Burns From Lime May Keep Mavs' Center Inactive

Roy Taylor, letterman center for the Eastland Mavericks, may not play against San Angelo there Friday night.

This possibility developed Tuesday from lime burns suffered in the game at Big Spring last week. Taylor was one of six of 13 who played for Eastland that contacted the lime on the field lines. His action was described as acid-like in "eating" through suits and to the skin.

The lime injury was concentrated on Taylor's back. Jim Gilbreath was listed as the player who received the second most serious lime burns. His burn was under an arm.

Others who were burned are Charlie Van Geem, Jack Trantham "Boob" Daniels and Bill Jones.

Conference Will Discuss Highway Building In Texas

TULSA, Okla. — Experience in Texas and other southwestern states in building their systems of low-cost bituminous highway systems will be discussed by C. M. Gillette, materials engineer, Bureau of Public Roads, Fort Worth, in the Fifth National Road Oil and Asphalt Congress here October 8 and 9, it was announced today by the program committee.

The Congress will bring together state and county engineers, engineers from the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, chemists and engineers from the petroleum industry and scientists from southwestern universities in a two-day program devoted to papers and discussions of the modern practices in low-cost road building. Engineers from seven southwestern states and from Montana will participate in the program.

The 1936 Congress, fifth in a series, is sponsored by the petroleum industry through the Western Petroleum Refiners Association with the cooperation of state highway departments, universities and contractors.

"The bituminous type highway, built of scientific mixtures of asphaltic oil or asphalt, has come to be recognized as the means of extending our state and national highway systems," states Emby Kaye, chairman of the Congress. "We have learned it is uneconomical and unnecessary to spend $25,000 to $50,000 a mile for a highway when, through more scientific and economical use of the bituminous materials, excellent highways can be built for $2,500 to $6,000 a mile."

The Congress is held annually to provide a meeting place for highway builders to exchange experiences and benefit from developments in other territories. About 400 are expected to attend.

Eastland and Ranger Wells Inspire Developments

Drilling of two wells as offsets to a producer near Eastland and deepening of another, thought partly resulting from showing of the Chastain producer near Ranger, were three of the bright features in Eastland county oil developments last week.

Meanwhile, wells watched with interest were being drilled in practically the four corners of the county.

Neil A. Moore and others of Eastland were reported to have spudded a well which is a south offset to a producer brought in three miles east of Eastland recently. The recent producer was the Dorothy Oil Company No. 1 Holcomb Heirs, section 1, block 4, H. & T. C. survey. It was completed for 36 barrels of oil and 1,640,000 cubic feet of gas.

Moore and his associates' well is on the Holcomb land 1,130 feet from the south line and 1,238 feet from the east line of the west half of section 1, H. & T. C. survey, block four. Moore's well, the No. 6 Holcomb Heirs, may be drilled to 1,500 feet. One hundred twenty acres have been leased by Moore and his associates.

States Oil Corporation stake the north offset to the Dorothy well 150 feet north and 330 feet west of the southeast corner of section 1, block 4, H. & T. C. survey. It will be No. 1 Holcomb heirs.

Outcome of the Chastain No. 1 H. Brashear in the William Van Norman survey, 330 feet north and 700 feet west of the farm lines west of Ranger is believed responsible for deepening of a well by the Panhandle Refining Company one and one-half miles northwest of Chastain's.

Panhandle's No. 1 E. G. Webb, section three, 150 feet from the north line and 300 feet west from the southeast quarter in the William Van Norman survey. The well is being deepened 125 feet from 3,320 feet, depth at which it is reported production of 100 barrels of oil and some gas was obtained at the original completion in January, 1920.

Reports from other wells in the county:

The county's Ordovician test, Atkins and Flowers No. 1 White, south of Carbon, was reported drilling ahead at 3,150 feet. The workers recently had crooked hole trouble. It is located 1,400 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east lines of the D. & W. survey, section 1. Operators expect to drill to 400 feet unless gas or oil is found in paying quantities at a lesser depth.

Eight miles southwest of Carbon, Anderson and Drewery's No. 2 L. J. Griggs, 700 feet from the north line and 500 feet from the east line of the A. Miller survey, was reported drilling at 1,250 feet.

The No. 1 O. E. Scott, an operation by Roy K. Ashburn and R. S. Luke, was drilling past 1,058 feet. Located six miles southeast of Ranger, the well is 1,280 feet from the south line and 474 feet from the east line of the A. T. Popejoy survey. It is near Ranger.

East of Eastland, Monarch Refining Company's No. 2 Fee Land was reported as having been taken to 1,485 feet. The well is located 650 feet from the south line and 1,420 feet from the east line northeast quarter, section 44, H. & T. C. survey, block 44. A depth of 1,600 feet is contemplated.

News From 4-H Clubs of County

The largest 4-H Jersey show ever exhibited at the Eastland County Fair, was exhibited last week during the County Fair, according to Hugh F. Barnhart, assistant county agent. Nine of the ten registered Jersey heifers recently purchased were on exhibit. John Underwood, a veteran Jersey breeder, of Denton County, judged the show and made the following placings in the 4-H club Jersey division.

First: Jack Walker, Alameda boys' 4-H club.
Second: James Dean, Alameda boys' 4-H club.

Third: Buster Wheat, Morton Valley boys' 4-H club.

C. P. Pierce, a Denton County Jersey breeder, accompanied Mr. Underwood to Eastland to see the Jersey show and the four Jersey heifers which he sold to the Eastland County 4-H club boys in July. Mr. Pierce praised the 4-H club boys very highly for the condition and the manner in which they had fitted their calves for the show. Mr. Pierce was so well pleased with one of the heifers he had sold to one of the boys in July that he made the club boy an offer to buy the heifer back, paying him a nice profit on his calf. However, the offer was declined by the new owner.

The boys exhibiting at the show were: Glenn Justice, Flatwood; Cecil Caudle, Flatwood; Jack Walker, Alameda; James Dean, Alameda; Edward Gideon, Ranger; Joe Don Meroney, Ranger; Buster Wheat, Morton Valley; Elbert Bennett, Kokomo; and L. R. Higginbottom, Kokomo.

Several of these heifers will be on exhibit at the Cisco Livestock Show, October 16 and 17, and in November they will be taken to the Texas Centennial Show in Dallas to compete against the other 4-H club boys of the state.

A small number of the 4-H club boys entered the 4-H club pig show at the Eastland County Fair this year. However, those pigs exhibited were in excellent condition for the show. County Agents Knox Parr and Leon C. Ransom of Taylor County, who were the livestock judges of the show, made the following decisions:

Figs. 175 pounds and under — first, James DuPuy, Kokomo boys' 4-H club; second, Marlin Sneed, Ranger boys' 4-H club.

Figs. 176 pounds and over — first, Neal Eaves, Kokomo boys' 4-H club; second, Billie Bohannon, Carbon boys' 4-H club.

Applications from Secondary Schools Received by NYA

AUSTIN—The state headquarters of the National Youth Administration has begun examination of applicants from secondary schools in Texas for student aid allotments during this school year, Lyndon B. Johnson, state director, has announced.

Last year exactly 1500 Texas secondary schools received allotments which enabled the principals to assign certain needy students to socially desirable work. The students received a maximum monthly wage of $6.

"This money provided lunches for many students who otherwise might have gone hungry," Mr. Johnson said. "Other students were able to buy school supplies they needed or to have clothing they might not have had. The students were enabled to continue their school work through their own efforts."

Both public and private schools are eligible to receive funds for employing students, but private schools approved are limited to those operating on a non-profit basis and paying no taxes.

Funds for this youth program are allotted through county superintendents' offices, J. C. Kellam, assistant state director, said. Mr. Kellam is in charge of the educational program of the National Youth Administration in Texas.

"Each county superintendent is told what allotment of jobs and money his county may expect, calculated on a basis of youth population and need," he explained. "The superintendent is asked to appoint a placement committee which recommends quotas of jobs for the schools within the county, again on a basis of youth population and need. The committee recommendations are submitted to the state NYA headquarters, and when approved, become the schedule for the work within the county."

A student seeking employment must apply to the principal of his school, Mr. Kellam said. School officials are responsible for selecting eligible applicants and for placing them on socially desirable work.

A school which wishes to participate in the NYA school program should apply to the county superintendent.

The Habit of Observation

(This is the first of a series of articles written by Mrs. Joe Stephen on Pre-school Years.)

Only recently have we learned to appreciate the needs of the child who has "slipped down out of his mother's lap." Volumes have been written about baby care; the needs of the school children have been studied intensively, but in between these two periods is the age when the child's interest in the formation of basic habits should be captured.

Awakening the natural curiosity of young minds is the first step toward developing the habit of observation. Curiosity itself can be vivid and wholesome only in proportion as the mind is contented and happy.

For the sake of acquiring helpful habits of observation and a practical, healthy use of leisure, nature study and nature experiences offer endless adventures to the child. We no longer seek to educate the child; we only attempt to give him opportunity to educate himself. Knowledge does not reside outside the child, but in the contact of the child with the world through the medium of curiosity. Thus he acquires a fund of information and in doing so, sets up the habit of thought.

Childish wonderment and curiosity merge into reasoning and understanding. To inspire enthusiasm in nature contacts is to inculcate the habit of observing.

80,000 Miles at Low Cost

Rietling Automobile Company
2333 S. Jefferson Ave.
St. Louis, Missouri

Dear Sirs:

I am so well pleased with the 1936 Ford Coupe I purchased from you that I am taking the time to tell you of some of the results I have obtained from Ford cars.

In 1934 I purchased a Ford Coupe from your Company. I drove that car 36,000 miles in about fifteen months. I was very much satisfied with its economy and performance, and wish to say that I did not have any motor work done in that time.

I traded the 1934 Ford Coupe for a 1935 Ford Coupe. I found there were added improvements on the 1935 and it was a much better car than the 1934. I drove the 1935 coupe better than 44,000 miles with no repairs, except small incidentals. I was so well satisfied with the 1934 and 1935 Ford Coupes that I decided to buy a 1936. So far the '36 is far superior in every detail to either of the other two cars that I purchased from you, and my gasoline mileage averages 19.2 miles to the gallon.

I could not realize that there were such vast improvements in the various Ford cars, but I suppose manufacture will continue to improve, and there will be something better for 1937. I have driven various makes of automobiles and have never gotten the economy, satisfaction and reliability out of any of them that I have out of the Ford cars.

Yours very truly,

N. B. G. dan

WE TRY to advertise the Ford V-8 fairly and honestly, without disparaging any other manufacturer's product. People seem to appreciate that.

But all our advertising would be wasted if the car itself didn't deliver the performance, comfort, safety and economy we claim for it. A lot of letters like the one above indicate that it does.

Texas Democrats Are Digging Into Pockets To Help Finance Campaign

Up in Fannin county, Deets Dorrough, H. A. Cunningham and S. F. Leslie are collecting a quota of $1,666, and while this is being written already have obtained more than $300.

Down at Beaumont, $4,000 toward Jefferson county's quota has been subscribed, nearly one-half of the entire quota.

Over in Gregg county rallies have been planned, with Sidney Latham, militant member of the legislature, as one of the speakers, with Miss Cora Mackey organizing the women and with Cyril A. Parker, county chairman, working strenuously. Parker, by the way, issued an unusual statement. "Every person who has a job, every business man, every professional man should be willing to contribute," he said. "Gregg county is Democratic and will assert itself accordingly at the polls November 3. In the meantime it is very important that we maintain tradition by raising our quota in rapid time. Every man, woman and child in Gregg county should contribute who is interested in the Democratic party, whether it be 50 cents or $50."

The enthusiasm manifest in Gregg county is being equalled all over the state, according to Director Miller, and he is confident that Texas will raise its quota of $250,000, badly needed where the fight is hottest, in the doubtful states.

Down at Port Arthur retail clerks have organized a Roosevelt club.

Democrats in Washington are doing their duty to the Texas campaign fund and Ernest H. Donohoo chairman of the Texas Democratic club of Washington, is confident that the $25,000 quota assigned to them will be filled.

Texas Democracy has been called upon to enlist under the colors and help Roosevelt with contributions, moral support and votes because the party must depend upon many contributors of small amounts, not having the resources of the Republicans of the East and North, who have subscribed several millions of dollars to put over London.

Miller and state headquarters are especially grateful to witness how the contributions have been coming in, for they are turned in with real spirit and everyone was glad to do his or her bit.

Then, there is A. O. McCracken, head of the Young Democrats in Texas, assisting Miller in the drive, McCracken going into many sections to cooperate with his organization in behalf of the national ticket. McCracken is a newly-elected member of the legislature, is a hard worker and has the confidence of his co-workers and colleagues.

Well, the Roosevelt Administration gave to Texas $1,000,000, 000 to put the state on its feet, so why not help him a little bit?

Hopes to Cross Atlantic in Barrel

In a big oak barrel, "powered" only by a square sail on a 10-foot mast, Ernest Biegajski, upper left, proposes to sail the Atlantic ocean to Southampton, Eng. The larger photo shows Biegajski atop his strange craft in Buffalo, N. Y., where he planned to start a test cruise on Lake Erie to Cleveland prior to the ocean trip. Bundles of cork on the sides and stern of the barrel keep it on even keel. Steering gear is on the inside.

this month after 30 years in the customs service, according to announcement received here from Harry P. Hornby of San Antonio, collector of customs for the South Texas District.

Inspector Yzanaga served his entire three decades of government duty on the Texas-Mexican border. He was born in Brownsville and joined the federal service on October 16, 1889, at a salary of $3 a day or $93 a month. He was required to leave this station at various times on scouting trips but was not paid for the time he was absent.

Yzanaga recalled that when he first came to Roma in 1918, it had no customs house, no bridge, "no anything." He performed his official duties under a big mesquite tree after an old wooden ferry brought incoming visitors to this country across the muddy Rio Grande from San Pedro, Mexico.

Twelve of every 25 cents spent on cigarettes goes for taxes, and the rest goes up in smoke.

Fossil Reveals a High Type of Ape

By United Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—A discovery described as of great importance for the study of prehistoric man has been made by Dr. Robert Broom, of the Transvaal Museum, and his colleagues, in the Sterkfontein caves near Krugersdorp.

They have found the natural cast in limestone of the brains of an advanced type of ape and a number of fossilized bones of the skull to which the brain belonged, including parts of the jaws and a number of teeth.

It appears fairly well established that the skull was of a creature of the same type as the Taungs ape discovered in 1924. The discovery is regarded as of particular importance because the Taungs skull was that of a 6-year-old ape, whereas the Sterkfontein skull is that of an adult. With both skulls for comparison more reliable inferences will be possible about the relation of these African superapes to existing anthropoids on the one hand and to fossil and living types of man on the other.

Dr. Broom has held to the view that in these South African types of advance toward human standards will be found. Hence his great interest in the Sterkfontein discovery and his faith that important evidence of the course of evolution towards humanity will be found in South Africa.

Hawaii Lowers Leprosy Cases

By United Press

HONOLULU—Evidence that general and maternal mortality rates have sunk to record lows, that the dread disease of leprosy is decreasing and that for the first time in history tuberculosis cures outnumber deaths contributes to Hawaii's record as one of the most healthful places in America.

Dr. Frederick E. Trotter, president of the territorial board of health, in his report to the governor estimated the general mortality rate as 8.58 per 1,000 population and the maternal mortality rate as 3.92 per 1,000, the lowest ever registered in Hawaii.

However, a marked increase was noted in the infant death rate with 628 deaths recorded this year as compared with 597 in 1935. Chinese, Filipino and Japanese led the list of infant deaths.

Dr. Trotter said organic diseases of the heart and nephritis headed the list of ten principal causes of death, pointing out that tuberculosis had dropped from second to third place.

Dr. L. F. Badger, head of the U. S. leprosy investigation station at Kalaupapa, reviewing medical science's 75 year crusade against the disease in the territory, said it was on the wane.

Badger said many lepers now can be cured but when they are released from the station they are systematically checked every two weeks by health officials.

Badger's report revealed a decrease of 98 in the total number of active patients at Kalaupapa and at Kalaupapa settlement on the island of Molokai, over a five year period. Patients now total 525, of which 427 are at Kalaupapa, 98 at Kalaupapa.

Dr. C. Alvin Dougan, tuberculosis bureau doctor, said during the past year there were five cures for every four deaths and only one death for every 10 cases of tuberculosis registered.

School Executive Explains Need of Increased Revenue

The necessity of increasing income for Eastland schools to insure an affiliated and full-time school was pointed out in a talk by K. B. Tanner, president of the school board, at the Rotary Club Monday.

Tanner stated assurance of continuation of Eastland's schools on a high level in the future would be insured by increasing the tax rate. This is possible, he said, by vote of the state legislators or residents of the Eastland Independent School District.

The school board head pointed out seven teachers have been dropped from the rolls to effect a more economical operation of the system this year, but without a sacrifice of efficiency. A further curtailment in the staff and subjects looms unless revenue is increased, he predicted.

Drop of valuations, payments on interest and delinquent taxes were named as considerations involved in the school financial troubles.

Grady Pipkin and Julius Krause were program committeemen.

L. C. Heltzel and E. P. Crawford of Cisco were visitors.

Young Churchmen Rally Is Scheduled

The Church of God young people of Eastland will sponsor a "young people's rally" at the church Friday night at 7:30.

Cisco and Gorman young people of the church have been asked to furnish part of the program. The young members of each church in Eastland have also been requested to furnish numbers for the program.

Features of the program will include a short concert by the Eastland high school band.

Rev. Robert E. Bowden, pastor of the church, has extended an invitation to the public to attend.

Young County to Stage Annual Fair

GRAHAM, Tex. — Featuring the entertainment program of the Young County Fair's fourteenth annual program, October 13 to 17, will be "The Frontier Circus," a new-type western outdoor presentation, G. C. Cozart, association president announces.

Another new and outstanding division of the exposition will be the 4-H and FFA livestock and agricultural exhibits and contests. Over 50 well bred, scientifically-fed Hereford calves will be exhibited by members of the boys' agricultural clubs of Young County. In addition, approximately 100 fed lambs and about the same number of pigs will be shown by the farm boys.

Frank Rush, Jr., owner of Catterville Park, well known and successful producer of rodeos and other Western attractions, will produce and direct "The Frontier Circus" to be given in front of the fair park grandstand at matinee and evening performances, the last three days—October 15, 16 and 17—of the fair.

The club boys division and the general livestock department which will be larger than at any time in the past, will be housed in four new livestock exhibit barns, now being erected on the fair park. These new buildings will give the exposition here undisputed claim to being the largest county fair in the southwest.

"The Frontier Circus" will not be a rodeo, but will offer twelve acts of high quality Western vaudeville. Included among the performers will be Raymond Ramsey of Tulsa, Okla., and his famous trained horse, "White Cloud," presenting a pantomime, "Pals of the Prairie." A series of sensational Roman hurdle jumps will be given at each show by the Ramseys' team of horses, "Flying Clouds." Charlie Schultz, Ponca City, Okla., headliner with the old Miller Bros. 101 Ranch Show, will work his cowboy clown act with his trained donkeys and pet coon. A "bucking automobile" act, trick and fancy roping and riding, and square dance on horse-back, and other events will be included in each program.

The fair will be officially opened at 10:00 o'clock on the morning of October 13, with a mammoth parade, in which a number of bands and other uniformed groups will take part.

Officials of the Young County Fair have arranged a program that will appeal to people in all Central West Texas, and to Centennial visitors from out of the state, as well, Pres. Cozart declares.

Prayer Interrupts Justice Peace Court

FORT WORTH, Tex.—A prayer for Heavenly mercy disrupted Justice Hal P. Hughes' court here.

Minton Richard Scott, negro youth, was before the court charged with criminal assault. Asked whether he had any statement, Scott dropped to his knees on the courtroom floor and prayed: "Oh, Lord, have mercy on my poor soul!"

An assistant district attorney sought to bring the darky to his feet. He failed, as did "His Honor"—Justice Hughes himself. Husky Deputy Sheriff Lee Porter restored the prisoner to his seat.

With far-reaching resources of crude stocks to draw on, with the most modern refinery equipment at their disposal, they are able to furnish you with motor fuels and motor oils which are practically perfect for today's automobiles.

We promise you that you will always find Humble motor fuels and Humble motor oils second to none. We ask you to try them, to test them the sure way, in your car. We know you'll like them because we know—continuous improvement keeps Humble ahead.

At the Centennial Exposition, Dallas-Humble's Hall of Texas History

You are cordially invited to visit the Humble Exhibit at the Central Centennial Exposition in Dallas. Striking dioramas recreate dramatic moments and vivid episodes from Texas History. See the battle of the Alamo, the capture of Santa Anna, the prisoners of the Mier Expedition drawing the black beans, the battle of Sabine Pass, Colonel Goodnight treating with Comanche Quannah Parker. Then see and listen to the story told by the rocks of Texas, and how Texas oil is drawn from many thousands of feet under the ground. On your way to and from Dallas—stop for service where you see the Humble sign.

E. S. Kimble, secretary of the convention which drafted the Texas Declaration of Independence and possibly the home of Dr. E. W. Kimble, son of H. S., at Gorman, Eastland County. 3. Dr. Kimble and his wife, children, John S. Kimble of Gorman and Mrs. Bert McGlamery of Eastland.

From The Dallas News

BY F. M. DELANEY
Editor of History, North Dallas High School

Many know that Thomas Jefferson wrote the United States Declaration of Independence and John Hancock was secretary of the convention at Philadelphia, 1776. Many know that H. S. Kimble was secretary of the convention which drafted the Texas Declaration of Independence at Washington-on-the-Brazos, on 2, 1836. Some doubt still exists as to who wrote Texas' most important document. Credit for this is still given to George C. Jones, but exact primary source does not justify it. Recent information comes to the surface on important Texas historic documents from the letters of Dr. E. Kimble of Gorman, Eastland County, only living child of H. S. Kimble, and for forty-six years a prominent citizen of that part of State.

To the life of his father, he said: "My father was born in a Carolina about 1800. Prior to coming to Texas in 1835, he lived near Nashville, Tenn. He moved to Tennessee sometime in 1820, and then to Nashville, Tenn. There he practiced law and was Circuit Judge for a number of years. The battle of Donelson was fought on the river of his court appointments. He never returned to Tennessee. Afterward, sometime in 1840, martial law being declared by the Federals, my father's court was abolished, and he, for his part in organizing forces for the South, was arrested but allowed to move into Kentucky, where he lived until his death in 1865. My father had two sons in the Confederate Army. R. H. Kimble was captured with John Morgan and spent almost two years as a prisoner at Camp Douglas. Capt. Jun. Kimble, after participating in every major battle with the army, including Pickett's charge, surrendered at Appomattox. He died in 1911, probably one of the best known and highly respected citizens that Eastland County ever had."

Original Copy Taken Home

Dr. Kimble said he often heard his father say he wrote the original document, but did not claim credit for the composition of it. Some day historians are inclined to think it is in "Childress' handwriting and say that by comparing his handwriting they can establish the authorship of it. This only problematical for two reasons: (1) We are not sure that the original document. (2) It could be compared with Kimble's handwriting if it is the original. The Galveston News dated June 1900, said the original copy carried by Kimble to his home in Kentucky. Kimble, being secretary, was not a delegate to the convention. Hence, according to the Galveston News, the original declaration was lost to the Texans and never recovered. Quoting further from The Galveston News of April 5, 1905, we find that the original declaration was discovered in the United States Archives at Washington. The late Senator Charles M. Culberson had it removed to Texas through the aid and cooperation of Elihu Root, secretary of State. The original was labeled: "Left at the Archives, Wharton, May 28, 1836," and was marked "original."

Defends His Father

Now Dr. J. K. Greer, an author on this document, said: "If the account is true, then the question arises, who gave the original to Wharton? How did he secure it? Certainly, mention of such, if done by the Texas Government, is lacking in the correspondence records. The commission of which he was a member heard from their government only once. Did Childress give it to him? Hardly so, because Carson does not so describe this instrument as a part of Childress' credentials (Carson was another signer). Evidently the engrossed 'original' is meant. The matter has not been clarified. Both accounts are probably right, as far as they go. The Department of State, Austin, does not have the recovered 'original' as The Galveston News speaks of. This declaration is what might be termed the 'engrossed and signed copy.'

Now the original carried in the Galveston News of June 24, 1900, may have been in Childress' handwriting. Gammel's "Laws of Texas and Coahuila," pages 837, 883, 903, concurs in this opinion. Dr. E. W. Kimble in a most able and current defense of his father, said "some historians are inclined to criticize my father for not preserving for posterity, the 'original' copy of the Declaration. Although he did take a copy to Tennessee and have it published in the Nashville papers, the 'original' should have been in the possession of President Burnet and other officials who took charge of affairs on the spot and made their way Southeast and finally reached Galveston Island. There seems to be no more evidence that my father misplaced the 'original' copy of the Declaration than that the same was lost by the officials, who should have had it at least, and that the one that H. S. Kimble took back to Tennessee in 1836 and had published in the Nashville papers was a copy that he felt like he was entitled to, being the secretary and doing the work as he did."

The Kimble Family

The Centennial never entertained a more historic and prominent family than that of Dr. E. W. Kimble who came to Dallas Saturday for the Decendant's Day of the Texas Declaration of Independence. Dr. Kimble, the last of the line and one of the last living children of a member of the declaration convention, was born at Clarksville, Tenn., in 1860, when his father was 60. His life and the life of his father cover a period of 136 years. His mother died forty-seven years ago.

Dr. Kimble's boyhood was spent in Kentucky. He moved to Eastland County in 1881. In 1890 he married Miss Mary Shelton of Eastland and began the practice of medicine the same year. He moved to Gorman in 1894, where he practiced medicine until he retired about 1920 to look after other interests. His life and general experience stand as a human monument today to those descendants of the noble signers at Old Washington. Dr. Kimble has two children, John S. Kimble of Gorman and Mrs. Bert McGlamery of Eastland, both highly respected citizens of their communities.

Dr. Kimble is one of the few children of the signers who is living. He is robust, hardy and successful at the age of 76. He has always been one of the leading citizens of his section of the State. He said the reason his father was at the convention is because he was influenced by the old Nashville crowd who came to Texas at that time.

200 Sign Up For U. of Texas Band

AUSTIN—Nearly two hundred men have signed up as players in the Longhorn band at the University of Texas, under the direction of Col. George E. Hurt. The first out-of-town trip of the band will be made October 10 when the University football team plays Oklahoma University at Dallas. On that same trip the band will perform at the meeting in Dallas of the Lions International.

Colonel Hurt has announced that little Gladys Marian Pharr of Austin, 8-year-old daughter of Burnett Pharr, for many years director of the band, will continue to act as the official mascot of the organization. DOLLARS WASTED ON UPKEEP CAN'T BUY NEW ROADS

Inferior roads seem cheap and easy to build. They stretch a paving fund so that it covers a lot of territory. But after a year or two, the trouble begins! Maintenance costs go up and up. Soon all your paving money is spent on upkeep... and no more new roads are built.

Roads. Concrete lasts! It requires almost no upkeep. Each year, the paving fund builds more miles of concrete until the whole job is done—for keeps. Concrete's smooth, non-skid surface is safe and satisfactory to drive on. It speeds up traffic... reduces accidents... saves gas, tires and repairs.

That's why it's wise—and economical—to build concrete

Get concrete. Insist on it—for safety, comfort and economy.

Trench Silo to Be Opened Oct. 9th

A 10 ton trench silo on the Cecil Shults farm, 3 miles north of Rising Star, will be opened Friday, October 9th at 4:30 P. M. Every one interested has been invited to come inspect the silage and discuss this method of saving feed. County Agents Elmo Cook and Hugh Barnhart and Vocational Agriculture Teacher Curtis Wilson will be present to discuss all phases of trench silos and answer questions.

Agricultural leaders of the County have emphasized repeatedly that the trench silo is now recognized as the most practical and economical way to store feed on the farm. Feed stored in this way has twice the value of dry stacked feed as silage has the same feed value as the green feed and first put into the silo which curing feed causes it to lose of its value.

A trench silo is safe from fire, insects, rats and theft. It will keep feed available when needed.

The County Agents are every Eastland County farm build at least a small trench silo and store some of the feed this winter that will otherwise to waste. Milo and corn stalks not make as high grade silage the same feed with the ears left on, but they are worth many dollars to feed this winter. Frost damage can be safely used for silage allowed to stand for four days after frost.

Particulars on trench silos be obtained from the Agents or Vocational Agriculture Teachers.
