Offshore Center Announced

Planning is underway for the first phase of a multimillion dollar offshore support project between Cove Harbor and Palm Harbor.

Mark Baldwin, with Liquid Mud Inc. of Alice, said no starting date has been set for construction on the project but that it is "coming up in the next month or so."

Leasing is already underway for the Offshore Center project, with one definite lease and "several inquires," Baldwin added.

Approximately 20 acres are being developed into office, storage and covered warehouse space in the $12 million first phase of the project, Baldwin continued. The offices and storage areas — including warehouse space — will be leased to those in the oil and gas related industries.

"That's how this whole project got started in the first place," Baldwin said. "We were looking for a place to sell mud to offshore contractors without having to truck it all the way from Alice."

Baldwin said the waterfront will not be leased out but use would be controlled by Liquid Mud with docking privileges available to anyone who leases any type of space from the company.

In addition to the office, storage and docking space, the project will include facilities for helicopters, fuel and water, a rail spur to facilitate rail shipments and a seven-acre barge basin.

Liquid Mud Inc. holds a total of 40 acres of land in the project area, but is only able to use about 20 acres, Baldwin said.

He added this project has been pending about two and a half years.

Indictment Against Bill Walston Quashed

An indictment charging William G. (Bill) Walston of voting twice in Rockport's April 4 city elections was quashed following the filing of an 11-point motion Wednesday in Aransas County court.

County Judge John Wendell granted the motion to quash the indictment shortly before 10 a.m. on the same morning the indictment was hand-delivered to the office of County Attorney Jim Anderson.

Walston was indicted by an Aransas County grand jury on a charge of casting an absentee ballot, then voting again on the April 4 election day in Rockport's city elections this year.

In the motion to quash filed Wednesday, Walston's attorney, John H. Flinn of Sinton, maintained that the indictment against Walston "does not set forth the offense in plain and intelligible words, but is vague, indefinite and incomprehensible."

The motion further charged that the indictment "does not set forth facts sufficient to constitute an offense against the laws of the State of Texas" and "does not set forth in plain and intelligible words the subject matter of the alleged offense."

Flinn also charged in the motion that the indictment did not "allege all the essential acts and omissions by the Defendant necessary to constitute a violation of Article 15.50 of the Texas Election Code" and that the indictment did not "follow statutory language."

The motion charged that the indictment is "insufficient in law" on the following five points:

—That it failed to allege Walston "knowingly and intentionally voted more than once."

—That it failed to allege "the necessary culpability required by (subsection) 6.02 of the Texas Penal Code" by failing to state that at the time of his second vote, Walston knew he was voting a second time or that he intended to vote more than once.

—That the indictment "is so vague and indefinite" that if Walston should have been found not guilty, he could be re-indicted for the offense.

—That the offense is charged "inferentially and by way of recital and argument."

—That the indictment "makes allegations of the offense by means of recital, argument, opinion and states conclusions of law."

The motion to quash also charged that the indictment does not comply with Article I, Section 10, of the Texas Constitution because it did not "properly notify" Walston "of the nature and cause of the accusation."

Fulton Considers Budget

FULTON — Fulton's city expenses will be about $3000 higher in 1981-82 than in the past year, according to preliminary budget figures presented to the council Tuesday night, July 14.

The budget presentation opened a roughly hour-long session of the council during which members also were told that the Fulton Fishing Pier Project should be ready to go to bid next month.

Council members gave tentative approval to the budget as presented Tuesday, but will not make a final decision on the matter until next month.

The Preliminary budget shows anticipated revenues in the general fund of $58,700 plus $2,500 from revenue sharing. Expenditures from the general fund are expected to total $16,630 for the year — an increase of almost $3,300 over actual expenditures for 1980-81.

Preliminary plans also call for expenditure of the $2500 in revenue sharing funds on "pier additions."

In other action, council members heard from Dana Bennett, representing Ogletree, Gunn & Associates of Corpus Christi, who showed the council preliminary plans for the proposed Fulton Fishing Pier.

Ogletree, Gunn are the engineers for the project which is being funded through a $217,000 grant from the Coastal Energy Impact Program.

Bennett told the council final plans on the pier should be ready within the next two weeks and the project will be ready to go out for bids.

It is expected that the council will advertise for bids at the next regular meeting in August.

Also during Tuesday's session, council members read a letter from Mrs. L. Kottler who protested that three lots which she owns were omitted from the new Fulton city map.

Mrs. Kottler said she considered the omission "a grave damage to my holdings."

Fireworks Put On From Private Lot

Earlier the Pilot erroneously reported the display was put on from the Marina.

Newcomb, Jackson Sparkle At Black Swan Theatre

By Pat Blair

Cecelia Jackson

The other is a "Judy Garland" soundalike who gets misty-eyed when she hears "Over the Rainbow" and suspects she was born "at the wrong time."

They both like Famous Amos cookies, Pepsis, each other — and love the cast and the show they're doing now at Rockport's Black Swan Restaurant Theatre.

"They" are Lynn Newcomb — featured attraction in the Black Swan's current production, "Give Me Gershwin" — and Cecelia Jackson, who plays Bess in the show's "Porgy and Bess" sequence.

Cecelia is the one who combines a career in teaching with a career in acting — a professional in both. "I always wanted to entertain," she said during a recent interview. "But my father was a principal, my mother, a teacher."

Becoming a teacher just seemed a natural thing to do for Cecelia who's been teaching math and science to fourth graders in Houston for about nine years now.

"I think I'm an interesting teacher," she said. She believes learning should be "fun" for her students, so she does a cheerleading routine on how to change a large unit (such as pounds) to a small one (ounces) — "multiply, multiply, mul-ti-ply."

She makes up songs to impart other facts to her students, throws in a bit of dramatization to enliven science instruction.

"I think Im a better teacher because of my acting," she said.

As to how she got into acting, she says, "I had been doing a lot of singing in Houston, mostly religious." Finally she went to the Houston Music Institute and there she "was encouraged to do other things" — including going to auditions.

She almost didn't audition for the Black Swan production "but I like Gershwin particularly 'Porgy and Bess', and I like Ed (Humphyre) and Aaron (Shave)." Ed and Aaron are the Black Swan's owners.

"All the cast are just beautiful, and Lynn is one of my favorites," she added.

Lynn and Cecelia have become something of a "mutual admiration society" since coming to Rockport — a fact that still astonishes as well as pleases them, considering they'd never met before ... and they are now roommates.

"We have so many things in common," Lynn said. One of those things in common is that they both have another career in addition to acting. For Cecelia, of course, it's teaching. For Lynn, it's selling hydraulic fittings.

"It's a glorified plumbing part," Lynn said, "but it's as artistic as what I do. Besides," she added, "my boyfriend owns the company." It turns out, though, that Lynn saw the company first, and met Patrick Evans — the boyfriend — after she'd been selling the fittings for a while.

Lynn remembers when she was four years old sitting in her swing "every morning" singing "Over the Raindow" and watching the birds flying overhead ... and getting misty-eyed.

She still gets misty-eyed singing — or even hearing — the song. "I'm a Judy Garland fan," she emphasizes.

She also thinks she was born "at the wrong time." She thinks the big bands should come back — the days of Gershwin and Garland. "My heart belongs to that era," she added.

Lynn — featured at MGM Hotel for five years and with a stint as "Lucy" in "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" — dislikes the word "star", especially in reference to her current role at the Black Swan. "I'm not the 'star' of the show — I'm a part of the show."

After the show — which runs through next weekend — Lynn said she "would love" to stay in the Rockport area for a while. "I'm starting to adapt to the climate," she said, "and I love the people so much."

She and Cecelia both had high praise for the company at the Black Swan.

"The kids are so versatile that it's very easy to work with them," Lynn said. "I've never seen more determination and finer results than from these kids."

They praised the three-piece band as a "small miracle" — the more so because it was put together at virtually the last minute after a small orchestra originally

Conservationists Demand Reconsideration On Refuge Decision

Editor's note: Following is a letter from Dr. John W. Grandy, executive vice president of Defenders of Wildlife, a national conservation organization, to James Watt, Secretary of the United States Department of the Interior. Secretary Watt is, at present, considering the transfer from Federal to state control of 19,000 acres of land on Matagorda Island. The land is now part of the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge and is inhabited part of the year by approximately 75 percent of the whooping crane population wintering at the refuge. Under state control, the land in question has been proposed for recreational and/or economic use. G. Ray Arnett, assistant to Secretary Watt, will be making a fact-finding tour of the refuge lands this weekend and will meet with Governor Bill Clements on Monday in Austin.

The Honorable James G. Watt, Secretary
U.S. Department of the Interior
Washington, D.C. 20240

Dear Secretary Watt:

On behalf of Defenders of Wildlife nationally, and our membership in Texas, I must express our deep concern that you are considering the transfer of 18,999 acres of Matagorda Island, at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, to the State of Texas. The reasons for our objections to this transfer follow.

This Island provides valuable habitat for the critically endangered whooping crane. Through the protection offered by the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, whooping cranes have increased from a mere 15 birds in 1941 to 78 this year. Thus, the disposal of Matagorda could seriously undermine the chances for survival of this bird.

In the public mind, whooping cranes are one of the symbols of the National Wildlife Refuge System — our only federal lands mandated by law to promote wildlife conservation first and foremost. Removing federal lands from the Aransas Refuge so that the State of Texas may permit recreational uses inconsistent with the Refuge System's strong conservation mandate would show a singular disregard for the public trust, and would be an assault on the integrity of the whole Refuge System.

It would also have severe implications for the other endangered species of Matagorda Island, whose survival is closely linked to isolation from human disturbance. These species include brown pelicans, southern bald eagles, arctic peregrine falcons, American alligators and several endangered sea turtles. The Endangered Species Act of 1973 defines the protection of endangered species as the responsibility of the federal agencies, not the state's: It is...declared to be the policy of Congress that all Federal departments and agencies shall seek to conserve endangered species and shall utilize their authorities in furtherance of the purposes of this Act.

Required conservation measures include:

All methods and procedures which are necessary to bring any endangered species or threatened species to the point at which the measures provided pursuant to this Act are no longer necessary...and...include... research, census, law enforcement, habitat acquisition and maintenance...(Emphasis added.)

(16 U.S.C. §1532(c))

Thus, in all likelihood, the transfer of the Matagorda lands is contrary to both the letter and the spirit of the law.

The loss of wildlife habitat in the Texas Gulf Coast is alarming. To counter this loss, the Fish and Wildlife Service's Concept Plan for the Texas Gulf Coast recommends that the federal government protect additional marshland for waterfowl. The total area needing protection involves 20 marshlands covering 286,000 acres. During this time of budget restrictions, when the Fish and Wildlife Service's land acquisition program is being reduced to minimum levels, it is clearly not economically advisable for Interior to divest itself of the choice wildlife habitat already under its custody.

In addition, previous administrations have opposed the transfer of the Matagorda property to the state. Under the Ford Administration, a letter of November 17, 1975, affirmed the Fish and Wildlife Service's commitment to protecting Matagorda Island:

Federal ownership...is needed to assure that the type and intensities of public recreational and economic uses permitted will be compatible with the needs of migratory birds and endangered species.

A January 9, 1973 letter from the Assistant Secretary of the Interior under President Nixon, notified the General Services Administration that the wildlife values of Matagorda Island are so important that Interior would seek to reacquire any land lost to refuge purposes:

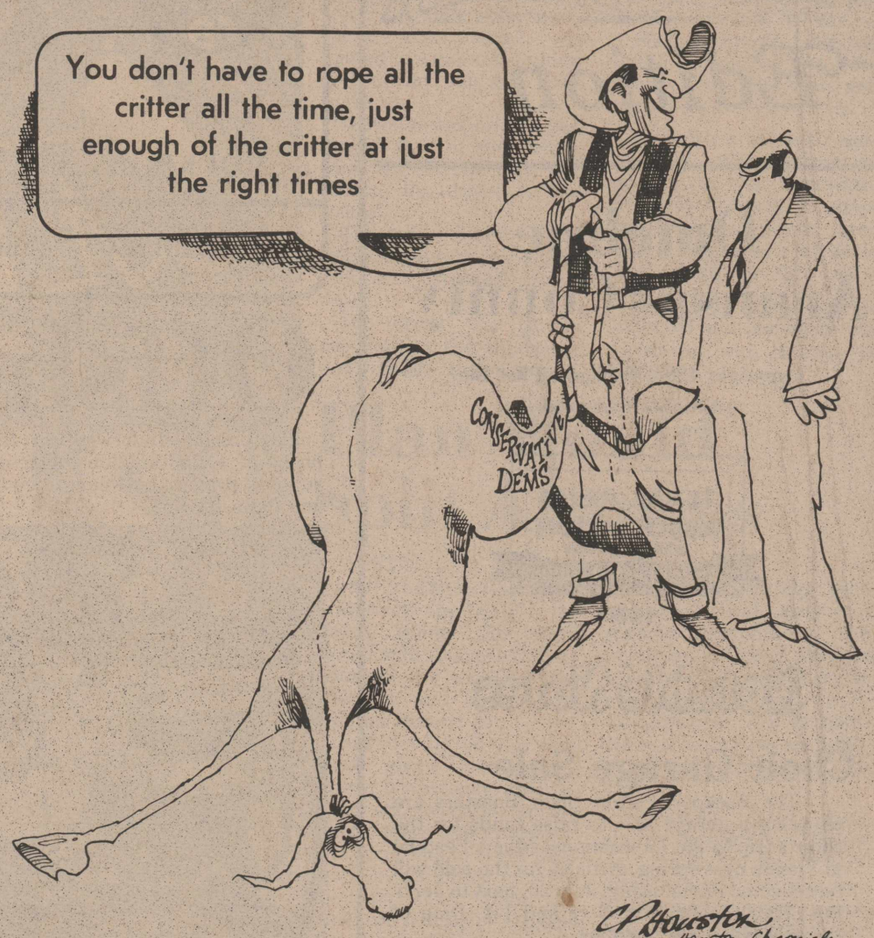

Secretary Morton has asked that I reaffirm to you the urgency of the situation that no land on Matagorda be removed from refuge status. This island is so essential to the continued protection of the wintering grounds for the endangered whooping crane that we would feel compelled to reacquire the land should it be disposed of to outside threats.

Pursuant to the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act (15 U.S.C. §668dd), the transfer of any lands out of the Refuge System, including the Matagorda land which became part of the System through cooperative agreement, would require an Act of Congress. We doubt that the public which has been watching the progress of the whooping cranes at one of the best known and best loved national wildlife refuges would support such legislation.

In short, we urge you to cancel all further consideration of any plans to transfer part of the Aransas Refuge to the State of Texas.

I look forward to your reply to this matter and would be pleased to discuss the importance of maintaining the integrity of the Refuge System at your convenience.

Sincerely,
s/John W. Grandy
Executive Vice President

The Real Estate Consumer

Consider Down Payments Carefully

If you are in the market for a new house, consider carefully the amount of the down payment to be made.

If you plan to buy a house and live there only a short time, you should make the smallest down payment possible. That will make your loan easier to assume for someone else buying the home when you sell.

Even if the interest rate is escalated to the going rate at the time of the assumption, closing costs will be minimized.

On the other hand, if you plan to keep the home several years, consider a larger down payment to reduce the interest charged on the loan. The smaller your loan, the smaller will be the total amount you pay in interest.

These down payment suggestions are just general guidelines. Every individual's situation is unique.

But always keep in mind that the more you put down, the lower will be the monthly payment. Conversely, the smaller the down payment, the higher the monthly payments.

CHECK ON SYNDICATIONS

Syndications of real estate allow you to pool your money with that of other investors to buy property which may yield a handsome return.

Syndicated property, however, can be overpriced and the transaction structured with overly generous fees for the promoter. If that is the situation, there will be little profit for you and a good possibility of a loss.

The integrity and track record of the syndicator are of paramount concern. Be sure to check those matters, as well as the property being purchased. Do not be pressured into a transaction.

You should invest only after you feel comfortable with the property, the people involved and the amount you stand to lose. Be wary of the salesperson who approaches you with a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity that you must agree to immediately. Do not hesitate to ask a lawyer, accountant and appraiser for suggestions.

SINGLE PERSONS BUY HOMES, TOO

If you live alone, you may wish to consider what an increasing number of singles are doing — buying a home.

Singles have become a fast-growing segment of the housing market, mainly as the result of a big increase in the number of people in the prime home-buying ages.

This factor is coupled with an increasing number of divorces, persons getting married later in life and people who just prefer to live alone.

Also, the number of widows has been increasing in Texas by 10,000 per year, and they now number well over 500,000.

While singles as a whole are buying many types of housing, they seem to prefer townhouses and condominiums.

These two forms of ownership are preferred because they offer many advantages of a single-family residence while minimizing the problems of exterior maintenance and yard work.

WHAT IS AN APPRAISAL?

Real estate values ultimately depend upon opinion — the opinion of a willing buyer and a willing seller. It is often useful to obtain the opinion of real estate values from a competent and disinterested third party. This is the role of an appraiser.

An appraisal is an opinion, or judgment, as to the value of a particular piece of property. An appraisal's accuracy depends upon the basic competence and integrity of the appraiser and the soundness and skill with which the data is collected and processed.

An appraisal report should permit the reader to follow the appraiser's reasoning and to concur in the conclusions reached. When transferring the ownership of property, a current appraisal report, preferably from a professional independent fee appraiser, can be quite useful.

BEST TIME TO SELL APPROACHES

Unlike stocks, bonds and commodities that can be sold on short notice, homes for sale require several weeks or months of market exposure. Here are some hints about when to sell.

You should consider listing your property in the winter or spring. This will allow you exposure time before the peak selling months of July, August and September.

Of course, the best time to sell is when you have a willing buyer, but you need to allow plenty of time to sell.

Prices and numbers of homes sold in Texas increase in the summer — a seller's market. Winter is a buyer's market.

However, it is generally in your best interest to buy or sell when you must rather than to wait for the "best" season.

Investors and persons with flexible housing alternatives can more easily take advantage of seasonal changes in the market.

Babbling About Brooks

There was a lot of hoopla about not allowing teenage actress Brooke Shields' anti-smoking ads on television.

Some members of the government agency that first sponsored the ads voiced their disapproval because of the roles Miss Shields has played in the movies.

In one role, Shields, who is now 15, played the part of a 12-year-old prostitute. In another movie, she played the part of a slightly older young woman who has been marooned on an island with a young man who isn't her brother.

Neither, incidentally, had remembered to bring along extra clothing, so there was much romping about on the screen in loincloths.

"We can't have a person who has portrayed these sorts of roles talking to our young people about smoking," harrumphed one of the disapprovers.

Frankly, I thought the ads had a lot going for them because Shields accidentally discovered a terrific way to help people cut down on the health risks in smoking.

"I think anybody who smokes is silly," she says.

According to my sources, Shields originally was supposed to put the cigarettes in her mouth, but she could never remember that little detail.

"Go slow with her," said her mom, who accompanies her to all shootings. "The child was 11 before she stopped trying to drink with her nose."

Finally, the director gave up and decided to let the ad go with the cigarettes stuck in Shields' ears.

No wonder the tobacco lobby may have put on some pressure to keep the ads away from the American public.

What if everybody started putting cigarettes into their ears instead of their mouths? There really is no reason to light a cigarette that you put in your ear, so even if you put cigarettes in both your ears, a pack could last you for months.

The health risks from putting cigarettes in your ears would be minimal, too. A laboratory rat wouldn't get cancer even if you stuck 10 cigarettes in his ears.

"What happened to Charlie?"

"Got run over by a train."

"Didn't the train blow its whistle?"

"Yeah, but Charlie didn't hear it."

"Why not?"

"He had a cigarette stuck in his ear."

When you think about it, people really don't have to give up cigarettes to avoid the health problems they cause. They just have to give up lighting them and sucking on them with their mouths.

You can put a cigarette in your nose and it won't hurt you. There was even a kid back in the eighth grade who used to eat cigarettes. Put 'em in his mouth, chew 'em up, paper and all, and swallow 'em like candy.

"Probably a vitamin deficiency," the teachers used to say.

I think he just had his oars slightly out of the water. Still, if you eat a cigarette, it probably will cut way down on your desire to smoke one.

So, stick 'em in your ears, stick 'em in your nose, eat 'em or hold 'em between your toes. Just don't light 'em and smoke 'em.

But if you insist on doing that anyway, then put the lit end in your mouth. That will cut down on the number of cigarettes you smoke in less than one second.

Incidentally, Shields' mother reports that her daughter has put the cigarette ad debacle behind her and currently is at work on a new movie in which she will portray a 16-year-old mud wrestler.

"Stick that in your ear and smoke it," said Shields' mom.

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassburr ranch ranges widely over several different subjects this week.

Dear editor:

You can say this for economists and weather forecasters, they never look back.

If a forecaster predicts continued dry, farmers cut hay, and a cloudburst hits, it was the weather that was wrong, not the forecaster.

Department of Agriculture economists a month ago predicted steer prices would rise in June. Now that they haven't, they explain it this way: "It appears steer prices will miss our market forecast." In other words, it was the steers' fault, not theirs.

I predict we'll never whip inflation as long as people will pay $40 for a pair of $10 jeans that used to cost $5.

Since most politicians, when asked a question, won't stick to the subject, I won't either.

I read about a sheep rancher who, bothered by coyotes, put a record player out on his range and played rock and roll music. The coyotes fled in panic.

This proves coyotes have a better ear for good music than teenagers.

According to a Soviet study, on a typical Monday morning 40 percent of Russian workers are too drunk or hung over to put in a good day's work, yet traffic accidents due to alcohol are much lower there than in the United States.

You can't have a car accident if you don't have a car.

For years city people have derided farmers for seeking help from Washington. If farmers can't make it on their own, why don't they give it up and try something else, city people have argued.

At a national conference of mayors the other day, what was the main topic of discussion? How to keep Washington from cutting off aid to cities.

If cities can't make it on their own, why don't they give it up and try something else?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Will Rogers Says . . .

"The only thing I see for the fellow that don't believe in the government to keep on spending all this money, is not to participate in receiving any of it.

"For instance, the government pays out for the relief to a starving child, or for people to eat, and here they go to pay the bank loan with it! Now the bank don't believe in the government spending all this money, but when the man comes to pay his loan with the government money, the bank don't say: 'I can't take it! I'll rather carry you myself.'

"You haven't heard that, have you?"

"Low Down"

FROM THE

Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

NEW CIVILIAN CONSERVATION CORPS

Representative Edward R. Royal (Calif.)"...I (have) introduced H.R. 3686 to establish a Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

"The purposes of my bill are very simple. It proposes to create a national work force of young people to maintain our national forests and public lands. It proposes to provide both employment and experience to young people currently unemployed.

"And in recognition of the fact that we live in a world of limited resources, it proposes to foster conservation.

"In order to join the new Civilian Conservation Corps, a person would have to be unemployed, a citizen or lawful permanent resident of the United States and between 16 and 25 years of age.

"Special consideration would be given to minority youth and youth from areas of high unempolyment.

"The Secretary of the Interior, under whose jurisdiction the new CCC is to fall, would be responsible for insuring that CCC members receive at least the minimum wage and work under reasonable terms and conditions. The Secretary would be authorized to provide the opportunity for CCC members to further their education either through credit for service in the CCC or through actual academic study.

"Finally, H.R. 3686 would make service in the CCC an alternative to the draft by making CCC members ineligible to be drafted except in times of war or national emergency...

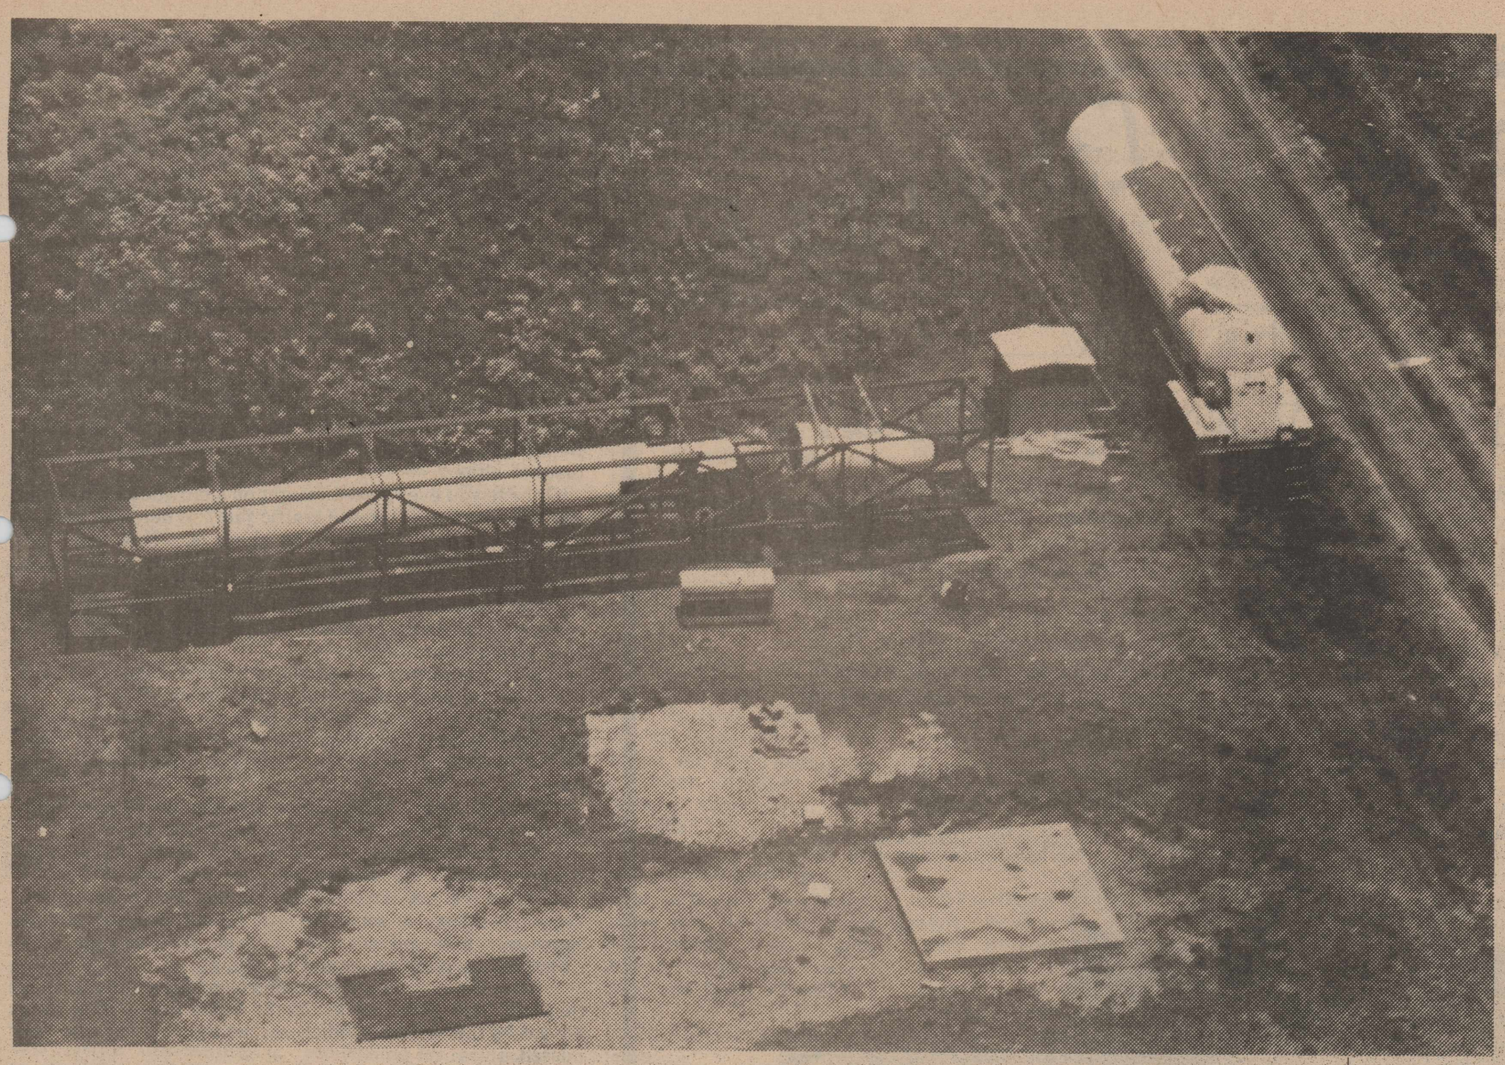

"The unemployment rate among teenagers is 19.5 percent and among minority youth, it is a staggering 33.6 percent. We cannot fail our young people this way.

"To my knowledge, I am the only current Member of Congress to have served in the original CCC, and I can testify to the pride and self-worth that service of this kind can provide to a young person...

"The bottom line in this issue is that young people with jobs pay taxes and young people without jobs do not pay. Through my Bill 3686, we can put these young people to work and help them to help our country..."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

A CCC program is not new. The original CCC accomplished its goal of providing meaningful employment when jobs were scarce. The time for a new CCC may be here.

Matagorda Rocket Prepared For August Launch

Now that it has arrived, the big guess is what is the purpose of the rocket that is going to be launched from Matagorda Island next month.

The 055 prototype Percheron is the first in a series of projects to develop commercial space serivces which will be undertaken by the Houston-based, investor-owned Space Services, inc.

The Matagorda launch is the advanced hardware testing stage of developing a low-cost modular launch vehicle system. If successful, the Percheron project will provide an economical and flexible system capable of placing 2,000- to 3,000-pound spacecraft into a low earth orbit.

One of the long-term goals of the project is to place a 5,000-pound payload in geostationary earth orbit. Space Services, Inc., officials believe that if all goes well this could be accomplished by 1983.

The rockets will be manufactured by GCH, Inc., in Sunnyvale, California, and launching will be under contract of Space Services, Inc.

SSI initially seeks to enter the space transportation market, now the exclusive domain of the United States government. SSI officials see a bi-level market for the commercial launching of space vehicles.

One market is the low earth orbits of 100 to 150 miles altitude currently used for scientific research and experimentation, as well as for earth observations for mapping resources, analyzing weather patterns, and assisting in navigation. Low earth orbit is seen as a sizable but smaller market than the other market, Geostationary Earth Orbits.

Geostationary Earth Orbit consists of launches 22,300 miles above earth, an altitude at which communications satellites orbit. According to SSI officials communication satellites constitute a billion dollar market.

A recent study by AIAA says that tele-communication traffic by satellites will increase by a factor of from 10 to 30. The Percheron rocket is intended to profitably operate at a per flight cost of less than one-third of the projected 1983 charges for users of governmental launch vehicles.

Space Services, Inc. is a privately owned company with 1,800 shares of stock outstanding. The president of the company is David Hannah Jr., the vice president is John D. Moseley. The Washington representative and vice president is Charles M. Chafer and the treasurer is David Hannah III.

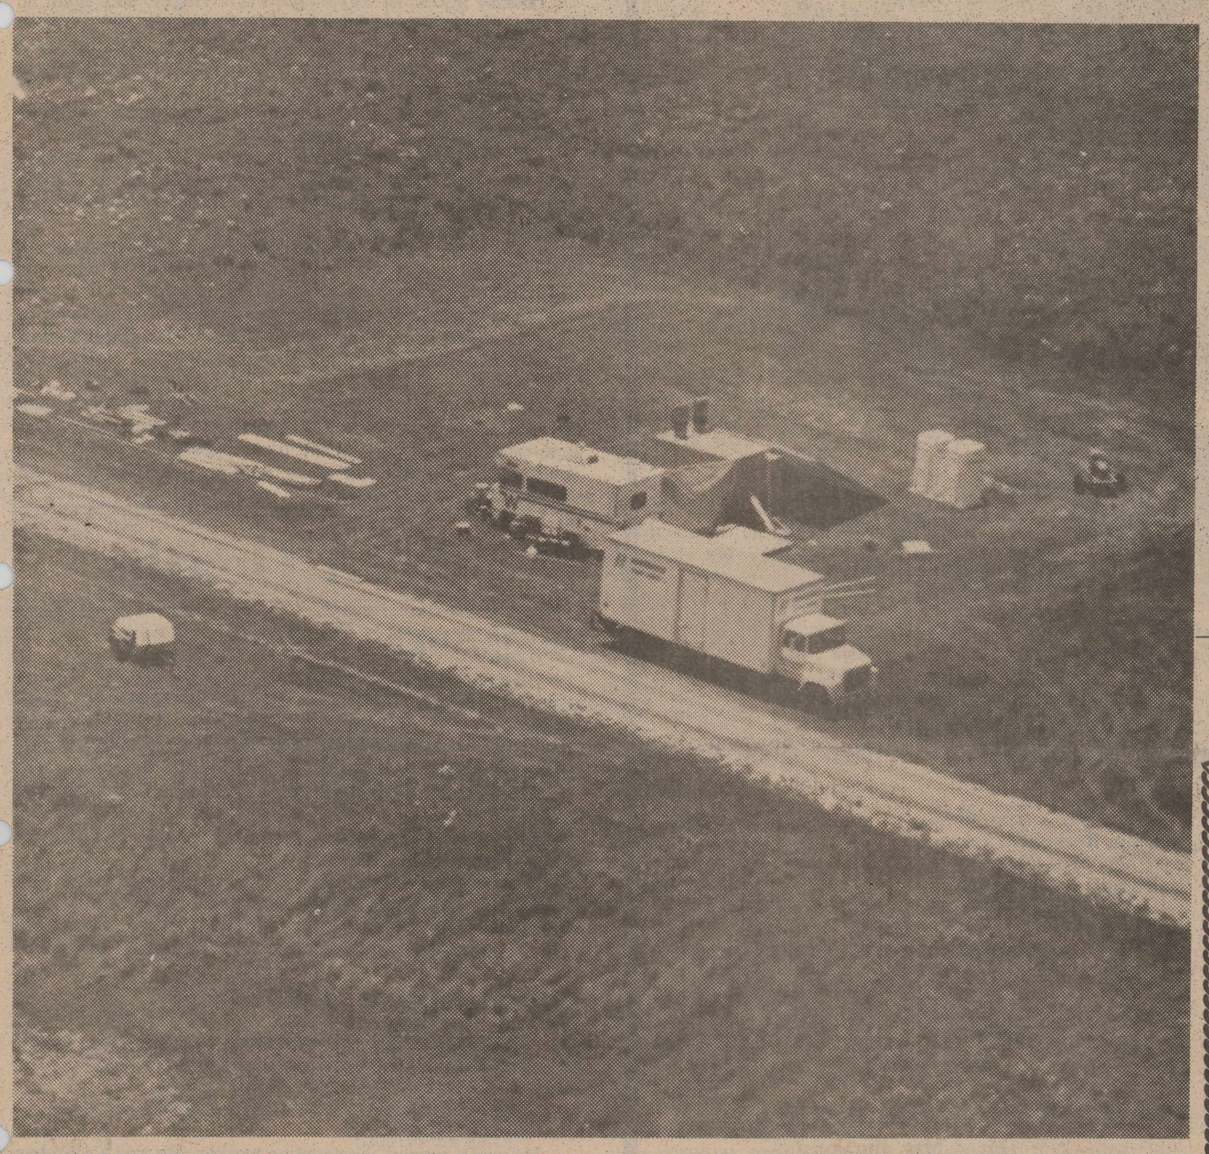

SSI says it economizes in a variety of ways, perhaps most importantly by manufacturing a number of smaller modules rather than larger single systems.

Additionally, the use of pressure-fed rather than pump-fed systems generate further economies, although at the cost of some performance.

The Percheron system will burn propellants that are as inexpensive and accessible as possible. Percheron will also feature a recoverable payload capsule which will permit recovery of expensive booster systems.

Tied-down engine tests of the Percheron rocket are scheduled for mid- and late-July on Matagorda Island. The engine will be mounted in the launch vehicle and should burn for about 28 seconds without liftoff. Engineers estimate that chances of a successful burn are about 50-50.

If this subsequent engine test is completed successfully, SSI plans a suborbital flight of the 55-foot Percheron vehicle from the Matagorda site in early August.

PD Gets New Patrolman, Detective's Car

Rockport's police department will have a new patrolman effective August 1 and a new detective's car as soon as purchase can be arranged.

Both items were authorized by Rockport's City council in a special meeting at 1 p.m. Wednesday, July 15, in City Hall.

The patrolman is Chris Brock, formerly with the Seadrift police department. Council members voted to hire him on the recommendation of Police Chief Joe Hinojosa.

Hinojosa was originally looking for an applicant to fill the post of police lieutenant, but he told council members Wednesday he could not find an applicant qualified for the post.

He suggested — and council members agreed — that a police lieutenant be promoted from within the current ranks at a later date and to hire Brock as a patrolman to bring the current force number to eight.

In other action the council approved purchase of a new Impala to replace the detective's car that was totalled recently in a wreck.

Cost of the Impala is $7,933.99 of which $5,275 will be paid by the insurance company as replacement for the wrecked vehicle.

In response to a remark by Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. that "our track record (for wrecked police cars) is deplorable," Chief Hinojosa said Rockport's accident figures are "way below normal for the miles we drive."

Speakers, Receiver, Camera Stolen

A receiver valued at $400, two speakers valued at $200 and a $20 camera were taken when the residence of Larry R. Crook was burglarized this past weekend.

Register Theft

Some $198.42 was taken from a cash register at Rockport Discount Liquor Store No. 2 on Highway 35 North.

The theft, which occurred sometime July 10, was reported by Stacy Shipman, manager of the store.

Shotgun Taken

A 12-gauge shotgun valued at $60 was stolen when the residence of Robert Frazier on Holden Road was burglarized.

The burglary occurred sometime between July 8 and 5:30 p.m. July 10.

Dirt Bike

A dirt bike valued at $400 and a bicycle valued at $180 were reported taken from the residence of Phillip Levy, Fulton, between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. June 30.

Arrested For Disorderly Conduct

Alex Canchola Jr., 24, of 109 West Cornwall was charged with disorderly conduct after his arrest about 10:55 a.m. Wednesday, July 15.

Bond was set at $200.

Canchola was arrested after police were called to his residence where he was allegedly creating a disturbance in the yard.

Worship in Church This Week

Something Greater

Bonanza . . . Mrs. Jones dropped the phone and fainted . . She had just won first prize for naming a new detergent. Dame Fortune had smiled her way . . . and smiled sweetly.

Yes, money is nice to have. It can make realities out of dreams and kings out of paupers. To some, it's a new car, a fur coat or perhaps the freedom to travel. Others see it as an education, security or the birth of a new business.

But what about the lack of money? Earning and holding on to enough of it is often a problem. Money problems can dissolve marriages, wreck promising careers and keep millions unhappy.

As money comes and goes in our lives, a vital truth remains constant. There is something greater than all the riches of this world; the love of an understanding God.

Renew your life with true and changeless riches. Worship this week.

THE CIRCLE ROUTE — Luke 10:40-42

Have you ever been driving on a freeway that circles around a city and missed the exit that you wanted to take? It can be frustrating and most likely what runs through one's mind is, "Where is the nearest exit that I can get off?" Being upset that you missed your exit does not help matters either.

Or have you ever gotten caught on a crowded highway in the middle of a miserable traffic jam? When one gets in that situation all you can think about is, "How can I get off?," especially when you hear that this jam is five miles long.

In both of these situations you may find yourself upset, wanting to find the nearest exit and probably not making it to your destination on time.

In fact there are many people in life that make many exits but make no progress toward a destination. Example? Try Martha. She had gotten so busy preparing a meal for Jesus that she missed the exit that would have freed her and given her a destination towards which she could have made progress.

Instead, what happened was that she got so upset with her preparations, she forgot why Jesus was there.

Martha had taken an exit, preparing dinner, but made no progress toward her destination, the friendship of Jesus.

When we get on the Circle Route we do get upset, especially when we miss the exit to our destination. Yet sometimes it is difficult even to wait for the right exit. "Exiting" is what we should be doing.

If one reads the story of Abraham and Sarah, that is what they had done when they got on the Circle Route. They were to wait for the exit that God chose, but they felt like they had missed it.

So they got off in Egypt, got off at Hagar, and again at Ishmael. They were always deciding how God was going to fulfill His promises. I imagine Martha, in a similar way, had gotten so busy doing what she wanted to do that she forgot why Jesus was there in the first place.

God put Abraham and Sarah back on the Circle Route until he chose the exit, Isaac.

Our need to break free from ourselves can be done in Jesus Christ. Was that not what Jesus was saying to Martha and to us? How can you really serve the Lord unless he serves you first?

Jesus knows the Circle Routes that we get on and the exits we try to take. Often those exits lead us to miss our destination.

Jesus knows the exit we need to take if we truly want to reach our destination. Why? Because he prepared the exit off the Circle Route through His suffering and death and resurrection.

Have you been exiting lately and found no satisfaction? Then come to Jesus that gives us power to sustain and guide us through the roadway of life to our destination with Him. The exit He chooses will never lead to unsatisfaction, but eternal friendship with Him.

[Most Often-Asked Questions on Nutrition]

By Jean Glowka

Q. I know that vitamin B-6 is good for nausea and that when we're sick, we need large amounts of all the vitamins, but what can we do if we're vomiting and can't hold anything on our stomach? Vitamins can't do any good then, can they?

A. All vitamins and the essential fatty acids absorb well through the skin. When food cannot be held on the stomach — oils, and vitamins A, D and E (squeezed from capsules) can be applied directly to the skin several times daily. The same can be done with powdered vitamin C and B vitamin tablets crushed and stirred into salve or cold cream. Often surface applications of 50 mgs. or more of vitamin B-6 can alleviate vomiting.

Q. What are some of the natural sources of laetrile (vitamin B-17)?

A. Laetrile, which is manufactured and used legally in over 17 countries throughout the world, including Mexico, Germany, Italy, Belgium and the Philippines, is found in a concentration of two or three percent in the whole kernels of most fruits, including apricots, apples, cherries, peaches, plums and nectarines. It is also found in some 70 plants commonly fed to animals for fodder.

Until next week, Folks, stay happy and healthy! It's a beautiful world!

Gregory-Portland Dumps Rockport

By Ted Norman

A four-run fourth inning rally just wasn't enough to catch the Gregory-Portland All-Stars and the Rockport boys went down to a 12-7 defeat.

G-P took an early first inning lead, then held Rockport scoreless for two and two-thirds innings.

In the bottom of the first and trailing by one, Rockport managed to get three runners on base but couldn't capitalize with any of them.

G-P came back in the top of the second and posted two more runs to make it a 3-0 game.

The top of the third saw G-P explode for five runs to make it an 8-0 game. In the bottom of the inning John Solis managed to get to third after being walked. Then the Rockport boys scored when Robert Chavez, who got on with a walk, managed to find his way around to the plate and the game was 8-1 Gregory-Portland.

G-P was held to one run in the fourth. Then Rockport exploded for six runs to make it an 8-7 game and Rockport was back in the game. But G-P came back in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings with four runs, then shut Rockport out in the final inning and G-P posted a 12-7 victory.

The tournament will be a mixed-double event with partners changing throughout the tournament. All players are guaranteed at least three matches.

For more information about the tournament call the tournament director, Leon Bateman, at 729-6602.

In the top of the sixth the Rockport girls made a come from behind try with Lequita Lewis pounding out a double and 2 RBIs and Shelly James hitting a double with an RBI which put three points on the board for Rockport but it wasn't enough and Ingleside went home with a one point victory in the 12-11 game.

Sinton Defeats Rockport In All-Star Wars 11-6

By Ted Norman

The game was delayed for over an hour when the designated officials failed to show, but with local umpires working, Sinton managed to dump the Rockport All-Stars 11-6 Tuesday night at Memorial Park.

When the appointed umpires failed to show for unknown reasons, the two team managers were called to the press box to hold a discussion to see if both managers were willing to continue the game with card-carrying officials from Rockport.

Both managers agreed and local businessman Danny Adams was called in to work behind the plate while Aransas County Little League President Duke Eaton took over the duties on the bases.

After the late and questionable start the visiting Sinton All-Stars came to bat and Rockport starting pitcher Bobby Dingenary found himself facing a full count on the first batter, Mike Busby. Busby swung at the 3-2 pitch and lined one to second baseman Harvey Olivarez who threw Busby out at first.

The Rockport pitcher then walked the next man and a run came in and the Sinton All-Stars took an early 1-0 lead.

With another walk and a single on an error by Rudy Soliz, Sinton scored two more runs. Dingenary got out of the inning with two strikeouts and trailing by three.

Steve Arkell led off for Rockport with a double to right field and made his way around the bases to score and make it a 3-1 game. Jeffery Dickerson, Bobby Dingenary and Scott Russ went down in order to retire the Rockport All-Stars in the bottom of the first.

Dingenary notched his third strikeout as he faced the first Sinton batter in the top of the second but Sinton's third baseman came to bat and tagged a Dingenary pitch to left field for a home run.

The next two Sinton batters got to base on walks. Then Dingenary recorded another strikeout and Sinton was finally retired when Gabriel Gonzales popped to second baseman Olivarez.

Rudy Soliz led off the second inning for the Rockport All-Stars with a free trip to first. Then Eddie Medina hit to right field for a single and Rockport had two men on base.

Rodney Adkins hit to the mound for the first out followed by Olivarez who got to first on a walk and the bases were loaded with one away.

Medina was picked off to give Rockport two outs. Then Arkell hit to second for the third out and with two innings behind them Rockport trailed 4-1.

After the lead-off man walked, Sinton was put away three up, three down.

The Rockport All-Stars got two men on base in the bottom of the third but couldn't get them all the way around. At the end of the bottom of the third Sinton still held a three-run lead.

Sinton got a man on first in the top of the fourth, but he was picked off in a steal attempt and Dingenary recorded another strikeout and Sinton was held scoreless in the fourth.

In the bottom of the fourth Rockport got runners to second and third but three Rockport batters were put down swinging and four innings were gone. Sinton still had a three-run lead.

In the top of the fifth the Sinton All-Stars brought in four runs on one home run off the bat of Gonzales, two walks and four errors on the Rockport infielders.

Sinton relief pitcher Santos Alariz walked five Rockport batters in the bottom of the fifth and Rockport managed to bring two of them across the plate to make it an 8-4 game.

In the top of the sixth Dingenary seemed to get his rhythm back and put the Sinton batter down in order and recorded two more strikeouts.

In the bottom of the sixth Scott Russ got a piece of the ball but was tagged out at first. Dickerson and Soliz struck out and Dingenary was stranded on third after reaching the bases on a walk.

Sinton added three more runs in the top of the seventh off three walks, a home run and a single and took an 11-4 lead over the Rockport All-Stars.

Adam Pina led off in the bottom of the seventh with a strikeout with Micheal Herrera and Dwayne Nunez drawing walks. Dickerson posted another strikeout, Herrera made it across the plate to post two more runs for Rockport and the game was over when Russ took a swing at a full count pitch. The Rockport All-Stars suffered an 11-6 loss to Sinton.

Ramirez Wins The 1500

Rockport - Fulton High School junior David Ramirez took first at the state meet in Houston with a 4:09 in the 1500 meter event.

The R-F runner says his victory in Houston was very close and only his ability to lean into the finish tape helped him get the victory over a close rival.

Ramirez says he runs four miles every morning then caps that off with a vigorous workout at the R-F High School track with speed runs.

Ramirez says he will leave Monday for a week of intensive training in Gardener. Ramirez will train in Gardener because the high altitude is more like the conditions of his next meet at the University of Wake Forest in Winston/Salem, North Carolina.

The event at Wake Forest will be held August 6-9.

First Annual Fishing Tournament Slated

By Ted Norman

Plans are being made for the First Annual Grand National Hydra-Sports Fishing Tournament to become one of the most prestigious events of its kind in the nation.

According to the owners of Blue Water Marine in Rockport the response to letters of inquiry about the tournament shows that the many Hydra-Sport owners are very anxious not only to hold the tournament, but also to make it one of the nation's best fishing tournaments.

The new Port Aransas Civic Center has been rented and Blue Water Marine spokesmen say the new center should insure that the tournament is a great success.

The civic center will be used for the registration party on Friday, July 24, from 5-9 p.m. The center will also be the site of the dinner party on Saturday, July 25, beginning at 7 p.m.

Also, the awards ceremonies will be held at the Port Aransas Civic Center on Sunday, July 26.

Fishing will begin Saturday at the participant's discretion and weigh-in ending at 6 p.m., followed by a 7 p.m. seafood dinner party that will be catered by an outstanding Port Aransas restaurant.

Sunday's fishing will again be started at the participant's discretion with weigh-in ending at 3 p.m., with the awards party starting at 4 p.m. in the civic center.

Trophies will be awarded to winners of each category with the overall winner receiving an all-expense paid trip for two to Nashville, Tennessee, to tour the Hydra-Sport factory and the Grand Ole Opry.

Entry fee is $25 per person for the fishing tournament and $15 per person for those wishing to attend just the parties and seafood dinner.

According to Steve Franklin, owner of Blue Water Marine, there will be plenty of boat slips for those wishing to keep their boats in the water for the weekend and plenty of rooms. Those needing slips and rooms should contact the Port Aransas Chamber of Commerce.

Woody's Boat Basin will be the weigh-in station and radio station KYOT will cover the tournament.

Saturday and Sunday two factory representatives from Hydra-Sports will be at the Port Aransas Civic Center to show the new 1982 models of Hydra-Sports. This will be the first showing of the 1982 models in the nation.

Those interested in participating in the First Annual Hydra-Sports Fishing Tournament may pre-register at Blue Water Marine or by sending your name, address and phone number to Blue Water Marine, P.O. Box 1118, Rockport, Texas 78382. Enclose a check for $25 for each person registering.

City Receives $14,000 Plus From ISI

The City of Rockport received $14,500 from International Systems Inc. (ISI) in settlement of a lawsuit filed against the company by City Attorney Allen Lee.

The suit was originally filed to collect some $19,000 from the Atlanta, Georgia, grant-finding firm to recover money paid by Rockport to ISI during a period from August, 1979, to August, 1980, for the company's service in locating and securing grant money for the city.

City Secretary Herman Johnson said Thursday the city had settled for payment of "around $14,500 or so" from the company. The remaining 4,500 was to cover ISI's expenses during the period the company was contracted to the city.

Rockport officials entered into an agreement with ISI around August 6, 1979, under which the Georgia firm was to provide services including keeping officials apprised of federal grant programs for which Rockport might be eligible and assisting the city in applying for grant funds.

ISI representatives said they had performed these services for city, county and other local government agencies in other states.

Under the agreement, if ISI failed "to generate any revenues or approved grant applications on behalf of the city in at least the amount of the fee," ISI was to refund the difference between the $19,000 and any funds the city might receive as a result of ISI's actions.

According to city officials, ISI failed to secure any grant funds and in September, the city council rejected a proposal that ISI continue its service for another year for the same $19,000.

On September 4, officials sent a certified letter to the Georgia firm asking for a full refund of the money.

Lee filed suit against the company on December 9, 1980, charging breach of contract.

A LITTLE TOO HELPFUL?

Barnie the St. Bernard seems to get a little carried away with his role in this year's Toys for Tots Campaign. Apparently no one has told him you're supposed to lick the stamps, not eat them. Barnie's owner, Jo Lee McConnell, needs all the help she can get to fill her "Texas Gold" stamp books with the stamps donated to the Toys for Kids project. A mailbox is set up in Rockport's H.E.B. store for people who want to give their stamps to this Lions' Club project and Jo empties the box once a week. So far, she's filled more than 450 stamp books since the beginning of the year and a "shopping trip" to the stamp redemption center is planned in the next couple of weeks to trade stamps for toys. At Christmas time the toys go to families who otherwise would be unable to give toys to their children. [Pilot Photo by Pat Blair]

Pet Talks

By Dr. Hap Lutz

Dr. Lutz is a graduate of Baltimore City College and Texas A&M University. He specializes in small and exotic animal practice. He was an instructor of small animal diseases and surgery in the Veterinary School at Texas A&M and was in private practice in Waco for 25 years.

Dear Dr. Lutz,

Our family owns a six-year-old Schnauzer. Whenever the doorbell rings, she starts barking and runs to the door. As soon as I open the door, she jumps on the person and sometimes even bites them. Why does she do this, and what can I do to stop it?—A Worried Dog Owner

Dear WDO,

Sometimes a particular dog's reaction to certain stimulus is hard to determine. Some dogs react violently to thunder, some to sirens, others to a simple automobile horn.

A dog psychiatrist tells me that your dog may be doing this because of lack of discipline. This reaction probably started when he was a puppy, and you didn't know how to correct it.

Because he was a puppy, you thought it was cute or funny. This is bad "dog manners." Regardless of the reaction to the doorbell, they can be controlled. (Just as a dog who is gun shy can be conditioned.)

Your dog must be taught that you are number one dog, your wife is number two dog and your dog number three. It's the old pecking order. Your command must be obeyed. This requires a lot of time and patience.

After your dog has learned to obey, start on step two — the conditioned reflex.

The quickest way to overcome this situation is to have someone ring your doorbell at a prearranged time — say, at five-minute intervals.

When the bell rings, don't jump up and run to the door. Relax, and calmly give your dog a tidbit. This procedure will have to be repeated over a period of several days or a week. After this time, when your friend rings the doorbell, have your wife answer.

You remain seated and calmly give the dog his expected treat. This is called conditioning. Remember, the discipline must come first.

If you have any questions concerning the health and care of your pets, send them to the Rockport Pilot, 1002 Wharf Street, Rockport, Texas 78382.

Stephanie Hattenbach Injured In Accident

Stephanie Hattenbach, a recent graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School, was injured in a one-car accident on Thursday, July 9, in Boay, Alabama.

Stephanie was on the passenger side of the vehicle when a front tire blew out, causing the driver to lose control.

The driver was thrown out through the windshield and, though suffering serious cuts, managed to pull Stephanie out of the car.

She had partially fallen out of the car but her feet were caught in the floor board and both ankles were broken.

Suffering a fractured nose as well, she underwent surgery in the Huntsville, Alabama Hospital. An orthopedic surgeon placed three pins in Stephanie's left ankle and rebuilt her right heel.

A long term recovery is expected and Stephanie will be staying with relatives in Alabama.

Plan Would Split Aransas

AUSTIN — A Congressional redistricting plan tentatively approved by the Texas Senate this week would split Aransas County between the existing District 14 and the newly-created District 27.

Full details on the proposal, given tentative approval Wednesday, July 15, were not available at the Pilot's presstime Thursday. But according to Steve Renfrow, in the office of State Senator Carlos Truan, the southern portion of Aransas County, including Aransas Pass, would be in District 27 while the county from Rockport north would be in District 14.

A spokesman in the office of Senator James E. (Buster) Brown said Brown was opposing the redistricting plan — which would split Brazoria as well as Aransas counties — and the Senator was preparing a floor amendment that would keep these two counties undivided.

"The Senator knows Aransas County does not want to be split, that it's a bad situation," the spokesman said.

If the redistricting plan receives final approval without amendment, the northern portion of Aransas County will continue to be represented by U.S. Congressman Bill Patman. No representative currently exists for the proposed 27th District.

Patman, contacted shortly before noon Thursday, said he was "very disappointed" by the redistricting proposal which will take Nueces County, part of Aransas and all of San Patricio County out of his district.

"I don't see any reason whatever for splitting Aransas County," Patman said. "It seems almost inexcusable to make a change like that with a county that small."

Mrs. Patman, contacted Wednesday in Ganado, said, "This was a Republican plan and they somehow got a majority of the Democratic Senate."

The plan was scheduled to go before the Senate in a formal vote Friday, July 17.

Air Conditioner Most Important

INDIANAPOLIS, IND. — The most important appliance in your home this summer may be your air conditioner. Here are some tips which will help your air conditioner work more efficiently and keep you cool longer.

Don't fiddle with the thermostat. Set the temperature to a comfortable level and forget it. Excessive "on and offing" can damage the components of the unit. Besides, energy will be wasted as the air conditioner tries to keep up with your changing cooling demand.

If your clothes dryer vent is close to the air conditioner or heat pump, consider other ways of venting the dryer. Hot vapor from the dryer places an extra load on the air conditioner. Lint from the vent can cause damage.

Run appliances such as a clothes dryer and do as much cooking as possible in the early morning hours. This is better than at night because in the evening on a hot day, the air conditioner is still working to bring down the temperature from the daytime heat.

Keep curtains closed on sunny windows during the day. Homes in humid areas should be kept "closed" with the air conditioning turned on during July and August — even if the weather is cool but humid, say the experts. Because drier air seems cooler than humid air, your air conditioner can be "on" less when the humidity is low.

Trim shubbery and limbs back. Landscaping that hides an air conditioner or heat pump may look more pleasing but reduces efficiency by curtailing air movement. Shrubs could cause damage if leaves or twigs are sucked into the unit.

Have the unit cleaned and checked by a qualified service representative. Coils should be cleaned. This is a job some homeowners can undertake themselves but first they should have the dealer's service representative do it and observe — especially learn how to properly shut off electricity to the unit.

Filters, too, need to be cleaned, if permanent type. Disposable ones should be thrown away. Check these once a month. It is a good idea to buy a throw-away filter to use while the permanent filter is being cleaned (with a garden hose on the driveway) and is drying.

Consider planting a strategic tree or build a sunscreen to shade the condenser unit. This would be useful if your condenser unit or heat pump is located on the south or west side of the house. However, it should be far enough away to minimize potential problems with leaves.

Insulate duct work.

Caulk storm windows as well as main windows and doors.
