Youngsters Enter 65 Hogs In Show

Sixty-five fat hogs had been weighed in and formally entered in the 19th Annual Howard County FFA and 4-H Club Pig Show at 10:30 a.m. today, and officials said that at least 20 more pigs would be entered before the noon deadline. The show is at the Howard County fair barn.

The show opened at 9 a.m. today. Weighing in and listing the entries took the time to noon. The afternoon was devoted to preparing the pigs for tomorrow's judging.

Paul Gross, assistant county farm agent of Gaines County, will be the judge.

He will judge the pigs starting at 9 a.m. Thursday. Ribbons and cash will go to the exhibitors whose pigs place in the first 10 places in each group.

Honor For Top Citizens Rejected

ALBA, Mo. (AP) — The mayor of Alba (pop. 336) has flatly rejected a proposal that he issue a proclamation honoring this town's most illustrious citizens.

He said he'd be embarrassed by a proclamation honoring infielders Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cardinals and Clete Boyer of the New York Yankees.

The mayor is Vern Boyer, father of the baseball players. How about the city clerk, would she issue a proclamation? No, said the clerk.

She's the players' mother.

'Copter With Five Yanks Shot Down

SAIGON, South Viet Nam. (AP) — A U.S. Army helicopter with five Americans and a Vietnamese aboard was shot down in flames 13 miles west of Saigon today, crashing in the midst of a powerful Viet Cong unit.

All six men aboard the helicopter were presumed killed. Ground troops who fought their way to the wreckage found three bodies charred beyond recognition. The other three bodies could not be found.

FEARED DEAD

While it was presumed they also had been killed, there was some possibility they had survived and were captured by the Viet Cong.

A second helicopter also was downed nearby, but its crew reportedly survived and was repairing the aircraft for a flight back to its base.

The two helicopters, armed with rockets and machine guns, had been providing strafing support for a small operation by Vietnam ground troops. Other helicopters in the flight saw one machine burst into flames and hurtle into the midst of the enemy below.

The helicopters could not fire into the Viet Cong for fear of hitting any American survivors. Later helicopters and fighter bombers pounded Viet Cong positions around the site but Closing event of the show will be a big auction sale at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Randall Sherrod will be the auctioneer. The Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the show, has arranged for a large number of bidders to be at the fair barn at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Melvin Fryar is committee chairman for the show for the Jaycees.

Local Railroaders On Wrecked Train

A Big Spring railroad fireman was slightly injured, 34 Texas & Pacific Railway Co. freight cars and four diesel units were derailed in a spectacular wreck at midnight Tuesday. The wreck was at Badger Switch, 17 miles west of Odessa and the train was manned by a crew of Big Spring railroaders who had boarded it at 10 p.m. here.

The derailment tore up 500 feet of track and wrecking crews out of Big Spring were busy all night clearing out the cars and replacing the line. The traffic was supposed to resume before noon. Trains headed west were dispatched from here early in the day but were being held up at Odessa. East-bound trains were kept at Monahan.

Officials here said that the injured brakeman was W. E. Phillips, 900 Birdwell. He was at the Howard County Hospital Foundation and Clinic at 11 a.m. today, but was consulting the doctor at the time and had not been admitted as a patient. He has a cut on his head.

Engineer on the 59-car train was J. C. Craven, 65. Conductor was J. T. Allen, and D. K. Armstrong was the fireman. The other brakeman was C. R. Rhoads. All live in Big Spring.

Railroad officials here said they understood a flatcar loaded with new automobiles derailed about the middle of the train. Four diesels of the six, pulling the train including the unit in which Craven, Armstrong and Phillips were riding, and 34 box cars piled up alongside the tracks. Three transients on the train were taken to Odessa for first aid treatment.

Craven said his train was rolling at 60 miles an hour when it left the rails.

Mrs. Jo Smith, postmistress at Penwell, and her husband, Hiram, were awakened at midnight by the roar of the crashing cars. Penwell is a short distance from Badger Switch, railroad officials said.

Johnson Sees Danger In Barry's Farm Plan

Cardinals Defeat Yankees, 9 To 5

By JOE REICHLER

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A four-run rally in the sixth inning highlighted by rookie Mike Shannon's homer and Curt Flood's decisive triple carried the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-5 victory over the favored New York Yankees in the opening game of the 1964 World Series Wednesday.

Trailing 4-2 going into the bottom of the sixth, the Cards drew even on Shannon's mighty shot off the left field scoreboard after a single by Ken Boyer. Tim McCarver's double knocked out Whitey Ford, the Yanks' ace left-hander, then Carl Warwick's pinch single and Flood's triple knocked in two more runs off Al Downing.

Flood's single and Lou Brock's double drove in three runs after two were out in the eighth for the National League, wrapping it up.

Young Ray Sadecki was the winning pitcher, with relief from 38-year-old knuckleballer Barney Schultz, and the loss went to Ford, holder of a flock of Series pitching records. The Yankee southpaw, in his 22nd Series game, suffered his eighth defeat against 10 victories.

Tommy Tresh drove in three of the Yanks' first four runs with a homer and double and the American League champions made it 6-5 with a run in the eighth.

Congo Boss Held Hostage
CAIRO (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government was reported holding Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe a hostage today until his government calls off gendarmes surrounding the United Arab Republic's embassy in Leopoldville.

Tshombe abandoned his attempt to attend the conference of nonaligned nations Tuesday night after the conference told him he would not be admitted. He said he would leave for home immediately.

However, the newspaper Al Ahram, which has close links to Nasser, reported the U.A.R. government had told Tshombe he would remain in the guarded Aruba Palace on the outskirts of Cairo until the U.A.R. Embassy in the Congolese capital was freed.

Reports from Leopoldville Tuesday said gendarmes surrounded the U.A.R. Embassy and halted all movement in and out of the building. The reports said the action was taken to protect the embassy from mob action that was feared because of Tshombe's treatment in Cairo.

The Algerian Embassy also was cordoned off, Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella having been a leader in the move to bar Tshombe from the nonaligned conference.

Al Ahram said President Nasser's adviser on African affairs, Mohamed Fayek, called on Tshombe to inform him he would have to remain in Cairo.

"Tshombe was stunned," the paper said Fayek reported.

The Congolese premier conferred through the night with members of his embassy staff and his delegation to the conference.

Tshombe had insisted on attending the conference despite a telegram from conference leaders to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu telling him he would be welcome but Tshombe wouldn't.

Nicaragua Voids Old Canal Treaty
MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The Nicaraguan Congress has repudiated the 1914 Bryan-Chamorro treaty granting the United States perpetual rights to build an interoceanic canal through this Central American country.

A joint session of Congress approved Tuesday a motion declaring that the treaty violated the 1911 Nicaraguan constitution and "has caused serious setbacks to the economic development of Nicaragua."

Court Nixes Cry On Belli Bar Brought

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court refused today to hear State Bar charges against San Francisco attorney Melvin Belli.

The State Bar contended the outspoken former attorney for Jack Ruby, convicted slayer of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, should be barred from practicing law in Texas because of his conduct during and after the Ruby trial in Dallas.

The bar sought an order to permanently enjoin Belli from reappearing as an attorney in a case in any Texas court.

Ruby was sentenced to death by the jury March 14. Belli was fired by Ruby's family after he termed the trial a "kangaroo court" in an outburst seen by many on nationwide television immediately following the trial.

Huge Arms Cache Seizure Brings On Federal Probe

EL PASO (AP) — Federal authorities continued an investigation today in the seizure of $200,000 in arms near the Mexican border but they weren't commenting on whether the arms might have been destined for use in Latin American revolutionary movements.

Taking part in the probe were the Army's criminal investigation division, the U. S. Customs Service and the alcohol and tobacco tax division of the Treasury Department.

Operators of the store in which the arms were found Tuesday, Merced Munoz and his son Pedro Munoz, were to be arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Henry Clifton. Both are charged with failing to keep records of receipts and sale of firearms.

FOUND IN STORE
Their Sun Furniture and Hardware Co. store is on El Paso Street about three blocks north of the Mexican border.

Authorities said the arms found in the store consisted of guns and uncounted cases of ammunition.

There were rifles and revolvers, submachine guns of U.S. and foreign make, sawed-off shotguns, a mortar, an Army M-1 rifle and several machine pistols.

Authorities said most of the weapons were sports guns and not manufactured for military markets. The cache was one of the largest ever found in the southwest.

Munoz and his son had not been taken into custody. Their lawyers said the two would appear for arraignment.

Bomb Figure In Heist Case

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The FBI today arrested a 35-year-old McComb man, already charged in racial bombings, on charges of holding up the Lawrence County Bank at Monticello March 2.

Roy Moore, head of the FBI office here, said Sterling L. (Bubba) Gillis was picked up by agents and highway patrolmen in the $40,000 robbery after officers found $1,800 in his possession when arrested on a bombing charge.

Gillis was arrested Oct. 5 by FBI agents and officers of the highway patrol on charges of unlawful use of explosives, a state charge stemming from racial bombings in the McComb area that can carry the maximum penalty of death.

Top Yearbook Titles To Three
COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Odessa, San Antonio and Victoria yearbooks captured top places in Texas Junior College Press Association competition.

HOUSTON (AP) — City Councilmen confirmed Mayor Louie Welch's choice of Herman Short, 46, as Houston's new police chief Tuesday night.

Short, former head of the police records and identification bureau and a member of the force since 1945, succeeds Buddy McGill, 56, whom the mayor fired last week.

The council voted 6-1 to accept the mayor's recommendation.

Earlier in the day Welch issued a statement that he fired McGill because he felt the former chief was indifferent to an increase in crime.

"I certainly never meant to be indifferent nor wanted anyone to think I was about the (increased) crime rate here," McGill said.

Peace, Plenty Also Stressed

DES MOINES (AP) — President Johnson said today "Americans don't want to gamble with Social Security." And he argued that Barry Goldwater's farm policies would spell disaster.

Mingling these issues with a recital of his peace-and-prosperity theme, President Johnson flew into the Middle West — "America's heartland," he called it — to get started on a six-day campaign tour of 11 states from Ohio to California. Johnson, in a speech prepared for delivery from the court house steps at Peoria, Ill., called Social Security "one of the most important issues of this campaign."

MEDICARE PLAN
The President said some people — he didn't name them — want to make the program voluntary. And he said this would "bankrupt the system."

Goldwater has called for voluntary Social Security, but not lately. More recently, the Republican presidential candidate has spoken about protecting the program from amendments which he says would destroy it.

He includes medical insurance for the aged in that category. On farm policy, the President took more direct issue with Goldwater, but again without naming names. This came in a speech prepared for his first stop of the day — Des Moines, in the center of the corn belt.

Johnson attributed to Goldwater, by quoting him, views on farm policy which he said would strike "a devastating blow to the heart of the American economy."

PRICE SUPPORTS
Calling for broader farm price supports, Johnson said "we have come too far as a people united by common agreement and common principles to be diverted by heartless prescriptions of economic nonsense."

For an audience at Springfield, Ill., Johnson read a speech emphasizing prosperity and peace through strength and reason.

In his Des Moines speech, Johnson was repeating in the Middle West an appeal for farm votes that he first voiced Tuesday night in tobacco-growing North Carolina.

Tonight his first nationwide campaign telecast, a wide program taped in advance, will be aired.

Even before his departure from Washington, the White House made public the speech Johnson had prepared for delivery from the steps of the Iowa capitol in Des Moines.

It echoed, and in sections was a word-for-word copy, of one he delivered to a noisy, enthusiastic audience of 14,000 in North Carolina State College Coliseum at Raleigh.

LIBERTY TALK
Apparently pleased by his Carolina reception — marred only by some booing by a small knot of Goldwater supporters at Raleigh-Durham Airport — Johnson Tuesday night ad libbed a long section on freedom and strength.

Speaking about "men of little faith and voices of doom" who "say we have lost our freedoms," Johnson shouted: "I haven't lost my freedom—not a bit of it."

Goldwater has been arguing that freedom is being eroded, "a little bit here, a little bit there."

Johnson said: "There is more freedom in all the countries of the world tonight than there has been at any time in your lifetime."

"LITTLE FAITH"
The President, at another point, said: "Men of little faith, reckless people, dangerous people would try to make you believe that America... no longer leads the world."

Saying that he spoke as commander in chief, Johnson said he could report "that America is the strongest nation in the world and stronger than all the rest put together."

'Hoard' Eyed In Tax Case
MUSKOGEE, Okla. (AP) — A reported $53,000 cash hoard appears to be shaping up as the central issue in the income tax evasion trial of State Supreme Court Justice Earl Welch.

The government has alluded to a "large cash hoard" several times, stating it expected the defense to contend that the alleged extra income the government claims the 72-year-old Welch possessed came from this source. The defense so far has made no direct mention of it.

Hey There! Not So Fast!

This motorcycle policeman seems to be overtaking the covered wagon as it moves down the new Interstate 20 loop northeast of Big Spring, about ready to command driver Ohmer Kelly, Stanton, to pull over. Actually, Kelly had said "giddap!" to his mules when wire was cut on the ultra modern loop. The first official traffic over the road became the first type that ever traversed this country — a covered wagon. Crowds Grow As Lady Bird Continues Southern Tour

ABOARD THE LADY BIRD SPECIAL (AP) — After "an unforgettable, dramatic and colorful" first day, Lady Bird Johnson declared her whistle-stop Southern tour was "snow-balling."

The enthusiasm of the crowd infected the First Lady's traveling troupe as it moved on through North Carolina into South Carolina on its second lap today.

Rear-platform master of ceremonies Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who usually stars as House Democratic whip, declared President Johnson would take the South.

GETS SENDOFF
The President had given his wife an early-morning sendoff in Alexandria, Va., and flew into Raleigh, N.C., Tuesday night to give her a "warm Southern welcome" at the first overnight stop for her 19-car train.

Together at Raleigh, they received a tumultuous ovation from a packed Reynolds Coliseum audience of 14,000 at North Carolina State College.

Tuesday's turnout for Lady Bird was impressive. Some 900 college students in the Norfolk area made up a winding motorcade to join a rally for her there. At Suffolk, Va., a peanut growing center, people climbed on top of freight cars for a glimpse of the First Lady.

The more the crowds grew as the train went south, the more eloquent Boggs got. He finally said the opposition was "not going to carry any state."

With estimates from police, Democratic staffers aboard figured more than 60,000 turned out to see Mrs. Johnson on her 14-stop, 14-speech opening day and said she would have had 100,000 if she had been on time on her unprecedented love-the-South mission.

RUNS LATE
Running 90 minutes late at times, Lady Bird had a smiling excuse — the crowd "up the line" kept her.

Mother Wars Cn Tattooist

LONDON (AP) — A mother took a long, hard look at the new tattoo marks on her 14-year-old son's arm, then went out and smashed the tattooist's windows.

"I don't particularly like what I did, but young boys must be protected," said Louise Stone, 40.

"I did what every mother should do if she found her son marked for life."

Mrs. Stone pleaded guilty to a charge of willful damage to property and was fined $56.

She told the court:

"It's wrong that a tattooist should be able to disfigure children the age of my son John. I broke the windows to draw attention to the wrong."

She said John is "terribly humiliated" at what she did, but "the humiliation is his punishment."

The tattoo pattern showed a pirate gripping a sword between his teeth. Mrs. Stone said she hoped to have it removed by plastic surgery, paid for by the government's National Health Service.

Test By 800 Men Indicates Diet Link To Heart Attacks

NEW YORK (AP) — Seven years ago, more than 800 middle-aged men began following a "prudent diet" aimed at preventing heart attacks.

They became volunteer members of New York City's "Anti-Coronary Club." Their diet changes were designed to reduce the amount of cholesterol — a fatty material blamed for clogging up heart arteries — in their bloodstreams.

Today, medical directors of the Anti-Coronary Club told the American Public Health Association of the results to date.

EIGHT VICTIMS

Eight of the club members have died of heart attacks.

This is a rate about one-third that of other middle-aged men also checked who did not change their eating habits.

Seven of the eight died within two years after joining the club. Only one died since then, during years "when presumably the diet had a fuller opportunity to exert its physiological effect."

"It seems reasonable" to attribute the significantly lower rate of heart attacks among club members to the diet, said Dr. Seymour H. Rinzler, a heart specialist.

Men following the food advice had within a year significantly lower levels of cholesterol in their blood than the men not making the change, the report adds.

Among the men following the diet and aged 40 to 49, there was one heart attack for an annual rate of 196 per 100,000 men. Among another group of similar age not changing their eating habits there were four attacks for a rate of 642 per 100,000.

REDUCE FATS

Among club men aged 50 to 59 there were seven heart attacks for an annual rate of 379 per 100,000, compared with eight attacks among a smaller, non-dieting group for an annual rate of 1,331 per 100,000.

The club members reduced the total amount of fats that Americans ordinarily eat. They were told to eat about equal amounts of the three types of fats found in ordinary foods.

The prudent diet was defined as consisting of "equal amounts of meat, poultry and fish; the usually recommended amounts and types of vegetables and cereals and fruits, and the substitution of low-fat dairy products for those high in fats."

There is no single cause of heart attacks, the report cautions. Diet and cholesterol are implicated, but so are such influences as obesity and high blood pressure.

Yet, it says, the study "appears to have established a reasonable basis for public health action."

The first chapter, setting forth unity principles, declares the church partly to blame for the discords of Christianity.

The second outlines a program of common prayer and public cooperation between Catholics and other Christians.

Provisions approved today deal with specific relations with the Orthodox of the East and the non-Catholic churches of the West.

These points were contained in the third and final chapter in the "De Ecumenismo" (on unity) schema. With today's vote, provisions in all three chapters now have won overwhelming

John Wayne Is Improved

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I don't know what the hell I had, but the doc said whatever it was I licked it."

Big John Wayne was talking from his bed at Good Samaritan Hospital. He delivered the line in the same matter-of-fact way that millions of movie fans have heard him speak on the screen just after putting down an Indian uprising at Ft. Apache.

Wayne, sitting up in bed, devoured a bowl of soup, a couple of pork chops and a salad, plus dessert.

"The only trouble we have with this patient is getting him to eat," quipped his nurse.

"I had a rough ten days in the intensive-care unit," said Big Duke. "They kept bringing in all those cardiac cases beside me. Finally, I told them to get me a gun — I was ready to shoot my way out."

Duke was moved to another floor quick. He may get out of the hospital this week.

"I had two operations in five days. That was the rough part."

"First they took that thing from my lung. Then I got to coughing, later, coughed so damn hard that I busted a tissue. So they had to open me up again."

His son, Michael, described "that thing" as an abscess of the lung.

Lynda, Luci Go On Circuit In Big Way In Dad's Behalf

WASHINGTON (AP) — It reads like a road-show itinerary — Milwaukee, Louisville, Minneapolis, Beverly Hills, Indianapolis.

The Johnson girls are on the circuit, the campaign circuit that is, eating their way across country through mountains of Texas spareribs, corn on the cob and hot fried pies.

Lynda and Luci are out on the hustings nearly every weekend, campaigning like mad — and raising big money — to keep dad in his Washington home, at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

They'll be at it right up to Election Day, and there's never been anything like it. The girls, Lynda, 20 and Luci, 17, are turning out to be their father's best campaigners.

Barnstorming by the President's children is virtually unprecedented. Margaret Truman joined her father in 1948 on a whistle-stop tour, but the Johnson girls go out on their own, hitting the stops singly under the banner of the Young Citizens for Johnson as the feature attraction of weekend barbecues. Their booking is solid and they're a hit.

On a typical weekend, Lynda was charming the guests at a little ole Texas barbecue for 1,900 people on a Long Island estate, Luci was having a ball at the Wisconsin State Fair and their mother was shooting the rapids in the breath-taking Snake River country of the Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming.

All afternoon the guests, at $15 each or $25 a couple, streamed onto the grounds of Fordune, the oceanfront estate near Southampton, L.I.

HAD A BALL

Everyone had a marvelous time, and the gross was $22,000.

The Johnson girls — Luci, gay and ready to dance the Watutsi, Lynda somewhat more serious but still quick to quip — are getting a national following on their rally circuit.

There's even bold talk of sending them into Goldwater territory for a gala windup of the barbecue trail in Phoenix, Ariz., hometown of their father's presidential opponent.

The President's daughters "typify the enthusiasm, energy and interest in critical national and international problems that exist in the hearts and minds of young America today," says 36-year-old Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the Young Citizens for Johnson, launched in June to work for Johnson's election.

Some 20,000 Young Democrats and Young Citizens for Johnson, including Lynda and Luci, whooped it up at the Democratic convention in Atlantic City.

Raised on their daddy's LBJ Ranch, amid the live oak trees and the white-faced Hereford cattle, Luci and Lynda love barbecues and have gallantly eaten their way through ribs, chicken, chili, hot dogs and corn on the cob in their father's interest from California to New York.

They usually manage to find some time to sprint away from campaign chores to try out breath-taking rides at nearby state fairs or visit historic sites along the route.

The Young Citizens for Johnson seeks to recruit members from 18 to 40.

Lynda, making her rounds, laments that she's only 20 and can't vote for daddy.

At one barbecue, actor Paul Newman commented "It's kind of silly for me, with my 40th birthday next January, to be a Young Democrat."

And Lynda quipped, "It's not the age, it's the mileage — as long as you're all young in heart."

ROLE OF YOUTH

In her speeches, she has some stock comments, like calling attention to the important role of the young, including the fact that "Thomas Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence at the age of 33, Alexander Hamilton helped shape our Constitution at the age of 32 and John F. Kennedy had already served 14 years in the Congress when he became president at the age of 42."

Luci gets a little more exuberant, a little less serious. "I'm just here to thank people who have been working for someone I'm very fond of," she told 856 diners who paid $10 each to attend a barbecue at the plush North River Racket Club in suburban Milwaukee.

A Texas boy, a friend of Luci's, says she's not really interested in politics "but she loves people and wants to help the Democratic party."

"That's a gal who wants to help her dad, I tell you," he added.

Lynda, a junior majoring in history at George Washington University in Washington, takes politics more gravely, often discussing things with her father.

Protestants On Hand At Ecumenical

Protestant observers at the Vatican Ecumenical Council, the road to Christian unity is a long half mile beside the Tiber.

That's the distance most delegates tramp from their hotel to get to the daily sittings of the Roman Catholic assembly.

They say it's a trip well worth making, for at the end is a privileged front-row seat at one of the phenomena of our time — a sight of the Roman Catholic Church testing the force and direction of its own winds of change.

Never before in centuries of division and dispute have so many representatives of non-Catholic Christendom been honored guests at the Vatican.

At the daily sessions under the great dome of St. Peter's Basilica, the Latin-speaking Catholic prelates hold the stage, wearing the colorful vestments of their calling. The observers, as one of them puts it, sit there in eloquent silence. They listen carefully, critically but sympathetically — and their dark cloth is a sobering but appropriate contrast to what has been called "the purple tide."

For Exile Aid, Rep. Miller Says

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller said today that he and Sen. Barry Goldwater favored giving assistance to Cubans in exile so that they could take back the island from the Castro regime.

The Republican vice presidential nominee took this stand in addressing a crowd of about 4,000 people gathered outside the Confederate monument in the heart of downtown Augusta.

He headed immediately for Florida where he is to speak at a rally tonight attended by veterans of the unsuccessful invasion of Cuba at the Bay of Pigs in 1961.

Miller keyed his Augusta speech to a full-page newspaper ad published by local Democrats challenging him and Goldwater to state where they stood on various issues.

"We are for a strong, firm foreign policy that mimes no words with the Communists," he declared.

Miller said that he and Goldwater favored supporting a Cuban government in exile and "we are for giving them assistance and letting them take back their own land."

He did not say what type of assistance he had in mind. The ad also questioned the extent of Miller's role in the prosecution of Nazi war criminals at Nuremberg.

Miller said he was surprised that Democrats would raise a war record issue because he and Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee, had served a combined total of eight years in the military service.

By contrast, he said, President Johnson served seven months and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey "wasn't in the military service at all because he had a double hernia and was color blind."

Frigid Wave Still Grips Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Unusual cold gripped Mexico City Tuesday for a second day. The Weather Bureau said it would continue here and in many other parts of Mexico.

East Texans Tout Southwest

CHICAGO (AP) — The advantages of East Texas were spelled out in glowing terms Tuesday to 110 Chicago business leaders and another group in Detroit.

"Much of this is seed sowing, the planting of ideas and hope for a bountiful harvest in later years," said C. Truett Smith, chairman of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce's industrial committee.

The 70-man East Texas delegation also planned visits in Buffalo and Rochester, N. Y. The party visited Monday in Minneapolis.

Smith, a Wylie, Tex., banker, said the group is not on a raid to take industry from the East. The tour's purpose, he said, is to tell major industrialists the benefits of the Southwest region. "We know that many of them will establish branch plants somewhere in our section of the country, and when that time comes we would like for them to think of us and the East Texas region," Smith said.

A player holding four trumps will usually appreciate the advantage of playing a forcing game on the declarer for, if the latter can be ruffed down repeatedly in the trump suit, he is apt to lose control of the hand. That this diagnosis can also be made by the defender who is short in trumps is not nearly so well understood. Today's hand offers an interesting case in point.

The first two rounds of bidding were routine. When North raised diamonds, South was not in position to try no trump lacking a club stopper, and he could not support spades with only a doubleton; he, therefore, rebid his hearts. North was reluctant to quit and, since no trump was out of the question, he carried on to four hearts. The queen and one is considered to be adequate support for a rebid suit.

West opened the three of clubs, East put up the ace and continued the suit until the third round which South ruffed. A small heart was led to dummy's queen and East played the ace. There was no appealing shift in sight, so he exited with a heart. Declarer proceeded to draw the remaining trump and, tho he was obliged to use up all of his hearts in the process, he was all aces and could readily claim the rest of the tricks.

East had been a bit premature in taking off the ace of trumps. It should have been apparent, from South's failure to rebid his original suit immediately, that he probably had only five hearts and West had four. When declarer is forced on the third round of clubs, his trump holding becomes reduced to the same number held by his opponent. If East waits until the second heart lead to take his ace, he will be able to force South's trump holding again with another round of clubs. This play will establish a second heart trick for West, and declarer goes down to defeat.

Pleasant Fall Days Remain

By The Associated Press
Pleasant fall weather appears in store for Texas at least through the weekend.

Skies remained cloudless throughout the state today and early morning temperatures were in the bracing low 40s to 50s.

Top marks Tuesday ranged from 83 at Presidio and 80 at El Paso down to 60 at Galveston.

Little change in the weather pattern was expected. A new cold front pushing southward from the Dakotas and due in the Texas Panhandle by early Thursday is unlikely to have much effect on the state, Weather Bureau observers said.

Long range forecasts promised little or no rain through Monday and temperatures varying only a few degrees from normal.

Graveyard Vandals On Involuntary Job

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — A judge gave three young Alton men involuntary jobs as workers in a cemetery Tuesday after they pleaded guilty to knocking over 12 tombstones in the cemetery last week.

Magistrate George Roberts fined them $100 each and said each will have to work 40 hours in the cemetery to repair the damages. The money was given to the cemetery board to finance repair work.

Midwest Voters Largely 'Against'

CHICAGO (AP)—This may be the strangest of all presidential elections.

It will be — at least here in the decisive Midwest — an election in which many voters say they don't like either Lyndon B. Johnson or Barry Goldwater.

It will be an election in which, although the polls show Johnson doing unusually well in this area, a surprisingly large number of voters concentrate on Goldwater. They're either energetically for, or dead set against, the Republican challenger.

It could be an election that, ironically, may be decided by those so listless or uncertain or disgusted they won't vote.

Listen to what the Midwesterners are saying:

In Fargo N.D., Oscar Hanson, 72, a retired farmer, sums up his feelings. "I have been a Republican all my life, but this year I'm on edge," Hanson says. "There is something about Goldwater I don't like. I ain't saying I will vote Democratic, but I might."

FINAL HOPE
In Racine, Wis., Susan J. Pfeiffer is certain that Goldwater is the last hope for local government. "A vote for Lyndon Johnson," she says, "is a vote for socialism."

In Springfield, Mo., Charmae Pollock, who works for a health studio, says:

"I think if we had a write-in candidate this time he'd win."

Out here they're accenting the negative. And the Midwest may be the best cross-section we have.

From Ohio to Kansas to the Dakotas, these 12 states show astonishing variety within and among themselves.

Within these states are five of the nation's largest cities, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Milwaukee.

Traditionally Republicans do well here.

In 1960, when the Midwest had 153 electoral votes, Richard M. Nixon won this area, 82-72.

VITAL STATES

In 1964, Goldwater has four states he considers vital to his cause, and two of them, Ohio and Illinois, are in the Midwest. The others are California and Texas.

Anyone who can win big in this area has taken a giant stride toward the 270 electoral votes needed to capture the White House, and so Johnson and Goldwater come here again and again.

This reporter has toured the area talking politics from Cleveland, Mo., to Ann Arbor, Mich., from Minneapolis to Stratford, Ohio. Other reporters for the Associated Press and member newspapers have interviewed voters in each of the 12 states.

These highly informal surveys, taken independently of each other, all produce the same impressions:

This may be a vital battleground in a vital election, but many voters neither notice nor care — and some who do care have trouble working up enthusiasm for either candidate.

But let's go out and get the feel for ourselves, and a good place to start is with dedicated partisans in Milwaukee.

James Jackson is a 79-year-old Negro cab driver, lively, talkative, opinionated.

NOT SHIFTING

"I'm not particularly for Mr. Johnson," he says, "but I'm a Democrat and I'm not going to change."

Though not particularly for Johnson, he's particularly against Goldwater, in words ungrammatical but positive.

"He's backslid on his own words. If he was in there now, do you know where Cuba would be today? In the Pacific Ocean, that's where. We don't need no man like that for no president."

Now for the other extreme. The homes in the 900 block of North 72nd Street in Milwaukee are neat, affluent-looking, well-loved.

One has a "This house is sold on Goldwater" sign on its lawn, a "Goldwater for President" sticker on its door, and a large U.S. flag whipping in the brisk breeze.

A huge man, 6 feet and big all over, has just visited the house, to lend a book.

"I belong to the John Birch Society," he said, even before he identified himself as "Norman E. Wynn, in the hearing aid business at 205 East Wisconsin."

A reporter mentioned that the polls show Goldwater trailing. "He is like hell," Wynn said. "I've talked to hundreds of people, and the polls simply aren't right."

Wynn would like more details on Bobby G. Baker and Billie Sol Estes, and he said: "If Johnson is a Christian, and a believer in God, he'll say, 'Let's bring things out in the open and let the chips fall where they may.'"

SLIM CHOICE

Norman Len, a real estate man in Perryburg, Ohio, is a Republican who voted for Nixon.

"We don't have a real choice this year," Len said. As a recent death.

onetime insurance man, Len doesn't like Goldwater's stand on Social Security. "But to tell you the truth, I don't know whether I want to vote for Johnson or not."

Ben Mangiopane of Shady-side, Ohio, does a lot of traveling in his table glassware business. He looks upon himself as an independent, having voted for Dwight D. Eisenhower and then for John F. Kennedy.

"In the nine months Johnson has been there he has proved he can get things done," Mangiopane said. "I don't see anything radically wrong with this country. Sure, there's Viet Nam and Cuba. But neither Mr. Goldwater or Mr. Johnson is going to solve that — and no president will in 20 years."

In the hundreds of interviews the most surprising — "disturbing" may be a better word — are those who say they can support neither man.

This may explain why the polls are being looked at suspiciously, even though they show the President doing startlingly well.

Not many of those interviewed mentioned civil rights unless the reporter brought it up. But an important Democratic leader in this area said: "This backlash frightens me, but I'm not sure we can minimize it. I don't think anybody can read this thing yet."

On such intangibles will Republicans base their hopes in their final drive for support in the Midwest, where the attitudes are so strangely negative in all directions.

Coahoma Drive Is Discussed

COAHOMA (SC) — Residents will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Village Restaurant to organize a drive for the Coahoma Welfare Fund.

Ralph White, president, appointed a committee during 2 Monday meeting to study organization of such a campaign to be held in September of each year. The drive will cover the area in the Coahoma Independent School District.

The committee includes Robert Miller, H. B. Graves, Mrs. Larry Pherigo, Wendell Shive, Roy Copeland, and W. A. Fishback. Attending the meeting Monday were representatives of the Coahoma City Council, Mary Jane Club, Lions Club, Baptist Church, Presbyterian Church, American Legion Post, and the Church of Christ.

Money raised in the campaign will be used locally, spokesman explained. In other business, Mrs. Fred Adams, secretary-treasurer, gave a report, and R. D. Cramer was elected vice president.

Jury Indicts Texas Mayor

HOUSTON (AP)—A six-count felony theft indictment was returned against Pasadena Mayor James Brammer by the hold-over Harris County Grand Jury Tuesday.

It is the second time in two months for the jury to name Brammer in indictments growing out of its investigation of the Houston suburb's fiscal affairs. Brammer and five other persons were named in eight indictments returned Sept. 17.

The latest accuses Brammer of stealing $11,165. The September indictments allege theft of $77,789 by Brammer and the five others.

Also named in the September indictments were the mayor's wife, Mrs. Grace Brammer; Troy Crawford, Pasadena postmaster who has taken an indefinite leave of absence; Comer Whitaker, mayor of Pasadena from 1959 to 1963; Varreese Berry, former Pasadena police chief and city commissioner, and N. A. Smith, a Pasadena lawyer.

"There is a good possibility more indictments will be issued Thursday," grand jury foreman Kraus Earhart said. Brammer was not available for comment. He posted $13,500 bond on the previous indictments.

Mexico May Get Another Cardinal

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Dominantly Roman Catholic Mexico may get its second cardinal at the end of the current Ecumenical Council meeting, usually reliable sources here say.

It is expected that Pope Paul VI may name Archbishop Primate Mons. Miguel Darío Miranda as Mexico's second cardinal. There are vacancies left by a recent death.

Bid To Save Redwood Tree Started

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After a lapse of 56 years, the federal government is again showing interest in preserving a dwindling breed of tree dating back to the dinosaurs.

Back in 1908, President Theodore Roosevelt established Muir Woods National Monument, thus putting the federal government solidly behind preservation of California's mammoth coastal redwood trees.

Since that act — and despite state and private acquisition of redwood stands for parks — the number of acres of redwoods has been reduced from two million to 750,000.

MAY BUY THEM
Of 300,000 acres of virgin redwoods still in existence, only 50,000 acres remain safe in state parks from the lumberman's chain saw.

Now, admitting that further delay would spell the end of the once-great redwood forests, the government is again considering acquisition of virgin stands. In a recently released report, the National Park Service has recommended federal purchase of up to 53,000 acres of additional redwood forest for national parks.

The report, prepared at the direction of President Johnson, advances a twin thesis:

1. The redwoods represent a priceless national asset.

2. Preservation of the age-old trees — far from harming northern California's economy — would prove an economic boon.

Here's how the National Park Service summarizes the first point:

"For many years, public interest has been evidenced by visitation from all over the nation and the world, and by the willingness of many to contribute substantial sums for the purchase and preservation of dedicated groves."

STRONG STOCK
"This stems from many things — their age and stubbornly indestructible qualities in the face of fire, disease and insects, the fact they grow nowhere else on earth."

"More important, however, is their very special inspirational qualities which so impress the visitor."

Since 1902, private citizens have poured $10 million into efforts to preserve the redwoods.

Strongest opposition to expansion of redwood parks has come from the logging concerns and their employees, who see conversion of privately owned forests into parks as a threat to northern California's economy.

In the three counties which the report earmarks for park expansion — Humboldt, Del Norte and Mendocino — the lumber industry accounts for from 25 to 38 per cent of employment.

Within days after the report's appearance, the powerful Redwood Empire Association, representing the major lumber companies and other northern California commercial interests, criticized the plan as economically disastrous.

The National Park Service disagrees.

Its report estimates that within five years after creation of expanded parks, some one million visitors could be expected to visit the three counties annually. Within 15 years, the number would increase to two million tourists.

Within five years, tourists would be spending $3.6 million annually on food, lodging, gasoline and souvenirs. The expanded parks would generate $11.2 million worth of tourist business within 15 years, predicts the report.

Rocky Vows GOP Support

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says New York State Republicans are "pledged to support our candidates from Barry to Bill, right down the line, all the way and that is what we are going to do."

The governor reaffirmed Tuesday night the state GOP's support of the party's national ticket, Sen. Barry Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller.

Rockefeller, who failed in a bid to win the GOP nomination for himself, referred to Goldwater three times in a 10-minute speech at a regional strategy conference of Republican candidates and party leaders.

Of Goldwater, whom he had criticized sharply throughout the days before the GOP convention, he said, "Sen. Goldwater is a man of great courage and integrity who hasn't ducked issues."

While Rockefeller appeared to take a more cordial, personal stance toward the Goldwater-Miller ticket, his remarks represented no significant shift in his position that he was supporting the national ticket.

DEAR ABBY

Grin And Bear Him!

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very "clean" person so maybe I shouldn't complain, but every time he comes in from the yard, he washes his hands in the kitchen sink and dries them on my dish towel! I have complained in vain so many times that I have just stopped mentioning it. After he's dried his hands on the dish towel I throw it in the laundry and put out a fresh one. Last night he pulled a stunt that beat everything. Our little dog came to the back door with muddy feet, so my husband picked her up, stood her in the kitchen sink and washed her feet off! What do you do with a guy like that?

M. O.
DEAR M. O.: Just love him! He sounds like a honey. What's a few more dish towels in the wash, and the small task of washing the sink when it's done in the interest of keeping the peace?

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a mother who would invite the neighborhood children to a birthday party for her little boy, place a big beautiful birthday cake in the center of the table, and then serve eight wide-eyed, drooling children cupcakes? When one of the children asked why they didn't get any of the birthday cake, the mother said, "We are saving it for a family birthday party tonight."

HEARD ABOUT IT
DEAR ABBY: Poor woman! She didn't have sense enough to know that the birthday cake could not have been enjoyed nearly as much by the "family" as by those children.

DEAR ABBY: We are identical twins and we can sympathize with the twins who wrote to say how much they disliked being called "Twin" or "Twiny." Also, we agree, it is tiresome to have people look right at two people who look like two peas in a pod, dressed exactly alike, and then ask, "Are you twins?" My sister and I thought up a good answer. When someone asks, "Are you twins?" we reply, "No, we are triplets, but only two-thirds of us are here."

IN FORESTVILLE, N. Y.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of twins and I wish I had a dollar for every time a stranger asked me, "Are they twins?" I finally got so bored with that stupid question that I replied, "No. You see, I have two husbands."

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

1965 Cotton Plan Waited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman soon must announce general terms of the government's control program for the 1965 cotton crop.

The deadline is Oct. 15. Freeman is awaiting Thursday's report by the Federal Crop Reporting Board on the size of this year's crop.

Last month's report indicated a crop of 14,945,000 bales. A crop of this size will allow little if any room for movement of surplus cotton into markets.

The cotton program must be submitted to a referendum of cotton growers. It must be approved by at least two-thirds of those voting. The referendum probably will be held in early December.

Church Unity Put In Action

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The unusual is happening every day this fall on West Exchange Street — a half dozen nuns, wearing the habit of the Dominican Sisters, are working in the Westminster United Presbyterian Church.

This advance in ecumenical spirit started a week before Labor Day. Our Lady of the Elms Roman Catholic School, across the street from the Presbyterian church, had a problem: opening of school was going to find them short of space for nursery and kindergarten classes.

A new building had been planned, but at a late stage it developed a new foundation would be needed and it could not be completed before Nov. 1. Mother Mary Eileen, Elms superior, and a colleague paid a visit to their neighbor, Dr. Noel A. Calhoun, Westminster church pastor. He offered them four large Sunday School classrooms and use of the kitchen and other equipment.

When Mother Eileen asked about rental, Dr. Calhoun replied: "Sister, we'll not even talk about that; we consider this our Christian duty."

Later the 21-member session of the United Presbyterian Church gave unanimous approval. Classes for 92 pre-school tots from 3 to 5 years old moved in.

"Five years ago, I don't believe those sisters would ever have walked into this building," Dr. Calhoun said. "There has been a softening on the part of Catholics through the great spirit of Pope John, and the Protestant world has reacted in turn."

"With this spirit alive, it would not behoove us to deny the space."

Beeson Elected C-C President

LAMESA (SC)—W. B. Beeson has been elected president of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce, succeeding Raymond C. Evans.

Other new officers include Charles Bruton, vice president; Perry Roberts, treasurer. Beeson was one of four directors named recently to the board. Others were Jim Morris, Charles Bratcher and LeRoy Olask, who replaced Bill David, Donnell Echols, Henry Norris and Evans, who will remain on the board as an ex-officio member.

High Bids Totaled In Oil Lease Sale

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas School Land Board's second oil and gas lease sale of the year brought $3,552,640 in high bids on 88,327 acres of state land. State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler said Tuesday all leases except two river and bayou tracts will be for five years with a one-sixth royalty on mineral production.

Receipts from the lease sale will become part of the permanent school fund, Sadler said. The highest single bid was $736,841 by British American Oil Production Co. for an Aransas County submerged tract in Copano Bay.

Storm Refugees Returning Home

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Thousands of families were back to pick up the pieces of their hurricane-shattered homes in coastal Louisiana today and more were going despite warnings to wait.

They didn't care about lack of electricity, water, sewage, telephones or other conveniences.

Some slipped in by back roads. Some went by boat. Others cut across sugar cane fields flattened by Hurricane Hilda last week.

Fishermen, businessmen, housewives, oil field workers, trappers and others wanted to get to the job of restoring their possessions to some semblance of what they were before the storm's onslaught.

A. L. Stansbury, owner of a sporting goods and liquor store at Franklin, summed it up: "I had beer and soft drinks in my place, so I didn't need water."

"I can go a couple of days without food, and a man can get by without sewage."

"Having electricity doesn't mean anything to me. I've got lamps and when it gets dark you just go to sleep."

Authorities said it would be a week before power could be restored to all homes in Franklin. They urged returning refugees to boil the water before using it.

Most of the 20,000 residents of St. Mary Parish, where the hurricane first struck the coast, were back from their inland refugee centers. Many still lacked power and water.

Iberia Parish, also hard hit, was without power and water in many places. Schools in the parish may remain closed the remainder of the week.

A spokesman for the Red

Cross said early surveys indicated that 25,000 families in Louisiana and Mississippi were affected by the hurricane and the tornadoes it created.

The survey showed the storm in Louisiana destroyed 112 homes, caused major damage to 2,660 and minor damage to 11,427 others. It destroyed 127 farm buildings and damaged 635 others. It destroyed five small businesses and damaged 242 others.

Hilda and the tornadoes killed 37 persons, most of them in Vermilion and Lafourche parishes on the coast.

Officials say damages probably will reach $100 million or more.

50 Years Meted Jailbreak Leader

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Charles David Gregory, who led a mass break from the Dallas County jail during the Jack Ruby murder trial, drew 50 years in prison Tuesday for his part in an $8,000 holdup.

A jury of 10 men and 2 women convicted him of robbing a Dallas supermarket in January.

Gregory, 29, admitted he was in the getaway car but insisted he didn't know his companion planned to rob the store.

As one of seven prisoners breaking jail March 6, he brandished a pistol carved from soap and forced Ruth Thornton, a court clerk, to walk with him past spectators opposite the courtroom where Ruby was on trial.

An unarmed deputy sheriff, Charles Player, grabbed Gregory outside and returned him to jail.

Republican Party Defectors Barry's Target In New Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater carries to New Jersey today a campaign to win defectors Republicans back into the party fold.

By his own definition, the GOP presidential nominee's principal objective in a scheduled 12 hours of hop-and-skip appearances in the state is — as it was in a half-day of circuit riding in Philadelphia suburbs Tuesday — to convince Republicans they are risking their country's future if they vote for President Johnson.

DRILL AWAY

The Arizona senator's formula is to drill away at the theme that all other issues are of "the nitpicking type" when compared to what he called the fundamental choice of the voters: to continue the free enterprise system under him or to accept "a socialistic form of economy" under Johnson.

The overriding issue of the campaign, Goldwater said Tuesday, is "What kind of America are we going to have tomorrow."

Speaking to large outdoor crowds in Bucks and Montgomery counties he renewed his charge that the administration is "soft on communism" and said the American people do not want socialism or a one-party system which could lead to dictatorship.

"The primary consideration of Americans is what kind of a country we are going to have tomorrow, a year from now and five years from now."

Goldwater has made it clear he has no intention of softening his views on such matters as civil rights, although differences on this issue have caused Sen. Clifford P. Case and other New Jersey GOP leaders to divorce themselves from his campaign.

RIGHTS STAND

The Arizona senator told the annual conference of United Press International editors and publishers Tuesday he had been advised that he was "committing political suicide" when he voted against the civil rights bill because he felt the employment and public accommodations sections were unconstitutional. "I suggest that the issue here is whether the people of this nation, white and Negro alike, want a man as president who will approach civil rights on the basis of his own conscience or whether we will continue to see civil rights treated as a brutal weapon of political power," he said.

Freeman Pushing Dairy Support Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman predicts elimination of price supports for milk would reduce annual income of dairy farmers more than $1 billion, or about 20 per cent.

In material being distributed by his department, Freeman says the present administration, if returned to office, again will press for legislation offering incentive payments to dairymen who voluntarily reduce production in times of price-depressing milk surpluses.

A Devotional For The Day

The Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved. (Acts 2:47)

PRAYER: Our Father God, glory be to Thee for setting Thy church in the world to point men to Thee. Unto all who seek to serve it in these troubled times grant power to be as the salt of the earth. Endow with courage all who let their light shine for the sake of Christ, who loved the church and gave Himself for it. In His blessed name we pray. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Early Bird Vikings

Congressional designation of Oct. 9 as Leif Ericson Day comes at a time when significant new evidence of a Viking settlement in the New World is being found and assessed. Artifacts unearthed at L'Anse au Meadow, Newfoundland, suggest more strongly than ever that the Vikings not only landed in North America about 500 years before Columbus, but sought to establish permanent residence.

They failed in the latter attempt. Nevertheless, domestic life continued on our shores for some time. One indication of this is a tiny stone wheel found at L'Anse au Meadow by Anne Stine Ingstad, a Norwegian archeologist whose husband Helge discovered the ancient Norse settlement there. Mrs. Ingstad feels sure the object is a spindle whorl, a fly-wheel for a wool-spinning spindle. It is similar to whorls found in Greenland and Scandinavia, dating back to Viking times.

The little stone wheel suggests that there were women in the Norsemen's party, and that very likely sheep had been brought across the icy waters. As the excavations in Newfoundland continue, a clearer picture of white men's early contact with our part of the world is emerging. The Norse colonization did not take permanent hold, but it has special interest because it was the first.

Prospect Of New State Taxes

The Texas state government is in a rather paradoxical situation financially. It currently is in the best financial condition in many years, but the 1965 legislative session faces a difficult struggle in balancing the next biennial budget.

The one big pause of that swift switch in the state's financial outlook is the urgent need, socially and economically, for Texas greatly to improve its educational effort, especially in higher education. And it must strive to do that without crippling other state programs, many of which already are substandard in comparison with all-state averages.

Alvin A. Burger, executive director of the responsible and independent Texas Research League, recently estimated that the state will have $250 million additional revenue for the 1965-67 budget. The present budget period will end next Aug. 31 with a surplus variously estimated up to $80 million, and existing tax rates will produce more income in an expanding economy. But, as Burger noted, requests for additional appropriations probably will total $400 million. And that $150 million gap will not be closed easily.

Little more than a fourth of the total of increased spending requests is for the state's 165 executive departments and agencies. The $100 million more they are asking undoubtedly will be cut by the Legislature—most of such requests usually are—but wholesale slashes would impair essential state programs.

Even with a maximum of genuinely economical trimming, therefore, the prospect clearly is for one or more new tax levies and/or raising of one or more rates of existing levies. The taxation issue—or where to distribute the added load—promises to be a major, if not the dominant, one facing the 59th Legislature.

David Lawrence

The Spending Congress

WASHINGTON—The 88th Congress, which has just adjourned, was not one of the best nor was it one of the worst in recent years but its work must be considered significant of a trend that could, if not arrested, spell an economic disaster for the United States in the next decade.

Influenced by a tidal wave of uninformed public opinion, the Congress accepted the doctrine that billions of dollars of borrowed money must be spent, no matter whether a budget is balanced or the $300-billion debt is ever reduced. The formula of an artificially managed economy has for the time being been accepted as popular. The art of "managing" not only relates to the development of a larger and larger "public sector," as distinguished from the "private sector," but it includes the ploy of voting vast subsidies for political purposes.

WHAT IS happening is a repeat performance of the 1930s with new labels for the appropriation bills. Instead of a Works Progress Administration—the well known "WPA"—and a Civilian Conservation Corps, the new names of a "war on poverty" and a "domestic peace corps" for youth, work training and work study have been adopted. These will cost many billions of dollars in the next few years.

SOMEHOW NOTHING was done by Congress to remove or even to make a study of the many impediments to the progress of private business. Except for a few investment credits to stimulate expenditure for new plant and equipment, the Congress virtually ignored the fact that the flow of tax receipts can be substantially increased only if private enterprise expands naturally. Business and the professions and the service occupations will absorb the idle workers if there is a sound development of private enterprise.

Today the economy of the United States is bolstered largely by an armament expenditure of more than $50 billion a year. Defense contracts have become the "pork barrel" that public works measures used to supply.

WHEN DOES THE MAIN EVENT BEGIN?

James Marlow

An Irony In Sense Of Justice

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the ironies in America's sense of values is this: while it's a federal crime to threaten the life of a president it is not a federal crime to kill him. For this reason Lee Harvey Oswald did not commit a federal offense when he assassinated President John F. Kennedy and, because he didn't, it was the Dallas police who arrested him for violating the Texas state law against murder.

So federal authorities had no jurisdiction over the case and hence no authority to investigate, to bring charges, or to prosecute the assassin in federal court.

Yet, it would have been a federal crime if Oswald had killed one of the Secret Service agents with Kennedy. Under existing law, in addition to Secret Service men, it is a federal crime to kill U.S. judges, district attorneys and their assistants, U.S. marshals, FBI agents, postal inspectors, prison guards, game wardens, narcotics agents.

IN DEALING with some of the major problems of the presidency Congress has exhibited such a strange reluctance that it comes under the head of inexcusable tardiness.

Immediately after Kennedy's slaying in 1963 it seemed—for a while—that Congress would make it a federal crime to kill, or try to kill, or conspire to kill a president and others in line to succeed him.

But this evaporated. When the seven-man commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren finished its investigation of Kennedy's killing and issued its report on Sept. 28 it strongly recommended making it a federal offense to assassinate a president.

THIS BECOMES doubly odd when it is remembered that in 1955 and 1962 Congress passed additional legislation making it a federal crime to threaten harm to a vice president, a president-elect or other officers in the line of succession to the presidency.

The Warren Commission said presidents have always received threatening letters and the volume became so big by 1940 that the Secret Service set up a protective research section.

Its job was to analyze and make available to those charged with protecting the president—meaning the Secret Service, above all—information from the White House mail and other sources on people considered capable of violence to the president.

Badges To Tag Men?

NEW YORK (AP) — Would life be simpler for women if men were identifying badges telling what type they were? Apparently many girls think so.

Recently I raised the question of whether men wouldn't be happier if women were identifying badges. I suggested appropriate symbols for the three main kinds of females:

1. The independent, man-scorning superwoman.
2. The dependent independent gal who tries to take a man's job from him, but still expects him chivalrously to tip his hat to her while she's doing it.
3. The clinging vine.

Somewhat to my surprise, my suggestion stirred up a feminine storm—which, I suppose, is what always happens when a mere man tries to ease the stress between the sexes.

Women wrote in from all over the country denouncing me.

All the ladies flatly rejected the idea of wearing identity badges to please men. They said they wouldn't do that for any man, be he Adam or the fellow in the moon. They said no woman in her right mind would put her mitt that far.

A considerable number of ladies suggested I had the shoe on the wrong foot. They thought it would be a better idea if men wore identifying badges so a poor girl would know what to expect.

None suggested a badge for married men. Apparently a married man can be told at a glance by the ring on his finger, the ring through his nose, or the mortgaged expression on his face.

What kind of badges should single men wear? Well, here are a few of the symbols the ladies suggested for what seem to be familiar male types to them:

A pair of pliers—"This is for the middle-aged office Romeo whose main goal in life seems to be to try to pinch a girl in unexpected places—like behind the filing cabinet."

A picture of Whistler's mother—"My boy friend doesn't want a wife—he wants another mother. He has to be babied so much that I'm thinking of sewing him some rompers for Christmas."

A heel—"Show me a bachelor that isn't a heel, and you'll have to show me one I've never met."

One girl, after considering the idea of men wearing badges, finally dismissed it as unnecessary.

"All men are bums, and every girl in her right mind finds it out sooner or later," she wrote.

"So what good would badges be? A bum is a bum."

On this profound note, let us drop the whole project.

How Mental Illness Sometimes Reveals Itself

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 26-year-old son started acting strangely five years ago. He had always been such a wonderful person, friendly, gentle and well-liked. Then his personality seemed to change gradually and he became so unlike himself it was hard to believe.

We went to a psychiatrist who did nothing but talk. He finally decided to join the Army and the doctor thought it might be good for him.

He served three years, two overseas. After returning home he seemed normal for a short time but in seven months he entered a private hospital for psychiatric treatment. In three weeks he was much improved, but he should have stayed longer. He refused to take his medicine after coming home, and gradually went back to not being himself.

It finally became impossible to live around him. We were afraid he might do something drastic, and we just had to get a court order for him to be confined. After several months of treatment he is his old loving self again. So far he is taking his medicine and we pray he continues to do so.

One thing I am wondering about: When he was 16 he had X-ray treatments for acne. Would that be in any way connected with his trouble now? We have tried for years to find some reason. His condition is schizophrenia, they say.—A.B.C.

I am quoting your letter almost in full because it is such a vivid example of how mental illness sometimes reveals itself—gradually.

It is natural for people to try to find some reason for the condition, but they rarely can. (Dismiss the X-ray idea completely.)

While we know a good deal about mental (or rather emotional) illness, there is still a vast amount more which we must learn.

Basically, let's put it this way: Each individual has a certain level of emotional pressure which he can tolerate. Some a little; some a lot.

We do not all like or dislike the same things. And so, for each of us, the thing that creates tension or emotional pressure can be different. Sometimes this tension comes for a young person believing that he OUGHT to do something that he dislikes.

In some instances it has been a matter of a son being told (or sometimes just believing, incorrectly, perhaps) that he is supposed to follow in dad's footsteps and run the family business, when what he really WANTS to do is to be a mechanic or forest ranger, or whatever.

I don't say that's the case here. It can be anything. But a psychiatrist, by careful interviewing, often can uncover some deeply hidden problem. Your son evidently did well in the Army. He has responded to treatment twice in hospitals. At last he is taking his medicine.

Some cities and states now have "day care" hospitals, or centers, for patients who, after treatment, still need some further help. See if this is available near your home. If not, talk to the hospital doctors, and see if they can't refer you to a psychiatrist, near you, who can, with occasional treatments, help keep your son from slipping back again. He shows some hopeful signs.

Diverticulosis is a bulge in the digestive tract. To become more familiar with the subject, write in care of The Herald for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Birthday

Sixty years ago today Tom Jordan and Will Hayden, armed with the traditional shirital of type and a crude press, produced the first issue of a newspaper known as the Big Springs Herald.

Of the half a dozen papers which saw the light of day here, this alone was destined to reach maturity. This was due in no small measure to the character, skill and tenacity of the founders and to a gift for keeping the Herald close to the people it served. Hard work and a willingness to ride out the tough times in hopes of better ones played their part, too.

THIS PARTNERSHIP lasted for more than a score of years, when Mr. Tom took over by himself and held the reins until after he had gone daily, felt the job was too crushing. He sold the paper in 1929 to its present owners.

The founder was a man of integrity. When the flamboyant oil promoter sought to get him to print a special edition proclaiming the discovery of oil near here and asked what it would cost, Mr. Tom replied: "Not a cent if you've got what you say. If you haven't, all the money in the world won't get you a line."

HE HAD a sparkling sense of humor, too. Once in the midst of our frequent dry spells, he decided to advertise for an editor. "I'm tired of lying about this country," he quipped. Nevertheless, he believed deeply in the opportunity of the country and had boundless enthusiasm for it. He was a man of courage, not afraid to stand his ground, yet he was tolerant of other views. He was warm and sympathetic, a down-to-earth individual.

HIS SUCCESSORS have attempted to carry on in much the same condition. During the boom days it was difficult just trying to produce the size of paper that easy business commanded. Then suddenly came the depression, and it was almost sheer desperation trying to hold on. During this period, the Herald probably sank to its lowest ebb in vigor, morale and influence.

Finally it became apparent that the patient would survive. In April 1936 there was issued a big, fat special "Decade of Development" edition. From that time things seemed to mend, though not without downs as well as ups. Again in 1949, to pace the big centennial celebration, the Herald issued its biggest paper, over 200 pages. There followed the greatest wave of development in the city's history.

ALTHOUGH IT DID not originate all of them, the Herald had its hand in many major projects such as the establishment of the Big Spring State Hospital, the creation of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, better school financing, needed municipal improvements (including the Master Plan), good roads and the county unit plan, close contact between the air base and the community just as between other institutions and the community, and encouragement of churches, in fairness as a matter of principle.

THE HERALD seldom has been a hell-raiser, as some imagine a paper should be, although it has risen in righteous wrath when it felt the occasion demanded. Rather, the Herald has conceived its role as that of a builder, a prodder, a pusher, a pricker of community conscience. Few papers have devoted so much space to encouraging the worthwhile activities of other agencies.

The Herald is not so presumptuous as to think that as it does, so goes the community, but it is deeply conscious of its responsibility in community leadership. This is regarded as a great trust and an obligation which must be exercised.

UNDERLYING ALL this, the Herald has sought to be a faithful, objective chronicler of the events of today, realizing that news events now will be the history of our locality and its people just a few years hence.

The Herald is human, afflicted with its share of faults, but it is restless to do better. It aspires to be the kind of a neighbor on whom the people can depend for information, inspiration and compassion. —JOE PICKLE

The Plowman And The Professor

WASHINGTON — At Pearl Harbor the Army and Navy officials were not exchanging information about the enemy. At Dallas the FBI (Justice Department) and the Secret Service (Treasury Department) were not exchanging information about the assassin.

At Pearl Harbor there were the usual late parties by Army and Navy personnel on the Saturday night before the fateful attack. At Fort Worth the federal agents charged with protecting the President went out on a binge the night before he would be killed.

AFTER PEARL HARBOR, President Roosevelt turned to the Supreme Court—in the person of Justice Roberts — to set up a probe. After Dallas, President Johnson turned to the Supreme Court—in the person of Chief Justice Warren—to set up a probe. Do we know it about Dallas?

"State a moral case to a plowman and a professor," wrote Thomas Jefferson. "The former will decide it as well, and often better than the latter, because he has not been led astray by artificial rules."

THERE IS A "plowman" and a "professor" in all of us. The plowman, I think, will see something in the Warren Report that Senator Goldwater has been talking about during his campaign—the bigness of government, its clumsiness, the vast impersonality of its bureaucracy when it comes to taking care of the persons under its protection, its oft-proven unreliability at self-investigation.

But the professor which is in us all, tends to be fascinated by logic-chopping and "psychology." The Warren Commission undertook a tough assignment. It said in its own behalf:

"BECAUSE OF the difficulty of proving negatives, the possibility of others being involved with either Oswald or Ruby cannot be established categorically, but if there is any such evidence it has been beyond the reach of all the investigative agencies and resources of the United States and has not come to the attention of the commission."

With this half-apology, the Commission went on to write a heart-rending, true-to-life whodunit. The Report declared that Oswald, and he alone, planned and executed the foul deed at Dallas. The Commission exonerated Russia, Communist Cuba and Red China from any guilt in the crime. Further, it provided readers of the Report with a "psychoanalysis" of Oswald and showed him to be a jealous, lonely, inner-directed hater—the criminal to fit the crime.

BUT I WONDER to whom the Report speaks more clearly—to the plowman or to the professor which lurk in the American mind? (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Men Are Men The World Over

BUDAPEST, Hungary — The short, stocky body of Prof. Imre Vajda (pronounced Voyda) stands proudly erect. His hair is white, but his years—64—could account for that. Surely, he doesn't look like a scholar who spent six years in jail, from 1950 to 1956.

His eyes sparkle with directness. He carries the ravage of political confinement fearlessly—as a badge of honor.

HE WAS a victim of what is now referred to as Rakosi's Cult of Personality. From 1945 to 1956 Rakosi was the power in Hungary as Stalin was in the Soviet Union.

Today Prof. Vajda lectures at the Karl Marx University of Economics, which commands a magnificent view of the Danube from the Pest side of the river.

At one time, Vajda was Hungary's chief economic planner, and though he is no longer an active participant in the process of directing production and distribution of goods and services, he knows what goes on. It's his profession.

"THE NEW five-year plan, starting in 1966," he told me, "will be based on market conditions. The old form of planning is obsolete. It gave primogeniture to production."

"I think I understand," I said. "When goods were short, anything that was produced was needed and could be sold."

"That's correct," he answered. He has a wide, fluent command of English, as his choice of words—big words—indicate. "Production," he declared, "could be predominant when everything was scarce."

"Before 1956, the average level of income was 1,000 forints a month."

This is less than $50 at the present tourist rate of 23 forints for the dollar. But in terms of buying power (prices are much lower in Hungary than in the U. S.) it's considerably more than $50 in the U. S.

THE CONVERSATION veered to method: How could planning be adapted to the needs of the consumers? Should factory managers be granted greater latitude to determine their own types of production and to set prices?

Prof. Vajda smiled and shook his head. "Some factory managers want more freedom," he replied. "Some, but only some. If you could take a Gallup Poll, you'd find that the majority would prefer the security of the system they're accustomed to. They'd rather have someone else set their norms, and then all they have to do is meet those norms and collect their bonuses."

"MOST MANAGERS are not prepared for the storms which would go with independence. We have to fight against bureaucracy at all levels of our society."

Thus did Prof. Vajda explain why there has been so much talk and so little action in introducing flexibility in production in the Soviet Union and other planned Communist societies. Men are men, wherever they are.

THE VESTED interests—the planners who don't want to give up power and the managers who don't want to give up security—ally themselves against change. Competitive elasticity might undermine their places in the hierarchy—diminish their incomes and deprive them of their cars and other emoluments of power. A wise man, Prof. Vajda.

OU, Illinois And Wildcats Given Nods

TOKYO (AP) — A word that sounds exactly like Ohio means good morning in Japanese. So Ohio to you, too. And, to the Illinois football team as well in its meeting with Ohio State Saturday in a game that could decide the Big Ten title.

The whine of the jet dulled the senses to such an extent last weekend that there were only questionmark winners among the questionmark decisions for a questionmark percentage.

Here are this week's winners, obtained by stirring the tea with chopsticks.

Illinois over Ohio State: A close one but Dick Butkus, the staunch Illini center and line-backer, gets the nod over Buckeye Tom Barrington.

Oklahoma over Texas: If the Sooners blow this one, new coach Gomer Jones will be available for a Senate race.

Dartmouth over Princeton: In recent years this tussle, usually the finale of the season, has decided the Ivy League. The game still will be decisive with Dartmouth bottling up Cosmo Iacavazzi.

Kentucky over Florida State: The Seminoles boast their line is the strongest in the South, but that was before they met Messrs. Norton and Bird of Kentucky.

Notre Dame over Air Force: Once upon a time they spelled the name Johnny Lujack. Now it is spelled Johnny Huarte. Irish names, of course?

Army over Penn State: Coach Rip Engle of Penn State says the Seminoles boast their line is the strongest in the South, but that was before they met Messrs. Norton and Bird of Kentucky.

Alabama over North Carolina State: The Crimson has found a way of winning without scoring a touchdown, so make the margin this time by three safeties to none.

Michigan State over Michigan: From 5,000 miles away, the difference is only fractional. The home field is the difference.

Syracuse over UCLA: Fred Little and his bounding play-mates to master the UCLANS.

Navy over Georgia Tech: The Midshipmen learned at Michigan that last year's press clippings don't mean a thing now. It is a Friday night schedule.

Florida over Mississippi: The Gators' entire season has been built on the premise that Ole Miss can be beaten.

On the other hand, it was World Series baptism for the 23-year-old Sadecki, the Cardinals' lone 20-game winner.

In fact, only three Cardinals — shortstop Dick Groat, outfielder Bob Skinner and pitcher Roger Craig — have had World Series experience.

There isn't a Yankee regular without Series experience except Mel Stottlemyre, the rookie right-hander. He is expected to oppose Bob Gibson, the Cardinals' fireballing ace, in the second game.

St. Louis southpaw Curt Simmons and New York right-hander Jim Bouton are likely starters in the third game Saturday at Yankee Stadium, following a day off due to travel.

Both teams engaged in a preliminary workout Tuesday at Busch Stadium where Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, Joe Pepitone and Elston Howard impressed Keane with their long drives over and against the short right-field porch.

"If there is an edge," said Keane, "I guess you have to give it to the Yankees because of their home-run power. They hit more homers than we do over a season's play, but in one game or in a short series, we can hit as many home runs as they."

"We've got three or four men who can hit the ball out of the park. Lou Brock, our left fielder, can hit the ball as hard as anybody in baseball and that includes Mantle."

Keane was unperturbed about the odds favoring the Yankees. "The odds mean nothing to us," he said. "We have come through all the pressure of a pennant race and it was helpful in preparing the players for the series. We'll take it one game at a time."

Yogi Berra, St. Louis-born manager of the Yankees, like Keane, expected a "tough" Series.

"They've got a good hitting club," he said. "And they've got good speed. You can't take them lightly."

Rizzuto Will Be At Mike Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Allen, known as the voice of the Yankees, will not be the Yankees' representative on the TV-radio team at the World Series opening today in St. Louis. In his place will be Phil Rizzuto, a former star shortstop for the Yankees.

Odessa Broncs Slow To Awaken: Patton

Coach Cliff Patton Tuesday night described Odessa High as a sleeping football giant which needs only to be awakened to become one of the great Class AAAA teams in the state. Patton was delivering a scouting report to members of the Quarterback Club at the High School Cafeteria.

Patton said the Bronchos showed signs of coming out of their coma against McAllen last weekend. The Red Hosses who are coached by Bradley Mills, come here Friday night to help the Big Spring Steers open District 2-AAAA play at 8 o'clock.

The Big Spring scout said it was impossible to see the potential that Odessa has on film.

"If a fire could be built under them," Patton added, "they could play any college team in the country. They have the size and the speed in the backfield."

"You can't write it down and figure in any way that we can win the game," the coaching aide-added.

Larry Priddy, the Bronchos' big fullback, is the workhorse of the backfield, Patton stated. The 203-pound senior carries the ball for Odessa more than 50 percent of the time.

Stop him and you've gone a long way toward stopping Odessa, Patton said in substance. The Bronchos make good use of cross bucks, are real quick on their handoffs in the backfield and stick principally to the ground in their offense, although they will pass occasionally to keep the defense honest.

Odessa uncovered a new hero last week against McAllen, when halfback Ray Goddard came off the bench to score two touchdowns for the Cuyases against McAllen.

Goddard is a 143-pound junior who has been playing on the Odessa B team.

Skippy Spruill, a 228-pound senior, is the Odessa leader up front and has already been nominated for the All-State team. He's only one of several giants in the Odessa primary, however—the Bronchos have one of the largest lines in the state.

A film of the Lubbock-Odessa game was screened for the benefit of the spectators. Head coach Don Robbins narrated the film.

He said his boys were conceding nothing to the Odessans and he expected them to acquire themselves well in the contest.

He described Priddy as a boy who has yet to lose a yard while carrying the ball and said Odessa's big linemen play a waiting game, control to control the play once it gets to them.

Odessa, he added, makes good use of the country sweep and has the overall speed to make it work. The Cuyases have a sophomore punter who is the equal of any in the district. The Odessans are prone to use a pro set a lot but only for a change of pace.

He singled out tackle Lane Cooper and end Tommy Townsend as Odessa's best offensive linemen. Among other things, he stated that Odessa made good use of the wall on its punt returns and revealed that three key fumbles in the Bronchos' game against Lubbock cost them field position and eventually cost them the decision. Lubbock came from behind to win that game, 7-6.

Two Big Spring players definitely will miss the conference opener, Robbins stated. One is Bobby Griffin, quick end, who suffered a head injury on the opening play of the season's first game, and back Willie Roy Johnson, who suffered a kidney bruise in practice last Friday.

Freddie Stuart, the former HJJC hurdler great, is now the high school principal at Roby, where the Coahoma Bulldogs played football last weekend.

Freddie and his wife have two strapping boys.

Quite probably, coach Hayden Fry has had second thoughts about Jerry Rhome, the passing wizard who left SMU to enroll at Tulane.

SMU sorely needs a bomber with Rhome's talents. Jerry completed 11 straight passes in a recent game against Arkansas.

Orville Henry, the Little Rock newsman, says Rhome is the equal of Baylor's great Don Trull.

Brundage Is Renamed Olympic Group Prexy

TOKYO (AP) — Re-election of Avery Brundage as president of the International Olympic Committee gives the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States a powerful ally in its power struggle with the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Brundage, the stern, 74-year-old Chicago hotelman who holds strict views on amateurism, won out in a secret ballot over Lord David Broughley, Marquess of Exeter, who takes a somewhat more liberal view of the amateur code.

The vote was announced Wednesday as unanimous but this was on a motion by Pakistan after the sealed ballots had been counted. It probably was fairly close in the 70-man committee.

Koy Delivers When Going Is Roughest

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Injuries have sidelined Texas tailback Ernie Koy for much of his last two seasons, and the Longhorn workhorse is doing all he can to make up for lost time.

He's so intent on catching up he didn't realize what all the commotion was about at Tuesday's practice session when photographers told him he had been picked as Back of the Week by The Associated Press.

The 6-foot-3, 225-pound senior thought a Texas newspaper had made the selection — not a national poll.

"It kinda surprised me," Koy told an interviewer after stammering "really?" and "golly!" several times.

"He put on a good show," Coach Darrell Royal said. "I guess he deserved it. He delivered under pressure situations."

Royal referred to Koy's performance in top-ranked Texas' 17-6 victory over Army Saturday.

Koy kept Texas drives alive with four vital fourth-down runs, and passed Texas out of another fourth-down spot, ran for both touchdowns while eating up 73 yards rushing, and kicked for a 49-yard average, including a 71-yard quick-kick which set up Texas' final tally.

"I guess that was about my best game," Koy said.

He won early recognition at Texas with his punting, and gained the only berth held by a sophomore on the 1962 Longhorn starting team. He dropped out with a knee injury that year, however, and a shoulder injury knocked him out of the last eight games last season.

They'll Be Rooting For Cards

Yanks Test Power With Cards' Speed

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — It's New York power against St. Louis speed, crafty Whitey Ford against youthful Ray Sadecki, and World Series-hardened veterans against a relatively inexperienced crew as the Yankees and Cardinals open the autumn classic today.

The best-of-seven games will decide baseball's world championship.

The Yankees, 17-to-10 favorites to win their 21st post-season title in 29 attempts, were handicapped somewhat by the absence of regular shortstop Tony Kubek. He had missed the last two weeks of the season because of a jammed wrist.

Officially out for the entire series, Kubek has been replaced by Mike Hegan, rookie first baseman and son of Yankee bullpen coach Jim Hegan.

Phil Linz, the versatile infielder who plays the harmonica on the side, will play shortstop in Kubek's place and lead off.

The Cardinals, too, are not 100 per cent physically fit.

Uncertainty over second baseman Julian Javier and third baseman Ken Boyer, injured in weekend games with the New York Mets, was eliminated Tuesday when both assured manager Johnny Keane they were ready to play.

Javier injured his left hip in a collision Saturday and did not play in the regular season finale. Boyer pulled a muscle in his left thigh rounding third in the sixth inning of the finale.

"You couldn't keep those fellows out of the Series," said Keane. "They played too hard to get into it."

A sellout crowd of 32,000 was assured with tickets in much demand. Speculators were getting as much as $100 for a pair of box seats.

The weatherman continued to be kind to the St. Louis populace. As it has been throughout the final week of the season, sunny and pleasant weather prevailed with temperatures of 65 to 70 for the Cards' first World Series since 1946.

Starting time was 12 noon, Big Spring time, with all games carried on network NBC radio and television.

On the basis of experience, the Ford-Sadecki duel appeared to be a mismatch. This was the eighth opening game assignment for the 22nd Series start for the 35-year-old Ford who turned in a 17-4 record during the regular season.

On the other hand, it was World Series baptism for the 23-year-old Sadecki, the Cardinals' lone 20-game winner.

Rives McBee Is Standout In Amateurs' Victory

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The amateurs, led by Garland's Rives McBee, finally snapped the pros' winning streak at four straight yesterday when they won the Texas Cup Matches by one point. The score was 20-19.

McBee not only had a hole-in-one but he shot a three-under-par 68 to beat Joe Moore Jr. of San Antonio and picked up six points.

The 31st Texas Cup Matches were played over the 6,700-yard Pecan Valley Country Club course as part of Texas PGA Week in San Antonio.

The 72-hole PGA Tournament, with $5,000 in prize money, will start Thursday.

McBee and Dave Eichelberger of Waco were the big amateur winners in the Cup Matches. Eichelberger picked up five points with a victory over Shelby Mayfield of Dallas.

The pros led by four points after the doubles matches but the amateurs made their move in the singles.

Byron Nelson, captain of the pros, and Everett Vinzant scored the most decisive victory for the pros in the doubles, beating McBee and Richard Yates of Corpus Christi 5-up for five points. But Nelson was able to break even only with Randy Petri of Austin in the singles.

Willard Wood scored the biggest victory for the pros when he trimmed Yates 5-up for five points.

The Texas Cup Matches stand 18 for the pros, 12 for the amateurs, and 1 tie.

Rockets Defeat Blackshear 11

Big Spring Lakeview sprang a prize upset here Tuesday night, defeating San Angelo Blackshear by a score of 14-12.

The defeat was the first of the season for Blackshear. Big Spring is 3-0. The Rockets do not return to play until Oct. 27, at which time they oppose Blackshear in San Angelo.

Lakeview never trailed in the contest. The Rockets had one touchdown called back in the second on a clipping penalty that moved the ball back to the San Angelo 21.

The Rockets scored on the next play, however, when Senial Johnson passed to Claud Tucker. Tucker took the ball on the six and breezed on over.

A pass from Tommy Mitchell to Tucker failed to get the extra points.

Lakeview scored again before the second period ended on a 66-yard drive. The Rockets were spearheaded by Hubert Williams and Leonard Evans, who were effective on pichtouts.

Evans got the tally on a seven-yard run around left end on a pichtout. Evans then added the extra points on a run.

San Angelo fairly well dominated play in the second half. Lakeview was able to get across the 50-yard line only twice and never maneuvered past the 40.

In the third period, Blackshear scored on a 71-yard march, Rose getting the six-pointer from 20 yards away. The visitors, however, fumbled the conversion try.

In the fourth, San Angelo recovered a fumble on Big Spring's 15 and drove on in, Hoilis counting from the one.

On offense, center Cleveland Gossett and guards Don Foreman and Alfred Hastings were outstanding in the Lakeview line. On defense, the whole team stood out, particularly end Thomas Jones and linebackers Tucker, Albert Wilburn and Seminal Johnson.

Odessan Winner At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Texas lightweight champion Henry Dominguez of Odessa ended Richard Medrano's winning streak at 17 Tuesday night when he beat the Austin fighter on a technical knockout in the fourth round.

Medrano suffered a broken jaw.

He had been undefeated as a pro and held a decision over former world's lightweight champion Joe Brown.

Odessa Game Ducats Ready

Choice reserve seat tickets for Big Spring's Friday night football game here with Odessa High went on sale at the School Business Office this morning and will remain available through Friday afternoon.

Don Crockett, who is in charge of ticket sales, said he had sent 500 adult and many students ducats to Odessa for distribution. All are for locations in the East stands.

The adult tickets here sell for $1.50 each.

Crockett also revealed that the final count on season ticket sales here amounted to 856.

Brundage Is Renamed Olympic Group Prexy

TOKYO (AP) — Re-election of Avery Brundage as president of the International Olympic Committee gives the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States a powerful ally in its power struggle with the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Brundage, the stern, 74-year-old Chicago hotelman who holds strict views on amateurism, won out in a secret ballot over Lord David Broughley, Marquess of Exeter, who takes a somewhat more liberal view of the amateur code.

The vote was announced Wednesday as unanimous but this was on a motion by Pakistan after the sealed ballots had been counted. It probably was fairly close in the 70-man committee.

Lineman Of The Week

John Van Sicklen (above) Iowa State University tackle is the Associated Press Lineman of the Week. Van Sicklen, 216-pound senior from Walled Lake, Mich., was named by a poll of AP sports writers and broadcasters for his play against Nebraska last Saturday when he made 11 unassisted tackles and helped on six others. (AP Wirephoto)

No Decision Forthcoming

CLEVELAND (AP) — Decision postponed because of indecision. A new decision is due Oct. 16 — maybe. That about sums up what happened after 18 of the Cleveland Indians' 22 directors huddled for four hours Tuesday at Municipal Stadium to decide whether or not to American League club will stay here for the 1965 season.

General Manager Gabe Paul said directors will meet again Oct. 16 "for further study, investigation and consideration." City Hall expressed disappointment over the postponement. Council President James V. Stanton said directors were using "regrettable judgment" in the delay. Mayor Ralph S. Locher, who headed a Keep-The-Indians-Here drive, said he was disappointed because "Indians" fans would like to know and we are entitled to know.

The Indians' franchise is being wooed by Seattle, Atlanta, Oakland and about eight other cities, which have not been named.

It is believed the postponement will give civic groups a chance to continue their campaign to sell 4,500 advance season tickets for next year. Paul said the Oct. 16 date is "definitely not a deadline" to reach the ticket goal, which would amount to an advance sale of about $900,000.

Van Sicklen Is Lineman Of Week

By The Associated Press
Nebraska beat Iowa State 14-7 last week and the Cornhuskers probably consider themselves fortunate they don't have to meet John Van Sicklen again. Van Sicklen plays tackle for Iowa State and his ferocious play against Nebraska earned him the nod today as the Lineman of the Week in The Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Van Sicklen, a 216-pound senior from Walled Lake, Mich., made 11 unassisted tackles and helped on six others. He was such a nuisance in the Nebraska backfield that Cornhusker coach Bob Devaney said afterwards: "Van Sicklen forced us to aim most of our plays outside to keep away from him."

Texas Politics On U. S. Level

By The Associated Press

The national campaign continued to loom large in Texas politics today.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., was winding up three days in the state to plug for the re-election of Sen. Ralph Yarborough, the Texas Democrat.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., got in some more plugs, meanwhile, for Sen. Barry Goldwater, the GOP presidential nominee—and Goldwater scheduled a return to the state for speeches Thursday at Lubbock and El Paso.

Activities on various fronts again underscored the importance attached by both major parties to carrying President Lyndon Johnson's home state.

"I believe the American people want victory over communism," Tower said in a Paris speech for Goldwater, "and that victory can be achieved without firing a shot by returning to the policy of peace through strength. You can't whip the Communists by selling them wheat on credit."

VITAL RACE

At a reception in Yarborough's Austin headquarters, McGovern described the Texas Democrat's bid for another term as "the most important Senate race in the United States in 1964," an absolutely critical race. Waco and Hillsboro were the final stops in Texas today for McGovern.

George Bush, the Republican seeking to succeed Yarborough in the Senate, declared at San Angelo as he crossed West Central Texas by bus:

"There is less Texas oil production, more imported oil, fewer rigs running and—more important—fewer oil jobs available since Ralph Yarborough took office."

"I propose a positive program of freeing regulations on gas producers at the wellhead, retention of the depletion allowance and the return to a meaningful oil import program."

In addition, Bush asserted that "prices of basic Texas products—cotton and cattle—have declined while cattle imports increased and cotton exports decreased while Yarborough has been in office." He said at another point that there was "not one single example of Yarborough's helping bring a private industry into our state."

FAIR PARADE

Yarborough went to Angleton for a parade opening the Brazoria County Fair and spoke at evening rallies in the Dallas area. He said greater social security benefits and social security financing of hospital care for the aged should be major goals in the next session of Congress.

Next on Yarborough's itinerary for today were Borger, Dumas, Dalhart, Hereford and Amarillo.

John Trice, the Republican seeking to unseat Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, asserted in a Gatesville talk that Carr's report on the Texas probe of the Kennedy assassination was "a weak echo of the study made public in Washington." He added that "Carr put out some criticism of the press which is nothing but a coverup for his inaction."

John Matthews, the GOP nominee for land commissioner, said at Childress that incumbent Jerry Sadler spends "only about a fourth of his time in the land office. . . . I think the land commissioner should make himself available to the people—not turn over the responsibility of office to his chief clerk."

Trees Tipsters If Air Polluted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pine trees that tell when the air is polluted — even what it is polluted with — are being developed by the U. S. Forest Service.

This research began after plant pathologists at the Southeastern Forest Experimental Station at Asheville, N. C., noticed varying degrees of injury on individual white pines exposed to the same pollutant in the same area.

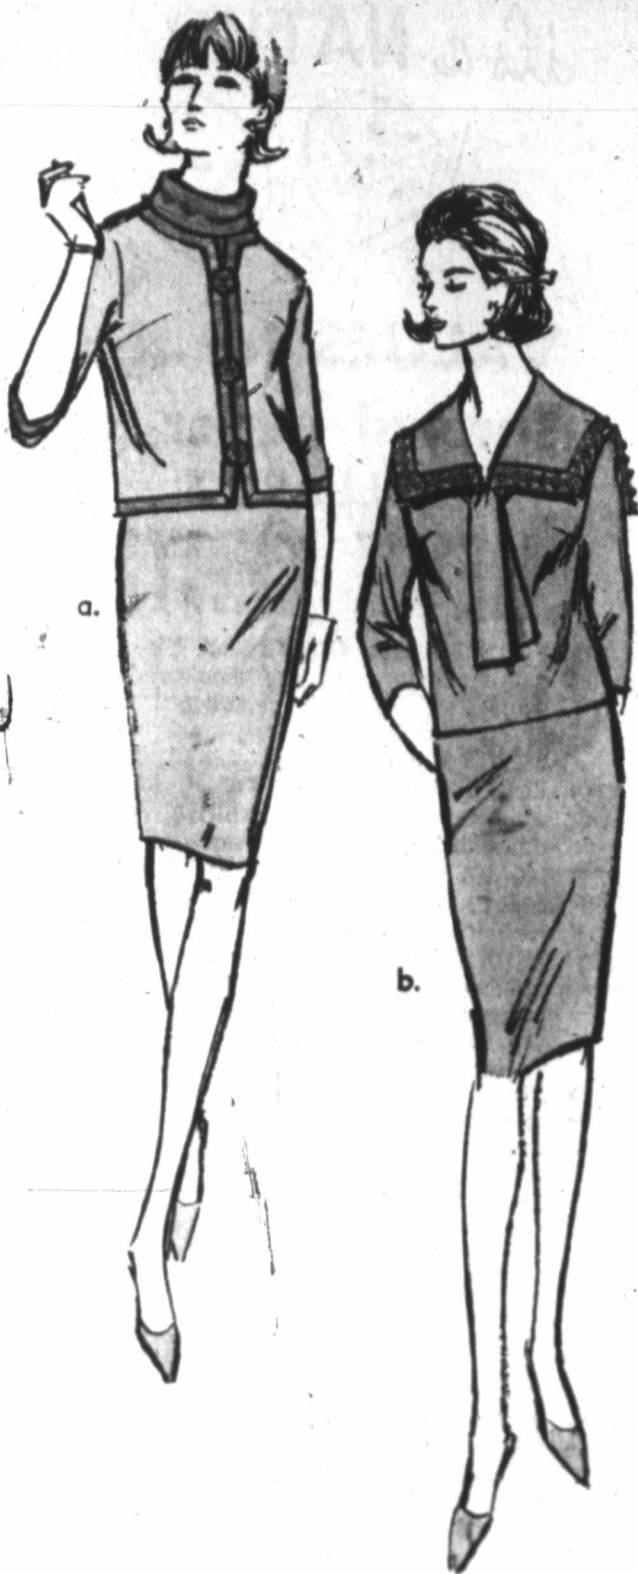

Previous observations led scientists to believe that some pine tree seedlings will respond to a single pollutant and be resistant to others. Such seedlings will be valuable, the pathologists believe, as biological indicators of specific substances.

The Agriculture Department has reported air pollutants are costing farmers millions of dollars a year in losses of crops, livestock and trees.

The food standards, when developed, would be voluntary in nature — that is, there would be no supplementary laws in the United States or other countries requiring that they be followed by food canners and other processors.

International food and health officials believe that enlightened self-interest would encourage many processors to abide by the standards because they could increase sales both in their home countries and in export markets.

Because they would be voluntary in nature, it would not be necessary that the code be set forth in a treaty among governments, subject, in this country, to Senate ratification.

Impure Food Code Pressed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The groundwork is being laid for an international code designed to ban impure foods, questionable additives and possibly harmful residues of pesticides from grocery stores and markets around the world.

The establishment of such standards is a major project of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization and the U.N. World Health Organization, with the United States playing an active role in the movement.

The food standards, when developed, would be voluntary in nature — that is, there would be no supplementary laws in the United States or other countries requiring that they be followed by food canners and other processors.

International food and health officials believe that enlightened self-interest would encourage many processors to abide by the standards because they could increase sales both in their home countries and in export markets.

Because they would be voluntary in nature, it would not be necessary that the code be set forth in a treaty among governments, subject, in this country, to Senate ratification.

LBJ Suite Cost Charge Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has rejected a Republican charge that a suite of offices being built for President Johnson's use will add $2.65 million to the cost of a new federal building in Austin, Tex.

In a statement Tuesday night, the General Services Administration disputed a claim by F. Clifton White, director of Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, that the building originally was to cost $7,350,000 but that addition of the Johnson suite had jacked the cost up to $10 million.

"The final cost of the building will be slightly under $8 million," the statement said.

It said further that while "a portion of one floor" was being made available for possible occupancy by President Johnson, "no specific requirements have been made of the agency by the White House for this purpose."

TEXAS TEMPLE
White said the suite includes oak panels and a fireplace big enough to accommodate 10-foot logs. He referred to it as Johnson's Texas temple.

The GSA said it "is authorized by law to provide space for senators, members of the House and former presidents of the United States."

"The agency does already provide suitable office space for President Hoover in New York City, President Truman in Independence, Mo., and President Eisenhower in Gettysburg, Pa."

It said that the Austin building was authorized by Congress in spring of 1960, during the last year of Eisenhower's presidency. Of the $12,929,000 total construction cost, $10,864,000 was authorized for construction.

When the actual contract was awarded for construction in December 1962, it totaled $7,350,000, the GSA said.

It added that such things as "normal change order activity," "a jurisdictional strike" and overtime to enable the Internal Revenue Service to occupy the building before the start of the next tax year had brought the cost near $8 million.

OVERTIME COST
White said that according to press reports considerable overtime was being paid so that Johnson could hold a "victory celebration in the suite Nov. 3.

The GSA said: "It is not and has never been contemplated that any portion of this building will be completed in any part of the month of November."

An Associated Press reporter spent about four minutes in the building Tuesday before a building superintendent told him to leave and not to come back without GSA permission.
