High Courage, Brave Spirit That Led Him To Place Of Destiny Can Never Die

WASHINGTON, April 12. — Franklin Roosevelt is dead—but the high courage, the brave, bright spirit that led him to a place of destiny can never die.

It has entered into the heart of the nation he had led so close to victory.

It will never die for the millions of humble folk around the world yearning for assured peace in freedom, whose trust and confidence he held fast.

But it is not of a great world figure that I would speak.

It is of Franklin Roosevelt, the friend, that memories come back to me out of the mists of 30 years and more.

For I knew him more intimately than I have known any other public man in a lifetime of Washington news reporting.

In the shock that word of his sudden passing brought with it, my mind went back to the hour that I heard that he had been stricken with infantile paralysis. That was after his campaign for the vice presidency in 1920.

I knew soon then that he would never walk again as other men walked. I wondered what that blow must mean to him.

A bedridden life, or one doomed to a wheeled chair, would be a terrible outlook for him, I thought.

But I was wrong. I know now that never for a moment did his dauntless courage fail him. Never did he accept any verdict that he must stand aside in his affliction and watch the life he loved go by his window.

Of all the tales that have been or can be told of Franklin Roosevelt, I think I like best one told me long ago by Louie Howe, many years dead now himself, his great ambition in life accomplished when he saw Franklin Roosevelt enter the White House.

It went back to the days at the Roosevelt home not long after Franklin was stricken. He lay in his bed that day with his face twisted in some grim concentration of thought or effort, and great beads of perspiration rolling from his wrinkled forehead.

"Boss, what is it?" Louie called as he hurried to the bedside.

The man lying on that seeming bed of pain stilled and opened his eyes. He looked up at Louie and the beaming Roosevelt smile slipped over his face, sunshine through the rain.

"Louie," he said, "you don't know how much fun it is just to try to move your big toe—and to DO IT."

Franklin Roosevelt had a genius for friendship. I think the hardest thing in life for him was to say "no" to a friend or to a loyal comrade in politics or any other venture.

That trait cost him many an hour of worry, but it begot of those who came close to him as deep a loyalty in return, and an affection that transcended wide differences in philosophy.

I remember particularly the birthday dinner of the Cuff Links club at the White House the January after Pearl Harbor. No American knew better than the President of the grave situation in which the nation then stood.

We had gone through the birthday dinner as usual, and as usual, too, were fencing around an hilarious poker table upstairs as midnight neared.

I thought it time that the President, with all his cares, went to bed, every day was a hard day for him, and I suggested that we end the game and go home.

He waved my adjournment motion aside.

"Don't worry, Kirke," he said, "When I go to bed I go to sleep. I don't see any little Japs running around on my pillow or bedcovers."

Nation Stunned By President's Death

Organized Resistance Nearing Last Hours

Bohol Stormed By Yank Troops

By CLYDE BARTEL
Associated Press War Editor

Americal division troops of the U. S. Eighth Army charged ashore on Bohol island Wednesday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today, and with Filipino guerrilla aid started liberation of the last central Philippine island still in Japanese hands.

Covered by American naval and air bombardment, the Yanks landed at Tagbilaran on Bohol's southwestern short and pushed inland against the surprised Japanese in "another thrust in the swift campaign to clear the bewildered enemy from the Visayas," MacArthur said.

Advances On Cebu

On Cebu island, west of Bohol, the Americans made gains in clearing northeastern hills, and on Luzon 14th corps Yanks continued to close the trap on Japanese caught on Bicol peninsula in the southern part of the island.

Allied bombers out of the Philippines made strikes from Formosa to the vicinity of the Indo-China coast. Some small Japanese craft were destroyed, but MacArthur said the China sea lanes were "almost deserted" by enemy shipping.

B-29s Batter Tokyo

Superfortresses in very large force—perhaps 300 or more—made the longest bombing hop from Marianas bases Thursday, striking Koriyama, industrial center 110 miles north of Tokyo, for the first time, and also hitting the Nippon capital. The raids involved a 3800-mile round trip for the bombers.

The B-29s blasted the Nakajima Musashino aircraft engine factory at Tokyo, the Eighth Superfortress smash at the vital war plant. Targets were bombed visually from 8000 feet around noon, in good weather.

There was no report of U. S. plane losses. Returning fliers said targets were left burning fiercely and Japanese fighter opposition was timid.

North Formosa Pounded

Tokyo radio said, without Allied confirmation, that about 80 "enemy" carrier-based planes raided northern Formosa Thursday, and a small British naval task force which included two carriers and two battleships raided We island off northwestern Sumatra Wednesday.

Washington Navy headquarters reported the U. S. submarine Scamp overdue from the Pacific and presumed lost. The Scamp, skippered by Cmdr. John C. Hollingsworth, Emory university, Ga., was the 42nd American submarine lost in the war.

Taylor Will Direct Export-Import Bank

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Wayne C. Taylor, who resigned yesterday as undersecretary of commerce, today was elected president of the Export-Import bank.

Leo. T. Crowley, bank board chairman, said Taylor would take over the new position immediately.

Taylor succeeds Warren Lee Pierson, who recently resigned the Export-Import post to return to private business.

Alfred Schindler of St. Louis has been nominated to succeed Taylor in the Commerce department job.

Conservation Bills Favorably Reported

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP) — Substitute gas conservation bills were given favorable reports by committees of the House and Senate today.

The approved measures—which differ little in essential aspects—were modeled after a so-called industry compromise bill, introduction of which touched off heated controversy in extended committee hearings that began last week.

Ninth Crosses Elbe, Awaits Orders For Berlin Dash On Wide Open Road

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Friday, April 13—U. S. Ninth Army tanks smashed across the Elbe river on a six-mile front just 57 miles from Berlin yesterday and U. S. First and Third armies in sweeps of nearly 50 miles thundered at the gates of the great city of Leipzig, 75 miles southwest of the capital.

Germany appeared in her final hours of organized resistance in the west as all Allied armies cut loose. Even No. 1 Nazi propagandist Paul Joseph Goebbels declared gloomily in his weekly newspaper that the war "cannot last much longer in my opinion."

Awaiting Orders

A field dispatch said only orders from Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson were needed to send the Second Armored division dashing on into Berlin, which could possibly be reached today. Wholly unconfirmed French reports said Allied parachute troops had been dropped at Brandenburg, barely 20 miles from Greater Berlin.

The electrifying crossing of the Elbe—last big river barrier before the devastated capital—came with such speed that supreme headquarters was unable to confirm it, a spokesman saying that SHAEF was completely out of touch with Ninth Army spearheads.

The U. S. First and Third armies, after their long gains, were under a security blackout, but a field report said it was possible that one of them would reach Leipzig by today. They last were reported 23 to 24 miles from the city with nothing in front of them.

Unit Races 26 Miles

From out of the security blackout came the news that the First Army's Third Armored division had reeled off a 26-mile gain on the First's north flank and had driven more than two miles beyond Sangerhausen, 84 miles southwest of Berlin.

The advances of these two powerful armies, bidding for a quick decision in the war in Europe by balking a die-hard stand in southern Germany, were expected to be Western front sensations once the blackout is lifted.

(Paris radio said tank spearheads were 16 miles from Leipzig and 19 miles from the Czech border.)

Three tank columns of the U. S. Third Army ripped beyond the heart of Germany in dashes of more than 46 miles and were 129 miles from the Russian lines, 40 miles from the Czech border and 109 miles from Berlin. The Ninth Army was 115 miles from the Russian lines.

The Third Army overwhelmed Weimar, birthplace of the German republic in 1919.

The First Army, traveling east at a rate of 30 to 40 miles a day, had picked up a new batch of camp followers—liberated Russian slave laborers who turned around and began walking east, believing they could get home quicker that way.

So near did the two American armies appear to a junction with the Russians that liberated Soviet slave laborers turned eastward in their wake, believing they could get home quicker that way.

Soviet Premier Lauds President

LONDON, Friday, April 13 (AP)—Premier Marshal Stalin expressed his sorrow at the death of President Roosevelt today in a message to Mrs. Roosevelt in which he characterized the President as "a great organizer of the struggles of the freedom-loving nations against the common enemy."

The text of the note as broadcast by the Moscow radio:

"Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Washington:

"Please accept my sincere condolences on the occasion of the death of your husband and an expression of my sympathy in your great sorrow.

"The Soviet people highly valued President Roosevelt as a great organizer of the struggles of freedom-loving nations against the common enemy and as the leader in the cause of ensuring the security of the whole world. Signed, Joseph Stalin."

Message To Truman

Stalin also sent a separate note to Vice President Truman.

"On behalf of the Soviet government and myself personally," the message said, "I express our profound condolence to the government of the United States of America on the occasion of the premature death of President Roosevelt.

"The American people and the United Nations have lost in Franklin Roosevelt a great politician of world significance and a pioneer in the organization of peace and security after the war."

Visit By Truman Here, Lack Of Public Interest Recalled

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Managing Editor

THE new President of the United States, Harry S. Truman, visited in Lubbock April 7 and 8, 1944, and outside of a scattering of citizens who greeted him at an 'open house' at the Hilton hotel, a dozen or so South Plains editors who questioned him at a press conference and slightly more than 400 who heard him speak in a Democratic rally at Senior High school auditorium, he received scant attention from Lubbock as a whole.

I imagine a few people were mentally kicking themselves last night for not having paid him more respect.

Little did Lubbockites realize then that a future Chief Executive of the nation was paying them a visit. He was "just a senator from Missouri," then, who had been casually mentioned as a vice presidential possibility.

Affable and dynamic, yet modest and unassuming, President Truman was friendly, frank and honest, in his press conference here. His personality was not magnetic and there was little of the dramatic in his platform manner. But he answered questions convincingly.

I remember one editor bringing up the issue of his connection with the Pendergast machine in Kansas City and the then chairman of the Senate War Investigating committee, came right back

Missourian Sworn In As Successor

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 12 — Harry S. Truman of Missouri was sworn in as thirty-second President of the United States tonight at 6:09 p. m. (cwt).

Solemnly he repeated the oath of the nation's highest office brief hours after Franklin Delano Roosevelt died of a cerebral hemorrhage at Warm Springs, Ga.

Truman is 60.

It was a moment of significance to America and a warring world. The transition in the nation's leadership came when Allied might was nearing victory in Europe and when preparations for permanent peace even now were underway.

Faces Tremendous Task

To Truman, one-time Missouri county judge, falls the tremendous task of shaping that peace so largely patterned by Roosevelt.

Truman, his hand on a small black Bible whose pages were edged in red, repeated the oath after Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone.

"I do solemnly swear," he said, "that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

Cabinet Room Is Scene

The scene was the Cabinet room in the executive offices of the White House, where for more years than any other president, Mr. Roosevelt had presided over momentous meetings of his key advisers.

They were there tonight to watch the slender, grey, former Senator from Missouri inducted into the highest office.

Truman read the oath from a slip of white paper, swearing to uphold the Constitution.

He came to the end.

"So help you God?" Stone intoned.

"So help me God," Truman said.

To his left was Mrs. Truman and their daughter.

Roosevelt Dies Of Cerebral Hemorrhage In Georgia

Ailing Leader Dies Suddenly Thursday Afternoon; Funeral Set For Saturday

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., April 12—President Franklin D. Roosevelt, his strength sapped away as commander-in-chief in America's greatest war, died suddenly this afternoon.

His duties fell on Vice President Harry S. Truman who, sworn in as the 32nd president in a White House ceremony at Washington, issued this statement:

"The world may be sure that we will prosecute this war on both fronts, east and west, with all the vigor we possess, tu a successful conclusion."

It was at 4:35 p. m. eastern war time that Mr. Roosevelt died of a cerebral hemorrhage. It was at 7:09 p. m., that a solemn-faced Truman took up the burden and the honor of president.

Mr. Roosevelt's last words were:

"I have a terrific headache."

He spoke them to Comdr. Harold Bruenn, Naval physician.

The funeral will be in the White House East room in Washington on Saturday. Burial will be at the Roosevelt ancestral home at Hyde Park, N. Y., Sunday.

The body will not lie in state.

Presidential Secretary William D. Hassett said Mr. Roosevelt's body would leave here around 9 a. m., (EWT) tomorrow for the approximately 22-hour run to Washington.

Mr. Roosevelt, 63, was sitting in front of a fireplace in the Little White House here atop Pine mountain when the attack struck him.

Death Comes Without Pain

Bruenn described it as a massive cerebral hemorrhage.

The President's negro valet, Arthur Prettyman, and a Filipino messboy carried him to his bedroom. He was unconscious at the end. It came without pain.

Mr. Roosevelt, in the third month of his fourth term as president, came here three weeks ago to rest.

Mrs. Roosevelt planned to fly here this evening. She left the White House at 7:15 after informing their four uniformed sons by wire of their father's death.

The death removed from world councils one of the Big Three—Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill—who worked together to win the war and laid joint plans for keeping the peace. Truman likewise has stressed the need for international cooperation.

Was Sitting In Chair

Dr. Bruenn said he saw the President this morning and he was in excellent spirits at 9:30 a. m.

"At 1 o'clock," Bruenn added, "he was sitting in a chair while sketches were being made of him by an architect. He suddenly complained of a very severe occipital headache (back of the head).

"Within a very few minutes he lost consciousness. He was seen by me at 1:30 p. m., fifteen minutes after the episode had started.

"He did not regain consciousness and he died at 3:35 p. m."

Only others present in the cottage were Comdr. George Fox, White House pharmacist and long an attendant on the President; Hassett, Miss Grace Tully, confidential secretary; and two cousins, Miss Laura Delano and Miss Margaret Suckley.

Bruenn said he called Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, Navy surgeon general and White House physician in Washington and that McIntyre in turn called Dr. James E. Paullin, of Atlanta, an internal medicine practicioner and honorary consultant to the Navy surgeon general.

Newsmen Are Informed

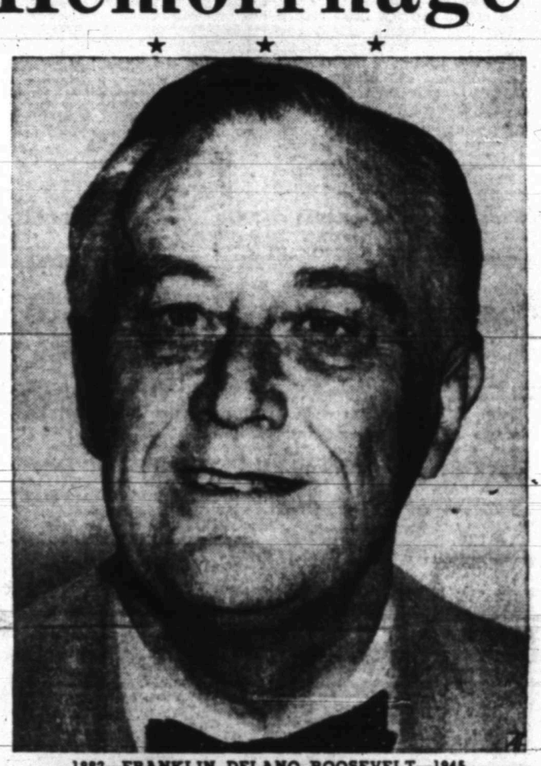

Paullin was present when Bruenn gave the statement of the cause of death to reporters of the three national news services.

Hassett gave newsmen the first announcement.

New Chief Executive Solemnly Pledges To Carry Out President Roosevelt's Policies

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 12 — Harry S. Truman, who 11 years ago was a Missouri county judge, became the 32nd president of the United States at 7:09 p. m. (ewt) tonight and solemnly pledged himself to the policies of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Sworn in 2 hours and 34 minutes after Mr. Roosevelt's death in Warm Springs, Ga., as a shocked Capital sought to weigh the import of the sudden change, Truman announced in quick succession:

Try To Carry On

1. He will try to carry on as he believes President Roosevelt would have done.

2. The San Francisco United Nations conference will go on as scheduled April 25.

3. He has asked the Roosevelt cabinet to stay on with him.

4. The war will be pressed to a "successful conclusion."

Issues Brief Statement

The new chief executive issued this statement:

"The world may be sure that we will prosecute the war on both fronts, east and west, with all the vigor we possess, to a successful conclusion."

Thus Mr. Truman acted immediately to steady a stunned nation and drive forward toward victory and a lasting peace.

About the White House crowds stood silently at the tall iron fence. Flags there, and on embassies and other public buildings, dipped to half staff.

After the brief and solemn induction ceremony, President and Mrs. Truman went from the cabinet room to the White House residential quarters to speak with Mrs. Roosevelt, who was leaving to fly to Warm Springs. Shortly after 7:30 p. m., they left by a rear entrance and motored to their apartment on Connecticut avenue in northwest Washington.

Secret service men and district police threw a cordon around the apartment building and visitors to the Truman suite were barred. All telephone calls, and they were myriad, were rejected except one from Mrs. Truman's brother, Frank Wallace.

Senator Green (D-RI) was among those who called in person to congratulate the new president, but he too was denied an audience.

Guards patrolled the third floor corridor all night. The neighborhood was quiet in contrast to the throngs which stood across from the White House for hours, far into the darkness.

It was Mrs. Roovelt, who summoned Mr. Truman from his Capitol office to the White House and told him her husband was dead.

Federal Crop Insurance Program

Result Of Many Years Of Study

The new federal crop insurance program now being offered Lubbock county cotton growers is the result of many years of study and experimentation by both government-operated and private companies, according to R. A. Boyd, chairman of the county Agricultural Adjustment administration committee.

"Ever since the time of Benjamin Franklin, farmers have talked about ways and means of protecting themselves from crop losses," Boyd declared. "Beginning in 1889, several private and state-owned insurance companies ventured into the crop insurance business. But writing protection against all growing hazards from planting through harvest proved to be a pretty tough job, requiring detailed information on crop yields, a lot of money, and wide participation. As a result, those efforts failed.

Began Study In 1920

"The federal government began to study the possibilities of all-risk crop insurance in 1920," he added, "but it wasn't until 1939—after the bad droughts of 1934 and 1936—that crop insurance was approved by Congress and offered to farmers for the first time. Wheat was the first crop covered, then cotton, and recently flax."

The present crop insurance program offers growers protection against unavoidable hazards to growing cotton. The coverage is 50 to 75 per cent of the average farm yields, at the option of the grower.

According to Boyd, cotton producers have until April 25, 1945 to file for insurance. Applications are being taken by AAA committeemen, who administer the program locally, and by authorized agents.

Many Volunteer To Give Blood To Baby

HOUSTON, April 12. (U.P) — A tiny, seven-day-old baby boy was expected to live today because Houston gave him its heart—almost literally.

The baby, David Cullen Jackson, was about to die in a local hospital. He developed a rare form of anemia when he was born, only seven days ago.

Only blood transfusions — and many of them—would give the infant a chance to live and grow up. So the call went out for donors.

The response was terrific. Scores of Houstonians appeared at the hospital, eager to give their blood. The hospital switchboard was flooded with telephone calls—from Houston, Galveston, Pasadena and other nearby towns.

David was much better this afternoon.

Doctors said he probably would owe his life to the thousands of volunteers who offered him their blood.

Westinghouse Faces Anti-Trust Charge

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—The Justice department announced the filing of an antitrust suit today against Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company.

The complaint, filed in Newark, N. J., charged the company, and its subsidiary, Westinghouse Electric International company, with conspiring to divide certain areas of the world for the manufacture and sale of electric equipment.

George H. Bucher, president of Westinghouse, issued this statement at Pittsburgh:

"The Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., or its subsidiaries, have never entered into any agreement basically to restrain its manufacture of electrical apparatus.

"On the contrary, any agreement it may have made was to expand its sale of apparatus. Any agreements it made were in favor of the United States of America in that they enabled the company to do more business in the world and to furnish more employment to American workmen at the high standard of American wages."

LITTLE ROCK, April 12. (AP)—Four arrests have been made in connection with alleged theft of approximately 100 head of cattle from interstate shipments of livestock from Texas to St. Louis via North Little Rock, Federal Bureau of Investigation officers and North Little Rock police said today.

North Little Rock Chief of Police J. H. Anderson said those in custody were: Mr. and Mrs. George Mason, John Keirre, meat market operator, and a negro employed by Kierre, all of North Little Rock.

Governor Appoints Director, Judges

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—Gov. Stevenson today appointed Henry Reese III of Gonzales, newspaper publisher, to be a member of the board of directors of Texas A. & M. college.

His nomination was sent to the Senate for confirmation or rejection.

District No. 3, Judge Roy C. Archer of Austin, Travis county.

District No. 5, Judge L. Broeter of Alice, Jim Wells county.

District No. 7, Judge George L. Davenport of Eastland county.

Stevenson named Carl Joseph Bromley of Nueces county to be branch pilot for the Nueces county navigation district for a two-year term to expire April 10, 1947.

500 Workers Quit Lufkin Paper Mill

DALLAS, April 12. (AP)—The Eighth Regional War Labor board reported here that more than 500 employes of the Southland Paper mills, Inc., Lufkin, Tex., went out on a "strike" today.

In designating the work stoppage as a "strike," the WLB said it was in violation of labor's no-strike pledge and added that it had wired the employes to return to work immediately.

A board spokesman said cause of the strike had not been received but that "certain grievances" were involved. Employes taking part in the strike are members of locals 402 and 492 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (AFL).

Clifford Potter, disputes director for the regional WLB, said union representatives had been ordered to report before the board next Tuesday at 2 p. m. in case the mill employes are not back at work before that time.

Two Bills Approved, Sent To Governor

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP) — Final House approval today sent to the governor bills:

Permitting 30 independent school districts to increase by vote of the people their local school tax rates from $1 to $1.50 per $100 valuation. The bill applies to districts in counties with population of 10,000 to 20,000 and with scholastic populations of 1,250 to 3,000.

Permitting guardians, after court permission, to enter gas pooling agreements, covering interests of their wards.

Finally passed by the House, with minor amendments, was a Senate bill which now goes back to the Senate regulating the manufacture, distribution, sales and advertising of livestock remedies.

Umbrellas Included In 'Flood Losses'

DALLAS, April 12. (U.P)—Here's another item that can be listed among "flood losses" recorded from recent rains:

The Dallas railway and terminal company's lost-and-found department revealed today that during the rainy month of March 161 umbrellas were lost. Best record for a single day was 45 lost umbrellas.

And the tough part of it—for lost and found department workers—is that the losers can't identify their umbrellas. Because mostly they borrowed them in the first place.

Scores Dead In Tornadoes

Oklahoma City Storm Among Worst In History; Many Areas Battered

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 12—At least 59 Oklahomans were listed as dead tonight in tornadoes which dipped into many communities over the state, leaving hundreds injured and homeless.

Red Cross Chairman Paul Osborn at Antlers in Pushmataha county said 47 bodies had been recovered there from wreckage over one-third of the town of 3,000 and added he would not be surprised if the final toll ran as high as "80 or 100."

Red Cross On Job

Red Cross workers from over the state were arriving to aid in caring for the hundreds of injured at Antlers, and ambulances from nearby Army posts were called into service.

Nine were reported dead at Muskogee and three at Oklahoma City in an afternoon of horror during which the twisters struck in at least eight communities.

Osborn said the situation at Antlers was desperate with light and power services suspended and urgent need for more ambulances, doctors and nurses. The Army sent eight ambulances from Camp Maxie, Tex.

Third Of City Lashed

Approximately one-third of the city, including business and residential districts, was destroyed by the storm, one of the worst ever to settle into Oklahoma, Osborn added.

Seven Dead At Muskogee

At Muskogee, more than 100 were hospitalized as victims of a tornado which whirled through the extreme eastern outskirts of the city, damaging the Oklahoma school for the blind, some of whose inmates were among the injured.

Two soldiers were dead at Oklahoma City and all hospitals had injured after a twister slashed a five-mile pathway through the southeast edge of the state capital. Estimates of injured ran to more than a hundred.

Other communities hit by the storms were Cushing, Choctaw, Boggy (near Poteau) and Flower (near Spiro), but there was no immediate estimate of damage in these.

Doctors, Nurses Needed

The Oklahoma highway patrol was rushing its portable hospital unit to Antlers, where urgent calls were sent out for doctors and nurses to report for emergency duty. Only one temporary telephone circuit was reported in operation.

Much of Muskogee was without power and light. One of the dead at Muskogee was identified as Mrs. Larry Braly, wife of an Army officer at nearby Camp Gruber.

Pryor Hit Lightly

Pryor, the scene in 1942 of one of Oklahoma's major tornado disasters, escaped serious damage, although it was hit by a high wind and a driving rain. Some farm houses were destroyed and others unroofed at Kendrick, in Lincoln county.

Four blocks of residences were smashed at Oklahoma City and many others badly damaged by the wind which came out of a cloud which K. R. Reed, a resident of the section, described as "shaped more like an acre-wide spade than anything I can think of."

STORM STRIKES TOWN IN GAINESVILLE AREA

GAINESVILLE, Tex., April 12 (AP)—All available ambulances in Gainesville were called to Myra, 12 miles west of here, tonight following reports that a tornado had struck the community.

Mrs. Roosevelt. The Secretary of State has been advised. A cabinet meeting has been called.

At the Capitol, aides of Truman disclosed he had left for the White House only a few minutes before the news was made public.

Mrs. Roosevelt Flies Down

Mr. Roosevelt had been at Warm Springs for more than a week.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary informed reporters:

"Mrs. Roosevelt, Admiral Ross McIntyre, (the Roosevelt physician) and I will leave Washington by air this afternoon for Warm Springs."

Vice President Truman was at work in his office when the news came. He received a call about 5:25 p. m., a few minutes later secret servicemen came and whisked him away to the White House in an automobile.

Truman Staff Stunned

Truman's vice presidential staff stood around his offices in the Senate office building, their faces pale as though they had been stunned by the unexpected news which lifted the former Missouri farm boy into the highest office in this nation's giving.

The death of the President was announced a few short minutes after it was revealed that high Army officials had told Senators the war soon would be over in Germany.

Cabinet members began assembling at 6 p. m., (ewt), for an emergency session.

First to arrive were Secretary of Labor Perkins and Secretary of the Interior Ickes, veterans of every month Mr. Roosevelt served in the White House.

He slept away this afternoon, she told them. He did his job to the end, as he would want to do. Bless you all and all our love. She signed it Mother.

Funeral Services Saturday

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon in the east room of the White House. Burial will be in the family plot at Hyde Park Sunday afternoon.

The late President's body will not lie in state, and the funeral is expected to be as private as possible.

Mr. Roosevelt's death was announced to the press at 5:50 o'clock by Stephen Early, former presidential secretary. It was Early who also gave out the stunning news of the Pearl Harbor attack.

Cabinet Meeting Called

An emergency cabinet meeting was called immediately and arrangements made to elevate Mr. Truman quickly into the presidential job.

The 60-year-old former Missouri county judge took the oath from Chief Justice Harlan Fiske Stone amid epochal world events—at a time when Nazi Germany is tottering and the Allies are getting ready to throw their full strength at Japan.

The flash from Warm Springs shocked Washington to its very foundations. From Truman down to the least of the city's people the news was overwhelming.

The White House called the three major news services at about 5:45 p. m. (ewt), on a conference call. There was a long pause.

Early Makes Announcement

Then Early came on the wire and made the electrifying announcement. His voice sounded fairly calm and measured, but he obviously was laboring under intense emotion.

His first words were—

"Here is a flash.

"The president died suddenly early this afternoon—"

There was a sudden flurry among his listeners.

"You mean President Roosevelt," someone shouted over the line.

Health Not So Good

Although interrupted several times, he continued to recite what he called "notes for the story."

"I have no statement," he explained.

Mr. Roosevelt had not been in the best of health for some time, it was disclosed tonight.

Last week at a banquet for Associate Justice Hugo Black of the Supreme court, Mrs. Roosevelt disclosed to Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, that the food the President had been eating recently had no taste for him.

Barkeley said he remarked that Mr. Roosevelt looked thin and haggard and Mrs. Roosevelt said she also felt he was too thin.

Crowds Gather Outside

Mrs. Roosevelt said that for several days previous the President had been taking only gruel because he had no taste for other foods.

When the death became known here, several hundred gathered outside the iron railing of the White House grounds. They questioned guards through the fence, without success. The lowering of the flag atop the White House to half staff attracted scores of other passerby late in the afternoon.

On Capitol Hill, the telephone switchboards were "hopelessly" jammed with calls.

Two Physicians Present

Two physicians were at the President's bedside when death came at 4:35 p. m., (ewt) time. They were identified by Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, the President's personal physician, as Dr. James Paullin of Atlanta and Dr. Howard Bruen, a Navy commander who was at Warm Springs with the President.

Dr. McIntyre said that the news came to him like a bolt from a clear sky. He had talked to Warm Springs this morning and the President was all right at that time.

No Apprehension This Morning

"There was no apprehension this morning," McIntyre told reporters at the White House.

McIntyre told this sequence of events:

The first word he had came in a phone call from Warm Springs at 3:05 p. m., Washington time. He was told that the chief executive had fainted while having his portrait painted. It was then that he phoned Dr. Paullin who made a high speed trip from Atlanta to the Georgia resort.

The President had planned on coming back to Washington the first of next week and McIntyre had planned on going down to him this week for two or three days of golf.

A White House statement said:

"Vice President Truman has been notified. He was called to the White House and informed by

News Profoundly Received Here

News Thursday afternoon of the death of President Roosevelt immediately plunged Lubbock into a state of emotion divorced entirely of partisanship.

Some cried. Some stood motionless and said nothing. All felt the enormity of the announcement only after first stages of shock were absorbed.

Telephone traffic built up one minute after radio reports were heard, so that, from just before 5 o'clock until about 5:35, service was so disrupted that all over town there was difficulty in getting a "dial tone" and a hail of calls to Avalanche-Journal publications were perforce put through by special operators at the telephone office.

Calls At All-Time High

Cecil H. Cale, manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone company, said the calls hit an all-time high since the dial system was installed here, that the jam resulted from "practically everyone trying to use their phones at the same time." The "dialing paths," he said, "just wouldn't handle the load."

Soon after the news was read on radios military intelligence called Avalanche-Journal publications and verified the announcement.

An estimated 2,000 calls were received over the switchboard in the newspaper newsroom.

Retreat formation had just been completed, and the flags hauled down, at Lubbock and South Plains Army Air bases, but flags will be flown at half-staff at both bases today, in comformity with military tradition. Other flags, including that at the postoffice, were lowered to half-staff immediately upon receipt of the news.

Serious Gathering

Persons gathered in yards of the residence section, around cars where radios were tuned and on streets. A seriousness succeeded. There were doleful predictions —not of the conduct of the war, but misgivings anent the new Chief's abilities in international "horse-trading"; in a word, the gaining of the peace.

There were others who evidenced belief in the stability of the Congress as a balance wheel in the presidential functions, and could foresee a democracy's facing its problems with as much assurance as history discloses it has before in making itself great.

Stettinius Next In Line For Presidency

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Accession of Vice President Truman to the presidency moves secretary of State Stettinius up to next in line for the office.

The vice presidency itself remains vacant, but Senator Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee, president pro-tempore, becomes permanent presiding officer of the Senate.

Congress long ago provided for a presidential succession ranging through seven cabinet positions.

In event of the death, removal or resignation of a vice president who has succeeded to the presidency, the line is this: Secretary of State, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney General, Postmaster General, Secretary of the Navy, Secretary of the Interior.

It never has been necessary in United States history to go beyond the vice president.

McKellar, dean of the Senate, was elected president pro-tempore at this session, succeeding Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who is ill. In the new post he will receive an additional $5,000 a year.

Truman 32nd Or 33rd Chief Depending On System Used

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Harry S. Truman is either the 32nd or 33rd President of the United States — depending upon how the counting is done.

The congressional directory lists Roosevelt as the 31st president. But some historians list Roosevelt as the 32nd president.

If you follow the directory's reasoning, then Truman is the 32nd president. If you follow the other system, Truman is the 33rd president.

This is the difference:

Grover Cleveland became without question the 22nd president when he served his first term from 1885 to 1889.

But after leaving the White House for Benjamin Harrison who became the 23rd president, Cleveland won re-election to another four-year term in 1893.

The congressional directory simply acknowledges Cleveland's second term but doesn't give him a number and lists his successor in the White House, William McKinley, as the 24th president.

But some historians count Cleveland's second term as the 24th presidency although he was the 22nd man to hold the post.

Unobtrusive Bess Truman Takes Over As U. S. First Lady

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Retiring Bess Wallace Truman took over the prodigious job of First Lady tonight from active Eleanor Roosevelt, who became an ordinary citizen again.

The new president's wife has been her husband's adviser and aide through his rise from Kansas City haberdasher through local office to the Senate, the vice presidency and now the chief office of the nation. In recent years the new president has entrusted much of his secretarial work to her.

The much-traveled Mrs. Roosevelt had been the most active President's wife in the United States history. Her influence on her husband had been great.

Perhaps no less, but probably less in the forefront, will be the influence of the new mistress of the White House.

President Truman, then a Senator, made her position clear some years ago when he was under political fire, criticized for employing his wife as a Senate clerk on public funds.

"I need her there and that's the reason I've got her there," he said. "I never make a report or deliver a speech without her editing it."

Childhood sweethearts, Bess Wallace and Harry Truman were married as soon as he returned from France and World war I—June 28, 1919. Six years later she presented him with a daughter, Mary Margaret.

President's Health Had Been Continual Speculation Subject

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt's health had been a subject of public speculation ever since his first campaign for the presidency, in 1932.

The latest of a series of periodic reports that he was ill bobbed up only last December, when he spent three weeks at Warm Springs — an unusually long period for wartime.

Rumors flooded Washington that the chief executive was undergoing an operation. Some reports had him in Bethesda Naval hospital here, others under treatment in Boston. But when he returned to Washington, tanned and looking rested, Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, his personal physician, pronounced himself "pleased" with the President's condition.

Stricken In 1921

Mr. Roosevelt was stricken with infantile paralysis in 1921 while swimming at his summer home in Campobello, N. B. His legs were paralyzed. Instead of despairing, he fought the disease until after long months of treatment he was able to walk with steel braces and canes.

It was a painful effort, but in later years he used the braces less and less.

Address, Congress In Chair

However, he addressed Congress from a chair on the House floor on his return from the Yalta conference. He explained then that the braces were too heavy and painful.

In 1932 he met rumors that he was not healthy enough for the presidency by taking out a $50,000 insurance policy—and passing the medical examination. He was then 50.

Delighted In Demonstrations

Throughout his three terms in the White House he seemed to delight in demonstrations of physical fitness. During his last campaign he rode in an open car through a drenching rain in New York City. He repeated the performance during his triumphal parade back to the White House after the November election.

In the winter of 1943-44 he was weakened by influenza and sinusitis. The rumors about his health began spreading again. He hied away to Warm Springs for a month's rest. When he returned Admiral McIntyre said he was in as good shape as any man of 62 could hope to be and that his condition offered no bar to another four years in the White House.

Truman Steps Up In Critical Era

By ERNEST B. VACARRO

(Member of the Associated Press Senate staff, who travelled with President Truman during Truman's campaign for the vice presidency last fall.)

WASHINGTON, April 12. — Harry S. Truman entered the White House tonight in one of the most critical periods in his nation's history with humble confidence that he is big enough to meet the burdens of a war-time presidency.

To Call On Best Brains

He entered it with a determination to call upon the best brains of the country to help guide him through the perils of war, peace negotiations and reconversion.

Those of us who travelled with him on a transcontinental speechmaking tour for the vice presidency last fall and who were in daily conference with him before and after his election, think of him as a man:

1. Whose courage has been demonstrated time and again as a campaigner and as chairman of the Senate war investigating committee who never hesitated to lambast those high in administration favor.

Knows Own Limitations

2. Whose knowledge of his own limitations is such that he never hesitates to call on others whose qualifications on matters of high importance he may consider superior to his own.

3. Whose ability to "pick the brains" of others raised the Truman committee to a status rarely enjoyed by a congressional committee.

4. Whose friendliness and modesty is the same as it was when he entered the vice presidency and as it probably was when he was a farmboy down in Missouri.

During the campaign, Truman called repeatedly for the defeat of eight Republican candidates for Senator whom he termed "isolationists."

When his campaign moved into Massachusetts, he was asked at a press conference in Boston whether he felt the same way about Senator Walsh (D-Mass), an opponent of administration foreign policy prior to Pearl Harbor.

Quick as a flash, Truman came back with the statement that he saw no difference in the voting records of Walsh and the others, but that Walsh was not up for reelection and there was still time to convert him.

Not A Question-Dodger

Once, on the West Coast, a reporter asked Truman whether, in the tragic event of Mr. Roosevelt's death, the 60-year-old Missourian thought himself capable of stepping into his shoes.

Never a question dodger, Truman promptly came back with the assertion that many newspapers had said he had a knowledge of the war program second only to that of Mr. Roosevelt himself.

Truman recently told an audience in his home state that Missouri is, both geographically, and politically, a little to the left of center.

That describes his own political philosophy. He has said that the nation can provide all the postwar jobs necessary—60,000,000 if that is the required figure—if men to the left and to the right, will get together.

No German City To Be Declared Open

LONDON, April 12. (AP) — Heinrich Himmler, commander of the German home army and Gestapo chief, issued a decree today declaring that "no German city will be declared an open town," DNB announced in a Berlin broadcast.

"Every German town and every house must be defended," the SS leader declared.

Nation Mourns Death Of Pres. Roosevelt

spread quickly and caused many a tear among the 125 infantile patients at the foundation here.

Mayor Frank W. Allcorn of Warm Springs was giving a barbecue at his mountain cabin this afternoon for the President and about 50 other guests. Allcorn was awaiting the President's arrival when reporters got word through the Army Signal corps radio telephone and summer White House telephone communication to rush to the foundation.

Miss Louise Hackmeister, veteran White House chief telephone operator, could hardly talk in her excitement to round up those who had to be informed.

Tears and quivering voices accompanied the announcement of the President's death by Hassett.

Had Been Underweight

Miss Tully, Mrs. Alice Wineger, Hassett's secretary, and Mrs. Dorothy Brady, presidential stenographer, sat tense on a sofa as Hassett gave the news.

Mr. Roosevelt arrived at Warm Springs March 30. He had been underweight and his doctors wanted him to take it easy to see if he could not regain the poundage at which he felt comfortable.

Rumors had been heard the last few days that the President was not picking up as much as his doctors would have liked.

Received Reporters Last Thursday

He received reporters last Thursday and, in the presence of Sergio Osmena, president of the Philippine commonwealth, told of his desire to grant full independence to the islands by autumn.

Mr. Roosevelt also outlined ambitious postwar plans for American participation in the western Pacific to prevent further Japanese aggression.

He said the United States and the other United Nations must accept trusteeships over Japanese-mandated islands, build new naval and air bases and help the Philippines rebuild economically after the commonwealth becomes a self-governing nation.

Reports Were To Be Withheld

Reports of this news conference were to have been withheld for security reasons until the President returned to Washington.

The death announcement was made in the center of the 2,000-acre Warm Springs foundation for polio treatment which the President helped found more than 20 years ago. That was before he began serving his first term as governor of New York.

The announcement was dictated to reporters in a white cottage across a red clay road from the administration building of the foundation where Hassett and four other White House attaches were making their home here.

Gray Pallor Noted

This was Mr. Roosevelt's second stay here in four months. The President spent 19 days here only last November-December.

Reporters who attended his news conference a week ago today noted his gray pallor. This had been noticeable however for many months and had caused considerable comment among White House correspondents.

Mr. Roosevelt's voice also had become weak in recent months, and he frequently asked reporters to repeat their questions.

Had Sinus Leakage

This was attributable, according to those close to him, to a sinus leakage into the throat which caused slight constrictions.

The last piece of legislation Mr. Roosevelt signed was one to continue the Commodity Credit corporation and increase its borrowing power.

Secretary Hassett said that as he did so, Mr. Roosevelt made his usual comment at such a time: "Here's where I make a law."

Signed Official Papers

Hassett said the President's mail was quite heavy on his last day and that "it took him at least 20 minutes to sign papers."

Other papers Mr. Roosevelt signed among his last official acts were the appointments of a batch of smalltown postmasters, including one for Panaca, Nev., as well as several citations for the Legion of Merit.

The President went about his final work dressed in a blue suit with vest and a four-in-hand tie.

Hassett Makes Announcement

Hassett gave reporters the first word.

"It is my sad duty," he told the reporters, "to announce the president died at 3:35 p. m., of a cerebral hemorrhage."

Hassett urged the reporters to rush to their telephones immediately as a simultaneous announcement was being made at the White House in Washington.

So insistent was Secretary Hassett that the news be made public immediately that details were left for future announcement.

Broke Two-Term Tradition

The President, the nation's first chief executive to break the two-term tradition, had planned to stay here another week, then he was to return to Washington and spend one day before taking a train to San Francisco to open the April 25 United Nations conference to which he had given so much attention in recent months.

Mr. Roosevelt died in the bedroom in his little white bungalow atop Pine mountain, where he had been coming for 20 years to take the after-treatments for infantile paralysis with which he was stricken in 1921.

Long before his presidency, Mr. Roosevelt helped found the Warm Springs foundation for polio victims. In recent months he had taken a deep interest in expanding it for servicemen afflicted with the disease.

Only two persons were believed to be in the cottage at the time of his death. They were Miss Laura Delano and Miss Margaret Suckley. They frequently had kept house for him on many of his recent visits, including his 19-day stay here last November and December.

Red Gains Cut Off Vienna From North

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 12—Russian armored forces, winning a big tank battle on historic Napoleonic battlefields north of Vienna, tonight cut the Austrian capital's last lifelines to the north and left only a seven-mile escape gap as other Soviet troops invaded southern Moravia.

While Russian river gunboats landed Marines in the rear of the German remnants holding out in the blazing city, Soviet tommygunners in bitter house-to-house fighting captured 60 blocks on the enemy's island of resistance between the Danube river and its canal.

Nazi Withdrawal

Berlin meanwhile reported a general Nazi withdrawal along the Danube valley west of Vienna toward Hitler's Bavarian mountain fortress at Berchtesgaden. This was not confirmed by Moscow's nightly war bulletin.

South of Vienna, however, mountain fighters of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian Army battled into the Austrian Alps and captured more than 40 places on the roads to Graz, Austria's second city.

Northeast of Vienna, Moscow revealed that Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army had crossed the Moravian frontier and invaded that last great war arsenal of the tottering German wehrmacht by capturing the village of Radejov.

30 Towns Captured

Capturing 30 towns and villages in the area, Malinovsky's men drove within two miles southeast of the great rail center of Hodinin by taking Katov, where the enrushing Soviet spearheads were 33 miles southeast of the great war production center of Bruenn (Brno).

North of Vienna, Malinovsky threw 300,000 infantrymen and two motorized corps into battle on the Marchfeld plain in a drive to close an iron ring around the capital. After a heavy tank battle, Malinovsky's troops swept across the Vienna-Bruenn highway and railroad by taking the road and rail junction of Eibesbrunn, five miles north of Vienna.

Himmler Threatens Death To 'Slackers'

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—With the threat increasing to more big German cities—Bremen, Hamburg, Magdeburg, Leipzig and Berlin itself—Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler decreed today that "every German town and every house must be defended to the last man" and threatened death to anyone disobeying the order.

Himmler's decree was followed by one from the Army high command declaring that "garrison commanders are held personally responsible for the execution of this order" and warning that "any who deflect from this duty will be condemned to death, together with civilians who may have prevailed on them."

Sub, Large Landing Craft Believed Lost

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—The submarine Scamp and a large support landing craft have been lost in the Pacific, the Navy announced today.

The submarine was reported overdue from patrol and presumed lost, and the LCS (L)—49 was lost in the Philippines as the result of enemy action.

Normal complement of a submarine is about 65 officers and men and of a landing craft of the type about 45.

There was no report of casualties on the landing craft.

Basic Policies Go Unchanged

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic Editor

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—President Roosevelt's death caused temporary uncertainty today about some of the mechanics of postwar world organization, but is expected to have no effect on basic United States policy in the field of foreign affairs.

This policy, as set forth by Democrats and Republicans alike, calls for defeating Germany and Japan and seeking to create a lasting peace.

Multitudinous Details

It will take some time, of course, for the new President, Harry S. Truman, to get into touch with all the multitudinous details of world affairs.

Also, Mr. Roosevelt had established direct, cordial friendships with Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin and no one else can immediately replace him in that work.

In meetings with the British and Russian leaders he was reported to have served always as a sort of moderator injecting kindly humor in efforts to prevent sharp divisions among the Big Three.

The big question immediately was what effect his death will have on the postwar world, specifically the attempt to draft a world organization at the forthcoming United Nations meeting in San Francisco.

The chief executive and his two secretaries of state, Cordell Hull and Edward R. Stettinius, jr., have so far translated their ultimate goals into established policies that it was considered certain the work would go forward even without the President's guiding hand.

Established Policies

The same thing appeared to be true of the conduct of the war. The final strategy for defeating Germany was laid down during the Big Three meeting at Yalta in February—a meeting that took Mr. Roosevelt on his last long journey to meet the leaders of the other great Allied powers.

There have been some indications that there, too, the President at least gained an inkling and his military chiefs some idea of the Russian attitude toward the Pacific war so that it may be said that the broad lines of strategy for finally crushing Japan have also been made hard and fast.

Security Conference

As for the San Francisco conference there was a question here tonight as to whether it should be held on the scheduled April 25. But shortly after taking the oath, President Truman announced that it would be held as scheduled. Some delegates have already arrived in this country and others are on the way.

It is in the field of long-range foreign policy and especially international economic policy that diplomatic authorities will watch developments under the new President for signs of possible change. They will want to know, for instance, whether he may count so heavily upon maintaining the closest possible friendships among all the great powers, even at a high cost in compromising conflicting interests, and whether he may put as much emphasis on economic improvements in world affairs. Mr. Roosevelt often called such improvements absolutely essential to the building of a secure peace.

Stevenson Says Great Leader Lost To World

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—Governor Coke R. Stevenson today made the following comment on the death of President Roosevelt:

"The American people always deplore the loss of a great leader. They will be especially grieved by the President's untimely death in the present world crisis.

"Mr. Roosevelt not only was president of the United States but he was the leader of Democratic forces all over the world in the struggle for liberty.

"His vigorous prosecution of the war undoubtedly shortened his life and it is most regrettable that he did not live to see the approaching hour of complete victory."

Military Police Are Patroling Refinery

LAKE CHARLES, La., April 12. (AP)—Armed military police patrolled the big Cities Service refinery here tonight after an attempt to crash workers' picket lines last night resulted in minor injuries to at least six persons.

The plant ceased operations Monday when 1,500 employes failed to report to work in protest to a notfication that their rents would be raised in the privately-owned Maplewood housing project. Since that time the plant had been picketed by both me nand women.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

"IS it true that President Roosevelt has died?"

That question was asked over the office switchboard one hundred times in as many seconds shortly after 4:50 o'clock Thursday afternoon as Lubbock radio dialers hearing the end of a broadcast refused to believe their ears.

The shock of learning of his sudden passing left callers numbed. Office workers preparing to go home called by the editorial rooms and asked to see early news bulletins. Several of them, both men and women, were pale, their mouths working, their hands shaking. Those who said anything were of the consensus his death could not have come at a more critical time. With our armies speeding toward Berlin, with a World Security conference in the offing, with the war in the Pacific at white heat, with so many important measures at home and abroad demanding his counsel, it seemed tragic that he had gone on before the work to which he devoted his great mind and heart could be fulfilled.

"It is an international disaster," said one man.

"I can't believe it. You are quite sure aren't you?" asked a young woman.

"I thought for a moment I would faint when I heard it," said a man.

"Bless his heart," come the quivering voice of a middleaged woman. "Thank God I did nothing to contribute to his death."

THE most thought provoking ing statement was made by a man who called to suggest "President Roosevelt died trying to accomplish what Lincoln was shot for."

We, too, regret President Roosevelt could not have been spared to help to build a world where once again people walk the ways of peace. It is too early for us to realize how great is our loss.

OLD CLOTHING

THERE were 19,000 "spontaneous ignition" fires in the United States last year, many of them because old clothing was left in overheated closets, attics and cellars. During your spring clean-up why not send your old clothing to European countries where people are dying from exposure?

The United National Clothing collection headquarters will accept contributions from you during the entire month.

SUPERSTITIONS

GRANDMOTHER may never have broken her leg on Friday the 13th, yet grandparents for generations have passed down the superstitions of this day.

It is the day Junior will be scolded for breaking a mirror, walking under a ladder or spilling the salt cellar. Yet nothing more drastic than the usual daily misfortunes may occur to prove the strength of superstitions.

MANY people have their superstitions and often successful people will associate their good fortune with a symbol or a sign. We're neither superstitious nor successful but we have a good luck charm we have carried for years. It's a piece of a rosary Miss Mary Dunn bought for us in the Caledonian market to which lately we attached a crucifix a

Evelyn Lea Weds G. A. Fletcher

Mr. and Mrs. J. Solon Lea, 2910 Twentieth, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Evelyn Lea, to Glenn Allen Fletcher, lieutenant in the United States Army Air corps and son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fletcher of Seattle, Wash., which was read in the parlor of the First Christian church Saturday night. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. G. Gantz.

Ferns formed the background for the marriage altar, which was decorated with baskets of calla lilies and snapdragons and flanked with two graduated candelabra on either end of the fireplace.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Doyce Barrett, who accompanied her mother, Mrs. E. F. Dawkins, soloist, as she sang "Always" and "I Love You Truly." She played "Rose Marie" before the ceremony.

Bride Wears White Satin

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with fitted waistline which extended in a point at the back, a sweetheart neckline with lace insert and bordered with a lace ruffle that continued over the shoulders, and tightly fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands. She carried a white Bible and spray of five orchids and wore pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and a gold bracelet that belonged to Miss Frances Reid, maid of honor.

Miss Reid wore a pastel yellow frock and carried Talisman roses. Miss Sybil Lea, who served her sister as bridesmaid, wore pastel pink and carried American Beauty roses. They wore strands of pearls.

Nina Kay Hopper, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hopper, trainbearer, wore yellow chiffon and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Lt. Joe B. Holmes of Lubbock Army Air field served as best man and Gene Parkington was usher.

Reception At Lods

At a reception at the bride's home that followed the ceremony, the bride's table was covered with a white linen cloth and at one end the two-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple and surrounded with snapdragons and ferns, was placed and at the other end was the silver coffee service. Tapers in silver holders furnished light. Miss Margaret Tipton served.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. C. Leggett of Knox City; her aunt, Mrs. I. F. Lea and a cousin, Mary Nell Lea, of Levelland.

The bride is remaining with her parents while the bridegroom is stationed at Yuma Army Air field. She is a 1945 graduate of Texas Technological college with a bachelor of science degree in vocational home economics. Lt. Fletcher was graduated this year from Lubbock Army Air field.

Zhukov's Bloodless War In East One Of History's Best Strokes

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 12.—The Germans now must know they are checkmated.

They have been caught in perhaps the greatest cat and mouse play of history.

The Russians did it on their drive to Berlin. And as a result they appear to be winning their grandest victory.

It is not the kind of triumph Marshal Stalin commemorates with an order of the day and victory salvoes. But, in effect, it is just as devastating to Germany.

Nazis Fully Deceived

The victory was one of cooperation with the Anglo-Americans and so thoroughly deceived the German high command it marked a new high point in military humiliation.

The great play goes back to five or six weeks ago when Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's Soviet forces approached the Oder river in their march toward Berlin.

The German high command rushed 90 divisions—the last really fine striking force—to the approaches of Berlin and waited for the Soviet offensive. It seemed it would start any moment.

War Of Nerves Tells

Then days went by and the war of nerves began to tell on the Germans. Every night German radio military spokesman and commentators spoke of the coming offensive. They used such phrases as: "All is in readiness"; "Zhukov's offensive is imminent."

They breathlessly reported every move Zhukov made—and he made many. He moved troops to the Oder river and back from it. He drew divisions from East Prussia, from Danzig and Gdynia. He even made elaborate motions toward Stettin.

The Anglo-Americans were about 250 miles from Berlin at that time and the Germans were getting worried. They planned a terrific counter thrust to halt Zhukov and then switch divisions to the west, with mobile forces on hand for each danger point.

Germans Perplexed

Still Zhukov busied himself with preparations and the Germans became perplexed. Their reconnaissance showed the Soviets had enough men and material to start. Finally Zhukov did start. But he went only far enough to grab Kuestrin and keep the Germans guessing. Surely, the Germans thought, he would start the big drive now. Only he didn't. He kept moving his divisions like men on a chessboard.

Only three nights ago, a Transocean commentator anxiously mentioned that Berlin was puzzled as to what was holding Zhukov.

Can't Switch To West

Of course Zhukov will attack—and probably very soon. But it is at least six weeks later than the Germans had hoped. At that time, he would have been fighting for Berlin himself. Now the Americans are within operational distance, their journey made easier by the fact they had many less divisions to face than might have been the case.

This crucial war of nerves has delivered to Germany an irreparable, crushing defeat. Her 90 divisions still face the east and it is too late now to move them to the west.

Most Russian victories have been bloodbaths, but this one almost is as decisive as any and the cost only nominal.

Germans Fire From Church Choir Loft

TEMPLE, April 12 (U.P.)—German machine guns firing from the choir loft of the Chateau Salins church greeted Sgt. Julio Rocha and other members of the 26th division as they wheeled into the town during their advance on Metz.

Wounded later at Luxembourg by 88 mm shell fragments, the Texas sergeant told newsmen of the church incident today from his bed in McCloskey General hospital, where he is under treatment.

Germans elected to make a stand at the church, he said, after most of the rest of Chateau Salins had surrendered to the advancing Yanks. American tanks knocked out German heavy guns outside the church—and Rocha and his unit went inside.

"The Germans started firing at us from the choir loft," he said. "The pews were our only protection, but finally the six Germans left—and they were wounded—gave up. All the others were dead."

War Secrets Bill Is Blocked In Senate

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—A war secrets bill which Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) contends might cut off information from Congress and possibly affect the press has been blocked in the Senate on Ferguson's motion.

On Monday the bill, bearing the approval of the military committee, was passed by the Senate in routine fashion. Yesterday, Ferguson entered a motion for consideration of this action. He told his colleagues the measure should be amended before going to the House.

In his view, Ferguson told reporters, the bill which provides fines and imprisonment for persons divulging information from coded government messages, might prevent congressional committees from obtaining information on the events leading up to the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Ferguson also contended the measure might be so applied that it would affect newspapers and wire services which transmitted information derived from coded messages. The bill empowers the President to designate types of messages which would be considered secret information. Others not so designated could be published.

Housewives Urged To Turn In Waste Fats

DALLAS, April 12 (U.P.)—Most of the nation's supply of waste fats, to be used to make war explosives, is right in the housewife's kitchen, and from that source will have to come the majority of the waste fats collected if the nation is to reach its goal for this year.

This was the statement made by War Food administration officials today, as they urged housewives to turn in every available ounce of waste fats for the war effort.

And the WFA reminds them that it's still worth two red points and four cents per pound.

Peace Unit May Meet In U. S.

By FLORA LEWIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The world peace-keeping organization to be blueprinted at San Francisco may conduct its first deliberations in the United States.

Diplomats speculated on this possibility today as they awaited word on the extent of destruction in Vienna to determine whether that old world capital—now almost entirely in Russian hands—remains a likely choice as a permanent meeting site.

Officials say the league itself—assuming that everything goes at top speed—could be set up by late summer or early fall.

Ratifications Needed

Then, as soon as it is ratified by enough countries, the first assembly meeting of all member nations probably will be called. This session would elect non-permanent members of the security council and get the organization going.

The United Nations will have to decide at San Francisco how many ratifications will be necessary to establish the peace organization. Probably, a majority or two-thirds of those attending the April 25 meeting will be required—specifically including Britain, Russia, and the United States, China and France, as permanent members of the council.

Because of the necessity for Senate debate and ratification, it is generally felt this country will be the time-clock and that when America is definitely in, the agency can begin to function. Other nations can act more quickly.

Possibility of the first meeting in this country is strengthened by the devastation in Europe where the coming winter undoubtedly will be cold and hungry. Philadelphia, San Francisco and Detroit already have put in bids to be host to the meeting.

Americans Capture Salt Mines Network

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, April 12 (AP)—The 90th division reported today the capture of an underground network of 100 salt mines, half of them housing slave laborers of Nazi subterranean factories.

Fifteen thousand workers were liberated in the 20-square-mile area east of Hersfeld.

Lt. Col. William Russell of Chevy Chase, Md., military government officer, said German authorities had rushed war machinery from plants in heavily bombed Berlin and Dresden to these mines as late as six months ago.

Negotiations For Gas Line To Mexico Ended

MEXICO CITY, April 12 (U.P.)—Monterrey businessmen announced today that their negotiations for a mineral gas pipeline from Texas to Monterrey have broken down owing to Texas needs.

The Monterrey financiers and industrialists said they had raised $2,000,000 to construct the pipeline. They now expect to build a line using the gas from wells in a new field opened up in the northern region of the state of Tamaulipas.

Enabling Legislation On Food Unit Sought

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—The government's top agriculture administrators asked Congress today for enabling legislation to make the United States a member of a world-wide food supply organization.

War Food Administrator Marvin Jones and Agriculture Secretary Claude Wickard appeared before the House foreign affairs committee in support of the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations which first was conceived at a world food conference in Hot Springs, Va., in 1943.

Twenty nations must subscribe to the organization—providing an international exchange of food production and supply organization—to put it in operation. Nineteen have joined.

Montague Protests Gas Ruling To OPA

FORT WORTH, April 12 (U.P.)—Joe G. Montague, attorney for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, today protested to the Office of Price Administration against reduction of gasoline rations to veterinary medicine salesmen, livestock buyers and raisers.

Montague said that such action would further cut the nation's meat supply.

Asserting the OPA did not want to do anything to further the country's meat shortage, OPA enforcement officials said they would pass the protest along to higher authorities in hopes that the order would be modified.

Empty Box Cars Being Moved Into Mid-West

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Empty box cars are being moved to Midwestern grain belts at the rate of 1,400 a day and the ODT is arranging to increase that number by 300 daily.

This was announced by Director J. Monroe Johnson of the Office of Defense Transportation today in a letter to State Rep. John Mayhew of Topeka, Kas.

Mayhew, together with grain interesty and congressmen of 11 Middlewestern states including Texas, has been seeking to prevent spoilage of vast quantities of last year's grain which has not been moved to terminal markets because of a box car shortage.

More Bean, Cucumber Production Forecast

AUSTIN, April 12 (AP)—A heavier production of snap beans and cucumbers but a substantial reduction in Texas onions was forecast by the United States department of agriculture today. The USDA added that the April cold snap while not destructive would retard development of all crops.

Community Activities At Canning Training Center To Start Monday

Community activities in the canning training center, located in the old dairy manufacturing building at Texas Tech, will begin Monday, according to Mrs. Gladys K. Holden, instructor in family life education and director of the center.

Hours the center will be open to the public the first week and following days were announced by Mrs. Holden as follows: 2:30 to 6 p. m. Monday; 1 to 4 p. m. and 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. Wednesday; and 8 to 11 a. m. Friday. After the first week, the center will be open from 1 to 5 p. m. Mondays and Wednesdays and 8 to 11 a. m. Fridays. If there are sufficient requests to warrant it, the center will be open one evening weekly, Mrs. Holden said.

Work By Appointment

Because facilities of the center are limited and the center is small, each group must have appointments before planning work there. All canning will be scheduled in season, according to Mrs. Holden who named English peas, fresh pineapple, beets, asparagus, sour kraut, hominy, sweet potatoes and greens as now-seasonable foods to preserve.

Women of Lubbock and surrounding territory will be served by this center which was organized through the cooperation of the divisions of agriculture and home economics at Tech and equipped by the War Food Production Training program. Purposes of the program to be conducted at the center include increasing the amount of food conserved, facilitating canning foods from gardens and using improved methods for food conservation.

A demonstration on the canning of asparagus will be given the evening of April 18 at the center and those desiring to attend should inform Mrs. Holden. She will be in her office at Tech from 1:15 to 2:45 p. m. daily and may be contacted by calling 8541. Appointments for using the center must also be made with Mrs. Holden.

Red River Dam Is Paying For Itself

DENISON, April 12. (U.P.)—The new Denison dam across the Red river — boundary line between Texas and Oklahoma—already has started paying for itself.

The Southwestern Power administration announced today that power sales from the dam amounted to $54,022 between March 9 and March 31—the first period of steady power production.

A total of 16,948,000 kilowatt hours were produced during the period. Most of the power was sold to the Texas Power and Light company, with a small amount going to the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company.

Bill For Protection Of Animals Offered

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—Persons convicted of killing or maiming animals or poultry will find the going much tougher, if a measure approved by a senate committee is finally enacted into law.

Try Hot Water Plus If Stomach Pains You After Eating—

Thousands of unfortunate people suffer from so-called dyspepsia, acid indigestion, food fermentation, sour stomach, acid stomach, flatulence, gas pains and other stomach distress brought on by excess acid.

If these people would try drinking slowly after each meal half a glass of real hot water containing a spoonful of Neutracid, they can usually get blessed relief from distress within a very few minutes. Neutracid will quickly help to neutralize this excess acid, and thus help more rapid digestion. You get quick relief from the acute distress and discomfort.

Army Red Tape Must Be Cut Regardless

DALLAS, April 12. (U.P.) — Mrs. Alex Cason, jr., received a letter from her son, Major Joe F. Cason, stationed on Iwo Jima, in which he said that no matter what, he has learned that Army regulations, in his opinion, have to be followed.

Her son wrote, telling her he was promoted from captain to major. The promotion called for a physical check-up. So he was given one, while Jap bullets whizzed around him and the examining doctor, promoted and sent back to his job of directing operations on a certain sector.

Cason wrote his mother that he wondered how he passed the exam, explaining that he hadn't slept in 36 hours, nor had a "square meal" in two days.

Another Nazi Treasure Cache Said Uncovered

Cataloguing of the cache has just begun. It is said to include virtually all the treasures stored for safekeeping from Berlin's public and private museums.

Aged Woman Builds House, Then Finds The Ceiling Leaks

PARKVILLE, Mo., April 12 (AP) Mrs. J. Gassoway Johnson, 84, looked up at the ceiling of her house, which she built alone, and said, "it leaks like a sieve."

Her 94-year-old husband, a one-time slave, commented, "it just wasn't built right."

"Well, anyway, Gassy," Mrs. Johnson remarked, "I guess I know where to patch it now." She stayed there the other night to "find out where the roof needs patching."

The Johnson's home burned down two years ago and they have been living in the Baptist parsonage. Now the church has a new preacher and the Johnsons have to move.

So Mrs. Johnson tossed the house together in a hurry because, she related, her husband is ailing fast and she wanted him to have a home to die in. "Gassoway says he's 94, but the way he acts you'd think he's over a hundred," she explained.

She was given lumber priority for the house, which is complete except for the doors and windows.

Russia, Yugoslavia Sign Friendship Pact

MOSCOW, April 12. (AP)—The Soviet Union and Yugoslavia concluded a 20-year friendship and mutual assistance agreement today and early ratification was expected at formal ceremonies in Belgrade.

The signers were Premier Marshal Tito for Yugoslavia and Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov for Russia.

The treaty contains a one-year cancellation clause whereby either party may renounce it one year before the 20-year period expires. Otherwise it is automatically valid for successive five-year periods until one party cancels it a year before expiration of any five-year period.

Weimar Falls To Americans

By EDWARD D. BALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WEIMAR, Germany, April 12.—Weimar, birthplace of the German republic in 1919, surrendered to the U. S. Third army's 80th infantry division without a shot today.

It was a bloodless conquest, negotiated by a German bicycle courier.

Elements of the 80th division were gradually moving into nearby Erfurt and its fall was expected before the day's end.

Negotiations for the surrender of Weimar began last night in the village of Troistedt, three miles south of the historic German city. The surrender ultimatum, which was to have expired at 8:30 a. m. today, was drawn up and handed to the mayor of Troistedt.

The grey haired mayor pedalled a bicycle into Weimar, and delivered the surrender demand, which had been drawn by Lt. Col. Paul Bandy of Hillsboro, Tex.

Americans March In

Before 8 o'clock the mayor was back—riding again—and was followed 10 minutes later by the over-mayor of Weimar, who said his city was ready to surrender. The American troops then marched in.

The over-mayor, riding in a limosine, brought with him Dr. Erica Fischer, whose American mother lives in Germany, and Dr. Fischer's German husband. Both Frau Fischer and her husband are psychologists. Both speak flawless English.

The Fischers told 80th division officers the German army had pulled out of Weimar yesterday and that the city was ready to surrender.

The over-mayor said simply: "We want to surrender."

American Ultimatum

The ultimatum read:

"The American Army once again is marching triumphantly forward. Your city is surrounded and untenable. Surrender and you will be treated according to the rules of the Geneva convention."

The mayor's limosine led the American column into the city.

Simultaneously with the occupation of Weimar the Americans overran the infamous Buchenwald prison camp in the woods three miles northwest of the city, where they found between 20,000 and 25,000 political prisoners.

Picture Record Of The Life Of Franklin D. Roosevelt

At Hyde Park, N. Y., in this great house upon the bluffs above the Hudson, Franklin D. Roosevelt was born, January 30, 1882, the son of James and Sara Delano Roosevelt.

One of the earliest glimpses, at the right, of the President of the United States: as an infant of three months, in the arms of his mother.

At the age of six (right), the famous Roosevelt smile already in evidence. Also, at about this age, began the hobby for collecting stamps.

In his football sweater (above) as a member of the Groton School eleven, when he was sixteen. Half-way through his course, in 1898, he ran away to enlist in the Navy during the Spanish-American War. An attack of measles thwarted the attempt.

James Roosevelt introduces his small, sailor-suited son to President Cleveland, who told young Franklin, "I hope, little man, you may never become President of the U. S. A."

Highlights Of The Life Of Franklin D. Roosevelt

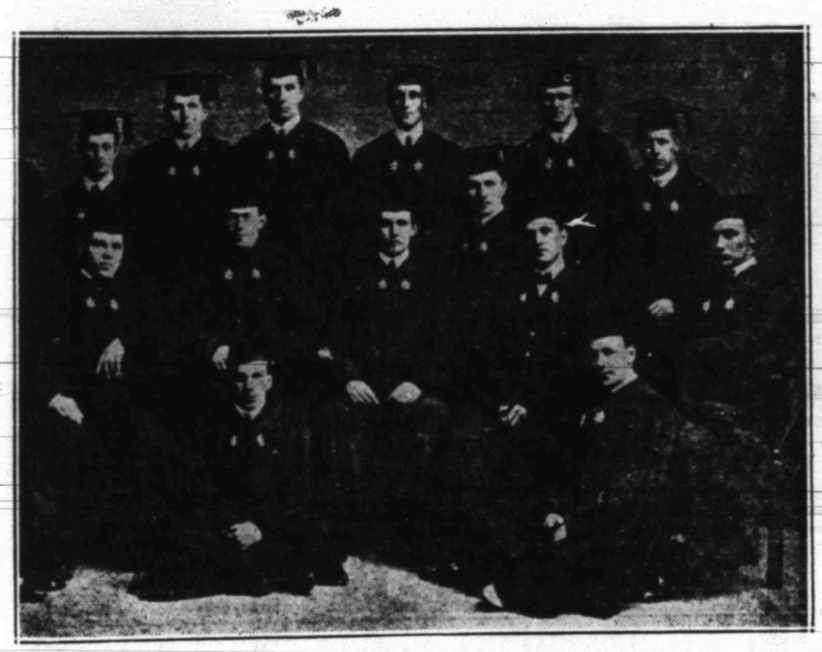

Stilled are the heart, hand and voice of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, four times the choice of his countrymen for the highest office within their gift; only man ever to be elected for more than two terms in the White House. Forceful, daring, the thirty-second President who died suddenly yesterday guided his country through its worst depression and during much—probably most—of its most encompassing war. He achieved most of his life's goals, but death deprived him of one, perhaps his chief one, that of speaking for his nation in charting the peace era to follow assured victory of United Nations arms.

In 1910, soon after this picture (above) was taken, he threw his hat into the political ring, winning election to the New York State Senate, and re-election two years later.

A law course at Columbia University followed Harvard. And in 1905, at the age of twenty-three, he married his fifth cousin, Anna Eleanor Roosevelt. She appears (right) in her wedding gown. Her uncle Theodore Roosevelt, then President, gave the bride away.

Not an enlarged Supreme Court, but the Harvard 1904 Class Day Committee, of which Franklin D. Roosevelt (third from right, back row) was a member. He also was editor of The Crimson, campus daily.

After campaigning for Woodrow Wilson in 1916, Franklin D. Roosevelt was appointed Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the fifth Roosevelt to hold that post. Below, he inspects a battleship in 1917, during the World War.

James M. Cox, Democratic Presidential nominee in 1920, greets his running mate, the party's vice-presidential candidate. The defeat at the polls which folowed is the only such one in Roosevelt's career.

This snapshot of Franklin Roosevelt was taken in 1928.

Almost President: Roosevelt is greeted by the retiring chief executive of the nation, Herbert Hoover, as the two started for the Capitol upon the occasion of Roosevelt's first inauguration.

Westerners Hold First Grid Drill

Drawing a balmy day for the opening, Coaches Dixie White and George Philbrick put a squad of 65 Lubbock Westerners through the first workout of the 30 day spring football training camp at Chapman field Thursday afternoon.

Most of the 65 men who reported, and suited out, for the first drill are boys who will be fighting for places on the Westerner squad, and took in eight lettermen and five regulars who will be back this fall, and around who the Westerners will build their hopes.

Close to 140 boys have signed up for the football camp, and most of these will be on the field today, but only the 65 uniforms were issued for the first workout.

The opening day of work was devoted largely to limbering up and fundamentals, but will get harder as the camp continues.

Coach White took the linemen, and Philbrick took the backs for the first workout, and put them through the paces. White worked on the blocking assignments while Philbrick stressed the ball handling and running during the workout.

Most of last year's Cowhands were on hand Thursday, ready to battle for places on the Westerners, and a number of them showing up well in the first workout.

'Reformed' Mungo To Face Big League Test

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—Van Lingle (the new) Mungo, a reformed and completely renovated citizen, is about to test his pitching arm against big league hitting and the New York Giants think he can succeed.

Honorably discharged from the Army last November after nine months service, the 33-year-old righthander hopes to reward his long-waiting boosters with solid performances instead of promises of "about to be" greatness.

Time was when Mungo was said to have strayed from the training routine prevalent in baseball but those days are finished.

"Gone forever, period," says Mungo, and he looks as though he means it.

"The Army did me a lot of good and I know now that I'm in the best physical condition of my life as far as baseball is concerned," states the Pageland, S. C., veteran. "No more fooling. It's serious business now."

The righthander, who always appeared to be on the verge of becoming a great pitcher, isn't as fast as he used to be. Back in the 1934-35-36 era with the Brooklyn Dodgers there were many who rated him the fastest in the game. He led the league in strikeouts in '36, his last good year.

Mungo won only three games in 1943, his last season in the game, but right now he's the Giant's No. 2 man with the big test coming.

Safe Lugged From Place And Wrecked

Police and the sheriff's department Thursday investigated the burglary Wednesday night of Lubbock Sheet Metal and Roofing company in which a safe was taken and left, battered and wrecked, in the east side of Lubbock cemetery.

Picks and crowbars had been used to open the safe and remove money, checks, bonds and gasoline ration coupons from it.

In addition, a radio, part of an intercommunication system, a typewriter and a check detector were taken from the company.

J. B. Vickery, reporting the loss to officers, said cash of $13 to $15 also was taken, and that checks and cash would total approximately $55. In addition $350 in war bonds, "C" coupons equivalent to 110 gallons of gasoline and "T" coupons equivalent to 2,500 gallons were taken.

Preliminary Track Events Start Today

Class B trackmen will take to the runways this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Chapman field to pare the field of entries down to the finals for Saturday afternoon, and launch the big weekend of school athletics in this city.

The Class A preliminaries in the dashes, field events and hurdles will be run off Saturday morning, starting at 10:30 o'clock. There are no preliminaries in the Class AA events, which will draw only three schools.

To qualify for the finals will call for six in the field events, but in case of a tie, not to exceed eight, and to qualify eight for the finals in each track event.

Two new squads were entered in the Class A meet, with the arrival of entries from Olton and Tahoka, to go along with teams from Andrews, Denver City, Seminole, O'Donnell, Levelland and Sudan.

Others may enter for the meet, and will be accepted up to time for the preliminary events. Coaches are urged to be on hand with their squads by 10 o'clock Saturday morning for the Class A preliminaries.

The preliminary schedule for the Class A boys will have the high hurdles, shot put and pole vault on tap for 10:30; 100 yard dash at 10:50; 440 yard dash, if necessary at 11; low hurdles, high jump and discus at 11:10, and 220 yard dash and broad jump at 11:30.

Finals in all three divisions will be run off Saturday afternoon, starting promptly at 1:30 o'clock. There will be a 25 cent admission charge for the finals.

Pioneer Star Breaks Leg In Softball Tilt

The first serious accident of the extensive setup in tempo of the Lubbock school's athletic program, put into effect more than a year ago, was reported to E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey Thursday afternoon when Joe Ferguson, third baseman of the Hunt Pioneers softball team, suffered a broken leg in the opening game.

Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ferguson, 1708 Avenue D, received the broken leg when a Dupre Doggie player slid into third base on a close play. The youth received treatment for the leg and was taken home where he is reported resting well.

Hunt won both of the games over the Dogies and joined Central Ward at the top of the heap in both leagues. Wayne Stroud bested Johnny Tatum in a pitching duel to win the boys game, 5-4, while the Hunt girls outslugged the Dupre girls to win, 25-21.

Former Army Chief See Japs Giving Up

CINCINNATI, April 12. (AP) — General John L. Hines, the Army's former chief of staff, says he thinks the Japanese may give up the fight soon after Germany is beaten.

"The Japanese war may end sooner than many people suspect," he said. "I wouldn't be surprised if they gave up shortly after the German collapse."

Pirate Prexy Is Highly Pleased

PITTSBURGH, April 12. (AP)—Sizing up his 1945 squad as "the best in seven years," President Bill Benswanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates exuded confidence over their pennant prospects today as fearsome Frankie Frisch quit his sickbed and returned to the managerial post.

"We have our best squad since 1938," the shrewd, dapper club owner said after watching the fast-stepping Bucs work out at Muncie, Ind.

"Counting the opposition, this is the finest chance we've had in seven years. The boys need only a final few days of workouts under the watchful eye of Frisch, who is getting over his arthritis."

Contrasting with blues most clubowners have been crying this year, the normally conservative Benswanger said his entire team is imbued with "pennant fever."

This doesn't spring solely from the fact that the Bucs finished second last year. While other clubs have been hit hard by the draft, the Pirates have almost every veteran back from last year, except war workers Al Rubeling, Ray Starr and Pete Coscarart.

Of course, the draft calls of Pitcher Fred Ostermueller, third baseman Bob Elliott and catcher Hank Camelli are still hanging fire, but stacked against these possible losses Benswanger has three rookies up from Albany, N. Y., who "look exceptionally promising."

"In camp I liked especially the work of Bill Rodgers, a lefthanded power hitter; Vic Barnhart, lithe infielder woh is gunning for a shortstop berth, and Al Gionfriddo in the outfield," he said.

Also, acquisition of portsider Al Gerheauser in a trade with the Phillies for Vince DiMaggio bolstered the mound staff considerably.

Twenty-one game winner Rip (Blooper Ball) Sewell, plus righthanders Max Butcher and Nick Strincevich, provide the Pirates with a set of starting pitchers that should keep opposition batters plenty worried, the Buc owner opined.

Kraus Is Promoted To Major General

Promotion of Brig. Gen. Walter F. Kraus, commanding general of the Army Air Forces Central Flying Training command headquarters at Randolph Field, to the rank of major general was announced today by the War department.

The new major general, whose 27-year army career includes service in the corps of engineers and artillery prior to his entry into the air forces in 1920, has directed the eleven-state program of the Central Flying Training command since May, 1944. General Kraus commands one of the three geographical divisions of the AAF Training command's network of flying schools, directing training at schools for pilots, bombardiers and navigators located in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Mexico and Kansas. Clothing Drive Here Brings 8,000 Pounds

Approximately 8,000 pounds of clothing had been received at United National Clothing collection headquarters at Lubbock Auto company, by Thursday night, F. A. Kleinschmidt, chairman for the drive, reported.

Approximately 4,000 pounds had been packed in boxes to be sent to national drive officials.

"We have just scratched the surface so far," said Kleinschmidt. The local goal is 250,000 pounds.

Merchants are asked to place boxes in alleys that will hold as much as 100 pounds of clothing that they wish to donate to the drive, he said. City garbage trucks will take the boxes to the packing and shipping center.

All of the clothing collected at the various receiving centers has not yet been taken to drive headquarters.

The campaign chairman said shoes with high heels and open toes or backs are being received and cannot be used in the campaign. Either oxfords, or high shoes, "of durable type with low or medium heels," are being sought in the drive. If persons wish to give high-heeled shoes, however, they will be given to local organizations for use in relief, he said.

World Mourns Leader's Death

(By The Associated Press)

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York tonight declared that President Roosevelt would be mourned "as a human being of warm human qualities and great capacities."

"It remains for all of us to preserve and strengthen our national unity in waging the war to total, uncompromising victory over all our enemies," the 1944 Republican presidential candidate said, adding:

"Coming to leadership of the nation at a critical period in our economic life he brought his courage and indomitable spirit to the task of meeting the most difficult of national problems, inspiring the people with fresh confidence and establishing basic liberal reforms."

Mourned By World

Earlier, Dewey telegraphed Mrs. Roosevelt: "Please accept our deepest sympathy in your great loss which will be shared by every American and mourned by all the freedom-loving people of the entire world."

Other comments included:

Mayor F. H. La Guardia of New York—"It is the greatest loss the peace-loving people of the world have suffered in one entire war."

Former President Herbert Hoover—"The nation sorrows at the passing of its President. Whatever differences there may have been, they end in the regret of death. It is fortunate that in this great crisis of war our armies and navies are under such magnificent leadership that we shall not hesitate. The new President will have the backing of the country. While we mourn Mr. Roosevelt's death, we shall march forward."

Shock To Farley

Former Postmaster General James A. Farley—"The death of President Roosevelt is of course a shock to me as it will be to all Americans and to millions throughout the world who have looked to him for leadership during these trying times."

Sen. Barkley (D-Ky), majority leader—I am too shocked to talk. It is one of the worst tragedies that ever happened to the nation or the world, but we must tighten our belt and go forward to the goal hhich he set for us.

Sen. Wherry (R-Neb), minority whip in the Senate—It's a terrific shock to me! . . . it calls for a continued united effort to fight the war to a victorious conclusion and to win the peace.

Sen. Connally (D-Tex), chairman foreign affairs committee—The death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt is a tremendous loss to the United States and to the world. . . . People of the world who dreamed of a successful termination of war and erection of machinery for permanent peace and security will shed tears at his untimely death.

Imperishable Imprint

Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) — President Roosevelt leaves an imperishable imprint on the history of America and the world. Those who disagree with him have always recognized his amazing genius in behalf of his always vigorous ideals.

In Topeka, Kans., Alf M. Landon, 1936 Republican presidential nominee, paid tribute to Roosevelt, his successful opponent, as a man who brought many great changes to America.

"I treasure the memory of many pleasant conversations with him," Landon said. "It is tragic he could not have lived to see the fruition of his greatest undertaking."

James F. Byrnes, former director of war mobilization—"It is a world tragedy. At the moment my personal regret is such that I would not trust myself to make a statement. I am so distressed."

Former Ambassador to England Joseph P. Kennedy—"A greater love hath no man than who gives his life for his country."

Sen. O'Daniel (D-Tex), foe of the Roosevelt administration—The sad news of the death of our President, coming as it does at such a crucial period in the history of the world, is indeed shocking.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex)—The world has lost one of the great leaders of all times. President Roosevelt's passing will shock and sadden good people everywhere."

Philip Murray, president of the CIO—The nation and the world have lost a great leader and a great soldier and labor its noblest friend.

Myron G. Blalock, Texas Democratic national committeeman: "I am completely stunned. This is the most tragic blow that this country and her Allies could possibly have had at this time."

Two Dead, 34 Missing In Tanker Collision

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP) — The War Shipping administration disclosed today that 34 men are missing and two are known dead as the result of a collision between two tankers Monday 700 miles from New York.

The WSA said the tankers, Nashbulk and the St. Mihel, were in a convoy when the accident occurred about 7 p. m.

The St. Mihel took fire, but the blaze was brought under control after abandon ship orders had been given. Both ships have returned to New York.

All except one of the dead and missing were crew members of the St. Mihel.

Anti-Closed Shop Bill Is Given OK . . .

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP) — The Senate labor committee tonight favorably reported House Bill 12, the anti-closed shop measure passed recently by the House of Representatives.

Sen. Ben Ramsey of San Augustine made the motion sending the controversial measure to the calendar of the Senate, with a recommendation that it pass. The motion carried uanimously.

This action was taken after the committee heard the bill defended as a means of permitting a man to work under conditions of his own choice, and attacked as one that would promote dissention in war time.

PEACE STOCKS ADVANCE

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP) — Industrial stocks with good peace prospects resumed the advance in today's market although numerous issues having an armament tinge backed away on profit cashing.

Turnover equaled that of Wednesday at 1,060,000 shares. While gains of 1 to 6 points were well distributed at the close, losers were plentiful.

Bidding still was predicated on the theory the Nazis' days were numbered and that post-war prosperity would overcome to a considerable extent reconversion problems.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up 1 of a point at 61.8, with the rail and utility averages down as much. The market was broad, 943 issues registering. Of these, 468 advanced against 475 down or unchanged.

Among favorites at 1945 peaks were Philip Morris, up 4⅛; Montgomery Ward, up 3; Johns-Manville, up 2¾; Westinghouse, up ⅝; and Santa Fe, up ⅝.

Carrier bonds were relatively steady although finishing under the tops of the day.

Cotton . .

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 12 (AP)—After displaying early weakness, the cotton market rebounded today on replacement commission house buying along with short covering and mill demand. Early losses of 60 cents a bale were largely attributed to profit taking attracted by the previous advance to new seasonal highs. Spot cotton markets were quiet and steady.

Futures closed 10 to 35 cents a bale higher.

Treatment Of Yank POWs Is Protested

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—America, where one group of Nazi prisoners of war went on strike recently because cigarets were late, formally accused Germany today of shockingly inhuman treatment of American prisoners.

Grimly, this country promised punishment of the Nazi captors.

And it was apparent that German prisoners here are going to lose some privileges—though eye-for-an-eye retaliation for Nazi "neglect, indifference and cruelty" is not contemplated.

Said a formal statement of the State and War departments, read to a news conference by Secretary of War Stimson:

"Instances are being daily uncovered of deliberate neglect, indifference and cruelty in the treatment of American prisoners, actions which have shocked the entire civilized world . . .

"It is our relentless determination that the perpetrators of the heinous crimes against American citizens and against civilization itself will be brought to justice."

Russians Are Excited Over Allied Advance

MOSCOW, April 12 (AP) — The possibility of an early meeting between the Red Army and the western Allies in the heart of Germany held the attention of the Russian public today as it learned that American troops had reached positions only 57 miles from Berlin and 115 miles from Soviet lines along the Oder.

The same question is on everyone's tongue—when is the war going to end? The Soviet press, however, is keeping silent on this question and there has been no official speculation.

The impression prevails that the war will end when the Red Army launches its impending offensive across the Oder and Neisse rivers, where—according to Soviet front-line dispatches—the main strength of the German Army is concentrated.

Insects have killed more men than all the wars in history put together.

News Briefs

Hubert Brown and Horace Manderson were married Thursday night at the recreation center in Hub Homes. It was all "playlike," though, a "womanless" feature of a benefit show staged for community's library fund. Manderson enacted the role of the bride and Brown the groom. Bobby Hopson officiated. Jimmy Lockhart was bridesmaid; Don Rogers, best man; Donald Caldwell, flower girl; Carl Gordon, ring bearer; Wilburn Roach and Charles Sartin, the bride's parents and Charles Chambles and Wallace Smith, the groom's parents. The bride, attired in a formal white dress with finger-tip veil, carried a bouquet of carrots and onions. A variety of musical numbers rounded out the program. The affair was sponsored by "The Teen-Agers," an organization of youngsters living in Hub homes.

Cacy Day of Slaton was admitted to Lubbock General hospital at 11 o'clock Thursday night for removal of a piece of steel from his left eye. Day said that he was buffing some steel on an emery wheel when the fragment flew into his eye. His condition was satisfactory late last night, hospital attendants reported.

A 1937 Plymouth automobile, reported stolen early Thursday from W. S. Grier of 1903 Twenty-fifth, was recovered yesterday afternoon on highway 87 near Lubbock by the highway patrol.

Police continued their investigation Thursday night of the report of H. E. Parsons, city bus driver, that a negro had shot at his bus, at Nineteenth and East Ave. C, about midnight Wednesday.

Firemen made a run early Thursday night to Goad Wrecking company, at 2418 Ave. H, where trash in old car bodies had burst into flame.

The sheriff's department held a warrant Thursday night for J. S. Bates, identified as driver of a local bus, on a charge of wife desertion. He is to be arraigned today.

M. N. Davidson, night police desk sergeant, and Neal Cox, police radio operator, carefully explained to several callers Thursday night that it really didn't happen. The callers said they had witnessed a shooting in front of the Silver Dollar cafe on College Ave., had seen an ambulance haul off the victim and the police arrest the gun wielder. Capt. Bill Bell of the police, who made the "arrest," said it was a mock murder staged by the law club of Texas Technological college. He said the "suspect" had been charged and would be brought to trial next week.

Better Watch Your Step, Brother

Friday The Thirteenth May Lead To Your Full Undoing

FRIDAY the thirteenth.

Or hadn't you noticed? Take another quick look at the calendar on the wall—no, the calender—not that pin-up girl picture on the top of the calender.

Friday the thirteenth are magic words for those with a superstitious mind. It is also a perfectly good day to steer clear of black cats, walking under ladders, be sure not to knock over the salt shakers when you reach with shaking hand to salt those breakfast eggs. If you start off from home, and learn you have forgotten something, don't go back for it—unless what you forgot was to dress properly.

The safest rule for today will be to stay home. Not only stay at home, but stay in bed, answer no phones or knocks at the door. But even staying at home calls for being careful. Remember, more hard luck comes to a fellow at home than any other place—unless he likes to play the ponies.

The manpower shortage being what it is in this day and time, this plan might not suit the boss. But if the boss is being as smart as you are, he won't be down either, so he won't know you didn't show up. But be sure the boss is "smart" before you try this. He might not take this advice himself. (Note to our boss: we are not superstitious — just careful.)

Dig out, and pet and polish that left hind paw of the rabbit that was killed by the dark of the moon in the middle of the cemetery at midnight, get out the hunting license and start digging for four leaf clovers, and your buckeye button. Of course, you may have a different charm, one that you have found more effective. If this is true—use it, brother, use it.

But if hard luck does break through your charm, and strike you a light tap, don't feel discouraged. Think what's happening to Hitler, Tojo et al, and you will know what Friday the thirteenth hard luck REALLY is.

Colonel Denies POW Get Any Luxuries

CHICAGO, April 12. (AP)—Col. A. H. Brawner asserted today that German war prisoners in the Sixth Service command "never have been granted extra meals, between meals snacks or luxuries of any kind."

Col. Brawner said he was replying to complaints voiced yesterday at Granite City, Ill., by CIO and AFL leaders that German war prisoners working on barracks at an Army engineer depot there had been granted extra meals and favors.

Col. Brawner said that some war prisoners on work detail ate part of the lunches during rest periods but added that they received no additional food allowances.

Churchill Receives Shocking News; To Pay Tribute Today

LONDON, Friday, April 13. (AP) —Prime Minister Churchill received the shocking news of the death of President Roosevelt early this morning and was reported to have decided immediately to pay tribute to him when the House of Commons convenes at 11 a.m. today.

The prime minister had not yet gone to bed when word of the President's death was received and associates said Churchill was deeply affected. Churchill and Roosevelt were close personal friends — called one another by their Christian names—and had been in telephone communication with each other almost daily in recent weeks.

U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant, informed of the death, said "the greatest American of our age is dead. I hope every citizen of the United States will stand by his post."

England learned of the President's death in the midnight broadcast of BBC and soldiers and civilians who still roamed central London seemed stunned by the news, which swept through the city like wildfire.

NEWS MAKES "GREAT IMPRESSION IN BERLIN"

LONDON, April 12. (AP) — The German DNB news agency said tonight that the news of President Roosevelt's death "has of course made a great impression in Berlin," but added that Nazi officials refrained from drawing any immediate conclusions concerning any possible effect on American foreign policy.

The DNB wireless dispatch, the first German comment on the President's death, was transmitted almost an hour after the agencies first announcement of the news, a terse dispatch quoting a British news service message from Amsterdam.

Livestock Growers Ask Price Increase

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Livestock growers asked today for a cent a pound price increase, saying it would put beef on the natiop's dinner tables.

The State department meanwhile requested U. S. participation in an international food organization, asserting it would be a major factor in keeping the world fed and peaceful in the future.

These current and long-time aspects of the food situation were presented concurrently to different agencies of Congress.

The price plea was presented by P. O. Wilson of Chicago, secretary-manager of the National Livestock Producers association, to the Senate Agriculture committee, investigating food shortages. Considerable committee sentiment for higher producer prices was indicated by members' comment applauding the War Food administration's boost in the hog support price from $12.50 to $13 a hundred pounds.

British Eighth Army Hammers Out Gains

ROME, April 12. (AP)—The British Eighth Army hammered westward today from three bridgeheads across the Santerno river and British armor locked in a heavy battle with Nazi Tiger tanks.

North of the new bridgeheads troops which had made amphibious landings from Lake Comacchio behind the enemy's lines captured the villages of Menate and Longastrino and linked up with other units advancing astride the Reno river.

WASHINGTON, April 12—High Army officials told senators today the end of organized fighting in Germany probably will come within a few days.

Describing the pell-mell dash of American armies across Germany, general staff officers expressed the opinion to members of the Senate Military committee that a collapse of Nazi arms is imminent.

Those who attended the conference said the Army chiefs said:

Only pockets of resistance will remain to be cleaned up after this collapse.

They feel so sure of results that orders have been drawn drastically reducing the shipments of durable equipment to Europe in preparation for reversing the flow toward the Pacific.

They hope that Hitler and his Nazi leaders will be captured, although they did not discount the possibility of escape by some.

A German broadcast heard in London today had Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, saying that "the war cannot last much longer in my opinion."

In a review of problems developing with the imminent shift of major war activity to the fight against Japan, the senators also were told by Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, chief of he Army's service of supplies, and other military leaders that the nation again is scraping the bottom of the barrel on steel.

This new crisis in steel production has developed, it was disclosed, because of the increased weight of bombs, plus needs for heavy equipment in the Pacific.

The civilian pinch in the Pacific war will be felt primarily in steel, cotton goods and shoes, the senators heard. Steel lack may hamper the reconversion of the auto industry. Cotton is needed for lightweight uniforms. Shoes rot fast in the Pacific fighting areas. Civilians may be cut to one pair a year.

Plans have been worked out, the senators were told, for a three-way trail of men and supplies from Europe to the Pacific. Some will go direct to the Orient. Some will come back to the United States and then go to the Pacific. Some will go direct from this country to the Japanese war zone.

The legislators were informed that the Army intends to adhere rigidly to a point system in deciding which of the fighting men in Europe shall come home, which shall stay there to help occupy Germany, which shall go on to fight the Japanese.

The return of men and supplies to this country will be slower than the public expects, but the Army hopes to offset criticism when it publishes its point standards.

Grain ships and freights will be fitted up to help bring troops back across the Atlantic. Throughout all the conference, the military men emphasized that shipping is the big bottleneck for the tremendous movements soon to get under way.

Western Front V-E Day Near

ing in half, smashed eastward to within 35 miles of the Munich-Berlin superhighway, most important north-south German road link, and was nearing Bamberg, 30 miles northwest of the Nazi shrine city of Nuernberg.

The seventh Army captured Schweinfurt, a ballbearing manufacturing center of 42,000 population, while farther to the southwest the French First Army seized the Black forest cities of Baden Baden and Rastatt.

North End of Front

On the northern end of the front, the British Second Army captured Celle, a German training center for gas warfare 50 miles south of Hamburg, and deepened its Aller river bridgehead thrust within 45 miles of that second greatest German city.

The Canadian First Army drove 22 miles into the center of the Holland trap, where an estimated 200,000 Germans are pinned against the sea and fought on beyond the Issel river where the enemy hopes to hold up the Allied drive to liberate Rotterdam and Amsterdam.

The Canadians by battling into Spier were 12 miles from the communications center of Assen and 25 miles from the North sea.

The Ruhr pocket, where an estimated 150,000 additional Germans originally were surrounded, was falling apart as U. S. First Army troops made spectacular gains. They were within 20 miles of a junction with the U. S. Ninth Army near the western border of the trap.

43,000 Prisoners Taken

Three-fifths of the area had been whittled away and more than 43,000 prisoners had been brought out. The Germans said the Ruhr manufacturing city of Bochum had fallen.

Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's tanks hurtled across the 450-foot-wide Elbe river at undisclosed points and by means which likewise were censored. The Second Armored division was known, however, to have reached the Elbe at Magdeburg, 57 miles from greater Berlin.

The Second Armored division thus became the first to cross the Elbe since Napoleon, and a field dispatch said the columns of Sherman tanks awaited the "signal that would send them to Berlin."

Other Ninth Army forces along the flanks were swinging up to the river on a 50-mile front.

Conference To Go On As Scheduled

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—President Truman announced tonight that the United Nations conference called for April 25 will go on as scheduled.

White House Secretary Jonathan Daniels said President Truman, who was sworn in late today had authorized Secretary of State Stettinius to make a statement that the United Nations meeting will be held as planned.

Delegations Already Here

Several delegations already have arrived in this country.

President Roosevelt had planned to address the meeting.

It was not known immediately whether President Truman will travel to San Francisco to speak.

The immediate indications were, however, that if the conference goes on as scheduled, Truman will be there as President to follow the lead taken by his predecessor.

Endorsed Foreign Policies

Consistently throughout the last campaign, Truman indorsed wholeheartedly the Roosevelt foreign policies, particularly as they pertained to the organization of a world league to preserve the peace.

Friends said Truman may be expected to carry out fully the pledges that President Roosevelt made at the Big-Three conference at Yalta.

These included an agreement with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin on voting procedure of the proposed world security council.

Truman has supported without reservation the President's plans for the international organization.

House Is Adjourned After Death Of FDR

AUSTIN, April 12. (AP)—Speaker Claud Gilmer tonight declared the House of Representative adjourned until Monday because of the death of President Roosevelt. The House had been scheduled to meet tonight to consider a calendar of local and uncontested bills. On the opposite side of the capitol, however, the Senate labor committee proceeded with a night hearing on the anti-closed shop bill which passed the House this week.

WACO SCHOOLS CITED

WACO, April 12. (AP)—The Office of Price administration today awarded a citation to Waco public schools for maintaining the highest average employe participation in sharing rides of any school in the United States.

"I Am More Sorry For The People Of The Country And The World Than I Am For Us"

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said, when informed of the death of the President:

"I am more sorry for the people of the country and the world than I am for us."

The First Lady received Vice President Truman in her second floor sitting room which adjoins the President's bedroom.

She told Truman "the President has just passed away."

"What can I do?" Truman said.

"Tell Us What We Can Do"

"Tell us what we can do," Mrs. Roosevelt replied. "Is there any way we can help you?"

This version was made public by Presidential Secretary Stephen Early.

Mrs. Roosevelt left the White House at 7:15 to fly to Warm Springs.

As she came out of the White House door she kissed her daughter Anna, Mrs. John Boettiger, goodbye. Mrs. Boettiger remained at the White House.

Mrs. Roosevelt was accompanied by Stephen Early, presidential secretary and Admiral Ross T. McIntyre, the President's personal physician.

Received News By Phone

Mrs. Roosevelt received the news of her husband's death by telephone. She was attending an afternoon benefit for a Washington charity which was being held at the Sulgrave club.

She went to the phone, spoke a few words, put down the receiver, and walked out to her car without a word to anyone.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, whose husband also died as the result of war labors, and the attempt to unite the world in a peace organization, was at the same party. Guests thought that she departed before she had heard the news.

Truman Sworn In

emn faces, many with red eyes.

Then he and his family walked over to the White House for a few moments of seclusion.

Truman wore a medium grey business suit, a white shirt, a light blue polka dot bow tie. A harmonizing handkerchief was in his breast pocket.

Cabinet Members Present

His glasses glistened, reflecting the flashes of photographers lights recording the event for history.

Among those present for the oath-taking were Secretary of State Stettinius, Secretary of Commerce Wallace, Secretary of War Stimson, Navy Secretary Forrestal; Attorney General Biddle; Treasury Secretary Morgenthau; Labor Secretary Perkins; Interior Secretary Ickes and Agriculture Secretary Wickard.

From outside the cabinet there were Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the fleet; Admiral William D. Leahy, personal chief of staff to the chief executive; War Mobilization Director Fred M. Vinson; Speaker Rayburn; House Minority Leader Martin; House Majority Leader McCormack; Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan.

FDR's Secretaries Present

Also present were Mr. Roosevelt's secretaries, Stephen Early and Jonathan Daniels, and an administrative assistant James Barnes, and Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle.

Truman puffed a bit nervously at a cigaret before he moved to the north end of the Cabinet room to stand before a marble-mantled fireplace for the ceremony. Mrs. Truman dabbed a handkerchief to her eyes. Her husband smiled and patted her hand.

Mrs. Truman, like her husband, was wearing a grey suit, she had on a black felt hat with a green feather. Their daughter was attired in a brown suit and matching hat.

Stone administered the oath from memory and as Truman read from his slip of paper the chief justice's lips formed the words with him.

The Trumans then went to the residential part of the White House to talk again with Mrs. Roosevelt before leaving for their home.

Approximately $50,000,000,000 will be spent by the U. S. Navy during 1945 — half for ships, planes, ordnance, shore facilities and supply items.

Truman Trip Here

with a reply:

"Tom Pendergast was my friend and I am not one to kick him when he is down."

I rode with Truman from Big Spring, along with Arch S. Underwood, Lubbock compress company owner, and G. H. Nelson, local attorney. He chatted amiably with us on the 100-mile ride, giving us off-the-record information on matters in Washington and expressing pleasure at having an opportunity to speak in Lubbock the next night.

Later after his arrival here, I sat around the table with him at a little informal dinner, with a dozen or so Democratic leaders present, and heard him heap high praise on the brow of his "chief"—Franklin Roosevelt.

The new President is an excellent musician which he demonstrated at the home of Dr. Sam G. Dunn on the Levelland highway, where he visited briefly in the afternoon before his talk, to sign an autograph on the doctor's den walls.

Noticing a piano in the Dunn livingroom, he walked casually over to it and played the three B's, Bach, Beethoven and boogie-woogie.

Only Few Heard Him

The next night I sat on the stage at Senior High school auditorium, sad at heart that a bare 400 persons were present to hear him speak, and heard him again extoll the virtues of Roosevelt and advocate his re-election to a fourth term. Remember this was in April, 1944, long before the President had announced he would run again and four months before his nomination in Chicago.

I was one of those few Lubbock people who sent telegrams of congratulations to Truman last July after he had been named as Mr. Roosevelt's running mate.

Several days later, I received a personal note from him, stating: "Your assuring telegram of July 22 was certainly appreciated. . . . I can hardly express my appreciation . . . I remember my pleasant visit to Lubbock." That's the sort of a fellow he is—plain, friendly, unspoiled.

Met Him In Capital

In Washington, in January of this year, I had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Truman again, this time as he was about to take the oath of office as vice president. He greeted Arch Underwood, George Gray and me as though we were friends of years standing and again expressed his pleasure at having been in Lubbock and although felt that down deep in his heart, he was irked at the public response to his appearance here, he certainly hid any evidence of it.

Mrs. Truman was with him, and she, too, showed great pleasure at meeting "some of Harry's Texas friends."

Later I stood in the snow on the south lawn of the White House and heard him take the oath as vice president.

Make Great President

Regardless of what his detractors, most of them uniformed, may say, I think he'll make a great President, for I believe he feels the humbleness of his own self together with his limitations and for that reason will call on the best minds in Washington to guide him through the critical times ahead.

And I believe his tribute to Texans, in his speech here last April, reveals who one of his closest advisers will be. He declared "through the chairmanship of Senator Tom Connally of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, Texans will therefore be responsible for the ratification of the peace."

More than 40 per cent of the fresh vegetables consumed by U. S. civilians last year were grown in home gardens.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Tryheart, 2204 Twenty-ninth, on the birth of a son, weighing 6 pounds 9¼ ounces, at 2:30 p. m. Thursday in West Texas hospital. The father is owner of the Westerner cafe.

Conversion Of Small Plants First Is Urged

SAN ANTONIO, April 12 (AP)—Maury Maverick, chairman and general manager of Small War Plants corporation, urged the conversion of little business to peacetime production prior to big industry before district managers and loan agents of SWPC from Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana here today.

"We must do this because little business is the customer of big business, and an industry cannot keep operating unless it first has a customer," he said.

He warned that industries in the southwest must not lag after the war if this region is to escape economic stagnation.

Americans Buy Bonds Despite Successes

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—War successes don't seem to be causing American industrial workers to neglect either their work or buying war bonds, Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said today.

This is shown, he said, by encouraging results in the first few days of the advance payroll savings period of the Seventh War Loan drive. The three-month payroll campaign started Monday. The drive itself will begin May 14.

About 360 B. S. the Trojan king Aeneas made use of fire bombs consisting of pitch, tow, resinous wood and other inflammable substances.

Senator Doubtful On Reports Of Master-Plan Control Of Packers

By ANN HICKS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Sen. Elmer Thomas, (D-Okla), expressed alarm today over reports that the OPA has a master-plan to force eventual government control of the meat packing industry.

Thomas, chairman of the special Senate food investigating committee, told reporters he had heard repeatedly of such an alleged scheme—"and knowing the men in charge of OPA as I do, it is plausible."

There was no immediate comment from the OPA.

Big Four Domination

Thomas said that according to the reports, the OPA program would allow the industry to be taken over completely by the "big four" meat packers and at the expense of small firms.

"After the war," he said, "the government could charge that the big packers had obtained a monopoly. The administration officials could demand legislation to form a commission to control the meat packing industry as the Interstate Commerce commission controls interstate commerce."

Thomas said such a scheme would be "against the American way of life and it is up to Congress to decide which side they're on."

Representatives of the nation's meat packing industry have charged repeatedly that OPA price policies are driving small packers toward "bankruptcy or the black market."

Plea From Packer

Thomas said James D. Vooney, vice president of Wilson & Co., Chicago, one of the big four packers, today asked food investigating senators to back a move to aid the industry. He favored a price control act amendment forcing OPA to fix prices that would give slaughterers "a reasonable margin of profit" on every kind of animal slaughtered.

Thomas was inclined to favor such an amendment.

Meantime, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones and Price Administrator Chester Bowles took action which heartened the senators somewhat.

Jones announced that WFA was increasing the support price on live hogs from $12.50 per hundredweight to $13 per hundredweight, Chicago basis. He said that figure was guaranteed until Sept. 1, 1946.

OPA Ceiling Prices

Bowles said the Office of Price administration would keep the ceiling price on live hogs at $14 per hundredweight for sows and $14.75 per hundredweight for butcher hogs, for the same length of time.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, (R-Ia), whose state is one of the largest hog producters, said he was most encouraged by the fact that Bowles and Jones seemed to have laid down for the farmer "a reliable program which will enable him to program his hog production."

Heretofore, Hickenlooper said, the farmer "never knew from month to month whether the floor price or the ceiling price would be changed."

He believed the announcement would stimulate pork production for next year, but that it was too late to do much for this year.

Three Negro Officers Charged In Indiana

SEYMOUR, Ind., April 12 (AP)—Capt. Robert W. McIntosh, public relations officer at the Freeman Field Army Air base near here, said today that charges had been preferred against three negro officers for "jostling" a provost marshal on duty.

Capt. McIntosh said the officers, all second lieutenants, had been "subjected to a routine disciplinary action." He identified them as Marsden A. Thomson of Los Angeles, trainee adjutant; Shirley R. Clinton of Camden, N. J., trainee intelligence officer, and Roger C. Terry of Los Angeles, trainee co-pilot.

The public relations officer declined to disclose the nature of the charges but the New York Post said in a dispatch from Washington the officers were being held for court-martial proceedings after they had protested against what they termed discrimination at the base.

Capt. McIntosh said in a statement that Thompson, Clinton and Terry allagedly had jostled the unidentified marshal while entering a recreation hall "not assigned to them."

Many Killed In Ship Explosion

ROME, April 12. (AP)—An American Liberty ship loaded with aerial bombs blew up in Bari harbor at noon Monday, killing or injuring possibly 1,867 Italian civilians and unstated number of American and British servicemen, an Italian government spokesman announced today.

Only two persons who were aboard the ship at the time were reported to have survived. They were Italian civilians who were blown clear. The identity of the ship was not disclosed.

267 Reported Killed

Tentatively the Italian spokesman placed the toll of Italian dead at 267 and the injured at about 1,600.

Three other merchant ships caught fire from the explosion, but the flames were brought under control. The harbor, though damaged, continued to work to full capacity. A warehouse collapsed.

Investigation so far had brought no indication of the cause of the disaster, the second in Bari harbor in less than two years. More than 1,000 persons, mostly American and British merchant seamen, were killed Dec. 2, 1943, when German bombers sank 17 ships in the harbor.

Lt. Col. Robert H. Harper of Washington, D. C., who witnessed Monday's explosion from another ship only 200 yards away, said:

"I was standing in the officers' cabin when I heard a big crack, followed by another terrific one. I was thrown to the deck, together with others in the cabin. When I looked out the porthole the exploded ship had disappeared, to all intents and purposes."

Lt. Comdr. Jonathan Lee of Liverpool, Eng., the port manager, was sitting in his office nearby.

"I suddenly became airborne," he said. "I felt a sharp pain in my back. Then I found myself in another room and realized I had been blown through a wall."

The explosion was accompanied by a tiadl wave which swept some dock workers into the water. The roof of Bari's 1,000-year-old cathedral collapsed.

Murder Verdict Is Given At Houston

HOUSTON, April 12. (AP) — A verdict of "murder by party or parties unknown" was returned today by Justice W. C. Ragan in the death of Lawrence David Lavendusky, 42, whose body was found today in a thicket south of Buffalo drive.

The inquest verdict followed an autopsy report by Dr. Louis A. Cripitto, county health officer, who reported to Justice Ragan that Lavendusky's death resulted from a skull fracture caused by a blow from a heavy instrument. A deep gash was back of the man's right ear.

FRENCH OFFICERS FREED

STARTS SENTENCE

CANON CITY, Colo., April 12 (AP)—A state prison sentence of 34 years to life began Wednesday for Randel O. Thorneberry, 27, sought for 17 months by the FBI as one of the nation's 15 most-hunted criminals before he was arrested March 29 on a farm near Eugene, Ore.

RIVER DAMAGES BRIDGE

BATON ROUGE, La., April 12 (AP)—Chief Engineer Harry Henderlite of the state highway department reported today that the Red river had torn out two 40-foot sections on the east end of the 1600-foot Moncla bridge on highway 57 between Marksville and Alexandria.

FOOD SUPPLIES TRANPORTED

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — Effective today, emergency Red Cross food supplies will be transported daily by trucks from Switzerland to prisoner of war camps in Germany, the Red Cross announced.

Search For Nazi Gold To Continue

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Maybe the Germans did put all their gold in one salt mine but the United States government isn't going to accept the story just because a German official or two said it was so.

The seach will go on—that's the word from Washington today.

Might Be Bulk

Others, however, think the salt-mine hoard was the great bulk of the Hitler government's holding.

Inquiries at the Treasury department, State department, Foreign economic administration and Federal Reserve board failed to produce any offical willing to be quoted on the subject, but here are some facts and thoughts:

Before the war, the Nazis reported their central gold holdings as $29,000,000. This probably was a lie. Some U. S. experts think Germany had much more.

Seized Much Gold

Even before the war, the Nazis seized gold in Czechoslovakia. In 1939 they grabbed gold in Poland. In 1940 they stole an estimated $200,000,000 of Belgian gold from the Bank of France. They ran out of Italy with an estimated $100,000,000 in gold. They looted the Yugoslav treasury.

In all, Germany must have had at least $500,000,000 worth of gold at one time.

Since then, of course, the Germans have spent a lot of it. They used it to buy goods in Switzerland, Sweden, Romania and other countries. They used some for espionage. How much they had to part with is where the experts disagree.

The United States owns $20,417,000,000 worth of gold. The total gold stock of the world is estimated at $35,000,000,000.

ATTACK CLAIMED

LONDON, April 12 (AP) — The Berlin radio quoted Tokyo advices today as saying the Japanese "had thrown a special attack corps against Allied ships off Okinawa, sinking one cruiser." There was no confirmation of the report.

DALLAS CHILD DROWNED

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—Joseph Billups, jr., 3, drowned yesterday when he fell into Turtle Creek while playing with his two cocker spaniels. His father, Joseph Billups, recovered the body.

Germany Is Charged With POW Neglect

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — The U. S. government today charged Germany with "deliberate neglect, indifference and cruelty" in the treatment of American prisoners.

The war and state departments declared in a joint statement that actions are being uncovered daily which "have shocked the entire civilized world."

The statement was issued by Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of State Stettinius.

The statement declared that atrocities against American prisones "are documented by the pitiable condition of liberated American soldiers," adding:

"The American nation will not forget them. It is our relentless determination that the perpetrators of these heinous crimes against American citizens and against civilization itself will be brought to justice."

In general, the statement said, conditions under which American prisoners are held in Germany are "deplorable." Some 70,000 American men are captives in the interior of Germany, it added, and the conditions under which many are living "are due to a large extent to Germany's fanatical determination to continue a hopeless war, with a resultant disintegration under disastrous military defeat."

The original name of the banking family of Rothschilds was Bauer.

OPA Files Numerous Lawsuits On Meat

DALLAS, April 12 (AP)—Dallas' Office of Price Administration during the past 12 months has taken legal action against one out of every four active slaughterers and processors of meat in its six-state southwestern region, its record revealed today.

Black market operations in meat have run up the number of lawsuits filed monthly from 40 to 100, or some 250 per cent, Charles C. Wood, chief of the meat enforcement unit, said, adding that criminal malpractices have shifted during the past few months from virtually unrestricted rural areas to the largest cities of the region.

Laurel Branch To Be Special Stamp Design

WASHINGTON, April 12. (AP)—A small laurel branch will be the unusually simple design to the United Nations commemorative stamp to be issued at San Francisco April 25.

Postmaster General Walker said the stamp, which will go on first-day sale simultaneously with the opening of the United Nations conference, will be blue and of five-cent denomination.

PLANNED MEET SET

AUSTIN, April 12 (AP)—An industrial planning conference to coordinate a Texas program through utilization of power resources such as electricity, petroleum, natural gas, lignite, and oil, will be held by the Texas industrial and commercial research council of the University of Texas on April 12.

Rivers Reach Record Crests In Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, April 12 (AP)—A battle against crumbling levees continued in Louisiana today while the Red river and other Mississippi tributaries reached record crests.

The flood has left about 1,500,000 acres inundated and more than 45,000 persons homeless in Louisiana. Eight deaths have been reported in Louisiana and Arkansas.

The Mississippi was dropping from Cairo, Ill., to Vicksburg, Miss., but rising from there to the Gulf of Mexico.

The Bonnet Carre spillway above New Orleans poured 250,000 cubic feet of Mississippi water a second into Lake Pontchartain to hold the level here steady at 19.5 feet.

Natchitoches reported Cane River lake, former bed of the Red river which cuts through the city, was rising four inches an hour from backwaters.

Two new breaks were reported in the Natchitoches area. Sixty feet of a state highway bridge at Moncla collapsed yesterday from the effect of high water.

The average flea can jump about eight inches.

"Illegitimate" Black Market Is Reported

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) — A packer told Senate food investigators today the black market meat operators are beginning to complain about the "illegitimate" black market.

F. M. Tobin, Rochester, N. Y., said he learned this in Florida where he found black markets supply meat to hotels and restaurants.

The Florida black marketers got their meat from New York, he said, and were portesting that some "illegitimate" black marketers in New York were charging 10 cents a pound above the black market scale.

DECLARATION SIGNED

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 12 (U.P.) President Juan Antonio Rios and his cabinet signed the declaration of war on Japan today. It had been approved by both houses of congress.

Ambulance Stolen—Just For A Joyride

HOUSTON, April 12 (U.P.) — Houston police are now acquainted with the motives that would impel a citizen to steal as conspicuous an article as an ambulance.

Nutritional Value Of Oleo Is Cited

With recent OPA regulations raising the point value of oleomargarine from five to eight points a pound, it becomes an important item on the Lubbock housewife's grocery list. Partly due to wartime scarcity and high point value of butter, margarine, properly fortified with vitamin A, has been drafted into service as a butter substitute. City grocers point out that although butter sales are still in the lead despite higher values in points and pennies, oleo sales are gaining steadily.

"But what is the nutritional value of margarine?" the discriminating housewife wants to know.

"And what is it made of? Will it supply the necessary vitamins and food requirements of my husband and children?"

Questions Are Answered

The manufacture of oleomargarine was discovered by the French chemist, Mige-Mouriez, who wished to find a cheaper and more stable table fat than ordinary butter. It is obtained from either animal or vegetable fats or both, while butter is made exclusively from milk. Commercial manufacture of margarine is regulated by the United States Pure Food and Drug laws, which specify what fats may be used in its production.

Oleomargarine is not colored commercially because of the differential rate of taxation on the colored and uncolored product. Federal laws tax uncolored margarine one-fourth of a cent per pound and colored margarine ten cents per pound.

The fuel content in a pound of oleo is about 3,000 calories, the same as that contained in a pound of commercial butter.

"Three-Way Cookies" Are Family Favorite

A reader of the food page suggests that bar types of cookies are just as good as the drop cookies, but take less time to make. The batter simply is poured into a baking pan and cut after it is taken from the oven. Her family likes these "three way cookies": Two squares chocolate, one-fourth cup shortening, one cup sugar, two eggs, one-half cup sifted flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup chopped nuts.

Melt chocolate and shotening together. Blend in other ingredients. Pour mixture into greased baking tin and cake in moderate oven for 25 minutes. Cut into three sections, leaving one plain, sprinkling chopped nuts over second section and icing third with powdered sugar icing and topping with half nutmeats on each square.

CHOCOLATE SUBSTITUTE

Favorite Recipes

(At the invitation of the food editor, women of Lubbock and the South Plains are presenting recipes in this column. You are invited to submit family favorites, especially those that are short on ration points or made of materials available in the grocery stores at present.)

A reader, N. M. C., submits her favorite recipe for gingerbread. Here are the ingredients:

One-half cup melted shortening, one and one-fourth cups molasses, 1 egg, beaten, two and one-half cups sifted flour, one and one-half teaspoons soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-half teaspoon salt, three-fourth cup hot water.

Mix shortening and molasses, add egg and stir until well blended. Mix and sift dry ingredients, add alternately with hot water. Bake in well greased pan in 350 degrees, Fahrenheit, oven for 45 minutes.

Use Oatmeal As "Stretcher" In Making Tasty Meat Loaf

WHEN it comes right down to it, the one great standby point "stretcher" is a big, tender, tasty meat loaf. And this OATMEAL meat loaf shrinks less in cooking than other types of meat, too.

This meat loaf uses only 1½ pounds of meat—5 red points as we go to press—yet it yields 8 generous servings!

It is unusually nutritious because the "stretcher" is oatmeal, richest of all the cereals in the main element of meat, Protein. So, by using oatmeal, you actually reinforce the family's supply of this element so vital for normal growth and stamina.

That's a comforting throught—but the main reason you'll like this loaf is because it is so good. The nut-like whole-grain flavor adds a lot to the taste, and the oatmeal helps make a loaf of good, firm texture. And it's so easy to use rolled oats right from the package.

Basic Meat Loaf Recipe
(8 Servings)

1¼ pounds ground beef chuck
¼ pound ground pork
¾ cup onion, cut fine
1 cup rolled oats (quick or regular type, uncooked)
2¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 beaten egg
1 cup milk or water

Method: Combine all ingredients thoroughly and pack firmly into a loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 1 hour.

Variations: All beef may be used. Add another ¼ cup onion and ½ cup coarsely chopped green pepper; or ¼ cup catsup; or 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce; or a dash of poultry seasoning, thyme, savory or sage.

Opera Singer Uses Kitchen Cosmetics

The average kitchen pantry is chock full of cosmetics, says Gladys Swarthout, mezzo-soprano star of the Metropolitan Opera, radio and screen.

A bottle of milk, a cucumber or a package of oatmeal are no mere cooking ingredients in her household. For in these every day appurtenances, the diva has discovered magic properties which make them an invaluable aid at the dressing table.

She has found that for less than a dollar a week she can select her favorite emollients and astringents out of her well-stocked kitchen.

One of her pet kitchen cosmetics is a home-made astringent prepared by peeling and grating a large fresh cucumber, then icing the juice well. Applied to the face after cleansing, the iced cucumber juice restores skin tone and protects the pores against impurities, she says.

For sparkling eyes Miss Swarthout recommends a simple eye wash made with slightly warmed skim milk and used twice daily.

When her face muscles droop a little as the result of too much stage make-up or too little sleep on concert tours, Miss Swarthout uses a face pack compounded of oatmeal, white of egg and milk.

She uses salt as a dentifrice, lemon as a hair rinse, olive oil as a skin cleanser, cuticle softener and for a scalp massage.

Leather shoe soles, treated with an oil solution, show an increase of 25 per cent on an average in their wearability. All Army shoes are now being treated with this solution and through the use of this process civilians will require less shoes in the future.

Mix well 1 pound ground veal, ½ pound ground pork 1½ teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, and 1 egg. Shape like drumsticks around wooden skewers. Brown in hot lard, in heavy frying-pan.

For a one-dish meal, add 1 8-oz. package uncooked noodles, 1 green pepper sliced into rings, and 1 cup diced celery, if desired. Add 1 cup water and cover closely.

Simmer meat, vegetables and noodles together about 1 hour, adding more water from time to time. Season, and serve on large chop plate, laying drumsticks on top of noodles. Serve a crisp salad with this.

Hot Ham Rolls

1 recipe biscuit dough
2 cups ground ham
2 cups thin white sauce
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Make biscuit dough according to above recipe. Roll into rectangle 1-4 inch thick. Mix enough white sauce with the ham to make a thick paste. Spread on the dough. Roll up as for jolly roll. Cut into 1-inch pieces. Place on greased pan, cut side up. Bake 25 minutes at 400° F. Serve hot, topped with white sauce. Sprinkle with parsley.

Premium Rates On Cars Change

AUSTIN, April 12 (U.P.) — Changes in automobile insurance premium rates to be effective May 1 were announced here tonight by the Texas Insurance commission.

Private passenger automobile policyholders who have "A" gasoline cards will get 20 per cent reduction in bodily injury and property damage rates; holders of "B" cards, a 15 per cent reduction, and a "C" card holder a 10 per cent reduction.

Changes Varied

Automobile medical payment rates will be reduced in some cases 37 per cent. Fire and theft rates on private passenger cars will go down 25 per cent. There will be no change in comprehensive rates for private passenger cars except that the minimum premium will be raised from $6 to $7.50.

Collision rates for both private passenger and commercial cars will go up due, the commission said, to sharp increase in used car values and repair costs.

Private passenger car collision rates will go up as much as 38 per cent in some instances. For cars less than six months old, there will be no rate change. There will be increases for older cars.

The less frequent driving of "A" and "B" gasoline card holders will be recognized in these rates with a 20 to 10 per cent discount, respectively.

Local commercial operators will get a reduction of 15 per cent on bodily injury in the Houston territory, but in all other territories, the bodily injury rates will increase five per cent. Property damage rates on commercial cars will increase from 12 per cent to 20 per cent in various territories.

Commercial car collision rates will incerase from local haul operations up to 50 miles distance by 15 per cent; operations up to 150 miles or the intermediate classification will increase 25 per cent; and long haul truckmen operating a distance of over 150 miles will get a rate increase of 75 per cent.

The board of insurance commissioners also promulgated revised bolidy injury and property damage rates on buses to become effective June 1. Army camp buses with a passenger capacity of 21-30 will get a reduction of 25 per cent in bodily injury rates.

No change will be made in the other Army camp bus bodily injury rates. The bodily injury rate changes for regular bus operations will be as follows: 0-12 passengers, two per cent reduction; 13-20 passengers, 25 per cent increase; 21-30 passengers, 22 per cent increase, and 31-75 passengers, 10 per cent increase.

Women Liberated By Yanks; Hardships In Prisons Revealed

HEILINGENSTADT, Germany, April 12 (AP) — Three hundred women political prisoners, including a German housewife who served 18 months for tearing Hitler's picture from a wall, were liberated yesterday by a rapidly advancing American infantry column.

"Some of the women have been crazed by confinement," said Lt. Col. Richard J. Conran of Brooklyn. He added that the women were emaciated from lack of food and that their spirit had been broken by prison hardships and whippings.

"They ranged in age from girls who looked no more than 16 to gray-haired women of 60," Conran said. "They were kept under filthy conditions in a regular town prison and herded like sheep. In one room about 10 by 20 feet a dozen women were forced to sleep and live.

"The women prisoners were of French, Polish, Dutch and German nationality. They were not criminals—just women who violated in one way or another the political rules of the Nazis. Yet we found 300 rubber clubs with wrist throngs with which the women were beaten regularly."

Conran said one woman gave birth to a baby in the prison but that the infant died.

"When we freed them they were half dead from hunger. Our doughboys took some rations from a group of captured German soldiers and gave them to the women. Some women cried when they saw a can of sardines being opened for them. They had been living for months almost entirely on potatoes. It made our boys sad to see women treated that way—and mad, too."

One of the new major generals is Lewis Andrew Pick of Lynchburg, Va., commanding general of the advance section of the service of supplies in the India-Burma theater. The Ledo road, which Pick's men built, is known to the G. I.'s as "Pick's Pike."

Twelve Texas Projects Included In Report On Post-War Planning

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP) Twelve Texas irrigation, flood control and hydroelectric projects with an estimated total cost of $135,000,000 are included in a post-war planning report submitted today to Congress by the reclamation bureau of the interior department.

The works contemplate placing a total of 442,500 acres of new lands in cultivation, and providing supplemental water to 430,270 additional acres.

Largest of the proposed projects is the Rio Grande valley gravity canal and storage system, estimated to cost $62,500,000. Test drillings to find suitable storage basin sites and other engineering data already has been done Water would be tapped from the Rio Grande near Zapata and sent through a concrete-lined canal to irrigated farm lands. It would provide water for 300,000 acres of new lands, and supplementary water for an additional 400,000 acres.

Frio Dam Planned

A masonry dam and canals are planned for the Frio river under what is known as the Concan project; it would provide water for 12,000 acres of new lands; cost of project would be $5,850,000.

Other Texas projects in the report, all of which include plans for construction of earthdams and canals include:

Kiwanis Club Sees Motion Pictures

A feature of the program at the luncheon of Lubbock Kiwanis club Thursday in Lubbock hotel was the showing of motion pictures which showed the work done by the "Harvest Brigade" in the harvesting of the Mid-West's bumper small grain and sorghum crops. One member of the brigade, Joe. P. McLean of Levelland, who purchased self-propelled combines and cut more than 2,000 acres with them, was a guest.

Showing of the picture was under direction of Marion F. Peters, local cinematographer, who with G. H. Keathley, had charge of the program. Ben Saxton, representative of the Massey-Harris company, sponsors of the brigade, also was a special guest.

Houston B. Self and James Atcheson were introduced as new members.

Maritime Service Makes Urgent Plea

An Urgent call for volunteers for the United States Maritime service has been issued by the War Shipping administration's training organization and the Lubbock area alone is called upon to supply men to equal the crew of at least one cargo vessel, it was announced by Lt. (j.g.) O. G. Kuler, enrolling officer.

Interested, courageous, physically fit men 17 to 50 years of age, not under induction orders are requested to report with their birth certificates this week at the U. S. Maritime Service enrolling office, 905½ Main Street, Dallas.

Base pay during training is $50 per month, with quarters, subsistence, uniforms, and medical care furnished by the government. Pay at sea will be determined by the position for which qualified while training in the deck, engine, radio, steward, or purserpharmacist's mate departments. Average time spent at the training stations are three to six months, according to the needs of the service, and the type specialized training selected for. Men 35 to 50 are eligible for steward's department assignments only, and are urgently needed.

Bonds Set In Federal Cases

Chesley T. Pierce, 38, a car salesman, and T. P. Hill, 48, a tire distributor, both of Lubbock, pleaded guilty Thursday afternoon of charges of violation of tire regulations, and Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner of the Lubbock division of the Northern Federal district, set bond of $1,000 each, returnable at the next term of court here.

Both bonds were posted.

The charges were filed in connection with an investigation into what OPA officials said they believed were illegal tire transactions perhaps on a national scale.

Unlawful Possession Charged

The charges accuse Pierce with unlawful possession of 79 new grade 1 tires of various makes and brands obtained without authority, and which had not been acquired according to provisions of ration order 1A.

Hill was similarly charged in connection with his alleged possession of 85 tires.

Guarded statements of officials indicated there might be "more who must be investigated in connection with this case."

They excluded in the remark four persons who had been arrested in connection with complaints filed in the federal district court at Pecos.

Other Charges Reported

The Associated press said in a Thursday afternoon dispatch from Odessa that Sheriff Hugh Ratliff of Ector county had announced the charges of violation of tire regulations and arrests there.

Ratliff said two charges were filed against Meyer Michael Rovinsky, 24, described as owner of the Signal Tire company of Los Angeles, one alleging possession of 47 new truck tires for purpose of resale without ration certificates, the other transfer of 113 replenishment parts of the tire certificates without proper authorization. Rovinsky was arrested at Odessa by Sheriff Ratliff and OPA investigators.

Other Complaints Filed

The sheriff said these other complaints were filed: Against Claude C. Park, 36, of Kermit, charging possession of replenishment parts of tire certificates; against Thelma Sturdivant, 26, of Odessa, charging illegal transfer of 113 replenishment parts of tire certificates; against C. E. (Slim) Wood, of Odessa, charging illegal possession of 71 C-4 gasoline coupons and three new tires.

The OPA said tires allegedly possessed by one of the Lubbock men were purchased from Rovinsky.

Burial was in Meadow cemetery, Rix Funeral home announced.

Renfro, who had been in ill health for several months, returned last week from Temple where he received treatment in a hospital.

Survivors are his wife; two brothers, George W. Renfro of Altus, Okla., Jess Renfro of Littlefield; two sisters, Mrs. Emmilee Lee of Garland, Mrs. J. W. Smith of Lubbock; several nephews, one of whom is Charlie Smith of 1723 Thirty-second, of Lubbock; a stepson, Sgt. Hubbard Lee.

CHILE TO SEND SOLDIERS

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 12 (AP) —The magazine "Vea" said today that Chile will send two divisions to the Pacific front as part of a quota of 1,000,000 soldiers from Latin-America agreed upon at the Mexico City Inter-American conference.

Since 1942, nearly 700,000 war workers and government employes have been examined for tuberculosis by mobile units of the Public Health Service.

Plans Are Pending For Barup Funeral

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Cecil Barup, about 38, former Lubbock resident who died Thursday morning a few minutes after reporting for work at Carlsbad Army field, have not been completed, according to friends.

She lived in Lubbock for many years and was employed by Montgomery Ward and company. She was a member of the First Baptist church and Rebekah lodge.

Survivors are her husband; her father, A. A. Whitfield of Anton; three brothers, Sgt. Alvin Whitfield who is overseas, Elder Whitfield of Carlsbad and Raymond Whitfield of Anton.

A crude form of steam engine was used by Egyptian priests to open temple doors without visible human contact, providing "miracles" for the faithful.

One of the most exclusive clubs in the world is Philadelphia's Fish House, which has taken in only 392 members in the 213 years of its existence.

Texans Celebrate In Far-Off India

HQ., TENTH AIR FORCE In Burma (Delayed) (U.P.)—Undaunted by the fates of war, Texans in Assam, India, celebrated "Texas Independence Day" on March 2nd —15,000 miles from the Lone Star State. The annual celebration is observed throughout the entire world, wherever Texans can gather on their so-called "holy day." The gathering in India by members of a Tenth Air force combat cargo group based in upper Assam, is considered the first ever staged in India.

The atmosphere of the celebration differed from that of past years. A bamboo basha, a native type hut, was the scene of the meeting. Electricity was lacking, but the determined Texans gathered under the light of lanterns and candles in a setting typical of a Hollywood rendition of the old Texas pioneers.

Texas Flags Displayed

Two Texas flags were displayed, and the Lone Star in the center of the red, white and blue combination represented home to the 40 attending men. These flags were unique because they were made in India, by native tailors. Difficulty was encountered in securing colored cloth for the flags, but the ingenuity of a Houston man resulted in the flags being sewn from colored food-dropping parachutes. These same chutes were used by combat cargo transports on food and ammunition drop missions to Allied troops battling in Burma. The chutes were salvaged by the ground forces and returned to a rear base where ultimately the Texas flags were designed.

The evening was one of reminiscing for the Texans, who found friends from schools and colleges amond those attending. The evening's entertainment concluded with a cigaret rolling contest — recalling memories to many of the Texans. Old fashioned Texas Bull Durham was used exclusively by the contestants. Lt. William Pool, a combat cargo pilot from Thorndale, Texas, won the contest easily. His claim to fame was that he rolls the kind "pop taught me to make."

Those Attending Listed

Other Texans attending the meeting were: T/Sgt. Lewis E. Dorsett, route 3, Plainview, Texas; T/Sgt. L. W. Hutchison, Jacksonville, Texas; 1st Lt. William C. Pool, Thorndale, Texas; 1st Lt. AP Head Praises News Services

TORONTO, April 12 (AP)—The Western hemisphere's "single greatest contribution to the world at large" is the guarantee of objective, impartial news given by the Canadian Press and the Associated Press, cooperative, nonprofit news services of Canada and the United States, Robert McLean of Philadelphia said today.

"If democratic principles are to grow throughout the world, they will thrive best where people exercise their right to know and base their judgments and decisions on an accurate knowledge of events," asserted McLean, president of the Associated Press and publisher of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

In an address prepared for the Canadian Press annual luncheon, McLean said the two services were based on the principle that "we as newspapermen should gather the news by our own instrumentalities and in accord with standards set by ourselves," and that this principle had recently been applied in the United Kingdom with the purchase of the Reuters News Agency by British newspapers.

Much-Decorated Yank Introduced In House

AUSTIN, April 12 (U.P.) — Maj. Robert R. Ellis, decorated overseas paratrooper, was introduced to the Texas House today before leaving to become superintendent of the Ecuador, South America, military college.

Son of Rep. and Mrs. J. T. Ellis, Maxwell, Major Ellis made the first high altitude parachute jump, later training 5,000 Canadian and American paratroopers without loss of life. He was in landings at Dieppe, Attu and Sicily, Rep. Homer Leonard, McAllen, who introduced him said.

A brother, J. T. Ellis, jr., of Weslaco, was the first American paratrooper to land in the southern France invasion, Leonard said.

A Deserved Recognition

Marines, Coast Guards "Upped"

It is a deserved tribute to two fighting services that the commandants of the Marines and of the Coast Guard have at last been raised to four-star rank. With the promotion of Lt. Gen. A. A. Vandegrift to full general, and Vice Admiral Russell R. Waesche to full admiral, these two branches of the Navy have finally been granted a recognition that they have long deserved and fully earned.

Although the Marines have been in existence since 1775, their top officers have found themselves consistently outranked by representatives of the Army and Navy in inter-service conferences. The Marines never had an officer above the rank of major general until 1942 when Gen. Thomas Holcomb was given three stars. General Holcomb was made a full general when he retired. But not until now has a Marine on active service held the full four-star rank.

This discrimination has long rankled among Marines who, with considerable reason, consider their service the world's finest fighting corps. Coast Guardsmen have also been inclined to consider themselves, although perhaps to a lesser extent, step-children of the Navy.

In this conflict both services have fought in larger numbers and farther afield, though no more heroically, than ever before. There are now more than 500,000 Marines in the corps which has been performing so magnificently in the Pacific. There are 169,000 Coast Guardsmen contributing to the success of amphibious landings in remote corners of the globe.

They deserve full recognition and a place by the side of the other fighting forces of the world's most powerful nation.

High, Wide And Handsome!

In postwar years travelers by train may climb aboard, mount to a seat in the astral dome and thereafter look over the landscape without hindrance, freed from the limitation of orthodox car windows.

The astral dome improvement of the car coach is announced by Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington Lines. A large glass dome, not unlike a bomber blister, is built into the top of the car over an upper level of seats to give the passenger freedom to survey the country through which he travels. This innovation was developed by the styling division of the General Motors corporation.

For years the brakeman on a conventional freight train, walking along the top of the cars, enjoyed the best opportunity to survey the scenery. This is now to be extended to the paying passenger, who will be riding high, wide and handsome.

They Need Food "Extras"

MEMBERS of the Golden Gate Restaurant association are worried, and for a good and sufficient reason. Upon them will rest the responsibility for feeding delegates from 40 nations to the San Francisco World Peace conference. They are convinced that if the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, his brain may be reached by the same route.

"How men eat very definitely influences their judgment as well as their digestion," says George M. Mardikian, chairman of the committee representing the restaurant owners. "Empires can be built or destroyed at the dinner table. Peace in our time can well depend upon whether we soothe or insult the gastranomic tastes of our guests."

Owners of San Francisco restaurants have sought permission to import 500,000 pounds of Canadian meat, but adequate food is one thing, while its preparation is another. For instance: Brahmins must have their food prepared according to their religious rites, and if the shadow of a non-Brahmin falls upon this food it must be thrown away; no Brahmin may eat food prepared in a dish in which beef has ever been cooked and no Moslem may eat from a dish in which pork has been cooked. There are also difficulties about seasoning for the Latins, tea for the British and Russians, coffee for the Greeks, Turks, Egyptians and Arabs.

The way of the restauranteur these days is hard enough, even if he serves only those "old line American standbys" that are still available. Saddle onto him the eating peculiarities of the world's tribes and sects and you've really given him a job.

We think nothing in the way of special privilege will be too good for the restauranteurs of San Franscisco during the conference. No matter what they have "extra," it won't be enough!

Your inability to see in the dark may be due to a lack of calcium in your diet," declares a physician. Aw, who wants to see in the dark? It's bad enough to see what's going on in the daytime now.

The One Minute Sermon

Charity never faileth: but whether there be prophecies, they shall fail; whether there be tongues, they shall cease: whether there be knowledge, it shall vanish away.

For we know a part, and we prophecy in part.

But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part shall be done away.—Corinthians 13:8-10.

CHOPIN AND SAND

"Madame," Liszt said, approaching George Sand, who was waiting, "I bring you Monsieur Chopin."

Frederic kissed her hand.

Liszt was saying, "—And now, George, if you will pardon me—" Then he was gone.

"—I can only thank you, Madame—"

"For what?"

"—I am not very adept with words, Madame."

"That's a frank admission. I like you all the better for it. But you needn't be so humble—"

"Thank you. I had no thought of being humble—"

"Do as I do, Monsieur—let words tumble as they please. Never seek for nuances—"

"Yes, Madame. I shall remember that. And now I want to thank you for all you have done for me, and for this invitation—"

"The thanks, Monsieur, should be the other way around. Thank you for coming—"

"—You flatter, Madame, otherwise, why—"

"Please, Monsieur! Sand doesn't flatter any man, not even you, Monsieur Chopin."

—Her words chilled him. He felt himself a simpleton.

"You want the truth?"

"—Of course, Madame." His heart sank.

"Well, Monsieur, I wanted a closer look at you."

—Oh! A closer look. Was he some curious creature that she would bring him into a cage the better to see him? He studied her dark and less than handsome face. He saw a broad nose, clear eyes, thick lips—thick though not passionate in the sense a woman's lips are said to be passionate. He saw sincerity, too. And he thought that what was an odd thing. Yet he couldn't say why.

"That's why I thank you, Monsieur. But there's another reason. You belong here."

"Thank you, Madame."

"—You say 'Thank you.' But you don't mean it, Monsieur. Oh, don't protest. When I say you belong here, I am only stating the truth. You are an artist — and you belong here—in the company of all the other distinguished artists of Paris. But do I tell you that to flatter you? No, Monsieur. There is no flattery in George Sand—"

Frederic bit on his thin lips, not knowing how to answer.

Madame Sand said: "Might I ask a favor?"

"Certainly, Madame."

"Let me have your promise that for this evening you will do exactly as I ask—without question—"

In the ballroom the critic Kalkbrenner was clapping his hands for attention. "Ladies and gentlemen!" The talking ceased. All eyes were on Kalkbrenner. The critic cleared his throat. "Ladies and gentlemen, tonight we are all to have a great privilege. I have persuaded the greatest artist of our day to honor us—"

Jozef Elsner worked his jaw. "Louis, is it true, Louis, that you are giving my friend and pupil—"

"—Shss," Louis Pleyel said.

"—And now, ladies and gentlemen, if you will repair to the music-room, you will hear Maestro —Franz Liszt!"

Applause followed the announcement. Groups broke up and there were polite shovings as everybody directed steps toward the music room. Kalkbrenner had Liszt's arm.

Louis Pleyel, too, would have been at the maestro's side, but he was unable to wedge through the crowd. Jozef Elsner looked about for Frederic.

There were not enough chairs. Lackeys brought in extra chairs into the music room but still there were not enough.

Liszt mounted the piano platform. He faced the applauding audience. He was laughing. He motioned for everybody please to discontinue their handclapping.

Jozef Elsner remained in the ballroom which was now empty except for himself and two or three lackeys who were bustling about. The music room was so crowded anyway that he did not try to get into it. He walked the length and breadth of the ballroom, looking for Frederic, but the manner of his search was obvious Frederic was not in the room.

There was fresh applause in the music room. When it died down Franz Liszt spoke, but Jozef Elsner was too busy with his fruitless search to listen.

"—I have a request to make," Liszt was saying. "Music and atmosphere sometimes go together. Tonight that is especially true, and I am going to ask that for the piece I am about to play—the room be darkened—"

Murmurs of surprise went through the audience. "What's that?" one said. "Rather unusual," said another. "Yes, but you know Liszt." "Know him?" said another. "Oh, yet — very well!"

Liszt sat at the piano. He was studying a piece of music, apparently oblivious to the audience, while lackeys snuffed the candles, lowered the great candelabra, carried the unlighted candles from the room into the great ballroom.

Jozef Elsner stopped a lackey. "Something wrong?"

"No, Monsieur."

"—Umm."

"It's just beginning," the lackey said.

In the crowded music room it was as dark as the night itself. Jozef Elsner stood at the doorway. He tried to edge in, just a little. He managed to do it. Then he stood quiet.

Liszt began to play.

Churches Subscribe For Rehabilitation

HOUSTON, April 12 (U.P.)—The Houston district of the Texas Methodist conference oversubscribed its $77,391 "Crusade for Christ" quota by giving $100,547 to the fund for rehabilitation in war-torn countries of the world, Dr. Guy F. Jones, district superintendent, announced today.

Active phase of the drive closed Easter, but many contributions still are being received, Dr. Jones said. He said that each of the 45 Methodist churches in the Houston district either met or oversubscribed its quota.

Able-Bodied Soldiers Due To Go Overseas

WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—Every able-bodied man in Uncle Sam's Army is ticketed for a taste of overseas service.

War Secretary Stimson says so. He reported in a letter to Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) that of 2,900,000 men on duty in this country in February some 1,400,000 already have been selected for duty overseas and are being trained for that purpose.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

THE legislature of the State of Connecticut is considering the weighty question whether to have a Poet Laureate.

Public hearings are being held, and at a recent one Lieutenant Governor Snow, Professor of English at Wesleyan University, and himself a poet, appeared as a witness against the bills.

Fifteen states, he testified, now have official poets and twelve of them are "flops."

BRANDEIS

I am not an expert on poetry, but my advice to the Connecticut Legislature is "Don't."

England has had Poets Laureate for centuries. Most of their stuff has been pretty awful.

I have seen quite a bit of so-called "state poetry" and I assure you that among the hundreds of poems wheih my readers send me there is better laureate material than in most of the official verse.

Particularly now, when Spring is here, it seems that suddenly housewives, carpenters and farmers all seem to think in rhyme.

I am writing this on my porch.

Wait till I have a closer look.

A rather prosaic occupation.

Yet, manure rhymes with sure and cure and lure and endure and pure, and in a few minutes it will be noon and noon rhymes with moon and soon and croon and spoon and moon makes you think of love, and love rhymes with dove and above—and I could go on for hours.

But don't be afraid, I am not going to.

However, supposing I were Connecticut's Poet Laureate.

I'd have to glorify Connecticut in verse whether I want to or not. They'd be paying me for it, wouldn't they?

What rhymes with Connecticut? What with Bridgeport and Saugatuck and Brookfield and Essex and Norwich?

Imagine you were Poet Laureate of New Mexico. And you'd have to find rhymes for Albuquerque and Alamogordo and Tucumcari and Gallup and Las Cruces.

Or Texas. What would you rhyme with Goose Creek or Lubbock or Quanah or Refugio or Burkburnett?

THE Muse is not to be commanded or decreed, as a New York paper commented editorially.

If you are lucky you can hire a man by the hour to prune your lilacs and your peach and cherry trees. But you can't hire a handy man to write poetry about them —at least not laureate poetry.

One of my readers, Mrs. Dorothy Ryan of Butler, Pa., certainly is not poet laureate. But the little poem entitled "The Happy Robin" she sent me recently, came from her heart (and that's where all poetry should come from).

Here is a bit of it:

"I think that I have never heard
Such melody within a bird—
He sat and sang and cared not he,
That things were not as they should be.
"And as I stood and listened there,
I felt that from me every care
Had flown, and happy then,
I, too, was singing once again."

The National Whirligig

Army, Relief Plans Questioned

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

CONGRESSIONAL mailbags have begun to reflect a deepening and expanding public concern with the individual's personal problems as a result of our startling series of successes in all war theaters. Despite Gen. George C. Marshall's caution against a spiritual letdown, human nature and hope insist on rebounding from the depts into which they have been sunk for so many years.

The vast bulk of letters now reaching Capitol Hill ask when sons in the services will be returned home. They summarize the belief of many parents that youngsters overseas for two or three years should be released and their places in the Japanese conflict taken by new wearers of the uniform.

TUCKER

Almost every communication suggests that only half of the nine million men in the Army should be needed to conquor Tokyo, especially in view of prospective aid in the Far East from the Russians, the Chinese and the British.

The next largest batch of messages deals with food supplies — or the lack of them. Inspired by congressional denunciations, the writers seem to think that this problem has been botched from the beginning to the present.

Along with these complaints comes a growing conviction that the United States should get some help from other nations in feeding the liberated peoples. Nobody wants the suffering abroad to starve, but there is a warning chorus whose refrain is that "Charity should begin at home."

The third subject most on the domestic mind, so far as these letters indicate, is taxes. The folks appear to feel that individual income and sales levies should be sharply reduced with the defeat of Germany. The Byrnes report on possible reductions in production volume and costs after Hitler's crackup has given impetus to requests for an immediate start on a tax lowering program for the "little fellows."

SAFEGUARD: These unsolicited responses to recent world events, including the secret Yalta agreements and the Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill diplomatic planning, disclose a fundamental change in American psychology which the White House and the State department have yet to grasp. And this recording of national sentiment will influence the Congress when it is pinned down to debating and voting on all international settlements.

These letters from the mothers and fathers of boys now overseas and of those who have died make no demand that this country embark on a crusade to "make the world safe for democracy," which was Woodrow Wilson's 1917 theme.

From their experiences in and observations of two global revolutions, they simply seek a postbellum setup that will "make the world safe" for the United States. They don't want another to happen for themselves and their children.

Should the establishment of such a safeguard against war require American participation in the kind of organization foreshadowed at Dumbarton Oaks, they favor its formation and United States contribution. But they insist that a consideration for vital domestic interests, not for a vague and romantic idealism, guide our statesmen at San Francisco late this month.

INDUSTRY: Letter writers among businessmen have an altogether different set of worries these days. They are disturbed by the larger world picture.

They are bothered by the Bretton Woods monetary and international bank agreements, figuring that these measures may provide a mechanism by which American cash will finance their competitors.

Producers are troubled by Administration request for authority to reduce tariffs on foreign goods by another 50 per cent. They have received recent reports that European nations seemingly destroyed by Allied Air Forces can resume large-scale production of rival articles in jig time. The Reich's industrial establishment, for instance, has lost only about 30 per cent of its productive facilities.

They are also steamed up over the delay in framing a tax reduction schedule and the extraordinary slowness in promulgating regulations for the disposal of surplus property here and abroad. They openly voice the suspicion that Washington is deliberately stalling on both.

Until they are enlightened on these prospects by executive orders or legislation (they blame Congress as well as the administration for dilatoriness), they say that they will not know where they stand in an era of changed conditions. More important, they will have no idea of how much employment they can provide under the guarantee of sixty million jobs.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

AFTER V-E day Uncle Sam may release some of the miracle "bug killer" DDT, according to New York chemical authorities. It is now manufactured at the rate of two million pounds monthly, solely for military purposes.

This would help public health authorities and farmers. If the substance can be shipped to agricultural areas overseas, it will aid the growth of foodstuffs and thus relieve the strain on us. Entire populations aboard suffer from malnutrition by reason of pest damage to crops, livestock and provisions in storage.

American rural sections may be assisted in their battle with the insects this year by wider distribution of such other exterminators as aerosol bombs of pyrethrum and sesame oil, derivatives of ether, aniline, benzoic acid etc.

LEMAN

Extraordinary effects of DDT have already been widely reported. New uses are constantly being discovered. Unfortunately, so are new drawbacks. But research laboratories are working hard to eliminate them.

Unwisely employed, DDT will snuff out helpful bugs as well as flies, mosquitoes and ticks. Thirty important food crops depend on insects for pollination. If bees are poisoned we cannot harvest apples, cherries, plums, alfalfa and the clovers.

Dr. Fred C. Bishop, Assistant Chief, U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, at a conference of physicians and public health experts at the New York Academy of Medicine a few days ago, revealed some of the disadvantages of the magic drug.

It can harm poultry and birds. Fish are extremely susceptible, especially trout that feed on bugs dropped in streams after they have touched the poison. Insect-destroying toads, snakes and salamanders cannot tolerate mild doses.

More's the pity — the cotton boll weevil and the Mexican bean beetle are not bothered by it. Yet one gamma — millionth of a gram — will kill a housefly. Mosquito larvae cannot survive if only an infinitesimal amount is sprayed on water.

It has no harmful effect on man when administered in powder form; hundreds of thousands of troops and civilians in louse-control projects have been dusted with it. Oil solutions, even in heavy doses, do not injure farm animals if they are prevented from licking the film from their bodies.

TYPHUS: Apart from using it to destroy the malarial mosquito in all war theaters, it will be a lifesaver in eliminating typhus among the millions of migrants pouring out of Nazi slave labor camps. It has prevented the introduction into the United States of lice and attendant diseases by refugees and prisoners of war.

Agricultural experts predict all sorts of benefits once DDT is a common agent.

Alf Landon says being a Republican is its own reward. Maybe so, but not the kind of reward that can be traded for groceries.

Transport Snarled, Hunger Stalks Cities

Much Of Italy Is Lying In Ruins

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

ROME.—The miserable fate suffered by Italy when she followed a puffed-up, loud-voiced dictator is plain to the eye of the traveller who comes by automobile from Caserta to Rome through the valley followed by the Allied armies.

Plain also is the hard road ahead for the Italians to recover from the rape of their land by the Germans with whom they joined in the attempted conquest of Europe and Africa; and from the devastation caused by the clash of the Nazis and the Allies.

STOKES

It is a lovely country, through which you ride from Caserta to Rome. The green fields roll away on either side to the mountains. On the sides of the hills and mountains and sometimes on their very top, perch ancient towns and cities, now, almost without exception, shattered and pockmarked. Some are almost levelled. Thick, ancient walls are gaping and torn, revealing the wreckage within. For these towns were the defenses used by the Nazis in their slow retreat northward. From them, the Germans could command the valleys between and it was necessary for the Allies literally to blast the places from the face of the earth to root out the Germans. That was what they did.

Destruction Everywhere

After a time you become accustomed to these shells of towns. Then in the distance you sight Cassino, where the armies grappled so desperately —or what remains of Cassino. From a distance it looks like a cemetery on the side of a hill, with the shafts and splinters poking up here and there as ghastly memorials of the homes and buildings once there. The close view makes you shudder.

All along this road, almost to Rome, are the wrecks of tanks, guns and vehicles, more than I saw even along the roads in Germany where the path of war was much fresher.

BUT the destruction of the towns, although misery enough, is only a part of the cost of Italy's folly. When the Germans slowly yielded up the land of their ally they stripped it. Not content with planting mines in towns and cities, they also strewed mines through the farm regions, so that thousands and thousands of acres are out of cultivation until the mines can be removed. And Italy relies heavily on her agriculture. Some mined land has been cleared, and men, women and children are back at work in the fields.

The Germans also demolished the railroads and with devilish thoroughness every frong was torn out of the switches and nearly every rail split, so that when you ride along the line which now has been restored in double track from Caserta to Rome, it looks as if every rail was only about four feet long. The American engineers have done their usual fine job of putting the rails together again.

Transportation Paralyzed

Italy is highly electrified. Her railroads are nearly all electrified. Only recently has Rome been fairly well re-equipped with electricity. Still the elevators run in only one of her many hotels, and this type of paralysis exists in other cities.

Transport is one of the chief obstacles to the solution of the food problem. And lack of transport has contributed to the hunger and the suffering in the cities, just as in France. Everywhere the people — whole families—are back in the fields working with their crude hoes.

In the 160-mile ride, I saw only one plow. It was hitched to two oxen. Agriculture still is primitive in Italy, but there are plows, not like ours, but plows. They can not be used now, however, because the Germans took the oxen as well as other cattle.

THE Italians are a stunned and dejected people, considering their usual buoyant spirits. Still they seem more philosophical than either the Germans or the French. They are busy, working to restore their wrecked homes, more so than the French in Normandy. They still can smile.

Unlike the Germans I saw, they still love to congregate, sitting about the square and in front of the outdoor cafes—just sitting and gossiping in the sun, enjoying idleness. The men seem to have less to do than the women. It is just as if everybody was taking time out. Their dictator played them for suckers, and they seem to realize that now.

Student's Death Due To 'Unknown Causes'

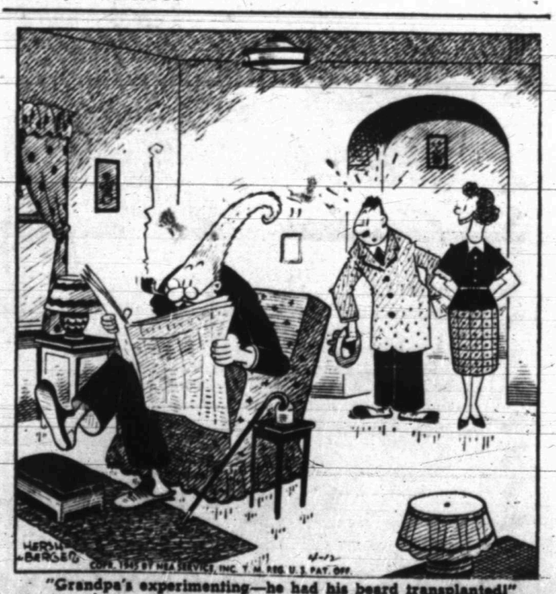

AUSTIN, April 12, (U.P.)—Death of Natividad Calvo, University of Texas graduate student on a good neighbor exchange scholarship from Panama, was put down to "unknown causes" by Justice of the Peace Frank McBee late yesterday after more than a week's investigation.

McBee said the 33-year-old student was last seen alive March 30. She was found dead in her room April 2. An autopsy showed no evidence of poison and X-rays revealed no foul play, McBee said. The body will be taken to Panama when a steamer is available.

OPPOSE SLAVE LABOR

LONDON, April 12 (AP)—A small laborite bloc in Commons demanded tonight that Great Britain oppose any terms for Germany which would provide "slave labor" for Russia.

Proposal To Allow Armed Forces To Vote Is Returned To Senate

AUSTIN, April 12 (U.P.)—The issue of allowing members of the armed forces to vote without poll tax payment, today was returned to the Senate by the House.

The House substituted its own draft of a constitutional amendment for one adopted by the senate.

This is the second time the House proposal by Rep. J. E. Winfree, Houston, has gone to the Senate. After its original adoption by representatives, the Senate sent the proposal to a subcommittee and dispatched to the House one authored by a senator.

Two Senate Bills Passed

Two Senate bills today were finally passed by the House while one was amended. Now in line for the governor's signature are bills permitting about 30 independent school districts to increase their maximum school tax rate from $1 to $1.50 on the $100 valuation, and to permit guardians, upon court's authorization, to enter into gas pooling agreements.

Representatives attached minor corrective amendments and returned to the Senate a bill requiring registration of livestock remedies.

The House also, before recessing until 8 p. m. for a local bill calendar, adopted a resolution asking Congress to permit use of Forts Clark and Ringgold for state eleemosynary institutions.

The Senate recessed until afternoon after debating all morning over the House-passed bill to equalize insurance premium taxes levied on home and out-of-state companies.

Pending at recess was an amendment by Sen. Allan Shivers, Port Arthur, to increase the new rate a fourth of one per cent.

Tables One Proposal

The Senate previously had tabled one proposal by Sen. Weaver Moore, Houston, to make the new tax payable in lieu of the old tax if the old tax is held unconstitutional, and another to add half of one per cent on premiums when a company's business exceeds $100,000,000.

In support of the House-passed bill, Sen. W. E. Stone, Galveston, said big insurance companies have agreed not to contest validity of the present insurance tax if the bill becomes law. Opponents questioned the right of any insurance company official to make a binding agreement of that sort. Foreign companies have paid $1,500,000 tax under protest.

Successive attempts to postpone action by adjourning the Senate until Monday, were defeated by close margin. One vote was a tie and settled in favor of continuing in session by Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith.

Committee meetings in both House and Senate this afternoon will be held to consider a natural gas conservation bill.

German General Is Sentenced To Death

LONDON, April 12. (U.P.)—The German high command reported today that General Lasch, who surrendered at Koenigsberg, had been sentenced to death by hanging.

The Nazis yesterday branded Lasch a coward for giving up to the Russians at the end of the week-long siege of Koenigsberg, capital of East Prussia.

Moscow had announced the capture of Lasch. The death sentence apparently was imposed in absentia as a token implementation of a new decree by Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler providing the extreme penalty under such circumstances.

News Briefs

"Why Was Sin Permitted?" will be the subject of a sermon to be delivered at 11 a. m. Saturday at the Seventh-Day Adventist church, Twentieth and Ave. K, by Douglas C. Marchus, pastor. Sabbath school will be held at 10 a. m. and young people's service will be held at 3 p. m.

Andrew Middleton pleaded guilty of liquor law violation and was fined $100 and court costs Thursday in county court, officials said.

City commissioners may go into semi-monthly business session at 1:30 o'clock this or Monday afternoon, it was announced after lack of a quorum prevented conduct of the session Thursday afternoon, Mayor O. W. Ribble said.

Donald Corn, 25, and Howard Allen, 20, fugitives from Muskogee county, Okla., were returned there from Lubbock Thursday, by Muskogee County Sheriff Tom M. Jordan. Arrested last week at Floydada, by Sheriff Lee Howard of Floyd county, the men signed waivers of extradition. Hold orders were placed by several Texas and Oklahoma counties for Corn, including Lubbock, which voted a forgery indictment against him recently.

Search Ordered For Escaped Soldiers

TEMPLE, April 12. (U.P.) — A statewide search was ordered today for three soldiers who escaped from the disciplinary barracks at Camp Hood while serving time awaiting dishonorable discharge from the Army.

Officers said two of the men, William Midland and James Love, escaped while on a work detail at the camp laundry, and the third, Howard Kent, escaped from his company.

Midland is 23, Kent 21 and Love, a negro, is 21 also. Midland and Love were serving sentences of five years each and Kent was under a three year sentence.

A reward of $25.00 was offered by Eighth Service command headquarters for return of the men to military control.

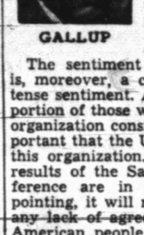

Vast Majority Of Americans For Global Co-Operation

U. S. Sentiment For World League Rises To All-Time High; Police Power Is Approved

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., April 7.—Whatever disagreements there may be among the diplomats and experts who will attend the San Francisco conference, rarely in history has any conference been given a more overwhelming mandate for action by the common people of the United States.

The tide of public sentiment in favor of setting up a world league backed by force is running higher than at any time in ten years. More than eight out of every ten civilians polled by the Institute favor such a step, as against fewer than four in ten before we entered the war.

GALLUP

The sentiment of the majority is, moreover, a comparatively intense sentiment. A very large proportion of those who favor a world organization consider it highly important that the United States join this organization. In short, if the results of the San Francisco conference are in any way disappointing, it will not be because of any lack of agreement among the American people on the principle of United States cooperation to maintain peace.

The latest measurement of public attitudes was completed by the Institute on the question given below. The survey methods were the same as those used in forecasting the result of the last presidential election with an error of only 1.8 per cent on the civilian vote.

"Do you thing the United States should join a world organization with police power to maintain world peace?"

Surveys on a comparable question — that of joining a new "league" of nations — have been held at intervals in the past. The trend of sentiment follows:

	Yes	No	No Opinion
1937	26%	52%	22%
1941	38	39	23
1942	59	22	19
1944	72	13	15
Today	81	11	8

All voters who expressed themselves in favor of a world organization were asked:

"How important do you think it is that we join such a world organization—very important, fairly important, or not too important?"

The vote follows:

Very important	83%
Fairly important	11
Not too important	3
No Opinion	3

The public's acceptance of a new league of nations dates back for a considerable period of time, as shown not only by the above table but by other evidence.

Step Favored 3 Yers Ago

As long ago as December, 1942, nearly two voters in every three thought the government should take steps then, before the end of the war, to set up with our Allies a world oragnization to mantain the future peace of the world. There was no difference in sentiment between Rpublicans and Democrats polled in the survey.

Even earlier, in August 1942, more than seven in every ten voters favored the specific idea of an international police force. During 1943, the Institute found heavy majorities in all sections believing that the United States must take active participation in world affairs after the war, shunning her previous policy of isolationism.

With public opinion moving so unmistakably in the direction of a new league, it is little wonder that the Fulbright Resolution, offered in the early summer of 1943, brought such wide public acclaim. A poll in July of that year found 78 per cent of the country desiring Congress to adopt the Resolution, which recommended the creation of "appropriate international machinery and to maintain a just and lasting peace." The Resolution gave voice to the sentiments which were in the minds and hearts of more than sixty million American citizens.

Diplomats from foreign countries at the San Francisco meeting are likely to find, therefore, that while the average American may be confused about details of a new world organization, he has no question about his own attitude toward the underlying idea of a world-wide organization to keep the peace.

During March, New Hampshire's famed annual "Town Meetings" in 224 towns gave international cooperation a resounding 18 to 1 approval in answering a question on their ballots: "To see if the town will vote to support United States membership in a general system of international cooperation, such as that proposed as the Dumbarton Oakes Conference, having police power to maintain the peace of the world."

Hoehler Gives Views On 'Slave Laborers'

LONDON, April 12. (AP)—Fred Hoehler, director of the Bureau of Displaced Persons of the United Relief and Rehabilitation administration, said today that chief responsibility for coping with the mass of "slave laborers" liberated since the Allies crossed the Rhine must be placed with the military.

He was commenting upon British press charges that UNRRA had failed in the handling of displaced persons.

Admitting difficulties in recruiting teams due to manpower shortages everywhere, he said 29 such teams had gone forward to date and that nearly 2,000 recruits were being equipped and trained.

He said an order by Gen. George C. Marshall in Washington permitting release of officers and enlisted men to UNRRA's staff would make younger men and women available for the work.

GERMAN REFUGEES BARRED

STOCKHOLM, April 12 (AP) — Fifty German refugees aboard four boats arrived at Talleborg today but Swedish authorities forced them to remain on the vessels in accordance with new government regulations refusing asylum to fleeing Germans.

Announcement Made On Ration Accounts

Institutional and industrial users of rationed foods who enjoy the privilege of a ration banking account and who abuse this privilege by overdrawing their various accounts, are soon to find themselves in trouble, according of Ely E. Fonville, district rationing executive of the Office of Price administration.

A program is about to be launched which will close out the acounts of these violators of rationing regulations and they will be required to pay back the amount of their overdraft before being issued any further rationing currency, it was announced. This is a serious situation for some business men and will put a few out of business, Fonville said. Those who have overdrawn their ration banking accounts are urged to "get their house in order before it is too late," he added.

"The majority of those having ration banking accounts abide by regulations and cooperate in every way, but the few who do not are brought into line," he explained.
