Defense Wins School Case

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, Friday ruled the jury in the Gay Hill-Center Point common school annexation appeal case had held the Howard County School Board acted within its proper authority.

He informed the attorneys for the two school districts and the Howard County School Board he would prepare a judgment along these lines based on the findings of the jury.

The hearing Friday morning was brief.

Seated with the common school attorneys was George Archer, principal of the Gay Hill school, and Jimmy Felts Jr., a trustee from that district.

Jones was alone at his table. J. C. Hinsley, his colleague in the trial, was in Austin and did not attend the hearing.

No legal argument was offered by either side.

The attorneys on both sides of the table agreed that "the court has heard all of the cases cited and is familiar with them," and Judge Caton immediately announced his decision.

Thirty spectators were in the court room. They were residents of the Gay Hill and Center Point districts.

Prior to the announcement of his plan to prepare a judgment for the defendant, Judge Caton summarily overruled a motion by the common school districts for a mistrial and, at the same time, overruled a defense motion—one of two submitted—for a judgment for the county board without regard to the jury's findings.

"The court will prepare a judgment based on the jury verdict and for the defense," the court announced.

The jury had answered seven of nine issues submitted to it. The common school districts argued, in the motion for a mistrial, that the partial verdict invalidated it as a determinant of the suit.

The county board contended that the seven answers on which the jury did rule were favorable to its position—that the county board May 4, 1959 acted within its official powers and in a proper manner in annexing the two districts to the Big Spring Independent School District.

Announcement was made the common school districts will appeal the matter to the State Court of Civil Appeals and it was indicated the matter will ultimately be brought before the state supreme court.

Bill Kerr, chief attorney for the school districts, asked the court to authorize the districts to expend funds necessary to finance the appeal with school money.

Gil Jones, attorney for the county board, urged the court to exercise speed in preparing the judgment and suggested that since Kerr, T. G. Christopher, Fort Worth, and Hartman and Harvey Hooser, local attorneys, all associated with the school districts, were on hand, a conference be held and details of the judgment worked out Friday.

The judge indicated he favored such a plan and the attorneys and the judge were in the judge's chambers at 11 a.m. conferring.

Slaying

Tension In Berlin But Tempers Cool

U.S. Convoy Is Unhindered On Autobahn

BERLIN (AP)—Tension gripped Berlin again today but tempers tapered off. Three Soviet armored cars drove into the Western sector after putting up only token resistance to an American escort and a U.S. military convoy moved smoothly along the autobahn without interference from the Communists.

The Soviet guards going to the Soviet war memorial were waved through Checkpoint Charlie after only a six-minute delay—compared to nearly four hours Thursday. The Soviets, who had previously brandished tommy guns, showed no arms.

West Berliners were hot with anger about the slaying Thursday night of a young refugee at the wall by Communist East German guards. But Mayor Willy Brandt appealed to his people to remain calm.

"The welfare of the city is more important than our hatred of the wall. The wall must go, but until it goes, the city must live," Brandt said.

NOTES TO KREMLIN

The United States, Britain and France handed identical notes to the Kremlin calling for a four-power meeting with "a view to preventing further deterioration of the situation in Berlin" and citing the "brutal killing on the Berlin wall" of a refugee.

Shortly after the notes were delivered, the Soviet Union protested to the United States against the stoning of Soviet soldiers in the West Berlin. A Soviet note handed to the U.S. charge d'affaires warned that if there were repetitions "necessary measures will be taken to insure safety of Soviet representatives and soldiers." The measures were not spelled out.

NO ESCORTS

The Soviets have repeatedly rejected proposals for talks since the new crisis arose after West Berliners, enraged by the shooting of a young refugee at the wall a week ago, attacked Soviet buses carrying sentries to the Red war memorial. They shifted to armored cars after repeated stonings of the buses.

The Soviets insisted then—and still do—that they want no escorts despite these attacks, which the Western commandants said were fanned "partially by Red agents." Berlin traffic rules call for an escort for any armored car.

During a dispute at Checkpoint Charlie Thursday a Soviet lieutenant talked of reprisals by forcing all American cars traveling into East Berlin or anywhere in Communist territory to accept escorts.

But more than 100 U.S. Army vehicles loaded with troops moved through East Germany to West Berlin unescorted today.

Contingents of the 6th Infantry Division's 2nd Battle Group—342 men in 108 vehicles, mostly trucks—cleared without interference through the Soviet checkpoint at Marienborn on the border between West and East Germany.

The first group of 35 vehicles arrived in Berlin after 3¼ hours, and a U.S. Army spokesman said no attempt was made to escort them.

NO TROUBLE

The spokesman said U.S. Army sedans also were touring East Berlin today as usual, and he had no reports of any Soviet attempt to escort them.

The Russians threatened Thursday to escort all American vehicles traveling in Communist-controlled German territory in retaliation for American insistence on escorting Soviet armored cars sent into West Berlin.

The 2nd Battle Group unit traveled in 70 vehicles, mostly trucks. It was returning from training in West Germany.

Units of the 6th Infantry's 3rd Battle Group—also part of the American garrison in West Berlin—were scheduled to leave the city today for similar training in West Germany. West Berlin is too small for large-scale maneuvers.

The Russians have been using armored cars to transport guards for the Soviet War Memorial in West Berlin since angry West Berlin crowds stoned Soviet buses earlier in the week. The crowds were protesting the killing of a young East German trying to escape through the Berlin wall Thursday night. It was the second such slaying in six days.

An angry crowd quickly collected in the French sector at the scene of the latest shooting. French soldiers and West Berlin police quickly dispersed the crowd, and there was no violence.

Brandt reached the scene almost immediately and helped persuade the crowd to break up.

VICTIM NAMED

The victim of the East German guards was Hans Dieter Wesar, 19, a policeman at East Berlin's Bornholmerstrasse Railway Station.

He fell under a hail of machine-gun bullets, apparently hit just after he had slipped through the barbed wire fence at the station.

Police, searching in the darkness after hearing the gunfire, found him 15 yards inside West Berlin. He died on the way to a hospital.

Later, at least 30 more shots were heard in East Berlin. These were not explained.

Public anger has been at a high pitch in West Berlin since the slaying last Friday of an 18-year-old refugee, Peter Fechter. He was shot down on the east side of the wall 200 yards from an American-manned crossing point and lay moaning and bleeding for nearly an hour without medical aid.

For three nights angry West Berlin crowds protested. The demonstrations at the wall culminated Monday in the stoning and chasing of Soviet buses and the injury of two Soviet soldiers en route to guard duty at the Soviet War Memorial in West Berlin.

YANKS CRITICIZED

Crowds also shouted bitter criticisms at American troops because the detail at the checkpoint did not go to the aid of the dying boy.

U.S. authorities said no aid was sent because they did not wish to create a new incident. They have since stationed an ambulance detail at the checkpoint.

A declaration Thursday from the U.S., British and French governments attacked "irresponsible action at the wall by East Berlin guards" and "the brutality of the East German authorities" who have authorized shooting to prevent escapes.

The statement was in answer to Moscow's abolishing the post of Soviet commandant in Berlin, the latest move in the Russian campaign to end Berlin's four-power status and drive the Western Allies out of the city.

Delay At Checkpoint Charlie

A Russian army interpreter talks with a U.S. soldier as a Soviet convoy of armored cars is stopped at Checkpoint Charlie in Berlin en route to the Soviet War Memorial in West Berlin. Soviet soldiers, holding automatic weapons, stood up through the roof of the lead vehicle when the group was stopped. The convoy was detained more than three hours during an argument over the U.S. demand that the vehicles be escorted to the memorial.

Jet Pilot Student Load To Increase

The jet pilot student load will be stepped up at Webb AFB in the coming months, according to an announcement by the U. S. Air Force. The number of pilots trained here may be increased by a third.

The announcement said the Air Force plans to increase the overall pilot training program by one-third starting this year with a gradual increase in each class.

The enlargement will build the program to 2,000 pilots trained each year from the present 1,400.

The announcement explained the new training rates will require the continued use of eight training bases presently engaged in pilot instruction, including Webb AFB, Moody AFB, Ga., Laredo AFB, Craig AFB, Ala., Laughlin AFB, Vance AFB, Enid, Okla., Williams AFB, Ariz., Reese AFB.

In addition, the Air Force is currently studying the possibility of increased spending at these bases, the announcement said, concerning matters of base strength, possible construction and aircraft in the future.

Webb AFB officials said they knew nothing more about the expansion program that was contained in the Air Force-wide announcement.

Webb currently has 336 jet pilots in training here. If the planned increases in numbers are divided equally among the eight bases, Webb would pick up an additional 75 students, putting it over the 400 mark.

Berlin At A Glance

By The Associated Press

BERLIN—U.S. military convoy crosses East Germany; Communists make no attempt to interfere or attach escorts despite Soviet threat; West Berliners angered by new refugee slaying at wall.

WASHINGTON—American diplomats hope Western Big Three policy of firmness and moderation will quiet latest Berlin crisis; Russians reminded again they cannot unilaterally abandon responsibilities or force out Allied garrisons; see no immediate need for another callup of American National Guardsmen and Reservists.

MOSCOW—Western Allies send notes to Kremlin inviting Soviet Union to join in four-power meeting on Berlin; make no mention of abolition of Soviet military commandant's office in city.

DUBLIN—Former President Eisenhower declares Western Allies must remain in Berlin and assert their rights—"any retreat from the principle might be looked upon as a weakness and it could lead to aggression."

Rape, Murder Charges Filed

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A young ranch hand, accused of kidnaping a couple married less than two days, raping the bride and fatally shooting the bridegroom, has been arraigned on a murder charge.

Dist. Atty. William Raggio said Lester Morford III, 18, of Santa Rosa, Calif., also faces charges of rape and kidnaping.

Morford twice raped Patricia Rector Foster, 23, Wednesday and shot her husband, Jack A. Foster, 23, of Medford, Ore., police said.

Mrs. Foster, shattered by the tragedy, left a Carson City, Nev., hospital Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rector of Medford, and Foster's mother and sister, from Yreka, Calif.

The couple, married Monday in Reno, spent two nights at a motel. They were leaving for Yreka early Wednesday when Morford appeared with a gun, police said, and forced the Fosters into their car.

Mrs. Foster told authorities Morford shot her husband twice in the head near Lake Tahoe, then shoved him over an embankment. Morford then raped her twice, she said, before driving on to Carson City, where she jumped out of the car. Morford was captured six hours later driving the Foster car.

Lamesa Woman Is Killed, 4 Hurt In Car-Truck Crash

LAMESA — One person was killed and four others hospitalized as the result of a truck-car collision 12½ miles north of here Friday night.

Dead is Amelia Castillo, 28, Lamesa.

Critically injured in the crash were her brother, Cabino Castello, 26; her sister, Antonia Castello, 32, and her mother, Mrs. Hilario Refugio, 52.

In fair condition is Billy Burkett, 36, Welch farmer.

All of the injured are in the Medical Arts Hospital.

Miss Castillo's death was the fourth traffic fatality in Dawson County in the past week.

Investigating officers said the accident was on the Brownfield road (SH 137) at 9:30 p.m. Friday.

The Castillos and Mrs. Refugio were in a late model sedan driven by Cabino Castillo. They were travelling south en route to their home in Lamesa.

Burkett, in his pickup, was going north toward Welch. He was alone in the truck.

The crash was almost head-on, officers said. They are continuing investigation into the case.

The victim died at 11:30 p.m. in the emergency room of the Medical Arts Hospital.

A third car was involved in the wreck. Miss Carolyn Pruitt, 16, Lamesa, crashed into the wreckage of the Castillo vehicle after the wreck. She was not injured and her car was not badly damaged.

Hearing Ends

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee hearing on Negro Thurgood Marshall's judgeship nomination, submitted Jan. 15, came to an end today.

Religious Sect Enters Shelters

BENSON, Ariz. (AP) — About 50 members of a religious sect have left their homes in this southern Arizona town and taken refuge in bomb shelters. Police Chief Russell Miner said. Two years ago, about 80 members of the Full Gospel Assembly said they had received a Divine warning that a nuclear war soon would destroy the world. They went into shelters but emerged 42 days later, saying God had assured them the danger was past.

"They were very close-mouthed about the underground move this time; they gave us no warning," Milner said.

Benson Mayor Peter B. Wilharm said their religious beliefs "are their business. We won't interfere unless it concerns the health and welfare of the people."

Judge Studies Co-Op's Suit

ABILENE (AP) — Dist. Judge J. R. Black had under advisement today a motion to dismiss a suit by two electric cooperative seeking to purchase advertising space in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce magazine, "West Texas Today."

Black this week directed lawyers for the cooperatives to file a brief in reply.

The original suit against the regional Chamber of Commerce was filed Oct. 31, 1961. It claimed the chamber and Executive Vice President Fred Husbands refused to accept a series of six advertisements in the official magazine. It asked that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce be enjoined from refusing to publish the advertisements.

The chamber said in its brief that the co-ops' advertising is contrary to the policies of the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce position is that the magazine is operated in the same manner as a newspaper, which legal authorities have ruled can refuse advertising.

Bible Fund Slows Past Half-Mark

The Bible Class Fund barely edged past the halfway mark of its objective today as the rate of contributions once more slowed to a point of concern.

Friends Friday added $35 to the amount so far given, and unless church groups are stimulated Sunday, the fund could be in trouble.

The total was pushed to $1,818.25 which is approximately half of what must be raised through these unsolicited gifts. If you haven't given, please do it as soon as possible by mailing or bringing your share to the Herald.

Sergeants Get Mementoes

Two Webb AFB sergeants were given mementoes by their civilian hosts Thursday following a get-acquainted dinner at the Big Spring Country Club. S.M. Sgt. Arthur Michel was the sergeant who had been in the Air Force the longest — 35 years; M. Sgt. C. A. Rose had the longest tenure at Webb, almost eight years. From left: Roy Reeder, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Michel, Rose and Mayor George Zachariah admire the gifts. About 200 senior sergeants and businessmen were on hand for the western style dinner, sponsored by a committee of the Base-Community Council of the chamber.

Democrat Connally and Republican Cox expressed their stands in telegrams published Thursday in the Baptist Standard.

Jacobs Denies Rigging Probe To Whitewash Estes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Emery F. Jacobs, ousted farm aid official, denied today he ever ordered a rigged investigation designed to whitewash the Billie Sol Estes cotton deals, or discussed such a scheme with Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy.

His sworn testimony before the Senate Investigations subcommittee conflicted squarely with that earlier in the week from Thomas H. Miller, a deputy farm aid director who said he had received and obeyed exactly such orders from Jacobs.

"I say I did not do it," Jacobs declared.

As to whether he had discussed with Murphy any scheme to send Miller in quest of one-sided evidence to provide an excuse for placing a phony cloak of legality around the Estes cotton deals, Jacobs said:

"We did not, sir."

Murphy himself, in a statement issued meantime at the Agriculture Department, asked that no conclusion or judgments be made regarding his part in the Estes case until he tells his story before congressional investigators. He may testify before the senators next week.

"All of the matters which I dealt with concerning Estes came to me in the normal course of my duties as undersecretary of agriculture," Murphy's statement said. "I dealt with all of them strictly on the merits as I saw them. No pressures or improper influences had any effect on my decisions."

Jacobs' testimony disputing that of Miller came under questioning by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

The subcommittee, headed by McClellan, is investigating whether political influence high in the Agriculture Department or elsewhere helped Estes, a Pecos, Tex., promoter, on shady or illegal farm ak deals.

The senators are looking particularly into cotton acreage planting allotments wrangled by Estes from other states. The department finally canceled the allotments and fined Estes $554,000.

Miller had testified that Jacobs sent him to Texas on an investigating mission last January with these instructions:

"I (Jacobs) want you to send a report containing every justification you can find to permit retention of these allotments."

"What do you say to that?" McClellan asked after reading this to Jacobs from a transcript of Miller's testimony.

"I say I did not do it," Jacobs replied firmly.

McClellan questioned Jacobs sharply about Miller's testimony that he understood Jacobs to imply that the mission at least had the blessing of Murphy.

"I did not intend to convey any such impression," Jacobs said. He said his instructions to Miller were to be objective.

McClellan commented:

"One witness is telling the truth and one is not."

Jacobs said he agreed.

The mission to Texas resulted from a Jan. 6 meeting of top level Agriculture Department officials which rescinded orders cancelling Estes disputed cotton allotment deals for 1961.

One upshot of the meeting, Jacobs said, was a decision to send three men to Texas to check on claims made by John Dennison, counsel for Estes, at the Jan. 6 session, that there was evidence there to show Estes was entitled to keep the allotments.

Jacobs said he was first designated by Murphy to go on the investigative mission, but they decided that Miller should go instead. He quoted the undersecretary as having stated specifically: "I don't want anyone to go down on an expedition to tear down what Dennison said, but if what he said is true I want to know it."

He said the undersecretary emphasized that whatever report resulted, "I want it to be completely objective."

Jacobs was questioned further on one point which had been left vague in his testimony Thursday about the Jan. 6 meeting. He said it was decided then that "there was going to be no penalty invoked (against Estes)" whether or not those allotments were canceled.

He said about the same thing Thursday, but then seemed to back away from it under questioning by subcommittee members.

Victim Finds Worse Than Artificial Legs

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — At 19, Diane Mills is taking her first steps for the second time in her life—now on new artificial legs, and with optimism.

"Why, if I don't miss any of my exercises or give any excuses —I've already used all there are in the book—I should be out of the hospital the first of the month," said the attractive brunette.

Diane has known only hospitals since March 27. That night she was using the family car to visit a girl friend when it ran out of gasoline. As she stood by the car refueling it from a can, Diane was hit by another machine, crushed between them.

"The minute it happened I knew I was going to lose my legs," Diane said. "But now I guess it was better that way. I was conscious when I went into the operating room and nobody had to tell me."

A LESSON LEARNED

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mills of suburban Edina, and her brothers, Dwight, 25, and Harry, 17, at first joined in her despair.

But then Diane had a visitor at the hospital, a 12-year-old boy stricken with muscular dystrophy and also a hospital patient. He patted her hand and shyly said, "Cheer up, Diane, life isn't so bad."

"Here was this little boy, so terribly sick himself, and still telling ME to cheer up," Diane said. "You just have to stop feeling sorry for yourself when something like that happens."

"I guess it's a case of thinking there's nothing bad in the world just because nothing bad has happened to you," she added. "Why, since I've been in the hospital two of my friends have been killed in car accidents."

REAL CONFIDENCE MAN

Mrs. Mills was tearful most of the time in the first months after the tragedy.

Then a stranger came to the Mills door. He was a double amputee, and he had dropped by to show how well he got around on artificial legs.

"He did us a lot of good on several visits in proving that things after all weren't hopeless," reported Mills.

Shortly after one of the visits, the family was contacted by police. They had picked up the amputee and had found in his pockets clippings about Diane's case. Police wondered about the connection because the amputee had a record as a confidence man.

But he was one of the nicest of many nice people who helped us, and he did a lot of good, confidence man or not," said Diane's father.

Recriminations? Hate? Bitterness?

Not in the current lexicon of Diane and her family. For as Mills puts it: "How can you be nice in God with hate in your heart?"

Thalidomide Clears Way, Senate Passes Drug Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A drug safety bill born in stormy controversy two years ago has sailed easily through the Senate without a vote cast in opposition.

Its way cleared by public concern touched off by the sedative thalidomide, the measure was sent on to the House Thursday by a 78-0 vote.

A House committee is holding hearings on a companion bill, similarly designed to strengthen safeguards against the marketing of dangerous and ineffective drugs.

The only sharp disagreement in the Senate debate was over an amendment sponsored by the bill's author, Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn. The Senate rejected 53-28 his effort to require compulsory licensing of drug patents when there is a 500 per cent markup in the price to pharmacists.

Kefauver contended prices of prescription drugs are "outrageously high" and the only way to assure substantial reductions is to break up patent monopolies by compulsory licensing.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which handled the bill, said adoption of Kefauver's amendment would "destroy all incentive to make investments for drug research" and be "a crime against humanity."

Drug legislation got rolling two years ago when Kefauver, chairman of the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee, investigated the prescription drug industry. Introduced more than a year ago, the bill was turned down to the Judiciary committee where it was stripped down to a skeleton.

An outraged Kefauver charged in June in the Senate the "drug manufacturing industry and its acolytes" had "swung a haymaker and just about knocked this bill right out of the ring."

New life was breathed into the measure, however, when reports from West Germany blamed the birth of thousands of armless and legless children on thalidomide. The drug never was approved for marketing in the United States, but was distributed to doctors for clinical testing and thus given to Americans.

This gave rise to new concern over U.S. drug laws and regulations and after President Kennedy re-entered a plea for passage of a drug bill with teeth in it, the Judiciary Committee took a second look at the bill and restored some of its strengthening provisions.

A key one would permit the government to take a drug off the market without prior hearing if it were deemed to create an imminent hazard to the public health.

The manufacturer would have an opportunity for a prompt hearing afterward.

The bill also requires for the first time that "substantial evidence" be submitted that a drug is effective for its intended use before it is cleared for marketing by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

Under present law the FDA is required to pass on the safety, but not the effectiveness, of new drugs before they are placed on the market.

Other features of the bill include a requirement for registration of all drug manufacturers, establishment of quality controls on the manufacture of drugs, and broadened authority for government inspection of prescription drug plants.

The bill also is designed to encourage sale of prescription drugs by their generic or laboratory names rather than their trade names, so that consumers can shop around for the best buys.

Dennis Moved To San Angelo

Dick H. Dennis, 70, was transferred from Malone and Hogan Hospital Foundation to the Shannon Memorial Hospital in San Angelo Wednesday night. The transfer was made on request of a son in order to secure the services of a neuro-surgeon.

Dennis' physician said Thursday that Dennis' condition was satisfactory, though critical, when he left the local hospital. His pulse and breathing were almost normal, but he was still unconscious.

Dennis was found, shot through the head with a .22 calibre rifle, in the front seat of his car shortly after 1 p.m. Tuesday in a Martin County cotton field.

He was unconscious when found by a 12-year-old boy, Rodney Feaster, son of Lonnie Feaster. Doctors estimated that he had been shot about two hours before he was found. The bullet damaged his brain when it passed through his skull, doctors said, and his condition was considered critical.

Martin and Howard County sheriffs officers were told by associates that Dennis lived alone in the 1700 block of Lancaster and that he had been depressed since his wife died two years ago.

His one son lives in San Angelo.

Murphy Named As Block To Probe Of Estes

WASHINGTON (AP)—An ousted farm aid official has told Senate investigators that Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy rolled back a department crackdown on Billie Sol Estes.

But the former official, Emery E. Jacobs, also told the Senate Investigations Subcommittee Thursday that an administrative breakdown within the department in Texas was the main reason Estes was able to juggle farm aid programs in his get-rich-quick scheme.

The red-haired Jacobs was fired last April after his name was linked with the Pecos, Tex., promoter in Texas courts of inquiry.

The Senate inquiry into whether political influence figured in the Estes deals is heading toward its final phases, with Murphy, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Estes among the final scheduled witnesses.

Jacobs testified Thursday that Murphy made the decision at a Jan. 6 meeting of top ranking Agriculture Department officials to rescind orders issued two weeks earlier canceling Estes' profitable juggling of federal cotton planting allotments.

The cancellation order had tabbed the juggling as an illegal scheme.

Jacobs testified, then promptly backed away from it, that "there seemed to be a general agreement" at the meeting that civil penalty fines should not be imposed for Estes' 1961 cotton dealings.

In March, under orders by Freeman, the department ruled the deals illegal. Estes later was fined $554,000.

GENTLE AND STERN

By T. B. Tarbet, preacher
Church of Christ, 3900 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1383

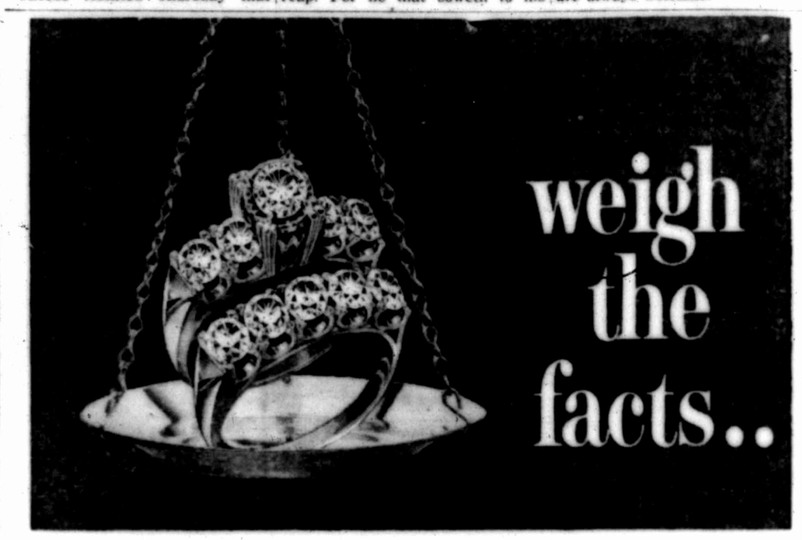

Our Lord is gentle. We see him weeping over the sinful city of Jerusalem, in Luke 19:41. He is also stern. In John 2:13-17, we find him putting out of the temple those that sold oxen, sheep and doves, and the money changers. Christ is gentle; but stern.

God is love (I Jno. 4:16); God is merciful (II Sam. 24:14). Yet there is another side, which men are inclined to overlook. God is stern; and God will punish. Let us not think we can take advantage of his mercy. "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting." (Gal. 6:7, 8).

"Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God . . ." (Rom. 11:22).

The Lord loves us, and wants us all saved; but we cannot be saved in disobedience to God. "And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation to all them that obey him" (Heb. 5:9). This is our plea!

Plan to be with us Sunday. You are always welcome.

Filter Smoke Has Tar That Causes Cancer

CHICAGO (AP) — A team of medical researchers says tests have demonstrated tobacco drawn through filter-tipped cigarettes contains a tar substance that can cause skin cancer in mice.

The report, published today in the Journal of the American Medical Association, said six brands of cigarettes including two filter-tip types were used in the one-year study.

The research was undertaken, they said, to determine if the cancer risk had been eliminated from cigarettes or reduced by modifications in recent years.

Tumors were induced by every brand of cigarette tested, they said, but the filtered cigarette smoke yielded only one-third the amount of tar in standard cigarette smoke.

There were fewer tumors and a slower onset of tumors among the filtered cigarette group.

Tar yields among standard cigarettes differed by less than 20 per cent, they said.

The experimental procedure consisted of condensing the smoke from machine-smoked cigarettes to obtain the tar, they explained. The tar was dissolved in a solvent, acetone, and applied to the shaved skin of the mouse in amounts equivalent to 83 smoked cigarettes a day.

"In recent years, the report stated, the tobacco companies have introduced many new brands and have modified existing brands of cigarettes.

"The advertisements of some brands imply that these modifications have resulted in lower tar levels in the smoke."

The tobacco industry, however, contends there is no evidence that smoking causes cancer.

The research team said the implications of the studies are "indirect but meaningful." The smoke of all six brands of cigarettes proved capable of causing cancer in mice, but the total amount of smoke delivered to the target area from the filtered cigarettes resulted in a lowering of the incidence of tumors, they said.

"The idea of course ... would be to stop smoking altogether," they said.

The nation's weather pattern showed minor changes today, with a few wet spots in the Midwest and South and little variation in temperatures.

Reuther Calls For Teachers To Unionize

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther says American school teachers should become union members to secure fair play for themselves and help the nation.

The United Auto Workers president exhorted an American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO) convention Thursday night to bring "a million" teachers into the union.

A "strong teachers union," he said, is the only answer to teacher problems of pay and working conditions.

Reuther charged the American people have failed to do right by their teachers and said the nation must correct this in order to meet Soviet Russia's challenge.

Of teacher pay, Reuther said "American society has no moral right to expect teachers to subsidize the national and state school budgets" by going without proper salaries.

He said education must not be kept a stepchild, and said the organizing of teachers should be given top priority by the labor movement.

The 70,000-member AFT scheduled concluding sessions of its convention today.

The 750 rank and file delegates overturned a decision of their union leadership and refused to go to Miami Beach, Fla., for the 1963 convention.

A resolution directed the AFT Executive Council, its governing body, to "choose a site where all our delegates and their families would be welcomed regardless of race."

Disabled Vets Pay Boost OKd

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a bill boosting the compensation of 1,916,740 disabled veterans by $98 million a year.

Approval Thursday night sent the measure back to the House for action on a Senate amendment to make it effective July 1. The House had decided to put the measure into effect two months after it becomes law.

Disabled veterans now get about $2 billion a year in compensation payments.

Compensation for a fully disabled veteran who needs an attendant would go up from $600 to $725 a month. A veteran with 10 per cent disability would get $20 instead of $19 monthly.

Ben Bella Wins Popularity Test With Algerian People

ALGIERS (AP) — Ahmed Ben Bella won Thursday night the first popularity test in his feud with guerrilla commanders. He drew repeated cheers from 30,000 Algerians as he vowed to make the military bow to civilian rule in a socialist Algeria.

Ben Bella's speech climaxed hours of rival demonstrations in the historic Algiers Forum. They began with anti-Ben Bella outbursts and a flash of violence and ended with both groups of demonstrators combining forces to roar approval of the deputy premier who is Algeria's leading political figure.

It was not immediately apparent what effect, if any, the popular acclaim for Ben Bella would have on the current power struggle between his seven-man Political Bureau and the guerrilla leaders whose forces control much of the country. Many of the guerrilla chiefs who bore the brunt of Algeria's war for independence from France resent Ben Bella's efforts to curb their power.

Ben Bella's chief aide, Mohammed Khider, told a news conference the Political Bureau does not intend to bow to any force or to make any concession in its fight for supremacy.

Thursday night's demonstration seemed to strengthen the politicians' hand. But the demonstrators appeared to be motivated mainly by resentment at the post-independence chaos that has gripped the country and ready to acclaim any one promising them a better future.

The guerrillas of Wilaya (Zone) No. 4 who occupy Algiers had thwarted one Ben Bella demonstration the night before by turning back Moslems approaching The Forum. Then they censored news of the Ben Bella rally rescheduled for Thursday night.

Early Thursday night, the guerrillas herded into the square thousands of Moslems shouting anti-Ben Bella slogans and carrying placards denouncing "personality cults" and "false revolutionaries." Some demonstrators tried to storm the modernistic government building, hurling stones and shattering windows. Uniformed Moslem police turned them back with fire hoses.

Then thousands of Ben Bella supporters poured into the square, but there were no clashes. Eventually, the two groups blended together and applauded members of the political bureau who appeared on the government building balcony. Ben Bella came out last.

In a challenge to the guerrilla commanders, Ben Bella promised to create a strong army in the "exclusive service of the state."

He asked the crowd: "Are you for order? Are you for the Political Bureau? Do you favor the army's transformation?"

To each question, the crowd responded "Yes!"

"Algeria has chosen the road to socialism that is not incompatible with Islam," Ben Bella declared. "The entire world is watching us. Unite around the Political Bureau."

Ben Bella threatened state seizure of French factories and other enterprises unless the Europeans who ran them and fled to France return and reopen them. He did not say where Algeria would get the technicians to run them if the French don't come back.

He also promised agrarian reform and distribution of free land, an apparent contradiction of his appeals to European farmers to return to their Algerian farms.

Ben Bella pledged Algeria's support for creation of a united North Africa and for the rebels in the Portuguese colony of Angola in Southwest Africa. Angolan rebels are being trained at camps in Algeria.

Eidinoff Loses Plea

RUSK (AP) — Dr. Harold Eidinoff, who claims to have regained sanity since a spectacular slaying in El Paso, must remain in a state hospital, a jury decided Thursday night.

"He is mentally ill," the county court verdict from a jury of five men and a woman stated. They deliberated 56 minutes.

Eidinoff, now 53, killed lawyer Ted Andress at the El Paso air terminal Jan. 28, 1959. The shooting capped a five-year feud involving nude photographs of Eidinoff and his first wife which were displayed in a lawsuit, and a libel suit in which Andress won a $110,000 judgment against Eidinoff.

A district court jury at Lubbock pronounced Eidinoff insane then and at the time of the slaying. He since has been confined in the Rusk State Hospital. The verdict means he cannot be tried on a murder charge in the case.

As Eidinoff was led from the courtroom, he pointed to defense lawyer John McDonald of Palestine and said: "I'll let John do the talking for both of us."

McDonald said "we'll have to study the case" before deciding whether to appeal.

Eidinoff spent most of two days testifying in his attempt to convince the jurors he now is sane. Dr. Charles Castner, the psychiatrist who is superintendent of the state hospital here, said in his opinion Eidinoff "is mentally ill."

A similar attempt by Eidinoff to win freedom failed here last December when another jury could not agree on a verdict.

Ike Wants Firm Stand In Berlin

DUBLIN (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the Western Allies must remain in Berlin and assert their rights.

"Any retreat from the principle," said the World War II supreme commander, "might be looked upon as a weakness and it could lead to aggression."

He told a news conference he is convinced there will be no nuclear war.

"Our problems are tough ones," Eisenhower said, "but they must be solved. I don't believe there will ever be any all-out nuclear war.

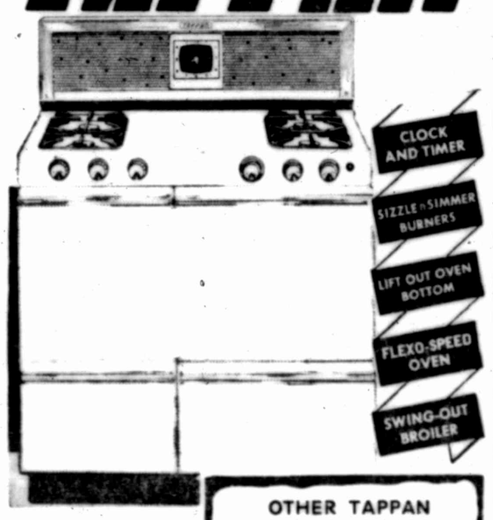

"No nation could be so foolish as to start one, and I'm sure of this — the people, the people all over the world, don't want war."

Eisenhower said on his five-week, 2,000-mile tourist visit to Western Europe, he had been "surprised, well, really amazed, to see what's happening in Europe.

"From a badly damaged and demoralized part of the world, they have built themselves up. Business is good everywhere and crops are good, and the people seem reasonably happy."

Justice Dept. Asks Action Against Liquor Price Fixing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department asked the courts today to prohibit the House of Seagram Inc., from fixing prices on liquor throughout the nation.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the order was requested in a civil antitrust suit filed simultaneously with a criminal information against the House of Seagram in U.S. District Court in Miami, Fla.

Seagram was charged specifically in both actions with conspiring to fix wholesale prices and dictate retail prices for liquor sold in southern Florida.

But the petition asked for an order against such practices on a nationwide basis.

The government said the firm conspired with Miami Crown Distributors Inc. of Miami and Palm Beach Crown Distributors Inc. of West Palm Beach, Fla.

The House of Seagram, with headquarters in New York City, sells and distributes virtually all of the distilled products of Joseph E. Seagram & Sons Inc., the nation's biggest distiller. Seagram & Sons grossed more than $170 million in the year ending July 31, 1961, and had assets exceeding $456 million, the court was told.

The government said Seagram's frequent and persistent involvement in antitrust law violations dictates that the company be prohibited from such violations not only in Florida but across the United States.

It cited seven alleged violations by Seagram of the Sherman Antitrust Act or Federal Trade Commission Act since 1938.

Kennedy said a separate criminal action filed in Miami today charged 20 southern Florida retail liquor stores and eight of their executives with price-fixing and suppressing competition. This did not involve Seagram.

In the criminal cases, the maximum penalty for an individual could be a year in prison and a $50,000 fine. Each company could draw a maximum of a $50,000 fine.

The Justice Department said the House of Seagram handles only products of the Joseph E. Seagram & Sons, and those were the only ones involved in the antitrust action.

Wheat Vote Is Slated

The referendum on wheat allotments of 1963 will be held Aug. 30 with balloting at the Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization office.

Hours of polling will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., said Gabe Hammack office manager.

Persons who hold a wheat allotment for 15 acres or more for 1963 are eligible, along with their spouses, to ballot in the referendum.

Hammack estimated that there were upwards of two score such producers in Howard County.

The referendum must carry by two-thirds majority in order to put maximum price supports and penalties in effect. The current support is $1.82 per bushel.

If the referendum produces less than a two-thirds majority, the price support level will be at 50 per cent of parity and only those planting within their allocations will be eligible for the supports. There will be no penalties for those who wish to plant more than their allotments.

Empty Poison Bags Make Cows Sick

Farmers poisoning cotton should make certain the empty bags which contained the chemicals are not permitted to blow away.

L. J. Davidson, county commissioner, said that some of the empty bags blew into pastures from fields near his place and cattle licked the containers. The animals were made sick. Davidson pointed out that there was enough residue poison in the bags to make the animals ill.

He suggested that the sacks be weighted down and later destroyed.

"I do not know if the poison is sufficient to kill a cow," he said, "but I do know that they get sick after chewing on the bags."

Arnold Rites Set Saturday

Funeral services for D. A. Arnold, 85, former Big Spring resident, who died Thursday night in St. Ann Hospital in Abilene, will be at 10 a.m. Saturday in the Elliott Chapel of Memories in Abilene. The body will then be brought to Big Spring by Elliott Funeral Home for interment in the City Cemetery.

Mr. Arnold, ill for several years, came to Big Spring in 1931. The Arnolds left here in 1950 to make their home in Abilene.

He was born Nov. 15, 1876 in Ashley, Mo. and moved to Coleman County in 1882. He married Mary Tyson in 1906.

He was a retired farmer and a member of the Church of Christ.

During World War II, the Arnolds had seven sons in the service. One, Herbert C. Arnold, died in a plane crash in 1943.

Survivors are his widow, three daughters, Mrs. C. W. Harden, Orlan, Calif.; Mrs. L. E. Beene, Big Spring; Mrs. L. E. Holland, Portales, N. M.; six sons, C. C. Arnold, Big Spring; D. G. Arnold, Blackwell; F. L. Arnold, Kempner; A. D. Arnold, W. B. Arnold and Walter N. Arnold, all of Abilene; 13 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Revolver Taken From Parked Car

A nickel-plated .44-calibre revolver was stolen from a car, owned by Norman F. Forehand, Kerrville, between 7:30 and 9 p.m. Thursday while parked on the downtown parking lot.

Police Sgt. L. D. Adams, who investigated the report, said the car doors were left unlocked and that the locked glove compartment was entered through the bottom with a sharp knife. The gun and holster were valued at $80.

Other investigations made by police in the past 24 hours included "more vandalism at the Coronado Hills Club House," a report of a man in the 600 block of Northwest Eighth hitting his wife over the head with a shotgun, with no charges being filed; report of a small child, who was left alone, drinking kerosene, and a couple of disturbances at a cafe where one man was arrested.

Minor Accidents Checked By Police

Three minor accidents were investigated by Big Spring police in the past 24 hours.

Locations of accidents and drivers of vehicles involved were: 1018 Johnson, Gene Eads, 2006 S. Monticello and Ralph Thorpe, 2302 Thorpe; Tenth and Goliad, Roy Roger Wheeles, 402 Abrams, and Mary B. Wilson, 1710 Main; Dallas and Douglas, Mary Elizabeth Hefner, 610 Dallas, and Edwin Brent McCormick, 709 W. 17th.

Seaman Criticizes Mexican Prison

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Merchant seaman Henry Kent Cook, 22, of Port Arthur, freed after eight months, says "words are not printable" to describe his experiences in a Mexican prison.

He bears two bullet wounds acquired as he and two companions tried to break out of the jail near Monterrey.

Cook related these details Thursday:

He was imprisoned Jan. 3 because he was unable to pay for damage to a Mexican's car in a traffic accident. More charges were filed after the attempted prison break last month.

Cook was released after a part of the fine was paid by Hubert Bean of San Antonio, who read about Cook's troubles.

Cook must report to the Mexican officials every 15 days. If he goes back to Mexico, he will be jailed again.

"But you can be certain I'll never return to that country as long as I live," he said.

He was shot in the arm and the leg in a bid for freedom with D. A. Simmons, an American under a death sentence for murder and with a Mexican prisoner.

Cook said he was shot in a courtyard while the men had their hands in the air. Simmons also was wounded.

"Then the guards beat us with rifles, swinging them around, around like baseball bats," he said.

Cook was put in a windowless 4-by-5-foot cell with another man. They had no furnishings and no toilet facilities. They ate beans, tortillas and had a little water.

"They throw you in like a rat and wait for you to die," he said.

Cook said he went to Mexico with a friend on a vacation. They were returning when the wreck occurred. Cook was driving the other man's car.

He plans to visit his parents in Port Arthur Wednesday and then come back to San Antonio and work for Bean.

David Tarbet To Minister NS Church Of Christ

David Tarbet, a junior at Abilene Christian College, will assume his duties as minister of the North Side Church of Christ, North Sixth and Runnels, Sunday. His sermon topics will be: 11 a.m., "Into All the World"; 6 p.m., "Brotherly Love." Bible School will be at 10 a.m.

The young minister is the son of T. H. Tarbet, minister of the West Highway 80 Church of Christ. He was minister of the Forsan Church during the summer and of the Sand Springs Church last summer. He will commute between Big Spring and Abilene during the weekends. He succeeds James Eubanks as minister of the North Side Church.

Geologists Expect More Tremors In Quake Area

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Geologists said today more slight tremors can be expected in the wake of the earthquake that struck with devastating force Tuesday and sent rumbles later over a wide area from Naples to the Adriatic.

The death toll rose to 17. The latest victim was an 87-year-old Naples woman. She died of injuries suffered in a fall down stairs as she sought to flee during Tuesday's quake.

Tens of thousands of Italians still lived outdoors—many homeless, others in fear of new shocks.

Jacqueline Kennedy, vacationing at Ravello on the fringe of the quake belt, sent sympathy to the victims.

"I pray that all who have suffered may speedily be helped in their great need," the American President's wife said in a message read on Italian radio and television.

As some victims were beginning to relax Thursday, the earth shivered again. Geologists said the tremors were part of a cycle that started Tuesday, but the strength of the shocks is gradually tapering off.

Heavy rains during the past few days added to the misery. Disrupted water and sewage systems also brought the threat of disease, especially typhoid. Health experts rushed to the area set up special inoculation centers.

Ariano Irpino, a hilltop community of 26,000, has been all but abandoned by its residents. It was one of the hardest hit towns. More than 20,000 people are living in the countryside. Many say they will not return to the town until they are sure the tremors are over.

Italian army and Red Cross trucks continued today to carry tents, blankets, and food to the earthquake victims. During the past two nights there were not enough tents to go around, and many villagers huddled in blankets or under umbrellas from sunset to dawn.

All The Comforts Of Home

Italian ice cream appears to have made a hit with this American tourist. Caroline Kennedy, four-year-old daughter of the U.S. President, indulges in her favorite delicacy at Ravello, where she and her mother are spending an extended vacation.

Market Drifts Off Irregularly

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices drifted off irregularly late this afternoon amid preweekend caution. Trading was light.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3 million shares compared with 4.77 million Thursday.

Losses of most key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

Declines were wider among some of the higher priced or more volatile issues.

The market was substantially ahead on the week, having gained an important technical objective, and there was some doubt as to where it would go from here. Outstanding news was lacking.

Drugs, along with other groups, were moderately lower, showing no particular reaction to passage by the Senate of tighter legislation on prescription drugs.

Mrs. Finkbine Leaves Hospital

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Arizona housewife Sherri Finkbine left the hospital today physically recovered from an abortion but reported still in need of rest and privacy.

Following doctors' advice she and her husband, Robert, will stay with Swedish friends for a time.

The abortion, on Aug. 18, ended a nervous wait for the 30-year-old television performer and her 31-year-old husband. Mrs. Finkbine had taken some 30 pills of the tranquilizer thalidomide during the first stages of her pregnancy.

The surgeon who performed the operation, afterward told Robert Finkbine the drugs had had certain effects upon the foetus and that her child would have been born with deformities. He did not specify.

He Found His Way Without Light

A man bought a sealed beam headlight from H. A. Simmons at the Fina Service Station, 3201 US 80 West, and gave a check for five dollars. He received $2.35 in change, walked down the alley, and threw the headlamp over the fence. Simmons summoned police.

They found the lamp, and located the man at a cafe. The check was hot. The man was jailed on a drunkenness charge.

Chase Continues

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The South Viet Nam government's meat-grinder operation to recover control of its southernmost province from the Viet Cong entered its 10th day today with 30 U.S. helicopters ferrying Vietnamese troops for new assaults. No fresh contact was reported today.

Released

U.S. flier Allan Lawrence Pope, who was sentenced to death by an Indonesian military court for fighting with the rebels there in 1958, has been secretly released and is back in the United States, the State Department revealed.

Northeast Texas Gets Storm Alert

By The Associated Press

The Weather Bureau forecast severe thunderstorms for a wide portion of Northeast Texas Friday. It said the thunderstorms are expected to be accompanied by large hail and damaging winds.

The forecast area centered on Fort Worth northeastward to Hot Springs, Ark., and for 60 miles on each side of the line between those cities.

This area is bounded by the Red River east of Wichita Falls, to Fort Worth, to 30 miles north of Waco, and northeast to Gladewater and Texarkana.

Within the area are such cities as Fort Worth, Dallas, Denton, McKinney, Gainesville, Denison, Sherman, Greenville, Sulphur Springs, Paris, Mt. Pleasant, Texarkana, Gladewater, Waxahachie, Ennis, Commerce and Bonham.

The forecast was in effect from 2 to 8 p.m.

Convicted Killer Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Tight-lipped and appearing calm, James Dukes, convicted killer of a Chicago detective, died in the electric chair in the Cook County Jail today.

"He was scared," said Warden Jack Johnson, "but he took it real good."

Dukes, 37, whose attorneys made desperate last-minute attempts to stay the execution for the 1956 slaying, walked 40 feet from his isolation cell to the death chamber. A Catholic jail chaplain and eight guards walked alongside him. They said he did not speak as he walked to the chair.

Dukes, a Negro, was twice convicted for the slaying on June 16, 1956, of detective John Blyth in a gun battle on the South Side. His first conviction was set aside by the Illinois Supreme Court but he was convicted in a second trial in 1958. He had received several stays of execution in lengthy court appeals.

Blyth was slain as he attempted to arrest Dukes for shooting two men who had sought to aid a woman Dukes was beating.

Most Space Strikers Back On Job Today

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — About two-thirds of the electricians on space exploration projects returned to their jobs at the Marshall Space Flight Center today.

"This is a preliminary report," said a spokesman for the center shortly after the shifts opened.

He said that about three-fourths of the total work force, including both the electricians who went on strike 11 days ago and other workers who refused to cross the picket lines, were on the job.

A mixture of optimism and pessimism remained about the chances of the work stoppage coming to a complete end.

A Marshall Space Flight Center spokesman said "We're certainly optimistic about our chances of being back at full force, or near it."

He said electricians who reported back to their jobs Thursday "are effective in our efforts to resume operation."

About a third—38—of the normal roster of electricians reported Thursday, but seven of those left one of the projects later.

About 125 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers — were told Thursday night to go back to work.

But the man who said he told them, James Haygood, business agent for the local, said later he doubted all members would heed his instructions.

Haygood said about 125 of the 210-member local attended a meeting at which he told them to go back to work, read a back-to-work order from U.S. Dist. Judge Clarence W. Allgood and read another back-to-the-job directive from Gordon Freeman, president of IBEW.

The strike began Aug. 14 when 150 electricians established picket lines at three arsenal gates, protesting use of non-union workers by Baroco Electrical Construction Co. of Pensacola, Fla.

More than 1,200 members of other trades unions honored the lines, with a freeze on several construction projects vital to the nation's moonshot program resulting.

City Pools To Close Sunday

Big Spring swimming pools will close for the season at the end of the swim day Sunday, Brice Dunn, director of public works, said Friday.

The two pools on the North Side have been operated on weekends only while the City Park pool has been open seven days each week during the summer.

Use of the pools has not paid expenses, or come up to budget estimates, so far this year. Operational costs for several years have been on a deficit basis.

The estimated revenues for the current year, for budget purposes, were set at $5,085, with the estimated deficit running to $5,523.

Revenues from the pools, through Aug. 23, were only $3,676.10. With three days to go, the deficit for operation this year will exceed $6,000 if the present trend continues.

The estimated expenditures, authorized by the city commission, were set at $10,608. These covered salaries for maintenance, lifeguards, $1,000 toward the YMCA summer program, supplies, actual maintenance, and insurance.

Dr. Box To Give Paper At Meeting

Dr. Jim Box, superintendent of the Big Spring Experiment Station, is to present a paper next week at an agricultural meeting at the University of Oregon in Corvalis.

The paper deals with the influence of irrigation techniques (soil, fertilizing, methods of water application, etc.) on the yield and quality of LaSota potatoes. These are a red potato yielded in the Hereford area where Dr. Box did his research on the project before being assigned in charge of the station here.

The meeting is sponsored by the Western Society of Soil Scientists and the American Institute of Biological Scientists.

To Get Degree

Jack Sparks Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sparks, 2102 Scurry, will receive his bachelor of arts degree in English in ceremonies Saturday at Texas Tech. He minored in history. Sparks is married to the former Carol Bailey and they have a five-year-old son, Mark.

Injured Patient Returned To Hospital Infirmary

A young escapee from the Big Spring State Hospital is in precarious condition at the infirmary as a result of a wound on the arm he suffered when he and a companion broke into a rural residence Wednesday afternoon.

The patient, too weak to move from the loss of blood, was found under some mesquite on the Loy Acuff ranch, west of town, by A. D. Buzbee, deputy sheriff.

Buzbee summoned an ambulance and the man was taken back to the state hospital. He had suffered deep gashes on his right forearm and wrist when he thrust his hand through a door glass at the C. G. Ditto farm home.

Buzbee said that the youth and a companion, also a patient at the hospital and still being sought today, walked off from the institution sometime Tuesday.

At the Ditto place, they shattered the glass in a door, then went into the kitchen where they drank two bottles of soda water. The Dittos were not at home. The youths disturbed nothing else. The officers learned that one of the pair had been hurt because the kitchen floor was heavily stained with blood.

A search began for the two and Buzbee came upon one of the boys west of the Ditto place.

He said that he tracked the boy from one clump of brush to another by puddles of blood left where the injured man had fallen as he crawled about the pasture.

MR. AND MRS. WHITMORE S. GOODLETT

Goodletts Will Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore S. Goodlett of the Dunn community will be honored in observance of their golden wedding anniversary date, with a reception at the Dunn Community Center, Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. Friends and neighbors are invited to call during the reception hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodlett were reared in Buckrange community, south of Nashville, Ark. He worked as a postal clerk on the railroad from 1909 to 1912, which was considered to be a hazardous occupation at that time. His duties carried him into Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas. Mrs. Goodlett, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cowling, lived in the Buckrange community until moving to Texas.

After their marriage on September 22, 1912, they purchased a farm in the Buckrange community and started farming. They moved to Colorado City in December of 1919. Mrs. Goodlett, with three small sons, arrived in Colorado City by train late at night, and was directed to the Keathly Boarding House, a good place to stay. Electricity was a very scarce commodity in Colorado City at that time, being supplied by individuals who owned Delco systems. There were no paved streets.

Mr. Goodlett arrived a few days later on the freight train with the livestock, farming equipment and furniture. The Goodletts moved to West Texas to farm the land of the late E. E. Goodlett, which was located three miles north of Colorado City. Their main reason for coming West was to be able to ride and plow rather than walk.

In the fall of 1920 the Goodletts moved to the Dozier farm, which is located on the line of Mitchell and Scurry counties. They farmed three years and then moved to the J. H. Byrd farm in the Dunn community in 1923. Later land was purchased and they are still actively engaged in livestock farming.

Five boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Goodlett. The sons are Joseph, Conroe, Tex.; Reuben, Decatur, Ark.; W. S., Big Spring; Eunice, Dunn, and Charles of Colorado City. There are 17 grandchildren and three great - grandchildren.

All of the children, grandchildren and great - grandchildren will be present to honor them on the date of their golden anniversary.

For those who wish to give gifts, Mr. and Mrs. Goodlett suggest that they contribute to the Dunn Methodist Church or a favorite charity.

Party Given For Davis

Douglas K. Davis was the honored guest for a bachelor party given Thursday evening at Coker's Restaurant.

Hosted by his father, George Davis, the party included special guests, B. D. Wells, father of bride-elect, Miss Sally Adair; Don Davis, Fort Worth, brother of the hororee; and Charles Dunagan, Wayne Vaughn, Robert Phelan, Sammy Waters and Wayne Williams, members of the wedding party.

The Davis-Adair wedding is planned for Saturday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church.

Country Club Scene Of Coffee, Shower

Complimenting a bride-elect, Miss Kathleen Thomas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas, Jr., a coffee and shower was held Thursday morning at the Big Spring Country Club. One hundred twenty-five invited guests were those who called during the hours from 10:30 until 12, noon.

Miss Thomas is to be married to Mike Musgrove, Sept. 1.

The refreshment table featured the chosen wedding colors, blue and white. Spread with white satin cloth, the table was appointed with silver. White chrysanthemums and blue streamers formed the centerpiece.

Mrs. Toots Mansfield, Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. Lucian Jones were those who served, assisted by Mrs. Tommy Lucas, Houston. Miss Nancy Moore was at the register, and guests were received by the honoree, her mother, Miss Cleo Thomas, the bride-elect's sister, and Mrs. J. O. McCrary.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Maurice Koger, Mrs. Guilford Jones, Mrs. Walter Moore, Mrs. George Amos, Mrs. Lucian Jones, Mrs. Steve Baber, Mrs. Mansfield, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. McCrary and Mrs. Clyde Johnston.

'City Planning' Topic For Altrusa Program

Past, present and projected plans for the City of Big Spring were discussed by Bruce Dunn, director of city works, speaking to members of the Altrusa Club Thursday.

Mrs. H. D. Cowden presided for the luncheon-meeting, attended by 30 members. The speaker was introduced by the chairman, Mrs. C. R. Rhoades. An industrial theme was carried out for table decorations, using derricks, oil transports and various automobile models.

"Thoroughfares and the Development of Big Spring," the topic upon which Dunn spoke, began with a brief historical resume. Platted in 1907, Big Spring included an area of four square miles; by 1952, six square miles; and by 1962, 15 square miles, Dunn reported. He pointed out the thoroughfares developed within the period of time from 1907 to '62.

For the purpose of professional planning, a study has been made of the city to determine "desire-lines," or points to and from which traffic is generated. The study, according to the engineer, revealed that 68 per cent of the city's traffic is to and from work; 16 per cent, for shopping or social purposes; and 16 per cent, public transportation. This forms the basis for thoroughfare planning, which includes primary or divided thoroughfares, secondary, collector streets and for residential streets.

Dunn concluded his talk and the meeting with a question and answer period.

Bride Is Honoree For Tea

Mrs. Kenneth Harmon, a recent bride, was complimented at an afternoon tea, Thursday, at the ranch home of Mrs. Lorin S. McDowell III, located near Garden City. Mrs. Harmon, the former Cleta Newsom, was married Aug. 11. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Newsom, Route 2.

Twenty guests were received by Mrs. McDowell and Mrs. Harmon. They were served refreshments from a table, laid with a floor - length cloth of hand-stitched silk organza. A mass arrangement of white magnolia and stock, interspersed with fern greenery, centered the table. Crystal and silver appointments were used in serving.

The gift table, laid with green linen, held a bouquet of yellow roses. An arrangement of tiger lilies and bells of Ireland was placed on the guest register table.

For the occasion, Miss Newsom chose a green and beige shirtwaist dress. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Special guests were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Newsom, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. C. J. Harmon, 606 Runnels, Big Spring.

Racism Adds To Problems In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Simmering hostility between American and Vietnamese forces is imperiling joint efforts against the Viet Cong, the militant Communists who seek to take over Viet Nam.

Guerrilla troops of the U.S. Army's Special Forces are being withdrawn from certain exposed jungle outposts near the Laos frontier because of fear they will not have sufficient backing against Viet Cong onslaughts. The Viet Cong has made the Americans special targets.

One Vietnamese unit refused to provide an armored convoy for Americans planning to evacuate wounded mountain tribesmen. Joint operations in some areas bog down for lack of cooperation.

Racial tension is part of the problem.

"There's a continuous ethnological clash here in Viet Nam," a high-ranking U.S. officer said. "There is tension between Vietnamese and American, between Vietnamese and tribesman, and between the various mountain tribes themselves."

An Associated Press man was riding in a U.S. Army jeep past a Vietnamese army compound 370 miles northeast of here several days ago. A rock was thrown from the compound at the American jeep ahead, cracking the windshield. The jeeps did not stop.

Rock throwing happens fairly often at the spot, the AP man was told. He was barred from the Vietnamese compound.

Part of the problem, Special Forces men say, is American efforts to enlist the help of the 20-odd mountain tribal groups populating Viet Nam's vital high plateau.

Many Vietnamese traditionally look down on these mountain men. Vietnamese troops often refuse to help Americans evacuate mountain men battle casualties.

Special Forces men consider some of the tribes the most efficient killers in Viet Nam, and feel they should be used—as mercenaries if necessary — to track down the Communist enemy.

Training Program

Montagnards, or mountain people, receive instructions in how to properly handle rifles from Sgt. Stanley Harold, left, and Capt. Robert Lopez, members of U.S. Army Special Service Forces in Viet Nam. Special Forces men consider some of the Montagnards the most efficient killers in Viet Nam and feel they should be used—as mercenaries if necessary—to track down the Communist enemy.

Soblen Freedom Plea Is Rejected

LONDON (AP) — The British High Court refused again today to free fugitive spy Robert A. Soblen so that he can seek asylum from a life sentence in the United States.

Justice John Stephenson turned down Soblen's application for a writ of habeas corpus. The judge rejected the arguments of the fugitive's attorneys challenging Home Secretary Henry Brooke's order to deport Soblen to the United States.

The court's ruling does not mean, however, that Soblen's departure is imminent. His attorneys are certain to take the case to the Court of Appeals. If they lose there, as they have once before, they may take it to the House of Lords, Britain's highest tribunal.

Soblen will remain in the hospital of London's Brixton Prison.

The judge said the home secretary, not the deportee, had the authority to choose the ship or plane on which the deportee had to leave Britain. In this case, Brooke has specified that Soblen be placed aboard a New York-bound plane.

Soblen was convicted in federal court in New York of spying for the Soviet Union. He jumped bail of $100,000 and fled in late June to Tel Aviv, using his dead brother's Canadian passport.

The Israeli government expelled him. While flying aboard a New York-bound El Al airliner July 1, Soblen cut his abdomen and a wrist as the aircraft approached London airport.

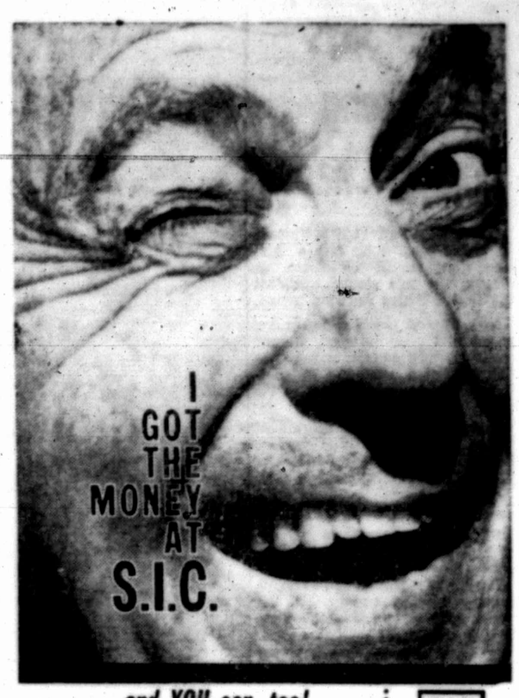

That involved the British. He was removed from the plane and given emergency medical treatment, then transferred to the hospital ward of Brixton Prison.

His attorneys said Soblen is dangerously ill and would not live long if confined in a U.S. federal prison.

Atty. Gen. Sir John Hobson said a medical specialist found during a recent examination that the fugitive is in no immediate danger of death and that his condition had not deteriorated. Hobson said Soblen is destined for the medical detention center at Springfield, Mo., where adequate care would be assured.

Garner Says U.S. Strong Despite Chaos

UVALDE, Tex. (AP)—Former Vice President John Nance Garner views world conditions as chaotic but he's stoutly confident the United States remains strong.

Now 93 and troubled by fading vision and poor hearing, Garner made a rare public appearance Thursday at a ceremony designating his former home a state shrine.

Garner has lived in retirement since breaking with President Franklin D. Roosevelt over Roosevelt's bid for a third term in 1940.

Garner talked to newsmen after the ceremony.

"I'd like for anyone to tell me of a flag anywhere that is more potent than the Stars and Stripes," he said. "We live in the greatest country in the world. But the world as a whole is in the most chaotic condition I have ever seen.

"People everywhere are killing other people—you see it on TV—everywhere."

A reporter asked Garner's views on the European Common Market.

"Now you're getting into the protective tariff system," he replied. "Don't ask me about it. One year they want it and the next they don't."

Garner, who also once was Speaker of the House, said he retains a keen interest in baseball. On weekends he keeps two television sets going to watch both major league games.

He mentioned seeing James A. Farley, a longtime friend, on a recent telecast from New York. Farley served as postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic National Committee under Roosevelt.

"Franklin Roosevelt was one of the best friends I ever had," Garner said, repeating a widely quoted remark. "But I broke with him when he sought a third term, and Jim Farley and I went to work and got the law changed so that no president now can serve more than two consecutive terms."

Officials See Moderation As Berlin Path

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. diplomats held out hope today that a combination of Western firmness in diplomacy and moderation in Berlin will succeed in quieting the latest crisis over the German city.

A week of rising tension drew toward an end Thursday with a joint U.S.-British-French declaration that Russia by itself cannot drop its Berlin responsibilities or budge Western powers from their rights.

Ambassadorial representatives of the Western Big Three meeting in Washington weighed whether to follow up the public declaration with a diplomatic note to Moscow again seeking to ease the danger of incidents from the Communist-built Berlin Wall.

DEPLORES SHOOTING

Thursday's 600-word public statement, issued in Washington, London and Paris, deplored Communist shooting of East German escapees but dealt mainly with the replacement of the Russian Berlin commandant by an East German military chief.

The Western powers made clear they view the move as part of the Kremlin's long campaign to boot the West out of West Berlin and make a "sovereign" state of East Germany.

Soviet assertions concerning the alleged sovereignty and independence of Communist East Germany and the nonexistence of the U.S., British, French and Russian Berlin governing authority are without foundation or effect, the Western powers declared.

The statement reaffirmed the Western Allies' contention that all four occupation powers are bound by their original agreements on Berlin until all agree to a change.

The Western Allies also decried "irresponsible action at the wall by East Berlin guards," the illegality of the wall, and "the brutality of the East German authorities preventing the inhabitants of East Berlin from leaving the area."

UNCERTAIN

U.S. officials seem uncertain as to what practical effect the commandant change will have. They noted the Western powers still have liaison missions and the Soviets have a military headquarters in East Germany just outside Berlin where contacts might be made in the future.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk saw Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin Thursday during a 15-minute discussion supposed to be devoted to disarmament. Rusk used the occasion to bring the U.S. views on Berlin once again to Russia's attention.

It was understood Rusk raised points similar to those in the Western declaration. He was said to have done all the talking on the Berlin issue with Dobrynin listening.

Water Recharged

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Water Commission said Thursday a study of the ground water resources in Uvalde County shows about 200,000 acre-feet of ground water is recharged by rain to water-bearing formations underlying the county each year. An acre-foot is 325,851 gallons.

Investors, Too, Find Problems In Space

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy makes it plain that the space industry definitely will become more of a growth industry.

The problem for corporate management, and for investors, is to guess which companies will share in this growth. For this is an industry where obsolescence often sets in even before a contract can be fulfilled and where tomorrow's contract is today's last year in a scientist's eye.

The President told his news conference that the Defense Department is considering even larger budgets for U.S. space spending.

What contracts will be let and who will get them will plot the future of some companies primarily allied to the missile, defense and space industry.

But a still large number of companies will be affected. These will supply the wide varieties of parts and services that combine in the complicated vehicles the United States will launch in the skies.

Each new prime contract as announced will brighten the future and boost the stock of the company to which it is awarded. It will also set off a scramble among uncounted numbers of other companies who want a part of the work or supply part of the necessary gadgets. The end products of many others will be attached to or used by the latest missile or spaceship launching pad or landing gear or as fittings for capsules or moon camps. This can range from intricate electronic devices to special types of food or beverages from highly specialized metal alloys to a varied line of fuels.

The President noted that military space spending is now running around $1.5 billion a year, that about 40 per cent of defense research funds are being spent for space. The civilian space agency is spending $3.7 billion a year now. Both military and civilian spending is expected to climb next year. Some think the total may rise to as much as $7 billion, as the United States strives to catch up and pass the Russians.

From industry's point of view military and civilian space spending is all one—what the President calls "a great inter-relationship." And industry itself is pouring huge sums into research that could improve known space vehicles or produce new marvels.

The President mentioned only one space program, that revolving around the Titan missile. At least 10 corporations have had a major part in this program. And the prime contractor and major subcontractors have in turn given orders to a large number of companies big and small, for parts, materials and services.

The long list of companies active in projects tied with the space race contains many names familiar to general public only for their work in other fields. They are commonly known as makers of autos, television sets, adding machines, washing machines, light bulbs, passenger planes, home heating controls.

But as the race between the United States and the Soviet Union to land on the moon draws ever more billions from the U.S. Treasury, corporate managements and investors will revise their thinking.

The race to get to the moon will be exciting. But on the industry, or ground, level the race to design, to build, to equip the vehicles—and to recruit and train the scientists for the task—will be just as close.

Mother Wants To Salvage Son Who Slew His Father

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — "What I want to do is salvage him if I can," a Chicago mother said Thursday of her son, 19, who beat his father to death.

Officers returned the youth, Harold Russell, to Huntsville Thursday after he underwent a lie detector test in Houston.

He has admitted battering his father, Dr. Harris Russell, 54, with an iron bar in a fit of anger Wednesday morning. The elder Russell was a professor at Sam Houston State College here.

The mother, Mrs. James Kay, 41, came from Chicago to arrange for the burial of Russell. She visited her son for 30 minutes in the county jail.

"I said, I wish I could tell you something comforting," Mrs. Kay said later. "He replied, 'That's all right mother—just you being here has made me feel better already.'"

Mrs. Kay said she would hire a lawyer.

She and Russell were divorced in 1929, remarried and divorced again in 1953, she said. Mrs. Kay said she felt it was wrong to let the youth live with his father but yielded to the elder Russell's request five years ago.

"Last summer when he was visiting me," she related, "The boy told me he regretted ever going to live with his father in the first place."

Russell has told questioners he and his father quarreled over personal habits Tuesday night but he could not explain why he seized part of a weight lifting set and bludgeoned the professor.

"It seems impossible, almost like a nightmarish dream," the youth said. "I was overwhelmed by an uncontrollable anger."

During the lie detector test, he refused to answer when asked whether insurance could have been part of the motive. Dist. Atty. Gus Lanier said he was checking into how much insurance Dr. Russell carried.

Veterans Want Betting System

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—A Canadian veterans' organization will ask the federal government to establish a system of state-operated sweepstakes.

More than 300 delegates at the convention of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada passed a resolution Thursday calling on the government to establish a system of betting on horse racing that would benefit the country's social services.

Salem Baptist Revival Set

Fall revival services will be conducted at Salem Baptist Church, located eight miles northeast of Big Spring, beginning Sunday morning, Aug. 26, and continuing through Sunday night, Sept. 2. The Rev. Wayland Boyd, pastor of First Baptist Church, Eunice, N. M., will be the visiting evangelist.

Rev. Boyd will arrive for the Monday night service. Services will be held each day at 8 p.m., and on Tuesday through Friday at 11 a.m. as well.

A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, Rev. Boyd has done graduate work at Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth. His pastorates have included the Looney Church of Colorado City, Bethel Baptist Church, Anson, and the First Baptist Churches of Loraine, Crosbyton and Fort Sumter, N. M.

Revival music director will be Clydell Chapman of the Airport Baptist Church, and the pianist will be Mrs. John Murphy.

The Rev. Leslie Kelley, pastor, will bring the evangelistic messages in the opening services Sunday.

Prison Escapees Believed Holed Up

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP)—Warden Harold Cox of the New Mexico State Penitentiary believes three men who escaped from the prison Wednesday night are "holed up somewhere."

"We'll have to wait until they try to get some food and water or try to get a car," Cox said. "We'll just sit tight and hope for a break."

Some 200 policemen, two airplanes, a helicopter and a bloodhound searched Thursday for the three who escaped by crawling under two chain link fences.

At large were Marvin Vaughn, 37, of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.; Roy F. Ledoux, 26, of Duluth, Minn.; and John Edward Bostrom, 44, of Minneapolis. All three are considered dangerous.

A fourth convict, Charles Wayne Willmer, 26, of Big Rapids, Mich., was critically wounded by a tower guard. He was captured.

West Calls On Russia To Halt Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) —Holding the Soviets responsible for tensions arising from the Berlin wall, the Western Big Three powers called on the Soviet Union today to join in a meeting to prevent further deterioration of the situation in Berlin.

The call for consultation among the big-power representatives—preferably to be held in Berlin—was issued by the United States, Britain and France in similarly worded notes handed to the Soviets in Moscow.

The diplomatic move was a follow-up to Thursday's stiffly worded public declaration by the three powers holding the Soviet Union still responsible under the postwar German occupation agreements and proclaiming the West will not yield on its Berlin rights.

The central theme was that the Soviets cannot one-sidely change the fundamental set-up or turn their responsibilities over to East Germany which the West does not recognize.

The action came at the end of a week of mounting tension over the divided city, marked by Berlin wall incidents and the Communists' replacement of the Soviet commandant in Berlin by an East German chief.

Today's note repeated a call for a Big Four meeting on Berlin that has been issued by the West on several occasions starting with a note June 25.

Moscow has rejected the Western bid on previous occasions, and there was no indication the Kremlin was about to change its mind this time.

The Western note, as did the public declaration Thursday, contended the responsibilities of the four-power occupation command to govern Berlin still exist despite the Soviet claim that the military governing group has gone out of business.

However, the Western call did not specify that the Berlin meeting be held by military commandants. It left open the question who would talk for the four nations.

Cold Front Edging In

By The Associated Press

A cold front pushing southward through the Texas Panhandle promised Friday to take the edge off August heat over northern areas of the state — at least for a day or two.

By morning the forward edge of the cool air mass was south of Amarillo and advancing downstate at 15 to 20 miles per hour.

There were a few thundershowers and temperatures sagged to the lower 60s behind the front, where it was partly cloudy. It was generally clear elsewhere in Texas except for a few clouds around San Antonio and along the coast.

Protracted drought held on doggedly in Central Texas, where Austin was in its 55th straight day without rain. Thirsty deer and other wild creatures were moving to the city and raiding flower gardens for food.

The only moisture reported Thursday to the Weather Bureau was at Alpine in far West Texas and Victoria in the south. Each city measured .28 inch.

Presidio in the Big Bend sizzled in 106-degree heat. The mercury hit 103 at Laredo, 102 at San Angelo and Wink, 101 at College Station, Fort Worth, Lufkin and Wichita Falls and 100 at Junction. Corpus Christi was the coolest point with a high of 90.

Forecasts called for the cooler air to spread gradually over northern sections of the state by Saturday and promised the usually scattered or isolated thundershowers. It was expected to stay hot and mostly clear south of the front.

Kennedy Approves Steps To Protect U.S. Farm Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says he was encouraged by actions designed to protect American farm workers affected by imported Mexican laborers during farm seasons.

The White House made public Thursday an exchange of letters between the President and Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg.

Kennedy signed a law in October authorizing continuation of the Mexican farm labor program but he directed Goldberg to take steps to protect wages and working conditions of American agricultural workers.

Goldberg said steps have been taken to do this and at the same time to assure that no unreasonable burden would be placed upon farmers as a result.

Referring to extension of the law a year ago, Kennedy wrote Goldberg:

"I am heartened by the improvements made in implementing this law. The actions recently taken to further safeguard the interests of American farm workers are also encouraging. You will, I know, continue your efforts to improve the operation of the program in this respect."

Lyndon Arrives For Iran Visit

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson arrived today for a two-day visit in Tehran and pledged that Iran's independence and national integrity will not be breached.

Johnson's U.S. Air Force jet shrieked in from Lebanon past the snow-capped Elborz Mountains and landed in bright, hot sunshine three minutes ahead of schedule.

"Your country and mine stand together in the common cause of freedom," Johnson declared in an arrival statement. "A free Iran is vital to the strength of the free world."

The vice president was accompanied by his wife, their daughter Lynda and a party of 33 others.

Johnson is the first U.S. administration leader to come to Iran since President Eisenhower's triumphant five-hour stay in 1959.

Iran is one of America's staunchest allies in the Middle East and the recipient of $1.3 billion in U.S. aid.

In his talks with the Shah Pahlevi, Johnson was expected to review the U.S. role in Iran's defense and economic development.

Premier Assadullah Alam took office July 21 after the resignation of his predecessor, Ali Amini, partly in protest against a U.S. aid cut.

Johnson came from a one-day visit to Lebanon billed as a "rest stop" prelude to his official visits to Iran, Turkey, Cyprus, Greece and Italy. But he did little resting.

Stumping as if on a political campaign, the vice president moved through Beirut with a friendly smile and wink and an outstretched hand for almost everyone in reach. Sounding the theme "America is your friend" over and over again, he stopped his car numerous times to chat with Lebanese.

Cuban Ransom Effort Looms

WASHINGTON (AP)—James B. Donovan conferred Thursday with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy amid reports the New York attorney is ready to go to Cuba to try to negotiate the freedom of 1,100 prisoners of the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

Earlier this year Donovan worked out the release from a Russian prison of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers in exchange for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

In Miami Thursday the Cuban Families Committee said the Cuban government has authorized Donovan to enter Cuba for negotiations. A committee spokesman said Donovan will be on his way before the end of the month and a few officers of the committee may accompany him.

TO: Parents of Kindergarten and Nursery Children.

Dear Friends:

One year ago I opened JACK AND JILL KINDERGARTEN AND NURSERY SCHOOL because I felt there was a very real need for professional care plus training for children whose parents worked.

Response to our school has been good and I wish to thank each parent who shared HIS CHILD with us.

I am pleased to advise that we can now offer even better services and facilities for the fall semester which begins on Monday, August 27, 1962.

Do you want your child:

1. To be in a school conducted on a high professional level?
2. To be with a friendly, cooperative staff who love children?
3. To be in an environment conducive to healthful, happy living?
4. To enjoy activities appropriate for his age level?
5. To have another place besides home where he may spend a portion of the day and feel secure and protected?

If you are interested in our program, dial AM 4-8411 or AM 4-2262.

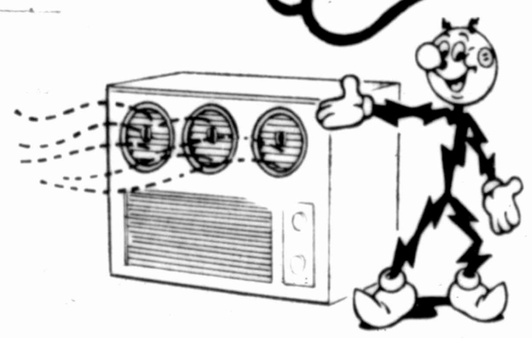

Attend OPEN HOUSE — Sunday, August 26, 3:00-5:00 P.M.

Sincerely,
Arah Phillips, Principal
Jack & Jill Kindergarten

"It's sure been hot..."

...and it's during hot summer weather that I do the most for you!"

To keep you cool and comfortable, I work more hours per day, operating the electric cooling equipment in your home.

I work harder to keep your foods fresh with refrigeration and to provide extra quantities of ice cubes and cold drinks.

There is more washing and ironing to be done, supplying the additional clean clothes your family needs during hot summer weather.

Because there are more and bigger jobs for me to do during hot weather, most electric service bills are higher at this time of the year. But it's now . . . when you're able to keep cool and comfortable in spite of the heat . . . that you can really appreciate the value of my services. I'm your greatest aid to summertime comfort and year 'round better living.

A Devotional For The Day

Love is patient and kind. (I Corinthians 13:4, RSV)

PRAYER: Loving and gracious Father, help us to serve those around us with gentle and thoughtful kindness, so that we may be able to show Thy love, active in everyday life. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

But We Still Owe It

For the first time in our history, our national debt has reached $300,000,000,000 (billion). Fiscal experts say it will go higher by one or two per cent, then ease off back below the 300 billion mark.

This is a sobering development. Some point out that the increasing population means that the actual per capita debt at $300 billion is less than it was when the debt was substantially lower. Perhaps, but this is not a particularly meaningful statistic. A man and wife having incurred a $10,000 debt for a home would have a per capita private debt of $5,000 each. If they happened to have eight children, the per capita debt would be only $1,000. This, however, would not obscure the fact that they still owed $10,000 and might be in a less favorable position to meet it.

"Admittedly, this analogy is not exact for resources change. Another criterion may be more apt—the criterion of Gross National Product. The GPN (value of goods and services produced) has been rising at a more rapid rate than the debt, and therefore the ratio of GPN to debt may be steady if not slowly declining.

The significant point is that when the GPN is rising, government ought to be paying its own way or even repaying some of its previous debts. A rising GPN should be a symptom of good times, and certainly in good times we should live within our income.

Virility In Program And Approach

We have no figures to support the impression, but it seems to us that church vacation Bible schools and youth programs have been getting a better reaction in general this summer.

One reason may be the abandonment of the idea that the VBS has to start the minute that regular school stops. A number of churches have found that they get better response when they give the youngsters a breather.

Another reason seems to be the employment of new angles of approach to these programs. Use of special promotions, which might be called gimmicks under more mundane circumstances, has encouraged enlistment and attendance. Some will seek to equate these with sacrilege because they break out of the bounds of status quo. Seems to us that adaptation of these devices to a Christian activity is using the old head as well as the heart so long as they are used as promotions and adapters. If the tail got to the point of wagging the dog, of course that would be different.

The ability to come up with fresh ideas indicates virility. This aggressive attitude by churches toward the problem of getting the interest of children and young people might be the means of exposing them to training that could well incline the twig in the right direction for a lifetime.

OH, WELL, ROME WASN'T BUILT IN A DAY

Around The Rim

Don't Be Too Smugly Sure

There are Americans who are disturbed by the Soviet Union's successes in space, and by that nation's continued demonstration of the fact that the United States is far behind in rocket technology.

There are other Americans who are not disturbed at all. No statistics are available, but it would seem the latter are in the majority. Most of the blase citizens are merely apathetic, and give one a bored stare when the subject is brought up; but others will give you an argument.

THE GIST OF THE argument generally is that (a) the United States is an advanced, highly-civilized country, (b) Russia is a backward nation peopled with peasants and commissars, none of which is either particularly educated nor intelligent; therefore, if (a) is greater than (b), the two cannot be equal, and certainly (b) must be lesser. Q.E.D.

A similar argument is heard in even more simplicity: This here is the by gum United States, and Uncle Sammy can't be behind nobody.

PATRIOTISM IS A laudable thing, but it is sometimes confused with pure jingoism. Hitler used a similar argument in his rise to power. His thesis was that, since Germans are a superior race and Germany is a natural-born invincible nation, then she could not possibly have lost World War I. Germany lost only because she was betrayed from within. Thus, the Jews became the scapegoats, and Hitler already had plans to put the betrayal tag on the Catholics as soon as the Jews were exterminated.

THE IDEA HAS NOT died in Germany; now, in the opinion of many Germans, they lost World War II only because they were betrayed by the Nazis.

Any idea that the United States is natural-born superior is coming dangerously close to the madness that swept Germany twice into the fire.

Of course, ours is the best and most powerful nation on earth—but only because, with considerable help from Providence, our ancestors made it that way. Conversely, it is neither impossible nor improbable that Russia might accomplish a tremendous amount in almost 50 years.

WE ARE GETTING it from all sides now—politicians and other assorted experts are claiming that Russia's orbiting of two men is just a stunt and has no significance military or otherwise. This is not helping raise the American people out of apathy or jingoism.

It is a harsh fact that we will have to face sooner or later—the day the Russians put up a blanket of manned satellites without commensurate achievement by us, we have had it.

The Waste In The Farm Program

WASHINGTON—Among the dreams of glory cherished by many characters in the Washington cast is to play the lead in a spectacular Congressional investigation—big names under the television lights and sensational charges rocketing through the headlines.

If recent developments are any indication, that era has passed with the disappearance of frontier Old Frontier types simple-minded enough to carry wads of money in little black bags and to talk grandiosely in bugged hotel rooms. The headlines as the Billie Sol Estes inquiry is proving, are much harder to come by.

SEN. JOHN McCLELLAN, chairman of the investigating subcommittee, is pursuing his way through the vast and tortuous bureaucracy of the Department of Agriculture with customary patience and determination. It is, however, a task with few spectacular rewards. Hours of questioning go into trying to show the intentions of witnesses such as the general counsel of the department, John C. Bagwell, and whether he did or did not try to find a way to smother the Billie Sol affair. Bagwell says no; committee members are suspicious.

THIS IS A FAR CRY from the aura of sensation surrounding the Estes case at its inception. Enthusiastic diggers in the mess expected at the start to come up with big names. In Texas it was widely rumored that Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson would be tied to the scandal. The only connection shown to date was in a letter of the polite and impersonal type that a senator might write to any constituent.

The hearings have several weeks to run, and they could still produce a shocker. Several witnesses remain to be heard, among them Under Secretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy. Secretary Orville Freeman will probably be recalled to go over the ground covered by his subordinates.

AND THEN there is Billie Sol himself, who is by now a somewhat shopworn figure. He has been indicted so many times that probably even his own lawyers know the score. What with the penalties of Texas politics, it may come to the book has imputed to him and his implication to the overlords of the Department of Agriculture who sanctioned (if they did not actually encourage) him. A strange case of suicide that seems to have been murder was dragged into the case and never unraveled. Estes is expected to fall back on the Fifth Amendment when he comes before McClellan's committee.

Yet none of the indictments cover the cotton allotment program, which was the core of the Estes get-rich-quick scheme, and McClellan plans to center the questioning on that phase.

ALL THIS DOES not mean the investigation has been a futile exercise. On the contrary, it has shown up many of the inefficient and wasteful practices in the agricultural subsidy program, which resembles nothing so much as an ever-spreading money tree that everybody wants to shake.

At the same time, Freeman has been introducing a series of administrative reforms aimed at preventing abuses disclosed in the Estes case. Above all, he has been trying to get a more direct and forceful grip on the unwieldy machine he is supposed to guide. He has named an inspector general who will review the internal audit operations of 10 major agencies in the department and report directly to him. As in other swollen government departments, the head man has been separated by several layers of bureaucracy from control and direction.

FREEMAN LISTS a series of other changes made in recent months to put the House of Agriculture in better order. But short of broad legislative action, it seems inevitable that the worse abuses will continue.

The lush handouts that come from a host of programs built up over the years are supported by the powerful farm lobby. For every farm state member of Congress, whether Democrat or Republican, these programs mean votes in the ballot box which they will not sacrifice. From the big handouts that go for grain storage to private and co-op elevators down to profit on farm ponds financed by the department, the system has grown with a jungle-like luxuriance, and it has defenders on every side in Congress.

ONLY DRASTIC legislative action can prune back this jungle. The recommendations to be made by the McClellan committee in a final report could serve as the basis for such pruning by the House and Senate Agriculture Committees.

But those committees have long been dominated by the farm lobby. How the pruning is to be carried out—even more important, whether it is to be carried out—are unresolved questions. With apparently a bumper grain crop coming up, reform is more urgent than ever. The staggering weight of hundreds of thousands of tons of surplus wheat and corn and butter presses down on the economy and on the federal budget alike. A relentless force.

Papa Was Indisposed

OTTOWA, Kan. (AP) — John P. Forrer of Rantoul climbed in a barber chair recently for the first time in his life.

He took it like a man.

Forrer is 36. He explained his 83-year-old father has cut his hair since he was a youngster.

But the son had to turn to the barber shop because his father was awaiting arrival of spectacles after a cataract operation.

If One Is Good . . .

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Bobby Ellis was lavish with her praise when her year-old collie picked up the afternoon paper from the lawn and delivered it to her.

Next evening Mrs. Ellis returned home and found all of her neighbors' papers, along with her own, piled on the front porch.

Fish Do Swim

SEDONA, Ariz. (AP) — Buddy Bristow of the Arizona Game and Fish Department was stocking a creek with trout when he saw a woman fishing a small pool.

Thinking he'd give her a treat by stocking a pool a few feet upstream, Bristow emptied his bucket with a flourish to attract her attention.

He said she turned to him and asked, "Aren't you going to plant this hole, too?"

Another Step To Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—But by bit over the years—by talking, retreating, pushing on Berlin—Russia made the West back up and even laid the ground for a showdown crisis.

Its latest move is one more step on that long road. This was in replacing this week the Soviet commandant in Berlin with an East German military chief.

It isn't pleasant for the West to accept the thought it has been stiff-armed in its tracks but here are two prime examples of it:

1. Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany tried to keep alive in his people the idea they could be reunited with their fellow Germans in Communist-run East Germany. The Eisenhower administration called for reunification too.

NEITHER ADENAUER nor this country was thinking in terms of a Germany united under communism. And, just because they weren't what they said about reunification was empty talk and nothing more, and for this reason:

Khrushchev wasn't thinking in terms of a Germany united under capitalism and allied with the West. The reality was that unification couldn't happen in the foreseeable future.

Khrushchev battered the West into acceptance of this reality.

He told Adenauer to reconcile himself to the existence of two Germanies as an "indisputable fact." He said Russia would not permit unification that eliminated socialism, meaning communism, in East Germany.

2. Khrushchev, meanwhile, forced the West to think of a problem more real and immediate—Berlin.

UNDER POST-WAR agreements Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist East Germany—was divided into four zones, one each to be occupied by the United States, Britain, France and Russia.

The Soviets, who did and do control East Germany, guaranteed the West the right of access to the city—people and supplies—through and over East Germany.

By this arrangement the West would deal with the Russians on travel to and from Berlin, not with the East Germans. The West refuses to recognize the East German Communists as the legitimate government.

It would, for the West Germans, have been a highly unpopular thing for the West to do.

Stalin tried to break the agreement he made by blockading Berlin in 1948. In one move he could have gobbled up the city, if the West let him. It didn't. It broke the blockade. For some years there was comparative quiet.

THEN KHRUSHCHEV, in a less sudden and dangerous way tried to repeat what Stalin did.

He said he wanted the Allies out of Berlin. He said he wanted it to be a "free" city in the heart of East Germany although no one could have any illusions it would remain free long.

Then he threatened to sign a peace treaty with East Germany. If he did, it would mean the West would have to deal with the East German Reds whom they still refused to recognize.

If the East Germans laid down new conditions for access to Berlin or tried to shut the West out altogether, and if the West tried to batter its way through, it would mean war with East Germany and Russia, too.

Over the years Khrushchev did some incredible threatening and backsliding. For instance, he set a six-months deadline for signing a peace treaty. He let that pass and said it didn't matter.

LAST YEAR HE intensified his demands. The West, as always, said it would not abandon the people of West Berlin, that it had agreements with Russia to stay there.

Last Aug. 13 Khrushchev tested the West. He threw up a wall between East and West Berlin. If the West had battered down the wall one of two things would have happened. Khrushchev would have backed up or there would have been war.

The West did nothing. In this test of wills, Khrushchev won. Now he's forcing the West into another test by pulling the Soviet commandant out of East Berlin. His next move may be a peace treaty with East Germany.

New Callup Isn't Likely

WASHINGTON (AP)—Current prospects are remote that another callup of National Guardsmen and reservists might result from a new Berlin crisis short of a serious shooting outbreak.

Army sources asked about this today said the Regular Army is in far better shape to cope with requirements in Europe or elsewhere than it was a year ago.

The Regular Army has five more combat-ready divisions than when the tension over Berlin last year resulted in the government's decision to summon reserve forces for active duty in this country. About 119,000 Army reservists and National Guardsmen were called up and now have been released.

Organizational strength of the Regular Army is 16 divisions. This includes two new divisions and three former "training" divisions which have been converted to combat outfits since last year.

Eight of the 16 divisions are ready in the continental United States. One is stationed in Hawaii with one battle group deployed in Thailand. Five divisions are in Europe and one in Korea.

If a worsening of the situation arising out of the new Communist pressures on Berlin should bring a decision to bulwark ground force strength in West Germany, the first of such reinforcements could be landed there within 24 hours of a build-up decision.

As of now, military leaders see nothing that requires any deployment of forces. But plans, detailed down to the smallest item, are ready for an emergency in Europe or elsewhere.

The Defense Department recently completed the pre-stocking of arms, equipment and supplies in West Germany sufficient to outfit and maintain two divisions, one armored and one infantry. The stockpile includes tanks, personnel carriers, artillery, mortars, rifles, machine guns and ammunition.

In an emergency, troops from the United States simply would board transport planes carrying their personal equipment and head for airfields in Germany. The Army estimates the first of such units would be ready and in the aircraft within 2½ hours of receipt of orders.

The fact that the first of reinforcements could be on their way within a matter of hours does not mean, however, that anything like two full divisions of troops could be put down in Germany within hours or even days. The airlift capacity still is well short of that.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara started early in his administration to build up and modernize the fleet of military transport planes for airlift purposes. The Defense Department said recently the number of transport planes available is 15 per cent greater than it would have been at this time under programs existing a year and a half ago.

Tilted Uterus Usually Does No Harm

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor tells me my womb is turned but says it is nothing to worry about—that this sometimes happens after the birth of several children.

Will this present pregnancy? Will the womb return to normal position by itself?—MRS. C. M.

The uterus or womb is a pear-shaped organ which normally leans slightly forward, and is suspended in this position by tissue.

Sometimes these suspending ligaments are stretched or even may be actually torn. The uterus then may flop backward and thus be tipped in the wrong position.

As you have been correctly told, this is nothing to worry about. It usually does no harm.

If, in occasional cases, the displacement or tipping is extreme, there can be rectal or urinary distress because of pressure from the misplaced uterus. If pregnancy does not occur, the tipping is extreme and regarded as a possible interfering factor, then the uterus can be restored to its original position by surgery.

This isn't very often necessary, but it is not a cause for alarm in any event. It is a relatively simple procedure.

When physicians advise that women, in convalescence after childbirth, lie on the stomach or side, it is to help the uterus return to its normal position in case the ligaments have been stretched.

The uterus, once tipped, is not likely to return to normal position by itself. In many cases, however, a pessary has been used to move the neck of the womb and thus coax the organ to assume a more forward position.

Dear Dr. Molner: My voice is extremely high-pitched for a young man of my age (18). My vocal cords have been examined and have no growths on them. I do not believe this is hereditary as all my male relatives have deep voices. I wouldn't bother you if this weren't extremely important to me. I am ready to cooperate in any way.—B. A.

Of course, it's important to you. In time your voice may get deeper naturally, age at which it deepens can vary. If you are unusually thin, this can have an effect, too.

I can offer two more ideas: First, professional voice training unquestionably will help some.

Second, the personal factor you worried about has no effect on the voice, but worry and hence nervous tension can do so. So do the best you can with these ideas, and then relax.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I am in my early teens and my skin and hair get extremely oily. I usually wash my hair every three days, except my mother won't let me during my menstrual period. Is it an old wives' tale that if I do, I will get varicose veins?—P. P.

Yes, it's a fable without foundation that mothers and aunts and neighbors have been foisting on girls for generations. Washing the hair, or entire body at that time does no harm whatsoever.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Following a cold, I've had a feeling in the back of my mouth as though I had eaten peppery food. Have you any idea what it might be?—M. D.

It could be an aftermath of the virus that caused the cold. It could be a side effect of antibiotics, if you had any.

Tunnels Are Passe

In this rocket era, the Age of Miracles is going full blast. But I have noticed that if a miracle doesn't orbit, it never leaves the launching pad as far as headlines are concerned. (The temptation to write "news-wise" almost won out. It has a tough fight, but the ghost of Henry L. Mencken won.)

For instance, before World War II and nuclear fission, the completion of the boring for the vehicular tunnel under Mont Blanc would have rated an eight-column banner head on the nation's front pages from coast to coast.

IT'S A MIRACLE, all right, that the French and Italians have bored through the underpinnings of the Alps. But the tunnel, anchored under an almost three-mile high mountain, most assuredly does not orbit, head for outer space or lead to the moon. So when the boring was completed last week the tunnel rated a nice little story and was promptly forgotten, although it's a lead-pipe cinch that infinitely more persons, including Americans, will use the tunnel than will ever lift off into the wild blue.

WHY FOR A COWARD like myself who believes that a bicycle isn't safe without a seat belt, the Mont Blanc tunnel, which will be ready for business in 1964, is the most significant stop-press news since the invention of the deadly wheel.

For centuries, historians have been trying to figure out how Hannibal persuaded those elephants to walk across the Alps. That has never been a mystery to me. Elephants are supposed to be among the smartest inhabitants of the animal kingdom. Once they got a good look at the Alps, they knew the only safe way to cross was at a slow walk.

ONCE, IN 1949, I crossed the Alps by car. My screams of terror are still echoing among the peaks. Nor are my echoes alone. They have company. So the progress of the tunnel is certainly big news to the International Association of Alpine Crossing Cowards whose favorite all-time chump is that crazy kid who, for no reason at all, charged up the snowy peaks yelling "Excelsior!"

The membership of the I.A. of A.C.C. is pledged to yell "Excelsior!", too, but only after safely driving through the seven and one-quarter mile tunnel from France to Italy, or vice versa. The opening of the tunnel in 1964, a red-letter day for all tourists, will probably rate no more than a stick of type because that will be the day some joker selects for a moon landing.

THE COMPLETION of the boring for the Mont Blanc tunnel presages another modern miracle, too, about which men have dreamed for centuries. That is the vehicular or railroad, or both, tunnel under the English Channel. If the Mont Blanc tunnel, another age-old dream, is here and now, can the channel tunnel be far behind?

Since World War II, there has been more and more talk about such a tunnel connecting France and England. Every so often some magazine or newspaper prints the latest blueprints or plans for the project. It is almost certain to come to pass, and when it does, it will be a miracle first class.

BUT ALTHOUGH men have dreamed of such a channel tunnel for ages, the day the boring is completed for the project the story will be lucky to rate space on the first page of the second section. A miracle that doesn't orbit in space doesn't orbit on the front pages, either.

Persons who have been sick unto death on a channel crossing will rejoice and set fire to factories turning out motion-sickness remedies. But otherwise, no celebration. It's six, two and even that the day the channel tunnel is completed, the first group of colonists will land on Mars or Venus. And the tunnel will rate the deep six among the classified ads.

Toward Full Government Control

WASHINGTON — Shall the government own everything, regulate everything—including prices and wages—and control the whole "national economy"? For many decades the answer to such a question would have been an emphatic negative, but today the Democratic party has a substantial number of members in Congress who openly favor government ownership as a public policy.

The recent filibuster on the bill covering ownership of the space-satellite communications system—known as "Telstar"—revealed several Democratic senators of the so-called "liberal" group as favoring government ownership, despite the opposition of the administration.

ALSO, SOME DEMOCRATIC members of the Senate Antitrust Committee now are demanding that the steel companies disclose data on their internal operations, which means that all competitors would see this information. Apparently the drive is on to increase government control over the making of prices. This is a short step away from wage-setting.

Proposed mergers, moreover, of railroads and consolidations of airlines are before governmental bodies today for approval or disapproval. The prospect is that many workers will lose their jobs because of such mergers, though the companies predict that the gain in efficiency will result in improved service and eventually in more jobs.

COMPANIES nowadays have to decide whether to seek an alternative or to try to get along with fewer employes and be content with a smaller volume of specialized products sold at a relatively high price to those who must have such goods no matter what the cost. The alternative policy is usually to endeavor to get a larger sales volume at lower prices. This is theoretically a sound approach, but it depends on the use of automatic equipment and on the development of greater efficiency. This is something to which labor-union policy customarily refuses to give cooperation.

ALSO, to build and modernize plants requires more capital. Investors do not like to lend or invest money in enterprises that are in trouble. So it's a vicious circle. Unless there are satisfactory earnings, the funds cannot be obtained to build better plants to promote greater efficiency and to increase earnings. Yet unless labor costs and work rules can be held in line, employers will soon find their earnings steadily diminished.

Economic principles, therefore, are coming into conflict more and more today with the pressures of groups which uncompromisingly demand the maximum and do not think of the future of the whole economic system.

THEN THERE is the factor of government competition with industry, as manifested by the government invasion of the power industry through the construction of dams and the subsidizing of publicly owned power plants, instead of leasing these facilities to private companies that could competitively bid on them.

The whole system of free enterprise is one of risk capital and hazards, but it nevertheless has managed to build America into the most powerful economic factor in the world today.

WHAT IS the reason for the emergence of a new faction in Congress which boldly champions of government ownership? Do the people really understand the fundamental issues? Experience in other lands has shown that when initiative is stifled, competition—with its emphasis on skills and inventive genius — is abandoned, and there develops a lazy reliance on the government to do everything. The result is inefficiency and poor service rendered to the people.

Thus, for example, not a single private telephone or telegraph system exists in the larger countries of the world except the United States. They are all government owned. America has not only the largest system of private communication anywhere but one that far excels any governmental system in service and convenience. To this fact anyone with experience here and abroad can testify.

YET IN CONGRESS a fatal blow is being aimed at the whole doctrine of "people's capitalism," which describes the system prevalent in America today — where the people still have a right to own private companies and share in their earnings, even as the population as a whole shares in the benefits that science and research bring.

The United States now is going through a critical period in its economic history. Will government ownership come to America, as it has in Communist Russia and in other countries? Or will America retain its system of "people's capitalism"? This is the issue that seems certain to come before the American people in the national elections in the next few years.

Good Tidings to the Exiles

THE LIFE OF TRUST WHICH MAN SHOULD LIVE IN VIEW OF GOD'S INFINITE POWER AND WISDOM

Scripture—Isaiah 40:1-11; 52:7-10.

By N. SPEER JONES

IN THIS week's lesson, we move backwards in time from the material we have been studying recently. We return to the reign of Hezekiah, 12th king of Judah, who ruled from 726 B.C. to 698 B.C.

He accepted the guidance of the prophet whose writing we study this week, Isaiah, and instituted enormous reforms in a people and country corrupted by the idolatrous reign of his father, Ahaz. He purged and restored the temple, took the offensive against the Philistines and executed such practical benefits as the aqueducts of Jerusalem.

It was he who sustained the two invasions of the menacing Sennacherib, being delivered from him by some mysterious and perhaps divine intervention (which, according to one tradition, destroyed the arms of his soldiers during the night before they were to attack).

Isaiah was such a remarkable prophet that scholars have argued for years as to whether he was one or two persons. Those who believe there were two Isaiahs (the so-called "Second Isaiah") base their view in part on the rather sudden transition which occurs in the book of Isaiah with the opening of today's lesson, the beginning of chapter 40. The previous chapters have been more in the nature of a chronicle; from this chapter onward, the style is more consistently one of exalted poetry. They also wonder that he should dwell so much on the blessings which follow a destruction which is yet to come, rather than on the dire calamities which occur first.

We must remember, however, that there is abundant poetry throughout the book, and that it is characteristic of the author to leap suddenly from despair to hope, etc.

In the eleven verses assigned from chapter 40, four different voices speak. The first (verses 1-2) is that of God Himself; the second (verses 3-5), that of John the Baptist; the third (verses 6-8), an unidentified voice from earth or heaven, proclaiming man's frailty and God's eternity, and the fourth (verses 9-11), is variously interpreted as Zion (here synonymous with Jerusalem), a herald or Isaiah himself.

Just as all 11 verses are often considered a prologue to the third great division of Isaiah, so the first two verses are sometimes spoken of as the prologue of the prologue, emphasizing the wondrous word "comfort."

With the second voice, John the Baptist's role as forerunner is graphically pointed up. In ancient times it was the custom for crews of workers to spend days repairing and smoothing the road over which a ruler intended to travel. They removed rocks, filled holes, repaired landslides, etc.

John will do this spiritually, preparing God's true children for the coming of the Messiah. This passage is referred to in all four of the Gospels (see Matthew 3:3; Mark 1:3; Luke 3:4, and John 1:23).

The withering of the grass and flowers (verses 6-8) is an all-too-typical result of the blowing of the hot, dry winds from the East in the Orient—winds which parch everything in their path.

AUTHORITY IN RELIGIOUS MATTERS
Religious authority is centered in Christ. He received and retains this by the hand of God. Matt. 28:18 reads, "All authority is given unto me in heaven and in earth." No man is left to be a free-thinker, a free lance rider nor a free-trader in matters that are religious. When a religious convention or an official board of religious leaders presume to speak for the church or for God, they have play in a latitude and swung wide in a range that is not theirs.
"Hear ye him" is a record in Matt. 17:5 of the Heavenly Father in relation to his Son, Jesus Christ. The hearing is to be by the Word. So Rom. 10:17 says, "So then faith cometh by hearing and hearing by the word." To hear the word. The Bible—the New Testament—is to "hear ye him."
"Preach the word" is the reading of part of Paul's charge to Timothy. This meant then and means NOW that men in the pulpit must preach the living word by preaching the written word. "Speak as the oracles of God"—I Pet. 4:11. Oracles meaning utterances, hence God's word or utterances among men. It must be preached and heard, there is no other way that has been designed that mankind might hear and know God's word. "The words that I have spoken shall judge him in the last day"—John 12:48. It is serious indeed to contemplate the judgment and further to know that it is by the New Testament that we will be judged. "Not to be wise above that which is written"—I Cor. 4:6. This will be sufficient warning to not exceed the boundary of the New Testament to the man who believes "Prove all things"—I Th. 5:21. By what, may I ask, can you prove or measure religion? Is there a gauge? if so what is it? I think the above scriptures point to the fact that all our religious beliefs must be gauged, measured or proved by the written word! If you have Bible proof you need nothing more; if you do not have Bible proof for your religious thinking, "Think so" or belief then you have NONE!" Strange indeed that people will often subordinate the Bible to their opinions!" What more is such a professed follower of the Lord than an infidel?" "My church says this, that or the other." How many times you hear this type of vassalage and slavery!" "My Pastor—my priest, my preacher etc. says." What kind of serfs and bond men some of us are!! Do men care what God says, Christ and the Bible—"What does the Spirit say in God's word. Settle Baptism or immersion by the Bible—Church membership—the One Body—the Lord's Supper, whatever it is settle it by the Bible; or put yourself under the yoke of slavery to the doctrines of man!"
Can you find infant baptism in the Bible? You cannot. Can you find sprinkling? You cannot. Can you find the modern jargon of denominational divisions and each treading so easily lest the truth be taught? Is God pleased with denominational division. This is the question—in finding the answer you find why the scourage is on us.

Status Quo Is Kept In N. L.

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Johnny Roseboro's first hit in 29 at-bats, Ernie Bowman's first major league homer and game-winning single, Six-hit pitching by three castoffs. A varied assortment that kept the status quo in the three-team struggle for the National League pennant.

Roseboro, hitless in 28 trips to the plate, lashed a triple that propelled the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers to a four-run eighth inning uprising and a 4-2 victory over Philadelphia Thursday night after the leaders had been shut out on four hits by Dennis Bennett.

Bowman, rookie second baseman substituting for Chuck Hiller, tagged his first home run in the fifth inning, then stroked a single in the 10th inning that scored Johnny Orsino with the clincher as the second-place San Francisco Giants edged the New York Mets, 2-1.

The castoffs — Joe Nuxhall, Johnny Klippstein and Ted Wills —combined to six-hit Chicago while Vada Pinson and Gordie Coleman each homered and drove in four runs, carrying the third-place Cincinnati Reds to a 14-3 walloping of the Cubs.

The Dodgers remain 3½ games in front of the Giants and four lengths ahead of the defending champion Reds, who made it 16 victories in the last 19 games. It was the fourth triumph in 12 games for the Dodgers and the Giants' second in eight.

Fourth-place Pittsburgh used a two-run homer by Bill Virdon and the four-hit hurling of Vern Law to beat Houston 4-0, and Milwaukee ties St. Louis for fifth place by edging the Cardinals 3-2.

Bennett (5-9) led 1-0 going into the eighth on a homer by Tony Taylor in the third inning off Dodger starter Johnny Podres. Roseboro got things started with his triple. Pinch-hitter Daryl Spencer struck out but Maury Wills singled, Jim Gilliam walked and Willie Davis singled. Tommy Davis struck out before Frank Howard dumped a two-run double over first base for the decisive runs.

Bowman's tie-breaking single following Orsino's third hit and a single by Jose Pagan, won it for Juan Marichal (16-9), who allowed five hits. The Mets got to Marichal for an unearned run in the third when Richie Ashburn walked and Felix Mantilla followed with a single that got by rookie outfielder Carl Boles and enabled Ashburn to race home.

Pinson and Coleman paced a 21-hit attack with three hits and four RBI each. Pinson hitting his 20th homer and Coleman getting No. 26. Nuxhall started for the Reds, but pulled a thigh muscle and had to leave after pitching two-hit ball for four innings. Klippstein and Wills, who like Nuxhall last pitched in the American League, finished up.

Law (10-6) posting his fifth triumph and second shutout over the Colts, allowed only singles—one in each of the first four innings. He also scored twice, coming in on Virdon's homer in the third and scoring on Dick Groat's single in the eighth.

The Braves overcame a 2-1 Cardinal lead in the eighth on an infield hit by Frank Bolling, Roy McMillan's double, a wild pitch by loser Ernie Broglio and an infield out. Claude Raymond, getting his 10th save in 20 relief appearances, preserved the triumph for Bob Hendley (9-10).

VIRGIL BOND
Heard But Rarely Seen

'Voice' Of Ruidoso Downs Has Called 18,000 Races

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M. — It doesn't happen often but if lightning strikes twice in the same place, according to Hoyle, Virgil Bond hopes the target is a bit farther away from the Ruidoso Downs announcers booth.

Virgil got a pretty good jolt from a bolt several years ago but came off the deck like a true champion to maintain an enviable record of calling more than 18,000 races in 16 years here without missing a single day.

Fortunately, Bond escaped with what is now an almost unnoticeable scar on his lower lip, little more than a "flesh wound" compared to the time his great aunt tanned his britches as a mere school kid.

It seems Virgil, dead set against the theory that children should be "seen and not heard," dismantled the aunt's favorite Atwater Kent radio set to build his first public address system.

Immediately, Virgil was "heard" for the first, if not "loudest," time and, ever since, has been "heard more than seen" in a most honorable, colorful and accurate career spanning most of his 45 years.

Thus, you can credit the disgruntled aunt with a big assist in contributing to Ruidoso Downs one of the finest and most precise race callers in the game.

Despite the pants - warming, which turned out to be well worth the pain, Virgil's first PA system was an immediate success with his school chums, and when injuries forced him to give up football, Bond took over the announcing of all his Peoria, Ariz. high school football and basketball contests.

In 1935, he accepted his first professional job announcing a rodeo at Eloy, Ariz., and from there Virgil went on to scrape out a living by working horse shows, rodeos and barn dances throughout the Southwest.

Following four years in the "Texas Air Force," Bond returned home and when racing came to the Tucson Fair Grounds in 1947, he built the track's sound system and officially embarked upon what has been a long and honorable career as a professional race-caller.

Since that memorable day, Virgil also has called more than 130 football games, 300 basketball games, 500 baseball games in the old Arizona-Texas league, more than 200 professional rodeos, and 14 months of describing wrestling "exhibitions" on TV, plus five baseball games over the old Liberty network.

In those 25 years, Virgil also found time to work as a disc jockey. Bond was selected one of the top 10 western disc jockeys seven of the past 10 years and was honored with the second highest "Pulse" rating ever scored by a western disc jockey in the United States.

Without drawing many deep breaths, Bond has called horse races, in addition to being the "Voice of Ruidoso Downs," at Arizona Downs and Sportsman's Park, Phoenix; Rillito Park, Tucson; Fair Grounds, Tucson; Del Rio, Eagle Pass and Sonora, Tex.; Pawhuska, Okla.; Silver City and Albuquerque, N. M.; Roseburg, Ore.; Holbrook, Prescott, Yuma, Safford and Duncan, Ariz.; Las Vegas, Nev., and Devonshire Downs in Southern California's San Fernando Valley.

"Uncle Virg," which is his familiar radio name, now resides in Albuquerque.

Bowlarennas Set For New Season

Wanda Warren was elected president of the Bowlarennas, a women's kegling league which held its initial meeting of the year Thursday morning at the Bowlarama.

Other officers selected were Connie Holcombe, secretary; Melba Davis, treasurer; and Bonnie Mims, vice president.

Tentative plans were made to bowl each Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, starting Sept. 11.

The league is seeking bowlers. Anyone desiring to bowl in the league can call Mrs. Holcombe at 3-6050 or Mrs. Warren at 4-8435.

Buffalo Upsets Houston, 21-14

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Houston's Oilers finally came to the end of their string Thursday night and were beaten 21-14 by Buffalo.

It was the first loss in 16 starts for Houston, twice champion of the American Football League, and left San Diego the only unbeaten team in the exhibition campaign.

Buffalo intercepted five of Jack Lee's passes in the first half and used the passing of Wayne Crow to score a touchdown.

Veteran George Blanda came in and passed for a touchdown and Billy Cannon ran nine yards for another in the second half.

But Warren Rabb passed to Glen Bass for two more touchdowns in the second half to keep Buffalo ahead.

Richards To Don Uniform Again

HOUSTON (AP)—General manager Paul Richards said today he'll don a uniform and personally conduct a fall training camp to accelerate development of young talent for the Houston Colts.

Fifty-six players worth more than $1 million have been invited to the three-week camp, starting here Sept. 12.

It will be the first large scale camp ever held by a major league club in the fall, Richards said.

Walters Winner

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Jerry Walters of Baytown, Tex., defeated Esmond Philps of New Orleans 6-3, 6-3 in Thursday's first round of the Gulf States Tennis Tournament. Walters is defending champion in men's singles.

Dragons To Seek Third Regional Title In Row

FLOWER GROVE—Water Valley has been established as the football favorite in District 3-B (six-man) but no one is selling the Flower Grove Dragons short.

The Dragons, who are coached by J. W. Massengale, have won the regional championship two years running and will have six lettermen returning, including two regulars.

Massengale will have to find replacements for such standouts as Dan Lemon, Ronnie Deatherage, Jerry Webb and Burt Oaks, however. The first three were all-district selections in 1961.

Massengale is seeking a game, either at home or away, for Oct. 19, to fill out the Dragon schedule.

Flower Grove is in the same district with Mertzon and Christoval, as well as Water Valley.

Regulars back from last season are Beaver Ramsey, 155 pound back, a senior; and Glenn Caughman, a senior back weighing 150.

Other numeral winners returning include Lee Roman, 170, center; Pablo Perez, 150, back, and Dennis Walker, 160, end, all seniors; and James Howard, 155, end; and Lupe Garza, 150, back, both juniors.

Others who reported for practice this week included Anthony Hanson, 155, back, junior; David Cave, 145, end, junior; Norbert Gonzales, 145, center, junior; Bobby Deatherage, 150, back, soph; Mike Roman, 150, back, soph; Jack Webb, 140, back, freshman; and Frank Lemon, 140, back, freshman.

The Dragons open their season at home the night of Sept. 7, at which time they host Klondike.

Flower Grove launched workouts Thursday morning. About 18 boys are expected out by the time school starts Sept. 4.

The schedule:

Sept. 7—Klondike here.
Sept. 14—Highland here.
Sept. 21—At Loyah.
Sept. 28—Iraan here.
Oct. 5—At Divide.
Oct. 12—At Blackwell.
Oct. 19—Open.
Oct. 26—At Water Valley (C).
Nov. 2—At Mertzon (C).
Nov. 9—Christoval here (C).
(C)—Denotes conference game.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Coach Emory Bellard of San Angelo High School, who was here for the District 2-AAAA meeting earlier in the week, says everyone mispronounces his last name.

It should be pronounced Bel-lare, not Bel-lord or Bel-lard, says Emory.

• • • •

Chuck Moser, the director of athletics at Abilene, who also attended the session, says Abilene High will field a reasonably strong first unit this fall but can't afford to get anyone hurt. Coach Wally Bullington can't turn with confidence to anyone on the bench to replace them.

Incidentally, there were reports that Moser might bring up the eligibility of Chuck Hughes, a hard-running back, before the committee here and produce evidence to show that he could play another year.

Such was not the case, however, although Moser did mention that there had been some discussion about Chuck's status. Hughes was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

He had resided in Breckenridge for a time before moving to Abilene and Bellard, who used to coach the Buckies, recalled that Chuck was too old to play B team ball there at the time.

It cost the 2-AAAA executive commitee a total of $240.16 to supply championship athletic trophies to teams the past school year.

Two basketball awards had to be proivded, at a cost of $100, since Odessa and San Angelo ruled as co-titlists. The football award, also won by San Angelo, set the conference back $50. The baseball award earned by Odessa High cost $35. The district spent an extra $35 to provide Odessa with a baseball cup it earned two years ago, at which time the Bronchos were recognized as co-champions.

Big Spring received a volleyball award valued at $20.16 after having been declared the girls' champion in that endeavor.

In event you've lost track of him, the Stamford ex who played his college football at Oklahoma, Mike McClellan, is now with the San Francisco 49ers of the NFL. He replaced another OU star, Dave Baker, in the 49er secondary. Baker is serving a hitch in the Army.

One of the early entries in the 31st annual Big Spring Invitational Golf tournament this year is Dr. Bobby Jack Gross, a Pecos veterinarian who was a shot put and discus star for both Big Spring High School and Texas A&M a few years ago.

Gross was one of the hardest working athletes BSHS ever had.

Don't be surprised if West Point has a team in either the Orange or Cotton Bowls in the next two years.

Paul Dietzel, the new coach at Army, is supposed to have stipulated that Army would accept a bid, if offered one, before he would take the job.

Army probably wouldn't go to the Sugar Bowl until the racial bars are lifted there and, of course, the Rose Bowl is again a closed corporation, now that the Big Ten has signed to supply a team for the classic every year.

• • • •

Bradley Mills, the Odessa High mentor, says he can't see the Odessa schools integrating any time within the next few years.

Big Spring and San Angelo are the only two high schools in 2-AAAA which are now integrated and have Negroes on their athletic teams.

OU Waited A Long Time To Turn Down Boy: King

FORT WORTH (AP)— Oklahoma's Coach Bud Wilkinson said Johnny Agan, the Albany, Tex., football star, couldn't play football at Oklahoma because he couldn't qualify scholastically for a Big Eight Conference scholarship.

This caused Coach J. T. King at Texas Tech, where Agan wound up, to comment that it was unusual for Wilkinson to bring up the scholarship point three months after the boy's graduation from high school.

Agan signed a letter of intent at Tech but announced, after working at a summer job for a backer of Oklahoma, he was going to that school. This week, however, he showed up at Tech and said he wanted to enroll. He was accepted.

Wilkinson in a statement issued Thursday at Norman, Okla., said Oklahoma was forced to disqualify Agan for a scholarship after it was learned he had not finished in the upper two-thirds of his graduating class.

King here for a football dinner, said Thursday night that Oklahoma probably has a situation similar to Tech.

"We cannot take any boy from out of state unless he finishes in Texas, if a boy meets the required standards to enter college we can take him. Where the boy finishes in his graduating high school class has no bearing on the matter."

King declared that the first thing he and his staff checked on visiting a potential recruit was his grades.

Howard Grubbs, secretary of the Southwest Conference, said the conference had no general standards as such. "The various schools establish their own requirements," he explained.

Wilkinson said Agan's scholastic status was not discovered until Aug. 1 and until that time Oklahoma had been led to believe he met requirements.

The Dallas News said, however, that Bill Anderson, principal of Albany High School, indicated Oklahoma had been aware of Agan's scholastic standing since last May.

Ex-Steer Named Crockett Coach

Jerry Graves, one-time all-state center for Big Spring, has been named head football coach at Crockett Junior High in Odessa.

He succeeds Bill Herron, who was elevated to Odessa High School as B team mentor, following the resignation of Jim Herridge.

Phil Reynolds, former TCU cager, has been named basketball coach at Crockett, while Calvin Cooley, former ACC student, was hired as track coach there.

Browns Oppose 49ers In Grid Headliner

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland and San Francisco, bridesmaids in the National Football League for more years than their coaches like to remember, test each other's newly found strength this weekend as the National and American Leagues have another hefty program of exhibition activity.

The Browns, titleless since 1957, and 49ers, who have never won a title, have won their two exhibition starts.

The 49ers scored a 30-24 victory over Minnesota, then routed the injury-riddled New York Giants 42-10.

The Browns edged tough Detroit 17-14, then ground out a 33-10 victory over Pittsburgh. Jim Ninowski, the Browns' new quarterback, has shown such amazing adeptness at running coach Paul Brown's offense that The Master has even let him call his own plays at times.

AFL weekend activity begins tonight in Fort Worth, Tex., when the revamped Denver Broncos play the Dallas Texans. Denver (0-2) will test new quarterbacks Hunter Enis and Richie Lucas, and may have veteran Frank Tripuka back after a layoff with a broken rib.

The Texans, 2-1 in pre-season play, plan to start rookie Eddie Wilson of Arizona, who is making threatening gestures at veteran Cotton Davidson's job.

Saturday night in the NFL, Green Bay (3-1) plays the Chicago Bears (0-2) in Milwaukee; the Giants (0-1-1) play the Rams (2-0) at Los Angeles; The Baltimore Colts (2-0) take on Dallas (0-2) in Roanoke, Va.; Washington (2-0) faces Philadelphia (1-1) in Charlotte, N.C.; and the St. Louis Cards (0-1-1) and Minnesota Vikings (0-2) play in Minneapolis-St. Paul. Detroit and Pittsburgh play Monday night in Detroit, and in the AFL San Diego is at Oakland Sunday afternoon.

Thursday night the Buffalo Bills halted Houston's 16-game winning streak, 21-14, in an AFL exhibition before 17,257 at Mobile, Ala. The Bills intercepted five Jack Lee passes in the first half before unleashing their own air attack. Warren Rabb threw two TD passes to Glen Bass to lead the Bill attack.

Quarterback John Brodie has sparked the 49ers offensively so far as coach Red Hickey has decided to stick with the standard pro-T offense in lieu of the shotgun.

Fullback Jim Taylor and the eagle-eye passing of Bart Starr have sparked the Packers to victories over the College All-Stars, Dallas and St. Louis, but coach Vince Lombardi still isn't satisfied with all-pro halfback Paul Hornung. The Bears have found it difficult to mount a sustained attack, but hope to have 1961 rookie sensation Mike Ditka back to full-time duty at end.

New York may be without five starters—halfback Erich Barnes and Dick Lynch and rookie linebacker Bill Winter on defense, and tackle Greg Larsen and end Joe Walton on offense. The Rams have shown tremendous improvement in their offensive and defensive lines in beating Washington and Minnesota.

Colts Buy Hurler From Veracruz

HOUSTON (AP)—After searching more than a year the Houston Colts acquired a Mexican player Thursday. They bought right-handed pitcher Ramon Arano from Veracruz of the Mexican League, where he had a 17-6 record this season.

Ex-Big Springer Now Umpire

Dusty Boggess of Dallas (with mask) could be telling a joke but chances are he's going over the rules with fellow National League arbiters. He Won't Get Up: Liston

AURORA, Ill. (AP) — "If the fight is close they can give it to Patterson. It won't be close. I don't think he will run from me—any champion should come out fighting. I don't think he will get up once I hit him right."

It was Sonny Liston talking. He had just finished a one-hour workout in the steaming heat of his outside gym at the Aurora Downs Race Track.

He drew applause from 60 paying customers when his chief trainer, Willie Reddish, threw a 12-pound medicine ball into his stomach a dozen times. They also liked the way Liston caved in the big 80-pound bag with lefts and rights as Reddish held it and chanted: "Come on. Come on. Come on."

Taking movies of the workout for a television show was a company from San Diego presided over by Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame football coach who is on the scene with Father Edward Patrick McDaniel Murphy of Denver, Liston's personal advisor.

After three playings of a rock-n' roll record, as Sonny kept time while skipping rope, the workout was about over.

He showered and faced newsmen in the air-cooled clubhouse. Before him was a cup of hot tea with a slice of lemon in it, and four teaspoons of sugar.

Liston, who meets heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson in a 15-round title fight at Comiskey Park Sept. 25, answered questions:

"I weighed 219 before the workout and lost six during it. I plan to fight him at something under 215. Someone once said the bigger they are the bigger they fall. I say the bigger the trees the harder they are to cut down.

"If I am not ready when the bell sounds, I won't be in there against him. If Sugar Ray Robinson didn't think he was ready for a fight he would pull a muscle or something and it would be postponed.

"If I win I might fight Ingemar Johansson. But first he must fight Cleveland Williams. There is a one-year return match in the Patterson fight, but my plan is to make him not want a return fight.

"I hear Johansson say I'm slow. I saw him fight Patterson twice. He was lucky. He should be locked up for impersonating a fighter.

"I went the full 12 rounds with Eddie Machen. It's the longest I ever went. I takes two to tango and Machen wasn't in the mood to. I don't think Patterson will run. I caught Machen and I don't think anybody can run as fast as him.

"As for Archie Moore. I don't think I would fight him. If I could hold the title as many months as he has years, I would retire. As for Cassius Clay. I'll probably fight him, but he would have to fight Williams first.

"Williams (whom Liston twice knocked out in early rounds) was the hardest puncher I've fought. No one wants to fight him. He can punch as hard as I can, but he can't take it like I can."

Robbins Lauds Co-Operation

Don Robbins, chief coach of the Big Spring High School Steers, told the Kiwanis Club members Thursday he is proud of the qualities of sportsmanship and cooperation displayed by his squad.

"They are as fine a bunch of kids as I have ever had the experience of working with," he said.

Robbins commented on the heavy schedule the Steers face and of the tough opposition which is in store for them. He said he had nine letter men back.

"This sound good," he said, "until you check into it and then you find that few of the nine have had real opportunity to play much football."

He said he has some new material that looks good but the graduation loss of a half dozen of the best players in schoolboy football has left him a major problem.

Robbins was presented to the club by Soc Walker, program chairman.

Thomas Boys Save Game For Angels

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Angels, who have used many and varied devices in their American League pennant chase, now have resorted to the use of T 'n' T.

The Thomas boys, Lee and George, sometimes known around the city of Angels as the T 'n' T combination, collaborated in producing a 13th inning run Thursday that saved at least some semblance of an American League race.

Lee, who had singled, rode home on George's double for the run that beat the New York Yankees 5-4. It allowed the Angels to salvage the last of a key, three-game series and escape only one game further back than when they started.

They're now five behind and still within shooting distance of the perennial American League champs.

Minnesota lost two to Washington, 6-4 and 6-0, dropped from second place to third, and went six full games off the pace. The first game of the twi-night doubleheader was a replay of Wednesday's 8-8 10-inning tie.

Detroit, behind the hefty hitting of Al Kaline and Norm Cash, beat Cleveland 8-5 while Boston had little trouble taking Kansas City 8-2 in the only other games played. Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

The Thomas boys provided the 13th inning explosion that rocked the Yanks, but it was a couple of other Angels, Billy Moran and Dan Osinski, who kept them alive that long.

New York jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the second inning, largely on Tom Tresh's three-run homer, before the Angels started back. Moran started the comeback with a two-run homer in the third and his sole job in the eighth tied it 4-4. After that it was Osinski. He shut out the Yanks on two hits over the last five innings and avenged a defeat at the hands of the New Yorkers the night before.

His best work came with his back to the wall in the 12th. A single by Elston Howard, a sacrifice, a throwing error and an intentional walk loaded the bases with none out. Osinski got Clete Boyer to force a runner at the plate and retired pinch hitter Dale Long on a pop foul. Then Tresh flied out to end the threat.

Lee Thomas led off the 13th with a single, was bunted to second and scored on George Thomas' double down the left field line.

Ken Retzer and relief pitcher Bennie Daniels were the first-game heroes for Washington in the Senators' sweep over Minnesota. Retzer provided the winning blow with a two-run sixth inning homer that broke a 4-4 tie.

Daniels, who took over in the fifth, retired 14 men in order before walking Earl Battey with two out in the ninth. Bob Allison's three-run homer in the first had given the Twins an early lead.

In the nightcap, lefty Don Rudolph (7-6) stopped the Twins on six hits, retiring the last 14 men in order. He got the backing of a 13-hit attack, which included back-to-back homers by Bob Johnson and Chuck Hinton.

Kaline stroked two homers, a double and a single while Cash drove in three runs on his 33rd homer and a single to make it e t for the Tigers against the Indians. Hank Aguirre coasted in to his 12th victory.

Boston's Gene Conley (12-11) had a four-hitter going into the ninth at Kansas City, but was touched for a single and Gino Cimoli's homer, spoiling his shutout. He was supported by a 13-hit attack, which included Eddie Bressoud's two-run eighth inning homer.

Brown Tries Luis Molina

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Former lightweight champion Joe Brown tries to climb back toward the title tonight in a 10-round fight against roundhousing right-hander Luis Molina.

Molina, who first gained national attention thanks to Brown, doesn't plan to show any gratitude in his own campaign for a shot at Carlos Ortiz' crown.

Brown, 36, of Houston, Tex., and Molina, 23, from San Jose, are each expected to weigh 138 pounds, three over the lightweight limit.

Brown will be making his first ring appearance since losing his title by a lopsided decision to Ortiz four months ago in Las Vegas, Nev. He had successfully defended the title 11 times over a 5½-year span, but was unable to escape Ortiz' constant crowding and left jabs.

Brown is considered No. 1 lightweight contender by Ring Magazine, but only No. 3 by the National Boxing Association. Both groups tab Molina as the No. 4 junior welterweight.

Brown is a narrow favorite, but admits he'll have to watch out during the early rounds for Molina's looping rights. "The kid is strong and he throws those punches from the floor," says Brown.

But the ex-champ is no light puncher. His 83-19-10 record includes 38 knockouts, six of them in title defenses.

The San Jose ex-Marine has knocked out 16 of 21 opponents, decisioned four others and lost only to veteran, southpaw Kenny Lane.

Molina's major break came in February when Brown and Ortiz were first scheduled to fight. Brown became ill a day before the fight and Molina was called to Las Vegas on 24-hour notice to help fulfill television commitments.

Hidalgo Winner Over Quakers

SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP)— Hidalgo County of Texas is in the finals of the Colt League World Series.

The Texans, with Gabriel Serda pitching the first shutout of the series and batting in two runs, rode over Norfolk County, Pa., 8-0 Thursday night. Serda worked a four-hitter.

Norfolk County bowed out of the double-elimination tourney and once-beaten Hidalgo County went into the finals against Riverside, Calif. Riverside is undefeated.

THENCE N. 75 degrees 09 minutes E. 100.0 feet to the Place of Beginning and containing 0.422 acres.

SECTION II

This ordinance shall be published in full as required by Section 4A of Article II of the Home Rule Charter of the City of Big Spring, Texas, and shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage at three meetings of the City Commission provided that same shall not be finally acted upon until at least thirty days have elapsed after the publication as required by the Home Rule Charter of said City and as provided by the Statutes of the State of Texas, and inhabitants of said territory shall then be entitled to all of the rights and privileges of other citizens and shall be bound by the Acts, Ordinances, Resolutions and Regulations of said City.

PASSED AND APPROVED on the first reading at a regular meeting of the City Commission on the 14th day of August, 1962, all members present voting "aye" for passage of same.

GEORGE J. ZACHARIAH, Mayor

ATTEST:
C. R. McCLENNY, City Secretary

LEGAL NOTICE

CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS
SUMMARY OF SUB-UNIT PAVING ESTIMATES, STREET IMPROVEMENTS 1960

TO THE REAL AND TRUE OWNERS OF PROPERTY ABUTTING UPON THE HEREINAFTER DEFINED PORTIONS OF VARIOUS STREETS, AVENUES AND/OR ALLEYS WITHIN THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS, AND TO ALL OWNING OR CLAIMING ANY SUCH ABUTTING PROPERTY OR ANY INTEREST THEREIN, AND TO ALL INTERESTED IN ANY OF THE PROCEEDINGS, CONTRACTS OR OTHER MATTERS HEREINAFTER MENTIONED.

Notice is hereby given to the real and true owners of property abutting upon the hereinafter described and defined portions of various streets, avenues, and/or alleys within the City of Big Spring, Texas, and to all persons owning or claiming any interest therein, and to all railroads and all others claiming, or interested in, any of said property, or in any of the proceedings, contracts and matters herein mentioned, that:

The City of Big Spring, Texas, acting by its City Commission by duly enacted ordinances has determined the necessity for, and has ordered the permanent improvement of said streets, avenues and/or alleys within the limits hereinafter defined by raising, grading, filling, widening, permanently paving or repaving same and by the construction, reconstruction or repairing or realigning concrete curbs and gutters, in the manner and where the City Engineer determines that adequate curbs and gutters are not now installed and by the installation of storm sewer, and the construction of such drains and incidentals and appurtenances as deemed necessary by said Engineer, all of such improvements to be constructed according to such specifications and standards as the City Engineer deems adequate and suitable, and to be constructed in the manner and as provided for in Plans and Specifications and the Contract Agreements covering the construction of said improvements, now on file in the office of the City Secretary.

That said City Commission has further determined that the necessity for levying of assessments for a portion of the costs of the Construction of said improvements against the properties abutting upon said streets, avenues and/or alleys and against the real and true owners thereof, and has adopted the proposed apportionment of costs hereinafter set out between said City and said abutting properties and their owners; that the portion of said costs proposed to be assessed against said owners is in accordance with the Front Foot Rule or Plan, and there is set out as follows a schedule reflecting the various streets and portions thereof to be improved, and the rates and estimates of costs in reference to each of said streets or portion thereof, to-wit:

Children Don't Dare To Refuse Medicine

SWEENEY (AP)—Mrs. Ray Whitmire, wife of Sweeny's former mayor, has an effective lever when the three Whitmire children refuse to take their medicine.

It goes something like this:

"Take this or I'll brew you up some cayenne pepper, salt, vinegar and alcohol."

She admits she has never had to resort to brewing up a batch of this medication, but if the occasion were to arise she could back up her words with the exact formula, method of mixing and the dosage.

She is owner of one of the first medical journals printed in the United States. Authoritative sources say that it is one of the five remaining volumes in existence of "Gunn's Domestic Medicine."

A former Sweeny physician, Dr. Hal Hooper, estimated that the volume is worth more than $5,000.

However, Mrs. Whitmire does not plan to sell the volume, as she is the seventh generation of her family to own the book.

She spends many hours poring over the medical journal.

Humor is easily found when she delves into the "secrets of medicine" within the journal.

The book belonged to Mrs. Whitmire's grandfather, Strother S. Ball, who settled in Denton in 1883.

Entries in the "births and deaths" pages of the journal bear the notations, "This book belongs to Dr. Robert Ball, born 1700; Dr. Semens Ball, born 1834; Dr. S. S. Ball, born 1857; Ann Ball Burchfield, born 1895; and Samuel Arthur Burchfield, born 1919.

The prologue to the manual says:

"The discovery of each succeeding day convinces us that the Almighty has graciously furnished man with the means of curing his own diseases . . .

"The truth is, that the wise and beneficent Creator of the Universe, had made nothing in vain and the time will come when the apparently most useless and noxious plants will be found imminently useful in the cure of diseases."

It may be the opinion of some that some rather "noxious" plants were used even then, Mrs. Whitmire says, and gives the example.

The remedy for "putrid sore throat" is as follows:

"Take Cayenne pepper, in powder, two tablespoonsful with one teaspoon of salt; put both into half pint of boiling water; let stand for one hour and strain liquid off. Next put this liquid into a half pint of strained vinegar and warm it over a fire. Of this medicine give two tablespoonfuls every half hour."

It is further noted, "If the weakness is very considerable, add one fourth of whiskey to the concoction, and give wine, or toddy made with spirits and sweetened with sugar to support the system."

Smoking of the Jamestown weed and the dried root of skunk cabbage was prescribed for persons severely afflicted with asthma.

"Arise early and take active exercise, particularly by ascending to the highest and steepest hills and mountains, where they can breathe the pure mountain breeze. Always arise from a hard bed instead of a soft one, and swallow a raw egg before walking."

The author also described the treatment of dropsy as recommended by his fellow colleague, Dr. William Mead.

"Take two or three handfuls of rusty nails, and put them in a half gallon of good apple vinegar; boil down to a quart and strain it well through a linen cloth; add the vinegar to a quart of molasses, a handful of chamomile flowers, and a handful of lavender from the garden. Stew this mixture down to a quart. Dose: A large tablespoonful, to be increased gradually to one and one half."

Mrs. Whitmire said that Dr. Gunn was opposed to the use of tobacco, among several other subjects that he spoke out quite eloquently against in the journal.

He depicted the use of tobacco in any way "as dangerous to health, happiness and to morals."

He said, "This filthy and disgusting practice taints the breath with a fetor worse than asafoetida, deranges all the physical sensations and the whole nervous system."

Dr. Gunn also attacked vigorously fellow physicians who "mystifyed" their patients with "high-sounding names seen plastered on glass jars, gallipots and drawers seen in drug stores and doctor's shops."

Regarding labels, Dr. Gunn said, "Who would ever suppose, unless he were previously initiated into the sublime mysteries of the 'Physicians Materi Medica' that cantharsis vitata was the potatoe fly—the phyolacca decandra was nothing but poke weed."

In another chapter, dealing with childbirth, Dr. Gunn ended his discussion with this admonition, "Neither hurry or retard nature, give her time to perform her own operations, and when she fails, assist her."

Woman In Black Fails To Show Up

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The 36th anniversary of Rudolph Valentino's death was commemorated Thursday by 75 men, women and children who gathered at the silent film star's crypt.

The mysterious "Woman in Black" — unidentified, always heavily veiled and always in black —who appeared regularly at the crypt during earlier anniversary observances didn't show up.

Valentino, the great lover of silent films, died in New York in 1926.

ON THE SHELF

IN-LAWS AND OUTLAWS, By C. Northcote Parkinson. Houghton Mifflin. $4.

By The Associated Press

Parkinson has no peer when it comes to spoofing the whole business world, and that covers a lot of territory.

This is his third book on the secrets of getting ahead, and he makes a cheeky and cheek-tongued claim that any young desk slave can get to the top by following the precepts of this volume. There is more sense than nonsense in his claim.

He has some jolly good chapters on picking the right father-in-law; on the slick ways of pretending to be a character (the conformity pattern of the Organization Man is too obvious these days, it seems) and on learning the ways of double-dealing in corporation politics.

He lets you in on the slippery procedures of the business consultant, and you learn that the consultant often is a cat's paw.

He has a devastating chapter on the ways in which an annual statement can be rigged to present a good or bad picture, according to the machinations of the insiders. He classifies the kinds of committee chairmen and gives some penetrating pointers on paper work. And he promulgates Parkinson's Third Law: "Expansion means complexity and complexity decay."

Professor Parkinson is wise, witty and wacky. The initiated and uninitiated alike will find a lot of spicy common sense in his pages.
