County's Budget Is Set Higher

Lubbock county will operate on a budget of $250,440.65, for 1938, as approved at a meeting of the commissioner's court Monday. The total is approximately $12,000 greater than the current budget, for 1937, but only about $7,000 larger than the 1936 budget.

Tax rate for the current year was set at 50 cents per $100 valuation. This is the same as for 1936. Valuation for last year was $22,321,186. This year's valuation has not been announced, but is believed to be slightly greater than last year.

Taxes Set Monday

Monday the commissioners set a poll tax of 25 cents, to be collected at the same time the state collects its $1.50 poll tax. An occupation tax for the county, equal to one half of the state rate, was likewise approved.

County Auditor Joe Y. Boyd submitted a budget, which was given approval. It includes the following estimated figures for 1938: current ad valorem, $94,953.50; delinquent taxes, $26,157.93; other resources, $129,445.21; total revenue, $250,440.64; cash balance, $58,789.83; total resources, $309,230.47; approved budget, $250,440.64; excess $58,-

Allred Posts $500 Reward In Attack

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred sharply denounced today the tarring and feathering of a Socialist organizer in Dallas recently and posted a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone connected with the offense.

The governor acted at request of the American Civil Liberties union. The state department of public safety already had begun an investigation and rewards of $1,000 and $100 had been offered by the union and the Socialist party of Texas, respectively.

Declaring the mistreatment of Herbert Harris, the organizer, "a shameful thing" governor Allred said neither "flogging nor the tarring business" would be tolerated in Texas. We do not want violence from any source. If local authorities can't stop violence, then we will for them."

Lawrence Rea Is Victim Of Own Gun At Houston

Suspect In Robberies And Death Of Austin Man Is Surrounded But Chooses His Own Death

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Aug. 16.—Thirty-one-old Lawrence Rea, Oklahoma native whose trail of crime stretched from California to Texas, shot himself to death today when officers sought to drive him from a second floor room with tear gas.

Officers said there was no doubt that Rea shot himself when he saw the house was surrounded. Justice Tom Maes returned verdict of suicide.

Suspect In Robberies, Murder

The desperado, wanted as a suspect in a number of recent robberies and at least two slayings, had been "hot" since the robbery two weeks ago of a San Antonio utility firm. He had been identified as the man who killed B. N. Payton and wounded Mrs. Payton and her son at a farm near Austin. Rea was charged with murder in connection with Payton's death.

San Antonio officers were largely responsible for the desperado's ignoble finish. Officers Duke Carver, John Klevenhagen and Cy Heard took up his trail after the utility firm robbery and tracked him to the house where he killed himself rather than surrender.

Shot Heard In House

The officers located Rea in the two-story building and notified the local police and sheriff's offices. Officers surrounded the house, pumped in tear gas. A man and woman ran from the house. Rea didn't appear. A shot was heard within. Donning gas masks, officers went into the house.

They found the dead gunman sprawled on a bed under clothing. A shotgun and large caliber pistol were nearby.

In the room was a pith helmet and a pair of trousers officers identified as belonging to Henry

CULVER CITY, Calif., Aug. 16. (AP)—Into the inflated, much-publicized search for talent for the filming of "Gone With The Wind" were enlisted six Southern girls today.

After they were interviewed by David O. Selznick studio officials the status of the talent hunt was just as it has been for many months, ostensibly.

Hermleigh Man Killed; 6 Hurt Near Snyder

(By The Associated Press)

SNYDER, Aug. 16. — J. L. Bowen, Hermleigh farmer, was killed and six Central Texas tourists were injured in an automobile wreck south of Hermleigh on highway 7 today.

The injured were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daude and daughter, Dola Mae, 11, of Killeen; and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Daude and daughter, Frances, 5, of Copperas Cove. Mrs. Arthur Daube, most seriously injured, was in a critical condition tonight. Of the six injured, only Arthur Daude was able to talk. All are in a Snyder hospital.

The Central Texas residents were en route to Lariat, near Muleshoe, where they were to visit relatives. Their automobile struck the Bowen car head on as the latter drove on to the highway from a side road.

Deaths Of Two Men At Corpus Probed

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 16. (AP)—No arrests had been made here tonight as Corpus Christi police continued their investigation of death of two men in a trailer camp early Monday morning. The men are Marion Lemuel Dickey, 43, and Ivan Yarborough, 27.

Dickey's body was found just outside his trailer home a few minutes after he had been called outside by an unknown man who told him that the Cozy Inn of which Dickey was half owner, was being burglarized. Two bullets passed through his body and officers were of the opinion that they had been fired from a small-bore rifle. Dickey's revolver was found lying under his body with three shells fired.

Forty-five minutes later an elderly woman stumbled across Yarbough's body about 100 feet from where Dickey's body was found on the opposite side of the trailer camp. A revolver bullet was found in Yarborough's body.

Officers were searching for a third man believed to have killed Dickey with a rifle. They were working on the theory that Yarborough probably intervened in Dickey's behalf and may have been killed accidentally.

Senators Almost Fight In Row Over Black

Clash Between Dietrich And Burke Is Averted; Approval Is Given By Committee

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—A fist fight almost broke out among senators today when critics of Senator Hugo L. Black's nomination to the Supreme court began a vigorous, but concededly hopeless, battle to prevent senate confirmation.

Tempers flared to white heat in the senate judiciary committee before that group voted, 13 to 4, to approve the nomination without the public hearings demanded by the opponents.

Burke Makes Charge

A clash between Senator Dietrich (D-Ill) and Burke (D-Neb) culminated when the latter charged physically upon the bulky Dietrich, only to be restrained by other senators.

Burke had proposed that the committe summon Black before it for questioning on his constitutional views, and about his seizure of private telegrams when he was head of the senate lobby investigators.

Angrily Dietrich, without mentioning names, had declared that committee members had attempted to "besmirch" Black in the newspapers by trying to link him with certain organizations. There had been reports that senators might seek to determine whether Black was once supported by the Ku Klux Klan.

Legality Is Questioned

After the committee session, the fight was renewed on the senate floor where opponents declared that Black cannot legally sit on the Supreme bench. They argued that congress in passing an act under which Justice Van Devanter retired (but still remains a member of the court), really created a tenth justiceship.

Black cannot fill that post, they argued, because the Constitution

Congress Bears Down Stretch

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Legislation to close tax loopholes led the administration's battered and curtailed legislative program down the congressional home stretch today.

Leaders, apparently resigned to the Roosevelt wage and hour bill's joining court reorganization on the shelf, concentrated on passing the tax measure and a low cost housing bill before the seven months old session ends, possibly Saturday.

Is Quickly Approved

The house, by a vote of 173 to 0, quickly approved the tax legislation, which was drafted in response to President Roosevelt's recent denunciation of alleged tax avoidance and evasion by the wealthy. The measure now goes to the senate, where leaders plan similar fast action.

Administration leaders championed the legislation, arguing it would bring $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 into the treasury.

Farm Tenancy Aid Delayed

Aonther administration policy—farm tenancy aid—encountered last-minute difficulties in congress during the day. The house appropriations committee recommended that the policy not be put into effect until next year.

Another last-minute controversy developed over wage and hour legislation. Although leaders said there seemed no chance of wresting it

Sinking Earth Crust Dooms Valuable Farm Land In Idaho Section

Bubble ground, settling into a great cavern between the outer crust and the earth's core, gave H. A. Robertson, Buhl, Idaho, farmer, a scenic canyon in his own back yard. But to Robertson, shown surveying the damage, it was anything but grand, for the muffled boom of subterranean landslides and the crack of splitting rock sounded the knell for valuable farm land. More ominous was the fear of geologists that the phenomenon might be followed by an earthquake in south central Idaho. There were indications of an underground air pocket 1500 feet deep and 100 miles long. The canyon developed in 10 days from a small crack to a fissure 300 feet deep.

Idaho's "Sinking Land" Phenomenon Found To Be More Extensive Than First Thought; Damming Of Little Salmon River Feared

(By The Associated Press)

BUHL, Idaho, Aug. 16.—Hazardously exploring land slashed into deep crevaces by queer geological disturbances, newspapermen discovered today that the area of the Buhl "sinking land" phenomenon is more extensive than at first estimated.

Climbing over earth that "rumbled when we stomped our feet," newsmen found the disturbed area, originally thought to include approximately five acres, a region one and a half miles long and half a mile wide.

Rivers Course Narrowed

Exploration showed that the course of the nearby Little Salmon river is being narrowed. In several places it is only four feet wide where formerly the stream flowed through a 25 foot channel.

A large area of farm land, bordering the river, is breaking away and leaning over the water, explorers said.

"When that section falls," one newspapermen said, "it will dam the river to a height of 50 feet. The backwater, spreading out, will seep through the crevaces and the area, softened by water, likely will collapse."

Further collapse of the land would rob farmers of even more valuable acreage.

Two infant canyons, already formed, have not spread during the past two days, H. A. Robertson, on whose farm most of the phenomena is occuring, reported. The canyon bottoms, one of which is now 200 feet below the original surface, are continuing to sink gradually, Robertson said.

Geologists explained that washing out of supports in subterranean lava cavern and alleviation of air pressure is causing the sinking.

Threatening Weather Halts Search For Missing Plane In Far Northland Wastes

(By The Associated Press)

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 16.—Threatening weather over the vast Arctic wastes where six Russian transpolar fliers are missing temporarily delayed a searching flight today by Jimmy Mattern, American ace who owes his life to one of the Soviet airmen.

Levaneffsky

Mattern, who sped here nonstop yesterday the 2,600 miles from Oakland, Calif., continued preparations to join the hunt as soon as weather conditions permitted, possibly later today.

Rain and lowering clouds made flying conditions so bad that Mattern said he would be unable to takeoff today.

Russian agents here who were joined today by A. Vartanian, Soviet representative in Seattle, said they had been advised by Moscow that faint radio signals were heard from the missing plane yesterday Moscow time.

Believed On Polar Waste

Mattern and other fliers in Fairbanks for the search expressed belief the messages indicated Pilot Sigismund Levaneffsky and his five companions had survived a landing in the polar wastes, where they were forced down Friday on an attempted 4,000-mile flight here from Moscow.

Vartanian, who flew here from Juneau, said he would take charge of the hunt for his countrymen. He conferred with Soviet representatives and said he would meet later

Trammel Loses Clemency Plea

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—Two men under death sentences received commutations from Governor James V. Allred today but both the board of pardons and the executive decline to interfere with a similar penalty assessed a third.

The board refused to recommend clemency in behalf of Luke Trammel, sentenced to die in the electric chair August 20 for the slaying of Felix Smith, a prison guard, and Governor Allred said he would take no further action.

Killed In Prison Break

Smith was killed when Trammel, a notorious criminal serving sentences aggregating more than 150 years, and other convicts made a break from the Retrieve prison farm.

On the board's recommendation, Governor Allred commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences of Humphrey Henderson and Harry Aley, both negroes. Aley also was to have been executed August 20, while the date for Henderson's execution was August 30.

The board recommended clemency for Henderson, convicted of slaying

Americans Flee As Struggle Is Intensified

More Than Thousand Killed In Bombing Of City; Terrific Conflict Fought In Area

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17, (Tuesday)—The men of China and Japan fought on and died today in ceaseless, heedless battle that rocked and tore at Shanghai and this tragic city's way of safety to the sea.

Between them the twisting Whangpoo river carried American and other foreign women and children to the broad, safe decks of liners that flew their flags.

There was no way accurately to estimate the dead and dying that have littered the outlying scenes of war since misplaced Chinese aerial bombs killed more than 1,000 and wounded even more than that in the international areas on Saturday.

Chinese Troops Swarm In

This was the fifth day of this strange battle of Shanghai, which shifted from the struggle for an economic grip on the northern provinces and dealt successive blows to Shanghai because the Japanese filled the city with warships and bluejackets and the Chinese army sent troops swarming in—contrary to the truce of 1932. In that year, some 12,000 fell in Sino-Japanese warfare here.

Today and last night, facing both ways from the Whangpoo, Japanese warships afloat and marines ashore locked in desperate combat with evergrowing Chinese armies smashing at their lines from north and south, planes flew and fought en masse.

Along 30-Mile Front

This awful spectacle stretched along a front of some 30 miles, from the Yangtze to the north to well south of this war-awed city of 3,500,000.

Battles raged on all sides of Shanghai's international areas, where the foreign communities awaited daylight to resume the evacuations begun yesterday.

All American women and children were under official orders to

Texas Girl Is Facing Charge In Shooting

WHARTON, Aug. 16. (AP) — A charge of murder today was placed against a 17-year-old girl in the slaying of her stepfather, Jack Watkins, 40, oil well driller.

The girl, Moselle McDaniel, formerly of Carthage, was in jail pending a hearing set for tomorrow.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Siebrecht quoted the girl and members of the family as saying the shooting followed a quarrell between her and Watkins.

The officer said he had been informed Watkins had given the girl permission to take the automobile to Wharton, but to return early. When she failed to return, he said, Watkins went to town to get her and the quarrel followed. Siebrecht said the girl told him Watkins said he would punish her.

Eleven shots from a .22 rifle killed Watkins.

Japan Preparing For War On Huge Scale With China But Without Enthusiasm

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—James A. Mills, dean of Associated Press foreign correspondents, wirelessed today from the S. S. President McKinley, between Japan and Shanghai, the first completely uncensored story of Japan's preparation for war in China.)

By JAMES A. MILLS

ON BOARD THE PRESIDENT McKINLEY, Between Kobe and Shanghai, Aug. 16.—I have left a Japan which is preparing for war in China grimly and on a huge scale but without popular enthusiasm.

Japan soon will have 100,000 fighting men in China, but the masses at home who ultimately must pay for it all, do not like the prospect. Under the stimulus of official propaganda, however, the nation has accepted the conflict reluctantly as a bad job from which there is no backing down.

Already the people are restless under heavy taxation and the high cost of living, but still they deck their homes with rising sun flags and throng to the railway stations to chant "Bonzai" as the troop trains roll out.

The President McKinley, crossing the China sea en route to the Shanghai battle zone, has passed transports carrying 20,000 troops to augment the army and navy forces already fighting in China, which I estimated at 80,000 men.

More thousands are to follow, for I have seen columns of Japanese transports returning home from China ports to em-

Here's Some New Wrinkle Removers For Menu-Worried Housewives

Are you menu weary? At wits end for a new dish to take the sameness out of cooking? Try this rich seasoned dish straight from an old Inn in rural France, and prove to your family that you are clever when it comes to turning lowly vegetables into culinary triumphs. Here are ingredients for baked onion rings and cheese:

Three cups white onions, peeled and sliced; 6 slices buttered toast; 1-4 lb. American cheese, grated; 1 egg, 1 cup milk; 1 tsp. salt; 1-8 tsp. pepper; 1 tbs. butter, and paprika.

Cook onions in boiling salted water until tender. Place 3 slices of buttered toast in bottom of baking dish. Cover with a layer of onions and of cheese. Repeat, using remaining toast, onions, and cheese. Beat egg slightly, add milk, salt and pepper. Pour over contents of baking dish. Dot with butter and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees F., 30 to 35 minutes.

How To Deordorize

This wholesome, filling dish makes an excellent mainstay for a simple dinner. Nor need you worry about the habit of the onion to advertise its presence. Every bit of odor can be dispelled by means of an odorless household deordorant. Get a can, mix some with a little water and spray into the air during or after cooking. When you deodorize as you cook, you find yourself saying good-bye once and for all to embarrassing apologies for the intrusion of kitchen odors into the rest of the house.

Here's New One

Here's something else new along the vegetable line, Cauliflower Royal:

One head cauliflower; 2 tbs. butter; 2 tbs. flour; 1 can cream of tomato soup; 1-4 cup brown buttered crumbs, and 1 tsp. chopped parsley.

Remove all but tender green leaves of cauliflower, soak head down in salted water for 5 minutes and drain. Cook in boiling salted water until tender—about 20 minutes. Melt butter, blend with flour and add tomato soup. Cook and stir until thickened. Pour into serving dish, arrange cooked cauliflower in center and garnish with crumbs and parsley.

An Old Recipe

Now comes Syrian cabbage rolls presented as it has been in small towns of the Near East for hundreds of years:

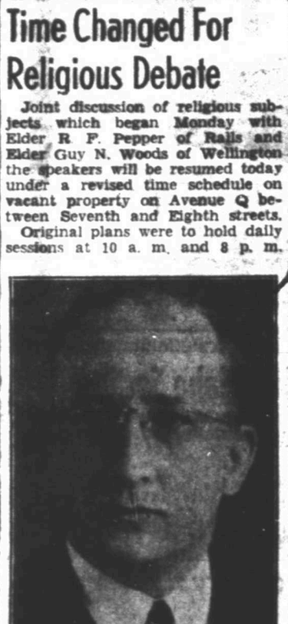

One cup cooked rice; 1 cup cooked minced beef or lamb; 1 tsp. grated onion; 1 head cabbage; 1-2 tsp. salt; 1-8 tsp. pepper, and 2 cups seasoned tomato sauce.

Cook cabbage in boiling salted water for five minutes, drain and separate into leaves. Combine rice, meat, onion and seasonings. Form into small rolls and wrap a cabbage leaf around each. Transfer to heavy frying pan and pour over tomato sauce. Cover and simmer for about 30 minutes.

Mexican Held In Shooting Death

"Six or eight" Mexicans, several of whom were eye witnesses, were questioned yesterday by the district attorney's office in connection with the fatal shooting early Sunday afternoon of Jesus Samudio, 43-year-old Lubbock Mexican, in Mexican quarters here.

Alfredo Albidrez, 18, said in a dictated statement before officers he had fired the shots because he and Samudio had had trouble and "I was afraid of him."

Plan Preliminary Hearing

A preliminary hearing for the Mexican probably will be held tomorrow. Hill Stewart, who will represent Albidrez, charged with murder with "malice aforethought," said he would confer with state's attorneys today and if a preliminary hearing was necessary, it would be asked for Wednesday.

According to information from the district attorney's office, if and when a preliminary hearing is held, the state will ask that the Mexican be held without bond.

Had Previous Trouble

Called in before S. E. McMillan, justice of peace; Burton S. Burks, district attorney, and Victor H. Lindsey, his assistant, the youth said he had had previous trouble with Samudio, whom he referred to as "Fat." He said Fat, captain of the Tigers, Mexican baseball group that was to play a negro team from Slaton, called him a vile epithet, "jerked me around and tore my shirt. I reached in my back right pocket and shot him. When he kept coming I shot him again."

Statements made by other witnesses, however, including Delbert Lara, NYA worker, Sabino Chavez, Santos Chavez, Julian Bustillos, Ysodora Bustillos, C. B. Robles, Conrad Olivas, Marcella Lavato, and Edmando Gusman, some of whom witnessed the shooting, gave a slightly different version. They said Albidrez had been riding a bicycle across chalk lines Samudio had been placing on the diamond and that, when Samudio objected, rode in the direction of the Albidrez residence near the canyon and returned with the gun. Asking Samudio to "come outside here," on the outside of he diamond, he began firing after Samudio had taken "two or three steps" toward him, said the witnesses.

All said Samudio was unarmed.

Physicians were quoted by officials of the sheriff's office and city police as saying either of the wounds would have been fatal.

Albidrez denied he had been riding a bicycle and said he had not been drinking.

The arrest was made by Lewis Kittrell, police patrolman, and Bill Mabray, police identifications officer, swore to the complaint before McMillan. Other officers who assisted with the case were Jess Hardy and Tom Cannon of the police and Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff and Don Reeder Chief of Police.

Body of Samudio was sent yesterday, to San Antonio for funeral services and burial, said Sanders Funeral home where the body was taken Sunday afternoon.

They Say:

"Crappie Will Not Bite This Time Of Year"

"They say" may be right in some instances, but this rule seems not to apply to Buffalo Springs Lake, because it is a fact that just mediocre fishermen such as "Brownie" Hamilton and Bedford Shearer (who are trying to become as expert at fishing as they are at putting on ten-year roofs), Guy Victory, Abie Davis, Tom French (who will sell you anything you wish to buy and some things you shouldn't) and even Will Rodgers himself, have been for the past ten days taking up to or near the limit of these gamey fish every time they tried—and, really, eleven- and twelve-inch lengths are not so rare.

No attempt will be made to explain why these crappie are biting when they shouldn't, but it is well known that they have a fightin' disposition, and perhaps when they look up through the clear water of this lake at the ugly mugs of those guys, they just get so aggravated they can't control their temper and snap at anything in sight.

Anyway, fishing is good.

Fish if you choose, boat-ride in the moonlight, and enjoy the facilities of the excellent bathing beach at—

Man Enjoys First Well Days In Years

Mr. James Now Eats And Sleeps Good; Stomach And Kidneys Regulated, Rheumatic Pains Eliminated; Gly-Cas A Real Blessing

"Every sufferer should realize how fortunate they are in being able to get a medicine of such outstanding merit as this new Gly-Cas,' said Mr. J. A. James, 303 East 8th street,

MR. J. A. JAMES

Austin, Texas. "For years my stomach and kidneys had failed to function properly. I was sure to suffer after every meal regardless of my diet. My kidneys would not allow me a good nights sleep and I was up all hours of the night. I was also badly constipated, my entire system was filled with poisons and rheumatism settled over my body causing me intense suffering. But once I learned of Gly-Cas and gave it the opportunity of helping me I was soon started on the road to good health."

"I cannot say too much in praising Gly-Cas," continued Mr. James. "For the first time in years I have a proper action of my bowels. My stomach is functioning properly again and my kidneys are in good condition. I can eat and sleep good, never bothered with gas or bloating. I am now freed of that dreadful rheumatism with its constant suffering. I now see why so many people are saying so much about Gly-Cas — it is one medicine that does as is claimed for it -- even in cases where all else had failed to have any effect."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns. Adv.

As a result of liquor raids here over the week-end a negro, Rufus Smith, was charged in county court with violation of state liquor laws and was released yesterday on a bond of $500. The complaint against him had been sworn to by Bill Mabray, police identifications officer, before Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney.

Twelve pints and one quart of beer were found at a place in the 700-block Avenue R Sunday night in a raid by O. E. Rush, Melvin Alvey, and Mabray of the police department, Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff, and John LeMond, deputy constable.

Beer At Slaton Confiscated

Two hundred bottles of beer were confiscated at two places in Slaton Saturday by O. Lee, inspector in charge of the Texas Liquor Control board office here, Sam Fort, inspector, and Chief of Police R. L. Wicker of Slaton.

A burglar who entered a back door at Leftwich food market at 1806 Avenue H took a pistol and several packages of cigarets. The burglary was between 11:30 o'clock Saturday night and 12:30 Sunday morning. Police last night still were investigating.

Drunk Charges Filed

Drunkenness and fighting occupied most of the remainder of police and sheriff's reports. Seven drunkenness charges were filed in the justice court of Walter Davies and several in corporation court.

Theft of baggage from in front of an Avenue L boarding house was reported Saturday night by Robert Criswell and Madison Newton of Anton. Loss of a steamer trunk from the back of an automobile was reported by S. D. Blois of 1912 Avenue P.

W. P. Connally Sunday reported theft of a trailer from a service station on Brownfield highway.

Police received a report that an automobile driver who caused a minor collision at the Avenue H underpass had not stopped.

Garza County Is Dry, Ruling Of State Liquor Control Board

POST, Aug. 16.—(Special)—Laws governing "dry" territories still are in effect in Garza county, recent court procedure proved, although a question had been raised over the county's status.

A technicality involving failure to make an election public in 1911 caused the State Liquor Control board to instruct Joe S. Moss, Garza county attorney, to proceed against liquor law violators under the laws as they apply to "wet" areas.

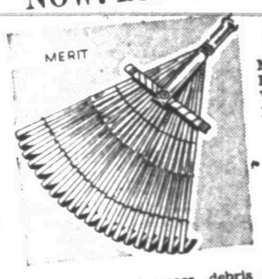

Moss revealed in court that no county judge's certificate is on record showing that the results of the prohibition election were published.

County Judge Weakley, however, sustained the views of the defense attorney, Tom L. Price, that the county is "dry" and instructed a verdict accordingly.

Gridiron Bug Soon To Attack Local Athletes; Training Camps To Open Early

Westerners Off Monday; Tech Opens Sept. 5

That rumbling noise of football cleats against sodded earth, already intensified on one Central Texas gridiron where ex-high school players performed in a regulation game, comes closer to Lubbock this week where two "major" teams hold forth during autumn and winter.

Lubbock High school's Westerners will quit the home turf Monday and do a ten-day training and conditioning stint in the shadows of New Mexico mountains.

Players Moving About

On the same day, tickets will go on sale for Texas Tech's 1937 home games, although actual preparation will not get officially underway at Tech Stadium until September 5. That is five days earlier than usual, and is permissable under a special ruling handed down by Border conference officers to benefit the Red Raiders and the Arizona State Lumberjacks. The jacks will be here September 18 to open the season with the Raiders.

At the moment there is a movement about this part of the country of football players. Some of Tech's prospects already are in the city and doing setting up exercises of their own accord each day. Others have quit summer jobs in order to visit their families briefly before coming to the campus for the long grind.

Lubbock High school gridders will congregate Friday evening at the high school gymnasium to hear instructions from Coach Weldon Chapman and Goober Keyes regarding the training camp which opens Monday at Raton, N. M. The coaches went to Raton yesterday to make final preparations. They will return in a day or so, meet with their subjects, then they'll all pack their bags and be off.

Meanwhile, a committee of local business men, headed by W. O. (Dan) Daniels, is making headway toward helping finance the training camp. The school itself is doing most of the financing, but the business men's committee is alding each to the boys to raise necessary individual funds.

Bo Williams, graduate manager of athletics at Texas Tech, announced last night that season tickets for Tech's home games would go on sale Monday at Hotel Hilton.

Save On Tickets

The season ticket will consist of six individual tickets, Williams said, and the package will sell for $7.50 for grandstand seats, or $8.50 for box seats. This means a saving of nearly 35 per cent, or $3.75 for the season, if one plans to see all the home games.

Williams said that all season ticket holders of last season who wished to reserve the same seats for the coming season would be accommodated if they would call him at the office in the Tech gym before Monday.

There will be no limit to the number of season tickets offered this season. In the past, only a certain amount have been offered.

Swimming And Diving Show At Country Club Cancelled

A scheduled swimming and diving exhibition scheduled for Lubbock Country club pool tonight has been cancelled, Professional Charles Akey said last night.

Inability of Bob Clark, swimming instructor at Amarillo Country club, to bring a "suitable team" here caused the cancellation.

Hubbers Trounce Wink Nine Here Sunday, 7 To 1

The Hubbers, under managerial direction of Jack Thompson for the first time, resumed their home stand after two weeks off and registered their 17th victory of the season Sunday by squashing the noble efforts of Wink's Stanolind Oilers, 7 to 1.

Lefty Blanchard, Lubbock southpaw, scattered several hits but was rarely in danger and deserved a shutout, Wink getting its only tally on the lone Lubbock error.

Manager Thompson contributed to his team's victory with a lusty double his first time up and by batting in a run in the seventh. He scored after his double, first score of the ball game, when Harold Crites connected with one of Bill Ellis' curve balls and rattled the centerfield fence for a triple. He came in on Winfield Breedlove's single. All this happened in the second inning, after Wild Bill had set the home club down in the first, in order.

Among outstanding stars of the game were two Hubbers who have been looking only so-so at bat recently and who have bobbled one or two in the field. They were Crites, with a triple, a single, a stolen base and two runs, and Breedlove, who looks better in every game at second base and who elevated his hitting percentage with two singles and a double, driving in one run and scoring after his double.

Blue Graham was his old self at second base, but couldn't hit Wink's righthanded chunkers. Nor could Del Coppage, hustling Hubber catcher, get untracked, although he caught a capable game. The leading Hubber hitter, Coppage failed to bingle in four trips, although the hustling Noble, Wink centerfielder, "robbed" him of a hit in the first inning.

After scoring twice in the second on a double, triple and two singles, the Hubbers counted twice in the fourth, once in the seventh and twice in the eighth. In the fourth, Crites led off with a single, stole second, Presley drew a walk. The runners failed to advance on Breedlove's high fly to center, nor on Ed Hambright's fly to the same spot, but big Jerry Blanchard, who had batted a line drive into Wink's leftfielder's glove in the second, came through for the cheering mob and rapped a long single to right. Crites scored easily, and when Gressett let the ball get away from him, Presley scored and Blanchard took second.

Graham Gets Only Hit

In the seventh, Graham got his only hit of the day, a single to right center. Bettes laid down a bunt, beat it out for a hit. Coppage swung lazily at three fast balls, while Graham and Bettes were taking second and third. Thompson crashed one to 'Bama Stewart at short, who threw him out at first, as Graham scored.

After Presley's fly to left in the eighth, starting the last half of the inning, Breedlove slammed his double to left. He went to third when Teaver White failed to handle Andy Anderson's hit grounder, and Blanchard came up, after striking out in the sixth, to slam a double to left center, cleaning the bases. Graham struck out and Bettes hoisted to left to wind up Lubbock's batting for the day.

It was a rapid-fire fast ball game, lasting only an hour and 42 minutes, including time out for a shower which stopped the game in the eighth.

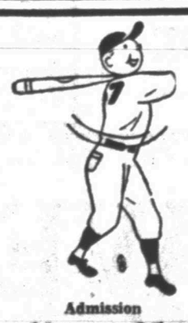

Blanchard fogged his fast one and his curve and his change of pace without taking much time, striking out only eleven of the visitors and giving up eight hits.

The outfielding of Dawson and Noble and the shortstop work of Stewart kept Lubbock's score from mounting higher. Those three played swell defensive games, and Dawson was handy with the bat, being the only visitor to collect two hits.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (AP)—The Cubs, and you have Manager Charlie Grimm's word for it, have just begun to fight.

The Bruins, consideraby ruffled by losing eight out of 14 games, headed today toward Pittsburgh, first stop on a long road trip. They come back to Wrigley Field Sept. 4—and when the season ends Manager Grimm says they will be leading the National League by at least four games.

Show Stuff? Yeah But Actors Pay Fancy Price

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A talk with Ray Fabiani, a sensitive man who gave up a brilliant career as a concert violinist to promote professional wrestling leaves a warmer spot in one's heart for the groan and grunt boys.

Since pro wrestling went in for gag and burlesque stuff, it always has struck me as a sport for rubes with a flock of bums getting paid for rough stuff that no longer goes in saloons and taverns. But Fabiani, whose real name is Aurelio, insists wrestlers are high class fellows who save their dough and pay a terrific price to get it.

Can't Get Insurance

So heavy is the toll, says Fabiani, that 39 wrestlers have died of injuries suffered on the mat during the last three years.

"Sure, they all are experts in the art of tumbling," he said, "but even so the fatality rate is exceptionally high. Don't think they don't earn every cent they get. Those who do escape with their lives are lucky if they aren't crippled. For instance, there's Joe Stecher—one of the very best and cleanest. Today, Joe is a physical wreck, trying to recuperate in a naval hospital outside of Minneapolis. I couldn't help but cry when I saw poor Joe. He made money but how he's earned it. Incidentally, do you know no pro wrestler can get insurance? The risk is too great."

The average good wrestler, Maestro, Fabiani estimated, makes from $20,000 to $30,000 a year. The greatest drawing card of them all, of course, was Jim Londos, who drew a total gate of approximately $11,000,000 over three years. Gus Sonnenberg ranked next to the Greek Adonis over the golden era.

Not Like Boxers

"If you check further," continued Fabiani, "you'll never find a real down and outer wrestling man. They're different than the average run of fighters. Your average fighter comes from pool halls and street corners; your average wrestler is a college man or a farmer who left a plow to toss bodies around. You seldom see an old wrestler broke. The high percentage of old fighters is busted, flat and down and out."

CATS, SHIPPERS SPLIT

BEAUMONT, Aug. 16. (AP)—Beaumont and Fort Worth split a doubleheader here this afternoon on the final 1937 apparance of the Cats in this city, the Exporters winning the first 4 to 2 behind Quinn Lee's excellent pitching and the Cats taking the nightcap 10-2 with Gravin in the box.

1 Day Remains For Qualifying In Lady Event

Mrs. C. L. Dean's snappy 78 appeared yesterday to be good enough for medal honors at the Meadowbrook Women's Open golf tournament, although only half of the expected field had registered or qualified.

Today is the last day for qualifying. Match play begins Wednesday, continues Thursday and Friday, with finals on the latter day.

A goodly number of local women golfers have yet to register and qualify. Only ten had registered and only six had posted scores last night.

Mrs. Dean shot a 38 on the front nine, a 40 on the back for the best score turned in thus far. Other Country club golfers to qualify yesterday were Mrs. Glen Smith, Mrs. Guy McAfee, Mrs. Charles Akey and Mrs. Bill Helwig.

Meadowbrook golfers registered were Mrs. Bob Crawford, Nancy Leaverton, Ruth Bell, Mrs. Cliff Widener and Miss Boone.

Barefoot Hawaiians Break Even In Public Net Joust

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16. (AP)—Half a hundred athletes from the far corners of the nation battled through the first round of men's singles in the 15th annual National Public Parks tennis championships today with but one casualty among the seeded favorites.

So Ming Yee of Honolulu, seeded eighth, lost to Bob Patterson of Tulsa, 8-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Ronold Lubtin, one of California's several top-flight contenders, found Manhattan's Charles Thompson a severe hurdle, but survived 7-5, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3.

Except for Lou Schaeffer of Buffalo, who competed in the first parks championship at St. Louis in 1923, most of the players were youths of high school and college age.

Ed Bordin, Philadelphia's hard luck guy who has been beaten in the first round in two previous Parks tourneys, overcame his jinx in the toughest match of the day, downing Paul Scherer of Minneapolis, 5-7, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

The Hawaiian contingent played barefooted with mixed success. Tatsuo Todo was the only islander to win, downing Raymond Lyon of Richmond, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Defending Champion Lewis Wetherell was one of seven players who drew byes in tomorrow's second round.

Amherst Reds Blank Sudan, 9-0, To Claim Top Money In Amherst Ball Tournament

AMHERST, Aug. 16. (Special) — The Amherst Reds repeated as winners of the second annual Amherst baseball tournament Sunday, turning back the Sudan club, 9 to 0, in the final game.

Sudan won second, to place in that slot for the second time in as many tourney starts this season, and Muleshoe, loser 2 to 1 to Sudan in the first game played Sunday afternoon took third money.

Littlefield, the favorite to take the measure of all other clubs, did not finish in the money.

Great Crowd On Hand

A great Sunday crowd was in the stands.

In the final game, Amherst found the range, scoring one run in the initial frame, two in the fourth, five in the wild fifth and one in the seventh. The club tabbed nine runs, 10 hits and no errors. Coburn limited Sudan to three hits, and the losers made four bobbles.

Pointer, right fielder for the winners, slashed out two home runs, the first with one mate on base and the second with two on.

In the first game, Sudan scored two runs, five hits and two errors, and Muleshoe made one run, five hits and two errors.

Leach and Moore hurled for the victors, Prather catching. Prather hit a home run in the eighth, with none on ahead, to break a 1 and 1 tie. Wright hurled for Muleshoe and Williams caught. Mack Williams, first baseman, homered for Muleshoe's lone run, in the sixth.

Meet Again Soon

Bennett caught for Amherst, and Prather took Webster's slants in the Sudan lineup.

The same clubs that were pitted against each other in the Amherst tourney will meet again soon, Muleshoe will open a tournament Friday and Clovis, N. M., will initiate play Sunday week.

The victorious Amherst club has copped both major tourneys it has played thus far this season, winning one at Sudan other than that here Sunday. Littlefield earlier had won a four-team playoff July 4 there.

Mangin's Defeat Features Casino Tennis Tourney

By BILL KING

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 16. (AP)—Fifth seeded Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., veteran, lost a second round match to the unranked Fumituru Nakano of Japan, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, in today's opening of the 57th Newport Casino tennis tournament before a small but select gallery here to watch Don Budge, champion of champions.

Frankie Parker, only member of the triumphant American Davis Cup team who played today, had a bit of trouble with Ramsay Potts of Memphis, Tenn., before he gained the second round with an 8-6, 6-1, victory.

Budge and his Davis Cup doubles partner, Gene Mako, postponed their arrival for 24 hours. The fourth Davis Cup player, Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, was forced to mark time because of other absentees.

Uncle Jimmy Has Been Doing Right Well With White Sox, And Maybe Can Bring 'Em From Bottom To Top By 1939

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (AP)—Chubby Little Jimmy Dykes, who brought the Chicago White Sox from nowhere in 1935 to third place in 1936 and now has the club battling for second place in the American League, signed today to manage the team again in 1938 and 1939.

Owner Lou Comiskey announced the signing of the little Irishman without fanfare. He simply called "Uncle Jimmy" into his office, offered terms which were satisfactory but undisclosed, and Jimmy put his name on the line.

"I like it here fine," beamed Dykes a few hours later. "I've received the fullest kind of cooperation from Mr. Comiskey and next season we'll have another hustling club. We have good pitching, and will try to get a catcher, a good outfielder and a third baseman — and maybe we'll go places. Right now we are aiming at second place."

Dykes, who will be 41 years old in November, is the dean of all American League infielders. Once one of the best third sackers in the business, his legs have gone back on him and he has appeared in only 15 games, but in those tilts belted the ball at a .343 clip. In the first game he started this season, against Detroit, he hit "four for four."

Dykes came to Chicago in 1933 in a $100,000 deal which also brought Mule Haas and Al Simmons to the Sox. Haas still is with Dykes, but Simmons was sold to Detroit for a reported $75,000 and now is with Washington. Dykes took over the management May 8, 1934, from Lou Fonseca, and the team finished eighth. In 1935 it finished sixth and since then has been a big factor in the American League race.

Floydada Trains At Silver Falls

FLOYDADA, Aug. 16. (Special)—Coach Odell Winters is to return this week from Abilene and will leave with his squad, probably the latter part of the week, for training camp.

The two-weeks camp probably will be at Silver Falls.

Prospects for this year's team include the following who came out for spring training: George Fry Lider, Raymond Fickes, Charles Nickles, James Gibbs, Billie Woody, Robert L. Montgomery, Clifford Daniels, L. B. Martin Fred Beard, James Willson, Purvy Burrus, Jack McIntosh, James Burrus, Percy Matthews, Paul Barnard, Randell King, Leeman Norman, Neal Bertrand, Malvin Jarboe, Virgil Orman, W. J. O'Conner, Moody Williams, Billie Crabtree, Wilson Womack, Gerald Lackey, Lewis D. Brand, John Yearwood, Ham Smith, Harvey Brock, Somer Hollingsworth, La Von Ranier and W. H. McClung. Ranier and McClung are co-captains.

Tommy Farr And Baers To Work At Same Camp

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Aug. 16. (AP)—Tommy Farr, Welsh heavyweight contender training here for his title bout with Champion Joe Louis at Yankee Stadium August 26, today announced that former champion Max Baer and his younger brother, Buddy, would move into the Farr training camp later this week.

They will train here at the invitation of the big Welshman. Buddy Baer is scheduled to meet giant Abe Simon in the semi-final to the Louis-Farr fight, while negotiations are under way for a bout between Max and Jim Braddock at Madison Square Garden Oct. 1.

Farr, after strenuous week end training sessions, limited himself to six miles of road work this morning. In the afternoon he attended a press luncheon in New York.

Two Fellows Named Joe Chew Boxing And Baseball Rag

POMPTON LAKES, N. J. Aug. 16. (AP)—Two "guys named Joe" who are better than raw hands at baseball and boxing met today when Joe Louis, who is training for his heavyweight title bout with Tommy Farr, entertained the New York Yankees' sophomore slugger, Joe DiMaggio.

Louis was not scheduled to do any ring work and spent most of the day chatting about baseball with DiMaggio. The latter undoubtedly wanted to discuss fighting but pleased his host by discussing baseball.

Joe Gould, manager of Jim Braddock, was another guest at the champion's camp. Louis' only exercise of the day was a six-mile walk this morning.

COURT RULING HOLDS DRIVER TO BLAME FOR BLOW-OUT ACCIDENT

In The Interest of Safe Driving Every Motorist Should Read This Decision

"There is no series of accidents more destructive or more terrifying in the use of autos than those which come from blow-outs. When a tire is worn through to the fabric its further use is dangerous and it should be removed . . . The hazard is too great to permit cars in this condition to be driven on the highway . . . The law requires that owners and drivers know the condition of parts which may become dangerous with wear. It will assume that they do know of the dangers ascertainable by examinations."*

*Excerpts from an opinion in a case involving worn tires, written by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

Are Your Tires SAFE?

When a high court rules that riding on unsafe tires is negligence—when that court brands tread-worn tires as dangerous to life and property, it's plenty of proof that a blow-out is a mighty serious thing.

Don't Take Chances

Motorists from every walk of life, thousands of them, are killed or injured every year when blow-outs throw cars out of control. Many of these blow-outs are due to heat generated inside of tires by today's high-speed driving.

This heat may cause rubber and fabric to separate. And, if it does, an invisible blister may form. As you travel further this trouble-causing blister gets bigger and BIGGER until, sooner or later, BANG! It's a blow-out. And where you might land—what you might hit, nobody knows.

In order to provide motorists with the real protection they need against today's high-speed blow-outs, Goodrich engineers invented the Life-Saver Golden Ply, a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. By resisting this heat, the Golden Ply protects you against these dangerous high-speed blow-outs.

Play safe. Equip your car now with a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns. The sooner the safer.

SWEET NOTES FOR SINGER. Marion Talley, operatic sopranc, convalescing in Los Angeles from a recent appendectomy, reads the wishes of some of her fans for a speedy recovery. She planned to go to her Kansas farm to recover fully before resuming her broadcast work in Hollywood.

JOE ANSWERS GONG. But it was the dinner bell, and it was for an eight-course bout with the home board at Detroit—fowls not barred. Joe Louis' mother, Mrs. Lile Brooks (left) and his wife, Marva smiled happily. Joe was happy, too—with that big title and all that fried chicken before him.

IN A SWELL SHAPE. This terrific torso doesn't belong to the comely countenance. It really is the property of someone at a Chicago convention. Grace Bradley stood behind in order to animate the chubby gentleman for a little harmless flirtation with her two pretty friends.

Hard-boiled Tommy Farr, 208-pound Welshman, sets his eyes grimly on the title as he toils and trains at Long Branch, N. J., for his fight with Joe Louis at New York. Compared with his early years in mines Farr says fighting holds no fears for him.

Here Jersey Jim is shown taking a look at the mitt that hit him as he visited the camp where the Bomber trains for his New York bout with Tommy Farr. Now it's the Welshman's turn to see how the slipper fits.

L. A. Woods' Administration

THE Morning Avalanche is no one whit surprised to see a flaring criticism of the administration of L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, by Representative Bowlen Bond, of Fairfield, chairman of a legislative committee appointed to investigate the state education department.

It is an open secret in Austin that Woods has attempted to turn his department into a political football and that politics dictates almost his every move. His ambition is to build up a machine comparable to that of the late S. M. N. Marrs, but although the ambition is strong the ability is not there.

Last summer this newspaper, against an organized election lobby on the part of many Texas rural school teachers, argued against the re-election of the superintendent, but to no avail. We hope the voting public, when next election time rolls around, will remember the findings of the legislative committee probing the Woods administration and will vote to put the schools in the hands of someone who has the needs of pupils uppermost in mind—and not his own political fortunes.

After all, it is the schools Texas voters should keep in mind—not the hopes and aspirations of L. A. Woods.

Ginners Are Better Prepared

South Plains ginners for several years have gone to school in order to learn more about their business and as a result, they are better prepared this season than ever to handle some of the problems of their customers. A show of hands at the recent convention here brought to light the fact that a good proportion had attended the cotton classing school at Texas Tech this past summer, while others had attended previous schools.

One of the drawbacks of the ginning business has been the fact that most ginners in this section purchase cotton from farmers and sell through local or other buyers or brokers. Owing to their lack of a technical knowledge of grade and staple, ginners have been forced to take losses in buying cotton on the old "hog-around" basis. When they finally sold, some cotton had to go well below the price because it was of poor quality.

This way of buying has worked a hardship on the farmer who sought to improve his income by planting long staple cotton. He should have received higher prices, a premium, for it, but under the system of buying, got no more than for the shorter staple. Both ginner and producer alike were penalized.

With better technical knowledge of grade and staple, the ginner can buy from his customers with a better idea of true values. Result: he makes money and so does his customer.

The time is coming when all buyers must have a good knowledge of correct grades in order to buy right. And when the staple length of this area is improved, and the sales are made on a more equitable basis, both ginner and producer are better paid.

Yet the children of thy people say, The way of the Lord is not equal: but as for them, their way is not equal.

When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall even die thereby.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

BY ESTHER TYLER

SYNOPSIS: It's a wild, stormy night at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts, when attractive Jude Blinshop is shot to death on the bluff. Mike dislocates a shoulder hunting for the missing Skipper, his tall tweedy younger aunt who turns up with an alibi. Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed sweetheart, worries about him. Next day, stout and prudish Aunt Martha proposes that I lead our group investigation of the murder, for we are marooned on this island. Part of my job is to find who bashed Cook's head with a flower pot and bound up Annie the maid.

Chapter 15

I Quiz The Aunts

Suddenly I rejected my original plan of allowing William to search the first floor while I searched the second. I was just embarking on the most trying experience of that weekend—the experience of suspecting every person in the house. If there was an intruder inside, I reasoned, our search would be reduced to a simple game of hide-and-seek with the odds decidedly in favor of the hider.

And if William could not be counted on—For a moment I considered organizing the entire household into a searching party, but only for a moment. M. Farrington, Cook, Annie and Michael were in no condition to be relied upon. Mike should have been in bed, and the other three showed signs of becoming problem cases on the least provocation. That left William, Higgins, the Skipper, Gay and myself. Five of us. Two of them women and one an old man.

If we were to go together, we were possibly turning the murderer loose to roam the house at will with the invalids unprotected. If we divided into parties of two and three, it was just possible that the murderer was being sent off into the empty house alone with another unsuspecting victim. The risk was unthinkable. I am not defending my action. I am merely explaining how it seemed to me at the moment logical.

I stuffed the rope and Michael's handkerchief into my pocket.

"William, I've changed my mind. I think I'll have a little talk with the rest before we go on with this."

"Hell, sir, you can't do that! We can't go sitting around talking while some bloody devil"

My grip on myself wasn't very good, and it was slipping with every uncertain minute. "I can do whatever I see fit, I said curtly. "Come on!"

"All right, but I ain't in favor of it!"

"So what?" I growled. But I did glance into every room as we went down the hall—the game room, the living room, the dining room and even the conservatory. They were all empty. If they hadn't been, perhaps I might have realized my mistake, but I was appallingly sure that the person I sought was at that moment conversing glibly in the library.

They all turned at the opening of the door—all except Michael who had been saying something. His doubled fist still rested on the desk and his face was very red. The atmosphere of the room as reflected on their faces was tense.

"You were saying, Mike?" I said.

For half a second he held the pose, then, "You're damned right I was saying that we'd better let bad enough alone."

"Michael," said the Skipper, "sit down and shut up. Now!"

I doubt if her words would have had any effect, but she accompanied them with a forceful shove. Michael sat. I motioned to William to park himself somewhere.

"Have you found anything, James?" quavered M. Farrington.

"Yes," I said to William's evident astonishment, "I've found all I was looking for. I'm going to ask questions, and if you aren't particularly enjoying this, I'd advise you to answer them as carefully as possible. Gay, get a pencil and paper and write down every word of it."

There was a pause. After a moment Gay walked to the desk and picked up a pencil.

Aunt Martha Holds Out

"Aunt Martha, I will begin with you. Your inviting us here at this time of year was unusual. This party was your idea?"

"It was."

"Will you tell us why?" I was being callous and I knew it without looking at Michael's black face.

"Certainly. Barbara seemed unwell and depressed. As I wrote you, I thought she would be better for a little company. And I hoped that—that she might bring herself to confide in you or Michael more readily than myself."

M. Farrington's lips were in a thin, straight line. In her eyes at that moment gleamed the light which usually presaged a laying low of the nearest available victim. But I went on.

"Had you any reason of thinking so?"

"I had not." The very voice of the storm seemed to mock both of us.

"Had you any particular purpose in inviting Judith here?"

She stiffened, but she had the grace to blush.

"I thought she might make pleasant company for you and Michael."

In spite of the tension, a general smile greeted that.

"Naturally," I said, the thought of the still figure upstairs wiping the smile from my lips with a vengeance. "Now, about last night. At what time did you go upstairs?"

"Directly after you left us. I didn't notive the exact hour. I went straight t bed, if that is what interests you."

"Did you sleep immediately?"

M. Farrington drew herself up. "The next thing I ws aware of," she stated deliberately, "was Michael standing beside me with the information that Judith and Barbara were not in the house."

I felt as if cold water had unexpectedly been splashed in my face. And then the realization of my own colossal stupidity struck me. Never repeat what I am going to tell you to anyone! And there I stood before the Skipper expecting to hear it voluntarily repeated. My face burned furiously.

"Did anything unusual happen while we were out in the grounds either last night or this morning?"

"Nothing."

"You heard no footsteps in the hall upstairs this afternoon?"

"I did not."

The Skipper's Stable Trip

I thanked her and met the Skipper's inscrutable eyes fixed on my face. I took a long breath.

"Skipper," I said, "you asked me to do this. What had been troubling you?"

She reached for a cigarette and lighted it with a steady hand. "I'm 52, Jimmie. When you reach that age it's not so easy to be consistently cheerful. That's all there is to it."

"You didn't go upstairs with Aunt Martha last night?" Stupid question. I had seen her go upstairs. She laughed softly.

"My dear boy, after you left us I smoked a cigarette, bored myself stiff, and went to bed. I think you were the last person I saw en route. Martha was asleep. So I didn't wake her. I lay awake till the thought of that dog got me. Then I dressed and went out to her. That's all there is, Jim—except that I heard nothing in the hall."

I cleared my throat. "Why didn't you tell Aunt Martha where you were going?"

"It would have worried her."

"You went directly to the stable?"

"I did and I came directly back. I didn't hear anything but wind."

I braced myself and let the next question fly. 'What did you mean last night when you told me to keep Jude away from Michael?"

The Skipper flicked ash from her cigarette coolly. "I meant that if Mike wants to marry Gay, I see no reason why he shouldn't have a clear field." Gay's pencil snapped.

Should I or should I not ask her point-blank what she and Jude had been talking about when M. Farrington heard them? I decided not to. To all intents and purposes that interview had already been denied. I should be giving away my knowledge and gaining nothing. I turned to Michael.

"What did Jude talk to you about in the game room?"

His shoulders were hunched. "That,' he said, "is none of your damned business."

I know now that in that one moment I lost the opportunity of saving us all from what followed. My anger prevented me from seeing the effect that question and its answer had on anyone in that room. Mike's attitude through that entire day had been getting increasingly in my hair. At the demand of the entire party I had accepted a responsibility as distasteful to me as I was inadequate for it. And it was becoming increasingly evident that my inadequacy might prove disastrous.

I tried to keep my temper.

"What did Jude tell you, Mike?"

Michael looked at me—a long look and a strange one. His face was set, and I knew before he opened his mouth that he was lying. Well, they had all lied.

"She told me that she thought the chimneys were in bad shape and this storm might make them dangerous. She didn't want to alarm anyone else."

It was a feeble attempt, but I knew that a second question would be just so much wasted breath. That much was evident from the set of his chin. Behind me. Gay snorted indignantly.

"All right," I said wearily. "How long did it take her to tell you that?" He was eyeing me cautiously—trying to anticipate my thoughts. "About five minutes."

Putting all my cards on the table, I create a sensation, tomorrow.

The News Behind The News . . .

WASHINGTON
By Ira Bennett

PRESIDENT Roosevelt startles friends and opponents alike by some of his appointments. He works in a mysterious way, and loves to spring surprises. The biggest surprise, when he sprang the Supreme court reconditioning plan on Congress without consulting legislative steersmen, didn't pan out so well. But in the matter of appointments the President is entitled to secrecy in sifting out his ultimate choice, although theoretically the Senate gives "advice" as well as "consent". "But the senate doesn't give advice any more," said Senator Glass, sadly—or satirically.

Mr. Roosevelt is more successful than former Presidents in keeping secret his approaches to persons he has in mind for office. Usually the first that's known of them is when their names go to the Senate. Apparently F. D. R. binds to secrecy those who decline appointments.

Old Guard Republicans get the go-by when the President is required to make bi-partisan appointments. For such places he invariably picks out Progressives or New Deal Republicans.

BANDWAGON: The third-term spook walks. Old-line Democrats become jittery when the phantom flits across their path. They take no stock in the post—'33 formula—"If you see a precedent, smash it!" Black-tie statesmen from the deep South hark back to Tom Jefferson, who cemented the no-third-term precedent established by Washington.

Not so among red-necktie solons of the bounding West. New Dealers among them talk of another term for F. D. R. as if it were in Jim Farley's bag. They are going home from Washington bearing the glad tidings that the federal machine is turning out third-term propaganda; that F. D. R. remains silent, which is all that's wanted from him on that topic; and that Senator Copeland's proposed amendment barring a third term is just a friendly jab, to be pigeonholed along with other brilliant improvements on the constitution.

With governors jostling to get in the "Roosevelt for 1940" line, it's agreed that George Washington's precedent is to go on trial. Congressional candidates who might otherwise win are afraid they'll go down in the crash if the verdict should be "no third term".

PROTECTION: The Treasury detailed its best sharps to the task of devising better customs administration methods and condensing them into a bill. This was handed to Chairman Doughton of the House Ways and Means committee with an "urgent" tag. Then lobbyists for higher taxes on certain products—egg products, camphor, cashew nuts, etc., tried to attach to the bill a tax section. They failed.

The bill may pass at this session. Those who want taxes on special products may have a chance to work in amendments in the Senate. Vice President Garner's home district is the banner pecan section.

The U. S. has about 16,000,000 pecan trees, occupying 700,000 acres. The nut encounters deadly competition from a tougher nut—the cashew from British India. Beginning in 1929, cashew imports have leaped ahead and now amount to 15,000,000 pounds annualy. Pecan growers say they must go out of business unless protected.

FORESIGHT: When Herbert Hoover was hit by the first blast of the depression whirl-wind he proposed that a permanent fund be created as a reservoir from which to draw money for public works in periods of unemployment—a sort of ever-normal granary. Came the blizzard, and the idea gave way to New Deal methods. Now the President's "Business Advisory council" comes to life and proposes that the Hoover plan be adopted.

The Advisory council has made several suggestions that have been ignored. Its personnel has changed as one enthusiastic business man after another has taken a whirl at advising the President and given up in despair.

As outlined by the council, the permanent public works fund would be spent according to the program of a "non-political agency" which would plan public works years ahead. If no depression, no emergency public works spending; in which case the fund would pile up so that Congress would not need to appropriate any money to run the government, and taxes could be abolished. (Pigeonhole 5543, Corridor 4711, Useless Papers Section.)

FIXERS: On the day when "Wagon Wheels" Barkley was honored by a harmony dinner President Roosevelt threw a monkey wrench in the Congress machine by flatly demanding a crop-control act before granting loans to cotton and wheat producers. This news flew around the banquet hall and curdled the harmony punch.

Later, when both ends of the avenue felt the adjournment breeze, it was agreed that the President's demand was a "political ultimatum" capable of compromise. Members said the main objective was to convince farmers that their real friend is in the White House and that Congress acts only when it feels the whip.

Such "deadlocks" are always susceptible of quick adjustment when all political advantages are squeezed out. The fixers began work immediately, expressing confidence that an arrangement would be made which would permit adjournment soon—and last-minute passage of some bills which, to the casual eye, are stymied hopelessly.

POWER: Keen observers saw a consistent parallel in the President's attitude toward unbudgeted spending and the demand for uncontrolled cotton-wheat loans. He insisted in both cases upon previous provision for avoidance of reckless disregard of budget requirements. In effect he told Congress that if it went outside the budget in making heavy new expenditure it must either put up the money or safeguard the Treasury by such legislation as crop control.

House members who suddenly thrust forward the revised reorganization bill stressed the point that the President's aim is better control of expenditures. He did not claim that great savings would follow reorganization, but held that eventually both efficiency and economy would be served by consolidating all executive agencies. This was not denied. The opposition based its attitude upon the fear that reorganization would deprive lawmakers of patronage jobs and give too much purse-power to the President.

By leaving quasi-judicial agencies independent, the bill seemed to have a better chance of passage despite last week's spectacular revolt.

Letters To The Editor

Your Voice Is As Loud As Our Own

ON PARKING METERS

Editor, The Avalanche: As a resident since 1917 and a reader of your wonderful daily paper which I have enjoyed very much:

I have been a very close observer of our city. I like to show out-of-town visitors our city, with its beautiful parks. I am glad to read where our commissioners have cleaned up the city which is pleasing to law-abiding citizens.

Now, one more thing must be looked at. Why is it that a farmer has to pay for parking his car when he goes to town any afternoon to buy a loaf of bread? After helping to build our city it looks bad for us to have to park our cars in some back alley when we bring the old folks along, they want to see the people go by while parked, but instead they must stay at home or park out at the edge of town and walk in.

I have been in several of the neighboring towns and hear them talk. They say "we don't care to go there, we will trade at home. If they haven't got what we want they will get it for us. It is not the measly 5 cents, just the principal of the thing, looks like they are on the bum.

"It is going to be necessary for us to get those neighbors to sign a petition to show them we mean what we say."

Can you miss the crowd the past two weeks? I can. Would like to hear from you.

Fred R. Worsham,
Shallowater.

(Dear Mr. Worsham: Thanks for your letter. I feel just as you do about the parking meters. I hope petitions come in from every community on the South Plains. Otherwise, we are saddled with them for good. Very truly yours, The Editor).

AGAINST AMENDMENTS

Editor, The Avalanche: There is a state-wide effort being made by the federal government, to enlist the aid of the women of Texas in behalf of two particular amendments to the state constitution, to be voted on August 23.

These amendments are:

1. To provide for the payment, from the state treasure, of $15 per month each of the approximately 4,000 dependent blind citizens over 21 of the states.

2. To provide for the payment to the parent, or parents, of destitute children, under 14, of a monthly sum for the support of those children. The sum not to exceed $8 per child, or $12 per family.

The federal government says if the taxpayers of Texas will put up $60,000 per month to take care of the adult blind who prefer to remain at home, rather than go to the state institute for blind, we will match that amount with $60,000 per month from federal funds. It also says, "If the taxpayers of Texas will further put up approximately $533,333 for the support of destitute children, under 14, we will add $266,666 each month, from federal funds."

At first glance that is a very small program, and a very generous offer, but let us analyze both propositions. To begin with, where will the federal government get its share of these funds, totalling annually $1,440,000 for blind adults of Texas alone, and $9,600,000 for destitute children of Texas? Just where it gets all if its other funds so prodigally flung abroad in the land for simfar purposes, from your pocket and mine, my friends, plus a considerable sum for the salaries of those who will administer the funds.

No one can deny the worthiness of the cause of the blind, but when the taxpayers already maintain a splendid institution in Austin for the care and education of these unfortunates, why saddle them with the huge additional burden because this large group prefer to remain at home?

We might just as logically add to our list of worthy unfortunates the additional thousands of deaf, deaf-mutes, cripples, mental defectives, epileptics, and all of the other smaller groups, who are handicapped physically or mentally, and unable to earn a comfortable living.

This further question. Can the blind be adequately cared for in this type of home even on $30 per month? Would it not be better to have them in some institution where they could be trained to do for themselves, safe-guarded from accident, and provided sanitary comfortable quarters? The argument is that the state separates the blind from their families, this new plan would enable them to remain at home. The same argument might be advanced in behalf of the great army of unfortunates of one group or another, if we could only figure out a way to make the payments. Aye, there's the rub!

Every worthwhile citizen deplores the fact that there are, always have been, and always will be, a large percentage of our country men who are, more or less destitute. There are many reasons for this, but the principal one is a lack of energy, ambition, and brain power in most of the destitutes. There are few citizens of Texas so incapable that they could not earn a living, if they would. It might not be a very luxurous one, and the work might not be entirely agreeable but it can be done if one is anxious and humble enough. That class will not take advantage of the free benefits already offered them, an education for their children, religious training, in the Sunday schools and churches, play hour in the parks, etc.

Go among our own element of this type and try to find help of any character, from a laundress or house maid to a man to cut weeds and see what luck you have. Most of them don't want to work at all and the few who do prove utterly incompetent. They do not even know what cleanliness or neatness mean, and they do not care to learn. If we vote to give to each of these families with more than one child $12 per month to spend for the benefit of the children can we rest assured that it will actually be spent for that purpose? Who will check on the parents to prevent that money being spent for drink, tobacco, gambling of one form or another, candy, picture shows, permanent waves, or cheap cosmetics? Who will insure one penny being spent for the actual benefit of the children? The local office of the WPA admits that it will be impossible to insure the children getting the benefit. We shall have to trust to the parent's love for the child and his or her unselfishness, in the matter.

Let us consider the financial end of the projects still further.

The federal government glibly promises to aid us to the amount of $326,666 per month, or $3,920,000 per year, for an indefinite period of time. Since the federal government already owes the staggering sum of $36,000,000,000 where will it secure this new bank roll, except it be by dipping again into the pockets of the taxpayers?

Again where will the state get its share of approximately $533,333 per month or $6,400,000 per year?

The financial report shows a deficit of $13,000,000 in Texas, so naturally the state will have to levy new taxes and thus reach into the pocket of the taxpayers for this amount

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 32

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"I'm going with you," Brown announced with confidence. "You can try," Jane smiled challengingly. Then she ran lightly across the clearing, with Brown behind her; and at the edge of the forest she leaped to an overhanging branch and swung away into the jungle.

Brown ran after her, trying to keep her in sight from the ground, but he was soon floundering hopelessly in the underbrush. Crestfallen, he returned to camp. Meanwhile, Jane moved rapidly, paralleling the stream, seeking a waterhole where the beasts drank.

Under Tarzan's direction, she had trained her senses to the point required of those who would survive in the jungle; and presently the breeze brought a faint, familiar scent to her nostrils. Her nerves tingled with the huntsman's thrill. Quarry lay ahead.

Moving silently, she came upon a small antelope, looking about skittishly. At the same instant she became aware of a movement in the thicket. She was not the only hunter stalking the antelope. Her competitor, she judged, was some savage beast of prey.

Six Drowned In South Dakota

(By The Associated Press)

WEBSTER, S. D., Aug. 16.—Six members of a 4-H picnic party were recovering from shock and near drowning today, while funeral plans were made for six others who drowned yesterday.

Seeking relief from the state's most intense heat wave of the summer, which skyrocketed temperatures close to the 110-degree mark, five Sunday picknickers drowned in Amsden lake when they sought to rescue Mrs. Mathew Simonson, one of the party who had gone beyond her depth.

Leo Schoenbeck, 36, of Andover, brought Mrs. Simonson to safety, fought frantically to rescue others and then sank from exhaustion. Meanwhile, his son, Junior, pulled six children to safety, witnesses said.

Of those drowned, only Leo Schoenbeck could swim. The dead included Mildred Simonson, 13, a daughter of the woman he rescued. The other dead are: Herman Wenck, 42, Mrs. Clarence Miller, 42, Ruby Miller, 12, all of Andover, and Irene Wahl, 13 of Verdon.

Committee For Troop 6 Here Is Reorganized Last Night

The committee for Boy Scout troop 6, sponsored by the Cumberland Presbyterian church, was reorganized last night with two new members added, according to Earl M. McClure, executive of the South Plains council.

New members of the committee are A. C. Jackson and J. A. Conley. M. M. Page is chairman of the committee.

Dr. R. C. Roberts was chosen new troop leader to replace Milton Adams who will leave soon for a school of optometry at Chicago. He had been leader six years.

Plans were made for obtaining camping equipment and camp programs for the coming year were outlined. Another meeting of the committee will be held in two weeks to complete the troops activities for the next two months, McClure said.

STEELS, RAILS DEVELOP WEAKNESS

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (AP)—Steels and rails developed weakness in the stock market today and many leaders leaned backwards fractions to 2 or more points.

Traders were encouraged by the fact that offerings were hardly sufficient to keep the ticker tape moving and that an assortment of specialties behaved unusually well in the face of the drifting movement elsewhere.

Transfers totaled 818,690 shares compared with 1,535,030 in the preceding 5-hour session. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .4 of a point at 70.2.

Reasons for the day's rather sickly proceedings varied. Some thought buying forces inclined to crawl back into their shell because of further confusion in the Washington legislative program and the possibility adjournment may be delayed.

Also there were arguments as to how much influence the Sino-Japanese conflict was having marketwise. It was believed by most that little important selling was inspired by the Shanghai flare-up although it may have served to keep speculative contingents more or less subdued in view of the possibility other nations might become involved.

Cotton..

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 16. (AP)—Cotton drifted aimlessly today after brisk opening drops caused by uncertainty over the government's loan program and closed at net declines of 13 to 18 points.

Trading was only moderately active as most brokers preferred to remain away from the ring pending more definite incentive. Weather conditions were mildly bullish with private reports predicting that the Texas crop would be reduced as a result of the dry hot condition.

Welcome rains fell in the southern parts of Texas but the continued showery conditions in the eastern belt were believed to be conducive to increased weevil activity.

A little profit taking by recent sellers and some covering by shorts was encountered in final trading and prices rallied a few points from the lowest. Oct. closed at 10.28@10.29, Dec. at 10.33@10.34, Jan. at 10.37, March at 10.44, May at 10.49 and July at 10.51.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (AP)—Cotton showed renewed easiness today as liverpool declined and needed moisture appeared in parts of Texas. December sold off from 10.34 to 10.23 and closed at 10.23 with final prices 12 to 17 points net lower.

The market opened 13 to 15 points lower in sympathy with cables and under foreign selling. Recoveries of about 8 to 10 points from the lows in the more active positions around midday reflected the sensitiveness of a small market to a few trade buying orders and covering.

More active commitments were withheld pending announcement of loan plans for cotton from Washington. Renewed selling appeared on partial bulges owing to the forecast for showers in Texas following precipitation and cooler temperatures in some sections. Toward the close hedge selling increased somewhat.

Druggists Session

this morning, will call the business session to order and will present speakers for discussions of some of the major problems now confronting druggists. Another business session at which committee reports will be received and new officers elected will bring the convention business to a close about noon Thursday. Last event on the scheduled program will be a luncheon at the Hilton Thursday, at which Behrens Drug company of Lubbock will be host.

Registrations starting today will be in charge of a committee headed by W. M. Pickas, with Webb Cammack, L. H. Redwine, D. Jarrett and Morgan Dickinson as members. Members of that committee will be on duty at the registration desk in the Hilton lobby at all hours.

Also on duty at all times will be members of the reception committee composed of John Halsey, H. W. Wylie, W. G. Dingus, John Clark, Charles Whitacre and E. L. Robertson. In general charge of arrangements will be Mark Halsey.

Fight Over Black

forbids a member of congress to take a position he helped to create.

Black Not Present

Black was not in the chamber during the discussion. He remained in seclusion on Capitol Hill during the day.

Leaders of the opposition publicly admitted defeat in advance. Nevertheless, they clung to their plans for a series of speeches when the nomination actually comes before the senate tomorrow. They predicted one to two days debate before a vote is taken.

Meanwhile, three Republican senators, Steiwer of Oregon, White of Maine and Bridges of New Hampshire, declined to wait until the nomination is brought up formally, and, a few hours after the committee had acted began expressing their opposition on the floor.

Unsparing In Criticism

White and Steiwer expressed the view that Black is legally ineligible. Bridges was unsparing in his criticism of the judiciary committee for not holding hearings.

"We are not considering Senator Black as a United States senator but as a nominee to the highest judicial tribunal in the nation," he said. "His public record, his public acts are a matter of public interest and the public has a right to be heard."

Senator Barkley (D-Ky), majority leader, joined other Democrats in questioning Bridges.

Would Invite Bar Leaders

When Bridges said he would like the bar associations to be heard, Barkley suggested they "just want to come down here and talk ad nauseam." The Kentuckian said that if Bridges had any information on Black's fitness he should give it to the senate.

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) said 30 senators had been in service all during Black's term, and demanded:

"Do you mean to say that the president of a bar association in New York, Texas or any other state would have better or more accurate knowledge of the qualifications of the senator from Alabama than these?"

Senator Bone (D-Wash) suggested the American Bar association might be opposed because Black favored legislation to stop child labor and regulate utilities.

For the first time a senator, Copeland (D-NY) openly opposed Black on the ground of his reputed support by the Klan in his first election to the senate in 1926.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (AP)—Brisk buying and nearly three cents upturn of prices distinguished the corn market today following crop damage reports from widespread areas southwest, west and northwest.

Scorching winds simultaneous with dearth of moisture were asserted to have done injury of 15 to 40 per cent. to the corn crop in parts of Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota. Temperatures in excess of 100 degrees and as high as 110 were noted, setting a new record for August at various places.

Corn trade specialists said a further menace to the corn crop, unless there is better than normal current rainfall hereafter, is that a large share of the acreage is characterized by shallow rooting and excessive growth.

Despite reactions due to profit-taking and to forecasts indicating likelihood of showers and of cooler temperatures, the corn market closed near the day's top level, ⅜ to 2¼ cents above Saturday's finish, Sept. 99@99⅛, Dec. 69⅜@68½, May 69⅜@68⅜. Wheat closed ¼@⅝ down, Sept. $1.11⅝@$1.11½, Dec. $1.13¾@$1.12⅜, May $1.13⅜@$1.14, oats unchanged to ⅛ off. Dec. 39⅞@39⅞, showing rye ⅜@2⅜ setback, Dec. 78⅞, and provisions unchanged to a decline of 2 cents.

December and May corn contracts, representing the new crop, scored the sharpest net gains in price today, 2¼ cents a bushel. December touched a top of 69 cents and May 75 cents, against respectively 66⅛ and 67½ at Saturday's close.

Rains in drouth districts of Australia, together with persistent scantiness of export demand for wheat from North America, did much to make wheat prices drift lower. There were also forecasts of showery weather in dry sections of Argentina.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 16. (AP)—Demand was moderate for grain here as the new week started. Estimate receipts for the two days.

Wheat 45 cars, corn 9, and oats 5.

Gunman Suicides Facing Capture

Alff of Austin, one of three men Rea kidnaped yesterday near Austin and forced to drive him to Houston.

Planned To Rob Bank

Police Lieut. Cecil Priest said Rea had made definite plans to rob a Houston bank within a week or 10 days. Priest said there was a reward of $1,500 for Rea's capture.

Police records here showed Rea had been a criminal at least since 1928, when he was sentenced in Los Angeles, Calif., to a 10-year sentence for first degree robbery. He was sentenced the same year to two to five years for attempt to escape.

Victims of a $3,000 brewery robbery near Galveston last March identified Rea as one of the gunmen. Rea was identified by Houston police as a gunman who escaped after a running gun fight at Goose Creek soon after the Galveston robbery. Departmentof justice agents sought him two months on a charge of possessing an unlicensed sawed-off shotgun.

The woman who ran from the gas filled house and a 65-year-old man arrested yesterday when officers raided a place believed to be one of Rea's hideouts were taken to Austin late today for questioning. A rifle and pistol were taken in the raid.

Kidnaped with Alff were his fishing companions, Hardy Roberts and William Hotz. The men said they were fishing on the Colorado river six miles from Austin when a man they identified as Rea accosted them and forced them to drive him to Houston.

Officers took up the trail where the Austin men's auto was abandoned and followed it to the house. After officers had entered the house, Lieut. Priest answered a ringing telephone. The caller wanted odds on a horse. Several loose telephones and race horse "run-down sheets" were found in the upstairs hallway.

Japan Is Preparing

bark new contingents.

Crossing Japan from Tokyo to Kobe, I passed numerous military trains loaded with artillery, motortrucks, tanks, armored motorcycles, artillery, all converging on the west Japan and inland sea ports of embarkation.

Six thousand horses have been sent from Kobe.

The government has not yet ordered general mobilization, but the empire actually is on a wartime footing.

The Japanese people, who have access to no accounts of the conflict except what their government wants them to read, mostly believe their cause against the Chinese is righteous, that they have been provoked into war. Still they do not want the additional burdens of war.

There are indications the cabinet has been shocked by the extent and ferocity the struggle has assumed.

Chinese enrolled as peace preservation troops by the Japanese-controlled east Hopeh regime turned on their employers at Tungchow, east of Peiping.

This has caused grave doubts as to the loyalty of the Manchoukuo army, consisting of some 100,000 subjects of that Japanese protectorate who racially are Chinese, allied by blood, tongue and culture with the nation with which Japan is at undeclared war.

There have been serious train wrecks and other acts of violence and terrorism against the Japanese regime in Manchoukuo, news of which has been suppressed rigorously.

Foreign economic experts say Japan's finances will not stand more than a three-months' war because the government's only real, tangible funds consist of the equivalent of about $400,000,000 in gold. It must rely on the capacity and willingness of the people to pay more taxes and the banks and men of wealth to buy more government bonds.

New Garbage Trucks Are Put Into Service; Speeds Up Collection

After delivery three months late because of strikes, two new city garbage trucks were put into service here Monday. They lacked painting when strikes tied up the Elgin Manufacturing plant in Ohio last May.

The trucks were on the factory runways ready for the painting when strikes began.

Although expectation was among city officials that the new vehicles will make possible the speeding of garbage collections, schedules of operation have not yet been worked out. Mechanical features of the trucks are such that the same area can be covered much more quickly than was possible with the antiquated trucks they replace, officials said. Belief is that collections will be at more frequent intervals than the twice-weekly schedule of the past.

The trucks were described also as offering greatly improved sanitation advantages. They are completely enclosed in metal which will prevent the escape of odors and protects the garbage from flies.

City officials said that a new schedule of garbage collection probably will be worked out this week.

Quezon Launches Attack Against Critics After Return From Trip

MANILA, Aug. 16. (AP)—On native soil only a few hours, Commonwealth President Mandel Quezon launched into a bitter attack today against critics who were caustic about his extended trip to the United States and other countries.

He pointed out that none of his critics had been killed or jailed, and declared "this goes to show there is liberty and democracy here."

Miss Juanita Buchan, nurse at the Stewart and Benson clinic, has returned from a three weeks' trip to Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif., Seattle, Wash., and her home in Mankato, Minn.

J. H. Moore, secretary of the Masonic lodge here, yesterday was removed to his home from Plains hospital and clinic where he had been receiving treatment for a cardiac ailment. His condition, however, remained serious, according to reports.

Improvement was reported last night in the condition of Miss Anna Beth Curry of Seminole, who suffered an injury to her left eye and face bruises in an automobile accident near Seminole Sunday afternoon. Her condition was not considered serious, said attaches of Lubbock sanitarium where she was taken 4 o'clock Monday morning. An employe in the office of the county clerk at Seminole, she is the daughter of B. B. Curry, rancher of that section.

Maud, a grade Percheron mare, purchased by Texas Technological college Nov. 24, 1925, a month after the institution opened, died yesterday. The 18-year-old mare had been sick since Saturday morning, said Dr. Fred G. Harbaugh, associate professor of animal husbandry and college veterinarian. She had all the symptoms of encephalomyelitis, or sleeping sickness, the veterinarian said.

In the face of predictions that a heat wave was heading toward Texas, the official weatherman for West Texas forecast "partly cloudy Tuesday and Wednesday; local thundershowers in the Panhandle Tuesday afternoon or night." Temperatures, recorded by Lubbock's official thermometers, yesterday fell below maximums for several previous days after the South Plains had been fanned by southeast breezes and scattered showers had fallen early Sunday and yesterday morning.

Bodies Of Two East Texans Are Found In Lake Near Tyler

TYLER, Aug. 16. (AP)—The bodies of Johnnie E. Beckham, 29, of Tyler, and A. A. Jackson, about 33, Athens, highway employe, had been recovered today from Trinidad lake where they drowned late yesterday.

They were brothers-in-law and frequently fished together. The bodies were found arm-in-arm in 9 feet of water by Jackson's brother, John, of Athens, and a searching party.

Beckman was a brother of Basel Beckman of Austin, executive secretary of the state commission for the blind.

from the house rules committee, where it has been buried by a colition of southern Democrats and Republicans, 88 Democratic representatives signed a petition for a caucus of all house Democrats concerning the issue.

The signatures were more than enough to assure the caucus.

Anxious To End Session

Most members of congress were weary and anxious to end the session. There was no guarantee, however, that the leaders' goal of a Saturday adjournment would be realized.

One threat of the adjournment plans was the senate debate on the nomination of Senator Hugo L. Black, left-wing Alabama Democrat, for the Supreme court.

Other developments in the capital today included:

The house banking committee approved a low cost housing program of $500,000,000 instead of the $700,000,000 previously voted by the senate. The house group also substituted a cost limitation of $5,000 per family unit for the $4,000 per unit, $1,000 per room limit passed by the senate.

The house agriculture committee recommended that the house join the senate in pledging crop control and other general farm legislation in the next session of congress, whether it is the regular re-convening in January or a special meeting called by the president this fall. The congressional pledge will carry out a bargain under which Mr. Roosevelt agreed to approve federal crop loans on cotton and other major farm products.

National Guard Plans Leasing Of Land At Palacios For Oil

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad commission, announced today the leasing board of the Texas National guard would consider soon the leasing for oil development of the 36th division reservation of 1,280 acres near Palacios.

"Four good wells have been brought in near this property, wells drilled by Glenn McCarthy of Houston," Thompson said through his office here. He is training with National guard troops at Palacios.

"The last well brought in this past week is 41 gravity and promises to make a splendid one. A plan of development will be decided upon this week by the leasing board and later bids will be called for."

Five Demented Young Men In Oklahoma Hospital Prepare To Receive Treatments

VINITA, Okla., Aug. 16. (AP)—Five demented young men were being prepared today in a special ward at the eastern Oklahoma state hospital for a series of insulin treatments beginning tomorrow which it is hoped may "shock" them back to normalcy.

The treatment, discovered a year ago, has been tried in Vienna and eastern cities of the United States, it was explained by Dr. Felix M. Adams, superintendent.

It is for dementia praecox cases only, he said. Half the inmates of this hospital are afflicted with that disease. Dr. Adams hopes eventually to use the treatment on all dementia praecox cases.

torney Fred L. Blundell of Lockhart on a robbery with firearms charge and by A. E. Dowell, Fort Worth police chief, in a robbery case," Scroggin said.

"Another notation says to notify the Texas department of public safety, which wants him or investigation of slaying."

Armstrong said he spotted the group at the night spot Saturday night while he was alone and that their appearance was a surprise.

Attempted To Get Gun

The hideout of Lamb was spotted and the slaying resulted, he said, when Lamb attempted to get one of nearly a dozen guns hidden about the house.

Lamb's wife of a year, who said her name was Lorene Feaster Lamb and that she married the man in Walters, Okla., Aug. 22, 1936, was being held in the Garland county jail tonight to face further questioning of state and county officers concerning the activities of her and her husband during the past several weeks.

his wife, in Galveston county, because of "serious question as to misconduct of the jury," which was said to have read of the killing of a prison guard while deliberating on Henderson's fate.

Governor Allred said the trial judge, C. B. Dibrell, and Rabbi Henry Cohen of Galveston had advised clemency.

The manner of jury deliberations also was a consideration with the board in passing on the case of Aley, convicted in Wharton county of killing his landlord, another negro. The board said the jury might have been influenced by newspaper accounts of the slaying of a white officer at a negro dance in El Campo.

Unless the board and Governor Allred should interfere for a second time, the death sentence given Pio Quesada, a Mexican citizen, for slaying Fernando Ramirez in Willacy county likewise will be carried out August 20. At request of Mexican officials, the governor granted Quesada one 30-day reprieve. The board said it had no further communications in the case and at this time contemplated no further action.

They served the first day of their novel term today.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Bilbo (D-Miss), would authorize an appropriation of $250,000 a year.

Americans Flee Shanghai Area

leave Shanghai, and the first group of refugees departed yesterday aboard the liner President Taft.

Shells Scream Overhead

Shells screamed across the Whangpoo as they were carried down the river. They tore holes in the decks of their tender, but none was hurt.

Three hundred and thirty-seven American women and children departed for Woosung this morning, to board the President Jefferson for Manila.

As the tender carrying them turned up the Whangpoo river for the ten mile trip, Japanese opened a furious barrage a half mile away, shooting at unidentified planes hovering above.

The American refugees cowered within the tender, while crowds along the shore watched in fear.

More Than 1,000 To Leave

More than 1,000 more refugees are to leave by the end of the week.

Three Americans have died in the battle for Shanghai which promises to surpass in ferocity and bloodshed the bitter Shanghai conflict of 1932.

Reinforcements of United States bluejackets and marines from the cruiser Augusta had raised the American forces ashore in Shanghai—covering the evacuation and protecting the foreign areas—to 1,150.

Destroyers Ordered In

Under orders of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, the destroyers Edsall and Parrott were speeding here from their summer base at Chefoo, on the Shantung coast.

All American women and children were being evacuated from China's capital, Nanking, to Hankow, 450 miles up the Yangtze.

British authorities arranged to begin evacuating more than 2,000 women and children from Shanghai today on the Hongkong-bound liner Rajputana. Other foreign authorities made similar arrangement to send their nationals out of the war zone.

Battle Rages Fiercely

The night battle raged most fiercely on both sides the Whangpoo just below the point where it turns sharply toward the sea and forms the busiest part of Shanghai harbor.

Hundreds of casualties in the international areas have been due to fragments of shells with which Japanese anti-aircraft guns were searching skies for the raiding Chinese.

Large fires were seen blazing in Pootung. Big oil storage plants of the American Standard-Vacuum and Texas companies are situated there, but how they fared is not known.

In Nanking Monday night the head of the Chinese government, General Chiang Kai-Shek, summoned to his headquarters, Nelson T. Johnson, the American ambassador, and the British, French, Italian and German ambassadors to tell them:

"We do not intend to attack anyone, but we are determined to defend our territory at all costs."

with Mattern, Joe Crosson, Alaska's most noted airman, and other pilots.

Aviators converged on the already winter-ridden area.

Faint Signals Heard

The latest message to be attributed to the missing men was received by the Soviet government radio station at Irkutsk, Siberia. The Soviet embassy at Washington said that at 2:23 a. m. (cst), today, radio signals "of a weak and irregularly working transmitter" were heard at Irkutsk on the lost craft's frequency, and that "there is strong belief the signals actually came from the plane."

The U. S. signal corps at Anchorage, Alaska, said its radio, at 8:44 a. m. (cst) Saturday heard a garbled message saying: "no bearings . . . having trouble with . . . wave band."

No message known definitely to have come from the lost plane has been received since shortly after Levaneffsky reported passing the polar cap at 4:40 a. m. (cst) Friday. He said then a damaged oil line had disabled one of the plane's four Diesel motors.

At Moscow it was indicated the Russians carried warm clothing and rations for six weeks.

Tow Russian ice breakers and several planes from Moscow were reported already en route to the area being searched.

Allred Praises Mexican Siesta Idea; Won't Talk Politics

AUSTIN, Aug. 16. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred, home again after a vacation trip to Mexico, sighed today and said the Mexican custom of siesta was a "mighty fine thing."

He showed little interest in talk of a special session of the legislature this fall, except to observe he didn't want one while it was "so hot," and also avoided discussion of taxation, governmental economies and related subjects expected to come up at such a session.

"I haven't even thought about a session," he said. "We just rested and enjoyed a vacation. We couldn't have had a more royal time. Mexico is a wonderful country."

School Vote Set For Wednesday

Patrons of Carlisle and Hurlwood grade districts of Frenship rural high school, will vote Wednesday on the proposition to transfer all of the children in the first six grades to Frenship school at Wolfforth.

The election does not involve the tearing down of the two buildings at the grade school locations, it was explained. It involved only the transfer to Wolfforth, where there is plenty of room and where each grade will have one teacher instead of a teacher having from three to six grades.

If the election does not carry, there will be no change in present arrangements, with each teacher having not to exceed 27 pupils.

Under these arrangements there will not be more than two teachers at each school, based on the number of enrolled children.

Old Age Assistance Information To Be Given In KFYO Programs

Information on old age assistance in Texas is being given in programs from 3:45 to 4 o'clock each Wednesday afternoon over Radio Station KFYO.

Persons with questions may send them to Station KFYO or to W. R. Dorsey, secretary of the Old Age Assistance commission, Plainview. Names of persons asking questions will not be revealed.

Dorsey is in charge of the programs, which have been given two Wednesdays and will continue several weeks. Ray Blakemore post of the American Legion at Plainview is sponsoring the programs.

also. How does that sound to you, Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer?

In addition, if we ever get this big bear by the tail, how are we going to turn loose? Once we take on this sort of project we shall be expected to continue it indefinitely. Any plan to discontinue it will be met by an uprising on the part of those who have benefitted by it. They will turn like ravening wolves on those who have fed them. As proof of this prediction read recent news accounts of the storming of WPA offices by men and women dropped from the rolls.

Do we dare add to our own burden this load which may prove the last straw?

A Reader.
