Crazy Mixed-Up Deer

Apparently this is a crazy mixed-up yearling doe, for she's taken up with the mares and colts rather than her own. Herald Photographer Keith McMillin caught this picture of the young doe placidly watching while her new-found companion takes on nourishment in the Kent Morgan pasture south of Big Spring. Morgan said the Texas Game and Fish Commission had released 68 of the small deer from the Aransas Pass refuge on the Morgan ranch. Recently when the horses strayed in from an adjacent pasture, several of the does took up with them. In fact, before this picture was snapped, the doe ignored two of her own kind to trail off with the horses.

Rhee Foes Call For New Election

Not Appeased By Cabinet Ouster

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — President Syngman Rhee's political foes, unappeased by the resignation of his cabinet in the face of near-revolution, today renewed their demands for new presidential elections.

The 85-year-old president's opposition also declared his promise of redress for those with "major grievances" was insufficient. The promise came in the wake of bloody anti-government riots Tuesday that brought martial law to the capital and other major Korean cities.

There were no reports of renewed violence as troops and police patrolled the cities. But tension mounted as the bodies of demonstrators shot by police were turned over to weeping, wailing relatives.

With at least 1,000 persons shot during the riots, the known death toll stood at 147. Hundreds more were still in critical condition in hospitals or in their homes.

Vice President John M. Chang, leader of the opposition Democratic party, declared there would be no compromise in his party's demand for new elections.

"Anything short of that would never solve the fundamental question," he told a news conference after the announcement of the cabinet's resignation.

Chang lost his bid for re-election last month to Lee Ki-poong, Rhee's liberal party runniing mate. Rhee, running unopposed for his fourth term after the death of the Democratic party candidate, piled up the biggest vote of his career in the election.

The election was the principal issue behind the uprisings. The Democrats have charged Rhee's Liberals with rigging the voting and widespread ballot box stuffing to insure a Liberal in power should the aged president not live out his term. Chang defeated Lee in the 1956 election.

The outgoing cabinet ministers were generally considered Lee's protegees. Their resignation appeared to be mainly an apology for the bloodshed and not a move toward correcting underlying causes of discontent. Cabinet resignations, offered several times in the past, are generally regarded as moves of expediency not necessarily involving any policy changes.

U.S. Ambassador Walter P. McConaughy met with Rhee for an hour to press the U.S. demand for more democracy as a solution to the situation.

The retiring ministers neither fixed nor accepted the responsibility for the harsh military suppression of the civilian outbreaks. In a statement, they expressed sorrow over the loss of life and property.

The mass resignation was submitted at the presidential palace which thousands of demonstrators tried to storm during Tuesday's riots.

Rhee did not accept the resignation at once. He was reported to be seeking men of greater stature for the new cabinet.

Among those believed under consideration are former Premiers (Korea has since abolished this post) Y. T. Pyun, and Lee Bum Suk; former chief justice Kim Pyong-no, and former acting premier Huh Chung. All have been out of favor with Rhee for some time.

As tanks rumbled through the streets of the capital and loudspeakers asked people to keep to their houses, Chang also reiterated his demand for an immediate withdrawal of martial law. He also demanded the release of arrested demonstrators.

Bus and streetcar service was almost completely suspended in Seoul, to keep as many people as possible from seeing the sullen, sorrowing families carrying their dead home.

Students Demonstrate

A South Korean student addresses fellow demonstrators from atop a comandeered street car near the presidential palace in Seoul during the bloody rioting against the government of President Syngman Rhee. The disorders, which left a confirmed toll of 92 dead and more than 500 injured, brought the South Korean capital on the edge of revolution before the army brought the city under control.

Webb's Training Program To Include Primary Phase

A broadening of the flying training mission of Webb Air Force Base to include primary as well as basic phases is planned for next year. This was announced in an official news release issued today by the Secretary of the Air Force, who detailed general changes which are set up for the air training program.

Webb will be one of six facilities — all of them now giving basic training in jet aircraft— which will, beginning April, 1961, receive an allotment of flying recruits who will receive also their primary training here.

BASES CLOSING

As of the end of the year, the Air Force announcement said, five primary training bases are to be closed. These are Moore AFB, Mission, Texas; Spence AFB, Georgia; Bainbridge AFB, Georgia; Bartow AFB, Florida; and Graham AFB, Florida.

Bases which will assume primary training responsibility in the revised undergraduate pilot training program include Webb and Reese AFB (Lubbock) in Texas; Craig in Alabama; Moody AFB in Georgia; Williams AFB in Arizona, and Vance AFB in Oklahoma.

With the new program, Webb's mission will include pre-flight, primary and basic pilot training. Although plans for personnel manning of the new program have not been completed, the Air Force announcement said there are no major changes anticipated.

SAVINGS

The Air Force announcement pointed out that the consolidated program will produce savings by utilizing fewer bases, "and we believe that there will also be a significant improvement in the professional quality of the graduates. The 240,000 jet flying hours which would otherwise be flown by civilian instructor pilots will, under the new program, add to the jet experience of Air Force pilots and will enhance the efficiency and experience of both the combat forces and the Training Command."

The news release said:

"Due to the advances in weaponry the Air Force is transitioning from a force composed almost exclusively of manned aircraft to one in which a large proportion of our force will be missiles. This change will substantially reduce not only the numbers of pilots required, but also the number of bases needed to meet pilot training requirements. As an example, our pilot training requirement for fiscal 1963 are projected to be 26 per cent of those of 1956.

CONTRACT SCHOOLS

"Currently we are accomplishing the primary phase of pilot training by contracts with civilian firms and the more advanced training in Air Force-operated basic schools. This was a satisfactory and economical method when we were training large numbers in relatively slow, propeller-driven aircraft in the primary schools and when the weapons systems in our combat units were less complex and less costly than those programmed for the coming decades.

"With the introduction of jet aircraft into primary training and increased complex jet equipment into the other phases of training, and with the drastic reduction in numbers to be trained, we now plan to conduct all phases of the pilot training program at each training base. All flying instruction will be conducted by military personnel, and where it appears advantageous, support functions will be accomplished by contract."

Body Of Missing Teacher Is Found

McALLEN (AP) — The body of a missing school teacher, object of a six-day search, was recovered from a canal near the downtown business district here early today.

The body of pretty Miss Irene Garza, 25, a brunette teacher, was discovered floating in a small canal just east of a large department store.

Hidalgo County chief deputy Sheriff Tom Wingert said the body was identified as the missing dark-haired beauty.

The cause of death was not determined at once.

The finding of the body came shortly after the family of the missing woman had offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to her whereabouts.

Wingert said an autopsy was ordered. Identification was made for the family by a Catholic priest.

Wingert said the body was discovered about 7:40 a.m. by two residents who live near the canal. The woman had been missing since Saturday.

Miss Garza, a beauty contestant, left for church in the family car last Saturday. The car was found near the church Sunday.

Finding of two personal effects Tuesday touched off an organized search.

Miss Garza's parents identified her shoe and a purse found on different roads. The purse contained her driver's license and other papers.

Gunn Testifying In Own Defense

STERLING CITY — Riley Edward Gunn, 33-year-old oil field worker, was testifying in his own behalf in his trial for murder this morning. Gunn, charged with having beaten Cecil Edward Grady, 29, to death, will probably complete the defense testimony in the case.

County officials said that it was probable late today the case would go to the jury, qualified by Justin Kever, district attorney for the 51st District Court, to assess the death penalty. Twelfth juror for the trial was selected shortly after noon Wednesday.

The state presented its star witness, Merle Hodnett, Big Spring, at the afternoon session. Hodnett, an oil field worker, told of coming on Gunn, bloodspattered and alone, on a lonely Sterling County oil field road early on the morning of Jan. 15. Gunn asked that Hodnett help him get the former's car started. Hodnett said that he did not see Grady's body but later that day the body was found only a few steps from where the Big Spring man had helped the stalled motorist.

Another witness told of seeing Gunn in a Sterling City service station on the same morning. He was Elroy Butler, and he related that he saw the inside of Gunn's car was spattered with blood. Gunn told him that he had had a fight with a man who had "insulted Mrs. Gunn."

Grady, who had been released from Huntsville pentientiary on Jan. 14 (which was also his 29th birthday) was given a ride by Deputy Sheriff Raymond Graves of Coleman and the Rev. Paul Smith, pastor of a Coleman Baptist Church. They told of the incident. A bus driver, L. G. Anthoney, Fort Worth, told of Grady riding his bus from Coleman to San Angelo.

Rosa Lee Myers, a former San Angelo tavern operator, testified that Grady and Gunn were in her place on the evening of Jan. 14 and told of a poker game which followed later at her home. The game lasted all night. Grady was the big winner, a series of witnesses related. Gunn was in the game.

May Leave

Federal Power Commissioner William P. Connole is reportedly being dropped by the Eisenhower administration when his term expires June 22.

Slaying Suspects Taken At Lamesa

CHICAGO (AP)—The FBI reported Wednesday that two youths sought in the slaying of a third have been arrested in Lamesa, Tex.

Almerigo Rossini, 19, and Gabor Gzegeny, 17, were named at Chicago in federal indictments charging unlawful flight across state lines to avoid prosecution.

The youths were sought for questioning in the fatal stabbing of Ronald Watt, 20, in a quarrel Sunday over a 15-year-old girl. Two other youths with Watts also were stabbed.

Kennedy Blasts Religion Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said today "if bigotry is too great" to permit the election of a Catholic as president "then we ought to know it."

In a vigorous denial that he is "a Catholic candidate for president," Kennedy called on the nation's editors to keep matters of religion in perspective in the campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I do not speak for the Catholic Church on issues of public policy —and no one in that Church speaks for me," Kennedy said in a speech prepared for a luncheon session of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Aid Vote Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House begins voting today on foreign aid.

The bill before the House would result in a $4,038,500,000 ceiling on the program for the year beginning July 1. This would be a cut of 136½ million dollars from President Eisenhower's recommendations.

Charge Is Filed

ABILENE — A. R. Collins, Big Spring, has been charged with 12 counts of allegedly dispensing drugs without a prescription. The complaint was lodged in U. S. District Court on Wednesday and cites alleged dispensing of meprobamate, thyroid and destro-amphetamine tablets and penicillin capsules between July 25, 1957 through April 15, 1958.

Council Studies Rate Proposals

City officials met this morning with representative of Forrest and Cotton, Master Plan firm, to hear the first "dollars and cents" proposal for initial steps toward expanding the city's water and sewer systems.

T. C. Forrest and Carl Shimek presented a variety of proposals for local consideration. They had five different rate increase structures for water service. Several of them did not include a raise in the minimum rate.

Mayor Lee O. Rogers, Tom South and John Taylor were on hand for the meeting along with A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, Bruce Dunn, director of public works, Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, and Ernest Lillard, city engineer.

The master planners were due in the city Monday and Steinheimer said they would probably return if today's meeting s not sufficent to wrap up an acceptable program.

Rights Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of a national voting rights law braced today for a final push to send it to President Eisenhower by nightfall.

H.F. Williamson Dies At Home

Funeral rites for Henry Franklin Williamson, 74, retired T&P employe and resident of Big Spring since 1922, are to be at 10 a.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church. Dr Jordan Grooms will officiate and burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park with Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Williamson died at 2:30 a.m. today at his home after an illness of seven years.

He was born June 10, 1885, in Eastland and lived for a time in Garden City, when he was a small boy. He was married to Miss Nora Smith, in Hamlin, on Feb. 20, 1911. He began work with the T&P in June, 1918, and came to Big Spring in 1922 from Baird. Mr. Williamson was stock foreman in the Stores Department for many years prior to his retirement in 1951.

Until ill health prevented he was active in the choir of the First Methodist Church of which he was an active member. He was also active in the Eastern Star and was past patron for three terms of Chapter 67, OES. He was a member of the Baird Lodge No. 522 AF&AM.

The body is to lie in state at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home until the services.

Survivors include his wife, 1510 Johnson, one son, Dr. T. J. Williamson, Big Spring; one sister, Mrs. Ary Fryer, Lovington, N. M., and four grandchildren.

The offices of the Big Spring clinic, with which Dr. Williamson is associated, will remain closed all Friday morning out of respect to the memory of Mr. Williamson.

Pallbearers will be John Chaney, Dr. C. E. Thomas, H. G. Keaton, Russell Stringfellow, Arnold Marshall, Dr. W. A. Hunt, R. L. Baber and J. T. Allen. All friends will be considered honorary pallbearers.

Venezuelan Rebel Force Evaporates

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The rebel stronghold in San Cristobal crumbled today under the threat of a battle with soldiers and tanks of President Romulo Betancourt's army. The rebel leader was in flight with his top aides.

Jesus Maria Castro Leon, the ambitious ex-general in the Venezuelan air force who led the rebels across the border from Colombia Wednesday, apparently was heading back where he came from.

Soldiers attempted to seal off the border by blocking the Venezuela - Colombia road. Castro Leon and his aides probably were trying to return to Colombia along the Arauca River plains south of the mountains around San Cristobal.

Betancourt, supported by political, military and labor leaders who thwarted Castro Leon's plan for a nationwide uprising, sent loyal forces to San Cristobal, capital of Tachira state.

So far the invasion has been virtually bloodless. Government officials telephoned San Cristobal and were told that two students were killed and four wounded in street fights with the rebels.

The rush to the border began shortly after the government announced air force planes would begin machinegunning the Bolivar barracks, which the rebels had held for 24 hours.

The fugitives still faced the possibility of fighting at the border, for loyal government forces controlled the international road, the only direct route across the border.

Venezuelan frontier guards already had repulsed some rebel units trying to escape. The guardsmen attacked the fleeing insurgents in the town of Rubio, only a few miles from the border, and the rebels fell back on San Cristobal.

The Colombian border is 24 miles through the rugged Andes Mountains from San Cristobal.

Aggies All Set To Observe Their Traditional Muster

On this anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto which climaxed the Texas war for independence, Texas Aggies will gather for their traditional muster.

Local rites are set for 7:30 p.m. in the Sands restaurant, and it will be a ladies night banquet event. Former Texas A&M College students in the area as well as any who might be passing through the city, will be welcome at the muster.

Prospects are that more than 80 will be in attendance.

Ralph Hughes, muster chairman, will be in charge.

This will be one of approximately 500 musters held throughout the world. The parent muster on the A&M campus is due to be attended by 5,000 persons starting at 5:30 p.m. in front of the Memorial Student Center.

Since 1903, the A&M cadet corps, then 300 strong, has mustered in honor of Texas Independence Day and the sacrifices made by those who died at Goliad, Gonzales and the Alamo prior to the surprising and historic victory at San Jacinto.

There, as in all local ceremonies, the roll call will pay tribute to the former students who have died during the past year.

Garrison Fires 8 Highway Police In Denton Scandal

AUSTIN (AP)— Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr. announced today the dismissal of eight highway patrolmen who have been under investigation in the Denton area.

The investigation began several weeks ago after allegations of misconduct involving women.

The patrolmen named by Garrison are Jerry Latimer, D. T. Black, Gene Wofford, John Fletcher, George Reese, Weldon Parsons, George Blankenship and E. B. Scott.

Scott is stationed at Gainesville. Blankenship was stationed at Denton until about a year ago when he was transferred to Dallas. The other six were stationed in the Denton area.

Garrison told of the dismissals shortly before 10 a.m. but asked newspapers and radio stations not to use it until 11:30 a.m. in order that all of the men involved might be notified.

"I regret to take this action, but our rules and regulations require that every employee must conduct himself in his private life in such a way that he will reflect credit on himself and the Department of Public Safety," Garrison said.

"That is the foundation upon which the department has been built. I am extremely proud of the personnel who have measured up to this responsibility and thereby command the respect and admiration of the law abiding people of Texas by remaining morally strong despite many temptations thrown in their path."

Garrison gave no details of the allegations that brought about the dismissals.

"This has been hashed and rehashed," Garrison said later, "and we don't plan to make any further statements about the situation. We don't plan to give out any of the details. For one thing it is not desirable to discuss further details because it would bring further embarrassment to members of families innocently involved."

When asked if the investigation is complete and today's dismissals will be the last, Garrison said "I certainly hope so. We have been investigating this thing thoroughly for two or three weeks and I think we've got it all now."

Bowles Listing A Move For Rights Plank

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New England's Chester Bowles' selection as platform committee chairman at the Democratic National Convention was viewed today as a move to nail a strong civil rights plank into the party's 1960 platform.

Bowles, a longtime leader of the party's liberal wing, was named Wednesday to head the important job of overseeing what issues the Democrats will stress in the fall campaign.

Civil rights also cast its shadow on the credentials committee, which decides which delegates shall be seated at the convention in Los Angeles next July.

Named chairman for the third straight convention was Utah's Calvin W. Rawlings, a tireless party worker with a reputation for talking opposing factions into agreement.

Selected for the newly-created post of co-chairman was Camille F. Gravel, a moderate Southerner whose liberal views on civil rights have made him a favorite target of the segregationist element in his native Louisiana.

Gravel has said he feels segregation is morally wrong, but that it would be socially and economically disastrous to impose integration on the South by force at this time.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler announced the appointments at a press conference.

"I would be less than fair if I said civil rights wouldn't be the major problem (at the convention)," he said. "I am hopeful that the delegates will find a substantial area of agreement on this and other problems without resorting to indignity and indecency."

Democratic presidential hopefuls hailed the appointment of Bowles, congressman and ex-governor of Connecticut and former ambassador to India.

Massachusetts' John F. Kennedy, campaigning in West Virginia, said he feels Bowles—who is Kennedy's foreign policy advisor—will clarify the party's position on civil rights. Kennedy said Bowles' selection means the party's civil rights platform "will be more effective."

Minnesota's Hubert H. Humphrey and Missouri's Stuart Symington, in Washington, also approved appointment of Bowles.

Humphrey said, "A splendid choice" and added, "Bowles knows the isses."

"I think he is a fine choice," said Symington.

Humphrey and Symington advocate strong civil rights laws.

The convention's arrangements committee also named House Speaker Sam Rayburn, longtime chairman of Democratic conventions, honorary chairman; Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri parliamentarian; and Phillip B. Pearlman of Maryland vice chairman of the platform committee.

Abe Wouldn't Have Minded

RICHWOOD, W. Va. (AP)—Policeman Bernard Dawson wasn't making any exceptions as he stopped traffic Wednesday to make way for a funeral procession.

One driver told Dawson he would have to get through because Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. was in the car and was late for a speech at nearby Summersville.

It turned out Roosevelt was in the car. He was on his way to make a campaign speech on behalf of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

"I don't care if you've got Abraham Lincoln in the car," said Dawson, "You'll have to wait." And they did.

Editors Must Hone Edge In Secrecy Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors told the nation's press today it should improve its own performance if it expects full public support in breaking official secrecy barriers.

In a message prepared for the opening of the society's annual meeting here, J. R. Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post, reported some gains in ASNE's long battle against news suppression.

But he called on the society to take measures to strengthen itself as an organization worthy to represent "a profession that is, in many ways, the most important in the country." He urged greater efforts by newspapers, individually and as an industry, to justify the faith and confidence of their readers.

In his presidential report, Wiggins told the society that its success in beating down censorship barriers would depend partly on "how well persuaded the citizens are that our newspapers themselves fulfill their part in giving to readers the information they require."

"The press cannot fulfill its function," he said, "until the government provides an environment favorable to it — the right to get information, the right to print without prior restraint, the right to print without reprisal for publication that is not wrongful, the right to printing materials and the right to distribute.

"When government has created this environment, the fulfillment of the people's right to know depends on the press itself."

He said "it is going to take a great deal more ingenuity than we have exhibited in the past to keep pace with the rising expectations of our readers; and to persuade the readers themselves to invest more time and more money in their own preparation for the duties of citizenship."

Wiggins reported a number of substantial gains made by ASNE and cooperating organizations in obtaining disclosure of hitherto restricted information in Washington and in the states.

He mentioned the Senate's decision to open up its secret payroll records, curbs on the military use of such classifications as "secret" and "restricted," and amendments to the Federal Administrative Procedures Act now pending, which would give greater public access to the records of government agencies and commissions.

Congressional committee meetings, "more than 40 per cent of which were once behind closed doors, now are closed only 30 per cent of the time," he said.

Wiggins paid high tribute to the Government Information subcommittee headed by Rep. John E. Moss, (D-Calif) and to Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo) for their efforts to open closed federal records to Congress, the press and the public.

Just Another Jailhouse Guest

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A hero at 9 a.m. Wednesday, John R. Williamson was just another guest in the Dallas County jail today.

He got a lot of sympathy when he was ticketed by a traffic policeman for driving over a fire hose after rescuing a man from a burning home April 9. Judge found him innocent Wednesday because of the "circumstances of the case."

Williamson walked jauntily from the courtroom into the arms of waiting officers. He was pegged as an Army deserter who used a false name to get a driver's license. He pleaded guilty to three counts of making false statements.

Romantic Yarn Actually Happened

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Ten years ago Carlos Arrellano, an engineer, telephoned his sweetheart in Venezuela to propose. The connection was so bad he couldn't tell whether she said yes or no.

This made him so angry, friends say, he launched a campaign to improve Latin American communications setups.

One friend said a direct result is the current telecommunication conference being held here now attended by delegates and observers from about 30 nations.

To climax the story, Arrellano has been elected president of the three-week conference.

Incidentally, the girl said yes, and they're married now.

Dies In Crash

DALLAS (AP)—Clyde Ashmore Jr., 25, of Fort Worth, died early today after his car overturned on Highway 67 between Fate and Royse City in Rockwall County.

DEAR ABBY

ADVISE YOUR SON

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Prom time is just around the corner and you could do so many girls a favor if you would print my suggestion:

Won't the mothers of SONS urge them to ask a girl to the prom? So many broken-hearted girls sit at home on prom night because the boys have stalled around and put off asking them until it is too late, so they just skip it. All girls can't be best-dancers and most-popular. But they all have hearts.

Believe me, no matter how plain a girl is, she would be glamorous that night and the boy would be glad he asked her. And the girl would live that night over and over again in her memory.

MOTHER OF TWO EACH

DEAR MOTHER: Thank you for your beautiful letter. I am starting on my own son tonight.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We got into an argument in our English class. Our teacher said that if a plane crashed in the desert and no living being heard it, it didn't make a sound.

Two or three of us argued about it. I believe that if a stick of dynamite goes off, or if there is an explosion of any kind, whether anybody hears it or not, it still makes a sound. Am I right or is my teacher right? DICK

DEAR DICK: A "sound" is a physical change in the atmosphere, induced in may ways, and conforms to certain known laws of physics. It CAN be recorded and proved, whether or not anyone is around to hear it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I think my sister-in-law is trying to set a world's record. She is 27 years old and has 10 children! Believe it or not, she hasn't been out of a maternity dress since she married my brother 10 years ago. He is a nice guy, bua he doesn't have a mind of his own.

The big problem is this: Whenever anyone in the family tries to tell her in a nice way that she has enough children, she gets mad and tells them to mind their own business.

They farm and don't need financial help, but the size of their family is the talk of the county. They act like it's something to be proud of. I think they are a disgrace. I'd like your opinion.

SISTER-IN-LAW

DEAR SISTER-IN-LAW: The size of the family is the business of the Mamma and Papa. If they are able to feed, clothe and educate all the children they have invited into the world, it's nobody's business but theirs. Now, don't you have a problem of your own?

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DISGUSTED WITH DAD": Your father means well—but he is making a serious mistake by asking his friends in high places to recommend you for a college that is probably too difficult for you. If you can't get in on your own merits, how long does he think you will stay there?

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby, Big Spring Herald. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Truman Gets Charge Out Of President Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman saw actor Lee Tracy portray a cocky Truman - like ex - president on Broadway Wednesday night—and loved every minute of it.

"Delightful!" said Truman after viewing the hit play, "The Best Man."

The former President and Mrs. Truman were warmly applauded by the cast when they went backstage after the final curtain.

"Hello, Mr. President," quipped Truman to Tracy. The actor chuckled.

In the political satire, Tracy plays a brash politician who calls himself "the last of the great hicks." He works backstage at a political convention.

Truman, 75, and Tracy, 62, have the same general build. The ex-President is slightly heavier, his hair whiter. But playgoers see a resemblance in mannerism, philosophy and appearance.

Truman declined to comment on Tracy's performance, except to say:

"It was a wonderful show. I enjoyed it immensely. Everyone was fine."

Truman invited stars Melvyn Douglas, Frank Lovejoy, Tracy and the rest of the cast to visit the Truman Memorial Library at Independence, Mo. He said he would personally conduct them "on the special $2 tour—for nothing."

In the play, presidential aspirants Douglas and Lovejoy—likened somewhat to Adlai Stevenson and Richard M. Nixon—seek the convention support of an ex-president, Arthur Hockstader, played by Tracy.

How did it feel with Truman watching?

"Frankly, I was nervous," said Tracy. "For the first time in 30 years."

Kennedy Exits W. Virginia After Speeches

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) left West Virginia today after some "gloves off" campaigning against those who would make his Roman Catholic religion a factor in the state's May 10 presidential primary.

In his latest swipe Wednesday night, he said he would be "just as free to carry out the duties (of president) as anyone in West Virginia," a heavily Protestant state.

Kennedy concluded his three-day swing with a day-long whistle-stop tour across southern West Virginia, where Catholics are few among the miners and factory workers.

His bus tour included towns along the way from Beckley to Huntington, many of which are located in the depressed coal fields.

At every stop, he took the initiative in bringing up the religious issue, insisting his faith would not hamper him in living up to the president's oath of office.

He also hammered away at the state's unemployment problems and depressed economic conditions, which he said resulted from "eight years of indifference and lack of faith" by the Eisenhower administration.

At a final reception Wednesday night, Kennedy replied to criticism of the Democratic campaign leveled by Harold E. Neely, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Neely said the two senators are making West Virginia appear to be a state of "poverty-stricken indigents and religious fanatics."

"I can assure you of one thing," Kennedy said. "The next president of the United States is going to know about the problems of West Virginia."

Budget Director Has Own Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maurice H. Stans, director of the federal budget, is wrestling with a financial problem of his own.

He agreed last September to let the tax-exempt Stans Foundation guarantee a $450,000 loan which enabled John J. Dalton Jr., a Washington businessman, to gain control of the Guaranty Bank & Trust Co., Chicago.

The loan has since been labeled delinquent and the foundation may inherit control of the bank.

This was the bank used by former Illinois State Auditor Orville Hodge in embezzling some 2½ million dollars in state funds in 1956.

Hodge, a Republican, is serving a 12-15 year prison term. The bank's former president, Edward Hintz, is in prison for aiding in the theft.

Aides say Stans is determined to avoid having the foundation assume control of the bank. The budget director is believed sensitive to the possibility this might create a conflict of interest. In his official position, Stans must initial all banking legislation recommended by the Eisenhower administration.

Chairman A. Willis Robertson (D-Va) of the Senate Banking Committee, said he has discussed the matter with Stans and has been assured Stans could not profit from the operations of the bank or the fouddation.

"If I am informed correctly," Robertson said, "There's no conflict of interest whatever."

The loan guarantee, first reported last week by the Chicago Daily News, grew out of an acquaintance between Stans and Dalton, a fellow skeet shooter. Dalton is president of Dalton Finance, Inc., which operates six small loan offices in Washington and Baltimore.

Last July, Dalton arranged to buy 16,685 shares — a 62 per cent interest — of Guaranty stock for $750,825 from Joseph and Philmore Leemon of Detroit.

To help swing the deal, Dalton Finance sought a $450,000 loan from the National Boulevard Bank of Chicago. At John Dalton's request Stans agreed to have the Stans Foundation guarantee the loan. In return, the foundation received 25,000 shares of Dalton Finance common stock.

In February, Dalton Finance was tardy in making an interest payment on the loan and National Boulevard decided to foreclose.

Dalton originally had until Wednesday night to arrange additional financing which would make it unnecessary for the foundation to back up its guarantee. But sources in Chicago said an extension apparently has been granted. They said Stans personally handled negotiations in behalf of the foundation.

National Boulevard could require the foundation to pay off the loan plus accrued interest.

Stans was head of the big Chicago accounting firm of Alexander Grant & Co. before joining the Eisenhower administration in 1955.

Timid Pacific Front Backs Off

By The Associated Press

A timid Pacific cool front backed away from South Texas Thursday and was drifting slowly northward over north central regions of the state.

At dawn it stretched from Texarkana to Tyler to north of Waco and to the San Angelo vicinity.

South of the front temperatures before dawn remained in the 60s while to the north and west temperatures were generally in the 50s. A few Panhandle points reported temperatures in the 40s. The range was from 71 at Corpus Christi to 50 at Amarillo at dawn.

Considerable low cloudiness hung over South Texas again but no rain was mentioned in late forecasts.

Wednesday's maximum temperatures ranged from a hot 101 at Presidio to down to 76 at Dalhart. Wednesday's only rainfall was brief sprinkles over the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

THIS DAY IN TEXAS

By CURTIS BISHOP

The man who claimed he had reached the North Pole on this day in 1901 became associated in later life with the Texas story.

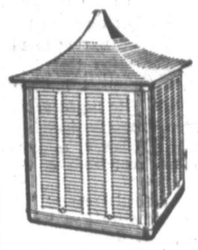

He was Dr. Frederick A. Cook and he figured prominently in the early history of the petroleum industry in Texas. He owned and trafficked in leases around Ranger following discovery of the McCleskey well.

Cook's claim that he reached the northern tip of the globe has not been accepted by scientific authorities. The experts discredit Cook's reports and accept the expedition led by Admiral Robert E. Peary in 1909 as marking the actual discovery of the pole. On April 6 of that year Peary planted the Stars and Stripes on the very top of the world.

Cook's claim aroused considerable controversy as, for that matter, did the doctor's oil operations.

The South Pole was not reached until December 14, 1911 when Ronald Amundsen of Norway gained the 90-degree latitude and zero longitude which marks the exact bottom of the sphere.

The first American exploring expedition went southward in 1840 under the command of Charles Willke. He was the first white man to announce the existance of the Antarctic continent.

Police Use Clubs

Two policemen flank demonstrators in Seoul, South Korea, using clubs to break up a riot protesting the recent presidential election. Demonstrations continue in the South Korean capital which has been placed under martial law.

Austin Eateries Get Sit-In Threat

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin eating places had the threat today of sit-in demonstrations or desegregation within a week.

The warning was passed out late Wednesday by a so-called "interracial coalition" of University of Texas students following a breakdown in peace talks sponsored by the Austin Commission On Human Relations.

"If there are any other negotiations, they will have to be set up from the beginning," said The Rev. Brandoch Lovely, spokesman for the commission and local Unitarian pastor. "I am very unhappy that Austin is evidently not able to resolve a common problem, as it has in the past, without resort to other than reasonable and harmonious means."

The group of about 12 white and Negro students gave the sit-in ultimatum to reporters after taking part in a closed session with Lovely and a group of white and Negro businessmen.

"If some satisfactory means is not found in a week an interracial coalition of student groups will be forced to use methods at their disposal to present the problem effectively and to find a satisfactory solution," said the statement.

Reporters and photographers were ousted from the negotiations in the auditorium of a downtown bank. So were a number of students from the Episcopal and Presbyterian seminaries here and a number of Negro university students who had not been invited as representatives of organizations. Some said there were no students present from Huston-Tillotson College, local Negro school, at the meeting. The Huston-Tillotson student council recently passed a resolution asking merchants to desegregate eating places.

Lovely said only six of 15 eating place operators in downtown Austin and the University area showed up for the meeting. "Apparently the rest prefer to play ostriches," he said. A local doctor, dentist and lawyer were among the Negro citizens attending.

He said the commission sponsored the talks "with the purpose of trying to work out a tough situation before it becomes explosive." He said the commission is an inter-racial, inter-cultural and inter-religious organization of some 300 white and Negro members.

Several of the Negro students said there had been no recent speeches or encouragement from those outside Austin. They said they had no part in the recent Marshall sit-in demonstrations.

Before Wednesday's meeting, Lovely said he was optimistic of a "peaceful agreement." He said "The Negro students have been organized and ready to demonstrate for a month."

At a meeting of about 50 white and Negro students Tuesday night at the University, the desegregation of eating places here was discussed.

Sit-In Case To Be Appealed

MARSHALL (AP) — Lawyers said they expected to appeal the County Court conviction of a Negro college student Wednesday in a segregated lunch counter incident.

A six-member jury found S. J. Brisco of Jennings, La., guilty of unlawful assembly to prevent a person from pursuing his labor. It fined him $400. The maximum under the law is $500.

Brisco, who attends all-Negro Wiley College here, was one of 57 students charged as a result of lunch counter sit-ins in this far East Texas city last month. At one point the demonstrations sent a crowd of 700 students gathering around the courthouse. Fire hoses were used to scatter them.

County Judge George Pendergast was expected to hear the cases of three other Negro students charged with unlawful assembly after the trial of Brisco. During the hour it took jurors to reach a verdict, however, Pendergast started hearing an unrelated case and did not indicate when the other students would be tried.

Officers jailed Brisco and 56 other students at Wiley and Bishop Colleges here for sit-ins to enforce their demands for service at all-white lunch counters.

Also on file are complaints charging six students with illegal picketing of stores operating segregated lunch counters.

Negro lawyers already have appealed City Court convictions of 29 students on companion charges.

Board Ponders Replacement

Members of the Big Spring school board spent two long hours Tuesday afternoon discussing a suitable nominee to fill one vacant post on the board. The upshot was the final decision was deferred until next Tuesday night when the board meets in regular session.

The board members reviewed the names of 25 possible successors to the post left vacant by the recent resignation of John Dibrell. By a process of elimination, this long list of possibilities was reduced to nine. It was then cut to seven and finally to four. However, this final group is not necessarily the list from which the final choice will be made. Between this date and Tuesday night, it is quite possible board members will think up additional prospects and offer them for consideration.

A number of those mentioned had to be eliminated because of conflicts in their personal work which would prevent their serving as a school board member.

Attending the luncheon meeting at which the matter was reviewed were Clyde McMahan, president of the board; Harold Talbot, Dr. Floyd R. Mays, Wendal Parks, Supt. Floyd Parsons and Asst. Supt. Pat Murphy.

The only business was the matter of a successor to Dibrell.

Drug Monopoly In Diabetics Next In Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate drug price investigators said today an alleged monopoly in the sale of medicines diabetics take by mouth is next on their list for scrutiny.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee's chief economist, John M. Blair, testified Wednesday that diabetes patients who take oral medication "are virtually limited to two drugs, tolbutamide (orinase) and chlorpropamide (diabinese)."

"A complete monopoly of sales of the former is held by Upjohn and of the latter by Pfizer," he said. These are two of the nation's big pharmaceutical houses.

An official subcommittee announcement said this branch of the drug industry will be next on its list for inquiry when hearings resume Tuesday.

The group is looking into allegations of exorbitant profits and monopolistic practices in the drug industry.

Dr. Austin Smith, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn., said Wednesday both charges are baseless. He testified as he had during hearings last February—that drug prices are reasonable, and that no monopoly exists.

Wholesale drug prices, Smith said, rose 3 per cent between 1948 and 1958, compared with a 22 per cent increase in the wholesale price index for all industrial products.

Smith also said Congress fails to provide enough money for federal inspection of drugs. He termed this "a national calamity."

He said Commissioner George Larrick of the Food and Drug Administration has protested to the House Appropriations Committee that the FDA can afford a field force "only large enough to permit plant inspections of the pharmaceutical manufacturers once every 5½ years."

Howle Heads Teachers Group

Principal Russell Howle, Elbow school, was elected president of the Howard County Teachers' Association at the annual banquet held last night at the Elbow school.

Howle succeeds George Archer, principal of Gay Hill school, in the post.

Other officers elected were Mrs. George Archer, vice president; and Mrs. Russell Howles, secretary. Mrs. Loy Acuff, assistant county superintendent, is treasurer, a two-year post, and began serving in January.

Principal speaker at the banquet was Walter Bailey, county superintendent, who discussed policies of the state association.

Entertainment was provided by the Forsan High School chorus.

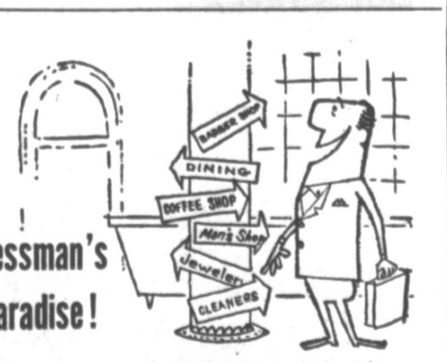

About 90 teachers and guests representing all seven schools in the county association were on hand.

Dangerous Like Smoking In Bed

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — A pigeon flew with a smoldering cigarette butt Wednesday to its nest in the upper reaches of an 18th Century building at Ford's Greenfield Village.

Firemen doused the blaze but not before several timbers were charred and two pigeons asphyxiated. The building was brought here piece by piece from England by the late Henry Ford.

124 Years Ago, Texans Won Battle At San Jacinto; Heroes Honored Today

By The Associated Press

Just 124 years ago Thursday, a small band of Texans defeated Mexican Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna in the Battle of San Jacinto.

Texans honored those early day "Texians" with a variety of observances. The quick but decisive battle gained Texas Independence.

Gov. Price Daniel joined other officials at the battleground, 25 miles east of Houston in a celebration marking the 18-minute battle's anniversary.

Many schools closed and all state offices observed the holiday.

At College Station, the annual A&M muster honored the heroes of the battles for the Independence of Texas and all Aggies who died since the last muster.

During ceremonies at the San Jacinto monument, a brass capsule containing a telegram from President Eisenhower was buried. The capsule, to be opened on April 21, 2036, contained letters from governors and other public officials and biographies of former Gov. W. P. Hobby and the late Jesse H. Jones.

Brasilia Celebrates First Capital Day

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — This unfinished city in the wild Brazilian heartland, crammed to overflowing with 100,000 residents and just as many visitors in a carnival mood, today celebrated its first day as the nation's capital.

The festivities began at the stroke of midnight, when the modernistic city President Juscelino Kubitschek carved out of the wilderness officially replaced Rio de Janeiro as the seat of government.

Pope John XXIII sent his blessings by radio from Rome. The jubilant throngs hailed the change of capitals with flashing lights and fireworks. A papal legate, Manuel Cardinal Goncalves of Portugal, celebrated mass.

It was a moment of deep emotion for Kubitschek, who doggedly started the half-billion-dollar project from scratch three years ago despite severe criticism.

The city is the culmination of a century-old dream of Brazilians of an inland capital to open up the undeveloped interior of this vast country.

Still a long way from completion, Brasilia will not become the center of government operations for some time. The bulk of the government will remain in Rio until stores, transportation facilities, schools and hospitals can be set up here. Only a few officials will remain here with President Kubitschek.

With only one permanent hotel built, the visitors scrambled for sleeping space Wednesday night.

Prices for transportation and food rose steadily.

Thousands drove to Brasilia, and traffic was a problem, even with 800 special police on duty.

In Rio, church bells, cannon fire and sambas welcomed the big port's inauguration as Brazil's 21st and smallest state—Guanabara.

McCormick Hits Stride Against Los Angeles

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mike McCormick, after warming up on the Philadelphia Phillies for two years, seems ready to start cutting loose against the rest of the National League.

The young left-hander knocked off Los Angeles with a two-hit, 1-0 decision Wednesday that hoisted the San Francisco Giants back into a first place tie with the Dodgers.

Cincinnati, breaking up a tie with five runs after two were out in the 10th inning, rapped the Milwaukee Braves 10-5, and the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Philadelphia 4-2 in the only other NL games scheduled.

In the American League, Detroit made it two straight over Cleveland, winning 6-4 on home runs by Al Kaline and ex-Injuns Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash. Boston won its first, spilling New York out of a first place tie 7-1. Washington bumped Baltimore out of a share of the lead 8-7 in the only other game scheduled.

McCormick, a one-time $65,000 bonus baby but now an old hand in his fifth season at 21, faced only 29 men. He gave up his only walk to leadoff man Jim Gilliam, then retired 15 in a row before Maury Wills singled in the sixth. Gil Hodges got the other Dodger single in the seventh.

The Giants were held to five singles by Don Drysdale. Two of the hits, by Willie Kirkland and Don Blasingame, got the run across in the fifth.

Roy McMillan, who was 5-for-6 and drove in five runs, carried the fight through eight innings with a pair of homers for the Reds and then slapped a two-run single as they went ahead with three in the ninth. A pinch single by Ray Boone gave the Braves a tie in the ninth, but rookie Tony Gonzalez got the Reds rolling with a two-out single that cracked it in the 10th.

Don McMahon (1-1) lost it while Raul Sanchez picked up his first decision after cutting down Milwaukee's ninth-inning rally by getting Joe Adcock on a ground out with the bases loaded.

Texas Li'l League Opens 1960 Campaign Tonight

By DON RIDDLE

Big Spring's Little League program begins summer action this weekend with all four leagues celebrating opening night, tonight through Monday, and should the Ringling Brothers bring a three-ring circus to town, the clowns would probably have to clap for one another.

Local youngsters from eight to 12 years of age consider opening night a national holiday—for everybody except mom, who's busy with the last minute alterations of Junior's uniform.

Little Leaguers Ready

Pictured above are four boys who will be active in Texas Little League, first of the city's kid baseball circuit to begin competition. Top row, left to right, they are Howard Gregory of Reef and Billy Pineda, Cosden. Lower row, Mike Murphy of Kent and Jerry Cuthbertson, Local 826, are pictured. Local 826 and Reef kick the lid off the campaign tonight.

Each of the four leagues has its own opening night, complete with dignitaries and scatter-arm first ball throwers. The Texas League is the first to get started and Local 826 will take on the Reef team in the opener.

Local 826 is managed by A. D. Nanny. J. O. Bailey handles the Reef squad.

Texas League ceremonies begin at 7 p.m. and Mayor Lee O. Rogers will throw out the first ball. Radio station KBST will air the ceremonies.

Other members of the six-team league and their managers are Campbell's, Elton Carlile; Cosden, Ben White; Kent, Kenneth Britton and Toby's, M. G. Fierro.

Friday night the International League commences, with the Comets facing the Sabres. The Comets are managed by Paul Mosley. The Sabres are led by Grady Ramsey.

The five teams in this league are sponsored by the Webb AFB personnel through donations. Bill Thompson is the manager of the Daggers, Ronald Gaydos heads the T-Birds and Frank Rzasa has charge of the Rockets. A complete schedule of the league will be announced soon.

The National League begins Saturday night when the Devils, sponsored by Anderson Music Company, oppose the Cardinals, sponsored by Tommy Gage Oil Company.

Ben Kirkland and J. D. Campbell manage the Devils and James Abe and Buford Hull mastermind the Cards.

Other teams and their sponsors and managers include Dodgers, Evening Lions, Harold Hall and Gerold Cox; Braves, Newsom's, Truman Nix and Ray Reese; Yankees, Dibrell's, Bill Mims, Oakie Hagood and Charles Bolen; VFW, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Ed Booth and Bill Pate.

Monday is the big night for the American League and the Jets will face the Colts in the opener on the diamond east of the junior college campus.

R&R Theatres sponsor the Jets, who are managed by Pat Patterson. The Colts are sponsored by Coca Cola Bottling Company and are headed by Johnny Hobbs.

Other team sponsors and managers are: Pigs, Piggly-Wiggly, Wayne McKee; Stars, Furr's Food Store, Joe Mitchell; Pirates, Sabbato Insurance Co., Frank Sabbato; Cabots, Cabot Carbon Co., Kay Bartlett.

Liston Confident He'll End Fight

HOUSTON (AP) — A confident Sonny Liston pitched camp in downtown Houston today and began final training for Monday night's heavyweight contender showdown with Roy Harris.

HARRIS

"If it goes 10 rounds they can have it," the 210-pound Philadelphia Negro, rated No. 2 said.

"He's confident," said Manager Pep Barone. "He's not the worrying kind."

Harris, the No. 6 contender, was cautious but his trainer, Bill Gore, said the Cut and Shoot schoolteacher is ready.

"Roy has been slipping his punches well in workouts," Gore said. "He's faster than Liston and he'll take advantage of that speed. I'm not saying Roy will win but I'm saying he is ready. I just wish he was fighting tonight."

The 10-round Sam Houston Coliseum bout will be carried by closed circuit TV (9 p.m., Big Spring time), as the main event on live cards in Dallas, San Antonio, Odessa, Tex., New Orleans, Mobile, Atlanta, Miami Beach, Baltimore, Milwaukee and Minneapolis.

Advance ticket sales for the 11,000-seat Coliseum have passed $40,000. The sponsoring Texas Boxing Enterprises Inc. expects a Texas record gate in excess of $70,000.

Liston was asked if he feared Harris' record for winning decisions in Houston.

"He has never lost a decision here," Liston said. "That's why I figure I'm going to knock him out."

Harris owns a 30-1 record, with 11 of his victories coming as decisions in Houston. His lone loss was a 1958 title fight with former champion Floyd Patterson. Harris lost on a 12th round technical knockout.

Liston has included 19 knockouts in his 28-1 record.

Gore said Liston is a great puncher.

"But he's a slow mover and a slow thinker," he said. "He moves straight in. He'll have to go looking for Harris, and he is going to take some punching to do it."

Both fighters believe the Monday night winner should be established as the logical challenger to meet the winner of the June title fight between champion Ingemar Johansson and Patterson.

"Roy turned down chances to fight Eddie Machen and Zora Folley for this fight," said Lou Viscusi, manager of Harris.

"Liston is the one the other heavyweights are scared to fight," said Harris.

Fishing Party Is In Opelousas, La.

A local party composed of Boone Horne, C. O. Nalley, G. W. Eason and H. M. Rainbolt has gone to Opelousas, La., to get in some fishing on a private lake.

While in Opelousas, they will be guests of C. W. Cain.

Quite probably, the group will also go deep sea fishing in the Gulf of Mexico. The four men will probably be gone about ten days.

Brownwood Meet Starts May 5

BROWNWOOD (SC) — The 24th annual Brownwood Invitational Golf tournament will be held here May 5-6-7-8.

The champion will be determined by 54 holes of medal play. A program is scheduled for Thursday, May 5. Qualifying starts the following day, with the low 40 players rating the title flight.

Stanton Fifth In Tyler Meet

STANTON (SC) — Stanton's Buffaloes, recent District 6-A track and field winners, took fifth place in the Rose Relays at Tyler, last weekend and only AAA and AAAA schools finished ahead of Coach John Bailey's crew.

Stanton qualified 10 boys for the regional meet and these were the only competitors for Stanton. Buzz Brewer landed a second place shot in the discus throw and added points by placing third in the shot put.

Norman Donelson grabbed second place in the 440 yard dash with a time of 50 seconds flat, and Stanton's sprint relay crew was nosed out of third place and turned in a 44.7 mark for the fourth spot.

The Rose Relays were open competition and schools of all classes were competing against one another. Stanton was the only class A school to place among such powers as Garland, Greenville, Henderson, Jacksonville, Paris, two AAAA schools from Tyler and numerous AAA and AAAA schools from Dallas and Fort Worth.

The Buffs will trek to Lubbock Friday for the preliminaries in the regional meet, and then return there Saturday for the finals which begin at 1 p.m.

All first and second place entries at the gathering qualify for the state meet in Austin, May 6-7.

Softball Conclave Scheduled Monday

A joint meeting of YMCA Industrial and Church softball league managers will be held at the Y, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Any one who desires to enter a team in either circuit can attend the conclave, Joe Leach of the Y stated.

Both leagues use facilities in the City Park for summer play.

Looks To 1961 Season

Gary Walker (above), a discus thrower for Big Spring High School, failed to qualify for the Regional Meet when he finished third in the recent District 2-AAAA meet at Midland but he'll be back next year. He's only a junior. Gary's best throw this season has been 164 feet 10 inches.

Fullmer, Giardello Battle To Deadlock

By FRANK PITMAN

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP)—Champion Gene Fullmer's NBA middleweight crown still rested on his scarred and bruised brow today after tilting dangerously in a slugging and butting duel with challenger Joey Giardello.

The officials ruled the wild, 15-round brawl Wednesday night a draw.

Giardello, a 3-to-1 underdog, chanted afterward "I'm the champion, I'm the champion!"

Fullmer ignored Joey's claim and said he'd never again fight the Philadelphia veteran who missed by a hair's breadth in his first title shot after 12 years in the ring.

"He doesn't deserve a rematch because of the way he butted me in the fourth round," Fullmer said. His manager, Marv Jenson, echoed the champion's stand.

"Sure, I butted him," Giardello said afterward in his dressing room, "but I only did it after he butted me."

Giardello's head-knocking followed Referee Harry Kessler's warning in the third round against butting.

Kessler, a St. Louis official, scored it 144-142 for Giardello. Judge Ray Evans of Butte, Mont., gave it to the champion 145-142, Judge Billy McFarland of Missoula, Mont., called it even at 145-145. The AP scored it 144-144 and even in rounds.

More than 12,000 fans who paid in excess of $110,000 crowded into the Montana State College fieldhouse for the nationally televised bout.

Fullmer, who just made the 160-pound weight limit, collected all the $100,000 television receipts. Giardello, 158¼, received $25,000 plus $5,000 expenses.

Confusion reigned at ringside for several minutes after the split votes of the referee and judges were announced. The status of Fullmer's crown remained uncertain until Sonny O'Day, chairman of the Montana Athletic Commission, told the crowd: "The decision has to be a draw. Fullmer retains his crown."

The action was fast and furious in the early rounds of the bout. By the fourth, blood streamed down the faces of both fighters.

Giardello peppered away with jabs around Fullmer's head while the champion countered with a relenteless body tattoo which made Joey wince half a dozen times.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

A former Big Spring girl, Netta Kay Laws, now a 17-year-old Sulphur Springs High School student, recently won the District 6-AAA singles tennis championship in a tournament held at Greenville.

So far this season, Netta Kay hasn't lost a match. She's played four, in all.

The coming weekend, she will represent Sulphur Springs in the regional tournament, which will be held on the SMU courts in Dallas. Winners there go to the State Meet in Austin.

* * * *

Officials who work in the American Football League this year will be paid about $166 a game, plus all expenses.

* * * *

Contrary to a report issued here earlier, Big Spring's Emmet McKenzie will analyze District 2-AAAA football's strength and weaknesses for the benefit of the press during the Texas Coaches Association's annual clinic in Dallas in August.

McKenzie will arrive at conclusions by consulting each 2-AAAA coach and by taking a coaches' poll on how they reason the conference race will end.

He's watched some of the teams work out but, of course, has seen none of them under fire.

The invitation to appear before the writers was originally extended to McKenzie's predecessor, Al Milch, by a representative of the coaching school who, from all indications, did not know that Milch was no longer affiliated with the local school.

McKenzie knows about what he's in for during the interview. He served as the district representative in 1958, at which time he was at Nederland.

McKenzie picked his own team to win 11-AAA honors that year and the club lived up to the advanced billing. Not without a struggle, however, he recalls.

* * * *

Incidentally, if McKenzie had his way, the coaching school would be shortened considerably. He thinks a week is too long to hold a registrant's attention. Besides, the clinic comes at a time of year when a coach's time is usually needed elsewhere.

He'd perhaps have the basketball coaches in first—and concentrate on that phase of coaching for two or three days. He'd then devote the rest of the time to the football portion of the school.

The Masters Golf tournament could become a $100,000 event next year.

The pro linksters thought that such meets had become a thing of the past when George May and the PGA disagreed over policy but the prizes handed out at the conclusion of this year's Masters totaled $87,050—although it was billed as a $20,000 tournament.

* * * *

A baseball player who got his professional start in West Texas, Roy McMillan, is regarded as one of the best managerial prospects in the big leagues.

The one-time Ballinger infielder, now with the Cincinnati Reds, still has several years of play in the big leagues ahead of him and probably won't give any mind to managing for at least five or six years.

Steerettes Poised For Pampa Game

Big Spring's High School volleyball team journeys to Odessa Saturday to battle Pampa High School for the regional title.

Pampa was a surprise winner in their district as the Harvesters upset the favored Plainview team.

Both schools will enter the state meet, April 30, no matter what the outcome in the regional playoffs.

Coach Bernice Waggoner's Steerettes won the state title a year ago but lost most of the championship squad to graduation.

"This year's team is composed primarily of juniors," explains Miss Waggoner. "They are just now getting to work well together. Next year should be a big year for us."

This year's team needs make no apologies for its record, nevertheless. The Steerettes have dropped only 6 games and the last loss was nearly two months ago. That defeat came at the hands of Seminole and the locals had four regulars out of the lineup.

Three of the losses were to a talented Andrews crew and Big Spring will not have to play the Mustangs in state competition for Andrews is a AAA school.

Elena Patterson, a 1959 all-stater, has been the work horse for Big Spring this year as a spiker. Gwen Proctor has shown improvement of late and looks like a cinch to give the Steerettes another outstanding spiker. Both are juniors.

Gloria Greenwood has been the outstanding set so far this year and she has two years of eligibility left.

Rita Wilson, Sharon Agee and Joann Phillips are the other Steerette starters and none are seniors.

Both Big Spring and Pampa will represent the region at the volleyball state meet in Abilene, April 30.

Other Steerettes include Diane Womack, Carol Phillips, Claudie Self, Malinda Crocker and Mozelle Groebl. Crocker and Carol Phillips are the only players graduating this spring.

Ex-Injuns Help Bengals Vanquish Clevelanders

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you're scoring the Cleveland-Detroit trades, give round two to the Tigers and at least a nod to Al Kaline.

KALINE

It was Rocky Colavito and Norm Cash, a pair of ex-Injuns, who brought Detroit from behind with homers, but it was Kaline who delivered the knockout punch for the second straight day as the Tigers clipped the Indians 6-4 Wednesday. Kaline's first 1960 home run cracked a 4-4 tie and triggered a two-run ninth.

With the defending champion Chicago White Sox (1-0) idle, that left Detroit (2-0) all alone atop the American League standings. The Boston Red Sox, winning their first on the third try, spilled the New York Yankees 7-1, and Washington dropped Baltimore 8-7 in the only other games scheduled in the AL.

San Francisco regained a first-place tie with Los Angeles in the National, beating the Dodgers 1-0. Cincinnati scored five runs with two out in the 10th for a 10-5 victory over Milwaukee, and Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 4-2 in the other NL action.

Colavito, the fan favorite traded to Detroit Sunday for Harvey Kuenn, made up for Tuesday's 0-for-6 debut as a Tiger with a three-run homer that tied it in the fourth. Then Cash, exchanged for third baseman Steve Demeter two weeks ago, crashed a pinch homer for a 4-4 deadlock in the eight.

The Tigers got their clinching two in the ninth when Kaline tagged the third homer off Jim Perry (0-1), a sophomore who never had lost to Detroit.

Tom Morgan won it, pitching a hitless eighth in relief of southpaw Don Mossi (yet another ex-Indian) who gave up four hits—all Cleveland got.

Right-hander Jerry Casale, who won his last five decision as a rookie last season, made it six in a row with a five-hit job on the Yankees. He walked three, struck out eight and chipped in a two-run double as the Red Sox scored four in the second for a 5-0 lead against loser Bob Turley.

The Senators won their second when Billy Consolo tripled and ex-Oriole Billy Gardner singled in the eight. Harmon Killebrew socked his first homer of the year in the fifth inning and then gave the Nats a 7-7 tie with a two-run single in the seventh. Tex Clevenger won it in relief. Rip Coleman lost it.

Kloven Named Frosh Mentor

BROWNWOOD (SC) — Al Kloven, who played basketball at both Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College, has been named freshman cage mentor at Howard Payne College here.

Kloven will remain in school next year to work on his master's degree. Al, a native of Big Spring, was the first HPC basketball player ever named to the All-Lone Star Conference team.

He succeeds Stanley Owens as freshman coach at the school. Al scored a total of 339 points the past season with the Jackets.

Mystery Still Enshrouds Ed Sawyer's Departure

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Why did Eddie Sawyer wade through spring training, handle the club in one regular season game and then toss in the towel as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies?

Friday will be a week since Sawyer's dramatic exit and the announcement of Gene Mauch as his successor. Instead of becoming a forgotten issue the mystery has deepened. Local sports circles still are batting about the whys and wherefores.

Sawyer still won't talk.

Club owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn consider the matter a closed book.

The detectives in this case — reporters — have taken to interviewing each other. The writers who covered the club in spring training were particular targets for questioners.

The general opinion seemed to be that Sawyer was an entirely different personality from the man who came to the Phillies in 1948, and helped develop the team which won a National League pennant in 1950.

During his first term, Sawyer was known as the kindly professor who had a wonderful way with kids. It was said that the manager cajoled, kidded, and hand-rode the young team known as the Whiz Kids to the flag. He made them believe they could win and they did.

But something happened. They fell apart, never were the same team again.

Sawyer, in a desperate effort to bring the club around, discarded his kindly approach and got tough. It didn't work and 2½ years after he managed a pennant winner, he was fired, or quit as he always has contended.

In the middle of the 1958 season the Phillies amazed Philadelphia baseball followers by bringing back Sawyer. The Phillies now a last-place team. Sawyer sat quietly in the dugout through the rest of the season, and suffered through an ignominious campaign in 1959.

In the early months after the season, however, Sawyer talked like the professor of old. He had a lot of promising kids coming up from the farms. He spoke of the Phillies of the future. But somewhere along the line he suddenly lost his enthusiasm.

Borderline Business

Red China's Premier Chou En-lai and his host, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, right, meet in New Delhi to start their talk on the disputed Himalayan border between their two countries. China claims the entire 2,500-mile border between India and China and is undefined and should be negotiated. Chinese troops control 12,000 square miles of the disputed 51,000 square miles of territory. India insists the border is well-defined historically.

Rescuers Seek Students After Girl's Report

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP)—After a university coed stumbled to safety on frostbitten feet, mountain rescuers renewed their search for two male students lost on snowswept Long Peak.

Jane Bendixen, 18, a University of Colorado sophomore, wandered Wednesday night to a mountain home six miles southeast of the 14,255-foot peak in the north-central Colorado Rockies.

Her feet were frostbitten and she bled from cuts on the hands and face suffered in falls on the slippery slopes of the mountain.

She was taken to an Estes Park hospital, then transferred today to the health center at the University at Boulder.

A university doctor said today the girl "is feeling fine."

Spurred by the girl's account of a severe storm on the lofty mountain, they set out again in search of David L. Jones, 18, of Webster Groves, Mo., and Prince D. Willmon, 23, of Fort Smith, Ark. They also are students at the University of Colorado.

Miss Bendixen said the three were blinded by a snowstorm late Tuesday and lost their way. They dug a snow cave above timberline to wait out the storm. She said Willmon was suffering from extreme frostbite—his skin blistered and his hands and feet swollen. The girl said she and Jones set out at different time intervals to seek help.

Weather in the region today was clear with temperatures about 35. There was virtually no wind.

Miss Bendixen, who lives at Davenport, Iowa, staggered into the home of N. L. Sutherland at Allens Park, 12 miles south of here.

Park authorities said the trio ignored "trail closed" signs on an outing that began Monday.

James A. Greig, 21, of Glenview, Ill., another student, had gone with the group but became ill and turned back. He reported the others missing Monday night.

The missing youths have had mountain-climbing experience and are either members of, or associated with, the Rocky Mountain Rescue Group from Boulder.

C-City Ready For Festival

COLORADO CITY — The much maligned tumbleweed, inspiration for lonesome ballads and target of cutting and cussin', will have its day of honor here a week from tomorrow.

Plans are moving rapidly for Colorado City's big tumbleweed festival on April 29.

Actually festivities will begin the evening before, but the big day is on a Friday with a Tumbleweed Pageant, replete with tumbleweed floats, a queen's contest, visits by such dignitaries as Gov. Price Daniel and Attorney General Will Wilson.

The Son of the Pioneers, featuring comedian Pat Brady, will present three shows, and there will be other entertainment, including the crowning of the tumbleweed queen.

Plans for the festival stemmed from the opening of a factory here to process the bulky West Texas weed for decorative purposes.

Vest's Statement Clears Nothing

A tape recording of the statement that Milton Taylor Vest, 34, made to Santa Barbara police officers in which he confessed to killing a man in Howard County last January, arrived at the office of Miller Harris, sheriff, today.

Harris and his deputies played the recording over several times, but they have no more helpful clues in the matter than they had before.

Vest, an ex-convict who claims Odessa as his home, says he served five years and seven months in Huntsville for stealing a car in Big Spring.

His story, in brief, was that he reached Big Spring one day about the middle of January. He spent the night in the weeds near the railroad. The next day, he was walking along the road and came upon a "junk place." The operator paid him a few dollars to work in the junk yard. He took the money and spent it for a sack of groceries. Then he boarded a west bound T&P freight.

He claims that another man in the boxcar grabbed the groceries. He got up and sought to recover the food. In the scuffle the second man fell from the open door. The train pulled into a "hole," he says, (this is taken to mean it stopped on a siding) a little later. He left the boxcar and walked back to the place where the man had fallen. He dragged him to one side, and set the debris afire. He says he does not know if the man was dead at the time or not.

He reboarded the train and rode on to California.

No trace of the victim's body or the place where a fire may have been burned was found along the right of way of the T&P.

Polygraph (lie-detector) tests were vague and inconclusive. Vest admitted he had been given psychiatric treatment in prison. He also said he liked to imagine himself as a big time boxer, and that sometimes he actually became such a person.

U. S. Newsmen Accused By Castro Police

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban secret police accused two U. S. newsmen of counterrevolutionary activities, the Americans said on their arrival by airplane Wednesday night.

Richard Bate of Cocoa Beach, Fla., and Mario Biasetti of Boston, Columbia Broadcasting System reporter and cameraman respectively, said they would recheck film they had dispatched several days ago before discussing a recent controversial interview with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Bates said earlier he had interviewed Castro, who in response to a question, had stated a talk with President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Christian A. Herter "might improve relations between the two countries."

Cuban intelligence officers took the two Americans from their hotel room Tuesday and detained them overnight. Biasetti said police told them they wanted the two to identify a man they met on an airplane flight several days before en route from Camaguey to Havana.

Former Tavern Operator Goes On Trial Here

Dillard White, former operator of a beer place in northwest Big Spring, is on trial today in Howard County Court for allegedly having a illegal beverage (whisky) on his piermses He was licensed to sell beer only.

White had announced Monday that he would be his own attorney. However, he has changed his mind, and was represented at the trial by John Richard Coffee.

A jury had been selected and the testimony was under way at 10 a.m. Judge Ed Carpenter is presiding and Wayne Burns, county attorney, is the prosecutor.

The alleged incident occurred last Nov. 29. A representative of the state liquor control board said that White's beer license has since expired and that he had made no effort to have it renewed.

City police seized the alleged whiskey.

Investigators Peer At Polio Mystery

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Investigators are probing a polio mystery in Massachusetts.

Last year 137 residents of that state were paralyzed by polio in a unique outbreak that didn't follow the rules, explained Dr. E. Russell Alexander of the U. S. Public Health Service.

Elsewhere in the nation, polio struck in sharply focused areas — Des Moines, Iowa; Little Rock, Ark.; and Kansas City, he told the 1960 symposium on polio vaccines Wednesday.

When it hit, it hit hardest at the poor, the slum districts, the tenements, the crowded city dwellers—and largely those who were unvaccinated or incompletely vaccinated with the Salk vaccine.

These were the lower economic groups — the Negro, the Indian. Of these, it hit hardest at the children of one and two years of age.

More than 5,000 persons were paralyzed by the disease in outbreaks last year.

But in Massachusetts, the outbreak was statewide in character, not limited to any city, Alexander said

Polio in Massachusetts did not limit itself to either the rich or poor.

Even more strange: One type of polio, Type 3, which accounts for only 10 per cent of the cases nationally, hit 51 of 56 in Massachusetts.

Now investigators are going back over old records to find out if vaccines given Massachusetts residents during the campaigns of 1956 and 1957 may have been unusually weak in protecting against Type 3 virus, Alexander said.

He pointed out that vaccines made during this time followed the period in which some polio vaccines were found to contain still living virus. In reaction potency may have been sacrificed to safety, he suggested.

Sgt. Mendoza To Become Recruiter

S.Sgt. Raul Mendoza of wing headquarters has left Webb for recruiting duty at San Angelo. He will attend school at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, or 65 days before reporting to the San Angelo Recruiting Station.

Sgt. Mendoza came in the service in 1946 and has since had two oversea tours, one in Japan, 1947-1950, and the other in Germany, 1956-57. He arrived at Webb in January, 1958, and was last assigned to Central Base Funds, Pilot Training Wing Headquarters.

The sergeant's wife, Aurora, and their five-year-old son live at 190-B Hunter in Webb Village.

Locals To Take Part In Presbyterian Assembly

Mr. and Mrs. Dave T. Evans have left for Jacksonville, Fla. where he will be one of the four lay commissioners from the Southwest Presbytery to the 1960 General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, together with Mrs. Lloyd and Gage Jr., will leave Monday for Jacksonville and the assembly on April 28-May 3. Dr. Lloyd was named originally as one of the four ministerial commissioners from the presbytery, but he yielded his place to Dr. R. Matthew Lynn, Midland. Dr. Lloyd is fostering an amendment to nominate Dr. Lynn as the moderator of the general assembly.

Other clerical commissioners from the presbytery are the Rev. Lindy Crossman, El Paso, formerly pastor at Coahoma; the Rev. John W. Bird, Sanderson; and the Rev. David M. H. Richmond, in charge of the student center at Texas Tech. The ruling elders named as commissioners are F. Norman Woodruff, El Paso, Norman Breed, Van Horn; J. S. Lister, Lovington, N. M.; and Evans.

Youths Arrested In Car Stolen Here

Two Midland youths were placed in the hands of Howard County juvenile authorities today after they were apprehended driving an auto stolen from Big Spring.

The boys, ages 14 and 15, were found in the auto at Sterling City early this morning by police there.

Elvis Arrives In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Elvis Presley made a triumphant return to Hollywood Wednesday night in a private railroad car.

Only evident reminders of the singer's two-year Army stint were his missing sideburns and his inclination to address newsmen as "sir" when answering their questions.

All except a few of the 500 or so yelping teen-agers who formed a welcoming committee were frustrated.

Presley's manager arranged for him to get into a taxicab unobserved.

When the cab stopped for a red light outside the station, about a dozen of the faithful spotted Presley and sprinted over.

He shook hands with some of them through the window before the cab moved away.

DiTomaso Is Top Instructor

First Lt. Frank D. DiTomaso of San Fernando, Calif., has been named Pilot Training Group's top instructor for March.

Lt. DiTomaso is currently assigned to the group's Academic Section, where he instructs student pilots in T-33 engineering. He arrived at Webb in 1957 and instructed on the flight line (Section II) for two years before moving up to group headquarters. While on the line, he saw more than a dozen Air Force officers earn their wings under his instruction. He taught four classes.

Entering the service in 1953, he went through cadet training at Lackland AFB, primary flying training at Bainbridge, Ga., and then basic at Williams AFB, where he won his wings. Lt. DiTomaso attended T-33 and F-84 gunnery schools at Del Rio, and Luke AFB, Ariz., in succession. Lt. DiTomaso attended T-33 and F-84 gunnery schools at Del Rio, and Luke AFB, Ariz., in succession.

In 1955 the lieutenant was assigned to Larson AFB, Wash., a SAC base. There he flew reconnaissance missions in F-84s. Prior to coming to Webb he attended the Basic Instructor School at Craig AFB, Ala.

Lt. DiTomaso lives in Webb Village with his wife, Beverly, and their sons, Frank Jr. and Paul.

SGT. DUFFY D. BENNING

S.Sgt. Duffy D. Benning, an AF "returnee" of two years ago, took a short discharge last week and re-enlisted at Webb for a four-year period with the U. S. Air Force. He is assigned to the 3560th Flight Line Maintenance Squadron.

A native of Prattsville, Ark., Sgt. Benning first entered the service in May, 1952 and went to Goodfellow AFB, San Angelo, after taking basic at Lackland. Upon his discharge in 1956, he remained at Goodfellow for two years as a Civil Service employe, working as an aircraft (reciprocating engine) mechanic.

Returning to active duty in February, 1958, Benning came to Webb eight months later, and cross-trained into the jet mechanic field. He is now with the squadron's periodic maintenance section.

His wife, Charlene, and their 3-year-old son, Charles Michael, live with him at Davidson Trailer Park, Big Spring.

Old Soldier Gets Tribute

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—An old soldier still alert at the age of 100, sat in a wheelchair at the U.S. Military Academy Wednesday to receive a tribute.

Retired Maj. Gen. Henry Clay Hodges Jr. was the first West Point graduate to become a centenarian. He smiled with warm appreciation as he listened to a message from the President of the United States.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, himself a West Point graduate, wrote the honored guest at a luncheon Wednesday:

"I want to offer a special salute to a fine soldier and distinguished graduate of the U.S. Military Academy."

Joining in the tribute were 2,500 cadets and officers of West Point.

Gen. Hodges, glancing at a cake illuminated by 100 candles, said: "I didn't expect this, and I thank you all."

Hodges now lives in Stamford, Conn.

Good News Clubs To Hear Mission Worker Friday

Kathryn Belloni, Child Evangelism Fellowship Missionary to France, will speak to Good News Club children in a missionary rally to be held in Fellowship Hall, at the Phillips Memorial Church, on Friday at 4 p.m.

She will show colored slides of life in France, and her work among the children.

The rally will open with a song time, led by Leona Hooper, West Texas director of child evangelism. Diane Banks will be pianist. Following Miss Belloni's message with her slides, a brief object lesson will be presented by Louise Paulger, of West Texas CEF. There will be treats for all children present.

The Good News Club boys and girls are invited to bring their friends and parents to the rally. A special invitation is extended to children who have attended Good News Clubs in the past here in Big Spring, whether or not they are in a club at the present time.

Miss Belloni is stopping in Big Spring and other West Texas cities for Good News Club rallies, en route from her home in California to the International Child Evangelism Conference to be held in Memphis, Tenn., May 2-6. She has had two terms in France, and is expecting to return to her field in August. Today at 8 p.m. she will be speaking to a group of CEF friends at the Fellowship Headquarters, 709 Johnson St.

April First Month Disabled Farmers Qualify For Aid

April 1960 is an important month to remember for disabled farmers, according to H. P. Thomas, manager of the Social Security district office located at Odessa. It is the first month for which any farmers can receive social security disability benefits for themselves and their dependents.

Under the law, a person must have social security credit for five full years within the 10-year period before his disability started. For a farmer first covered by social security in 1955, and who has never worked in covered employment or self-employment before, this requirement could first be met in October 1959.

A severely disabled farmer who is at least 50 years old may be eligible for payments, after he has been disabled for six full months. This means that a disabled farmer over 50, who has worked long enough under social security, may collect his first disability benefit for the month of April 1960.

How to Judge the Value of Your Newspaper

Have you ever judged the value of your newspaper? What it actually means to you and your family? Then, let's pause a second and analyze its true value.

Right from the very first page to the last, your newspaper is packed with all the latest news about your community, your state, your nation and the whole world. Also, there's market and financial news and sports coverage. For mother, there are, features that appeal to her whether it's fashion . . . social events . . . homemaking or a dozen other feminine interests. Too, both young and old always find the comics entertaining. In all these and many other fields, you'll find this a complete family newspaper . . . a newspaper that becomes a family affair the minute it arrives.

Low Bids Made On Highway Jobs

AUSTIN (AP) — Low bids on road projects submitted to the Highway Department this week totaled $23,512,205.

Three low bids topped the two million dollar figure during the two-day bid letting which ended Wednesday. The tabulations covered 714 miles of farm roads and 578 miles of state and federal highways.

The three bids included one for more than three million dollars for work on Interstate 45 in Houston and another Houston project on U.S. 59 exceeded two million dollars. The third large bid was for work on Interstate 45 in Walker County.

State Candidates Celebrate San Jacinto Day With Talks

By CLAYTON HICKERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Striving for a decisive victory of their own, candidates seeking nomination in the May 7 Democratic Primary observed San Jacinto Day Thursday, most of them with speeches.

Gov. Price Daniel was to make the principal address at ceremonies at San Jacinto Battleground, 25 miles east of Houston. Daniel was to dedicate a shrine to the first Cruiser USS Houston.

All state offices observed the holiday, freeing incumbents for intensive campaigning.

Candidates were thick in West Texas Thursday. Jack Cox, opposing Daniel's bid for a third term, was in Amarillo and intended to go on to El Paso Friday. Waggoner Carr, who campaigned in Dallas again Thursday, planned to be in Abilene and Borger Friday and in Pampa on Saturday.

Ben Ramsey, running for still another term as lieutenant governor, was in El Paso Wednesday and working his way eastward Thursday. His opponent, Don Yarborough, followed Ramsey into El Paso Thursday and planned to be in Houston Friday.

Jerry Sadler, the East Texan making a bid for the land commissioner job held by Bill Allcorn, campaigned Thursday in Wichita Falls. Allcorn stayed in Austin and said his first term record had brought support from all over the state.

At a press conference Wednesday, Carr, the speaker of the Texas House from Lubbock who wants to be attorney general, accused Atty. Gen. Will Wilson of not attending to his business.

"He has filed some cases against loan sharks and some anti-trust cases," Carr said, "and one case under the Open Beach Law. But how many of these cases actually have gone to trial?" He said the attorney general and his staff were too busy campaigning to take cases to trial and said 23 loan shark cases were delayed last week in San Antonio because the state had no counsel for representation.

Atty. Gen. Wilson, in Corpus Christi, told a meeting of petroleum engineers that recent federal expansion of control over oil and gas was among "the greatest threats to free enterprise."

"I have consistently taken a states' rights position in these controversies and I will continue to do so," Wilson promised.

Cox, who claims he will beat Daniel for the gubernatorial nomination, worked the Midland-Odessa area Wednesday. He urged listeners to raise educational standards in Texas before the Federal Government steps in.

Cox also boosted his proposed two per cent sales tax for increased school spending.

Sadler told Amarillo voters that his years as Texas Railroad Commissioner qualified him for land commissioner. He repeated statements that the land office was in a mess.

Rocky Thinks Contention Lack Costs GOP Interest

WELLSBORO, Pa. (AP) — New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller agrees with Pennsylvania political leaders that lack of contention for the GOP presidential nomination is costing the party voter interest.

He told newsmen in this northern Pennsylvania community Wednesday that from the standpoint of interest it would have been better for the party if he had sought the nomination in opposition to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

But he promptly added he is "standing four-square" on his Dec. 26 decision not to seek the nomination. He did not elaborate. Rockefeller came to Pennsylvania to support the candidacy of his Dartmouth College roommate Herman T. Schneebeli for Congress. Schneebeli is seeking the 17th District seat left vacant by the death last December of Rep. Alvin R. Bush, a longtime GOP leader.

Schneebeli, 51-year-old auto dealer, is opposed by Dean R. Fisher, 36, a Democrat. Both are from Williamsport.

Rockefeller insisted that his appearance to aid Schneebeli's campaign in no way marked any effort on his part for Republican convention support.

He also issued a flat "no chance" when asked about the possibility he would be a vice presidential candidate.

The New York governor explained he is not interested in the vice presidency because his experience in government has always been in the executive branch. He noted that the vice president's principal duty is presiding over the U.S. Senate, a legislative arm of government.

Church Thieves Almost Persuaded

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Theives who broke open a church safe apparently had a partial change of heart.

Mrs. D. C. Meadows Jr., secretary of the Covenant Presbyterian Church, said she received a letter in the mail Wednesday containing about $600 in checks, a $500 savings bond and a savings bank book.

But she said the thieves did not return some checks that had been given toward a church building fund—and the letter was postage-due.

The robbery occurred Easter Sunday night.

Airline Plans

HOUSTON (AP) — Delta Air Lines and Braniff Airways told Wednesday of plans for million dollar facilities, including maintenance shops and a parking area, at the Houston airport.

Occupants Of Plane Cut To Death By Airliner Prop

HICKORY, N.C. (AP)—The four occupants of a private plane—victims of a collision with an airliner—may have been chopped to death by a propeller of the airliner.

"It looks as if the prop just chewed up the plane. All of the occupants suffered deep head cuts," said W. Stanley Moore, deputy coroner of Burke County.

The airliner and the private plane, both landing under visual flight rules because the Hickory airport has no air control tower, collided in a bright, sunny sky Wednesday.

The airliner, with 40 persons aboard, landed safely, the private plane crashed, killing all aboard—three Michigan furniture company officials and the company pilot.

The Pedmont Airlines plane was making a routine stop on a Cincinnati-to-Fayetteville route. The Cessna 310 was bringing the businessmen to a furniture show here.

Visual flight rules require a pilot to stay clear of other aircraft. But the airliner pilot said he did not see the smaller plane and the private pilot apparently did not see the airliner.

The victims were Julius Bergsma, 44, president of the Imperial Furniture Co. of Grand Rapids and an official of other furniture concerns, including the Hammary Manufacturing Co. of Lenoir, N.C.; Earl Gordon Krombeen, 41, executive vice president of Imperial; David Frank, 66, West Coast sales manager; and Frederick James Frieswyck, 37, company pilot.

Pipeline Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Power Commission got a request Wednesday from Columbia Gulf Transmission Co. of Houston for authority to build an additional dual 24-inch natural gas pipeline under the Mississippi River. The crossing, costing 3½ million dollars, would be near Lake Providence, La.

MODERN MILKING SECRET: KEEP 'EM COMING AND GOING
O. R. Glenn stands between alternate milking stanchions

Things Busy For Ole Bossy At Milk Time

By DON RIDDLE

O. R. Glenn brings ole Bossy to the barn for milking only twice a day, and yet Glenn is contracted to produce 250 gallons of milk daily.

Actually, Glenn's figurative cow, Bossy, represents 104 head of Holstein and Jersey cows which Glenn owns and runs through the automatic milking process at his dairy.

The dairy barn was built for him by Bernard Houston and is located on the Houston ranch, about 13 miles southeast of Stanton. Glenn in turn buys his feed and other necessities from Houston.

Glenn owns all the cattle and he sells the milk to the Milk Producers' Co-op. In turn, the co-op sells it to the Borden Company for processing and distribution.

"I'm a member of the co-op," says Glenn, "and the milk is taken by the company right from our dairy here. It never goes to the co-op headquarters in Abilene."

SURPLUS TO CHEESE

When the company gets overstocked and can't handle all Glenn's milk, Glenn sends it to the cheese processing plant in Ballinger.

In 1950 Glenn owned and operated a dairy south of Big Spring and then later moved northwest of the town. In 1956 he went to Midland where he opened another dairy and operated there until Houston built this place for him last fall.

"When I started here in August, I had about 96 head of cattle," says Glenn. "Since that time, I've sold a few and bought a few, and right now the number stands at 104 head. I plan to keep increasing my herd unti I reach the 200 mark.

Although Glenn plans to do his own breeding, lately he has obtained most of his cattle through dealers who buy them in the northern states.

VOLUME AND QUALITY

Glenn says until recently he had worked with Holsteins, but now he has added the Jersey cattle. "The Holstein cows are bigger and produce much more milk than the Jersey," explains Glenn. "But the Jersey, on the other hand, produces a richer, more desirable milk.

"So what I do now, I keep the Holsteins for volume and add the milk from the few Jersey cows for quality. This mixture gives a good grade of milk and still enough volume for profitable production."

Glenn and his three assistants milk every cow twice a day. The first shift begins about 5:30 a.m. By 8:30 a.m. all the cows are milked and the area is cleaned. The second shift begins around 4:30 p.m. and the same time is required.

LITTLE MORE TIME

"We would be able to milk twice as many cows in about 5 hours," claims Glenn, "because much of the time is spent cleaning the stails after the milking. So only actual milking time is added, the cleaning up would still take the same amount of time."

The milking area allows four cows on each side of the center walkway. While cows on one side are being milked, those on the other side are being readied for milking. When one side is finished, the machines are switched off, the cows back out and four more take their place. Meanwhile, the milking machines are going on the opposite side.

BUSY PLACE

The milking operation requires three to five minutes, so the cow traffic is as busy as the entrance at a beehive.

Milk is pumped directly from the milking machines through overhead pipes into a large refrigerated tank. The company pump backs up, attaches a pipe and takes on the milk cargo to deliver it by the same process to the milk plant.

"Therefore," boasts Glenn, "our milk is never touched by human hands."

With 250 gallons of milk leaving his place each day, Glenn figures old Bossy is doing a pretty good day's work.

'Music In Church' Lecture Planned

"Music in the Church," a lecture by musician Ira Schantz, will be presented in place of the regular sermon Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in St. Paul Presbyterian Church.

Schantz' talk has been given several times to other organizations throughout West Texas, and has been well received. He is director of choral music at Howard County Junior College and director of the First Methodist Church Choir.

The lecture will be accompanied by musical passages to help clarify points Schantz will bring up.

'San Jacinto' Battle Story Wins Plaudits

SAN JACINTO BATTLEGROUND, Tex. (AP)—"The Day of San Jacinto" by Frank X. Tolbert has been selected by the Summerfield G. Roberts Award Committee as the best book of the year dealing with the Republic of Texas.

The award, bestowed by the Sons of the Republic of Texas, was presented to Tolbert here today at a luncheon held in conjunction with the 124th anniversary of the battle that won for Texas its independence from Mexico. The award also carries a $1,000 prize.

The presentation was made by H. Sellers Rogers of Navasota, president of the Sons of the Republic of Texas.

Tolbert, a columnist for the Dallas Morning News, is a veteran newspaperman, author of several books and an authority on Texas lore and history. He formerly worked on the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, the Amarillo News-Globe and the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and during World War II while in the Marine Corps served as managing editor of "The Leatherneck."

"The Day of San Jacinto," the story of the tattered army of Gen. Sam Houston that in 18 minutes completely routed a superior Mexican force, has won praise from a number of historians and book critics.

"Frank Tolbert's story of the Battle of San Jacinto has everything a story requires . . . and has done full justice to the power of the story," wrote Robert Penn Warren, an authority on Southwestern history and the author of "All the King's Men."

Wrote Dr. Joe Frantz, chairman of the Department of History at the University of Texas:

"As a professional historian I am bound by union rules to find something to quibble about. Usually I point out archival collections not consulted, new interpretations not elicited, or if I can find nothing else, a proof error on Page 627. In this instance my chief complaint is that the book is interesting, which violates rule number one of the historians' code."

New President

DALLAS (AP) — Directors of Southern Union Gas Co. promoted James Reid from executive vice president to president Wednesday to succeed C. H. Zachry.

Zachry, president 15 years, told stockholders customers increased from 189,000 in 1950 to 340,000 last year and revenue increased from 14 million dollars to nearly 45 million.

Half Nation Goes On DST Sunday

By The Associated Press

About 50 per cent of the nation's timepieces will be pushed ahead one hour at 2 a.m. Sunday with the annual switch to Daylight Saving Time promising to stir up no less confusion than it has in past years.

Most of the estimated 91 million Americans who will avail themselves of an extra hour of daylight through the summer will return to Standard Time at the end of October.

Some areas, however, will turn their clocks back near the end of September, while at least a couple plan to remain on Daylight Time for the balance of the year.

The nation's two newest states —Hawaii and Alaska—will continue on Standard Time through the summer.

The knotty problems arise for those thousands of persons who reside in one area of a state which observes a different time than a nearby area where they work or attend school.

Residents of Texas, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Oklahoma need not worry about any time mixups because those states operate on Standard Time the year round.

But even in these states, it's doubtful that many persons will go untouched by the time change if they watch television, make long distance telephone calls or travel extensively.

The eastern two-fifths of Indiana, including Indianapolis and Fort Wayne, will face no problems with the advent of D.S.T. Residents there observed Daylight Time all winter by unofficial agreement contrary to state law.

Central Kentucky residents were on Central Daylight Saving Time year-round for several years, until a recent Interstate Commerce Commission order put the area in the Eastern Standard Time zone.

This left the clocks the same as on Central Daylight Saving Time.

Among those states where plans call for an incomplete swing to Daylight Time by local option are Ohio, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Iowa, West Virginia and Missouri.

All of Florida, except Eglin Air Force Base will remain on Standard Time.

Washington and Oregon will continue to observe mandatory Standard Time.

Among the states where Daylight Saving Time will be observed without exception are California, Wisconsin, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Maine, Illinois, New Jersey, and Rhode Island. Washington, D.C. also will operate on Daylight Time.

A recent survey by a national watch manufacturing firm showed that the percentage of communities switching to Daylight Time rose from 37 per cent in 1948 to 50.7 this year.

Claims Famous Painting Stolen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Does a "hot" portrait of ballet's great dancer Vaslav Nijinsky hang in the Bohemian Club—one of San Francisco's oldest and most exclusive organizations?

Madam Ronola Nijinsky declares she is willing to sue if necessary to recover the charcoal portrait of her late husband done by American artist John Singer Sargent.

Madam Nijinsky, says the drawing was stolen with other works of art and jewels from Nijinsky's Paris apartment in 1929. Some of the loot, including a Renoir oil, has been recovered, but the charcoal portrait apparently vanished.

Kenneth Ferguson, president of the Bohemian Club, said he believes there is some mistake about the work being stolen, but he added the club is checking into the facts.

The drawing came to the club about 25 years ago from the estate of U.S. Senator James Phelan.

Marcy School Open House Is Set Sunday Afternoon

Marcy Elementary School, southwest of the city, most recently constructed of the city's school plants, will have an open house Sunday afternoon.

Supt. Floyd Parsons informed the school board members on Wednesday that the building will be opened to public inspection from 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

The ceremonies will open with a concert by the Goliad Junior High School Band on the campus at 3:00 p.m. The Marcy P-TA will serve a silver tea.

Clyde McMahan, president of the school board, will review the story of Marcy School and complete his address with a presentation of the new plant to the community. Col. D. W. Eisenhart, Webb Air Force Base commander, will respond to McMahan's address.

Marcy School was built in part by military funds and one of its prime purposes is to serve the children whose parents are in federal employ. Most of them reside in Webb Village.

All classrooms, offices, and other facilities of the building will be open for inspection. The event closes at 5:00 p.m.

The school board invited the general public to visit this new building.

Layman Household Is Lively Place To Live

By SHERI WEBBER

Life moves at a quick pace in the Layman household on Cornell Street.

Eleven-year-old Mickey, a sixth grader at College Heights, keeps a menagerie that, in turn, keeps his mother, Mrs. Jim Layman, on the run.

A pigeon couple are about to become proud parents on the cemented patio in back of the house. A hamster is not going to become a proud parent because the Laymans won't let Mickey buy a partner for him. "That glorified rat would soon drive us out of the house," says Ollie Layman.

Mrs. Layman's other two children take life a little more sedately now. Kay, 14, is an eighth grader at Runnels Junior High School who is interested in records, movies and stuffed animals.

Julian, Mrs. Layman's oldest son, is attending Tarleton State College in Stephenville, where he is studying electronics.

Tiny Ollie Layman has a number of other interests besides her children. She is active in church work at St. Paul Presbyterian Church where she is chairman of the Ruth Evans Circle.

For three years the blue-eyed lady has been teaching the primary class of first, second, and third graders. Mrs. Layman also sings soprano in the choir.

This summer a new experience will come Ollie's way when she goes to the Presbyterian youth camp in San Saba as a counsellor the last of July and first of August.

Sewing holds Mrs. Layman's attention, with Kay being the prime objective. For Easter the teenager wore a white dotted swiss dress with puffy sleeves and delicate lace trim.

Yards of ruffles went into the sewing of an aqua blue formal. The strapless gown was designed by Mrs. Layman for Kay to wear at a Rainbow Girls' meeting.

Recently the housewife has taken up bowling, and now plays on Wednesday morning with the Early Bird League.

Perhaps the thing that keeps the mother of three children the busiest is feeding them. Mrs. Layman has found that her recipe for Mulligan is easy on the budget and yet good. The recipe for Marshmallow Fruit Salad, wonderful for a church supper, tastes like it has whipped cream in it because of the effective use of cream cheese.

MULLIGAN

1½ lbs. ground meat
1 small onion
½ cup celery
1 cup tomato paste or catsup
1 cup tomato juice
2 tbsps. chili powder
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper to taste
1 can pork and beans or leftover beans

Fry meat, onions and celery until brown. Add catsup (or tomato paste) chili powder and beans and let simmer.

While mixture is simmering, cook 1 cup of shellroni or macaroni and add to the meat mixture. If mixture is too thick, add more liquid or tomato juice.

This is delicious when served with a tossed green salad and crackers.

MARSHMALLOW FRUIT SALAD

1 No. 3 can of fruit cocktail, drained
1 No. 2 can of pineapple chunks, drained
16 marshmallows
2 tbsps. pineapple juice
1 16-oz. cream cheese
Nuts to taste

Melt marshmallows, cream cheese and 2 tablespoons pineapple juice together over low heat, stirring frequently.

When blended smoothly, mix in drained cocktail and pineapple chunks and nuts. Pour into a dish or individual dessert dishes and chill.

This recipe can be used as either a salad or dessert. It is delicious when served with ham or meat dishes. The recipe makes a generous amount.

STRAWBERRY JELL-O CAKE

1 pkg. of white cake mix that calls for eggs
1 small box frozen strawberries
1 box strawberry gelatin
½ cup vegetable oil
½ cup water
3 eggs

Add gelatin to white cake mix, then ½ cup vegetable oil, ½ cup water; blend together. Add 3 eggs and ¾ package of frozen strawberries (saving ¼ package for icing). Beat as directed on prepared mix box.

Bake in a 300 degree oven in layers or as sheet cake.

STRAWBERRY ICING

1 box powdered sugar
1 stick margarine
¼ pkg. strawberries

Blend together and ice the cake.

Taste Buddies Are Steak, French Fries

If you ask for fried potatoes in France, you may end up by eating potato croquettes. Or hollow crisp potato trifles that look like miniature balloons and whose exact name is pomme de terre souffles. What we call French-fried potatoes, the French name pommes de terre Pont Neuf.

Meanwhile, in this country French fries—rather narrow potato strips that have been deep-fat fried — are getting brisk circulation. That's because nowadays they are widely available in frozen form. For a quick change-over, you can turn these frozen French fries into potatoes O'Brien.

If you do this you'll be going back to the original way potatoes O'Brien were made—many modern recipes notwithstanding.

Current rules suggest using diced boiled potatoes for the O'Briens. But no less an authority than Filippini—noted chef of New York's turn-of-the-century Delmonico restaurant—wrote that the first step in preparing the O'Brien dish was to deep-fat fry the potatoes. Here's exactly what he said:

"Cut four good-sized, well-washed, peeled sound potatoes into one-third-inch-square pieces, wash again and drain. Plunge in boiling fat and fry for 10 minutes, lift up, drain well, place them in a frying pan with one tablespoon melted butter, three sweet red peppers, cut in small squares, and half teaspoon salt; lightly brown for 10 minutes, frequently tossing meanwhile. Pour into a hot dish and serve."

Here's how we use the Filippini recipe with a short-cut method. Cut a 9-ounce package of frozen (unthawed) French-fried potatoes crosswise into one-half-inch pieces. Melt 2 tablespoons of butter in a heavy 9-inch skillet; add the potatoes and stir a few minutes over high heat. Add a couple of diced drained canned pimientos; turn heat low and brown potatoes thoroughly so some of the tidbits are crisp. (Turn them over with a pancake turner or wide spatula.) Just before serving with steak to three willing eaters, we sprinkle the potatoes with half a teaspoon of salt, but you may not care for quite so much seasoning.

If you are not a purist, you may saute a little sliced onion in the butter before you add the frozen potatoes and still call the dish O'Brien. After all, Fanny Farmer does. Other modern recipes suggest adding diced green pepper as well as the onion and pimiento.

Beet Soup Is Dish Flavors Seep Thru

Here is a dish that will make a hit with any family, Polish or not.

QUICK POLISH BEET SOUP

1 can (13 oz.) onion soup
3 beef bouillon cubes
3 cups water
1 can (1 lb.) julienne beets
1 medium-sized carrot, pared and grated medium-fine
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. white pepper
1 whole clove
2 small bay leaves
2 pinches thyme
1 or 2 cloves garlic, crushed
2 tbsps. light brown sugar
1 tbsp. cider vinegar
Red food coloring
Sour cream or sour cream substitute

In a saucepan (about 2 quarts) put onion soup, bouillon cubes, water, beets (including liquid in can), carrot, salt, pepper, clove, bay leaf, thyme and garlic. Heat very slowly to allow flavors to develop—about 25 minutes — but do not boil. Remove bay leaves.

Stir in brown sugar and vinegar and simmer about 5 minutes. Add a little red food coloring.

Top with sour cream as soup is served. Makes almost 1½ quarts.

Note: Make soup several hours before serving, or refrigerate overnight, to allow flavors maximum blending—then reheat.

Tasty Breads Add To Lunches

We often see children relish the good crisp Italian and French rolls and small loaves of bread with which hero sandwiches are made. Why not use this type of bread occasionally with fillings your youngsters like? Egg salad tastes extra good layered between halves of a seeded roll. Ham benefits from the chewy taste of rye or cracked wheat bread.

Quick breads, made at home, also have a place in lunch boxes. Laden with fruit—dates, apricots, grated apple or applesauce, or banana—they offer an agreeable background for cream or cottage cheese. A friend of ours makes date loaf in baby-food or frozen-juice cans and then slices the loaves into small rounds for miniature sandwiches that delight her family and friends. The following recipe for a quick oatmeal bread is flavored with banana. It is fine to serve at the family table or pack into the lunchbox.

The trouble with a lot of lunchbox food is that it doesn't add texture contrast—it's all soft. You probably know the trick of tucking in carrot and celery sticks for crunchiness. But remember that many children enjoy small crisp mild-flavored radishes—with part of their pretty green leafy tops left on for easy eating out of hand. If you can get finnochio (fennel) cut it into wedges and send it along sometimes, too. If you pare away the outer fibrous covering from the broccoli stalks and cut them into strips, you'll find that many youngsters also like these.

And how about fruit? The lunch box does not always have to hold a plain red apple. Include a small plastic knife and a tiny jar of peanut butter with a plastic paddle for spreading. School-age children usually enjoy cutting the apple into wedges and spreading them with peanut butter. Two or three small bunches of grapes, of different varieties, also offer surprise.

Tuck a surprise into the usual cupcake. Cut a plug-shaped piece out of the top, drop in some chocolate tidbits, replace the top and wrap securely in waxed paper.

Once you start thinking up small surprises, you'll find school to make or to eat.

BANANA NUT LOAF

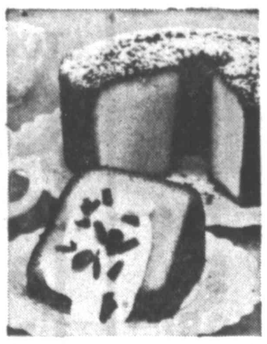

1½ cups sifted flour
2 tsps. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup shortening
½ cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs
½ cup buttermilk
1½ cups uncooked rolled oats
1 cup mashed banana
½ cup coarsely cut walnuts.

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cream shortening and sugar; beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Add buttermilk, rolled oats, banana and walnuts; stir just until mixed. Turn into greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches). Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 1 hour and 15 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on rack to cool.

Note: We like the regular old-fashioned rolled oats, rather than the quick cooking variety, in this recipe. If buttermilk is not at hand, stir 1½ teaspoons cider or distilled white vinegar into ½ cup milk and use.

You Never Stop Learning If You Read Your Newspaper

The newspaper has been called "America's greatest institution of adult education!"

The textbooks for Americans who do "post-graduate work" by reading newspapers are never out of date. They are revised daily, always filled with facts carefully authenticated.

Every day, newspapers provide new challenges to local citizens. Every day they provoke discussions and an exchange of viewpoints between readers, who are free to think as they please and to express their views in the newspaper itself.

The classbell rings when the "textbook" is laid at your doorstep or dropped in your mailbox, or delivered to the nearest newsstand.

Importantly, this educational function performed by your newspaper is tied to our survival and our well being. Facts gleaned from the newspaper give us a better understanding of life, our community, our nation and the world.

These facts help us to "belong," to fill our place in the community, to help make important decisions in our personal lives and in the judgments that affect others.

The individual, through enlightenment received from the newspaper, becomes a better citizen properly conditioned to life's stresses, aware of its problems and challenges.

Newspapers not alone educate. They stimulate action, promote an exchange of ideas; suggest changes and improvements . . . truly serve mankind.

Helen Hayes Is Topic Of Hyperion Club

Helen Hayes, first lady of the American theatre, was the subject of a program brought for members of the 1905 Hyperion Club when they met at the home of Mrs. Lee Hanson Wednesday for business and study.

Preceeding the program, Mrs. J. A. Coffey led the group in prayer and Mrs. W. A. Hunt brought a report from the recent district meeting held in Odessa. She told the group that Big Spring is to entertain for the 1961 convention for the clubs that are now to be called the Western Division. The club won third place for the year's program and also were 100 per cent in subscriptions to the Clubwoman.

Mrs. Marvin Baker, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Rogers Hefley whose topic was "The Theatre." She chose the life of the foremost actress of the day, Helen Hayes. In telling of the life of the actress, Mrs. Hefley noted that Miss Hayes is a friendly, outspoken person who joins into community affairs with enthusiam; takes her cocker spaniel for a walk in the park; is a typical housewife and mother.

The first lady of the theater has none of the qualities usually associated with stage queens. She is not beautiful, stately (she is barely five feet tall), nor has fiery sex appeal, but has captured stage and screen audiences with her elfin charm. Mrs. Hefley likened her to the girl every soldier leaves behind when he goes to war and the mother every farm boy keeps in his memory when he is sowing his wild oats in the city.

Miss Hayes was born in 1900 in Washington, D. C., the daughter of a sales manager for a wholesale butcher. Her mother wanted her to be an actress and taught her lines for parts given her in a stock company started by friends of her father.

A pecularity of the actress has been her phobia against noise. She schooled herself to ignore applause and as a result was frequently unable to gauge her performance. Her first big role was in Shaw's "Cleopatra" for which she was offered $250 a week but under stern hand of mother's managerial genius she got $350.

When Miss Hayes portrayed Mary of Scotland she wore four inch buildups but was still far short of the 6 feet height of the heroine. Her superb acting overcame the deficit and she received rave reviews.

She married Charles MacArthur in 1929 and had to leave the cast of "Coquette" when her Act of God baby, Mary, was expected. The couple later adopted a son, James, who is frequently seen in television and movie roles.

At the age of 35 the actress tackled her most exacting role, that of Victoria Regina, a part that took her from youth to old age. Her characterization of the aging ruler overwhelmed the audience whose applause stopped the show for several minutes.

In London she played in "The Glass Managerie" and then came back to America where she was joined by her daughter in "Good Housekeeping." Shortly after this play, Mary was a victim of polio and died. This sad event brought a period of insecurity to the actress who eventually overcame the shock and, with husband, joined vigorously in the fight against the disease. The couple donated a Mary MacArthur Scholarship to the American Theatre Wing Training Program.

Following Mr. MacArthur's death, his wife went into a short period of seclusion and then entered another medium of entertainment—television, which has proven to be one of the hardest, although she is very successful. In "Miss Deutch," a recent television presentation, she unearthed the almost forgotten "The White Magnolia Tree." Within a week of the program, the television company had received 300,000 requests for copies of the poem. It has now been recorded and printed in book form. Mrs. Hefley concluded the program by playing a recording of the rendition by Miss Hayes.

Mrs. Norman Read is to be hostess for the May meeting.

A Devotional For Today

Samuel said unto all Israel, . . . I am old and gray-headed; . . . I have walked before you from my childhood unto this day. (1 Samuel 12:1, 2.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for men who are good and true; men who give their lives to Thee and never turn back. Help us to belong to Thee, too, this day and every day. Keep us faithful to the end. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Constancy Of Purpose Yields Fruit

The Maritime Provinces of Canada, Canada itself and the United States play host for 17 days to one of the great figures of the Twentieth Century, General Charles de Gaulle, president of France.

De Gaulle had seen his country prostrated, without a washpot to call its own, its sole identity as a nation left to the traitorous hands of the Vichy quizlings.

Its last remaining asset, aside from the sturdy character of its 40 million people, was a fairly young artillery colonel who had talked himself hoarse trying to arouse the corrupt politicians who governed at Paris to action before disaster struck. Tanks, tractors and trucks that should have been ready to roll sat uncompleted on factory floors while sit-down strikes held sway.

So France went down almost in a twinkling, but Charles de Gaulle escaped to England to fight another day.

He said, in effect and later in actual words, "I am France," echoing a long-dead French king's boast, "I am the State."

At no time during the war or after did he retreat one inch from that attitude. Some of his Western colleagues, annoyed by the persistence of his stubborn will, found him difficult to get along with, even at times poked fun at his pretensions. He made it quite clear at all times that it was all or nothing with him.

And he made it stick, eventually. He made himself and his country respected and respectable after one of the great defeats of history. Today France can hold up its head again, conscious of its strategic position as the keystone of Europe's defense, as a determing factor in its economic wellbeing.

As near as any man can, Charles de Gaulle can claim to be the embodiment of his country's will and determination. The fact that he makes no bones about believing it himself does not endear him to his enemies and illwishers, at home and abroad, but Charles de Gaulle, so far the savior of his country seems unperturbed. Patriotism of the unbending de Gaulle kind is all too rare in today's world.

It Gets To Be A Daily Bore

It makes us tired, in more ways than one, just to read about the English lady physician, Dr. Barbara Moore, heeling-and-toeing it all the way from the Pacific to the Atlantic. She was nearing Reno this week, and putting in a 65-mile day.

Starting a day ahead of the lady doctor who is dedicated to the proposition that a vegetarian diet is the thing, were two British soldiers, clippity-clopping about 85 miles in the lead as of Monday. They are trying to break the 79-day coast-to-coast record and not competing with Dr. Moore, they insist.

Well, there are worse fads and publicity gimmicks than getting out in the air and sunshine and picking 'em up and putting 'em down day after day.

But one can't help giving birth to an unworthy thought: How long would these people keep it up if the newspapers and other news media boycotted the "story"?

After all, such stunts are a drug on the news market, and get to be an insufferable bore to most people after a few days. To keep it up for 90 to 100 days is to rub it in, and we for one purpose to skip the daily grist of news from the pedestrian front.

There are more serious aspects of life to be considered than publicizing something any well-conditioned mule or donkey could do just as well and perhaps with far better reasons for doing it.

Why not revive the flag-pole-sitting mania of the nineteen-thirties? Now there was a tomfool fad with a touch of humor to it! Besides, there was always the possibility that one of them might fall and fracture his sacroiliac.

David Lawrence

The Old Pros Are Still In The Saddle

WASHINGTON—If anything were needed to confirm the widespread impression that the Democratic national convention is to be controlled by the party bosses, leaders or chieftains, it is the frank declaration that has just come from Gov. Herschel C. Loveless, Democrat of Iowa.

Mr. Loveless spoke out in opposition to an oft-expressed opinion in political circles that Adlai Stevenson might be "drafted," especially if the principal aspirants for the nomination are deadlocked.

The Iowa governor said that "professional politicians just do not like a two-time loser."

History offers a bit of rebuttal on that point. William Jennings Bryan was nominated for the presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1896 and 1900, and then won the nomination a third time in 1908. The fact that he had lost twice didn't seem to disturb the politicians, who were charmed by the silver-tongued orator from Nebraska.

WHAT THE IOWA governor hinted, however, about the behind - the - scenes jockeying is a far more persuasive point. He said he did not expect a deadlock and added:

"You do not have deadlocks where there are three or four strong candidates, because two or three of the candidates will be trading back and forth to make sure one of them is nominated."

This, indeed, is the way the convention system works. "All the speculation in the press about "compromise" candidates and "dark horses" arises out of the fact that no candidate usually has an actual majority of the delegates sewed up. It is wrong, moreover, to assume that four months in advance of a convention any candidate can be absolutely sure of a majority. But when it comes to "trading," that's the aspect of convention tactics about which the public hears very little. Perhaps it's because it takes place in "smoke-filled rooms" at the convention and in the numerous conferences in the months before the convention is called to order.

WHAT IS THE "trading" like? A campaign manager hints that maybe if candidate "A" will not let his ballots go to the leader in the contest, then candidate "B" will on a certain ballot throw his strength to candidate "A."

There is also trading on the vice presidency. While each aspirant stoutly denies that he is interested in anything but first place, his henchmen are practical men who know that under certain circumstances second place is better than nothing.

Many a convention has settled its deadlock by a deal for second place. Thus in 1932, when Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was having a hard time getting the necessary two-thirds vote required in those days for the presidential nomination in the Democratic party, his managers got the convention to adjourn at a late hour one night and called for an early resumption of the proceedings. During that interval of a few hours the men who managed the campaign of speaker John N. Garner and had 90 valuable votes to give were persuaded that if they tossed those votes to FDR, the reward would be the vice presidency. That's how the Roosevelt-Garner ticket emerged and Al Smith was prevented from getting the presidential nomination a second time.

RICHARD NIXON, then senator from California, helped in 1952 to block the transfer of delegate strength in that state from Gov. Earl Warren to Sen. Taft. This was one of the pivotal battles of the convention and in appreciation, the Eisenhower managers recommended to the nominee that he agree to the naming of the California senator for second place on the ticket.

Conventions are more or less alike in both parties and the impression that is sometimes sought to be given is that the American people's views about a candidate are given serious consideration, when the truth is, nominations are made as a result of trading back and forth by the organization leaders. Gov. Loveless of Iowa says, for instance, that whatever support Adlai Stevenson has nowadays comes from university professors and other intellectuals but that the professionals and local officeholders show very little interest in Stevenson.

AS FOR BEING a "two-time" loser there will be different views on the true meaning of this in terms of candidates. Adlai Stevenson ran against "Ike" twice, but he would be running against Vice President Nixon this time and, if what the Democratic politicians say publicly—that "anyone can beat Nixon"—were really true, there wouldn't be any hesitancy on their part about letting an outstanding figure in politics try for a third time, especially since, even though defeated, he polled in 1952 more Democratic votes than either Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Truman did when each won in 1944 and 1948 respectively.

James Marlow

No New Ideas For Summit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western Allies, with months to prepare, apparently are going to the summit meeting with the Soviet Union next month with no new ideas. And the Soviet Union, despite some big talk, hasn't produced any new ones, either.

The foreign ministers of the Western Big Four—United States, Britain, France, West Germany—met here recently to work out their plans and reconcile their differences before the conference which opens in Paris May 16.

But if all they said and agreed on could be summed up in one sentence this would be it: Stand Pat.

AT HOME THE Soviet Union is building up expectations for some dramatic developments when Premier Nikita Khrushchev joins President Eisenhower and the British and French leaders at the summit.

These are the fields most mentioned in Soviet newspapers: A German peace treaty and getting Allied troops out of Berlin, both of which Khrushchev has been demanding more than a year, plus disarmament.

There's nothing new in that, either.

If what French President Charles de Gaulle was saying this week in Canada and what the American State Department said Wednesday look like vital differences on what's important at the summit, a close examination shows no real difference at all.

KHRUSHCHEV BEGAN calling on the Allies in November 1958 to get their troops out of West Berlin which, although linked with West Germany, lies 100 miles inside Communist East Germany.

The latter, with Soviet help, could shut off supplies to the city from the West any time. The West refuses to budge. The Allied troops couldn't stand off a Communist assault—there are only 11,000 of them—but so long as they remain they are a symbol of the Allied right to be there.

And Khrushchev wants the Western Powers to sign separate peace treaties with West and East Germany. The West refuses. To sign would be to acknowledge Germany is rightfully divided. No doubt it would mean the division of Germany for generations, if not permanently.

That's the way it has been for more than a year. So far as is known that is the way it will be when Khrushchev and the Westerners face each other next month.

This week in Canada De Gaulle said France is against any pressing attempt by the West at the summit to get a solution on Berlin, although he's not against discussing it. He said France will seek an easing of tensions.

Wednesday Douglas Dillon, Undersecretary of State, made a statement which at first and casual glance might have looked fiery. He said the central issue at the summit will be Berlin.

But the key lay in this sentence: "We are willing to consider interim arrangements to reduce tensions in Berlin and lessen present dangers."

That turns out to be pretty much what De Gaulle said. And since the French leader said he will seek a start toward nuclear disarmament—and the Soviets put disarmament high on their summit agenda—there's nothing new there.

If there isn't much evidence of optimism that the summit will solve anything, there's good reason: Neither side yet has come up with anything which indicates the summit will be anything more than a pleasant get-together.

Real solutions, if any, will probably have to wait for summit meetings in the future. Nevertheless, the Soviet Union and the West have agreed three matters will be on the summit agenda: Germany, including Berlin; disarmament; and East-West relations.

Life's Little - Big Pleasures

NEW YORK (AP)—Life's little pleasures can be pretty big ones, too—sometimes.

Like going to the dentist and finding out you don't need any fillings.

Or making out the income tax form and learning there'll be a refund.

Yes, and the time when the checkbook stubs come out just like it says in the bank statement.

One real dandy is to roll over and go back to sleep on the morning of your day off.

And there's always the possibility of finding a $10 bill in the street. That one might as well be disregard; still, I once knew a fellow whow found $20. Made the mistake of telling his wife.

It's a real pleasure to get Christmas shopping done before Christmas.

Wonderful, also, when repairs to the old family gas buggy turn out to be only about half what you figured.

Letters from old, long lost friends can be a real delight—when they don't mention the money you owe them.

Consider, for a moment, having a wife who says: "I'm proud of you, and I don't really care whether you make any more money or not."

Or one who says: "The balder you get the more handsome you are."

Or a loving youngun who says: "Daddy, how can you be so smart?"

Ah, yes, there are many little pleasures in life.

The only trouble is that they happen so seldom.

Lewis Memorial Planned

SAUK CENTRE, Minn. (AP) — A three-member committee has been appointed here to work out plans for buying the boyhood home of the late Sinclair Lewis, Nobel Prize winning novelist, to provide a permanent memorial.

Lewis made Sauk Centre famous as a setting for his most successful novel, "Main Street."

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jane Denaburg, columnist for the student newspaper at Forest Park High School, said it happened in a history class.

The teacher warned:

"Anyone who is not present for the test will receive an automatic grade of 50."

"I'll take it," cried a voice from the rear.

Posture Isn't As Good As It Used To Be

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I wish you would write about posture problems of school children. I have noticed that all little tykes from two through five have beautiful, erect carriages. And the primitive peoples carry themselves magnificently. Could we, through forcing our children to sit for long periods at school, and then through sedentary occupations at home, be spoiling their natural inclination toward an upright carriage? — R.G.N."

Yes. I repeat, YES, but with only this exception: It isn't the time spent in school seats; it is the rest of the time NOT spent in activity.

You are quite right that up to age five children naturally have an erect carriage. This is because they are physically active. They keep what God gave them to start with.

As they grow older physical activity tends to decrease. There are exceptions, of course. There are, also exceptions to the unhappy "rule" that our children have poor posture.

The required amount of gymnasium work (or outdoor play, or other activity) decreases. It is replaced by "sittin'-down work."

True, there is, and will be, a handful of youngsters who engage in whatever athletics are available. There will be a smaller number who are crack athletes.

But let's look at the facts. What has changed in the last few generations? For one thing, motor transportation has taken over. I have no objection to motor transport. It's dandy. But when a child has to be carted around on every short trip, that is nonsense. It's worse than that. It is harmful. It is stupid. Okay, you pick a better word for it!

I keep seeing dull jokes and cartoons based on the notion that papa says, "When I was a kid, I walked three miles to school every day, through blizzards, and it didn't hurt me. Why can't Junior walk down to the mail box with this letter?"

This is supposed to be a joke these days.

It isn't. I grant that old goats like me may exaggerate the amount of walking we did as children—but I can promise you that nobody drove me to school in a car when I was in the third grade! We may exaggerate, but there's a lot of truth there, too!

We used to run errands, and play baseball and football. And play tag and Red Rover and Prisoner's Base, or what have you, on summer and spring and fall evenings. We used to rassle (as we called it) and play Follow the Leader. We did none of these sitting down.

I didn't set out to go on such a tirade, but now that I've started, I see that there isn't space to finish today, so I'm going to give you a few statistics tomorrow to support what I've just been saying.

You're right! Posture ISN'T as good now as it used to be, and there are reasons for it.

"Dear Dr. Molner: To improve one's eyesight, what are the best foods or tonics?—G.A.M."

As a general rule you will not improve the eyesight with ANY special diet or tonic, unless there is something seriously wrong with your diet. In such a case the diet should be improved for any number of reasons. There is no food which specifically helps vision.

Around The Rim

Answers We Wish We'd Thought Of

The weekly newspaper publisher is beset by many woes, not the least of which is the fellow who plunks down a nickel every Thursday just to point out the paper's deficiencies. Although the average weekly publisher must be an expert linotype operator, pressman, newshawk, bookkeeper, advertising salesman and delivery boy, he must also have considerable patience.

For some reason, he is expected to be absolutely without fault. And when he does err, there are those who howl with glee and point it out, preferably in a public place such as the barber shop. Bob Wright, publisher of the Montello Tribune in Wisconsin, recently ran a question and answer column in his paper, specifically for these people.

ALTHOUGH THE questions are probably heard at least once each week by every weekly publisher in the nation, the answers rarely get beyond the average editor's innermost thoughts. Here are a few of Wright's answers:

Q: Why don't you print in color, say red, once in a while?

A: Our entire supply of red ink is used in the bookkeeping department.

Q: Why don't you have an "Advice to the Lovelorn" column, like Abby Lane?

A: None of our readers have such problems.

Q: Why do you have all of those misprints?

A: They're the most entertaining part of the whole paper.

A FRIEND of mine in Ohio once told his readers that he always added a few typographical errors to please those who derived so much satisfaction in finding them.

Q: Why do you always say "we" when referring to yourself in the paper

A: We want our readers to think they're outnumbered.

Q: Why didn't you publish that poem I sent you?

A: It was a lousy poem

Q: Why don't you print weekly sermons?

A: Why doesn't the preacher run the newspaper?

Q: What would you give me for writing a weekly column of moral homespun philosophy?

A: A poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

IT'S AMAZING HOW many people want to write a column for a newspaper. Even the smallest paper is deluged with readers who fancy they have a message for the world and want to use the paper to deliver it. They are not easily put off. I solved the problem by offering to sell the paper to anyone who wanted to write a column. That offer quickly settled the matter.

Q: Why don't you write an editorial and tell those guys on the city council what they can do to improve the city?

A: Why don't you go down to the next meeting and tell them yourself?

A sense of humor is a definite advantage when involved in a weekly newspaper operation. It is about all that makes the experience worth while.

Lyndon Beat Nikita To The Idea

When I was in the U.S.S.R. a year ago, it irked me to see that the Russians had not only invented the telephone, cotton gin, automobile, airplane, radio and teevee, but had even gotten there fustest with those miniature hot dogs that are standard fare at American cocktail parties.

Those bit-size franks turned up at the only cocktail party I attended in Russia, proving beyond cavil that the East-West struggle is a lot more deadly than many imagine.

With the Russians inventing everything, even cocktail fodder in the race for firstmanship, it pleases me to record the fact that we Americans have jumped the gun in at least one instance recently.

LAST FEBRUARY Premier Nikita Khrushchev made much news when he announced the organization of a new university in Moscow. It is designed to train students from Asia, Africa and Latin America for leadership in the modern world.

I wasn't the only American who felt that Nikita had scored again with a particularly juicy propaganda victory. Mine was not the only editorial voice scolding Uncle Sam for failure to establish such a university to train educational, religious, medical, legal and political leaders for newly emerging lands and people.

The cost of such a venture, including the payment of all the expenses of a student from the moment he leaves his own home, would be negligible compared with the rewards in enduring friendship that would ensue.

Well, as it turned out, the idea wasn't original with Khrushchev. Eight months before the Russian Premier made his announcement last February, the establishment of a similar university was proposed in the U. S. Senate by Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson.

SEN. JOHNSON'S proposal was incorporated in the Mutual Security Act of 1959, in the form of a directive to the Secretary of State to make recommendations to Congress as to the best way to establish an East-West center in Hawaii. So far, the Administration has given the project its blessing but has provided no cash to make it a reality.

All of this has been brought to my attention by Sen. Oren E. Long (D., Hawaii), who is very much in hope that the money for the East-West University will be forthcoming before the present session of Congress ends.

In patient correspondence, Sen. Long has pointed out that under Sen. Johnson's leadership, a substantial group of Senators is pressing to activate the training center.

OF COURSE, THE vital step is to get an appropriation sufficiently large to start the project. But in the interim, Sen. Long and I have been carrying on a friendly argument by mail as to the location of the center.

He still favors Hawaii, as proposed originally by Sen. Johnson.

In turn, I feel it must be established within the continental limits of the U.S.A. It is my fear that all the goodwill such a university could engender might be dissipated if students from Asia and Africa felt they were not welcome on the mainland and that they had been shunted to a university in Hawaii, where, as Senator Long points out, "the easy mingling of races in our new state helps provide an ideal setting for this new institution."

RUSSIA IS BUILDING her new university for Asians and Africans in the nation's capital. Is Washington, D. C., too small to accommodate such a center? Or Philadelphia? Or New York? Or San Francisco? Or Chicago?

Of course, the correspondence between the Senator and myself is just so much postage until and unless Congress appropriates money for the project. But in the meantime, although it kills me, I shall let the Senator from Hawaii have the last words, to wit: "It is hoped and planned that the students' sojourn in the center in Hawaii would be preliminary to a closer and longer look at the rest of America on the mainland."

Which Is The Greater Risk?

WASHINGTON—If President Eisenhower can leave the White House having made even the smallest start—a token beginning—toward ending the nuclear arms race, then in the verdict of history all his failures of omission and commission may be outweighed.

This is one of the elements in the complex play of forces centering around the effort to reach agreement with Soviet Russia on a system of inspection and control to end nuclear testing. In the emotions just below the surface, the drama is beginning to resemble 1919-'20 when the Senate hardened against a treaty and a President and the certainty of ultimate tragedy and disaster was written into the record.

A SUBCOMMITTEE OF the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy is holding hearings on nuclear-test detection. The avowed goal is to present as objectively as possible the pros and cons of the compromise proposal now being considered at Geneva. Under that proposal, all tests would be banned except small explosions below the earthquake register of 4.75. Research to detect these would go on during a moratorium.

But there is a strong suspicion that the objective of certain committee members is to prove their belief that no control and inspection system that Russia cannot cheat on is possible and that testing must continue for America's security. One observer with close committee ties predicted that the result would be to furnish material to this end.

IN A PRIVATE session recently, physicist Hans Bethe, a former member of the President's Science Advisory Committee and still a consultant to the committee, was berated for calling the Russian compromise proposal of March 19 "a major step forward in the test negotiations" and — "provided the details can be cleared up—a suitable basis for a treaty."

Committee members accused him of having reached this judgment before seeing the text of the Soviet proposal. But Chairman Clinton Anderson had called it a "phony" two days before Bethe's statement, and Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission was nearly as emphatic in his denunciation two days after the Bethe statement and before the text was available.

Rep. Chet Holifield, conducting the current hearings along with Rep. Melvin Price, is a man of great earnestness and goodwill who has devoted himself unsparingly to trying to master a subject so complex and difficult that the layman more often than not gets lost in the forest of technical details. Holifield last year held hearings into the consequences of nuclear war and the perils from fallout.

YET SO CORROSIVE is the atmosphere of jealousy and suspicion in this political year that a leading committee member could say: "The President wants to go over there to the summit conference and come back with 'peace in our time.' He won't know what he's giving away, and maybe he won't even care whether there is any inspection of a control system or not."

This attitude, which finds expression in one degree or another among both Republicans and Democrats on the committee, is all the more surprising in view of the close relation with Chairman McCone. In contrast to his predecessor, Lewis Strauss, the quiet, unassuming McCone has built up something like an alliance with the so-called watchdog committee.

Those who argue the need to go on testing base their contention in part on the necessity to perfect "clean" weapons and smaller nuclear weapons. There is no indication whatsoever that the Russians would themselves develop and use "clean" bombs and thereby avoid in a nuclear war the mass annihilation resulting from fallout. This would seem to be trust on a far greater scale than contemplated in the test agreement.

Perhaps it is impossible to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons. But to ignore the risk of what this means, while refusing to take any risk in an agreement, is perilously shortsighted.

Video Actor Blew This Scene

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With cameras grinding, the TV villain stooped over to touch a match to a trail of gunpowder.

Actor Edwin Nelson, 30, playing the villain, supposedly was about to blow up a miners' camp.

But something went wrong. The gunpowder flared up and burned Nelson in the face, hands and chest.

Also burned was actor Fred Essler, 65, who was supposed to try to restrain Nelson.

The sequence for the weekly "Tombstone Territory" series was being filmed Wednesday at the Bronson Quarry in the Hollywood Hills.

Nelson was hospitalized. Essler was released after treatment.

Slaton Radio Approval Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—A permit for the Star of the Plains Broadcasting Co. for a daytime radio station at Slaton, Tex., was recommended Wednesday by communications examiner Forest McClenning. The station would operate on 1050 kilocycles, 250 watts.

The action involved denial of a competing application for a daytime station at Plainview, Tex. The contest went through a second hearing after a previous grant of the Plainview application was challenged in the courts.

The commission approved the assignment of license of station KSIJ at Gladewater, Tex., to Golden Triangle Enterprises for $79,500.

ART ON THE TEXAS PLAINS, by Elsie Montgomery Wilbanks. South Plains Art Guild, Lubbock, Texas. $4.50, limited first edition.

Mrs. Wilbanks starts her book out right—one of the first illustrations is an etching of Lubbock's first hotel, and it is in keeping with the desolation of the early Plains in wintertime, and is representative of the geography covered in the book.

"Art on the Texas Plains" has a professional polish in spite of the fact that it was written for, and published by, a community art guild.

The preface and foreword read like a lecture given at a tea for the Ladies Aid Society, and is incredibly poor writing. But, beginning with the first chapter and going all the way through the text, Mrs. Wilbanks' writing talent becomes evident, and she comes up with an accounting of West Texas art that will undoubtedly become a standard reference for artists of this area.

The book is, perhaps, a bit too Lubbock-centered, but this is understandable considering the home fires outlook of woman-dominated organizations.

And this brings up a point which a lot of moderns find hard to believe:

The first real Western artists, like Remington or Caylor or West, were men. And they were men in every sense of the word. The pioneers, being an honest and earthy breed of men, respected a man for what he was—and the touring artists, actors, musicians and writers earned the pioneers' respect or disrespect according to whether they were real artists or fakers.

The early painters won the respect and admiration of the plainsmen, as did their works.

But then came the settlers, after the territory had been tamed—and the narrow provincial attitude prevailed, so that the artist was looked upon with that arrogant disdain one expects to find in the hills. Art, these lesser men said, was for women.

It is only in recent years that art in regions outside the traditional cultural centers has begun to rise above the garden club level, and I believe books such as Mrs. Wilbanks'—without the foreword or preface—will help attract men once more into what primarily is a man's medium of expression.

Not that women have no place in art, and Mrs. Wilbanks seems to be her own best example of this.

She starts her text with the earliest history of South Plains art, and uses some excellent illustrations of Indian craftsmanship. She also borrows heavily on photographs saved by early families.

Although Big Spring is not, in Mrs. Wilbanks' account, an actual part of the South Plains, but sort of on the edge as it were, some of our outstanding local artists are mentioned. Terry Patterson is given a write-up in a chapter on representative painters and craftsmen. Mentioned in the pictorial directory are Mrs. Patterson, Madeen Blair, Genevieve Schafer and Mrs. Alyce Hart of Lamesa.

"Art on the Texas Plains," except for its provincial viewpoint where Lubbock is concerned, is an excellent treatise on West Texas art, and most particularly is well done in chapters on pioneer days.

Casa Manana Musicals has signed Betty Jane Watson, blonde young star of Broadway, radio and television, to play the role of Nellie Forbush in "South Pacific," scheduled for three-week engagement opening Aug. 22 in Fort Worth.

MISS WATSON

Miss Watson was chosen by Rodgers and Hammerstein for the leading role in "Oklahoma!" which she played for three years on Broadway, and later in London.

"South Pacific," the closing show of Casa Manana's 1960 summer season, will play Aug. 22 thru Sept. 10.

Art shows have no interest to a lot of people who might otherwise enjoy them, simply because they rush too fast. To properly appreciate a painting, one must stop and study it awhile.

So, when you go out to the HCJC gymnasium Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday, give yourself plenty of time.

In fact, it might behoove the sponsoring Las Artistas Club to provide seating opposite the arrays of exhibits, as is done in art museums. People like to sit and watch, and few prefer to stand.

The movie, "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," had one part to its plot which had a familiar ring. David Niven portrayed a newspaper drama critic who, naturally, became thoroughly disliked. Seems all he wanted to do was write the truth as he saw it, but the artistic people he wrote about were, as is their wont, unhappy over not having received bouquets in his column.

Bodies Of Couple Found At Home

FORT WORTH (AP)—A mechanic slashed his wife's throat and hanged himself in their home Wednesday.

The bodies of Bert Berry, 34, and Norma Jean Berry, 32, were found by her stepfather, W. H. Bell.

Justice of Peace Jim Boorman ruled suicide and murder.

The couple's four children were away from home at the time, three of them in school.

Police found Berry's body suspended by a clothes hanger in a closet and a stained butcher knife beside Mrs. Berry's body.

Bell said the couple was to have met an attorney earlier to sign divorce papers. Berry spent six months in a hospital for a nervous condition.

Medal Of Honor To Blind Girl

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia's first medal of honor award has been presented to blind Theresa Hayes, 17, for heroism during a fire at the Overbrook School for the Blind last March 10.

She got two citations—one printed and one in Braille—from Mayor Richardson Dilworth at a City Hall ceremony.

She was cited for remaining at her post during the fire until she had assured the safe departure of fellow pupils and faculty from the building. No pupils were killed but one fireman lost his life fighting the blaze.

Middies Change Blues For ODs

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — Sixteen U.S. Naval Academy midshipmen took a close look at the life they'll lead in coming years—in the Army—during an all-day visit here Wednesday.

The Middies, from all parts of the United States, have decided to take commissions in the Army upon graduation from Annapolis in June.

They tried their first Army chow, a hearty spaghetti meal with trimmings, in a 3rd Armored Cavalry troop mess hall.
