Pampa Building Continues Climb

The rapid growth of Pampa continued during 1957, according to reports released by the office of the city engineer.

During 1957 a total of 645 building permits, for construction valued at $6,604,964, were issued by the engineer's office last year. This total is above the 617 permits, valued at $5,813,237, that were issued during 1957.

Permits for the construction of new residences last year accounted for 293 of the permits issued. The listed value of these new homes amounted to $4,046,488. This is compared to only 270 permits, valued at $3,434,975, for new residences issued during 1956. In 1955 only 229 permits for new residences were issued, totaling $2,793,320.

An increase in the number of permits for the remodeling of residences was reported for 1957. A total of 147 permits, for construction valued at $267,740, were issued during 1957 as compared to a total of 113 permits, for a value of $202,692, issued for residence remodeling in 1956.

Permits for the construction of new business buildings totaled 13 during 1957. The total value of these buildings was listed at $284,800. Remodeling of business buildings during 1957 accounted for 15 other permits at a total value of $113,485.

A total of 42 permits were issued last year for the construction of new garages. The value of the garages was listed at $41,340.

In addition to the new residences and business buildings, a total of 101 permits were issued for moving residences and buildings into the city limits. The value of these buildings was listed at $225,450 with most of the residences being moved into Pampa from leases.

The other 25 permits issued during 1957 were in the miscellaneous classification. This classification includes schools, churches and other types of construction not classified. The total value of permits in the classification last year was $1,625,661.

Public Hearing On Traffic Changes Set

A public hearing on proposed changes in the city's traffic regulations will be held during the meeting of the City Commission in the Commission Room at City Hall tomorrow. The hearing is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m.

Changes being considered include the allowing of right turns on red lights; changes in parking in alleys to allow only trucks, loading and unloading, and utility vehicles to park; eliminating parking on the west side of Cuyler between Browning and Sunset Dr.; changes in parking regulations so that at least 20 feet of clearance will be allowed for moving traffic; and other possible changes in parking throughout the business district.

Most of the changes under discussion have been recommended by the Traffic Commission. This group, however, has requested additional time to study the situation. Several methods have been suggested, including parallel parking, but no action has been taken by the traffic group.

Most of the members of the Traffic Commission will be at the public hearing tomorrow morning to answer questions of citizens attending the meeting.

The only other action scheduled for the meeting of the commission tomorrow is the second reading of Ordinance 485, providing for the re-zoning of the east side of the 1400 block of N. Hobart as semi-commercial, according to John Koonitz, city manager.

Rodman Supply Names New Store Mgr.

J. D. Maham has been named store manager for the Pampa store of Rodman Supply.

Maham, a nine year man for Rodman, comes to Pampa from the firm's Crane store. He succeeds Tommy Phillips, who has been promoted to field representative. Rodman officials said this morning. The change was effective Jan. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Maham are the parents of a daughter, Colleen, 9. They live at 513 N. Faulkner.

Plans Made For Rebuilding Of Highway 273 To McLean

A delegation of the Highway Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, along with delegations from Lefors and McLean met with the Gray County Commissioner's Court today to present a plan for the rebuilding and realignment of Highway 273 from Pampa to McLean via Lefors.

The delegation from Lefors was headed by Mayor Fred Blackwell, who was accompanied by J. R. Sparkman, groceryman; H. C. McCarty, teacher in Lefors High School; Jess Graves, groceryman; Boyd Beck, tailor; Ray Chastain, building contractor; Mrs. P. F. Blankenburg, housewife; and Charles Blankenburg, water department.

The delegation from McLean was headed by Boyd Meador. Other delegation members were A. M. Moser, and Jim Morris of Southwestern Public Service in McLean.

Members of the delegation from Pampa were representative of the Highway Committee and was under the chairmanship of Fred Thompson. Delegation members also included E. L. Henderson, CoC president; J. C. McWilliams, John Koonitz, city manager; Joe Miller, C. A. Huff, E. O. Wedgeworth and Ed Myatt.

The primary purpose of the delegations was to request the cooperation of the Commissioner's Court in a program which would include the rebuilding and realignment of the State highway as soon as possible.

Space-Age Budget Calls For Record 73.9 Billion

Postal Rate Raise Highlights Request

By BETTY PRYOR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Five cents to mail an out-of-town letter.

That proposed letter rate was the highlight of President Eisenhower's request to Congress today for postage increases totalling 700 million dollars a year. They also included a one-cent boost for local and airmail letters and postcards. The present regular letter rate is three cents, both local and out-of-town.

The President called his proposal "one of the most urgent items of unfinished business before the Congress."

The nickel charge for out-of-town letters is a penny more than Eisenhower asked last year. He said it is needed to cover a pay increase for postal workers and other higher postal costs.

In an about-face, he called for raises for both postal and civil service workers starting July 1. Last year he opposed them on grounds they would add to inflationary pressures.

Boost Sought Last Year
The House passed a postage bill last year that would bring in about 500 million dollars annually. It included: a four-cent charge for both local and out-of-town letters, seven cents for postcards and sizable boosts in newspaper, magazine advertising matter and book rates, the bill got stalled in the Senate.

The administration had considered asking for the five-cent rate last year, but backed down in the face of congressional opposition. Eisenhower told Congress the Post Office Department would still be in the red, even with the proposed nickel letter charge. He said the department's chronic deficits "placed heavy and unfair burdens on the taxpayers, to the special advantage of large users of the mails."

Without any rate increase, he said, the postal deficit for the next fiscal year will amount to 684 million dollars—not including raises for postal workers.

He recommended pay hikes totalling 160 million dollars for 518,000 postal workers. This would average about $308, compared with the $546-a-year boost Congress voted and the President vetoed last year.

The Scope Of The US Budget

WASHINGTON (UP)—The budget deals in billions of dollars—nearly 74 billions of dollars.

How much is a billion dollars? Here is one illustration: If a person had started to spend one dollar every minute when Christ was born, he would by now have spent only about one billion dollars.

If it comes from a Hardware Store, we have it, Lewis Hardware.

Larger Spending Not Based On Tax Boost

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower sent to Congress today a space age budget calling for record peacetime spending of 73.9 billion dollars. Much of it is to meet Russia's challenge.

He ruled out a general tax cut or increase. But he urged increases in postal rates including a hike to five cents for out-of-town regular letters.

The budget submitted today was for fiscal year 1959, which begins July 1 this year.

The President said the "growing danger" of Russian progress in missiles, coupled with Soviet rejection of workable disarmament, demanded the big spending. The United States must show determination to remain "sturdy" in the many strengths that keep the peace," he said.

He put "priority of national security over lesser needs" in both civilian and military programs. He proposed sharply stepped up spending for longer-range missiles, nuclear armed or powered ships, science and education.

He advocated curtailment, revision or elimination of civilian programs, such as flood control, farm aid, housing and financial aid to states. But he conceded such savings would be small.

Government Returns To Red Ink

WASHINGTON (UP)—The federal government has returned to red-ink spending.

The expected budget surplus for the current fiscal year has been turned into a deficit by a billion-dollar boost in spending in the wake of Russia's Sputniks and a billion-dollar drop in tax revenues caused by the business slump.

President Eisenhower made the startling disclosure today in his budget message to Congress.

Submitting a precariously balanced budget for the new fiscal year starting July 1, the President said he can't balance the budget for the current fiscal year despite all previous hopes.

He said federal spending will exceed revenues by 400 million dollars in the year ending June 30. Only three months ago the administration forecast a $1,300,000,000 surplus. A year ago when the current year's budget was submitted to Congress the President forecast a $1,700,000,000 surplus.

Mrs. O'Keefe Rites Are Set Wednesday

Mrs. Stella O'Keefe, born April 22, 1879, in Collins, Miss., died at 3:30 a.m. today in Highland General Hospital. She had been in the hospital about two weeks.

Mrs. O'Keefe lived at 1109 Charles. She moved to a farm southwest of Pampa from Colorado City in 1901 and then in 1911 moved to a farm east of Panhandle. She and her husband, a farmer and rancher, moved to Pampa in 1946 and had made their home here since that time. Mrs. O'Keefe was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, R. C. O'Keefe of Pampa; six sons, R. Earl Wayne and Ralph C. of Amarillo, Wallace of Fort Worth, David of Irving and Winston of North Hollywood, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Carl Periman of Amarillo and Mrs. Taylor Price of Pampa; 14 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Bob Stroble, assistant pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Burial will be at 12:15 p.m. in Llano Cemetery, Amarillo, with the Rev. Carl Bates, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Amarillo, officiating at graveside rites.

CoC To Hold Meeting In Boys' Club

A noon meeting of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce was to have been held today in the new Optimist Boys' Club building. The business session was to include reports made from special committees on work done since the December meeting. This will be the regular meeting for the month of January.

Following the noon luncheon, a tour of the new building and facilities will be made. Committee chairmen of the work committees will be guests at the meeting. Johnny Campbell and New Secretary of the Optimist program will give reports on the building program which sponsored the erection of the building.

Farm Program Changes Urged To Cut Taxpaying In 1959

By GAYLORD GODWIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower today recommended "important" farm program revisions which he said will save the taxpayers $45 million dollars in fiscal 1959.

He proposed a 6.5 per cent slash in farm program spending and held out the prospect of more significant reductions in 1960 and later years.

He outlined to Congress a farm spending budget of $4,981,000,000, compared with a record $5,327,000,000 in the current fiscal year. The savings would come principally on programs for support of farm prices, for stabilization of farm income, and in controlling production.

He foresaw considerable savings if Congress accepts recommendations he will make for lower support levels and for fewer controls. He held the recommendations to be spelled out shortly in a special message—"will permit the secretary of agriculture to establish price supports for basic crops consistent with the increased productive capacity of our agriculture."

Burden On Taxpayers
Eisenhower said present farm programs have "tended to price key farm commodities as if they were scarce, stimulating continued production in excess of the quantities that existing markets can take at these prices." He said present agricultural policy "places a heavy burden on taxpayers."

In addition to the anticipated $45 million dollar savings, Eisenhower proposed to cut 100 million dollars off an annual 225 million dollar agricultural conservation program of paying subsidies to farmers for carrying out conservation measures. This reduction would not be reflected before 1960.

The President asked for a one-year extension of the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 with an added authorization of $1,500,000,000 to finance it. The act has aided in the disposal of billions of dollars worth of surplus farm commodities. It is financed by the Commodity Credit Corp.

Soil Bank Cut
Eisenhower asked that the soil bank program—started in 1956 with an annual subsidy authorization of up to $1,200,000,000—be cut in fiscal 1959 to 450 million dollars. This would be some 275 million dollars less than the actual authorization for the current year.

The President proposed to abandon the acreage reserve section of the soil bank at the end of the 1958 crop year and concentrate wholly on the conservation reserve section. The acreage reserve is a year-to-year program and provides money to farmers for not producing basic crops of cotton, corn, wheat, rice, and tobacco. The conservation reserve is long range and envisages the transfer of crop land into the production of trees and grasses, and other conservation practices.

He estimated that government farm spending for stabilization of farm prices and income would total $3,253,000,000 in the coming fiscal year. This compares with $3,628,000,000 estimated for the current fiscal year.

Extend Wool Act
The President said he would ask Congress to extend the National Wool Act and would propose legislation requiring states to put up a greater share of the costs of disaster relief assistance to farmers.

Eisenhower said he would propose legislation which would permit the Rural Electrification Administration to get capital from private sources instead of the government.

Eisenhower said he would propose legislation which would permit the Rural Electrification Administration to get capital from private sources instead of the government, thereby giving it a broader financial base, and would ask that interest on REA loans reflect charges comparable to what the government has to pay for money. The present interest rate on REA loans is 2 per cent.

New Millions Needed For Space Age

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for new millions to speed man into space.

He proclaimed "the dawn age of space conquest." He said the American people must prepare to meet its "promises and dangers." He cited the recent "Soviet challenges."

In his Budget Message for fiscal 1959 the President told Congress: "Funds are provided for an expanded (Defense Department) research and development effort on military satellites and other outer space vehicles."

And for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, deeply involved in "space technology," he asked more money for research on "space vehicles." This new money, he said, will advance "flight of manned and unmanned vehicles beyond the atmosphere."

For a special adjunct of the office of the defense secretary, the newly created Advanced Research Projects Agency, the President asked money for direct research and development work on "such advanced systems of military significance as anti-ballistic-missile systems and certain space systems, including satellites."

Gives No Timetable
The President gave no timetable for launching of "military satellites" or manned spacecraft.

But he urged Congress to provide for a 500 million dollar "contingency fund" and for authority to manipulate two billion dollars of the 40 billion dollar military budget.

He sought this quickly usable money, free of congressional or Budget Bureau restraints, "in order to take prompt advantage" of any new scientific breakthroughs. If he gets it, and if "important discoveries" turn up, "I shall not hesitate to use it," the President promised.

Conceivably he might feel constrained to do this in the near future. Maj. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, Air Force missile chief, told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee last Thursday that this country could start preparing now for unmanned flights to Mars and Venus and manned flights around the moon.

Can Be Souped Up
Schriever said the Air Force Thor and Titan missiles could be rigged to provide the propulsive power for such flights. A souped-up Thor, he said, could power an unmanned flight around the moon at a "relatively early date."

The still untested intercontinental Titan, with high-energy second and third stages, could send a manned satellite around the moon and back, Schriever said.

In his Budget Message, the President gave no hint as to what his projected "military satellites" might be, whether weapon launching platforms or "spies in the sky."

But he made it clear that the weapons of the future, like those of the present, will be nuclear. For fiscal 1959 he budgeted $2,550,000,000 for the Atomic Energy Commission. This compared with an estimated $2,300,000,000 for the current year and $1,900,000,000 for fiscal 1957.

For New Engines
Most of the atomic increase will go for expanded weapons production, for propulsion of warships, merchant craft, airplanes, and for civilian and military electrical power plants.

But much of it will be spent also to try to develop nuclear engines for "missiles," which could include space ships. Many experts believe atomic rocket engines will work better in second or third stages above the atmosphere than in first stage boosters on the surface.

The budget disclosed that the Advisory Committee for Aeronautics is working on new high-energy chemical fuels for missiles and "space vehicles," and also on "unconventional systems for propulsion in space."

These unconventional systems are believed to include so-called "ion engines" in which electrified particles traveling thousands of miles a second are ejected by atomic energy from the exhaust nozzles of rocket power plants.

DRAWING FOR CORNERS

A drawing for corners in the March of Dimes "Bucket Brigade" to be conducted here Saturday was held this morning. Local civic organizations will solicit contributions to the MOD at various street corners in Pampa in the annual observance. Shown above are, seated, Lucien Young, chairman of the MOD's special events committee, and standing left to right, D. V. Biggers, representing the Evening Lions Club; Paul Keim, member of Young's committee; and Floyd Watson, representing the Rotary Club. Eight organizations will work Saturday. See story this page. You Can Eat Your Cake And Diet, Too On Soundly Planned 1500 Calories

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food & Markets Editor

Yes, you can eat your cake and still have your diet. Even a soundly planned 1,500-calorie diet. Neither "magic formulas," pills or drugs are involved.

The 1,500-calorie diets recommended in this six-part series on weight control are based on intensive research at Harvard University. They are flexible enough for both sweetness and light.

To be sound, any reducing diet must not only be nutritionally balanced but also be adjusted to our modern cultural pattern. Because cake and ice cream and sugar are commonplace in today's way of living, and also because they are good foods, they have a place in any balanced diet geared to long term weight control.

It's the number of calories in all the food you eat in a day rather than the calories in any particular food you eat that tip the scales either for or against you.

scientifically planned 1,500-calorie diet occasionally.

Fruit pie is a la mode has nutritional value. It is important also because any diet you will stick to for any time must be made up of familiar foods you enjoy, even if that means angel cake, marmalade and even a piece of candy now and then.

That's the opinion of Harvard University's Department of Nutrition, the first such autonomous division in a great medical and health center, staffed by physicians and surgeons specializing in human nutrition.

If you eat a wide variety of foods, all available at your grocers, but avoid second helpings, follow the ground rules of sound nutrition.

and get some exercise, even if only mild, every day, you can at times eat any food you enjoy while you are losing unflattering and possibly dangerous fat.

Incidentally, if you grew up in a household where soup was an important part of the family dinner and you feel cheated without it, you can enjoy a bowl once in a while and still stick to your 1,500-calorie diet. For cream soups, use your daily allotment of milk. Chill your chicken soup, skim off the fat before heating.

The following two scientifically planned, 1,500-calorie diets with this article show you how you can combine sweetness with light.

Next: The cocktail hour.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MUREL LAWRENCE

Patty had exchanged doll bugbies with a friend for the afternoon.

Unlike hers, the borrowed carriage had a hinged hood like the one on her baby sister's. So she was exceedingly pleased with the transfer. Experimenting with it, she was snapping and re-snapping the hood into place over her doll's head when her mother opened the front door.

"Patty," she called. "Stop what you're doing — and run down to the corner for me. I've forgotten the baby's prune juice. Mr. Miller has it waiting for you."

Patty dawdled. Fifteen minutes later her mother found her still on the porch carefully tucking covers around her doll. She cried, "Haven't you even left for the store yet? Are you deaf? Don't you ever hear what you're told?"

Did you see a recent TV play called "The Deaf Heart"? It was about a girl who lost her hearing, not to any physical injury but to her own unfeeling resistance to her deaf family's demands on her ears. Her conscience wouldn't let her know that she wanted to protest to them, "I want to use my hearing for myself once in a while!"

Dawdling in children is the same kind of deafness. They need to cry out to us, "I want to use my time for myself, not for you!"

If we can get them to put this protest into words, the answer to their protesting action at once presents itself. As soon as Patty feels free to yell, "I don't want to go to the store for you! I want to go on playing with Joan's carriage!" we know what she wants — and can compromise it with what we want. We can say, "Oh, I see. Well, maybe Joan will let you wheel her carriage down to the store. Let's phone her and see."

But so long as Patty fears to yell her ignoble wants, her dawdling remains a maddening mystery. We have to read articles like this to try to "understand" it. We may even have to ask a child psychiatrist to explode the protesting feelings in Patty that she should have long since learned to argue for herself.

Dawdling is a problem of parents' discomfort with children's openly resisting words. Denied the words, Patty takes refuge in dawdling's secretly resisting action.

'Cross And Crisis In Japan' New Topic For Study By Methodist WSCS

CIRCLE 1 of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Glenn Raciliff, 1237 S. Wilcox. The first meeting of the New Year was opened with prayer led by Mrs. Walter Purviance. Mrs. Clarence Lutes presided over the meeting during which it was announced that the United Church Women of Pampa are having a Fellowship Tea in the Episcopal Church on Jan. 24 at 2:30 p.m. Circle One is to represent the First Methodist Church at that meeting. It was announced that each Circle will take its turn in representing the church at the United Church meetings this year.

A letter from Marcia Hinds, missionary in Luanda, Africa, was read, telling of her work. She expressed appreciation to all circles for their prayers and study.

The new study, "Cross and Crisis in Japan" and the leader, Mrs. A. F. Johnston, were introduced by Mrs. Lutes. Mrs. Johnston presented an introduction to the study by including information about geographical Japan, the people and their culture. Current events, clipped from newspaper concerning Americans visiting in Japan, added to the interest of the session. Mrs. Johnston brought the devotional to close the study session.

It was announced that the next meeting will discuss the "Religions of Japan," and will meet with Mrs. Travis Lively on Jan. 22. Nine members, Mmes. Ell McCarty, Clarence Lutes, Luther Pierson, Travis Lively, W. Purviance, A. B. Whitten, A. F. Johnston, J. L. Colville, and the hostess, were present.

CIRCLE 2 met in the home of Mrs. Irvin Cole with nine members, Mmes. Thurman Cline, Thelma Bray, Joe Donaldson, R. C. Martin, Ralph Thomas, W. A. Waggoner, Eben Warner, E. S. Williams, attending.

Members were urged to pay their pledges and to attend the United Church Women's meeting to be held Jan. 24 at 2:30 p.m. in the Episcopal Church.

Mrs. W. A. Waggoner read the scripture and led in prayer. Mrs. Thomas led the study on "Cross and Crisis in Japan."

She pointed out that "The Japanese are a trustworthy people. They have half the population of the United States crowded on small islands. One-half of one percent are Christians; 98 per cent are illiterate." Slides, taken in Japan, were shown so that dress and life of the people might be seen.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bray, 1305 Hamilton.

CIRCLE 3 was hostess to Circle 2, opening with a short business session conducted by Mrs. Cain. Mrs. Lillian Snow showed a display of Japanese handwork. Charles Thompson showed a film from Boyd Ready on Japanese Christian Youth Work Camp. Mrs. Paul Bowers introduced a new study, "Cross and Crisis in Japan." Mrs. W. W. Adcock dismissed the group with prayer.

Those present were Mmes. W. Bryant, Lee Harrah, L. E. Hicks, Cleo Hoyle, H. H. Keahey, C. F. Killo, Carlton Nance, W. C. Puryear, James Wiley, Doyle Osborne, Richard Stowers, Maggie Denson, Mrs. Bill Nichols, a new member, was welcomed and guests were Mmes. Melba Watson, Yvonne McCracken, and Lillian Snow.

CIRCLE 4 Mrs. W. R. Campbell, student leader, began the new study, "Cross and Crisis in Japan," as Circle 4 met in the home of Mrs. Charles Woolley on Jan. 18.

Mrs. Price Dosier opened the meeting with a poem, "The World Is Mine," and a prayer. Announcement was made of the United Church Women's program, "Meet Your Neighbor," to be given Jan. 24 at 2:30 in the Episcopal Church. Thank you notes were read and the meditation was given by Mrs. Mary Weaver. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Gladys Carter.

Those present were Mmes. Alta Wood, S. C. Evans, Tom Cook, Hans Davis, John Sweet, Bert Robinson, A. R. Killen, C. E. Shellhouse, R. E. Hamm, Horace McBee, Mary Weaver, Charles Woolley, George Walstead, R. D. Morris, Orion Carter, a new member, and two visitors, Mmes. C. C. Simmons and D. M. Lawrence.

CIRCLE 5 Circle Five met in the church parlor with Mrs. Fred Cary, chairman, opening the meeting with prayer. Following the business session, Mrs. W. E. Abernathy led the first lesson in the study, "Cross and Crisis in Japan." Mrs. W. R. Ewing told of the Christian church at Takashima. The story of the church at Nishio was given with pictures shown by the leader. Differences and similarities of the churches in Japan and America were stressed.

Mrs. Lane gave a devotional based on the scripture Matthew 18:15-20.

Mrs. Abernathy and Mrs. H. V. Corliss served refreshments to Mmes. Fred Cary, W. R. Ewing, W. S. Exley, John Jesse, H. G. Howse, J. E. Kirchner, R. W. Lane, O. G. Smith, A. C. Steley, H. T. Thompson and Joe B. Williams.

Work New Magic In Older Homes With Illusions Of Charming Spaciousness

New spaciousness for an older home rises from the ruins of Pompeii, executed in perspective on a wallpaper designed to give illusion of depth. Chest, mirror and lanterns add to effect.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

The bonus of added space the older home may offer the growing family is not always parcelled out neatly in more and larger rooms.

Often the space is used, sometimes awkwardly, sometimes charmingly, in areas that contribute little to smoother house-keeping.

The trick is to turn such areas into an asset. Those of us who've lived in old-fashioned homes can compile a list of space-taking areas. The oversized stair landing, the long narrow passageway cut up with jogs and doors, the deep closet accessible through only one door, the open alcove in a wide upstairs hall are a few that come to my mind.

Sometimes such areas can be used to increase storage space of various types.

The stair landing may be large enough to take a small chest of drawers, for example, or a window seat. A fixed window on a landing is a safe and decorative place to put glass shelves for displaying bric-a-brac or plants.

Narrow bookcases can display an overflow of books along a corridor.

Easily mounted wall cabinets in many sizes are now available to increase storage and utilize space over doorways or at the ends of hallways.

Pictures are used sometimes to decorate a long, narrow passage, but this is not always successful. Two young New York artists with a similar condition in their old home tried picture arrangements on the walls of a narrow hallway and found the pictures seemed to "pop right out."

A better choice was a large-scale wallpaper treatment of the ruins of old Pompeii which was treated in a perspective that gave an illusion of spaciousness.

A handsome console table was tucked into one of the jogs in the hall, and at the end of the hallway a chest of drawers, dressed with a mirror and flanked by a coach lantern, statues and greenery is of decorative and practical value.

The architectural wallpapers that give the illusion of depth and space are numerous and very often are made in soft, pale tints on white or ivory backgrounds.

They can be used floor-to-ceiling or above the lower part of the wall. The lower portions which might be covered with either a solid or textured, scrubable paper if young children trail along the hall often.

If an upstairs hall has a windowed alcove, it could be just the spot for the homemaker's desk. Many busy young women I know have taken over such an area for desk work because it's safely away from the household traffic and, if the desk top is not too neat, no one will complain.

Always a favorite cracker spread, deviled ham has other uses. Here are deviled ham balls with mushroom sauce over rice.

Deviled Ham Fills Teeners, Goes In Hot Dishes, Too

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food & Markets Editor

For teenagers with roaring appetites, a family-size can of deviled ham is the sign of home sweet home. In our house, we always keep a few cans on the shelf for our sons and their ravenous friends to open, spread on hunks of bread and down with tall glasses of milk. It's not only for rock 'n' roll set, however. It has many hours' duty in uses and can be used deliciously in hot dishes.

RED DEVIL BEAN DOGS
One 4 1/2-ounce (family size) can deviled ham, 1 small can baked beans, 1/2 cup minced onion, sliced American cheese, fry bread slices.
Drain baked beans, mash and combine with deviled ham. Add minced onion, mix well and spread on fry bread slices. Top with cheese slice and second slice of fry. Garnish with pickles and potato chips.

DEVILED HAM BALLS
Two family size can (4 1/2-ounce) deviled ham, 1 small onion, chopped; 1 egg, unbeaten; 1 cup packaged bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine.
Mix ham, onion, pepper, egg and 1/2 cup bread crumbs. Form into about 2 dozen round meatballs. Roll each in remaining 1/2 cup bread crumbs. Fry in butter over low heat until brown on all sides.

QUICK MUSHROOM SAUCE
(Makes 4 servings)
One can (10 1/2 ounces) meat gravy, 1 can (4-ounce) sliced mushrooms, drained, 1/2 cup commercial sour cream.
Heat gravy and mushrooms together to boiling point. Remove from fire and slowly stir in sour cream. Place in chafing dish and add deviled ham balls. Serve over hot rice.

Tomorrow's dinner: Deviled ham balls in chafing dish, fluffy rice, canned peas, crisp bread or rolls, mixed green salad, oil and lemon juice dressing, apple pie with cheese, coffee, tea, milk.

FHA Planning Japanese Skit

LEFORS — The Future Homemakers of America met recently to initiate plans for a skit portraying Japanese culture, which it will present in a talent contest in Amarillo at the Area FHA meeting to be held in March.

During the business meeting, the group voted to order English Text to be sold locally for the purpose of raising funds for the remaining activities of the year.

Two delegates, to be selected at a later date, will attend the state FHA meeting in San Antonio on April 18-19.

Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to the following members, Misses Jerrie Barber, Barbara Halley, Dixie Dick, Linda Robinson, Paula Cumberland, Pat Perry, Peggy McCarty, Martha Carter, Betty Lewis, LaNell Price, and one visitor, Myrtle Faye Dick.

Miss Norma Lantz is the home-making teacher and chapter advisor.

Southwesterner's Plan Dinner-Dance

Mrs. Kenneth Harmon, 241 S. Dwight, was hostess to the Wednesday evening meeting of the Southwesterner's Club.

During the brief business meeting, Mrs. Dale Gibson was elected secretary to fill the vacancy caused by Mrs. Leonard Husted's resignation. It was decided to have a Valentine Dinner-Dance at a date to be set later.

Mrs. Charles Wiebe was welcomed as a guest.

Members attending were Mmes. O. Bridges, Omer Bybee, Mike Bowell, Robert Elliott, Gene Dougherty, Norman Flaherty, Dale Gibson, Kenneth Harmon, Leonard Husted, Melvin Jayroe, Floyd Laster, Bill McClelland, Ewart Revard, Herman Topper, George Swanson, Bobby Smith and Joe Wilson.

Mrs. Jayroe will be hostess to the club at its next meeting on Jan. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in her home, 925 Varnon Drive.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain, Stops Itching as it Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance ("Bio-Dyne") — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in expository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money-back guarantee.

Union Liberalism

A recent union representation election at the Bay Springs, Miss. plant of the Northern Electric Products Corporation (NECO), is being cited by conservative observers as a new demonstration of the pliable expediency of Reutherian "liberalism."
The representation election climaxed a strenuous organizing campaign among NECO workers by the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union (IUE). It is headed by James B. Carey, long a top aide to Walter Reuther. Like Reuther, Carey is an extremely vocal advocate of racial integration and—when it suits his purposes—of uninhibited freedom of the press.
Shortly before the NECO election, the Jackson, (Miss.) Daily News published on its front page a picture of Carey dancing with a young Negroess. The picture was given wide spontaneous circulation among the plant's workers. The election tally: for the IUE to be collective bargaining representative, 86 votes; for no union, 291 votes.
Shortly after this defeat, an article signed by Carey appeared in the AFL-CIO News, official organ of the merged union federation, attempting to explain away the IUE setback. Pettishly, it complained that one of the plant's owners had "waved" the picture before a meeting of NECO workers, and accused the management of indulging in "race hatred" to beat the IUE. It also fretted because there had been an explanation that the picture was taken in Geneva at an official party honoring delegates to an International Labor Organization session in which Carey was a US delegate and the young lady a member of the Nigerian delegation.
Many can't help but be amused at the sight of Jim Carey squirming so openly over publication of a picture without what he regards as a proper explanation. These pundits recall many occasions when employers, with seemingly far greater justification, have complained about bias in published or written statements of Carey and his union colleagues, to be brushed off with an argument for "freedom of the press."

If Russia Finds Out

Many people believe Soviet communism will start to collapse when and if the Russian people are able to learn what actually goes on outside of the Iron Curtain, and how other peoples live and work and play. Credence is lent to it by the undeniable fact that the Russian government goes to extraordinary lengths to keep the doors shut against the western world—and to keep their own masses in virtually total ignorance of conditions elsewhere.
An interesting sidelight on this was provided by John Gunther, in an article appearing in the December issue of The Reader's Digest. The article, called "Inside Moscow," is part of a forthcoming book, "Inside Russia Today." Moscow is a great capital of some 7 million population. Yet, Mr. Gunther writes: "No local citizen has ever read a gossip column or played canasta. No one has ever seen a supermarket, a drive-in movie, a motel or a golf course. Nobody has ever shopped by mail or paid a bill by check. No one has ever seen an electric toaster, a sidewalk cafe, a shoe-shine stand or a funeral home."
In other words, the life of most Russian citizens "is inexpressibly dreary." The regime sees to that, as a matter of high policy. Yet, Mr. Gunther found; "the Russians are a terrific, a tremendous, a magnificent people." They have many characteristics in common with Americans—humor, gregariousness, curiosity, an aptitude for technical skills. During his whole trip he "never saw an unfriendly face."
He also reports that the people grumble openly—that is allowed, so long as it doesn't extend to political matters. They grumble about the terrific shortage of housing—often young people can't marry for want of a place to live. They grumble about the poor quality of consumer goods, of building construction and maintenance, and of all manner of other things. The streets are always crowded in Moscow, even on bitter nights, because "homes are to unbelievably crowded, squalid and uncomfortable."
It is symbolic of life in Russia that when the famous Bolshoi Ballet went to London last year, its members wanted to buy two things above all—knitting needles and porcelain for false teeth. Neither were available at home. Stainless steel is used for the teeth.
In conclusion, Mr. Gunther says: "This is a country where nobody puts his neck out, run by a regime without a heart... Dressed in their drabness, huddled in their tenements and filled with boredom, the Russian people must be kept from knowing what goes on in the outer world. If they ever found out, it would be the beginning of the end of a regime that has forced them to suffer in silence for 40 interminable years."

THE NATION'S PRESS

A CASE OF FAIR RETURN
(California Feature Service)
The airlines of the nation have gone before the Civil Aeronautics Board with a request for an increase in fares. They say, logically enough, that in order to supply the new planes that will give the public the speed it demands of the jet age, they will need money—and they want to earn it. They want to charge an equitable price for the services they render. As C. R. Smith, president of American Airlines, pointed out in presenting his company's case to the C. A. B., air fares stand today at approximately the same level they did two decades ago.
Railroad men, although they have felt the competitive pressure of the airlines, can sympathize with this stand. For years, as a regulated utility, they have operated under antiquated federal rate restrictions designed for a day long since past and for economic circumstances long since altered by progress in the transportation industry.
The need of any sound business is for the fair competitive right to make an income adequate to assure the capital investment that is necessary for expansion. Without expansion, private industry cannot meet the needs of the nation's fast growing economy.

It's just a matter of that basic American economy concept that the laborer—individual or corporate—is worthy of his hire.

MOPSY

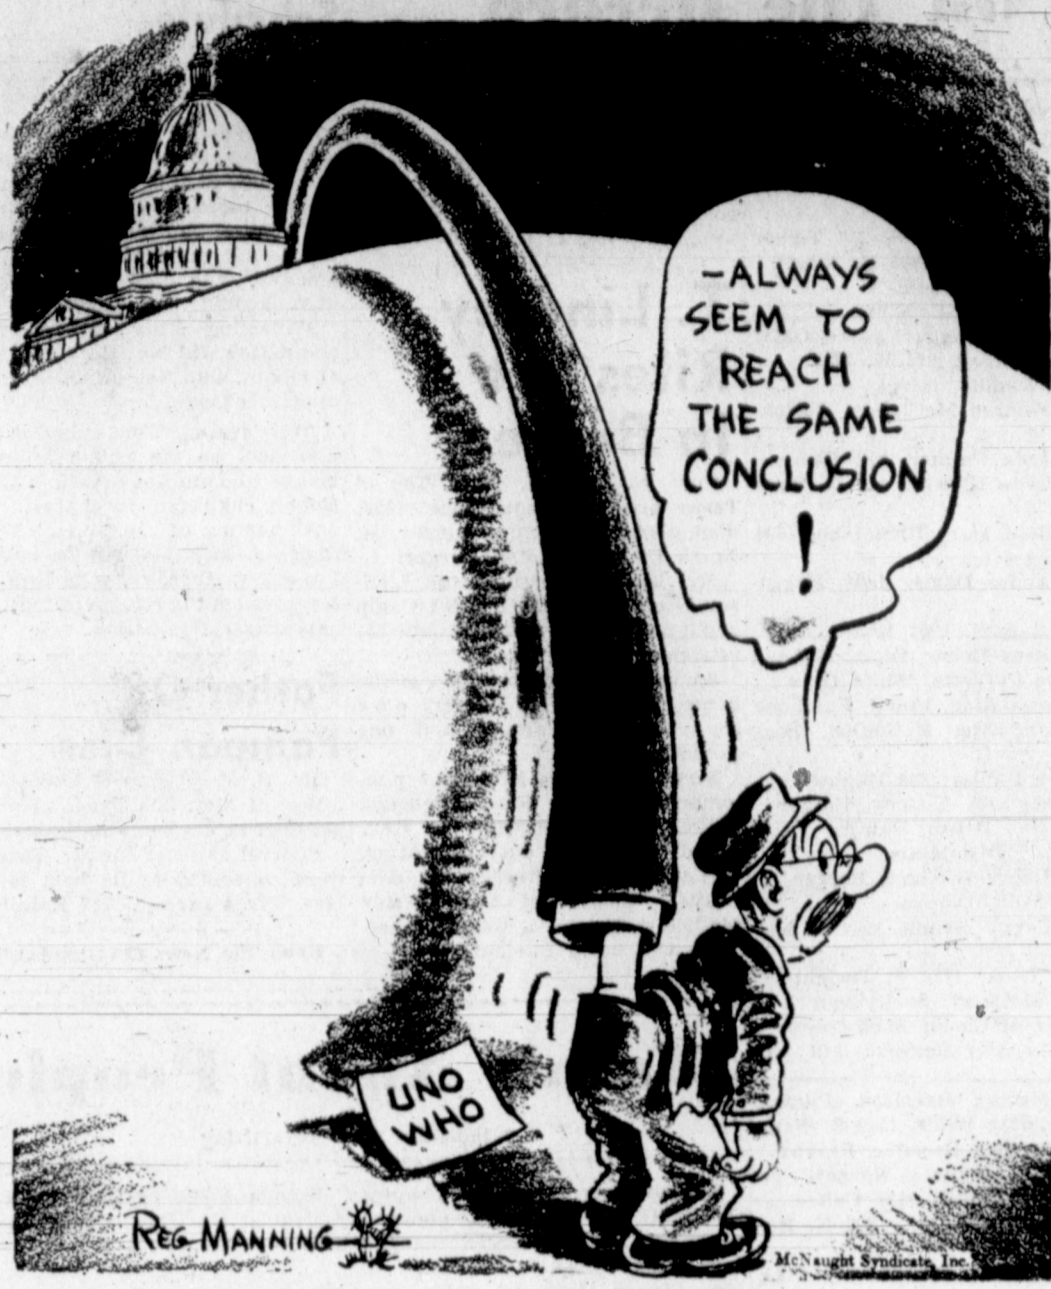

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOLES
"How We Educated Ourselves Into Ignorance"

In the last issue I commented on how Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom had proposed having the federal government grant 40,000 scholarships. After I had written that article under the above heading in "Human Events," I think he makes a splendid explanation as to why we are educating ourselves into ignorance. He starts out with this gem:
"There is a considerable urgency in Washington to spend the nation into an education."
That seems to be what both the Republicans and Democrats think can be done. They think it can be done not only in education, but security, full employment, happiness, peace and goodwill. Chodorov continues:
"The idea is sparked by a report, recently issued by the US Office of Education, called 'Education in the USSR.' The report is the result of a two-year study of educational practices in the Soviet Union, and the essence of it is that our prospective enemy is doing right well in the matter of producing a mass of educated men and women—particularly in the militarily important field of science.
"The report indicates further that unless we do something about our educational machinery the Communists will in due course make us look like a Nation of scientific morons. Doing something about it, American fashion, means spending a lot of money.
"It would be a fatuous undertaking. Perhaps allies are purchasable, but education is not a commodity that can be had that way; it is something that can be acquired only by hard work, and then only if one has a capacity for learning. We now spend more on what we call education than does any other country, including the USSR according to a study made by the UN."
"And what is the basic principle of the Soviet system? It is that all people are not born equal, that in the nature of things some of us have a greater capacity for learning than others, and that school curricula and pedagogical methods should be geared to those of the highest, not the lowest, intake potential. That is, the commissars, with utter disregard for their ideological perjury, realistically face a fact of nature and come up with a selective, not equalitarian, program. If one is to avoid fault with their program, one cannot cavil with the principle of natural selection on which it is based but on the end to which it is put, just as one may question the use to which a shotgun is put, but not the physical laws which determine the making of it."
Then he relates some of the history of the ideas of education in America. He explains how 50 years ago students in government schools had a much better basic education than they have today; that the government schools used to believe, before compulsory attendance laws were passed, that there were some pupils that were not capable of getting an education. Then Chodorov continues:
"Then came the 'progressives.' Much has been written for and against the educational theories and practices of the followers of John Dewey, but too little attention has been paid to the central fallacy on which these theories and practices are based. This is the axiom of equalitarianism: that all children are equally capable of being equally educated. To be sure, some of the 'progressive' educators did not fully accept this axiom, and recently there has been some concession to the unequal native capacities of the material the schools must work with; the facts of life simply denied the axiom. But, the admitted purpose of these 'progressives'—the remaking of society through education—demanded that they disregard innate individual differences and work toward the equalitarian goal.
"The 'progressives' proceeded toward that goal by the simple device of weakening the curriculum, substituting play for subject matter; every child can prove his mental equality with every other child if none of them is required to learn anything."
"It is not surprising that the commissars were at first attracted to 'Progressivism.' Its equalitarian purpose fitted nicely into socialistic doctrine—the elimination of the individual in favor of society. But the Communists are, in spite of their ideology, a very practical set; they soon realized that this kind of education would not produce the intellectual leadership necessary for the attainment of their ultimate objective, the domination of the world. So, when a trial period showed up the deficiencies of American modernism, they dropped it and set up an educational system that conformed with the fact of natural selection.
"It is for that reason, as the report issued by the US Office of Education shows, that the USSR is turning out, in the scientific field at least, a mass of educated men and women. They gear their curriculum to the intellectually curious—not, as we do, to age groups.
"Uneducated People
"Whether or not their output in this regard exceeds ours is not yet determinable, but that, in the long run, Americans will, by comparison be an uneducated people is certain. They will be, unless we also kick out of our schools the

Reds Still Expected To Push 'Coexistence'

By CONSTANTINE BROWN

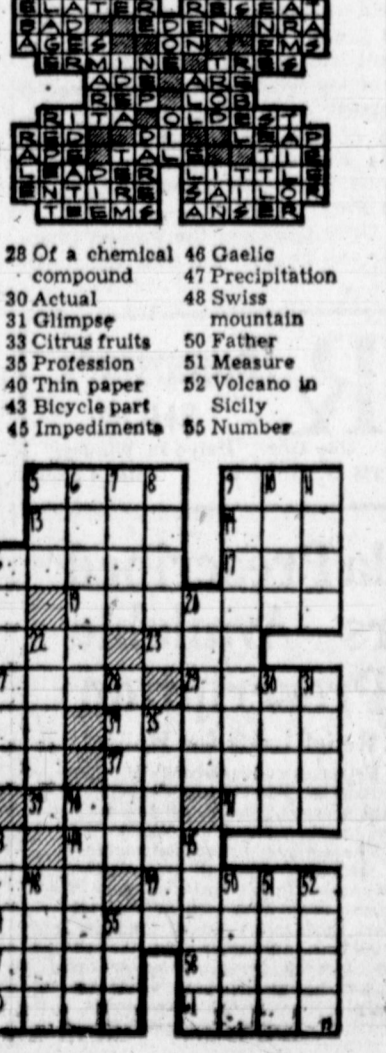

WASHINGTON — There is mounting evidence that the rulers of Soviet Russia intend to push harder for "coexistence" despite the chilly reception they have been getting from Secretary of State Dulles.
Reliable observers in the Soviet capital are convinced that the Kremlin bosses, whatever their reasons, are determined to leave no stone unturned in their campaign to work out some softening agreement with the West. Part of their strategy, or course, is to represent to the world that only American intransigence, in the person of Secretary Dulles, is blocking a sweetness-and-light accord that would give the peoples of the world some respite from the terror of nuclear warfare.
The Russian leaders believe, apparently, that they can bring enough pressure to bear in the NATO nations to force the stubborn Mr. Dulles to permit negotiations. They also are confident that the terms Mr. Dulles has suggested as a basis for serious negotiations—the renunciation of Germany and an inspection system for arms control—can be ignored if enough agitation in the free world succeeds in forcing summit negotiations.
There is absolutely no possibility that Moscow will yield either on the German question or on the arms inspection proposals. But they are prepared to make some "progressive" notion that all men are of equal mental capacity and regard the yardstick of subject matter as the determinant of educability."

superficial, seemingly important but actually meaningless, concessions as window dressing for the buildup. One step has already been taken in that direction—the mobilization of a small part of the huge Red Army, a step that is actually without importance since that Communist army is far and away the largest in the world, and the age of the satellite and the guided missile has already made huge land armies less meaningful.
Mr. Dulles, President Eisenhower, and the top administration policymakers involved are fully aware of the Russian strategy. They do not propose to be fooled by it. In consequence, the Dulles policy has been to remain adamant, to yield nothing, and to increase pressure on our restless European allies to join us in our refusal to be trapped. The last effort may bring serious troubles to NATO, because the tide in favor of negotiations is so powerful in European nations that politicians must heed it to some extent at least. This, of course, is the obvious explanation for the surprise proposal of British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan for a non-aggression pact between East and West. The proposal was made in the course of a political address, not a policy speech; it was made to mollify Tory critics of the Macmillan-Dulles policy, and to take the steam out of the Socialist opposition's attacks on the government.
In addition to the danger that we shall sacrifice some solidarity with our Western allies, there also exists the problem of the damage being done to American prestige by

Pegler's Discussion With Lady On Costello, Mafia

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — If you could have heard me the other night you would have been agape at my brilliance, logic and sublime moral courage. But eulogy is a little out of my line so I will abate the hero-worship and get into the act which took place at a magnificent salon of the Haute Monde, the Bon Ton and the Cognoscenti. You know what I mean, Rich people!
This pretty lady said something about the Mafia, and name-dropped that I am, I said, "Frank Costello is lurching with me tomorrow." And if you don't believe me I did, ask the cops; ask Hogan's office ask the U.S.A. or the FBI. Don't low-rate me, I know better. Costello wants me to write the story of his life, but I am up to my eyes in a great philosophical historical speculation under the working title of "The Day Tony Cermak Got Shot" and I may have to go off and hole up in Spain like Bob Ruark. People pester me so.
When I said Costello was lunching with me, you might have thought I had pinched her like a Roman boulevardier. She let out a squawk and she said, "Lunching? Costello? The Prime Minister of Crime? The dictator of the international underworld? Aren't you ashamed? Or embarrassed?"
I said, "Your husband is a big operator in the newspaper world. If this character is the Prime Minister of crime, why don't you or your husband's papers expose him fearlessly?"
She said, "They have. Everybody knows about all those murders; the what-you-call-it case, you know, that Mafia murder in the barber shop a few weeks ago. And the narcotics ring."
I said, "One thing at a time. All about what murders? Sister, if you know all about any murders, you have a moral and legal duty to hop right down and tell Frank Hogan, the D.A. because Hogan has been setting traps for Costello for more than 20 years and, so far, the best he could do was 30 days for contempt of a Grand Jury when Costello refused to tell them what some figures meant on a little bit of paper which some cops stole out of his pockets when some dastardly criminal shot him alongside the car. Why didn't the cops pinch the gunman? They already knew what the figures meant, so did the FBI. And anyway, it was none of the Grand Jury's business what those figures meant. Somebody shot Costello. That was a crime against him. Then some cop unlawfully searched the clothing of an emergency patient in a hospital and stole a certain piece of paper, his lawful property. They should have pinched the cop. The Grand Jury should have indicted the cop; and indicted Kennedy, the commissioner, because he is responsible for criminal acts of his cops goes up to him. But instead, some judge gave the victim 30 days and then choked up and let him out after 15 days."
This lady said: "Do you mean to tell me you sincerely believe Costello is innocent?"
I said: "Innocent of what?"
She said: "All those murders."
I said: "The guy isn't even accused of murder. My more than you are. He isn't accused of narcotics."
She said: "Oh yes, but just because they rake in all those millions so they can hire the cleverest lawyers in the country, don't try to tell me he is innocent. And you know perfectly well."
I said, "Doesn't your husband rake in a lot of millions? He better, considering the cost of newspaper and the Guild and all those mechanical unions bleeding the poor publishers white."
I said, "And what kind of lawyer does your husband hire? Dumb ones? I never knew him pinching around asking his friends, 'Hey, I am in a jam. I want the dumbest lawyer in the whole country. Who do you recommend?'"
I said, "That Frank Hogan thinks he is a pretty smart lawyer, himself, and the people seem to think he is the most, because they pay him all the law allows and they keep on re-electing him. So why should Costello hire dumb lawyers? Would you?"
She is a very pretty lady, but she was getting edgy. Because everybody knows Costello is the

BID FOR A SMILE

There was one man who had provided six tires for his car. One day after he had been driving on them for each tire had run 15,000 miles. Well, said the owner, "The car has run 90,000 miles, and each of the six tires has run an equal distance. Figure it out yourself. Suppose you had been the buyer—how would you have gone about to find the distance each tire had run?"
If there had been only four tires, the man who supplied them would have run 15,000 miles, because that was the total distance the car had run. If there had been a total of four times 15,000 or 60,000 miles for the four tires, and each ran an equal distance, all you need to do is to divide six into 60,000, and you have 10,000, the number of miles each of the six tires ran.

Will It Help The Game?

Many Comments On New Conversion Rule

By FRED DOWN United Press Sports Writer The nation's top college football coaches agreed today that the extra point will be killed by the NCAA's new two-point conversion play but differed sharply whether that will help or hurt the game. "There'll be less and less kicking," was the virtually-unanimous comment and others included; "You've just got to go for the two points instead of the one... the coach is sure to be second-guessed no matter what he does... and... there'll be fewer ties and more interest."

NCAA rules committee chairman Fritz Crisler, athletic director at Michigan and author of the new rule, was outspoken in favor of it.

"It is one of the most striking changes in football history," he said at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where the committee passed the rule. "It's a progressive step and should inject more drama into football's dulllest, most stupid play."

The new rule, which marked the first change in football scoring since the NCAA was formed in 1906, was approved unanimously Sunday by the 10-man committee. The committee also voted to liberalize the substitution rule, permitting all substitutes to re-enter each period once, and made four other rule changes.

The conversion rule retained the old one-point for placement or drop kick regulation but added the option that a team could try for two points by running or passing from the three-yard line. Most high schools throughout the country are expected to conform to the regulation.

Henry (Red) Sanders of UCLA, Ben Oosterbaan of Michigan, Abe Martin of Texas Christian, and Dr. Eddie Anderson of Holy Cross sided with Crisler but Terry Brennan of Notre Dame, Aldo (Buff) Donelli of Columbia and John Michelosen of Pittsburgh disagreed. And Bert Bell, commissioner of the field-goal conscious National Football League, barked "I have no comment. We'll stick to our business; let them stick to theirs."

Sanders called the new rule "a tremendous change" and said, "I like it." Oosterbaan said, "It definitely will make an exciting sport even more exciting for the spectators." Martin commented, "I think its real fine and will be quite interesting to the fans." And Anderson said, "It should add interest to the game and will practically knock out the extra point."

At South Bend, Ind., however, Brennan said he was "mystified" at the new two-point conversion. "I can't quite see yet what this is supposed to accomplish," he said. "On first thought, I'd say every team is going to go for the two points instead of the one-point kick just to get all the points it can."

"I can't quite see yet what this is," he said. "I think we had a pretty good game last year," said Michelosen. "We'll have to see if that conversion rule actually works."

In the committee's other actions, 1. Teams will be penalized five yards for each out-of-bounds kick-off.

Ineligible pass receivers will be permitted to move downfield from the line of scrimmage as soon as the ball is thrown.

2. The rules against defensive teams "jamming" offensive signals was strengthened.

3. Players are limited to making contact with only one arm and hand when they block. Offensive blockers were permitted the use of both hands and both forearms.

Wilt May Be Back In Action Tonight

By JOHN GRIFFIN United Press Sports Writer Basketball's newest headline act—the sensational sophomore, the seven-foot 8 1/2 — will be trying to steal the show again tonight from upsets that are rocking the conference races.

The sophomore, high-bounding Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati who has seized the national scoring lead with an average of 32.3 points per game, will be out to improve that brilliant mark when the Bearcats play host to Houston.

And seven-foot Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas, idle with a groin injury while his 32.2 average dropped to second best, hopes to get back into action in a game against Colorado.

Robertson, following up his 56-point Madison Square Garden record performance of Thursday, passed Chamberlain by an eyelash in the scoring race Saturday night when he hit the necessary 35 points right on the head during a 127-97 rout of North Texas State.

Robertson's sudden appearance as a top star pushed a couple of stunning upsets lightly into the shade during the weekend. Chief casualties were former national champion North Carolina, whipped 74-61 by Maryland, and previously unbeaten Mississippi State, a 76-81 loser to Georgia Tech.

Escaping the upset lightning, however, was national leader West Virginia, which romped to its 12th win in 12 starts, 93-46, over George Washington. The only other major unbeaten teams in the nation are St. John's (N.Y.) and Boston College, both idle during the weekend.

In addition to West Virginia, other high-ranked teams to score victories Saturday included: Kansas State (No. 5), 74-59, over Nebraska; Bradley (No. 7), 116-80, over Houston and Oklahoma State 51-43, over Tulsa.

STRONG-ARM STUFF — Wilt Chamberlain of Houston punches the ball in New York to strengthen the arm which troubled him most of last year.

Pampa, Borger Clash Tomorrow

Important Game Will Decide District 3-AAAA Leader

By CHARLES CULLIN Pampa News Sports Editor The strength of the Pampa Harvesters will be put to test tomorrow night as they clash with the Bulldogs of Borger there in a game that will decide the leadership of District 3-AAAA.

Both the Harvesters and the Bulldogs are undefeated in conference action, the Pampans having beaten the Sandies, 76-61, and Palo Duro, 75-61, while Borger won its only district game over Monterey last Friday, 65-54.

For the season, the Pampa quintet has one loss against 15 straight wins, having lost to Childress, 49-48 in the season's first game before launching the winning streak that still remains unbroken.

Coach Tex Hanna's Bulldogs have also played sixteen games for the season and stand with a 14-2 mark. Losses came from Graham, 68-67, and Stillwater, Okla., 58-50.

In the offensive department, the Harvesters look slightly stronger than Borger, having totalled 1,203 points during the year for an average of 75.3 per game. Borger has netted 1,171 points through their season for a 73.1 point-per-game average. This scoring ranks the two teams as first and second among district contenders.

Defensively, however, the Bulldogs take the nod as they have allowed only 813 points from their opposition for a 50.8 average while the Pampans have permitted 919 for 57.4.

A comparison of opponents ranks the two squads on a near-even level. The Bulldogs beat Childress three times, by margins of 30, 18 and 37 points while the Harvesters lost by one point in the first encounter and won by 27 in the second.

Against Phillips, the Borger team won by a margin of 21 points and the Harvesters won twice by 29 and 24 points.

Ranking at the head of individual scoring for Pampa is guard Bill Brown, a senior who has poured through 266 points for the season, averaging 16.6 per game. Brown has tossed in 97 field goals and 72 free throws for the high-point mark.

Running close to Brown is center Mack Layne, who has accounted for 240 points and a 15 point-per-game average.

Leading the Bulldogs are three returning starters from last year's team, Warren Tipton, Elgie Seaman and Vance Moxom. Of these, Tipton carries the top mark with 291 points for 18.1 points per game.

Following tomorrow's clash with Borger will be another district contest, against Monterey of Lubbock, there, Friday, Jan. 14.

Individual and team records through last Friday's game are as follows:

Bing Crosby Title Won By Bill Casper

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UP)—The man to beat on the 1958 golf trail is obvious to the touring golfers these days: fast Bill Casper, the top-pro with the golden touch in his putting fingers.

The ex-San Diego sailor, now playing out of Apple Valley, Calif., today headed for the $17,500 Tijuana Open, starting Friday, holding these titles:

1—The Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur singles crown (worth $4,000).

2—The leading money-winner of the short 1958 season ($7,700).

3—Second place in the Crosby Pro-Amateur division (worth $1,500).

With such a start the other pros on the tour are eyeing suspiciously the good-natured lad from the South.

Casper won $27,000 in official winnings last year; collected another $12,500 in a special TV competition, where he won six consecutive matches; plus a certain amount for endorsements, etc.

Bankers Clip Halliburton

The Citizens Bank industrial basketball team took their first league victory of the season last night as they downed Halliburton, 50-44, in the junior high gymnasium.

Sparking the Bankers to the win was Gene Herrington, who gained the high-point mark for the night with 27. Miller led the losers with 21.

The game put the Bank league record at 1-3, and left Halliburton at 0-3.

Tonight's league game will pit Holmes Conoco against the Mag-nolia five in a game that will determine the league lead. Both teams are undefeated in the industrial loop.

The surprising Tech Red Raiders, who threaten to write conference attendance history as well as be a thorny problem on the floor in their first run at the flag, face the formidable task of playing Coach Gene Rose's rambunctious Razorbacks at Fayetteville where the home court advantage always makes the tough Hogs tougher.

But, Tech has proven twice already in the young season that the home floor doesn't guarantee victory in a race as well balanced as this year's appears to be in the Southwest.

Tech Takes Tumble Tech Red Ricks at Houston, then returned home to wallow Texas Christian only to tumble before Southern Methodist while still basking in the glory of its earlier triumphs.

Thus, the Raiders shouldn't be too low mentally when they bang into the Razorbacks tonight at Fayetteville in the last game either team will play for nearly two weeks.

The Tech-Arkansas feature is one of three league games on tap tonight and one of seven scattered throughout the week as the clubs wade through the second full week of the campaign.

Also slated tonight is a Texas invasion of Dallas against an EMU team that hasn't lost a regular season game on its home floor in 40 outings, and a renewal of the pre-season tournament final between champion TCU and runner-up Baylor. This game is at Ft. Worth.

Aggie Face Baylor Tuesday night, the Texas Aggies face Baylor at Waco; Thursday, TCU goes to Austin against Texas; Friday, SMU plays at Ag-gieland and on Saturday Baylor travels to Houston against Rice. Arkansas ran its loop mark to 3-0 last week by trimming Baylor 68-53 at Waco and TCU 65-49 at Fayetteville.

SMU, Texas Tech and Rice wound up with 2-1 records after Rice nipped SMU 78-74, Tech cut down TCU 83-70, SMU knocked off Tech 84-80, and Rice edged the Aggies 62-59 in an overtime struggle.

The two games at Lubbock drew approximately 10,000 fans each, the biggest crowds ever to witness a conference game.

It's Up To Tech To Halt The Razorbacks

By ED FITE United Press Sports Writer It was up to Texas Tech today to throw a stumbling block in the path of the alert Arkansas Razorbacks, who head into the final games before the mid-term exam hall with the only perfect record among Southwest Conference basketball title contenders.

Nature Boy, Tokyo Joe In Match

Nature Boy Rogers will make another appearance in the Pampa ring tonight as he meets Tokyo Joe in the main event match at the Sportman Club wrestling.

The top battle is slated to go two out of three falls, carrying a one hour time limit.

The second event will feature a tag match battle as Sandy and George Scott will team against Iron Mike DeBlase and Killer Joe Christie. The duel will go two out of three falls, limited to 45 minutes.

Furnishing the first event on the card will be George Scott opposing Christie in a one-fall battle limited to 45 minutes.

Beginning at 8:30 each Monday evening, the wrestling is sponsored by the Pampa Shrine Club. The Sportman Club is located 6 1/2 miles south of town on the Lafors highway.

Admission is $1.50 for ringside; $1.25 for reserved seats; 90 cents for general admission adult and 50 cents for general admission children.

Sea Island Title To Californian

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (UP)—Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., won the $2,000 Sea Island Women's Invitational Sunday despite a four-over par 80 on the final round which kept her from breaking her own tournament record.

The long-hitting blonde better, the defending champion, pocketed $831 for her victory and became the first two-time winner of the 34-hole event. She fired a 74 in the first round and a 70 on the second round to shatter a 36-hole record.

But Sunday's 80 for a 224 total was three strokes better than her nearest rival and four strokes above the record she set here last year.

Schayes Highest Scoring Player In Pro Basketball By UNITED PRESS

Adolph Schayes of Syracuse has passed George Mikan as the highest scoring player in professional basketball history.

Schayes did it Sunday night when he poured in 23 points in a 125-109 victory by the Nationals over the Detroit Pistons.

The 28-year-old ex-New York University star now has an all-time total of 11,770 points, which he scored in 655 games during 10 seasons as a pro with Syracuse. Mikan's previous record was 1,764 points during a nine-year pro span in 426 games.

Cincinnati scored its third victory in as many days with a 115-97 triumph over Boston. Cliff Hagan's 27-point performance led the St. Louis Hawks to a 111-105 win over the floundering Minneapolis Lakers, and the Philadelphia Warriors defeated the New York Knickerbockers, 115-110, in overtime.

Erdelatz Said The Odds-On Choice For Aggie Coach

By LLOYD LARRAREE United Press Sports Writer COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP)—Eddie Erdelatz of Navy, the latest name to pop up in the chase for a football coach at Texas A&M College, appeared today to be the odds-on choice for the post although spokesmen for the athletic council said he hadn't been invited.

Erdelatz's name was tossed into the muddled coach's picture Sunday. The entry of the Navy coach to replace departed Paul (Bear) Bryant may have meant anchors swung to Jim Myers of Iowa State who had, until Sunday, seemed assured of the post.

Erdelatz, with an entourage of three assistants, was scheduled to fly into Dallas today as the result of a conference he had last Friday at Washington with Jack Finney, the chairman of the selection committee, and two other committees. He was to fly on to A&M by private plane for a conference with the full nine-man A&M board of directors.

Meanwhile, Dr. Chris Groneman the faculty athletic committee chairman, said the athletic council hadn't talked to Erdelatz and hadn't invited him.

"We have made our recommendation to the president," Groneman said. It appeared obvious he meant Myers.

A&M President M. T. Harrington said Sunday he had no knowledge whatever that anyone other than Myers was being considered for

C & M Television Features Kitchen Unit You Dreamed Of

THE KITCHEN UNIT YOU HOPED FOR—Spacious, convenient, step-saving, durable... The RCA Whirlpool Kitchen Unit is the unit with everything. Appliances include these by RCA Whirlpool: refrigerator-freezer oven and range, (gas or electric.) Disposal, dishwasher, automatic ice-maker. The cabinets are strong metal frames with reinforced, braced shelves, removable wooden doors. Choose the finish from a variety that includes fruitwood and limed oak! See this unit—and see the appliances separately — at C & M. And here see the RCA Victor Compatible Color TV, hear the RCA Victor Orthophonic High Fidelity Phonographs, Radio-phonos, Televisions. See the modern General Electric Appliances: refrigerators, freezers, ranges, dishwashers, disposers, washers, dryers. Before you select your laundry unit, see the RCA Whirlpool Washers, Dryers, Washer-Dryer Combination. See them at C & M Television, 304 W. Foster, MO 4-3511.

You never imagined the beauty, utility and durability of an RCA Whirlpool Kitchen Unit. This unit includes the: RCA Whirlpool Refrigerator-Freezer, RCA Whirlpool Gas or Electric Built-in Oven, RCA Whirlpool Disposal, RCA Whirlpool Dishwasher, RCA Whirlpool Automatic Ice Maker, RCA Whirlpool metal cabinets with removable wooden doors, adjustable, reinforced, braced shelves. Choose the finish from a variety that includes fruitwood and limed oak.

Tough, durable, resistant. Micalite cabinet top for the work area. See this last word in kitchen convenience at C & M Television, 308 W. Foster, MO-4-3511.

Refrigerator-Freezer
The RCA Whirlpool Refrigerator-Freezer features the automatic defrosting refrigerator section at the top and the true zero-degree freezer at the bottom. The ultraviolet purifying lamp purifies the air day and night, and an air circulating system sends currents of air up through the door, across the top, directly over the purifying lamp then over the coils and throughout the refrigerator. This action keeps the same constant temperature throughout the refrigerator, even in the door!

Other features include the glide out shelves, twin crispers, meat keeper, glide-out freezer basket, instant ice cube ejector, automatic ice tray filler (optional), two fast-freezing shelves. The giant size RCA Whirlpool oven is yours in exquisite copper-tone or satin-finish stainless steel. It has the balanced heat for even cooking, automatic clock, eye-level controls, interior oven floodlight with exterior switch, automatic appliance outlet, easy-to-clean porcelain interior, thick glass fiber insulation, tilt-proof oven racks

Gas Or Electric
Of course you may select the gas oven for your home. It has the high RCA Whirlpool standards of quality and the economy and convenience of gas fuel. See it at C & M!

The RCA Whirlpool Disposal conveniently washes away waste without mess, — the most sanitary way, down the drain. An extra convenience of the RCA Whirlpool kitchen is the Automatic Ice Maker. This machine which produces 50 pounds of ice a day, yet it occupies only 18 inches of cabinet space!

The RCA Whirlpool Washer-Dryer-Combination uses the new filter-stream to remove even the most stubborn soil and yet uses less water. The penetrating suds stream soaks into every fiber to loosen and remove soil. Then three clear-water rinses flush the soil and suds out of the clothes and out of the tub. Action is so gentle your daintiest lingerie can be washed safely.

RCA Victor Color TV
The RCA Whirlpool washer-dryer automatically dries your garments in gentle, tempered, heated air selected by you. It safely removes moisture and exhausts it out of the machine.

To help new home owners, C & M has special prices on this kitchen for builders. RCA Victor Color TV is the ultimate in television entertainment. You thrill to color programs in brilliant "living color," and enjoy regular shows in sharp, clear black-and-white. You enjoy RCA Victor Compatible Color TV for little more than the price of one. There is fast, easy tuning — just a few turns of the dials and your picture is tuned in. Just two simple controls for color in addition to

Pop Song Composer Writes Albums On Religious Faiths

NEW YORK (UP)—"This," said Gerald Marks, "is the love of my life — and let me tell you it's a long way from Tin Pan Alley to the Vatican."
The author of such resounding popular song hits as "All of Me" and "Is It True What They Say About Dixie?" held in his hand three record albums containing 30 songs about the Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish faiths.
Five years ago Marks, who has contributed music for such diverse outlets as the Ziegfeld Follies, the poetry of Carl Sandburg, and safety ditties for children, discovered that he didn't know too much about the holy days of his own Jewish faith.

He began studying their history and writing songs explaining, describing, and celebrating them. When he had finished 10, he began thinking about reports he had heard that the Vatican and various churches in Italy had sheltered refugees from Hitlerian persecution during World War II. He decided to do something in gratitude.

Jacoby On Bridge
BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Dr. Harvey Bluestone of New York won his first important tournament title when his team captured the Republic of Texas event in Fort Worth.

This final match was based on total points and a sporting three-no-trump bid that he brought home helped their cause materially. Harvey won the opening spade lead with the king and saw that he would have troubles. It seemed very likely that West would have the diamond ace for his overall and Harvey needed to bring home either the queen of spades or the king of diamonds to make his contract.

His first play was to lay down his ace of hearts and right then and there West threw the hand out the window. He played the ten of hearts!
Now Harvey ran all of dummy's clubs and discarded three hearts and a diamond. West let a diamond and two spades go and now Harvey threw him in with the king of hearts.

West could lead anything he chose but he could not stop the game any more.
Why should West have dropped the king of hearts on Harvey's ace? He should have seen that South would want to keep East out of the lead and that if he held the ace and queen of hearts he would surely have tried a finesse. Hence, East would hold the queen and it behooved West to get out of his partner's way pronto.

There is fast, easy tuning — just a few turns of the dials and your picture is tuned in. Just two simple controls for color in addition to ROME, Italy — Prima donna Maria Meneghini-Callias, who wrecked the opening of Rome's opera season by walking out in mid-performance, before leaving for Milan for a rest:

"I'll come back to sing for the Romans when all this fuss has died down."

CHICAGO—Teamster Vice President Harold J. Gibbons in revealing a plan to assess every teamster union official $1,040 to build a 2 million-dollar legal defense fund for James Hoffa and his allies:
"I suppose Hoffa will benefit from the fund."

Mount Katahdin, Maine, is the first point of land in the United States to catch the rays of the rising sun.

verse outlets as the Ziegfeld Follies, the poetry of Carl Sandburg, and safety ditties for children, discovered that he didn't know too much about the holy days of his own Jewish faith.
He began studying their history and writing songs explaining, describing, and celebrating them. When he had finished 10, he began thinking about reports he had heard that the Vatican and various churches in Italy had sheltered refugees from Hitlerian persecution during World War II. He decided to do something in gratitude.

Gets Enthusiastic Response
Marks described his plan to write original songs about Catholic holy days, and got an enthusiastic response. He returned to New York and with the aid of a priest put in seven months of intensive study of Catholicism and of the history of the times in which the holy days originated.

He wrote songs explaining and describing 10 Catholic holy days. Then, going through the same study process, he did 10 Protestant songs. Ray Middleton was secured to sing and do the narration on the three albums, which were issued recently under a new label set up specifically for them, Candide Records.

Marks describes the tunes there in as "semi-sacred standard music." He's enthusiastic about this latest project but says it doesn't mean he's going to quit Tin Pan Alley.

"I keep writing songs all the time," he said. "And let me tell you what Tin Pan Alley is—it's a state of mind. Wherever, at this moment, somebody is laboriously trying to compose a popular tune and set some words to it—that's Tin Pan Alley."

His Involvement Luck
As for the secret of turning out a hit tune, Marks believes much depends on luck, including the luck of finding the right person and circumstances to present it.

"Back in 1931, nobody wanted my song 'All of Me,' no publisher. Around the Middle West—I'm a native of Saginaw, Mich.—I got it on 10 pretty good singers to sing it on radio, and I didn't get a call for a single copy."
"But one day I ran into a singer named Belle Baker and this song hit her. Her husband had died a month before, and she was touched with such lines as 'Your goodbye left me with eyes that cry—how can I go on dear without you.'"

She sang it one Saturday night on a New York radio station, and on Monday morning it was a hit. Matter of fact, a publisher wired me right after he heard it that night, and I'll never forget the words: 'You will have a world-wide hit in 20 minutes.'"

CAPEHART OF THE GOP—Having a grand old party, Sen. Homer Capehart, Indiana Republican, takes the baton to lead the Butler University band in a spirited melody of marches at Indianapolis. The legislator stepped in to pep things up during halftime of the "Hoosier Classic," a collegiate basketball tournament.

Let Automatic Laundry Do Your Wash - - - Conveniently

AUTOMATIC LAUNDRY—IT AUTOMATICALLY SAVES YOU WORK—The Automatic Laundry, 812 W. Kingsmill, automatically does your washing and drying in about an hour, and for only less than $1—(with a small laundry even less.) The automatic machines adjust for your very-soiled clothes and for your delicate miracle fabrics. The wash cycle includes the presoak, wash, rinse, damp dry and spin. The cost is minimum: only 15c to wash a load in the 9 pound washer or 25c in the 16 pound capacity washer. The big 16 pound capacity dryers go a load for only 20c. Next wash day relax—let the Automatic Laundry do your work.

The convenience of the Automatic Laundry, 812 W. Kingsmill, has done away with the hard work, worry and fatigue of the old wash day.
At the Automatic Laundry You just place your wash in the automatic washing machine and relax. In half an hour your laundry is sparkling clean. All the work was done while you relaxed.
Then in about 20 minutes the automatic clothes dryer dries your laundry, has your clothes ready to fold and put away. Your laundry is dry and with the brilliance and freshness of outdoor drying.

The convenience of this work-less washing is yours and at a savings! A family laundry for less than a dollar—less for a small laundry! The Automatic Laundry operates like the "pay" television sets you find in many motels: to operate the 9 pound washing machine you deposit 15 cents; to operate the 9 pound gas dryer, 10 cents; to operate the giant, 16 pound washer, deposit 25 cents; to operate the giant 16 pound dryer, 20 cents.
These modern Philco-Bendix Automatic Washers and Dryers adjust-to-clean thoroughly your work clothes and garments made of delicate miracle fabrics. The wash cycle includes the presoak period, wash, rinse and damp dry spin. These machines completely wash and damp dry your laundry in one cycle — automatically.

Dryers are gas-heated tumblers through which a breeze of clean, fresh air gives your wash that smell of drying in the fresh sunlight.
Soft water exclusively used by the Automatic Laundry means an extra savings for you because it cuts the amount of soap you use in your wash.

Bring your laundry to the Automatic Laundry, get it started and then shop, read and relax while the completely automatic machines do your washing and drying.
With the Automatic Laundry the "wash day blues" are just a memory.
Always: there is plenty of FREE parking at the Automatic Laundry, 812 W. Kingsmill where the coin changer will make change for the washers and dryers — automatically.

Republicans End 1957 In Red, Demos In The Black
By NEIL MACNEIL
Washington Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (UP)—The Republican National Committee wound up 1957 in the red, it was revealed today. Its Democratic counterpart finished with a small surplus.
The GOP committee had a deficit of $308,812. It received $87,112 in contributions and spent $1,131,024.
The Democratic committee had a $6,786 surplus. It received $824,535 in contributions and spent $817,769.
The figures were disclosed in financial reports filed with the Clerk of the House, as required by law.
The Republican committee received 779,775 in gifts of $100 or more than $47,336 in less than $100. Thus, more than 8 per cent of its contributions were small.
The Democratic committee received $543,795 in contributions of $100 or more and $177,990 in less than $100. Not quite 33 per cent of this total was in small gifts.
This committee also listed a little more than $102,000 in "other receipts."
Among contributors to the Democratic committee was former President Truman, with $200 and
