Hail Damages Cotton

Irrigation Equipment Damaged By High Winds

Thunderstorms, accompanied by strong winds and some hail, roamed through Mitchell County Wednesday and Thursday nights leaving damaged crops in their wake.

Offsetting the damage was the fact that the storms left much needed rains that amounted to more than 2 1/2 inches in some parts of the county.

However, there were other parts of the county, such as the northwest area, that received little more than a sprinkle.

County Agent Bobby Lemons said that although there was some hail Friday night, it apparently caused little damage.

However, the hail that hit Wednesday night damaged crops in four or five sections south of Loraine, near the Price Hall's home.

There apparently will be some crop damage on more than 2,000 acres of cotton, Lemons said, but he added that serious damage was limited to less than 1,000 acres.

Most cotton is still young and while it appears severely damaged, it will look much better in a few days, the county agent pointed out.

However, there are some farmers who are already making preparations to replant, although replanting will have to be limited to ground that grows the best cotton in order for it to mature before frost.

The wind took its toll on wheel - move irrigation equipment. Equipment on the farms of D.M. Smith and O.P. (Red) Givens was destroyed when the wind blew it into utility poles.

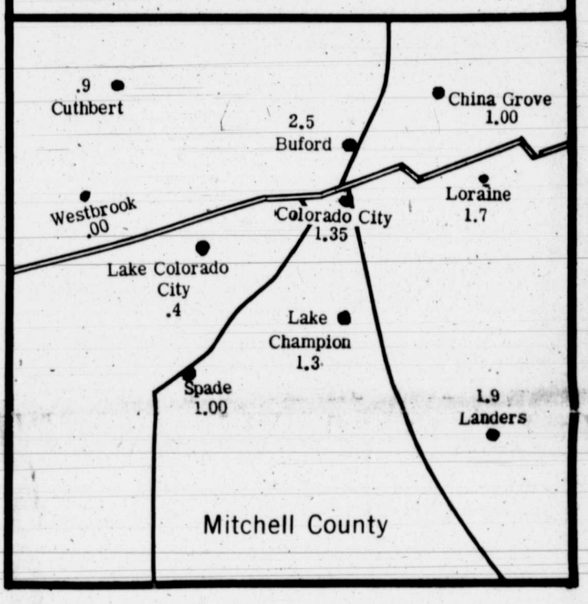

In Colorado City, the wind was strong enough to rip the carport off one house, blow it over the top of the house, through high lines, and into the yard of another home.

Lightning was labeled the culprit by a number of county residents who had their televisions and other appliances burnt out during the two storms.

The rainfall was enough to give cotton that survived the hail what it needed to continue the good start it got due to good showers in early June and spotty rainfall in May.

Night Burglar Takes Weapons

Thieves often have made lake homes and cabins their target.

But Thursday they were more brazen and daring than usual, entering the C.W. Pruitt residence on Route 2, Lake Colorado, while the Pruitts were asleep.

Mrs. Pruitt reported to police at 12:05 a.m. that the Pruitts awoke to discover a burglar had cut a window screen on a bathroom window to gain entrance.

Missing were several credit cards and 3 guns -- a double barrel 410 shotgun, an antique single barrel 410 shotgun and a single barrel rifle.

A week earlier a load of merchandise was taken from the Fina service station building in Westbrook.

After entering through a southeast window, the burglar or burglars hauled away 52 quarts of oil, 8 cans of upper cylinder lubricant, 6 or 8 water hoses, 5 or 6 fan belts and 11 used tires -- all belonging to Wayne Pierce.

In another service station break - in, burglars hit near Colorado city on Interstate 20. Taken between 12 midnight and 5:30 a.m. from the Texaco Truck Stop were 2 cartons of cigarettes, 10 cans of oil, 2 packages of flints and sun glasses.

CONVERSATION CORNER

"THREE cheers for the red, white and blue!" As every American who cares knows, Tuesday is the Glorious Fourth. The Fourth of July, this country's Independence Day!

Every true patriot celebrates the Fourth one way or another. Strange part about celebrating July Fourth is how much more vivid are memories of the big celebrations during childhood and teenage days. Remember those long ago patriotic programs and celebrations so much better than any which followed after you got grown?

Is it because America has lost some of its vigor and pride in the day? Or is it because being adult dims some of the magic of holidays.?

* * *

CHILDHOOD is never really lost. It is stored away in heart and mind and is always coming back to remind you "Remember"?

Bits and pieces of the old - fashioned childhood July Fourth are as real as yesterday.

Jack's Creek, near Mexia, was the picnic-program site and crowds of families came from several counties and from miles around. Program on a specially built stage was always in the morning and there was always a town band or two to play patriotic music before the orations, recitations and singing began.

* * *

WONDER if children of this generation ever sing or hear "O, Columbia! The Gem of the ocean! The home of the brave and the free" which has as its refrain "Three cheers for the red, white, and blue!"

How we loved to sing it, "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and yes, always "Dixie!"

How long has it been since you've heard bits and pieces of patriotic poetry learned and recited on those long ago programs? Bits like "Your flag and my flag. . .And how it flies today. . .In your land and my land . . .And half a world away."

Somebody was always called upon to say the poem that goes "Hats off! The flag is passing by!" or the long narrative poem that begins "Listen my children and you shall hear . . .of the midnight ride of Paul Revere."

Favorite of one child listening was always "When Freedom from her mountain height. . .Unfurled her standard to the air. . . She tore the azure robe of night . . .And set the stars of glory there."

* * *

SPEECHES were always long or longer as people of all ages sat on the grass and listened to every word spoken from the red, white and blue bunting-decked stage.

Years and years later a woman poet named Ella Wheeler Wilcox wrote four lines which might be more appropriate these days. She called it "True Brotherhood" and wrote "God, what a world if men in street and mart. . .Felt that same kinskip of the human heart. . .Which makes them in the face of fire and flood. . .Rise to the meaning of True Brotherhood."

And God what a world this could be if kinship in the human heart stretched across the world and there was peace to keep everywhere!

* * *

"BACK WHEN" the Fourth stressed war victories for this great nation. It was a great day just the same. From long ago and far away comes a vague memory of the last veteran of the Civil War. He had a beard which almost reached his shaking knees when he stook on the rostrum. He stood and saluted just once during the long hot program and that was when the band played "Dixie".

Children sitting under duress to listen usually sat wondering when picnic time was coming.

There were always picnics from baskets bursting at the seams when noon came. There were long tables made of wide boards and saw horses. Some families preferred to feast in the shade on a tablecloth spread on the grass under some tall oak tree. Our family always did.

* * *

AT OUR house Mother must have risen at dawn to fry all those chickens, devil eggs, and make loads of sandwiches.

After the food was prepared Daddy packed the Model T so full of picnic there was little room left for his wife and four children.

There was always lemonade by the barrel. Bet the kids, including this kid, drank up enough red soda pop to fill a medium sized lake or Jack's Creek.

After eating and resting time for kids and women went wading. Older youths and some adults went swimming and boating. It was a great and memorable day. Would love to live it again. And do, sometimes, but only in remembering.

* * *

NEARLY always a carnival set itself up on grounds fairly near Jack's Creek and when evening approached and the calliope began, most people went over to ride the ferris wheel and merry-go-round which older people still called the "Flying Jenny."

When it was dark came the beautiful fireworks. Highlight of one July Fourth night came that time this writer was sitting in the very top seat of the ferris wheel with a favorite boy friend and all rides were stopped for the rocket shooting.

Mother and the boy's mother stood on the ground below chaperoning with a kind of fear and absolute awe. The whole incident was both fun and funny and the two on top of the ferris wheel felt like the luckiest people in the world when the summer air and the summer night was full of stars from rockets high in the dark sky.

* * *

ALWAYS and always to climax the evening was the reading aloud by Daddy of every word of the Constitution preamble and the Bill of Rights.

Can still hear the echo of his voice reading, "When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and nature's God entitle them. . .we hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are LIFE, LIBERTY and the PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS."

* * *

THIS Fourth of July, 1972, should be a fine time to read or hear read those words again. And to think on those words.

May the pursuit of happiness be yours. May you be happy. It is your Right under the Constitution. Happy Fourth!

Food Preservation Program Planned

Art means different things to different people.

The art of home canning is making a return to the homemaking scene, but not without a few changes.

For those interested in up-to-date food preservation, there is hope. Hattie Kilgore of Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation will be in Sterling City for a program on July 10.

The presentation will be in the Sterling County Community Center from 1 to 3 p.m.

Mrs. Jean Holland, Extension agent in that county extends the invitation to every interested person in this area.

C-City Students On Dean's List

Three Colorado City young people have qualified for the dean's honor list for the spring semester of 1972.

To qualify for the list, a student must be enrolled in 12 semester hours and have at least a 3.0 grade point average.

HEY, OSTRICH

Ostriches, they say, avoid problems by burying their heads in the sand.
Well, as we all know, that doesn't make problems go away. And as we are also all too aware, this old world's got a few problems.
But perhaps the biggest problem of all, these days, at the base of all problems, is the growing insensitivity of people to other people.
Maybe we're numbed by events being brought so close by "instant communications." Maybe it's the almost overwhelming burden of anxiety of our times. Whatever it is, we've got to find something again. And nurture it.
Something called Love.
God's love for us. And our need to love all other people.
Easy to say. Not so easy to do.
That's why we've prepared a booklet called "How One Town Put Its Faith To Work." It's free. And it shows how people of goodwill can work with other people of goodwill to make things happen. The very things about which you've probably been saying, "Why doesn't somebody do something!"
If you're the kind of person who knows the world can be better, you're the kind of person who will send for it.

But the state Demo chairman was only in the committee meeting for a few minutes and took no part in the committee work. With him was another ultra conservative, Dallas County Demo Chairman Earl Luna.

Abilene, although not included in the 61st District except for a small part of its city, had its influence on the scene in the person of Taylor Demo Chairman Larry Cunningham and State Demo Executive Committeeman French Robertson.

Also at the meeting were Mrs. R.W. Herren of Haskell, Demo district committeewoman, and Jack Gaubert, state executive director who accompanied Orr's group to Abilene.

However, the actual selection will be in the hands of only 5 committee members -- Rees, Carriker, Hunt, Galbreath and Lassiter.

It is expected that in their session with candidates, the committee will allow each candidate a period to present his candidacy, then allow a period for questions.

Dona-Lin Plans 'Thank-You'

Ed and Nancy Newton, owners of the Dona-Lin Drive In Theatre in Loraine have announced a Special Pre-Holiday Customer Appreciation Night at the Drive-In.

"Because of the friendly and sincere friendships made in our first three months in Mitchell County, and the continued patronage of the Dona-Lin, Nancy and I have scheduled a special evening of family entertainment on Monday July 3," explained Ed.

"True Grit", the film for which John Wayne won his only Academy Award for Best Actor, will preceed Robert Mitchum and Dean Martin in "Five Card Stud."

A fire works display will be given during the intermission. "Since admission will only be $2.00 per carload, we hope to see every car filled to capacity next Monday night," Nancy said.

The Newtons went on to say that Mitchell County and area residents were some of the friendliest people in all of Texas and that they appreicated the personal interest shown by so many people during their short time here.
