Three contested here...

Vote to decide races

The long political season ends Tuesday as voters go to the polls to decide three locally contested races and a handfull of state races to include who will be Texas' governor beginning in 1987.

Absentee voting ended Friday with 512 votes cast.

The most local attention has been focused on the races for two county commissioner seats and the justice of the peace post for Pct. 1--which covers the entire county with the exception of Hermleigh's voting precinct 13.

For commissioner in Pct. 2, Democrat Tommy Pate, who won his party's nomination from an original field of four candidates and following a June 7 runoff election, faces Republican W.A. (Bill) Jones.

Both Pate and Jones, who was unopposed for the nomination, seek to replace incumbent Hassie Sneed, who is retiring from elected office at the end of this term.

The commissioner's seat for Pct. 4 is between incumbent Democrat Ted Billingsley, seeking his third term, and Republican Glen O. Butler. Billingsley defeated a challenger for the nomination in May while Butler was unopposed for his party's nomination.

The justice of the peace race for Pct. 1 pits incumbent Democrat Dan Callaway and Republican Troy Martin, who won the GOP's nomination in May in a two-candidate race.

Callaway, who seeks his third term, was unopposed for the nomination.

Several local elected positions on the ballot were decided with the May primaries with only one candidate listed for the General Election. These posts include:

—County judge: with Democrat Bobby Goodwin, who defeated incumbent Preston Wilson in May, unopposed.

—County attorney: with incumbent Republican Mike Line unopposed for an unexpired term.

—District clerk: with incumbent Democrat Polly Underwood unopposed for her third term.

—County clerk: with incubment Democrat Beverly Ainsworth unopposed for her fifth term.

—County treasurer: with incumbent Democrat Billy Wayne Thompson unopposed for his fifth term after turning back a Democratic challenger last May.

Release held up by county court of 1611 appraisal

In a closed meeting Monday, county commissioners agreed to pay an Abilene firm for its appraisal estimating the value of land the county must acquire for the approximate 3.7 mile extension of FM 1611.

After coming back into open session, court members declined to release the appraisal figure, however.

Following the 15-minute executive session, commissioners noted that "it would be premature to release any figure. We don't know yet whether the road will even be built."

The company's finding will be released following a public hearing related to FM 1611 and planned by officials with the Texas Department of Highways.

That hearing is set for Nov. 18 at 7 p.m. in the district courtroom.

Court members added that an offer made for the property may not equal the appraisal report.

The estimate discussed Monday was provided the court by Joe Montgomery with Austin-Foster Appraisal Associates of Abilene. It places a value on property owned by heirs of Wade and Harrie Winston. Montgomery did not appear for Monday's session.

As proposed, the extension of 1611 would link FM 1607 and State Hwy. 350 to complete a western loop around Snyder.

In other action Monday, court members authorized coliseum officials to replace the coliseum marquee at a cost of some $3,257.

Ken Miller with Snyder Signs told commissioners that the structure could be repaired for about $2,257. He noted, however, that the remaining plastic in the sign "is old and brittle and will probably have to be replaced later."

Money for the project is available in the coliseum's 1986 budget, Manager Wes Partain noted.

Theatre season to open

The Western Texas College theatre department will open its new season with the production of "Terra Nova" Nov. 13-15 and 17.

"Terra Nova" is based on the journals of three Englishmen on an expedition to the South Pole in 1911-12. The Englishmen and five Norwegians raced each other to the bottom of the earth, notes play director Jim Rambo, and only the Norwegians returned.

The box office will open Thursday and tickets may be reserved by calling 573-8511, ext. 234. Tickets will be $5 for adults and $3 for students. WTC students will be admitted free with their ID cards.

Jury process begins again

Jury selection in the capital murder trial of Dorsie Lee Johnson Jr. resumed shortly after 9 a.m. Monday in 132nd District Court following a three-day weekend recess.

One prospective juror--the 59th interviewed--had been released before 11 a.m. A second was being interviewed at press time.

November meeting due tonight for city

The new business which faces Snyder city council members Monday includes seeking bids for "junk" items and two special use permit requests from locals interested in opening small commercial operations in their homes.

The November meeting of the council will begin at city hall at 6:30 p.m.

The action related to "junk" involves allowing the city manager to accept bids for junk iron and junk cars now located at the city landfill.

In addition, the council will consider the two special use permits.

A local woman has asked to be allowed to operate a one station beauty shop from her home, located at 409 32nd St.; and a Snyder man is seeking to sell small accessory automotive parts from his residence at 3202 Ave. T.

Both seek special use permits, which would allow them to operate the commercial businesses in an area zoned for residences only. When granted, such permits are issued only for as long as the individual lives at the specified address and do not affect the area zoning.

A. — The problem of ink is a universal one for all newspapers. The main difference involving the SDN locally is that its readers receive it sooner after it has been printed--in some cases as quickly as one to two hours.

Reagan phone calls irritate hospital patients in Mesquite

MESQUITE, Texas (AP) — The last thing patients in Mesquite Community Hospital expected last weekend was to get a telephone call from President Reagan. But the president called and called and called again.

It was an apparent malfunction of a telephone system used by the Republican National Committee to get out the vote in the elections Tuesday.

The phone calls contained a recorded message from President Reagan urging people to vote for Republican candidates.

Hospital officials don't know how many calls they received because the hospital in this Dallas suburb recently installed a system where patients can receive direct telephone calls, said Bob Grimes, associate hospital administrator.

But the calls came every few minutes between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. Saturday, Grimes said.

"Hello, this is Ronald Reagan. They're keeping me on a pretty busy schedule around here, so I hope you'll understand I can't call you in person," the calls began. "I know you're probably busy, too. I'm calling because I need your help."

But the hospital official said the calls were not welcomed by the patients and nurses.

"There were a lot (of calls), and they were very aggravating. I'd like to know who did it," Grimes said.

The Republican National Committee doesn't know who made the calls.

Hospital officials and patients alike were upset and perturbed by the calls, which were apparently destined for a targeted list of voters.

"It was very disturbing," said Robert DeMoss of Garland, who was visiting his mother-in-law on the hospital's third floor, where intensive-care and surgical patients are located.

"Finally, the people on the third floor took all the phones off the hook," DeMoss said.

Bob Schmermund, press secretary for the national commitee in Washington, D.C., said the calls were supposed to be part of an unprecedented effort to get out the vote this year.

Flimsy Holidays Result In Surfeit of Sentiment

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the grandmother who felt slighted because none of her grandchildren remembered her on Grandparents' Day really got to me. Then she complained to her daughter-in-law about the oversight, and was told that she (the daughter-in-law) had never even heard of Grandparents' Day!

The commercialism of Mother's Day and Father's Day was bad enough, but hucksters and retailers have found yet another source of income. Next can we expect Aunt's Day, Uncle's Day, In-Laws' Day, Cousin's Day, Minister's Day, Dog's Day, Cat's Day, right along with Secretaries' Day and Boss's Day? Where is all this going to end?

ROARING MAD
IN ROARING GAP, N.C.

DEAR ROARING: It ended in a senseless tragedy according to this Michigan reader:

DEAR ABBY: These so-called holidays are being blown up way out of proportion.

Last June, a grandfather waited until evening, and still no Father's Day card, so he wrote a note expressing his despair at being forgotten. First he shot and killed three members of his family, then he killed himself! Sad? And worse yet, he had the date of Father's Day figured one week too early, so he killed three people and himself for nothing.

DEAR ABBY: Your recent column on how to discourage "junk mail" disturbed me greatly. The American Printing House for the Blind relies on direct-mail fund-raising to provide numerous services to the visually impaired. Fund-raising costs have soared in the past few years, and the last thing we need is a large number of people returning our postpaid envelopes filled with everything except money.

Since 1928, the American Printing House has produced and distributed the Braille Reader's Digest with funds donated by the public. In 1939, the recorded edition was begun. Every month, we ship over 20,000 copies to libraries serving visually and physically handicapped patrons, free. Weekly, over 11,000 copies of the recorded edition of Newsweek are mailed to reading handicapped patrons across the country, free, because of contributions received by mail. Funds raised from the public buy the buildings, equipment and tools we use to produce school materials provided to students under the federal Act to Promote the Education of the Blind, saving the federal government significant sums of money.

Public contributions to hundreds of organizations like ours fill real needs that exist among a variety of groups of people. Without this support, a multibillion-dollar burden would fall on local, state and federal government.

Opening a few envelopes is a small price for all of us to pay for the significant contributions of philanthropic organizations to our society.

X-rated finds are reported

POMPEII, Italy (AP) — Archaeologists have made new X-rated discoveries in Pompeii, unearthing fresh evidence of the libertine habits of the ancient Romans.

Pornographic mosaics depicting combinations of two, three or four men and women engaged in sexual activities were found in what experts describe as a combination bathhouse and bordello.

Baldassare Conticello, the archaeological superintendent of Pompeii, said the finds were unique in Pompeii and "unusual even for Romans."

"Erotic scenes of more than two people are very rare in classical art," he said in an interview.

The mosaics were part of a series of recent discoveries in Pompeii, a bustling city with an opulent lifestyle that was buried when Mount Vesuvius erupted in 79 A.D.

They came to light after a long-sought allocation of government money permitted archaeologists to undertake limited excavations.

In the two centuries since the first excavations, much has been learned about the lifestyle of the ancients, their architecture and use of urban planning. But one-third of the city is still buried under 19 to 23 feet of volcanic ash and debris.

That Pompeii's wealthy merchants and visiting sailors had a touch for the erotic has been documented.

Archaeologists have unearthed erotic art, graffiti and considerable evidence that prostitution flourished in Roman times, and such material is on the "must see" list of many visitors, although the Neapolitan custodians often discourage women from viewing it.

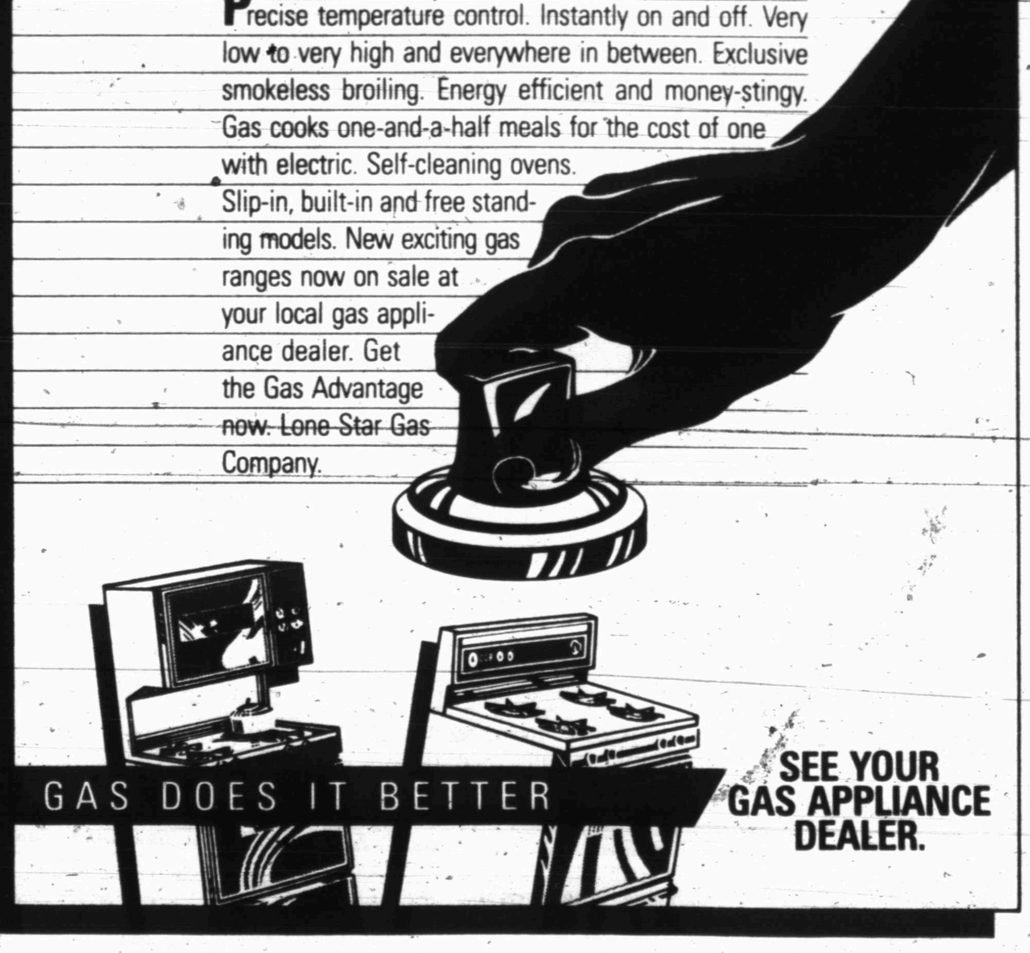

The book "Eros in Pompeii" was a best-seller in Italy in the 1970s and is out of print.

The new discoveries were made near the main entrance to the excavations at the Porta Marina, in what are known as the Suburban Baths. The site, the best preserved bathhouse found in Pompeii, is just outside the walls, on the road to the sea, and is believed to have been frequented by sailors.

The pornographic mosaics are undergoing restoration and superintendent Conticello said they should be ready to go on public view in six or seven months.

U. S. and Soviets could also track stealth aircraft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States — as well as the Soviets — have the means to track "Stealth" aircraft that are supposed to be made invisible from radar by high-tech construction techniques, U.S. officials say.

Pentagon officials, who over the past month agreed to discuss the matter with The Associated Press, made that admission in the wake of the fanfare that has surrounded the U.S.' super-secret Stealth bomber and its ability to evade radar detection.

But these officials say such detection poses no threat because of the way the Stealth aircraft would be used.

Since the Pentagon does not envision using its bombers for surprise, first-strike raids, it is not concerned about detection by the new radar, called Over-The-Horizon-Backscatter, or OTH-B.

"What Stealth is intended to do is to fix it so that an aircraft can deliver its ordnance to a target within the enemy territory," said one ranking official, who like all the others agreed to speak about stealth technology only if they not be named. "Now, it's not designed to keep the other guy from knowing that the war has started. What you want to do is counter the things that are going to shoot at you and kill you."

"You have to understand the limitations of OTH-B," added another source.

One of the limitations is that an OTH-B system cannot provide any radar coverage within 500 nautical miles of the transmitter.

The right idea but the wrong play

By James Jacoby

There is nothing wrong with playing bridge imaginatively to prevent the dangerous opponent from gaining the lead. Yet it's regrettable if the declarer sees that play but misses something more obvious.

Since South was not a newfangled player, he did not have the negative double available when East overcalled with one spade. (Such a double would show four hearts and would command North to bid.) So he took a sensible choice when he bid one notrump. North had no trouble raising to game.

Declarer won the jack of spades with his king. Realizing the danger of allowing West to gain the lead, he refused the club finesse. After all, there was some slight chance that West would hold the singleton king. And South did not mind if East made a trick with the club king, since the 10-8-6 of spades in dummy would then provide another stopper. Alas, West won the second club and produced the two of spades to set the contract.

Declarer must overcome his natural bridge instincts to make the contract. He should allow the spade jack to win the first trick. His king of spades will next drop under East's ace, and he will never get a trick in spades, but he can then safely take the club finesse, knowing that West will not have another spade to lead if he does hold the club king. He will make nine certain tricks and his contract.

TROY MARTIN
Justice of the Peace
Scurry County

"Make a Change for the Better"

Tomorrow you will be going to the polls to elect a Justice of the Peace for Precinct 1. I have been campaigning for this office for the past nine months and I do not regret my decision to give the voters a choice. During this time I have tried to give you, the voters, information about myself, my education and experience to better help you decide who to vote for on November 4. My opponent has served 26 years as a public servant beginning his career at the age of 46. I have served for the past 5 years as a public servant beginning my career at age 33, but I do not feel that this is the real issue.

Are you, the voters, satisfied with the current Justice of the Peace? Do you feel that he is fair and impartial and always listens to both sides? This is the real issue. I have no prior experience in the Justice of the Peace office on which to stand, however, I hope that you will give me the opportunity to continue my career in Scurry County as your next Justice of the Peace. I am not looking for a chair to sit in for the next four years. I can and will do a good job as your next Justice of the Peace if you will give me the chance. Your vote and support on November 4th will give me the opportunity to improve this office.

Thank you,
Troy Martin

service costs at banks?

LOSING
local control over banking?

SACRIFICING
service to the big banks' benefit?

YOU WILL HEAR A LOT FROM THE SO-CALLED CONVENIENCE BANKERS ABOUT PROPOSITION FOUR BUT YOU PROBABLY WILL NOT HEAR THIS:

The big banks of Texas hope to create a bank monopoly at your expense. Proposition Four has disguised branch banking as "full service banking." Whatever they call it — Branch Banking is a bad idea for Texas, and Texans will end up footing the bill for the big Texas bank holding companies to get bigger.

You especially don't want this to happen now since the Texas Legislature just passed a law permitting the large banks of New York City to purchase some or all of the large Texas bank holding companies. Not only can this legally happen now, but is almost certain to take place in the immediate future.

For all these years, Texans have never wanted or allowed the big banks of New York City to own and control the Texas Banking Industry. We are sure that this position by the people of Texas still has never changed.

DA expects confidence vote

WACO, Texas (AP) — McLennan County District Attorney Vic Feazell, who faces charges of settling criminal cases in exchange for bribes, says he is confident going into Tuesday's election because "I'm like an honest Huey Long."

"You ask anyone if Vic Feazell was indicted because he took bribes and they'll say, 'No, he was indicted because he steps on the wrong toes,'" Feazell said. "It's the average people saying that."

Feazell contends his legal problems stem from his investigation that discredited scores of murder confessions made by Henry Lee Lucas, and the fact that he casts himself with the common folks — farmers, blue-collar workers and minorities.

He says he likes rankling "the bureaucrats," "greedy out-of-town bankers" and "the knotheads at the country club who think they can sit around and run things."

The Rev. R.L. Whitworth, pastor of the Calvary Assembly of God, said 99 percent of his 1,000-member congregation is backing Feazell, also an ordained Baptist minister who visits pulpits regularly.

"A lot of people around here just won't believe a guy who's a preacher would do anything wrong," state Rep. M.A. Taylor told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "People either hate him or love him. There may be more of the latter."

Dave Deaconsen, an attorney in a firm considered locally to be the heart of Feazell's Republican opposition, said even his colleagues are beginning to concede that Feazell will not perish by ballot.

"Obviously, there's been a lot of strange things happening," said Robert Miller, chairman of the political science department at Baylor University. "Feazell is a very charismatic candidate. (He's) theatrical."

Miller, who said he isn't voting for Feazell, said one of the incumbent's biggest advantages is that his opponent, Republican Paul Gartner, is perceived as bland.

"I had him in class, and he's capable all right, but he doesn't have the qualities," Miller said.

A key part of Feazell's campaign has been the shackled, double thumbs-up sign that the prosecutor flashed after he was arrested by federal agents on Sept. 17. "Go Get 'Em Vic" bumper stickers, which feature the sign, can be seen around Waco.

"If the Romans didn't put Christ on a cross, Christianity wouldn't have had a symbol," Feazell said. "Where would Christianity be without the cross?"

A Feazell campaign commercial features a shot of Feazell in handcuffs and another in a courtroom. The announcer says: "Vic has fought for what he knows and you know is right, despite the consequences."

Gartner, who lost to Feazell in 1982, has refused to campaign against Feazell on the grounds of his arrest.

"I'm not going to attack him. I'm just not. It's not my way of doing things," Gartner said.

In a trial set for Feb. 2 in Austin, Feazell faces 12 federal counts of taking bribes. The election results will affect the case, he says.

"If I win big, I think you'll see them backing off," he said. "It might not even go to trial. If I lose, I'm probably going to prison."

Eighteen inmates executed last year

WASINGTON (AP) — Nearly 1,600 inmates were under a death sentence at the end of last year in U.S. prisons, and Texas led the way as a total of 18 convicts were executed in 1985, the federal government says in a new report.

The report released Sunday by the Bureau of Justice Statistics did not include the 16 inmates executed so far this year. Including the 1986 executions, 66 people have received the death penalty since capital punishment was reinstituted nearly a decade ago.

The number of executions in 1985 was three fewer than in the previous year.

Among the death row inmates 17 were women, 903 were white and 672 black. About 11.5 percent of the U.S. population is black. All the inmates were on death row for committing murder, and their median age was 32.

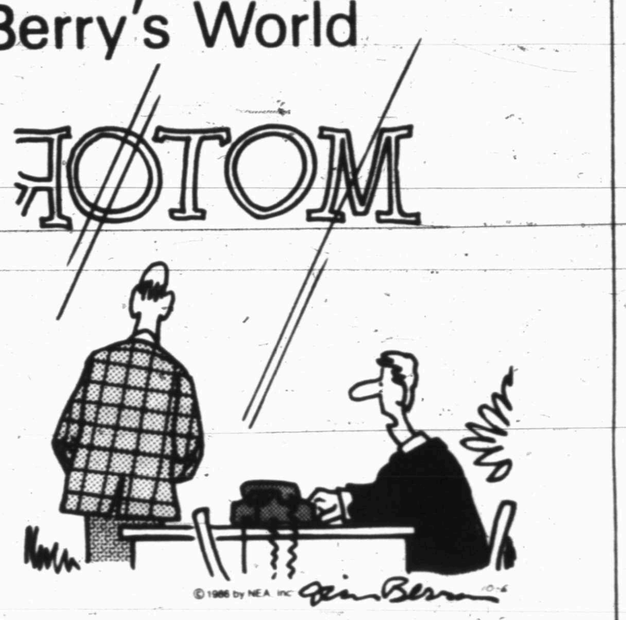

A Supreme Court case is pending alleging racial discrimination in the death penalty, but it is based on the race of victims, not the race of those sentenced. The case challenging Georgia's death penalty alleges that killers of whites are more likely to get the death penalty than killers of blacks.

Of the 1,591 inmates on death row in 32 states, 63 percent were held by states in the South. Florida held the largest number, 226, followed by Texas, with 206. Five other states have legalized capital punishment but had no one on death row last year.

Western states held 19 percent of the death row inmates, Midwestern states 14 percent; and the Northeast nearly 9 percent.

The report said Texas carried out the most executions last year.

City under construction

FORT HOOD, Texas (AP) — A city is going up here almost overnight, but workers are leaving out all the finishing touches. Why bother when U.S. Army soldiers are going to bomb the place anyway?

Guyco Engineering of Lampasas is building the nation's largest mock city on this sprawling military installation where soldiers will learn the finer — and modern — art of combat on the "urban terrain."

The mini-city is inspired by Fort Hoods's long-vanished Nazi Village that was constructed during World War II to train soldiers to fight in the villages of Europe.

But the Fort Hood version will be much larger than its World War II counterpart and will include paved streets, buildings, underground drainage systems and almost everything soldiers would have to deal with in urban combat.

"We will have to fight for or from urban terrain in Europe and to do that you have to train," Capt. Gerald Bell said. This facility will give us an opportunity to do that."

The new training facility will be open by next November and will also include a company training area, a platoon training area and an assault course where soldiers will use live ammunition and explosives, he said.

Texas Air-People Express merger to net payout loss

HOUSTON (AP) — People Express Inc. is faring so badly that it and Texas Air Corp. have had to rework a merger agreement to cut $24 million from what People Express stockholders will get in the deal, Texas Air officials say.

To save the merger proposal in the face of worsening People Express earnings, the companies are also seeking concessions from the holders of People Express preferred stock and convertible debt issue, Texas Air spokesman Bruce Hicks said Sunday.

The new agreement calls for People Express to ask for other airport concessions from the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey, Hicks said.

In return, Texas Air has agreed to increase the amount of pre-merger financing it is pumping into Newark, N.J.-based People Express.

"Their financial condition has worsened in such a way to precipitate changes in the agreement," Hicks said. "But I don't see any other problems, and it is our hope and belief we can complete this merger quickly."

People Express' 25 million stockholders were to split $134.3 million under terms of the original merger agreement, but that amount was reduced to $110.4 million Sunday night.

Those face-value figures were calculated from the $38 per share Texas Air stock brought when Wall Street closed Friday.

Second opinion for back pain

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I had back surgery two years ago. I still have pain, and my job as a nurse's aide requires a lot of lifting. I've had one cortisone injection in my back. How safe is this treatment?

DEAR READER — Without knowing the exact type of back surgery you had, I cannot give you a definitive answer, except to say that continuing pain indicates a continuing problem. If you had a disc removed, you should avoid prolonged or heavy lifting. In my opinion, cortisone shots will not help a ruptured disc and can actually cause more damage, because the drug may weaken tissue.

I suggest that you get a second opinion from a neurosurgeon. Although you may not need additional surgery, you certainly could benefit from another opinion and, perhaps, other tests to see if your back pain could be helped by medicine or special exercise.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 85 and had a heart attack five years ago. My doctor, who died, never told me why he kept me on Peritrate and Anturane; he just said it was for my own good. Why do I need these medicines? I'm dizzy a lot of the time.

DEAR READER — Peritrate is supposed to improve circulation by reducing the stickiness of blood. Anturane is used to treat gout. You may or may not need these medicines. Get yourself a new doctor who will tailor your medications to your needs — and tell you the reasons why you require certain drugs.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report, CHOOSING A PHYSICIAN: MAKE A DECISION FOR GOOD HEALTH. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Frequently, when I am very tired or nervous, red blotches appear on my neck. What causes this, and is there any treatment available?

DEAR READER — Stress-induced red blotches are due to an opening-up of blood vessels in the skin. The reaction is produced by nervous impulses that bombard the skin's capillaries; it is analagous to blushing. There is no cure, and the condition is entirely harmless.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Can you tell me about anaphylaxis? I sure have all the symptoms, even the drop in blood pressure. I have no energy and feel it can't all be blamed on my age (69).

DEAR READER — Anaphylaxis is a severe and sometimes fatal reaction to a foreign substance. It can occur from food, vaccines, chemicals, drugs or insect venom. The reaction appears within seconds or minutes after a person has had contact with the substance.

In its mildest form, anaphylaxis causes redness, itching, swelling, lung spasm and fall in blood pressure. In its severest form, anaphylaxis causes shock and cardiac arrest. The condition usually is treated with injections of epinephrine (adrenaline) that reverse the body's acute allergic response.

Anaphylaxis is never a chronic condition. I'm afraid that you will have to consider other causes for your drop in blood pressure and loss of energy. You might have anemia, for example. Check with your doctor.

Film festival edited down

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — What started out to be a cowboy film festival got clipped down to just one movie after Hispanics and an Indian tribe denounced the event for promoting what they called a racist art form.

The event was the Western Film Festival, or more accurately, what was left of the project: one free showing Sunday of "Silverado," a Western movie released last year.

SMU tries to improve quality

DALLAS (AP) — After 75 years that have seen Southern Methodist University grow like Dallas and take on much of the city's personality, the school is shooting for an image as a good academic institution with a national reputation.

A private institution, SMU has been forced to raise its prices to stay up with inflation. Now tuition, room and board are $11,869, the highest in Texas.

About 50 percent of the students belong to sororities and fraternity — and the rows of sorority and fraternity houses blend with the expensive real estate in the Park Cities, one of Dallas' most exclusive areas.

Sons and daughters of Dallas families have been educated there, and ex-students became mayors, senators and governors.

The school's endowment has reached $282.1 million, the highest in SMU history and among the top 25 in the nation.

A $5 million parking garage was just opened at SMU, a $15 million addition to the school of business and a $11 million student center are under construction.

As a result, the university often is associated with the affluent — and is regarded by outsiders as something of a party school. The university leadership wants to see a school with more of a reputation for academic quality and they say Duke, Northwestern and Vanderbilt are the schools they would most like imitate.

To become more like those schools, SMU has been working to raise the scores of entering freshmen, a subtle way of changing the basic character of the university.

Incoming freshmen must have about 1,100 scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test to be admitted. Last year alone SMU was able to increase the average scores of entering freshmen by 46 points.

Enrollment was down slightly this fall, and some faculty and administrators say this will test the school's determination to stick with the higher admission standards.

"There's a revolution going on SMU," said R. Hal Williams, dean of the school's liberal arts college, "and that revolution includes recruiting bright students.

The party image helps SMU to recruit some students, said Williams, but "in the long run, it needs to change."

Changing the school won't be an easy matter. About 30 percent of SMU's students study business — a pursuit that ties it firmly to Dallas. Last year alone, the business school received $5.3 million in donations.

The business school is named after Edwin L. Cox, a Dallas oilman. Additions are being built with donations from developer Trammell Crow. Crow chairs the board now.

Former Gov. Bill Clements chairs the board of governors, a group who governs the university between trustee meetings.

Some observers suggest SMU won't be able to change dramatically.

"Number 1, we have the name Southern," said Roy Herberger Jr., dean of SMU's business school. "Number 2, we have the name Methodist; and three, we're in Dallas, which is kind of considered glitzy, not as real as the Ivy League."

Marshall Terry, a longtime faculty member and former chairman of the English department, said, "We're very good, but I don't know that this place will ever be great."

Dallas has more police shootings

DALLAS (AP) — Attempts to restrict city officers' use of deadly force are not working here, where citizens are more likely to be killed by police than in any other major U.S. city, according to a newspaper survey.

In 1985, the rate of fatal shootings by police was five times higher than New York and twice as high as Houston when numbers of shootings are compared to number of residents, the Dallas Times Herald reported Sunday.

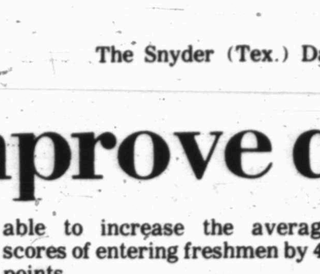

Dallas officers killed nine citizens in all of last year, giving the city a .924 rate per 100,000 population, and nine people have been shot in the first nine months of this year.

Los Angeles ranked second at .743 in residents slain in 1985 among the 10 cities' police departments the newspaper surveyed.

Since 1970, the national rate of fatal police shootings dropped 34 percent, according to the Washington-based Crime Control Institute. But in Dallas, the rate increased during that time by 31 percent.

Violence against police has also been on the increase in this Sun Belt city. This year, one policeman was killed in Dallas and 20 have been threatened with deadly weapons, statistics show.

In 1984, the department made changes in its deadly force policy, including prohibiting the use of deadly force solely to protect property. Police officials said revisions have worked well

Yamani firing adds note of uncertainty

DALLAS (AP) — Texas oilmen say that the dismissal of Ahmed Zaki Yamani as Saudi Arabia's oil minister adds another element of uncertainty to the already troubled state economy.

"Sheik Yamani's departure poses a serious danger to this nation," said George Mitchell, chairman of Mitchell Energy & Development Corp. of Houston.

Mitchell said the departure of Yamani could strengthen the more radical members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries. Such a move could "prove threatening to our military and economic security," Mitchell said.

Yamani was fired Thursday by King Fahd. Named acting oil minister in his place was Planning Minister Hisham Nazer.

The announcement sent shock waves through financial and oil communities around the globe, leaving analysts wondering what his departure would mean to the financial world.

Yamani has orchestrated Saudi oil policy since 1962. He was the dominant figure at OPEC meetings and was considered the architect of the 1973 Arab oil embargo that triggered the first major oil price rise and reshaped the world economy.

"There is no question that it (Yamani's ouster) adds yet another volatile factor," said Ray Hunt, chairman of Hunt Consolidated of Dallas.

Hunt said he expected Nazer, Yamani's replacement, to push for a higher oil price and reduced production. The alternative would be to increase output and attempt to force prices downward.

Hunt is especially interested in the developments in the Middle East.

WTC to host Cisco in twin-bill tonight

It may be cold and inhospitable outside, but Scurry County Coliseum will be hot with action tonight as Western Texas College entertains Cisco in a basketball double header.

Tickets are $3 for both games or $2 for the men's game. Students pay $1 and preschool children are admitted free.

Season tickets may also be purchased at the gate tonight. The cost is $20 for an individual, $30 per couple, and $5 for each additional member of a household.

Concessions will be available.

Tonight's games mark the home opener for WTC's Lady Dusters, who are undefeated on the season. Coach Phil Spradling's Westerners, also unbeaten at 1-0, opened here last Thursday with a 96-73 victory over McMurry College.

Western will go into tonight's game without the services of freshman Darrell Nelson, who broke a bone in his right hand during workouts. Nelson, 6-4 from Richmond, Va., will likely be sidelined for six weeks.

Meanwhile, Coach Spradling wants a better effort from his Westerners than he got last Thursday. He'll have to have it.

"I hope we'll work a little harder. We have to block out and play better defense like we did in the second half against McMurry. Cisco will be a whole lot better team than they were," he said.

Expected starters are Alvin Lee, Kevin Kendrick, Harvey Marshman, Amos Jones and Igor Gojanovic. Lee, Kendrick and Jones are sophomores.

The Lady Dusters will go with an all-sophomore lineup for their home opener. Likely starters are Carie Housden at the point, Dee Ann Marr at the second guard, Wendy Milner at forward and Brenda Welch and Gi Gi Robinson at the post.

The Lady Dusters are 3-0 after wins over San Jacinto, Temple and McLennan in the Highlassie Classic last weekend.

"We're looking forward to this ballgame to find out where we're at and how we're doing. We played pretty well in Waco. I was surprised at how good we played defense," said Coach Kelly Chadwick.

Offensively, the Dusters aren't quite as sharp, despite averaging 80 points in their first three ballgames.

"Our offense sputters. We may go five or six minutes and not score but in the final game at Waco we scored 12 points in two minutes," said the coach. "We've got to get some consistency."

Welch, the 5-11 sophomore post who led the team in scoring last year, is already averaging 29 points a game. Freshman guard Bonnie Detrixhe is averaging 8, but is questionable for tonight's contest.

"One thing that concerns me tonight is I don't know if Bonnie is going to play. She's been contributing pretty well for us but she's got a groin pull and may not be able to play," said Chadwick.

Giants, Morris erase White and Dallas Cowboys, 17-14

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - The New York Giants retained a piece of first place in the NFC East with a little sleight of hand from veteran defensive end George Martin and an offense named Joe Morris.

Morris had his second straight 181-yard rushing performance and scored on runs of 8 and 6 yards Sunday as the Giants defeated Dallas 17-14 in a game in which Cowboys quarterback Danny White suffered a fractured right wrist.

The victory gave New York a 7-2 mark and left the Giants tied for first place in the division with the Washington Redskins, a game ahead of Dallas. Washington defeated Minnesota in overtime Sunday.

The Giants' victory was in doubt until Cowboys placekicker Rafael Septien was short on a 63-yard field goal attempt in the final 10 seconds.

Septien, who also missed from 33 and 42 yards on a windy day, might have been in better position had it not been for Martin, a cagy 12-year veteran.

With 40 seconds to play and the Cowboys at the Giants' 27, Martin beat Dallas tackle Phil Pozderac and sacked quarterback Steve Pelluer for a 14-yard loss.

Two plays later with the crowd of 74,871 yelling, Martin made the play of the game, waving his right arm just before the snap. Pozderac flinched and the procedure call nullified a 30-yard pass completion from Pelluer to Timmy Newsome.

"He couldn't hear the snap count," said Martin. "He was going on my movement and I knew that because his focus was on me. I felt that if I moved he would react to it."

The penalty pushed the ball back to the 46 and made Septien's kick a little too long.

"Somehow it wasn't our day and it wasn't my day," said Septien, who said he kicked a 58-yard field goal in practice. "I tried a little too hard and when you have to overpower it, it's hard to do a perfect job."

The person who did have a perfect day was Morris, who after holding out during training camp is now rounding into the form he showed last year when he gained a club-record 1,336 yards and scored 21 touchdowns.

"Last week one of the people in the press questioned whether I could gain 50 yards against the Redskins," said Morris, who has now rushed for 880 yards this season. "Then they said we weren't going to score a point against the Redskins. You take that personally. I just go out and show people I can play football."

Morris had no problem proving that to Dallas. He set up a 25-yard field goal by Raul Allegre in the first quarter with four rushes for 52 yards.

The five-year pro from Syracuse ran the ball seven times for 54 yards on the Giants' first touchdown drive in the second quarter, going the final eight yards off left guard for the TD.

The Giants' final TD drive covered 62 yards in five plays following a 6-yard punt by Mike Saxon. A 33-yard pass interference penalty gave New York a crucial first down at the Dallas 29, and Morris gained 22 yards off right tackle on the next play. Two plays later, he again went off left guard for the score.

"Their linebacker was flying to the outside and before the play I told Joe to take his time and watch for the cutback," said Giants guard Bill Ard. "Chris (Godfrey) had a good block on (John) Dutton, and Bart (Oates) and I took Randy White and Joe cut back and found the hole."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said, "Nobody can close Morris down. There's too much blocking for him to spring on. He's like a bouncing rubber ball. He hits the middle and he's out of there."

New York gained just 245 yards on offense with 201 coming on the ground.

"I didn't expect us to run the ball as well as we did today," said Giants quarterback Phil Simms,

Tigers end season with win

Snyder's Lady Tigers dominated the net game and played good all-around defense to defeat Monahans in the final varsity volleyball match of the season here Saturday afternoon, 15-12, 15-9.

It was a big victory for the Lady Tigers, who had lost to the Loboettes in Monahans earlier.

"That was our main goal this week, to beat them and go out on a winning note. We felt it was important for our seniors and the kids who would be returning next year," said Coach Vicki Nelms.

Snyder finished the season at 17-14 and was 7-9 in District 2-4A competition.

Adams, Denise Overton and Melody Pickering all had 2 kills apiece in the match while Thompson had 1.

Pecos, won the 2-4A championship with a 16-0 record, 27-2 for the season, will advance now to play 1-4A runnerup Pampa. Lamesa, 13-3 and 24-8 overall, took the 2-4A runnerup spot and will face 1-4A champ Levelland. Those playoff matches will be held either Thursday or Saturday of this week. Exact times and sites of the contests had not been determined as of this morning.

HAPPY ENDING -- Snyder's Lady Tigers defeated Monahans 15-12, 15-7 here Saturday to wind up the 1986 volleyball season on a winning note. Frosh rip Loboettes

Snyder freshman girls concluded their latest volleyball campaign with a 15-9, 15-11 victory over the Monahans Loboettes.

It was the Cats' 16th win in just 20 outings this season.

Teena Braziel served up 10 points, Jennifer Pate 7, Cindy Srna 6 Kathy Armstrong 3 and Annette Ramos and Trina Brown 2 each. Also playing were Amber Adams, Anne Osborn, Jennifer Spence, Melissa Madrid, Teri Lawdermilk, Marci Rodriquez, Angie Brewster, Anissa Reed and Tish Mendez.

"It was an exciting year for us," said Coach Jan Kruse. "We had a good time and we learned a lot. I think the girls really improved."

JV blasts Monahans

Snyder's junior varsity Tigers overruled Monahans 15-1, 17-15 here Saturday to wind up the 1986 volleyball season with a win - their 21st.

"I enjoyed working with these girls. They have a lot of talent so I see good things for them next season," said Coach Patty Grimmett, who earlier in the season recorded her 100th career victory. "I saw a lot of improvement from everybody. They all worked hard and it showed by their record."

The Tigers finish the year at 21-9.

LaFon Williams led the young team to its victory. She served points 1 through 13 in the first game and 1 through 9 in the second for 22 points. Others scoring on serves were Lena Hodges with 3; Holly Fuller, Sandra Morin and Sandra Powell with 2 each; and Jennifer Alarcon with 1. Also playing were Kelly Walker, Rhonda Echols, Christy Green, Brandi Bell and Nellie Rodriquez.

who hit just six of 18 passes for 67 yards. "I thought they would be ready for it and stop it. I think that says a lot about our offensive line and Joe, the way they just pushed it up in there and ran anyway."

The performances by Morris and Martin helped the Giants avenge a season-opening loss to Dallas and overshadowed a good performance by Pelluer, who completed 28 of 38 passes for 339 yards.

The third-year pro hit Mike Renfro on an 11-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter and drove Dallas 90 yards in eight plays for a fourth-quarter touchdown that came on a 23-yard run by Tony Dorsett on a draw play.

Poli, Waitz win NYC Marathon

NEW YORK (AP) -- Gianni Poli of Italy raced to an easy victory Sunday in his first New York City Marathon, covering the 26-mile, 385-yard course in 2 hours, 11 minutes, 6 seconds - exactly 17 minutes ahead of Norway's Grete Waitz, the women's winner for the fifth consecutive year and eighth time in nine years.

"I've run around the world, but this is the best marathon I've ever run," Poli, 25, said after finishing far ahead of runner-up Antoni Niemczak of Poland, clocked in 2:11:21.

Poli's previous travels in the United States had taken him to Chicago, where he finished fourth in the America's Marathon last year in 2:09:57, the Italian record.

Afterward, his countryman, Orlando Pizzolato, who won the New York City Marathon for the second straight year in 1985, told Poli "to run New York, because that's more important."

Following Poli's impressive triumph, Pizzolato said, "I hope Poli has the same feeling I had when I won my first New York City Marathon, because it was the greatest feeling of my life. I was very happy."

Poli had to be excited, after beating a standout field that included Robleh Djama of Djibouti and favored Rob de Castella of Australia, the 2-3 finishers, respectively, at Chicago last year. Djama, who ran 2:08:08 in the America's Marathon, dropped out between the 12th and 13 miles Sunday, while de Castella, seeking his third straight victory this year, tired in the closing stages and finished third in 2:11:43.

"I found it pretty tough out there," said de Castella, winner of the Boston Marathon and the Commomwealth Games marathon.

"I got tired. When I stepped up the pace (midway through the race), I thought I was going to be able to win, but then I started having pain in both legs and barely made it to the finish."

Poli also had problems with his legs - but those came before the race, not during it.

"I had sore legs all week in training," he said. "So, I felt the season had gone."

He stayed with the leaders early in the race, then after jockeying for the No. 1 spot with de Castella for about four miles, surged into command between the 20th and 21st miles.

Halloween weekend has share of 'tricks'

The weekend after Halloween proved to have its share of "tricks" as police investigated four criminal mischief complaints--one involving a local political candidate.

Troy Martin filed a criminal mischief complaint at 12:32 p.m. Saturday.

He reported that a lighted marquee type sign he has been using as a campaign sign in the 4600 Block of College Ave. had been vandalized.

According to police reports, several bottles had apparently been thrown through the plastic front of the sign.

The first of the weekend incidents was reported by Dick Norris, who contacted police at 8:54 a.m. Saturday.

He reported that the office of the Bunkhouse at 2603 Ave. F had apparently been entered overnight Friday.

Several items in the office were said tampered with, but nothing was reported stolen.

Don Cole of 4603 El Paso Ave. reported discovering damage to his residence at 6:49 p.m. Saturday.

Cole told police the glass in his front door had been broken by a rock.

Kay Bellamy of 1918 Coleman Ave. filed the weekend's final vandalism report at 10 a.m. Sunday.

She reported discovering a tire had been punctured on her 1986 Buick.

That damage is thought to have occurred while the vehicle was parked at her residence between 9:30 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday.

Value of the damaged tire was estimated at $100. No value was given for damage in any of the other incidents.

Two misdemeanor theft reports were filed over the weekend to include a report of a stolen pit bulldog.

Doug Marsh of 3116 Ave. T filed this report at 6:22 a.m. Sunday.

He told police that a three-month-old brindle and white female pit bulldog had been stolen from his yard sometime between 5 p.m. Saturday and 6:20 a.m. Sunday.

Value of the missing dog was estimated at $75.

Bryan Walton of Snyder filed the other misdemeanor theft report at 7:51 p.m. Saturday.

He reported as missing from his pickup a tool box and tools valued at $300.

The theft is thought to have occurred while the vehicle was parked at Snyder Lanes in the 1900 Block of 35th St. earlier in the day.

In other weekend action, city officers jailed three suspects for public intoxication and two on traffic warrants.

items listed include:
—Consider approving seeking bids for 137 tons of alum for the water plant.
—Consider approving on first reading an ordinance providing for updated service credit under the Texas Municipal Retirement System.

The council also faces two bid items Monday. Councilmen will consider bids for used city water meters and estimates received to purchase new police vehicles.
Under "old business," the council will also consider on second reading the ordinance to increase the city water rate 5 cents per 1,000 gallons--a change that is expected to raise the average residential water customer's bill some 50 cents monthly.
One public hearing is slated also. It involves the first reading on a zone change request, seeking to rezone two lots located at 1701 18th St. from M-1 (light manufacturing) to R-3 (general residential).

SHS misses marching bid

Cleburne and Crowley were chosen to advance to the 1986 State Marching Contest in Austin at Saturday's Area Contest in Wichita Falls.

SHS Band Director Walter Reneau said Monday morning that "The Pride of the West" Black and Gold Marching Band "did not do badly, but it was just not enough to place in the top two."

According to Reneau, judges at the contest did not rank the four bands which did not advance.

Other schools represented at the contest were Graham, Canyon and Borger.

Truck accident noted Monday

A 44-year-old Edinburg, Tx. truck driver was treated for minor injuries and released from Cogdell Memorial Hospital after his truck jacknifed north of here around 1 a.m. Monday.

According to personnel with Aid Ambulance-Snyder, Noel Gonzales sustained injuries described as cuts and brusies. His tractor-trailer rig loaded with cabbage jacknifed about 4 miles north of Snyder on U.S. Hwy. 84.

There were no other injuries reported from the mishap and damage was confined to the truck-tractor owned by the Washington Produce Co.

American officials still working for hostages release

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — American officials are working through a number of channels to free the remaining Americans held hostage in Lebanon but are keeping their efforts secret to avoid risking the lives of the captives, U.S. officials say.

Sanctions will hardly affect crop exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — New figures by the Agriculture Department show U.S. trade sanctions against South Africa will have little impact on sales of grain and other commodities produced by American farmers.

This year, according to the department's Economic Research Service, sales to South Africa are expected to be about $75 million, or less than three-tenths of 1 percent of the U.S. total exported to all foreign buyers.

President Reagan vetoed legislation on Sept. 26 that would have imposed U.S. trade sanctions on South Africa to protest its apartheid policies. The House voted to override the veto on Sept. 29, and the Senate followed a few days later.

But the move by Congress to override Reagan's veto also produced warnings by South Africa that U.S. farm sales would suffer if the sanctions were imposed. The threats reportedly did not change any votes, however.

At least four senators were contacted by South Africa, including Sens. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, and Edward Zorinski, D-Neb., who voted to override the veto, and Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., who supported the president.

Lawrence A. Witucki of the department's Economic Research Service said South Africa's agricultural imports in 1985 totaled $870 million, of which the United States supplied $108.4 million worth, mostly grains, oilseed products, tallow and seeds.

In return, the United States imported about $98.3 million worth of South African products last year, less than four-tenths of 1 percent of total U.S. agricultural imports in 1985. This year, imports from South Africa are expected to decline to $75 million, matching U.S. agricultural exports to South Africa.

Witucki's research showed that South Africa last year depended more on agricultural buyers in Europe, Asia and Africa than on the United States. Europe also was the largest seller of agricultural products to South Africa.

Moreover, he found that while South Africa's agricultural exports to all foreign buyers were worth more than $1 billion last year, those sales amounted to only 6 percent of the country's total exports in 1985. Minerals made up most of South Africa's export earnings, with gold accounting for 42 percent of the total.

Although relatively small, loss of the South African market rubs a sensitive nerve among administration officials and farm leaders because of a general decline in U.S. agricultural exports.

In the fiscal year that ended on Sept. 30, USDA estimated that the value of shipments dropped to nine-year low of $26.5 billion after peaking at $43.8 billion in 1980-81.

Although USDA officials predict the quantity of shipments will increase in 1986-87, lower prices will keep pressure on their total value.

Inflation to eat up increased funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly all of an increase in funds for the Soil Conservation Service to carry out its technical programs will be eaten up by inflation and a 3 percent pay raise due employees, says Clarence Durban, head of the National Association of Conservation Districts.

Shortly before Congress adjourned last month, lawmakers passed a continuing resolution to keep the federal government operating in the fiscal year that began on Oct. 1.

Durban, in a recent newsletter to members, said Congress approved $598.7 million for SCS in fiscal 1987, up from last year's appropriation of $591.4 million. But nearly all of the $7.3 million will be eroded by inflation and pay increases, he said.

"We asked for an SCS budget of $620 million, which is really only the minimum needed for soil conservation programs," he said.

Halloween prank angers officials

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A high school principal says he doesn't understand why parents and school board members are angry about a prank Halloween announcement that the Soviet Union had declared war on the United States.

The hoax on Friday had some students in tears.

"This kind of prank is disgraceful," Margaret Comer, who serves on the Dominguez High School advisory committee, said Saturday of the Halloween hoax.

Principal Fred Easter said the prank was part of traditional Homecoming Week fun.

"I accept responsibility for the announcement because I did approve it," Easter said. "It was just a statement. I don't see why this is newsworthy."

Compton Unified School Board members said they planned to investigate the incident in this seaside Los Angeles suburb.

"If what I hear is true, I'm very upset," board member Bernice Woods said. "This is no time for pranks. These are serious times, if you read the news."

The bogus announcement was prepared by a student who had seen a television program about Orson Welles' "War of the Worlds" broadcast on Halloween 1938, which panicked many Americans into believing Martians were landing in New Jersey, Easter said.

Shortly after lunch Friday, an adult woman said over the school's public address system that the Soviets had shot down two U.S. warplanes over the Mediterranean Sea and had declared war, said Laneisheia Howard, a 16-year-old junior at Dominguez High.

In a calm, serious voice, the woman said President Reagan had ordered missiles launched in retaliation.

McDonald's has Welding Machines and Supplies

McDonald Welding Supply has gained a reputation for service, and for good reason. The staff at McDonald Welding Supply comes early and stays late. This is especially important to the area's busy oil fields, and this is why so many companies have depended on McDonald Welding Supply for their supply needs.

The firm serves an area bounded by Sweetwater to Loraine to Colorado City and Big Spring and back to Snyder. The Company has three 18 foot bobtail trucks for delivery to farms, businesses and well locations.

In stock at McDonald Welding Supply is the Miller and Lincolin Welding equipment line, which includes small engine drives and electric machine for farm and home use. They also have a large stock of smaller welders. They vary in size and can fit in the rear of a foreign truck as well as a two-ton truck. In addition, they carry Victor and Uniweld welding and cutting equipment and Walton vises.

If you need steel for oilfield fabrication, you can find exactly what you need at McDonald Welding Supply. The firm has a complete line of Milwaukee heavy duty electric drills and grinders. They have Williams hammer wrenches and heavy tools.

Safety equipment of all types is stocked including goggles, first aid kits and refills, hard hats, liners and fire extinguishers. This popular business also stocks chains, cable, tubing and chain hoists. They have recently added a complete line of Grade "8" Hard Bolts and Nuts in sizes from 5/16 to 1 ¼. Blocks as well as all types of pulleys may be added to the list.

The available list of supplies is almost endless, just ask for it. Stop by and see Gayle or Jack McDonald and the staff at McDonald Welding Supply, 1110 College Ave.
