By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy proposed today an unprecedented $98.8-billion budget keyed to deficit-boosting tax cuts which he said would spark the nation toward full employment, production and purchasing power.

Kennedy's spending program for the year starting July 1 would top even the highest of wartime budgets, $98.3 billion in 1944-45, and shoot the public debt to a record $315.6 billion.

Nonetheless, he insisted it was shaped to put "new life into the economy and insure "efficient and frugal" conduct of the government.

In a message sending his midterm budget to Congress, Kennedy acknowledged the $13.5-billion, three-year tax cutting plan he unveiled earlier this week would at first add red ink to federal finances. He estimated the deficit would rise from the $8.8 billion now anticipated this year to $11.9 billion.

Recommendations Kennedy sent to Capitol Hill included:

—Over-all defense spending of $55.4 billion, up $2.4 billion from the current year; emphasis on a strong retaliatory force, flexible conventional forces, better air and missile defenses.

—Space programs costing $4.2 billion, an increase of $1.8 billion; manned space flight efforts to get most of the total, with the goal of getting a man to the moon.

—Foreign aid totaling $4,945,000,000 with special attention for countries willing to help themselves.

—Another bid for medical care for the aged financed through Social Security taxes; a new request for a Cabinet-level Department of Urban Affairs. Detailed recommendations will be made later for aid to education, farm and other programs.

For peacetime, the anticipated $11.9-billion deficit would be second only to the $12.4 billion incurred under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958-59. But Kennedy argued a 1963-64 deficit is unavoidable, even at the present level of taxes. The choice, he said, lies between accepting a "chronic deficit of inertia due to inadequate economic growth" and a temporary deficit caused by programs designed to generate the economy, increase revenues and eventually achieve budget surpluses.

"The first type of deficit is a sign of waste and weakness," he argued. "The second is an investment in the future."

Kennedy foresaw receipts of $86.9 billion. He offered this reasoning to conclude that reduced taxes will start producing new revenues in the year ahead.

Tax cuts taking effect in 1963—he didn't say when—would by themselves decrease government income for the fiscal year some $5.3 billion. But two factors trim the net loss from what might have been expected to $2.7 billion. These are a speedup in collection of corporation taxes, which now lag six months, and the advance in taxable income anticipated from the stimulus of a cut in rates. And despite this loss, receipts actually will increase $1.4 billion from the 1962-63 estimate of $85.5 billion because of an enlivened economy.

Thus Kennedy sought to rebut conservatives in Congress who denounce rising deficits as fiscal irresponsibility and are reluctant to cut taxes when the government ledger is in the red.

Nowhere did Kennedy name the effective date in 1963 on which he based his projection of a tax cut's effect on revenues. He held back most details for a special message to Congress later this month.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon expressed hope Congress would enact personal tax reductions "some time this summer." Taxpayers then would feel the benefits in lower payroll withholdings or lower quarterly payments. Dillon said the rate adopted for the year, more than an effective date, would determine how much less is taken from each taxpayer.

If Kennedy's program to juice up the economy is adopted in 1963, Dillon said, the bugdet should be balanced by 1966-67 if not the previous fiscal year. But only if Congress also adopts "reforms" designed to bring in an additional $3.5 billion a year, he asserted, can the country enjoy cuts Kennedy is recommending, "and still be fiscally sound."

Budget Director Kermit Gordon reported the Defense Department escaped Kennedy's economy ax altogether but money requests from all other departments were sliced $7-billion to $8 billion.

Declaring false economy would jeopardize the national interest, Kennedy recommended increased spending for defense and space efforts.

For all other programs combined, his recommendations were slightly under the current total. Individually, some were higher—such as health, labor, welfare, education, housing and community development. Others—farm, postal and shipping subsidy programs, for instance—were lower, and the decreases more than offset the increases.

Proposed over-all defense spending of $55.4 billion would absorb 55 cents of every tax dollar, but Kennedy asserted: "There is no discount price on defense."

The total, up $2.4 billion from the current year, includes $51 billion for the Pentagon, $2.8 billion for the Atomic Energy Commission, $1.45 billion for military aid abroad and the balance for stockpiling, selective service and the like.

If Congress approves, expenditures aimed at landing a man on the moon in this decade and exploring faraway planets will go up 75 per cent, from $2.4 to $4.2 billion.

Pending a separate message, Kennedy withheld details on his education program. He didn't tell whether he again will recommend federal aid for school construction and teacher salaries, a proposal spiked on the religious issue in the last Congress. But he said spending should rise $165 million to $1.5 billion and he requested a doubling to $3 billion of appropriations for immediate and future use.

In another controversial field, he suggested total spending of $3.75 billion on foreign aid. This would include $2.3 billion for economic assistance and represent a net decrease of $100 million in the entire program. He asked for an appropriation, however, of $4.9 billion. That's just about what he asked for a year ago. Congress cut out a billion.

For all functions of government, Kennedy requested new appropriations of $96.5 billion. These are the figures Congress debates. Appropriations control much of current spending, although part of the nearly $99 billion Kennedy proposes to spend has been previously authorized.

The President faces opposition to both his spending and tax plans because of the debt they will create.

Last year Congress raised the temporary limit to $308 billion, providing for a drop to $305 billion next April 1, to $300 billion on June 2? and back to the permanent ceiling of $285 billion on July 1.

To cope with conditions as he sees them, Kennedy urged a prompt extension of the $308-billion limit through June 30. He said he would seek a further increase for the next 12 months. The present outlook, he said, is for a debt of $315.6 billion at the end of that period. He postponed making a specific request, however, until a more reliable estimate is possible.

Before getting into the next fiscal year, Kennedy called on Congress to appropriate another $3.9 billion for the current year. He said that much is needed to pay for legislation passed in 1962 without adequate financing.

For 1963-64 spending, he made these additional recommendations in what is known as the administrative budget:

Agriculture—$5.7 billion, down $1.1 billion.

Natural resources—$2.5 billion, up a billion.

Housing and community development—$300 million, down $200 million.

Health, labor and welfare—$5.6 billion, up $700 million.

Khrushchev In Visit To Berlin Wall

By TOM OCHILTREE

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev today visited communism's bleak and hated wall dividing Berlin and gazed thoughtfully for a moment at the American flag fluttering over nearby Checkpoint Charlie.

Standing at the point where U.S. and Soviet tanks confronted each other in the Berlin crisis of October 1961, he waved cheerfully to people in West Berlin.

The premier made his excursion to the wall at midday after hearing Wladyslaw Gomulka, Polish Communist chief, hail him as the man who saved the world from nuclear catastrophe during the Cuban crisis.

Khrushchev spent the morning at the East German Communist party conference where the argument between Moscow and Peking occupies the attention of 2,500 delegates and guests.

Gomulka demanded that the Chinese Communists cease their attacks on Soviet policies and "show greater modesty and moderation" in their dealings with Moscow.

Gomulka went right down the line to make it clear that he was backing Khrushchev without qualification in the argument with Peking. He also urged that this argument be taken out of the world's gaze and be settled by private discussions.

With East German party chief Walter Ulbricht at his side, Khrushchev then went to the wall. He showed no inclination to accept West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's suggestion that he look at the wall from West Berlin.

He approached the border at the U.S. sector's Friedrichstrasse crossing point.

Brandt, in an interview early this month, suggested that Khrushchev get a first-hand picture of the real conditions in both parts of divided Berlin. But Khrushchev made no move to cross over into the West.

In bright sunshine, Khrushchev stood at the first red-and-white striped pole barring entry into East Berlin. Maj. Gen. Helmut Poppe, the East German commandant of East Berlin, stood at his side explaining the layout of the crossing point.

On the western side, an American Army officer in steel helmet and combat equipment stood near the dividing line watching the activity in the east.

Tshombe Is In Elisabethville

By DENNIS NEELD

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe returned to his old Katangan capital today and at once plunged into talks with U. N. officials that should seal the end of his secession.

The meeting was called to work out details of a peaceful united nations entry into Kolwezi, his last bastion in the province.

Tshombe seemed ready for complete capitulation. He had not come to Elisabethville from Kolwezi to negotiate, he said. He was here only to discuss arrangements for U.N. troops to occupy the big industrial center.

Plans for blowing up the copper mines and big Union Miniere refinery at Kolwezi have been suspended, he told newsmen.

Tshombe added he would stay in Elisabethville long enough to insure that his orders giving U.N. forces free movement throughout Katanga are carried out.

The meeting with U.N. officials took place on the third floor of the towering U.N. headquarters on the outskirts of town.

Once the U.N. entry into Kolwezi is arranged, a U.N. spokesman said, talks can begin with Tshombe on arrangements to put U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's plan for Congo reunification into full effect.

Thant's unity plan calls for a 50-50 sharing of Katanga's mining revenues with the central regime in Leopoldville, a merger of the armed forces and adoption of a federal constitution.

With an end to Katanga's secession in prospect, sources at U.N. headquarters in New York said Thant believes he can begin reducing the 19,000-man U.N. force in the Congo in a month's time.

But in South Kasai Province, a diamond-mining area northwest of Katanga, factional fighting appeared to be still raging, and on a scale worse than anything that has occurred in Katanga. The U.N. command has ignored the situation in South Kasai so far, contending that it is a problem for the Congolese army.

"There are many dead, many dead, many dead," said an African priest who came from Luluabourg to Leopoldville.

More Due To Leave Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—A Swiss diplomat said today Fidel Castro's government is expected to allow a second planeload of Cuban-American citizens to go to the United States Friday.

The envoy, whose government handles U.S. interests in Cuba, said he did not know how many would be sent this time. More than 700 Americans have filed applications for repatriation.

The first group of 68 men, women and children of U.S. citizenship arrived in Miami, Fla., by special plane last Sunday.

None of the estimated 25 to 30 Americans held prisoner by Castro's government was on the first flight, and there was no indication any would be released Friday.

There are about 900 American citizens still in Cuba, most of them children. About 170 are working with Castro's government.

Truck In Crash With School Bus

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Four children and a truck driver were injured here today when a dump truck and a school bus collided.

None was hurt seriously, attendants said.

The truck hit the Baptist Elementary School bus almost broadside, police said, and tipped the bus over. A motorist opened the bus emergency door and freed the children.

Police said five children were aboard the bus.

Chorus Of Alarm Sweeps Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's budget sailed into stormy congressional seas today. There was a clamor that unless some spending was jettisoned, its cargo of tax cuts would never reach port intact.

Much of a chorus of alarm about the budget's deficit—practically drowning out other comment—came from Democrats, with Republicans adding their denunciations.

"Incredible" "Ridiculous" "Entirely too big" were some of the harsher comments of critics.

Many argued that the estimated $11.9-billion deficit would badly hurt the President's tax reduction proposals.

GOP leaders generally gave the budget a blistering reception.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House Republican leader, said the $98.8-billion budget "makes a mockery of the administration's brave talk of letting the taxpayer keep more of his own money."

"What the taxpayer thinks he will save (under Kennedy's proposed reduction) will be taken away from him either by so-called tax reform or by an increase in the cost of living," he added. "Either way, the taxpayer looks like a sure loser in the end."

The GOP Senate Leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, called the budget incredible.

"We are told the New Frontier is going to get over its chronic deficits by having a deficit so big that the nation will enjoy rapid growth and the jobless will commence returning to work. In other words, the best way to correct mistakes is to make bigger ones."

Nor did many key Democrats express warm regard for the spending plans.

"Entirely too big," remarked Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which handles all spending bills. "We will look for and find places to cut it substantially without impairing national security."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, forecast a $14-billion deficit if the President's tax cut proposals are adopted by Congress. He said spending would exceed $100 billion.

Chairman Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., of the Senate Appropriations Committee confined his comment to a promise to give the recommendations "profound study."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of Senate Foreign Relations Committee: "My first impression is that the over-all budget—especially for defense—seems extraordinarily high. This fiscal situation is a very serious one, and it is going to require a great deal of study."

Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., begged off commenting until he had a chance to study the President's recommendations.

South Texas Due Drizzle

By The Associated Press

There was occasional light rain or drizzle in southern areas of Texas while the rest of the state continued to shake off a week-old cold spell Thursday.

Sub-freezing temperatures again were felt in the Panhandle-Plains and far West Texas, where skies were clear. It was cloudy everywhere else.

Fog enveloped the Wink area in West Texas. It was drizzly at Brownsville, McAllen, Corpus Christi, Alice, Cotulla and Laredo.

Forecasts called for more rain or drizzle in South and East Texas continuing through Thursday night and early Friday.

The weather Bureau predicted cold air would start pushing back into northern areas of the state while there was further warming in the southern sector.

Temperatures hit highs ranging from 43 at Dalhart to 69 at Brownsville Wednesday afternoon. Readings early Thursday varied from 11 degrees at Dalhart to 63 at Brownsville.

Motorist Decides His Watch Is Slow

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—City officials have recently reversed the one-way traffic flow on Ninth street, and one motorist recently turned in the wrong way at the start of rush hour.

"Where do you think you're going?" a policeman asked.

"Wherever it was, I'm late," said the motorist. "It looks like everybody is coming back."

Area Group Discusses Junior College Plan

More than 50 interested persons attended a meeting Wednesday afternoon to hear first-hand expressions of interest in the proposed junior college for Scurry County.

Badger Robertson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce junior college study group, presided at the meeting and presented facts and figures which had been assembled over an eight month peroid.

B. W. Musgraves, assistant commissioner for junior colleges for the Texas Education Agency, came from Austin to attend the meeting. Most of the questions directed at Musgraves concerned the taxation procedures in junior college districts.

Also present at the meeting and making a statement was R. E. McBride from Houston, the manager of property taxes for the Standard Oil Co. of Texas. McBride said that his company had opposed the project five years ago when the population of Scurry County was far larger than it is now. He indicated that he would continue to oppose the formation of a junior college district unless he could be definitely shown that the student potential would be here to support the school.

The proposal which was defeated by the oil companies five years ago called for creation of a district which would include only Scurry County. The present study is being made of a district which would include independent and common school districts from surrounding counties.

Representatives of several of these surrounding districts were present at yesterday's meeting. They included school superintendent Charles D. Champion and county commissioner D. L. Hamilton from Jayton; W. C. Vincent, Borden County school superintendent; Ted Averitt, school superintendent, and Marvin Hanson, school board president from Hermleigh; Parker Wetsel, assistant manager of Midwest Electric from Roby; and A. O. Dennington, Hobbs school superintendent.

All of these representatives declined to speak for the majority of the citizens in their areas.

Backers of the proposed junior college feel that an expression of interest and support must be heard from these areas before they are included in the petitions calling for a vote. Robertson pointed out that if they are included, and even though they locally reject the proposal, they would still be included in the district if the proposl was approved by a majority of all those voting. Junior college proponents wish to avoid such a situation to prevent any ill feeling which might arise as a result.

It was felt that within two weeks a sampling of opinion in the surrounding areas could be taken and the results of that sampling made known. Therefore a meeting has been called for two weeks from yesterday's meeting at which time it is hoped the definite boundaries of the district can be set.

Board Steps Into Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — A special board named by President Kennedy stepped today into the 26-day East and Gulf Coast dock strike.

Its mission: Achieve a settlement by Monday or recommend a procedure to get more than 300 idle ships moving again.

"The point of public toleration of this situation has been passed," the President said in appointing the three-man board Wednesday. He said the tie-up was causing intolerable injury to the national welfare.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., flew here from Washington and conferred immediately with James J. Reynolds, assistant Secretary of Labor, who has been mediating negotiation efforts.

West Berlin police said they were not noticed by Communist guards and therefore no details of their escape were revealed.

$3 Billion State Budget Proposed

AUSTIN (AP) — Senate and House budget makers recommended today a 1964-65 state operations budget of more than $3 billion from all funds.

The report from the Legislative Budget Board compares closely with the total figure of $3.1 billion spending suggested by former Gov. Price Daniel.

Gov. John Connally has not yet made his budget recommendations. He said Wednesday he would have his estimates in a few weeks.

The final budget figure likely will be neogitated by a 10-man joint conference committee of the legislature.

The Legislative Budget Board's recommendations called for increased spending of about $52.6 million more from the general revenue than the current level. This does not include proposals to double present state college tuition or proposals to convert additional junior colleges to full state supported senior colleges.

Daniel's recommendations called for an increase of about $41 million from general revenue, provided state college tuition is doubled and the franchise tax retained at its present level.

By major divisions of state government, the Budget Board recommended:

$9,703,049 from all funds for the judiciary, an increase of $257,574.

$120,420,602 for hospitals and special schools, an increase of $12.2 million.

$1,551,823,811 for executive and administrative agencies, an increase of $106,602,91.

$1,406,704,427 for public education, an increase of $155,149,248.

The Budget Board figured that appropriations from the general revenue fund, the state's principal source of operating expenses, would total $439 million, including $4 million set aside for the legislature's expenses.

"Working without an official forecast by the comptroller of revenues for the next two years, the Budget Board's recommended general revenue total was $2,281,732 over the amount forecast by the comptroller on Jan. 3 as being actually available from present tax sources.

Shop Rite, Wichita Falls Firm Merge

The owner's of Parker's Food Stores, Inc., Bob Parker and Garnet Parker, Tuesday announced the merger of the 14 Parker stores located in the Wichita Falls-Lawton, Okla., area with Shop Rite Foods, Inc.

Garnet Parker will join the board of directors of the corporation which operates stores in Texas, New Mexico and now Oklahoma. Shop Rite owns and operates the Piggly Wiggly store in Snyder.

The addition of the Parker chain will increase the number of stores operated by the corporation to 71, according to Herbert Wilcox, president.

Wilcox stated that no personnel or policy changes are anticipated.

"Our policy of offering nationally famous brands at the lowest possible prices and our long association with S and H Green stamps fit Parker's policy so perfectly that no changes are imminent," Wilcox said.

Before the merger, Shop Rite Foods, Inc., operated 57 supermarkets with division offices in Albuquerque, Lubbock, San Antonio, and Amarillo. Wichita Falls will become headquarters for a fifth division.

New division manager for the Parker group will be announced in the near future according to J. S. Reinhart, Lubbock, executive vice president of Shop Rite Foods, Inc.

Little Damage In Blaze Wednesday

The Snyder fire department answered a call at 6:20 p.m. Wednesday to a house fire.

The house, located on the China Grove road, did not suffer much damage due to the fire fighting activities of Will Warner, occupant of the house. Firemen said he was able to keep the fire from spreading, and the department's two trucks were able to quickly extinguish the blaze.

Search Made For Paintings

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Troops and police began a building-to-building search today of the Communist-infested Central University for five French Impressionist masterpieces stolen by gun-waving young terrorists who invaded a Caracas art museum.

Authorities believed students from the university made off with the paintings, on loan from France and insured for an estimated half a million dollars. Central University is a hotbed of Castro sympathizers.

The paintings were seized Wednesday in a daylight raid by a band of about 15 including two teen-age girls. One of the girls shot and seriously wounded a high school student who defied the raiders.

The gang shouted that they were taking the paintings to let France know that they opposed the Venezuelan government of President Romulo Betancourt. They said they would return the art works, but officials feared the paintings might be damaged.

The stolen paintings were identified as "Lilies in a Copper Vase" by Van Gogh, painted in 1886; a 1929 still life by Picasso; an 1889 still life by Gauguin; "Still Life With Pears" 1925 by Braque, and "The Bathers" 1890 by Cezanne.

Salesmen Arrested

The Snyder police department reported that two out-of-town book salesmen were arrested Wednesday evening for soliciting without a permit.

Door-to-door solicitation is prohibited in Snyder by city statutes unless a permit is obtained.

For Every Right-- A Responsibility

Many of our citizens have not really grasped the two fundamental principles of our American way of life — that is, the importance of the individual and the responsibility of the individual to the group.

However, the really fundamental weakness is failure to associate the specific rights of the American citizen to the corresponding specific responsibilities. Most citizens are acutely aware of the rights. They are not so acutely aware of the responsibilities, and many have either failed or neglected to associate responsibility with right in any significant manner.

Although we cannot define our way of life in exact terms, somehow we know what it is — this faith, this spirit of 180 million Americans which is immortalized in our history, in the Mayflower Compact, in the Declaration of Independence, in our Constitution, and in the Gettysburg Address. It is this spirit which shapes our society and, in peace or war, inspires us to join hands in common defence of our way of life.

Our way of life rests on two fundamental principles which guide our day-to-day thoughts and actions and which clearly distinguish our system from the totalitarian system. These principles are the importance of the individual and the responsibility of the individual to the group.

The first of these principles is the importance of the individual — you and me and millions of other Americans. This belief in the importance of the individual is the foundation of all of our other beliefs. It guarantees for all of us the undisputed right to personal freedom and dignity and to equality before the law. "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Belief in the importance of the individual implies certain basic rights.

The Right to Free Speech.

The Right to Free Assembly.

The Right to Worship God in Our Own Way.

The Right to Security of Person and Property.

The Right to Trial by Jury and to Equal Protection Before the Law.

The Right to Petition the Government for Redress of Grievances.

The Right to Vote for Men of Our Choice in Free and Fair Elections.

In a big society such as ours the interests of individuals are bound to clash sometimes. Individual rights may conflict with the law of equality. To take care of such situations, we have set down a second basic principle, namely responsibility to the group.

Responsibility to the group means, first of all, that the individual, while exercising his own freedoms, must not deprive others of their freedoms. Freedom does not imply unrestrained or irresponsible action. My right to walk does not mean I can step on somebody else's toes.

Group responsibility means that no individual can be permitted to harm other people. Freedom of expression does not give me the right to shout "Fire" in a crowded theater.

Group responsibility also means [illegible] which the individual lives, because they were made by duly authorized representatives of the group. If I don't like a certain law, I can criticize it and make every effort to change it, by constitutional means, but I cannot break that law while it remains in force.

It means that each man is responsible for his family and loved ones. He must provide for them and ensure their well-being.

It means that the individual bears responsibilities to his community, his church, and other groups which work for the good of all.

Last, but perhaps most important of all, group responsibility means the willingness of all of us to defend ourselves, our families and our community against all types of enemy attack and against natural disaster.

Hence, for every right bestowed upon us by American citizenship, our nation assigns to us a solemn responsibility to implement — in order to assure and maintain that right. Without responsibility to sustain it, right cannot exist. Right is an automobile chassis — responsibility, its engine. No engine — no ride; no responsibility — no right.

Let us try coupling a few corresponding rights and responsibilities.

The Right of Freedom of Worship — The Responsibility to practice religious tolerance.

The Right of Freedom of Speech — The Responsibility to speak the truth and to respect the opinions of others.

The Right of Freedom of Assembly and Petition — The Responsibility to refrain from mob action.

The Right To Trial by Jury — The Responsibility to serve on juries when called; to give evidence; to help prevent crime.

The Right to Vote — The Responsibility to keep informed on issues, to vote intelligently and to keep close tab on the performance of elected officials.

The Right to Participate in Government and to Benefit from the Services of Government — The Responsibility to pay taxes for the maintenance of government.

The Right to Make Contracts and to Start and Manage Business — The Responsibility to fulfill contracts, to meet financial obligations and to be mindful of the public interest in all business matters.

Hence, in conclusion, it is our sacred right to live in the light of liberty and it is also our solemn responsibility to help keep that light burning forever.

Snyder City Council PTA — Mrs. Cecil Mearse, Publicity Chairman.

Try This Shopping Method

By KAYE POPE

Received my copy of the Texas Clubwoman yesterday and while browsing through it I came upon an article that made quite an impression on me. Thought I would pass it along to the ladies of Snyder who are not fortunate enough to receive the magazine.

It contains some food for thought and presented by Mrs. R. W. Herren, president of the Mesquite District of which Snyder is a member. Many of the local Snyder clubwomen know Mrs. Herren of Haskell, as she has visited Snyder at various times.

The article is as follows:

"I Must Go Shopping"

One of these days I must go shopping! I am completely out of self respect. I want to exchange some self-righteousness I picked up the other day for some humility, which they say is less expensive and wears better. I want to look at some tolerance, which is being used for wraps this season. Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace—we are a little low on that—and one can never have too much of it.

And, by the way, I must try to match some patience that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming on her, and I think it might look good on me. I might try on that little garment of long suffering they are displaying. I never thought I wanted to wear it, but I feel myself coming to it. Also, I must not forget to have my sense of appreciation mended, and look around for some inexpensive, every-day goodness. It is surprising how quickly one's stock of goodness is depleted.—Selected.

WOMEN

Sisterly Love

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Disagreements between sisters are just part of growing up, explains lyric soprano Carla Alberghetti, 23, younger sister of Anna Maria.

The two girls who feuded as teen-agers may shortly go on a double honeymoon.

CARLA ALBERGHETTI

"Anna and I are devoted to each other now, but when we were younger, we used to fight all the time, over dresses, makeup, silly little things," laughs Carla.

Carla is three years younger than Anna, a lot of difference in the early teen years. But once you get past that period, Carla says, you are on the same level.

"Anna and I have been very close these last five years. She's been wonderful. It would be hard to find a better sister."

Never Any Jealousy

Sisters find each other, especially when in trouble Carla says.

"When I am ill Anna comes running, and when she does not look well, I hound her to rest," says Carla.

She thinks that they could be at great odds because their theatrical careers coincide. Instead, there is never any jealousy and Anna has done everything she can to help her. They share honors. Carla has taken over Anna's lead in the Broadway show, "Carnival," while Anna has gone to the company that Carla had left.

"Anna wanted to play Chicago and the West Coast and I wanted to play New York."

A dainty size 6, Carla was wearing a light blue wool coat by Balenciaga, a recent gift from Anna. The pillbox hat made to match the coat is exactly like those that Anna almost always wears, but is "the first hat I've ever owned," says Carla who is thrilled with her gift.

The two girls have the same enormous brown eyes, black hair, fair shin and winning demureness. Neither wears lipstick.

The two came here from Italy with their family in 1952, although Anna had been here briefly two years before for a Carnegie Hall concert. The family toured the country: Mother Alberghetti played piano, father and brother conducted, the girls sang. After that Carla worked at summer stock for three years, played in road companies of "West Side Story," "Cinderella," "Student Prince."

Worked Together

If sisters do not get along in later years, it is because they have gone in different directions, like strangers, Carla says, "but it should be avoided. People need their families."

Carla and Anna got to know each other even better when they worked and lived together in Florida, but they both live with their mother and brother in Hollywood when they are not working. Their brother attends University of Southern California.

"Young people should get away from their family occasionally though," she admits, "so that we can learn self-reliance. Mothers are so good to us, we get lazy, depending on them to cook and do our laundry. Then when we get married, these things are chores."

May Do Movie

Carla wouldn't let her career interfere with marriage to California attorney Paul Polena, and the plan is evolving that she and Anna may do a movie in Chile while on their honeymoons.

"Anna's fiance, Claudio Guzman has bought a very dramatic Spanish story, "The Steps," and talk is that he'll film it in Chile with Anna in the lead, and I may play the part of the mute girl."

Historical Novel Set In Florida

I TAKE THIS LAND. By Richard Powell.

Philadelphia-born writer Powell has a Philadelphia-born empire builder as the central figure in this lusty novel set in Southwest Florida—a book which, among other things, points up the fact that this area was one of the last frontiers of the United States.

Primarily it's a book about people—land promoter and railroad builder Ward Campion (he's the Philadelphian); star-crossed farmer Joel Emmet; swamp-wise hunter Rush Lightburn and beautiful, savage Julie Lightburn, for instance. But as much attention focuses on the land itself as on those who attempt to possess and conquer it.

Some of Powell's best writing describes the mysterious, rich, beautiful, deadly place known as the Everglades, whose swamps sometimes seem possessed of animal cunning as they resist man's attempts to civilize them with railroads, highways, farms and homes.

Particularly vivid are his descriptions of the freeze of 1895 and the hurricane of 1926, each a devastating point in Florida history.

Some of Powell's characters seem stereotyped—the unreconstructed Southern cattleman and the plain, lonely daughter who nurses Campion back to health after a steer gores him are good examples of this—but the action during the 50-year span covered by the novel is believable and sustained, and the final product is a better-than-average historical novel about an era and an area often neglected.

Tuna Spread

8 ounces cream cheese
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons minced parsley
¼ cup minced onion
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
3 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna (drained)

Beat together (with an electric mixer) the cream cheese, chili sauce, parsley, onion, Worcestershire and tobasco. Beat in tuna until blended. Chill thoroughly. Makes 1 quart.

Ever serve corn pudding with crisp bacon for lunch: Good with corn muffins — made from a mix or from scratch.

World Communist Leaders Alarmed

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

BERLIN (AP)—The world Communist movement is in trouble and its leaders are alarmed. The current congress of Communist leaders in East Berlin can only widen the rift between Peking and Moscow.

The alarm showed through Premier Khrushchev's major speech Wednesday. His bombast, his brandishing of nuclear might, his boasts of coming Soviet superiority, all seemed just to be window dressing.

What frightens the Communists? It is the prospect of polarization of authority — two Communist seats of power instead of one, with the world movement ripped apart.

Even Fidel Castro, the newest addition to the ranks of Red leaders, seems to be leaning in the direction of the Chinese deviation these days. He could influence many a Latin-American Communist to do likewise.

Castro, annoyed since Khrushchev suddenly yanked away his hope for nuclear weapons in October, chose the day of Khrushchev's big speech to denounce the Communist division and issue a fiery call to revolution all over Latin America. His attitude had a Chinese sound.

Castro likely is not alone in his impatience. Khrushchev's cautious policy, while it may be good for the Soviet Union, leaves many a Communist party out on a limb, looking forward to long years of serving Soviet interests without concrete rewards. The more reckless, belligerent Chinese policy likely would suit many in the world movement much better.

But Premier Khrushchev told the Chinese Communists Wednesday that if they will not listen to his logic, they will have to go their own way. From the looks on the faces of the Red Chinese delegation, Peking might consider doing just that.

Khrushchev rejected Peking's idea of a meeting of world Red leaders on Chinese terms. If the Chinese want to talk about ending the dispute, says Khrushchev, they first must stop the name-calling in public. It has been going on for a long time now and is rising in violence.

Khrushchev accused the Chinese of wanting to spread communism by war, without regard for the widespread destruction that course might bring. There are other ways, says the Soviet leader, and there should not be resort to arms even in a revolutionary movement if the seizure of power can be achieved less riskily.

The Chinese don't agree that both sides will suffer catastrophe in nuclear war. There are three quarters of a billion Chinese; Mao Tze-tung contends plenty of [illegible] States and the U.S.S.R. toss bombs back and forth.

Khrushchev was both pleading and threatening.

The Soviet leader does not want to see world communism weakened by an irreparable schism. If it is possible, he undoubtedly would like to see the argument patched up. But perhaps the Red Chinese want too much.

One of the things Mao seems to want is Khrushchev's head. The Chinese leader appears to have made up his mind that it is impossible for him to live with Khrushchev, that the rift will continue until an aggressive-minded Communist takes the Soviet reins.

Mao has been annoyed with Khrushchev's regime for some years. There has been irritation in Peking at the niggardliness of Soviet economic help for Red China and Soviet reluctance to sponsor Peking's membership in the nuclear club, to say nothing of Soviet aid to India and other governments the Chinese consider "reactionary."

This is primarily a rift between Khrushchev and Mao. It does not necessarily mean the Soviet-Chinese split is permanent. But while it remains so obvious, it damages the whole Communist movement. And Khrushchev seems to be at a loss to determine just what to do about it.

Research Day Set By Heart Council Here

A public luncheon will highlight the lay activities of the Scurry County Heart Coucil's second annual "Heart Research Day" on Thursday, January 31. This announcement was made today by Bill Newsom, president of the local heart unit, who noted that Dr. Paul Ellis of Dallas will be guest speaker at the luncheon and at the other events planned for the day.

Dr. Ellis, in addition to his many other professional activities, is engaged in heart research under a grant from the Texas Heart Association.

Newsom stated that the public luncheon will be held in the Wesley Hall of First Methodist Church in Snyder. Charge for the meal will be one dollar and fifty cents, payable at the door. Persons planning to attend are urged to make reservations by calling HI-3-3660.

It was noted that the public luncheon on last year's "Heart research Day" was attended by over 100 Snyder and Scurry County citizens. Members of the Scurry County Heart Council said that they were pleased to bring a man of Dr. Ellis' qualifications before the public of this area, and they are urging all interested parties to take advantage of this opportunity to hear him.

Other events planned for the day call for Dr. Ellis to speak to an assembly of students and faculty at Snyder High School, with students from Ira, Hermleigh, and Fluvanna invited to attend, and at a dinner meeting of area physicians being co-sponsored by the medical staff of Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Beaten Child Hospitalized

FORT WORTH (AP) — A 23-month-old girl, her head and body broken and bruised from apparent repeated beatings, was in critical condition today.

Police jailed an aunt and uncle in whose care the blonde child had been entrusted.

The baby had sustained a head injury, fractured ribs, a dislocated shoulder and bruises over her entire body.

Officers said the uncle, 21, admitted whipping the child with a belt and "punching her in the chest" with his fingertips while trying to toilet train the girl.

A hospital spokesman said some of the bruises were not fresh.

"She has bruises all over her little body — the old ones as well as new ones," the attendant said.

The screaming infant was taken to the hospital shortly after 10 p.m., accompanied by the aunt and uncle.

It took the Congress three weeks and 63 ballots to elect a speaker in 1849. After a bitter fight, Howell Cobb of Georgia was chosen by a plurality instead of a majority, as is usually the case.

17 Refiners Form Group

TULSA (AP)—Larger independent oil refiners of this area are forming a new organization, to be known as the Mid-continent Independent Refiners Association, the Tulsa World said today.

The World said the group of 17 would be formally organized at a meeting Jan. 29 in Kansas City, where headquarters will be.

The World said most of the initial members would come from the old Western Petroleum Refiners Association of Tulsa.

Members of the new group include: Apco Oil, Kerr-McGee, Bell Oil, Cosden, Shamrock, Champlin, Clark Oil, Delhi-Taylor, Vickers, Derby Refining, Northwestern Refining, Texas City Refining, Triangle Refiners, American Petrfina and some cooperatives.

16-Pound Child Born In Australia

PERTH, Australia (AP) — A 16-pound, 2-ounce son was born Wednesday to Polish-born Jadwyga Sochacki, 36, of Perth. The mother said the baby was five weeks premature.

Mrs. Sochacki said four of her five other children weighed between 11 and 14 pounds at birth.

The mother is 5 feet 4½ inches tall and weighs 266 pounds. The father, Peter Sochacki, is 6 feet and weighs 168.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I suppose I should be the happiest boy in the world today but I am not. Here is what happened: I started taking violin lessons at school from a teacher who is hired by the school to teach whole classes. I used a violin owned by the school because my father hasn't been able to work much lately and we couldn't afford to buy one. Well, this morning the violin teacher GAVE me a wonderful violin. He said the father of a student who refused to practice called him and told him to give the violin to anyone who would use and appreciate it. He chose me. I love the violin but I know whose it was, and I feel terrible taking it. What should I do?

FEELS BAD

DEAR FEELS: Don't feel bad. If the boy who first owned the violin valued it, his father would not have given it away. Master the second-hand fiddle and one day you might make concert master.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Is it wrong to send a single girl (age 19) a wedding invitation and write on the bottom of it, "Bring Mac"? (Mac is her boy friend.) My future mother-in-law said it was wrong and I should have sent Mac a separate invitation. What is your opinion?

GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: To be proper, one should send a separate invitation to each unmarried guest. Hand - written notes on formal wedding invitations are out of place. Thses include, "No gifts, please," "No children under 12," and "Bring Mac."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Our son has been in the Army for a year. At first he saved almost all his pay. He'd bank it where he was stationed and send home his bank book to prove it. Lately he hasn't been sending home his bank book. We are afraid he is spending his money on his buddies to become popular and in no time he will be bled dry. He is very immature and has no sense of responsibility. Can we get the government to send us his pay so we can save it for him? We will, in turn, send him an allowance to live on. He doesn't need much as the Army is housing and feeding him.

DEAR PARENTS: In only very rare and exceptional cases will Uncle Sam step in and protect the loot from a man who's protecting his country. Impress upon your son the importance of saving, and pray he does.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. D.: A spoiled child never loves its mother. You had better get some professional counseling before it is too late.

SWEETWATER AND LAMESA SQUARING OFF, TOO

Bengals Uncork 3-AAA Campaign Against Lake View Chiefs Friday

District 3-AAA play opens with a bang Friday night when all six league members proceed to sink their teeth into each other in hopes of launching their respective 1963 slates on fashionable winning notes.

Games making up the initial night of family feuding include Snyder at San Angelo Lake View, Sweetwater at Lamesa, and Colorado City at Brownfield.

Sweetwater is cast in the unfamiliar role of defending champion of the loop, having copped the title last year after a decade's drouth. Lamesa, on the other hand, regards the winning of cage championships as "old potatoes" and finds itself in the all-too-familiar role of favorite to whisk away the goodies once again.

To date, Lamesa sports the gaudiest non-loop record of the bunch at 15-4, while Sweetwater is limping along at 5-11. In all fairness, however, it should be noted that the bulk of the Pony losses have been sustained at the hands of strong 4A delegations. The same holds true for each of Lamesa's four defeats.

When Snyder takes on the Lake View Chiefs, the Tigers will be facing up to the only 3-AAA team outside of Lamesa which can boast a winning non-district record. The Tribe is cruising along at a 10-6 clip, while the Bengals — victimized in their five most recent outings — carry a 5-9 mark into the fray.

Snyder cage fans are in hopes that the Tiger - Chief series of last year may repeat itself. The local five had little trouble disposing of the Lake Viewers then by tabs of 82-67 and 79-47 en route to a third-place district finish behind Sweetwater and Lamesa.

Tipoff time for the varsity encounter is 8 o'clock. Snyder B (8-6) tangles with Lake View B at 6:15 to set the stage.

Stuart Long, a senior guard, ranks as the leading point producer for the Tiger varsity five. He has picked up 196 points for the year for an average of 14 per game.

Rounding out the top five scoring list are senior William Robinson with 135, sophomore Leslie Brown with 86, junior Jimmy Wilson with 70, and sophomore Drew Bullard with 51.

Topping the scoring efforts for Snyder B are Leslie Anderson with 163, Jerry Vestal with 141, Phillip Floyd with 80, Reed Robinson with 71, and Tom Kincaid with 63.

Leading Lake View's varsity scorers are Jessie Blann, Roy Probst, and Pat Stewart. Each may boast of an average in the vicinity of 10 points per outing.

Snyder returns home Tuesday to test Lamesa, a team that copped a 49-48 decision in an earlier meeting last month at Lubbock. The occasion at that time was the consolation semi-finals of the Caprock Holiday Tournament, where the Tornadoes went on to drub Vernon for the consolation title.

Scurry Glovers Mix It Up Tonight In Odessa Tourney

Six of Snyder's 11 Scurry County Boys' Club boxing entrants are scheduled to enter the ring tonight in Odessa as the 17th annual Golden Gloves Tournament swings into action there. Site for the meet is the Ector County Coliseum, and the action will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Local glovers included on the list, along with their scheduled appearance on the program, are as follows:

Eloy Benitez (75) vs. Raymond Modisett (73), Crane, junior (pee wee), 5th bout.

Freddy Benitez (99) vs. Rosendo Olguin (97), Monahans, junior, 8th bout.

Vince Gaona (136) vs. Joe Romero (131), Guadalupe Community Center of Midland, novice, 11th bout.

Rudy Benitez (100) vs. Junior Jordan (105), Odessa Boys' Club, junior, 15th bout.

Ruben Gonzales (148) vs. Jerry Swaney (145), Monahans, open, 19th bout.

John Gonzales (173) vs. Lester Scott (174), Monahans, open, 21st bout.

The Benitez - Jordan match is the first scheduled duel following intermission, with the scheduled time on it being 9 p.m. It will be televised over KOSA-TV (Channel 7), with the televised portion of the program running from 9-10 p.m.

Other Snyder boxers not listed on the first - night program include Abe Gonzales (161), open; Martin Benitez (119), open; Robert Garcia (113), novice; Andres Trevino (127), novice; and Louis Molina (148), novice.

A record entry list of 131 fighters has been lined up for the Odessa Tournament. Among them are 27 open entrants, 26 high schoolers, 25 novices and 53 juniors. Regional champs in the open division will advance to the state tournament slated for next month in Fort Worth.

Battle Lines Are Softened

DENVER (AP)—An Air Force Academy spokesman says a Sept. 8 pre-season game at Falcon Stadium between the Detroit Lions and the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League will be re-scheduled, if possible.

Announcement of the scheduling of the game Tuesday brought angry words from Calvin Kunz, president of the rival American Football League's Denver Broncos. The Broncos have their season opener slated for the same day at Denver, about 60 miles north of the Academy.

Brig. Gen. William T. Seawell, who spoke for Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, Academy superintendent, said every effort would be made to re-schedule the NFL exhibition.

Seawell, commandant of Cadets, said: "Our position is that the Command Welfare Fund will sponsor the game if it doesn't conflict with other events in the area."

He said the Academy has no intention of starting a feud with the Broncos. This apparently was in answer to Kunz, who said Tuesday, "If they want a football war we'll give it to 'em."

Seawell said he's spoken by telephone with Kunz and added, "I can see that this might have been avoided if we had contacted you personally. It is just good business to have as little competition as possible in sporting events."

But Kunz was not happy with a suggestion of Seawell's that the game might be re-scheduled to a Saturday.

"What concerns us," he said, "is to bring direct competition to us from the other league. That's like Florida welcoming orange shipments from California."

Edwin J. Anderson, Lions general manager, said he would be agreeable about re-scheduling the game for Sept. 7. But Anderson said the AFL schedule hasn't been set and "it's up to them (the AFL) to prove" that an AFL game is already scheduled Sept. 8.

Opening Play In Ninth Grade Meet Set Friday

Snyder Lamar and Colorado City tie into each other Friday afternoon at 3:30 to touch off play in the third annual Snyder Ninth Grade Basketball Tournament scheduled to be reeled off in Lamar Gym.

Following on the heels of that contest — at 5 p.m. — Snyder Travis and Stamford get together for a duel that will complete first-round play in the upper bracket.

Last year saw Travis nailing down the title by bumping off Lamar 62-46 in an all- Snyder final. Such a situation cannot be repeated this year, however, since the two teams are both housed in the selfsame bracket of play.

Lamar, on the eve of the tourney, carries a 5-5 record, while Travis stands 2-8.

Play will be for all eight tournament slots, so that each competing team will be assured three games. Team trophies will go to first place, second place, third place and consolation winners.

Ten players will also be chosen to the all-tournament team and receive individual awards.

Completing Friday's first-round action will be Sweetwater vs. Big Spring Goliad at 6:30 and Post vs. Big Spring Runnels at 8 o'clock.

The Runnels Yearlings look like the team to beat. They rank as a tall outfit that has raced to a 9-1 record for the year, and count among their victims Travis and Lamar on two occasions each.

Second - round play of Saturday includes the Lamar - Colorado City loser vs. the Travis - Stamford loser at 8:30 a.m.; Sweetwater - Goliad loser vs. Post - Runnels loser at 10 a.m.; Lamar - Colorado City winner vs. Travis - Stamford winner at 11:30 a.m.; and Sweetwater - Goliad winner vs. Post - Runnels winner at 1 p.m.

The seventh and third place contests will take place at 3 p.m. and 6 p.m., respectively, while the consolation final is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. and the championship final for 7:30 p.m. to complete Saturday's tournament picture.

Collier Given Cleveland Job

CLEVELAND (AP) — Blanton Collier, new head coach of the Cleveland Browns, says the club has some weaknesses, but that he hasn't had time to give much thought to personnel.

"We need big interior linemen, a big running back and good receivers," he said Wednesday after he was named to succeed Paul Brown, who had coached the team since it was organized in 1946. "It remains to be seen if we have enough on hand or if we have to do some trading."

Collier's appointment was announced at a news conference by Arthur B. Modell, Browns' president, who bought the National Football League club for $4 million in 1961.

Modell also announced that Harold Sauerbrei, a former Cleveland sportswriter, would succeed Brown as general manager. Sauerbrei, who has been with the Browns since 1954, has been serving as business manager of the club.

Collier announced that basically he plans to have the quarterback call the plays, a major change from the Brown regime. Brown's practice of sending in all the plays from the bench had been criticized by the fans and some of the Browns' quarterbacks.

Collier, 56, was promoted from backfield coach under a three-year contract at an unannounced salary.

Cager Dies During Game

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Thomas Luppe, a lanky 6-foot-5 center of the University of Dayton freshman team, signaled for a time out with 1½ minutes to play in the game with Wright-Patterson Air Force Base at the University Fieldhouse Wednesday night.

The 19-year-old Pittsburgher turned toward the bench, staggered and collapsed to the floor. He was dying.

Three doctors worked over Luppe for 25 minutes, on the basketball floor, as some 5,000 hushed spectators watched.

Finally Luppe was taken to Miami Valley Hospital. He was dead on arrival.

An autopsy by the Montgomery County Coroner's office disclosed that Luppe died of natural causes. The report said he had an enlarged heart caused by a rheumatic fever siege when he was 7, and that his heart simply failed.

The boy underwent heart surgery in Cleveland's Mt. Sinai Hospital in 1954. Afterward, doctors let him participate in sports. He played four years of high school basketball and two of baseball without ill effects. He was outstanding in basketball and was counted on as a future Dayton Flyer regular.

COOK AND 'HELPERS'—Mrs. J. Mark McLaughlin gets assistance from Laure and Brian as she mixes one of her favorite bread recipes.

CREATIVE COOKS

Mrs. McLaughlin Shares Recipes

BY LUCY DYSART

One of Snyder's most attractive creative cooks lives at 2508 Thirty-fifth Street.

Amy (Mrs. J. Mark) McLaughlin says she can't claim all the credit for the two recipes presented today, because she has two industrious and dedicated "finger-dabbling" helpers, better known as Laure and Brian. Even with, or, better still in spite of such earnest assistance, Amy maintains a steady control over the delicious and appetizing menus served in her home.

In introducing a new series of local recipes, Amy seemed an excellent person to call upon to share some of her special favorites.

She felt that these two bread recipes had been requested perhaps more frequently than the fancier, gourmet choices. She makes bread often and has added to and subtracted from these recipes until she feels the end result is to her liking, although she did reflect that everyone has her own way of making bread. We felt all would welcome these "new" recipes to their kitchens:

SWEDISH MOLASSES BREAD

Mix and scald:
3 cups milk
½ cup shortening
Let it cool.

Dissolve yeast cake in 1-3 cup warm water.

Beat egg in bowl. Add cooled milk mixture, yeast, ½ cup black molasses, 2-3 cup white sugar, tsp. salt. Work in about 10 cups of flour. Let rise until double in size.

Turn out on floured board and knead. Shape into three loaves. Place in greased bread pans and let rise until double in size. Bake at 350 degrees for about 30-45 minutes. Turn out on racks when done and let cool.

(I always roll my dough into a rectangular shape and roll it like a jelly roll, tapping the ends and placing them under the roll. This makes for a prettier loaf. I also melt butter over the crust as soon as it is done. Then, too, I find that if I slice the bread from the bottom to the top it makes a prettier slice.)

CONTINENTAL ROLLS

(This is a recipe Mark found and is one of his favorites.)

2 cups very warm water
1 package yeast cake
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons salt
6 cups sifted flour (about)
1 egg white, unbeaten

Measure very warm water into bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Add sugar, salt, and 3 cups flour. Stir in mix, then beat until smooth. Stir in 3 cups more flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 min.

Place in greased bowl; brush top with soft shortening. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured board. Divide dough in half. Form each half into a roll about 10 inches long. Cover and let rest 5 minutes.

Cut into 10 equal pieces. Form into smooth balls. Place on a lightly greased baking sheet about 3 inches apart. With scissors, make a cross ½ inch deep in the top of each roll by making two snips at right angles to each other. Cover and let rise until doubled. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from oven. Brush rolls with egg white and return to oven for 2 minutes. Remove from baking sheet. Serve either hot or cold.

United States firms are wooed to build in Puerto Rico with 10 to 13-year tax exemptions, help in finding sites and erecting buildings and data on labor supply, power sources, housing and recreation.

Losses From Weather In Mexico Mount

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Crop and cattle losses mounted today as a lingering cold wave ranged across the top part of the country along the U. S. border.

Officials said the loss has already run into millions of dollars and reports were still incomplete.

The Weather Bureau said only slight relief was in sight.

Sonora state, in the northwest corner along the Arizona border, appears hardest hit.

Reports from the state's capital at Hermosillo set crop losses at almost $1 million on a single 5,000 acre tract near Hermosillo, where tomatoes and watermelons are principal crops.

The Sonora Cattlemen's Union reported 50,000 head of cattle valued at $4 million had died. This figure apparently included previous losses from drought.

Across the country from Sonora, in Northeastern Tamaulipas state, crop damage was also heavy.

Jorge Ortiz Mancilla, a spokesman for the regional agricultural defense unit, said the freeze had caused at least $80,000 in crop damage.

He said the affected area stretched from Tampico on the Gulf of Mexico to a point about 100 miles inland.

Few Mexican homes are equipped with heating to withstand freezes.

In Mexico City and most of the rest of the country other than the northern states, temperatures were well above freezing Wednesday.

Hesitant Leadership Major Problem

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hesitant leadership by South Vietnamese field officers and lack of aggressiveness by South Vietnamese GIs may prolong the war to crush Communist guerrillas threatening that country's independence.

This assessment emerges from talks with U.S. military officials involved in the [illegible] American effort to help the pro-Western government in Saigon.

In the past year, the United States has fed money, military advisers and modern equipment into South Viet Nam and has made significant progress in improving the firepower, mobility, communications and planning of its armed forces.

U.S. experts have been trying to shape strong South Vietnamese military leadership from the top command to the squad level.

Results so far have been disappointing, particularly at the field echelon.

There is a feeling among some U.S. military authorities, who declined to be identified, that poor leadership could be the Achilles heel of the South Vietnamese effort to wipe out the persistent and resourceful Communist Viet Cong.

The top U.S. commander in South Viet Nam, Gen. Paul D. Harkins, took note of criticism voiced by unidentified American military advisers and issued a statement in Saigon.

"I believe that anyone who criticizes the fighting qualities of the armed forces of the republic of Viet Nam is doing a disservice to the thousands of gallant and courageous men who are fighting in the defense of their country," Harkins said.

Harkins said about 10,000 South Vietnamese soldiers have been killed in action in the past year and that almost 30,000 dead Viet Cong insurgents "attest to their courage."

U.S. advisers can only go so far—they are barred from issuing any commands in battle. There is little likelihood that this will change.

South Viet Nam's President Ngo Dinh Diem insists on holding a tight rein on his military forces. Even if he should consent to allowing U.S. officers command authority, there is the strong possibility the Communists would seize on this to picture South Viet Nam as a complete puppet of the United States.

Some of the difficulties of inculcating leadership in the South Vietnamese stem from the past when the French dominated the country and natives never were allowed to rise above junior officer grade.

The best—and best educated—South Vietnamese officers are in the many headquarters which are overstrength, by U.S. standards.

The battalions and rifle companies—where the fighting is done—are staffed with the less educated officers, mostly of peasant stock. These combat units are understrength in officers.

The result, as U.S. officials see it, is indecisiveness and timidity by small unit commanders in battle.

Because of these shortcomings, top commanders have been drafting detailed operational plans and insisting on rigid adherence. This denies the small unit leader any real initiative—even if he cares to exercise it.

There is another factor which may discourage Vietnamese field officers from sticking their necks out. U.S. authorities report that President Diem, who is his own war minister in practice, has been known to relieve commanders summarily after their units suffered casualties.

In contrast to the South Vietnamese officer corps, U.S. authorities say the Communist Viet Cong have dedicated leaders who are free to exercise considerable initiative.

The regular South Vietnamese soldier is considered tough and capable of great endurance.

However, American experts feel they lack motivation and that there are very real reasons why they may avoid taking chances in battle.

A soldier permanently disabled in action may have to support his family on as little as $9 a month in pension.

Vietnamese soldiers are paid less than some menial workers in Saigon and there is virtually nothing in the way of family help, dependent housing and survivor benefits. Leaves are few.

The Viet Cong are aware of this and try to subvert the regulars. They have enjoyed some success.

U.S. officials realize it is unrealistic to try to achieve Western standards in the South Vietnamese army, but they have tried to prod the Diem government into taking greater measures to ease the lot of its soldiers and their families.

So far improvements have been slight.

Biggest Beef Boosters Are Joined

FORT WORTH (AP)—The National Livestock and Meat Board and the National Beef Council, two of the nation's biggest beef boosters, merged Wednesday.

The move, described by some as resolving difference within the beef cattle industry, came at the initial session of the board's semiannual meeting. The vote was unanimous.

Board chairman James Nance of Alamo, Tenn., said: "The merger establishes unity of purpose and opens the way for expanded beef promotion activities."

The National Livestock and Meat Board, the surviving organization, will also promote pork and lamb production, Nance said.

With the merger, the board's beef committee was renamed the Beef Industry Council and was enlarged to include eight new members named by the council. It previously had 15 members.

Chairman of the new group is John Armstrong of Kingsville, Tex.

Under the agreement, liabilities and assets, including feed calf contracts of the National Beef Council, have been assumed by the new Beef Industry Council.

A lawsuit filed against the meat board last May by the National Beef Council and an affiliate, the Midwest Regional Beef Council, has been dismissed.

New members seated at a meeting of the Beef Industry Council are: Donald Bartlett, Como, Miss.; Mrs. B. A. Burghart, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Don Leith, Pleasantville, Ohio; N. H. Dekle, Plaquemine, La.; Clyde Matthews, Scottsdale, Ariz. Elmer Anderson, Larrabee, Iowa; Walter Crago, Belle Fourche, S.D. and Joe Milton, McLeod, N.D.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO BIDDER OF SCURRY COUNTY'S INTENTION TO RECEIVE BID PROPOSALS TO PURCHASE FOUR AUTOMOBILES WITH TRADE-IN

Plan To Overhaul Lawmaking Procedures Is Long Overdue

BY INEZ ROBB

If a galloping poll were taken on the way Congress does its work, it's a foregone conclusion most citizens would say that:

(1) Congress meets in January and dawdles until June 15, lint-picking and politicking the months away.

(2) On June 16, Congress throws itself into a frantic, inefficient scramble to pass certain "must" legislation that has been nudging it since January.

(3) On July 15 Congressional leaders pleadingly predict that a final rush of work could lead to adjournment by Labor Day.

(5) A week after Labor Day Congressional leaders regretfully say that Congress will adjourn on Oct. 1 without finding time to consider major legislation early in the session.

The average citizen, in the meantime, can be pardoned for deciding that this is a preposterous way to run a railroad. However, at long last some of the passengers on the train have come to the same conclusion. Or that would seem to be the right inference since some United States Senators believe that the nation's legislative machinery needs overhauling.

Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) and Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), a brace of highly respected solons, have announced that they will introduce a bipartisan measure to recommend means to improve legislative procedures. The Case-Clark plan would call for a bipartisan commission of 12 persons, six of whom would be members of Congress and six members chosen from the public.

This mixed dozen would be charged with making a study of methods that would lead to (1) simplification and (2) acceleration of the present Congressional modus operandi. It would, in effect, be a little Hoover Commission asked to streamline the legislative train and get it back on the fast right-of-way.

That Congress is aware of its own shortcomings and its inherited inefficiencies is underscored by the fact that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, deputy Democratic leader, was making a similar suggestion at the very moment Senators Clark and Case were announcing their bipartisan plan.

Senator Humphrey's suggestion calls for the appointment of a Senate - House committee to modify Congressional practices so that members can spend "their time more effectively handling the increased demands on Congress." Obviously, the Case - Clark measure has the same goal.

However, it is one woman's opinion that the little Hoover Commission suggested by Senators Clark and Case would be more practical in the long run, work more effectively and achieve greater results. Congress needs some hard-headed members of the public, spiced with an efficiency expert or so, to untangle the procedures that now threaten to choke it. And a time-and-motion expert wouldn't be amiss, either.

It is easy to make fun of Congress and its maddening — to many businessmen — way of doing its work. But much of its inefficiency is hallowed by tradition that only a tough-minded outsider will dare attack.

It will take an outlander to slice ruthlessly through the lush jungle of time-hallowed Congressional practices that may have been all right in the 19th Century but are ridiculous in a world rapidly hurtling into the twenty-first.

Such a committee must consider and be sympathetic with the "increased demands on Congress" mentioned by Senator Humphrey. Once upon a time a Congressman may have represented his district, but today he is at the mercy of every voter, whether he seeks a personally guided tour of the Capitol or a missile plant for his community.

The public itself could work a miracle in Congressional reform and speed up legislative work if it would stop pestering Congressmen for personal favors. In the meantime, only an optimist would hope that Congress could reform, speed and streamline its operation within the next year or so. But at least some of the boys seem to be trying to head the train in the right direction.

Young Man Faced With Big Problem

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YOR K(AP)—The young man was in a quandary.

"I am tired of being a bachelor and want to settle down," he told me. "But I'm in love with two girls.

"They have the same physical measurements, uh, 37-23-35, I think. Both have the same amount of money—none. Each has a steady job that holds promise of advancement.

"But one is beautiful. Everyone comes up and wants to meet her when I take her out. She is wonderful to look at.

"The other one is homely. Nobody bothers us when I'm with her. But she is so much fun to listen to!

"Tell me, which one should I marry?"

Well, the next morning I put the question to five married male philosophers gathered around the offie water cooler. The vote might surprise the average woman. It came out four-to-one in favor of recommending that the young man wed the homely girl.

"A beautiful dame is always holding the mirror up to herself," said the first. "A husband to her is only landscaping. He just serves as backdrop while she holds the center of the stage."

Said the second man: "It boils down to a matter of expense. Give me a homely girl every time. You'd think it would cost more to keep up a homely girl, because she needs so much improvement. Actually, it works the other way. It's the beautiful women who are never satisfied with how they look. They'll keep any man broke spending his money so they'll look even better—not to him but to other women."

"A homely woman is better because she doesn't mind giving a real belly laugh if something strikes her as funny, and a fellow likes a gal who can let go with a a real belly laugh and enjoy herself," said the third man.

"That's true," broke in the fourth man. "But that's only part of it. There are other arguments.

"If you marry a beautiful woman, you wind up jealous of her. But if you marry a homely woman, she always worries about where your eye is wandering.

"Also, a beautiful woman never gets more beautiful, but marriage makes a homely woman prettier every year."

Indignantly the fifth man broke in:

"I must disagree with every crass word you fellows have uttered. Why, I married the most beautiful girl in the world, and I'd like to say—"

"How long you been married, son?" interrupted the first man.

"Three months, sir."

Young Wrathers Are Living Apart

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jack Wrather III, son of the wealthy film executive, says he and his wife, actress Lana Wood, are living apart.

"But I want to stay married," said Wrather, 18. His wife is the sister of actress Natalie Wood. She is 16.

Lana's mother, Mrs. Nicholas Gurdin, said the pair "had a little spat," and that her daughter had been at her parents' home since Friday.

The elder Wrather owns the "Lassie" television show.

Plea Is Entered By Dennis Crosby

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Dennis Crosby, one of crooner Bing Crosby's four grown sons, pleaded innocent Wednesday to a drunken driving charge. His trial was set for March 4.

Crosby, 28, was arrested Dec. 27 when officers halted his sports car in West Hollywood. They said he failed to pass a sobriety test.

Junior Editors Quiz on AIR

Breathe out slowly on the back of your hand and your hand feels warm
A
B
Purse your lips and blow. Then your hand feels cool
WHY?

QUESTION: Why is air cool when you blow and warm when you open your mouth and breathe out?

* * *

ANSWER: One of the first things our bodies do with the air we breathe in is to warm it so it will fit our inside temperature. When Jane (A) opens her mouth wide and gently breathes out air on the back of her hand, it feels warm because her body has warmed it up. But Billy (B) is blowing air out and this means a lot more is coming out of his mouth than out of Jane's. Billy blows this large amount of air on the back of his hand. Our skin is covered with sweat glands whose purpose is to cool us off when necessary. This is done by perspiration forming on the skin. The air "evaporates" this perspiration, meaning, turns it into a vapor. It takes heat to make this change. Billy has blown so much air on his hand that it is evaporating the perspiration on it. The heat needed to do the evaporating is coming from Billy's hand, and that's why it feels cooler.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Go outside and wet your forefinger then hold it above your head. If there is the slightest breeze blowing, your finger will feel cool on the side facing the wind. The wind is working much the way Billy's breath does in the picture.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — Mexicans and Americans have a great deal in common and one of the most outstanding features is in not knowing what to do until the doctor arrives, despite an abundance of advice available to the public.

Books written by doctors on the subject also have proven useless and on both sides of the border we find ourselves hopelessly lost in clouds of doubt.

(It may sound foolish to say you FIND yourself hopelessly LOST but it does happen. Don't ask me how.)

Suppose we take a hypothetical case in which your wife suffers a severe attack of bursitis. The doctor is called and immediately you experience flutters of panic. Receiving a man of science in your own home is no small matter.

Possibly he wears thick, horn-rimmed glasses which intensify his professional stare. Your terror mounts as you contemplate the face - to - face meeting. (If he wears a goatee and speaks in clipped, medical terms, there is no telling what might happen.)

At any rate, one thing is certain: The doctor is going to order your wife to bed for a couple of days of rest. This means that cooking, dishwashing and tending the children will be done by YOU while she lies there shouting orders. And never doubt that she will take full advantage of such an opportunity.

To offset this ugly prospect, strong counter-measures must be initiated at once.

A suggested course of action is to complain of an unbearable pain somewhere between the shoulder blades and the spleen (the most difficult to locate), then topple over. A credible Shakespearean touch of groping for support is generally effective.

This has two advantages: (1) She may fear that whatever she has is contageous and you caught it and (2) even the most calloused wife will develop a certain feeling of guilt about being ill while you made an effort to face the situation until you fell insensible to the floor. Maybe she will even get out of bed and pick you up.

At this point, you must concentrate on turning pale. An aura of suspicion often surrounds a faintee who suffers no loss of color. One of the best known Yoga exercices for tuning pale is to visualize a suitcase filled with flour.

The procedure is to stiffen yourself and think, "I am turning as as this flour." A dozen repetitions of the exercise will get fine results. (In case you want only your face to turn pale, concentrate on a smaller amount — a cup of flour, for example.)

Your wife will rush to the living room and telephone the doctor. This provides an opportunity to slip the reading lamp in your mouth and turn it on for a few minutes. Your temperature should go up to around 110 degrees. High temperature and a white, white face invariably confuse doctors. (Also, he will assume YOUR condition is more critical than hers since she could get up to telephone.)

By this time, your wife (if she is any wife at all) has realized that she cannot afford to be sick when you lie on the brink of doom. She decides to take an aspirin and drop the matter.

One thought may cross your mind as you await the doctor with his insidious little black bag. Suppose he isn't a standard family-type doctor content to leave a few pills and observe your condition for a few days? If he is a surgeon, he probably will want to operate at once.

It is a good idea to keep up health insurance payments for just such an emergency. You can't back out of an operation at this point without giving yourself away.

Accept Bible, Graham Urges

DALLAS (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham said Wednesday that "It's back to the Bible or it's back to the jungle" for the world.

More than 17,000 people heard him speak to a Baptist evangelism conference.

Urging acceptance of the Bible as the literal word of God, Dr. Graham said:

"If the Bible says that Jonah swallowed the whale, let's accept it and believe it is scientifically possible.

"Let's get on with the job of proclaiming the Gospel and get off this fighting over stories in the Bible," he said in reference to recent controversy over "Message of Genesis," a book by Prof. Ralph Elliott of Midwestern seminary.

"You can debate until 2000 A.D. and not solve the problems in Genesis," he said. "We can only accept this book by faith."

Graham said there is a movement in America to take God out of the country.

"When the Bible goes down, anarchy will r e a r its head," he warned.

JUSTICE RULES FOR THE BUNNY—Gerrie Doherty, clad in her brief costume as a bunny at the new Playboy Club in New York, works at her post as door check. A state supreme court justice ruled in defense of the bunnies, freeing them to cavort as Playboy Club waitresses. Earlier the city license commissioner denied the club a cabaret license because of its scantily clad waitresses. (AP Wirephoto)

Payments Protested

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Millionaire shoe manufacturer Harry Karl says he's opposed to doubling support payments for his three children "because they don't know the value of a dollar."

His ex-wife, actress Marie McDonald, wants the payments raised from $750 to $1,500 a month.

Karl testified in Superiort Court Wednesday that their adopted 12-year-old daughter, Denise once bought $2,500 worth of clothes even though she wears uniforms at boarding school. He said their adopted son Harrison, 12, once signed for a $57 golfing fee.

Karl, now married to actress Debbie Reynolds, was twice married to Miss McDonald. Their last divorce was in 1956.

In addition to adopting two children, Miss McDonald bore Karl a daughter, Tina Marie, now 6.

'Nature' Hunter Winds Up In Jail

BAY CITY (AP) — A father who took his two children to bleak Matagorda Peninsula for 47 days "to get them close to nature" wound up in jail.

William Berry, 47, an unemployed salesman, his son Steven, 9, daughter Bonny, 14, and two cats were taken off the peninsula Wednesday after they were spotted by the pilot of a light plane.

Sheriff J. B. Cole said the boat used by Berry to reach the peninsula was reported stolen. Berry was jailed on a charge of theft. He said he left his car as security for the boat but didn't discuss this arrangement with the boat's owner.

The three had only a tarpaulin windbreak for shelter on Matagorda, where temperatures dropped to the low 20s on two occasions.

Cole said the three were "unbelievably dirty and ragged" but apparently in good health.

They were provided baths and food. As the children dined on hamburgers and milk shakes, they said the experience "was fun until it got cold."

The children were placed in private homes.

Their father, who said he was ready to leave the peninsula when a deputy sheriff showed up, called the experience "kind of bitter and kind of sweet."

Berry said they took along some canned goods and supplemented their diet with oysters and crabs. They kept warm by building a fire in a pit and lying on coals covered with sand.

Berry said he went to Houston seeking work last July and left for the peninsula Nov. 30 after he lost his job with an insurance company. His wife and five other children live in Portland, Maine, he said.

Welfare officials were trying to reach Mrs. Berry.

Woman Drives Car On Railroad Track

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — A woman motorist drove half a mile on a railroad track, then got stuck in a switch and delayed a 100-car freight train.

Mazie Wells of Burbank said she got on the tracks at a crossing Wednesday. A track supervisor saw her car bounce by at 25 miles an hour, followed by a freight train going in the same direction. He threw a switch that flagged down the train.

Police said the woman told them:

"I thought this was a road."

She was not cited.

Gary Merrill May Visit Children

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Gary Merrill has won the right to visit two of his adopted children—but over the bitter objections of his ex-wife, actress Bette Davis.

A Superior Court judge ruled that Merrill, 47, can have his adopted son, Michael, 10, on alternate weekends and some holidays.

The actor also can make reasonable visits to their daughter, Margot, 12, who is in a school in Pennsylvania.

But, the judge said, Merrill cannot visit the children while "under the influence of alcoholic beverages."

Merrill and Miss Davis were divorced in Maine in 1960 after 10 years of marriage.
