Spence to Urge Early Trial In Young County Court

Tom Shook's first trial for robbery with firearms will be held in the 30th district court at Graham, in Young county, during the coming December term, according to arrangements completed Monday afternoon after Judge Vincent Stine had sustained a defense motion for taking the case out of Wichita county. The trial probably will be set for the week of Dec. 16, court officials said. The definite date will be announced upon the return of Judge Allan D. Montgomery, presiding judge.

Members of Venire Quizzed

T. A. Hicks, attorney for the former Electra police chief, won the initial victory after 23 members of the special venire summoned for the trial had been closely questioned Monday about feelings dominant over the county. Of the number, 10 men told the court they believed prejudices already in existence would prevent an impartial trial. The remaining 13 witnesses expressed the conviction that a fair jury could be obtained within the county. In announcing his decision, vigorously contested by Sam Spence, district attorney, Judge Stine said it was evidence of "prejudgment rather than of prejudice" that led him to hold with the defense.

The venue change was sought on the grounds of alleged political feelings, centering in Electra, and because of the newspaper publicity which followed the filing of

Old Train Carries Hoover to Edison Jubilee

This train of the style of 1879 carried President Hoover and Thomas A. Edison from Detroit to attend the Edison light celebration yesterday. Also shown above is the restored Smith's Creek station. In 1863 Mr. Edison was ejected from a similar train onto the station platform by an enraged conductor when one of his experiments set a baggage car afire.

Chest Leaders Optimistic of Early Success as 45 Teams Take Field

Committee Headed by D. L. Fritz First to Complete Quota and Report; Workers Hold Rally

With only one team out of 45 turning in a complete report, the community chest drive had already passed the $5,000 mark Monday afternoon, only a few hours after the campaign started.

District No. 9 turned in an "over the top" report before the actual beginning of the campaign, securing the quota assigned it ahead of all other districts. D. L. Fritz is chairman of No. 9.

A. E. Kelly, campaign director, was optimistic over the beginning of the campaign.

"We didn't get really started until about 2 o'clock this afternoon, and this is a good report for that length of time," he said.

The workers began their campaign after an enthusiastic rally at a Wichita club luncheon Monday noon. All solicitors, members of organization boards, and executive secretaries were present for the short program that followed the luncheon. An outline of the campaign by Walter D. Cline, final instructions by A. E. Kelly and an inspirational talk by C. C. McDonald featured the program. Harry A. Gray Jr. presided.

The campaigners were met at the door of the Hamilton building as they came down from lunch by the Playground band, who serenaded them as they left.

HIJACKER ROBS GROCER HERE

'Cracker Customer' Flashes Gun on Merchant

"Is that the kind?" the grocer asked the "customer" who entered his store asking for a box of crackers. Evidently they were the right kind, for the "customer" stuck a pistol in the ribs of the grocer and took $35 in cash and bills from the cash register.

C. A. Fuhs, proprietor of the Sunshine Grocery and Market, 1610 Elizabeth street, played the part of the grocer in this little drama and an unmasked hijacker, rather shabbily dressed, played that of the "customer." Mr. Fuhs was in his store alone about 8:45 o'clock Monday night when the man entered and asked for the crackers. As he turned around and reached for the box, the man placed the muzzle of the gun—Mr. Fuhs described it as "a long nickle-plated gun"—against his ribs. After rifling the register of its cash contents, the hijacker forced the proprietor to walk with him to the corner a block from the store.

He ordered Mr. Fuhs to turn around at that point and to go back "without looking around." Mr. Fuhs obeyed the order and returned immediately to the store to call the police. Officers searched the neighborhood thoroughly but failed to find a trace of the hijacker. It was not known whether he walked or drove away after leaving Mr. Fuhs at the corner, police said.

BEAR MARKET TAKES COUNT

Bulls Pay Heavily to Win Market Victory

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—Wall street today witnessed what many characterized as the dying spasms of a bear market.

Swift, ruthless drives were launched repeatedly at the list by those who wanted to see still lower prices, but in the end of the bullish element came off victor.

Towards the close billions of dollars were thrown in to save the list from destruction and prices moved above their lows for the day, many, including U. S. Steel, closing higher than on Saturday.

6,000,000 Shares Sold

Sales totaled 6,091,000 shares, the largest day since the 8,000,000-share session of March 26, last, and tickers ran one hour and 41 minutes before reaching the last quotation after the final gong had brought trading to a close on the floor.

RECORD AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (US)—A new trading record was established on the Chicago stock exchange with 850,000 shares traded against 745,000 shares on Aug. 2 last.

Hence traders worked in the dark making frenzied efforts to get a decent price for their holdings.

The bulls may have won, but it was an expensive victory. The cost was higher than many defeats in the past.

Small traders were wiped out. Big traders, the millionaires and billionaires of yesterday, lost millions and many of the most astute operators were hard pinched as prices reacted time after time.

As the small margin accounts went by the board, and wealthy individuals purchased the offerings, there was less and less demand for

Violet Stone, Nurse, Is Hurt; Police Seek Driver Of Parked Machine

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 21.—Gaston Scott, 32, was almost instantly killed, and Miss Violet Stone, night nurse at the Parmley-Ogden hospital, was critically injured at 8 o'clock Monday night when the automobile in which they were driving crashed head-on into a truck parked on the Vernon-Electra highway eight miles west of Electra.

Mr. Scott died almost at once from loss of blood when the jugular vein in his throat was cut by the broken glass of the windshield. Miss Stone was rushed to the hospital where the extent of her injuries were undetermined at a late hour Monday.

The parked truck, the property of the Lincoln Paint company, was unoccupied at the time of the collision. Police were attempting to discover the name of the driver in investigations Monday night.

Mr. Scott, formerly a merchant here, has lived in Electra for a number of years. The body is being held for instructions from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Scott, at Oklahoma City. Miss Stone, formerly of Shreveport, La., has been employed at the hospital for several months.

Senators Grapple With Rate Schedules Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—After rejecting by 64 to 10 a motion to recommit the tariff bill to limit proposed increases in duties to agricultural products, the senate agreed today to begin consideration of the controversial rate schedules tomorrow.

It was the second time this session that the senate defeated a move to restrict tariff revision exclusively to the farmers' interests, although the first vote, taken last June on a proposal by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, lost by a single vote—39 to 38.

Highway Commission Discusses Bridge Buy

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (AP)—The state highway commission today met with Joseph W. Edison Collapses At End Of Radio Talk After Day Of Strenuous Activities

Aged Inventor, Weakened by Recent Pneumonia Siege, Remains Cheerful While Notable Celebrants Fear End Is Near for 83-Year-Old Man

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE

DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 21. (US)—The light that glowed 50 years ago almost faded tonight when Thomas A. Edison collapsed at the Golden Jubilee celebration of the discovery of the incandescent light.

He had just said after listening to the plaudits of the world's most noted men of today:

"I am told that my voice tonight will reach to the four corners of the world. This gives me an unusual opportunity to express the appreciation I feel for the honor that has been paid me. I would be more embarrassed if I did not know that in honoring me you also are honoring the vast army of thinking men who have done much for the progress of the world in the past."

Inventor's Voice Fails Him

His voice was faltering. He could not hear. He turned frequently to his wife, almost pathetically to ask:

"Was that all right."

Einstein was trying to talk from Germany, The Prince of Wales from London, Byrd from the south pole. Their voices were quite audible but the old man could not hear. He broke down in visible emotion. It was more serious than thought.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, president's physician, took him into an ante room of Independence hall. He was stretched out on the floor and it was half an hour before he could be revived. He has just recovered from a serious attack of pneumonia and his heart is weak. The day seemed to have been too much for him.

Few realized how near death the inventor was. It appeared for a few intense moments that the Golden Jubilee of the electric light would mark his passing.

He almost reeled from the table when he started to talk. Secret service men aided Doctor Boone in getting him away. Gently they laid him down on an improvised cot in the replica of old Independence hall. His eyes were dim. Doctor Boone used almost every restorative to revive him.

Stricken Wizard Asks to Waltz

He was game. He rolled his head over on a pillow and asked:

"Please let me know when the president leaves."

An orchestra, one of those old fashioned ones which Ford has here, was playing an old tune familiar to civil war days.

Edison, who wears a derby said:

"Please give me my hat. I want to get up and waltz."

He had played all day almost, clowning as news butcher, editor and publisher. He was laughing and smiling and Doctor Boone said that he had put too great a tax upon his heart.

President Hoover came in and sat by the little pallet on the floor as did Henry Ford. Mrs. Edison was quietly sobbing. As the president's special left for Cincinnati there was a vigil about his resting place on the floor such as few have known. Henry Ford, John D. Rockefeller Jr., resting on their knees watched his frail breast rise and fall.

There were lights around and airplanes overhead. Ford ordered everything silenced.

Edison Again 'Invents' Electric Light To Inspire Awe in Notable Spectators

Hoover, Ford, Mme. Curie, Owen D. Young and Others Present at Light's Anniversary Jubilee

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE

GREENFIELD, Mich., Oct. 21. (US)—Thomas A. Edison tonight made a crude incandescent light in the same way he did 50 years ago.

He was in the same old laboratory and used the same materials. The mellow glow brightened the faces of three men, for the work room was so small that no more could get in.

They were President Hoover, Henry Ford and Francis Jehl, who as a boy of 20 assisted Mr. Edison in his great achievement.

Madam Curie, co-discoverer of radium, a mystic light brighter even than the most modern electric light, was an awe-inspired spectator while Mr. Edison re-enacted his great invention.

Early Village Rebuilt

In this place, which is not yet on the map, the automobile magnate has reconstructed an early American village. He has brought into it every conceivable reminder of the sixties and earlier. Among them is the old laboratory in which Edison worked at Menlo, N. J. It is so carefully identical that Ford brought the top soil so that it would rest on the same ground.

Quite removed from the little shop 500 distinguished visitors listened to a radio broadcast describing the venerable inventor at his work. This group was in a replica of Independence Hall, Philadelphia, which has been rebuilt on the same scale. On few occasions has there been such a distinguished gathering.

They represented the wealth, industry and scientific minds of the country.

Edison's Day

It was Edison's day and not that of the president or Henry Ford. They were here to honor him.

He had the privilege of riding to Dearborn to meet the president on the same train he worked on as a

WALSH SPRINGS LOBBY UPSET

Inquisitor Produces Copy of Memorandum

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—New details of the relations between Senator Bingham, Republican of Connecticut, and the Connecticut Manufacturers association which "loaned" him a man to assist in writing the tariff bill, were examined today by the senate lobby investigating committee.

The office memorandum of the association showing it had news of the inner workings of the senate finance committee while it was considering the bill in closed sessions was introduced by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana. Charles L. Eyanson, the tariff expert who aided the Connecticut senator, said he did not remember the note.

E. Kent Hubbard, president of the association, gave "1,000 per cent" endorsement to the course of the senator, and disclosed that he had met Bingham in the office of J. Henry Roarback, national committeeman for Connecticut. There, also, he said, arrangements were made for him to "loan" the man.

PRICE TOO LOW, IS STATEMENT OF EXPERTS

Announcement Surprises Southern Senators in Washington

$100,000,000 ON HAND

Board Also Working Out Plan to Finance Wheat Cooperatives

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The federal farm board announced today it would lend to cotton cooperatives sums sufficient to bring the total amount borrowed from all sources by such associations to 16 cents per pound on graded and classed cotton. It disclosed also it is preparing to take similar action on wheat under a plan to be revealed later.

The statement came as a surprise and was received with gratification by cotton state senators. It was prefaced with the declaration that the board "believes the present prevailing prices for cotton are too low."

$100,000,000 Available

Nearly $100,000,000 is available from the board's revolving fund for the cotton financing, and the board said it would ask congress for more if necessary.

Under the board's plan, the basis for the grading will be middling ¾-inch staple. The loan per pound at the 10 designated southern spot markets will be approximately as follows: Norfolk, 16.54 cents; Augusta, 16.35 cents; Savannah, 16.29 cents; Montgomery, 15.64 cents; New Orleans, 16.59; Memphis, 15.39 cents; Little Rock, 15.41 cents; Dallas, 15.34 cents; Houston, 16.19 cents; Galveston, 16.39 cents.

Grain Corporation

The plan under which the board expects to lend money to wheat cooperatives probably will not be announced until after formation of the national grain corporation, which is expected to be completed late this week at a meeting in Chicago. Several members of the board will attend the meeting. The general manager of the corporation will have to meet the approval of the board. Chairman Legge has said, in view of the fact the board intends to lend the organization a large sum of money.

Explaining its opinion that current cotton prices are too low, the board noted the supply of American cotton this year is less than it was last year. That fact, together with consumption continuing at the same rate as last year and the actual sale of cotton goods increasing the board said it felt might have increased the price if the raw product had been marketed in an orderly manner.

Under the plan, the co-operative

Spectators in Three Nations Awed By Huge Plane Carrying 169 Persons

ALTENRHEIN, Switzerland, Oct. 21. (US)—The gigantic Dornier 12-motored flying ship DO-X, largest heavier-than-air craft, in a sensational flight of 50 minutes, today broke a world's record by carrying 169 passengers and crew.

Flying with the ease of an ordinary plane, the grey albatross, with twice as many passengers as the greatest number ever carried before in any type of aircraft, arose from the water 50 seconds after its start and flew around Lake Constance, thrilling spectators of three nations—Switzerland, Germany and Austria.

Attaining a maximum speed of 220 kilometers an hour (136.7 miles an hour) and a maximum altitude of 600 meters, the giant seaplane cruised along the Swiss border lake throwing its vast shadow along the foothills of the Alps.

The roar of its 12 Siemens-Jupiter motors turned up a total of 6,000 horsepower, bringing thousands of onlookers to the streets in the little Swiss towns of Rohrschach, Arbon and Kruezlingen. Then, turning with ease over the city of Constance, the DO-X flew along German shore over Meeresburg and Friedrichshafen, where the populace, used to the thrilling exploits of the Graf Zeppelin, turned out to cheer. Then the craft went on to Lindau and then over the Austrian border toward Bregenz and back to Altenrhein, where it landed with hardly a splash a few feet from its anchorage.

Record News Cotton Table

For Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma

Cotton prices over Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma showed a slightly stronger tone in buying Monday, except at Memphis and Quanah, where sharp breaks were recorded in the quotations for lower quality stuff. The price for the best grade cotton in these towns remained practically unchanged, however, while Frederick, Okla., Vernon, Childress and Seymour marked up small advances in price. Cottonseed quotations remained steady. The following prices prevailed Monday in the principal markets of the area, according to reports to The Record News from its correspondents:

Pantages Defense Again Thwarted In Attack on Character of Girl

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21. (UP)—Witnesses moved briskly across the stand in the trial of Alexander Pantages today as the defense pointed toward the climax of its case—the denial by the multimillionaire theater man that he attacked Eunice Pringle.

When Mickey O'Neill, a theatrical booking agent, took the stand, the defense made another attempt to cast reflections on Miss Pringle's character, but was promptly ordered by the court to desist.

O'Neill was asked if he had ever seen the dancer in the apartment of Nicholas Dunaev, author of her act, and how late at night, but was not permitted to answer.

He supported the defense contention that Miss Pringle's skit was not excellent enough for the Pantages circuit when he testified concerning a verbal report he made after seeing a rehearsal.

"I told Pantages that the act wasn't much good and that the conversation didn't mean anything, but that the dancer was all right. The Jones—well, I can't explain how we say it up there—but I told him they weren't right."

The defense holds that the act was vulgar and not fit for the Pantages chain, but that the theater man did offer to place the girl in another act which was playing the circuit.

news butcher in 1862. With meticulous precision Ford reconstructed it as it was then, even to building an old fashioned wood burner.

Bent under 82 years of toil, his ears closed to all sound by deafness, he none the less played like the boy of old. He revealed himself as an actor par excellence.

The presidential party boarded the old train and it steamed over rickety old tracks for Greenfield. Edison was at that time a publisher as well as news butcher. From a little hand press, the same he used so long ago, he turned out copies of his old newspaper "The Herald." And he sold them for five cents a copy and got his money in advance from the president, Ford and others in the party.

Dollar for Goobers

Then he brought out a packet laden with apples, bananas and peanuts and went through the train. He collected 25 cents from the president for an apple. George Akerson, the president's secretary had no change and paid a dollar for a sack of peanuts. Although he could not hear what was said he carried on a running conversation and was as happy as a schoolboy.

Ford provided thrill after thrill for his visitors. In this quaint old village there were no automobiles. Coaches and a pair of spanking greys were at the disposal of everyone. The old inn, brought by Ford from Logan county, Ill., was just as it was then with one exception. Where guests registered there was the old bar. On the shelves there was a wide variety of bottles and decanters. All long since had been drained, however. In the afternoon the magnate staged the arrival of the early stage. Everything in it was of the period.

This place is quite removed from Detroit. Shortly after his arrival the president motored there. Neither Ford nor Edison accompanied him. He received a remarkable ovation. Although it was raining heavy the streets were packed with cheering thousands over a stretch of 30 miles.

Hoover Sees Village

The president returned and went to the home of Ford for lunch and later went through the early village. Edison, after his morning's efforts rested. Late in the afternoon he inspected the old laboratory to see that everything was quite right.

To all intents he went through the re-enactment of his invention as if it were an entirely new experiment or adventure. The little filament of light shone in a dark room. His face beamed. He saw it with dim and fading eyes in contrast to the bright eyes which shone in glee 50 years ago.

The whole of the village was darkened and antiquated as it was before Edison gave it the incandescent light to the world. Oil lamps burned at the street corners and in the dimly lit Independence Hall. Edison worked in his laboratory for not to exceed five minutes, when the little spark of light burned, a replica of the old Liberty bell pealed out. The oil lamps were extinguished and Greenfield was turned into day by one of the most brilliant exhibitions of electric lighting in history, commemorating the golden jubilee of the electric light.

Then the famed inventor, the president and Ford went to Independence Hall for a banquet attended by 500. Among the notables present were John D. Rockefeller Jr., Otto H. Kahn, Owen D. Young, who acted as master of ceremonies; Harvey Firestone, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio; James W. Girard, former ambassador to Germany and Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate.

The president left here at midnight for Cincinnati where he is to dedicate a monument commemorating the completion of the Ohio river locks system and travel by old fashioned river steamboat from there to Louisville, Ky.

OHIO RIVER FETE AWAITS PRESIDENT

CINCINNATI, Oct. 21. (AP)—Arrival of four large river steamers here here today formally opened Cincinnati's celebration of the Ohio river canalization project which will reach a climax tomorrow when President Hoover delivers an address here dedicating the stream's lock and dam system.

The first steamer from Pittsburgh starting point of the Flotilla, was the "Queen City."

Others were the "Cincinnati," "Tom Greene," and the "Greater Pittsburgh." A score of smaller boats accompanied the larger vessels. The craft remained here tonight that their passengers could greet the president tomorrow and join the Hoover party in the cruise to Louisville.

Mr. Hoover will arrive about 9 a. m., tomorrow from Detroit, where he participated in the 50th anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's invention of the electric light.

Prospects tonight were for the same type of weather to greet the president here that he found at Detroit, a driving cold rain.

Eden park, site of the "Ohio river monument," which Mr. Hoover will unveil at the dedication ceremony, was a rainsoaked spot tonight.

Rain marred what was to have been the opening part of the celebration here today when the Ohio river regatta speed boat program was postponed until tomorrow.

Mr. Hoover's address tomorrow commemorates the completion of the canalization of the Ohio river, a work started late in the 19th century and completed this summer. The project embraced 49 dams and locks in the Ohio from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill., and cost $118,000,000.

Supreme Court Denies Power Company Plea

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (UP)—Two Texas power companies today were denied a supreme court review of their injunction suits to prevent Fairbanks Morse and company from selling cities municipal electric power plants. Federal district courts granted such injunctions to the Texas Power & Light company and the Texas Electric Service company, but the circuit court of appeals dissolved both orders.

The injunction against Fairbanks Morse and company was sought by the Dallas branch of the Texas Electric Service company, A. E. Kelly, manager of the Wichita Falls office, said Monday afternoon. The legal action had no local application, he declared.

The curb exchange and Chicago stock markets both set new records for volume and both experienced sharp declines. The curb had sales of more than $7,000,000 shares and on the Chicago market business totaled 800,000 shares.

Big Blocks Exchanged

Cities Service on the curb opened 80,000 shares at a loss of nearly a point, while Bethlehem Steel held the record on the stock exchange today, opening 29,000 shares at 111 unchanged. Several other huge blocks changed hands in the first half hour on the big board, bringing sales for that period to 800,000 shares.

By the end of the second hour the three million share mark had been passed and it looked as if a new record would be made. However, as the lots of small traders were being liquidated the volume did not increase proportionately.

Incidentally, aid for the bulls today came from Jesse L. Livermore, always heralded as the champion of the bear operators. Rumors had been circualted that Livermore had been heading a huge bear pool working to keep prices down.

Widest Swings

Among the day's widest swings were American Telephone and Telegraph which ranged between 284½ and 278½ and closed at 283 up 1¼; Eastman Kodak between 223¾ and 216, closing at the high for a net gain of 6¼ points; and U. S. Steel which ranged between 205 and 212 and closed at 210½ up 1½.

Losses on the big board ranged from 1 to 165 points. The swings back and forth were bewildering. The principal issues opened higher, gaining from 1 to 7 points. Then with lightning rapidity values shot down only to recover again in less than an hour.

CREOLE'S MATE GOES TO JAIL

John McGouldrick Denies Slaying Jack Kraft

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (US)—John McGouldrich, second mate of the Creole, was taken from his ship today as it entered New York harbor and locked up in the tombs, under indictment in Louisiana for the murder of Jack Kraft.

McGouldrick submitted to arrest with apparent unconcern and denied that he knew anything about the manner in which the Greenwich Village fencing master and writer met death on Oct. 11.

Officers and members of the crew said that Kraft was not shot on board the Creole but jumped overboard and started to swim ashore. Kraft's body was found later on a levee with a bullet hole in his chest.

While McGouldrick changed from his uniform to civilian clothes to accompany the detectives, Thomas Deeley, lookout man, gave his version of the disappearance from the ship of Kraft. This was his story:

About 12:10 o'clock a woman screamed on the deck of the Creole. He investigated and found Kraft, Steward Samuel Epstein and Miss Ione Ord sitting together on a mattress. The woman was crying. He decided their troubles were of no concern to him and went forward.

At 12:20 he saw Kraft come from the steerage, run to the rail and jump overboard. Deeley shouted to McGouldrick who was in command on the bridge, the ship was stopped and a boat was lowered. Kraft could not be found. Deeley was positive that no shot had been fired on the ship.

Miss Ord and Steward Epstein have been held in Louisiana as material witnesses. It was reported on board the Creole that Kraft and the girl, who is an artist and dancer, were en route to Hollywood to seek fame and fortune. McGouldrick said to Deputy Chief Inspector Mulrooney:

"I knew Kraft and was friendly with him, but I know nothing of how he met his death."

Sheriff Alberti, of Pointe a La Hache, on the other hand, sent this wire to the New York authorities:

"Hold grand jury indictment for John McGouldrick for murder of Jack Kraft, committed night of Oct. 11, Kraft having been shot aboard the vessel by McGouldrick in the Paris of Plaquemine."

CONDITION OF WATSON GOOD

Penrod Tells of Auto and Motorcycle Accident

The condition of Loyce Watson, Wichita Falls youth whose leg was amputated Sunday following injuries he received in a motorcycle automobile collision, was reported to be satisfactory Monday night. He is at the Wichita General hospital.

Watson, a motorcycle rider for the Allison Drug company, was injured early Sunday afternoon when his motorcycle crashed into an automobile which had stopped near the intersection of Ninth and Broad streets. It was at first reported that the car, manned by H. A. Penrod, crashed into the motorcycle. Mr. Penrod informed The Record News that such was not the case.

Board to Make Loans on Cotton

associations will take the farmers' cotton and market it over a period of a year as it is needed, settling with the farmer on the final price obtained. The present low level, the board said, was due chiefly to open fall weather which led to rapid marketing in amounts greater than the world market could absorb. This was said to have led to a lack of confidence in cotton values.

The cotton co-operatives are borrowing for advances to members from commercial banks, the federal intermediate credit banks, and the federal farm board. The board will supplement loans to co-operatives in amounts sufficient to make the average total loan, with certain freight differentials, at least 16 cents per pound for the entire cotton belt.

You have a Doctor's Word for this Laxative

IN 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he treated many cases of constipation. He soon saw the harm in common purges and began to seek something better. Out of his experience was born a famous prescription now in wide use.

This prescription was written thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. Children like its pleasant taste. Older people like it because it doesn't gripe or cause discomfort. It is a mixture of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients; thoroughly effective for the most robust of men. Stimulates the normal muscular action of the bowels. So its use will not become a habit. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness or no energy, poor appetite, etc. are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. All drug stores have the generous bottles. The product never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original formula. So you can take it with confidence or give it to the youngest child.

The SAFETY POINT

The best value you can get is a fair-priced battery of known quality and correct electrical size. You'll find it in a Willard.
There's a safety point in battery buying below which your risk disappointment. You might buy a battery for less than a Willard would cost. But later you'd be bound to pay more than the difference — for towing and repairs.

You can fool all of the people some of the time and some of them all of the time, but there are still more buying Willards than any other make. Which proves that you can't fool near all of them all of the time. 3,000,000 Williards to the public this year.

CLARENCE DILL IS SPECIALIST

Washington State's Only Democrat Studies Radio

By FRASER EDWARDS
(Copy't., 1929, by Universal Service, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—After hearing a lot of pratin' and pratlin' about this being the age of specialization, Clarence Cleveland Dill, junior senator from Washington, decided to become a specialist.

Clarence is a congressman by trade. He could make spread-eagle speeches, roll logs to get a tariff rate on shingles or chisel out an appropriation for his state. But he had no forte, no "main holt."

So Clarence looked over the list of specialists in the senate. There was Borah on foreign affairs, McNary on fried chicken, Smoot on the tariff, Watson on hand-shaking, Glass on finance, Norbeck on well-digging and so on. But no radio specialist.

Sees No Chance

Instantly, Clarence saw the need of a specialist in that line. He studied it. Now he's got it. When you sit down with Clarence Dill you are face to face with the champion radio specialist in congress.

Clarence knows more than Old Man Antenna himself about how some radio gentlemen would like to hog all the wavelengths and the gravy and leave the static to the public. So Clarence has made it his life's work to keep the ether as free as air at a gas station.

There's a lot of fine points to putting a first class piece of radio legislation through congress that the average man doesn't think about. But Clarence fairly dreamed radio after he became a specialist. And the Dill radio bill made him a granite reputation as a specialist.

One might almost say that Clarence is a congressman by birth. For at the age when most boys yearn to become bandits, butchers or burglars, Clarence felt the call of congress. He has never flinched from his fate.

Ambitious Youth

So confident was he that one day he should sit in the seats of the mighty that when only 12 years old he borrowed two-bits from a lady to attend a pie-social with the agreement that he would pay up when he made his first speech in congress. And he did with six per cent interest.

This poor boy on the farm in Knox county, Ohio, followed the Nietzchean philosophy of "a yea and a nay—a straight line to a goal." He studied hard and worked his way through Ohio Wesleyan college by personally conducting cars through Cleveland streets during vacations.

This fitted him to become a reporter so he got a job on a Cleveland paper. In pursuit of the elusive item, he got mixed up with Tom Johnson and his three-cent fare fight. This gave him his first real political aspirations and inspiration.

Clarence decided to go west and run for congress. He couldn't have been very smart about politics in those days, however. For he picked Washington state which had never sent a Democrat to congress.

Keeps on Plugging

To be sure a fusion of various isms in Washington sent Jim Ham Lewis to congress in 1896 wearing the first pink Prince Albert never seen before or since in the house. But undismayed, Clarence kept on plugging and came to the house at the age of 30, six years after he settled in Spokane.

Clarence was just a congressman for the four years he spent in the house but he had the courage of his convictions and voted against the war. He had four years out in the cold to consider that vote before he achieved the seemingly impossible and came to the senate in 1922, and became a specialist.

When Clarence told Tom Johnson that he was going west and run for congress, that political philosopher gave him the maxim that has guided his political life:

"Don't get caught in the whirlpool of your own enthusiasm."

Clarence is an enthusiastic radio specialist, but a cool mind functions somewhere above his new blond moustache. And despite his progressive bent, he has enough Scotch caution not to be caught in the whirlpool of his enthusiasm over radio or anything else.

'GIRL IN BLUE' COMING BACK

Longer Skirts Big Boon For Burleque Show

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The long dormant burlesque business is looking up, way up, thanks to Patou, Lanvin, Worth and other Parisian creators of feminine styles.

Benjamine Bernard, for 20 years producer of "nearly-raw-girl-and-almost-rat-joke" shows, explained today the sudden rise of burlesque from the ashes of other days, thus:

"Cover the knee and burlesque gets more business."

Managers Flourish

Managers of Chicago's score or more of burlesque houses already are beginning to notice extra dollars in their tills now that long skirts have been decreed the fashion," Bernard said.

"And in another year when all women are wearing long skirts," he continued, "the burlesque business is going to be as good as it ever was. We'll probably have to revive the 'girl in blue.'"

Bernard, a tall bushy-haired individual, was interviewed concerning the prospects, past, present and future, of "burlesque" in his tiny office above the stage of the State-Congress theater, one of the city's largest burlesque houses.

"The past was swell, the present is rotten and the future is going to be swellest," he said.

While Bernard was expounding the merits of the new styles, his red-headed stenographer was busy rummaging in an old trunk. She assembled a stack of pages from a pile of old manuscript and soon was busy with scissors and paste.

"What's she doing?" said Bernard. "Oh, she's just writing next week's show. I haven't time to bother with it myself. Burlesque plots haven't changed for 30 years, except for decorations so Miss Ginsberg does the plot and I furnish the trimmings."

In the old days, said Bernard, when men never got to see knees, they flocked to burlesque theaters to see them and still got cheated for their trouble.

"We always had the 'girl in blue'" then, Bernard added, "she came out on the stage dressed in a complete blue street costume. And then one of the comedians would auction off her clothes, piece by piece, which she would drop to the floor, one by one.

"Then she would take off the last garment very reluctantly and flee off the stage before the customers got a chance to see that she still was completely covered with flesh-colored tights."

Bernard snickered.

"We can't get away with that any more," he said. "Women wear so little on the streets now that the girls on the stage can't wear anything but a brassiere and trunks in the first place. If they wore more they'd be hooted off. And when a girl hasn't got on anything else but a brassiere and trunks she can't very well take anything off."

Bernard pulled a fashion magazine out of his desk. "Look at that," he said, pointing to a series of feminine figures with skirts down to their ankles. "I'll bet we'll have to dig out the 'girl in blue' before the year's over, only this time we'll call her 'the girl in red' just to give the customers something new and different."

Tobacco Taxes Yield Government Income

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (UP)—Tobacco taxes yielded the government $31,000,000 more in the first nine months of this year than in the same period of 1928, the internal revenue board announced today. Collections amounted to $341,447,000.

The bulk of this amount—$272,000,000—came from cigarets. Manufactured tobacco and snuff yielded $52,000,000, cigars, $16,000,000, and cigaret papers and tubes, etc., $1,000,000.

TINNON QUITS AS CONSTABLE

O. E. Whisnant Named To Electra Post

The resignation of L. S. Tinnon, constable at Electra, was accepted Monday morning at the regular meeting of the county commissioners court. O. E. Whisnant was appointed his successor. Bonds had been accepted and the new officer sworn in before the close of the day's session. Mr. Tinnon, in his letter of resignation, told the court he had been "unable to make a creditable living."

During Monday's meeting the court accepted the new applications of five headlight testing stations in the county. The candidates presented the new contracts and made the new bonds required in a recent ruling from the state highway engineer. All old contracts have been canceled, the order taking effect last Saturday. The applications accepted by the county Monday will be sent on to Austin for final approval, John P. Marrs, county judge, announced. The new arrangements between the county and the stations are designed to effect a more rigid enforcement of the automobile lighting laws and to check an epidemic of night accidents, the state officials explained.

Gleaming hair!

The way modern hair dressers accentuate your hair by lovely lines and contours makes it important to keep the hair in perfect condition.

Now, millions know the quickest way to give the hair new life and luster; to bring out its natural color, is with Danderine. It is so easy to use; you simply moisten your brush with it each time you arrange your hair.

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; stops falling hair; puts the scalp in the pink of condition. It helps the hair grow long, silky, abundant; gives it more luster than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy-to-arrange; holds it in place. Waves look nicer; stay in longer when "set" with Danderine.

The Cow is off the Track!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Railroads have safely passed those danger signals of prejudice which caused folks to look upon them with fear. Holding aloft the semaphore of progress AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE cleared the track and, today, millions travel in ease and security.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Floral Heights W.M.S. Circles Meet in Study

Circles of the Floral Heights Methodist Missionary society met Monday for study of the lesson book, "Home Life in Latin America."

Mrs. B. J. Shaw was hostess to circle one at her home on Huff avenue where Mrs. John Tancred was in charge. Reports of various officers were given.

The devotional was given by Mrs. H. G. Harris on the subject, "A Tribute From Thieves." Mrs. Tancred talked on "Home Life in Latin America."

A lovely salad plate was served to Mesdames Matt Roberson, O. F. Marchman, R. A. Sanders, H. G. Harris, Leon Deaton, C. G. Crump, Jewell Childers, Joan Taylor, L. L. Bivins, J. B. Hethorne, J. W. Donehoo, John Tancred, J. A. Richker and the hostess, Mrs. Shaw.

Circle Two

Circle two met in the parlors of the church with Mrs. S. E. Trevathan circle leader, presiding. Hostesses were Mesdames C. E. Maule, Charles Green, Ozella Scoggins and J. M. Franklin.

The meeting was opened with a song after which a number of sentence prayers were said. Mrs. Charles Crowell leading and Mrs. M. A. Gough closing them.

Mrs. Charles Crowell led the devotional after which Mrs. C. E. Waller led in prayer. Mrs. George Thorburn sang a lovely number with Mrs. P. A. Newell at the piano.

Mrs. Crowell had charge of the mission program and Mrs. M. E. Crowell gave interesting items from the Bulletin Mission news.

Mesdames Kurt Buddrus and Milo Connelly gave interesting talks on "Home Life in Latin America."

Mrs. Edward Malone gave a splendid social service report.

Miss Loraine Mathis played a violin number with Mrs. J. T. Mathis accompanying. Mrs. Holcomb sang a lovely vocal number with Mrs. Newell accompanying.

Delicious refreshment were served to Mesdames Charles Crowell, Ed Malone, M. M. Swain, A. D. Gough, M. E. Crowell, Fred Snyder, W. C. Betts, A. W. Simmons, J. G. Gossett, C. C. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

It's tulip time in Wichita. Time to plant them, we mean. And to prove it, in one florist's hot house window stands a little Dutch windmill with whirling wings, advertising the merits of Dutch bulbs just by its presence.

◇ ◇ ◇

On a cross street between Ninth and Tenth is an old fashioned house with gables and little iron rods that look like lightning rods standing up from them. And the rods are dressed like scare crows! We have wondered if some small boy had fun in dressing them or if a sleeper in the house was trying to drive pigeons away.

◇ ◇ ◇

The cooing of pigeons early in the morning is, we think, a pleasant sound. But nothing like so sweet as that of a lone red bird we hear at every coming dawn.

◇ ◇ ◇

Scarecrows are not the only queer things in town. We had lunch today at the same table with a man who ate with his little finger curved delicately in the air. We didn't know him, but we will never forget his finger.

◇ ◇ ◇

There are queer things everywhere. One of the queerest to us is the fact that tourists may go by plane next spring to Oberammergau; an airdrome will be ready by May. Flying to the original site of the passion play seems somehow to disturb the saintly air of the little village.

◇ ◇ ◇

The passion play is the dominant thing in the lives of the people of Oberammergau. Many of them, inheriting the part played year after year, have tried to live up to the merits of it. This year, there will be a new Christ, a man who has been letting his beard grow in preparation for the part and whose picture does resemble the portraits of Christ.

◇ ◇ ◇

The part of the Virgin Mary has been played each year (and must be played each year), by a virgin who will not marry within the year. This year, the postmaster's daughter applied for the place, but she is engaged to be married, so the Virgin's part could not be hers. She is to play Mary Magdalene.

◇ ◇ ◇

The dominant thing is what counts in a life. Without some dominant motive, neither man nor woman will accomplish much.

◇ ◇ ◇

It may be simply housekeeping; but we have been in the homes made by born home-makers and there is a restfulness about them that counts as much in that place as the success of an artist in his.

◇ ◇ ◇

We know a teacher in Zundelowitz Junior High school in whose life for many years, teaching has been the dominant motive. We have wondered often what that school would do without her. She has taught math in Wichita Falls for many years. She has many other ideals, but the ideal of perfection in her work dominates it.

◇ ◇ ◇

And last week saw the passing of a teacher dearly loved by all who knew her. The sweet and gentle spirit of the woman shone through Miss Sellers' face. Every one knew the motive of her life and how near perfection she lived.

Scotland Methodist W. M. S. Has Meeting

Refreshments were served to Mesdames W. D. Boardman, J. T. Richie, Sampson, W. R. Coker, G. P. Lane, A. T. Valsley, Inez Crumpton, D. P. Knight, A. B. Curry and C. Gum.

When you RIDE in a rumble seat!

COMPLEXIONS get all the worst of it in a rumble seat. Burning sun and cutting wind. Dust and dirt. Your skin is sure to be reddened and shiny at the end of the road.

Unless, of course, you've used Armand Cold Cream Powder—made especially for the active, modern girl. It is fine and smooth, with a matchless clinging quality. Rub it well into the puff before applying, and you'll return from the next ride your fresh and dainty self. $1 at your dealer's. Dorothy Dix Tells Girl How to Get "Kick" Out of Life

The Best Way to Get a "Kick" From Life. Straight Talk to a Self-Righteous Sinner. How to Tell Whether the Boy Friend Cares.

Dear Miss Dix—I am just 20 years old and feel that I am not getting any kick out of life. What shall I do? I don't step out much, not because I don't want to, but because I haven't met the right man. Should I sit around and wait, or should I go when I have a chance, and thus try to brighten my life? I am a business girl. Please advise.—ALICE.

Answer—Well, Alice when you are older you will find out that we mostly have to put the kick in life ourselves, and that if we find happiness we have to go out and hunt for it. Mighty little comes to those who just sit down and fold their hands and wait.

At 20 when you complain of life being dull, stale, flat and unprofitable, you doubtless mean that you lack dates, and that there are not many boys on the horizon. If this is the case, then you certainly should take advantage of every opportunity to go about and let them find out that you are on the earth.

In the olden days, according to the novelists of that period, the maid most admired by men was the shy, shrinking, timid violet sort of young person who always stayed at home in her mother's shadow, and who was sought out by some adventurous swain who boasted of his discovering her.

But that type of girl does not ravish the masculine fancy nowadays. The modern youth does not crave violets but sunflowers and the girl who stays put at home by her own fireside and waits for some man to come and dig her out will end her days in the spinster retreat.

The modern girl has to show herself and hit men between the eyes to make them observe that she is living. She has to beat upon the cymbals and boast of her own charms and graces, and in the commercial phrase, "sell herself" to them, or else she is left lamenting. That is why a girl can't sit back and take things easy and wait for Mr. Right to come along.

The convention that does not permit women to seek the attentions of men openly and aboveboard places them in an awkward and difficult position. Of course, if a girl could say to a boy: "Listen Bill, I like you and enjoy your society and the way you dance. Come on and let's go somewhere and have dinner and then two-step a little," why it would be all easy and simple, but she can't do that because she can't pay for the evening's amusement, even though she makes a bigger salary than Bill and would be glad to spend some of it that way.

So all she can do is to sit on the anxious seat and look willing and trust that Bill will cast an eye in her direction, and her only chance of having this happen to her is to camp somewhere in the spotlight.

It is hard lines on girls, but some day after men get a little more acclimated to women in business, it will all be changed and girls won't have to hint and scheme to get a date. They will make one and with the man they want.

In the meantime, keep yourself as well to the front as you can if you want to be noticed.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—My wife is unfaithful to me and every time I reproach her for her wrongdoing she tells me to shut up, that she is no more unfaithful to me than I am to her. I cannot make her understand that I am a man with my hat on and can go to places and do things that she cannot, and that I will be recognized in the best of society where they will close the door on her. Please advise.

—A DISGUSTED HUSBAND.

Answer—I like your nerve! It is simply colossal! Certainly the domestic argument in your house is that of the pot that called the kettle black. Why is it any more of a crime for your wife to be unfaithful to you than it is for you to be unfaithful to her? Wherein is her disloyalty to you greater than yours to her? The Ten Commandments make no distinction of sex. "Thou shalt not commit adultery" was not a command laid alone upon women. It was given to a man for men as well.

It is quite true that society does not judge the man sinner as hardly as it does the woman sinner. It is true that the woman offender against the moralities has to pay a heavier price than the man does, but this is the result of a man-made rule that was formulated in the effort to keep women virtuous. It has nothing whatever to do with the guilt of either party, and in the eyes of God the man is just as much a transgressor as is the woman.

So my advice to you is to cease reproaching your wife with her fault until you have cleansed your own record. Let him that is without sin among you throw the first stone at the Magdalene. And it seems to me that as long as your wife has such a snappy comeback as she has, you are well advised to maintain silence on the subject of morals.

But since you are both miserable sinners, why do you not forgive each other, and start over and make a second and more successful attempt to live up to your marriage vows?—DOROTHY DIX.

Pimples Cleared Away

Muncie, Ind.—"Resinol Soap has worked wonders for me. I had been bothered for a few years with pimples on my face and had tried various soaps and lotions in an effort to overcome this condition, but without success. Resinol Soap was recommended to me, so I tried it and have used it ever since. It not only restored my skin to a healthy, normal condition, but it has kept it so."—(Signed) Mrs. J. O. Dailey.

Resinol is recommended by doctors everywhere for almost all types of skin disorders—eczema, rashes, pimples, cloudy complexion. Spread on a little Resinol Ointment at night; then wash off with Resinol Soap and hot water in the morning. Do this once a day. Try it yourself. At all druggists.

Seven cents will not get one to his destination on the street car in Wichita Falls. A young lady who is not familiar with the ways and means of the galloping trolleys boarded one that was travelling in the opposite direction from which she wished to go, thinking she would ride around instead of waiting in the sun. After riding for 30 minutes the car came to the end of the line and the conductor stopped and said "This is the end of the line, where did you want to get off?" The girl meekly replied that she was going to town and asked if this car did not go that far. The conductor gruffly answered "Yes, it goes to town but will cost you another fare."

Eastern Star To Open Convention

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 21. (AP)—Preceded by committee meetings today, the grand chapter, order of the Eastern Star of Texas, will formally open its 47th annual session here tomorrow.

Mrs. Birdie J. Esterling of Del Rio, worthy grand matron, and other high officials of the order arrived to make necessary preparations.

Delegates to the grand chapter meeting will be officially welcomed to San Antonio tonight by Mayor C. M. Chambers. Mrs. Beaulah Rawlings of Johnson City, associate grand matron, will make the response on behalf of the lodge, following which a reception will be held at the Scottish Rite cathedral.

Thomas Farrow, aged 79, died recently at Hull, England, from hemorrhage caused by a wound received in an accident 20 years ago.

Mrs. Crowell Honoree At Informal Evening

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr. were host and hostess Sunday evening at a delightful informal reception, honoring Mrs. Grace Noll Crowell, who has been the guest of Mrs. Ross Corlett and other friends in the city for several days.

A program interesting for its informality was given by members of the party, including the reading of a number of her verses by Mrs. Crowell and one of her poems, set to music by Mrs. W. L. Underwood, sung by the latter with Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey accompanying. The song, "My Heart," and the music were lovely.

Each member of the party was called on to recite the first speech ever memorized, and the result was most amusing, ranging from Humpty Dumpty to Bryant's "Thanatopsis." Mesdames J. W. Akin and A. H. Mahaffey, who claimed not to remember their first recitations, played the first number each had given in public.

Delicious refreshments were served to Messrs. and Mesdames J. W. Akin, A. H. Mahaffey, W. L. Underwood, N. H. Martin, Paul Rutledge, A. M. Hupler, Stanley Raub and Mesdames Ross Corlett, Grady Fletcher, Blanche Kuykendall, J. J. Thomas, W. M. Cason, Valeria Fisher and Misses Marguerite Fisher, Jewel Rose Akin, Rev. Patrick D. and Mrs. Moreland, W. W. Silk, with the honoree, Mrs. Crowell and the host and hostess.

SUGAR MAKES FOODS PLEASANT

Good Cooks Learn to Use Nature's Supreme Flavorer

No wonder sugar used to be considered a luxury of the rich. No wonder a noted scientist says that sugar is the greatest condimental food in the world.

Sugar's supreme importance to health is that it makes foods pleasant. No man, woman or youngster can live on one food alone. To eat a great variety of foods daily the year round is to promote health, and sugar adds flavor and delight to nearly every known food. As a noted scientist says, to try to eat most foods "straight" would result in a monotonous, unpalatable diet, and you simply can't get people to eat things they don't like.

Try a dash of sugar on your favorite cereal. Eat healthful blackberries and other fresh fruits made delicious by a sprinkling of sugar. Profit by the experiments of four well-known women cooking experts in New York who recently rediscovered the old art of using a dash of sugar in vegetables while they are cooking in a small amount of water. Note how the vegetable colors, freshness and flavors improve. This little added sugar makes eating vegetables a joy. Remember the value of custards, milk shakes, ice cream and other milk desserts in helping your family to eat enough milk. Remember stewed fruits, candy and cookies for the end of the meal.

Slimness is no longer stylish. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

To Stop Hosiery Fading Even When Ordinary Laundry Soap Is Used

Simple Way To Stop Fade and "Soap Eat" In Even Most Fragile Hosiery

You need no longer fear the fading of delicate colors in even the most fragile chiffon hosiery. You avoid, too, the "soap eat" that hosiery makers warn against. There's a new way of washing that prevents all this . . . even when the ordinary laundry soaps or powders are used.

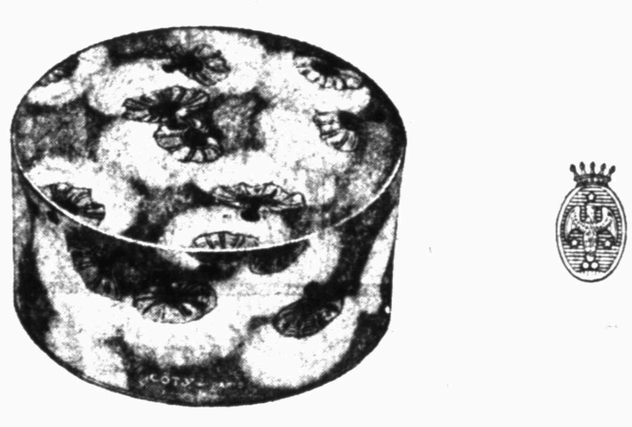

Under the new method described here, even faintest pastel colors in fine lingerie or delicately tinted hosiery hold fast, according to recent tests, for as many as 50 washings, without noticeable fade or wear.

The method is very simple: To each tubful of water (or washer filled to the water line) you merely add 2 tablespoons of a preparation called CLIMALENE and use just ONE-FOURTH the quantity of soap you ordinarily use. Then proceed with washing as usual. (For light washing in small wash basins, a teaspoonful of CLIMALENE is enough.)

This preparation is used by experts to stop fade and soap eat. It acts by converting hard, or semi-hard water to rain water softness and to dissolve grease and dirt. White clothes, washed this way, never grow yellow—but wash pure white. Delicate colors hold fast. You can easily get it at any grocery store. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

A Message to Underweight Men and Women

The only supremely good health building tonic that is also the one great weight producer known to modern science the country over is McCoy's Tablets.

They build flesh where flesh is needed—sunken cheeks, neck and chest—and many a man and woman, skinny and scrawny have thanked McCoy's after a few weeks treatment for the decided improvement in looks and figure.

Many times the increase in weight is astonishing—one exceedingly thin woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days.

McCoy's takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.—Adv.

Grant Street W. M. S. Circles Meet Monday

Mrs. H. A. Bancroft was hostess to members of circle one of the Grant Street Methodist W. M. S. at her home Monday afternoon when Mrs. J. M. Bridges read the scripture and Mrs. R. P. Tooley gave the devotional. Mrs. C. B. Wigley led in prayer and Mrs. J. H. McElroy discussed 'Korean Homes.' Plans were made for a doughnut sale to be held on Oct. 25.

Following a social half hour refreshments were served to Mesdames Sam Barley, W. L. Luke, J. H. McElroy, C. W. Wigley, J. M. Bridges, R. P. Tooley, J. J. Gorsey, S. Myers and H. A. Bancroft.

Circle Two

Mrs J. A. Hickey entertained members of circle two at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. W. H. Black opened the meeting with a prayer. Mrs. C. W. Thompson gave the devotionals after which Mrs. E. B. Dodson presided over the business meeting.

Plans were made to shower a sick member and also to have an old fashioned grab bag at the next circle meeting.

Dainty refreshments were served to Mesdames W. H. Black, O. M. Coleman, C. W. Thompson, T. W. Fulkerson, James, J. W. Hickey, J. C. Wood, Guy Cutbirth, T. C. McLester, E. B. Dodson and Miss Alta Mae James. The next meeting will be with Mrs. C. W. Thompson, 2004 Taft street.

Little Glen Harvey Has Birthday Party

Mrs. Z. W. Harvey, 1603 Cole street, was hostess Monday afternoon in honor of the birthday of her son, Glen, who was two years old.

The house was decorated with chrysanthemums and roses and Halloween colors were also used.

Games were played and a delicious refreshment plate was served to Margie Lou Gilbreath, Ruby Johnson, Leta Fay Wilson, Morris Crump, Hazel Marie Shockley, Albert McKinney, Carlton Wages, Billy Charles Wages, Billy and R. C. Mann, Melba Wilson, Mesdames John Cocke, Sid Cocke, F. G. Wisdom, Lola Wages, D. Gilbert, Charles Wilson, J. L. Jackson and her mother, Mrs. Griggs, Misses Edith Anderson, Lucy Norris, Frances Campbell, Alma Hooks and Ora Carey.

Ray-Massie Club Sponsors Carnival

Members of the Ray-Massie Study club will sponsor a Halloween carnival Friday evening at the community clubhouse at the corner of Amber and Bertin streets.

Various forms of entertainment will be furnished and all kinds of food. The public has been invited to attend.

Presbyterians Meet In Joint Session

Lucy Hansell and the First Presbyterian Woman's Missionary societies met together Monday in the regular monthly Bible study in the church parlors.

Mrs. Alfred Miller presided and Mrs. Paul Woodward gave the lesson on how to know the Bible, making an outstanding talk on the subject.

About 15 members were present.

Preceding this at 2 o'clock, Mrs. H. B. Patterson led in the mission study class with about 39 women attending. Short talks were made by Mesdames B. L. Fain, G. D. Anderson, J. C. Hunt, and J. C. Payne.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

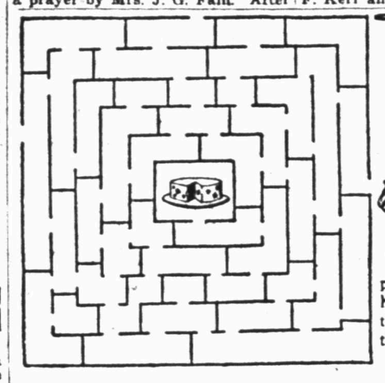

Mrs. Kerr Hostess To Missionary Circle

Mrs. A. F. Kerr entertained the members of circle three of the First Southern Presbyterian W. M. S. Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when the meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. J. G. Fain. After a short business meeting Mrs. J. A. LLtle led the Bible study. The meeting was closed with a prayer by Mrs. George Fleming.

Those present included Mesdames George Fleming, George Singleton, J. G. Fain, F. M. Rugely, J. L. Wilde, T. R. Leslie, J. A. Little, T. M. McKinney, W. L. Whitton, A. F. Kerr and J. E. Hall.

$470.00 Cash Given

Boys and girls! Here's a chance for you to help this pony get a piece of cake, and get a real live Shetland pony for your own. The pony sees the piece of cake in the center of this puzzle, but he doesn't know how to get it. Can you show him away? Just draw a line from the pony's nose through the gates in the fences until your line reaches the cake at the center. If you can find a way for the pony to get the cake without jumping over fences, cut out the puzzle and send your answer quick.

5 Ponies and 5 Bicycles Really and Truly Free

Sharp Eyes May Win

To make more friends for my company among the boys and girls, I will give $470.00 in cash prizes; 1st prize $200.00, 2nd $100.00, 3rd $50.00, 4th $20.00, 5th $15.00, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th each $10.00; 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th each $7.50; 15th $5.00.

Best of all, the first five winners, if they are quick, will each get a beautiful Shetland pony, bridle and saddle, absolutely FREE, and the winners of the last five prizes will each get an elegant bicycle free, for promptness. Besides, everybody can get $1.00 right away. Soon as you send your answer, I'll tell you right away how near you are to being winner; how to get the $200.00 first prize, and make the pony yours. A big $250,000.00 business house stands back of this offer. Duplicate prizes in case of ties. Hundreds of boys and girls have already won ponies from me. You be next! Draw the line in the puzzle and send it to me today!

THOMAS ALVA EDISON would tell you that the most valuable thing on earth is radium.

Madame Curie, the discoverer of radium, would say that the most valuable thing on earth is Thomas Alva Edison's head.

If any other thinker or tinker has supplied occupation for more workers—or bestowed more pleasures and comforts upon humanity—the new Encyclopaedia Britannica omits his mention.

Archimedes might have qualified for the distinction, had he found that fulcrum. Aristotle and Pythagoras neglected to build anything concrete upon their promises.

Harvey's discovery of circulation was a tremendous contribution to knowledge, but the world was physically the same the day of his departure as when he arrived.

Franklin revealed electricity, but failed to provide a solitary chore for it.

Friend Gutenberg can't qualify, because the Chinese were printing with movable type centuries before that esteemed Nuremberger went stork-riding.

Mr. Edison's performances and productions are both original and tangible.

Mr. Edison dropped a copper wire into a waterfall, struck a glass bulb with a carbon filament at the other end, and lighted the universe.

Mr. Edison combined a clockwork motor, a tin horn with a wax cylinder and captured music, song and laughter in the trap.

Mr. Edison placed a strip of celluloid within a black box, and current history, comedy and drama, forthwith, began to dance on synthetic moonbeams.

THE CLOCK owes him for a billion extra working hours; Progress owes him for the wizard den at Schenectady; Industry owes him for every power-and-light plant from Manhattan to Timbuctoo; education, entertainment and isolation owe him for the motion pictures and the talking machine; ten million men and women owe him for their jobs.

And he doesn't owe anybody, including John G. Precedent, for a suggestion, an inspiration, or a penny.

The Seven Wonders of Antiquity shrivel to silly toys in comparison with the evidence of his unaided genius.

Tomorrow may breed Titans in his image, but the past furnishes no prototype.

Civilization will be an ingrate to a supreme benefactor if the celebration, which starts today, is confined to verbal bouquets and printed back-pats.

A super-research laboratory is the least mark of veneration with which America might perpetuate his name.

And if Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone aspire to march into Valhalla, arm in arm with their fellow musketeer, a road lies open through the campus of Edison university.

That's the sort of niche to enshrine Thomas Alva Edison.

Incidentally, there's no reason why Samuel Insull, Gerard Swope and sundry public service corporations, hitching their "me-too" advertising to the Edison bandwagon, shouldn't chip in on the endowment.

Cheap hurrahs won't reach posterity.

OCTOBER 22

1774—Capt. De Clouet of Opelousas was ordered by the commander at Natchitoches to explore "Culebra Island" off the coast of Texas.

1836—Constitutional government of Texas was inaugurated with Sam Houston president and Mirabeau Lamar vice president.

1909—President Taft was visiting in Corpus Christi.

An Ohio woman, suing for divorce, charged her husband was an egotist. For your information, that's what a man is when he takes away the bid from his wife in a bridge game.

A Forgotten Hero

THE stupidity that mankind in the mass occasionally exhibits is always depressing. Sometimes, however, it is accompanied by exhibitions of individual magnificence that more than make up for it.

There is an example of this in George Allan England's recent book, "Isles of Romance."

Down on a barren islet in the Dry Tortugas, that isolated group of sand keys a hundred miles from Key West, lies the ruins of Fort Jefferson, built by the U. S. government 75 years ago as the Gibraltar of the Caribbean. It was a mighty fortress and prison in its day, although it has long since been abandoned; and England's book contains a remarkable tale connected with it.

After President Lincoln was killed, Booth, the assassin, fled for his life despite the handicap of a broken leg. After traveling some 50 miles he stopped at the house of a country doctor, one Dr. Samuel A. Mudd, who, all unsuspecting, set his leg and sent him on his way.

The outburst of stupid fury that followed the assassination caught Doctor Mudd up as a victim, despite his obvious innocence, and the luckless man was convicted of being an accessory to the crime and was sentenced to life imprisonment at Fort Jefferson.

At Fort Jefferson Doctor Mudd was treated with fearful severity. He was kept slaving at mean tasks that ruined his health. His quarters were damp and dark, infested with vermin, his food was almost uneatable, his guards were brutal. His whole existence was one long horror; and, remember, he was innocent. If any man was ever justified in hating, Doctor Mudd was the man.

In the third year of his imprisonment came an epidemic of yellow fever. It swept Fort Jefferson with ghastly thoroughness. The resident surgeon died. Soldiers and prisoners alike fell victims. At one time there was a daily sick list of 500—a good third of the fortress prison's entire population!

It was here that Doctor Mudd showed a devotion, a heroism and a humanity that makes up for the brutal stupidity of the rest of the tale.

The only physician in the place, he offered to do what he could. For long weeks he worked, on an average, 18 hours a day, treating the multitude of sick and doing his feeble best to fight the dreadful epidemic. Among his patients were the very men who had mistreated him. The organization of the place was so disorganized that he could easily have escaped, any day, to Cuba, where he would have been safe from yellow fever and safe from his unjust imprisonment; but he stayed, living day and night in the vast sick room.

And this, remember, was in a day when it was thought that yellow fever was spread by an infection in the air, exuding from the bodies of its sufferers!

There isn't much more to the story. Doctor Mudd's work eventually won him a pardon and he returned to his home—broken for life. Today he is forgotten.

But the story is worth recalling. If the stupidity that sent him to prison is depressing, his own magnificent self-denial and bravery more than make up for it.

Not So Bad, After All

WE ARE altogether too prone to feel that the sins and follies of our own day are much worse than those of any preceding era—just as we also think, at times, that our virtues and triumphs are better than anything that has gone before.

A good corrective for this despondent attitude is contained in the stories which Rodney Dutcher has been writing from Washington about the work of congressional lobbies in the days of the nation's youth.

The present lobby investigation has already dragged to light some rather disheartening facts. Considering the ring of special pleaders that surrounds our federal government from all sides, one is almost justified in despairing of the future. The Shearers, the Grundys and their brethren seem to be our real rulers.

But, as Dutcher proves, it used to be a whole lot worse.

There were, for instance, the land grabs of the old northwest territory.

Millions of acres of virgin land went to selfish speculators. The agents who put these conscienceless steals through congress could hardly be called lobbyists; they simply indulged in free and easy bribery, and they didn't bother very much to conceal it.

Then there was the question of "assumption"—the issue whether the new federal government should assume the debts of the various revolutionary states and redeem the war-time continental paper money, which had depreciated so greatly that the slang expression, "not worth a continental," became a byword.

Congressmen, cabinet members and their friends went around and bought up vast quantities of this paper money and of the old state notes. Then, with a brazenness that could not be duplicated today, they forced the assumption measure through congress and enriched themselves vastly. The affair smelled to heaven—but the nation seemed to take it as a matter of course.

Then there were the railroad lobbies. They induced the government to give the new roads enormous grants of land—one middle western line got some two million acres of valuable land, selling it in parcels to settlers for a tremendous profit. Another railroad lobbyist admitted spending $140,000 on bribes on the Pennsylvania legislature alone in one year.

The atmosphere at Washington reeked with corruption. Mark Twain's novel, "The Gilded Age," shows the capital as a city in which bribery and crookedness were taken for granted. The things that shock us today would not even have been noticed 50 to 75 years ago.

The record of the old-time lobbies makes sorry reading; but, after all, it is encouraging.

Bad as our present conditions are, they are infinitely better than they used to be. We're not going down hill. Year by year, our standards are getting higher. We have a long way to go—but, even so, we have progressed a lot.

Supplication

My nights are mine, I spend them as I please,
There's time to read, to muse, to smoke a bit.
I'm free to wander as a gypsy breeze,
To laugh, and dance, and watch the moments flit.

If I desire to try the cup that cheers,
It's small account when I ascend my stairs;
I haven't been so foot-loose now for years.
So arrogant and blithely free from cares.

Yet, pipes go out, and books are read at last,
And wine is not so sweet the morning after;
The maids that I have summoned from my past
Dissolve and fade as quickly as their laughter.
(I wish a girl who left me in the rain
Would bring my chains—and bind me once again!)—J. P. S.

The Retort Grand

Jack Haley, the immensely comical feature of "Follow Thru," offers the one about the young playwright who submitted a manuscript to a manager for approval.

The manager glanced at it hastily and grumbled: "What's the idea of giving me a script to read that I rejected 12 months ago?"

"Because," was the flip response "you've had a year's experience since then!"

Oop!

And Richard Reichenbach argues that the reason you seldom see a Jewish sailor, cowboy or acrobat is that they only get thirty dollars a month.

Boomerang

They were discussing the amusing Bugs Baer again last night and his late wife, Margie Cassidy, one of the grandest gals that ever graced the canyon. The famous newspaper comedian always found time to clown with her and one day between columns at his office he sent her this kidding telegram: "Just thought of a new song title: 'I'm So Lonesome When I With You'."

Mrs. Baer's wit was just as keen. She flipped back this one: "I'm writing a song also. It will be called 'Everyone Has Someone, All I Have Is You'."

In Fewer Words

Herbert Rawlinson, one of the better movie heroes, says the definition of a monologue is a conversation between Coolidge and Mussolini.

In Case You Didn't Know

One of the interesting sidelights on the present theatrical season is the collapse of the cut-rate ticket business. For several years more tickets for the Broadway showshops have been sold at the bargain counters than through the premium agencies or box offices, and so stable had the business become that several managers were frankly cut-rate producers, putting on shows that had little chance of paying their way at full prices but which seemed certain to pay, what with low operating expenses, when sold at half price.

The cut-rate business is running approximately 35 per cent of the volume of last year, which is one of the reasons the majority of the productions drawing less than rave notices are folding up after a few performances. The cut-rate dealers have been using their deadwood boys to trail shoppers who leave their places without purchasing tickets, and the reports are that the bulk of these bargain-hunters go directly to the Broadway picture houses. With tickets for "Sweet Adeline," "Strictly Dishonorable," "June Moon" and a few others unprocurable at any price, the New York theater public now seems to be composed of one class only—those who will pay any amount for seats to the really worthwhile shows and not a dime for the less-than-hits.

Observation

For many theatrical seasons, Earl Carroll and Florenz Ziegfeld have clashed over this, that, those and them. First it was about showgels, one of the boys working himself into a fine froth because the other baited his charmers with bigger bags of bullion. Then it was over Eddie Cantor—Mr. Cantor was under lock and key in Zeigfeld's strong box and dared write "Sketch Book," a revue for Carroll, and appear in it, via the noisytone.

It will now interest, those who make a study of Broadway to know that Earl Carroll's theater bears the name of F. Zeigfeld, the latter's chinema version of "Rio Rita" being the current attraction.

Via Enough Rope

Razors pain you;
Rivers are damp;
Acids stain you;
And drugs cause cramp.
Guns aren't lawful;
Nooses give;
Gas smells awful;
You might as well live.
DOROTHY PARKER.

Nonsense

Solly Violinsky, who has written several of the hit songs, was telling a group about the sitch-ee-ay-shun on Broadway, and how tough it is for actors to get work.

"It's so tough," said Violinsky, "that I know a guy who organized a small jazz band just to play in the back yards, to keep from starving. His band broke the act in at a West Side yard, and got over so well they proceeded to arrange a booking in a yard over near Park avenue, where the snooty set dwell. But the day they were to open in that Park avenue yard it went into talking pictures!"

Nifty

Not all the funny cracks in "June Moon" were unfolded during the new play at the premiere. Before the asbestos lifted on the opening performance, Harry Rosenthal, who proved to be the outstanding hit of the proceedings, ran into George S. Kaufman, one of the smash hit's authors.

"Gee," said Rosenthal, as he cracked his nuckles, "I'm nervous."

"Why should you be nervous?" growled Kaufman. "All you have to do is to go out there and act. You don't have to pace up and down all night waiting for the dramatic reviews to come out!"

'EASY' The Love Story of a Modern Girl

By BEATRICE BURTON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Ann Marie Macy, though young and pretty, is the easy mark of the motherless family. She is forever waiting on her more modern, flapperish sisters, Alice and Jeanne, and lending them her clothes and trinkets to aid in their conquest of the boy friends. The money she earns by painting cards for her father's bookstore partly goes in payment of her brother, Howard's debts. She is hoping to earn enough to pursue an art course. When Neal Forsythe arrives to visit the wealthy Lawlers, Ann Marie quickly loses her heart to him in spite of her disillusionment when she finds him embracing Leota Ingram, the town's bad girl. Her dream of an art course is rudely shattered when Howard, her brother, tells her he is in trouble with Leota and asks Ann Marie to intervene. Leota unexpectedly appears at the Macy home as Florence and John Lawler call. To prevent a disastrous scene, Ann Marie quietly pays out her last money to Leota, who plans to leave for New York. It is the money saved for the art course. Before she leaves town, however, Leota writes a letter to Florence Lawler that brings about Howard's discharge from her father's bank. Howard, frantic, says he will leave for the West, and Ann Marie must raise the money for his expenses. At the station, when he leaves, Ann Marie meets Neal Forsythe just arrived for another visit. Neal explains his letter to Leota which Ann Marie had seen. That night, with John Lawler, he comes to take out Ann Marie and Alice. Ann Marie, for the first time, is jealous of Alice's desire to win Neal Forsythe. Stopping at the Lawlers, the Macy girls are startled by Mrs. Lawler's blunt request that John give up "these people."

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XVIII

"I think that's a very sensible idea of yours, Ann Marie," Mrs. Lawler said, "very sensible, indeed! If John hasn't sense enough to give up his night-time friends the best thing that can happen to him is to have his night-time friends give him up!"

Night-time friends!—Ann Marie gave a sick little gasp at the ugly phrase.

It put her and Alice into the shameful class of such people as night-club queens and cheap roadhouse flappers. . . . It all but put them into the class of the Leota Ingrams.

The scarlet color that had run up into her face ebbed away from them, leaving it dead white.

For a second her impulse was to cry out furiously, "It's a lie. We're not anybody's 'night-time friends.' We're decent!"

She opened her lips, and then shut them, swallowed once with a dry throat.

Then she raised her chin proudly and pulled her shabby velvet coat tight around her.

"Come along Alice," she said and walked out of the room.

Down the narrow hall, past the living-room where she had spent so many lively pleasant evenings, she went and out into the darkness of the side-porch.

The roadster stood in the driveway. But she did not get into it. Not for worlds would she ever touch anything that belonged to the Lawlers again so long as she lived! She was through with them all forever and forever!

Hurt as only the poor and proud know how to be hurt, she went, crying softly to herself, down through the darkness of the street. There were lights in the windows of the big handsome houses that lined it. The houses of wealthy people who had always been friends of the Macy family.

"But they'll all probably drop us now—now that the Lawlers have!" she thought and she did not care.

She was going to get out of this snobbish little town where you weren't anybody unless you happened to be rich and powerful or friendly with those who had riches and power! . . . She was going to get together enough money to go to New York and learn to paint pictures and sell them!

That was what mattered most to her anyway—New York and art school—and Neal.

Neal. Why hadn't he followed her out of the Lawler's house? Surely any man who had invited a girl to spend an evening with him should have seen that she reached home safely! That would have been not only the gentlemanly thing to do, but the only manly thing to do!

A car suddenly drove up beside her and stopped at the curb.

It was Johnny's roadster.

He jumped out of it and came running across the wide parking to her.

"What's the matter with you? Hiking out in the dark alone like this! Come on, jump into the car and I'll take you home if that's where you want to go—" and he caught her hands in his.

Ann Marie shook her head.

"I'm going to walk," she said in a strangled whisper.

"Oh, don't be a sap!" It was Alice's voice coming from the roadster. Not her company-voice, but her loud brassy family-voice. "Come and get into this bus, and stop acting like a fool! Just because Johnny's mother gets sore at all of us on account of Howdy is no reason why you should take it out on poor Johnny! It isn't his fault that his mother's a darned old fish-wife!"

Silence from Johnny.

"Come on!" shouted Alice.

"Come on," repeated Johnny, still holding Ann Marie by both hands and trying to draw her toward the curb. "No use acting like a bear with a sore head, you know."

And, easily persuaded as she always was, Ann Marie suddenly gave up the fight. She climbed into the car without another word.

But Alice talked enough for the two of them.

All the way back to Pleasant Street she talked in a high and bitter voice. . . . She called Johnny's mother everything that she could lay her tongue to. She called her everything but a lady in fact.

"I've always heard that your mother came from the most common kind of people, Johnny," she said, "and now I know it!—No one but a woman who was used to back-fence fights could have done what she did to Ann Marie and me tonight!—She doesn't deserve to have a son like you—"

And she burst into tears and put her head down on Johnny's shoulder.

"Y-youre such a d-d-darling!" she sobbed brokenly. "And I worship the g-g-ground you walk on—"

"Do you, Honey?" asked Johnny, holding her close with one arm.

"—But I don't know whether I c-c-can stand for your imp-p-possible mother!" wept Alice, and she sounded so pathetic and unhappy that even Ann Marie, who knew her, began to be sorry for her.

The old brown house never had looked so safe and welcoming to Ann Marie as it did that night.

The ruby glass globe on the hall light shone as friendly as a little sun when she pushed open the door.

She went straight up the stairs to her own room.

In the darkness she undressed and got into bed.

It seemed to her as if she could not face her own reflection in the toilet glass, after the things that Mrs. Lawler had said of her and Alice that night.

The last thing she heard as she dropped off into a restless sleep was the sound of Johnny and Alice talking things over in the Front Parlor,—downstairs.

The next morning Alice came down to breakfast.

That, of itself, was a wonder. For Alice, who never went to bed before midnight, seldom got up before noon.

For what was there for her to get up for? . . . She was "a marriage girl" just as some girls are "business girls."

Her whole job in life was to get herself married. And the best way to get someone—in her case, Johnny Lawler—to marry her was to fascinate him with her freshness and beauty.

For freshness and beauty there was nothing, so Alice said, like a long "beauty sleep." She certainly never missed hers.

She had just risen from her beauty sleep. But she was not beautiful. She was not beautiful at all. She looked sticky.

Her light hair was pulled back into water-wave combs and covered with a blue-silk net. Her little face glistened with cold cream, and her eyebrows and lashes were pale yellow except for one trace of mascara on one eyelid.

Pinned upon the front of her rose-colored crepe kimono was Johnny Lawler's fraternity pin.

Jeanie's eyes became as large as butter chips when she saw it there.

"Why you're engaged!" shrieked Jeanie. "You're engaged to Johnny Lawler!—aren't you, Alice Macy?"

"I don't know who has a better right to be," drawled Alice. "I've worked at it hard enough, heaven knows!—I almost had to propose to him, myself, last night before he got it through his noodle that I was all set to be his blushing bride. Wait until his mother hears about it!—She won't feel as smart as she did last night, just let me state in passing!"

Then she launched into a long and slangy story about the happenings of the night before.

Jeanie and Mrs. Leezy listened to it breathlessly while the coffee and the toast grew cold at their places.

"And if it was that you was a daughter of mine," Mrs. Leezy declared at the end of it, "you would never marry into that family, Allie! . . . For they don't want you, and they'll never want you; and they'll make it hot for you all the days of your life!"

Alice nodded with vigor. "And maybe I won't make it hot for them!" she promised them all. "And you know I can do it, too!—I'll make that old hen eat every word that she said about me last night, so just write that on your cuff, Mrs. Leezy."

At lunch time she got dressed and went down town to meet Johnny Lawler.

At supper time she came home with a large diamond blazing upon her engagement finger and a bunch of sweet peas fluttering upon her shoulder. She wore the satisfied, sly and smiling look of the cat that has just eaten the canary as she went around the house, showing off her ring.

Alice put it over!

The next morning, while Ann Marie was at the telephone trying to drum up some business for herself, Neal Forsythe came to the house and asked for her.

"I don't know whether I want to see him or not," she said to Mrs. Leezy. "The other night at the Lawler's he wasn't very nice to me—and I'd made up my mind not to have anything to do with any of them any more."

But while she was talking, she was smoothing down the unruly waves of her hair and pulling the front of her smock into straight folds.

She went down the stairs.

On the way she made up her mind not to be easy with him. He had treated her badly, and she was not going to forgive him for it on the spot. . . . She hardened her heart against him.

He was standing in the bay-window, with his back turned toward her. He swung around as she came into the room, and their eyes met. An odd little thrill that was like an electric shock went all over Ann Marie's body.

"I ought to dislike him for the way he's treated me. The thought flashed through her brain. "But I don't because I'm in love with him!"

Silly, she told herself, to be in love with a man like this!—Just because his gray eyes were full of light, and because he had a way of smiling at you that made you go all week and shaky and happy—Absolutely silly!

"I've come to explain why I couldn't bring you home the other night," he said without a word of greeting. "You see, I'm my aunt's guest, and I didn't want to—Well, I knew that I'd get into her bad books if I left the house with you."

Ann Marie gave him a straight hard look. "And so you got into mine, instead," she said. "You didn't mind hurting me, did you?"

He did not answer. He stood there, looking at her for a full minute as if he were trying to think out what he ought to say to her.

Then he came across the room to her, put both of his hands on her shoulders and pulled her close to him.

Ann Marie didn't even try to resist. . . . She couldn't, with her heart beating like a trip-hammer against his, and her fact lifted to his long hard kisses that bruised her mouth and drugged her thoughts.

Standing in his arms, she forgave him for the night at the Lawler's house.

"Let's forget about it," she said, her lips an eighth of an inch from his.

She was like wax in his hands right from the beginning.

Mr. Fox's Educational Movies

"Children, stop crowding! . . . Take your time! . . . You'll get a chance to get into the schoolroom. . . . There's no need of hurrying so. . . . Stop crying, Willie Bemis. . . . You'll get just as good a seat as anybody else.

PHILLIPS

◇ ◇ ◇

"Now sit down quietly. . . . No pushing. . . . Johnny Collins, you'll have to be satisfied with a seat in the second row this morning. . . . You sat in front all last week. . . . Sit down, Minnie Stevens, so Walter Mooney will get a chance to study, too.

◇ ◇ ◇

"What? . . . There are persons in school this morning who are not pupils? . . . Who? . . . Eddie Ryan's father and mother are here? . . . I'll have to ask them to leave. . . . I've told all pupils they mustn't bring their parents to school. . . . And I'll have to ask those two high school boys to leave, too. . . . They can't come back to grammar school just because we have better pictures.

◇ ◇ ◇

"Now the first lesson today will be in geography, children. . . . No loud applause, please. . . . Open your programs and turn to page 12. . . . "Southern Italy and Its Natural Beauties" in three reels. . . . An all-talkie special. . . . Douglas Fairbanks will bound Venice for you and there will be a theme song by Al Jolson. . . . Part two will be Naples with a wonderful trip up Vesuvius with Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell. . . . Then there will be a trip to Pompeii with incidental music by De Sylvia, Brown & Henderson. . . . Don't get impatient, children, you can stay in school all day today.

◇ ◇ ◇

"I want the pupils who couldn't tell the largest rivers of Italy yesterday to pay particular attention to the flight over Italy in a dirigible with Premier Mussolini. . . . And any boy who throws spitballs at Mussolini will have to stay after school and watch a lot of old news reels of corner-stone layings, ship launchings and whippet races.

◇ ◇ ◇

"And Gussie Bloonibaum, the next time you read a sub-title aloud I'll send you home and not let you come to school for a month.

◇ ◇ ◇

"I want to announce to all the children that after the geography lesson we will have animated arithmetic with Charlie Chaplin and then a Noah Beery spelling feature. . . . Tomorrow we will have the technicolor feature 'Simple Lessons in English Composition' with a Roxy presentation and organ recital, and if you're all good boys and girls I may hold school Saturday this week and let you study Winnie Sheehan's Early American history with an all-star cast."

Post-Summer Song

The undertow has ceased to drag
My restless soul away.
Alone I sit upon the sands,
Dreaming sweet dreams of you.
My spirit still undaunted by
The chains or bondage ties,
Would seem to run right straight to you—
Forgetful of the lies. J. B.

William Fox plans to put educational pictures in the schools. If he does so you must be prepared to hear of the boy who says he can't get interested in his lessons because there isn't enough action in them.

And there will be the parent who will explain his son's poor scholarship by saying, "Johnny's bright, but he went to a school where the synchronization was poor."

Mr. Fox also proposes to show pictures of operations by the best surgeons.

PLAINS 'SODOM' IS PURIFIED

Borger at Last Reigned By Peace and Law

BORGER, Texas, Oct. 21. (AP)—Dense black pillars of carbon plant smoke that less than a month ago might have proclaimed Borger "the Sodom of the prairies" more appropriately today suggest columns from burnt offerings whereon the "hell-bent" frontier town of three and one-half years has at last purified its early sins.

The sacrifice which wrote finis to Borger's hectic history was made by District Attorney Johnny A. Holmes, assassinated at his home Sept. 13. The atonement has been instituted by enforcement of martial law, ousting of all city and county peace officers, and the rounding up of bootleggers and other undesirables to break a criminal ring which is believed to have directly or indirectly caused District Attorney Holmes' death.

Unequaled Record

In cleaning Borger and Hutchinson county by use of national guardsmen, Governor Moody's martial law order set a record unequaled in the entire country for quick work.

In a brief 19 days time of occupation by troops, the new district attorney, Clem Calhoun, had in his hands seven resignations from city and county officials, had six former peace officers in jail, and scores of bootleggers and other law breakers behind the bars awaiting prosecution.

In the words of Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commander of 84 enlisted men and 14 officers sent here 16 days after Holmes' murder to cleanse this community, hundreds of undesirables left town before troops, assisted by 10 Texas rangers under Capt. Frank Hamer arrived.

"Roaring Camp" Scene

Three and one-half years ago, Borger represented a frontier town worthy of the pen of Bret Harte. The modern "roaring camp" was in the center of one of the world's greatest oil fields, liquor, which flowed freely with gushing oil black gold, brought blood, and in belief of Borger's new district judge, caused the town to run a gamut of every crime listed in the Texas penal statutes.

There have been at least three dozen murders in Borger, and so far only one murderer in prison—a woman, who drew 10 years sentence.

Today Borger is presented by its citizens as a worthy subject for Carl Sandburg, the poet. Borger's good citizens of whom there were many that throughout crime and bloodshed remembered principles of right and looked to an era of justice, law and order, are now in charge. This mining town with a million dollar a month payroll for 20 thousands citizens, has put into full exercise its inherent civic pride. Its speakeasies are closed and distilleries have been destroyed. Poll halls have been closed and gambling devices are no more.

A complete set of law enforcement officers from district judge to policemen are installed. Civic leaders have been installed as city commissioners.

Former Texas rangers and long time peace enforcement officers of Texas have been appointed new chief of police and sheriff. Their respective staffs are "imported" men of recognized law enforcement ability who have had no previous connections with this community.

The cleaning of Borger has been likened to a Chinese new year celebration. There has been no building up of a huge climax where the spotlight of investigation has broken a bloated octopus of crime, but a sporadic series of arrests and ouster proceedings. Texas rangers, national guardsmen, federal prohibition and narcotic agents and even state highway representatives have taken part in the process. While district court proceeds with the trying of grand jury indictments, the town has been put upon a basis of economic development, building churches, schools, strengthening civic organizations and with law and order for the first time supreme.

Best Joke of Year for Lindy Is Rumor He'll Soar to Paris a Second Time

Boisterous Laughter of Recent Hero at Suggestion of Flight Gives Worry to Reporters, Anyway

By SAM LOVE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Apparently nothing for a long time has given Col. Charles A. Lindbergh such a laugh as the idea that he might be planning a second flight to Paris.

The humorous aspects of a rumor to the effect, which has been floating around New York for some time, convulsed the hero again today and sent him into a gale of merriment, somewhat to the consternation of newspaper men at the field. It has been the sad experience of some of the latter that when Colonel Lindbergh quips and seems hugely amused about something, it behooves cautious reporters to examine available woodpiles.

Aviator Grins

The first direct approach to Lindbergh on the subject of a new Paris take-off was made Saturday, just after the colonel had made some tests on a new Fokker amphibian plane. A representative of the assembled newspaper men was selected to lay the report before him and have it killed or maimed as quickly as possible.

Lindbergh mustered a broad grin.

"I have nothing to say," he remarked.

"But, colonel," persisted the questioner, "this is serious. Won't you say, 'yes' or 'no' to the rumor?"

"No, I don't think I will," said Lindbergh. "It sounds like the same old bi-monthly or semi-monthly rumor. Which is it? Certainly it isn't new."

Colonel Guffaws

The colonel then laughed out loud and chuckled that flights to Paris were not started offhand and drove away in his car. He was in high good humor—more so, some thought, than the occasion seemed to warrant. Maybe he was visualizing another ride up Broadway beside Grover A. Whalen, the reception of another scroll honoring him with the freedom of the city and the necessity of another welcoming flight through every state in the union. Or maybe it was just the effect of the weather, which was remarkably fine and crisp.

The weather was still fine but not so crisp today and Lindbergh gave the new amphibian another workout. He flew it to Port Washington, landed several times and returned to Roosevelt field.

Who's Joke On?

After landing he stepped into his car, which had been driven out to the spot where he parked his plane by a Roosevelt field attache. No one mentioned the Paris flight rumor.

Colonel Lindbergh climbed in and threw the car into gear. Then he turned around and began to laugh.

"Here's to Paris!" he called, with a wave of his hand, and drove off the field.

There seemed to be a joke on somebody, and not on Colonel Lindbergh, either.

Salesmanship Classes To Start Here Oct. 28

Classes in salesmanship and personality which were to have begun Monday night in the ballroom of the Kemp hotel under the direction of C. P. Brewer, of the University of Texas extension department, have been postponed one week, and will begin next Monday, Oct. 28, it was announced Monday.

Mr. Brewer was called to Spokane, Wash., last week by the serious illness of his mother. Her material improvement will permit his return on Thursday of this week, according to information received here.

Classes are to be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday during the ensuing two weeks, meeting at 7:45 o'clock each evening.

Drunken Drivers Told To 'Welch' on 'Leggers

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 21. (UP)—Drunken drivers who appear before him will be sentenced to a year and fined $2,000 unless they appear as witnesses against bootleggers who sold them the liquor, Special District Judge Ogden of Ardmore announced in court today.

Judge Ogden fined Raymond Sexton, 21, $25 after the youth had agreed to sign a liquor sale charge against a negro who sold him four bottles of beer. Sexton left the courtroom with a deputy in search of the negro after sentence had been passed.

LIQUOR CASES FLOOD COURTS

Federal Prohi Complaints Show Increase

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Prohibition complaints monopolized almost two-thirds of the criminal docket in federal district courts during the fiscal year ended June 30, but while the number of cases mounted, convictions lagged behind.

Statistics made public today by the department of justice showed a total of 110,88 civil and criminal cases, of which 86,348 were criminal. There were 56,786 prohibition cases, 1,000 more than the previous year.

There were 47,100 convictions, 1,700 fewer than the year before, but the department pointed out that there was a slight increase in the amount collected in fines. The total amount for the last year was $7,476,800, $173,000 more than the preceding year.

The largest number of cases were instituted in the southern district of New York, where there were 7,816. Next came the eastern district of Kentucky, with 2,945, the northern district of New York with 2,295 and the District of Columbia with 1,861.

The smallest number of cases in any district outside of Alaska and Porto Rico were in the states of Kansas, North Dakota, Vermont and Utah. Kansas, however, with 28 cases, exactly doubled her number for the previous year. North Dakota had 40, Vermont 74 and Utah 63.

Figures for the Southwest include:

	Cases 1928	Cases 1929	Conv'ns 1928	Conv'ns 1929
New Mexico	179	25	123	167
North Okla.	379	231	369	199

When Nature Warns of too Much Acid

MILK OF MAGNESIA brings quickest Relief

AUTHORITIES have warned us so often that nowadays almost all people know the dangers of a diet too rich in acid-producing foods. Dietary experts say the ideal menu would consist of about three-fourths fruits and vegetables—the alkaline producers—to one-fourth of those which produce acids; the meats sweets, cereals. But knowing this, how many can avoid an occasional touch of over-acidity?

Of course, when pain and sourness about two hours after eating, heartburn, headaches, gas or nausea, warn of too much acid, we can diet our way out of the trouble. But that takes time. And there's no use suffering when Nature has provided such a quick, harmless means of relief. Milk of Magnesia. Doctors the world over are united in favor of just one form of magnesia. For over fifty years, they have prescribed Phillips Milk of Magnesia. It is an almost tasteless, milk-white liquid; magnesia in perfect suspension. It is in the form pronounced most effective by the U. S. Dispensatory. Just a spoonful in a glass of water and every trace of over-acidity soon disappears. In five minutes you are smiling, happy again. Its action is thorough, yet nothing could be more soothing to an ailing stomach.

This perfect anti-acid has also gentle laxative properties. It cleanses and sweetens the entire digestive tract without any of the disturbance common to strong cathartics. It has many important uses in any household. Complete directions, worth your reading, come with every package.

All drug stores have the 25c and 50c bottles. The genuine, prescriptional product, with 50 years' experience behind it, is always marked with the name Phillips. So look for it in buying.

Milk of Magnesia is always a liquid. Phillips is the genuine.

Make this price tag your guide in comparing new car values

THIS is the standard price tag used by General Motors dealers to show what makes up the delivered prices of their new cars.
List Price. The f. o. b. price advertised by the factory.
Freight and Delivery. An authorized amount to cover the freight charges paid by the dealer and the cost of unloading, inspecting, supplying fuel and oil—preparing the car for delivery to you.
Accessories. A charge for any additional accessories that may be purchased.

TWO different cars may be advertised at approximately the same "f.o.b." price, yet there may be a considerable difference between their delivered prices.

Why?

Because the delivered price of a new car is set by the dealer. To the "f.o.b." price he adds certain charges—and these may, or may not, be fair and reasonable.

In line with General Motors' policy of frankness, its dealers use the standard price tag illustrated at the left. It shows you exactly what makes up the delivered price of a new General Motors car. Every charge is there; every charge is fair and reasonable. There is nothing hidden to permit a seemingly better trade-in offer, or to cover advertising, etc.

SUIT LOTTERY SCHEME BARED

Arrest of Operator Follows Heavy Business

One of the largest "skin games" ever practiced in Wichita Falls was uncovered Monday with the arrest of a man who had for the last several months presented to residents of the city a plan similar to this: Join the "suit club" and pay $2 a week for the chance to win an expensive" suit for a few dollars. If you fail to win a suit on one of the weekly lotteries, you will receive one when you have paid $48 to the club.

This idea worked perfectly in Wichita Falls until Monday afternoon when county authorities arrested the man who had conducted such a business here for the past several months under a firm name. Hundreds of residents of Wichita Falls had been taken in by the game, entirely unaware that the "suit club" has been a violation of law since 1903. The man arrested was released under $500 bond Monday evening, charged with operating a lottery.

The scheme used here was similar to one which was recently uncovered in Denver, Colo. The representative of the suit club calls on business firms in the city, approaches the head or foreman of the company with his proposal for weekly payments of $2 and weekly drawing of lots to determine the "lucky" person who wins a suit. If, at the end of 24 weeks when payments have amounted to $48, the member of the club has not won a suit, he is presented with a complete outfit. The catch to this, according to County Attorney Wayne Somerville, is that the $48 suit is worth about $25.

The card bearing the contract between the member and the "company" states that the suit shall "be presented to the most deserving member" each week, although this statement is kept from the unwary member and is translated by the company as meaning the person who helps them swindle the greatest number of persons Mr. Somerville said. Usually, the "most deserving" person, he pointed out, is the head of the firm who unwittingly persuades his employes to join the club by displaying the suit he has been "lucky enough to win."

Mr. Somerville has asked that all persons in Wichita Falls who have joined the club of have been paying $2 weekly to the budget system in the hope of winning a suit on the lotteries each Saturday get in touch immediately with the county attorney's office. The plausibility of the plan and the apparent "luck" of persons who obtained suits after paying in only a few dollars has led to widespread interest in the club.

Road Awards Top $900,000

Projects in 10 Counties Slated Tuesday

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (AP)—The state highway commission today let contracts aggregating $953,427.22 on eight construction projects and two bridges.

The commission also heard several requests from highway designations and aid during the first day of its monthly two-day session.

Projects in 10 counites, comprising about 70 miles of construction, are due to be let tomorrow.

The awards today included:

Humbert to Ask Hand of Princess

BRUSSELS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Crown Prince Humbert of Italy is expected in Brussels on Wednesday with the object of obtaining the consent of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth to marry Princess Marie Jose.

On Sunday the Italian ambassador, in behalf of the prince, sent a beautiful bouquet to Marie Jose at the same time announcing the prince's coming visit. An elaborate reception has been planned at the royal palace in Brussels to celebrate the betrothal, which probably will be formally announced on Thursday, the anniversary of the wedding of the king and queen of Italy.

The prince is 25, and the princess is 23.

Stockholders of New Kell Railroad To Meet in Harrison, Ark., Nov. 9

Frank Kell, who announced last week he and his associates had purchased the Missouri and Northern Arkansas railway, said late Monday that future operation of the railroad will be discussed at a meeting of stockholders at Harrison, Ark., headquarters of the line, on Nov. 9.

Mr. Kell declined to go into the plans for the future operation or improvement of the recently-acquired railroad, saying that he will have no definite announcement to make until he meets with the stockholders.

Improvements which Mr. Kell and his associates have already effected in the line include the building of a grain transfer at Helena, Ark., purchase of 10 new freight engines, ballasting of track, and installation of heavier rails.

The purchase price of the railroad, though not officially announced, was given at under $3,000,000 in Associated Press dispatches to The Record News. This figure, the dispatches said, was set by the government in a bankruptcy hearing eight years ago as the lowest valuation of the property. The interstate commerce commission, however, recently valued the property at $11,000,000.

Airport Notes

Plans for the administration building to be constructed at the Municipal airport have been completed by the architects and are now in the hands of Charles P. McGaha, of the Wichita Falls Airport company, it was announced Monday. Work on the extensive program of improvements will begin within the next week, Mr. McGaha said. The concrete work on a runway in front of the building, an apron in front of the hangar and the floor of the hangar will begin at the same time.

Almost 3,000 persons visited the Municipal airport Sunday when a steady stream of planes landing and taking off from the port continued throughout the day. The huge trimotored Ford shin of the Safeway lines carried a large number of passengers on short scenic trips over the city prior to taking off on its regular run at 3:40 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. McKanna landed at the Municipal airport about 7 o'clock Monday morning from Dallas where they had been visiting for the last several days. They were in Mr. McKanna's Travelair J6 cabin monoplane piloted by Burton L. Walker.

L. E. Henson of Seymour landed at the Municipal field about 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon from Seymour in his Travelair OX5 open biplane. He will remain in Wichita Falls on business and will probably take off on the return trip Tuesday, he said.

A total of 30 passengers were reported in transit through the Municipal airport Monday aboard the Safeway and Braniff airlines, according to C. P. Logan, manager of the port.

Turkish Bandits Imitate American 'Bad Men'

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 21. (AP)—Turkish bandits are boosting Mustapha Kemal's program for Americanizing Turkey.

A motor bus carrying 20 passengers was held up near Smyrna yesterday by five men who did not at all resemble the traditional Anatolian brigands, but were jauntily masked in the style made familiar through western movies.

40 & 8 NAMES NEW OFFICERS

V. N. Armstrong Elected Leader of Club

Voyle N. Armstrong was elected chef de gare to succeed Dr. Nerses Manoushagian as head of the local Forty and Eight at the annual election of officers and the regular monthly meeting in the Memorial auditorium Monday night. Roy J. Daniel was elected correspondent to succeed Mr. Armstrong.

Other officers elected Monday night included Dr. W. P. Martin of Burkburnett, medecine; Victor Nobles lampist; J. J. Jordan of Burkburnett, conducteur; W. N. Frank, guarde de la porte; Rabbi S. J. Schwab, almonier; Wayne Somerville, advocat local; and C. E. Dace of Burkburnett, chef de train.

A committee composed of Rabbi S. J. Schwab, W. E. George and Dr. L. J. Lucey was appointed to assist Dr. A. P. Terrell, who is ill in the American Legion hospital at Legion, Texas. About 50 members of the local organization were present Monday night.

Services Held For Mrs. F. D. Malacord

Funeral services for Mrs. Fred D. Malacord, 55, 2104 Brown street, who died in a local hospital about 10 o'clock Saturday night, were held from the First Presbyterian church at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon with Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Rosemont under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company.

Active pallbearers for the services were Ed Bunnenberg, John Elder, Dr. A. H. Douglass, Al Ellis, Leon Taylor and M. Muehlberger.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Malacord is survived by two sons, Leo and Ferdinand, one daughter, Mrs. Herbert Turner; a sister, and a nephew, W. M. Phillippe of Wichita Falls. Mr. Malacord is head of the Malacord and Son Mirror and Glass company. Mrs. Malacord had been a resident of this city for the past 18 years.

MRS. DELLA BURNETT

COUNCIL BUYS PARK LAND

Bus Company Given Permit To Add New Line

A deed on a tract of land, 8.29 acres in extent, to be added to Weeks park was accepted by the city council at the regular Monday night meeting after it had been deferred from the last meeting due to disagreement over certain rights set forth in the deed.

The land was bought recently by the city from W. F. Weeks for the purpose of changing the course of a road through the park.

The council granted to the Wichita Falls Traction company the right to operate a bus line down Seventh street past the Spudder ball park and out Flood street to the Washington school for negroes, the request for the right was presented by L. L. Albritton, manager of the traction company, who explained that the bus line would be tried out for about a month and would be made permanent if the revenue from it justified continuance.

George D. Fairtrace, city manager, was instructed by the council to take necessary steps in having the sidewalk bordering on the plot of ground belonging to Wiley Wyatt at Lamar avenue and Seventh street repaired so as to eliminate possible danger to pedestrians.

The question of replacing the stop signs recently removed from the North Fifth and Broadway crossing was referred to City Manager Fairtrace for action. It was pointed out that school children crossing at that point were in danger of being struck by passing automobiles.

A request from E. A. Nelson asking that use of the auditorium be granted to the Wichita Falls Symphony orchestra for the night of Nov. 19 for a public concert was granted by the council for the consideration of $25.

Supreme Court Refuses To Review Cline Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The supreme court today refused to review the decision of the circuit court of appeals against Joseph W. Cline and others seeking to recover from J. S. Cosden and the Cosden Oil and Gas company either $195,674 or $150,000 under a lease on oil and gas lands in Coleman county, Texas, owned by G. M. Gray and his wife.

Supreme Court Refuses to Decide Tax Payment in John Hirschi Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The supreme court today refused to decide the federal tax which should have been paid by Texas owners of land on money received by them in 1923 from the sale of oil and gas rights.

Under the proceedings, John Hirschi of Wichita Falls, Texas, disposed of oil and gas rights to the Texhoma Oil and Refining company, and in 1923 received for these rights $76,815. In making out his federal tax return for that year he took the position that the money represented a sale of capital assets, and was taxable under the revenue act of 1921 at 12½ per cent.

The commissioner of internal revenue held, however, the money was subject to taxation at the higher rate imposed on income, and required Hirschi to pay approximately $7,200 additional taxes. These he sought to recover in the court of claims, but was unsuccessful, that court sustaining the position taken by the government.

Express Concern's Failure to Deliver Parcel in Dispute

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—The question of an express company's liability when the failure to deliver a parcel prevented the sender from defending a law suit will not be considered by the supreme court.

This was determined today in a case from Waco, Texas, brought by Mrs. Walker M. Long as administratrix of the estate of her deceased husband, H. A. Long, and W. H. McCullough against the American Express company.

Briefs petitioning a writ of error in the case brought by M. E. Martin against Long and McCullough were delivered to the express company in time for delivery at Amarillo Nov. 10, 1921, the senders asserted, but delivery was not made until Nov. 12, too late for the briefs to be considered.

The senders asserted they had been damaged to the extent of $15,000, as the case was decided against them for this amount, but would have been reversed had the briefs arrived on time.

The express company was successful in the lower courts in its contention that its liability was limited to $100, the stated value of the package.

U. T. MINERAL SALES NOV. 1

Lease Bids to Be Opened For West Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 21. (AP)—Mineral rights in more than 8,000 acres of University of Texas lands in Pecos, Crane, Ector and Hudspeth counties will be sold by the state land leasing board to the highest bidders on Nov. 7, Miss Gussie Cottingham, secretary, announced today.

The board has placed a minimum rental of $1 an acre and one-sixth royalty of all oil produced on acreage in all of the counties except Hudspeth county, where a minimum of 50 cents an acre and one-eighth royalty is asked.

There are nine sections offered in Hudspeth county of 686 acres each, the surplus over the regular 640-acre sections having been accounted for by the surveying, it was announced.

Sections offered in Hudspeth county, are 1, 2, 3, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15.

The southeast one-fourth of the southeast one-fourth of section 14, block 18, is the only tract offered in Pecos county.

Ector and Crane counties: South ½ in each, NE ¼ section 2, NW ¼ section 1, NE¼ section 2, NW¼ section 2, NE ¼ section 3, NW ¼ section 3, and NW ¼ section 11, NE ¼ section 12 and NW ¼ section 12, all in block 35.

Crane County: SW ¼ section 11, SW ¼ 12, SE ¼ section 12, SE ¼ section 12, NE ¼ section 14, SE ¼ section 14 and SW ¼ section 14, all block 35.

Children Cry for it
Children hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as it tastes; just as bland and harmless as the recipe reads. (The wrapper tells you just what Castoria contains.)
When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colds or children's diseases, use it to keep the system from clogging. Your doctor will tell you Castoria deserves a place in the family medicine cabinet until your child is grown. He knows it is safe for the tiniest baby; effective for a boy in his teens. With this special children's remedy handy, you need never risk giving a boy or girl medicine meant for grown-ups.
Castoria is sold in every drug store; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

TEST THESE ADVANTAGES
COMPARE THESE FEATURES
CHECK THESE LOWER PRICES

THE NEW Cadillacs and La Salles, introduced a few weeks ago, offer important advantages affecting every phase of performance and ownership. Yet reductions were made in the prices of all models.

As Cadillac-LaSalle advantages cannot be obtained elsewhere, even if price were no object, unequalled value is another factor in their favor that profoundly impresses every one who puts these cars to a thorough test and then compares them with others.

In the Cadillacs and La Salles, gear-shifting is quite different in its ease and silence. There is just one gentle unbroken movement of the lever under all driving conditions—no timing, no tugging, no sound. It is quick, sure, silent. The secret is the improved Syncro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission, obtainable in no other cars.

You will have a similar delightful experience in steering which is infinitely easier than you would expect it could possibly be in any car, whether you are parking or weaving through traffic, because the new harmonized steering system makes it so.

And so it is with the brakes which function with amazing positiveness and ease, yet without subjecting the car to stress or strain, because they are the newly refined Cadillac-La Salle Safety-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes.

Try all these mechanical advantages. Check up other features—the more powerful V-type, 8-cylinder engine; the roomier Fisher and Fleetwood bodies, the elegance and beauty of which are far more than superficial smartness; observe, too, that non-shatterable Security-Plate Glass is not an extra, but standard equipment in all windows, doors and windshields.

You can enjoy all these advantages for as low as $2285 (La Salle, f. o. b. Detroit). Divide this amount into monthly payments under the General Motors Deferred Payment Plan and you will conclude that, in comparison with cars of lesser prestige, the difference in expenditure is so small and the difference in satisfaction so great as to make the choice of a Cadillac-built car well nigh irresistible. Cadillac Motor Car Company, Division of General Motors; Detroit, Michigan; Oshawa, Canada.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Cadillac-La Salle delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

THE NEW LA SALLES are priced from $2285 to $2795
THE NEW CADILLACS are priced from $3195 to $3795

PAVED ROAD BETWEEN LAWTON AND BURKBURNETT PLANNED

WICHITANS TO AID PROJECT

Junior C.-C.'s of 2 Towns Hold Meeting

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., Oct. 21.—Promotion of a paved highway from Lawton to the Burkburnett free bridge to connect with highways extending to El Paso and the coast will be undertaken by the junior division of the Lawton Chamber of Commerce, it was indicated today at the junior meeting of the organization, with representatives of Wichita Falls, Burkburnett and other interested points in attendance.

Within the near future Texas will have hard surfaced highways from the Burk bridge to El Paso, and if an improved road across Cotton county can be secured tourists will be able to travel hard surfaced highways from El Paso to Oklahoma City and on northwest.

Walter Nelson, president and J. W. Ryan, director, of the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, Rex. D. Smith, secretary of the Burkburnett Chamber, F. R. Knouth, county commissioner, and P. P. Regan, city manager of Burkburnett, attended the meeting. Joe H. Davis, president of Burk chamber, also attended.

LAWTON MEN TO MEET HERE

Walter Nelson Jr., and J. W. Ryan, president and director of the Junior chamber of commerce, returned late Monday afternoon from Lawton, where they attended a conference with the Lawton Junior Chamber of Commerce relative to obtaining improved roads between the free bridge at Burkburnett and Lawton.

According to Mr. Nelson, the Oklahoma communities concerned in the plan manifested a lively interest in pushing forward the construction of a paved highway over the section designated.

A delegation from the Lawton Chamber of Commerce probably will attend the weekly membership luncheon of the local organization at the Kemp hotel next Friday noon, it was said, for further discussion of the matter. Representatives of the Junior chamber of commerce also plan a trip to Eastland in the interest of a continuous highway to South Texas through that section, it was said.

Oil Finance Group To Meet Wednesday

Representatives of Archer, Young, Clay, Wilbarger and Wichita counties comprising the finance committee appointed at a general meeting of business men last Wednesday for the creation of deep oil drilling funds will meet Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 23, at 2 o'clock, according to Harry Hines, chairman.

The meeting had been called for Monday, but was postponed two days to permit selection of members from districts outside this county to be completed, it was said. It will be held in Mr. Hines' office.

Marks of Teeth In Cheese Send Youths to Jail

DALLAS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Because oysters, taken raw, don't mix well with milk, and because cheese takes a fairly good impression of human, as well as rodent, teeth, two youths were in durance vile today tentatively charged with robbing a grocery store.

Saturday night a small grocery store received nocturnal callers. Two bottles of milk, a number of raw oysters and several mouthsful of cheese comprised the loot, the store safe withstanding their efforts.

A few hours after the robbery, two 16-year-old youths were found feeling very, very ill in a city park. They were picked up on suspicion. Yesterday they were fed cheese for comparison with the tooth marks on the store cheese and possibly to determine their guilt or innocence.

FOREIGN JOBS LEFT VACANT

Diplomatic Officials Turn In Resignations

By C. P. WILLIAMSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Recent resignations of several high officials of the foreign service have severely depleted upper ranks of American diplomacy.

It was estimated by well informed persons in the state department today that more than 50 members of the diplomatic personnel will have been dropped from the lists for one or another reason before December 31. Outstanding in the recent resignations were those of six high officials of the foreign service to enter the banking or oil business.

Dissatisfaction Noted

The reason generally assigned for the resignations is the dissatisfaction of members of the diplomatic personnel with the present promotion system. Since most members of the foreign service enter the department at the age of 25, it is estimated that under the present system a diplomat would reach the age of 55 or 60 before attaining the ranks of consul-general in the consular service or counselor or embassy in the diplomatic service.

The most outstanding case at the present time, in the opinion of some diplomatic officers, is the status of the so-called "class of 1922," and those following it, whose members within seven years have not been promoted beyond the rank of third secretary, with a salary of $4,000 annually.

Arkansan Resigns

A recent resignation which stirred considerable speculation in state department circles, was that of Stokley Morgan of Arkansas, formerly chief of the important Latin American division of the department. Morgan resigned to enter the banking business.

Others were those of Thomas L. Daniels of St. Paul, formerly first secretary at Rome to enter the vegetable oil business; John F. Martin of Florida, formerly charge d'affairs at La Paz, Bolivia, who resigned to enter the service of a well known oil company, and Myron A. Hofer, of Cincinnati, assigned to the department, who resigned to enter the banking business.

A delay, which causes considerable dissatisfaction in the diplomatic ranks whenever it occurs, comes when congress holds up the promotion lists in favor of other legislation. The last promotion list was delayed at the capitol for five months, and the one previously was held up for a year. In these cases, the infrequent salary raises accorded by the lists are delayed until their confirmation.

"KNOW A CAR BY ITS PERFORMANCE"

This fact has been proven to more than a million people since January 21, 1929. It is undoubtedly the biggest automobile industrial achievement in the six-cylinder field today. To these million car owners a demonstration is unnecessary, for Chevrolet six is a proven product, incorporating all the finer features of higher priced automobiles, and yet priced so low to be within reach of the great majority of the people.

But for those who do not know Chevrolet, and the superior qualities possessed, all dealers of the country are holding open house and offering special demonstrations, in an effort to better acquaint you with its fine performance.

In conforming with the national policy this organization invites you to visit our salesrooms and have Chevrolet's greatest product demonstrated to your entire satisfaction. Whether you wish to buy now, or later, we want you to know more about Chevrolets.

PACK AND INDIANS ENTER INTO TRAINING WITH NEW ZEAL

The Sportlight

By GRANTLAND RICE

Copyright, 1929, New York Tribune Inc., Trademark Registered U. S. Patent Office

Two Main Tests

There will be two decisive battles played this coming Saturday that may have a distinct bearing on any national ranking under discussion when the winter league opens.

One is between Stanford and Southern California at Palo Alto. The other is between Notre Dame and Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh. These are four of the strongest teams football can show for the campaign of 1929. Last fall Southern California beat a powerful Stanford team, 10 to 0. Also a powerful Carnegie Tech team crushed Notre Dame on South Bend sod by several touchdowns to spare. On this next occasion the two defeated teams figure to have a neat chance for revenge. Southern California and Carnegie Tech are both strong, among the strongest, but they are tackling two teams that were hard to take two years in a row.

It is hardly possible the Carnegie Tech has been able to replace Howard Harpster, one of the best quarterback that ever lived—a great field general, a fine runner and kicker and a brilliant passer. Stars of that type are not replaced in any one season—not often in a decade. And Carnegie Tech will find that the Notre Dame team of 1929 is something entirely different from the Notre Dame team of 1928. These two games come on a day that bring together Yale and the Army, Harvard and Dartmouth, Princeton and the Navy. Also Michigan and Illinois. But along the lines of football the first two mentioned will be two of the most interesting and important contests.

Another Tangle

Dear Sir: What to do with a girl who is a better swimmer than any man on his team is the problem velling Coach Barry, of the Brown university aquatic team. Entered in Pembroke college of Brown university is Albina Osipowich, the Olympic 100-meter free-style titleholder. She has asked Barry permission to work out with the Brown varsity squad, since the girls only swim one or two days a week. A search is being made of the collegiate regulations to discover if it is possible for a girl to represent a school in varsity competition.

—OVERLAND RED.

Donie Bush and the Great Shires

Dear Sir: The great Shires, of Chicago White Sox, will find going a bit rougher if he plays for Donie Bush next season. The great Shires will make two of Bush, but Donie will be boss of the team, and it won't be necessary for him to call in a gang to help. Bush is the man who can revive the White Sox. He will run his ball team, and without the aid of the front office and grandstand managers. Donie had some bad breaks at Pittsburgh, but he is a real manager, and the American league is fortunate to get him back.

—RALPH WESTON.

Two Backs

Speaking of backfields, which is often being done just at this time, it is well enough not to overlook two young men by the name or names of Uansa and Parkinson, of Pittsburgh. They made a star combination. Uansa is one of the best running backs now operating, and Parkinson can drive his way through a line with a double allotment of power. And it might be mentioned that he has a pretty fair line to drive through.

The Case of Max Carey

Club owners looking around for a manager will probably have the chance to bag such a type as Max Carey, who, after 20 years in the National league, has drawn his release.

The reason most of them will probably not overlook Carey is that he has all the qualifications for a successful manager—character, ability, personal magnetism, a close inside knowledge of every detail of baseball.

Carey has been one of the best types—one of the smartest types baseball has ever known. If given a chance he would almost surely make good. In another direction he would be of big aid to some club looking for a man who could throw more instruction into the game than it carries today, instruction along the lines of batting and base running that is badly needed by young stars coming along.

40,000 Reserved Seats Sold for Pitt-Ohio Game

Special to The Record News.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 21.—With 40,000 reserved already sold, a sell out for the Pitt-Ohio State game here, Nov. 2 is virtually assured. If the ticket sales keep up at even half the rate at which they are going, it is probable that all seats will be sold out before next week.

It is expected that additional seats will be installed behind the goal posts. This will make the seating capacity of the stadium 85,000. General admission seats will go on sale at local agencies within the next few days.

This Ohio State game has aroused more interest than any other game ever held in Pittsburgh. It will be one of the most colorful to ever take place around this section. The large crowd of Ohio fans, the great Ohio 200-piece band, and the bearing the outcome will have on deciding a national champion will all serve to draw the football fans toward the stadium.

COACHES RUSH TRAINING NOW

Both Teams Suffer From Ineligibilities

By W. G. CHAMBLESS

Two Wichita Falls football squads went through their training capers Monday afternoon out at the Junior college practice field with something like an inspired zeal. The old zip and dash which grid coaches love so well marked the afternoon's session on Monday as it has not been seen since the first early season ardor first cooled off.

Perhaps it was the bracing autumn air with its zestful breeze whipping across the field that sent the gridsters hustling at their practice, and maybe it was the sharp encouragement which Barry Holton and E. A. Baggett administered in the form of the snappiest coaching instructions that they have yet chosen to ladle out to their charges.

Titular Races On

The football atmosphere out at the college field is charged with the excitement of the conference titular races which are now in progress. Not a moment is to be lost if they wish to make the best showing and every mother's son of the entire outfit seems well aware of the fact. The situation is comparable to a pack of fox hounds straining at the leash and rarin' to go. The Coyotes are hot on the trail of a conference title and the Indians are on the warpath.

Indians Gain Experience

Coach Baggett took his squad on the field with a new determination Monday afternoon and put them through a program of new plays and old ones. The team gained valuable experience Friday against the Paris Dragons. And the keen eye of the coach detected imperfections in the work of the machine that gave him inspiration for a more intensive training menu for the boys this week.

Corrects Errors

With these defects in mind he worked toward a correction of the mistakes of last Friday. With one squad lined up to represent the opposition of the last week-end game, he lined up the other squad and after the object lesson fashion showed his men how the situation should have been coped with. An off-tackle play which the Dragons used to such good effect last Friday received the special attention of the mentor. And right here it is wagered that after this week of training the Indian team will put up a far more formidable defense in this department than here to fore.

Bill Laikin Out

The Indian team this week suffered from the academic axe when one of their mates, Bill Laikin, was declared ineligible for the coming game with the Terrill eleven at Dallas. But this item is not giving the coach a great deal of worry. He has wealth enough of reserve material from whom to draw in this emergency. Another angle of the problem is the fact that the Terrill game is not considered a very difficult assignment and the Junior collegians will not be hard put to walk off with it.

Coach Barry Holton faced a somewhat different situation with his Coyote pack. Their next game on Saturday is a battle with the Electra Tigers. Though the Tigers have not the strongest eleven in the history of their high school they are expected to put up a hard scrap.

Pack Showing Results

Coach Barry Holton was his old serious, hard working self Monday afternoon as he hammered home his encompassing program of football training. Fundamentals received a good brushing up before the squad launched out on more difficult plays. The Pack showed the good effects of this kind of training last Saturday against the Quanah Indians. A new line play is being taken into the repertoire of the Pack eleven. And this play occupied no inconsiderable part of the schedule of the afternoon.

Loses Star Tackle

The misfortunes that befell the team in the matter of ineligibles were continued this week but to a lesser degree. Chick Holden, the team's best punter and star left tackle, was the subject of faculty displeasure this week. At least he laid himself liable to such displeasure when he failed to make the required grades in his academic schedule and was declared ineligible for the game Friday. So long as the Coyotes face the weaker members of the conference these losses will not be felt so keenly, but when they begin to buck the class of district 1, Vernon, Lubbock, and Amarillo, they are going to miss these first stringers.

Judgment for $2,500 Entered in Suit Here

T. W. Blackerly was awarded a $2,500 agreed judgment against N. R. Cocke by the terms of a settlement entered by Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court here Monday. The plaintiff was asking $37,000 damages for alleged injuries suffered in an automobile accident at Lamar and Eleventh streets several months ago. The settlement was agreed upon Monday morning after a jury had already been selected.

Grid Mentors of T. C. M.

Coaches Mack Saxon, left, and Harry Phillips of the Texas college in their working clothes. The Miners will play Wayland college of Plainview on Oct. 25 at a night football game at El Paso during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention. The game will be preceded by a massed band concert of West Texas bands. Each band will appear as an individual unit between halves.

Saxon was a star at the University of Texas and is turning out the fastest team ever seen at the College of Mines.

Texas Aggies Will Put in Strenuous Week Getting Ready for Razorbacks

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 21.—Their first conference game behind them, Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggie gridsters now face a week of strenuous work on the Kyle field practice gridiron in preparation for their clash with the Arkansas Razorback charges of Coaches Thomsen and Bassett at Kyle field, Saturday, Oct. 26. The game will be the first conference tilt of the season of Kyle field and will be the Aggies' first appearance at home since their defeat of the Southwestern Pirates in the opening game of the season nearly a month ago.

Porker Game Bitterly Contested

The Porker game is expected to be one of the most bitterly fought contests of the season, for veterans of both teams will be out to settle old scores. Members of last year's Aggie eleven are still ranked by the overwhelming defeat handed them in Fayetteville by the Porkers, while the Razorbacks playing their third year will have in mind the equally overwhelming defeat they received off their visit to Kyle field in 1927.

Special Interest Angle

Of additional interest to followers of Southwest conference football will be the teacher versus pupil angle of the tilt occasioned by the meeting of Klepto Holmes, line coach of the Aggies, and Chuck Bassett, of the Porker coaching staff. Holmes was an all-conference guard on the Bassett-coached forward wall which paved the way for Aggies when they captured the conference title in 1927.

The Porkers are reputed to have the heaviest line in the Southwest this year and a backfield which will measure up to that of any in the conference, and since both elevens boast a fast, tricky offense it is likely that fans who see the game will be treated to one of the most brilliant battles of the season.

Alvan Moore Doing Much To Strengthen Aggie Line

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 21.—Alvan (Bus) Moore, Itasca, stocky Aggie guard who has done much to strengthen the forward wall of the Aggies, has shown much improvement under the grooming of Line Coach Klepto Holmes this fall. Moore, whose 5 feet, 4 inches make him the shortest man on the Aggie squad, was converted to the line from the backfield, where he starred as a quarterback on high school, junior college and freshman grid teams. Against the Kansas Aggies in Dallas, Moore was one of the mainstays of the Aggie defense and his sensational playing won him the admiration of the stands, who gave him a warm ovation when he trotted off the field near the close of the game.

Poincare Reported In 'Satisfactory' Condition

PARIS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Former Premier Poincare who underwent an operation this morning, was said to be in a "satisfactory" condition tonight by his physicians.

"We are quite satisfied with the president's condition," said Doctor Marion using the term by which the former premier and president is generally known. "That's all that I can tell you outside of the official bulletin and here that is: 'Condition satisfactory.'"

Homing Pigeons Freed Over Trainer's Grave

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 21. (UP)—Two homing pigeons were released over the fresh grave of Arthur C. Dole here today in commemoration of his lifelong work of training such birds. Dole trained pigeons for the communication service of the American army in France. Two such messengers were used in saving the remnants of the "Lost Battalion."

The Royal Humane society is being urged to present a medal for bravery to 18-year-old Queenie Smith, of Tottenham, England who, garbed only in her nightdress, dashed into a blazing stable and saved her pony, which she reared from colthood.

GRAND JURY TO RESUME WORK

Hilburn Shooting Up for Investigation

The results of a week's investigation of the fatal shooting of June Hilburn on a down town street here last Thursday morning will be presented to the 30th district grand jury when it reconvenes for the close of the October term Wednesday morning. Roy Grundy, who surrendered to members of the police department after Hilburn succumbed to three shotgun wounds is being held in the Wichita county jail pending the action of the grand jury, plans for a preliminary hearing having been rejected in favor of the more direct action. Grundy, who was divorced from his wife on Sept. 18, told investigating officials that the shooting followed "family troubles."

Several other complaints, filed in the office of the district attorney since the grand jury adjourned early in October, are also being prepared for presentation to the body. Among them are charges of receiving and concealing property growing out of the recovery about more than a ton of copper wire here two weeks ago. The jurors are expected to complete their work within one day after they are reassembled.

T. C. U. Has Coach For Intramurals

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21.—For the first time in its history Texas Christian university this year has a full-time director of intramural athletics—Walter S. Knox, a former student in T. C. U. and a graduate of the University of Iowa.

All college sports will be used in the intercollegiate program—football, baseball, basket ball, track, golf, volley ball, hand ball, tennis, etc. Three classes of awards will be given: Individual medals for members of championship teams and first-place winners; a rotating trophy for the class winning the all-around championship; and the eight men from the school at large who have the highest year's score for individual participation will receive individual medals. Team managers will receive sweaters with managers' emblems on them.

No student who has lettered in any sport at T. C. U. or any other college or university, will be allowed to participate in intramural events. Members of varsity and freshman squads are also ineligible. Only men of amateur standing, according to Southwest conference rules, will be eligible to compete.

Bing Miller Given Banquet by Home Town

VINTON, Iowa, Oct. 21. (UP)—"Bing" Miller whose hit in the ninth inning of the fifth world's series game at Philadelphia recently won $50,000 for his mates, was feted tonight at a banquet arranged by his schoolboy neighbors.

Miller was born on a farm near here and was a star pitcher on the Vinton Cinders, semipro team, before going into professional baseball, where he turned into an outfielder.

Amateur Athletic Union Holds Meet in November

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (UP)—The Amateur Athletic union of the United States will hold its 41st annual convention at St. Louis, Nov. 17-18-19.

Applications for records, championships and reinstatement should reach Secretary Dan Ferris at his New York office by November.

GOLDEN BEARS NEED PUNCH

Roy Riegels Is Great Center

By FRANK GETTY

United Press Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21.—The Golden Bears of California are rolling westward with a pretty fair report card for the folks back home, but "Nibs" Price's youngsters probably are not going anywhere after they reach the Golden Gate.

For these Golden Bears who beat Pennsylvania, 12 to 7, are only middle-sized Bears, after all. "Nibs" knows he's got to lose two football games this season. Stanford and Southern California will attend to that.

California has a great center in Roy Riegels, a fine end in Bob Norton, a real triple threat man in Benny Lom, and a hard hitting fullback named Hickingbotham. But the Bears as a team were only one touchdown better than Penn last Saturday, and that's no recommendations for a first rank football team.

Absence of Furious Attack

Lack of a scoring punch, absence of any sustained fury on the attack, too apparent willingness to sit back and protect any early lead, if any, seem to be California drawbacks.

The big intersectional game of Saturday at Franklin field thrilled 70,000 spectators at the start and rather bored them before it was over. A flashier display of offensive power had been expected from this California eleven, but the Bears allowed a tiresome third quarter to drag out without doing anything, and failed four times on Penn's six-yard mark in the final period.

Penn had two fair backs in Gentle and Masters to lead the customary deceptive Red and Blue attack. Johnny Utz, the Penn Captain, was a demon on the defense, but otherwise Lou Young hasn't one of his better elevens this year.

Game Testimonial to Coach

The game was by way of a testimonial to the late Andy Smith, most popular of football coaches. Andy once played full back and later coached at Pennsylvania. Then he went out to California, and Penn went out twice to play at Berkeley, the 1927 game being the occasion of the dedication of a memorial bench to Andy. So California's coming East this early in the season was returning the compliment. If Andy Smith's memory hadn't been involved, the university authorities hardly would have sanctioned such an early trip. Which indicates what they think of one football coach, in these days when there is so much talk of commercialism.

Stand Well Under Injuries

"Nibs" Price, Andy's successor, has handled his material well, this year, and the Golden Bears, despite injuries earlier in the season, stood up well under the battering they received Saturday, only a couple of substitutions being necessary.

Roy Riegels, handicapped by an injured knee, was all over Franklin field Saturday. Time after time he dove through the shifting Penn backfield to nail the man with the ball for a loss, just when the Red and Blue's delayed and lateral passing game threatened to prove puzzling to the Bears. Riegels was in half the plays of the game, and always going the right way.

Members of the college Commercial club met Monday afternoon at the 30-minute period in the auditorium of the Junior college. Jack Jamison, the president, appointed a temporary program committee composed of Leila Belle Jenkins and Betty Love Rugeley. Henry Barton, Josephine Kelly and W. A. Johnson were appointed as a nominating committee. Election of officers will take place at the next regular meeting.

Assembly Program

Miss Lona Belle Spruiell, senior sponsor, was introduced at the meeting of the May seniors Monday morning at the assembly period. Principal S. H. Rider spoke on the value of school activities and stressed the importance of backing the football team, especially at the Electra-Wichita Falls game next Saturday.

Community Chest Playlet

Assembly hour at the Junior college and high school will be devoted to the subject of the community chest Tuesday morning, with the Girl Reserves taking charge of the program.

Ten two-minute skits, each representing the work of an agency in the community chest, have been worked into a playlet. About 25 students will take part, as well as a group of children from the day nursery and colored day nursery, who will sing.

Pep Rally

Junior college students met for a short pep rally Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Miss Davida Olinger and college cheer leaders organized a college pep squad. Approximately 40 members have been enrolled.

Blue Curtain Club

Members of the Blue Curtain club decided at a short business meeting Monday morning that regular tryouts will be held Monday evening, Oct. 28, at 7 o'clock, according to Miss Juanita Kinsey, faculty sponsor.

Cox Resumes Work With Frog Eleven

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21. (AP)—Rob El Cox, 190 pound tackle of the Frogs last season who has been out all season, today started drill. An appendicitis operation shortly before school opened put Cox on the hospital list. It will be a month before he will be in shape to play, however. Austin Griffith, hard plunging fullback, is still carrying his left arm in a sling and will not be able to resume training for two weeks.

The Frog regulars worked on plays to be used against Texas Tech Saturday while the reserves defeated the freshmen, 6 to 0, in a scrimmage Monday.

Ohio State Sits on Top of Heap In Big Ten Football Conference Scale

By BERT DEMBY

United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—Unlike the first Saturday of play when all games were scored as upsets, Saturday's Big Ten conference games resulted about as was expected and the Ohio Buckeyes are on top of the standings with wo victories and no defeats.

Three other teams—Chicago, Minnesota and Purdue—also held unblemished records, but each has won only one game. Ohio's leadership resulted from a 7 to 0 defeat of Michigan Saturday and a 7 to 6 defeat administered to Iowa the Saturday before.

Iowa Looked Good

In the other conference games of Saturday, Minnesota beat Northwestern, 26 to 14, and Illinois played a 7-to-7 tie with Iowa. The Illinois-Iowa game came the nearest to being a form reversal, but everything considered, Iowa had shown enough to warrant favorable consideration against the Illini.

Many Believe Illini Best

However, since Illinois, Big Ten champion for the past two years, on paper figured as well as during the past two seasons, there were many who believed Coach Zuppke's men were better than the Hawkeyes. But they failed to take into consideration that Iowa did not play the game of which it appeared capable when it met the Buckeyes.

As the teams stand at present it is impossible to figure what next Saturday's contests will contribute toward the eventful award of the championship.

Tie Game No Detriment

Besides the four undefeated teams, Illinois still has a no defeat record and since Zuppke's men won the championship last year with a loss carded against them, they can't be counted out of the running because of the tie.

The one game which next Saturday is almost certain to result in a loss being charged to one of the present undefeated teams is the affray between Purdue and Chicago. Purdue, rated a "dark horse" at the start of the season, looked great against Michigan and the Boilermakers vision a championship. Chicago, on the other hand, unexpectedly beat Indiana, and Coach Stag may have more at the midway than has been credited to him.

However, on actual playing ability already shown, Purdue must be rated the favorite.

Coming Laurels

The conference games of next Saturday find Iowa at Wisconsin, Michigan at Illinois, and Indiana at Ohio State.

Wisconsin, after losing to Northwestern in its first Big Ten game, went into a non-conference affair with Notre Dame Saturday and came out on the short end of a 19 to 0 score. The Badgers need plenty of line strength. The Notre Dame backs at times made the Wisconsin line look like a sieve. Iowa tied with Illinois Saturday when it was fortunate enough to have a placekick, intended for a point after touchdown, fall over on the right side of the goal post after it had struck the cross bar.

Illinois appears to have a better team than Michigan and from play already shown, Ohio must be given the call over Indiana.

Sharkey-Scott Fight Looms for Chicago

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (UP)—Jimmy Johnston, manager of Phil Scott, British heavyweight contender, announced receipt of an offer today from Nate Lewis, matchmaker for Paddy Harmon's Chicago stadium, for a heavyweight championship bout with Jack Sharkey in December.

The match would be billed for the world's championship, Johnston said, and Lewis had offered the two principals 60 per cent of the gate, which the match-maker said would be $300,000. Lewis advised Johnston it will be possible to scale in price of seats in the mammoth Chicago stadium so as to draw that sum, which would mean that Scott and Sharkey could split $180,000 as their managers saw fit.

M'GINNITY ILL

Joe McGinnity Is at Point of Death in Hospital

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (UP)—Joe McGinnity, famous in baseball history as "the iron man," was not expected tonight to live through the week.

He was operated on Aug. 27 for removal of a cancer and has failed to rally. Attending physicians at the veteran pitcher's home in Brooklyn said it was "only a matter of time until he dies."

He is 58 and gained fame for his stamina and strength on the pitching mound. He won three double headers on one occasion in a month and another time won five games in six days. Back in 1904, when he was with the New York Giants, McGinnity pitched in 51 games in one season. He was one of Christy Mathewson's most prominent teachers. McGinnity and Mathewson won the 1905 world series between them for the Giants.

BOND VOTE IN ALTUS TODAY

Issue Would Improve City Schools

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 21.—Election polls at the eight city voting precincts will be opened at 6 a. m. Tuesday and citizens will vote on the $200,000 proposed school bond, which is being introduced by the Altus board of education for a school building program. Election polls will close at 7 p. m.

The board first advocates the purchasing of the remainder of the block on which the Wilson ward school is located. The board believes that the half of block on which this building is situated is entirely inadequate for a school ground and that the rest of the block is needed. Money will be used to put the Wilson and Washington ward buildings in good repair. Along with a program of improvements additional school buildings will be provided to take care of crowded conditions by constructing a high school building. The junior high school can be used for a ward school building, but in addition the board plans to build at least one ward school and possibly two such buildings. Letters endorsing the proposed bond issue have been mailed to all citizens by the Parent-Teachers associations.

BIG THREE TO HOLD INTEREST

Harvard, Yale, Princeton Playing

By DIXON STEWART

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Harvard, Yale and Princeton—erstwhile all-powerful "Big Three" of collegiate football—emerge this week from their early season eclipse and again dominate the nation's football interest.

The brief week of glory is a sinecure in that the prominence is achieved not through the strength of the Big Three teams but because of the ability and glamor of the opposing elevens.

Biggest Gates Ever

Upwards of 200,000 fans will witness the Big Three games. The Yale-Army tilt will attract 80,000 to Yale bowl, Harvard and Dartmouth will play before 55,000 at Cambridge and 45,000 will watch Princeton and the Navy in Princeton stadium. In each case the attendance will be limited only by the capacity of the stadiums for all tickets have been sold weeks in advance.

It is a far cry now from the time when the "Big Three" was recognized as the outstanding football conference of the country.

With the general improvement of football throughout the country and the advance of other schools the Big Three gradually was forced to surrender its dominance. The severing of athletic relations between Princeton and Harvard definitely broke up the organization, and now it exists in name only. Today the Yale-Harvard and Princeton-Yale game are considered important only because of the long existing rivalry between the two schools.

Season Has Been Disastrous

The present season has been one of the most disastrous in history for Big Three prestige. Unless Harvard can turn in a victory over Dartmouth Saturday and complete its season with wins over Florida, Michigan, Holy Cross and Yale the 1929 Big Three teams will be remembered as second-rate machines.

Harvard is conceded an excellent chance to beat Dartmouth Saturday. The Crimson eleven is undefeated so far this season, although it was held to a 20-20 tie by the Army Saturday.

Dartmouth Leading East

Dartmouth has won its previous games by decisive scores and is leading the East in scoring. In Al Masters, leading individual scorer of the nation, the Big Green has an almost certain all-American man, and the decisive manner in which the Hanover team romped to victory over Columbia indicates that Harvard must be at its best to win. Years ago Dartmouth was considered a practice game for Harvard, the competition between the two schools having started in 1884.

Yale will be the underdog in its game with the Army this week, although Saturday's victory over Brown raised Yale stock, which fell to low ebb as a result of a 15-0 defeat at Georgia a week before.

Princeton, although defeated by both Brown and Cornell, hopes to defeat the Navy Saturday. While the Navy has not shown to advantage in previous games, there is little reason to believe that Princeton can turn in a victory Saturday.

Health and Diet Advice

Bacteria in the Body

The largest number of both beneficial and harmful bacteria in the body are found in the intestines. The first part of the intestine, called the duodenum, is comparatively free from bacteria during digestion, but as the food materials pass into the second part of the small intestine the bacteria are found in larger quantities. Whenever stasis or sluggishness in any part of the intestines occur there will be found to be a marked increase in all kinds of bacteria. This is due to an effort of nature to dissolve and break down any thickened fecal masses by the bacterial growths.

Putrefaction in the intestines represents a form of bacterial activity related to the protein material, and the word "fermentation" describes the effect of bacterial action on starches, sugars and closely related compounds.

The intestinal tract is in some ways much like a garden producing many kinds of vegetation. If your garden is properly taken care of, you can produce wholesome fruits and vegetables, but if great care is not used in your intestinal gardening, you may be mostly raising a lot of microscopic vegetation similar to thistles and weeds.

The average person thinks he is doing well if he has one full movement in 24 hours, whereas there should be at least one movement to every meal eaten. If these two or three movements a day do not take place, there is bound to be an over-accumulation of bad vegetation in the intestines. Almost anything which will induce copious bowel movements will keep the intestines comparatively free from harmful vegetation. Even laxatives and purgatives will in a measure accomplish this purpose, but due to their irritating effect upon the mucous membranes of the alimentary canal, this treatment should not be used by one who has a better knowledge of more helpful ways to overcome constipation and all of its attendant ills.

The natural bacteria action in a healthy colon will produce the elimination of fecal matter which does not have a highly disagreeable oder. When the stool is foul and ill-smelling, it is always because of excessive putrefaction or fermentation caused by destructive bacteria. The best treatment to use in cleaning up a "sick" colon is with proper feeding and the assistance of a course of internal baths. The first thing to do is to take a fast for four or five days, using at least two enemas daily and even more if it seems necessary. The diet afterwards should be well balanced, similar to that suggested in my weekly menus. Enemas may be continued for several weeks with marked benefit until there are naturally as many movements as the number of meals.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

"Flush" or Heat Wave

Question: J. L. writes—"Every 15 minutes or so, night and day, I have a "flush" or heat wave. These are preceded by a most depressing sensation. I have had them for about 10 years."

Answer—You probably have some kind of functional heart disorder which makes your circulation irregular. Systematic exercise and diet, if persisted in, will bring about an improvement in your condition.

Eat a Good Breakfast

Question: Mother asks—"Is it all right to let the high school girl and boy go to school without any breakfast? They say they are not hungry. Shouldn't they have orange juice or fruit of some kind?"

Answer—School children often run away from breakfast because they get up too late to eat breakfast and get to school on time. Sometimes they are not hungry because of eating too much at the evening meal the night before. Anyone who is not hungry for breakfast should fast a few days until real hunger returns. If there is any time in the days when one can be expected to be hungry, it is in the morning after not having had anything to eat for approximately 12 hours. The thing to do is to rearrange the children's diet so that they will not overeat at the other meals, and will be hungry for breakfast."

Hominy

Question: Mrs. W. H. asks—"Do you recommend hominy? If so, how should it be prepared?"

Answer—Hominy is a good starch food. It should be prepared by first boiling in several waters to entirely remove all traces of lye, if you use the canned variety. When it has become thoroughly tender, drain and season with a little butter or cream when ready to serve. It should be used in combination with the green vegetables—never with meat or other protein food.

Dizzy Spells

Question: Mrs. A. L. W. asks—"Will you please tell me if dizziness at times and a tired feeling all the time are signs of high blood pressure? I am 46 years old, and a poor sleeper."

Answer—The only way to tell whether or not you have high blood pressure is to have an examination made by the use of the sphygmomanometer, which is an instrument for measuring high blood pressure. The dizziness and insomnia may come from high blood pressure, but one with this disorder is seldom bothered by being unusually tired; one generally has plenty of energy but becomes dizzy upon extreme exertion.

LAWYERS TO TALK AVIATION

Control of Air to Receive Bar's Discussion

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 21. (UP)—Control of the air—for aviation and radio—is to be a moot question at the 162nd national convention of the American Bar association here this week.

State and federal laws, as well as international treaties, are to be proposed and discussed in an effort to secure uniform acts concerning this new problem of modern times.

William P. MacCracken Jr., Chicago, assistant secretary of the department of commerce for aeronautics and secretary of the bar association, will be here for discussion of acts concerning aviation.

Any proposals for law regulating aviation must come before the convention without the approval of the commissioners on uniform state laws, which postponed action on a tentative draft to govern operation and licensing of airmen and aircraft.

Act Approved

The commissioners approved the United States air commerce act of 1929 with "reservations and additions," which were declared by the delegates to be unconstitutional in that a state law cannot add to or change a federal law.

Considerable importance is attached to a report of a standing committee appointed at the American Bar association convention in Seattle last year with "power to consider and report on all questions pertaining to the laws of radio".

The report asks that the committee be authorized to confer with the senate committee on interstate commerce, the house committee on merchant marine and similar agencies to make recommendations with respect to radio legislation.

Commission Rapped

The committee report criticizes the federal radio commission, especially for the "manner in which the problems of radio communication and broadcasting have been met." It names specifically failure of the commission to reduce the number of broadcasting stations and the encouraging of stations to increase their power in congested centers like New York and Chicago.

The recommendation is made that radio regulation be placed immediately on a permanent basis, that the present division of authority be replaced by concentration of functions in one licensing authority and that that authority have a substantial term in office.

The committee asks that it be continued as a committee on communications to study the "increasing problems" or international radio conference in Madrid in 1932.

Arrivals today for the convention proper which opens Wednesday morning, indicate the largest attendance in the history of the bar association. More than 5,000 delegates are expected. Special committees of the association have been in session here for the last week.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (AP)—Early advances on trade buying and covering reported by less favorable weather reports including a forecast for frost in some sections of the western belt, were followed by partial reactions in cotton here today under continued southern selling and realizing. December contracts after selling up from 17.98 to 18.13 or 20 points net higher, eased to about the early low figure but steadied up again, closing at 18.02 compared with 17.93 at the close of Saturday. The final tone of the market was barely steady at net advances of 3 to 9 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 7 to 10 points in response to relatively steady cables and unfavorable features in the weather news.

October contracts sold up to 17.94 and March to 18.54, making net advances of about 15 to 20 points before the end of the morning but the demand tapered off somewhat at these figures and there were reactions under realizing.

Prices sold back to about the opening figures during the early afternoon, but the market seemed to attract more support around 18.40 for March and later fluctuations were irregular. Rallies were checked by further local and New Orleans selling, however, and closing quotations showed reactions of 10 or 13 points from the best prices of the day.

Private cables said hedging had been light in Liverpool with prices higher on continental and Bombay buying.

Exports today 30,382, making 1,671,853 so far this season. Port receipts 96,639; U. S. port stocks 1,972,241.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21. (AP)—Early advances on rains and predicted frost in the belt were not fully maintained in cotton today due to hedge selling and realizing. Final prices showed a moderate net gain for the day. December contracts, after advancing to 18.05, fell back to 17.94 and closed at 17.96, or 10 points net higher. The general market closed steady at net advances of 8 to 10 points.

The market opened steady in response to relatively higher Liverpool cables. Initial transactions showed gains of 6 to 10 points.

Considerable covering developed as the morning progressed with some operators buying on fears of a cold wave and the possible effects of the rains on the crop. January hit 18.14 and March 18.40, or 18 to 22 points above Saturday's close.

The official forecast for fair weather brought out realizing which was augmented by hedge selling and before the offerings were absorbed active positions showed recessions of 11 to 12 points from the highs, with January selling around 18.02 and March 18.27.

The market was steadier in late trading and recovered about 8 points of the loss in the last hour. This improvement was not fully maintained. January closing at 18.04 and March 18.32, or 10 points net higher.

Closing Rally Partially Recovers Losses Sustained in Stock Market

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (US)—Closing rally made up part of losses suffered in one of the most disorderly markets experienced in many months on the stock exchange today. Semi-official utterances from banking circles showing a more favorable sentiment toward the immediate market outlook and indications that insiders were showing more tendency to support their favorite issues accounted for the final recovery. Steel ran up about 5 points from its low to close with net gain of 1½, while Montgomery Ward finished with gain of 1¼, American Telephone gained 1¼, Can finished 3¾ higher and Westinghouse 3½. Radio sold at a new low of the movement and closed 5 points lower despite final rally while General Electric lost 8¼ for the day, Paramount 2, Atlantic Refining 1⅜, Cash Register 6. All groups were influenced in the unsettlement although rails held better than industrials. Money eased again from renewal of 6 to 5 per cent. Turnover increased to over 6,000,000 shares and the tape ran 80 minutes behind the actual market at times. In the first hour's volue it was at the rate of an 8,000,000 share day but selling hysteria quieted as the session progressed.

If there were ever a market that deserved a rally this one does now. Hysterical selling by the public has given opportunity for important covering but the technical position has not been weakened as there has been increasing piker short selling in the last three sessions. Charles E. Mitchel, president of the City National bank returns from Europe on the Majestic this morning and Wall street hopes for a statement from him; believing that such statement, if issued, will be bullish. While a rally is indicated and warranted, however, there can be no doubt that the bull movement sometimes identified as the "Coolidge bull market" and the "new era bull market" has ended with the public again "holding the bag." The break in the market of the past six days has entirely ruined many speculative accounts, materialy damaged others and so shaken public confidence that another broad upward movement cannot be expected until an entirely new bullish stimulus develops. When the important banking interests so desire such stimulus will be found.

Jesse Livermore denied he was working with any "bear clique" emphasizing what has been maintained here; namely, that no individual or group of individuals could so depress security values in such a prosperous country as the United States. Individual bears and groups have made big money on the short side but they would have been unable to do so without the passive and active assistance of powerful bankers who are more interested in international affairs than in domestic developments at this time. "Jim Keene," Hill, Fisk or Vanderbilt never witnessed nor took part in a more shrewdly manipulated market shakeout.

That the market crash is the direct result of the work of the money powers to drive the public out of speculation and improve the bond market is evidenced by banking opinion. Brokers' loans and threatened business slowdown are the main reasons given for the downward price trend. But, any banker will tell you that so-called brokers' loans will amount to over $10,000,000,000 within a few years. Bankers admit also that the only thing threatening business prosperity at the moment is the stock market. Business psychology is made in Wall street, today. Bankers say they are "reconciled" to some slowing down in business but they do not want too drastic a slump as it may get out of hand. While the "correction of the stock market" is underway, therefore, banking support is to be expected whenever the decline proceeds so fast as to threaten too much pessimism in business circles.

Morgan-First National were mentioned as logical leaders of the rally, when-and-as-if experienced. Some buying of Steel, United Corporation, Johns Manville and Remington Rand was credited to such "banking support." Special meeting of steel directors, it was rumored, was for the purpose of closing for acquisition of Columbia Steel. Bethlehem Steel directors meet Thursday and the earnings of the last quarter apparently warrant an extra dividend. Late buying of Standard Brands was credited to the Morgan group.

Livestock

MID-WESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21. (AP)—Cattle receipts, estimated at 156,600 uncovered another liberal supply of replacement stock and enough killing cattle were available for packers to regain the whip hand. A week ago 135,530 cattle were received around the 11-market circuit, and the corresponding day last year, the supply numbered 139,375. Light weight fed steers and yearlings of choice quality steady. Less desirable grades along with she stock weak to 25c lower. Weighty steers in Chicago $16. The same figure at Kansas City on choice 992-pound yearlings. Stocker and feeder trade fairly active. Liberal supplies at some points influenced slight declines. Bulk stockers and feeders $9@11.25. Choice white faced yearlings up to $12.25.

Hogs slow at prices unevenly steady to 25c lower, most markets reporting losses of 10 to 15c. The top of $9.90 paid at Chicago and St. Louis. Total offerings 125,690 an increase of 13,000 over a week ago and 8,000 heavier than the same day last year.

The sheep supply approximated 193,400 as compared with 205,856 last Monday and 153,138 a year ago. Fat lambs were tendered further price declines of 15 to 25c. Closely sorted native lambs in Chicago $12.85. At several river markets choice rangers brought $12.35.

Grain

TEXAS CASH PRICES

FORT WORTH, Oct. 21. (AP)—Fair demand continued for wheat on the Fort Worth cash grain market as the week started, but sorghums were the only other grains actively sought.

Bids and offers on grains in carload lots, basis delivered Texas common points:

Wheat—No. 1 ordinary hard milling $1.28½@1.29; 13 per cent protein $1.30½@1.31; 14 per cent $1.34½@ per cent $1.42½@1.43. 1.35; 15 per cent $1.38½@1.39; 16

Corn—No. 2 mixed $1.00@1.01; No. 2, 95 per cent white $1.01½@1.02½; No. 2 yellow $1.11@1.12.

Oats—No. 2 red oats 60@61c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 54½@55c.

Sorghums—No. 2 yellow milo per hundred pounds $1.64@1.66; No. 2 white kaffir $1.53@1.56.

Sorghum Heads—Milo per ton $23@24.00; kaffir $21.50@22.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (AP)—Sudden late upturns brought about material net gains for wheat values today notwithstanding that earlier the market outdid the season's bottom price record. Buying orders credited to sources northwest, together with increasingly adverse wheat crop reports from Argentina, were largely responsible for the rally. Besides, 229,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply total today contrasted strongly with 6,124,000 bushels increase at this time a year ago.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, ⅜ to ⅝c per bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed ⅛ to 1¼@1⅜c advanced, oats ⅜ to ½@⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to 15c down.

Late advances in the wheat market today were in the face of acute weakness of stock exchange values, although breaks in quotations on securities had much to do with early setbacks in wheat prices.

The amount of wheat in store at Liverpool continued to enlarge, totaling now 7,272,000 bushels, compared with 2,168,000 bushels last year. Estimates were also received today that the 1929 Argentine exportable surplus of wheat would be only 120,000,000 bushels, compared with recent forecasts of 150,000,000 bushels. The Australian 1929 wheat surplus was likewise unofficially placed today at 48,000,000 bushels, against 110,000,000 bushels for 1928.

Corn displayed strength from the start. Liberal speculative purchasing of future deliveries of corn to match equal sales of wheat was a feature. Rainy weather developed over parts of the corn belt. Oats rallied owing somewhat to higher quotations at Winnipeg.

Provisions were easier responsive to downturns in the value of hogs.

HEAVY TURKEY CROP LOOMS

Rush for Early Delivery Expected Here

Ginning of cotton was considerably abated during the past three days in Wichita county as a result of Friday night's rain and Saturday's turnover, but Monday's ginnings recovering to bring the total for the two days up to 365. The county's total Monday night stood at 11,804 for the season.

Preparation rather than deliveries indicated the early opening of the Thanksgiving sale of turkeys at markets in this section. At Electra, an assembly of turkey growers was held Monday for the purpose of formulating plans for marketing.

It was thought here that the government's prediction of a 9 per cent increase in the turkey crop this year over that of 1928 will probably have the effect of accelerating deliveries in Texas. In many portions of this state, feeding of turkeys has constituted a serious problem, and predictions of unusually low weight averages have been made. Growers whose birds may be less than average weight have been urged throughout the country to feed as heavily as possible during the past few weeks. On the basis of the government's report, however, it was predicted that many turkeys will be marketed earlier than was anticipated in the hope of obtaining the best possible price. Wichita Falls and vicinity is expected to produce in the neighborhood of 35,000 birds for the annual Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons.

JUST THE
Baer Facts
By Bugs Baer

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Fritz von Opel, of the family of the same name, startles the world by flying through space on a skyrocket.

Fritz was the man who invented the rocket automobile which now slumbers peacefully and fractured-ly in the spot of honor on history's junk pile.

Fritz's motor car was a success. It was more rocket than car. Fritz reached his destination before he had arranged for terminal facilities.

We do not know Fritz but some day we may meet him while taking a stroll inside a cannon.

His latest and most nimble experiment was in the aviation industry. He tied a rocket to a glider and then touched a match to the result.

When the rocket started zipping, Fritz started zooming.

He was in the air 80 second. Just long enough to fall.

During those 80 seconds he covered a mile at the rate of 60 Fritzes a minute.

He scrammed at an average altitude of 49 feet. The only reason he wasn't drowned is because he went in the wrong direction.

He gained immortality and lost his coat-tails.

The glider, the rocket and Fritz all fell together. The rocket was still sputtering. But Fritz was not.

He wasn't injured. And we don't know who to blame.

Fritz fell on his native heath so hard that nature will never succeed in replacing the divot.

He fell with legs akimbo. With a thump loud enough to curdle the milky way.

In spite of the fact that Fritz is still alive he considers the experiment a success.

He claims that he can shoot himself around the world in five hours if conditions are right.

Witches may ride on brooms and Fritz may sprowl on rockets. But that is not our idea of passenger service.

He gets the same motive power that a dog's tail gets from a Chinese shooting cracker. Plenty of noise, fire and smoke. But very little traction.

That kind of glory means about as much as the epaulets on a governor's staff.

Still, if Fritz wants to blow himself up by placing gunpowder in his hip pockets, that's all right with us. They're tossing so many bombs today that it's a relief to see a man toss one at himself.

HOSPITALS FOR 'JONES' IS PLAN

Chicago Surgeons to Build Chain of Institutions

CHICAGO, Oct. 21. (US)—Persons of moderate means are to have hospital attention of the highest type at the lowest possible cost, according to plans for the formation of a chain of five hospitals costing $5,000,000 divulged by leading physician-members of the Chicago Medical society.

The five hospitals are to be situated at the most strategical points in the city, accessible to districts inhabited by people in moderate circumstances, it was explained by Dr. Charles H. Parks, noted surgeon, and Dr. Albert W. Seidel, councilor of the society.

An outstanding feature of the project, said to be unlike any other in the world, is that the hospitals will be owned and operated by the doctors themselves. Already there are over 55 physicians of the Chicago Medical society who are stockholders in the first unit to be built on the north side.

"By centralized buying, reduction of needless overhead and careful management by the doctor-owners themselves," Doctors Parkes and Seidel said, "not only can the cost of hospitalization be reduced by, say 33 per cent, but the physicians who own the hospitals can be assured of a fair return on their investment because the hospitals will be run on businesslike principles.

"Our plan is to apply chain organization economies to the operation of a chain of hospitals that will provide the sick person of moderate means with the highest standard of medical care at the lowest possible cost. The past practice in too many hospitals has been to give the poor patient charity, 'soak' the rich patient and neglect almost entirely the problem of the patient with a moderate hospital income."

The latest conveniences are to be provided each patient. Radio service with head phones and a choice of programs will be available. Each hospital will have two large solariums. A novel ventilation system will eliminate the hospital odor and laboratories, food service, surgical, obstetrical, X-ray and physiotherapy departments will all be of the most modern type.

There are stars so distant that their light must travel for 36,000 miles before we see it.

ROBINSON AND REED ACCEPT

Senators to Attend London Parley

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21. (AP)—Secretary Stimson announced today on behalf of President Hoover that Senators Reed of Pennsylvania and Robinson of Arkansas have accepted posts as members of the American delegation to the London arms parley in January.

The secretary said Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee had been asked by President Hoover to serve on the American commission but had found it impossible to accept.

It is possible, the secretary added, that the selection of the other members of the American delegation, which is expected to comprise five or six delegates, will be deferred until more is known of the general situation to be expected at the discussions.

Commenting on the forthcoming arrival here for the Japanese delegation to the London conference, Stimson said he had informed the Tokyo government he would be glad to confer with its delegation in Washington before they proceed to London.

The secretary explained the reason for their trip to London by way of the American continent was due to delays on the trans-Siberian railway on account of the Chinese Soviet difficulties in Manchuria.

Russian Aviators To Leave Frisco Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21. (UP)—After two days of fetes and banquets, four Russian aviators will take off Tuesday in their huge monoplane, Land of the Soviets, for Cheyenne, Wyo., the third stopping place in the United States on their Moscow to New York flight.

Thrown out of employment by the popularity of the automobile, coach and wagon builders of South Africa are now becoming automobile-body builders.

SCOTTISH RITE MEET TONIGHT

100 Expected at Banquet And Program

About 60 reservations had been made Monday night for the banquet and program of the Wichita Valley Scottish Rite club to be held Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Maskat temple auditorium atop the City National bank building, according to Rabbi S. J. Schwab, president of the organization. Almost 100 members are expected to apply for reservations before Tuesday night, he said.

Following the program and banquet for members of the club, the Scottish Rite choir, composed of about 35 members of the local organization, directed by Dr. L. D. Parnell, will present a concert which will be open to Masons, their wives and friends. The choir will appear in their now full regalia for the first time Tuesday night.

The program for the evening will be as follows:

Invocation—Dr. Nat F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

"To the Government of Our Country"—Judge Guy Rogers.

"To the Supreme Council"—Nathan Marantz.

"To the Grand Commander, John H. Cowles"—James H. Allison.

"To Samuel Povntz Cochran, Grand Chancellor of the Supreme Council, Sovereign Grand Inspector General in Texas"—Ed Peterson.

"To the Most Worshipful Grand Lodge of Texas"—Sydney Gaines.

"To the Memory of the Brethren of the Degree Whose Labors Here Below Have Ceased During the Present Year"—In silence.

"To all Masons and Masonic bodies of all rites and degrees over the surface of the earth. Honors and laurels to the worthy, health to the sick, comfort to the needy, and succor to the oppressed everywhere"—Eli Morgan.

"The Significance of the Tabernacle"—Rabbi S. J. Schwab.

Battered Body Of Woman Found In Downtown Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21. (UP)—The battered body of a woman, identified as Irene Wilson, was found in a downtown rooming house here today.

Tom Sullivan, a roomer, reported the discovery to police. After questioning Sullivan, police arrested Joe Howard and accused him of the murder.

Police said Miss Wilson may have been murdered by a maniac who attacked Theodore Townsend and Manuel Blanco.

Townsend said he had been waiting for a friend when a man leaped at him from a doorway, slashed him with a knife and beat him. His skull was fractured.

Blanco said he answered the doorbell at his home and that a man had attacked and severely beaten him. Both attacks were unprovoked, the men said.

Had Almost Given Up Hope States Abernathy Woman

Three Years' Trouble Overcome by Orgatone. "I Will Always Praise It," She Says

"After suffering for three long years my health has been restored by the use of Orgatone, and I am so happy over it that I just feel like I want everybody to know about this wonderful medicine," said Mrs. Charles F Phillips, who resided on rural route 1, Abernathy, Texas, while in Bowens Drug store, Lubbock, Texas.

"During all these years," continued Mrs. Phillips, "I suffered terribly from indigestion and stomach trouble. After eating I would have a very uncomfortable feeling on account of my food souring and causing gas to form. I was very nervous all the time, so much so, that the slightest noise would upset me. I also suffered with awful pains in the small of my back, and this with all my other troubles, made it almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. Sometimes I would get dizzy. I could hardly stand on my feet. I was getting worse run down all the time until I was hardly able to do my housework.

"I have taken so much medicine that did me no good at all until I was very much discouraged over my condition, and had about come to the conclusion that I would never be a well woman again. I made up my mind to try Orgatone, however, and I commenced to improve before I had finished the first bottle. In fact, it is really wonderful the way Orgatone overcame my troubles and built me up. Why, I'm enjoying as good health in every way now as I ever did in my life. My stomach troubles are gone, and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. I never have that pain in the small of my back any more, and those dizzy spells have left me entirely. I don't think I ever had a better appetite, and I thoroughly enjoy every one of my meals. My nerves are perfectly quiet all the time, and I sleep like a child every night. I'm enjoying such good health and have gained in strength that I can easily do all my housework myself. Orgatone is certainly a wonderful medicine, and as long as I live I will praise it for the good it has done me."

MAJESTIC: Dick Barthelmess in "Drag," talking and singing. Better than the name. Comedy. Movietone sound news.

STRAND: "Our Modern Maidens." Joan Crawford drawing a surprise hand. Walter Huston, excellent as usual, impersonating Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Grant. Paramount sound news.

OLYMPIC: Betty Bronson in "One Stolen Night." (Where has she been?) Comedy. Pathe news. Honey Hank Harris on stage.

GEM: "Stairs of Sand," with Wallace Beery. Zane Grey story. Western picture. Comedy.

Inherent genius as a composer of music which Dick Barthelmess assumed for the production of "Weary River" will be utilized in the character which he is to play in "Drag," which opens Tuesday at the Majestic. But in this picture Mr. Barthelmess will not limit himself to one song. The assignment has grown even as the mustard seed, and he will blossom with an entire operetta, gorgeous Egyptian setting, large choruses and all.

◇ ◇ ◇

Richard will portray the role of a young newspaper writer in "Drag," only he didn't stay that way. Finding himself married into a family whose members considered the function of the young husband to be bringing home groceries for all his in-laws, Richard quickly decided that something had to be done. The resulting creation proves to be the big hit of Broadway's musical innovations, and it looks like the boy is made.

◇ ◇ ◇

"Drag" has been generously commended for the plausibility of its yarn, and the quality of musical reproduction. The least that could be said for its plot is that it detours around the threadbare subject of marital unfaithfulness, triangles and such like.

◇ ◇ ◇

Walter Huston's impersonation of Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Grant at the Strand theater in "Two Americans" constitutes his fourth appearance in talking pictures here this year, and likewise his fourth convincing demonstration of genuine acting ability. The conception given of Lincoln and Grant reads deeply between the lines of history texts, and is much more intimate than may commonly be found. Huston's voice adapted itself admirably to the slow, easy but confident address ascribed to the Illinois lawyer-president.

◇ ◇ ◇

Another 1929 production which has added talking-screen success to that of long years on the legitimate stage, and which rises far above the over-worked social scandal theme, is George Arliss' "Disraeli." One of the most romantic figures in English history was chosen as the motivating personality of a great play—the play which really made Arliss, years ago.

◇ ◇ ◇

Disraeli, who later was made Earl of Beaconsfield by Queen Victoria, achieved fame first as a beruffled dandy, the understudy of Beau Brummel, famous for his bequest of social polish and manners to England's aristocracy. Surprising his associates at the age of 24 with a successful novel, he became a national figure. He was young, handsome, a fop, an author, and had obtained glory almost equal to his unparalleled ambition.

◇ ◇ ◇

The young Jew was astute, and saw in the fascination which he held for a race prepared to hate him opportunity for political glory. Despite the frequent necessity of facing the trick of Jew-baiting, he was never stopped, and became Queen Victoria's prime minister, made her empress of India, and thwarted the Russians in their designs upon the Black sea and the Suez canal. He is generally recognized as the greatest statesman in England's p[illegible] 120 years.

◇ ◇ ◇

With a career almost as spectacular in the field of drama as was that of Disraeli in politics, George Arliss was provided with the play "Disraeli" in 1911, following a decade of successful work on the American stage. It has proven the great English actor's greatest role. It has been transferred successfully to the talking screen, with Mrs. George (Florence) Arliss cast as Lady Beaconsfield. Arliss' performance against the background of England's sensational political maneuvers of 60 years ago gives the pictures their outstanding accomplishment of the year.

Seven Wichitans On Junior C.-C. State Committee

Seven members of the Junior chamber of commerce were placed on committees of the state Junior chamber of commerce organization in the two-day session held at Dallas Oct. 19 and 20, two of them being made chairmen of their committees, according to Walter Nelson Jr., president of the local organization, who attended the meeting.

James V. Allred was named chairman of the legislative committee and Roy Daniel chairman of the highway committee. Fulcher Armstrong was placed on the aviation committee, Frank Haley on athletics and sports, Bill McKemie on state and national conventions, Jerry Vinson on relations with senior chambers of commerce, and Overton Abernathy on the expansion committee, Mr. Nelson said.

With all officers and directors of the state organization present, the meeting opened at the Baker hotel Saturday morning. The afternoon session adjourned to the Texas-Oklahoma football game at Fair Park stadium, according to Mr. Nelson.

Fitted with its own motor, a church on wheels was recently consecrated before being put into service by a missionary society in England.

SHOOK WINS VENUE CHANGE

Trial Scheduled at Graham In December

The defendant's plea for removal included the allegation that jail attendants refused to allow him to see newspaper reporters or to make a statement to the public. The motion declared that the prisoner's repeated requests to see a representative of a newspaper had been denied. The paragraph reads:

"The defendant would further represent to the court that he has asked both day and night jailer to call a newspaper reporter to the jail to see him in order that he might make a statement in the papers calling upon his witnesses to come to see or notify him of their whereabouts in order that he might be able to secure their attendance at trial, and each time they told him they would have to see the sheriff and report later and that said privileges have not been granted this defendant, which would, in his opinion, have greatly aided him in securing the attendance of witnesses."

Five Indictments

Shook will be tried in Graham on the first of five indictments, including a murder charge, returned against him here. The bill accuses him of the holdup of J. B. Early in the Jefferson hotel in Electra in May, 1928, a few months after he had failed to be reappointed as chief of police there. He is named with Ed Pryor, former Electra constable, and Henry Shumate in two other indictments charging similar offenses. In the course of previous trials here Shumate, principal state witness, has testified that he committed the offense at the instance of Shook and Pryor. Pryor is under an eight-year prison sentence, now on appeal. Shumate is free under bond.

Shook was brought back to Wichita county a few weeks ago after a second murder charge had been filed against him in Decatur county, Tenn., where he was arrested after a sensational break from the Wichita county jail in August, 1928.

FIRE FROM HEATER

Small damage was done by flames which broke out in a hot water heater in a house on Houston street about 3:45 o'clock Monday afternoon, according to officials of the fire department. The flames were caused by a defect in the heating apparatus but were extinguished before spreading to nearby woodwork.

Day Nursery Children Tell of Fun They Had at Circus

Editor, The Record News:

The children of the Wichita Day Nursery beg me to thank you very kindly for the interest of The Daily Times and Record News in securing reservations for them at the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus. It surely was a great treat and everyone of the 48 children who enjoyed it will never forget it. Not one thing did they miss and we are still cutting and painting animals for our circus and talking about them; and of course we have had many Indian skirmishes on the playgrounds, while walking the tight rope and hanging by their feet in an old tire has become quite an accomplishment for some of our boys.

We wish to thank the gentlemen who so kindly say that our little crippled boy enjoyed as much of the circus as the others. As one man said, it was not so much to do, but it made joyous the hearts of 48 kiddies with a treat that will last in their memories for the remainder of the year. And the treat of ice cream just added the finish to an already perfect day.

We thank you again—

The Boys and Girls of the Day Nursery.

Kiwanis Club Eats Frugal Meal To Aid Community Chest From Funds

Tourist rations of one ham sandwich, coffee and pie faced each member of the Kiwanis club at the weekly meeting at the Kemp hotel Monday noon, the major portion of the 75 cent luncheon fee which each paid being diverted to the community chest fund.

With more than the usual time for speakers provided by the necessary brevity of food consumption, three talks were included in Monday's program. Rev. Patrick D. Moreland, pastor of the Grant Street Methodist church, speaking on "This Business of Being a Preacher," suggested that the diet adopted for the luncheon perhaps looked more familiar to preachers than to men of other callings, but that the ministry affords an unsurpassable outlook upon life.

"Close acquaintance and association with men constitutes one of the greatest rewards for the preacher," said Rev. Mr. Moreland. "Sharing the joys and sorrows of others is the source of greatest happiness, and none has so great an opportunity there as the preacher."

Announcement of the program given at Dearborn, Mich., Monday night in celebration of Thomas A. Edison's discovery of the incandescent light was made by P. M. Cordell.

D. O. Chapman of Washington, D. C., advance agent for the United States army band which will appear in concert here next Tuesday, was introduced as a guest of the club, and made a short talk relative to the organization which he represents. Concert tours are made possible by furloughs granted to members of the group, he said, the remainder of the year being spent on duty in Washington.

Police Release Prisoner After Grilling Fails

What police believed to be an arrest which would aid in solving recent crimes in Wichita Falls as well as the capture of an escaped convict failed to develop Monday when word was received from the state penitentiary that although the prisoner had escaped at one time, he had been recaptured and had served out his time.

A severe grilling by detectives and Police Chief Frank Burns failed also to connect the man with any of the recent safe-crackings or burglaries here, they said. He was arrested on a charge of attempting to short-change employes of a local drug store Saturday night but having served out his time in the city jail for the offense, police were unable to hold him prisoner any longer.

"Married Life" Not Worth While

Blames Wives' "Nerves"

"Weak nerves," said a New York doctor recently, "in my estimation wreck more happily married lives than any other cause."

Besides making the sweetest disposition sour and irritable, nervousness is a terrible drain on your vital forces—it saps your youth and your strength and dulls your beauty. What a difference from the bright-eyed, vibrant girl he married. No wonder married life seems unbearable!

But you can get rid of your nervousness—speedily too—and become the steady-nerved, radiant woman you once were. Try the effect of Tanlac after meals and before going to bed, and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you—doesn't rid you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

Births Hold Small Lead Over Deaths

Births showed a slight increase over deaths during the past week in Wichita Falls, 13 visits from the stork and 11 calls from the grim reaper having been recorded by the city health department. Contagious diseases indicated a small increase in sickness during the week, the department having recorded quarantines of two cases each of diphtheria, mumps and scarlet fever.

SADDLER SAYS HE GOT BETTER

Confining Work Didn't Agree With Him.—Black-Draught Brought Relief

Somerset, Ky.—"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for twenty-five or thirty years," says Mr. W. S. Conant, of this city.

"I have often been costive. I am a saddler and harness-maker, and am very closely confined. I found that I had to take something for costiveness, as I would get so tired, or have a dull feeling.

"After I heard of Black-Draught, and began taking it, I avoided this trouble, and am now in good condition.

"I take Black-Draught in small doses, and it is most satisfactory. I feel better after using it. I have recommended it to my friends."

Thedford's Black-Draught is prepared from medicinal herbs and roots, of highest quality, finely powdered, carefully combined and packaged by automatic machinery.

This well-known medicine has been in use nearly 100 years, and its popularity is constantly increasing, as growing sales clearly prove.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
