Vol. 13, No. 50 IOWA PARK, WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS 76367 THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 2, 1982

HELPING NEIGHBOR - An unidentified neighbor does what he can until volunteer firemen arrived when the home of Earl Toler, in the 300 block of West Crystal, burned this week. It was almost destroyed. Firemen fought two other blazes during the past week. One was on Huntington Lane, where George Daugherty lived. Saved from the blaze by neighbors, he was seriously burned and remained yesterday in the intensive care unit of a Wichita Falls hospital. Friday afternoon, firemen fought a grassfire west of town that lasted more than five hours and did extensive damage to crossties on the railroad.

Enrollment figures continue to decline

First-day enrollment figures at Iowa Park schools relate the continuing decline for students attending classes.

Monday's head count of 1,693 students was the lowest in more than 15 years, and was 599 fewer than the peak first-day report made in 1970, when 2,292 were counted.

Last year's enrollment on opening day was 1,732.

Only the junior high campus posted an increase over last year, when 436 students enrolled, up from the 392 figure reported in 1981.

The high school enrolled 542 students, down from 600 last year; Bradford had 391, down from 402, and Kidwell had 322, down from 338.

Traditionally, first-day enrollment figures do not hold up, however. There are always more students reporting through the first 10 days of classes, especially after Labor Day.

Smallest class Monday was the first grade, with only 118 students, and the largest class was the 166 counted in the sixth grade.

Enrollment figures reported by Supt. Harold Cowley, as counted Monday, and last year's first-day figures in parenthesis, were:

Special Education (Kidwell) 4 (3)
Early Childhood (Kidwell) 9 (10)
Kindergarten 63 (58) - represents half, since school year is split
First Grade 118 (137)
Second Grade 128 (130)

Hawks open season Friday at Breckenridge

Dig out your stadium seats, dust off your green caps and clean your green jackets, because the 1982 football season opens tomorrow night for the Iowa Park Hawks.

For the third consecutive year, the Mean Green will initiate the schedule with another group of greenies, the Breckenridge Buckaroos. The game is to start, at Breckenridge, at 8 p.m.

This will be the third time the two clubs have met, and Coach David Baugh has his cap set on changing the outcome of the past two outings.

The Buckaroos have handed the Hawks losses in 1980, 20-6, and 1981, 19-0. Prior to those two games, Iowa Park bested 42-20, back in 1970.

Baugh figures his Hawks have a pretty good chance of evening the series this year, because he has a host of returning players while the Bucks return only six lettermen from a club that advances to the regional playoffs and finished with a 10-2 record.

Heading the list of Breckenridge returners is quarterback Kyle Parker, son of former Buckaroo mentor, and runningback Ronnie Mercer.

Senior James Summers and junior Kelsey Williams saw limited action in the offensive backfield last season. Guard Roy Beaty and tackles Louis Poppenhouse and Jeff Reid will be the nucleus for a rebuilt line, both offensively and defensively.

The defensive secondary is untested.

Though every position of the Hawk team is solid, many of the players will be forced to go both offensively and defensively, due to lack of experience.

On the line, Baugh is counting heavily on the size and experience of Steve Stewart, Frank Johnson, Greg Untalon, Raymond Taylor and Robbie Hausler.

In the offensive backfield, where Baugh has named Marc Klinkerman as his starting quarterback to give him more speak at wide receiver with alternating signal caller Wayne Hodges, experience will also be gained from Lynn Fulfer, Mack Weaver, Kevin Parker and Untalon.

Joining the backfield and the player Baugh figures to be the best offensive newcomer is fullback Paul Rogers. He was ineligible for varsity play last year after moving to Iowa Park and saw action on the junior varsity.

"I feel real good about our situation," Baugh commented on the prospects of the season opener. He said Breckenridge had better overall personnel the past two years, but not this season.

Breckenridge has one good back, Parker, who has been rated by Texas Football magazine as a blue chipper. He is fast and runs the options from the veer formation extremely well. "If we shut him down, we should hold them," he said.

"If we don't beat them, I'll be real disappointed," the Head Hawk stated, even though the Harris Rating System has the Buckaroos a three-point favorite.

"We're in the best physical shape we've ever been in," Baugh continued. As of Monday, only one player was limping, and that is very unusual for the Hawks, based on the past years after two-a-day workouts.

"I had been concerned about our defensive secondary, with Hausler the only returning starter. But now the first four in the secondary are doing real well. They're tackling well and I think we'll see lots of interceptions. We're stressing going to the football," Baugh said.

Hoping to improve on the 3-6-1 record set his first year as a head coach, Baugh makes no bones about his hopes for a much improved record in 1982.

MDA telethon set this weekend

The Muscular Dystrophy Association will be benefitted by a Labor Day 2 1/2-hour telethon which is to begin at 8 p.m. Sunday and continue until 5:30 p.m. Monday.

Members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha will host telephones in Iowa Park during the event. Contributions can be made by telephoning 592-4106, Shaw Motor Co. In addition, fish bowl contributions can be accepted at the auto dealership.

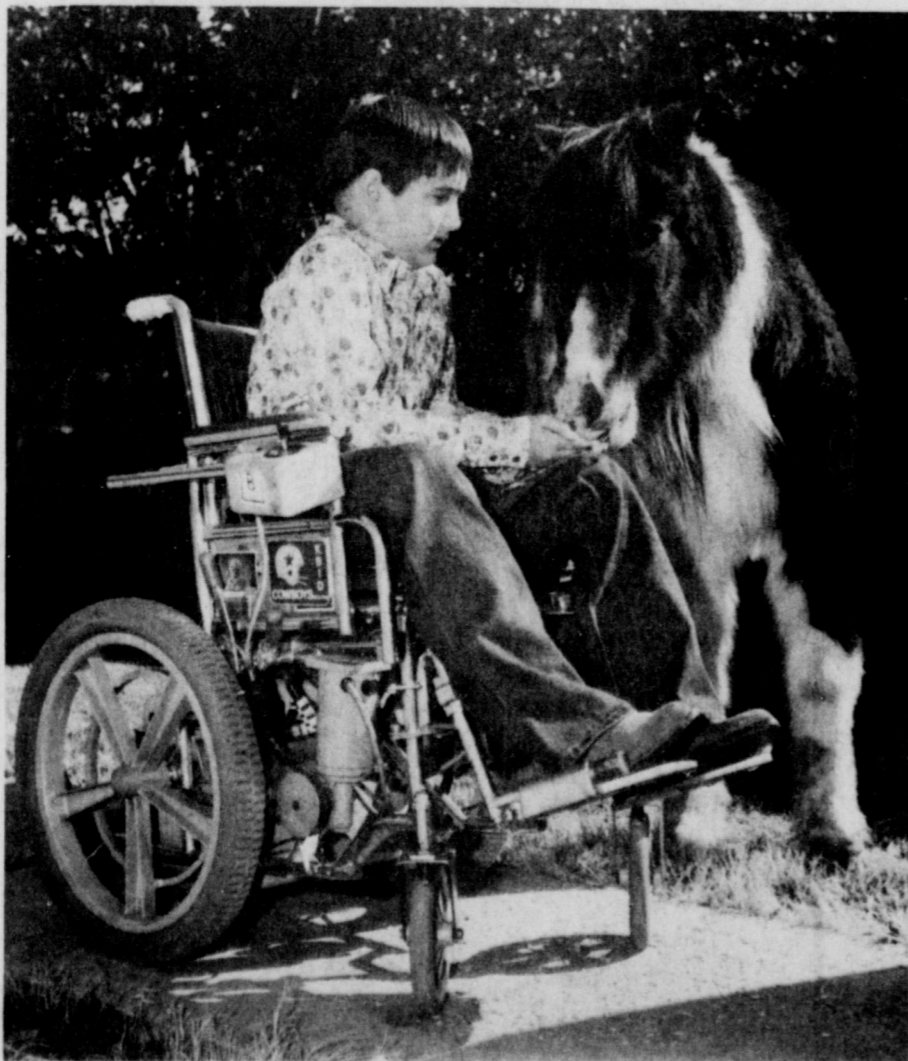

KAUZ-TV, Channel 6 in Wichita Falls will be carrying the telethon, which will be the 17th annual event for the MDA.

Broadcast live from Caesar's Palace in Las Vega, Jerry Lewis and Ed McMahon will be hosts. More than 200 television stations will be joining the Wichita Falls channel in delivering the broadcast nation-wide. Each station provides its own local programming at 41 different intervals.

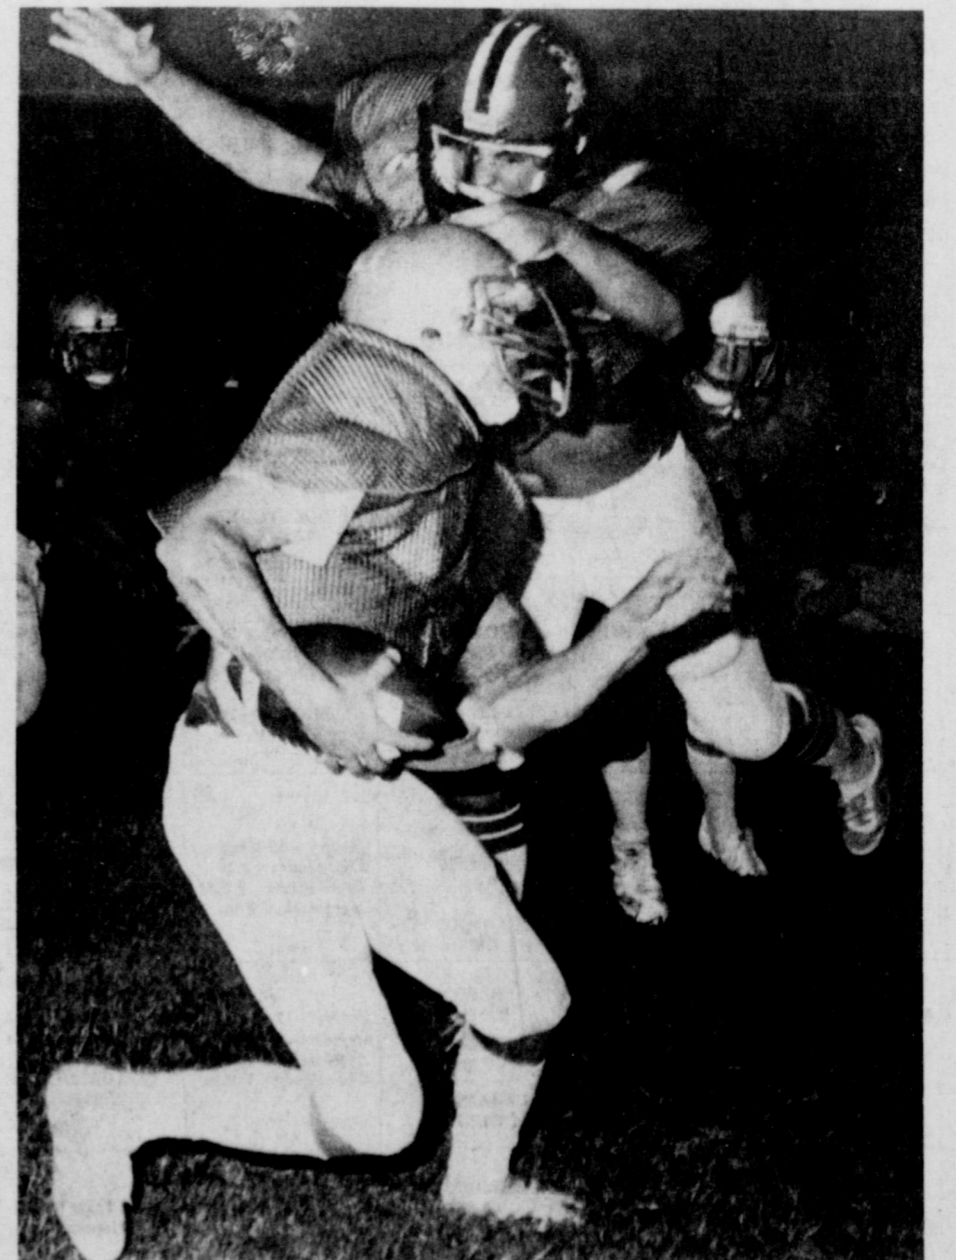

The Muscular Dystrophy Association maintains 240 clinics around the nation and more than 600 individual research projects world-wide. In the local area, the MDA clinic is held at Wichita Falls Clinic.

There is also a summer camp for children in Amarillo, held by the MDA.

Last year's telethon raised more than $31-million in pledges and generated an audience of more than 93-million viewers, second only to the Superbowl in audience ratings.

ROSS BEISCH is the poster child for the Red River area of Muscular Dystrophy Association this year. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Beisch and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Beisch and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Birdwell. A fifth grader at Electra, his aunt, Mrs. Anna Phillips, is telephone chairman in Iowa Park for this weekend's telethon.

Richter, Gibson nuptial vows are recited

In a lovely candlelight setting reminiscent of the Victorian era, Miss Kellie Jean Richter and Randall Ray Gibson exchanged marriage vows Aug. 20 in the sanctuary of Christ United Presbyterian Church in Wichita Falls, with Rev. E.B. Compton, Jr., officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richter of Wichita Falls, former residents of Iowa Park, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Betty Gibson of Iowa Park and Ray Gibson of Wichita Falls.

Sentiment and tradition were abundantly obvious throughout the entire ceremony. As close friends and relatives arrived, Miss Joy Shawver directed the guests to register at a table draped with coral taffeta overlaid with an ivory crocheted cloth, handiwork of Mrs. Effie Winfrey of Iowa Park, the bride's maternal great-grandmother.

In addition to the ivory plume pen and the wedding book, the table held an ivory heart-shaped pillow swathed in lace and studded with pearls bearing symbolic wedding rings, a gift from Mrs. Jon Reese, a mauve ceramic basket filled with coral taffeta roses, and four-branched candelabra holding coral tapers.

As guests were ushered into the candlelit sanctuary by Mark Howard, Joey Sifuentes and James Wickersham, a quartet composed of Buddy Mercer, Bryan Fowler, Terry Escue and Jay Yeakley, accompanied by Eric Birk, pianist, sang "Longer." The bride's mother and parents of the groom were escorted to their seats during the vocal rendition of "Always and Forever" by Mercer with accompaniment by the pianist.

The bridal party entered the sanctuary lined with fresh Boston fern hanging from the cathedral ceiling to the time-honored processional played on the organ by Birk. Each pew was lit by a candle burning in a hurricane globe entwined with fresh English ivy and bamboo fronds cascading from coral satin bows.

The altar was illuminated with candles burning in footed brass urns, pyramid, spiral and tree candelabra. At either extremity of the altar was an original arrangement of fresh white potted chrysanthemums surrounded by Boston ferns highlighted by graceful graduated tapers.

As the organ swelled the strains of Wagner's Bridal March, the lovely bride entered the sanctuary with her father who presented her in marriage for her parents. As the bride and groom stepped to the altar to recite their nuptial vows, Miss Deena Hefner and Buddy Mercer were featured in a vocal duet, "Endless Love," and they were heard again after the vows in their rendition of "The Lord's Prayer."

Candlelight silk chiffon embellished with seed pearls and iridescents drifted over a flowing taffeta skirt. A wide ruffle of Alencon and Chantilly laces edged the hemline and continued to the waist to form an apron effect beneath which swirled a chapel length train of accordion pleated chiffon bordered with Chantilly and Schiffler laces. The bodice was designed with small pleated neckline ruffle edged in pearls and a sheer chiffon yoke adorned with seed pearls, iridescents and Schiffler lace. The full sleeves of chiffon repeated the yoke design and drifted into Chantilly lace cuffs from

To compliment the striking gown, the bride wore a picture hat duplicating the gown trim. A delicate popcorn veil covered the hat and joined a trailing wisp of illusion and satin streamers that extended the length of the train.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of silk daisies, windflowers, camellias and freesia in tones of coral and mauve combined with fresh gypsophila and leatherleaf fern accented with pearls to complete her ensemble. In keeping the bridal traditions, she wore a pearl bracelet that had belonged to her late sister, Ronda for "something old," and pearl ear rings, a gift from her parents for "something new." She chose her mother's wedding band and an ivory lace garter accented with a blue satin bow for the "something borrowed" and "something blue" accessories to complete the rhyme.

The bride's chosen colors were emphasized in her attendants' coral taffeta gowns styled with wide neckline ruffles and full elbow length sleeves. Mauve grosgrain ribbons encircled their waists and trailed in streamers to the floor length hemlines. Each wore a single pearl-centered mauve camellia combined with fresh gypsophila and narrow coral satin ribbon in her hair. Their nosegays were fashioned of mauve rosebuds, carnations, starflowers and matching ribbons.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Jo Ann Curry of Lubbock. Bridesmaids were Miss Suzanne Palacios of Wichita Falls, and the bride's cousins, Miss Debbie Richter of Snyder and Miss Launa Thrush of Iowa Park.

The bride was immediately preceded to the altar by two flower girls, Amanda Venhaus and her cousin, Whitney Richter, both of Iowa Park. They were charming pictures in coral taffeta dresses styled identically to the attendants' gowns except for the length which was a midcalf flounce. They wore white net stockings and carried baskets made of white lace filled with coral silk carnations, rosebuds and azaleas set off with pearl and mauve grosgrain ribbon accents.

The groom and his attendants wore formal black tuxedos with ivory shirts and boutonnières of mauve and coral rosebuds.

Serving as best man was Billy Jay Farmer of Galveston. Groomsmen were Jeff Taylor and Tony Clark of Wichita Falls and the groom's brother, Bryan Gibson of Iowa Park.

For her daughter's delightful day, Mrs. Richter wore a long magenta rose antique satin gown styled with an off-the-shoulder neckline. A corsage of silk roses and fresh gypsophila in the shade of the dress was attached to a peplum at the waistline. Mrs. Gibson chose a gown of aqua polyester designed with a low neckline pleated ruffle and full skirt for her son's wedding. The finishing touch was a corsage of coral and mauve silk roses arranged with baby's breath.

The fathers of the bride and groom were attired in formal black tuxedos identical to the ones worn by the groom and his attendants.

Unlike the traditional wedding ceremony, the parents and guests remained seated after the newlyweds and members of the bridal party left the sanctuary as the organist furnished the recessional music. Miss Hefner and Buddy Mercer presented their final vocal duet number, the sentimental "Love Me Tender," and the organist played "Somewhere My Love" as relatives and guests exited from the sanctuary.

The reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was held immediately in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride's table was draped with candlelight Venise lace over taffeta and appointed with a centerpiece of fresh leatherleaf fern, antherium, agapanthus arranged in an 18th century crystal and silver epergne belonging to Mrs. Jack Tillman.

The bride's cake frosted in candlelight was decorated with confection cascades of coral and mauve roses, chrysanthemums, reverse shell borders and garlands of the chosen flowers. Fresh leatherleaf fern and gypsophila were used on each tier to enhance the fragile beauty of the cake. The fifth tier held an arrangement of silk flowers in coral and mauve tones, fresh baby's breath and leatherleaf fern. The opposite table extremity held a crystal punch service, mauve and coral mints, and mauve napkins embossed with names of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Mike Collins, sister of the groom, Mrs. Bryan Gibson, Mrs. Billy Jay Farmer, Miss Joy Shawver and Miss Cindy Hanzalik served the refreshments.

The groom's table was laid with a mauve polished cotton cloth and appointed with a silver coffee service. The centerpiece was a five-branched silver candelabrum entwined with fresh English ivy filled with glowing mauve candles. The double-ring chocolate cake was decorated in beige frosting highlighted with mauve and coral confection flowers and names of the bride and groom.

Coral taffeta roses containing bird seed to shower the couple with as they departed for a honeymoon trip to the Virgin Islands were arranged in a mauve ceramic basket and given to guests as a memento of the special occasion.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Gateway Inn on the eve of their wedding.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. She was secretary of the National Honor Society, an honor graduate, member of the band, and a feature twirler. She is a senior at Midwestern State Univ. where she is majoring in elementary education and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi. She is employed at Parker Square Bank. The groom was graduated from MSU and is employed at American National Bank.

When the couple left on the wedding trip, the bride was wearing a royal blue taffeta dress designed with full elbow length sleeves and a billowy skirt. They will live in the Fountaingate Apartments in Wichita Falls.

Special wedding guests were Loy Thrush of Lubbock, Mrs. George Richter of Iowa Park, grandparents of the bride, Mrs. Effie Winfrey of Iowa Park, her great-grandmother, and Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Ingle of Crowell, the groom's grandparents.

Berg, Morton wedding rites performed in Louisiana

Mr. and Mrs. David Allan Morton, who were married Saturday in Pinecroft Baptist Church in Shreveport, Louisiana, will establish residence in that city following a honeymoon in Eureka Springs, Ark.

The bride is the former Miss Melinda Rae Berg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Coyle of St. Petersburg, Fla., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Morton of Shreveport, former residents of Iowa Park.

Burgundy and mauve were the bride's chosen colors for the occasion. Mauve silk roses were the emphasized flower in decorations, bridal bouquets and reception.

The foyer table hinted of the color scheme, bearing a burgundy candlepiece on a solid white draped tablecloth, a white plume pen and guest book, Miss Susan Casey presided at the registry table.

The bridal party entrance door of the double-aisled church was flanked by schefflera plants accented with burgundy bows. Inside the sanctuary, the altar featured a centered, white archway draped with fresh ivy dotted with mauve roses. On each side stood natural wooden lattice screens also draped in ivy. These were lined at the base with fancy green and white caladiums and solid green airplane plants. To the outside of the screens stood a pair of gracefully winding candelabra entwined with ivy bearing large mauve satin bows matching those on the family pews.

The decorations were completed with a straight kneeling bench facing the altar and the unity candle which the bride and groom lighted together during the ceremony.

Dr. William Riley, professor of voice at Centenary College, accompanied by Leslie Downs, performed three vocal selections which included "The Lord's Prayer," "The 23rd Psalm," and "The Call." Mrs. Sandra Timmons provided the organ music for bridal party entrance, prelude and postlude. Her selections were chosen by the bride and groom and included "Annie's Song," "More," "The Twelfth of Never," "Moon River," "Close to You," "Jean," "Because," "Trumpet Voluntary," "A Time for Us," "Where Do I Begin?" and "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride wore a white gown of organza and taffeta. The bodice featured a shadow yoke enhanced with Schiffli embroidery dotted with seed pearls and was completed with a wedding band collar of silk Venise lace and tiny crystal pleats. The sheer bishop sleeves applied with the same lace were caught at the wrists by cuffs of lace and crystal pleats. The full skirt captured attention with twin tiers of crystal pleats and a graceful chapel train, the second tier forming a modified bustle.

A Juliet cap of delicate Schiffli embroidery accented by rows of small seed pearls held the bride's two-tiered, lace-edged fingertip veil in place. To complete her wedding costume, the bride carried a nosegay of silk mauve roses and white dogwood with white and mauve ribbons streaming from it.

In observing traditions of the occasion, she carried a lace-covered Bible borrowed from one of her attendants. This, along with her shoes, borrowed from the groom's mother, satisfied the "something borrowed" sentiment. She wore gold and pearl earrings that her mother had given her for "something old." For "something new," she wore on her right wrist a gold chain bracelet, which was a gift from one of her bridesmaids. Her "something blue" a blue-satin trimmed garter completed the traditional accessories. For further sentiment, she wore on her right hand the diamond promise ring that the groom had given her prior to their engagement.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo with a mauve rose boutonniere to match the bride's attire.

The trio of bridal attendants included Miss Laticia Huneycutt of El Dorado, Ark., Miss Joanne Meyer of Denver, Colo. and Miss Lisa Illing of Monroe, La. Each wore a differently-styled dress reflecting the mauve color scheme distinguished with a full lace overlay and ruffled hemline. They carried small arm bouquets of mauve roses and cascading ribbons.

The groom's attendants wore solid burgundy tuxedos with shirts trimmed in mauve-edged ruffling. Groomsmen were Tom Casey of Abilene, Trey Harris of Baton Rouge, La. and Charles Boyd of Baton Rouge, La. Ushers wearing identical attire, were Mike Davis of Iowa Park and Dwayne Dunlap of Shreveport.

Candlelighters were Miss Janine Coyle and Barry Barton of Shreveport, cousins of the bride and groom, respectively. She wore a full length dress of mauve keona and he wore a tuxedo matching those of the groomsmen.

The bride's mother chose a full length deep burgundy dress styled with a V-neck bodice covered with a thin overlay with vertical stripes which ended with a narrow tie at the waist, and open butterfly type, elbow length sleeves tacked at the ends, and a slightly gathered full skirt.

The groom's mother wore a full length burgundy crepe dress designed with a wrapped front that came together at the waist with a narrow side tie. The bodice featured full sleeves gathered just below the elbows and a V-neck bordered with lace which extended to the waistline to form a framed neckline.

In connection with rehearsal for the wedding, the groom's parents were hosts for a dinner at Piccadilly Cafeteria. Gifts were exchanged by the bride and groom and presented to members of the wedding party. A rose was given to Mrs. Nancy Barton in appreciation for hosting a shower for the bride.

The garden theme in the sanctuary prevailed in the Fellowship Hall where the postnuptial reception was held. Hanging baskets of plants filled the room with greenery, and the mauve and burgundy theme was emphasized on white-covered tables in the setting.

The bride's cake, set aside on a table of its own, was a three-tiered tiara decorated with roses in the chosen shades and sugar bells. It was topped with a silver cross set in a bed of roses.

The crystal punch bowl, at the adjoining table contained mauve punch to adhere to the colors highlighted in the wedding.

The groom's cake of devil's food was the center of attraction on the third table. The quartet sheet cake was decorated with a replica, in icing, of the groom's pick-up truck speeding to the wedding lettered with "Got to get to the church on time."

Servers for the tables were Mrs. Julie Ross, Mrs. Sandra Korth, Mrs. Kay Sanders and Mrs. Laura Heider.

When the couple departed on their wedding trip, the bride was wearing a white cotton dress accented with mauve and burgundy flowers patterned with lace-trimmed neckline and box sleeves. The groom wore a brown western coat and slacks.

CARD OF THANKS

It is so difficult for us to express what is in our hearts at this time for all the wonderful people that were so thoughtful and considerate with their expressions of love during the loss of our dear mother, friend, wife, grandmother and great-grandmother.

It never ceases to amaze us how the special people of this amazing country have the God-given ability to show their love and concern for their fellow man and are able to express it so sincerely.

We, as a family are so very happy that we chose Iowa Park to spend our lives in and we shall be eternally grateful to everyone for their prayers, gifts of food, floral tributes, cards and love. The world has lost a wonderful, sensitive, loving, vivacious person and we shall miss her dearly. Thank you for your support. We could not have made it without you. We love you.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Football is king... all hail the king!

Tonight marks the official kickoff of Texas high school football, as Iowa Park's junior varsity and freshman teams take on Breckenridge here, and the varsity travels to Buckaroo country tomorrow.

Why is that such a big deal, you might ask, if you are new to the area or just not that hot on the pigskin game.

Well, there are a number of reasons. Football, itself, is the most-watched spectator sport in the United States. Nothing has ever topped the television ratings records set by the Superbowl.

Colleges and universities in Texas are always among the tops in the nation.

And no one will question that the best brand of public school football is played right here in Texas.

Do people really turn out for high school football games?

You bet your boots they do. The record attendance, I believe, to watch a high school championship game is something like 36,000.

Did you know that a game this fall might just break that record, if the stadium will hold that many. Cleburne and Brownwood are in the same district, 4-AAAA. They were scheduled to play this season at Cleburne, but that contest has already been moved to Texas Christian Univ. stadium, and, reportedly, 25,000 advance tickets have already been sold!

When Iowa Park traveled for the first time to Brownwood, back in 1971, we know of Hawk fans who traveled from all points in the state, such as Houston, and from as far away as Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska to watch the game.

Hawk fans felt so good about their team, and so bad about the old stadium, that they themselves built Hawk Stadium, using very, very little tax money. They did the work themselves, donated money and equipment and charged little or nothing for materials used in the construction.

Fans used to stand three and four deep around the fence at the old stadium, because stadium seats were always sold out. You had to inherit reserved seats.

"Oh, there aren't hardly any people going to the Hawk games these days, they aren't winning," you might say.

Well, it's a fact that if you counted heads, the fans in the stands at any varsity football game last season amounted to as many who turned out for all the season's local basketball games last year... and we had a winning team and were defending district champs.

I've seen more people at a Hawk football game than all the watchers and participants together at the annual UIL band marching contest held in Wichita Falls.

People like their football in this part of the country. They like winning teams better than losing teams, on that there's no question. But nothing has more support than Texas high school football. Political parties are even envious of such following.

Head coach David Baugh brought up a point the other day which was evident to me, but some might not know it. Money generated from football here pays for the football program, and also much of the rest of athletics at the high school.

See you at the stadium.

Cool carefully and help hold down your bills.

In many homes, summer air conditioning uses more electricity than all other appliances combined. To help hold down electric bills, use it sparingly. Set your thermostat at 80 degrees or higher, and use a fan to circulate the air. You'll be surprised at how cool you'll feel! You may not even notice the difference — except on your electric bill.

Cook of the Week

Featured as Cook of the Week in this issue of the Leader is Mrs. B.G. (Cecilia) House, a very interesting and talented young matron of our town.

She said that her mother and mother-in-law greatly influenced her cooking. Her mother came from an English family, while her husband's mother was more of a southern-style cook and taught her seasoning methods, and cooking with what was available in the home.

When her husband was in the Air Force, the couple traveled a lot. They were in Tehran, Iran during the 1960's when certain holidays forced the Americans to stay indoors because of demonstrations at that time. They learned to enjoy rice recipes while there and in Okinawa, and noticed that in Iran the people pour a raw egg over cooked rice, and Mrs. House said that she was surprised at its taste.

A native Texan, Cecilia grew up in south Texas. She was graduated from Austin College in Sherman and has taught private and public schools in Robstown, Vernon and Iowa Park. She is presently organist at First Presbyterian Church.

Since her marriage to B.G., they have lived in Texas, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Alabama, Teheran, Iran and Okinawa and have traveled in Europe, Middle East and Taiwan.

They have two sons, Gary and Alan of Iowa Park, a daughter, Cynthia Armstrong of Childress and one grandson, Jason. B.G. is presently a station agent for Burlington Northern at Vernon.

Mrs. B.G. House

Cecilia and B.G. are both weight watchers and two of her recipes today, Tuna-Swiss Pie and Mexican-Style Corn Casserole, can be adapted for weight watchers by using egg substitute, low-calorie cheese and skim milk. Her hobbies include traveling and reading and, of course, her music. In addition to playing the organ, she directs the choir at First Presbyterian Church.
