a position to go to work immediately in continuing to meet the needs of a growing state on a sound, sensible basis."

Official Makes Plea For Responsible Citizenship

The key word for Texas is "responsibility," Secretary of State John L. Hill told the Downtown Lions Club here Wednesday.

And the greatest asset is a responsible citizenship, he added.

"If anything makes me optimistic about the future of Texas," declared Hill, "it is the quality of citizens of the state.

"Sure, we have problems, but we've got everything going for us. We have a strategic location and matchless resources. Basically, we're still a baby as a state — only a little more than a hundred years old — and we've everything to look forward to."

Hill flew here from Austin to address the club. While his address studiously avoided any political references, Hill has been mentioned prominently as a probable candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He paid tribute to the balanced economy and functioning of Big Spring, noting its educational advances, advantages in transportation, high quality labor, and "good, clean low-cost government." He lauded the city and the area for solving its own water problems through the Colorado River Municipal Water District without having to call on state or federal government for financial aid.

"Sometimes we need to step back as state government and look at what is being done and make sure that we don't do more harm than good by interfering," he observed.

Hill termed education "The best investment we make in government," and complimented Big Spring on being home of Howard County Junior College. Himself a junior college product, he predicted that "one of the greatest things we will do in education in the years ahead will be in the junior colleges." One immediate challenge these face, he said, is in helping to meet an imminent shortage of skilled manpower in the state.

As Texas progresses, it is the result of individual community progress, and due to the responsibility of its citizens. In his opinion, Texas has been spared some of the demonstrations and riots because "responsible people won't tolerate lawlessness" and who believe "that there is no real substitute in life for work — that nothing can come except through productivity."

Hill, a native of Breckenridge, lived for a time at Idalou near Lubbock, graduated from high school in Kilgore, where he also attended KJC before taking his law degree at the University of Texas. He was a member of a prominent Houston law firm before he was appointed 18 months ago by Gov. John Connally as secretary of state.

Jimmy Ray Smith, Lions president, urged a large attendance at the mid-winter district Lions conference in Junction this weekend, explaining that the club is seeking the 1969 convention.

Prexy Admits Campus Weed

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — Arrest of seven Southwest Texas State College students Tuesday night on marijuana charges brought a statement from the school's president that the weed was on every campus in the country.

"There isn't a campus in the United States that doesn't have it," said James H. McCrocklin, president of the college. "We've been trying to do something about it."

Three SWTSC seniors were arrested by San Marcos police and Federal Bureau of Narcotics agents at a house here. Three sophomores were nabbed in a raid on a college dormitory. A seventh student was picked up near IH 35 in San Antonio.

Officers said they confiscated a half pound of marijuana in the raids.

All the students were charged with possession of marijuana.

They included: John I. Schroeder, 27, San Marcos; James A. Lewis, 22, Burnet; Tommy K. Clover, 23, Austin; Gregory D. Hoover, 19, Schertz; Harold C. Coyne, 20, Nacogdoches, and Patrick Charles West, 18, Sabinal.

By late Wednesday, the students had been arraigned and several had posted bond and were released.

Witness Says Hefty Pearl Fired Gunshot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A witness quoted Pearl Choate Birch as telling spectators and two policemen "in a loud voice that if they didn't get off her property, she would kill them."

Then, said the witness, "I felt something brush the top of my head . . . My ears were ringing like when a firecracker goes off close to you."

The witness was Rod Ferguson, 35, testifying Wednesday in the two-day-old trial of Mrs. Birch, 60, on two counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to murder.

DOORS REMOVED

Mrs. Birch, a 200-pound practical nurse, is the widow of A. Otis Birch, millionaire philanthropist from nearby South Pasadena.

She is charged with shooting at Ferguson and Rex Council, a policeman in suburban Compton.

Asked if the sound that made his ears ring seemed to be a gunshot, Ferguson replied, "It didn't sound like a gun—it was a gun."

Ferguson told the jury he went to the home of his sister-in-law, Mary Harris, last July 13 after being told that the doors in Mrs. Harris' half of the Compton duplex were removed.

There he saw Mrs. Birch, the duplex' owner, he said. After Mrs. Birch's warning to the policemen and the spectators, Ferguson said, he ducked under a tree branch and heard a shot.

RENT FUSS

Deputy Dist. Atty. Irvin Cohen alleged that Mrs. Birch fired a rifle through the window of the half of the duplex where she lived. He said the shot missed Council by inches, passed over Ferguson's head and hit a house across the street.

Cohen said Mrs. Birch had the doors taken off the Harris side of the duplex because the rent was overdue. Ferguson's wife had called police and asked them to arbitrate a dispute over the rent.

Kissin' Refund Offered Readers

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Backers of Viscum album, a type of mistletoe, contend it is the only genuine "kissin' mistletoe."

A sample of the mistletoe, said to grow only in two places in Sebastapol, Calif., was sent to Glenn Shelton, a Wichita Falls Times and Record News columnist who had written about the matter.

Shelton has informed his readers that anyone who was kissed under the "fake " mistletoe over the holidays is "legally entitled to a refund."

Romney Opens Second Front In Wisconsin

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — George Romney, heartened by his first presidential campaign swing in New Hampshire but still a self-described underdog, is opening a second front in Wisconsin.

The Michigan governor scheduled a Saturday mission to Milwaukee to open his campaign for the April 2 Wisconsin primary.

UPHILL FIGHT

But the New Hampshire primary March 12 still tops the Romney agenda. He plans to return to this state in a week to resume his uphill race against former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"We've had much more support than we'd anticipated," Romney said in climaxing a five-day campaign that crisscrossed New Hampshire for nearly 1,000 miles. "We're greatly heartened."

Romney managers claimed the governor had seen more than 11,000 persons.

TRUTH TEST

As Romney wound up the visit Wednesday night with a speech in Dover, a young boy in the audience asked him: "What do you think your chances of becoming president are, and why?"

Romney laughed.

"I think I'm as big an underdog right now in the presidency race as I was in the automobile business," said the candidate who once headed American Motors Corp.

"I think I'll win because I'm discussing isues more directly and I think I have more experience and background than the others who are running for election this year."

Polls, including those by Romney's campaign managers, show Nixon favored by New Hamsphire voters although he has not announced as a presidential candidate.

VIET FORMULA

While President Johnson delivered his State of the Union address before Congress and television cameras, Romney was speaking to some 175 persons at a Dover school cafeteria.

Romney said Johnson "seems to think that an aristocracy of public and private power has a natural right to wheel and deal and bargain out policy at the top—while the people stand by helpless."

Romney said that invites "all but the very powerful to accept irresponsibility," even violence.

Romney also had a challenge for his Republican presidential rivals, saying any man who seeks the presidency should "spell out at least the outline of an acceptable settlement" in Vietnam.

He said voters should insist on this.

Romney's formula is neutralization of Vietnam and he underscored it during his campaign rounds with demands for reform and broadened participation in the Saigon government.

BIG SPRING DAILY HERALD

SECTION B — BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1968 — SECTION B

Volunteer Firemen Tired Of Waiting On A Truck

The North Ridge Volunteer Fire Department is getting a little discouraged with the way its program is developing.

Carroll Cannon, who heads the group, said his organization is "losing interest because the county commissioners have not provided us with a truck as they promised." He said the commissioners told the organization at the outset, they would be provided a truck by Dec. 15.

"Here it is a month later and we don't know yet when we will get the truck," said Cannon.

He said that the North Ridge group met Tuesday night at the North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church to consider the situation.

He said the county commissioners have rejected the site which the group had suggested as a place for the fire truck's home. He said that Bill Tune, commissioner from the district, told him the site, which is on FM 700, was too remote from a residential area and too far from any residence; that the site lacked adequate water accessibility and that the location was not nearly as centrally located as the commissioners wanted.

Cannon said the commissioners want the location closer to Precinct 1, and that he was told by Tune of a small tract of ground at the corner of North Birdwell and Jonesboro Road, that is owned by the county. This land, he said, will be available. However, he said the tract is not big enough to build the fire house and the community building which is the plan of the group.

He said the owner of adjacent land lives in another town and that he had been promised the county judge would find out if it could be acquired for the group.

"I haven't heard from him about the land," he said.

Cannon said that he reported all of the developments to the meeting Tuesday night. Another meeting is to be held Feb. 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

He said the county commissioners previously had agreed to supply up to $3,000 for materials for the fire house and that the North Ridge residents are planning to build it with volunteer labor.

"The trouble is," he concluded, "our number of interested people dwindles every week with so many delays."

Beaumont Police Assaults Increase

BEAUMONT (AP) — The number of aggravated assaults on Beaumont police officers is on the increase, said Police Chief William Bauer. Bauer, Capt. H. C. Walling, Lt. E. T. Corder and 30 patrolmen were assaulted while in performance of their duty.

Pals Post Bond For 'Fake' Doctor Indicted By Jurors

GROVETON, Tex. (AP) — Freddie Brant, who became a doctor without ever going to medical school, gained his release from jail Wednesday night through a fresh demonstration of faith from friends and associates.

They collected the $7,000 bond set for the former convict after the Trinity County grand jury indicted him on charges of forgery and practicing medicine without a license.

He went free shortly before midnight and that apparently cleared the way for Brant, 43, to go before the State Board of Medical Examiners in Austin.

The board had directed Brant to appear today on complaints that he obtained a physician's license illegally or fraudulently.

Dr. J. G. Rodarte of Temple, president of the board, said counsel could appear in Austin for Brant if he desired. Since the examiners had several cases to consider, Rodarte added that Brant might not be heard before Friday.

PRISON PRACTICE

Troubles started developing last month for Brant, a widely respected resident of Groveton in Southeast Texas and believed to be its only doctor.

It turned out that Brant had been paroled in 1956 while serving a prison term for bank robbery. His first exposure to medical practice was work in a prison hospital, and he continued that work after his parole, becoming an X-ray technician.

While holding a hospital job in Chattanooga, Tenn., he became acquainted with Dr. Reid L. Brown. Then, in 1964, he represented himself as Brown and became an intern at the Terrell State Hospital in Texas.

HOPE

That eventually led to his unmasking. A drug firm in Shreveport, La., noticed in December that it had been filling orders for a Dr. Reid Brown in Chattanooga and another at Groveton, and the investigation disclosed Brant's identity.

Meanwhile he had stopped here during a trip with his wife and daughter last summer. A Groveton boy, 12, turned up at a drug store with a badly cut leg. No doctor was available, so Brant treated him.

The need for a physician in Groveton prompted Brant—under the name of Brown—to reopen a clinic here and treat a growing number of patients. Many have said they would be willing for him to diagnose their ills and treat them again.

Brant has expressed hope that he can resolve his troubles with the law and come back to Groveton, perhaps as an X-ray technician in his now closed clinic.

Lurleen Due More Therapy

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Lurleen Wallace of Alabama was to receive today her ninth radiation therapy treatment aimed at destroying a small growth in the pelvic area.

She began the treatments Jan. 8 after doctors discovered the growth during tests at M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute.

She is receiving the treatments once a day on weekdays as an outpatient at Anderson. She is permitted to return to Alabama on weekends. Doctors hope three to four weeks of betatron radiation therapy will destroy the newly-discovered, pecan sized growth.

Mrs. Wallace and her husband, former Gov. George Wallace, are staying at a motel near the Texas Medical Center while she receives the treatments.

Reconciliation Request Issued

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Organized liberal and conservative factions within the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. weighed a formal request today that they disband so that "progress and unity could be achieved."

Dr. Marshall Denby of Richmond, Va., moderator who said he would issue the disbanding request, called the two-day meeting between the factions in an effort to resolve their differences.

Denby opened the session Wednesday with a "call to reconciliation." He then asked the presidents of the liberal "Fellowship of Concern" and the conservative "Concerned Presbyterians" to state their viewpoints.

VITAL ROLE

Dr. Wellford Hobbie of Staunton, Va., president of the Fellowship of Concern, said his organization came into being five years ago in order "to seek for our church a more vital role in the struggle for social justice and the search for Christian unity."

He said it was formed to help the church "assert moral leadership in the changing patterns of racial and cultural revolution."

He added that it was also formed to support ministers who had been put "under extreme pressure" because of their views on race.

Kenneth Keyes of Miami, Fla., president of the conservative group, said his organization was formed as a protest to the formation of the liberal wing asserting it planned to "take the church still further along the road which they had previously been taking it."

SUPER CHURCH

He blamed rapidly declining church membership on the leadership of the liberal wing of the church.

He said his group was concerned "primarily and fundamentally with preserving the Christian faith and way of life based squarely on the Scriptures—and that the church's primary mission is to evangelize."

Keyes, asked to define the term liberal, replied: "We would put into the liberal category men who participate in protest marches, civil disobedience, in the national council of churches and in the world council of churches."

He sad his group was concerned that the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. would be "liquidated in" the proposed super church which is to come out of the consultation on church union."

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
4 ♡	4 ♠	Dble.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♡

West's double of South's four spade overcall appeared to be "money from home" to the former. Hopes for a profit died, however, when he failed to uncover the winning defense.

West opened the seven of hearts and the ace was played from dummy. A diamond was led to the ace and then a small diamond was ruffed with the deuce of spades as East discarded a heart.

East's failure to overruff enlightened South to the fact that every missing trump was stacked behind him. West was now revealed to have started with five spades and five diamonds. He had led a heart originally and, on the basis of East's preemptive bid, it appeared likely to the declarer that West's remaining two cards were clubs.

The ace of clubs was cashed and a diamond discarded from the closed hand. A small club was ruffed with the three of spades as West followed suit with the king. A diamond was trumped in dummy to give declarer six tricks and produce this position:

A heart was led from dummy and South ruffed with the jack of spades. West discarded the jack of diamonds, a move he was soon to regret. Declarer exited with a diamond putting West in with the king. The latter returned a small trump, enabling South to score a trick with the six of spades. The king of spades was led and ducked giving declarer his ninth trick. He switched to a diamond which West ruffed with the eight of trumps. He cashed the ace; however, South's queen took the final and game fulfilling trick.

If West had overruffed the jack of spades with the ace at trick seven, the final outcome would still have been the same, for he is endplayed on the return whether he leads a spade or a diamond, South can then throw him in subsequently and force another favorable return.

The only effective defense is for West to discard a small spade under the jack. This averts one of the endplays and declarer will eventually fall one trick short.

A LOVELIER YOU

Lose Six Pounds In Two Weeks By Diet

By MARY SUE MILLER

Pounds gained over the holidays should be eliminated pronto. Weight has the habit of multiplying fast, once it begins to accumulate. It is much easier to take off a few pounds than a plethora.

You can lose six pounds in two weeks by following this 1,000 calorie diet pattern:

Breakfast: ½ grapefruit or whole orange; 1 soft egg; 1 thin slice protein bread, lightly spread with whipped, sweet butter; beverage with milk if desired, but no sugar. (No substitutes.)

Luncheon: 1 cup beef consomme; choice of grilled hamburger patty (lean) with lettuce and tomato salad, dieter's dressing, or grilled beef frankfurter with crisped raw sauerkraut; raw apple. (Substitute allowed cottage cheese or Yogurt for meats.)

Dinner: 6 oz. broiled lean meat, fish or fowl; choice of baked potato or small roll with ½ pat whipped butter; large serving steamed carrots, broccoli, spinach, asparagus, or string beans; choice of unsweetened fruit cup, dieter's gelatin or wedge of cheese, 1 cracker; demi-tasse.

Between meals: skim milk, totaling 1 pint.

Please note: This diet pattern is safe to follow for two weeks, but it is not recommended for longer periods. To lose large amounts of weight, you need a more sustaining diet. Otherwise you can't stay with it.

CALORIE COUNTER

Do you really know the calorie counts of the foods you eat? Our new booklet, "Pocket Calorie Counter," tells the score at a glance. It also gives a diet plan — a way to eat and slim. OFF BEATEN TRAIL

Tree With The Bloody Hands

By ED SYERS

Something about night wind's cry in skeleton trees made winter our ghost story season when I was a boy. Still does, judging your mail. Deep east, in Sabine's forest bottoms, hides one tree—gripped over a century now—by phantom handprints.

A year ago, lacking four days, that began a story from 1850 riverfront ghost Sabinetown, near Hemphill and the Louisiana line. The story, as related to OBT, told of an erring wife who planned to leave her husband for another. She galloped, one dark night, down a back road to her tryst; but it was her husband who waited . . . to shoot her.

HAND IMPRINTS

She grasped her breast and, falling, clutched at a beech tree, where they found her next day. Her bloody handprints were dark on that smooth, light bark. The tree lived, but the bark died, where she grasped with her last strength: perfect imprints of her two hands that lived on and on, where the tree stands in tangled forest bottoms.

Our narrator simply told the story as it came to her, hunted but never could find the ghost beech. "But maybe you can," OBT concluded.

"That aroused my curiosity," reports Lake Jackson's J. Stuart Richardson. "New Year's Day, I had an opportunity to visit Sabinetown with thoughts of finding that tree. The weather was bad. I asked around Hemphill for more information, was directed to Hemphill's Ed Harper, former county judge of Sabine County, born and raised in Sabinetown.

"The tree is on his aunt's property. He has seen it and the handprints many times."

DID NO WRONG

Were they there, as some old timers said, to warn against wrong? Yes, but not hers.

"Mr. Harper says he has affidavits concerning that fateful ride, and the true cause of the murder. The wife's name was (let's say, Mary Smith); and she is buried near Sabinetown. Her husband was an invalid, and she was on her way from Milam with supplies one night. Rumor had it, then, that she was harboring a slave couple from their owner in Milam, and was feeding them.

"As she was returning home, some of the slaver's hired hands ambushed her.

ANOTHER LOOK

"Because of weather, we did not go see the tree, but Ed Harper says it is probably still there. My wife and I plan to go back this spring, when the Harpers have graciously offered to take us to the tree.

"I thought you would be interested in this version of the story."

So the beech does stand, still gripped with ghost handprints. But what a different spirit leaves its mark!

Yes, we wanted this version. And despite daily-increasing assault on American moral fibre, I think enough of us will stick it out . . . always to want this version.

Horoscope Forecast

FOR TOMORROW
—CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Most everyone is in a pretty fussy humor now and unless you are careful, you can arouse their opposition if you fail to note the apparently unimportant things that are taking first place in their consciousness now. Do whatever will get you in [illegible] with the health you would like to express. Watch diet.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Take care you do not irk a coworker who is feeling out of sorts, but who is usually very dependable. Now is the time to get your wardrobe improved. Be warm for the cool days ahead, be chic.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be the first one to encourage others who are feeling down-in-the-dumps. Others are in need of devotion and they deserve yours, since they have been very loyal. Be the humanitarian for which you are so noted.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Remain calm when kin are acting rather peculiarly; this will pass soon and all will be fine. Doing small favors for others will ingratiate them further into your own good graces. Be happy once more.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Doing whatever will make your associates more comfortable and happy is wise right now. If you are careless on the road, you find much trouble and entirely unnecessary expense can occur. Be wise, be safe.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Before you do any investigating, be sure that you check and recheck all very carefully or you could have a big loss. Some business person you rely on could give erroneous advice now. Take care before following.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Don't divert from standard ways of doing things or you could get into a peck of trouble. Take some time to improve diet, other health habits. If you feel better, you can be more optimistic, accomplish more in the days ahead.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get into the right mood so that you get all those dull odds and ends behind you, and quickly. One comes to you who needs assistance badly. Don't turn your back on this person, but show you are a good friend.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't expect good pals to do much for you today since they are deeply immersed in their own work and pressing problems. Avoid what you do not like. Show charm and much sociability tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show others that you are an A-1 citizen today and don't leopardize your good reputation in any way. See that you do not get in the way of an irate bigwig. You could be the one to get the brunt of his anger.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stop sitting in that easy chair and get out into the bustling world of activity and find right outlet for yourself. Study several and then hit on the right one. You can be far more successful than you are now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get your bills paid in full, if possible, today, and try not to criticize those who mean much to you, or you alienate their affections. Don't take mate so much for granted. Show that you really care.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Show ingenuity in getting cooperation of an associate for some plan you have that can be mutually profitable. Don't try to navigate alone or you get into hot water. Let your contribution be even greater than your partner's.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow . . he, or she, will be one who can get pretty confused if you do not teach early to put principle and the overall picture ahead of details. Once this is learned, this can be an especially good chart for the laboratory technician, research of all kinds, dealing with the public or with foods in large quantity. Send to college.

Two 'Killer' Slashers Sought By Texas Police

PEARLAND, Tex. (AP) — Police sought two men today for questioning in the death of Edward E. Conrad, 39, of Breaux Bridge, La., whose slashed body was found in an automobile here.

The body was found Wednesday in the blood - smeared car parked a block off main street in this Brazoria County town.

The body was taken to nearby Houston where Earl J. Conrad, father of the dead man, made the identification after arriving Wednesday from Breaux Bridge.

BROKEN BOTTLE

Investigators said there were several jagged cuts on the body which apparently were made by broken glass. They said a cut on the left side of the neck appeared to have caused death. They said a broken whisky bottle was found in the car.

A Galveston policeman said he issued a ticket for driving without a license earlier Wednesday to a man who identified himself as Edward E. Conrad. The policeman said two other men were in the car. He said the ticket was found in the automobile.

Police said records show an Edward E. Conrad had been registered at a Houston motel on a day to day basis since December. They quoted a spokesman at the motel as saying Conrad was with a telephone company in Breaux Bridge, La.

Deadly Car Plunge

HOUSTON (AP) — James Oliver, 46, of Houston was killed Wednesday night when his automobile plunged off a bridge. He was alone in the car.

Faces Charge At Brownwood

Calvin Pierce, arrested here originally on a charge of drunkenness, is now being held for Brownwood where a warrant charging assault with intent to murder is filed, Sheriff A. N. Standard said here today.

"Brown County authorities have said they will be after Pierce in a day or two," said Standard, "and they have asked we detain him for them."

Dear Abby

—ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

No License To Drive

DEAR ABBY: What's wrong with one of the smartest women in town who's so convinced that she can't pass the driver's test that she's been driving without a license for 10 years?

I try to tell her that all she has to do is read the driver's manual, then go take a test, and maybe drive around the block a few times with the examining officer. But she won't believe me.

What can I do? She's a good driver, but I can't persuade her to get a license. A husband can't turn his wife in to the police, but I am tempted. SWEN

DEAR SWEN: The "smartest woman in town" could be the sorriest, and her husband could be the "brokest" if she were involved in an accident. So if you can't talk some sense into her head, ask your insurance agent (or lawyer) to try.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a sophomore at a small but friendly junior college and belong to a close sorority where all the sisters are genuinely concerned for each other. Here is my problem:

My boy friend wants to wait until he is 21, this July, before giving me a ring and officially announcing our engagement. I want so much to become officially engaged before the school year ends because I want to share my happiness with my sorority sisters.

Next fall will be too late because many of the girls will have graduated or transferred. complete unless I can share it with those who are so close to me.

How can I persuade my boy friend that a few months won't make that much difference, and that we should become engaged before the school year is over? EAGER

DEAR EAGER: You probably can't. And if you are wise you won't pressure him. Wait until he is 21 and don't press your luck.

• • •

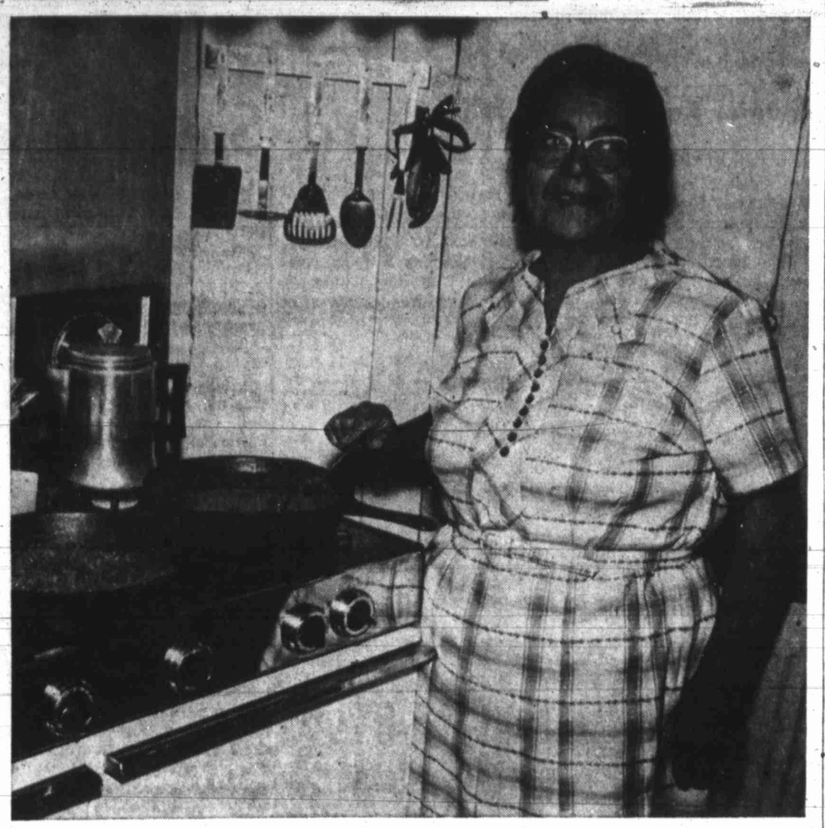

DEAR ABBY: I am in my early 20's and have been married a little over a year to a divorced man (I'll call Jerry) who has two children by a former marriage. Jerry's wife has remarried.

During the first year of our marriage, we visited his children SIX times, and our second year is starting out the same way. Abby, I am sick to death of these flying trips halfway across the country. We have no children yet, and I hesitate to have any until this problem is solved.

I feel that Jerry is not being fair to our marriage with these frequent trips. I realize that he has obligations to his children, but when he married me he took on new obligations and responsibilities, my happiness being one of them.

I didn't marry Jerry to live in the past with him, and I think two trips a year would be sufficient. He had no reason to feel guilty about the divorce since he neither wanted nor caused it. How can I solve my problem before it becomes more serious? TIRED OF TRIPS

DEAR TIRED: You are wise to postpone having a child until you "solve your problem," lest your child be added to Jerry's list of children-to-visit. In view of your obvious resentment, unless you and Jerry can agree on how many trips to visit his children is "too many," don't count on a lasting marriage.

MRS. MARY EVERETT

Homemaker Learned To Cook As A Child

By RHODA LEMONS

The warmth, color and gaiety of the Latin people is evident in the person of Mrs. Mary Everett, 703 NW 5th, who came to Big Spring with her husband in 1920.

Life has not always dealt kindly with Mrs. Everett, but with a shrug and a laugh, she soon talks of other things. Her husband died 11 years ago, and although she has been working since she was a young child, she still works to support herself.

Her sister, Mrs. Maria Palomino and her son, Rueben, 15, live with Mrs. Everett. Mrs. Everett has one daughter, Mrs. Christine Salazar, and two grandchildren, Gene Salazar and Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Torres. She has four great-grandchildren including Gene Jr., Mark, David and Danny.

Mrs. Everett has been cooking for other family members since before the age of ten. She cooks, talks and serves with equal ease and all at the same time. Her Mexican food is something special. However, Mrs. Everett doesn't really have any recipes. She just mixes and adds to suit her own personal palate and ends with delicious dishes, tasting just a little different from any ever tried before.

Mrs. Everett works in the nursery of the Spanish Baptist Church on Sundays and two nights a month. She does domestic help during the week and takes orders for tameles or tortillas, when requested. Also, she works taking care of the aged and enjoys helping them because "their need is so great."

Once, while her husband was living, he had an accident and broke his back. He was paralyzed for over a year, and Mrs. Everett cared for him during this time.

Mrs. Everett has her great-grandchildren visit her almost every day, and oftentimes, they share the evening meal with her. They always have a snack, and the place is filled with the sounds of small boys, television and talk of the day. English is spoken by the grandchildren almost exclusively, but Mrs. Everett and her sister speak in their native tongue.

In her spare time, Mrs. Everett sews for herself, and she is especially interested in crocheting. She has made bedspreads, decorative cloths and doilies. Her comfortable home is filled with an accumulation of many years of living and of her hobbies.

Her daughter made Mrs. Everett a clock from Mexican rock beautifully glazed in ceramic, and she also made her an enormous cluster of purple grapes, which Mrs. Everett hung on the wall as a decorative accent.

Although Mrs. Everett cooks Mexican dishes on occasion, she insists that they really don't have this type of food too often. She admits to having steak, chicken, ground beef and other types of so-called American dishes more than the other type. On Christmas and Thanksgiving, she serves turkey and dressing just like most other American families.

Mrs. Everett is approaching [illegible] but she had slowed down a little.

"It is unbelievable, the amount of work that I once could do," she said. It is almost unbelievable, the amount of work that she can still do while enjoying herself at the same time.

RECOMMENDED RECIPES

Mrs. Mary Everett

CHILI RELLENOS

6 long, green hot peppers
1 egg
Grated cheese
Ground beef, if desired

Roast peppers in pan in oven. Beat egg white thoroughly. Add yolk, slightly mixed. Get skillet hot with grease. Take pepper and peel off the hull, split open and leave on stems. Take out seed. Roll the pepper in egg mixture and fill with cheese and-or ground beef. Fry until cheese melts, turning once.

CHILI SAUCE

6 whole red peppers
2 tbsps. flour
1 pint water

Soak peppers in water and put in blender. Rub skillet with grease and brown flour. Stir well. Add pepper mixture and salt to taste. Makes hot thin sauce.

ENCHILADAS

1 doz. tortillas
Grated cheese
Grated onion

Drop tortillas in deep hot grease for one minute. Remove and dip in chili sauce. Fill with cheese and onion. Roll over and slightly crimp edges. Sprinkle with grated cheese.

SPANISH RICE

1 cup rice
Salt
1 pod garlic, minced
1 med. onion, chopped

Brown rice in a small amount of shortening. Add one tablespoon onion and rice to three cups hot water. Cover and simmer several minutes and add remaining onion, garlic and salt. Continue simmering until done. (The secret fo Spanish rice is in the browning before it is cooked.) Serves twelve.

TAMALES

3 cups masa harina (flour and corn)
4 cups meat broth
Salt to taste
1 cup shortening
1½ lbs. pork or beef
Chili powder as desired
Tamale shuck

Fry meat until done. Grind meat after it is cooked and put in skillet. Add chili powder. Pour masa harina in bowl, add meat broth and shortening to make dough. Mix thoroughly. Spread thin dough on shuck and cover with meat. Roll tamales up and place in pan of boiling water. Cover and turn heat on low. Simmer until done, approximately 20 minutes.

Try Salad Recipe In Sauce Dip

Make and serve this as a delicious salad or a special dip. It tastes equally good both ways. This recipe is an authentic Mexican dish.

GUACAMOLE
(Avocado Sauce)

2 large, very ripe avocadoes
1 medium tomato, peeled, seeded, and chopped
½ small white onion, minced
2 or more canned serrano chilies, chopped
Several sprigs of fresh coriander, finely chopped
Salt
Freshly ground pepper
Pinch of sugar

Peel and mash the avocadoes. Mix well with all the other ingredients and pile into a serving dish with an avocado pit in the center. This is supposed to keep the guacamole from turning dark.

If you are not using the guacamole immediately, cover tightly with aluminum foil or plastic wrap to exclude the air (possibly a more reliable formula than the retention of the avocado pit), and refrigerate.

Use either as a sauce or a salad. It also makes an excellent dip with fried tortilla triangles, along with a cocktail. Makes about four cups.

Melon Ice Will Please Your Guests

For a refreshing dessert, do as the people south of the border and serve a tempting melon ice dessert. Simple to make, and provides a perfect treat for those jaded palates.

HELADO DE MELON
(Cantaloupe Ice)

2¼ cups sugar
1 cup water
4 cups melon juice
⅛ tsp. salt
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Combine sugar and water in saucepan. Cook until it begins to boil, then skim and strain through fine strainer. Remove skin and seeds from ripe melons. Place a fruit in blender and pulverize, or strain through fine strainer. Add melon juice to hot sugar syrup. Stir in salt. Cool mixture.

Place in ice cream freezer or refrigerator tray. When mixture begins to freeze, fold in egg whites. If frozen in refrigerator trays, stir often while freezing. Makes ½ gallon.

Chill Bean Sprouts

Drained chilled bean sprouts may be dressed with an oil-and-vinegar dressing for use as a salad. Arrange the marinated bean sprouts on lettuce and garnish.

ENTERTAIN INFORMALLY WITH A BRUNCH
Add color to your life with zesty dishes

Borrow Brunch Recipes From Mexican Neighbors For Fun

In Mexico, leisurely land of the siesta, day begins with an early morning pre-breakfast of hot chocolate or coffee served with a sugared bun. But the real breakfast is served at midmorning, as the shop keepers open the shutters and begin the day's activities. This meal, the almuerzo, is a substantial one, and is ideally adapted to what is perhaps the most enjoyable, informal type of entertaining done north of the border, the brunch.

The late morning brunch has much to recommend it as a perfect occasion to visit with friends in a relaxed manner. It is a time when one can serve delicious and beautiful dishes and do so most economically. The foods are simply prepared. The hostess, career woman or busy mother, can entertain frequently with a minimum of stress on her schedule. The almuerzo lends itself to easy, buffet serving.

Decorations for a Mexican almuerzo should be gay and simple, using bright, primary colors in fresh or paper flowers. Pottery serving pieces, wooden trays and straw baskets add interesting textures.

For the past 400 years the many varieties of beans indigenous to the country have provided Mexico with some of its most familiar dishes. No meal is complete without frijoles.

Tortillas, the thin, flat cakes of corn, are also essential to any Mexican meal. Serve the tortillas in a basket, steaming hot, ready to be spread generously with butter. Mugs of hot coffee add the finishing touch.

HUEVOS Y QUESO
(Eggs and Cheese)

2 cups grated cheese (½ lb.)
1 cup canned tomatoes
1 to 2 tsps. chili powder
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
4 large eggs

Combine cheese, tomatoes and chili powder. Melt butter in skillet and pour in tomato mixture. Let simmer for 10 minutes or until cheese is melted. Beat eggs and stir in gently. Cook over low heat (without stirring) until eggs are set. If desired, finish cooking under broiler. Serves four.

FRIJOLES REFRITOS
(Refried Beans)

1 cup dried pinto or red kidney beans
1 tbsp. shortening
1 large onion, chopped
4 slices bacon, diced
Salt to taste
2 tbsps. olive oil or salad oil
¼ cup grated Longhorn cheese or Parmesan cheese

Wash beans thoroughly. Soak overnight in cold water. Drain. Place in large pan with plenty of cold water, shortening, onion and bacon. Cover and cook slowly over low heat for three hours. Add salt and continue cooking until beans are tender and juice is thick.

Heat oil in skillet. Ladle in cooked beans and mash with a potato masher. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Continue cooking over medium heat, mashing and stirring beans for about 10 minutes or until mixture is thick. Garnish with grated cheese. Makes four servings.

PANTRY PICK-UPS

Zucchini squash tastes delicious this way: cut it in thin round slices, dredge these with seasoned flour and fry in hot olive oil until lightly browned and cooked through.

• • •

Flavor whipped cream with light brown sugar and dark rum; serve with steamed pudding.

• • •

Chop chutney and heat it to serve as a sauce for broiled chicken or fish. Stir the chutney over very low heat (in a small saucepan or skillet) while you are heating it so it won't scorch — and have it warm rather than really hot.

• • •

Ever bake a whole fish stuffed with vegetables — cut onion, carrot, and celery plus parsley sprigs or minced chives? Delicious and fine for weight-watchers since the fish needs to be rubbed with only a small amount of butter and the vegetables dotted with the same amount.

• • •

Youngsters usually enjoy jam sandwiches treated to a milk-and-egg dip and browned in butter or margarine.

• • •

Make up a package of seven-minute frosting mix and fold chopped nuts plus raisins, figs or dates into one-third of the frosting. Use the nut-and-fruit mixture between two cake layers; cover the cake with the remaining two-thirds frosting.

• • •

When a loaf of French bread has staled, use it to make French toast. Serve the toast with thawed frozen raspberries (in sugar syrup) instead of with the usual maple syrup.

• • •

You can add a third cup of wheat germ to a cup of waffle mix and increase the liquid by a quarter cup.

Because wheat germ affects the gluten in flour, be sure to use a carefully tested recipe when you want to prepare yeast-risen bread with wheat germ added.

• • •

Not all varieties of plastic mixing bowls are suitable for beating egg whites.

Sausage Spices Make Flavorings

Many of the appealing sausages which we find in markets today have spices which are characteristic of them. Honey Loaf, for example, has some black pepper and capsicum. The latter is a tropical herb which produces berries resembling peppers.

Liver sausage has as its seasonings the following: marjoram, mace or nutmeg, cloves, allspice and pepper.

Cotto or cooked salami gets interesting flavor from coriander, pepper, paprika, ginger and even, in some cases, anise and cloves.

'LITTLE HORNS'
Make any dessert an occasion

Cuernitos Will Delight Coffee-Dessert Crowd

Make this delicious Mexican treat for dessert or serve with coffee when friends come over. They are a favorite "south of the border" and will become a permanent part of your recipe collection.

CUERNITOS
(Little Horns)

2½ cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
¾ cup butter or margarine
2 egg yolks
3 tbsps. cold water
Strawberry preserves
1 egg, beaten
1-3 cup blanched almonds, finely chopped
Confectioner's sugar

Combine flour, salt and butter or margarine. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add egg yolks and water. Mix to moisten, press dough into a ball. Divide in half. Roll ⅛ inch thick on lightly floured cloth or board. Cut with cookie cutter into three inch rounds. Place a scant teaspoon of the strawberry preserves in the center of each. Lightly moisten edge of one-half of each circle, fold over and press edges together.

Place on ungreased baking sheet and shape into small crescents. Brush each with beaten egg and sprinkle almonds over top. Bake at 375 degrees 12 to 15 minutes. Remove from oven, and while still warm roll carefully in confectioner's sugar. Cool before storing. Makes about three dozen.

Mexican Imagination Adds Zest To Zucchini

The cooks of Mexico have an especially imaginative and creative way with vegetable dishes. One can almost trace the history of the development of Mexican cuisine through a glance into the Legumbre section of the country's cookbooks.

One of the most abundant and popular vegetables is squash. The Indians developed many varieties of this offspring of the gourd family. Then Spanish and French colonizers who came to this New World country merged the native product with their European style of cookery.

Of the numerous types of squash grown in Mexico, the most popular is the small green variety known in the United States as zucchini. It is served hot or cold, prepared elaborately or rather simply. Even the bright orange flowers of the plant are added to soups or served as a delicate accompaniment to the main course.

The following vegetable pancake is equally delicious served hot or cold. These pancakes are a favorite addition to the menu for a dias de campo, or picnic.

PASTELITAS DE CALABACITAS
(Zucchini Pancakes)

2 cups zucchini, grated
½ cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 egg, well beaten
Butter or margarine

Grate zucchini into mixing bowl. Mix together flour, baking powder and salt and add to zucchini. Stir in egg and mix well. Grease griddle generously with butter or margarine and fry zucchini mixture as you would pancakes. Makes 10 to 12 pancakes about three inches in diameter.

TORTA DE CALABAZA
(Squash Torte)

3 tbsps. butter
1-3 cup onion, minced
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 cups canned whole tomatoes, chopped
4 cups boiled zucchini, sliced very thin
2-3 cup Parmesan cheese, grated
2 tsps. oregano
Salt and pepper to taste
4 eggs, separated
Bread crumbs

Melt two tablespoons of butter in skillet. Saute onion and garlic until onion is transparent but not brown. Add tomatoes and cook a few minutes to blend, stirring well. Add zucchini, cheese, oregano, salt and pepper. Beat egg whites until stiff but dry. Gradually fold beaten egg yolks into egg whites. Gently fold eggs into zucchini mixture. Pour into buttered baking dish. Cover with bread crumbs and dot with remaining tablespoon of butter. Bake for 30 to 35 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees) until set. Serves eight.

2-Star General Among Dozen Killed In Crash

MINOT, N.D. (AP) — A two-star general and eight other Air Force officers were among 12 persons killed Wednesday when a huge Air Force tanker plane crashed on takeoff from fog-shrouded Minot Air Force Base. There was one survivor.

CAUSE CHECKED

An Air Force investigating team sought the cause of the crash.

The seven crewmen and six passengers were from March Air Force Base near Riverside, Calif.

Maj. Gen. Charles M. Eisenhart, 53, vice commander of the 15th Air Force, died when the plane burst into flames upon impact around 9 a.m. An explosion followed, spewing bodies and parts of the plane more than 1,000 feet in several directions.

EX-WEBB COMMANDER

Gen. Charles Eisenhart was a brother of Col. Donald W. Eisenhart, who was wing commander at Webb AFB from 1959-61. Col. Eisenhart is now retired and resides in San Antonio.

Gen. Charles Eisenhart visited here on a number of occasions while his brother was at Webb.

The death list also included three colonels, three lieutenant colonels, a major, a captain and three enlisted men.

The survivor was T. Sgt. William G. Wright, 34, the plane's steward.

Wright was taken to John Moses Hospital in Minot, 14 miles south of the Strategic Air Command base in north central North Dakota. He suffered burns over 70 to 80 per cent of his body and was reported in critical condition.

JET TANKER

The tanker, a four-engine jet usually used to refuel other planes in flight, was on a routine staff visit to Minot and was taking off for Glasgow, Mont., Air Force Base. The craft had been outfitted for passenger service and was not carrying extra fuel, officials said.

Officials at the base said the plane apparently was airborne just before the crash. The wreckage was about 20 yards to the right of and about three-quarters of the way down the 15,000-foot long runway.

The base information officer said, "To my knowledge there were no eyewitness. Visibility was too low."

VET PILOT

A civilian employe at the base, who asked that his name not be used, said, "It was so foggy I couldn't see." He said visibility was no more than 300 feet.

An official at the Minot base said there was no way to know yet what caused the accident.

Gen. Eisenhart, a native of Culbertson, Neb., made his home at McCook, Neb. He is survived by his widow, Dorothy; a son, Donald, 19, and a daughter, Marion, 17.

He had been a military pilot for more than 30 years, entering the Army Air Corps in 1937. In World War II, he commanded bomber squadrons operating from the Marianas Islands against Japan. Among his decorations were the Legion of Merit, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Bronze Star. He had flown more than 8,000 hours, including 156 combat hours.

Hope's Eye View Of Viet Produces Mixed Emotions

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —There are all kinds of servicemen audiences, said Bob Hope, and he ought to know.

The comedian made the observation as he was in the midst of preparing tonight's television account of his Christmas visit to Vietnam. This was a different, more serious Bob Hope than the public's image. He is always more sober and reflective when he returns from the war zone.

The reception in Vietnam for the Hope show provided the same tumult he has attracted with his gags since he started entertaining the troops 26 years ago.

'IT WAS GREAT'

"It was great," he reflected. "Everywhere we went it was great, but some places better than others. One time I was puzzled; it was when we were playing for the Big Red division at Lai Khe. Twelve thousand guys, and I figured, boy, this is going to be easy.

"But it wasn't. Oh, they'd laugh. They let out the big scream at the punchlines, but they didn't laugh as long. I didn't get that second and third roll that I usually do. I finally asked a guy if the sound was okay. He told me there was nothing wrong with the sound. It was simply that those boys had been through some rough times and they were still feeling it."

SUREFIRE

The most surefire of audiences, he said, are the aircraft carriers. The Hope troupe played the Ranger and the Coral Sea on the December trip.

"There's something about a carrier that makes it great to play," Hope observed. "Maybe it's because you're working with a smaller crowd, and the boys are wrapped all around you, hanging from rails and all over. They grab everything you say and run with it."

Hope's eye view of Vietnam is different from the one most visitors see. He usually comes back with stories of welcoming banners, receptions, and seas of laughing young American faces.

SHOCKER

"You wouldn't even know there's a war going on if you didn't go into the hospitals," said the comedian. "That's the shocker. You suddenly know what the toll is and how the guys are stiffing up under it.

"Like the time Raquel Welch and I went into the intensive care ward of a hospital ship. It was tough on her, because she isn't used to seeing that kind of thing. I am. I passed a guy who was still being worked over by a couple of doctors who were trying to stop a wound in his side.

" 'Hi-ya, Bob,' he says to me, just as cheerful as can be. A few minutes later I asked what happened to the kid. They told me he had both his legs amputated that morning, and here he was giving me the big 'Hi-ya, Bob'!"

Writer Says Johnson Used Little Too Much TV Makeup

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks and educational stations in a special network hookup carried President Johnson's State of the Union speech live Wednesday night.

Then, upon its conclusion, each went off on his own. For the next hour, viewers had a choice of a news conference of Republican leaders on ABC; a special program of assorted comment and analysis on NBC; discussion—and considerable bickering—among assorted experts on the educational network; or "The Jonathan Winters Show," a variety hour featuring comedy, on CBS.

DATE RESET

CBS had originally planned a postspeech period of comment by leading Republican politicians, but their acceptance was withdrawn and the date reset. So CBS resumed regular programming.

President Johnson, beyond an opening sally, was in a completely serious mood throughout his address. It ranged in subject widely from Vietnam, crime in the streets and unemployment to brief references to comparitively minor aspects of his Great Society program.

The broadcast was done with excellent technical skills and good lighting. The President in blue suit, blue shirt and maroon tie, looked healthy and rested. It did appear, however, from the picture on all channels that he had received a little more TV makeup than was necessary to keep his forehead from shining.

YULE SHOW

In the postmortems, the Republican leaders generally—as could have been expected—were highly critical of many aspects of the speech. There seemed to be in that group—also expectedly—general agreement that the speech was, as Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania called it, "a political message."

Sen. Jacob Javits of New York said the President made "the State of the Union sound like the state of the campaign." However, they also sounded pretty political in their comments.

One thing all the talk and analysis indicated: There seemed to be as little agreement among experts of all types on the President's speech as there is among the nonexperts.

Recommended tonight: Bob Hope Christmas Show, NBC, 8:30-10 EST, highlights from the comedian's annual entertainment tour among troops in Vietnam.

Columnist Admits Using Info From Dodd's Files

MONROE, Mich. (AP) — Columnist Drew Pearson said Wednesday night that he and associate Jack Anderson used stolen files in articles critical of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

But Pearson said he would disregard a federal court decision handed down Tuesday which held him and Anderson liable for damages for using Dodd's files.

"We did in fact use stolen documents, but did so to improve the ethics of the Senate," Pearson said in an interview with the Monroe News. He was here for a speaking engagement.

WILL CONTINUE

"As long as I am a newspaperman," he added, "I will continue to disregard decisions such as the one handed down by Judge Holtzoff."

U.S. Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff granted a summary judgment sought by Dodd against the two columnists, ruling that a person is liable for damages if he receives purloined documents and uses the material they contain.

Holtzoff said the question of damages would have to be settled later. Dodd is suing Pearson and Anderson for $1 million.

The columnists said they used material from Dodd's files to write articles about his personal finances.

The Connecticut Democrat was censured by the Senate last June 22 for using political funds to pay personal bills.

SMU Prof Selected To Eye Pornography

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. G. William Jones of Southern Methodist University has been selected by President Johnson as a member of a commission on obscenity and pornography. Jones is an assistant professor of broadcast film art.

The 18-member commission is to study the relationship of obscenity and pornography to anti-social behavior.
