Marine Armorers Find Jap Firearms Inferior

There's no guesswork about whether American or Japanes arms were superion, declares Marine Sgt. Boyd Williams, who returned in December after two years at Camp Catlin, Oahu, Hawaii, where the Marine Corps repairs its own arms and tests those of the enemy.

Williams left Thursday for San Diego, Calif., after a 30 day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Williams. He is due to receive a discharge within a short time.

He enlisted in June 1943, and in December of that year he sailed far Hawaii. At Camp Catlin he was assigned as an armorer, which he explained is the same as a gunsmith in civilian life.

"We repaired all types of arms, anything from 45 pistols up to artillery pieces," he said.

"After each invasion, the weapons used were brought back to be repaired and put in shape for the next invasion."

Speaking of the Japanese weapons, he described them as inferior to those the American fighting men used.

"We saw and worked on and experimented with Japanese guns. We fired them and compared them with ours and found them inferior by a long shot." he declared. "There is not as much fire power and most are of smaller calibre and made of cheap material."

But there's many an American soldier who is bringing back one of those guns as a souvenir, even if he can't use American-made ammunition in it.

"Japanese machine guns fire faster than those used by the Marines," Williams said, "due to the fact that they use fast burning powder. But their rifles are semi-automatic. Everytime they fire bullet, they have to operate the gun manually. They pull back the bolt and reload it. I think that was a great factor in winning the

Dr. J. H. Loving, Beloved Pioneer, Dies Saturday

Dr. J. H. Loving, beloved by the thousands he had as friends and patients during his many years as a physician here, died at his home Saturday evening, February 9, at 5:30 p. m. He was 83 years of age.

He had been in ill health for a number of years, and in recent years he had been seriously ill on several occasions. And while his friends had known of his illness, his death nevertheless came as a surprise to many, and brought with it a deep sense of loss..

Dr. Loving lived in Wellington through its years of greatest growth, and during the time it emerged from a pioneer town into a properous and thriving community. After many years of practice which taxed strength and endurance, his health began to fail. Then during the winter months, he would go to the Rio Grande Valley, returning to take up his practice in the summer. After five years, he and his family moved to Falfurrias where they lived for the next ten years.

They returned to Wellington about eight years ago and had continued to make this their home.

Dr. Joseph Henry Loving was born May 21, 1862, in Missouri, the son of John ond Minerva Hamilton Loving, both of whom were Kentuckians. Most of his life, however, was spent in Texas.

Eleven children survive, Thomas B. Loving, Mrs. Pearl N. Shaw, Mrs. Otto Buerger, Porter E. Loving, O. K. Loving and Mrs. C. A. Harrell of Wellington; Mrs. Opal Sims of Dallas; Joseph Henry Loving Jr., of Los Angeles; Mrs. Etta Belle Williams of Dorris, Calif.; Mrs. Phillip Welfield and Miss Mary Ann Loving of Amarillo.

Funeral services were scheduled to be held from the First Baptist Church in Wellington Wednesday afternoon, February 13, at 3:00 p. m.. with Rev. Henry H. Kinkeade, pastor, officiating. Special tribute will be paid by Dr. E. W. Jones, a close friend for almost 30 years.

Burial will be in the Old Wellington cemetery, with the Kelso Funeral Home in charge.

Red Cross To Hold Annual Fund Drive During March

March has been designated for the annual fund-raising campaign of the American Red Cross, R. D. Wiley, county chairman, announced this week. At the same time he announced that John Forbis has been named chairman of the drive to replace Dewey Ellis, who has resigned after conducting the successful war-time drives conducted by the Red Cross here.

Mr. Forbis in January completed his work as county War Bond chairman, with a record of all over-all quotas successfully passed.

This year's Red Cross quota has been set at $3,000.

The drive will open March 1, and plans are being made to make this year's campaign one of the speediest in the entire history of Red Cross here. Mr. Forbis is asking all towns and community workers to start their work on March 1, and if it is at all possible, to end it on that day.

"I fully believe that we can complete the entire $3,000 quota on that one day if we bend every effort to that end," the chairman declared.

"The war is over, but the work of Red Cross goes on just as surely as it has in the past years. A part of this money will remain here to care for the local work of Red Cross. The remainder will go into the national fund to help with work all over the world."

A committee of workers for all communities of the county is being worked up this week.

"His was the hard and difficult job of heading the war fund campaigns during the difficult years when this country was at war, and in every case, he did it most successfully and commendably and in a manner of which every friend of the Red Cross should be proud," they said.

Rotary Will Present Forum Speaker Fri.

The first forum of the Institute of International Understanding, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Wellington, will be held in the high school auditorium Friday evening, February 15, at 8:00 o'clock.

Morris H. Coers of Indianapolis, Ind., will be the speaker. His subject will be "Making International Organization Effective." Mr. Coers will also talk to the students of Wellington High School in the afternoon.

Ten minutes of group singing will immediately precede the lecture.

Mr. Coers has recently returned to the United States after 18 months of service as an American Red Cross Field Director with the Marines and the Army in Africa, Sicily and Italy.

To the lecture platform Mr. Coers brings an unusually interesting background which has been packed into little more than 30 years. Prior to World War II he was chaplain of the Indiana Boys' Reformatory School, a member of the Indiana House of Representatives and pastor of a Baptist church of 1200 members. He has travelled extensively in the United States, Europe and the Near East, and for ten years has presented frequent radio programs on various phases of international affairs.

This will be the first of a series of four Institute programs presented by the Rotary Club as a service to the community. The other three programs are scheduled for February 22, March 1 and March 8.

"Steps Toward World Stability" will be the general theme of each of the four Institute discussions.

Tickets for the four lectures may be obtained from Kelly Pigg at the Collingsworth Motor Co., Sandy Parsons at the Parsons Drug, or the Boy Scouts. Proceeds will go toward building the Scout hut.

Rockets Down Bobcat Quint

In the closest game they have played this year the Skyrocket basketeers defeated the Childress Bobcat quintet 34 to 33 Tuesday night, February 12 on the Childress court.

High point man of the game was O'Neil of Wellington, with 18 points. Kitchens of Childress was second with 11 points. Rockets Russell and Hatch each scored 7 points and Orr and Fulton one each.

The entire game was almost as close as the final score. The Bobcats took a 6 point lead as the game opened, but the Rockets quickly narrowed this down when they got possession of the ball. Wellington led 19 to 15 at the end of the half, and maintained a narrow margin during the third quarter, but ended that period only one point ahead, 27 to 26.

During the final period Childress managed a one point lead, and not until the final minutes of the playing did the Rockets make their final goal to take the one point win.

Players were:

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

December 25, 1945

Today is Christmas day and we really had a meal, For dinner we had all the turkey we could eat, plus all the trimmings, dressing, English peas, rolls, coffee, oranges, apples, pears, fruit cake, pumpkin pie and all the nuts you could want. That is the only meal I ate all day.

This afternoon all the boys in my tent went out for a walk. We walked about 10 miles taking pictures. We went down to one of the oldest shrines in Shikoku and took several shots.

Sunday I took off and spent the day out there where R. A. Covey is. About six o'clock Sunday morning, fire broke out in one of the medics barracks about 75 yards from where Covey sleeps. That was about the worst thing I have ever seen. The last report was that they found 12 bodies in there. Two of the barracks burned, but everyone got out of one of them. They found the remains of 5 who never got out of their bunks. The others were found near windows and doors. One of the men was going home the following day on a dependency discharge. He had six children. I saw them picking up the remains with shovels and putting the ashes in containers. The body of one man, minus legs, arms and head, was lying in a boiler. It had burned and shrunk to the size of a baby. It was really a pitiful sight. They think a gasoline stove exploded and started it.

I may sell my watch. The boys that make the trip to Kure sell them for 1,000 yen and up. If I can get that much I'll have my money back.

January 12, 1946

I can see to a certain extent why my letters take so long to get home. Here is how it works. This letter, written tonight, will stay in the post office here until about 6:30 tomorrow night. The following morning, Monday, it will get to APO 317, Kure, about 11:00 a. m. It stays there until 9:00 p. m. that night when it is put on the train. So sometime Tuesday it will reach a base post office where it has to be broken down again. Allow about a day for that and you can see about when it is ready for the plane.

We are moving to Okayama, near Osaka, on Honshu, on or about January 31. You can look at the map and see Osaka. Okayama is about a six hour Jap train ride from there South.

(The following refers to the bodies of 14 American airmen which he had seen being moved. They were men who died when their planes were shot down at Kochi). I suppose they were taking the bodies of the men that I saw on the train to some U. S. Army cemetery. That's the only reason I know that they would be hauling them around. I think they knew who most of them were, but of course they wouldn't make it public.

That was really bad about Otto Buerger's death. It seems like the ones go whom you are least expecting. I can just see him meeting Papa at the mail box and pulling his dry jokes.

We really had a football game today. We got a football from somewhere and we play out here by our tent. The whole place is covered with sand and we just play touch. We really get a working out, tho, with all the running.

15, Jan. 1946

I'm having to work at the window every day now. The other fellow is out writing money orders at different outfits and he probably won't be back for 3 or 4 more days. The fellow that used to go out and write, went home yesterday, 44 points. So that puts a hardship on us. The fellow here now has 44, and they haven't started anyone to take his place, so I may have the whole thing by myself before long.

20, Jan. 1946

Everything is pretty quiet here tonight. Everyone has gone to see his Jap friends or something. Another of the boys is leaving on Wednesday or Thursday. They lowered the service to 30 months last night and he has 33. This is Tom Cranley of Philadelphia. The news today said that Gen. Hershey wants all draftees to serve 18 months. If they pass that I'll be out in July. That's about the time I've been expecting it.

Covey came in again today. They are moving up to Okayama Wednesday. They are supposed to be located about 2 blocks from Div. Hq. so I guess I'll get to see him quite often.

22, Jan. 1946

Well, tomorrow morning I'm going out on a money order trip. I'm going to the 11th Field Artillery Bn., located at Tokoshima. That's on the northeast section of this island. I really dread it, because I'll be writing big stuff all the time and they have no adding machines or safes to keep the money in.

If you know the fertility of the soil of a given community, then you know the kind of people to be found in that community.

Boy Scouts Of World Observe 36th Anniversary

Nearly two million Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Senior Scouts, and their adult leaders throughout the United States will commemorate Boy Scout Week, which begins Friday, February 8, and continues through Thursday, February 14. The theme of the observance, which marks the 36th anniversary of the founding of the movement in America, is "Scouts of the World —Building Together."

The Boy Scouts of America have created a "World Friendship Fund" and nearly two million members have been invited and urged to contribute voluntarily to it. Through the fund, Scout Associations in lands ravaged during World War II are being helped to rebuild their organizations. At the outbreak of the war in 1939 there were more than three million Scouts and leaders in 70 different lands.

Many Boy Scouts, Cub Packs, and Senior Scout Units will mark Boy Scout Week by contributing to the fund through local Boy Scout Councils. The National Executive Board of the Movement authorized the World Friendship Fund, believing it can make a definite contribution to the post-war world, since boys dedicated to the Scout ideals of tolerance, friendliness, and democracy, may be the leaders of the world of tomorrow.

Many troops have contributed from the money earned by salvaging waste paper, while others have given the proceeds of special Scout entertainments. To make certain the greatest good is done with each dollar spent, the Boy Scouts of America secured the advice of the International Scout Bureau in London and has arranged with agencies of the Federal government at Washington to see that the Scout organizations actually get the help in the manner intended. The fund will continue as long as Scouting overseas needs aid for rebuilding.

The Boy Scouts of the Philippines, for many years a part of the Boy Scouts of America, and now an independent association, has received a shipment of Scout supplies and $12,500. Ten thousand dollars of the fund, earmarked for the Philippines, forms a memorial to the late General Theodore Roosevelt, a vice-president of the Boy Scouts of America at the time of his death in Normandy, who took a deep personal interest in the progress of Philippine Scouting while Governor General of the islands.

Thirty-seven shipments, mostly Scout literature, have been sent to 20 countries. The fund is making possible an international edition of Lord Baden Powell's original "Aids to Scoutmastership," an edition of value in every country. Much pictorial literature of the Boy Scouts of America is being made available, since little translation is needed. Since the printing of Scout manuals and other literature in foreign languages brings many problems, the Fund will arrange for photo-offset printing of copies of material sent from abroad.

A feature of the Boy Scout Week celebration is the "Shirts-Off-Our-Backs" Campaign. Boy Scouts are out to collect from 500 to 1,000 tons of used but clean and serviceable Scout uniform parts and camping equipment to help Scouts overseas resume their Scouting activities. The collection is not considered charity but rather sharing by one Scout with another.

A special effort is being made during Boy Scout Week, and the rest of February, to call on former members for Scout Uniforms and accessories no longer needed. Each Scout donor has been asked to include his name and address on the equipment. Friendships that may be formed, it is felt, will contribute to the world-wide understanding.

The Scouts are seeking Boy Scout and Cub Scout shirts (without badges), hats and caps, shorts, neckerchiefs and slides, lanyards, belts, stockings and shoes. Scout equipment being collected for shipment overseas includes axes, knives, mess kits, duffle bags, haversacks, sleeping bags, tents, bugles, compasse, fire-making sets, first aid kits, signaling flags, whistles, and Scout literature.

Items contributed in the eastern half of the United States will be shipped to countries of Europe, while material collected in the western half will go to the Philippines and China. The World Friendship Fund will defray all shipping costs.

Boy Scout Week will be observed in every city and town and in nearly every village and hamlet in the nation. Since February 8, 1910, when the Boy Scouts of America was incorporated at Washington, D. C., more than 12,500,000 men and boys have been in Scouting. The active membership today is more than 1,950,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Senior Scouts, and adult volunteer leaders.

Hundreds of former members will gather at Troop Reunions, which this year, in many cases means returned Scout Leaders and Senior Scouts mustered out of the armed forces. It is estimated that one-quarter of the men in the armed forces were once Boy Scouts.

There will be District Pot Luck Dinners, and Scout Rallies, bringing together many Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and their parents. In this way parents get to know more about the Scouting Programs, the boys with whom their sons work and play, and the high type of volunteer leaders that are attracted to the movement.

The year of victory, 1945, saw the Boy Scouts complete their 70th war service project, each of which was requested by some top-ranking federal official. They took part in all eight bond drives, not only helping local bond committees but visited millions of homes and have been responsible for the sales of approximately $2,000,000,000 worth of Bonds and Stamps.

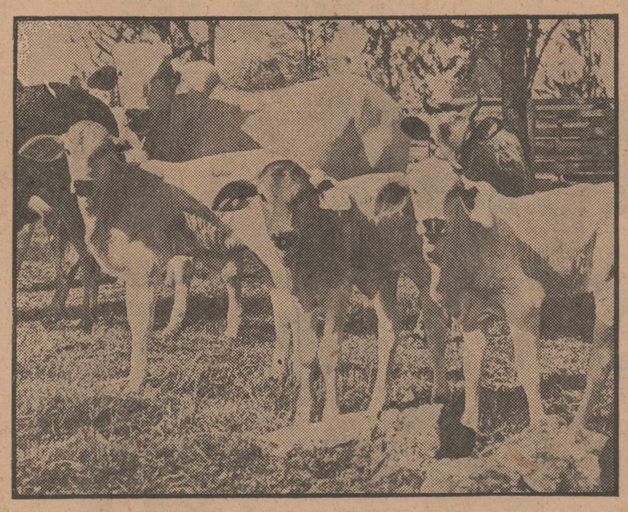

When federal officials called on young Americans to plant victory gardens and work on farms to meet the unprecedented need for food production last year, the Boy Scouts responded with their "Green Thumbs" campaign. Thousands of Scout gardens were cultivated and harvested. The National Victory Garden Institute awarded to 20,000 Boy Scouts the General MacArthur Garden Medal for doing superior jobs in raising and harvesting a variety of produce in gardens of at least 400 square feet. "Green Thumb Certificates" went to other Scouts who helped produce food.

Last spring, the Boy Scouts all pitched in and helped the United National Old Clothes program collecting ten per cent, or 15,000 tons of the 150,000 tons of serviceable used clothing, shoes and bedding obtained for destitute peoples overseas. Because they were best equipped for it, Scouts were generally used in the distribution of literature. They also aided the Victory Clothing Collection in January.

FLORIDA BOOM ON—IT'S CATTLE

Brahman cattle (the "sacred cow" of India) imported to Florida 15 years ago and bred with native cattle have made Florida third largest range cattle state in the U. S. Here R. G. Herrman, right, Ocala, receives first prize at a cattle show in Ocalo for his "Blue Director," shown in background. Presenting cup is Gov. Millard Caldwell, and, left, Nathan Mayo, Agriculture Commissioner.

These are typical examples of the new Brahmen breed. They grow heavier and meatier than American cattle, and, unlike American cattle, they do their own loafing in the sun instead of the shade. In Florida as in other cattle states cowboys ride herd on horseback.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

One of the most interesting characters ever to live here departed from the Wellington scene when Dr. Joseph Henry Loving died. Bill (Lola, Babe) Godfrey suffered from painful ear trouble when he was a boy. About thirty years ago Bill told me that Dr. Loving was the best ear doctor in town. The remark did not register then. It did make sense a little later when I discovered that Dr. E. W. Jones, who was held in high esteem by my father, frequently went to consult Dr. Loving about certain specialized cases.

* * *

When the flu hit at the end of the last war, people died in tragic numbers here in Collingsworth. It is said that Dr. Loving saved a far greater percentage of his patients than any other doctor. There is no way of estimating this sort of a report accurately; but it is known that Dr. Loving was a learned man in the medical profession. What he could have done with the proper equipment, adequate hospital facilities and somebody to take care of collections and establish a sound financial basis is something to wonder about. Dr. Loving had little regard for money. He kept no books and he sent out no bills. This may have handicapped a potentially greater usefulness.

* * *

Dr. Loving's mind was interested in the new and the true. He loved to talk of medicine and science. He liked to debate with his children. Often he did this until far in the night. He was a character; but he also had character. Many are the pains he has allayed. Many are the broken bodies he has healed. His service to his fellowman was real and great.

* * *

Here is a change from the old to the new: Gene Manzer has signed up with the Detroit Tigers as a bonus player. The remarkable thing is that he never played a full nine inning baseball game in his life — even though he has played some football. In football he couldn't make the high school grade along with the Don Austins, the Ernest Kendricks and the I. D. Russells. But here he comes along and gets signed up in the Big League of baseball.

* * *

Gene had offers from New York —not the Yankees—Philadelphia, Cleveland and others. Others include AA and A baseball teams. But in his training in Florida he had been under the personal supervision of Tommy Bridges. He fell under his influence and Tommy Bridges called down Bill Bradley, scout of the Tigers, and they gave Gene the works. Gene is now a Tiger.

* * *

Naturally Gene will not play in the Big League this year. He will go to some minor club owned by the Tigers. But Tommy Bridges has told him that he thought that he had good possibilities of reaching the major league. "If I hadn't thought so, I would never have spent more than a few minutes with you in the first place," Mr. Bridges said.

* * *

Here is a letter I lifted and which I will return. It is from Tommy Bridges to Gene Manzer and one paragraph follows:

"Gene, I suggest that you throw some along between now and the time to start your spring training —your arm is coming along nicely and if you throw some along you can hold what you built up in Florida. When training really starts, work to get faster always —remember about the motion I told you and how to use every bit of your body and arm in the fast ball pitch. And remember about the motion when you hold men on base—bring the arm down out of the glove to start the pitch NOT backwards; you did it nicely when we worked it. Your curve will be OK, Gene, and the fast ball too, but try to develop that perfect motion that makes a pitcher really fast with easy effort. . . . You were just about perfect when I saw you last. . . . I only want you to keep going upward and never make one move down."

* * *

F. O. Masten recently gave $6,200 to build a football stadium in Sudan, Texas. This county does produce some of the most interesting and energetic people. There must be some substance in the soil just as there is something in the soil or water in Deaf Smith that prevents tooth decay. Until the soil washed into the sea, there were elements in the land that made strong minds in New England. There is something here that makes people ambitious. (There is also something lacking here in the minerals or else so many of our people would not move to the plains or to the big cities or to California.)

* * *

But back to football and Wellington. If F. O. Masten is going to turn out to be a philanthropist, why not talk him into doing something big for the Rockets. He has taken them on trips; but it should be pointed out that we must compete with Phillips. It takes dough —folding money—to compete with Phillips.

* * *

About six of our most alert young business men have been riding the bull stock market much to the satisfaction of their wives. (Women are very tolerant of their menfolks when they are making good money.) But last week the bell weather of the local speculators took out entirely. I talked with the second disciple and he is getting out soon. Lesser fry should take notice.

* * *

This is the correct procedure. They are taking out now in anticipation of the false or "1920 depression" which will last for a short time. They intend to get back in some months or a year or so from now and ride on the real boom which they think will last from three to seven years.

* * *

Prices for farm land have reached the level of 1919. This was the time when so many farmers bought an equity in land and later lost the land they owned outright. I have nothing to say to a farmer who can pay cash for a piece of ground outright. But to those who are thinking of making a down payment on a piece of land, I would like to say that you are just plain gambling. Dice and poker are equally as safe.

* * *

It won't work; but a better suggestion than gambling in farm land is that which has been advanced in Oklahoma and Nebraska. In two points in these states, farmers have voted to hold a strike to end all strikes. They propose to withhold food. It would be drastic if all milk, poultry, beef, mutton and pork were withheld for a period of sixty days. This would cripple the dairy and poultry people; but it would not break the hog, cattle or sheep producers. If they ever try it I am a good mind to support it.

* * *

Events are moving fast in Wellington. The housing shortage is pitiful. When good houses were renting for $10 and $15 a month, who would have dared to say that $3,000 homes would be selling for $7,000. Maybe we don't need an oil play—for a time. We do not have a genuine boom; but we do have some of the effects of inflation.

* * *

But why should I spend my time on dollars and cents? In my advertising guide I read that bathing suits would be even scantier this summer. How could they? But Hollywood is peeved and they threaten "completely bare bosoms" for formal occasions. That leaves me exhausted. I can't decide between writing something about wishing that I was twenty years younger or to lash out in the good old Methodist style about the fall of the Roman Empire.

Division. This unit helped to liberate St. Lo, and it was for this that the Presidential Citation was awarded. A short time later he received the Bronze Star Medal for service beyond call of duty in rescuing wounded men under enemy fire.

He was in combat approximately four months before he was wounded the first time, When he returned to duty, he served four days before being wounded again. Altogether he was hospitalized 13 months.

He served in France, Holland, and Belgium and Germany.

Think of it: you're driving home from the office, you buzzzz, you pick up the receiver from the dashboard and your wife, at home, says, "Darling, I'm so sorry, I forgot the lamb chops. Editorial

There is something frightening in letdown that has followed the war. It runs deeper than mere relaxation of weary people after years of strain.

Our military disintegration, the mass demonstrations of American troops in foreign lands, the lawlessness and strikes at home—they all add up to an abdication of individual responsiblity that can mean the destruction of democratic government in the United States.

Referring to the present state collapse in the Armed Forces, the New York Times says: "Peace apparently has brought a release from the feeling of individual responsibility that showed itself during the war, at home as well as on the battlefronts—the feeling that what each was doing, even if it was only playing a small roll, was a part of the whole national and international effort. Now each apparently is willing to let the other do it. Each parent is willing to let some other parent's son stay overseas if only he can get his own son back. Every possible influence is brought, every possible string is pulled, to secure preferred treatment. A recent report from a European command said that two officers were kept busy doing nothing else but running down inquires from just one senator as to the status of the sons of his constituents."

Part of the fault for our scuttle and run attitude lies with the policy of the government which sold millions of people to the idea that war was an investment rather than an expense. Were not war bonds sold on this basis? And now instead of settling into the harness to pay those expenses, we are getting back on our laurels waiting to collect on our investments."—Post Dispatch.

Other Editors Say

• Away From The Farm

A smart young daily newspaper editor, P. J. Bounds, Jr., of the Mexia News, put a good-size headline on a story that's more important than other editors played up this week. It stated that a meeting of farm labor experts determined that the American war veteran does not prefer to and is not going to return to farm work. This fact is quite a story right here in Freestone county where many have chosen to move to town life, and leave productive lands to other hands. Essentially agricultural, this section faces a paradox with the existing situtation, made more enimatic by the fact that diversification (the secret of our farm success henceforth) requires a young or at least energetic type of farming that does not allow planting of a crop and standing months until harvest. It is a dangerous stage in the rehabilitation of our farm program and may change the old saying, "All that I am I owe to my mother," to "All that we are, we owe, period."—Weldon Owens in The Teague County Chronicle.

• All Control Is Asked For

We frequently hear it said that there is too much federal control. If ones stops to think every bit of federal control we have has been asked for by some person or group. The rest of the people could have stopped its encroachment in its tracks if they had made an effort to do so. Unfortunately there is always someone knocking at the door of Congress with a new batch of federal control legislation. What the country needs is an alert constituency to crack all such crack-pots in their tracks.—L. C. Kirgan in The Fairfield Recorder.

• Concern

We are usually more concerned with what the world thinks of us than is necessary. Each individual has sufficient secret problems to require unmolested thought through two life spans. Only those who neglect their own affairs have time for others.—Douglas Meador in The Matador Tribune.

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(The following letter was written by F 1-c Ralph Wynn to his little sister, Micky. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Wynn of Dodson.)

San Diego, Calif.
January 24, 1946

Dear Mickey,

How is everything with you and the rest of the folks? I guess you are having a good time lately. I suppose the folks have been wondering why I haven't written; but I just haven't had time to do anything like writing letters lately. I haven't had much liberty either, but I will get off tomorrow and will not have to be back until Monday. I am going up to Aunt Annie Lee's and spend the week end, and I imagine that I will enjoy it very much.

You can also tell the folks that I was about to get sore with them since I haven't been hearing from them; but yesterday morning I got all of the letters that they had written since the eleventh day of January, and that was quite a few.

Say, Micky, I haven't gotten my Wellington Leader since I have been back, and I just happened to remember that my subscription was out the first of the year. I didn't think to have it renewed when I was home on leave. It helps out a lot and I enjoyed it more than anyone would suspect. So reckon that you could do anything with the folks about that? The first time they are in Wellington, you can remind them that I would like to have it.

Tell everybody hello for me, and tell them that I will be thinking of them always and will try to write more often from now on. Good night and I will be seeing you one of these days.

Love,
Ralph.

News — from the — Army Navy Air Force Marines Coast Guard

Five Wellington boys who enlisted in the Navy recently are already looking forward to the end of their boot training and a leave home.

Pvt. Carrol H. Jones recently was transfered from Camp Roberts, Calif., to Fort Benning, Ga., where he is training with the paratroopers. He has been in service since October 1.

Pvt. Jones is the son of R. D. Jone of Quail.

Horace Holloman, S-1c, is here visiting members of his family, after having been in service since October 1944. He will report to Galveston February 15 for seperation from the Navy.

Holloman was assigned aboard the USS Bowie, an APA transport which took troops to Okinawa and the Philiuuines and occupation troops to Sasabo, Japan. He was never able to go ashore in Japan, however.

"We were still having air attacks when the ship was at Okinawa, but the Bowie was never attacked. Fighting was still going on on the island," he said.

Holloman returned to the States in December and has been at the Naval Hospital at Long Beach, California.

Here on furlough since January 13 is Pfc. Jack H. Wood, a veteran of 11 months service in Europe. He is visiting his father, A. S. Wood, his sister, Mrs. Roy Bounds, and brother, Dolphus Wood, who is also a veteran of this war.

Pfc. Wood reached the United States New Year's Day on the SS Argentina.

He served overseas with the 94th Division. He was in combat 17 days with a mortar platoon, going in near Bomhelder, where the last big German push was made in March. When the war ended, he was at Dusseldorf.

Later he was sent into Czechoslovakia and transferred out of his outfit into the engineers. He remained there until December 1, when he was started back toward Le Havre, his port of embarkation.

Wood recalls that he liked Czechoslovakia. On one occasion the people of the town where he was stationed held a celebration similar to the American Thanksgiving, inviting many of the soldiers into their homes for dinner.

"One boy in the home where I was could speak English," he said. "Most of the younger ones who do speak our language had learned it in school."

Pfc. Wood will remain here until March 13, when his furlough ends. He is due to remain in the Army until June 1947.

Pfc. J. R. Judd, who returned December 17 from service in the Philippines and Japan, is now here on furlough visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Judd. With him are his wife, the former Margaret Moore of Lamesa, and their two sons, Dennis Ray and Darrell Lee. They have been making their home in Dallas while he was overseas.

Assigned to a medical detachment of the amphibious engineers, Pfc. Judd went overseas last July. He served first on Leyte and Cebu in the Philippines, then was sent to Okinawa and still later to Japan, where he was stationed at Yokohama.

Pfc. Judd said that he had not served in combat, although his unit had handled a good many of the wounded.

When his 45 day furlough ends, he will report to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for further assignment and duty.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H. Marden E. Dobbins Cm 3-c of the United States Naval Reserve is one of the 1,222 veterans returning to the States for discharge aboard the USS Sherburne, an attack transport of the "Magic Carpet" fleet. This ship left Okinawa, January 21, and was scheduled to arrive in San Francisco about Feb. 6. The USS Sherburne is one of the Navy's fleet of transport and cargo ships which maintained the critical supply lines to the U. S. forces through out the Pacific war.

back in a nice civilian job with all their families and loved ones that we made safe from all the enemies and calling us Communists. They haven't given anything up, why can't they don a uniform and come over here and police the countries that we conquered? No one better ever say anything to me like that. Well, there isn't any use for me to get all heated up because I am coming home and that is the main thing now.

Well mother, there isn't much more to write about except that I'm coming home but that is enough, isn't it? Be real careful and take good care of yourself and Dad . . . I'll be seeing you real real soon. Remember that I love you and Dad above all the rest . . . I'll keep you posted as I find out what is going to happen next. Bye.

I love you and dad,

LETTERS FROM MEN IN SERVICE

(Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell recently received the following letter from their son, Sgt. John W. Russell, who is stationed in the Pacific.)

24 January 1946
Thursday

Dearest Mother and Dad:

Whoopee! ! ! Here is the greatest news that I could write about . . . I AM COMING HOME NEXT MONTH. General Richardson gave out the orders that all men with 45 points and men with 30 months of service be home by the 28th of February. I don't know exactly what day I will start home but I think it will be around the 15th of next month. In other words I have about 2 weeks left here on this darn island. Now mother, don't tell me that the demonstrations that we had over here didn't help get us home sooner . . . I know darn well they did. If we hadn't of done that, we would still be sitting over here with our teeth in our mouths. Anyway I am so happy that I could cry with joy. Just think, mother, I am coming home, isn't that wonderful? What makes me mad is some of these guys sitting

WEST TEXAS UTILITIES CO.

Ah—a capitalist!

Now—it's just a penny in a piggy bank. But soon his piggy will be full. Then the pennies will be taken to a real savings bank.

The bank will put his pennies to work. Some of these pennies almost certainly will be invested in electric utility securities. Financial institutions, including insurance companies, prefer such securities because sound, thrifty business management has made them a steady, dependable investment—as dependable as electric service itself.

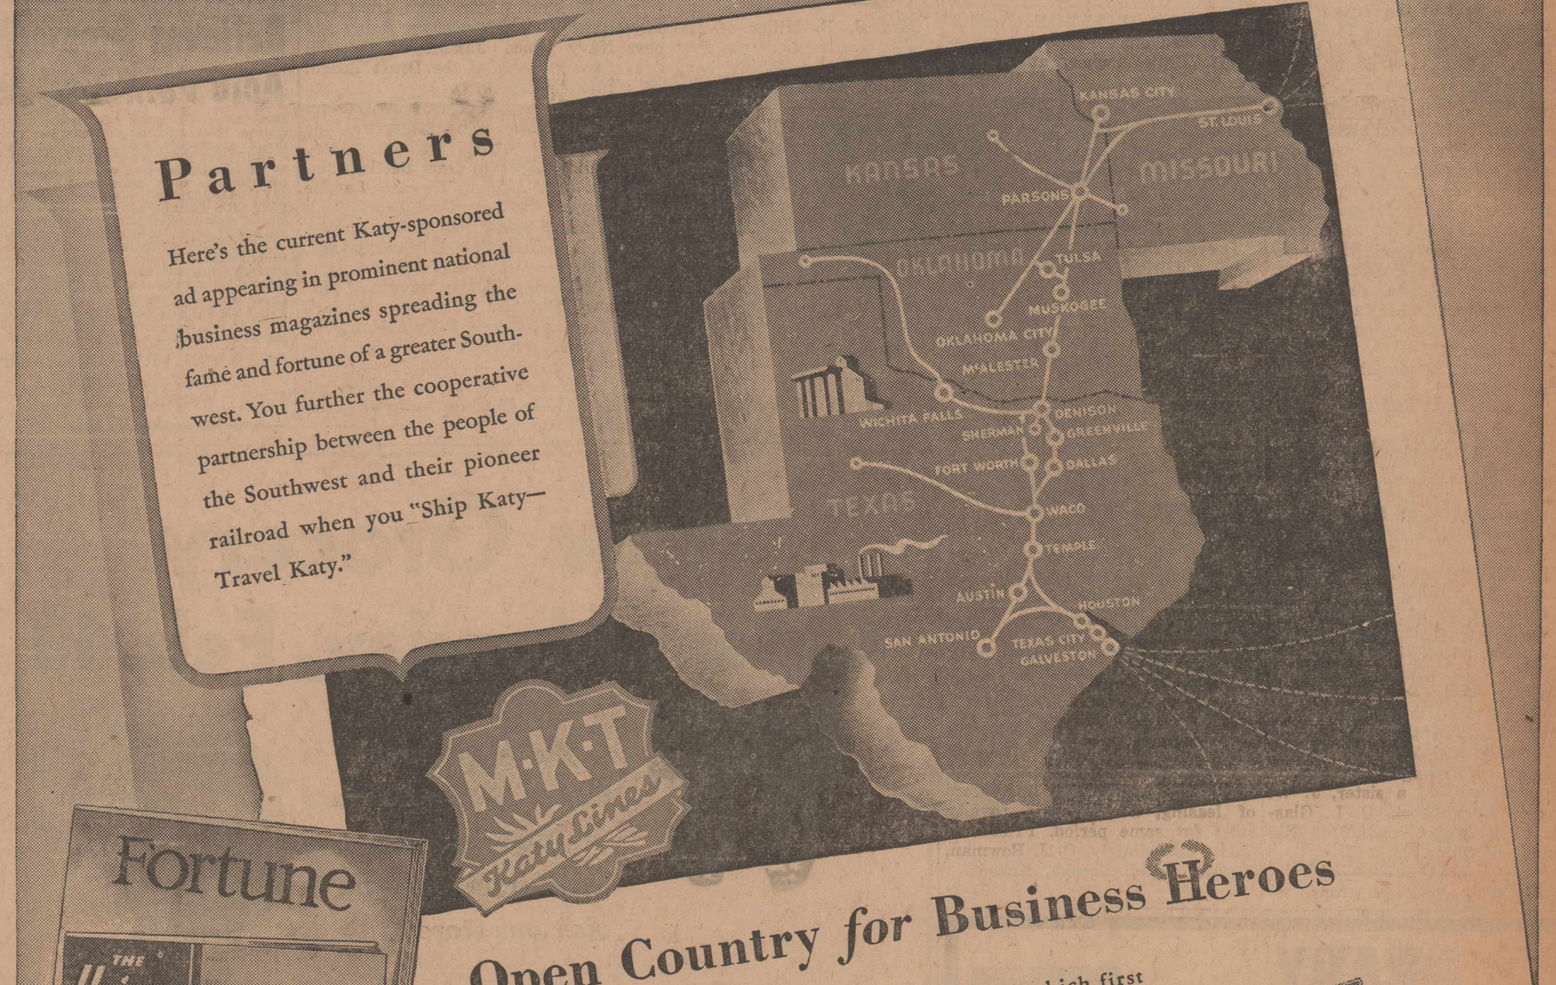

So, the little boy has a personal stake in the electric service industry. Practically every American has—millions of people as direct stockholders, other millions of citizens as savings depositors and life insurance owners.

This is the American private initiative economic system. It's called capitalism. It's a good system. It helped make America great. It produced to save the world. It had more electric power in service than all sources of electric power of all enemy countries combined. And it will continue to open doors of opportunity for all little boys and girls with piggy banks.

All Veterans Find Living Quarters At Texas Tech

LUBBOCK—Every veteran who applied for assistance in finding a place to live so he might attend Texas Technological College has been cared for and all are enrolled in classes, W. T. Gaston, business manager of Tech, has announced.

Housing was provided through various means, including placing three, instead of two men in each room of the men's dormitory, opening a wing of another dormitory to married veterans and their wives, securing use of barracks and other facilities of closed Lubbock Army Air Field for married veterans and opening of rooms in private homes by citizens of Lubbock. Government organizations assisted by renting and lending beds, mattresses and other materials to Texas Tech and cooperating organizations.

President and Mrs. Whyburn of Tech did their individual bit by turning over two rooms in a wing of the president's home on the campus to two veterans.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, various veterans organizations and civic groups aided in working out plans for housing the more than 1,000 veterans who applied for admission to Tech for the semester started on February 1.

Mrs. J. B. Miller of Handley, Texas, arrived here the first part of the week to visit with her brother, R. S. Montague, and family.

A Farm Woman Tells Why She Thinks The Bond Issue Should Pass

I live on a farm road in Collingsworth County.

It will save the farmer money and it will save the county money.

The cost of the bonds voted will probably raise taxes 5 per cent. This is very small compared to the wear and tear on cars, trucks and tractors. This has been costing the farmer and his family dearly for undue wear on tires, repairs and loss of time. (A farmer's time can be valuable, too.)

It will save the county money. It will not only provide better roads; but it will relieve the county of keeping up 47 miles of roads. The funds now available can be spent on improving other roads leading to the pavement.

Whether the bonds pass or not I have been informed that the county will have to build a new bridge across Buck Creek. If the county builds it, it will cost one-half of the amount of the bond issue; but if they built bridges as good as the Highway Department did across Salt Fork in two places, it would cost probably as much as the entire bond issue. I do not live in the Buck Creek community; but in this case I am thinking of final saving to the county.

The Highway Department is going to spend over $10 for each $1 we vote in this bond issue. Actually this is money that we have already paid into the state, as our share of the gasoline tax.

BUT WE CAN'T GET THE BENEFITS OF IT UNLESS WE BUY THE RIGHT OF WAY.

The bond issue will be used only to buy right of way —the four that have been designated and others that may be designated by the Highway Department later. This money cannot be used for any other purpose, if I read the legal notice right.

In addition to the saving in marketing our crops, there are the schools and the school children to think about. It will save money for the school districts; but it will also enable the children in the rural districts to attend in bad weather.

Finally, I would like to point out that the four designated roads are not the only ones that are to be built in this county. They pave the way for future road building.

The election will be held Tuesday, January 26. It is your duty to vote for the welfare of yourself, your neighbors and the county as a whole.

Cordell H. Coffee

Sgt. Cordell Coffee, who served as a crewman of a medium tank in fighting through the battle for Central Europe, received his honorable discharge at Camp Fannin February 8.

Coffee was farming at Quail when he was inducted into the Army January 18, 1943. He remained in the United States for two years, then on New Year's Day, 1945, he sailed for Europe. He returned last July.

This soldier wears the American Theater medal, the EAME ribbon with one battle star, the Good Conduct Medal and the Victory Medal

Royce Walters

As a driver of a heavy truck, T-4 Royce Walters served with the 614th Engineers Equipment Co. in the European Theater for two and one-half years.

Walters was discharged from the Army at Fort Sam Houston January 30.

He wears the EAME campaign medal, the Good Conduct Medal, the Victory Medal, one service stripe and five overseas service bars.

His home was at Quail when he entered military service, and he was employed as a highway inspector.

Clifford Grisson

A veteran of Pacific service, T-5 Clifford Grisson completed one year, ten months and 17 days in that theater. He served with the 199th Ordnance Depot Company as a light truck driver.

He was inducted into the Army February 19, 1943. He shipped overseas to serve in the Western Pacific January 8, 1944 and returned November 24, 1945.

Roy K. Snyder

First Lt. Roy K. Snyder, who served as a bombardier with the 15th Air Force in the air combat from Normandy to the Balkans, received his discharge from service at the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation in Pennsylvania October 31.

He enlisted June 24, 1943 and received his training at Midland Army Air Field. After going overseas in February, 1944, he took part in the campaigns against Normandy, the Air Offensive Europe, Rome-Arno and Air Combat Balkans. He returned to the United States July 21, 1944.

While stationed at the Childress Army Air Field, he was married to Miss Mary Lou Williams of Wellington.

For his service, Lt. Snyder was decorated with the Air Medal and three Oak Leaf Clusters. He also wears the EAME ribbon with four battle stars.

He was a college student at the time he enlisted in the Air Force.

James M. Williams

S-Sgt. James M. Williams, who served as a supply non-commissioned officer with the 950th automatic weapons battalion, took part in the fighting in New Guinea and the Philippine Islands.

Williams entered service July 16, 1943, just after he graduated from Wellington High School, and was discharged January 31, eight days after he reached the United States.

He was overseas for more than a year, having sailed for the Pacific on September 5, 1944.

Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Williams of Wellington.

J. N. Bell

Pvt. J. N. Bell, who served with a service battery of the 748th Field Artillery battalion, was discharged January 8. He had been in the Army since March 24, 1943.

Bell was assigned as a warehouse foreman after he went overseas in October 1943. He participated in the campaigns through Normandy, Northern France and the Rhineland. He landed in the United States just in time for Christmas this year, docking December 21.

This former soldier has three stars on his EAME ribbon and wears the Good Conduct Medal and Victory Medal.

Clyde Vick

Pfc. Clyde Vick served as a military policeman with the 112th infantry of the Army until his discharge January 31 at Fort Sam Houston.

He enlisted January 11, 1944 and on the following July 26, he sailed for the European theater.

He served through the Rhineland campaign and after the war in Europe ended, he was held there until August 21, when he left on his return trip home.

For his services, he received the European-African-Middle Eastern theater medal with one star, the Good Conduct medal and the Victory ribbon.

He was farming when he entered service.

Mason Winegeart

From the point of view of soldiers who feel that a discharge is about the best thing that can happen, Mason Winegeart got a swell Christmas present — for his discharge was given him December 23 at Fort Sam Houston, after a little more than three years service in the army.

He is a veteran of the fighting in Normandy, Norhern France, the Rhineland and Central Europe.

"We went into combat at a place in Normandy that the soldiers all called 'Dirty Gertie.' That was about June 14, 1944. The Germans gave us a right smart of trouble around there, too," he said.

But the hardest fighting of his group, he believes, was in the Prauve Forest.

Winegeart first served as a rifleman but later was transferred to a heavy weapons company, using 81 mm guns. He was serving in the Rhine Valley when the war ended.

He was awarded the Combat Infantry Badge September 13, 1944, and the Distinguished Unit Badge. His other decorations include the American Theater Campaign meral, the European-African-Mediterranean Theater ribbon with four bronze stars, the good conduct medal and the Victory Ribbon.

The first textbook in Texas was written by a Spanish missionary, printed in Mexico, and issued to Texas Indians.

YOUR MAP OF COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY

With more land in Collingsworth County changing hands than at any time in recent years, and with the increased oil activity, many readers of The Wellington Leader have found a need for a county map giving section and block numbers. It is suggested that all persons interested in land or in property locations in the county clip out this map and keep it for future reference.

Giles Again Asks Land Office Post

AUSTIN—Bascom Giles said today that he had filed his name with the State Democratic Executive Committee as a candidate for re-election to the office as Commissioner of the General Land Office of Texas.

While expressing sincere appreciation of the solicitation of friends and staunch supporters from every sector of the State, that he enter the race for governor, Giles said that he had determined to seek re-election to the office of Commissioner of the General Land Office because of his ambition and desire to aid in the successful consummation of the Veterans' Land Program which he sponsored. He has pointed out that if adopted the plan would enable 10,000 Texas veterans to own their own farm and ranch homes, a right which they fought for and so richly deserve.

Taking occasion to warn of what he termed the most serious threat confronting Texas since it entered statehood, Giles called on every Texan to gird themselves for a fight to the finish to block a move led by the Secretary of the Interior and other federal officials which is now before Congress and the Supreme Court to seize this State's public domain potentially rich in minerals and thus sever with one stroke millions of dollars of revenue for the maintenance of public schools and institutions of higher learning.

"The battle to prevent federal encroachment or seizure of our public school and university lands has just begun and I feel it my duty to contribute every possible effort to oppose this so-called land grab," Giles said.

Rep. Albert Thomas, a tough Texas Democrat, was playing paddle ball with friends in the House gymnasium, fell and banged his leg. It hurt a little but Rep. Thomas ignored it, went on with work as usual. He didn't find out 'til next day, after seeing the doctor, that the leg was broken!

HOT WATER SHOULD NEVER BE RATIONED
Seems a shame that in any household, hot water has to be rationed! And this condition could be so easily remedied, too, by a water heater adequate to meet the family's requirements.
To this housewife, and to all hot-water rationers, may we suggest an ADEQUATE GAS water heater? You don't buy one often . . . so be sure that the water heater you do buy will be large enough for all present and FUTURE needs.
Check your requirements on the "sizing chart," and if your water heater is inadequate, get a larger GAS water heater. Your dealer can supply one properly sized for your household needs.

Panhandle Farm Leaders Meet In Amarillo Feb. 22

Pending legislation and government rulings, and their relation to the future welfare of agriculture, will be discussed by producers of this area in a meeting to be held at Amarillo on Friday, February 22. All speech making will be dispensed with and all time will be devoted to round table and group discussions, analyzing agricultural problems and possible solutions.

The meeting is sponsored by the Texas farm bureau Federation and discussions will be lead by J. Walter Hammon, president, who has just returned from Washington and has first hand information on the attitude of government officials and members of Congress regarding agricultural issues. Hammon will be assisted by Marvin Carter, organization director, Texas Farm Bureau.

"These matters should be brought to the attention of farmers," Hammond declared. "The welfare of agriculture is necessary to the prosperity of the nation, and farmers are best qualified to determine what is fair and just for agriculture," he said. "Farmers must take part in these meetings and accept their full responsibility if a prosperous agriculture is to be had. Without a prosperous agriculture, we cannot hope for a prosperous national economy. It is most important that in this reconversion period, agriculture—with 25 per pent of the people of the nation—is given the same consideration and opportunities that are extended to other groups in the nation.

All farmers are invited to attend and participate in the discussions at this meeting. Agency officials are also extended an invitation to attend and give farmers the benefit of their knowledge and experience in administerating the different programs.

Joe Hatton of Spearman, member of the board of directors from this district, will serve as chairman. The meeting will start at 10:00 A. M. in the Herring Hotel at Amarillo.

CHINESE HOUSEBOY RETURNS

Wang Yu, left, a houseboy with more than a score of years service to Marine Corps officers stationed at Peiping, China, was rehired when Leathernecks returned to the Chinese city. When he applied to Brigadier General Louis R. Jones of Indian Head, Md., for his old job, he presented a recommendation signed by Colonel A. A. Vandegrift, now Commandant of the U. S. Marine Corps.

Farm and Ranch Chatter

With Layne Beaty, WBAP, Fort Worth

Despite dangers of a near feed famine in the southwest, hatcherymen report larger hatchings than last year, but expect a break in market to come within two weeks, if at all. Meanwhile, in view of the feed situation, hatcherymen, feed men, and poultry experts all recommend culling of "boarders" in the flocks, keeping only the producers. Many feel the supply of feed will go around if not wasted.

* * *

Livestock men may expect more attention paid to hogs in the efforts to stamp out Bang's disease in cattle. Hogs and goats, too, are susceptible to the disease, and are carriers. Factually, it was first discovered among goats on the island of Malta, hence the name "Malta fever" to a human disease said to result from human consumption of milk from Bang's, or brucellosis, infected cattle. A Doctor Bang of Sweden, did much early research on the livestock disease.

* * *

National farm organization leaders have frowned upon uprisings of farmers in Grady County, Oklahoma, and Clay County, Nebraska, protesting industrial strikes and proposing farmers' strikes in retaliation. Meanwhile, Oklahoma watermelon growers have organized to protest OPA ceilings on their products.

* * *

Wool growers now expect a long term federal policy on wool, perhaps replacing subsidies. Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming doubts an increase in tariff, but thinks present ones will be retained.

* * *

Shortage of "tomato sheeting,' seed bed cloth, has been holding back a large part of the hotbed seeding of tomatoes in East Texas, but government action brought promises of early shipment from southern textile mills.

Dobbins Tells Of Work Of Medics In Germany

Out of the Army after five years service, T-3 Curtis Dobbins was discharged at McCloskey General Hospital January 25 and is now at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dobbins of Quail.

Dobbins was kept in the States during the first part of the war. Sent overseas last February, he went through six weeks of combat without a scratch. Then, a week after Germany surrendered, he went swimming, jumped on a rock and broke his right ankle. He was returned to McCloskey General Hospital within a month and has been kept there for treatment since.

As a surgical technician with the 97th Infantry Division, Dobbins was assigned to a first-aid station immedoately behind the line of battle.

"Our station was the first stop off the battlefield. We were from 1,000 to 5,000 yards behind the fighting line, but usually about 3,000. Our station was never hit by enemy fire, but that, I think, was just luck, for shells fell all around us," Dobbins said.

Men were given first aid at the station and the more seriously wounded were sent farther back for treatment. Seldom did a man stay more than two hours.

Dobbins' unit went into action in the Ruhr Pocket and in the six weeks that followed, went across Germany and were in Pilsen, Czechoslovakia, when the war ended.

Included in the men who received treatment at his station were many German prisoners.

"We treated any man who was hurt," Dobbins stated. "The Germans were usually rather excited. They were always afraid we'd do something that was more harm than good. But they got the same treatment in our hospials as our men as long as they needed it. Then they were taken back to prisoner of war camps."

During the quick march across Germany he was able to see several German battalion aid stations.

"They were not as well equipped as ours. They had about run out of everything," he said.

Dobbins came from Paris, France to Temple by plane.

"It beat riding that boat. We left Paris one evening about 4 o'clock and were in New York the next day at 3. We had good weather, although there was some fog, but it was all right."

Two days later he was flown to Texas.

Dobbins enlisted in the Army March 29, 1941. Before going overseas, he was at Camp Swift, Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., Fort Bliss, Camp Cook, Calif., and he also took part in the Louisiana maneuvers for three months.

Information Regarding Road Bond Election

Now that the State Highway Department is ready to let the contract for the construction of part of our Farm to Market Roads, we have called the Road Bond Election, which will be held on February 26th, for an amount to pay for all of Rights-of-Way for our Farm to Market Roads.

This election must carry by a two-thirds majority for the bonds to be voted. These Bonds are to be sold on Competitive Bids, and only an amount of bonds sold at a time to care for the Right-of-Way on each road project as it comes up ready for construction. If it were necessary for the entire amount of these bonds to be used at one time, a tax of 5c on the $100.00 taxable valuation will retire them.

Should this Road Bond Election fail, these roads will be built in other counties and gasoline tax that is being paid by the citizens in this county will go to pay for the roads wherever they are built, and it will perhaps be several years before we will again have an opportunity to secure any Hard Surfaced Roads.

Respectfully,

Commissioners Court
