Jaycees Prompt Discussion By County, City

Distinguished Visitor

State Sen. Jack Hightower left, of Vernon, was met during his visit here Tuesday by Mrs. O. B. Trulock Jr., and Dr. Elton Berkman. Dr. Berkman introduced Hightower at a Kiwanis Club luncheon.

Mitchell County residents may be asked to cast their vote in November on a proposition to establish a public golf course.

County Commissioners discussed this possibility at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday after receiving a letter from the Colorado City Jaycees.

The Commissioners asked the Jaycees if they would be willing to undertake a study on the costs of maintaining a golf course.

The Jaycees board of directors was scheduled to meet Wednesday night and decide if they would undertake the project but Don Stewart, Jaycees president, said he did not anticipate any objections to doing the study.

The Jaycees sent a letter to City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr., City Council and the Commissioners Court, stating:

"SUBJECT: Municipal or county golf course

"The Colorado City Jaycees voted unanimously to support a public golf course in any way possible. We urge all city and county officials to consider the importance of recreation to the future development of Mitchell County.

"We and the recreation minded people of the county will be very grateful for any plans that can be worked out."

The letter was signed by Stewart.

The city council discussed the letter and there seemed to be a favorable attitude among councilmen toward such a project, although no action was taken.

Several city officials have noted in the past that while the city could not undertake the project alone or pay for development of a course, the city already owns a plot of land suitable for a golf course and many water wells are already situated on this city owned land.

County Judge Bill Carter said the commissioners want to do what the people want to do and a referendum vote in November would tell the commissioners how the public feels about this matter.

However, before anything can be done, facts about development and maintenance cost must be established so all pertinent facts can be presented to the public, Carter noted.

A number of officials at other golf courses have volunteered to help in the design and development of a golf course here free.

There has been considerable support voiced for the establishment of a public golf course since the Record editorialized recently that a public course would be a great asset to this area and it is a service which the county and city should provide.

There have been estimates that more than 1,000 residents and possibly as many as 2,000 residents of the county would use a golf course if it was available. Many of these people now have to travel at least 30 miles to play golf as they cannot afford or do not desire to belong to the Colorado Country Club.

It is believed by many residents that a public course would be a drawing card for See GOLF COURSE Page 9

Vocational Ed Expanded

Plan To Send Students To Snyder College

School trustees have approved a major expansion for Colorado High's vocational education program through a contract with Snyder's Western Texas College.

The unique program will offer courses in 5 vocational fields--auto mechanics, welding, diesel mechanics, electronics and vocational office education.

When the new instruction begins next fall it will provide Colorado High with its fifth field of vocational development. Already a part of the curriculum are distributive education, industrial cooperation training (both with students working in related career fields while going to school), vocational agriculture and homemaking.

Colorado High students are being informed of the program's opportunity and administrators expect to have student applications compiled by April 29 for next fall's initial instruction.

Students in the special vocational courses will attend classes in Snyder on campus of the new Western Texas College.

Only cost to Colorado Independent School District will be for transportation of the students to and from Snyder.

Contract costs with the college will be reimbursed Colorado Independent School District by the Texas Education Agency's vocational program.

The reimbursed cost per participating student is expected to be approximately $290. Cost of transportation during the initial year--already approved by school board for 1972-73 school budget--is estimated at approximately $3,600.

Included in the $3,600 estimate is $800 to $1,000 for restoration of an old school bus, $900 more for gas, oil and maintenance of a bus during the 180-day instructional period, plus $1,800 for bus driver costs.

School administrators view the contract as an exceptional opportunity for Colorado City's public school system to share Western Texas College's expert vocational faculty and modern equipped facilities--all at tremendous saving to Colorado

Independent School District taxpayers.

Only cost to participating students, if any, will be purchase of textbooks. And, Supt. Lloyd McKee has revealed that state funding is being requested for this item.

Administrators and officials of Colorado City schools have been studying and planning the vocational program with Western Texas College administrators for several months.

Assistant Supt. Gary Gardner and several board members conferred with the Snyder group recently. In addition, Snyder See VOCATIONAL ED Page 8

Reform Is Urged

Senator Urges New Constitution

State Senator Jack Hightower treaded lightly Tuesday when he came calling for the first time among his new constituents in Mitchell County.

He made no attempt to disguise his pleasure to be "running lonesome" for re-election in the expanded 29-county 30th Senatorial District instead of against an opponent.

And, the handsome Vernon lawyer made the most of the unopposed campaign situation.

He spoke informally as No. 1 at the Kiwanis luncheon in Civic House, chatted during a quick walk to City National Bank, then visited with scores of persons at a speedily arranged reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Trulock Jr., a couple of Baylor University friends.

The Senator, being introduced by long-time friend Dr. Elton Berkman as "one of the finest younger members in the State Senate," spoke easily and neighborly to Kiwanis and their guests.

He tossed a few homey anecdotes toward himself, promised an open ear and mind to any citizen's problem, and called for the "right perspective" when viewing the state's political scandal.

The city council discussed the letter and there seemed to be a favorable attitude among councilmen toward such a project, although no action was taken.

Council Approves Budget

Tax Rate's Going Down

The City Council of Colorado City Monday night approved the city budget for 1972-73 as proposed by City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr.

The proposal included a 5-cent tax cut per $100 valuation. Effective May 1, when the new city fiscal year begins, the tax rate will drop from $1.60 to $1.55 per $100 valuation, based on 45 per cent of fair market value.

The new budget also extends provisions for discounts to taxpayers who pay early.

In passing the budget, the council lauded Sadler for his work for the city.

In the budget is provision for pay raises of 5 1/2 per cent for all city personnel and a pay boost of $100 a month for Sadler.

Sadler's raise and other raises amounting to more than the standard 5 1/2 per cent was based on a West Central Council of Governments survey on salaries for city personnel in Colorado City, Cisco, Eastland, Ballinger, Coleman, Ranger, Breckenridge, Haskell, Hamlin and Stamford.

Coleman has the highest number of city employees with 82; Breckenridge, 70; Stamford, 45; Colorado City, 44; Cisco, 41; Hamlin, 32; Eastland, 30; Ballinger, 27; Ranger, 25, and Haskell, 24.

On the average salaries of these towns, Colorado City pay was below average for city manager, city secretary, street superintendent, street maintenance, sanitation driver, sanitation loaders, water maintenance, water clerk, sewer plant operator and maintenance, park maintenance, filter plant operator and maintenance and for office clerk.

Colorado City had the lowest paid city manager, sanitation loaders, filter plant operator and filter plant maintenance man, and office clerk.

Colorado City pays above average for police chief, assistant police chief, patrolmen, dispatcher, fire chief, fire driver and water superintendent.

Colorado City has the highest paid assistant police chief in any of the towns.

TOWN TALK

By MAC MCKINNON

Did you ever drive into Colorado City from the west, exiting from Interstate 20 at Highway 80?

If you haven't, try it. If you have, think for just a minute. What was the first thing you saw?

What is the first thing visitors and tourists see when they approach the city from that direction? The Col-Tex Refinery, now owned by Cosden Petroleum Corporation, a subsidiary of Fina, isn't a very pretty sight. Imagine what visitors must think.

Such a sight isn't very inviting to someone who might be considering moving an industry here; or those who might want to retire here; or those who might want to start a business here; or those who want to move here just because they want to live here.

This eyesore comes to mind particularly now on the eve of clean-up, fix-up, paint-up month as proclaimed by Mayor C. C. (Mike) Burt.

The refinery was abandoned because it was no longer of any use to the company. Why then, should Colorado City bear the burden of this rusting hulk of Colorado City's past?

The pain was bad enough when the company moved out and took its payroll out of town.

True, we still have the benefit of having some of this company's employees live here and commute to Big Spring to work.

But, shouldn't this company see the publicity benefits of cleaning up its mess and possibly turning this area into a park or donating it for some public use?

Isn't it time officials of Chamber of Commerce, City of Colorado City and Mitchell County make an issue of this situation with officials of this company?

Clean-Up

Little League officials were busy Saturday as they painted the facilities at the little league baseball field and conducted a general clean-up in preparation for the season opener early next month.

In the 8th grade events, the winner was Slaton with 184 points; Colorado City, 115 1/2; Robert Lee, 74; Hamlin, 55 1/2 and Stanton, 54.

Ruth COFFEY'S
CONVERSATION CORNER

WOULD NOT, above all things, want to go about setting a bad example for anybody.

But to be perfectly frank about the matter there are times when there's a big question mark in the mind about what is right and what is wrong.

Stood on the porch the other morning to watch a huge mockingbird pull a poor little worm from his bed. Now have been told all a life that the early bird gets the worm. The mockingbird got him all right—but what about the worm who stuck his little head out so early?

If I were a worm, would learn to sleep until noon and teach all the little children worms never to get up too early, lest they wind up being breakfast for a hungry mockingbird.

WHY has rising early always been considered such a virtue? Staying up late and getting up late as possible is much more fun.

Why should familiarity breed contempt? Familiarity with a face, a voice, a smile, a favorite chair is one of the dearest things there can ever be.

Truth is a real virtue. But unless you happen to be under oath speak the unvarnished truth without tempering it with kindness and good judgement and you won't have any friends.

A compliment, deserved or not, does not have to be a flat lie. It can be a form of courtesy and graciousness. So along with teaching children the importance of telling the truth it is sometimes necessary to teach them that a polite little fib, a smile, or just pleasant silence will suffice.

Very small children can ruin a family's whole reputation with the absolute truth when nosy people ask too personal questions.

PEOPLE like to quote Shakespeare's, "Who steals my purse steals trash. . . but he that filches from me my good name robs me of that which not enriches him and makes me poor indeed."

He was right, as usual of course, but only up to a point.

Steal my purse, and you've got the Social Security card, library card, driver's license, credit cards, house keys, best compact, treasured pictures, and $13.16. And that ain't trash.

Steal or filch my good name, and maybe you just don't mean me. It could be somebody else. A good name can be rescued, too.

HAVE HEARD so many times that people who live in glass houses should never throw stones. Why not just turn off all the lights?

MARK TWAIN, long before T.V., once remarked, "Weather is a literary specialty, and no untrained hand can turn out a good article on it."

If he lived now, he might add that no trained hand or voice can come up with the facts about it either.

MIQUEL DE CERVANTES asked his readers, "Can we ever have too much of a good thing?" Yeah. Three servings of strawberry shortcake.

He also opined, "There's not the least thing that can be said or done, but people will talk and find fault." Other people will talk and find praise. But they are the ones who do more and say less. De Cervantes also gave us, "Every dog has his day." Most dogs had rather have the night.

THE SAME philosopher informed the world, "Even a worm when trod upon, will turn again."

The worm in my yard the other morning wasn't trod upon. He didn't get a chance to turn again. He just wiggled and went down. This doesn't prove much of anything except that you can't always believe everything you hear or read, and some old good examples just don't hold up when you really think about them.

Special Week Proclaimed By President

This week, April 9-15, has been designated as National Action for Foster Children by the President of the United States.

The week is set aside to give special attention to the needs of and services for foster children, their natural families and foster parents.

In his proclamation the President says, "Time and again, experiences has shown that children grow and develop better when they have the individualized love and nurture of a generous foster father and mother. If deprived of close parental relationship, children - especially young children - are often damaged for life in their emotional and intellectual growth.

"Today, many more foster parents are needed for the children in our society, who, for whatever reason, cannot remain in their own home."

During National Action for Foster Family Week, the Mitchell County Department of Public Welfare hopes to share with the citizens information concerning foster children and their needs as well as information about being foster parents.

"Foster parents and their homes are an integral part of the agency," said Jerry Evermon, local welfare caseworker.

"It requires special persons to become foster parents. The physical and emotional surroundings are carefully studied and eventually the home is licensed as an extension of the agency.

"If you are interested in learning more about becoming a foster parent, please contact the State Department of Public Welfare, 136 East Third Street, Colorado City."

'Missions' Skit Marks Guild Meet

A skit concerning missions highlighted a regular business and social meeting of Wesleyan Service Guild of First United Methodist Church Monday in church Fellowship Hall.

Skit performances answered questions about changing concept of a "mission project", qualifications of persons needed in missions, the young people's challenge to today's church and definition of a missionary.

Taking part in the informative presentation were Mrs. Roy Dozier, leader; Mrs. Jewell Richter, Mrs. Ethel Hardegree, Mrs. Dewey Davis, Mrs. Charles Godwin, Mrs. T. B. Coker, Mrs. J. L. Bassinger, Mrs. Sandy Miller and Miss Ruth Hightower.

Mrs. Dozier also reviewed "Leaf In Faith" by Juanita B. Wright.

The speaker explained that the title, "Leaf In Faith", was chosen because "that is what Christian women are called to do in the age of uncertainty in which we live."

"There is no time for hesitation," she advised, "We must act."

"God enables us to take this leap and to move forward in faith because of our knowledge of his presence among us calling us to be in mission, to witness to his love by our service to the world."

Mrs. Della Fox, president, presided in the business session in which officer reports were heard.

Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Wilma Reynolds, hostesses, served salad plates to Mrs. Tom Glover, Mrs. Elmer Martin, Mrs. Myrtle Womack, Mrs. H. H. Galney, Mrs. Godwin, Mrs. Coker.

Also, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Dozier, Mrs. Bassinger, Miss Hightower, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Hardegree and Mrs. Bassinger.

REGISTRATION GOOD SIGN

The May 6 election in Mitchell County has all the earmarks of pulling the largest number of voters ever to vote here.

County Tax Assessor-Collector Mrs. Doris Burton reported last week that 4,103 persons had registered in time to be eligible to vote in the May 6 Democratic Party primary election.

This number included for the first time 18, 19 and 20-year-olds and it was the first time voters registered under a new state law that allows registration at any time.

However, a voter must register at least 30 days prior to an election in order to be able to vote in that election.

For Mitchell County, the large number of registrations is a good sign. Not only does it indicate an increase in population over previous years, but it is also indicative of the amount of interest in the election.

Almost every Mitchell County office up for election this year is being contested, and of course, the governor and lieutenant governor's race has caused a lot of interest.

It is imperative that voters learn as much as possible about candidates in all races and then cast their vote in line with their convictions on May 6.

It is reassuring to note that so many Mitchell County residents are concerned and have registered in order to have a voice in the election results.

First Annual FISH Meeting Sunday At Calvary Baptist

First annual meeting of FISH, sponsored here by Mitchell County Ministerial Alliance, will be Sunday afternoon, 2 o'clock, in Calvary Baptist Church.

Major portion of business will be the election of officers.

The local organization, which will be a year old next month, is a 24-hour answering service, offering Christian Service to anyone in need of help.

During the past 12 months of activity, the FISH organization has accomplished a wide variety of services.

Most services involve providing transportation to those unable to make their own way to pick up commodities, pay bills, shop and buy groceries, visit doctor, dentist, hospital, mental health clinic and welfare office, according to past year's reports.

"God's work must surely be our own," a quote from the late president John F. Kennedy, is the philosophy on which FISH is based. It is an inter-denominational effort with the basic Christian principle of lending a helping hand.

"Purpose of the program is to demonstrate God's love for his people through Christians," said Mrs. Lloyd Richards.

The FISH program is financed by freewill contributions. Only expense is the phone bill and cost of newspaper advertising.

"Anyone wishing to contribute, may make a deposit to FISH account at City National Bank or give it to an officer of the local organization," Mrs. Richards said.

Anyone needing help is asked to phone 728-3474.

All members of FISH and all other interested persons are urged to attend the annual business meeting.

Cook the automatic way!

Choose AMERICA'S FAVORITE the Electric Range

There's nothing nicer for the kitchen than a new flameless electric range with an automatic oven and automatic surface unit.

Just pop the meal into the automatic oven. Set the time and temperature controls. Then do something else while the oven sees to the cooking.

The automatic surface unit keeps the food in the pan at the right cooking temperature. No scorching. No boil-overs. No reason for pot watching. If you include an oven that's self-cleaning, all you have to do is let it clean itself automatically!

Nice? Very nice. It's easy to see why electric ranges are the Number One seller in the country.

There are many other good reasons for choosing America's favorite. See your appliance dealer soon about a new electric range.

Board Resets Hearing Date

A school board hearing requested by Mrs. Trina Owens, Kelley Elementary School teacher, has been postponed.

Hearing for the bilingual program teacher had been set for Monday night. However, it was reset for June 12 when Mrs. Owens notified school officials that her attorney was prevented by illness from representing her Monday and asked for another hearing.

Mrs. Owens, who is completing her first year here as a teacher, requested the open hearing after the school board voted not to renew her contract for the 1972-73 teaching year. The board's action followed recommendation of school administrators.

The board Monday renewed contracts for 84 teachers on the district's teaching staff.

Contracts Tuesday were handed to individual teachers for signing. Teachers will have 10 days to sign and return contracts for next year's assignments.

Five new teachers were approved for next fall--Miss Brenda Landes, Mrs. Susan E-vermon, Mrs. Joyce Burkett, Lloyd Joe Pharris and Mrs. Donna Burnam.

In other business Monday the board appointed Drew Ballard, Ed Roach and Truman Bodine for the school district's board of equalization.

Ballard will be chairman. Date for the tax hearing will be June 29.

Incentive Plan Okayed
Board Approves $300 Yearly Limit

Colorado Independent School District board Monday night approved a professional growth and incentive program for teachers.

Aimed at developing more competent teachers and improving the school system's instructional program, the incentive plan begins next Sept. 1.

A total of $3,500 is allocated for the initial year as recommended by Professional Communications Council, composed of teachers and administrators.

In the incentive program, teachers can obtain money for additional study to advance their professional careers and capabilities. The pay incentive is limited to $10 per day for workshops of 5 days or less, $75 maximum for workshops of 2 weeks and $50 per college hour.

The Professional Communications Council had proposed the plan and recommended details to the board of trustees last month. Board members, although in general approval of the plan, asked the council to consider minor adjustments and clarifications before formal adoption.

The program, approved by the board Monday incorporated those suggestions. These specify that no teacher can receive more than $300 in a 12-month period under the plan, that a teacher receiving an incentive payment must have been employed by the district for at least 1 year, that each participant must present evidence of successful completion of the course or workshop and no payment can be received for correspondence courses.

Teachers proposed the plan to encourage professional growth through additional incentive experiences, including college courses, professional meetings and training workshops.

It is another in a growing list of fringe benefits in operation to attract, maintain top caliber professional teachers and to strengthen the educational instruction within the system.

Among the other fringe incentives or benefits are a policy for 10-days sick leave per year for teachers instead of the state allowance of only 5 days; the wide use of teacher aides at extra expense to relieve teachers of routine duties so they devote more time to actual classroom preparation and instruction; salary scale which pays $100 above the state minimum; payroll deduction plans for insurance programs, tax sheltered annuities, credit union and etc.; use of reading specialists and speech therapists to assist teachers with instruction, plus special education program for students with learning problems and a federal bilingual program that stretches the district's budget.

Youth Led Revival At Fairview

Fairview Baptist Church this week end will be scene of a youth led revival with services nightly at 7:30 o'clock.

Special services will be directed by youths from East Fourth Baptist Church, according to an announcement made Wednesday by Rev. Eldon Cook, church pastor.

A time of fellowship will follow Saturday evening's worship service.

In talking of a youth band who will be playing, Rev. Cook said, "Unlike other bands, their band is made up of dedicated Christian boys who write the music they play."

"Come help us fill the house each night, he invited, "and hear God's word preached from youths point of view."

God is hope. God is now.

Netters To District Weekend Tourney in Brownfield

The Colorado High School team will travel to Brownfield this weekend for the district tennis tournament Friday and Saturday.

Tennis coach Ken Burnam expects the competition to be keen as Snyder, Sweetwater, Brownfield and Lubbock Dunbar will be top contenders.

However, Burnam added, it is possible that Colorado City will be able to surprise some of the favored teams because of the improved performances made in the past weeks.

Students playing will be:
Senior Division, Boys:

COUNCIL
From Page 1
Bank of Colorado City as de-positary for city funds, and passed a resolution asking the state for help in making development plans for Ruddick and Hickman Parks.

The council also delayed action on passing an ordinance establishing a speed zone around schools. The delay was to make a study to determine if 15 or 20 miles-per-hour would be more appropriate.

Schools Supt. Lloyd McKee
asked in a letter to the council that 15 be established as the speed limit during school hours but some councilmen and city legal advisor, Dell Farber, said this was unreasonable and could not be enforced.

McKee asked that speed zones be made by ordinance for:

Seeing Is Believing?

The game of tennis has its lighter moments.

Colorado High tennis coach
Ken Burnam tells of a funny incident that occurred while he was demonstrating a new tennis demonstrator which consists of a tennis ball on the end of a long elastic band.

Burnam accidentally hit the ball over the fence enclosing the courts and the ball came back to Burnam.

That was humorous to those watching but it was quite a shock to a student who was late to tennis practice. He didn't know about the tennis trainer and believed he was seeing things.

Another incident could have occurred only in West Texas.

A girl hit a ball over the fence into an adjoining field.
Before she could retrieve it, a tractor had covered the ball with dirt and the girl couldn't find it.

In contrast the Senator said Texas Legislature as early as 3 years ago in a nationwide appraisal was rated "39th among the 50."

That's when he pointed much of the blame to the Constitution, citing the need for the cizenship to see to it that the Constitution is rewritten in a studious, systematic manner.

The breakdown in legislation comes, he said, because government for 11 million people is crammed in to 140 days every 2 years instead of annual legislative sessions.

"Over 3,000 bills were presented in the last 140-day session," he said. "Toward the end many things get balled up."

Trying to decide appropriation 2 years ahead is "too much guess work", he continued.

"If we can do our legislative business on an annual basis," he emphasized, "then we could look more accurately at expenses... the needs...
and do a better job."

Hightower, whose district stretches for distances of 200 miles and more, listed $400 per month legislator salaries as among "many more things that could be done."

"We should not try to get by with the least amount of money we can ask anybody to work for."

Among the group welcoming the Senator on his first official Colorado City visit were Masonic leaders. Hightower is a 33rd degree Mason and the 33rd degree Mason and the Texas Lodge's new grand master.
Among his other responsibilities in a multi-service career is membership on the executive board of Texas Baptist General Convention.
