Soviets unveil arms control proposal

PARIS (AP) — Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev today disclosed details of his new nuclear arms reduction plan and proposed that the Soviets hold direct talks with France and Britain on reducing their independent nuclear arsenals.

Up to now, France and Britain, backed by the United States, have refused to include their forces in the Geneva arms control talks between the two superpowers.

Gorbachev said he was proposing a three-point plan to stop the arms race, with the first point calling for a "total prohibition" of space weapons by the two superpowers and a 50 percent reduction in their strategic nuclear missiles.

Speaking in Russian to French parliamentarians, Gorbachev said th) second point called for direct talks between the Soviet Union and France and Britain.

As his third point, he said the Soviets unilaterally would reducing within the next two months the number of medium-range SS-20 missiles in Europe to the June 1984 level of 243.

The Soviet Union began deploying additional triple-warhead SS-20s at that time in response to the initial deployment of Tomahawk, cruise and Pershing 2 missiles by NATO.

Gorbachev said the additional missiles, whose numbers he did not specify, already have been withdrawn "from stand-by alert and the stationary installations for housing these missiles will be dismantled within the next two months."

Although Gorbachev did not say so specificially, this three-point program apparently contained the same proposals given to Reagan last week and presented at arms control negotiations in Geneva.

An official English translation of Gorbachev's speech was provided by the Soviets.

Earlier today, Gorbachev met for nearly an hour with Premier Laurent Fabius

TESTING IN PROGRESS — Snyder High School juniors Todd Lewis (left) and Trent Martin concentrate on their answers Wednesday morning while taking the state-mandated exit level test at the Scurry County Coliseum. Beginning with this year's junior class, the two areas covered by the test must be passed before a Texas high school diploma will be issued. Local school officials report the testing went well and that student comments indicated the tests were "easier" than expected. (SDN Staff Photo)

Exit testing 'smooth'

Snyder school officials reported Wednesday a smooth conclusion to two days of state-mandated exit level testing for local juniors.

Students were allowed three hours to take both a mathematics and an English language arts test, and school officials reported some completed each day's testing in as little as 35 to 40 minutes.

They noted that for testing both Tuesday and Wednesday, all local juniors completed the exam within 1 hour and 45 minutes.

"I talked with many of the students both days, and a general comment we heard over and over again was that the tests were easier than they expected," said Dr. Tom Scannicchio, assistant superintendent for curriculum.

Across the state, officials with the Texas Education Agency are predicting a 25 percent failure rate, but Scannicchio said Thursday morning he would be "very surprised" if Snyder's results are that high.

"Just looking at the students taking the test, you didn't see any that appeared to be struggling," he said.

The test results are expected to be returned locally before the end of the current semester. Snyder juniors took both exams in the Scurry County Colisem.

Following newly implemented state guidelines, all Texas high school students must pass both aspects of the test prior to graduation.

They will be given four opportunities to take it — twice each during their junior and senior years. The next series of tests will be given May 1 and 2.

Regarding the local effort, Scannicchio praised the preparation work of SHS Counselors Janet Wesson and John Short.

Building year ends past $7.4 million

The City of Snyder closed out its fiscal year Sept. 30 with new building estimates here rising to $7.4 million.

For the 12-month period last year, these estimates rose to $9.5 million, an all-time record for the city.

Exact figures for each are $7,441,525 and $9,593,316 respectively.

The new construction permits issued during September rose to past $800,000, thanks in large part to five new residences issued building permits totaling near $600,000.

Each of these homes — comprising five of six single family home permits issued for the month — had price tags near or in excess of the $100,000 mark.

In addition, two of them are the first above ground construction completed at Snyder's newest subdivision, Royal Cedars adjacent to the Cedar Creek group of homes.

The two Royal Cedar homes are being built by Two G's of Lubbock, the developer for the entire subdivison project. Both residences, located at 5514 and 5600 Royal Court, entail approximately 2,600 sq. ft.

Other new residence applications issued during the month were applied for by Venture Homes, constructing a 2,830 sq. ft. structure at 1508 Preston Trail; Perell Homes, constructing a 1,720 sq. ft. structure at 3207 Irving; Travis and Helen Hatter, constructing a 4,176 sq. ft. structure at 2705 33rd St.; and Lauro Barboza, constructing a 1,152 sq. ft. structure at 500 16th St.

The month's permits included also three applications for additions at existing commercial structures in the city. Among these was the previously reported 744 sq. ft. enlargement of the Snyder Pizza Hut at 3909 College Ave.

In addition, an addition involving some 200 sq. ft. is planned at the House of Antieks, 4008 College Ave. It was applied for by David Fisher.

Interiors of Snyder, 2901 College Ave., made the third application, adding a parking area to the front of its building.

In all, the commercial additions added another $52,500 to the September permits.

Another addition to an existing building was applied for by the Spanish Church of Christ, 501 College. It involves an estimated $8,000 in construction.

The month's permits included six mobile home move-ins also entailing some $118,000 in estimated value. These were applied for by James Clarady, 3010 Ave. N; Mary Laster, 401 28th St.; Delbert Johnson, 1107 Ave. P; Paul Carson, 3101 Ave. F; Ella Chaney, 613 N. Ave. R.; and Lupe Hernandez, 1011 Ave. J.

Ira barbecue planned with homecoming tilt

A barbecue supper sponsored by the Ira senior class Friday will precede this year's homecoming game between the Bulldogs and Rochester. The barbecue will be from 5 until 7 p.m. with the game kickoff due at 7:30 p.m.

The meal will be served in the Ira school cafeteria.

The price will be $4.50 for adults and $2.25 for children age 6 and younger.

Friday's game will cap special homecoming activities conducted all week at Ira.

Friday will see the students dressed in orange and black as it will be "Orange And Black Sock-It-To-'Em" Day.

During halftime of the game, a homecoming sweetheart will be announced. Candidates for this are all girls in high school.

Five-year event due for Hermleigh exes

The five-year homecoming for Hermleigh High School will be observed Friday and Saturday.

Activities will begin as the Hermleigh Booster Club sponsors a chili supper at the school cafeteria from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. Friday.

The price will be $3 for adults and $1.50 for students.

At 7:30 p.m., the drama class will present a short play, followed by a bonfire at 8 p.m.

From 9 p.m. until midnight, the junior and senior class will sponsor a dance with the Hoyle Nix Band. Admission will be $5.

On Saturday, events will get underway at 10 a.m. with registration and visiting at the school. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Local killed after rollover

Services are scheduled Friday for a Cogdell Memorial Hospital lab technician killed Tuesday night after being thrown from his automobile in a mishap which occurred some 8 miles southeast of Post.

Services for Robert Wayne "Bob" Cole, 27, of Snyder will be at 3:30 p.m. Friday at First Baptist Church in Happy.

He was killed around 10:45 p.m. Tuesday after his 1975 Fiat overturned, throwing him into the path of an oncoming tractor-trailer rig. The accident occurred on U.S. Hwy. 84.

According to a Department of Public Safety spokesman in Lub-

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A backward nation is one that hasn't even tried to borrow money from the U.S."

Robert Cole, an ex-SDN carrier who lives over on 37th Street, has travel to lots of places and seen many faces. Bob spent many years in the U.S. Air Force, and his tours of duty sent him into all parts of the world.

Bob isn't likely to forget a face, and for that reason he would make a perfect witness in court. Bob says it's a small world.

Cole was watching TV Saturday afternoon and listened to a Japanese musician who played country and western music. He perfomed on a show called "Texas Tales" which is aired over WFAA out of Dallas.

Tuesday morning, Cole was walking out of West Texas State Bank when he spotted a man across the street by Cox's Jewelry. Cole decided he looked familar and decided to cross the street and strike up a conversation.

As Cole got closer, he realized it was the same fellow he had watched on the country and western musical show the past Saturday afternoon.

The man was Toshio Hirano, whom he brought to the SDN office for a brief visit. A resident of the U.S. for 10 years, Hirano was enroute to the West Coast Tuesday when he passed through Snyder.

The 34-year-old visitor explained, that when traveling, he makes it a point to get off the main roads and to enjoy the countyside. In Snyder, he was looking at the square and photographing some buildings and other landmarks.

The conversation between E. D. Walton and his barber, Bill Emerson, went something like this the other morning:

"Your hair needs cutting badly," said Emerson.

"It does not," replied Walton, sitting down in the chair. "it needs cutting nicely. You cut it badly last time."

Oil field worker hurt

Johnny Vasquez of Snyder was listed in stable condition Thursday morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital following an oil field accident Wednesday afternoon.

According to emergency medical personnel with Aid Ambulance-Snyder, Vasquez — an employee of Kalko Industries in Snyder — was injured in a mishap on a well site near Dermott in northwest Scurry County.

Vasquez' foot was reportedly partially amputated in the mishap.

He underwent surgery here Wednesday evening and spent Wednesday night in the intensive care unit of the local hospital.

In Brief

Atlantis off

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Atlantis, newest star in America's shuttle fleet, vaulted away from Earth on a secret maiden voyage today, carrying a crew of five and two jam-proof, nuclear-hardened military communications satellites.

The $1.1 billion shuttle, the last one that will be built, roared off its launch pad at 11:15 a.m. EDT after a blacked-out countdown and etched a fiery path in the sky as it sped out over the Atlantic Ocean with the two $100 million satellites in its cargo bay.

The exact launch time was a public mystery until NASA and the Defense Department announced it just nine minutes before liftoff. They had said earlier that the launch would take place sometime between 10:20 a.m. and 2:20 p.m.

Soviet appeal

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Soviet Union has appealed to Syrian and Lebanese leaders to help free three of its embassy employees, captives of extremists who killed a Soviet diplomat after demanding that Moscow stop a battle between Moslem militias in Tripoli.

In Tripoli, fighting between pro-Palestinian Tawheed Islami fighters and pro-Syrian militias flared up Wednesday after a brief cease-fire, dampening hopes the Soviets would be released soon.

Fans to rally

A community-wide pep rally to boost spirit for the Ragin' Tiger varsity football team will be held Thursday evening in the Piggly Wiggly Supermarket parking lot.

Players, cheerleaders and the band will group at 6:15 p.m. near the American State Bank and march to the parking lot, where the pep rally will be held.

The Tigers open District 2-4A play Friday evening in Sweetwater.

Vets meeting

The local organization of Vietnam veterans will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the National Guard Armory.

The group is now in the process of affiliating itself with the national Vietnam vet organization. Local contact for the group is Terry Rumpff.

Textile bill survives key test but faces threat of filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Toughened trade legislation to aid the import-battered textile, shoe and apparel industries has survived the opening round of its Senate floor battle but now faces a filibuster threat.

"It's going to be close," Sen. Dan Evans, R-Wash., said Wednesday after textile forces declared they would move to choke off his filibuster in advance next week and push for an early vote on the textile bill.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and other textile lawmakers moved Wednesday night to curtail a filibuster immediately but backed off when GOP Leader Robert Dole of Kansas warned that their timing was wrong.

That skirmish came after the Senate, in its first floor vote of the year on a major import measure, defeated 53-42 a move by Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, to kill the textile bill, currently the focus of the debate in Congress over the nation's skyrocketing trade deficit.

A similar measure is moving toward a floor vote in the House.

The measure has been the target of veto warnings from the White House, which blasts it as guaranteed to disrupt world markets and set off retaliation against U.S. products abroad. Supporters call it the only way to save domestic industries from imports that have cost 300,000 American jobs in five years.

Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., told reporters Wednesday he now believes President Reagan would sign the Senate version of the measure, which recently was redrafted to win new support.

"As of this evening, we remain opposed to the bill — that's all I can tell you," White House spokesman Rusty Brashear said.

The re-draft, unveiled by Thurmond last week, removed China and eight other nations from a list of countries that would take the brunt of import rollbacks required by the bill.

Rescue workers try to rescue trapped boy

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Rescuers tunneled desperately through the night hours toward the faint tapping of a 9-year-old boy trapped for almost two weeks under 20 tons of rubble from an apartment building destroyed by a killer earthquake.

Dr. Enrique Camacho Romero, a veterinarian in charge of one rescue team, told reporters late Wednesday that rescuers were three feet to five feet away from the boy in the rubble of a three-story apartment building in downtown Mexico City.

However, he said they would have to dig out about five more yards of rubble because of the way the floor caved in around the boy.

He said they last communicated with the child, calling his name into a microphone and listening for his knock, around 10:30 p.m. Wednesday (12:30 a.m. EDT today).

The boy's tapping was faint because "it is difficult for him to raise his hand," he said. Workers and doctors who visited the site said it appeared the child, Luis Ramon Mazerati, was too weak to talk.

Relatives said they were sure both the boy and his grandfather, buried with him when the Sept. 19-20 earthquakes ravaged the city, were alive. However, rescuers said there were signs of life from only one person.

The government, in its most recent death toll last weekend, said 4,600 people died in the quakes. Newspapers, keeping their own tallies, have put the figure much higher.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) A financial decision shouldn't be made under pressure or duress today. Put the matter on hold so you have more time to study it from every angle.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In bargaining situations today, you may look to the other guy to make concessions you should be offering. Unless everything is fair, it won't work out.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be safety-minded today if you're working on a do-it-yourself project with unfamiliar tools. Before inserting the plug, make sure you understand the instructions.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll conduct yourself rather well in social situations today. However, a crisis could arise if someone you dislike unexpectedly comes to the party.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There's a possibility of discord in your household today. Handle what occurs tactfully or you may make waves instead of stilling the waters.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You can easily find fault with others today, but it's best you keep silent. If you criticize, your failings will be exposed as well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Continue to manage your resources as prudently as possible. Money could still slip through your fingers today like water through a sieve.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today's events could be rather disconcerting if you don't treat what occurs philosophically. Be tolerant when your good intentions are misunderstood.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Take no actions out of anger, emotion or jealousy today. If you display poor behavior, it will evoke reactions from others that could be even more unpleasant.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You may not be as tolerant of friends today as you normally are, especially with those who are stingy or self-seeking. Don't include them in your plans.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Issuing orders may be your desire today, but it's not your forte. If you show poor qualities as a leader it will lessen your standing in the eyes of others.

Hudson saluted for AIDS courage

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Rock Hudson was a "white knight in shining armor" whose courage in acknowledging before he died that he had AIDS may be the catalyst that spurs worldwide efforts to find a cure, colleagues say.

Hudson, 59, who starred in 62 films including the epic "Giant," and in such television hits as "McMillan and Wife" and "Dynasty," died at home in his sleep Wednesday morning and was cremated, said publicist Dale Olson.

"Please God, he has not died in vain," said Elizabeth Taylor, his co-star in "Giant" and co-host with Burt Reynolds of a gala AIDS benefit last month to which Hudson donated $250,000.

Hudson last public statement was read at the benefit:

"I am not happy that I am sick. I am not happy that I have AIDS, but if that is helping others, I can, at least, know that my own misfortune has had some positive worth."

Miss Taylor said Wednesday: "I love him, and he is tragically gone."

Hudson's wish was that donations be made to the American Foundation for AIDS research in lieu of flowers and because he did not want a funeral, Olson said.

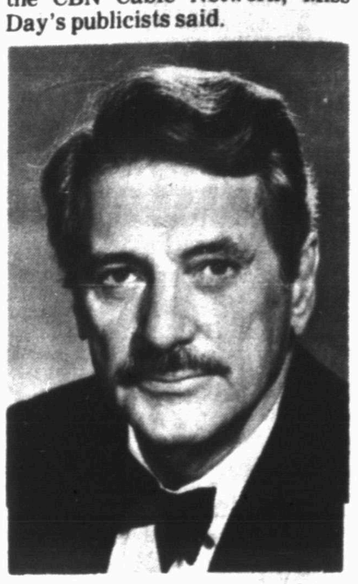

Producer-director Ross Hunter, who worked with Hudson on such films as "Pillow Talk" and "Magnificent Obsession," said he spent most of Tuesday with Hudson and that the actor had been mostly unconscious in his last days.

"Stardom never changed him," Hunter said, weeping throughout a telephone interview. "He never realized how truly great he was.

"He gave the world so much. He was the white knight in shining armor. In all the years I have known him, he has never said an unkind word about anybody. I shall miss him more than anyone will know."

"Life is eternal, and I know I will see him again," said Doris Day, who co-starred with Hudson in romantic comedies like "Pillow Talk" and "Send Me No Flowers."

Hudson's last appearance will be aired Sunday, Oct. 13, on "Doris Day's Best Friends," on the CBN Cable Network, Miss Day's publicists said.

ROCK HUDSON
...dead at 59

In July, Hudson went to Paris for treatment and was hospitalized after collapsing at a hotel there. He came home July 30 for his final hospitalization at UCLA Medical Center, where he was released Aug. 24. He died at 9 a.m. and Dr. Rexford Kennamer, his physician, was summoned, Olson said.

Kennamer pronounced him dead, but the cause of death was not released, Olson said. Kennamer's office said he was not available for comment.

History highlights meeting

Mrs. Willard Gladson, guest speaker, opened the club year for the local chapter of the Business and Professional Women's Club. The group met Sept. 24 in the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

She chose "Celebrating Texas" as her theme in honor of the state's sesquicentennial observance. She emphasized Snyder's quality today by contrasting today's standard of living with that of her youth.

Frances Brown arranged the program and presented a pen to each member as a party favor. Lee Weaver, club president, served as co-hostess, decorating the tables in a fall theme.

Weaver presided over the business session which followed. Ruby Butts distributed the organization's green and gold yearbooks for 1985-86.

Nellie Smith was honored for her 20 years service to the club. Fay McCollum presented the speech of honor.

Clemey Andress gave the Martha Ann Woman's Club report.

During the group's August meeting, members presented a plaque to Fay McCollum for her four terms of service as local president. The presentation was made during a called meeting in the home of Lee Weaver.

A member of Business and Professional Women for 12 years, McCollum has been active in civic affairs. She has donated handicrafts and time to the annual MAWC bazaar and has contributed outstanding leadership in club projects.

She has sponsored several craft workshops and has achieved recognition for her hospitality. A Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary member, her craft specialities include sequined Christmas decorations, embroidery, afghans and candlewicking.

Prior to moving to Snyder, she owned and operated a beauty salon in Loraine.

Because of her contributions, the local organization awarded the plaque rather than the traditional president's pin. Her award is the first plaque given to a member in the local group's 35 year history.

In an earlier meeting, Nellie Smith directed the organization's installation service.

New officers for the year include Lee Weaver, president; Ruby Butts, vice president; Frances Brown, treasurer; Jimmy Cooper, secretary; Elizabeth Beavers, reporter; and Clemey Andress, MAWC representative.

Cutting a vital link

By James Jacoby

South didn't like the opening lead. A club would have made him happier. Then he could have drawn two rounds of trump and played out his A-K-6 of hearts. If that suit split, the third trump would be an entry to the long heart, on which he would shed a losing diamond. As is usually the case, the opponents were not obliging, and so declarer had to try to make the contract after the diamond queen lead.

An elimination play was available. Declarer could play a couple of rounds in either clubs or hearts, and then put a defender on lead with the third round. If the defender could not exit safely, the contract could be made.

And so to work. Declarer won the diamond ace, played three trumps ending in dummy and then played a club. East played the queen and South ducked, but now West overtook the queen with his king and continued with the jack. Declarer won the club ace and played A-K-6 of hearts. East won the third round and cleverly underled his diamond king to West, who cashed the setting trick in clubs.

Where did declarer go wrong? His thinking was OK up to a point, but he erred by not leading a low diamond before playing clubs. After playing the diamond, he could duck a club, win the next one and play the hearts as before. East would be on lead with no safe exit card, and the contract would be made.

Lump gravy will arrive at the table looking just fine if you give it a quick spin in the blender and reheat briefly, according to Family Circle magazine. In another food tip, the magazine says if you've oversalted the stew or the soup, all is not lost. Peel a raw potato, cut it in half and drop it into the pot. Simmer about 15 minutes. It points out that this does not work for tomato sauces.

Delta crash survivor files lawsuit

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The attorney for an Oklahoma City man who survived an Aug. 2 airliner crash in Dallas that killed 136 people says he has filed a $7.5 million lawsuit against Delta Airlines.

The lawsuit was filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court in Dallas on behalf of Ronald Duncan Harris, said attorney Windle Turley.

Harris, 26, was released from a hospital Sunday, nearly two months after Delta Flight 191 crashed at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport. He was burned over 60 percent of his body and suffered a broken leg and numerous cuts.

Harris, an accountant, was returning from a business trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Farmers...

Referendum is controversial

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is pitted against the House Democratic leadership in a showdown over whether to let farmers nationwide vote on two sharply different approaches to future agricultural subsidies.

On Wednesday, Agriculture Secretary John Block used his harshest rhetoric to date in denouncing the referendum plan, repeating warnings that leaving the provision in the developing 1985 farm bill would virtually guarantee a presidential veto.

"Unless we change course, the result will be slow but sure suicide for American agriculture," Block said in a speech at the Brookings Institution, a Washington policy research center. He called the proposal "nothing more than a legislated grain embargo."

"I hate to imagine the dislocations that would occur if a production control program, such as those which are so popular among some elements in Congress, were imposed," Block said. "It would turn the farmers' hardship into catastrophe."

But Rep. Tom Daschle, D-S.D., a referendum proponent, said, "Something has gone wrong over the past four years" in farm policy. "Something has got to fundamentally change if we are going to resolve this crisis" in farm prices.

A House vote on the referendum issue was scheduled today, and both sides predicted the outcome would be close.

The farm bill now before the House calls for annual reductions in crop loan rates for wheat, corn, cotton and rice to bring them more into line with world prices and restore health to the U.S. farm export market. The income farmers lose through the lower supports would be made up with larger income subsidies, known as "deficiency payments."

But with the referendum — a version of which also is included in the pending Senate farm bill — grain farmers could choose instead a course that would be almost directly the opposite. If 60 percent of producers vote "yes," they would get higher price guarantees but agree to produce less.

The House referendum, sponsored by Rep. Berkley Bedell, D-Iowa, also includes a requirement that farmers participate in the program if they want to be able to sell their grain domestically. Farmers who do not sign up would be required to either feed their grain to their own livestock or sell it overseas.

Life depends on electricity

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — This is a pretty bizarre question. What happens to a person when he get electrocuted?

DEAR READER — A great many bioelectrical events happen when a living body is subjected to high-voltage electricity. The human system is, for all practical purposes, a bag of salt water containing variously charged particles. So, one of the effects of electrical stimulation is migration of particles, much the same way an electroplating process separates elements in a mineral bath. Another effect is severe burns where the electrical charge enters the body and exits from it.

However, the main effect of electrocution is the sudden interruption of all electrical circuitry in the system. We depend on tiny electrical charges to live; the heart is powered by a natural pacemaker, and the brain and all living tissue use minuscule electrical currents to function. A massive electrical jolt will override all lesser circuits, causing systemic short-circuiting and blackout.

The controlled use of electricity is actually beneficial in certain medical situations. Delivery of a current to the heart alone can stop it (before open-heart surgery), start it up again (after surgery) and sometimes re-regulate the heartbeat (defibrillation) after a heart attack or other cardiac trauma. High voltage applied to the brain alone is called electroshock therapy and can be useful in treating certain forms of severe depression.

Electrocution usually causes death by stopping the heart and totally disrupting all brain activity. It's interesting that short-lived high-voltage electrical currents — like lightning — cause "death," but if the victim is immediately resuscitated, he may "return," in most cases, none the worse for wear.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Sometimes when a doctor prescribes a drug, he doesn't bother to tell you the whole story: side effects, whether to take it on a full or empty stomach, what foods interfere with absorption, etc. Are there any good sources for that information that might be available at my local library?

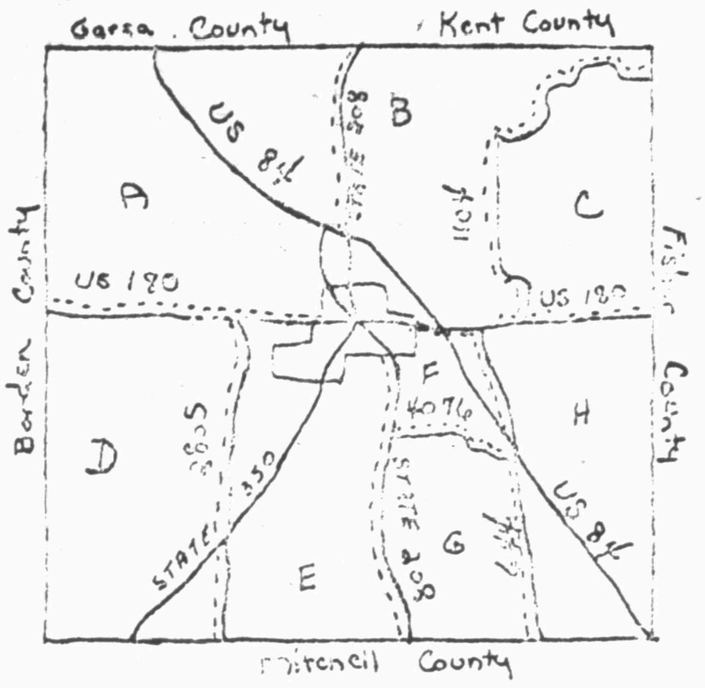

DEAR READER — The best resource for finding out about drugs is your local pharmacist. These professionals are knowledgeable about the medicines they sell and are usually quite willing to discuss the issues you have raised. In addition, all prescription drugs are supplied with an extensive review, called the package insert, which is yours for the asking when you fill your prescription.

Information about medicines is also available in a compendium of modern drugs — "The Physicians' Desk Reference" — and in a publication called The Medical Letter. Finally, you may actually write the manufacturer of the drug; each company has the equivilent of a consumer-relations department, which will send you data about its products.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Trap catches said 'slightly higher'

By DEANNA MYERS
County Entomologist

Each fall cotton boll weevil pheromone traps are baited and checked on a weekly basis in Scurry County to get a general indication of the late-season build-up of boll weevils. The table which accompanies this story shows trap catches for traps checked 9-23 through 9-27 for 1982-1985. Trap catches for 1985 are running slightly higher than 1984, but lower than 1983 or 1982. Traps are run in each of the eight areas of the county with a total of 284 traps. The accpmpanying map shows how this county is divided.

This project is part of the Scurry County Pest Management Program, a cooperative program between the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Scurry County Producers Association. Julian Jones is paid to mónitor the boll weevil traps by the Scurry County Producers Association Board whose president is David Kattes. Jones is supervised by Deanna Myers, Extension Agent-Entomology (PM).

The bait used in the traps is a synthetic aggregate pheromone which mimics an odor which boll weevils natually give off. In the fall, boll weevils leave the fields they colonized in the spring when the cotton begins to "cut out" or stop actively producing squares.

They will search for cotton which is actively squaring and when they locate an attractive area will give off this pheromone or odor

As the weather cools off they will go into overwintering quarters which is underneath leaf or other vegetative build-up. Diapause is the term given to describe boll weevil adult entering overwintering quarters. In a bear, this activity would be called hibernation. The following spring the weevils would emerge to begin feeding on the cotton.

Some winters are harder for boll weevils than others. If the winter is very cold and dry, it is harder on the weevil than if it is cold and wet. During the winter of 1984 we received some very cold temperatures, but we had a snow cover during that time period. This snow cover provided insulation for the boll weevil. It was much warmer under the snow than above it. So, most of the weevils going into overwintering survived. Fortunately, the number of weevils going into overwintering in the fall of 1984 was low.

Weevils-wise a cold, dry winter would be to our advantage in further delaying a weevil build-up to 1983 numbers.

Can't collect on burned home

AUSTIN (AP) — The 3rd Court of Appeals in a 2-1 decision Wednesday held that Betty Kulubis was not entitled to collect on a homeowners insurance policy after her estranged husband burned the mobile home in which they had lived.

The cash value of the insured property at the time of loss, June 26, 1982, was $21,000, but Texas Farm Bureau Underwriters Insurance Co. denied liability and refused to pay the claim.

Southern states prison heads are considering private help

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas and other Southern states say they may have to turn to private business for help in handling the money and personnel crises they all face with prison systems.

"I believe it is not a fad, it is here to stay," Terrell Blodgett, a governmental research expert at the University of Texas, told the closing session of the Southern Legislative Conference's Fiscal Affairs and Government Organization Committee.

Blodgett heads a staff studying Texas' possible use of private business in the state's overcrowded and costly prison system. They will report to the 1987 Legislature.

J. Floyd Glisson, director of a non-profit private corportation that is operating 46 industries of the Florida prison system, said one year's operation by the private sector produced a $2.5 million profit for the state.

"We are saving our taxpayers' money, and we feel the program is very effective," Glisson said.

Both speakers were on a SLC panel discussing problems of prison systems in the 15 Southern states.

Richard Delahoussaye, legislative fiscal analyst of Louisiana, said a survey of 12 Southern states showed their prison systems cost $509 million to operate in 1975-76 and $2.9 billion in 1985-86. The Southern states had an adult prison population of 93,315 in 1975 and 187,291 in 1985.

Texas has 37,500 of the inmates, Blodgett said.

Lump gravy will arrive at the table looking just fine if you give it a quick spin in the blender and reheat briefly, according to Family Circle magazine. In another food tip, the magazine says if you've oversalted the stew or the soup, all is not lost. Peel a raw potato, cut it in half and drop it into the pot. Simmer about 15 minutes. It points out that this does not work for tomato sauces.

Dodgers wrapup NL West; Cards, Mets fight for East

by The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers have a date in the National League playoffs for the third time in the last five seasons. Now, all that remains to be decided is with whom - the St. Louis Cardinals or the New York Mets.

That issue was further clouded Wednesday night when Dwight Gooden whipped Joaquin Andujar in a battle of 20-game winners as the Mets beat the Cardinals for the second straight night to move within a game of St. Louis in the NL East. The Mets, who beat the Cardinals 1-0 in 11 innings Tuesday night, hung a 5-2 defeat on St. Louis. They meet again tonight with New York sending Rick Aguilera, 10-6, against Danny Cox, 17-9.

The Dodgers clinched their fifth NL West crown in Manager Tom Lasorda's nine years at the helm when San Diego beat Cincinnati 5-4. That set off a mid-game celebration at Dodger Stadium where Los Angeles was in the process of beating Atlanta 9-3.

Elsewhere in the NL, it was Houston 7, San Francisco 2; Pittsburgh 9, Chicago 4; Montreal 3, Philadelphia 1 in the first game of a doubleheader and Philadelphia 3, Montreal 2 in the nightcap.

Mets 5, Cardinals 2

"I thought I pitched an outstanding ballgame, if you scratch that last inning," Gooden said.

Gooden, 24-4, took a 5-1 lead into the ninth inning, having allowed seven hits while the Mets mauled Joaquin Andujar, who fell to 21-11. But with two out, Gooden issued two of his four walks and gave up a run-scoring single to Vince Coleman.

Willie McGee then hit a ground single to Wally Backman behind the second-base bag to fill the bases. But Gooden retired Tom Herr on a hard liner directly at Backman.

George Foster had three hits for the Mets, including his 21st homer leading off the seventh.

Gooden, with 18 victories in his last 19 decisions, struck out 10.

Dodgers 9, Braves 3

"It's just fantastic," said Orel Hershiser, who won for the 11th straight time. "We wanted to win this game regardless of what happened in San Diego. I was standing on first base when they flashed up the Padres had won. It was very intense. I love it."

Hershiser, 19-3 and unbeaten since July 7, limited the Braves to four hits and one run, striking out seven in six innings.

Kansas City, California tied once more in American West

by The Associated Press

For the eighth time in two weeks, the Kansas City Royals and California Angels are dead even in the American League West.

Bud Black pulled out of a slump to throw a three-hitter and George Brett beat out a three-run, inside-the-park homer Wednesday night as the Royals posted a 4-0 victory over the Angels and pulled back into a tie for first place with one game left in their four-game series at Kansas City.

In the AL East, the New York Yankees' 1-0 loss to Milwaukee wasn't as costly as it could have been, but they did miss out on an opportunity to whittle away at the four games separating them from first-place Toronto, a 4-2 loser in Detroit Wednesday night.

In other games, the Cleveland Indians shelled the Seattle Mariners 12-2, the Oakland A's routed the Texas Rangers 14-3, and the Minnesota Twins beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1. The Boston Red Sox game at Baltimore was rained out - a doubleheader is scheduled tonight.

Black, 10-15, started the season as the team's ace but was almost removed from the Kansas City rotation by midseason. He turned in his finest performance of the season Wednesday night in the Royals' biggest game to date, allowing only one man as far as second base.

"What more can you ask of a man?" asked Kansas City Manager Dick Howser. "That was a redeemer. That's what that was."

California, which went to Kansas City with a one-game lead, throws Don Sutton, 15-9, against Danny Jackson, 13-12, tonight.

If the two teams are still tied Sunday night, after the Angels play three games in Texas and the Royals three against the A's, they'll have a one-game playoff in Kansas City Monday night.

Tigers 4, Blue Jays 2

"The only good thing" to happen to the Blue Jays Wednesday night was the Yankees' loss, Toronto Manager Bobby Cox said.

NFL, FBI looking at Cowboys' past

DALLAS (AP) - Three-year-old allegations involving drugs and point shaving by certain members of the Dallas Cowboys are being investigated by the National Football League while the FBI conducts a probe into its handling of the original case.

The allegations - that five current and former Dallas Cowboys fixed football games in exchange for cocaine - surfaced in 1982 but were ignored by the FBI because officials felt the information was too sketchy. A spokesman for the bureau said it will investigate the handling of the case by its agents.

"I hope the NFL and FBI investigate it and do it quick," Cowboys President Tex Schramm said. "It indicates five Cowboys were involved but doesn't even name them.

"We're helpless now ... every member on the team will be suspect. We're all under a cloud.

"People will see the headlines and think the Cowboys were involved in cocaine and point shaving. But when it's cleared up it won't get the same space or attention - and it will be cleared up," he said.

Dallas FBI Supervisory Agent Jim Siano said he received the report in February 1983 and filed it away without ever showing it to his superiors or conducting an investigation because the information was too vague to be useful.

NFL spokesman Joe Browne said the league had learned of the allegations about a week ago.

"We are in the process of reviewing them as we routinely do with reports or rumors of this type," he said.

The News said the statements about the Cowboys were contained in a December 1982 report by former FBI Special Agent Daniel Mitrione, who then was in good standing with the agency but has since pleaded guilty in Miami to federal charges of bribery, conspiracy and possession of cocaine with intent to distribute.

"I think that tells you something about the story right there," said Schramm. "Nobody believes a thing this guy says. The whole thing is ridiculous."

TCU's Brewer got as much as $1,500

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - One of seven players kicked off the Texas Christian University football team for taking payments from boosters said his "salary" ranged up to $1,500 a month, in addition to bonus payments he got when he made a big play.

Ron Zell Brewer, who played both as a defensive end and tight end, said he received between $200 and $1,500 a month from a Fort Worth land developer, and later received payments mailed to him or delivered by messenger, according to today's editions of USA Today and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

"I was getting so much money that I thought the college level was pretty good," the fifth-year senior from Dallas said. "I felt like I might like to stay an extra year."

Brewer identified his cash source as TCU alumnus J.C. Williams, who the Star-Telegram tried unsuccessfully to reach for 10 days and who The Associated Press could not contact today.

Williams was involved in TCU recruiting efforts while Fred Taylor was coach from 1967-70 and then resurfaced in recruiting under F.A. Dry from 1977-82, the Star-Telegram said.

Brewer said players become accustomed to boosters during recruiting. He said the schools he visited - Texas, Texas Tech, Baylor and TCU - all hinted at what payments he might get.

"Each one of them did. They don't come right out and offer you anything. They say things like, 'I'll bet you'd like a nice pair of boots like I've got on,'" Brewer said.

He said he received $2,500 when he signed a letter of intent to attend TCU. Then he got $200 a month from his booster until Jim Wacker became head coach in November 1982. Thereafter, he received $1,500 per semester in cash.

"After Wacker came in, my booster said he couldn't pay me any more. But I started getting money through the mail," Brewer said.

Those payments would come to his dorm room, a Post Office box, or by student messenger, he said.

SMU finds 7 scholarships

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist, trying to weather NCAA sanctions against its football program, has come up with seven scholarships and will try to sign that number of players before Jan. 1, school officials say.

The NCAA and the Southwest Conference told SMU officials they can award the scholarships because the Mustangs are seven short of the NCAA limit of 95 football scholarships, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

SMU must sign the players before the new year, and the athletes also must enroll for the spring semester, which begins in January.

The NCAA put SMU on probation in August for recruiting violations. The Mustangs lost all their scholarships in 1986 and can award only 15 of a possible 30 scholarships in 1987.

The team signed 17 players to letters of intent in February for a total of 94 players on scholarship, one short of the NCAA limit. Six other scholarships have become available, the Times Herald said.

"We're not going to roll over and play dead by any stretch of the imagination," SMU recruiting coordinator Henry Lee Parker said. "We don't look at this as a hopeless cause."

Three posts opened when players injured last season were told by their doctors not to play football again.

Two more opened when a recent graduate chose not to use his final year of eligibility and a freshman redshirt forfeited his scholarship by not returning to SMU. Another scholarship became available when recruit Kevin Batiste opted for a professional baseball contract.

With those scholarships available and plans to attract walk-ons during the upcoming recruiting season, SMU hopes to weather the NCAA sanctions and remain competitive when the lean years hit in 1987-88.

SMU coach Bobby Collins also says he may red-shirt the entire freshman class from the past recruiting season.

UT-OU game time changed

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - University of Oklahoma officials have moved up the scheduled kickoff for the Oct. 12 football game between Oklahoma and Texas to permit limited television telecasts.

Oklahoma athletic director Wade Walker said Wednesday that the game would begin at 12:05 p.m. and that Texas apparently will sell its telecast rights to a pay-per-view system.

Bids for a single, live, over-the-air telecast and a single pay-per-view telecast are to be accepted until 11 a.m. Friday. A decision is to be made later that day, said Mike Treps, Oklahoma sports information director.

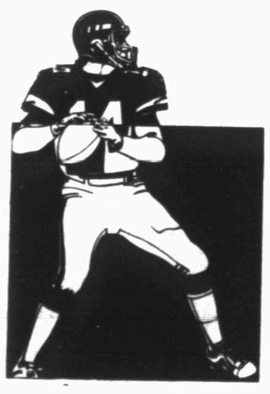

The efforts came after ABC television officials announced they would televise the Penn State-Alabama game on Oct. 12. Texas and Oklahoma officials declined to move the game to a night start so it possibly could be televised on ESPN.

Flag football meeting at 8

A meeting for anyone interested in playing flag football has been scheduled for 8 this evening in the Scurry County Boy's Club building.

The league will begin play on Nov. 15.

All-American from Snyder...

Degrate getting his chance at Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis. -- It's been a long summer for Snyder's Tony Degrate, the two-time football All-American and Lombardi Award winner. But he may have found his place in professional football.

The 6-3, 275-pound University of Texas defensive tackle has signed a contract with the Green Bay Packers, and he couldn't be more enthusiastic.

"I got through with my first workout today and I really enjoyed it. I like Green Bay," said Degrate, who joined the team Tuesday afternoon. "It's a different atmosphere. It fits me good, you know, coming from a smaller town. Their record isn't real good but the people here really back the Packers," he said.

TONY DEGRATE

The Packers have him learning two positions, defensive end and nose guard.

"It's confusing. It's going to take me a while to learn everything," he said. "The two positions are totally different. End is like technique and finesse and nose guard is more physical."

Just a few short months ago, the picture wasn't so bright. Degrate had been pegged as a first-round draft choice midway through the 1984 football season. Somewhere along the way, however, something went awry.

On the day of the draft, he waited anxiously but the call didn't come until the fifth round.

"I don't really know what happened. I visited the (Tampa Bay) Bandits just before the draft and that might have had something to do with it. Then some people said I had a bad elbow and a bad knee. The team (Texas) dropped off towards the end of the season and all. It might have been a lot of things. There's just no key thing. I can't figure it out, really," he said.

He was drafted by the Cincinnati Bengals but released after the second preseason game. It's possible Degrate let his disappointment affect him when he tried out with Cincinnati.

"Mentally, it affected my performance. I let it get to me. And really, I wasn't that excited about Cincinnati anyway."

Until he signed with Green Bay this week, he had been spending time at "Coaches" in Houston, a health club for athletes.

"A lot of professional and college athletes work out there. A lot of professional basketball players go their during their offseason," said Degrate. "It keeps you in shape, plus it helps you mentally, too."

The Packers play Detroit Sunday and Degrate did not know whether he would see action.

"They told me they were going to put me under fire soon and I don't know whether that means this weekend or the next or what. I think they may use me some first on the pass rush in a four-three situation," he said. "I'm looking forward to it."

'I declined'...

Degrate confirms fan 'offers made'

With the subject of illegal compensation to athletes by team boosters much in the news, Snyder's Tony Degrate acknowledged Wednesday such offers were made to him while at the University of Texas.

But Degrate — contacted at the training camp of the Green Bay Packers — made it clear that he declined the unspecified offer.

"It was something you heard about going on in college football all the time, boosters that, you know, the coaching staff just doesn't have any control over. They made offers but I declined to take them," said Degrate, who did not say who the UT boosters were, or what the offers consisted of.

Such illegal "compensations" from fans received major attention this summer when Southern Methodist University was placed on probation by NCAA officials.

Two weeks ago, the controversy erupted anew as six Texas Christian University players admitted to taking payments from boosters.

"I never saw it (being accepted) at Texas. I'm sure some guys did. I know none of my friends were involved in anything like that and I wasn't involved in anything like that," said the 6-3, 275-pounder, who Tuesday signed with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Degrate said he could understand why some players accepted money or gifts.

"Athletes are just like anybody else. They like to be able to go to the movies sometime or eat out, or buy themselves something. When you're not allowed to work, it makes it tough. You have to work during the summer to have spending money and some guys don't work during the summer because they are working out, trying to improve," Degrate said.

"Sometimes you can't fault people like a Kenneth Davis (TCU running back who was dismissed from the team after admitting to taking payments). I think it has a lot to do with background. If you come from a background that's not middle class you might be more inclined to accept something like that.

"I didn't accept anything because I knew it was against NCAA rules and I don't believe it's right to do it when the rules say don't," said Degrate, who is setting his sights on doing well at Green Bay now.

'A great challenge...'

Tigers vs 'Stangs; experience makes all the difference

If Snyder is awed by opening the District 2-4A season with highly touted Sweetwater, Coach Dennis Tomlin isn't letting on. He considers it a privledge.

"It's a big, exciting football game for us," said the coach, whose Tigers challenge the Mustangs at 8 p.m. Friday in Sweetwater. "It's a great opportunity to take on the No. 1 team in the district, the team that's been picked in the top two or three teams in the state. We've got everything to gain and nothing to lose."

Statistically speaking, the Ragin' Tigers and Sweetwater Mustangs stack up evenly. The teams are 1-2 in the current District 2-4A offensive statistics, with Sweetwater's 358 yard per game average leading the way. Snyder is averaging 309.6 yards per game. The difference comes through the air, where the Mustangs average 79 yards and Snyder puts out 37.3.

Defensively, Snyder is allowing 174.6 yards and Sweetwater 179.6. Both teams are 2-1.

Statistics may be where the comparison ends, however.

Sweetwater boasts a veteran, playoff-experienced team while Snyder is young and in the process of rebuilding. The Mustangs are ranked No. 7 in the state by the Associated Press, and No. 3 by the Harris Rating System. Snyder is unranked.

Harris has the Mustangs as a 21-point favorite for Friday's ballgame.

Snyder Coach Dennis Tomlin understands the why.

"Probably the biggest difference is experience. Their kids have been with the same program now for five or six years. Their execution and understanding of what they are doing is real good. Some of their kids who are now seniors have been playing varsity ball for three years," pointed out the coach. "Our skill people are basically juniors with a couple of seniors, whereas theirs are all seniors."

Sweetwater lists only one starter on offense and two on defense who are not seniors.

Tomlin feels there is only one way to combat Sweetwater's edge in experience.

"We've got to do what we do best. We've got to execute our offensive and defensive game plans and schemes. We've got to make the blocks and make the tackles. In big games like this one, it all comes back to basics. Ball control will be a big factor. The best defense we can have is for us to keep the football," he said.

Coach Tomlin said junior fullback Toby Ubando is "doubtful" for the game. The back, Snyder's second leading rusher with 175 yards on 37 carries, is out with a throat infection.

Linebacker Reggie Price is still hobbled with an ankle injury and his play will probably be limited. Tomlin also said that Steve Parker had not been released by doctor's to play as of Wednesday afternoon. Parker suffered a knee injury in Snyder's first scrimmage this year.

Cats testing Ponies tonight

Snyder underclassmen football teams gear up for more action this evening, beginning at 5:30 here.

One game, Snyder junior varsity versus Sweetwater, has been changed from 7 to 8 to allow all three local games to be played at Travis Field.

The agenda begins when the Snyder eighth grade B-team plays Sweetwater. The local eighth grade A-team, also playing Sweetwater, will take the field at 6:30.

Snyder freshmen are on the road tonight. They play Rotan junior varsity at 7 in Rotan. The Cats have played and beaten the 'Hammers twice already this season.

Snyder seventh graders are idle tonight but will entertain Sweetwater in games at 10 and 11 a.m. Saturday.

From the sidelines again...

What the heck, Snyder in an upset

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

I've wrestled with this thing for a week now and I'm still not sure what to do.

Common sense says pick Sweetwater.

But there's this little voice saying "upset, upset." And it's getting louder.

Experience-wise, Sweetwater is the better team. There are a couples of reasons, though, why I'm going to pick an upset in Friday night's game at the Mustang Bowl.

First and foremost, I hate the Bowl. The design is fine. I have no beef with that. But the place is absolutely the mosquito capital of the world. And the press box is the international mosquito breeding ground.

I have never left that stadium without a battle. Snyder has won on that field and Snyder has lost on that field, but I've always been soundly defeated in that press box.

The second reason centers around a phone call I got from a Sweetwater "fan" that shouldn't be. I hear from him periodically and it's always the same tune.

"We beat the heck out of you guys." Something like that.

WE? YOU? It's a personal thing with this guy.

This time he said, "What are you going to do about Welch? What are..."

"I don't know, I'm not the coach," I said.

"...you going to do about Hoover. What are you going to do about Hargrove.?"

I don't what Snyder is going to do about Welch, Hoover and Hargrove. But I know what I wish they'd do. And I know what I wish they'd do to this guy - shut him up.

'Nough said about that.

Last week was 22 right, 8 wrong for a .733. For the season, it is 81-39 for a faded .675.

On we go with this week's picks...

Snyder at Sweetwater: Call it Upset Special of the Week, maybe of the year. In the battle at the bowl...SNYDER 21, SWEETWATER 20.

Monahans at Fort Stockton: Fort Stockton seems to get help at home (Wha'd he say?) but even that won't overcome this Monahans team...MONAHANS 24, FORT STOCKTON 6.

Andrews at Lamesa: A tough one to pick but if Andrews' air game gets on track, look out! Choose...ANDREWS 14, LAMESA 7.

Lake View at Pecos: The Eagles fly past the Chiefs...PECOS 21, LAKE VIEW 7.

Rule at Borden County: The Coyotes get back on the winning track...BORDEN 35, RULE 21.

Rochester at Ira: Opps. A homecoming party spoiled...ROCHESTER 41, IRA 22.

Baylor at Houston: Don't bet the rent check on any game involving the Cougars, but...BAYLOR 23, HOUSTON 17.

Rice at Texas: Well, well. Texas has an offense this year but where's the defense? The 'Horns won't need much this week...TEXAS 35, RICE 21.

Arkansas at TCU: The Horned Frogs will give Arkansas a better game than they did SMU, but the outcome will be the same...HOGS 31, FROGS 20.

Texas A&M at Texas Tech: Tech didn't play well last week and they know it. Don't look for that to make much difference, though...AGGIES 28, RED RAIDERS 21.

The rest of the collegians...

Choose SMU 28, Arizona 14; Florida 23, LSU 21; UCLA 19, Arizona State 14; Auburn 24, Mississippi 21; Iowa 35, Michigan State 14; Ohio State 21, Illinois 7; and Notre Dame 24, Air Force 21.

In the pros...

Take Dallas to net New York's Giants, 21-17; the Jets to sink Cincinnati, 31-20; New Orleans to poke Philadelphia, 17-14; Cleveland to nip New England, 28-27; Indianapolis to bleep Buffalo, 21-14; Chicago to tip Tampa Bay, 31-7; San Francisco to ace Atlanta, 27-17; Miami to pebble Pittsburgh, 24-21; Denver to hobble Houston, 28-21; Kansas City to riddle the Raiders, 28-12; the Rams to mush Minnesota, 17-13; and Seattle to slug San Diego, 39-14.

Natural pearls are so rare that thousands of oysters must be collected to produce only a handful of gems. An Australian pearl farmer once brought up 100 tons of shells for mother-of-pearl sales without finding a single natural pearl worth $100.

MADD founder is stripped of power

HURST, Texas (AP) — Candy Lightner, who founded Mothers Against Drunk Driving after her daughter was killed by a drunken driver, said today she is no longer running the national crusade that now has 350 chapters in the United States.

The MADD executive committee has taken control of the organization and her contract, which expired June 30, has not been renewed, said Ms. Lightner, 39, who reportedly drew a $76,000-a-year salary.

"Communications have broken down with these people," she said in a telephone interview from her home here this morning.

She said she was shocked in July when the board did not give her a $10,000 bonus she requested pending negotiation of the new contract and stripped her of her roles as chief executive officer and chairman.

"I have no idea what will happen to me," she said. "I hope to go on with MADD. I feel I am being punished for its success."

Ms. Lightner said the executive committee decided to bring in a negotiator and she and her attorney asked if they would accept an agreement of confidentiality.

"They agreed but said the agreement would expire at Oct. 10, at 11:55 p.m. Then they would not have to keep this information confidential," she said. "They also stipulated that I could not communicate with the chapters on pending board business. We could not agree to that."

There are no negotiations currently going on and the committee is continuing to run MADD, she said.

A board meeting is scheduled Oct. 11 but Ms. Lightner said she has "no idea" what will happen.

Under Ms. Lightner, MADD drew the fire of both the Better Business Bureau and the National Charities Information Bureau. The watchdog groups issued reports this year contending MADD was spending too much money on administration and fund-raising.

Bob Frank, a Washington accountant and spokesman for MADD's executive committee, said changes were needed if MADD's "smooth operation" is to continue.

"This organization is a national organization, run by a board of directors," he said. "No one person owns it."

Ms. Lightner, then a real estate agent in Sacramento, Calif., started MADD after her daughter was killed in 1980 by a drunken driver. She later moved the group's headquarters to Texas.

MADD revenues exceeded $12.5 million in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1984.

Girl killed, mom hurt by police car

DALLAS (AP) — A police car speeding to a burglary call struck and killed a 4-year-old girl and seriously injured her mother, officers said.

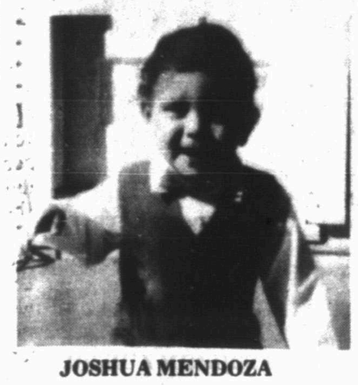

Donna Marie Zundale was killed instantly as she and her mother, Shirley Zundale, were crossing a south Dallas street late Wednesday night, police said. Ms. Zundale was in serious condition today in Methodist Medical Center's intensive care unit, a hospital spokeswoman said.

FarmAid nearing $8 million

DALLAS (AP) — Even though the benefit FarmAid concert fell short of its goal to raise $10 million for needy farmers, concert promoters say the project is "gaining momentum" and is realizing its objective, a spokesman said.

"We didn't expect to raise $10 million in one week," advertising executive Jim Nicholls said Wednesday. "So far we have had 350,000 calls. We should be hitting 400,000 soon. We're nearing $8 million right now."

Nicholls attributes the momentum to "celebrity commercials featuring various Hollywood stars asking viewers to call a toll-free number and pledge money for American farmers.

"What we're finding is whenever these go on the air the needle is going right up and people are calling with donations," he said.

The commercials, offspring of the Sept. 22 concert initiated by singer Willie Nelson to raise money for struggling farmers, have been aired as public service announcements over 260 television stations across the country, Nicholls said.

Stars appearing in the FarmAid commercials include Nelson, Jessica Lange, Sissy Spaceck, John Denver, Bill Cosby and several others, Nicholls said.

The 14-hour concert at the University of Illinois football stadium featured more than 50 top rock, country and blues stars and attracted 78,000 fans. All of the $17.50 tickets were sold in three days.

The show was carried live on The Nashville Network for 12 hours and on three hours of primetime television by more than 150 individual stations across the country. It also was carried on radio and portions were aired on MTV.

A post office box in Champagne, Ill., has received up to 50,000 letters, many that include donations, he said.

"The response is so positive and overwhelming," Nicholls said. "I was working night and day before concert ... and now I'm still working night and day."

The FarmAid project isn't overshadowed by other relief projects, Nicholls said, because it is aimed at helping people in the United States.

"No offense to the other projects," he said, "but a lot of people are wondering where the money is being spent. FarmAid money is being spent here in America."

Plans for the donation include providing legal assistance, transitional services for farmers leaving agriculture and a nationwide hotline to provide information to farmers.

Nicholls said his firm expects to announce Friday additional plans for the donations.

Although the contributions are not enough to reverse farmer's situations, it is going to help the "needy, needy farmers," Nicholls said. And more importantly he said it has raised the conciousness of Americans.

"People in the cities were not even remotely aware of what's going on. Now people are aware that they can help."

Nicholls said all contributors receive a personal thank you letter from Willie Nelson, a bandanna with autographs from FarmAid performers and brochure about the American farmer's situation.

In six weeks, contributors also will receive a fact sheet detailing where the money has gone, Nicholls said.

Claims against Continental nixed by bankruptcy judge

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal bankruptcy judge has granted Continental Airline's request for rejection of $1.4 billion in claims by striking pilots and flight attendants, as well as allegations that the employees were wrongfully discharged.

More than $2 billion in claims against the Houston-based carrier have been rejected by the bankruptcy court within the past month.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge R. Glover Roberts on Wednesday dismissed the $1.4 billion in claims against the carrier.

The Air Line Pilots Association calculated its wrongful discharge claims at $1.3 billion, adding the value of wages and benefits that the 924 striking pilots would have receive if they had worked until retirement, Continental said in a release. Claims for each striking pilot were about $1.4 million, Continental said.

Claims by the Union of Flight Attendants averaged about $100,000 for each of the 1,100 striking flight attendants, based on expected future compensation and value of intangible rights, the release said.

In his decision Wednesday, Roberts said, "This court rejects any suggestion that a strike may be equated with a constructive discharge.

"The fact that the pilots and flight attendants ... were not discharged and did not resign but rather went on strike in and of itself precludes a finding of wrongful discharge," he said.

Officials of ALPA in Washington and Houston could not be reached for comment Wednesday evening.

"I have no comment to make tonight," said Linda Downing, spokeswoman for the Union of Flight Attendants. "I will have to get with our attorneys and get a copy of the judgment."

Members of ALPA walked out at Continental on Oct. 1, 1983, one week after the airline, then the eighth largest in the nation, sought protection from its creditors under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy law, slashed wages up to 50 percent and scaled down its operations.

Continental continued to operate with strikebreakers.

ALPA last month temporarily suspended picketing in the walkout but insisted the strike was officially continuing. The union also authorized striking pilots to bid for their old positions at Continental.

The carrier has posted vacancies for almost 400 positions that could become available next year, and more than 500 striking pilots have submitted requests to return to work, the airline said.

But Continental sued ALPA in Houston federal court, accusing the union of trying to disrupt flight schedules by encouraging striking pilots to apply for jobs they do not intend to accept.

The union is suing Continental, saying that ALPA continues as the Continental pilots' bargaining agent and that the company is violating the federal Railway Labor Act by attempting to withdraw recognition of the pilots' union.

Trucker hurt after 'stall'

A 55-year-old Odessa man was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital Thursday morning suffering from possible internal injuries following a truck mishap about 16 miles northwest of Snyder.

According to Department of Public Safety reports, Billy Earl Everett of Odessa — a driver for C.A. White Trucking of Odessa — was injured when he was struck by the door of his 1981 1-ton Ford.

Everett was attempting to pull a load of pipe up a steep oil field lease road on the Caprock when the truck and trailer stalled and began rolling back down the hill.

He was struck by the door of the truck after he attempted to jump from the vehicle.

Parked vehicle struck locally

A single minor traffic accident involving a parked car was reported in Snyder Wednesday morning.

Involved in the 9:29 a.m. accident in the 3400 Block of College Ave. was a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Vickie Blackwell of the Tropicano Motel. It struck a parked 1981 Pontiac owned by Bruce E. Drummond of 2104 40th St.

The speed of sound is generally placed at 1,908 feet per second at sea level at 32 degress.

Inmate expecting 2nd date to be set

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Texas Death Row inmate John Michael Lamb, who was granted an execution stay, said the order blocking his scheduled death is only temporary.

"It's obviously a very temporary stay," Lamb said Wednesday. "I expect I'll have another date in a couple of months. I can't see a district judge is going to rule in my favor."

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals postponed the execution because Lamb's attorneys have not been able to get in touch with the sentencing judge, E. Paul Banner of Greenville.

Lamb, 28, faced death early Monday for the November 1982 shooting death of a Virginia businessman, Jerry Chafin, in a Greenville motel room.

Lamb said he was not aware of the stay, issued Tuesday, until he was told of it by fellow inmates and reporters during regularly scheduled press interviews on Wednesday.

"I knew I was going to get one," he said.

Lamb said he had been moved in the past week from his regular cell to a special cell reserved for inmates nearing execution.

He sounded almost disappointed that the execution procedures had been halted with five days still remaining.

"I think it would have been effective in that it was Sunday," he said of the usual death watch outside the prison. "It would have caused a lot of hassle (for prison officials). It would have made some people, even one or two, think about it, that it wasn't too kosher."

Banner has been out of town and was not expected to return until the day of the execution — too late to rule on a motion filed on behalf of Lamb, according to attorney Carolyn Garcia of Houston.

The appeals court said the execution could not go ahead until the matter was resolved. Lamb's attorneys are complaining that he had ineffective counsel during his trial.

"I should have brought Perry Mason out of retirement to try my case," Lamb joked.

He insisted he was not afraid to die.

"But when the moment comes I'll be shaking like a chicken," he said. "After all, I'm human."

Lamb's stay left Anthony Charles Williams as the only inmate among the 210 on Death Row in Texas with an execution date.

Williams, convicted of sexual assault and capital murder in the bludgeoning death of a 13-year-old Houston girl, is slated to die Oct. 11. He has refused all recent requests for interviews.

Six prisoners have been executed in Texas so far this year.

bock, Cole apparently lost control of his vehicle.

He was run over by a 1977 GMC tractor-trailer rig driven by Kenneth W. Reynolds of Weatherford.

Cole had lived in Snyder for a year, moving here from Amarillo. He was a lab technician at Cogdell Memorial Hospital and had previously worked with Southwest Osteopathic Hospital in Amarillo.

Arrests reported

Police logged six misdemeanor arrests Wednesday.

One man was jailed for driving while intoxicated and five others were arrested for public intoxication.

Two of the PI suspects — one juvenile and one adult — were also charged with disorderly conduct.

Man hospitalized

HOUSTON (AP) — A 30-year-old transient afflicted with acquired immune deficiency syndrome, who ignored the city health director's order to abstain from having sex, admitted himself into a Houston hospital, said authorities.

Fabian Bridges who had boasted he would continue having sex with strangers, even though he knows he carries the fatal disease, was admitted on Wednesday evening to Ben Taub Hospital to be treated for AIDS, police said.

Dear Abby

Woman Says Harnessed Kids Are Sign of Parent's Laziness

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: From reading your column, I know that you regard children as subhuman creatures who were put on earth to serve as flunkies for adults, and as such they are not entitled to the same basic human dignity as adults. But your wholehearted support for "Careful Mother," who puts a harness on her 2-year-old child, struck me as particularly outrageous, even for you.

A child is not a dog, Abby. There are plenty of ways to keep a child from wandering off without subjecting him to the humiliation of being leashed. As I see it, using a harness to control a child is an admission that the parent is too lazy to (1) teach the child as soon as he can walk never to leave the parent's sight, and (2) keep an eagle eye on the child every minute.

Heaven only knows what kind of psychological scars those harnessed children will bear the rest of their lives as a result of being publicly humiliated.

JANE BARRETT,
EVANSTON, ILL.

DEAR JANE: Assuming harnessed children feel "publicly humiliated" (your opinion, not mine), I say, better to be publicly humiliated than privately buried.

I have heard from many parents whose children impulsively darted into the street. Within seconds they were struck down by speeding vehicles—and one child was trampled to death by a horse! Others related horror stories about children who wandered away from lakeside picnics, amusement parks and shopping malls. One grieving mother sent me a picture of her 3-year-old daughter who had disappeared in a crowded discount store in June 1984. She's still missing.

All expressed admiration for the mother who cared enough to harness her child in spite of comments from rude onlookers. "Careful Mother" still has my vote.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 54-year-old single woman. I have never been married and plan to wed a wonderful man I met at work. I would like very much to place a small announcement of my engagement in the local paper, and also in the paper in the town where I lived with my family for many years.

However, I can't say "Mr. and Mrs. X announce the engagement of their daughter, etc." as my parents are no longer living.

Also, we are having a small church wedding, but I don't want anyone to "give me away." Is that an essential part of the marriage ceremony? If so, how should I handle it?

AUTUMN LOVE

DEAR AUTUMN: You and your fiance may announce your own engagement with a simple: "Jane Doe and John Smith take pleasure in announcing their engagement, etc."

It is not imperative that you be "given away." Ask the clergyperson who will officiate at your wedding to omit that portion of the service. The marriage ceremony is not carved in granite. Your wedding can be as creative and comfortable as you want it to be. Just check with the clergyperson to be sure it's legal. Good luck to you and your beloved.

DEAR ABBY: I'm an attractive, 24-year-old, outgoing woman with a problem that sounds simple, but it isn't. When a man asks for my telephone number, how can I get out of giving it to him without hurting his feelings? When I meet a man that I have no interest in dating and he asks for my telephone number, I find myself giving it to him because I don't know how to refuse without hurting his feelings. Afterward I'm angry at myself, but I still don't know how I could have avoided giving it to him. I'm not the type who would give a man a wrong number.

OFTEN STUCK

DEAR STUCK: When someone asks for your telephone number and you don't want to give it to him, tell him you are all booked up at the moment, but if he will give you his number, you will call him when you have some free time.

Controller, mechanical errors are ruled out

DALLAS (AP) — A federal official investigating the collision of two private planes that killed five people says that so far, no mechanical or air traffic controller errors have been found.

The investigation "has uncovered no evidence of mechanical malfunction or air traffic involvement," J.H. Daugherty II, a National Transportation Safety Board investigator, said Wednesday.

But the Fort Worth Star-Telegram quoted an unnamed source today as saying a student pilot apparently made a 180-degree turn into the path of a twin-engine jet just before Tuesday's crash.

Robert Milke, 53, was apparently practicing routine maneuvers needed to earn his pilot's license when he made the U-turn, who spoke to the Star-Telegram on the condition that he remain anonymous.

Milke's rented Cessna 152 and The Rosewood Corp.'s Cessna 441 collided over southeast Dallas about 1:30 p.m., scattering debris along a 2-mile stretch and narrowly missing nearby houses.

Mitch Barker, an Federal Aviation Administration spokesman, said the larger plane was being guided by a Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport air controller to Dallas Love Field.

The smaller craft piloted by Milke, of Duncanville, was not under air traffic controls, he said. Both planes were flying at about 3,600 feet.

Rosewood President Don Crisp said the larger plane belonged to his company, a Dallas hotel and real estate development firm of the Caroline Hunt Trust Estate.

Bath...

House votes to close houses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, turning aside assertions it was "bashing gays" in the battle against AIDS, overwhelmingly approve a measure allowing the surgeon general to close public bath houses and massage parlors.

The measure, which also included $189.7 million for research and other activities related to AIDS, was approved 417-8 as an amendment to a larger appropriations bill. The vote came just hours after the death of actor Rock Hudson, whose battle against acquired immune deficiency syndrome helped focus worldwide attention on the deadly disease.

The $189.7 million was $70 million more than the Reagan administration had requested, and was a $90 million increase over 1985.

Rep. Robert Dornan, R-Calif., the amendment's sponsor, said the measure was just the first of a series of tough, AIDS prevention measures that GOP members intend to propose.

Dornan, noting he had met Hudson on a movie set years ago, claimed Congress and U.S. political leaders have failed to act to protect the general population against AIDS, fearing retaliation from gay political activists.

"We ought to have some guts at the federal level," Dornan said.

Rep. Henry Waxman, D-Calif., who voted for the measure, said no one disputed the need to shut down bath houses, but he said the matter should be left to local authorities. He claimed the measure was unnecessary because the surgeon general already had the authority he needed to act.

"This amendment can serve only one purpose — bashing gays in some way," said Waxman, chairman of a health subcommittee.

Waxman was the first House member to draw national attention to AIDS, which in 1982 was only known to have infected a few hundred people.

"The amendment really does nothing new," said Rep. Ted Weiss, D-N.Y., adding, "In its substance, no one can really oppose it."

Like Waxman, Weiss said he detected an anti-homosexual tone to the measure, implying that gays are somehow "cavalier and disregarding" of AIDS.

Shirley Barth, a spokesman for the Public Health Service, said lawyers are trying to determine what the surgeon general's authority is. But she said bath houses always have been considered a local issue.

Rep. William Dannemeyer, R-Calif., has urged health officials to "have the courage of their convictions to take on the strength of the male homosexual political community" to close bath houses.

Bath houses have been targeted because they are considered by some to be nests of promiscuous homosexual sex, a major method of AIDS transmission.

"God's plan for man was Adam and Eve, not Adam and Steve ...," Dannemeyer said recently.

King George I of Greece was assassinated in 1913.

The ship Hong Kong hit a rock off Swatow, China, in 1921 and 1,000 people drowned.

National Employ Handicapped Week is scheduled October 6-12

October 6-12 is National Employ the Handicapped Week, according to Oren McGrew, senior counselor of the Texas Rehabilitation Commission.

Since 1944, when President Franklin Roosevelt declared the first National Employ the Handicapped Week, time has been set aside each October to increase the public's awareness of disabled people and their strengths and abilities.

"There are disabled people living in every community in this country," McGrew said. "There are disabled people right here in Snyder. Our job at the Texas Rehabilitation Commission is to help these people find jobs, improve the quality of their lives and allow them to contribute to society as taxpaying, productive citizens."

McGrew said his office helps people with a wide range of disabilities, including people with spinal cord injuries, mental retardation, epilepsey and other internal disorders, hearing impairments, learning disabilities, and orthopedic impairments.

"We provide counseling, guidance, medical treatment, job placement, and many other services to help our clients get and keep good jobs," McGrew said.

In 1984, the Texas Rehabilitation Commission helped 14,712 disabled Texans get jobs.

For more information about the commission or about National Employ the Handicapped Week, call the TRC office in Abilene at 695-0110.
