

Moscow Bound

Eight former American soldiers display passports outside the Soviet embassy in Washington, D. C., after getting Russian visas. Veterans of the Elbe River linkup with the Russians in 1945, then plan to attend a Moscow celebration of victory over the Germans on May 9. Left to right, front: Edwin Jeary, Oak Park, Mich.; Elijah Sams, Pinnacle, N. C.; and Robert Wang, Indianapolis, Ind. Back: B. L. Shiver, Lakeland, Fla.; Charles Forrester, Greer, S. C.; Joseph Polowsky, Chicago, Ill.; William Weisel, Norwood, Ohio, and Fred Johnson, Bradford, Pa. Two others joined the group in New York, where the veterans are seeking funds to take them to Paris. The Soviets have assured the men of transportation from Paris to Moscow.

Coahoma Water Deal Okayed, Local System Survey Ordered

City commissioners last night approved a contract to furnish water to Coahoma and ordered a survey made of the Big Spring distribution system.

The contract was signed after board members of the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District agreed to pay the City of Big Spring $29,250.

This money will partially cover the cost of installing a 20-inch line from the city filtration plant to the east city limits, where the Coahoma line will join.

The water district's outlay will be the same as it would if the eight-inch line had been laid to the filtration plant as originally planned.

The district was assessed only $2.75 per foot for the 40,600 feet which must be spanned inside the city. This is the approximate cost of the district, which would have been out for an eight-inch line.

The water district's participation in the 20-inch pipe cost will assure that Coahoma and the entire eastern fringe of the city will have ample water service, it was pointed out.

Plans call for the remainder of the installation cost to be split between the city and developers of additions east of Birdwell Lane. Estimated cost of the line is between $75,000 and $82,000.

The city agreed to furnish a specified pressure on the line leading to Coahoma sufficient to push water to that community. Pumps will be installed at the city sewage disposal plant east of the city.

City Manager H. J. Whitney explained that with the city installing the large water pipe, all maintenance problems will revert to the municipality. The water district would have been responsible for repairs to it had installed the planned eight-inch line through the city.

Installation of the line is to be in the immediate future, was announced, and should not hold up the water district's plans for quick connections.

Meeting with the commissioners last evening were Earl Reid, R. D. Cramer, and T. O. Earnest, members of the district board. L. L. Hutchins, Coahoma mayor, was also present, as were Jim and Bob Nichols, of the engineering firm of Freese & Nichols.

Parr Is Indicted For Second Time

"SAN ANTONIO (AP)—For the second time within a year, a federal grand jury indicted George Parr, 'the Duke of Duval,' on tax evasion charges, when a jury in San Antonio, yesterday returned indictments on three counts against the South Texas politician.

The charges were similar to indictments returned in Houston earlier. No government spokesmen would give reasons for the action of the jury in San Antonio, but the indictments will result in Parr being tried in the Western instead of Southern district of Texas.

Parr specifically was indicted for evading $85,634.37 in taxes by filing false tax statements for the calendar years of 1948, 1950 and 1951.

While there was no official confirmation by government spokesmen, it was assumed the Houston indictments would be dropped. Parr recently won a court decision to have the cases tried in Laredo instead of Corpus Christi in the Houston district.

The counts allege that in 1949 Parr filed his income as $49,075.04

The survey of the water distribution system in Big Spring was ordered after Engineer Bob Nichols explained that flow difficulties are being experienced.

"We can get more than enough water through the filtration plant, but we cannot get the water away from the plant, under peak production," he said. "We're working on lines to Edwards Heights now."

NEW MAYOR WAS SHOO-IN

BOONEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Carl Bowdler was running for anything. He just kinda was standing around and the first thing he knew he was elected mayor of Booneville.

It seems that no one filed for the office. What with Carl being a familiar figure around Booneville, the voters took things in their own hands. Bowdler got 73 write-in votes.

He had served as mayor three years ago and he's going to office again—whether he really wants to or not.

Judge Ends Holdout To Save Wife From Mental Hospital

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—A baroque of tear gas had ended the holdout of gun-toting Justice of the Peace Manuel Miller, 47, who stood off federal and state authorities for 12 hours yesterday in a futile attempt to keep his wife out of a mental hospital.

Miller and his wife, Lucille, 44, parents of three children, surrendered last night in their gas-filled home to face confinement in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C., he is to face an indictment on federal charges.

The mild-mannered Miller, a school bookkeeper and former self-styled, began the siege at 11:40 a. m. EST, when he refused admittance to U. S. Marshal Dewey H. Perry hearing a federal order for Mrs. Miller's commitment.

Mrs. Miller, publisher of a mimeographed anti-Communist leaflet with taxes due of $22,615.39, when his income actually was $96,457.96 and taxes due $50,050.46. In 1950 he reported $70,599.16 income and $39,312.60 taxes due instead of $112,140 and taxes due of $70,570.46 and in 1951 he reported $44,698.31 income and $22,628.23 taxes due instead of $70,713.86 and $42,589.37.

Parr was fined $5,000 and given a 2-year suspended sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of income tax evasion in 1954. In 1936 he served in a federal correctional institute for 11 months for violation of probation. He was pardoned by President Truman in 1946.

Malcolm Wilkey, U. S. district attorney in Houston, and James T. Dowd, Wilkey's assistant, were in San Antonio with other internal revenue agents to assist in presentation of the case to the grand jury.

Parr is under bond on the Houston indictment. No warrant for his arrest was issued in San Antonio yesterday, according to Harman Parrott, assistant U. S. district attorney.

Mrs. Miller spent the night making and answering phone calls. She talked willingly over the telephone with newsmen, telling one caller that her husband "has got a lot of ammunition. We can hold out a long time."

After doctors revived her on the lawn she smiled at her husband. He smiled back.

Mrs. Miller was taken to Rutland Hospital where Dr. L. Crawford Russell said she had suffered for ill effects from the gas barrage.

which will help, and a million gallon reservoir in that area is contemplated.

Nichols also said an additional sedimentation basin could be needed. When the city took bids on its new filtration plant, the alternatives for extra filters were so attractive they were constructed. However, the corresponding addition of settling basin capacity was not made at the time. Now, in order to process water at peak, especially when Lake J. B. Thomas might be turbid following rains, the additional sedimentation basin is needed.

The city has about $140,000 in the water and sewer construction account, said Manager Whitney, and this money should cover the cost of a new million gallon reservoir in Edwards Heights, a 16-inch line from Johnson to Lancaster on Tenth Street, and the 20-inch main planned on the east side.

Whitney said that the present problem is in storage facilities. The city can store only 3 1/2 million gallons of water at any one time with present facilities, he explained. During peak use periods the day, water drains from these storage facilities faster than it can be replaced by the filter plant.

Noted Area Ginner Dies

STANTON (AP)—Alfred Willis Keisling, 71, widely known West Texas ginner, died Wednesday morning after a long illness.

Services will be held at 4 p. m. Thursday in the First Methodist Church at Stanton with a former pastor, the Rev. J. E. Harrell, Hale Center, officiating. Mrs. Keisling's remains will be in state at the Arlington funeral home until about 10 p. m. before time for services at the church. Burial will be in the Evergreen Cemetery under direction of Arrington, and there will be Masonic graveside rites.

Mr. Keisling had operated gins in and around Stanton practically all of his adult life. He had been a resident of Stanton since 1922 and was married in 1924 to Olga Corbin Keisling, who now survives him. Other survivors are two sons, A. F. Keisling and W. N. Keisling, Midland; two daughters, Mrs. Tommie Keisling of Midland and Mrs. Billy McDorland, Monahans; one brother, H. H. Keisling, Talmage, Okla.; and four grandchildren.

Mr. Keisling had been stricken three years ago in December and had been confined to his bed virtually since. He passed away at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday at a rest home in Big Spring.

Members of the Stanton Masonic lodge will serve as pallbearers.

Dawson County Old-Timers Plan For Pioneer Day

LAMESA (AP)—Pioneer Day in Lamesa has been set for May 21 and Dawson County old timers are planning now for that event.

Activities will start at 9:30 a. m. in the National Guard Armory and will continue just as long as the pioneers have the steam.

Committee chairmen will meet Tuesday at 4 p. m. to round out last minute details.

Old timers are planning basket lunches and meaty feasts have been arranged to furnish food for a barbecue. Throughout the day there will be a musical program under the direction of Mrs. A. G. Barnard and Ernest Moody. A number of the old-timers will run through a few bar of fiddle and break-away music. There also will be games and contests, and possibly a parade.

Explosion At Navy Plant Injures 13

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An explosion at the Navy Aerophysics Laboratory in Dameronfield, La., Monday, caused an estimated damage of $100,000 and injured 13 persons.

The explosion occurred in the eighth Naval District. A Navy spokesman said yesterday a collection of inflammable gas exploded under the control room of a test cell, dismantling instrument panels and causing structural damage to the building.

Ike Still Likes 'Voluntary' Salk Sharing

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has given all sorts of consideration to federal control over distribution of Salk polio vaccine but still thinks the voluntary method is best.

The President told a news conference the government intends to see to it that no child ever goes without the vaccine because of inability to pay for it.

Volunteering his remarks about the vaccine program, Eisenhower also said government officials are convinced the present inoculation program should go ahead despite development of polio by a few youngsters who have received vaccine produced by one firm.

The President said that in his opinion it is both safe and wise to go ahead with the inoculations. Eisenhower also dealt with these other topics:

CEASE-FIRE — Eisenhower said that at the moment the United States is in a sort of wait-and-see position with respect to possible talks between this country and Red China on a cease-fire in the Formosa area.

He added there are a number of countries — apart from the United States — which are interesting themselves in the prospect of a cease-fire. There is nothing new on the subject, he said.

QUEMOY AND MATSU — Asked what the yardstick will be if he should be faced with a decision whether to defend the Chinese Nationalist offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, Eisenhower indicated that he would try to decide whether any attack by the Chinese Reds was aimed exclusively at those islands or, in the long run, at Formosa itself.

RESERVE PROGRAM — Eisenhower said emphatically that he still is for the administration's program to create a new military manpower reserve. Progress is being made toward creation of the proposed reserve, the President said, noting that the bill is scheduled to come out of a congressional committee soon.

COTTON — A reporter asked what the President thought of some federal officials advising certain small cotton farmers to sell out, as the reporter put it, to big operators. Eisenhower said he had heard nothing about that and frankly didn't believe it. It might be, he said, that some officials had offered friendly personal advice, just as he, said, the reporter said to him: "You're not doing so well. Why don't you sell out? That brought a burst of laughter in which the President joined.

HIGHWAY PROGRAM — He said he still is standing by his plan for a 10-billion-dollar, highway construction program, and added that so far, as he knows, the governors of the states still are standing by it, too.

'Politics' Blamed In Irving School Fuss

Atom-Disfigured Girls Get Help

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP)—The night before the choice was announced the girls prayed, the New York physician said.

"We were told they prayed not that they would be the ones picked but that we doctors would not feel anguish at having to leave some of them home."

That is the little story behind the story of 25 Japanese girls disfigured by the atomic bomb 10 years ago, who were selected for free plastic surgery treatment in the United States.

Dr. William M. Hitzig, who helped to make the selections, told the story as the 25 excited girls prepared for the first and most important airplane trip of their lives. The girls, all in their 20s, leave tomorrow.

They may face up to a dozen operations, and be gone a year. Yet they are filled with hope and are in unbelieveable spirits, said Hitzig.

They hope the treatment will remove the scars left after the atomic bombing in 1945. The scars have shut them off from normal social activities. One wears a mask.

The trip to Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, is being financed by private contributions. The project was organized by Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, Mt. Sinai Hospital, and Kiyoshi Togasaki, president of the Nippon Times of Tokyo. The U. S. Air Force supplied the plane.

Dr. Charles W. Castner, superintendent of the Rusk State Hospital, testified this morning that he is convinced that Henry Early Friar is "completely recovered" from a mental disorder for which he was committed to the Rusk Hospital in 1953.

Hearing on Friar's application for legal restoration of sanity began in 18th District Court this morning. Attorneys thought they would complete the hearing today.

Friar was admitted to the Rusk hospital on June 9, 1953, after a 34th District Court jury in El Paso found that he was insane. The El Paso hearing followed the return of a murder indictment against Friar in El Paso. He was charged with killing Warren Mitchell, El Paso policeman, on May 16, 1953.

The El Paso jury also found that Friar was insane at the time Mitchell was killed.

Dr. Castner testified to Judge Roy D. Jackson of El Paso that Friar was recovered last July 2. Friar later filed application for the legal restoration and a hearing in El Paso ended with a hung jury. The case was transferred to Big Spring last March.

In his testimony this morning, Dr. Castner said that Friar responded rapidly to treatment at the Rusk hospital.

"We were quite pleased with the results of our treatment," he testified.

The psychiatrist, who said he has been associated with the Texas mental hospital system for about 40 years, said that examination of Friar after he was admitted to the hospital indicated he was suffering from the paranoid type of schizophrenia, which laymen describe as "split personality."

He testified later on cross examination that the patient might also have suffered from other types of mental illness in combination with the paranoid schizophrenia.

He described diagnosis of the illness, which he said convinced him about 40 days after Friar was hospitalized, and electro and insulin "cure" treatments which started July 20, 1953. Dr. Castner said 24 of the electro-shock treatments were administered between July 20 and Aug. 31, 1953, and that these were followed by 12 insulin treatments between Aug. 31 and Nov. 4. These treatments were followed by psychotherapy administered by the Rev. Walter Devers, Abilene, and the Rev. C. J. Smith, Knappe, Dallas, who will be in the Snyder cemetery.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton E. Sumerud; two brothers, Gene Edwin Sumerud, 13, and Connie Mack Sumerud, 10. Recovery was made by J. W. Clinton, fire chief at Tahoka. In the boat with him were Jack Robinson, J. Randolph, Bill Gathart and Deputy Sheriff Son Guin of Tahoka.

From E. Vespence, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, came a message of appreciation to all who had a part in eventually recovering the body.

"The sense of shock and of loss of the life is tempered by the consideration and devotion to many men and women who aided increasingly in an effort to recover the remains. The district is grateful for all who served so diligently with only the thought of being able, in some degree, to contribute to the peace of mind of members of the family."

Services will be held at 3 p. m. Thursday in the First Baptist Church at Snyder with the Rev. Jimmy Rodgers, pastor of the Canyon community Baptist Church, officiating. Assisted by the Rev. Walter Devers, Abilene, and the Rev. C. J. Smith, Knappe, Dallas, will be in the Snyder cemetery.

Beard Gives Testimony At State Hearing

AUSTIN (AP)—Dr. John L. Beard testified today he believes "politics" was one of the reasons for his being fired as superintendent of the Irving schools.

In earlier testimony, the deposed superintendent had said no one on the board that fired him had ever complained about his position in politics or religion.

Beard made the statement during the second day of hearing by State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar on Beard's appeal from the dismissal.

"I take it how you think politics might have had something to do with your discharge?" asked Eric Eades Jr., of Dallas, attorney for the present school board.

"Yes," replied Beard, "but it was never mentioned as a reason."

Did you ever participate in politics other than voting? asked Eades.

No. Beard said his opinion on political aspects of his firing was based on a conversation between him and Charles E. Young, president of the board that fired him.

He said that Young came to him after a precinct meeting last year and asked if I knew some teachers who had attended some precinct conventions.

"I told him I didn't know. He stated in that conversation that in his opinion there would be some trouble about it," Beard replied.

"Did any board member or citizen ever complain to you about teachers participating in politics?" asked Eades.

No, sir, replied Beard. "Then why do you think Mr. Young came to you?"

"I think he meant some leaders in the community were unhappy over the situation," Beard responded.

Beard had been widely quoted prior to today as saying that "politics" was back of his dismissal. He had been quoted as saying a factor was the support given Ralph Yarborough for Governor last summer by some Irving teachers. Yarborough was defeated by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Beard also said the Irving board had never accused him of exceeding his authority prior to firing him.

The incumbent board is not the one that dismissed Beard. It is maintaining an official position of neutrality pending the outcome of Beard's appeal to State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar.

State Gets $11 Million In Bids At Lease Sale

AUSTIN (AP)—High bids totaling 11 million dollars were received on oil and gas rights in yesterday's state lease land sale. Land Commissioner Earl Budder announced.

The Gulf Coast landowner's wrath was vented against a measure to pay a $12,687 judgment to the Arkansas Fuel Oil Corp. for repayment of taxes paid by the company under a law later held invalid.

Phillips complained the appropriation bill was being pushed "roughshod" ahead of appropriation bills to provide Salk polio vaccine for Texas children and hospital beds for the sick.

Hearing was begun Monday. It was postponed yesterday while the Senate listened to a 45-minute speech by Sen. Jimmy Phillips, Abilene.

Public Hearing Resumes On State Tax Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—The Senate's State Affairs Committee was told today the House will stay in session "all Christmas" before it accepts a 2-cent hike in gasoline taxes.

Rep. Jerry Sadler of Hickory Grove delivered the warning as public hearing resumed on the 20-million-dollar tax bill. As passed by the House, it included only a 1-cent increase in gasoline taxes.

Gov. Allan Shivers and Highway Commissioner Chairman E. H. Thornton Jr. are among those who have said highway building needs can be met with nothing less than a 2-cent hike.

Thornton proposed to the committee when hearing began Monday that part of the second penny might be set aside to help counties and cities pay for right-of-way.

"That bait was dangled before the House, too," Sadler told the committee, "but we wouldn't take it. He recalled the House had voted against every attempt to affix any rate above one cent."

"I hope we won't have to stay down here with the Capitol locked up, and the keys pitched out like we were threatened," he said, "but we're not going to pass a 2-cent gasoline tax in the House."

Sadler's remark about a threat apparently referred to a Sunday statement by Shivers. The governor said they can "close the doors of the Capitol" before he would call a special session of the Legislature for finances.

Spokesmen for cities and counties went before the committee to urge that they share in whatever gasoline tax the Legislature passes to build roads. They said that without help they cannot keep on buying expensive right-of-way.

"Pooh-pooh it as a problem if you want to, but it's a full-grown man eating, striped-tail tiger," declared R. M. Hall, county judge of Rockwall County. "We need some help."

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Tree-climbing goats of Morocco.

When I was about 13 years of age, I saw a cat one day which had climbed to the top of a telephone pole. All too plainly, the cat was afraid to come down.

"Feeling that it was my duty to rescue the little animal, I started to climb. There were elbow spikes on either side of the pole, but I must admit that I felt a bit nervous as I got near the top. Reaching for the cat, I caught hold of it, and was able to carry it safely to the ground. The event took place almost a mile from my home, and to this day I don't know who owned the cat.

Although house cats usually do little, if any, climbing, other members of the cat family are at home in trees. These include lynxes which often crouch on a limb, and then spring down on a fawn or other victim.

Cougars also spring from limbs, and may bring down pecan trees or even cattle. Although tigers spend most of their time on the ground, they climb trees now and then.

Several kinds of bears (but not all kinds) are able to climb trees. Those which go very high are likely to be looking for a store of wild honey in a hollow of the tree.

Other strange occupants of trees include some snakes, especially boas of South America. It is a terrible thing for the victim when a boa drops down from a limb! Mountain goats, inhabiting all the climbers are certain goats, which live in Morocco, a section of northern Africa. These goats are able to leap into the low branches of trees, and to keep their footing while walking on the limbs. Their object is to eat leaves in an area where grass is hard to obtain.

If any teacher of science wishes further facts about tree climbing goats, I shall be glad to send notes in mimeographed form on request. Without charge. One photograph made in Morocco shows several goats in a single tree, two of them on high branches.

Scientist Sees Vaccine For Long Immunity

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (U.P.)—A Cincinnati scientist looks forward to long-lasting immunization against polio through the use of vaccine containing live virus.

Dr. Albert E. Sabin, who conducted experiments in which live-virus vaccine was swallowed by 30 volunteer reformatory prisoners, told the Association of American Physicians yesterday it might be a long time before a workable vaccine of that type can be achieved.

In his report to the association, Sabin said the prisoners who received the vaccine containing live polio strains developed virus-blocking antibodies.

The news came on the heels of the success of the Salk antipolio vaccine, which used a killed germ and must be injected.

Dr. Hart Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which financed Dr. Sabin's work, said it is still too early to determine effectiveness of the new vaccine.

Thus, he said, there could be no comparison of the Salk and Sabin vaccines.

Sabin conducted experiments for many years but in latter months gave the live vaccine to 30 reformatory prisoners at Chillicothe, Ohio. Ages of the prisoners ranged from 24 to 40.

He said he used three strains of live polio virus and fed minute quantities—about a 50th part of a drop—to each prisoner in a teaspoonful of milk. He said the prisoners did not show symptoms of polio.

He emphasized much work remains to be done before it can be said with certainty that a vaccine taken by mouth is practical.

Orchids Warm Cold Sheep

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (U.P.)—O. H. Wilkins recommends an orchid diet for shivering sheep. But not HIS orchids.

Eight hundred newly sheared sheep began keeling over yesterday after a rainy and windy week-end caught them in an unseasonal state of undress. Their pasture is near Wilkins' five-acre estate.

Wilkins, a lighting director for the National Broadcasting Co., said he couldn't get help for them on the telephone, so he began hauling the nearly dead sheep by wheelbarrow to his only convenient shelter—his orchid hothouse.

"I never cared much for sheep," he said, "but I just couldn't stand around and watch those poor things die off like that."

About half the sheared sheep died. "They got a chill," said their owner Nick Costa. "It turned into pneumonia, and they died."

Wilkins sheltered 100 of them in his snug and warm hothouse. On the advice of a veterinarian, he administered penicillin with his orchid feeder syringe.

The still-wobbly 100 perked up, looked around and began to munch on Wilkins' rare orchids. He said some of the plants were worth more apiece than the sheep. Between the drugs and diet, however, they were soon revived.

Costa said the 400 who died were trucked away to a rendering plant.

Birthday Present

Dear Miss Brandow:

Jeff and I have been going steady for a month. His birthday is next month. Should I give him a present? How much should I spend?

Martha

The boy should always take the initiative in the gift-giving department, and the gift should follow suit. If he has been a gift-giver on past gift-giving occasions, then by all means remember his birthday with a present.

It should be thoughtfully chosen to fit his interests or hobbies. It should be something he knows was not left over from Christmas, but chosen especially for him. Any type of wearing apparel is in bad taste. The cost of your gift should not exceed or surpass that of any you have received from him, and should be slightly less.

Otherwise, send the boy who doesn't give gifts a greeting card, and let it go at that.

Maybe you didn't start dating until after the holidays. In that case, don't stand on formality. Do the thoughtful thing and give him

Thumbs Down On SEATO Army

BAGUIO, Philippines (U.P.)—French sources said today the eight-nation military planners conference here has agreed not to establish a permanent military headquarters under the Southeast Asia Defense Treaty.

This apparently rules out a SEATO army, said these sources, who asked their names not be used.

Thailand and the Philippines have been asking for a permanent headquarters and an army patterned after the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

The United States has opposed a complex SEATO military setup, favoring a system based on highly mobile American forces in this part of the world.

Represented at the conference on strengthening the SEATO area are Australia, Britain, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, Thailand, the Philippines and the United States.

Steps to counter Red subversion and infiltration have been high on the agenda.

Mother Of Year Advises 'Love'

NEW YORK (U.P.)—A bit of advice to parents everywhere from the American Mother of the Year:

"Love your children with all your hearts; love them enough to discipline them before it is too late."

Also, says 75-year-old Mrs. Lavina Christensen Fugal: "A child should know discipline by the age of 3. Forget little things they do wrong that are not important. Praise them for important things, even if you have to stretch them a bit."

Mrs. Fugal, a hard-working farm widow from Pleasant Grove, Utah, was interviewed yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel during a series of activities for her that will last through Friday.

Close to tears, she said of her family life:

"I've had more blessings than it seems to me one person can stand. And for this I am indebted to 'Our Heavenly Father.' We've had trials, financial difficulties, disasters—our one resource has always been Our Heavenly Father."

Mrs. Fugal, a deeply religious Mormon, is the mother of four sons and four daughters and grandmother of 34.

She will receive her award as American Mother of the Year from the American Mothers Committee at a luncheon Friday.

They Want To Go Fishing Awfully Bad.

Eager beaver fishermen at Lake Crowley, Calif., on hand for the second day of this season's fishing, clear their boats of snow which fell during the night. About 500 hearty rod and reelers ignored the day-long snowfall to take a chance with the lake's famed giant trout. Cars approaching the lake area were backed up seven miles along the road. Lake Crowley is about 200 miles north of Los Angeles.

Demo Governors Stay Over For Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than a dozen Democratic governors stayed over after an administration-sponsored governors' conference today to talk over party organization and federal-state problems.

Highway and mental health legislation were high on the agenda for the first public session arranged by Democratic leaders. Discussion of 1956 campaign plans and intraparty affairs was listed for a later closed session with national committee officials. The party sessions will wind up tomorrow.

Republicans and Democrats rowed over the purpose of the Democratic meeting, coming on the heels of the two-day all-governors' briefing conference concluded yesterday.

Two Democratic governors—Averell Harriman of New York and Frank Lausche of Ohio—differed sharply over the propriety of the Democratic conference. Harriman stayed for it and Lausche didn't.

All of the nation's 27 Democratic governors were invited by Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler to today's and tomorrow's sessions. Fourteen said they would stay, with three more possible. Others said they had state business to return to or didn't reply to the invitation.

GOP National Chairman Leon Hall issued a statement last night accusing Butler of trying to make "a political sounding board" out of the conference called by President Eisenhower.

"This is another inept blunder by Mr. Butler," Hall said. "He puts every Democrat governor on the spot."

The Democratic committee replied that it had planned the meeting of Democratic governors for several months, and decided to hold it following the White House conference to "take the governors the time and expense of making a special trip."

Hall cited a statement by Ohio Gov. Lausche saying he did not intend to help figure out "ways and means of defeating the man (Eisenhower) who has just been my host."

Asked about Lausche's stand at a news conference last night, Gov. Harriman said: "I totally and utterly disagree with Lausche. We are here as governors, not as guests of the President of the United States. I am grateful for his (Eisenhower) calling the meeting as it gave me an opportunity to meet with my Democratic associates."

Wildcat Bus Strike Ties Up London

LONDON (AP)—A wildcat bus strike fomented by Communists threw London's transport system into confusion today. Subways were heavily taxed.

Another unofficial work stoppage in coal mines around Doncaster, halted the flow of coal from that Yorkshire region—Britain's largest coal-producing area. More than 44,000 miners were off their jobs in a piecework pay dispute.

The London strike involved nearly half the city's 30,000 bus drivers and conductors. Almost 3,000 of the 5,744 red doubledecks were crewless. The stoppage was called to protest new summer working schedules which will cut down overtime earnings.

Texan Unstuffs Traditional Old Mansion House

LONDON (AP)—Staid Mansion House, locale of countless stately dinners and official residence of the Lord Mayor of London, may never be the same again—now that C. J. McCormick of Texas has come to dinner.

The Beaumont buyer appeared last night in a white tuxedo, a black-and-blue striped bow tie and a cummerbund.

Eyebrows rose through crinkled brows among guests and dignitaries at the British Board of Trade's dinner, marking the opening of the British Industries Fair.

Everyone else was in the customary black. McCormick sat down unabashed.

"This must be the first time that they have been worn for a dinner here," said the lord mayor, Sir Seymour Howard, of McCormick's dinner attire.

"Rather fun," observed City Sheriff Leslie Prince.

One diplomat at the function envied the Texan.

"When I put on my dinner jacket to come out tonight," said Dominican Ambassador Luis F. Thomen, "I told my secretary 'Now I'm going into deep mourning.'"

McCormick couldn't see why one would be surprised, he said.

"In my country, white tuxedos are worn nearly all the year round. I did not realize that it would be looked upon as odd here. Still, it does make a change—men sitting down to dinner normally tend to look like a row of stuffed penguins. I can hardly be described as that."

GOP Leader Joins Salk Control Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts said today he favors "some federal supervision" over distribution of the Salk polio vaccine.

Martin thus joined a growing number of House members and senators in both political parties advocating temporary controls. Their goal to assure that while supplies are still scarce, the vaccine goes first to children in the 5 to 9 age group, which is most susceptible to polio.

Most of the plans call for younger children to get the next priority. Several bills also would control prices of the vaccine.

The Eisenhower administration has favored trying voluntary methods first.

Martin said he had no recommendations but thought a House committee "should look into" the matter of controls.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House Banking Committee, which handles controls legislation, said he hopes to be able to start hearings by Friday.

Chairman Priest (D-Tenn) of the House Commerce Committee, which handles general health matters, cautioned against too hasty action. He said his committee is "watching the situation very closely but we haven't yet reached the point where we think legislative action is required or desirable at the present time."

Governors agreed at an administration-sponsored meeting yesterday to name a committee to work with the government on distribution problems. Some of them said they got no clear picture from Secretary of Welfare Hobby as to what is planned.

"It's a little bit disturbing," said Republican Gov. Milward L. Simpson of Wyoming, "that they haven't come up with some program after having nearly a month to work one out. They seem to be just going around in circles."

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a Democrat, said he does not support a system of controls because "it would take two months to establish any rationing system."

Rep. Muller (D-NY) introduced a bill to give the President power to proclaim temporary controls over the distribution, use and price of the vaccine.

Beauty And Beast

Rhonda Kee and her trained bear may qualify as beauty and the beast. This pretty young lady puts 14 bears, with 12 of them of different species and natural enemies of each other, through a series of tricks. One of them is the giant Kodiak which grows to twice the height of man and sometimes weighs nine times as much. This and a score of other acts will be on the Jaycee-sponsored Christiana Bailey Circus coming here for two shows Saturday at the Rodeo Bowl.

Jaycee-Sponsored Circus Due Here

Under Jaycee auspices, the who does fancy aerial acrobatics; Christiana Bailey Brown Circus comes to town Saturday for two performances.

One show is billed for 2:30 p.m. at the rodeo bowl, and the other for 8 p.m. in the bowl.

This is the circus which holds the distinction of being the only one to tour the land of the Midnight Sun.

Among some of the top flight acts and artists are the Christiana Bailey Brown Circus, famous bareback riding marvels; Lucio, a feature with Ringling Bros. for 10 seasons; Ganesfrelli Duo, exponents of ticklish balance; Manuel Baragan, aerialist from Argentina; Rhonda Kee, who puts 14 bears (of 12 different species) through their paces; Frank Cook, who does a breath-taking comedy act from a high seat; Jeanine Pivotos of France

Good Year For Foreign Trade Is Forecast

WASHINGTON (U.S.A.)—A gathering of American businessmen today received an optimistic forecast of "buoyant" growing foreign trade in the next year for the United States and most of its free world partners.

This forecast was given by E. E. Schnellbacher in remarks prepared for a breakfast arranged by the American Chambers of Commerce Abroad, a division of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which ends its 43rd annual meeting here today. Schnellbacher is intelligence director for the Commerce Department's Bureau of Foreign Commerce.

Schnellbacher said he foresaw increased export and import volumes as well as lowering of foreign trade barriers.

If the present "upsurge of industrial activity" in this country continues, Schnellbacher said, the United States may very well enlarge its raw material purchases from Latin America, Canada and other areas.

The outlook is further improved, he said, by the fact that most nations bolstered their dollar reserves in 1954 and now may be ready to stop building those reserves.

"If dollar earnings (of foreign countries) continue to increase in the year ahead," Schnellbacher said, "foreign nations may well open up their markets further to U.S. products, rather than increase the rate of accumulation of their dollar assets."

But he emphasized that competition is becoming keener and that U.S. sales probably will require "large doses of good old-fashioned trade promotion efforts."

No More First Class
TOKYO (U.S.A.)—Japan's National Railway Corp. today explained why it plans abolishing first-class coach service in June. First-class coaches, little better but twice as costly, operate at only 30 per cent capacity "and most of those are corporation and government officials riding on free passes."

Good Defense
PROVIDENCE, R.I. (U.S.A.)—Motorist John Ruth pleaded innocent to a speeding charge, yesterday, and offered what turned out to be a perfect defense in District Court. He proved the speedometer on the arresting officer's car was inaccurate.

Grandmother Considers Offer For Uranium Claims

FARMINGTON, N.M. (U.S.A.)—A grandmother who started two years ago with a Geiger counter and a notion to give her ill husband some air is contemplating an offer of more than one million dollars for one block of uranium claims.

Mrs. Jeanette V. Martin, said her claim is in the Sabino area in northeast New Mexico, about 40 miles west of Las Vegas.

"Yes, we've had several offers for our claim and we've really only dug into one-third of them," she said.

Mrs. Martin and an Army colonel who is a "weekend prospector" are partners in the venture. The colonel, Benjamin E. Thurston, a career soldier, is at Camp Chaffee, Ark., as a training inspector. He has been in the Army 25 years.

Mrs. Martin said she and Thurston had 500 claims of 20 acres each on federal land.

Mrs. Martin and her husband, who was "a roughneck on an oil rig," came to this booming oil and uranium center from Los Angeles seven years ago.

"At first I started going out with a 300 Geiger counter to give people some outings," she said. "Then one thing led to another and here we are. Now we've got a major project."

Mrs. Martin's husband suffered from a head, back and neck injury. Thurston is a native of Minneapolis.

AEC Blamed For Woman's Cancer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U.S.A.)—A $75,000 suit on file today charges that the Atomic Energy Commission's 1953 atomic tests subjected Mrs. Martha Sheehan to radioactivity which caused a cancer to grow on her face.

Mrs. Sheehan and her husband Daniel previously filed a suit seeking $450,000 from the government and charging that their home at the Groom mine, 25 miles from Yucca Flat, had been made uninhabitable by radiation and Air Force bombs.

The Groom mine is located at the borders of the Nevada Air Force gunnery range. Since the 1953 AEC tests the Sheehans have moved to Las Vegas.

Editorial

Law Changes, But Not In Physics

The House has approved a bill raising the speed limit for automobiles in Texas to 70 m.p.h., and if it finally becomes law several hundred thousand Texas motorists will be removed from the ranks of malefactors. The 70-mile limit, however, will apply only to divided highways; on other types the 55-mile limit will prevail.

Supporters of the measure argued that the old limit was a law of nature, and anyone with a car capable of doing better, so why not be realistic about it and recognize the situation? If that was a valid argument, of course, somebody will be back at the next session arguing for 80 m.p.h., using the same logic. For in very truth there isn't a great deal of difference between 60 and 80 in the consequences when anything goes wrong. Two cars meeting head-on at 60 m.p.h. each can kill just as many people and build up just as high a pile of junk as two cars going 80 each. The only difference is in the reaction time of the drivers; one poking along at 60 might have time to avert an accident that would find the 80-mile completely helpless to do so.

We doubt if selective speed limits will work out in practice; that is, making 70 legal on divided highways will so accustom people to that speed that they will unconsciously practice it on all types of roads.

Excessive speed, drinking and general carelessness figure high in the mortality statistics of our highways. While it is true that a great many people habitually drive faster than 80, the knowledge that it is illegal has served as a deterrent to excessive speed to many.

So under the proposed new limit we will have more cars doing in excess of 80, and therefore an increase in the danger that is inherent in higher speeds thanks to the driver-reaction factor.

Wedge Driven For Reforms

Whatever chance the Anderson bill (for a system of compulsory redistricting of county commissioners' precincts) had of legislative approval probably went glimmering when the House decided to quit work early Wednesday. The bill had been in second place on the calendar for that day, might at least have got House consideration had that body stayed in session.

Rep. Louis Anderson of Midland, the bill's author, concedes it now has little chance for action at this session. His home county suffers from the same complaint about half the 254 counties in Texas are afflicted with — maldistribution of population with respect to commissioners' precincts.

Even if it falls at this session, the Anderson bill will have a good chance to succeed at the next. Agitation of the issue has served to acquaint the people with a situation that finds a minuscule minority of population (and taxable wealth) in many counties completely dominating the overwhelming majority.

This situation need not exist under the present Constitution, for commissioners' courts have had since 1876 authority to redistrict at will. We may indulge the hope that many of them will now proceed to do so, thanks to the wholesome effect of the Anderson bill. But in some counties nothing short of a constitutional amendment with mandatory provisions will ever produce equal representation on commissioners' courts and while commissioners may get real smart and proceed to redistrict as a means of taking off the heat for a season, sooner or later something like the Anderson amendment will be necessary.

This and other measures including some introduced by Rep. J. O. Gilliam of Brownfield, have served good purpose, even though they did not get near passage. They have focused attention upon the need for drastic revision of country governmental machinery to bring it abreast of the times. The ground has been broken and something may come of it in the next session of the Legislature.

Moscow Works For Neutrality In Germany

WASHINGTON — The vista just ahead is one of almost unparalleled diplomatic activity that could lead to settlement of the major issues behind the cold war. But since so often the hope on the horizon has proved to be merely a mirage, the American who must now participate in the diplomatic free-for-all are still extremely cautious.

Moreover some last-minute roadblocks could bring the parade to an abrupt halt. And certainly no one concerned with the negotiations presently going on and just ahead has any illusions as to the immediate motive of Moscow. The objective is to frustrate the Western allies by preventing West Germany from participating with a national army in the coalition formed under the Western European agreements.

The grand strategy of the Communists as it is analyzed here, is to play for the neutralization of West Germany and subsequently a unified Germany. The ultimate hope is for a belt of neutral states extending from the North Cape on the extreme north to the Adriatic and the Baltic border on the south. In other words, the goal is to break up the alliance by which it has long been hoped the defense of Europe can be insured.

Phase No. 1 of the creation of Austria as another Switzerland — a prosperous, contented state without the burden of heavy armaments and with no entangling alliances or foreign bases. That example will have a glittering attraction for West Germany where the remarkable economic recovery owes something to the fact that the manufacture of arms and the post of armed services were not an impediment.

In the coming six months, therefore, Moscow will work intensively to enlarge the fairly wide neutralist sentiment that already exists in Germany. The prospect of reunification will be held out with the possibility that the Russians may even agree at a big-power conference to hold free elections in East Germany after Soviet troops have been withdrawn.

It would be a tremendous coup if the strategy of neutralization should work in Germany. Without a German military force as part of the NATO line, Denmark, one of the NATO partners, cannot be defended.

Simultaneous pressure will be exerted to detach not only Denmark but Norway, the other NATO partner in Scandinavia, from the Western alliance. The attraction of a Scandinavian bloc, armed but in effect neutral, will be held out. Sweden and Finland, both officially neutral in the power struggle, would be the nucleus of that bloc.

In the southeast of Europe, Italy has a border with the traditional neutral, Switzerland, and the new neutral, Austria. Neutrality, however, is a slippery word, with its long coastline on the Adriatic. The Soviets have gone to extraordinary lengths to win back their former allies, the Yugoslavs, or at least to keep them out of the Western camp.

One reason for keeping Yugoslavia in the neutral camp is to be sure of a not unfriendly border for Albania which is like an alien thumb print on the Yugoslav coastline. The Russians are said to have built up a large submarine base in Albania which is an obvious threat to Italy across the Adriatic.

In the effort to build a belt of neutral countries and thereby disrupt the Western alliance the Soviet Union will have to overcome some powerful resistance. So long as Chancellor Konrad Adenauer lives, he can be expected to hold the line in Germany for partnership with the West in a common defense.

If the Russians were to pull out of East Germany and the two halves of that divided country were to be reunited in free elections, new demands would be certain to arise. There would be a clamor for the return of the eastern provinces detached from Germany by the Russians at the end of World War II. But the interests of two Soviet satellites, Poland and Czechoslovakia, would thereby be directly affected and a crack in the Communist empire opened up.

One important element should not be ignored. Those who ought to know say that the fear of German rearmament is real and deep in Russia and the satellites. This means an almost-desperate determination on the part of Moscow to prevent the German legions from coming into being. It could mean in the end a willingness to accept a meaningful peace with guarantees acceptable to the West. That sounds impossibly utopian. But if anyone had predicted two months ago the conclusion of an Austrian treaty this spring, he would have been considered a hopeless dreamer.

So the world does change. And those who, like Secretary Dulles, have contended that only through strength in alliance would it be possible to negotiate for peace may be proved more right than they are dared to believe.

China Reds Learned Lesson In Korea

WASHINGTON — The Red Chinese, by design or necessity, have played it pretty cute since the Korean War. Its almost as if a public relations man had told them: "Don't push your luck. Next time don't just jump into war. That's the hard way. Next time give yourself time to see what American public opinion is. That may let you know how far you can get and what you can get without war."

The Communists, by stopping United Nations forces in Korea, built up their prestige and self-confidence. But they lost heavily in men and supplies.

Their lack of readiness may be the real reason they haven't started shooting again. But, at the same time, Korea gave them a sharp insight into American thinking.

The Americans not only wanted to get out of the Korean War but were then and thereafter reluctant to get into Asia, where they could strip themselves bare in men and resources.

The Chinese Communists' first move after Korea was to help Ho Chi Minh and his Communist-led Vietnamese whip the French in Indochina. They could have sent armies in to help him.

But Secretary of State Dulles warned — or maybe it wasn't a warning because his language was so strong that the United States would get into the Indochina fighting if the Red Chinese marched in.

Instead of sending troops, the Reds pumped supplies and expert advisers into Indochina. Ho Chi Minh attacked the French. The United States did not go in. American allies wouldn't go in and the United States would not go in alone.

This was more evidence for the Reds of American reluctance to get into a fight in Asia. It must have been encouragement for them to make a push again—which they did without starting a fight right away.

Their next move: parents to capture Formosa and the Matsu and Quemoy islands. They made no attempt to do so. By waiting they were able to learn what Americans thought of getting into war over the islands.

American opinion stiffened on defending Formosa. A Chinese attack on that island certainly at least right now, would mean war with the United States. But American opinion was divided on defending Quemoy and Matsu.

In the end, if the Reds are patient, this country may let them have Matsu and Quemoy. Meanwhile, they build up their air power as a threat to Quemoy and Matsu. Maybe when they feel strong enough they'll start a war by attacking the islands.

But why should they, if by waiting a little longer they may get them, free, as they may? Their air power buildup may be a psychological ploy to pressure the administration into giving up Matsu and Quemoy since otherwise there is a chance of war.

You Won't Die Laughing

NEW YORK — If you are worried about your health, here is a consoling thought—you probably won't die laughing.

Laughter never has been a leading cause of death in any civilized country, and the danger of it knocking you off in this country is diminishing every year.

"We're a sober lot—and getting soberer," said Charles Morton, a thoughtful humorist who never lets the foibles of a confused world disturb his own very good cheer.

"It is becoming more difficult for us to laugh at ourselves. Everybody's terribly cautious. They're afraid of offending someone. As the money stakes get higher and our enterprises bigger, serious seems to become desperately serious."

"This is too bad. There is enough that is upside down in this world to warrant anybody having a good big belly laugh."

Morton, associate editor of the Atlantic Monthly, is one of the few remaining masters of the light article, a deft humor form brightened by such predecessors as Stephen Leacock and Robert Benchley. After surviving the feminine indignation aroused by his book on "How to Protect Yourself Against Women and Other Vicissitudes," Morton has come out with a new and equally funny guidebook to current "stuffed shirts," titled, "A Silly Separation of Outrage."

Among other things Morton is outraged by are V-necked men's pajamas ("men with their collars off look like picked chickens") and writers who describe bananas as "the elongated yellow fruit" and "billiard balls as 'the numbered spheres.'"

He has a theory on how a sense of humor develops, and how a humorist differs from normal people.

"Assuming a child is ordinarily intelligent and has a sense of proportion," he said, "he tends to believe what grownups tell him. He realizes they are older and have lived longer."

"But at some point he discovers that an enormous amount of what they have told him is nonsense—pure moonshine—and that they don't know what they are talking about."

"This seems amusing to him and excites his sense of comedy because it is funny to see people actually believing the ridiculous things they say. It also seems funny for him to reflect they had him fooled."

"Thus humor is an awakening, a discovery. But unfortunately it is not normal in time this sense of humor evaporates. He no longer is excited or amused by the crazy things people do or say. He himself becomes one of the older people who say and do things that are manifestly absurd."

"The wheel has turned full circle."

"But there are a few people who never get over it, who never grow up. Thus it could be interpreted that a light writer is a case of arrested development."

Mr. Puff Observes Family Week

Mr. Puff chewed on his cigar and contemplated his situation. On his desk lay his calendar, and on it were no less than four meetings—important meetings—for that evening. There was the church board at 6, a banquet affair at 7, the lodge at 7:30 and finally the committee on preservation of the wild duck sanctuary at 8. Nimbly, and yet with a touch of weariness, Mr. Puff's mind contrived how he could make part or all these sessions without missing too much of any.

As his emotions gradually were geared to the proper pitch for accepting the rigid tempo necessary for this marathon, his eyes fell on a little pamphlet, National Home Week, it said.

Mr. Puff began to read, abstractly at first, then with consuming interest. In a flash he was seized with the conviction that nothing was so important as the family and no meeting could outweigh the virtue of being at one's hearthstone with the family circle drawn around.

He reached for the phone. In a flash, he had cancelled his banquet reservation. He determined that he wouldn't show up at the board meeting because, well, they wouldn't miss him anyhow. Efforts to sneak out on lodge attendance met with stiff resistance, and when it came to pulling out on the wild duck meeting, Mr. Puff almost capitulated.

"Now which is more important to our way of life, preserving our wild duck population for future generations or just spending an evening home listening to the wife nag and the kids raise old bills? My friend George demanded. Before Mr. Puff could answer, George cut him off: "Wild ducks, of course."

Mr. Puff demurred and spared for time. In the end, he marshaled his reason and courage and informed George that he loved his family and that he was going to demonstrate it by giving up everything for the evening—maybe even the week—and spending it in the bosom of his clan.

So it was that Mr. Puff, with peace in his heart and a song on his lips, stepped jauntily across his threshold, determined not to leave his castle that evening.

"My Good Woman," he addressed his wife with dignity and meaning. "I have—"

"Never mind what you have," broke in Mrs. Puff. "I have to get to the club meeting in 20 minutes. Get the plates on the table and the ice tea fixed."

He was stunned to silence. At first he wanted to roar out in protest, but upon reflection he resorted to the philosophical outlook. He would spend the evening with the children—the hope of tomorrow.

"Sister punctured this dream with the announcement that she was to be installed that very evening into Order of the Tullips, an honor society for those who had done well in spelling. Mr. Puff opened his mouth to suggest that maybe—and he hoped he wasn't being unreasonable—an evening home with old Dad was more important. Before sound issued, however, Junior broke in with an announcement that he was due, within the hour, to lead his Scout troop to victory in the first aid meet.

Now get hold of yourself, something told Mr. Puff, and although his pulse beat fast and his chest threatened to heave, he confronted himself with the logic of sheer happiness of spending the evening with the baby. After all, nothing could brighten a day like the prattle and coddles of a little angel.

Alas, even while he pondered, the neighbor lady, smiling and chattering with machine gun rapidity how much she would enjoy the baby that evening, lifted him up and swooped him out the door.

Mr. Puff sat staring. Deep inside him his ulcers glared at each other.

Women's Holdings Scaring The Men To Death

Dear me, I wish statisticians would mind their own business!

Another one of their long reports, calculated to scare the socks off men, is ready to reaffirm the rumor that American women live longer than men and own everything in the nation that isn't nailed down with spikes.

The timing of the release of these facts and figures by the marketing and research division of the Macfadden Publications constitutes a fell blow to romance, one of the strong stocks in their trade. The fact that women live longer and own all the marbles in sight is the kind of news that makes men shy as deer, and can play hob with the plans of many a May maiden who hopes to be a June bride.

It is hard enough in this day, when women so greatly outnumber men, to run one of 'em—a man, that is—to earth and get him to the altar. But a hideous-groom-to-be who reads in these Macfadden statistics that women pay 80 per cent of all inheritance taxes is going to be twice shy of both altar and halter.

According to their statistics, for every man who pays an inheritance tax, four women are standing in line to do likewise. We ladies also form 80 per cent of all life insurance beneficiaries. And, let me tell you, chivalry is not yet dead; although the boys may be getting scarce, per cent of all legacies left by men—such darlings!—are left to women.

And are we girls as big-hearted about the boys, when we get around to making those last wills and testaments? Hah!

"Let 'em eat cake" apparently is our motto toward the lads. We leave 64 per cent of all our worldly goods to other women and job off the boys with what's left, or only 36 per cent.

I can hardly wait for the next issue of Macfadden's "True Romance," featuring the real-life story of a young girl who was a happy bride-to-be until her betrothed read the Macfadden statistics and made a fast getaway.

But to continue the grim statistical story, Macfadden reports that women own 53 per cent of all stocks (probably including the one-cent uranium), 66 per cent of all defense bonds, and influence 85 per cent of all consumer-goods purchases.

We own only 40 per cent of all homes, however. Why we have slipped up in this division and let men get away with the lion's share puzzles me. Girls, on guard! This could be the opening wedge to men's repudiation of the swag.

Two-thirds of all adult women are married, the survey shows. And I can add a statistic the survey overlooked. The other third are trying to be.

However, if we women latch onto anything and everything lying around loose, there is this much to be said for us: a lot of us earn our own way. There are approximately 19 million women in the labor force, says this survey, of whom well over half are working wives.

Still, at all times, the boys are going to find it hard to forgive us that we outlive 'em by 5.8 years, and outpace 'em by the billions. It is grossly unladylike and we ought to be ashamed.

Wall Street Has Case Of Nerves

NEW YORK — Stock speculation that might get out of hand and undermine our good times worries the staff of the Fulbright stock market study committee.

But traders in Wall Street seem to fret more about the daily quota to cheer and bloom in the corporate news.

Both of these point to nervousness. In Washington, it's fear that the better-than-expected good times may go to the nation's head and foster gambling in Wall Street. It's nervousness lest the surprising bull market may have carried stock prices near their peak.

This nervousness shows up every time an occasional southerner report wedges into the parade of glowing profit statements from most companies. Price of the stock of the less fortunate company swings wildly, and this often spreads to the market as a whole.

Or a corporation doesn't come through with the stock split, raised dividend or merger which rumor had predicted. A sharp break in the market follows.

These sudden and severe swings, either up or down, in stock prices worry many in Washington. These observers interpret the market's nervousness and fluctuations in recent weeks as evidence that speculators may be taking over from investors.

The report by the staff of the Senate Banking Committee, which Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) heads, puts the cause for worry this way:

"When more and more people turn to the stock market for a quick profit rather than investment income, with an increasing reliance on credit, speculative excesses are likely to develop."

Should these excesses "push prices up to unsustainable levels," the report stresses, there could be "sharp reversals which can shake business confidence."

Beyond this worry over possible excesses to come, and to great use of credit in playing the market, the Fulbright staff finds little in the present situation that can be compared with the 1929 market that preceded the big crash.

A Book About A Play From A Book?

HOLLYWOOD — Wendell Corey could write a book about his tour with "Caine Mutiny Court Martial." Suggested title: "With Douglas in the Deep South."

You'll recall that Paul Douglas, who played Captain Queeg in the troupe, was reported to have popped off in Greensboro, N. C., that "The South stinks. It's a land of poverty and segregation."

The casual remark to a Greensboro Daily News reporter started a chain reaction. Producer Paul Gregory canceled the play's tour, declaring that Douglas' remark had so infuriated the South that business would be poor. Douglas denied he issued the quote and sued Gregory for a million dollars. Actors Equity placed the actor on probation for a year because of his conduct on the tour.

How did the hassle look to an innocent bystander?

"Naturally, the rest of the company wasn't happy about his remarks," said Corey. "But I'm not, sure, what effect they had on business. There was a little resentment in Greensboro before we left."

But we went on to good business in places like Atlanta, Jackson and Birmingham—and you can't get much deeper South than that.

Actually, the people in the South have a lot more sense than we give them credit for. A lot of the folks down there took the incident in good humor."

Corey explained that the company had swung up to Pittsburgh when the cancellation came from Gregory. Other Southern dates remained to be played. Then the producer was threatened with law suits by civic groups and others who were sponsoring the canceled dates. He whipped up a company headed by William Bendix to fulfill the obligations.

"He was a very effective performer on the stage, everything was professional. We weren't exactly friendly, but we weren't unfriendly either. In San Francisco, Steve Brodie and I would ask him to have a drink with us. He said no, he'd rather be alone. So we never bothered him after that."

Limited Monarchy Urged For Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (U)—The United States today was reported recommending that a constitutional monarchy be established for strife-torn South Viet Nam.

As authoritative sources revealed this current American position, local and provincial Vietnamese leaders flocked to Saigon for a special congress called by Premier Ngo Dinh Diem to act on the National Revolutionary Committee's demand for the ouster of chief of state Bao Dai, the ex-emperor of Annam.

From his luxurious villa on the French Riviera, Bao Dai denounced the congress or "states general" as illegal.

The American position was said to be that because of South Viet Nam's political immaturity, the stabilizing influence of a monarchy with only limited powers is needed to give continuity and avoid chaos.

The sources said that should local sentiment prove so great against Bao Dai, his son Bao Long or some other member of the former royal house could be designated ruler with tightly circumscribed powers.

Bao Dai, now 42, succeeded to the throne of the central Viet Nam kingdom of Annam in 1926. A puppet first of the French and then of the Japanese during the occupation, he abdicated at the end of the war and became a "supreme counselor" in the postwar revolutionary government of Communist Ho Chi Minh.

Early in 1946 he fled to Hong Kong and lived in exile there or on the French Riviera. The French brought him back in 1949 to be chief of state for Viet Nam. He went to France in April 1954 and hasn't been back to Saigon since.

Sentiment against the playboy ex-emperor increased at Saigon today. Newspapers appearing a few hours before the states general assembly gathered carried violent attacks against him.

Some published photographs of him crossed by large black marks. One displayed a picture of Bao Dai with his bulldog and asked, "Which is the more interesting?"

The Vietnamese move to oust Bao Dai followed his attempt last week to supplant Premier Diem with Gen. Nguyen Van Vy, a supporter of the chief of state. The army refused to follow Vy, who fled to the hill resort of Dalet.

In a cable to Diem, Bao Dai last night challenged the authority

Bao Supporter

This is Vietnamese General Nguyen Van Vy who is supported in the current South Viet Nam army - political crisis by Chief of State Bao Dai. Gen. Vy was Bao's choice to supplant Premier Ngo Dinh Diem. When the army refused to follow Vy, he scurried back to the hill resort of Dalet.

of the special congress and said its "illegality does not even need to be proved."

"In the present situation, in the midst of civil war, a congress meeting in Saigon and dominated by a revolutionary faction could not express the will of the people," the chief of state declared.

Diem's success in routing the rebel Binh Xuyen society, which attempted to overthrow his government by armed force last week, apparently has brought him at least tacit support from the French.

Actress Gets Divorce From Tyrone Power

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (U)—As a prelude to her departure for Spain for a movie, actress Linda Christian divorced Tyrone Power yesterday and obtained a million-dollar property settlement from him, then best efforts of a New York jewelry firm to cause her arrest.

Van Cleef and Arpels, the jewelers, asked for Miss Christian's detention on the representation that she has steadily refused to disclose the whereabouts of $132,500 worth of jewels the firm sold to Robert H. Schlesinger, of Milwaukee.

The concern says "Schlesinger has refused to pay for the gems and Miss Christian says Schlesinger gave them to her, that they are hers, unequivocally, and that she gave no consideration to Schlesinger and did not promise to marry him."

The actress stated that the jewelry is in a safe place with "full precautions against loss or theft." In answer to the jewelers' indication through its lawyers that it fears Miss Christian might dispose of the gems abroad.

Presiding Superior Court Judge Clarence L. Kincaid, after hearing arguments for an hour, decided there had not been sufficient showing "for such a drastic remedy as civil arrest."

Power was in Boston with a stage play yesterday when his wife obtained the divorce decree and custody of their two minor children. They were married in Rome in 1949.

C-C PRESIDENT SAYS

CAA Approves Site For Airport

Marvin M. Miller, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, said Tuesday that the Civil Aeronautics Administration has approved one of three possible sites for a civil airport near Big Spring.

In a Chamber of Commerce Week talk at the Rotary Club meeting, Miller said estimates are now being worked up on the cost of constructing a suitable airport for private aviation, a project which probably is No. 1 on the CAA's program for this year.

"A new airport is a must," the Chamber president said. He pointed out that many concerns which landed planes here on area business trips when the city had a first class airport now must go elsewhere to find a suitable airport. "Too," he said, the city must provide a "port acceptable to the CAA before that agency will give us its interest in Webb Air Force Base which the city has offered to the government as site for a permanent military field."

Miller listed acquisition "of a youth center, paving of short segments of various streets, the provision of additional industrial sites as other important planks in the CAA's platform for this year."

He described the organization as a group of men and women with vision, conducting a continuous program of research and working ceaselessly for the betterment of the community. The 650-member group assists other agencies and attempts to coordinate all worthwhile endeavors, he said.

Listing past projects which the Chamber either accomplished or assisted others in accomplishing for the city, Miller mentioned the city's first airport (the first in West Texas), the State Hospital, Veterans Hospital, U. S. Experiment farm, the World War II bombardier school, Webb AFB.

housing, park, school improvements, establishment of Howard County Junior College, highway construction and the new office building.

Also speaking briefly was J. H. Greene, who this week is starting his 19th year as manager of the Big Spring C.C. He urged support of the organization and told Rotarians it is "standing by all the time" to take up any program for community development.

The two speakers were introduced by Lewis Price, Chamber vice president and Rotary Club program chairman. Other guests were Joe Nedemeyer and P. V. Thorsen of Midland, Al Sawyer of Chicago, Max Patton and O. D. Billingham of Abilene.

No One Injured In Two Traffic Mishaps

Two traffic accidents were reported to police here Tuesday. None of the participants were injured, officers said, and damage was minor.

Gayle Wayne Vantrell, Webb AFB, and Modesta Good Simpson, 519 Hillside Drive, were drivers involved in a 4 p.m. collision in the 900 block of Gregg.

An American bus collided with a parked car owned by Elmer Simpson, 610 NE 10th, about 10:10 a.m. Monday. The mishap occurred in the 200 block of Scurry Street.

Truant Kills Dallas Child

DALLAS (U)—Tommy Bendon Jr., 9, was walking home from school in an area of west Dallas where outlaws Sam Bass and Clyde Barrow roamed in other generations.

A rifle bullet kicked up dust in front of little Tommy. A second shot sent him pitching backward. Doctors said he died instantly, a .22 slug through his heart.

Officers who investigated yesterday said a second-story window screen (part) about two inches. In the apartment they found a 15-year-old truant with a rifle. At the police station he said he played hooky from school and watched a television show. Firing of the TV, he searched out a rifle he had been forbidden to touch and loaded it.

He fired out the window at a utility pole, he told police, and later saw Tommy, whom he didn't know, walking across a nearby field. He said he decided to frighten the younger boy by firing as close to him as possible. He said he didn't intend to hit him.

Police turned him over to juvenile authorities. Tommy's funeral was to be planned today.

New Dodge Custom Royal Lancer... glamorous "hardtop"

What's all this talk about "Price Class!"

It gets to be a little confusing—this talk about what "price class" a car is in. This new Dodge is making a clean sweep in every price field!

Owners who are used to paying a thousand dollars more for a car find that money can't buy more luxury, more exciting features and beauty than in the dashing Custom Royal Lancer shown above. It's up to 9 inches longer than competitive models costing more!

And owners of so-called "low-priced cars" are finding that a new Dodge, with all its dashing length and flashing style, can be theirs for only a few dollars a month more than any of the small cars—up to 19 inches shorter and far less exciting!

Check Your Car—Check Accidents!

In fact, the Dodge Coronet 4-door shown below actually costs less than some models in the lowest price class. So let yourself go. Travel first class in the car that's knocking "price class" into a cocked hat.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Now that the HCJC bond issue has been given its blessing by the people, enlargement of the Jayhawk gym becomes assured.

One party who should know says the additional seats can be provided without pillars. Another who should know says it can't, that the structure wouldn't be strong enough without them.

Board members should explore the problem thoroughly. If the new seats can be provided without posts to mar the view of the spectators, it should be constructed that way.

Once the additions are made, with or without posts, there will be no changing them.

There's a job here for anyone who wants it but the qualifications are rather exacting. Not just anyone can qualify.

If you're rather good at taping up a football and kicking it between two uprights, you have a chance. But you also have to be somewhere between the ages of ten and 18. You must be in high school. The rules don't state that you have to be a boy, but it helps. You must pass your work and you must devote several hours a day out of your life, for several months during the year in practice.

In short, the Big Spring High School football of 1955, now in spring training, is seeking a point-after-touchdown specialist and a kicker-offer.

The job is wide open, though there are several candidates for it. It is one of the most important on the team, so the coaches will move carefully before making a selection.

A bit of color will be added to the Big Spring Girls' Volley Ball Tournament next year.

Tournament Director Arsh Phillips has invited a team from Nazareth, Texas, to attend and the offer has been accepted. Never heard of Nazareth, eh?

Well, it's a small Catholic community north of here. Coach of the team is a nun and she will wear her trappings to the tournament in all probability.

All the players are Catholic and the esprit d'corps of the team is said to be something.

Joe Engel, the general manager of the Chattanooga Lookout team of the Southern Association, insists this happened to him.

He says he went out to Federal Road to call on a friend while with his team in Atlanta and overheard this whispered conversation between two of the boys.

"How long you in for?"

"Twenty years."

"Mail this for me when you get out," replied the first, slipping him a letter.

Don't be surprised if Teddy Williams is in uniform and play with the Boston Red Sox by this time next month.

Billy Welder, the wrestling official, has had his claims challenged here that he can do 1,000 pushups in an hour. He's willing to show the Doubting Thomases.

A friend of Billy's says he'll do about 20 in 20 seconds and rest the remaining 40 in each minute. That would amount to about 1,200 an hour, if he were to continue at a steady pace. Sounds easier that way, doesn't it?

Billy further reveals he used to do 12 to 15 miles of road work on the days he was matched to wrestle, at the time he ruled as Junior Heavyweight grapple champion of the World.

Rockets Slam Out Six Home Runs

By The Associated Press

The Roswell Rockets pounded out six home runs and 11 other hits Tuesday night to bounce out to undisputed possession of first place in the tight Longhorn League race.

Roswell bashed Bobby 1-0, with four of the runs driven in by one pair of homers by J. Bauman. San Angelo and Midland both had entered the night's play in a tie with Roswell for first place, but they dropped to second with losses.

Big Spring beat San Angelo 12-9 and Odessa nipped Midland 7-4. In the other game, Artesia rallied in the last two innings to beat Carlsbad 11-5.

The clubs all stay in the same locations Wednesday night to wind up three-game series.

Sprinters To Get Plenty Of Ballast

DENTON (AP)—The field events men of North Texas State, Abilene Christian and Texas A&M get a chance to show how fast they are in a special relay here Thursday night as a feature of a triangular track and field meet.

Each school will have four men running 110 yards each, but instead of batons they'll be carrying 15-pound shot.

Makes Pro Debut

El Paso's Tacho Mendoza, 1955 Texas Golden Gloves' five-weight champion, will make his professional boxing debut here May 9 when he fights Ray Sosa in a four-rounder.

Barr Gets First Win As Cops Rip Angelo

The Big Spring Copsen Cops fought from behind three times to topple the San Angelo Colts, 12-9, for the second straight night here Tuesday.

A four-run seventh inning turned the trick for the Bobbies. Two errors on one play, committed by Shortstop Jeff Williams, opened the door for the locals.

Williams failed to pick up Luis Caballero's ground ball with the bases loaded, at a time the Colts were leading, 9-8. Once he did find it, he aimed his throw at third in an attempt to arrest Jim Barr, only to throw the ball into his own dug-out.

Big Spring then added its lead when Frank Billings and Jim Zapp hit sacrifice flies to plate Jack Poppell and Caballero.

Gil Guerra started on the mound for San Angelo, seeking his fourth win. He was lucky to get out with his scalp. Trueman Jones succeeded him in the ninth inning, fanning him in time to get saddled with the loss.

Jones faced but two batters but walked one and Barr found him for a hit. Audie Malone was then rushed into action but, by that time, it was too late.

Barr, the second of two Cop hurriers to see action, received credit for his first win of the season. He arrived on the scene in the seventh.

The veteran Ray Sims started the Spring game and reasonably well with his flutter ball until he tired in the late innings. Outside of a home run ball he dished up to Ronald Dacko in the second, he kept the Colts guessing.

Jim Zapp bashed his fourth home run of the season for Big Spring in the sixth. The blow came with Billings up front.

Local fans groaned when the Colts unloaded for four runs in the top half of the seventh, an outburst which shot them back into the lead temporarily.

With the sacks jammed, Bob Hobbs dropped a base hit in front of Zapp. Jim had difficulty picking up the pellet. Tony Martinez finally found the handle, only to throw the ball away at third base trying to get Hobbs at third.

Barr permitted two runners to get aboard in the ninth but Caballero speared a sizzling line drive off Dick Drain's bat to end the round.

The win was the second in regular play and the fifth in six starts for Big Spring over San Angelo, including exhibition starts this year.

FOUR TIPS—The crowd picked up appreciably over the previous night, 595 showing up. The weather was near-perfect.

Guerra was off to a rocky start when Frank Billings slashed a double against the wall in the first to score Poppell and Caballero.

A rhabum resulted in the fifth when a umpire's fumble changed a decision and ruled that Bob Kennamer had been retired on the tag end of a double play.

Agua Baca spent much of the last two innings in the bullpen, ready for action in event Barr faltered.

AT STATE MEET

Southern Is Set For 1-Man Show

AUSTIN (AP)—Smooth running Eddie Southern of Dallas Sunset promises to put on a one-man show in Class AA here Friday and Saturday at the interscholastic League track meet.

The lanky Dallas youngster, master of all trades, has posted the state's best times in both hurdles, the 220 dash and the 440 dash. He probably could win top honors in all four events, but the rules limit him to three races. In regional competition, Southern ran the hurdles and the 220.

He foregoes the 440, he will miss a chance to break the state record of 48.9 seconds that he tied earlier this year.

In the hurdles, Southern should face little competition. He equalled the state meet record of 14.3 in the 120 high hurdles at the regional meet, while in the 180 low hurdles his time was 19 flat.

Sharing the Class AA spotlight with Southern probably will be Baytown's record smashing mile relay team that already holds the national mark. The Ganders are an odds-on favorite to repeat last year's victory and might set a new standard in the process.

Another record equid fell when Abilene's Bobby Moshart gets a second chance at his half-mile specialty. The West Texas lad smashed the 22-year-old 3:30 mark last week in his first crack at it this year.

Baytown can claim the best regional time in the 440 relays, 43 seconds flat.

Victories in both relays and in the open 440, where Baytown's Wallace Wilson looks like the favorite, would give the Ganders 42 points in those three events and a clear shot at the Class AA team title that Abilene won last year.

Southern's expected three first places would give Dallas Sunset 30 points, while relay winners get 16.

Troy Harbor of Lubbock and Jack Strand of Dallas Forest led regional qualifiers in the 100-yard dash with 9.9.

In the mile run, Ken Savage of Corpus Christi Ray will be a wide favorite. His best time is 4:29.0.

James Leonard of Abilene topped regional mile runners in the mile vault with 12-7, but Midland's Larry Palmer has gone over 13 feet.

In the high jump, Johnny Hill of Corpus Christi Miller is favored, while Weatherford's Kenneth Korges led regional qualifiers in the discus throw.

John Cantrell of Pampa had the best regional shot putt of 55-8 1/2, but Waco's Charles Horton was close with 55-4 1/2.

In the broad jump, Ben Norton of Brownwood leaped 22-7 1/2, and Bob Crump of Amarillo did 22-3 1/2. They were the only ones to top the 22-foot mark in regional meets.

On The Beam

Jim Zapp, hard-hitting right fielder for the Big Spring Copsen Cops, appears to be back in the groove after a slow start. He clubbed his fourth home run against San Angelo here last night.

MIKE RAINEY SET TO HURL

Pepper Martin's Big Spring Copsen Cops wind up their abbreviated home stand in an 8 o'clock engagement with San Angelo tonight.

The Cops appear in Midland for two games starting Thursday, then head for San Angelo for three games starting Saturday before returning home next Tuesday, with Carlsbad.

Mike Rainey will probably get the mound call for Big Spring tonight, as the Cops go for the series sweep. Angelo may counter with Lefty Russ Agne.

Manager Martin announced last night that he had cut his roster with the release of Tommy McKenna and Mario Salazar. McKenna was a limited service hurler, Salazar a rookie leftfielder-outfielder.

Texas Blanked

HOUSTON (AP)—The Rice golf team defeated the University of Texas 6-0 in a Southwest Conference match yesterday.

Underwood And Thompson Defeated In Semi-Finals

COLLEGE STATION, (SC)—Both Howard County Junior College entries in the State Junior College Golf Tournament lost semi-final matches here Tuesday.

James Lee Underwood, HCJC, yielded to Jim Nutt of Navarro, one up; the same margin by which his teammate, Luke Thompson, lost to James Phelan, Odessa.

In each instance, defeat came on the final hole.

Nutt then topped Phelan to grab the singles championship.

Amarillo Shelled By Abilene Sox

By The Associated Press

The Abilene Blue Sox scored four runs on two homers Tuesday night and four other counters the ordinary way to take an 8-6 West Texas-New Mexico League victory from Amarillo.

The losers scored all their runs in the other games. Pampa moved into a tie for second place with Lubbock with a 3-3 decision over Albuquerque, last-place El Paso dropped Lubbock out of a first-place tie with Abilene with a 9-4 victory, and Clovis clobbered Plainview 15-11.

Muskegon creeping up on league-leading Shawnee, pushed across a run in the 12th to down the Hawke 5-4.

Purdie's masterpiece came at the expense of the McAlester Rockets in the form of a 2-0 shut out.

In the other game, Lawton rallied for four runs in the eighth inning to measure Paris 7-4.

The teams resume their current series in the same parks Wednesday night.

Purdle Pitches One-Hit Contest

By The Associated Press

Two extra-inning games, one going 15 innings to a 4-4 tie, and a one-hit pitching job by right-hander Charles Purdie of the Ardmore Cardinals spiced action in the Sooner State League Tuesday night.

The long-winded no-decision game played by the Gainesville Owls and the Seminole Oilers was the longest of the current season, 4 hours and 12 minutes. It was called because of a league rule which forbids start of an inning after midnight.

Curtis Wins A Trip To National Meet

COLLEGE STATION, (SC) — John Curtis, HJJC freshman, earned a trip to the National Junior College track and field meet, which will be held at Hutchinson, Kansas, May 20-21, by winning first places in both the 100 and 220 here Tuesday afternoon.

Curtis beat Killough in a photo finish in the century in ten seconds flat after Killough had set a record in the preliminaries by winning in the time of 9.9.

Curtis then shattered Fowler's four-year-old record in the 220 by covering the distance in 21.5. He beat the old mark by half a second.

HJJC finished sixth in the meet by scoring 10 3-5 points. Phillip Stovall tied for third in the pole vault.

A Pitcher's Delight

Pinch hitter Bill Taylor, left, whose single in the 10th inning gave the Giants a 2 to 1 victory over the Redlegs, and Don Mueller, center, whose single sent Whitey Lockman to third to set up the winning score, pumper pitcher Johnny Antonelli in the clubhouse after the season's longest game, Antonelli went the full distance to win his second of the year. One-Team Race Seen In Nat'l.

NEW YORK (AP) — American League club owners must be snickering these spring days as they see seven teams in the rival circuit writhing under the lash of the Brooklyn Dodgers. They hope, no doubt, that there is nothing temporary about the lack of balance among the Nationals.

For too many years to suit the American Leaguers, their own run-away races have played to steadily dwindling attendances while the senior division pulled in the fans with one thriller right after the other, specializing in last-day finishes. This time they see a chance that the leagues' roles will be reversed, with the Dodgers pulling far away from all pursuit while several American League clubs take turns making runs at the Cleveland Indians.

And never think that the National Leaguers are not beginning to worry about it, especially since the Brooks have proved that they can manhandle the Western clubs, including Milwaukee, in stretching their phenomenal record to 16-2 in recent days. About the only hope left is that Walt Alston's streaking team will come down to earth when it opens its first extended road trip Friday, or, long range, that hot weather, if it ever comes, will take some of the sap out of such veterans as Roy Campanella, Jackie Robinson and Pee Wee Reese.

Buc 'Fuzz Kids' Prove Spoilers In Circuit

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

Branch Rickey's Pittsburgh "Fuzz Kids" are now the "Nuts and Bolts" of the National League.

While the naughty New York Giants and Milwaukee Braves are trying to maintain complete calm in the face of continuing reverses, the bearded Pirates are kicking up sawdust all over the place.

They have won three games in a row, and four of the last five. They're playing as if they really believe in Rickey's "five-year plan," which had 1955 fixed as the date for the pennant.

Of course, nobody seriously expects a pennant from Pittsburgh this soon. But they can expect surprises. The Pirates are young and brash—and winning.

Last night, a 29-year-old Baltimore castoff, Dick Littlefield, shut out the Milwaukee Braves on seven hits 4-0, stretching the Braves' string of scoreless innings to 22. The Braves dropped seven full games back of the idle Brooklyn Dodgers and their only comfort was that the champion New York Giants were still another full game farther back.

The Giants were whitewashed by the Chicago Cubs' Bob Rush, who fashioned a tidy four-hitter. Bob Speake and Dee Fondy, with three triples between them, battered the Giants' ace Jim Hearn. The score was 6-0.

In the only other National League game, big Ted Klussek, who hit two of Cincinnati's home runs to down the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5.

In the American League, the Cleveland Indians whipped the New York Yankees 7-4 in their first head-to-head clash of the season. The Indians thus managed to hold their slender half-game league lead over the pressing Detroit Tigers, who topped the Boston Red Sox 4-2 on a two-run homer by the 20-year-old rookie sensation Al Kaline.

Billy Hoelt won his third straight for the Tigers.

The Kansas City Athletics beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 on a three-run homer by Bill Wilson in the eighth inning. The Chicago White Sox trimmed the Washington Senators 5-1.

Littlefield gave the Pirates their third straight top-flight pitching performance in beating the manlike job on the St. Louis Cardinals earlier this week. There's not a player in the regular Pittsburgh lineup who has reached 30 years old.

Bob Rush kept the Cubs on Brooklyn's neck, but 5½ games back in second place with a meas-terful pitching performance. Don Mueller, with a double and a single, and Monte Irvin, with two singles, were the only Giants to hit him and Mueller was the only one to get as far as second with his double in the ninth.

Catcher Yogi Berra proved the "mat" of the Yankees line to Cleveland. With the score tied 4-4 as the result of homers by Cleveland's Al Smith and Ralph Kiner and the Yanks' Mickey Vernon, Berra muffed a throw-in which led to three unearned runs. Mike Garcia was the winning pitcher, Ed Lopat the loser.

At Kansas City, Wilson's three-run homer in the eighth added to Irv Palles, Baltimore right-hander, with his third defeat.

Now give your car year-round protection against both major causes of engine wear with one remarkable new Double-Duty oil...

NEW CONOCO Super MOTOR OIL

Protection #1 With "magnetic action" Conoco's exclusive Oil-Plating® additive binds a tough film of lubricant to engine parts—thus conquers friction, wear.

Protection #2 Like a vacuum cleaner, Oil-Cleansing, a second Conoco discovery, gobbles up dirt, dust, and moisture—thus conquers corrosive wear.

Here's why your car needs the benefits of this unique ALL-SEASON motor oil:

Your Conoco Dealer has a wonderful new "all-season" oil—New Conoco Super Motor Oil in the can with the gold band! It's America's first Double-Duty motor oil, which means you get full-time protection against both major causes of engine wear.

Oil-Plating conquers friction wear by plating a tough film of lubricant to engine surfaces, a film that is sure to "stay put" even when your car's engine is stopped overnight!

Oil-Cleansing conquers corrosive wear by neutralizing combustion acids... by holding moisture in suspension... and by "sealing up" particles of dirt, dust and refuse.

New Conoco Super (in 5W-20 and 10W-30 grades) promotes safer starts... helps reduce pre-ignition... improves gas mileage up to 15%! Ask your Conoco Dealer for New Conoco Super Motor Oil in the can with the gold band!

Make sure you get full-time POWER plus PROTECTION!

For full-time power, use Conoco Super Gasoline with TCF*. Get up to 15% more power... better gas mileage... longer spark-plug life... all the benefits of an engine tune-up. Use New Conoco Super Motor Oil, too, and you'll enjoy all of this great gasoline's higher-octane rating. Get both Super products today from your friendly Conoco Dealer!
