LAKE COLORADO CITY

Man Drowns Girl Saves Boy

Wayne Young, of Midland, was drowned in a boating accident at Lake Colorado City about 2:30 Saturday afternoon. Lake View Camp, lake-side fishing and boating camp was scene of the tragedy.

The camp was also scene of heroism shown by a 10-year-old girl who plunged in the lake to swim to and rescue Young's son who was in the boat with his father. Cynthia Richardson, daughter of Lake View owners Mr. and Mrs. Earl Richardson, swam 24-feet to and from the overturned boat to save the life of a seven-year-old Young child.

Young, his wife, and several children arrived at the lake in the early afternoon Saturday. Young and his small son got in the motor boat intending to ride. A few feet from the boat dock waves caught the boat filling it with water. The boat over turned flinging Young into the water. He was unable to swim and disappeared.

Frantic attempts at rescue were made by Richardson, Mrs. Richardson, and K. M. Bass of Odessa who was guest in one of the Lake View cabins for a fishing weekend.

Mrs. Richardson and Bass got in a second boat and managed to right the overturned boat Young had boarded for an afternoon's outing, seeking Young.

Meantime Richardson was using a drag line trying to locate Young under the water so near the pier, in time for the drowning victim to be revived.

Rescue units from Colorado City Fire Department, Sheriff's office, and the Colorado City Police Department rushed to the scene and a doctor was called.

Before rescue units could reach Lake View Camp Richardson had found Young's body near the edge of the bank next to the pier. In the water for a period of 15 to 20 minutes, the man was pronounced dead. All efforts at resuscitation proved futile.

Mrs. Young was given medical attention for shock. The Midland family has visited Lake Colorado City and stopped at Lake View for week-end outings several times, Mrs. Richardson said.

CHS HOMEMAKING

Student Teachers Arrive from Tech

This week-end brings "a first" to Colorado High School and to Colorado City as a community. Two student teachers from Texas Technological College are to arrive to join the Homemaking department at the local high school.

Colorado City was designated by Texas Tech this term as a Student Teacher Center. Acceptance of the student teachers was recommended by Superintendent Frank W. Wilson and adopted by Colorado Independent School Board in a recent meeting.

Both graduating seniors, the homemaking student teachers will work under guidance of Mrs. J. S. Craddock Jr., high school homemaking teacher. Supervision of the work to be done by the Tech seniors in residence here will be under direction of Mrs. Craddock and of Dr. L. Ann-Bunting, head of Tech's Homemaking department.

Dr. Bunting will visit Colorado High's homemaking classes and the fledgling teachers at intervals throughout the Student Teacher Center training period. That period starts officially April 1 and continues for an eight-week period, until May 24.

The student teachers both expect to become homemaking teachers after their graduation. They will be on duty full-time for the program of the CHS school day. The Tech seniors will be regarded as regular faculty members, attend faculty meetings to become acquainted with various phases of school teaching.

They will receive no salary. They will receive college credit for their Student Teacher Center work here. The two will start with first year homemaking. Mr. Wilson said. See REDISTRICTING Pg. 4

Carriker Will Propose Amendment to Leave Mitchell County in 19th

By RUTH COFFEY
Record News Editor

Congressman George Mahon's home county—Mitchell—will be moved out of his Congressional District—the 19th—if Texas House Bill 871 is passed by this state's Legislature, but not if Max Carriker can prevent it.

In Colorado City, Saturday, State Representative Carriker gave the Record full background of House Bill 871.

Authored by Representative Rayford Price of Angelina County, the bill was Price also told me he has referred to the House Legis Committee on Redistricting. Committee said about 4 weeks ago. That committee with Terry Townsend of Brady as chairman has only one West Texas legislative member, he is H. C. Wells of La Barge.

House Bill 871 came out of the committee Wednesday night. Carriker said. "I had talked attached to his home county with Wells, with Chairman Townsend, and with other committee members during the month they were considering the redistricting problems. I had talked with them about the Mitchell County problem. I found sympathetic ears and much understanding, but got no action concerning my plan that Mitchell County be placed in the 19th District."

He first cited a recent Supreme Court decision on the vote-for-vote question in Tennessee. That decision proved, Carriker said, that Federal Courts do have the authority to force a state to reapportion legislative districts to more equitable apportionment on a population basis.

Carriker said that Texas own constitution has would prefer to keep his home an automatic redistricting provision in 19th District. "It seems to be feeling poised to offer an amendment of the majority that if tested to the bill when it reaches the in the Courts we'd be forced floor of the House," Carriker said. "Expressing this view to a Redistricting Committee would be a strong possibility. The Texas Legislature would prefer to remove Mitchell County from avoid such a fight in the Courts. The bill has passed in the 17th District when the bill is passed. There seems little doubt Carriker said, that the bill will pass the House. "I talked with the author of the bill, Rayford Price, Thursday afternoon. He told me that he intends to request suspension of rules Monday to get Bill 871 on the floor."

It has been 30 years since any significant reapportionment was done, though there have been minor adjustments he noted. He also noted the population trend away from rural areas toward urban areas, and the growth in population of 19th District to 500,000 people. Growth of population all over the irrigated plains has boosted the census figures from its old figure of less than 300,000 to the new half a million.

Just east of 19th District, the 17th District has a diminished population of about 275,000. Average ideal population if adjusted by a new bill would be 400,000. House Bill 871 proposes to remove not only Mitchell County's less than 12,000 people, but also two other counties—Kent and Dickens—to swell population count of 17th District and lessen that of 19th.

Under the new bill, even with Mitchell County severed, 19th District would still have about 120,000 people left, while 17th with Mitchell, Kent, Dickens, and counties severed from the Wichita Falls District added would total just 222,000.

Carriker granted that the Legislative Redistricting Committee "Appears to have done a good job, an equitable job so far as just the map is concerned. At least in their eyes they have done a fair job. Wells of Tulsa went to bat for us and tried to leave Mitchell County in 19th in the new bill. He was overwhelmed by the population problem."

What the Texas State Senate would do with House Bill 871 is problematic, Carriker said. "My own guess is that it would go from the House to the Senate in its present form," he predicted. "But not if I can get my amendment leaving Mitchell County in Mahon's district, he said. "I'm going to do my best."

SPRING DECREASE

City National Deposits High for Tax Season

City National Bank vice president Gus Chesney called the spring report of bank deposits here "Encouraging" today.

"Deposits normally drop considerably from end of the year report to spring report," Chesney said, "and the fact that this spring report shows a difference of only $5,000 is good." Spring deposits are normally lower, he explained, because this is tax and income tax and annual bill paying time.

Chesney credited late crops and construction of new business facilities such as the new Desert Inn Motor Hotel, service station, and a new building for Church of Christ members with the favorable bank figures.

Report as of March 18, 1963, shows deposits of $8,478,172.26. March 26, 1962 deposits were $8,292,212.01. Five years ago in March, 1958, deposits were $7,076,737.97. Ten years ago, April 1953 deposits totaled $6,457,807.50. Fall report, Dec. 28, last year showed $8,483,814.12 on deposit at City National Bank.

Other comparative figures are March 18, 1963 loans, $2,480,466.88; March 26, 1962 $2,123,991.04; March 4, 1958, $2,070,447.45; April 1953, $1,935,481.27; Dec. 1962, $2,493,778.49.

Total assets now $9,241,944.68 as of March 18, 1963, were $8,997,582.48 in March 1962; $7,668,654.48 in March 1958; $6,869,289.85 in April 1953, and $9,252,958.48 as of Dec. 28, 1962.

Retail Merchants Study Store Hours

Do Colorado City merchants prefer late store hours for Thursday instead of Saturday?

Hanging fire in the current discussions by the Retail Merchants Committee of Chamber of Commerce are several such issues, according to Willie Landau, chairman of the Merchant committee.

Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in the Chamber conference room, the committee will again discuss opening and closing hours for downtown merchants and business firms. Committee has been feeling out downtown area merchants concerning an earlier closing time perhaps 5:30 p. m. week-days.

Another contemplated change is the switch from Saturday night staying open to a Thursday night late closing perhaps 8 p. m. Landau said.

Promotion projects to spur interest in downtown merchandizing with special shopping events are next on the Tuesday evening agenda. Serving with Landau on the Retail Merchants Committee is L. J. Taylor, Director-representative.

Honored At Texas A&M

Wayman L. Thurman, left, receives a pen set for making the "most profit" in futures trading as a student in Texas A&M College Economics and Sociology Department. Making the presentation is Dr. A. B. Wootter, associate professor in the department. Thurman is son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Thurman of Cuthbert. He is a 1956 graduate of Colorado City High School where he was an enthusiastic member of the FFA.

What the Texas State Senate would do with House Bill 871 is problematic, Carriker said. "My own guess is that it would go from the House to the Senate in its present form," he predicted. "But not if I can get my amendment leaving Mitchell County in Mahon's district, he said. "I'm going to do my best."

If you like people, you can find no better job than clicking a shutter behind a camera. Peggy Belvin, a professional photographer, is a woman who knows the world of photography.

A toddler little girl becomes filled with sophistication as a stern-faced city or county officer erases the furrows and puts on his Sunday smile. An ordinary housewife becomes a distinct personality as a devilish little boy becomes a ham.

"This is wonderful," he said. "First time I've ever come to see this man whistling."

Another picture assignment took me to the GENE PAPPAS residence at 1004 E. 6th St. this week.

My four-year-old model met me on the porch, and I asked him to run inside and get his mommy.

Everyone looked like toothpaste ads except a pony-tailed little girl on the back row.

All cooing and funny little remarks couldn't begin to get a smile out of her. She finally broke down and told me, "One of my teeth is crooked. I'm not smiling for any picture until it's straightened."

Stepped out the office door the other day, and there was our friendly meter maid, DOROTHY OWENS, busy writing out an over-parking ticket.

"I feel guilty about this," she said in a low tone to me. "The passenger in the car keeps looking at me."

I glanced inside the car, and there was the passenger, a live miniature of a scowling Mona Lisa. And sure enough, the little girl had Mrs. Owens fixed with an icy stare.

There must be a better way to win friends and influence people than giving out parking tickets.

It was announced that the Good Neighbor Club would be hostess for the book review and tea May 2 in the Meditation Room of the Lone Wolf Electric Building.

Mrs. Gibson told the members that the State meeting is to be held in San Antonio this year, on the dates of Sept. 18 and 19.

Next meeting will be April 16, in the county courthouse.

CONVERSATION CORNER

TEXAS LEGISLATURE is struggling again with that Rights for Women bill. You know—the one that is supposed to "remove the liabilities of being a woman." Or is it disabilities? Restrictions? Legal handicaps? Distinctions? Discriminations?

However they've got it worded down at Austin it comes out the same. Women want their rights. Mostly high-powered business women.

THIS WOMAN just wants to keep some of those long-cherished wrongs for women.

Wrongs like saving some things for the men. Things like blown fuses, forgotten utility bills, running out of gas at the post office, another OD notice from the bank, and figuring the income tax must be kept marked "masculine privilege."

IF WOMEN have just gotta be lowered to the status of men, compete with them, be "equal" to them, it's likely to play heck with the nice balance between the sexes.

Who can feel frightfully feminine while borrowing money from the bank vice-president? Getting the car serviced? Or putting the air conditioning in shape? "Specially while nailing nails?"

AND AS for that propaganda about fixing it so no woman will need a man's signature on legal or business documents—well, any woman who can't persuade, browbeat, threaten, cajole, vamp or pet her man into putting his X on some silly paper deserves to be made his "equal." And should have to take the consequences.

Major consequences being that for the right to sign a scrap of paper the little woman will swap off her best eternal wrongs.

WRONGS like tears in a crisis. Men have rarely if ever demanded the wrong to sit right down and cry about it.

Few men have ever demanded the wrong to buy hat for hat, shoe for shoe, suit for suit, shirt for dress. The ratio is more likely to be six or ten to one in favor of the fair sex even in the most modest households.

TEXAS WOMEN live in an advanced state of civilization as it is, comparatively speaking. Most women manage the money, the home, and the children along with the man who provides same.

Down Mexico way just this week a high court ruled that a man is not entitled to divorce his wife just because she chooses to eat out once in a while.

That same court ruled several years ago that a woman can't divorce a husband for going out with the other ladies so long as he behaves. It would seem a fair exchange of rights—except viewed from the expense account angle.

THING we're inclined to lobby for is not equality. It's equanimity. With maybe a slight edge or feminine handicap. Long as men are willing to "stay in their place" letting them be technical head of the house is no burden.

The status quo. That's what us women ought to cling to. The man to be the head. The woman to be the heart.

And any time the heart can not figure out 5,000 ways to rule the head, it'll be because the heart saw fit to forfeit all her ageless wrongs for a new set of rules touted as rights.

EXCERPT from favorite letter of the week comes from Long Beach, Calif. and is signed Bonnie Jackson LaRue (Mrs. A. W. LaRue).

"I'm not one of your former kindergartners, but one of your former Sunday School pupils circa 42-43. Never underestimate the power of a Sunday School teacher's influence as I still remember you, Mrs. Charlie Barnes, and Stattie Rice, and before that Mrs. Tom Glover and Mrs. W. H. Garrett (at First Methodist S. S.)."

BONNIE, like many of our now scattered "children," is remembered here with real affection. She's married to a sergeant of Long Beach Police force. They have three happy (and Bonnie adds normal??) children. Mike is 17, Peggy is 15, and Jim is 11.

"I'm so thankful for early associations in C. City. Bonnie goes on. 'I can hardly wait for the Record to come so I can search it for familiar names and faces.'"

TO PHIL ORMAN

Tech's Yearbook Is Dedicated

K. Phil Orman, student publications director at Texas Technological College in Lubbock since 1958, was honored Wednesday when the staff of La Ventana, 1963 college yearbook, announced that they had dedicated this year's book to him.

Orman, married to the former Sylvia Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey, 2003 Vine St., Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. Orman are the parents of three daughters, Kelly, Kim and Karen. They reside at 1822 E. First Place in Lubbock.

Orman, who was graduated from Tech in 1958, served part-time as assistant publications director while still a student at Tech. He began full-time as student publications director immediately upon graduation.

In making the announcement of the dedication in the office of Marshall Pennington, vice-president for business affairs, co-editor of La Ventana, said, "Because of his many contributions to Texas Tech and his organizational ability, we dedicate this year's yearbook to Phil Orman."

The idea for the magazine format of La Ventana was originated by W. E. Garrett, professor and head of the journalism department. Travis is Peterson, assistant editor of the yearbook, said, "And it was Phil's ability to carry through plans that helped the La Ventana to realize its full capacities as a yearbook."

An advertising material, Tech Orman was instrumental in the organization of the student chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national advertising fraternity, and was a charter member of that group.

In addition to directing publications of the La Ventana and Daily Tropic, Orman has been active in civic affairs as a member of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce. In October, 1962, he was elected second vice president of the National Council of Publications Advisors.

The 1963 La Ventana is being prepared for publication this spring, and will be distributed at the beginning of the next fall semester. Orman will be featured on the cover of "Time Magazine," the first section of the yearbook. A picture-story layout on Orman will continue on the inside pages of the Time Section.

Fletcher Canthen of North Side ... Arlene and Catherine Morris, Judge Elmer Martin and Mrs. Lufie Wilson sharing a table ... The nice Bill Dosses ... and the Maurice Kirschbaums.

Saw, too, Mrs. E. M. Owen and her luncheon guest Mrs. Charles Brinkley of Kermit ... Martha Earnest ... Frank H. Kelley spotting a cage ... And Frank Deregibus.

LOOKED UP to see a red sports shirt, a grin, and a friendly face with a familiar name, Rodney Tiller. Rodney was like the nursery rhyme "My Son John with one shoe off and one shoe on." He'd amused himself by "kicking a table leg in the dark," he said.

He lives at Coahoma and works for Reef Oil Co. Fathers a girl and a little boy, 5. Rod is remembered best for his CHS football days.

"My wife teaches English in Coahoma High," he said. "I bet Miss Miller gets a charge out of that! Me married to an English teacher!"

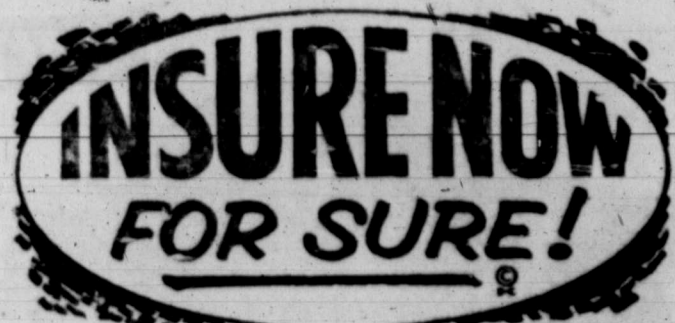

AMONG other old C. City Wolves he brought us up to date on were two of his team mates Don Crockett of Big Spring and Richard Thomas (son of the Oscar Thomases who used to live here) of Kermit. Richard is band instructor for Kermit High.

All anybody who watched that trio carry the ball can reply to that is, once again, tempus fugit. Which roughly translated means our "children" Tiller, Thomas, and Crockett finished high school 18 years ago, come May. Who speeded up the calendar, anyhow?

Tempus fugit. Time flies fast. Each year's shorter than the last. Day before yesterday Rod was a lad—Today he answers his boy's "Hey, Dad!"

State representatives at the conference will be Mrs. D. O. James, state vice president, and Mrs. J. L. Robinson, education for family living chairperson. Nat Williams, superintendent of the Lubbock school system, will head a discussion on the title, "Citizenship."

Be safe against financial loss from storm ... hail ... theft ... fire ... accident! Be safe ... be sure with insurance from G. D. Foster, representing Capital Stock Insurance Companies.
