Chi Psi-Xi Mu Iota Members Honor Mothers

Chi Psi and Xi Mu Iota chapters of Beta Sigma Phi held their annual Mother's Day-Founder's Day Banquet May 4 in fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church.

Theme of the banquet, "Light My Torch," was used in decorations with a large torch and the theme words adorning one wall. Candelabras flanked that decor. Large white baskets filled with yellow roses, statice and leather leaf were placed along the tables, interspersed by white bud vases holding single yellow roses. The roses were later given to guests attending.

Beta Sigma Phi grace was spoken by Mrs. Bob Reed, president of Xi Mu Iota, prior to the salad supper. Introduction of guests and welcome was by Mrs. Mack Steffy, Chi Psi president. Response was by Mrs. Robert Morton of Kress, mother of Mrs. James Campbell.

Pledges for both chapters were recognized.

"Girl of the Year" pins were presented to Mrs. Reed, Xi Mu Iota, and Mrs. Steffy, Chi Psi. Mrs. Myrt Loman was chosen as the Beta Sigma Phi "Woman of the Year."

Mother awards were given to Mrs. Willis A. Hawkins Sr., shortest mother; Mrs. Mike Wall, tallest mother; Mrs. L.C. McLain, mother wearing the oldest piece of jewelry and Mrs. Harry Grensberg, mother with the child who lives the greatest distance from home.

Entertainment was a medley of friendship songs by Mrs. Campbell who accompanied herself on the guitar. Mrs. Kim Williamson presented a tribute to mothers featuring excerpts of various writings and thoughts concerning mothers.

Approximately 70 members and guests attended. Closing ritual was led by Mrs. Charles Black.

Mother-Daughter Affair Held In Baptist Church

Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church was the setting Saturday for a Mother-Daughter luncheon hosted by GA's.

Mrs. William Ammons gave the invocation. After lunch, girls presented "Children's Chuckles" and a skit entitled,

How can you know the jars of baby food you buy have the fresh quality you expect for your child?

When parents ask me that question, I tell them that one of the best ways is to look for the safety button on the cap. If the circle is concave or depressed, it indicates the vacuum is intact. If the vacuum is lost for any reason, the safety button on the cap will be raised. Be sure to check each jar of baby food you buy.

Another way to determine freshness is to look for a statement on top of the baby food caps that says, "For better quality use by date below." Gerber was the first baby food company to introduce the Quality-Dating system. They also stamp cereals and bakery products with the line, "Better if used before," and the date on the side of the package.

These two Gerber packaging features are your assurance of high quality foods for your baby.
