W. A. Vestal, a petroleum industry consultant here and a Snyder City Councilman, has called attention to some information which indicates that Snyder should plan a spectacular celebration two years hence, and now is the time to get it on the calendar.

November of 1973 will mark the 25th anniversary of the discovery of the huge Canyon Reef Oil Field. Moreover, Vestal calculates that on the basis of current projections the Reef fields here will produce their one-billionth barrel of oil at about the time the 25th anniversary of Reef production is observed.

Vestal came up with some additional information and statistics he obtained by combining data from all of the reef fields and all of the secondary recovery units in operation—SACROC, Sharon Ridge, Daimond M and Cogdell units.

For example, oil production from the Reef fields for 1971 will be slightly higher than 71 million barrels, an all-time high record for a single year. Also this will be the third year in a row for the production from these fields to set an all-time high mark. Prior to 1969, the record was 1951 when 48 million barrels were produced.

Total oil production by the end of 1971 will amount to more than 851 million barrels, which means that the Reef fields have yielded about 23 per cent of the original oil in place. And that is about the full extent of recovery that could have been expected from primary producing methods.

This means that all of the oil produced form now on in these fields must be credited to pressure maintenance and secondary recovery operations.

"This fact has got to be a tremendous tribute to the far-sighted people responsible for forming our units during the first half of the fifties," Vestal declared.

And, indications are that even greater production is in store for 1972.

If anything ever stimulated a gigantic celebration, this should do it. And if the community is going to do it justice, the planning should begin right away.

SNYDER HOME OF WESTERN TEXAS COLLEGE

101st Coming Home Early

Phase-Out Launched

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. 101st Airborne Division, the captor of bloody Hamburger Hill, began phasing out of combat today, six weeks ahead of schedule, as part of an accelerated troop pullout to send thousands of GIs home from Vietnam for Christmas.

The 101st is the last remaining U.S. combat division in Vietnam and its withdrawal marks a milestone for President Nixon's Vietnamization program. When Nixon took office in January 1969, there were nine full U.S. combat divisions and separate brigades the equivalent of two more divisions operating in South Vietnam.

The U.S. Command said 1,585 troops of the 101st were pulled out of combat in today's initial phase and stood down in preparation to phase out of the northern battle zone below the demilitarized zone.

But some of the men won't be going home. Only those who have completed the major portion of their 12-month tour of duty or are being discharged early will return to the United States. Others will be transferred to U.S. units still active in South Vietnam.

The first units to stand down included the headquarters of the division's 3rd Brigade; an infantry battalion, the 3rd Battalion, 187th Infantry; and an artillery battalion, the 2nd Battalion, 319th Field Artillery.

The U.S. Command also announced the phaseout of four other units outside of the 101st Division which will cut strength by another 695 men. These included an air defense artillery battalion and three engineer companies.

President Nixon has ordered U.S. troop strength cut by 45,000 men over the next two months to an authorized ceiling of 139,000 by the end of January.

The 101st was not scheduled to begin phasing out until early next year, but its schedule was moved up after Nixon announced a week ago that he was increasing the rate of withdrawals from 14,300 a month to 22,500 a month for December and January because of the Christmas and New Years holidays.

The latest available summary of U.S. weekly strength, as of Nov. 11, lists 188,300 American troops in Vietnam. A new summary will be issued Monday. U.S. strength is expected to drop below the 184,000 ceiling Nixon set for the end of this month.

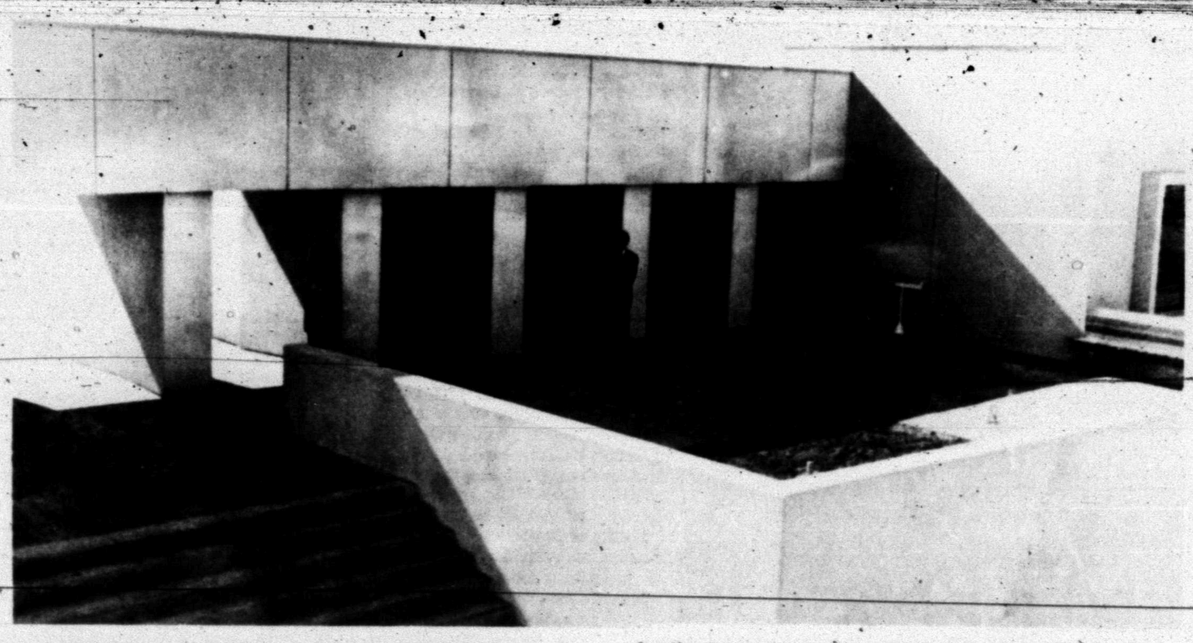

Sources said that while the 101st has begun phasing out, it likely would be early next year before the entire 15,000-man division completes the move.

The start of the pullout of the 101st comes at a time when there is a reported buildup in the A Shau Valley near the Laotian border and to the north of the valley, a vast region that the division once patrolled.

The 10-day battle for Hamburger Hill on the western edge of the A Shau Valley in May 1969 cost the 101st Division heavy casualties and stirred a controversy in the U.S. Congress. The assault on the hill was spearheaded by the 3rd Battalion, 187th Infantry, the battalion which stood down today.

Because of the public furor, Hamburger Hill was the last major sustained battle that Americans fought in South Vietnam. At the time there were 543,400 U.S. troops in the country.

A month later, Nixon announced the start of his program to disengage American forces from the war.

LATEST COMPLETION — This photograph shows the entrance to the Western Texas College Administration Building, the latest structure to be completed on the campus. It will be a focal point for the "open house" tours scheduled from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. today. Faculty and staff members will be on hand to escort groups of visitors through the WTC facilities.

WTC Bonds Sought To Complete Campus

The $2½-million bond issue to be presented to voters Tuesday by the Scurry County Junior College District is earmarked for completion of the Western Texas College campus and to provide for anticipated enrollment.

The polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. at all regular polling places in the county. Special attention has been called to the fact that four voting boxes which normally use the courthouse, will be in temporary facilities Tuesday due to the courthouse remodeling project. Box 1, Northeast Snyder, will be at Snyder National Bank; Box 17, Northwest Snyder, will be at the city hall; Box 18, Southwest Snyder, will be at the city police station; Box 20, Southeast Snyder, will be at the coliseum.

The bond issue is to provide funds for a student center, a health and physical education complex, a building with classrooms and an area for the preservation of the area's cultural heritage which will include museum facilities, completion of the academic and science center, site completion work, parking lots, sidewalks, tennis courts, additional boilers and related equipment for the power and maintenance building.

The student center was included in the original design of the campus, but it was removed from the project along with the health and physical education complex with the intention of including them in a later bond issue to complete the campus.

Of particular need to future WTC dormitory residents and commuting students is the student center. The student center building will be the multi-purpose center of the campus. It will provide for numerous material and recreational needs of both students and faculty. The building will be located in the center of the campus between the dormitory complex and the academic science area.

The student center will serve as a food service and dining area for dormitory and commuter students. As the need arises, citizens of the community may have an opportunity to use the facility as a community events area. The building will also house the college bookstore, the offices of the director of student activities, the counseling and testing center, several classrooms, the work areas for the college newspaper and other publications, and a space for the student to meet with others.

GIFT TO COLLEGE — This statue of Romeo and Juliet, given to Western Texas College by Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin, will be formally accepted by the college during the "open house" this afternoon.

Tax Cuts Vote Set Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has broken its deadlock over a bitterly controversial presidential campaign-financing plan and agreed on Monday as the day to vote whether to add it to the $27 billion tax-cut bill.

Republican leader Hugh Scott made the proposal Friday night for a Monday vote and won the acceptance of his Republican and Democratic colleagues.

The agreement came after a lengthy, acrimonious session which Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said "has not been one of the Senate's finest hours.

"We have been dilatory, we have been engaging in tactics of obstruction, we have been playing politics," he said.

Deocrats continued to insist they had the votes to tie the plan to the tax bill which is a key part of President Nixon's economic program.

They defeated a Republican effort to kill the plan on a 49-46 vote Thursday.

GOP senators said the weekend respite would give them time to try to change enough votes to get a Senate rejection.

Agreement also indicated Republicans wanted to get on with the tax bill, which already is behind schedule and is stalling other major Senate business.

The Senate put the campaign financing issue aside for today and took up half a dozen amendments dealing with various tax benefits in the bill.

The presidential campaign-financing plan could give each major party nominee up to $20.4 million in tax funds next year.

It would be particularly attractive to Democrats, who have had money problems since the 1968 election.

The money in the fund would come from taxpayer checkoffs designating on income tax returns that $1 of the tax payment is to be allocated to campaign finances.

Dr. Foote Speaker For Service Here

Dr. Gaston Foote, pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Fort Worth, will be the guest speaker Tuesday evening at the community Thanksgiving worship service sponsored by the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance.

The service is set for 7:30 p.m. at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. Music will be presented by a choir made up of members from various churches, under direction of Dr. Marvin Genuchi.

Dr. Foote has held pastorates at Amarillo, Little Rock, Ark., Montgomery, Ala., and Dayton, Ohio, as well as Fort Worth. He holds the BA and BD degrees from Southern Methodist University, the ThD from Iliff School of Theology, the DD from Miami University of Ohio and the LLD from Texas Wesleyan College.

He was a delegate to the World Methodist Conference in London in 1966 and in Denver in 1971, and he was an exchange preacher there in 1949. He was named Distinguished Alumnus of SMU in 1966.

DR. GASTON FOOTE

Dr. Foote also is a well-known author having written five books, the latest being "Out of Their Own Mouths," in 1967.

The public is invited to attend the community service Tuesday evening.

Guided Tours Of WTC Set Today

Area residents and guests will have another opportunity today (Sunday) to tour facilities on the Western Texas College Campus, where construction is continuing on the first phase of the county junior college district's initial building program.

The administration building, which was completed and put into service just two weeks ago will be the feature attraction during the "open house" today between the hours of 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

During the open house, the college will officially accept a statue of Romeo and Juliet which has been donated to WTC by Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McLaughlin.

There will be guided tours of the college plant, with faculty and staff members scheduled to be on hand to escort groups of visitors through the college plant.

Meanwhile, the college district is prepared for a bond election scheduled for Tuesday. County voters will decide whether the college district shall issue $2½ million in bonds to finance the completion of the college building program. The major buildings included in the proposal are a student center and physical education center, both of which were in the original campus plans but were deleted when funds ran short; an area heritage center and museum; completion of the academic science center, necessary additions to power and service facilities, along with parking lots, etc.

This proposal would equip Western Texas College to accommodate an enrollment up to 2,000 students.

Porter Randall Dies Saturday

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Porter Randall, a newsman widely known to Texas radio listeners, died Saturday of a recurring illness. He was 56.

He had been heard since 1941 on Fort Worth's KFJZ and the other 120 stations of the Texas State Network.

Many Texans could recall hearing his voice at the end of World War II as he read the names of Texas soldiers returning home. Randall had spent hours learning where and when the troopships would land so he could give relatives of servicemen from Texas some idea when their boys would be home.

He was an accredited war correspondent for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

In 1949 at the invitation of the secretary of the Air Force, he toured Europe and visited every air base in the British Isles, elsewhere in Europe and in Alaska, viewing Texas servicemen and broadcasting messages home to their families.

Randall was known for a slow and deliberate style of news delivery, and his low, booming voice was heard on radios in restaurants and other business places, in homes and in cars. For many, he was the day's alarm clock.

He was a graduate of the University of Missouri school of journalism.

Before coming to Fort Worth, he worked for the Kansas City Star and for radio stations in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. He was heard for a time on the Fort Worth station formerly known as KGKO.

On several occasions the globetrotting Randall circled the world, and he made annual trips to Tahiti, the Orient or Africa. The resulting travelogue shows were seen by thousands.

It was not unusual for Randall to fill more than 300 speaking engagements within a single year.

He also found time to be a bandsman, Little Theater actor, professional magician, public speaker, tour director, world traveler and newsman for millions, Porter Randall is dead at the age of 56.

President and general manager Stan Wilson of the Texas State Network said, "Porter Randall will be sorely missed by the Texas State Network organization and the millions of Texans who heard his daily broadcasts."

Lobby Of Millionaires Is Dropped

NEW YORK (AP) — An attempt to organize a lobby of 60 millionaires to press for political and governmental reforms has been abandoned primarily because the participants objected to the publicity.

The effort began last month with a luncheon that was supposed to be secret, but which was reported in the news media the next day.

Howard J. Samuels, who organized the effort, said Thursday the news accounts portrayed the group as asking presidential candidates to support various reforms in return for their financial support.

"They don't like to admit that or see it in print," said Samuels, the millionaire former commerce undersecretary who now heads the city's Off-Track Betting Corp.

"We made some mistakes in not projecting this as an educational effort," Samuels said, explaining that the luncheon had left the implication that the group was "threatening the candidates."

Samuels had hoped the group could persuade candidates to support such reforms as abolition of the congressional seniority system, modernization of state and local governments and democratization of the political parties.

Samuels' assessment of the effort's failure was backed by another millionaire who declined to be identified.

Exams Due For Summer Federal Jobs

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Omar Burleson (D-Tex) said today that the Civil Service Commission is now receiving applications for the 1972 competitive examination for summer employment with the United States Government. The examination leads to eligibility for appointment to most temporary summer jobs at Grades GS-1 through 4, and also Post Office Clerk-Carrier PFS-5.

Those who are interested in the summer jobs covered may apply to take the written test on or before three filing dates – Dec. 3, 1971, Jan. 7, 1972 and Feb. 2, 1972. Rep. Burleson stressed that applications for the written test postmarked after Feb. 2, 1972, will not be accepted. If you miss the last test, you can not be considered for jobs filled by this application and for maximum consideration, you should apply as soon as possible.

The Congressman noted that applicants rated eligible in 1971 need not take the written test again unless they wish to improve their scores. They will automatically receive a special form to update their qualifications and indicate their availability for employment in 1972.

Any application forms needed to apply for jobs described in Civil Service Announcement No. 414 may be obtained from college placement offices, most post offices, and U. S. Civil Service Commission Area Offices.

Copies of Announcement No. 414, entitled "Summer Jobs in Federal Agencies," which provides complete information about summer job opportunities in Federal Agencies, are currently available on request through Congressman Burleson's Washington office, located in Room 2369 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515 or at the Congressman's district office, 2101 Federal Building, Abilene, Texas 79601.

Bill Stern Dies At 64

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Stern, whose voice was known to millions as a radio sports broadcaster, died Friday night at his home here. He was 64.

Sports fans remembered him for his sharp, vibrant and authoritative sports announcing.

Stern was also well known for an autobiographical book, "The Taste of Ashes," describing his recovery from narcotics addiction acquired after a 1935 auto accident in which he lost a leg.

His comeback to the sports announcing scene was followed closely by radio fans. A year after the accident he was back in front of the microphones again.

In 1955, Stern collapsed while doing a football game. Two years later, he was back doing a series of sports shows.

Shortly after his collapse he said television had done away with much of the need for colorful broadcasters.

"And that's hard on a guy who's been trained to keep talking," he said.

'Pledge' Signals Campaign Issue

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon's blunt pledge to press wage-price controls whether organized labor likes it or not has met with brusque dismissal by a hostile AFL-CIO convention. The confrontation apparently signals a major presidential campaign clash in 1972.

Labor sources expressed mixed views over who came off best politically in the rare public clash between Nixon and President George Meany of the AFL-CIO at the federation's convention Friday.

"Nixon was speaking to a national audience," said Peter T. Schoemann, a member of the AFL-CIO's powerful 35-man executive board that earlier won convention approval to refuse cooperation with federal wage controls.

A White House aide said Nixon came here against the advice of all his advisers. The aide pictured the convention treatment of the President as "studied contempt."

Many labor leaders viewed Nixon's speech before some 2,000 delegates, alternates and guests as the opening Rally in the President's bid for re-election.

"He didn't win any friends here, but I'm afraid its going to have a big effect in the nation," another AFL-CIO official said of Nixon's face-to-face showdown with labor critics.

Nixon said whether he gets cooperation from labor and other groups or not, "it is my obligation as President of the United States to make this program of stopping the rise in the cost of living succeed."

The audience at best gave scattered polite applause, and laughed when Nixon contended that his 90-day wage-price freeze was a remarkable success and that "if you don't think so, go home and ask your wives who go to the grocery store."

Meany and most other labor leaders are waiting only for the Democrats to settle on a presidential nominee before throwing all their support that way.

Democratic presidential contender Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota got a comparatively warm welcome in a speech backing labor's pay demands. He suggested that Nixon be "phased out" of the White House next year.

Many of the labor leaders here talked more favorably about a Democratic ticket headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, with possibly Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts as Jackson's running mate.

"While some of you may be against me politically, and some of you may be against my party, I know from experience over the last three years that when the chips are down, organized labor is for America," Nixon said in one of numerous appeals that fell all but flat.

Mustard Gas Stored Secretly

DENVER (AP) — Mustard gas has been stored secretly at an army depot near Pueblo for the past nine years, the Rocky Mountain News said Saturday.

The gas, a blistering agent, was a feared chemical warfare agent used in Europe in World War I.

Some details about the existence of the gas were found in a federally required environmental impact starement on how the Army plans to dispose of the gas, the Denver newspaper said.

Although the quantity stored at the depot was not listed, the impact statement said it is contained in five types of howitzer and mortar shells weighing as much as 95 pounds.

Robert Threlkeld, who wrote the News' article in Washington, quoted an unnamed spokesman for the Army Materiel Command who said quantities of mustard gas have been destroyed at Pueblo for a number of years.

Threlkeld said the first indication the gas was stored at the depot, not far from Pueblo, population 91,000, was in a draft of an environmental impact statement recently circulated among various state and federal agencies.

AFTER BOARD OK'S RAISES

Miners Ordered Back

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Union officials have ordered striking coal miners back to the pits following federal Pay Board approval of first-year terms of a new contract calling for a 16.8 per cent boost in wages and other benefits.

The board's action in Washington on Friday apparently cleared the way to a return to full production in the nation's soft coal industry, which was shut down Oct. 1 when 80,000 miners walked out at the end of the old contract.

The new pact between the United Mine Workers union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association was signed last Sunday but some 50,000 miners were still off the job Friday, many of them awaiting the board's action.

Other strikers, however, vowed to fight the union's back-to-work order. They claimed terms of the pact approved by the union's Wage and Policy committee failed to include additional compensation for disabled miners and widows.

The strength of the dissidents was not known.

Meanwhile, chief federal mediator J. Curtis Counts reported in Miami Beach, Fla., that he was making progress in efforts there to settle the 51-day-old strike by East and Gulf coast dockworkers against the North Atlantic Shipping Association.

Anthony Scotto, vice president of the striking International Longshoremen's Association, said he thought his union and the shippers might reach agreement on major contract issues by Sunday.

Counts said Scotto's assessment was "very enterprising" and added: "It can happen. I wouldn't say it couldn't happen. If things start going, we'll meet all night."

CRMWD Board Meets Tuesday

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday at the district headquarters in Big Spring.

General business of the district will be discussed, but one of the major items is due to be the consideration of authorizing the issuance of CRMWD-City of Midland Waste Disposal Contract Revenue Bonds. The district previously agreed to become a signator to the city's bonds, which would enable the city to obtain a greater percentage assistance in a sanitary sewer expansion program.

The walkout, which has closed most Atlantic and Gulf porta, was triggered by a dispute over a guaranteed income plan in the port of New York and involves local issues in other ports.

Mines shut down in the coal workers strike are mostly in the Midwest and Appalachia, with about half of them in West Virginia. Some mine operators said they expected workers back today while others were looking to reopen on Monday.

The new contract reportedly calls for a 39 per cent increase in wages and other benefits over three years. The Pay Board, in a 10-3 vote, approved only first year terms, which would boost salaries by 11 per cent with an additional 5.8 per cent increase in other benefits.

Governors Push GOP Unity

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer h

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP) — Republican governors are rallying behind President. Nixon, preaching GOP unity in preparation for a 1972 campaign in which they hope to increase their number and their political clout.

"We must have a strong voice in how the national campaign is run," Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan said Friday after he was elected chairman of the Republican Governors Association.

He said the counsel and campaign efforts of Republican governors, in charge in but 20 of 50 states, "could provide one of the greatest [illegible] assets for the re-election of President Nixon ..."

"There is more unity among Republican governors, and more support for President Nixon, than ever before," said Milliken, who had been critical of the tone and tactics of the GOP campaign in 1970.

"My feeling is that the administration is going with a positive and affirmative program in 1972," Milliken said.

Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia, elected conference vice chairman, agreed. He said there will be no trace of exclusionary Southern strategy in the 1972 GOP campaign.

Milliken said the party must move vigorously over the next year to broaden its support.

There was no more than a murmur of dissent during the three-day conference in this southern Indiana spa. Gov. Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts did complain that the GOP is doing poorly in attracting new voters.

"The Republican party's efforts must be broadcast, not buried in highly charged, highly inflammatory rhetoric," he said, criticizing publications put out by the Republican national committee.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, who had once stirred similar complaints from liberal GOP governors, told the GOP governors everybody except Nixon is expandable in the next election, "and that includes me."

Future of NATO Base To Be Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future of the NATO base at Keflavik will be discussed when Secretary of State William P. Rogers visits Iceland early next month, Pentagon sources say.

Prime Minister Olafur Johannesson, head of the new government installed last July, has said Iceland wants to renegotiate its defense arrangement with the United States.

Rogers reportedly will stop over at Reykjavik either on the way to Brussels for a ministerial council meeting of the Atlantic Alliance Dec. 8-10, or on his way back to Washington.

Thailand's Political Parties Abolished

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn abolished all political parties in Thailand today.

Thanom's National Executive Council announced: "No one is allowed to form any political party from now on." Thanom, the premier, took absolute power Wednesday and abolished the Cabinet, Parliament and the consitution.

Smith To Seek Third Term

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith, who has been hot and cold on a re-election race for the past several months, said Friday he will seek a third term in the tradition of former Govs. Allan Shivers, Price Daniel and John Connally.

Smith's surprise move Friday afternoon, with less than an hour's notice to reporters, pits him against Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, a long-time political foe, in the legislature and a protege of Connally, and former president Lyndon B. Johnson.

Also in the Democratic primary race is Dolph Briscoe, Uvalde rancher and banker who ran a surprisingly strong race in 1968 when Smith ran second to Don Yarborough in the primary. Smith won the runoff and general election by healthy margins. He had no opponent in 1970.

Smith, 59, whose name has been mentioned prominently in the stock fraud scandal, said he would make the investigation, which he has called "political harassment," a major issue of the campaign.

"It is my feeling that once the emotions are over, my position will be praised rather than criticized," he told the news conference.

"We hope the Sharpstown issue will be outstanding," Smith told a hurriedly-called news conference in the small cluttered office of the State Democratic Executive Committee, several blocks from the state Capitol. Smith's press aide, Jerry Hall, who Tuesday said he was joining Barnes' campaign organization on Dec. 1, was not present.

"I think it is evident to most Texans that a change is needed in the governor office to provide more vigorous leadership in step with our changing times," Barnes said of Smith's announcement.

"Gov. Smith's announcement will have no effect on my campaign plans."

Smith said he hoped the pending civil and criminal court actions involving get-rich-quick schemes using no-collateral loans from the now defunct Sharpstown State Bank would be a campaign issue because:

"We vetoed the bills ... We killed them ... The legislature passed them ... There is no question the legislature did not give them the consideration they deserved."

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission originally charged in a civil suit that high state officials were given special opportunities to buy National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock with Sharpstown State Bank loans in return for passage of two bank deposit insurance bills through the 1969 legislature. The two bills quickly passed both the House and Senate in a special session but were vetoed later by Smith.

Equatorial Bulge Is Pictured

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Space cexperts have reported that radio tracking of Mariner 9 shows Mars has an "equatorial bulge" and appears to be slightly oval-shaped rather than round like the earth.

Scientists at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory also reported Friday the giant dust storm that has obscured much of the planet is slowly clearing.

"Surface detail is beginning to come through. These are the clearest pictures yet," said Dr. Bradford Smith of New Mexico University as he viewed the latest photographs from Mariner 9 as it orbits Mars.

Scientists said it was very important to define Mars' shape precisely because it could give new evidence about the planet's evolution and whether Mars is still evolving or died millions of years ago.

Scientists also reported detection of water vapor over the planet's south pole.

The Martian south pole was one of the two areas Mariner 9's television cameras were able to penetrate last week through the dust storm that has shrouded the planet since late September.

Robert Steinbacher, project scientist, said the several-mile-high storm may be a blessing in disguise when the dust settles and Mariner can study the dynamics of the disturbance, the largest in the planet's recorded history.

Amchitka Test Was Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission says its underground nuclear blast on Alaska's Amchitka Island killed some fish, birds and wildlife but apparently caused "no permanent harm."

In a report Friday on preliminary lab tests run after the Nov. 6 explosion of a Spartan missile warhead, the AEC said the test appeared to have been successful with the desired information" collected for further analysis, which won't be complete before next spring.

The agency said in the aftermath of the explosion it found 14 dead sea otters, four dead seals, hundreds of dead fish and 16 dead birds-nearly all of which were killed by the blast.

The AEC said there was "no detectable release of radioactivity into the sea or air, but the tundra around ground zero "was considerably cracked and otherwise disturbed, as had been expected."

One of the few surprises, the agency said, was that "cliff and turf falls along the Bering Sea for a two-mile stretch near ground zero were greater than had been predicted, and preliminary indications are that the beach and ocean floor in the near vicinity of the (blast) site has been lifted permanently by several feet."

Rhoads Takes Issue On Papers

AUSTIN (AP) — The man who sits atop the federal government's huge mountain of paper took issue indirectly Saturday with those who believe it was morally right to release the secret "Pentagon papers" to newsmen.

"No one outside of the duly constituted authorities has a legal or moral right to determine whether classified material may be divulged," said Dr. James B. Rhoads, archivist of the United States.

Rhoads spoke at the Collectors' Institute at the University of Texas.

"The curse of (Security) classification will be with us for a long time, if not forever, so long as the public record must also not betray the public's trust," he said.

Rhoads referred directly to the "Pentagon papers" only once, saying the incident probably has helped the General Services Administration's case for an appropriation to step up declassification of World War II era secret papers.

"There is no question but that security classification is absolutely essential to our national safety, but what must be classified today must not necessarily remain classified for 5, 10, or 20 years, and we must find a way to make certain that necessary safeguards are maintained for as long as they are needed and no longer," he said.

China Accuses India

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — China has charged India with intervening in Pakistan's internal affairs and causing the present crisis on the subcontinent.

In a statement Friday before the General Assembly's Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee, Chinese delegate Fu Hao said the civil war in East Pakistan "can only be settled by the Pakistani people themselves."

Without mentioning India by name, he said the displacement of millions of East Pakistani refugees was caused by "a certain country's intervention in Pakistan's internal affairs, which has resulted in the present tension on the subcontinent."

Fu said this country continues "to exploit the question of refugees from East Pakistan, to interfere in the internal affairs of Pakistan, to carry out subversive activities against her and obstruct the return of the East Pakistani refugees to their homeland."

Indian Ambassador Samar Sen said of the Chinese charge: "It is the standard line of Peking and they repeated it here."

Computer Used At Dentistry School

ATLANTA (AP) — Emory University's school of dentistry is putting a computer to work at diagnosing tooth ailments and cancer of the jaw.

A computerized image-processing technique which has been used to analyze aerial photographs will be used in conjunction with X-rays at the school's diagnostic clinic.

Dr. Joseph Bissell, director of the clinic, says the technique can lessen the chances of erroneously extracting a healthy tooth and may provide an alternative for surgical treatment of cancer of the jaw.

Tiger Basketball Team Has Talent, Experience

"It'll be between us and Lamesa," declared Coach Bob Moore.

He was speaking about the upcoming District 3-AAA basketball race and the fact that coaches in the district have chosen Lamesa and Snyder preseason co-favorites.

The 20-game 3-tournament slate begins Tuesday night with Levelland providing the opposition in the Scurry County Coliseum. The B game will begin at 6:15 p.m., followed by the varsity clash.

The Tigers are expected to have their strongest team since 1964. Only one senior was lost off last year's squad. That would be guard Bid Cooper.

Included among the returning lettermen are four regulars: Dub Preston, a 6-5 senior wingman; Kent Horsley, a 6-8 senior post man; Tommy Washington, a 5-11 junior wingman-guard; and, Jerry Brooks, a 6-3 junior post-wingman. This is Washington's last year of eligibility.

"We've got good height and experience," said Moore, who is in his first year at the Black and Gold helm. He came here after a successful tenure at Phillips.

"What we've been working on to improve is the defense and rebounding," said the coach.

The Tigers had a scrimmage with Abilene High the other day and definitely held the upper hand.

"We're going to run a double post offense with two wingmen and one guard," said Moore.

Horsley and Jerry Brooks probably will start at post with Preston and Washington at wing. The other starter probably will be Fred Liner, a 6-2 letterman guard. He's a junior.

Two other junior lettermen — Gary Brooks (6-3) and Kevin Jones (6-4) have been working out with the squad and will be counted on to make substantial contributions this season. Gary is a wingman while Jones plays post.

"We'll have about seven more boys out after the football season ends (it closed Friday night)," said Moore.

Defensively, Moore plans to run the man-to-man, although the team will go into the zone some.

"We like a fast game and will be pressing a lot of the time," Moore concluded.

The schedule:

Tuesday, Nov. 23 — Levelland.
Friday, Nov. 26 — At Ector.

Brian Kelly Suing Honda Co.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Brian Kelly, who lost a starring role in the film "The Love Machine" because of a motorcycle accident last year is suing the maker of the vehicle and the man who sold it to him. He asks $25 million.

Kelly, 40, suffered head, leg and foot injuries in the accident Nov. 26, 1970, when his Honda motorcycle failed to negotiate a curve and crashed into an embankment. He claimed in the suit filed in Superior Court here Friday that the accident was caused by mechanical failure.

Named in the suit were American Honda Motor Co., Inc., and J.D. Mitchell, the dealer.

Kelly starred in the "Flipper" television series.

Winning Grid Coach Loses Job

HONOLULU (AP) — "Another such victory and we are ruined," King Pyrrhus said in 280 B.C.

S. Sgt. Eddie Smith knows the feeling.

The reason?

The Panthers haven't lost in seven games, and won by an average of 67 points.

After the first six victories, Smith got the word to hold his young (11-13-year-old) scoring machine in check. The Panthers responded by thrashing their latest opponent 79-0.

Smith received his dismissal letter this week from Col. William J. Farrell, director of community activities at Schofield Barracks Army Base.

The letter read, in part: "The manner in which your Little League football team, the Panthers, has run up scores in league games is detrimental to the objectives of the football program.

"Effective 18 November 1971 you are denied participation in USARHAW youth activity programs in any official capacity for the duration of your assignment in Hawaii."

Smith had been told to use a less effective combination of players and to shift his players to new positions in their last game.

That slowed the Panthers a bit. They lost four straight fumbles before getting on the scoreboard.

Parents of Panther players and even a coach in the same league came to Smith's defense, saying that he was being unduly punished for his excellence.

"The guy's got a red-hot machine and he's playing everybody," an opposing coach said.

The coach added, however, that Smith probably hesitated to use his younger players against older opposition, even when the score was out of reach.

"It would be unfair to his own kids, who might get hurt," the coach said.

NFL Divisional Leads Go On The Line Today

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three divisional leads are on the line in head-to-head clashes and the three others could change just as easily Sunday when the National Football League heads into a torrid home stretch.

Baltimore, trailing Miami by half a game in the American Conference East, heads south for its first meeting of the season with the Dolphins and, in National Conference rematches, Dallas invades Washington and San Francisco visits Los Angeles.

The Cowboys, stunned by a 20-16 loss to Washington Oct. 3 that knocked them out of a share of the NFC East lead, trail the Redskins by half a game. And the Rams, who whipped San Francisco 20-13 Oct. 10, are half a game back of the 49ers in the West.

Sunday's other games in the 10th weekend of action have Minnesota at New Orleans, San Diego at Oakland, Detroit at Chicago, Denver at Kansas City, Philadelphia at St. Louis, the New York Giants at Pittsburgh, New England at Cleveland, Houston at Cincinnati and the New York Jets at Buffalo. In Monday night's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) game, Green Bay is at Atlanta.

Running back Jim Kiick, hampered by a leg injury last week, is due to return to full action for the Dolphins, rejoining teammate Larry Csonka, the AFC's leading rusher.

Quarterback Bob Griese and wide receiver Paul Warfield will be out to repeat last week's performance against Pittsburgh, when they teamed for three Miami touchdown passes including a club-record 86-yarder.

Johnny Unitas showed he's back in form, taking over for Earl Morrall in the second quarter and guiding the Colts to two touchdowns and a narrow victory over the Jets.

But the Baltimore ground game may be slowed. Norm Bulaich, the conference's No. 4 ground gainer, missed the second half of the New York game after reinjuring his ankle. The Colts, though still possess the league's best defense.

The Cowboys, No. 1 in NFC offense, have won their last two games since discarding their quarterback-shuttling system and giving No. 2 NFC passer Roger Staubach the full-time job.

But he'll be going against the Redskins' "Over-the-Hill Gang," the conference's second-best defense. Washington, though, has managed only a tie in its past two games.

A concussion knocked Los Angeles quarterback Roman Gabriel out of the first meeting with San Francisco but he's back in shape now, the No. 4 NFC passer and coming off a fine performance in the Rams' victory over Detroit last week.

The 49ers, an upset loser a week ago to surprising New Orleans, will counter with the second and fourth-best conference receivers in Ted Kwalick and Gene Washington.

Defense, the best in the NFC, is still the best offense for the Vikings, who blanked Green Bay last week and they'll be going for season shutout No. 4 against the Saints. But New Orleans, with Edd Hargett at the helm, has been knocking off front-runners left and right.

The Raiders, leading the AFC West by half a game over Kansas City, will be out to repeat their second-week 34-0 walloping of San Diego. But the Chargers, coming off their last-second squeaker over St. Louis, still have the conference's top offense and its best pass catcher in Billy Parks.

It's a "must win" game for both the Bears, a game back of the Vikes in the NFC Central Division, and the Lions, 1½ off the pace. Bobby Douglass has piloted Chicago to victory in three of the past four games, starting with a 28-23 upset over Detroit and finishing with last Sunday's one-pointer over Washington. The Lions, led by top conference quarterback Greg Landry and No. 2 rusher Steve Owens, will try to exploit the Chicago defense.

The Chiefs' Len Dawson-to-Otis Taylor passing duo will be out to make it a season sweep over the Broncos, who will start Steve Ramsey at quarterback in place of injured Don Horn, and play their first game under new head coach Jerry Smith, who replaced Lou Saban.

A victory by the Cardinals would boost the emerging Eagles out of the NFC East cellar for the first time this season.

The Steelers hope to rebound from their loss to Miami and retain at least a share of the AFC Central lead. The Giants' running game has received a severe setback with the loss of Ron Johnson for the rest of the year due to torn knee cartilage.

The Patriots, with brilliant rookie quarterback Jim Plunkett, need one more victory to achieve their best season since 1966 but the Browns need the victory more—to at least keep pace with Pittsburgh.

Despite a 2-7 record, the Bengals still have a shot at the AFC Central title and are gaining momentum with the return of Virgil Carter. An Oilers victory would vault them over Cincinnati and out of the division basement.

The Bills, still looking for their first victory, have lost two of the past three games by only five points apiece. The Jets hope to repeat their earlier 28-17 triumph over Buffalo.

Although the Packers were shut out a week ago, rookie John Brockington took over as the league's top rusher by piling up 149 yards against Minnesota. Bob Berry, recovered from a pulled hamstring, is slated to start at quarterback for the Falcons.

Mal Whitfield, two-time Olympic 800 meters champion, won three gold medals in the 1951 inaugural Pan-American games in Buenos Aires.

Hawks Trade Bill Bridges

ATLANTA, (AP) — Bill Bridges, the Atlanta Hawks' leading rebounder for the past five years, has been traded to Philadelphia for Jim Washington in a straight player transaction, the Atlanta team has announced.

Washington was the Hawks' No. 1 draft choice in 1965. He went to Chicago in 1966 in the expansion draft and was traded to Philadelphia in 1969. The Hawks announced the trade Friday.

The 6-foot-7, 220 pound Washington was Philadelphia's fourth leading scorer last year and averaged 13 points per game. He was the club's second leading rebounder with 747 rebounds.

Bridges had spent his entire NBA career with the Hawks, joining the club in 1962 after playing one year in the old American Basketball League.

Bill Toomey, 1968 Olympic decathlon champion, won the decathlon in the 1967 Pan-American games in Winnipeg.

The mentally retarded are willing workers, and will stay on the job at routine tasks. They genuinely want to make good, and work particularly hard to accomplish this. Their attendance record is usually better than average. They are not job-hoppers. They're happy to learn a task, and stick with it. In the proper setting, the mentally retarded are loyal, steady, and dependable.

TOUCHDOWN RUN — Snyder High School's Tommy Welsh (88) breaks a tackle and runs 19 yards for a touchdown against the Lake View Chiefs. The action occurred at Lake View Friday night as the Tigers closed out their 1971 football season with a 33-7 triumph. The Tigers won second place in District 3-AAA.

Tigers Rip Lake View, Capture Second Place

LAKE VIEW. — Snyder's fighting Tigers completed a winning football season here Friday night with an impressive 33-7 triumph over the Lake View Chiefs, scoring in every period.

The Tigers dominated the game and never were seriously threatened. Lake View managed its only touchdown after they were down 33-0. They were game but simply outmanned.

Sammie Harrison, little Tiger tailback, was the outstanding ball carrier. He gained 171 yards on 14 carries. Travis Bunch, who also plays tailback, had a good night with 94 paces on 11 efforts. Fullback Mike Glasscock netted 67 yards on 15 runs. Tommy Welsh, reserve fullback showed promise for next season by scoring a touchdown and gaining 29 yards on five carries.

A fumble stopped the Tigers on their first possession, but they swept 82 yards on 10 plays to score with 3:05 remaining in the initial period. The touchdown was a nifty play with Bunch taking a pitchout from quarterback Butch Buchanan and heading right as if he was going to run. Suddenly he stopped and lofted an aerial to Gary Patterson who speared the ball and fell to the turf just inside the goal line. Sandy Land's extra point kick was accurate.

Bunch contributed the longest run in the drive—a 52-yard romp around right end—but a penalty had set the ball back to the Chief 42. From that point, Glasscock, Bunch and Harrison alternated carries down to the 19.

Late in the first quarter, Snyder launched a drive at its own 29 which culminated 71 yards later in the second period with a two-yard touchdown burst over left tackle by Harrison. Land's kick was wide right, leaving the Tigers ahead, 13-0, with 6:44 remaining in the half.

The drive required 14 plays with Buchanan, Bunch, Glasscock and Harrison doing the damage. Harrison turned in the biggest gainer—a 30 yard sprint around right end—to set up first and ten at the Chief 31. On an important third and goal situation from the 10, Glasscock charged over left tackle and fought his way to the two to set up the TD.

Lake View threatened twice in the second but the Tiger defenders rose to the challenge both times. The first march carried from the Chief 30 to the Snyder 24 with second-string halfbacks Sam Hernandez and Monti Eady doing most of the ball carrying. Jimmy Watson, reserve quarterback, guided the attack. A 15-yard penalty also helped the drive. But the Tigers threw the quarterback for a loss, batted down two passes and a short completion ended the threat.

About a minute later, the Chiefs took over at the Snyder 37 following a fumble recovery by tackle Jimmy Trojcak. With the first team back in, the Chiefs marched to the 27 with halfback John Paul Lee and quarterback Steve Wilson doing the running. But Bunch leaped high in the air to intercept a fourth-down aerial in the end zone to stop the threat.

The Tigers scored on their first two possessions in the third quarter. They marched 63 yards in seven plays for the first touchdown. Harrison went 16 yards on a trap play up the middle to the Chief 47. Bunch went off tackle for five to the 42. Then Harrison went off tackle, cut to his right, and charged for a 24 yard gain to the 18. Glasscock went up the middle for five to the 13. Harrison added eight to the five. Bunch hit for two more, then Glasscock bulled ahead for the final three. Trojcak stopped Glasscock at the one on a run for two bonus points with 7:47 remaining in the third quarter.

On their next possession, the Tigers went 94 yards in seven plays. Harrison gained four to the 10. A 15-yard penalty put the ball on the 25. Then short runs by Glasscock, Harrison, halfback Jimmy Dyess, Glasscock again, and then Bunch set up second and five from the 41. Harrison shot over left tackle and romped the 59 yards to the goal behind great blocking. Gary Patterson, Tiger wingman, cut down the safety at the 10. Land's kick made it 26-0 with 2:28 remaining.

Snyder had another opportunity to score late in the period when Tim Holder intercepted a pass at the 50 and returned it to the 43. However, a fumble on the first play of the fourth quarter stopped the drive.

Neither team could move until about midway of the last stanza when the Tigers cranked up their final drive--a 52-yard march that required only six plays. V. T. Roberson made a nice 18-yard punt return to set up the march. On first down, he gained two to the 50. Harrison added four to the Chief 46. Then Glasscock rambled for 19 to the 27. Harrison added five to the 22, then Welsh gained three to the 19. A good block at left tackle cleared the sophomore fullback past the line. He ran over the linebacker, cut to his left and ran down the east sidelines to the goal. Land's kick made it 33-0 with 2:25 remaining.

Lee made a 30-yard return of the kickoff and the Chiefs drove the remaining 40 yards to the goal in four plays. Fullback Chuck Avants went up the middle for seven to the 33. Lee contributed three to the 30. Wilson kept for six to the 24. Then Lee headed wide left, took a pitchout from Wilson, and scampered the final 24 yards. Donnie Ottaberry's kick from placement made it 33-7.

It was a fiercely contested game, and credit must be given to the Chiefs for scoring that last touchdown after they were down 33-0.

It would be hard to single out any of the Tigers for praise since it was a great team effort.

The victory gave Snyder sole possession of second place in District 3-AAA since Estacado waxed Sweetwater 23-0 to knock the Mustangs into third place. Elsewhere in the league, Lamesa shaded Brownfield 21-16 and Estacado beat Colorado City 27-3.

Pokes, 'Skins Tangle Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys ride into Washington's RFK Stadium Sunday to meet the Redskins in a battle that will go a long way in deciding who rules the National Football Conference's Eastern division.

In the first meeting of the National Football League teams, Washington won, 20-16. That came in the midst of the Skins' five-game winning streak to open the season.

However, Washington, crippled by injuries, has struggled in its last four meetings, losing to Kansas City, narrowly beating New Orleans, struggling from behind to tie Philadelphia and dropping a one-point decision to the Chicago Bears last week, 16-15.

With Roger Staubach directing the Cowboys' attack, Dallas has won two straight.

Both teams have been struggling with injuries. Washington running back Larry Brown, the NFL's defending rushing champion, missed the Bears game entirely with a leg bruise. His running mate, Charley Harraway, was hurt in the second quarter against Chicago and saw only limited action thereafter.

Both will start, however, along with quarterback Billy Kilmer, who has directed the Skins to the division lead.

But Dallas ranks first in the conference in rushing defense, which means the Skins may have to go to the air.

If they do, Allen can call on quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, who looked ready in brief action against Chicago.

Dallas hopes to have running back Calvin Hill back in harness. The powerful runner suffered a knee injury Oct. 11 and hasn't played since.

The latest Dallas injuries belong to offensive tackle Don Talbert and guard-tackle Forrest Gregg, the former Green Bay Packer. Both are listed as "possible," as are Washington's Richie Petitbon, a defensive back, and defensive lineman Ron McDole.

"This is probably the worst physical shape we've been in this year," Allen said.

Yet, the Skins coach had some good things to say about last week's Bears game.

"The most encouraging thing is that our team played with the spirit and enthusiasm and togetherness we had earlier in the year," he said.

"I feel we can overcome anything, any adversity, because you can when you're playing together."

The Redskin victory in Dallas was the first over the Cowboys in three years for Washington. The Cowboys lead the series, 12-7-2.

Eagle Boss — To Fly Away?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Mr. Leonard Tose has given me complete authority. I'm going to run things my way. If this baby doesn't grow up, it means I haven't fed it right. It will be my fault."

That was Pete Retzlaff speaking in May, 1969, after he was named vice president and general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Apparently Retzlaff's baby hasn't grown enough to suit Tose, owner of the Eagles. Retzlaff will be fired at the end of the season, The Associated Press has learned.

Under Retzlaff's 2½ year administration, the Eagles are 9-25-2.

This season the team lost its first five games and now has a 2-6-1 record.

Tose would neither confirm nor deny The AP report.

"All I say is that no decision has been made and that everything will be reevaluated by me after the football season, and not before."

Retzlaff, who was named vice president and general manager of the Eagles four days after Tose purchased the club for $16,066,000, said he was surprised at the report.

"No one promised to win the Super Bowl in 2½ years, but I believe this team is growing and maturing. It's not far away from being a contender and it will be for a number of years...."

The Eagles have five games remaining this season, including St. Louis Sunday, and apparently, the only thing that could save Retzlaff would be a sweep, or four out of five. The Eagles play Washington, Detroit, St. Louis again and wind-up with the New York Giants.

Durocher Gets Another Year

CHICAGO (AP) — "Nobody told me I wasn't comig back," rasped Leo Durocher Friday at a special news conferene a day after his contract had been extended for a year as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

P.K. Wrigley, owner of the Cubs, Thursday ended speculation that Durocher was out as the Cub manager.

"Well, we start at zero," said the 65-year-old Durocher, who already is collecting his baseball pension. "I feel great, and I'd like to manage as long as I'm healthy and feel good.

Durocher minimized any rift between himself and certain players on the team.

"I don't see any big wedge between us," said Leo. "I'll handle it when we come to it. I don't think you can please everybody, and about somethings you can't please anybody.

"I don't think there's a manager in baseball who has 25 players who all like him. But I've never had a player who didn't play hard for me."

The so-called rift between Durocher and certain players—including pitcher Ken Holtzman, third baseman Ron Santo and first baseman Joe Pepitone—broke at a now famous clubhouse meeting last Aug. 23.

This will be Durocher's seventh season at the Cub helm. They finished last in 1966, Durocher's first year, but have not finished lower than third since. Their attendance has been over 1.6 million in each of the last three campaigns, marking one of the most successful financial spans in Cub history.

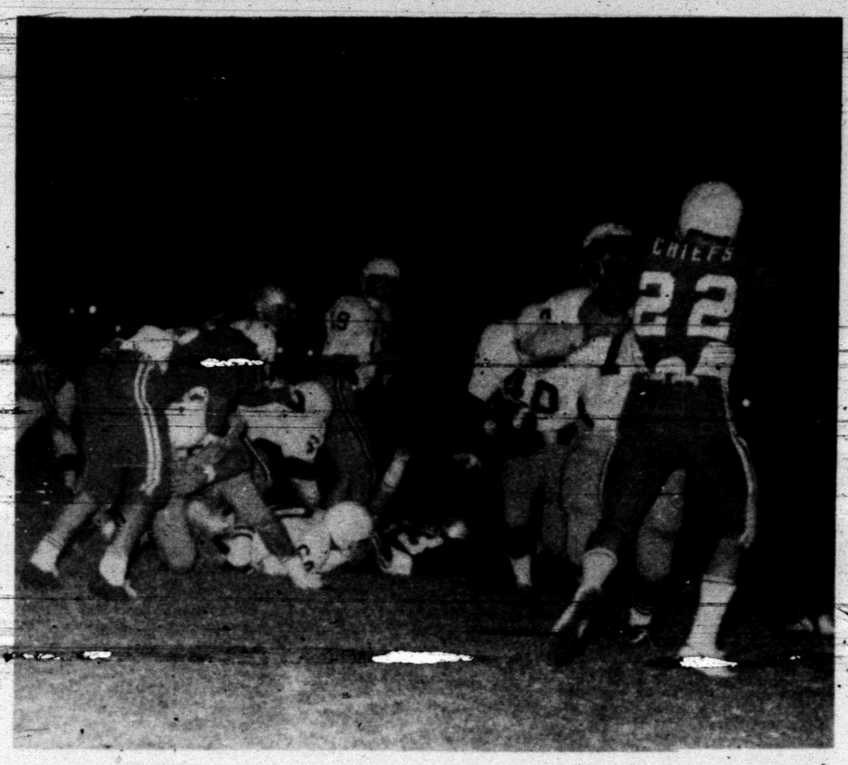

Durocher said the Cubs' objectives for 1972 would be to add speed to the team, especially in center and right field, and to bolster the bullpen.

Computers Disagree

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska 31, Oklahoma 21.

That's the projected score of the Big Eight clash between the Huskers and the Sooners Thursday as provided by a Nebraska computer.

Computer Utilities of Western Nebraska conducted a program in response to a prediction earlier this week by a Tulsa, Okla., computer that Oklahoma would defeat Nebraska 39-33 on Thanksgiving Day.

HOLE OPENS — Snyder High School's linemen open a hole for tailback Sammie Harrison (40), who runs for sizeable yardage against the Chiefs at Lake View Friday night. The little tailback was the leading ground gainer of the night with 171 yards on 14 carries. Guard Albert Hernandez (79) blocks Lake View's John Paul Lee (22) out of the play. The Tigers won 33-7 to take second place in District 3-AAA.

Little Texan Is Best Okie Runner

Pruitt, who skyrocketed out of nowhere to become one of the most awesome runners in Oklahoma's football history, wears a T-shirt which says on the front, "Hello." On the backside, the lettering spells, "Goodbye."

Nothing could be more appropriate for Pruitt because that's the way it has been most of the season for the sizzling Sooner, nicknamed the "Wicked Midget" by teammate Roy Bell.

He'll have the chance to demonstrate his blinding speed here Thursday when the second-ranked Sooners bid for No. 1 in the nation against top-ranked Nebraska. The Oklahoma faithful think Pruitt may be the difference.

"Nebraska is a great team, says Pruitt. "However if they play us without any tricks and we play them without any tricks, we'll beat them."

Pruitt has a rushing average of 9.5 yards. The major college record is 9.62 set by Leon Burton of Arizona State in 1957.

Three times Pruitt has broken the 200-yard mark rushing in a game this season. He got 294 against Kansas State for what then was a Big Eight Conference record. In all nine Oklahoma games, Pruitt has gathered 1,423 yards for an average of 148.1 yards a game. He has scored in eight of them for 90 points.

The big thing about Pruitt, as his statistics indicate, is that he doesn't carry the ball as much as some players who collect huge hunks of yardage in a game. He has rushed only 150 times.

In tires, it's not the price you pay. It's how often you pay it.

This steel belted Radial Tire carries the Michelin Warranty* for 40,000 miles on the original tread. (Many owners get much more.) Puncture resistant Michelins stop faster, corner better, give more traction on wet surfaces. Yet they cost less per mile of driving than any tire you can buy. Now there's a Michelin for domestic cars too. So stop in and start saving today.

*Michelin's Warranty for X Radial Highway Tubeless White wall Tire shown here covers 40,000 mile tread life, defects in workmanship and materials and normal road hazards, including repairable punctures, when tire is used on domestic passenger vehicles in normal service in continental United States. Credit or refund (at Michelin's option) is equal to original retail purchase price multiplied by percentage of warranted mileage not run out.

Goodwill Bargain

... A family of five recently shopped at the local Goodwill to see what $35 would buy. Each member of the family was allocated $5, and each came away with a complete new outfit, including dolls for the children.

The rub was that the grand total came to $26.41. Like most families they had gone over budget.

Nome Is Monument To Alaskan Gold Rush

NOME, Alaska (AP) — Nome is an anachronism, a step back in time. It is a shack town huddled almost apologetically on the shore of the Bering Sea, a short boat ride from Siberia.

It is a decaying monument to the great Alaskan gold rush at the turn of the century. It is a damned tough place to live, and it may be the most different city in America.

Nome has recession, it has teen-age drug abuse. But those problems are secondary to the old crises of staying alive in an Arctic climate and providing basic necessities in a hostile environment hundreds of miles from the nearest gateway to the 20th century.

There are only two ways to get to Nome and one of them is impractical. You can mush a dogsled 510 miles northwest from Anchorage.

Or you can fly.

The first commercial flight from Nome to Fairbanks, in 1925 cost $1,500 per passenger—one way. Now there are 28 jets a week in and out of Nome and the round trip fare to Fairbanks is $124.

Nome was not an ideal site for a city. "No self respecting Eskimo would have even pitched a tent here," said Dick Galleher, who owns a bush plane service. "There were much better locations nearby."

But in 1898, gold was discovered and when the thaw came, 10,000 people poured onto the "golden sands of Nome" to pick up riches from the beach and later to mine the creeks north of town. They brought in huge nuggets—one was over 200 ounces. The sand on the beach was half gold.

The price of gold held at $35 an ounce from 1934 to this year, and it isn't worth mining. The dredges lie in the snow on the creeks, their dead arms reaching into a white sky.

And the people of today's Nome dream of a highway to Fairbanks or Anchorage which isn't likely to come—or an oil strike like the one on Alaska's North Slope which could again make Nome a city of excitement.

Nome lives on its past, clinging to a reputation of a place different enough for Americans to spend money and vacation time to visit. It clings to its role as a trading post for vast, frozen western Alaska.

Visit Front Street, Nome's main drag, on an evening:

Eddie the Rat is playing piano at the Board of Trade saloon. Sealskin Charley, just returned from a walrus hunt, is preparing his wares for market. Tommy Johnson is walking his pet reindeer on the main street, ignored by groups of Eskimo teen-agers in leather jackets who stand idly on street corners.

A late May wind blows off the still-frozen Bering Sea. The temperature is 10 degrees above zero. The sun hovers in the sky and will not set until midnight.

Superior Court Judge William H. Sanders is rounding up his court clerk and aides for a plane trip to Barrow, one of the Eskimo villages in which he must settle cases ranging from felonies to domestic arguments in his 142,000-square-mile district.

Galleher, a handsome, erudite man, has stopped at the Board of Trade for a drink before heading home. He tells a story of extending credit to an Eskimo and flying him back to his native village. Galleher adopted Nome in 1957, and he is always ready to talk about it:

"We're deprived here of all those things that are supposed to be really important to living a happy life. So we have to step back in time. Like on the old frontier, we have to make our own fun—picnics in the summer, Christmas is more in the home. We just go out walking and breath the air."

Another Nome denizen who will bend your ear is Albro Gregory, a talented old white-bearded boomer who has worked on more newspapers than most people have ever seen. He is editor and publisher of the Nome Nugget and the town's most outspoken defender.

Ask Gregory about the apparent bleakness of the place:

"Hell, bleakness is in the mind. I get up at 4 in the morning and on my way to work I stand and look out at the Bering Sea ice. I can hear it moan, and I sometimes think it's like a woman. It's always the same and never the same, but it's beautiful."

Grace Edman, wife of retired contractor Axel Edman and one of the town's leading citizens, is one who laughs congenially at Nome's shortcomings, such as the lack of a sewer system in her residential neighborhood. Her father came over the Chilkoot Pass in 1897 and she grew up here. She likes it, though she often goes to shop in Fairbanks, Anchorage or Seattle.

US Grain Surplus Figured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some new arithmetic by the Agriculture Department shows the nation will have a feed-grain surplus a year from now of 57 million tons—the biggest in eight years.

A report on the feed situation by the Economic Research Service puts it this way:

"The 1971-72 feed situation is highlighted by exceptionally large supplies, and prospects for a moderate increase in feeding, little change in exports, a substantial increase in carryover, and much lower prices of feed grain."

At the beginning of the current feeding year on Oct. 1 the reserve or carryover was about 33 million tons. The huge corn crop of more than 5.5 billion bushels, or course, is the main reason for the expected boost next fall.

Adding sorghum, oats and barley to corn, the feed supply weighs out to approximately 239 million tons, of which less than 163 million is expected to be fed and 19.5 million exported this season.

Thus, about 57 million tons will be left as farmers begin harvesting another feed crop next fall. It would be the largest carryover since a supply of 69.3 million tons on Oct. 1, 1964. A peak was reached in 1961 of 85 million.

Art Used As Therapy

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Art as therapy rather than for art's sake, is being used in an experimental project at the Northwest Texas Hospital Psychiatric Pavilion.

Students and faculty of West Texas State University's art department are lending a hand in the once-a-week art therapy program involving a pilot group of 15 adolescent and young adult patients.

Dr. Temple Elliott, clinical psychologist and director of the adolescent and young adult program at the Pavilion, says the project is in no way diagnostic of the patient's ills but is being implemented for its curative value only.

"Although in some circles uninhibited artistic expression is considered beneficial to the patient, we feel we can better understand the results of art therapy by drawing upon the expertise of the West Texas State art students and faculty to provide patients with a basic structure for expression to provide more positive ends," says Larry DeFever.

DeFever, director of special therapy at the Pavilion, adds, "The therapy is not retrospective but concerned with what is going on right now."

"So for the project has been an "unqualified success," DeFever says.

Mrs. Norma Seals, supervisor of occupational therapy, says, "Here is a chance for patients to express themselves in a very acceptable manner without fear of adverse judgment. After all, who is to say what is good and bad in art?"

For a patient that is withdrawn and unable to communicate effectively with other people, this therapy offers a chance for emotional expression and security, Mrs. Seals says.

"Working in clay a patient might, for instance, pound the clay fiercely and attempt to mold it into an angry face and in this way express the hostility that would otherwise be repressed.

"A patient who abstracts well might strive for something nonrepresentational since in art he doesn't have to be realistic," she adds.

Although it is hard to evaluate empirically the results of the therapy experience, DeFever says attendance has been consistently high and that virtually all the patients who came to the first lessons returned to the others.

The hospital plans to expand the art therapy program to include patients in other age groups.

Thanksgiving Meeting Held By Iota Psi

"Thanksgiving Time—the golden time of year when we think of our families and friends with grateful hearts—a time when we especially appreciate our many blessings and give thanks," said Faydean Hart as she opened the meeting of the Iota Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Monday night November 15, 1971 in the home of Virginia Johnston. She gave the invocation with "A Prayer of Thanksgiving." A meal of turkey and dressing and all the trimmings was served to the following members: Virginia Johnston, Betty Hunter, Faydean Hart, Trudie Wood, Norma Thompson, Islasu Minor, Wanda Eicke, Dean Blankenship, Norma Book, Anna Stephens, Lenora Boydstun and Ida Stokes. The hostesses were Betty Hunter and Virginia Johnston.

After the meal, "Secret sisters" gifts were exchanged and new names drawn for the coming year.

A Thanksgiving box of food was prepared and delivered to a needy family. Members were asked to help with the Labor Survey at the Scurry County Coliseum and several members volunteered to help.

BETA SIGMA PHI STORY — The story of Beta Sigma Phi and local chapter activities were presented to Billie Smith, Mary Hopkins, and Gladys Lamb, guests of the chapter and Modine Holdridge, a transfer from Beta Sigma Phi of Rankin, at their meeting Nov. 15.

Sorority Welcomes New Member

Members of the Lamba Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a Presentation Meeting Tuesday evening at the Snyder Savings and Loan Community Room. The story of Beta Sigma Phi and local chapter activities were presented to guests, Mary Hopkins, Gladys Lamb, Bille Smith and Modine Holdridge, a transferee from the Rankin Exemplar Chapter.

President Wanda Early led the Opening Ritual. Summaries of each area of chapter activities were given by officers and committee chairman. Officers Mona Bryan, Recording Secretary, explained the time and place for meetings and program presentations; Mary Forehand, First Vice President, told the story of Beta Sigma Phi; and Trina Taylor, Extension officer, explained the chapter's Friendly Venture project. Committee chairman reporting were Barbara Bills, Ways and Means; Sandra Campell, Social; Carolyn Martin, Service; Trina Taylor, Program; and Barbara York, Scrapbook.

Following the Presentation Meeting, Trina Taylor presented a program from the book "Beauty" entitled "The History of Dress and The Art of Dress."

Mrs. Taylor explained that fashions remained about the same until the middle ages and then women became conscious of changing fashion. By the 15th Century women knew what fashion was and tried to follow as best they could. Mrs. Taylor told the group about each change in dress through the years and explained how the fashion changes came about. Garments were shown that were worn in the late 1800's and early 1900's and also an evening dress worn in the early 1940's.

For "The Art of Dress", Mrs. Taylor explained that clothing should be in "good taste" and that "good taste" changes with the fashion trends and for some, good taste in clothing is natural, for others a struggle, but usually this is an asset of common sense.

To sum up the program each member was given personality cues according to favorite colors in clothing.

Hostesses Mary Forehand and Joyce Ann Pace served punch, coffee and cake from a lace covered table featuring a large golden centerpiece of the number 40 to carry out the 1971 72 Beta Sigma Phi theme, "Life Begins At Forty".

Trees Grown For Holidays

NEW YORK (AP) — The trees that grace America's homes at Christmas are either farm-grown especially for the holidays or are young specimens which would have to be thinned anyway from commercial forests to give their hardier neighbors room to grow to maturity.

The farming of Christmas trees is a business for thousands of small landowners who plant this type of crop, which many of them market through the National Christmas Tree Growers Association.

Japanese Food Is Tasty And Exotic

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

Phil Brown, an old friend and member of the AP Tokyo bureau, has written telling me of his initiation into the somewhat exotic eating habits of the Japanese, who go in for things like seaweed and raw squid.

"Getting used to the food of Tokyo is no great problem, since about everything is available here from whale to hamburger," said Brown.

His first taste of whale came when an office boy brought some up from a nearby cafeteria. Brown thought he was eating sliced beef until a Japanese colleague gently enlightened him. A short time later he got his baptism in seaweed, which the Japanese eat to get iodine into their system.

"It was at a seafood specialty restaurant where a shellfish soup was served in the original shell," Brown recalled. "It was accompanied by seaweed on ice, which came with a tasty sauce. The seaweed doesn't have much taste by itself."

"Such things as raw squid doesn't sound too appetizing," Brown admitted, "but for someone like me who's nearly omnivorous, they present no serious problem."

Brown and his wife, Ev, enjoy going out on the town for a "progressive" dinner. "We start at a shushi shop, go on to a yakitori stall, then to an udon wagon and end up at a coffee shop in this land of tea drinkers," he said. "Sushi is raw fish on rice balls, yakitori is charcoal roasted bits of chicken on a long wooden toothpick and udon is a form of thick noodles. Coffee comes from South America."

"Foreign foods cooked in Japanese restaurants tend to taste more Japanese than foreign," said Brown, "but some longtime residents say they like it that way."

Brown enclosed a recipe for tempura, a Japanese dish which he said most "Western-style persons" enjoyed. It is somewhat similar to fried shrimp, but lighter in texture.

TEMPURA

Prawns, shrimp, squid, small fish fillets along with green peppers, string beans, and eggplant are dipped into a batter made from 1 cup flour, 1 egg, 1 cup water and ½ teaspoon salt. Beat egg well, add water and sifted flour and salt and mix lightly. The seafood is fried, after the dipping, in 3 cups oil brought to 350 degrees. Cooking time about three minutes.

The fried seafood is dipped in a sauce made as follows:

1 cup water
2 tablespoons dried bonito
¼ cup soy sauce
¼ cup rice wine.

Cook water and bonito together, simmering about three minutes. Strain. Add soy sauce and wine. Bring to boil again and add ¼ teaspoon monosodium glutamate.

Roads, Transportation Problems Discussed

By ROBERT HEARD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—If we continue to build highways, will we end up paving most of Texas?

The Associated Press asked DeWitt Greer, 69, chairman of the Highway Commission, and Burgess Griesenbeck, 26, Texas representative of Friends of the Earth, to discuss this and other issues. Part of their dialogue follows.

AP—Secretary of Transportation John Volpe has said the 41,000 miles of interstate highways authorized in 1956 will have to be doubled by 1985 at a cost of $320 billion. What will our needs be in the year 2000 or 2015? Could we really end up paving most of this country?

Greer—I reserve the right to slightly disagree with Mr. Volpe so far as Texas is concerned in that I think in the next decade in Texas we should concentrate on a modernization of the 18,000 miles of what we call main arterials or primary highways rather than more interstate. I don't think we can see that far (the year 2000) into the future. There may be other modes of transportation developed in the meantime that would take more people off the roads.

Griesenbeck—the interstate highway system was invented in 1956 and proposed 41,000 miles of highways to solve the problem, the transportation problem. I think quite obviously it did not solve any problem. It did not go to the cause of any problem. It dealt merely with the effects. Had it dealt with the cause, the problem would be completely dealt with. The problem would be over. But now Mr. Volpe suggests we need twice as much.

AP—Does the Texas Highway Department ask itself what effect a new project will have on the environment?

Greer—I hold in my hand what's called an environmental statement, which we're required to submit to 19 different agencies of the federal government. Actutally, this is nothing new from what we've been doing for the last 25 years. It's just documenting what we've been doing. It's proving to somebody else that we do consider these things which people are complaining about at the present time. In the federal laws and in the state laws we must conduct public hearings on any project that changes anything like the environment.

Griesenbeck—It must be remembered, however, that these are highway hearings. These are not transportation hearings. There's a transportation problem. The highway department says we can deal with this problem by alternate A, B or C routes. What do you, public, think is the best alternative? There is no room for alternate modes of transportation that might solve the problem rather than just dealing with the effects. Of course, the highway department is not charged with development of mass transportation systems and cannot be held responsible for this situation.

Greer—I think Mr. Griesenbeck was quite fair in his comment that we are the Texas Highway Department and it's not our responsibility to deal in other modes of transportation. We're not against them, but that is not our responsibility. The motor vehicle population is going up 284,000 (per year), whereas the population is going up 170,000. Motor vehicles are increasing faster than the population. Where will this stop?

Griesenbeck—right now it's impossible in the City of Austin to buy a 10-speed bicycle, but you can buy any model, any color, and make car that exists. People are looking for alternate modes of transportation. One million, 500,000 years of human experience measured against 70 years of automobile experience in several nations of the world I don't think is enough of a historical background to determine that the car inevitably is going to be the mode of transportation for time immemorial. It is a cultural and an educational problem. There is a need for a citizen to be able to look to one agency, one legislative committee for direction and for questions and for answers when it comes to transportation problem time.

Greer—the president of the United States has just sent to congress a reorganization pattern whereby he will be abolishing the Department of Transportation, breaking it up into pieces and spreading it out through the government. It has only been in existence a relatively short time. Why would the thinking in the White House be that we should dismember this outfit now and scatter it around?

Griesenbeck—I think it's misdirection. The Department of transportation exists. It has some good personnel. It has some very, very bad bureaucrats. But there it is. Give it some direction and expect it to deal with deadlines when you ask it to develop policy and the like and determine that it will answer state agency questions when they come for directions. Eighty per cent of the population of the United States lives on 2 per cent of the land.

That's where your biggest transportation problems exist. In Texas it's not 80 per cent, but at least 72 per cent of the people live on this 2 per cent of the land, and in your estimation would you say the Texas Highway Department puts 72 per cent of its funds into programs for transportation problems in this 2 per cent of the land?

Greer—We put 53 per cent this last year. We're gaining on it all the time.

Grisenbeck—That's progress.

Greer—There was a time when the trouble was out in the boondocks. We built up to the city limits and we quit. We have seen this migration of population and we're trying to keep pace with it now.

Griesenbeck—I'd like to say that I think that Texas has as excellent, a developed and constructed and maintained highway system as any state in the union.

Greer—with the lowest gasoline tax.

AP—What specific proposals do you or other ecologists have for mass transportation between, for example, Dallas and Houston?

Griesenbeck—We have not yet devised a mechanism that will work to everyone's benefit for financing mass transportation facilities. This is still an open-ended question and the burden's still on us and we have highways; we have space dedicated to transportation arteries; we have technology to develop rapid rail; we have the ability to designate certain lanes on larger highways as bus lanes. These choices are open right now and we could start making an effort.

AP—Mr. Greer, how do you feel personally after devoting your life to helping create what everybody said they wanted—good roads—and then being attacked by a growing army of critics?

Greer—It's depressing to us, yes. I'd be less than honest if I didn't admit that it is a little bit depressing. We've developed a highway system of the first class in this state. We think we've been considerate in the development of this system. And then to have critics jump on us about this thing—we're not calloused and consequently we must take it seriously and we do. Let us admit that we may have made some mistakes in the past. We probably have. We're human.

Griesenbeck—But you see what's happening here is—and Mr. Greer is doing what he's directed to do by the State Legislature and to lambast him on that basis I think is irresponsible—but nonetheless the highway department is trapped in the position of planning for growth. We're going to have to stop just assuming that it's enevitable. That's why we need a (State) Department of Transportation.

Greer—How could a Department of Transportation control the growth of people wanting to ride in the automobile—the mobility of the automobile—to the grocery store, to the doctor's office? I expect you came here in a car today. How can they stop you from doing that?

Junior Editors Quiz on BASKETBALL

QUESTION: Who invented the game of basketball?

* * *

ANSWER: Basketball is one of the most popular games in the United States. It is watched by more people than any other game. It is really an international game since it is played in every civilized nation of the world. Unlike other games, it did not develop over the years, but was invented by James A. Naismith in 1891.

Naismith devised the game at the Springfield Training School, Springfield, Mass. He was looking for an indoor game which would interest the students. He was a Canadian, familiar with the Indian game of lacrosse. He hit on the idea of combining features of lacrosse with the British game of soccer. When he first contrived the game, he used a wooden peach basket, so he called the game basketball.

Instead of using a stick as in lacrosse or kicking the ball as in soccer, Naismith had the ball passed from player to player or bounced (the dribble) by a single player and shot into the basket or goal.

In basketball, the players are assigned to positions according to their special talents. The center is usually tall. Those who are good at throwing the ball through the basket are usually stationed forward. The guards have to keep the opposing forwards from scoring.

Son bars forgiving wife's return to dad

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: My husband of 33 years, whom I have always adored, was unfaithful to me. I caught him, and there was no way out for him. He begged me to forgive him, said the woman meant nothing to him and he would never see her again, but I was so hurt and numb and heartsick I went to my son and daughter-in-law's home [where I am now living] and told them all about what had happened.

I have thought everything over, and realize that as this has never happened before, my husband deserves another chance. But my son has forbidden his father to come near me, them, or their children.

I spoke with my minister and he agrees I should go back to my husband. How can I? My son tells me he will have no respect for me if I go back. So now I must make a choice. Can you advise me! TORN

DEAR TORN: Go back to your husband. And tell your son that one who cannot forgive destroys the bridge over which he one day may need to pass.

DEAR ABBY: There are bachelors living in this apartment building. They are not hippies, they are churchgoing men, yet there seems to be plenty of free love going on. They bring girls here day and night without any apparent shame, changing girls every few weeks. Even the children know something shady is going on.

With all this hanky-panky going on I can understand why the young people have become so disgusted with the older generation. I think these men should be asked to move. I would like your opinion. OVER THIRTY

DEAR OVER: What people do behind their own closed doors is not the business of neighbors. As long as they do not disturb their neighbors, I see no reason for them to be asked to move. Besides, you would have a hard time proving that your suspicions were correct.

DEAR ABBY: Paul [he's my husband] has a best friend who is slowly driving me crazy. We've known this guy for about four years now, but about a year ago, he became divorced, and that's when the trouble started.

This friend is here every weekend for dinner, and afterwards he and Paul go out on the town and I am left behind like Cinderella to clean up the mess.

Paul knows how I feel about this and so does his friend, but still they continue. I haven't been out alone with my husband for months and I am getting fed up. Every time I mention it, Paul gets angry.

Tonight this friend had the nerve to bring his shirts along and ask me to iron them!

Am I being a nag like Paul says, or do you think I have a right to be upset! ALONE AGAIN

DEAR ALONE: You have a right to be upset. Remind your husband that he has a wife, and if he wants to go out on the town he should tell his bachelor buddy to get a girl and the four of you will go out together. And unless you put a stop to Paul's routine right now, you will find yourself alone more and liking it less. [P. S. If you ironed the shirts, you need more help than I can give you in a letter.]

CONFIDENTIAL TO BARBARA: I think you should tell Sandy that if she is serious about wanting all the girls in her wedding party to be blonds, she should select blonds. Tell her, too, you will gladly stand up for her, but you won't "dye" for her. And what's wrong with a wig?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

No Action Taken On D. A. Plans

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — A new doctor's degree plan which emphasizes teaching instead of research and has divided Texas' academic community was left without action Friday by the State College Coordinating Board.

The board said it needed time to study transcripts of the conflicting testimony presented on four schools' requests to establish doctor of arts degree programs.

Action on the proposals was placed on the agenda for the board's Jan. 21 meeting in Austin.

The D.A. plans eliminate the dissertation requirement in favor of less strenuous research, while requiring more course work and a college teaching intership.

D.A. proponents stress the degree would be tailor-made for scholars who want to be college teachers, not researchers.

Four state universities Southwest Texas, East Texas, Sam Houston and Stephen F. Austin— asked the board to authorize D.A. programs.

But Dr. Allen Karstetter, spokesman for the Federated Universities of North Texas, made a strongly worded attack on the proposals.

"It takes only good sense to see that if universities, not qualified either in fact or by fiat to award the Ph.d., begin to award the D.A., the latter degree will suffer grievously. It will almost certainly be termed a ... sop for those without the ability or the motivation to get the real thing," Karstetter said.

The board voted 6-5 to authorize a veterinary school at Texas Tech University, overruling a request by Texas A&M to extend its veterinary medicine program to the Panhandle area.

Opponents of the Tech proposal contended it would cost $20 million or more to started a veterinary school from scratch.

1845 Bulldozer

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Workmen on the remodeling of the old First Baptist Church building here turned up what they called an "1845 bulldozer" this week.

Architect B.P. Denney identified the rusted piece of metal as an old slip scraper, pulled by mules and used to excavate and level construction sites. The Baptists speculated that the one they found may have been used about the time the church burned in the 1916 Paris fire.

Nixon Getting Taste Of China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will be getting a taste of China before he goes there.

His wife Pat disclosed Thursday that she has a new recipe brought from mainland China by presidential assistant Henry M. Kissinger after his advance visit to Peking.

The recipe is for "chicken and walnuts."

Mrs. Nixon also said she didn't know if she would make the trip when the President visits Peking sometime next year. But she added she would be disappointed if she didn't.

Barbara Stanwyck Resting Well

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Barbara Stanwyck, whose left kidney was removed after a rupture in its wall was discovered, is reported resting confortably.

The 64-year-old actress was operated on Friday at St. John's Hospital. She had been admitted to the hospital for observation, and her physician diagnosed a hemorrhage into the kidney caused by a rupture of the kidney wall.

Salvage Operations Are Set

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Salvage operations were to begin soon on a 65-foot tugboat which capsized near the intersection of the Houston Ship Channel and the Intracoastal Canal.

The tug Lutcher Brown capsized Friday forcing a 12-hour shutdown of shipping traffic to Galveston, Texas City and Houston and the operations of the State Highway Department ferry system between Galveston and Bolivar Peninsula.

The three crewmen were rescued by a ferry after being thrown into the channel when an engine failure caused the tug to capsize.

Normal operations were resumed when what was believed to be the tug was found submerged near the southeast tip of the peninsula but out of the channel area.

The crew was stranded in the chilling currents for almost an hour after the accident.

"We were coming down from Houston going into Bolivar," said Earl W. Gantt, owner and operator of the tug.

"We had some real bad weather. High north wind, rough seas. When we turned the weather hit us broadside and must have knocked out a window or something below."

Gantt, 53, of Houston, was not seriously injured. Neither were Harry Farmer, 55, Houston, and Arnold Chandion of Channelview, the other crew members.

"The current was too swift for us to swim ashore," Gantt said. "Farmer and I just held on to a 5-gallon can that was floating out there."

Chancion was armed with a life perserver and a large flashlight that finally attracted the attention of a Bolivar ferry, the Cone Johnson.

Ample Supply Enables CRMWD

Having the merchandise to sell makes a great difference — 30 per cent difference in sales for October, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported.

Water deliveries for the month amounted to 1,275,626,456 gallons compared to 980,169,669 a year ago when oil companies had been cut back sharply due to then-dwindling supplies. Rains during the past summer changed all that for oil company sales of 457,948,256 gallons for October were up by 93.34 per cent. For the year, however, oil company sales of 2,723,330,761 gallons are far under the 3,531,889,622 for the comparable period a year ago.

Municipal sales amounted to 871,678,400 gallons, which was 1.68 per cent under the previous October because heavy August and September rains dulled demand. Odessa required 253,381,000 gallons, down 5.18; Big Spring 183,813,000, up 7.51; Snyder 52,000,000, down 2.82; Stanton 4,887.000, up 234.05; Midland 233,105,000 down 6.82. San Angelo, which drew no water in October of 1970, pumped 90,551,000 gallons this year.

The district sales for the year to date stood at 12,176,606,113, which is 7.38 per cent less than for the previous year due to the heavy curtailment, and cut-off in some instances, during the first half of this year for oil and mining purposes.

Production now is going at an even pace with Lake E. V. Spence and Lake J. B. Thomas the source of supply.

Long Sentences More Meaningful

DALLAS (AP) — Penitentiary sentences of 1,000 years or more are meaningful because they show it was the jury's intent that the convicted man should not be released, parole board chairman A. C. Turner told local lawyers and law enforcement officers at a meeting here Thursday.

Turner said such sentences are the only way a jury can say to the board, "We wish you wouldn't parole this man."

A 2,500-year sentence, assessed by a Dallas County jury last April for a man convicted of murder, is the longest in Texas history. But last year Dallas County juries returned a 1,500-year sentence for selling heroin, 1,001 years for rape, and two sentences of 1,000 years for rape and robbery.

The board chairman said the best parole risks are the people convicted of murder and the worst are those convicted of narcotics violations and writing bad checks. He said it was hard for sex offenders and drug addicts to get paroles approved.

Construction Projects Costly

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — Plans have been approved for three major construction projects at Stephen F. Austin State University at a cost of approximately $6.3 million.

Projects include a four-story library estimated to cost $4.6 million, a football stadium to cost $1.5 million, and renovations to the Austin administration building for $180,000.

Castro, Allende Meet On Chilean Destroyer

By ISAAC A. LEVI
Associated Press Writer

PUERTO MONTT, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende and Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba were off on a cruise through the scenic fjords of southern Chile today for a private talk on the state of socialism in Latin America.

Chilean socialists who know Castro claim the Cuban leader's visit to Chile, his first foreign trip in seven years, might alter his preference for violent revolution as the best means of establishing Marxist regimes in Latin America.

Allende, a Marxist, was elected president a year ago and says he intends to bring socialism to Chile by peaceful means.

Castro and Allende, friends for nine years, have prepared no formal agenda for their talks, but aides said two key topics would be the state of leftist revolution in Latin America and the U. N. conference on trade and development scheduled for April in Santiago, the capital of Chile.

More than 100 nations will debate ways of speeding up the economic and social development of underdeveloped countries. Allende is reported to feel the session will be very important for Chile and Latin America in making known the area's views to the industrialized nations of the world.

Allende and Castro are meeting in absolute privacy aboard the Chilean navy destroyer Almirante Rivero, built 10-years ago in Britain and capable of cruising at 20 knots. The cruise ends Sunday at Punta Arenas, the southernmost city in the world, 1,350 miles south of Santiago. From Punta Arenas, Castro and Allende fly back to Santiago, where Castro is expected to remain at least until Friday before flying back to Havana.

Chilean leftists claim they have been noting a change in Castro's manner since he arrived in Chile nine days ago. They noted his outbursts against "Yankee imperialism" have been mild compared to his earlier pronouncements.

Castro has been telling Chileans instead they must work hard, produce more, keep leftist forces unified "and avoid sectarism." To Chilean ultra-leftist students who criticize Allende for being "too soft on capitalism and monopolies," Castro asserted that the Chilean president's ballot box revolution was just as authentic as the bloody one in Cuba in 1958.

Allende in turn has said he wants to show Castro how the leftist coalition government of Chile "achieved more in implanting socialism by peaceful means in one year in power than Cuba did in five years."

Allende favors the use of ballots in building socialism in Latin America. He thinks leftist forces must use violence only as a very last resort in gaining power.

U. S. Economy Moves Into Uncharted Waters

By DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. economy moved into uncharted waters this past week as Phase 2 of the Nixon administration's program officially opened.

Although uncertainties still abounded, the Price Commission began implementing the program with the approval of a 2.5 per cent price hike for American Motors cars and the Pay Board voted to allow the first year of a new coal industry contract to go into effect without change.

The second and third years of the coal contract, the board said, will be voted on as they near implementation.

Delegates to the AFL-CIO convention in Miami gave President George Meany approval to stay on the Pay Board but refused to cooperate with wage rules he considers unfair.

Organized labor's demand for retroactive pay raises lost in the wage freeze received a boost when the Senate Banking Committee approved legislation to overrule the Pay Board and grant the payment in most cases.

The government reported that the cost of living rose .2 per cent last month despite the price freeze.

The increase was about half the average month-to-month increase that prevailed before the price freeze. It put the consumer price index 3.8 per cent above October 1970 levels, the smallest 12-month change in more than three and a half years.

Other economic readings from Washington this past week showed that industrial output last month rose a slight 0.2 per cent. A government economist said the October output figure did not indicate a real recovery, despite the fact that the recently settled coal strike had acted as a downward drag.

Final figures for the economy's July-September performance revealed that the Gross National Product advanced by 3.9 per cent, a full percentage point higher than the government announced earlier in preliminary data.

At the same time, the government said the rate of inflation during the quarter was lower than originally announced, advancing at a rate of 3 per cent compared with the previously reported 3.4 per cent.

The Commerce Department reported that the U.S. balance of payments deficit during the third quarter hit $12.1 billion. It said that dollar outflow has shown considerable moderation since then, but still called it "relatively high" compared with past periods.

The Price Commission approved the American Motors increase after the Cost of Living Council reversed a regulation that would have allowed large concerns to raise prices without getting special permission in cases where previously scheduled wage increases went into effect.

Ford was seeking approval of a 2 per cent price hike and Chrysler was asking a 5.9 per cent increase.

Although some coal miners still remained off the job, most started returning to work following an agreement promising them a three-year pay increase worth about 39 per cent. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said Pay Board approval of this increase would hurt the administration's economic program.

In other news this past week, the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee has asked the Justice Department to conduct an antitrust investigation of the New York Stock Exchange. Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., disclosed his request in testimony before a House Commerce subcommittee studying problems of the securities industry.

Securities and Exchange Commission Chariman William J. Casey told the committee the SEC should be given more authority over the Big Board but affirmed his belief that self-regulation should not be replaced by government regulation.

IT SURE IS — One Pittsburgh driver found this solution to the parking problem when he apparently drove his auto up on a closed sidewalk where parkway lanes merge in downtown Pittsburgh. All four wheels perfectly straddled the walkway and the car then rested its weight on the frame. (AP Wirephoto)

"Fly Me" Campaign Critized

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — National Airlines "Fly me... I'm Barbara" campaign has run into some more turbulence.

This time, it's not Women's Lib.

"The gay libs in New York began complaining because we hadn't named any planes for boys," Walt Robshaw, a National spokesman, said Friday.

Robshaw, who has his hands full right now with "Barbara," isn't eager to have the big jets called back for rechristening.

Robshaw said he didn't know how the Gay Lib complaint was lodged.

"I'm not sure specifically whether it was by letter or what," he said. "I got the word from New York, verbally. It came right on top of Women's Lib."

Women's Liberation took National to federal court here complaining the "fly me" campaign was suggestive and exploited women. But a judge turned down the plea.

Perhaps to prove it wasn't a male chauvinist outfit, National had new "fly me" buttons printed for employes.

"Fly me... I'm Bruce," or George, or Clyde, they beckoned.

Robshaw said the whole thing started with National trying to play it straight. But gimicky.

"We wanted to select the most popular names of girls," he said. "So we asked our computer to feed out the first names which occurred most frequently among our 3,000 to 4,000 female employes.

"That's how we got Barbara and about 60 other names."

By now, he said, "each of National's planes has one of our girls' names painted on its nose."

No name appears more than once.

The idea is if you've flown one, you haven't flown them all, he said.

Dispatchers Will Be Civilians

DALLAS (AP) — Ever since the police radio was put into use, there have been policemen to operate them, but now the Dallas police department is changing that.

The department will recruit civilian men and women to be dispatchers, possibly as early as the middle of next year.

Minimum Wage Laws Differ

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: When I was job hunting yesterday, I went to this one real rich dress shop in answer to an ad they put in the paper. I told the man I was looking for full-time work and he said that would be 6 days a week from 9-6. Then he asked what pay I was asking. When I told him $1.60/hour, that that was the minimum wage, he said- no it wasn't. He told me that for anyone under 20 years of age, there was no minimum but that he could pay 85 cents/hour. I replied that was for part-time work, but he said it was for full-time. Was he right? - N.N., Waco, Texas

$1.60 is the Federal minimum wage. Whether an employee is covered under the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act depends on the facts in each case. There are also different state laws.

The recent flurry of minimum wage questions prompts me to suggest how readers can determine individual questions. To see how the Federal law applies to your situation . .

WRITE, PHONE OR VISIT the nearest regional or field office of the U.S. Department of Labor, Wage and Hour Divisions. (Most phone directories still list it that way although the agency's name has been changed to U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration, Wage and Hour Division.) These offices are located in most medium to large communities. Give information on the kind of firm and what it does, with whom it does business, the job involved, the method of pay, the hours of work, and any other details you think are pertinent.

(For a simplified explanation of the Federal minimum wage law -- what and who it covers and exceptions -- you can get a 16-page booklet for 25 cents from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402. Ask for "Handy Reference Guide to the Fair Labor Standards Act (Federal Wage-Hour Law)" You may also be able to get a copy free from the Wage and Hour Divisions field offices.)

FOR EXAMPLE, in N.N.'s case, the dress shop is probably not covered by the Federal law unless it has annual sales of at least $250,000. (There are exceptions, however, to this dollar-volume criterion.) If the dress shop is covered, the employer has to pay retail clerks $1.60/hour for full-time work regardless of age.

STATE LAWS. If the employer is not covered by the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act, check into state labor legislation. If you don't know the exact name of the state agency concerned, a letter to the State Labor Department in the state capital will usually suffice.

TO ILLUSTRATE, the State of Texas' Bureau of Labor Statistics has advised me that all employers who come under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act (and as of Jan., 1972 – all will), have to pay $1.40/hr. minimum wage – with a number of exceptions. Two specific exemptions which might apply in N.N.'s situation permit less than the hourly minimum of $1.40 to be paid to persons under 18 who are not high school or vocational training graduates, and persons under 20 who are students on a part-time or full-time basis. Without knowing all the facts about N.N.'s case, it's impossible to say whether the employer is required to pay her the State minimum of $1.40 or the Federal minimum of $1.60 or any minimum at all.

IN FACT, readers with specific questions of minimum pay rates should check both the Federal and state sources cited above. In New York State, for example, the state minimum wage is $1.85/hr. – higher than the Federal $1.60.

FEDERAL PUBLICATIONS MAILING LIST. For convenience, readers who wish to have their names placed on the mailing list for "Selected U.S. Government Publications" can send their names and addresses – include zip code – on a postcard to me at this newspaper. Write or print legibly. Ask for "Selected SOD List." There is no charge for being placed on the mailing list and receiving the bi-weekly listing of publications published by the Federal government on a wide variety of topics, but the publications listed do cost something. Prices of the publications are modest, often from 5 cents to 50 cents.

Soldier Convicted In Slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A Florida soldier was convicted late Friday night in the claw hammer slaying of a military policeman's wife.

A federal court jury deliberated nearly six hours before returning its verdict against S.Sgt. Peter Cherico, 24, an Army medic assigned as an instructor here at Ft. Sam Houston.

The two-time Vietnam veteran was found guilty in the slaying of Lynda Evonne Heishman, 19, wife of then-Spec. 4 Tommy Heishman of Fairfax, Va.

A date for sentencing Cherico was not set at oncem

Mrs. Heishman's body was found Sept. 27, 1970, in a remote area of Ft. Sam Houston. She had been missing nine days.

The petite blonde died of a massive skull fracture which an Army pathologist said was caused by repeated blows from a blunt instrument. Prosecutors claimed the weapon was a claw hammer that belonged to Cherico.

At one point in their deliberations, the jurors asked to read the transcript of the pathologist's testimony.

Cherico's mother, Mrs. Amparo Cherico of Hollywood, Fla., was present throughout the trial, as was Mrs. Margaret Welsh of Alexandria, Va., mother of the victim.

Slain Girls Not Raped Says Examiner

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—The Galveston County medical examiner says two young Galveston girls whose bullet-riddled bodies were found at Texas City apprently had not been raped.

The half nude bodies of Marie Johnson and Debbie Ackerman, both 15, were recovered from Turner's Bayou. Maria's body was found Wednesday and Debbie's Thursday. Both girls had been shot twice and their hands and feet were bound.

Dr. Robert Bucklin, medical examiner, said Friday night the examination was hampered by the badly deteriorated condition of the bodies but neither appeared to have been beaten or raped.

Police said they believe more than one person was involved in the slayings.

Police said the two girls were last seen about noon Monday shopping in downtown Galveston.

Dr. R. E. Andrews Jr., father of Maria, has offered $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer or slayers.

Maria lived with her mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Galveston.

Debbie was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Ackerman of Galveston.

'Stardust' Closes GOP Conference

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP) — The Republican Governors Conference drew to a close with a striking arrangement of "Stardust" played by its composer, Hoagy Carmichael.

Carmichael, who turns 72 on Monday, apologized that because of a cataract condition, he had to lean close to the piano keys to play. He then entertained the governors with "Stardust," "Ol' Buttermilk Sky," and "Huggin' and A-Chalkin."

HELPS IN BUDGET

UN Stamps In Demand

By HOWARD ANGIONE
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Some members may be lagging in their financial support of the United Nations, but not the world's stamp collectors—together they are the ninth largest contributor to the U.N. budget.

Hundreds of philatelists waited in a dozen lines 15 to 20 deep Friday to make first-day purchases of a commemorative stamp that has a reproduction of a painting by Pablo Picasso.

Eighty-five per cent of all U.N. stamps sold are never used, U.N. officials say, and as a result the U.N. Postal Administration showed a profit of $3.85 million last year on total revenues of $6 million.

The $3.85 nillion, more than the regular assessment for all but eight member nations, was used to reduce the total amount of money the United Nations sought through assessments.

"You never can tell how much these may be worth some day," a neatly dressed man said after purchasing about $50 worth of stamps

He put some stamps on first-day envelopes and set others aside in clusters of six. "No, I'm not a dealer, I'm a collector, but I can't talk any more now—I've got work to do," he said.

Buyers could take stamps on envelopes to tables, where U.N. postal workers hand-cancelled the stamps. Many then used blotters that were provided to keep from smudging the ink.

The new stamp, the eighth and last U.N. issue this year, shows a painting of Picasso's daughter Maia, then a child, watching a winter's first storm. Official U.N. first-day envelopes, costing 10 cents, have a drawing of Picasso done by artist Alexander Rutsch.

The stamp is available in three denominations—8 cents, 21 cents (the basic rate for most U.S. overseas mail), and a Swiss franc amount equivalent to 28 U.S. cents.

Letters bearing U.N. stamps may be mailed only at U.N. headquarters and at its offices in Geneva. Such letters are handled by the postal systems of the two nations, which bill the U.N. Postal Administration at their regular domestic rates.

U.N. postal officials handled thousands of orders for Picasso packets by mail, including requests by 38,000 persons who leave money on deposit and automatically receive all new stamps.

By special resolution of the General Assembly, profits from the Picasso stamp will go to the U.N. International School in New York and to a similar school in Geneva. The New York School has 1,050 pupils in grades kindergarten through 12, most of them children whose parents are connected with the United Nations.

Conferees Optimistic On Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — House-Senate conferees trying to put together an aceptable foreign aid bill say they are optimistic they can do the job, but they won't get down to specifics until the House returns from a 10-day Thanksgiving recess Nov. 29.

Rep. Thomas E. (Doc) Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said after the first conference session Friday: "All we did was ferret out the major differences. I think we can work out a bill," but it is going to be "the toughest ever" of foreign aid conferences.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., Morgan's counterpart in the Senate, reportedly complained about the House's revival of its $3.4 billion aid bill killed by the Senate. He wanted the House to consider the Senate's separate economic and military aid measures totaling $2.67 billion.

Morgan said the Senate's division of the aid program and its six-month end-the-war deadline probably will be the most difficult problems and the last to be resolved.

Before the recess, Congress extended foreign aid and other major unfunded programs until Dec. 8 to prevent them from lapsing while new legislation is being worked out.

Outstanding agriculturist awards were presented to Johnny Louder of Stanton, president of the sponsoring council; Charles E. Ball of Dallas, editor of the Southwestern edition of Farm Journal magazine; Donnell Echols of Lamesa, board chairman of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.; and Donald A. Johnson of Lubbock, Plains Cotton Growers executive vice president.
