WEALTHY TEXAS FARMER SLAIN FROM AMBUSH

River, Diversion And Wichita Lakes Falling; Many Families Return Home

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

The weather record of this year has been such as would have put the medicine men of the Indian tribes that once roamed our prairies to their utmost resorts. We have had the very extremes of cold and heat and drouth and flood in the months of this year. First there was the extreme cold of the early part of the year, followed by unusually warm weather for the season, then the floods of June followed by the long drouth and the extreme heat and now the second flood of the year.

We have yet the better part of the last quarter of the year left. Maybe we will have such delightful fall and early winter as will be some compensation for the disagreeable weather assortment we have had for most of the year.

The best insurance for farmers against the ill effects of such a drouth as the recent one is an abundance of humus in the soil, according to C. L. Newman writing in The Progressive Farmer and Southern Ruralist. The quantity of water required to grow a crop of corn or cotton is equal to a rainfall of four to six inches, he says. The average annual rainfall in the southern states is 50 to 60 inches and in the corn belt 30 to 40 inches. Yet with all this rainfall in the course of a year there sometimes come seasons between rains when a water famine occurs in the soil and the growing crops are cut short or fail entirely. Obviously then the soil that soaks up the largest quantity of water in times of plenty and holds it in storage until the growing plants need it is the kind of soil farmers need. Clay soil holds two and one-half times as much water as sand, and humus holds more than two and one-half times as much as clay. When the soil is filled with humus (decaying vegetable matter) it's the same as if a million sponges had been buried in the field—sponges that will catch and hold moisture when it rains and give it out to the plant roots as fast as they get thirsty.

Terracing, too, helps to conserve moisture and plant foods.

The floods have emphasized the need of drainage—straightening and deepening the channel of Holliday creek, more storm sewers in Wichita Falls and ditches in the irrigation district. There is a lot of improvement to be done in and around Wichita Falls.

A very considerable part of the flood that filled the Wichita river and caused the waters of Holliday creek to back up over residence and business property in some parts of the city must have come from Beaver creek. Floods from the upper part of the Wichita are pretty effectually blocked by the dams at Lake Kemp and the Diversion lake. There are smaller reservoirs on Beaver creek but no dams that will check such a flood as has poured down that stream. Any system of flood control for the Red river must provide reservoirs on Beaver creek and on the Little Wichita rivers.

Six words per second, or about four and one-half hours for a standard sized book, is good average reading speed, and most people can aspire to reach this seemingly extraordinary rapidity, according to Dr. R. S. Woodworth, noted psychologist of Columbia university. The brain, not the eye, determines the speed of reading, Dr. Woodworth declared.

"The eye," he said, "cannot move steadily but must move in a series of jerks, with pauses between. These pauses are needed to see the material clearly, but still more to give time for the meaning to be grasped. They take up about 95 per cent of the reader's time, the small remainder being all that the eye requires for its actual motion across the page, once the eye mechanics of reading are mastered in childhood. The eye as a machine is well able to operate faster than the mind can grasp the sense. Interest, by hastening the grasping process, increases the speed of the reading."

"The best time to form the habit of reading good books is between the ages of 12 and 15, because then the child is no longer interested in juvenile stories, and he will either begin to read sound literature or slip into the tabloid type. Hence it is important that parents exercise wise guidance over their children's

TRAFFIC MOVES OVER HIGHWAY TO HENRIETTA

Lake Kemp Climbing as Irrigation District Impounds Water

ARCHER ROAD CLOSED

Lake Road and Many Acres Of Land Remain Under Flood Waters

Although many acres of lowlands still were under water from the Holliday creek overflow, Wichita Falls and its surrounding territory was free from the menace of incroaching flood waters Tuesday night, as Lake Wichita, Diversion lake and the Wichita river continued their drop from the high levels reached Monday.

Highway Crews Guide Traffic

Along the Henrietta and Petrolia roads, where the backwaters from the creek reached their peak Monday night, families were returning to damp homes, wading through water to reach their porches. Lakes of water still lay on either side of the road, but traffic was possible Tuesday. In some sections the water was still more than two feet deep along the road Tuesday night and crews sent out by D. M. Puckett, state highway engineer, watched the road and guided automobiles all through the night.

Weeks Park, the grounds of the country club, parts of Holliday street, and the acres lying just below the lake were still flooded. The Lake road remained impassable. Wichita river slipped back between its banks Tuesday and was still dropping slowly Tuesday night.

G. N. Norris, maintenance superintendent at Lake Wichita, said the water had dropped 15 inches since Monday night, though a two-foot overflow still rushed over the spillway, keeping the creek out of its banks.

The decline continued at Diversion lake where an overflow of only .06 foot was reported by Caretaker Will Hickman Tuesday night.

Lake Kemp Rises

Lake Kemp, on the other hand, rose a foot and a half during the day and another small rise was expected after an additional inch and a half of rain Monday night and Tuesday. The increase does not affect water levels in Wichita Falls because all the water is being impounded.

Breaks in the clouded skies over the area gave hope that the rains may be checked long enough to allow the flood waters to completely subside. Light showers during the night Monday added .14 inches to the total precipitation in Wichita Falls.

The Archer City road remained impassable Tuesday, with the detour on the main highway lost under three feet of water. Great pools of flood water still were over low sections along the road to a depth of around three feet, Mr. Puckett reported. The detour by way of Mankins was not yet in condition for use Tuesday.

THREE DEAD IN TEXAS FLOODS

(By The Associated Press)

Three persons lost their lives in flood waters of rampant Texas streams during the overflows of the past several days, it was revealed today.

The death list: R. W. Brown of Canadian; Earl Calhoun of Eldorado; E. M. Duke of Del Rio.

Brown was drowned in Gageby creek on his ranch, 30 miles south

Traveller Abandons Barrow for Skates

GORHAM, Me., Oct. 14. (AP)—Robert E. Smith of Moline, Ill., who pushed a wheelbarrow 1,744 miles from Boston where he attended the American Legion convention last week, has decided to roller skate home.

He has been resting at a farm here. He said he would start his roller skating trip from Boston next Monday.

KIRVEN FIRE

KIRVEN, Texas, Oct. 14. (AP)—Fire destroyed the J. N. Reynolds gin here today. The loss was estimated at $15,000.

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 14.—The fate of George H. Robsion, self-styled bootlegger charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Elmer Carter, rested with a jury at 8:15 Tuesday night after six hours of argument. The jurors were locked in their room for the night and no verdict was expected before morning.

Carter was shot to death and Joe Whitt, Altus policeman, was blinded in a gun battle which followed when the officers attempted to halt a liquor truck in which George and Vernon Robsion and Ernest Jackson were transporting a still near here last August. Vernon Robsion and Jackson were indicted with George. Vernon's case is called for trial Wednesday morning. The date for the trial of Jackson, who turned state's evidence, was still in doubt Tuesday.

In its arguments Tuesday, state's attorneys demanded the death penalty for Robsion, answering the plea of the defense that the accused man shot in self-defense after the officers had opened fire.

Evidence was completed around 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and the rest of the day devoted to arguments.

DEATH LOOMS FOR FLEAGLE

Long-Hunted Bandit Dying From Officer's Shot

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 14. (UP)—The murderous bandit trail which "Little Jake" Fleagle blazed through the West had ended tonight on a hospital cot, a bullet wound fast taking what life remained in the most hunted of modern desperadoes.

"Little Jake" was the last of the Fleagles, five of them, to be seized by the law. He had sworn he never would be captured alive. He had barely missed fulfilling his vow.

Down he went, reaching too late for the draw. One of eight officers who surprised Fleagle on a railway passenger coach shot him down while the bandit, kicking and fighting, tried vainly to combat the attack.

Brought here from Branson, Mo., a little town in the Ozarks where he was captured, Fleagle was taken to the Baptist hospital late today. Doctors prepared to operate on him. The bullet which passed through his abdomen had caused hemorrhage. If science could heal it and Fleagle survive, he would be sent to Colorado, where a state would seek to end his life by the medium of the law.

Two-Year Search

Today's capture ended a two-year search for William Harrison Fleagle, sole survivor of the bandit gang which murdered four men during a Colorado bank robbery. He was captured by government agents, Kansas City detectives and other officers who had hunted him since May 23, 1928.

"Fleagle will die within 24 hours," Drs. C. W. Russell and Guy B. Mitchell said tonight. They abandoned their plans to operate on the bandit after deciding he was too weak from loss of blood.

"The bullet went clear through him, severing a blood vessel," Doctor Russell said. "Fleagle is too weak to talk and can live not more than 24 hours."

Fleagle confessed to robbing a bank at Larned, Kan., some time ago. Hugh Harper, Colorado Springs chief of police, said.

Fleagle's brother, Fred, went on trial at Larned today for the robbery.

"Fred is innocent," Chief Harper quoted Fleagle as saying. "I robbed that bank with three others."

Fleagle neared the end of his trial in the chair car of a Missouri Pacific train as he was planning to leave Branson to keep a fake rendezvous officers had prepared to trap him.

Reaches for Gun

As the bandit boarded the train and prepared to take a seat, one of the officers called: "Stick 'em up, Fleagle. We've found you."

Instead, Fleagle turned and reached for his revolver. One of the officers fired. The bandit fell to the floor of the train car, but regained his grasp on the butt of his pistol. Two officers were re-

SCHOOL BOARD CLEARS WAY FOR BOND VOTE

Junior College District Formed at Meeting Of Trustees

PETITION CIRCULATED

C.-C. to Ask Election on $300,000 Bond Issue At Next Session

A Wichita Falls Junior College district, composed of all territory in the Wichita Falls independent school district was organized and the way cleared for an election on a $300,000 bond issue for a college building at a meeting of the Wichita Falls board of education Tuesday.

It was decided that the board and the chamber of commerce should cooperate in the movement and that the legislature be asked to amend the act creating the Wichita Falls independent district to permit a maximum tax levy of $1.15 on the $100 valuation, instead of the $1 as at present.

J. T. Harrell, chairman of the Junior college committee in the chamber of commerce, reported that a petition requesting the election was circulating and would be presented at the next regular meeting of the board.

The group voted to start a vocational school here and elected W. A. Rosamond of the University of Oklahoma as instructor. The purpose of such a course is to train those unable to attend college in trade and industries, and enable the student to study required subjects for his chosen profession.

U. S. to Push Dam Work Despite Arizona Plea

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (US)—The federal government will rush the construction of Boulder dam, notwithstanding a threatened injunction by the state of Arizona, President Hoover announced today.

He made it plain that a way would be found for the work to go ahead even should the objecting state take advantage of a ruling by the United States supreme court, allowing the right to intervene with a restraining order.

The government, Hoover stated, will immediately take steps to mediate the points in dispute between the various states.

State Seeks Back Taxes From Western Union

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. (AP)—Recovery of back taxes, penalties and interest amounting to $200,000 and $800,000 from the Western Union Telegraph company will be sought by the secretary of state through the attorney general's department, it was learned today.

Rice Tilley, assistant attorney general, who is negotiating with officials of the telegraph company, said the secretary of state had found the company had paid no franchise tax since 1907. Other telegraph and telephone companies have paid the franchise tax, Tilley said.

Arkansas G. O. P. Files Attack on Parnell

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 14. (UP)—A petition, seeking to have the name of Gov. Harvey Parnell stricken from the November election ballots because of alleged excessive campaign expenditures, was filed in court today by members of the Republican state central committee.

The petition, asking a temporary writ of injunction restraining the secretary of state from certifying Parnell's name, charged the governor had spent more than the allowed $5,000.

Two Haskell County Prisoners Break Jail

HASKELL, Texas, Oct. 14. (UP)—Two prisoners who sawed their way out of the county jail here Monday were still at large tonight. They are Harold Henderson, 17, convicted of burglary, and J. E. Marvin, 44, charged with forgery. Mrs. W. T. Sarrels, the sheriff's wife, fired several shots at the fleeing prisoners, but none of the bullets took effect.

Houston Man Gets Two Life-Term Sentences

HOUSTON, Oct. 14. (UP)—Two life sentences in the state penitentiary were meted out today to E. F. Grimes, bandit-companion of Jess J. Maple, who was sentenced to death last week for the slaying of E. D. Fitzgerald, Houston policeman.

Grimes was found guilty on two charges of robbery and assessed the life penalty on each within 20 minutes today.

Texas Golf Pro Dies After Heart Attack

BORGER, Texas, Oct. 14. (UP)—Arthur A. Bonebrake, 30, golf professional of Borger and Amarillo, died of heart ailment in a hospital here today.

Shave and Haircut No Longer Are Barbers' Main Tricks

State Examinations Reveal the Present Day Tonsorial 'Uplift'

HOUSTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—The knowledge of how to give a haircut and shave, though it used to suffice pretty well for a barber, is just a small matter now, it developed today during the first examinations, being given here for the trade, under the new state law.

South Texas barbers took the tests, conducted by the state board of examiners.

Roy Johnston and J. B. Robinson, chairman and member, respectively, of the board, were busy, going from this chair to that to see how this and that applicant, some giving shampoos, some shaves and the like, were getting along.

Robinson, in the midst of reporters' questions about the tests, looked around and discovered a man who wasn't doing things in the proper manner.

"Look," said the examiner, "at that barber. "He's rubbing the man's face the wrong way. He knows little, one can see, of modern barber science—the science of the facial muscles and nerves. One should never rub the skin down."

He was asked what was the main thing a barber should know.

"By all means," he replied, "a knowledge of facial muscles and nerves. He should know the proper way to give a rest facial. If he does he can give a man a great service. He can stimulate him. If he does not, he can do much harm."

"Then a haircut and shave—that's not the important thing in a barber shop any more?"

"That's the least important."

A man going to a barber college nowadays, said Mr. Robinson, must be taught the fundamentals of "hygienic bacteriology, histology of the hair, skin muscles and nerves, structure of the head, face and neck, elementary chemistry relating to sterilization and antiseptics, diseases of the skin and hair, massaging and manipulating the muscles of the scalp, face and neck, bleaching and dyeing the hair and haircutting and shaving."

"Notice," the examiner remarked, "that hair-cutting and shaving are last."

BELL REDUCES CRUDE PRICES

Tulsa Concern Cuts Oil Schedule 35 Cents

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 14. (AP)—The Bell Oil and Gas company of Tulsa late today announced a reduction of 35 cents a barrel in its prices for North Texas crude oil for its Grandfield, Okla., refinery. The cut applies to oil of 38 gravity and above.

Under the new schedule, effective immediately, the company will pay $1.01 a barrel for 38-38.9 gravity oil, $1.04½ for 39-39.9 gravity oil and $1.08 for grades of 40 gravity and above.

The company is the second purchaser of Midcontinent oil to post a lowered price schedule this week. The Champlin Refining company of Enid yesterday reduced its schedule by 25 to 31 cents a barrel.

COURT UPHOLDS PRORATION PLAN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 14. (UP)—Proponents of oil curtailment in Oklahoma scored another victory today when the state supreme court upheld the constitutionality of proration enforcement by the corporation commission.

The opinion was rendered at the same time oil companies defending proration rested their case before the corporation commission. The commission hearing is being conducted at the request of independent companies who have protested the order is not a conservation measure but is in effect a price-fixing order.

TEXAS PRORATION SUIT SET NOV. 10

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. (AP)—Hearing of the temporary injunction granted the Danciger Oil company of the Texas Panhandle stopping enforcement of the state wide oil proration order has been tentatively set for Nov. 10, in Travis county district court.

Dewey Lawrence, assistant attorney general will represent the state. He said today that the decision in this case will govern in a similar suit filed by Young Brothers and Alexander of Young county.

Decision in the suit, expected soon after the hearing, will probably come just prior to the expiration of the proration order of the state railroad commission, issued on Aug. 27 for 90 days.

El Paso Prepared To Greet Red Wagon Tourists

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 14. (UP)—Plans for welcoming Lloyd Hayes and Herbert Stinson and their little red wagon, here, were complete tonight. The two, who have traveled across Texas, from Fort Worth, are due to reach here tomorrow afternoon. They spent the night at Ysleta, nine miles away. Hayes is pulling Stinson in the wagon in payment of an election bet.

State Education Board Ponders Law Changes

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. (AP)—Closeted in executive session, the state board of education today considered what changes in the educational laws would be recommended to the next legislature.

The board had before it recommendations from each of its members and from S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction.

ENGAGEMENT DENIED

ALVA, Okla., Oct. 14. (UP)—The engagement of Lorna de Smith, of Alva, a senior in Aimee Semple McPherson's Bible college at Los Angeles, to Rolf McPherson, son of the evangelist, was denied here today by E. J. Smith, father of the girl.

ROME, Oct. 14. (AP)—Official announcement was made tonight that the marriage of Princess Giovanna of Italy and King Boris of Bulgaria would take place on Oct. 25, at the ancient city of Assisi.

TWO HUNTERS SHOT IN WOODS

Men Carrying Carcasses Mistaken for Deer

ASPEN, Colo., Oct. 14. (AP)—Two hunters carrying carcasses of deer they had killed were shot by unseen marksmen today. One was killed and the other wounded.

Authorities believed the men were victims of other hunters who mistook them for deer. Apparently the persons responsible for the shooting fled. Russell Reed, 17, of Monte Vista, died without giving a definite account of what happened.

William Rondigan, a soldier from Fort Logan, who also was shot, was not sure from where the bullet came.

ARMY FLIERS KILL GEESE FROM PLANE

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 14. (AP)—Two army officers charged with violation of the federal game laws for killing wild geese with an airplane pleaded guilty and were fined $25 each by Judge Richard J. Hopkins in federal district court here today.

Capt. Reuben Kyle Jr., presented his plea personally and Capt. Robin A. Day, now en route to Honolulu, through his attorney.

The officers pursued a flock of geese and killed several with the propeller of the plane while they were stationed at Fort Leavenworth last May.

Texas Murder Suspect Wins Change of Venue

CARTHAGE, Texas, Oct. 14. (UP)—The case of V. B. Shoffner, 35, special deputy sheriff, charged with the fatal stabbing of Thurman Wall, 20, on the night of Aug. 23, was transferred to Marshall, by District Judge R. T. Brown, late today.

Threats of mob violence against Shoffner, which followed the stabbing on the courthouse square, had aroused public feeling in this district and it was decided it would be impossible to obtain a fair and impartial trial for the defendant here. Officers were forced to flee to Center with Shoffner when crowds threatened violence here on the night of the killing.

Four Held After Bad Whisky Kills Girl

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14. (UP)—Four men were held today pending an autopsy on the body of Hazel Cole, pretty 20-year-old art student who was found dead in a Culver City apartment after a party given by Bobby La Salle, welterweight boxer.

The girl died from poisonous alcohol, police believe, and the four men will be charged with manslaughter if a chemical analysis bears out the theory. Medicine which the girl had been taking, combined with the liquor, was considered a probable cause.

M., where he will observe the progress of the campaign for re-election of United States Senator Bronson Cutting. He will return to New Hampshire later in the month before going to Chicago to consult on Republican campaign activities in Illinois.

FORMER C.-C. HEAD SHOT TO DEATH IN AUTO

One Time Angelina County Agricultural Agent Killed On Highway

SUSPECT SURRENDERS

Murder Charges Will Go Before Grand Jury In January

SAN AUGUSTINE, Texas, Oct. 14. (AP)—E. B. Brackett, 53, farmer, former Angelina county agent and former manager of the San Augustine Chamber of Commerce, was shot and killed today as he drove toward town in his automobile. C. C. McClanahan, 40, surrendered to officers and was charged in the findings of the coroner's inquest with murder by circumstantial evidence.

McClanahan was released under $1,500 bond.

Brackett had been to the country and was returning to town when, apparently, someone in an automobile parked near a bridge across a bayou fired twice at him. His body was torn with buckshot. It was believed he died almost instantly, for his automobile coasted along the road several hundred yards, then came to a halt of its own accord.

The slain man had given up other activities and for several years had devoted attention to a large farm he owned near here.

Justice J. W. Haygood held an inquest and County Attorney Edward Clark prepared charges against McClanahan, to be presented to the county grand jury which will meet Jan. 5.

DEFENDANT SHOT DURING TRIAL

PAULS VALLEY, Okla., Oct. 14. (AP)—Seeking vengeance for his son's slaying, Ben Downey, 60, today shot and probably fatally wounded Leslie Christian, 22, on trial in district court here for the murder of his one-time brother-in-law, Ben Downey Jr., several months ago.

Christian's fate had been placed in the hands of the jury about 3 o'clock and no decision had been reached at 6 when the jury filed out to eat.

The defendant left the courtroom on the third floor of the building and was met at the foot of the stairway by Downey, who fired five times. Downey was held in jail.

Christian's sister divorced the younger Downey, shortly after he had been sentenced to the state penitentiary on a charge of grand larceny. After Downey returned from prison early this year, he is said to have blamed Christian for causing his wife to leave him. Ill feeling was said to have developed which led finally to the fatal shooting of Downey.

'Legs' Diamond's Death Expected Momentarily; Hotel Man 'Tells All'

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. (UP)—Jack "Legs" Diamond was in desperate condition tonight at Polyclinic hospital, and it was intimated he might die at any hour. His wife arrived at the hospital, in tears, soon after 6 p. m., escorted by two detectives.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. (UP)—Gangland's attempt at noon Sunday to assassinate Jeck (Legs) Diamond, New York's most notorious gangster, appeared to be fast approaching success tonight as the dapper young racketeer lay near death in Polyclinic hospital.

Diamond lapsed into delirium today and a bulletin was issued, describing his condition as "extremely critical." Even later than this, he was reported to be "sinking fast."

While the grim-visaged gunman buried his face in his pillow to stifle his moans, John Ginsburg, missing witness to whom great importance has been attached, strode into District Attorney Thomas C. T. Crain's office and surrendered.

"I'm ready to tell the whole story," he announced, somewhat dramatically.

And the "whole story" he told, according to the district attorney, was nothing but a re-hash of what is already known.

Ginsburg, a flashily dressed man, told Crain and Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney that he is manager of the Monticello hotel, where the shooting took place. He also is said to have admitted a close acquaintanceship with Diamond.

Battle Ends Communist Attempt To Invade American Labor Meeting

BOSTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—Fifteen persons, five of them women, were arrested today during a pitched battle between police and a group of 50 Communists who attempted to invade the national convention of the American Federation of Labor.

For 20 minutes the Communists and police, hemmed in by a crowd of more than 1,000 spectators, fought outside the Hotel Bradford, where the federation was in session.

Heads were cracked and police uniforms were torn while patrol wagons rushed police reserves to the scene. Taxicabs pressed into service as patrol wagons were filled while Communists struggled to rescue the prisoners.

The Communists gave advance warning of their intention to stage a demonstration. For the past several days hand bills were circulated calling upon the "militant workers of Boston" to join in a demonstration.

When the labor convention opened this morning police were on duty outside the hotel and in corridors leading to the convention hall, but this detail was inadequate to handle the fighting radicals.

Shortly before noon the Communists paraded to the hotel, carrying Communists' placards, and promptly were ordered away by the police. An attempt then was made to hold a meeting in the street, but the first speaker who attempted to address the gathering was arrested. Angry Communists tried to rescue him, and the battle began.

PAVED ROAD TO OKLAHOMA CITY GOAL OF C-C MEET HERE

WICHITANS TO GREET VISITORS

Lawton to Wichita Paving Would Close Gap

Plans for the construction of an all-weather road from Oklahoma City to Wichita Falls will be discussed Nov. 14 when approximately 100 representatives of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce visit Wichita Falls, according to an announcement made Tuesday by the chamber of commerce here.

Road Partly Constructed

An all-paved road between Oklahoma City and Lawton is now under construction and the object of the meeting here in November will be to make efforts to secure a continuance of the pavement from Lawton to the free bridge at Burkburnett.

Following the chamber of commerce business council luncheon here which the Oklahoma delegates will attend, the visitors will then go to Lawton to confer with citizens there on the matter of extending the road to the state line. Plans for the reception of the Oklahomans here include the meeting of the delegation by a Wichita Falls group at the state line from where they will be escorted into the city for the business council luncheon at noon.

A large party of Wichitans will accompany the Oklahoma City delegation to Lawton in the afternoon to continue the discussion there. It is requested that all former residents of Oklahoma City notify the chamber of commerce here as it is desired that they serve on the reception committee and attend the luncheon.

The visit of the Oklahomans here is the result of an invitation extended by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce following a visit made by a Wichita Falls delegation to Oklahoma City in the spring. The acceptance of the invitation to visit here was received by the chamber of commerce Tuesday from Ed Overholser, president of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce.

Business Trip

Mr. Overholser stated that the visit would differ from the usual trip of the kind, as no noise-making, parades or hat bands would be in evidence, with the trip being devoted to business as much as possible.

A special invitation to attend the meeting here will be made to Lew Wentz, chairman of the Oklahoma highway commission, and A. R. Losh, Oklahoma state engineer, it was announced by the chamber of commerce.

Walter D. Cline, chairman of the receptions and conventions committee of the chamber of commerce, will be in charge of the reception, with W. B. Hamilton, chairman of the highway committee, presiding at a joint meeting of the committees.

Salvation Army Leaders To Arrive Here Today

Ensign and Mrs. R. B. Fitton, divisional young people's leaders of the Salvation Army for the state of Texas will arrive Wednesday morning on their semi-annual inspection trip and for conference with the young people of Wichita Falls. The Thursday night meeting will be a public meeting.

"NOW I EAT WHAT I LIKE," POPULAR WOMAN DECLARES

One after another, men and women all over the South and West are coming right out in public to tell others about this simple method to end indigestion and the gas, bloating, heartburn, headaches, etc., it causes.

Just the other day, Mrs. Rita Myers, popular young mother, of 2125 North Pearl St., Dallas, Texas, enthusiastically declared: "At last I have found real relief for indigestion. I eat what I like now without fear of that old, heavy feeling of stuffiness or heartburn, gas and sour belching.

"I suffered with indigestion for two years; tried soda and many other things for it without success. But a few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin convinced me it was just the thing I needed. The stuffy feeling, heartburn, gas, and sour belching after meals just disappeared. Our doctor got me started taking it."

Pape's Diapepsin is perfectly harmless; will not form any habit. Get a box from your druggist; and next time something disagrees, chew one of the candy-like tablets. See how the burning or pain disappears! If you wish to try them before buying, write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., for a FREE sample box.

FUN'S OVER

Jimmy Walker Asserts He's 'Fed Up' With Mayor's Job

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. (INS)—Mayor James J. Walker has had enough of public office.

"All the glory is gone, all the glitter is off," he told the United Real Estate Owners association last night.

"It's just a hard job and someone else can have it. I want nothing save to leave the city a little better than I found it. That's all I want to live on the rest of my life."

of Canadian, when he attempted to cross the swollen stream on horseback.

The bodies of Calhoun and Duke were found in the South Concho river near where Calhoun's automobile lodged after washing down stream. Calhoun and Duke were last seen at Christoval, 21 miles south of San Angelo, Sunday night, and it was the belief of friends that they were washed into the Concho river while attempting to cross in their automobile while en route to Eldorado.

Reports from the flooded areas indicated streams were returning to normal rapidly. The Brady river was back in its banks.

TRAINS AND BUSES HALTED AT ALTUS

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., Oct. 14.—With bus connections in all directions from Altus at a standstill, and train service badly crippled, citizens were almost ready Tuesday to greet bright skies, despite enthusiasm with which rainfall this month has been received.

No train service from Altus to Woodward on Katy railroad was available Tuesday because of washouts on South Canadian river between Elk City and Woodward. Trains are operating, however, from Altus to Elk City.

All Santa Fe trains were in operation except the one from Altus to Wichita Kan., which is not expected to make the run because of washouts near Thomas.

There was no west bound train on Frisco tracks today because of high water in the Canadian river near Tuttle. The east bound went through Altus early today, but was held at Tuttle instead of continuing to Oklahoma City.

Barcelona Police And Students in Encounter

LONDON, Oct. 14. (INS)—Police with drawn sabers today attacked a group of students of the University of Barcelona who attempted to storm the college building after burning a portrait of King Alfonso, it was stated in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Madrid.

The student demonstration was believed to have been inspired by Republican agitators in the undergraduate body.

Soon after the incident occurred the government ordered closing of the university until further notice.

Woman Professor Dies After Drinking Poison

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 14. (INS)—Miss Jessie Hogate, 55, assistant professor in the department of public discussion of the extension division of Indiana university here, committed suicide by drinking poison at her home here today.

Despondency over ill health was believed to have prompted her act. Coroner Raymond Borland after an investigation returned a verdict of suicide.

BULLET ENDS LONG SEARCH

Officer's Gun Fells Famous Bank Bandit

quired to take the gun away from him.

Officers agreed not to divulge the identity of the officer who fired the shot that ended Fleagle's two-year freedom from the law.

Fleagle's capture was brought about following arrest of Harry Lee Watson, charged with bank robbery who was captured near here three weeks ago. He confessed he had planned to build a hide-out for fugitive criminals in the Ozark mountains and told police Fleagle visited him recently.

"Fake" Advertisements

Convinced the Lamar bandit was hiding in this section, officers placed advertisements, signed by names of Fleagle's friends, in Southwestern newspapers, informing him of a rendezvous he was to keep. The bandit was en route to answer the advertisement when captured.

"Finding Fleagle at Branson this morning was a surprise," E. H. Kline, California postoffice inspector, said. Kline has hunted the fugitive since he robbed a Southern Pacific mail train at Pittsburgh, Calif., more than a year ago.

"We have had parties of federal officers and detectives searching this section for three weeks but thought he was in Arkansas right now.

"The five of us who were sitting in the chair car just happened to be passing through Branson when one of the officers saw Fleagle standing on the station platform. When he saw he was going to board the train, the five of us waited in the forward part of the car.

"We knew he would not be captured without a gun battle and we wanted to see that none of the passengers of the car were injured.

One Shot Fired

"When Fleagle turned into the car's passageway, he saw the five of us and our guns. Someone shouted 'stick 'em up, Fleagle.' He started to draw his gun and one of the officers shot him.

"Only one shot was fired. Fleagle fell but held onto his gun. Two of us jumped on him and took his revolver. He fought like a tiger and cursed us all," Kline said.

Fleagle, called "Little Jake" in contrast to his father who was nicknamed "Big Jake" because of his gigantic stature, is the last of the band of four men who robbed the Lamar bank. His brother, Ralph Fleagle, George J. Abshier, and Hoyward Royston all were hanged at Colorado penitentiary.

Four Murders

The quartet held up the Lamar bank May 23, 1928. They shot and killed A. Newton Parrish, bank president, and his son, John, while committing the robbery. They kidnaped E. Am Kessinger, bank teller, and killed him later. They shot to death Dr. William Wineinger, Dighton, Kan., who was called to treat wounds one of the gang sustained in the robbery.

Fleagle, who rallied after being given emergency treatment at Branson by Dr. Guy D. Mitchell, was under heavy guard in a Springfield hospital tonight.

Doctor Mitchell said he discovered a gunshot wound in Fleagle's right wrist. He said the wound appeared to have been inflicted about 10 days ago.

Search for Fleagle led officers throughout the entire South from Arkansas to California and back again. He was hunted in Mexico early this year but managed to elude posses of Mexican and American officers and return across the border into the United States.

Record-Seeking Woman Flier Lands in Kansas

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 14. (UP)—Mrs. Keith Miller, Australian flier seeking a new speed record for women from New York to Los Angeles, landed her airplane here at 5 p. m., after a flight of one hour and 45 minutes from Kansas City. She will remain here overnight.

HOME-TOWN TALK

By B. D. D.

reading at this time if they wish them to read good books as they grow older," Dr. Woodworth concluded.

Talker believes it is shortsighted policy through which the county commissioners discontinue the county highway patrol. He believes that the patrol prevents accidents and thereby saves more than its costs in hospital bills which the county would have to pay on account of such accidents. Yet even if he does believe that way he sympathizes with the harassed commissioners who are asked to make this and that expenditure of the county funds.

Commissioner Kuntz voiced what all the commissioners must feel when he said:

"There are always a lot of committees coming up here before this court for the purpose of telling us how to spend the money we have to spend. What I should like to see sometime is a committee that could show us how to save money, how to reduce our expenses, rather than create new jobs. Always it's a request that more money be set aside for new jobs for somebody. The people of the county cry aloud every year about the high tax rate, but they never come here to tell us how to reduce expenditures. We cut the road and bridge fund seven cents this year to avoid increasing the county tax rate."

Now there's an invitation that somebody ought to accept. Our county commissioners expend hundreds of thousands of dollars annually. They must try to please the people and do the best they can under the present system. If they had as much help in saving expenses as they have in the effort to induce them to incur them, thousands of dollars could be saved the county and the tax rate lowered. Our present system of county government is archaic and wasteful and a lot of folks who know more than Talker know this. Someday somebody is going to do something about it.

Oklahoma to Grade Jefferson Highway

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 14. (UP)—The state highway commission will grade and drain an East-West road across Jefferson county, commission members said today. Jefferson county commissioners have posted $200,000 in bond money as the county's share of the work.

The road will be designated as highway No. 70 east of Waurika and state highway No. 32 west of Waurika.

BAPTISTS HOLD DISTRICT RALLY

Church Leaders Speak Here At Laymen's Meet

Approximately 1,000 persons attended the evening session of the Baptist rally held at the First Baptist church Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at which time Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church of Dallas, was the principal speaker.

1,000 Hear Truett

Dr. Truett, who has just recently returned from a three months' tour of South America recounted many interesting incidents and experiences of his travels.

"Every day and every hour was filled with challenging interests. I spoke 88 times and 80 of those sermons were delivered with the assistance of an interpreter. At first I thought I could not go on with the inconvenience of the interpreter but when I saw how hungry those people were for the story of Christ I was determined to preach under any circumstances," the speaker declared.

"This tour has given me a new appraisement of the work being done in foreign fields by our missionaries. I came back believing more than ever in the power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ in the transformation of life. These missionaries are lifting up the great truths of the Gospel in these foreign countries and are bringing thousands of lost souls to Christ."

The speakers were introduced by Rev. McKinley Norman, pastor of the First Baptist church at Quanah, who presided at the entire session. W. E. Young, financial secretary and musical director of the local group led the congregation in a short song service with Mrs. F. R. Collard, organist, at the organ.

Approximately 150 out-of-town delegates representing 13 counties attended the afternoon session of the Baptist rally of district 11 which opened at the First Baptist church here at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The principal speaker of the afternoon was Dr. W. R. White, secretary of the State Baptist association who discussed several points of the work being done by the association and pointed out ways and means of financing a church program.

Hard Times Serve Purpose

"The people of the Baptist churches in Texas have staged a wonderful comeback this year, considering the drouth and the general economic depression," Dr. White said.

"I do not believe it is good for one person or any one organization to have good times all the time. Soft jobs make soft people and people that are too soft are not good for very much. We do not always get every thing we want but if we want any thing and need it, God always provides a way.

"A man that does not worry about something is not doing much. I believe that faith can do anything that needs to be done and if we would all work harder, pray more and have a closer life with God, we would accomplish more in this world."

George J. Burnette, secretary of the layman's movement in the Southern Baptist association, with headquarters in Nashville, Tenn., discussed "the church and God's plan for financing it."

Easy to Get In Church

"It is as easy to get into the church as the Democratic party in Texas but the trouble with the average church member is that they don't support the church as well as they do the party," Mr. Burnette said.

"No matter how much you pay your pastor, that does not relieve you from your obligation as a child of God. When you get into a church you should begin immediately to support it. I mean by that, not only financially but by doing your part in visiting the sick and needy and putting forth a little effort in making the church program a success."

Following the afternoon session dinner was served in the church for visiting delegates.

'Fresh Air Taxi' Booked for Trip To Haskell Fair

An additional feature to the entertainment to be given along the route when the Junior chamber of commerce makes its goodwill tour to the Haskell county fair Thursday has been arranged, according to Wilburn Page, secretary of the Junior chamber of commerce here.

Joe Bailey and Frank Haley have secured a "fresh air taxi-cab" and will present a blackface "Amos 'n' Andy" act. Inasmuch as the "fresh air taxi" is of such ancient vintage and can not make the Haskell trip under its own power, a truck has been loaned by the Wichita Produce company to take the taxi, it was announced.

Reports along the route Tuesday were that roads were drying up. All counties along the route have agreed to grade roads leading to the fair, it was said.

A time schedule has been prepared giving the time of arrival at each town along the way. The caravan will leave Lightsey's garage on Scott street at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning and will arrive at Holliday at 9:20, Mankins 9:35, Dundee 10:10, Seymour 11:10, Bomarton 1:10, Goree 1:30, Munday 1:40, Weinert 2:30 and Haskell at 3:00.

Have You Started Rob Eden's Story Of Life Behind The Silver Screen? Start Here!

Nick Walther, wealthy Hollywood real estate man picked up Gail Stuart one evening on the highway outside of Los Angeles. She was dressed in boy's hiking clothes and he supposed she was a boy. It recalled his own boyhood days. At 14 Nick had struck out alone to make his fortune and found the going rough. His heart went out to this tired lad who dropped asleep as soon as his head rested against the cushion of the car. When they arrived at his apartment, Nick hated to waken the youth. Instead, he carried him inside and deposited him on the davenport. When Gail awakened she heard a Chinese servant saying that she was "too pretty for a boy" Gail settled their doubts by admitting that she was a girl who had donned boy's clothes for greater safety along the highway.

When Nick heard that she had walked from Kansas to get a job in pictures he was first amused, then sympathetic. He called in Hollywood's star press agent, Tod Janson, and sent Gail to dress up in the best clothes she had with her. Gail's best didn't look very smart to Janson, who told Nick that it would take $500 to doll her up and get her a screen test. Gail protested when Nick started to write Janson a check for the amount, but Nick assured her that he had helped many a struggling youth. Janson settled the matter by telling Gail it was her only chance. The woods were full of pretty girls and conditions had changed since Carla Cross had gone from Gail's home town by the extra route to stardom in the movies. Nowadays a girl needed a manager who knew the ropes to get her a screen test.

Under Janson's skillful management Gail spent a morning in Hollywood's smartest shops. The clothes which Gail had selected with such care at home in Fairview were scorned by even the saleswomen. When Gail was finally outfitted to the press agent's satisfaction, she was sent back to her hotel to wait. Alone, Gail found herself desperately lonely and worried over the possibility that she might fail in her test. Her meager $50 was melting away rapidly while she lived in a $10 room at the expensive hotel which Janson recommended. Dinner time found Gail and a young extra approaching the same cheap cafe. Just outside the door Gail's strand of imitation pearls broke, and the handsome extra helped collect them. With every handful of restored beads, Gail pleaded that they were cheap and worthless.

Her self-appointed knight kept up the pursuit until every bead in sight was rescued. His response to Gail's thanks was to take her arm and propel her into the restaurant to dine with him . . . subsequently introducing himself as Ross Hardy, alone and lonely in Hollywood. They exchanged confidences on their efforts to break into the movies, and before the evening was over the two were good friends. The next day Gail shivered through her screen test in a nervous panic. That night at dinner she admitted to Ross Hardy that she feared she had failed. He consoled her and over the table pledged himself to help her if he got the first "break," and Gail agreed to help him if her test turned out well and she should succeed first. This simple pact formed the turning point in both their lives.

Now turn to chapter seven.

BRIDGE PARLEY CALLED TODAY

Owners Ask Increase in Red River Tolls

DALLAS, Oct. 14. (AP)—Delegations from Sherman, Denison, Gainesville and Marietta, Okla., will attend a hearing here tomorrow called by Maj. Milo P. Fox of Galveston, United States engineer, with reference to a proposal of owners of toll bridges across Red river between Texas and Oklahoma to increase rates charged for their use.

Owners of the bridges are petitioning increased tolls pending completion of bridges for free use being constructed by the two states.

More than 1,000 Mexican boys and girls passed through Laredo, Texas, this fall on their way to attend schools and colleges in United States.

PATMAN URGES PAY FOR VETS

Texan Has Plan to Place Money Into Use

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—The claim that more than two billion dollars could be placed in circulation by the federal government to mitigate "the effects of the present nationwide economic distress by diverting war debt retirement funds to payment of world war veterans' adjusted service certificates," was made today by Representative Patman, Democrat, Texas.

The Texan said he believed congress should enact a law giving veterans the right to receive 80 per cent of the cash value of their certificates. He outlined a program, which, he said, would create no additional burden for the federal taxpayers, and at the same time permit the government to reduce the effects of the depression by increasing the amount of money in circulation.

Contending that the veterans had not received a "square deal," Patman said the government was making millions of dollars out of veterans by loaning them their own money at high interest rates. He said if the veterans took full advantage of the loans allowed by law the interest in 20 years would equal the amount of the loan.

Patman said if congress passed a law granting veterans loans up to 80 per cent of value of their certificates, it "would place into immediate circulation more than two billion dollars."

"It would increase the per capita circulation and enhance the purchasing power of the people," he said. "It would prove a tremendous factor in relieving the nationwide economic distress."

BLASIER FREED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 14. (UP)—Percy Blasier, Castle, was freed today by Peace Justice Leon Shipp of a manslaughter charge in the death of Howard Adkins, 18, of Wetumka.

Hoover's Friends Launch Tabloid Paper to Get Square Deal for GOP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (INS)—Friends of President Hoover believe he is not getting the "breaks" he should through the newspapers, so they are going to publish a weekly tabloid to be called "Washington."

It will make its appearance Saturday on news stands. It will be edited by David Henshaw of New York, who has done publicity work for the Republican national committee at one time or another.

"We will endeavor to tell the story of the different government departments in a different way by printing information that the daily newspapers do not handle. We will try to deliver our message by convincing under-statement rather than exaggeration," said Henshaw.

The publication will have the backing of some of Mr. Hoover's closest friends, and he is personally interested in the venture, as it will give him an opportunity to answer criticism aimed at his administration, 'tis said.

William Allen White, Kansas editor, Will Irwin, and Mars Margaret McBride, of the Hoover child welfare committee, will be contributors, and the government press agencies in the various departments have been notified quietly to cooperate. Publication offices will be in the Carlton hotel, three blocks from the White House.

Railroad Allowed To Discontinue Trains

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. (AP)—An order authorizing the T. & N. O. railroad to discontinue passenger trains 173 and 174 between Galveston and Houston was issued today by the state railroad commission.

The order specified that train 171 hereafter would operate between Seabrook and Strang, over the Bay Shore loop and 172 would operate between the same towns over the main line.

Cities along the route acquiesced in the application of the railroad, with this service to replace the discontinued service.

According to the application, the railroad lost approximately $1,100 a month operating the line.

The business sessions of the 86th annual communication, patriarchs militants, opened today.

SAFE BLOWERS WORK IN FROST

Yeggs Crack Strong Box In Refrigeration Room

HOUSTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—Working in a temperature that remained precisely at the freezing point, thugs last night dynamited one safe while striking twice in the "produce row" neighborhood. They "worked on" three safes altogether and got $7. They failed to get some $5,500.

Police characterized the "cold weather" dynamiting as most unusual. Meat was used to muffle the sound of the blast.

The dynamiting took place in a refrigerating room at the Texas Packing company plant. The yeggs appeared to have used a boat to reach the rear of the buildings which extended out over a bayou.

The safe crackers ascended three flights of stairs to the packing company's office. They collected tools from the plant's own equipment and knocked the knob off the safe.

The meat was blown in all directions in the nitroglycerin blast. A strong box in the safe was broken open and $7 taken. Another strong box which officers said contained approximately $5,000 remained intact.

The other "job" was across the street from the Texas Packing company and involved two safes of the wholesale grocery establishment of R. M. Gordon & Co., Inc.

The intruders got into one safe and found nothing. They failed to get into the other, which contained about $500.

KIDNAPERS OF BRIDE SOUGHT

Heiress Abducted From Missouri Home

GREENFIELD, Mo., Oct. 14. (AP)—Mrs. Alma Wilson McKinley, 24, daughter of Benton Wilson, wealthy oil man here, who was kidnaped from her parents' home last night, telephoned late today from Stockton, 20 miles north of Greenfield that she had been released and was returning home. Her father and husband immediately started out to meet her.

GREENFIELD, Mo., Oct. 14. (INS)—Although searching parties had covered virtually every square foot of territory in southwestern Missouri, no trace had been found late this afternoon of Mrs. Alma Wilson McKinley, 24-year-old heiress who was abducted from her home here last night.

Spurred on by a $2,000 reward offered by Benton Wilson, millionaire father of the missing girl, searching parties had penetrated every sideroad and lane in this section of the state and had searched every abandoned farmhouse and shack.

Authorities this afternoon expressed a belief that the kidnaping was perpetrated by the same gang which has recently engineered several kidnapings in St. Louis and Kansas City, among them that of Michael Katz, millionaire druggist of Kansas City, whose family paid $100,000 for his release.

Feeling is running high against the abductors of the young bride, who is shortly to become a mother, and authorities have expressed themselves as fearful of an attempted lynching should the kidnapers be apprehended.

Naval officials have taken over the $3,500,000 munitions depot in Hawthorne, Nev., completed after three years of building igloo-like magazines on the desert.

Father Destroys Family When Girl 'Goes Hollywood'

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 14. (INS)—Because a quiet mannered father believed his daughter was "going Hollywood," three members of a former Minneapolis, Minn., family were wiped out today.

That was the theory by which friends accounted for the slaying of Mrs. Alice Huchendorf and her pretty daughter, Maxine, 15, by Herman Huchendorf, and the father's subsequent suicide.

The husband and wife had quarreled bitterly because, neighbors said, Mrs. Huchendorf refused to put a strong curb on the girl. The girl was attending a junior high school.

Queerly, it was a slight illness causing Maxine to leave school and return home which caused her death. When Maxine reached home, she found her father, who had been living apart since six months ago, quarreling with her mother.

An hour or so later neighbors heard a veritable fusillade, and found Mrs. Huchendorf dead just outside the back door, Maxine lying in the living room and Huchendorf in the kitchen. Each had been shot twice and several other bullets had missed their targets.

The Huchendorfs came here from Minneapolis seven years ago.

Employment Obtained For 795 Oklahomans

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 14. (UP)—Employment was obtained for 565 men and 230 women the past week by the four federal-state labor bureaus in Oklahoma, State Labor Commissioner W. A. Pat Murphy said today.

A total of 2,127 men and 379 women applied for work.

During the previous week, the bureaus found employment for 281 men and 249 women, Murphy said.

STEEL PLANT

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 14. (AP)—Youngstown Sheet and Tube company's Western Reserve sheet plant at Warren, Ohio, has been shut down for an indefinite period, it was announced today by Frank Purnell, president. The plant will be reopened when the volume of orders justifies it. The mill employs about 500 men.

JUST HOW SAFE ARE YOU AT HOME?

IF YOU think of danger in terms of trains, steamships, airplanes, automobiles, machinery and the like, please remember that more than 7,000 lives were lost last year in American homes as a result of fire.

More than 60 per cent of all fires occur in homes. The "safety" of your hearthstone loses some of its assurance when you consider this record of tragedy.

To improve such conditions the Stock Fire Insurance companies—representing the great bulk of fire insurance written in this country—maintain many helpful services.

For Greater Home Safety

The Department of Building Construction operated by the National Board of Fire Underwriters spreads a vast amount of information regarding building materials and their proper assembling.

Stock Fire Insurance engineers constantly survey the fire defenses of cities and work with public officials to improve them.

Underwriters' Laboratories, established by Stock Fire Insurance, tests and labels thousands of devices used in the home—electrical apparatus, convenience equipment, heating plants, fire extinguishers and utilities of many descriptions.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

has a large personnel and many facilities that are always available in connection with construction, maintenance, protection, and fire prevention. Its record in reducing the average cost of fire insurance over a long period of years is partly the result of its efforts to make home life safer.

Record Attendance At High School Opens P.-T.A. Work

Members of the high school and Junior college P.-T. A. had their first meeting of the season Tuesday afternoon with 175 members of the association present. With the large attendance and with the teachers paid up 100 per cent, officers and members looked forward to their most successful year.

Mrs. Hermione Vaughn, director of the school orchestra, made a short talk on the musicians and the orchestra gave two numbers. Mrs. R. L. Underwood gave a beautiful prayer and Mrs. Paul Barnett, president, took charge of the business meeting and immediately following the reading of the minutes, made her short talk of greeting. Mrs. Barnett said in part that the sole aim of the P.-T. A. was training the child in both mental and moral growth; that though the aim could be expressed in few words, it was a big task and programs would conform to it. "Happiness and success," the speaker said, "are determined by the way a life is set and we are training children in character development so that they will know how to acquire happiness and be successful."

Mrs. Barnett introduced Mrs. W. D. Cline who presented yearbooks to the members and talked on the programs for the season. The membership chairman, Mrs. Harry ten Brink, was next presented and in her vivid report and enthusiastic urging of 1,000 members to reach the goal of the organization, aroused much enthusiasm. Mrs. ten Brink introduced the 40 sponsors who work with her.

The association voted to give $5 to the endowment fund and following the business, S. H. Rider, dean, was introduced. Mr. Rider talked on high ideals and good citizenship and on the cooperation necessary between parents and teachers to bring about the best results.

Mrs. Cox Makes Address

Mrs. P. B. Cox made an interesting talk on the subject, "Assisting Your Child to Grow Up," stating that some children never have an opportunity to grow up. "Their future," she said, "depends on their early training." Mrs. Cox used an apt illustration of the colt that is either broken in spirit and becomes a jaded hack or the one properly broken that is a horse of mettle.

Members of the organization were invited into the cafeteria where the teachers formed a receiving line and parents and teachers met one another.

Frozen punch was served to Mesdames R. T. Sloan, Milo Connelley, R. D. Bone, W. F. Sims, E. D. Trevathan, M. L. Tittle, B. L. Trevathan, H. E. Carriker, Frank Creighton, Z. W. Heath, M. E. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We hear that Harold Bell Wright has a new novel, "Exit," but we are willing to wager it isn't his exit from the novel field. He is America's most prolific writer. Special attention is called to the fact that in this book he uses a real oath; quite a departure from Harold's usual style.

We do not know who made the old rule "When you hear about a new book, read an old one." Yet we found in a book review the information from Dutton that more than a million of "Everyman's books" are sold annually.

We own some half dozen of them and they are the handiest and cheapest reading size in which one can get the masters. The masters still prove the leaders in the reading list though "99 per cent of the publicity and reviewing goes to the new books."

Just at the present time, though doubtless Harold Bell Wright's book will be much more treasured by the general public, the volume we would like to lay our hands on is one of unpublished letters that Carew Hunt has selected and given the world. Letters from four centuries' collection of John Wild, who died 75 years ago after a happy lifetime of collecting autographed letters.

Little characteristics that were not known are said to be revealed in the hitherto unpublished personal letters of Pope, Christopher Wren, Voltaire, Shelley, Henry IV and Lady Hamilton. It seems to bring their wraiths about our shoulders as we read. We are in the clouds of history.

And then we come back to this day to know that we really have genius in our midst. We have read "Russia," "Pre-War Russia," and "Russia Today" as they are published in September Unity with the name of Fania Kruger signed and wondered at the vision put in exquisite words by Mrs. Kruger. In the two poems, she tells the story of that mysterious Russia of before the war—hungering and yearning. And "Russia Today," is a vision of hope, told as only genius could tell it.

"The Wax Candle," published in The Reflex is a story of Yom Kippur in which Mrs. Kruger makes her readers absorb the very atmosphere of the time. Her prose is in English that has the rhythm of poetry but it is in her poetry her genius shines.

To prove that Mrs. Kruger's ability is recognized, she has been made associate editor on two literary magazines. Her study in summer school at Harvard last summer, brought her in touch with those who saw the lovely spirit coming into light.

Women Golfers Of Weeks Park Club Elect Officers

Mrs. Beryl Lundien was elected president of the Woman's Golf association of Weeks Park, when members met in the Spanish tea room at the Woman's Forum clubhouse for luncheon Tuesday.

Mrs. W. E. Millican, retiring president, presided and a business meeting preceded the luncheon. Other retiring officers were Mrs. J. B. Peacock, vice president and Mrs. W. W. Haney, secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. M. A. Rutis was elected vice president for the coming year and Mrs. J. A. Rhodes, secretary and treasurer.

Members of the club will meet Tuesday, Oct. 21 with Mrs. W. W. Haney, 1915 Seventh street, for a bridge luncheon.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME
Adorable Bloomer Dress for Tot
Pattern 2021
By ANNE ADAMS

This cunning little model is so very simple to cut and sew, that it could be made in no time, and if you do a bit of smocking in front it will be delightful, although shirring will do nicely. The back neck band continues to form two straps on either side of the front fullness, and a pearl button is used as a dainty finish. The sleeves are set in, and therefore comfy and well fitting.

Pattern 2021 may be made of pique, dimity, percale, cotton broadcloth, batiste, lawn or challis in solid color or a print. The smocking should be done in the predominating color of the printed design. Smocking Pattern No. 568 is 15 cents additional.

May be obtained only in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 requires 2⅛ yards of 36-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Our new fall and winter fashion book, containing exquisite models for adults and children and an excellent assortment of transfer patterns and stamped novelties, is now ready. Price fifteen cents. Book with pattern, 25 cents. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West 17th street, New York City.

Benefit Bridge Of Auxiliary Great Success

Members of the Woman's Auxiliary to Wichita County Medical society who held their annual bridge tournament at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Tuesday afternoon, featured an unusual scheme of decoration that made the auditorium bright with color. Each of the north windows, where the heavy draperies had been pulled back, held a green glass bowl filled with zinnias in brilliant autumn colors. A basket of golden cosmos stood on the piano and baskets of zinnias bordered the footlights. Roses and zinnias were in baskets and vases in the dining room. Mrs. W. P. Lowry was chairman of decoration.

Bridge and 42 were played with 190 guests present. Lovely prizes were donated by different drug stores and were awarded in the following order: electric iron from Renfro Drug company, Mrs. A. Kriss, highest score; Mrs. C. W. Boller, 22-piece tea set from Spoonts Drug; Mrs. McDaniel, manicure set from White's Pharmacy; bath salts from Allison Drug, Mrs. C. W. Stice; perfume from Miller Drug, Mrs. M. S. Kaufman; vase from Evans' Pharmacy, Mrs. Ireland; Coty perfume, from Truly Pharmacy, Mrs. Elbert; sandwich plate from Burkburnett Pharmacy, Mrs. Howle; bridge table cover from Haley Drug, Mrs. Davenport; bath perfume from Long's Drug, Mrs. McCabe; call bell from Rexall Drug of Iowa Park, Mrs. Allen Montgomery; vanity from Tenth Street Drug, Mrs. T. D. Moore; "Blue Rose" bath set from Staley Building Drug, Mrs. Hagar; Lilac Tale Pinaud from Baber Pharmacy, Mrs. Tom Medders; box of stationery from Cassell's Drug, Mrs. Leake. The 42 prize was given by the Iowa Park Drug and was a bottle of Richard Hudnut toilet water, won by Mrs. Martin Rowe.

Members of the auxiliary expressed their thanks to the drug stores who donated the lovely gifts used for prizes.

Federated Missiog Addresses Hears Inspirinnary Group

Mrs. Wade Walker of Long Beach, Calif., a woman with whom the idea of the day nursery originated and who probably did more than any other one woman with the exception of Mrs. J. A. Kemp for its establishment, was present when the Federated Missionary societies met at the day nursery Tuesday morning and was introduced by Mrs. Kemp.

Mrs. Walker told how during the war she was chairman of a committee who took food to the soldiers in the hospital at Call field and when she found there was always something left, brought back the surplus to give it to poor families in the city. So often, she stated, she found children alone while father and mother worked, that she conceived the idea of a regular day nursery for them and immediately started out to get the men to help with the result, the day nursery as it is today. Mrs. Walker came here as a child; her people, she said, were the first to arrive after the railroad and at that time there were only 500 inhabitants. Since she moved to California 10 years ago, she has kept her interest in the day nursery in Wichita Falls and her talk Tuesday was inspiring to those present.

Lester Jones, J. L. Jackson and J. N. Sherrill were present and made short addresses. Mr. Sherrill urged the compilation of a history of the day nursery, bringing it up to the present time.

In the business meeting with Mrs. G. R. Ellis, president in the chair, Mrs. J. R. McKinley was elected secretary to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Ray Belcher who has moved to San Antonio.

Reports were heard from the various committee. According to the report made by Mrs. Fred T. Datson, 1261 children were registered in the day nursery in the month of September, 125 more than in September, 1929. Mrs. Datson reported 50 children a day for the current month and made special mention of the cooperation given her by Mr. Jarrett, principal of the San Jacinto school where the day nursery go to school. About 28 come from that school for their noon meal at the nursery each day.

Appreciation was expressed to Reese Allen who furnished tickets for all the children in the day nursery to go to the circus.

Grant Street Methodist church will have charge of the services at the jail through the month of November. Mrs. W. H. Downing, chairman of juvenile jail work, requested quilt scraps, embroidery, magazines and books for girls confined in jail.

Services at the county farm were scheduled as follows: Sunday, Oct. 19, First Baptist; Oct. 26, First Southern Presbyterian; Nov. 2, Highland Heights Christian church and First Christian church on Nov. 9.

A class of girls at the First Baptist and one at the Episcopal Sunday school volunteered to take care of the regular Saturday story telling hour.

Members present Tuesday were Mesdames J. J. Perkins, Horrace Robbins, J. A. Kemp, Wade Walker, Wiley Robertson, Ginsberg, Daisy Dean, L. E. Cowling, O. T. Alles, R. O. Harvey, McShain, Bridges, W. W. Cook, B. P. Williams, Swarts, Copeland, H. P. Ledford, W. H. Downing, Powers, J. G. Oakley, W. H. Downing, J. R. McKinley, Carrie Wilcox, Patrick Henry, J. E. H. Railey, J. Lem Keevil, E. F. McGaughey, D. L. Beatty, O. F. Coleman, and Mrs. Fred T. Datson.

For TEETHING troubles

FUSSY, fretful . . . . of course babies are uncomfortable at teething time! And mothers are worried because of the little upsets which come so suddenly then. But there's one sure way to comfort a restless, teething child. Castoria — made especially for babies and children! It's perfectly harmless, as the formula on the wrapper tells you. It's mild in taste and action. Yet it rights little upsets with a never-failing effectiveness.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to tiny infants—as often as there is need. In cases of colic and similar disturbances, it is invaluable. But it has every-day uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever older children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset, a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

ANOTHER PARALLEL SUCCESS IN MODERN FLAVOR-PROTECTION
Fresher bread is due to invention of the well known waxed paper Flavor-Protection method. Fresher coffee is due to invention of M.J.B.'s exclusive Hi-Test Vacuum Tin, a patented Flavor-Protection Method.

NO OTHER COFFEE is kept completely fresh just as M·J·B is. No other tin excludes air like the Hi-Test Vacuum Tin M·J·B's engineers invented. No other coffee can use this Hi-Test Vacuum Method.

M·J·B owns one of the nation's largest can factories to make these tins. M·J·B is alone among vacuum coffee packers in owning its own factory. It puts savings on tins into better quality coffee.

M·J·B scientifically blends and roasts the world's best coffees. The invention of a superior easy-opening key-type can with a special snug-fitting cover insures better PROTECTION of this fine, fresh flavor.

FLAVOR is everything in coffee. 50 years of coffee specialization developed the rarer, richer flavor of M·J·B. This permits using less of M·J·B than of ordinary coffees.

Wichita County Federation To Be Perfected Thursday

Many reservations are being made for the luncheon with the writers department that will follow the organization of the County Federation at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday. Mrs. Glover C. Johnson will preside until the organization is perfected and the program has been announced.

Mrs. S. L. Denny of Iowa Park will give the invocation and Mrs. Newton Maer, president of the forum, will extend greetings, after which the organization will be effected. Miss Katherine Kilander will then give a piano number and county federation representatives will give greetings as follows: Wilbarger county federation, Miss Robbie Castleberry; Jack county federation, Mrs. E. C. Richards; Clay county federation, Mrs. A. S. Hodges.

Mrs. Walter Coffield of Bowie, first district chairman of county federations will give greetings and Mrs. Ben G. Oneal will extend greetings from the first district federation of which she is president.

Mesdames C. Y. Tully and Walter Priddy will give a duet after which Miss Ethel Louise Webb, county demonstration agent, will make a short talk. Following her, Miss Mildred Horton, state demonstration agent, will address the group.

The meeting will be adjourned for luncheon which will be sharply at 12 o'clock and in the dining room, greetings will be given by John Boswell, general manager of the chamber of commerce. Through his courtesy, out-of-town members will be guests of the chamber of commerce.

The federation is open to all women of Wichita county whether they are federated club women or wish to be members at large. Reservations for the 50-cent luncheon may be made with Mrs. Harry Cravens, telephone 4779.

Mrs. Franklin Hostess To Culture Club

Members of the Culture club met with Mrs. Louis Franklin Tuesday in the opening meeting of their season. In a short business session the name was shortened from "Bi-Monthly Culture club" to "Culture club." Mrs. Harry Von-derau was voted in as a new member.

The roll call was answered with "Glimpses of India" leading to the book reviews given on the program. Mrs. Louis Franklin gave a splendid review of Katherine Mayo's "Mother India," and Mrs. J. W. Ginsburg answered with a review of Mukerji's "A Son of Mother India Answers," given in concise and very interesting style.

Members present were Mesdames Sam Egger, J. Emeld, Louis Franklin, J. W. Ginsburg, Leo Goldstucker, M. Katz, M. Shain, S. J. Schwab and D. Stone.

Grace Home Mission Meets With Mrs. Swarts

Mrs. W. W. Swarts was hostess to the Woman's Home Missionary society of Grace Methodist church Monday at her home on Tenth street with Mesdames Gaylord Swarts, J. E. Handy and Mary Mayo assistant hostesses.

Mrs. D. A. Allen led the devotional and an interesting leaflet, "The Caribbean Cruise" was read by Mrs. W. L. Dalton, telling of the splendid work being done in the San Domingo hospital work. Mrs. A. L. Thornberry read a leaflet on prohibition.

The lesson for the day, the first and second chapters from the new mission text book "Trailing the Conquistadores" was given by Mrs. T. G. Fletcher and Mrs. B. L. Bryans sang "I Love a Little Cottage," with Mrs. Fletcher at the piano. Mrs. W. W. Roberts dismissed with prayer.

Delightful refreshments were served to Mesdames L. E. Miller, G. W. Lobaugh, T. G. Fletcher, W. H. Bachman, W. L. Dalton, G. W. Corkhill, J. E. Handy, A. L. Thornberry, C. B. Corlett, M. E. Wants All the World to Know

"About ten years ago I got so weak and rundown that I felt miserable all over. One day my husband said, 'Why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' When I had taken two bottles I felt better so I kept on. My little daughter was born when I had been married twelve years. Even my doctor said, 'It's wonderful stuff.' You may publish this letter for I want all the world to know how this medicine has helped me."—Mrs. Horten Jones, 208 48th Street, Union City, N. J.

TEXAS DRILLING GAINS IN WEEK

Panhandle and Wichita Areas Show Activity

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14. (AP)—Despite a decided suppression of new drilling operations in the Permian basin of West Texas, three other areas in West Texas staged increases or held even and boosted the number of tests for oil started last week to 56, compared with 53 during the previous week.

The Permian basin tallied only three of the first reports last week, compared to nine from the district the previous week. All three locations were in Pecos county.

Continued activity in Gray county and increases in Carson and Hutchinson counties spurred the Panhandle to a new high level for the past six weeks with 14 locations, compared to 10 in the area the previous week.

Archer and Young counties, in the Wichita Falls section, which is having a hard time disposing of much new production, increased the number of new operations started last week to 20, compared to 15 the previous week.

Central West Texas reported 19 new locations, the exact number that was scored in the district a week ago.

Seventy per cent of San Quentin, Calif., prison inmates have been awarded diplomas in vocational courses.

Pabst Brewery Expends Million Anticipating Dry Repeal

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 14. (INS)—Fred Pabst Sr., president of the Pabst Brewing company, today confirmed a report that nearly one million dollars worth of brewing equipment is being installed in his firm's plant here in anticipation of modification of the Volstead act in the near future.

The equipment, installed in a building unused since prohibition, will be ready for production of legalized beer on short notice, Pabst said.

Government Rests Case Against Houston Jeweler

HOUSTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—The government rested today against David Meyer Schlesinger, former Houston jeweler, on trial in federal district court on charges of concealing assets after bankruptcy and giving a false affidavit. The defense immediately offered a group of character witnesses before going into its main case.

The indictments returned against Schlesinger last spring at Laredo, charged he concealed $30,000 assets, a diamond ring valued at $4,000 and gave a false affidavit in connection with bankruptcy proceedings instituted against him in January, 1928. Schlesinger has pleaded not guilty.

BUYING POWER DOES IT

Be sure
when you buy sanitary pads
specify Kotex

No sanitary pad can give you the same wonderful absorbency, perfect fit and lasting softness.

KOTEX IS SOFT...
1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
3—Deodorizes, safely, thoroughly, by a special process.
4—Disposable, instantly, completely.
Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

TAKE no unnecessary chances in this important matter of sanitary protection—specify Kotex.

Kotex—first of all sanitary pads—remains best of all sanitary pads. Every month, every year, scientists add details to perfect its comfort, to give you the feeling of being well groomed, at ease; to offer you inconspicuous protection.

First, its amazing absorbency

The absorbent of which Kotex is made—Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding—is unique. It is five times more absorbent than surgical cotton, by actual test. Five times more lasting for that very reason.

Kotex is guaranteed to last longer, to stay soft longer than any other sanitary pad.

Hospitals use it

Do you know that 85% of our leading hospitals use Kotex absorbent today? Yes, they specify Kotex, they insist on Kotex absorbent in cases where the utmost safety and delicacy are necessary. Never is safety more vital, never is comfort more essential. Specify "Kotex." Accept nothing else.

Kotex Company, Chicago.

The NEW KOTEX BELT
brings new ideals of sanitary comfort! Woven to fit, on an entirely new patented principle. Firm yet light; will not curl; perfect-fitting.

Ford's Latest Theory Urges "Love of Toil"
A Scientific Holiday
The Fate of the R-101

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Reasons for the slump in industry have been many, but perhaps the least plausible is the one advanced by Mr. Ford, who puts the whole blame on "our era of laziness." Speaking in Cologne, Germany, he predicts renewed prosperity just as soon as the world returns to its "love of toil." He thinks the recent Wall street crash was a good thing because it will make men start working again.

As a matter of fact, of the tens of millions unemployed all over the world less than one-half of one per cent may be classed among the habitual or seasonal "idlers." The vast majority have always relished work and are today clamorous for it. The proof is that, for want of work, the proletariat in many countries is restive for a change of government.

G. K. Chesterton, England's prime paradoxist, declares for a scientific holiday, so that man may rest and take stock of what he has recently piled up in the way of machines.

This scientific holiday will come as a matter of course. There is no fear that it will endure. No period characterized by great enterprise, output, intellectual, or industrial awakening outlasted a generation. The golden age in Greece, the empire-building genius of Rome, the renaissance in Italy, the industrial revolution in England, the kulturkampf in Germany, all had their day and passed.

We should place no obstacles in the path of the fury of creative energy. It is the divine force and will spend itself soon enough. There never can be such a thing as "too much genius." The world always suffers from want of it.

The tragic fate of the R-101, world's largest airship, which exploded and crashed to earth in France, killing 46, is the greatest setback to the advancement of aviation that has yet occurred. Thousands of persons, commencing to get "air-minded," will give way again to their old instinctive fears of flying, and will decide that, after all, terra firma conveyances are the best mode of travel. This is unfortunate, but inevitable.

The disaster is ascribed to high winds, which also destroyed the Shenandoah and the Italian dirigible Italia. That means that chance still plays the title role in the destinies of air passengers. No power has yet been discovered to control the direction of the winds or their velocity in the upper air. And until such a power is discovered, everyone who goes up in the clouds takes his life into his hands.

New Immigrants Of Higher Type

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—A higher type of prospective citizen is entering the American melting pot today than under the system of immigration selection used up to the present.

Without any change in the immigration laws, American consuls abroad within a few days have changed completely the type of those coming to this country with the intention of becoming naturalized.

In an effort to relieve unemployment by reducing the number of ill-equipped immigrants, American consular officers from all parts of Europe met in three separate cities recently to discuss a more rigid application of the law permitting consuls to refuse visas to prospective immigrants who in their opinion might become public charges.

Students in Llano, Texas, schools must commit to memory "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America" to receive credits for their school work.

"Ther might be some trouble about a pianner, but no apartment wuz ever too dinky to accommodate all the love an' contentment o' the usual family. If you want to be absolutely safe an' not take any chances in gittin' on the sucker list, just buy a home.

Judging from the time they had at the Boston convention, the legionnaires are apparently able to distinguish now between reveille and revelry.

That investigation to determine who is responsible for depressing stock prices is resolving itself largely into a bear hunt.

The Revival of the Inn

IN THE old days, when people who had some traveling to do climbed into enormous, slow-moving stage coaches and moved along with genteel grandeur, the roadsides were dotted with inns and taverns, which provided food, shelter and a picturesque and enticing charm. Then the railroads came, people got to their journeys' end in quicker style, and the inn went the way of all out-moded institutions. But now it seems to be coming back.

Old institutions are seldom restored just as they were, however, and the roadside inn is no exception. It is returning to us in a form that is convenient and often very comfortable, but never in the least picturesque. Its signboard, instead of being a gaily painted boar's head or a swaggering pirate, is a neatly lettered "Tourists' Rooms"; and the inn itself is either a private home with one or two rooms set aside for wayfarers, or an incredibly cheap, dingy and repellent roadhouse plastered with tin advertisements of chewing gum, cigarets and soft drinks.

All of this is rather a disappointment. The development of the automobile has put travelers back on the open road once more, in a manner quite as pleasant—once you get used to it—as the legendary stage coach; but the overnight accommodations offered now are literally less attractive than those of a century ago.

Probably this is chiefly because the automobile is still such a comparatively new development. Cross country touring on a really large scale is only a few years old. Right now we are using such makeshift accommodations as could be devised on the spur of the moment. Ten years hence, probably, things will be different.

When the change does come, the American motorist will very likely change his habits. Right now he generally tries to get where he is going as quickly as possible, no matter how much time he has at his disposal. He tears along through beautiful country at 50 miles an hour, wearing himself out and tossing lovely landscapes over his shoulder without giving them a glance. Why? Because of some innate restlessness? Possibly; but isn't it more likely that the real reason is the lack of any good inducements for him to moderate his pace?

Once fix things so that he will encounter, every dozen miles, a really attractive stopping place, pleasant to look at, restful to enter and equipped with good food and moderate price lists, and the motorist will stop being a speed demon. He will take his time, see more of the country he traverses, rest his nerves and enjoy himself much more than he does now. Leisure, in the old sense, will come back.

This may be a long way off, but it is coming. The present period is a time for transition.

An "Odd Jobs" Campaign

THERE are two ways of meeting any sort of misfortune. One is to sit down and call on the world to witness that you are being foully treated. The other is to roll up your sleeves and go out and do something to make things better.

As far as the present economic depression goes, the first method seems to be more popular with most of us. We read and hear of men who are close to starvation because they can't get work, and we shake our heads and feel sorry for them—and let it go at that.

There are exceptions, however. In Racine, Wis., the citizens decided to adopt the second course; and they have gone to work so effectively that their action deserves to be broadcast over the nation so that other cities can copy it.

An intelligent columnist named Tex Reynolds, who writes for the Racine Times-Call, got the idea that a bit of a job, no matter how paltry, does a jobless man a lot more good than a lot of public wailing. With the aid of his paper he launched what you might call an odd job campaign, urging everyone in Racine who possibly could to find, or invent, some sort of odd job that some unemployed workman could fill.

Business and civic leaders fell in line enthusiastically. The unemployed men were enrolled, so that people could see just how many men needed work. Citizens who had regular jobs looked around for chances to hire men. Some engaged men to clean their furnaces. Others found they could pay a couple of dollars to have ashes hauled away and rubbish removed. Others found other small jobs. All in all, a good many men were given work that they needed very badly, and a good many flat pocketbooks got a little much-needed stuffing.

Now the important thing about all of this is that it is the sort of measure that any city or town can take. It is adapted to the biggest city in the country and to the smallest. It does not need a lot of wealthy people to make it a success. The man of modest means can take an important part in it.

Some of the jobs obtained in this manner prove permanent. Most of them last only a day or a week. But in either case they are extremely valuable to the men who get them. A five-dollar bill looks pretty big to man who hasn't worked since May. And it's a lot better for him to get it by earning it than by having some charitable organization hand it to him.

It is hard to overestimate the gain that might be made if every city and town should put on a similar campaign. A great deal of misery and suffering could be averted and a real stride toward better, more active business could be made. Why not give it a try? These Racine people have an idea that deserves copying.

Discipline, Then and Now

WHETHER or not the world is growing better, it is at least growing a little less brutal. Brief news items in nearly any newspaper will prove that.

The other day, for instance, a dispatch told of some insubordination on a British battleship. The skipper was a firm disciplinarian, and the crew resented it; so three or four score bluejackets went A. W. O. L. one night and had a gay time on shore. Taken back aboard ship by the patrols, they are now awaiting courtmartial.

These sailors will be punished, of course—probably by the loss of privileges and by fines. But a century ago, in the British navy or any other, what would have happened? Their ring-leaders would have been hanged and the rest would have been flogged until they were fit for the hospital. That was the universal idea of the way to maintain naval discipline 100 years ago.

The modern age, with all its faults, isn't quite as rough as the age of our great-grandfathers.

HEARTBREAK GIRL

By ROB EDEN . . .

Nick Walther, wealthy young Hollywood real estate man, mistakes Gail Stuart for a boy as she hikes along the road, and doesn't discover his error until he has taken her to his home. She tells him of her film ambitions. Impressed by her earnestness, he hires Ted Janson, press agent, to arrange a test for her. He buys her some good clothes and puts her up at Hotel Roosevelt. She is panic stricken to learn the cost of the room. She has only $50 cash. She meets Ross Hardy, handsome young movie extra, who tells her some of the heartaches of Hollywood. Gail, almost dying from nervousness, is given a test at the Werber studios. Hardy takes her to dinner. Over the table he pledges himself to help her if he gets the first "break" and she agrees to help him if she succeeds first.

CHAPTER VII

Ten o'clock. Eleven o'clock. Twelve o'clock. The hours went by leadenly to the girl sitting in the big chair, watching the clock on the table before her.

Tod Janson hadn't called yet. Every minute that morning she had expected the phone to ring.

At half past twelve, she arose and put on the red velvet coat. Her hat she already wore. Slowly she prepared to leave the room, hesitating now and then to look at the phone in her anxiety. It wouldn't hurt to go to Tod's office, and wait there. Easier than sitting here. But he might be out to lunch now. Perhaps she had better try to eat something, too.

But when she went into a drug store, and ordered a sandwich at the counter, she couldn't eat it. Instead she gulped down a cup of steaming hot coffee.

One o'clock. Mr. Janson would be in by now. But when she reached his office, he was still out to lunch and his stenographer bade her wait.

"Did Mr. Janson leave word for me? Miss Stuart is the name." Gail asked feverishly, as she settled down in a chair, and picked up the same magazine she had looked at yesterday.

"No. He was in this morning, only for a few minutes," the girl answered. She felt sorry for Miss Stuart. She always felt sorry for girls who were awaiting the results of screen tests. They were the same, all of them, nervous, as if their whole future depended on the test.

"Biggest in Hollywood"

The phone rang and she answered it. Gail heard the conversation.

"Tell Miss Cross that Mr. Janson hasn't come in yet."

"Was that Carla Cross?" Gail asked breathlessly.

"Miss Cross' secretary. Mr. Janson handles her account."

"What account?" Gail felt suddenly very dumb.

"Her publicity. He has a lot of big stars. The biggest in Hollywood." The stenographer returned to the letter she was writing on the typewriter.

Tod Janson wrote publicity for Carla Cross, too!

He assumed much more prestige in Gail's eyes then.

At 2 o'clock, she asked the stenographer whether Mr. Janson usually took so long for lunch.

"His hours aren't regular, Miss Stuart. He comes and goes when he pleases. Half the time I don't know where to find him myself. I'm sorry—"

Then he came in, and Gail rose to her feet. What if he didn't know yet? What if he still had to phone the studio?

"You here, Miss Stuart?" he looked mildly surprised when he saw her.

"I thought I'd like to know about the test—"

"I have some phoning to do, then I'll see you." With that he went into his private office, and closed the door behind him. Gail stifled her disappointment and subsided back to her chair. His face had told her nothing. It was expressionless. He couldn't know—and not tell her the first thing. That was what the matter was. He had to phone the studio—

"You just don't photograph well, that's all. Before the camera you haven't personality."

His eyes never left his desk. He was phoning now—faintly she could hear his rasping voice, but could make out nothing he was saying. Phoning the studio. Gail was so sure, she strained her ears, but still could distinguish nothing of the conversation.

"You're worried, aren't you?" The stenographer asked pityingly.

Gail nodded. "I made a screen test yesterday, and Mr. Janson—"

"I know."

Horrible Agony

Gail was glad of the girl's sympathy. She tried to fight back her tears but one of them rolled down her cheek, and she wiped it away furtively with her handkerchief.

The door into Janson's private office was opening and he was beckoning her. Her knees were shaking as she went forward. Janson closed the door after her and sat down at his desk, motioning her into a chair.

"Did you find out—" she breathed.

"I did, Miss Stuart."

Why didn't he tell her? Why did he keep her in this horrible agony? Her hands twisted in her lap.

"I'm afraid it's all up, Miss Stuart."

"All up?" She didn't understand, couldn't.

"Yes, you don't screen well—"

"You mean—there's no chance?"

"Yes. I'm sorry, for I imagine you feel rather badly about it . . ." he was trying to be kind, but he didn't know how. He saw her eyes, violet, deep, on him, saw them flash with pain, as if she had been struck. Saw her lips quiver, reacting to the pain. She was taking it hard.

"Tell me—" he could not hear the words, but saw her lips make them.

"You just don't photograph well. That's all. You're pretty and all that. But before a camera you haven't a personality. Some girls who aren't pretty at all, who have not a vestige of beauty, before the camera look like goddesses. For the camera is a peculiar thing. You never know until you're photographed. Screen personality is the big thing, and you haven't it. I don't mean you haven't any personality, you have—but you haven't screen 'it.' Do you see what I mean?

"The test was made by a fine camera man, one of the best in Hollywood. He did his best, but you didn't react." He stopped, and drew his watch from his pocket.

"There isn't any hope?"

"I'd forget any screen ambitions you have, Miss Stuart. Werber's is the biggest studio in Hollywood. If you can't get by there, you can't get by any place. Your acting was good regardless of the fact that you were nervous, and your voice was not bad. Rather good, in fact. But Miles at Werber's told me this morning there wasn't a chance for you there. I stopped in on my way from home and looked over your test."

"It can't be true—"

"It is, Miss Stuart." He was getting a little impatient. He had an appointment very soon, and the girl wouldn't believe what he had told her.

"But you don't know—" of course he couldn't know what she had dreamed for years. He couldn't know the hardships on the way from Fairview.

He couldn't know the plans she had made so secretly—

"Couldn't I have another test?" She begged desperately.

"Werber's wouldn't give you one. Besides the one you had was made by a fine cameraman, as I've told you—"

Gail interrupted quickly. "But I could find a job extraing—"

"Good Bye—"

"Up to you, young lady. I don't handle extras." His voice was edged, and sarcastic. "My advice is to leave the screen alone, and take up stenography, or something."

"Mr. Walther—"

"Don't worry about Mr. Walther. He has plenty of money, and besides it was only a shot in the dark."

"But he lent me the money—"

"Forget it. He has enough so that a little less doesn't worry him. I've an appointment soon so you'd better go."

Gail got up unsteadily. The room had started to swim around. She was dizzy as she made her way to the door.

"Thanks—" she managed to murmur shakily, as she felt blindly for the knob.

"Quite all right. Good bye."

In the outer office the stenographer was looking at her curiously.

"How did it come out?"

"The test was—no—good—" Gail could hardly say the words. She didn't want to talk. She wanted to be alone. Wanted to cry her heart out. For the first time since she had been in Hollywood, she wanted Aunt Margaret. Her cool, unuttered sympathy.

"Too bad."

Then she was out in the hall by herself. No not by herself. She had to hold in her tears a while longer. A man was walking behind her to the elevator. Because she couldn't trust herself in the car, she sought the stairs, and walked down seven floors to the street.

How she got to the hotel she did not know. Suddenly she found herself there in the lobby, dragging her feet over the soft rugs seeking the elevator. Ross would be disappointed. She wanted him now—terribly. He would be sorry. Tell her so. To hear this alone—

Numb With Pain

When she got to her room, she called his rooming house, but he was out. Numb with pain she sat down to cry, but the tears wouldn't come. Her eyes were hot, and burning.

No hope. None at all.

It was an hour later when she realized that she would have to leave the hotel. She couldn't afford to stay longer. Reluctantly, she gathered her few things together and packed them. Her belongings seemed so pitifully small, even with the addition of the new outfit.

Five hundred dollars she owed Nick Walther. Five hundred dollars. It might be a long time before she paid him, but she must pay . . .

In the lobby, she asked for her bill, and stood waiting while the cashier was itemizing it.

The chambermaid—perhaps she had been wrong about the rent of the room. Perhaps it was more! Wild fears entered her mind, and at first she could not see the figures on the white slip of paper the clerk placed carelessly before her. Finally her eyes focused on them, and she breathed a sigh of relief. She had enough money to pay. Counting out the bills, she left them on the desk, and started out the door.

Ten dollars of her capital was all that remained to her. Ten dollar bills.

She was alone—

Tomorrow—Gail seeks Carla Cross.

The Record News Offers Booklet on the Handy Letter Writer

Here is what a teacher says of the new booklet now available to readers of The Record News:

"Upon receipt of your Handy Letter Writer this morning I am inspired to spread the glad news to several young students in whom I am interested and who, in spite of their being about to graduate from the college of business and administration, do not seem to be equipped to write even their letters of application in their quest for a position, and come to me for assistance. Please mail copies to the enclosed addresses. It is a splendid little book and will be a great aid to me also, even though I have spent many years of my life in writing letters of one kind or another."

Ten cents to cover cost, handling, and postage will bring a copy of this booklet to any address. Use this coupon:

Chain Store Competition Good For Independent, Kerr Says in Talk

J. E. Homer Kerr, field representative of the United Commercial Travelers association, addressed a special meeting of manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers, retailers and salesmen on "Teamwork in Business" at the Kemp hotel Tuesday night.

Mr. Kerr pointed out the necessity of co-operation of each agency in obtaining the highest degree of efficient distribution, explaining that in order to attain the greatest volume of sales, each division of the marketing process must concentrate effort to the ultimate purchaser, the consumer.

Constant Change

"Business in America will not run long on a single groove," Mr. Kerr said. "It is constantly changing and new ideas of manufacture and marketing are being put into use every day. The business of yesterday is ante-dated by modern methods and the business of today will soon be replaced by more efficient methods. Within the past few years especially has there been an upheaval in marketing methods. The chain store has come in and has caused a great furor among independent dealers, many of whom speak of the necessity of legislation to control the invasion. But the Advent of the chain store in business is the best thing that could have happened to the independent merchant. It will bring him to the realization that he must operate his business by modern standards.

"The independent has been asleep in his marketing methods but his competition with chain stores the past few years is causing him to wake up and to operate his business with the same efficiency that his competitors use. When the first department stores years ago were established there was a great hue and cry against the new method, but now it is commonplace and has taken a permanent place in business and is actually an asset to other dealers; so will the chain store take its place in business today. When independent distributors wake up to the fact that the consumer demands better service, these competitors will act as a balance against each other and business will be better generally.

Advertising Urged

"It is the duty of the manufacturer and the wholesaler to assist the retailer to create a larger market by causing him to give a better service to his consumers. To do this representatives of manufacturers and wholesalers must realize that they must be 'service men' rather than 'salesmen,' when in fact they are not salesmen."

The speaker also pointed out the necessity of eliminating unscrupulous business practices, of advertising and display and of making close contact with the retailer and his problems.

Investigation Identifies Woman Who Returned Lost Purse

Investigations Tuesday disclosed that the woman who was so tireless in her efforts to return a bill fold lost by Mrs. Stanley Raub last week was Mrs. Gus Gragnani of Electra.

Mrs. Gragnani found the fold, containing a $5 bill on the day it was lost. When her first efforts to reach the owner failed she made a special trip to Wichita Falls Monday in order to restore the lost property, declining to accept a reward.

Burns Fatal To Haskell Youth

Special to The Record News

HASKELL, Texas, Oct. 14.—Funeral services were held here today for Cecil Turnbow, 13, who died Monday from burns he received at the Tompkins ranch 10 days ago. The services were held from the Haskell Baptist church and the interment was in Haskell cemetery.

The boy was burned when he and Lesley Cox were draining gasoline from an automobile. Working in the dark, Cox held a container to receive the gasoline while Turnbow struck matches for light. Cox's clothing became ignited and he tossed the can aside. The gasoline spilled on Turnbow and his clothes were enveloped in flames.

The victim was the son of J. C. Turnbow, former Haskell county sheriff.

DALLAS MEDICS SPEAK HERE

Society Hears Addresses by Visitors

Forty members of the Wichita County Medical association Tuesday night heard Dr. Curtiss Rosser and Dr. Julius McIver, both of Dallas, guest speakers for the regular monthly meeting at the Wichita club.

Dr. Rosser, whose lecture was illustrated with lantern slides, discussed the development of cancer from benign rectal lesions, proving that the dread disease may grow out of fissures, hemmorrhoids, and other simple lesions. The discussion which followed was led by Dr. L. B. Holland, Dr. A. D. Patillo and Dr. D. Meredith.

Dr. McIver lectured on the toxemia of pregnancy, followed by discussions from Dr. W. L. Parker, Dr. Hines Clark of Crowell and Dr. Dr. J. F. Kanatzer.

In a paper on the treatment of pernicious anemia, Dr. C. W. Stevenson discussed the effects of the recently discovered ventriculin, made from the ground stomach of pigs. Under this treatment the blood count of patients has been restored to normal and life has been indefinitely prolonged, the physician said.

In the business session, members heard the plans of the educational committee for a public health campaign, urging an annual physical examination to prevent illness, newspaper advertising and a 10-week's program of radio talks are included in the plans. The committee includes Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, Dr. G. T. Singleton and Dr. W. L. Parker.

The applications of Dr. Lewis M. Gore, Holliday, and Dr. G. D. M. Lambdin, Electra, were received.

A banquet at the club preceded the business session.

Wilbur to Keep Post In Hoover's Cabinet

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14. (AP)—President Hoover announced today that Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, would remain in this position and that Leland Stanford university would extend his leave of absence as president as long as is necessary.

Commenting on a statement in the Stanford Daily, a college publication, that the board of trustees of the institution had decided to request the secretary to return to his duties as president or resign to permit the naming of a successor, the president said Dr. Wilbur was too valuable a man to lose out of the government service.

"As one of the trustees of Leland Stanford," the president added, "I can speak with more authority than a student publication."

«A CROSS-SECTION OF CURRENT CONVERSATIONS IN CONOCOLAND»

"LET ME TELL YOU: I CAN NOTICE A REAL DIFFERENCE SINCE I STARTED USING THIS GERM-PROCESSED OIL"

. . . and so it goes. At home, on the golf course, around the bridge table, people are talking about the new CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil. Their comments are invariably friendly, and should you take a stand on some other lubricant, you will soon find a tinge of evangelism in the arguments that face you. For how can the use of any other oil be justified?

Conoco Germ-Processed oil is the first really new oil of this century. The first oil conceived to overcome the failings of all mineral oils. The first regular stock motor oil, under the Supervision of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, to prove its superiority in the Pike's Peak Tests against three other nationally known oils. And again, in the Indianapolis and Altoona Races first to "place" in the money where no other stock oil had previously placed, at speeds of from 92 to 120 miles per hour . . . and the only motor lubricant that provides "penetrative lubricity" for your motor.

Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil will serve you better, protect your motor more surely, and save you money withal. So why use a feebler lubricant, when this test-proven, sturdiest of all motor oils awaits you . . . at the Sign of the Red Triangle?

CONTEST BOARD AAA CERTIFIED TEST

Following the Pike's Peak Tests, where Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil was tested side by side with three other popular, nationally known oils, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association issued Certificate of Performance number 2268, comprising 14 points, of which the point below is one.

POINT NO. 6

"That using the subject oil and during each test, greater gasoline mileage for economy was obtained than during the use of the comparables."

DEFICIENCY DISEASES (Contd.)

Pellagra

Pellagra is undoubtedly a nutritional disease because like all of the nutritional diseases it seems to be caused by a lack of important elements in the food. Pellagra is often found in the southern states and in the southern part of Europe and follows a restricted diet of using too much devitalized food and not enough meat or other protein. The diet is the most important thing to consider in the cure.

The symptoms usually begin in the winter when there is a smaller variety of food to choose from. The first symptoms are a slight nervous and digestive disturbance, followed in the spring by sore mouth, heart burn and diarrhea. The portion of the skin exposed to the sun shows a sharply defined inflammation after which the patient shows marked mental and nervous changes, even insanity. In chronic cases the patient may have a recurring attack each spring, becoming worse every year. It seems that a toxic absorption from the lower bowel is a secondary cause, and a cure rests upon a thorough bodily housecleaning program.

The best diet seems to be an occasional acid fruit fast of from four to five days at intervals of a month apart, followed by a well balanced diet as suggested in my weekly menus found in this paper. It is especially important that plenty of meat or other protein foods be obtained. The use of these menus will usually be sufficient to correct the trouble after the fruit fast.

Beri Beri

The Chinese are a very old race, and yet one of their first medical histories deals with beri beri, a disease which is now known to be due to a lack of vitamin B. The first suspicion that this disease was due to the lack of some unknown food substance began when it was found that those who lived exclusively on polished rice developed this disease, while those who used unpolished rice did not develop it. It was found that beri beri could be prevented either by eating whole rice or by eating polished rice and with it some of the polishings.

The patient affected with beri beri has a pronounced weakness of the legs and great fatigue upon exertion. The stomach becomes tender, and the muscles of the calves, hand and forearm usually ache. As the disease progresses, the arms and legs may become paralyzed. Some swelling or edema usually accompanies the trouble. Neuritis becomes well developed and there may be much gastric disturbance.

When the white or polished rice is fed to chickens they show similar symptoms of weakness of the legs, followed by paralysis, symptoms which closely resemble those of beri beri.

It is said that those who live on such devitalized foods as: Polished rice, sago, peeled boiled potatoes, corn grit, macaroni, white flour, sugar and lard, will develop this disease if they do not have some of the foods containing vitamin B in their diet. This vitamin is present in yeast, the germ of wheat, green leaves, avocados, and the growing parts of vegetables, cabbages, spinach, carrots, nuts, and glandular meats. Care should be used in cooking these foods, as the vitamins may be destroyed by excessive salt or soda.

It has been noticed that children nursed by beri beric mothers may develop the disease, another indication of how important it is that the nursing mother receive a proper and well balanced diet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Head Shakes

Question—J. K. asks: "What causes the head to shake violently from side to side when one gets nervous? What is the cure for this condition?"

Answer—The head-shaking is due to a form of palsy and comes from a degeneracy of the nerves. The cure is to improve your health by hygienic measures and to remove every mental or physical cause which may produce nervousness.

Raw Carrots

Question—Mrs. J. L. L. asks: "Will you please tell me what benefit I will receive from eating a dishful of raw carrots every day?"

Answer—The raw carrot is an excellent salad vegetable containing several of the most important organic salts and vitamins. It makes an excellent remedy for improving bad, pimply complexions.

The Milk Diet

Question—E. W. R. asks: "Do you recommend the milk diet as a cure for chronic ailments?"

Answer—I often recommend the milk diet in certain chronic diseases, but the milk must be taken very carefully and in limited quantities. Three or four quarts a day are usually sufficient, and the patient can seldom take six or seven quarts, as recommended by most milk sanitariums, without bad consequences to the liver and gall bladder following the milk diet. It is true, you can put on a large amount of weight with the milk diet, but this weight is of very little value to you, as it is only fatty weight, and after a course of the milk diet is completed you will always find that you feel weaker because of this accumulated fat. In stomach ulcers, gastritis and certain diseases of the alimentary canal, the milk diet is very valuable if taken in limited quantities, as I have suggested.

Boxer Blames Baby For Losing Wife's $3,500

NEWKIRK, Okla., Oct. 14. (UP)—The baby's to blame, was the explanation Eddie Murdock, Denver boxer, gave Kay county officers who arrested him yesterday on complaint of his manager's wife Mrs. Joe Roth.

Mrs. Roth accused Murdock of taking her purse ecutaining $3,500 worth of jewels while on an auto trip from Wichita, Kan.

Officers refused to believe Murdock's contention his young son threw the purse accidentally from the car.

He was released, however, when a truck driver gave the purse to police, saying he found it along the highway.

Cotton Acreage Cut Left to Farm Board

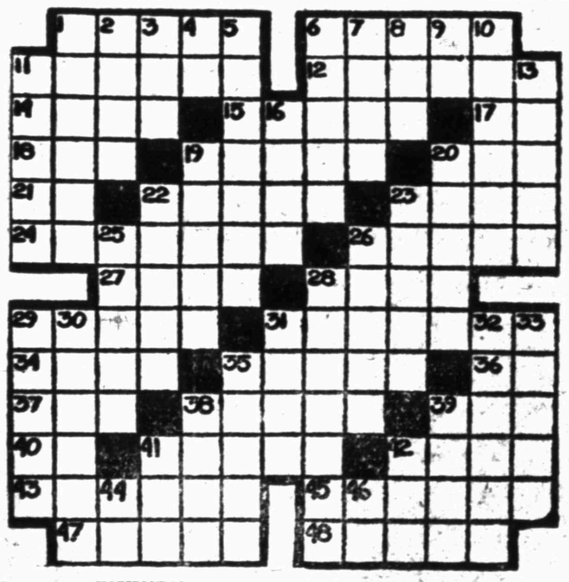

ST. MATHEWS, S. C., Oct. 14. (UP)—J. S. Wannamaker, president of the American Cotton association, announced today he had withdrawn his call for a meeting in New Orleans Nov. 4 to inaugurate a cotton acreage reduction program, and would cooperate with the federal farm board.

He said the American Cotton association "will join forces with the farm board and all other agencies working in unison to secure as drastic a reduction in the cotton acreage for 1931 as possible."

BASSET ELECTED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 14. (UP)—State charities and corrections Commissioner Mabel Bassett has been re-elected vice president of the American prison association, word received here today said.

QUANAH COACH PROMISES COYOTES WILL GET REAL BATTLE

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Southwest conference teams haven't tried a field goal in ages, but Fordham college defeated Boston college at Boston in such a manner the other day.

Before 25,000 spectators, news stories said, the Fordhams, in the last period, called for the play. Johnny Bartos, substitute quarterback, drop-kicked from the 20-yard line on the fourth down, and made it, breaking a scoreless tie and winning the game, 3 to 0.

That must have been a thrilling game. Some of our conference teams ought to try the field goal. There is no more thrilling play in football.

Howard Fitzgerald will be back with the Spudders next year. This much was learned definitely yesterday from Prexy Bill Huff.

They just can't quit the old game, boys. When the play-off was over and done, Howard said he was through. "I'm going to find a good job and settle down," said the league's most picturesque center fielder.

And so we sport writers stuck our tongues in cheek and wrote what Howard said. Most of us knew he'd be back.

And then Tuesday Prexy Huff got a letter from Howard. He wanted to know "what the chances are" for him to return next spring. He also said he was getting along fine, had a good job and everything.

Well, the chances of Howard landing a job with the Spudders next year are about 100 per cent in his favor, as you well knew, and so we can go another year without nervous chills when an opposing player knocks a high one to center.

All I know today is baseball chatter. Here's another item: The draft dates for class A clubs are Oct. 27, 28 and 29. You may have known that already. But the news is that our Spudder prexy is going to draft "two or three" players on Oct. 27. They will be, of course, men from lower than A classification. Prexy Huff said he has had his eyes on the players in question, and he thinks they will make pretty good prospects. He could not, of course, tell us who the players are, or what positions they play, or what league he will draft them from. Those things are baseball secrets. But we will know soon enough.

As for the rest of the 1931 squad, the Spudder powers will have to wait until the winter meeting of baseball officials and buy 'em.

In spite of the football season, hundreds of us are wondering about the prospects of the Spudders next year, and wondering, in particular, about the managerial post.

Will Carl Williams be back?

No one knows, including Prexy Huff.

The latter said he has not written Carl, and that Carl has not written club officials here. The rumor is that Carl won't be back, but Prexy Huff won't confirm the rumor.

"I haven't even given the matter a thought," said the president. "This is the football season, and I'm the kind of bird that takes interest in all of the sports. I've been worrying about these football games more than I have about baseball. Let's forget baseball a while."

And then he went on to say he will attend the Texas-Oklahoma game at Dallas next Saturday, and that he's going down to Waco next month to see a Baylor game. Baylor is the president's alma mater.

Well, Mr. President, if you would only tell us who our next manager is going to be we could all get a little more excited about football, because that problem would be off our mind.

The Coyote Managers

The Coyote team may be shot to pieces, but there are two "players" who are always in good shape.

They are the team managers, Dick Morrison and Billy Jenkins. Morrison bears the full title of manager, while Billy is his assistant. A player gets a bruise of some sort, and Dick or Billy get to work doctoring him up. They dish out the uniforms every day, and in addition act as physicians. They should get plenty to do these days when the majority of the players are calling for smelling salts along with their helmets.

Betty Carstairs to Try For Speed Boat Record

LONDON, Oct. 14. (AP)—Miss Betty Carstairs, noted British motor boat racer, says she will attempt to set a new world record on Lake Windermere some time in April.

The present record is held by the late Sir Henry Segrave, who also held world's records for automobiles.

Miss Carstairs has returned from America, where she tried unsuccessfully to lift the Harmsworth trophy for motor boat racing which was defended by Commodore Gar Wood, Detroit racer.

The present record of 98.7 miles an hour was set by Major Segrave just before his speeding boat hit a floating log and dived to the bottom, fatally injuring him.

Coyotes Start Drilling For Game Saturday

By FRED THOMPSON

"When the Coyotes come up here they won't have a walk-away."

Thus spoke Dan W. Stalworth, coach of the Quanah Indians, as he told us over long distance last night of his team's prospects in the forthcoming football battle between the Indians and the Coyotes at Quanah Saturday.

The Indians have dropped conference engagements to Childress, Amarillo and Vernon already this season, without a victory being to their credit, but this has not discouraged the team with regard to the Coyote battle, Coach Stalworth said, because neither has the Coyote team won a conference game out of two starts with Lubbock and Electra.

Indians Rested Up

The Indians, profiting by an idle week-end last week, are in fine shape for the game next Saturday, and the workouts delayed for a time on account of rain, were resumed Tuesday, when the squad put in a full afternoon of scrimmage, according to the coach.

No less than eight letter men will be pitted against the Coyotes Saturday, said the mentor. These include Captain Rudy Hall, quarterback; Jim Harrell, tackle; D. L. Norman, left end; J. D. Rogers, center; Shields, fullback; Lovell, halfback; O'Hair, guard; and Joe Ennis, tackle.

The team is not so heavy, averaging around 164-pounds, but the Quanah coach promised that every man would be giving the best in him when the invading Coyotes seek to cross their goal.

The team boasts a crafty signal-caller in Captain Hall, and capable ball luggers in Shields, Lovell and Faircloth, while in the line, Jim Harrell, Norman, Rogers, Hurst, O'Hair, Ennis and Braziel provide the punch. The above named, said Coach Stalworth, will be his starting lineup, unless changes are made at the last minute.

Workouts will continue today and Thursday, with a light session being in order Friday, the day before the game.

PACK SHOULD BE IN GOOD SHAPE SATURDAY

Things were more cheerful in the camp of the Coyotes Tuesday, with the boys showing unmistakable signs of recovery from the lashing of the last week-end. R. W. Parish and Lupe King, chief casualties in the Electra game last Saturday, were bearing down in the workout, King engaging in his regular pastime at center, while Parish divided his time between regular duty in the line and working out on the sidelines. Both came out of the Electra game considerably bunged up, but should be in good shape by Saturday, when the team tackles the Quanah Indians at Quanah.

Tuesday marked the beginning of intensive training for this game. Starting off by plugging a hole left vacant by the ineligibility of Malcolm Mauldin, right end, Coach Holton ran J. R. Holton in at this position, leaving it fairly clear that the burden of ball-carrying Saturday will be divided between Harlan Ray and Bennett Withrow, mainstays of the halfback division, and Johnny White, fullback. Little Danny Cox, of course, will be the signal caller, and will do his share of lugging the leather.

A lad by the name of Doer, B squad candidate, was given a workout in the backfield with the regular team Tuesday.

Prince Arrives To Take Place of Alp From Sunny Italy

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. (UP)—What with the Carnera hysteria subsiding it was about time a new colorful alien prize fighter came to the United States to meet the domestic ring talent. He arrived today and gave his name as Prince Salah el Din, address, Cairo.

The prince was chaperoned by Walter Friedman, fight manager, who introduced his protege to the reporters boarding the liner Leviathan down the bay.

"Boys," said Friedman, "meet the prince."

The boys saw a 205-pounder in a double-breasted blue serge suit, over which was draped a brown blanket. His highness also wore a turban.

"The prince," declared Friedman, whose knowledge of geography is only equaled by his erudition in history, "comes from a long line of Egyptian sultans. They were all rare fighters and were apt to put one on the button of anybody they disliked.

"This fellow is the same way. He likes to knock hell out of anybody he doesn't care for. Still, he ain't any crude barbarian. In fact, he was educated at Oxford."

"Hey," cut in Salah el Din, "I didn't go to Oxford. They learned me American at the American school in Cairo."

Back Plays Three Weeks With Broken Bone in Leg

NEENAH, Wis., Oct. 14. (AP)—Wilbert Jensen, veteran back on the local high school, played football here for three weeks with a broken leg.

Jensen was injured three weeks ago when another player fell upon him. At times in practice it was necessary to carry him from the field because of pain.

An X-ray was taken later that showed a clean fracture of the small bone in the leg. He will be out of the game for the balance of the season.

Sooners Given Even Chance Against Texas Longhorns

Indiana Defies Tradition in S. M. U. Game

DALLAS, Oct. 14. (AP)—Coach Pat Page's Indiana university gridmen will defy tradition Oct. 25 when they tackle the Southern Methodist university Mustangs here.

And their defiance, it appears, will be none too threatening. In the opening games of the season Notre Dame defeated S. M. U. only after the hardest kind of an uphill battle, while Ohio State turned a game with Indiana into a near rout, winning 23-0.

The Hoosiers will encounter a veteran team with almost unrivaled mastery of the overhead game, and also will be following in the wake of other visiting elevens that have come to grief trying to defeat the Methodists on their home field.

Even teams that were outstanding in their own sections have had no luck when they met the tricky Mustangs here.

Missouri, Drake, West Virginia Wesleyan, the Rolla, Mo., Miners and the Mississippi Aggies are among the teams that have found Southern Methodist unbeatable on the field at Dallas.

Coach Ray Morrison's machines have been beaten in the Southwest conference, but visiting teams always find them at their best.

The University of Missouri eleven in 1927 went down to defeat before the Mustangs by a score of 32 to 9 right in the midst of one of its best seasons in recent years.

The Indiana-Southern Methodist tussle will be a feature of the annual state fair of Texas and will serve to dedicate officially the fair association's new stadium, seating 45,000.

The 1929 S. M. U. machine, which finished second in the conference race, practically is intact.

Bruce Kattman, triple-threat backfield star, and Weldon Mason, a fleet versatile back, bear the brunt of the offense. Louie Long, a veteran end, is one of the best in the conference.

The Indiana team Pat Page brings here to try and do what other teams have failed to accomplish is made up mostly of last year's B-team and sophomores.

Indiana university travels down to Dallas Oct. 25 to tackle Southern Methodist university. Among some of the stars whom Saluski, halfback, and his mates must overcome are Kattman, triple threat back, and Long, veteran end of S. M. U.

ONE UPSET IN GOLF TOURNEY

Cup Team Player Beaten By Californian

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14. (AP)—Led by the defending champion, Glenna Collett and Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, medalist, favorites with one exception stroked their way to victories today in first round matches of the 1930 women's national amateur golf championship.

The upset saw Miss Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., member of this years international cup team, defeated by Mrs. Brent Potter of San Jose, Calif., two up. Mrs. Potter, a veteran campaigner, never has engaged in a major tournament before, but among her golfing souvenirs is a northern California title, while this year she reached the runnerup station in the state championship. She out-steadied her younger opponent throughout and was two up at the turn. Mrs. Potter had 41 for the first nine to 43 for Miss Quier.

Miss Collett, seeking her third successive title and fifth all-time championship, set an unbeatable pace to eliminate Mrs. Harry Grossman of Los Angeles, 6 and 4. The New York star, seasoned by long competition, snatched the first four holes before her rival could gain her bearings.

She was four up at the turn, posting a medal of 40, one over par, to 45 for Mrs. Grossman. She won the 10th with a birdie 4, lost the 11th, 5 to 4, and the 12th was halved in fives. Miss Collett clinched the match with a par 5 on the 13th and a birdie 5 on the 14th.

Medalist yesterday and national semi-finalist last year, Mrs. Hill advanced to the second round with a 4-3 victory over Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis., entrant. The outgoing stretch was a nip and tuck affair.

Young Priest to Teach Grid Game to Chinese

LATROBE, Pa., Oct. 14. (AP)—A 21-year-old priest of the Benedictine order is on his way to China, hoping to make the Chinese enthusiastic over American football once he is ensconced as a member of the faculty of Peking college.

He is Dom Nicholas Scoville, O. S. B., perfect of discipline in the preparatory school of St. Vincent's college and archabbey here since he was 12 years old.

The Chico, Calif., full size golf course has concrete greens with sand sprinkled over them.

Texas Aggies Gloomy Over Coming Grid Clash With T. C. U. Horned Toads

Special to The Record News

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 14.—Not at all pleased by the performance of his charges in their game with the Tulane Greenies at Dallas last Saturday when the invaders took the long end of a 19 to 9 score, Coach Matty Bell is driving the Texas Aggie gridsters at top speed in an effort to develop a smoother working aggregation than that of last week to greet the coming of the Horned Frogs. The game with the Texas Christian university team on Kyle field this week-end will be the first conference go of the season for the Aggies and the record of the Frogs so far promises a difficult assignment for the Cadets.

Low-hanging clouds of gloom have hovered in thick clusters over the Aggie camp since the return from the melee at Dallas and Bell has been working his charges behind closed gates in preparation for the Aggies' conference opener. "I hardly see how we can beat the powerful T. C. U. eleven," the Aggie mentor commented, "but we are going to work hard toward that goal."

One bright ray penetrated the clouds in the Aggie camp when Byrom Magrill, tackle who broke his wrist in the game with Nebraska two weeks ago, appeared on the training field in uniform. Though the wrist is not yet completely healed, Magrill, with the aid of a brace, is able to practice. Dawson, 220-pound tackle who has been out with a sprained ankle, is also believed in readiness and it is likely the Horned Frog game will find him in the lineup. Magrill is not likely to be used unless badly needed.

All Aggieland is astir in preparation for the coming of Horned Frogs and the T. C. U. student supporters who are to be guests of the college on the day of the game. Virtually the entire T. C. U. student body, the Horned Frog band and pep squad as well as a large number of Fort Worth fans are expected to come to College Station for the game by special trains. Hart hall, new dormitory at the college, will be vacated to accommodate the visiting young women, and a corps dance will be given in the college mess hall Saturday night.

HAWKS PLAY FAIRVIEW NEXT

Fairview - Chillicothe Tilt Called Off

Special to The Record News

IOWA PARK, Texas, Oct. 14.—The Hawks will engage in combat with the Fairview gridmen on the Thrift field Friday afternoon. The Hawks are in good condition this week and promise to carry off the honors in the coming fray with their opponents. In past contests the teams have been evenly matched and the number of games won and lost by each in these contests are equal.

The local line will be materially strengthened with the replacement of three men on the team that have been out of the game for the greater part of the season. The gridmen have had tough going this week by having to practice on a slick field and wading much mud. They are in the prime of condition after their encounter with the Zundelowitz gridmen last week in which the Birds were victorious.

The Fairview gridmen have lost all of their conference games this season, and called off Saturday's fray with the Chillicothe Eagles.

Special to The Record News

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 14.—Ad Lindsey's hustling Sooners, atop the "Big Six" conference parade, will attempt to lasso, throw, hogtie and butcher a Texas Longhorn before a Texas state fair crowd in the new Fair Park stadium at Dallas Saturday.

The Sooners, since their 20 to 7 defeat of Nebraska here last Saturday, are rated an even chance of taking Texas' measure. However the Longhorns are strong. They defeated Howard Payne Saturday 26 to 0 which was better than Southern Methodist university could do two weeks earlier and the Mustangs it should be remembered, came within a whisker of vanquishing Notre Dame.

That staunch Longhorn defense, which held Howard Payne scoreless where Howard Payne, two weeks earlier, had scored on S. M. U., and which baffled every Sooner offensive thrust last year while the Longhorn backs hooked and gored the Sooner forwards for three touchdowns, is hard to penetrate.

So Was Nebraska's

However so was the Nebraska defense, folks believed, until Bus Mills and Guy Warren, Sooner backs, shot off the Cornhusker left and right tackles for touchdown runs of 36 and 44 yards respectively. If Mills and Warren could do it against Nebraska, why can't they against Texas, Sooner fans argue.

Ad Lindsey, the shrewd Sooner coach, has this season developed an off-tackle buck that appears to be a tactical gem of very high carat. It is so effectively designed that whenever the Sooners use it they are mighty apt to score in a single down from any position on the field. Texas must watch this play.

Then there is the Oklahoma passing attack. Lindsey didn't have to show his aerial formations against Nebraska with his running attack working so well. However the Sooners have always been dangerous with the pass and this year is no exception.

The Sooner line, which fought frenzidly against a forward wall that outweighed it markedly, pulled the crowd to tiptoe in the fourth quarter when it forced Nebraska to travel all four downs to score from within three yards of the Oklahoma goal. Curtis Berry, veteran tackle, was especially hard to dislodge.

Massad Is Better

Earnest Massad's work was also good to see. On the basis of his performance Saturday, the Ardmore iron man is twice as good this year as last and looks like the regular Sooner fullback. His vicious tackling from defensive fullback, his alert interception of three Husker passes, his line plunging and his feat of leaping high and catching a Sooner pass with one of his great hands was the most consistent playing by a back on either team all afternoon.

No Sooner was hurt in the Nebraska fray. Dick Simms, who is ranked next to Warren as the best Sooner rabbit half, wasn't even used against the Huskers as he had a slight ailment. But he is ready and eager to enter the Texas melee.

So are his teammates. Also a delegation of approximately 1,000 Sooner students and Norman townspeople. With the new Fair Park stadium at Dallas holding 45,000 people and built so stragetically that people in the lower seats may reach out and touch the players (the field contains no cinder running track) a crowd numbering upwards of 30,000 persons is expected to occupy the new redwood seats at game time.

Robins Buy Two Stars From Phils

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. (AP)—In the biggest player deal since the close of the 1930 baseball season, Brooklyn today obtained two Philadelphia stars, Outfielder Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, 1929 National league batting king, and Second Baseman Fresco Thompson, in exchange for two pitchers, one rookie outfielder and a check.

The Robins, in fortifying for 1931 two positions in which they were weak this year, outbid at least two other National league clubs, including the Chicago Cubs, in the scramble for Philly talent.

Players in Trade

Brooklyn, besides the cash, hands over Jumbo Jim Elliott, left-hander; Clise Dudley, slightly smaller right-hander; and Hal Lee, young outfielder, who signalized his major league debut by hitting a home run as a pinch hitter.

The addition of O'Doul to the Brooklyn outfield gives the Robins a trio of mighty hitters. O'Doul batted .383 this year, gaining fourth place in National league rating. He led the league in 1929 with .398.

Babe Herman, Brooklyn right fielder, batted .393 this year, and Johnny Frederick, the fast centerfielder, had a mark of .334. Thompson had his poorest season in 1930 when he batted only .284, but the four years he has been the Phillies' regular second baseman he has an average above .300. He is only 27 years old.

Elliott Is Giant

Elliott, who is three inches over six feet and weighs 230 pounds, came to Brooklyn from Seattle in 1926 and with the exception of 1929 when he was sick most of the season, he has done excellent work.

Dudley has been with the Robins two years, and although his work in 1930 consisted chiefly of relief pitching he "took his turn" in 1929 with fair success.

Lee, who like Dudley was promoted from the Atlanta club of the Southern association, played few full games for the Robins in the season just closed, but was kept on the bench throughout the year, Manager Robinson refusing attractive offers for his services.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. (AP)—An early decline attributed to southern selling and the relatively easy showing of Liverpool over the holiday was followed by rallies in cotton today.

Offerings were light after early selling had run its course, and prices advanced on some trade buying and covering promoted by the steadier stock market. New December, after selling off to 10.33 under early pressure, advanced to 10.51 and closed at 10.45 compared with 10.52 at the close last Saturday. The general market closed steady net 1 point higher to 10 points lower, generally 3 to 8 points lower.

Reports from the New Orleans conference came in for some comment as a constructive feature, but were not very generally referred to as an immediate market factor.

Liverpool cables said there had been local and Bombay liquidation over the holiday in that market. Exports today 30,335, making 1,624,786 so far this season. Port receipts 85,139. U. S. port stocks 3,153,204.

Futures closed steady, 1 point higher to 10 lower; spot steady; middling 10.45.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 14. (AP)—Cotton after the holiday was steady and virtually unchanged although cables were considerably lower than due. Firmness at the start was attributed to resolutions of the cotton conference here yesterday. Prices soon turned easier in sympathy with a lower opening in New York and an unsettled stock market, declining 12 to 16 points from the opening.

Later prices rallied with a sharp upturn in stocks and reported buying by southern mills and in late trading showed gains over the lows of 19 to 21 points. The close was a little under the best on realizing being called steady net unchanged to 5 points up.

Port receipts 83,109, for week 223,943, for season 3,358,768, last season 2,846,150, exports 28,735, for week 110,916, for season 1,592,536, last season 1,251,488. Port stock 3,162,064, last year 1,824,405. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 135,287, last year 170,193. Spot sales at southern markets 69,185, last year 61,231.

Futures closed steady net unchanged to 5 points up:

More Confident Sentiment Among Stock Traders Shown in Session

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 14. (US)—The stock market proceeded today on the assumption that the extended holiday witnessed favorable developments in whatever overhanging situations may have existed, if any. There was a noticeably more confident sentiment prevailing, even during an early spell of weakness which carried many issues close to the lows of the previous week. Prices rallied, however, from the low levels and the close found many net gains among industrials and utilities, while the Railroads finished with only moderate change. Trading decreased to 3,389,000 shares from last week's five and six million daily volume.

The market was responding primarily to its own internal conditions, with particular emphasis on the continued huge borrowing demand for stocks. Sentiment was also cheered by strength in the commodities, with wheat overcoming an early sharp decline due to weakness in Liverpool to close with a gain. Cotton and sugar also improved.

Virtually all other considerations affecting intermediate movements were overlooked in the search for logical explanation for the immense borrowing demand for stocks. Close to four hundred stocks were lending "flat," with such prominent issues as Steel common, Westinghouse Electric, American Can, North American, American Water Works, Illinois Central and others actually commanding a premium.

Steel's premium amounted to 1-256th of one per cent. While the immediate assumption is to attribute the unusually heavy demand for borrowing purposes as due to enormous "short interests," there are contributing factors which indicate that the actual "professional" short interest in the market is much smaller than indicated by the borrowing demand.

Brokers are loath, it seems to lend stocks under prevailing circumstances. Also, there is large-scale borrowing for "tax-selling" purposes. The short selling "against the strong box" is also substantial. Then, too, it should be remembered that money now commands only two per cent interest, so that any unusual demand would bring many stocks down to "flat." This is the first time in years that Steel common has commanded a premium, but the charge amounts, it might be remembered, to $1 for borrowing the stock 256 days.

Undoubtedly, there may be some sort of movement on foot to influence the bears to cover their commitments, as suggested by the visit of stock exchange officials to Washington over the week-end, and also the threat to publish short positions. Under these circumstances, a temporary "bear panic" might develop, but the market probably would suffer if the short interest were eliminated.

Beyond doubt, the improvement scored in many issues was primarily at the expense of shorts. Thus, Fox Film enjoyed a sharp recovery upon announcement that power banking interests had joined the board of directors. These interests have been prominent in affairs of the company since its reorganization and their formal election probably serves notice on the shorts in Fox that their raiding tactics will be vigorously opposed.

General Theaters Equipment, with which the same banking interests are identified, likewise had a swift recovery, which amounted to almost seven points from the day's lowest price. This company annunced a program of recapitalization which will reduce the number of outstanding common shares through an offer to common shareholders to exchange for a portion of new preferred. This proposal to lessen the number of common shares undoubtedly brought in heavy short covering.

One development which should have received greater attention was announcement that reporting banks had decreased their loans on securities by $215,000,000 during the past week, which might suggest, incidentally, that reports of heavy liquidation from this source were quite accurate.

The cheering phase of the weekly report was disclosure that "other loans," which means commercial borrowings, increased $15,000,000. The usual leaders of the market failed to display undue activity, but there was a ready demand for Steel common, American Can and other prominent issues on reactions. While Big Steel closed unchanged, Bethlehem Steel was up almost two points at the close.

The belief persists, despite denials, that Bethlehem will emerge victorious in the contest over Youngstown Sheet and Tube, with the possibility of a settlement of the affair out of court.

Well-informed people were very much impressed by the potential full significance of such a settlement.

Failure of a relatively unimportant Montreal brokerage firm had little influence on the market, it being recognized the trouble was purely local. The failure of the railroad group to participate in the day's strength was a disheartening factor. It is obvious the market is dominated by technical considerations, of which the huge borrowing demand is paramount.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14. (AP)—Fair demand was reported today for wheat, corn and oats on the cash grain market here, but sorghums were very slow with prices nominal, and trade in barley was light.

Milling bids of 88@89c were made for No. 1 hard wheat.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 36 cars; corn, 14; oats, 13; barley, 15, and sorghums 3 cars, these figures representing arrivals for three days.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 3 mixed 92@93c; No. 2 white 95@96c; No. 2 yellow 96@97c.

Oats—No. 2 red 50½@53½c, according to suitability for seed. No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 46@46½c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally, $1.65@1.70; No. 2 kaffir $1.40@1.45.

CHICAGO CASH GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 14. (AP)—Stimulated by reports of damage to unthreshed wheat in Canada, all grain advanced in price today at the last. The rise was attributed also in part to upturns in stock market quotations. Earlier, grain values had been temporarily depressed by news of timely rain in Australia and by lower exchange rates from Argentina, with all deliveries of wheat and oats in Chicago dropping to a new low price record for the present crop.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled ⅛-1¼c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛-1⅜c up, oats ¼-⅜c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 32c.

Advances in Chicago wheat prices today were in the face of an increase in the United States wheat visible supply total, whereas a decrease had been looked for.

Corn and oats and rye followed the leadership of wheat. Larger receipts of corn in Chicago, including 25 cars of new corn, tended at times to pull the corn market down, but husking returns continued to be a disappointment to growers, some Illinois points sending word that three days husking netted but one day's usual quantity.

Provisions reflected a rise in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, December 76⅛-⅝, 80⅛-⅝; March 80½, 84⅛; May 82½, 86⅛-⅝. Corn, December 78⅛-½, 81⅛; March 78½, 83; May 81⅝, 85⅛.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Oct. 14. (US)—The Belgian cabinet has decided to take measures against the glutting of the Belgian market by low-priced Russian wheat. Protests have been received from Belgian agricultural interests.

Germany notified the League of Nations today that the government was obliged to increase the duty on wheat from 15 to 18½ marks per quintal (221 pounds), due to the heavy drop in wheat prices. The increase is effective immediately, to prevent heavy importations.

Winnipeg wired: "There were heavy rains in Manitoba and showers in Saskatchewan. A considerable quantity of wheat is unthreshed in parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan. There is one thing in wheat that the public does not seem to realize. There is 90,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels of wheat in northern Saskatchewan and Alberta still unthreshed and most of it will never be threshed this fall. Besides many millions of bushels will never be threshed at all, and it is all damaged as to quality."

Minneapolis arrivals of wheat were 592 cars, compared with 91 cars last week and 260 cars last year. Duluth received 373 cars, compared with 209 cars last week and 303 cars last year. Winnipeg arrivals were 3,679 cars, compared with 1,725 cars last week and 1,292 cars last year.

The Kansas report on wheat on farms Oct. 1 makes the amount 65,000,000 bushels against 44,000,000 bushels a year ago, and 80,000,000 bushels two years ago.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 14. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by fairly active demand for hogs at firm to 35c higher prices. Day's extreme top of $10.00 was paid at Chicago and St. Louis. Total offerings were around 63,000.

Although receipts were moderate, fat lambs were tendered another decline of 15@25c. Matured classes of sheep were scarce and mostly steady. Chicago realized $7.75@8.00 on choice native lambs and secured $7.75 for choice rangers. The supply approximated 73,600.

Aggregate receipts of cattle were estimated at 50,500 against 41,989 a week ago and 52,909 a year ago. Chicago and Omaha reported a liberal run of native fed steers and yearlings with demand for such offerings slow and weak to 25c lower prices. Otherwise killing classes were mostly steady. Strictly choice yearling steers in Chicago scored $13.35 and heavy steers sold up to $12.40. There was a fair demand for stocker and feeder steers at most centers with values fully steady.

Classified Ad patrons desiring to have ads charged must have a telephone listed in their own name. No book record is made by the publishers on acount of the great number of transactions, hence the necessity of collecting promptly.

Correction of errors in Classified Ads must be made before the second insertion. No allowance will be made for more than one incorrect insertion.

Cancellations and adjustments regarding errors should be telephoned to the Classified Ad department between 8 a. m. and 6 p. m.

Ads accepted for afternoon paper up until 11 a. m. same day.

Morning paper up to 6 p. m. for the following morning.

Sunday paper up to 7 o'clock Saturday night.

Same copy in both papers.

THE CLASSIFIED DEPARTMENT IS OPEN ON SUNDAYS from 4 to 6 p. m. and telephone orders for classified ads to be inserted or to be discontinued will be accepted.

Exceptions: Want ads will be accepted over the telephone for all excepting the following classifications: Situations Wanted and Wanted to Rent. Ads for these classifications are cash with the order and will not be accepted over the telephone.

The Times reserves the right to classify all Classified Ads under the appropriate headlines and to revise or to withhold from publication any ads deemed objectionable.

CLUB WINNERS ATTEND SHOW

Oklahoma Sends Delegation To St. Louis

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 14.—A large delegation of 4-H club boys and girls attended the national dairy show from Oklahoma. The group was accompanied by J. A. Killough, E. R. Thompson, and Miss Eunice Hopkins, county agents.

In addition to the large delegation of boys and girls, Stephens county contributed one of the two county herds of dairy cattle to be exhibited by Oklahoma at the national show. The other herd was from Oklahoma county.

Six Stephens county boys and girls were awarded free trips to the national show by judges at two state fairs last month. In addition, the county girls' dairy demonstration team, which won first place at the Oklahoma state dairy show here last May, competed for national honors at St. Louis.

Members of the demonstration team are Emma Lee Brooks of Duncan and Genevieve Nelson of Marlow.

Jim Sharp, Duncan, and Orville Dutton, Marlow, were awarded free trips to St. Louis at the Oklahoma City fair. Ila Mae McArthur, Comanche; Gene Ely, Duncan; and Alfred and Milford Brown, Marlow, won free trips at the Tulsa state fair.

Alfred and Milford Brown, Gene Ely, Orville Dutton and Ila Mae McArthur have dairy animals in St. Louis for exhibition at the national show. All of these animals were ranked among the best in the state at three recent Oklahoma state fairs at Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Muskogee.

Clara P.-T. A. Gives Program Thursday

Special to The Record News

CLARA, Texas, Oct. 14.—There will be given a series of mystery acts at the Clara High school Thursday night, involving some of the best entertaining talent of Wichita county. The program is sponsored by the local P.-T. A. and the funds derived from the program will be used to buy lunch for the needy children of the Clara school. The entertainers have been selected from a group of radio artists and are to present their numbers in a mysterious manner quite different from thesual type.

Mr. George Taylor of Wichita Falls, Lee Copeland of Iowa Park, Bob Hall and Jud Hughes of Electra, and K. T. Goetze of Clara will appear on the program supporting Misses Buelah Ross, Letress Wofford, Georgia Gilbert, Dorothy Parr and the Owens sisters in a group of vaudeville acts. Besides these numbers Eddie Gilbert, "The Singing Newsboy," the Lions quartet, and the Harmony girls will entertain during the intermissions.

Mr. George Taylor is to double with his daughter in a group of singing and dancing numbers besides his solo numbers. Lee Copeland usually referred to as "The Vernon Dalhart with the Big Laugh" gifted as a musician and singer. Hall and Hughes of Electra have a reputation of being superior amateur wise-crackers.

Misses Letress Wofford and Buelah Ross have a novelty musical number that attracted wide attention among the music lovers of Hot Springs while Miss Ross was violin soloist in the KTHS orchestra. They will also accompany the Owens sisters in a group of numbers. The Owens sisters have won their fame primarily because of their natural and pleasing stage-personality which is typical of successful "Sister Acts". Misses Parr and Gilbert will appear in separate dancing and singing acts, and their numbers equal many of those in the professional field.

District Lions Meeting To Be Held in Lamesa

Special to The Record News

LAMESA, Texas, Oct. 14.—A meeting of officials and members of group No. 37 of the Lions clubs in this section, will be held here at the Westland hotel Thursday. District Governor Sam M. Braswell of Clarendon will be the principal speaker. Cecil Collings, group chairman, of Big Spring, will preside at the meeting. The local committee has arranged an interesting program and "ladies' night" will be held in connection with the gathering of Lions. District No. 37 includes Snyder, Big Spring, Stanton, Midland, Colorado and Lamesa.

Banker Accused Of Embezzlement Gives Up

BOSTON, Oct. 14. (UP)—Charged with the embezzlement of $24,851 in bank funds, Leon F. Larkin, 25, transit manager of the third National Bank and Trust company of Springfield, surrendered to federal authorities for arraignment today.

The money was alleged to have been taken from the bank over a period of six years.

The army worm, dread pest of the cotton farmer, appeared in several Alabama counties this season.

Haskell County in Readiness For Opening of Brilliant Fair Thursday

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Texas, Oct. 14.—Given fair weather, directors and the entire citizenship of Haskell anticipate the best all round county fair in the history of the county, opening Thursday. This faith is based on reports from all departmental heads stating that both in quantity and quality this year's promise excels anything in the past. The entertainment features also are promising.

These facts are largely the result of the splendid cooperation on the part of all concerned. Enthusiastic letters of acceptance from official boards and clubs from many towns as far away as Abilene and Wichita Falls, stating that they were coming strong, have been received. The building committee is sparing no effort or expense in making an elaborate setting for the coronation of the queen and the pageant, including a brilliant lighting system.

Names that have reached the officials within the past few days of princesses and attendants follow: Abilene princess, Miss Margaret Waldrop and her maid, Miss Jennabeth Jones; Seymour princess is Miss Mildred Cooper. The Rev. E. Gaston Foote, pastor of the First Methodist church, Haskell, will act as prime minister during the coronation ceremony and little Miss Bunis Fay Ratliff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Ratliff of Haskell will be the crown bearer. At the conclusion of the parade the queen of the fair, Elizabeth of the House of Steel of the province of Rule will be presented with a golden key to the city of Haskell. This ceremony will be staged in front of the Tonkawa hotel.

What's On The Air Today?

Two old favorites, who entertained radio listeners for several months nightly from KGKO last season, will return to the local station beginning at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. These popular blackface comedians built up a great following last year with their humorous adventures and clever characterizations. The new continuity, or story, for the Mose and Hambone skit comes to KGKO from one of the large eastern radio stations where it is prepared by a well known author and dramatist. Mose and Hambone will be on the air nightly from KGKO at 7 o'clock except Saturdays. Wednesday's program follows:

TILLMAN TAX RATE RAISED

Levy Increased to 7.26 Mills for 1930

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 14.—Tillman county's tax rate for 1930 will be 7.26 mills, an increase of .17 mills over 1929. The general fund levy remains as last year, 4 mills. Highway fund is 1.97 compared with 1.96 last year; the free fair fund remains as last year, .25; the county sinking fund levy is .48 compared with .35 last year; the separate school item is .56 compared with .53 in 1929.

No ad valorem tax will be needed in Frederick, Grandfield, Manitou and Hollister. Last year Frederick's ad valorem tax was 2.46.

Frederick's sinking fund is 23.58 compared with 21.95 last year.

The only tax in Manitou will be 48 mills for sinking fund or an increase of 5.3 mills for this item over last year. It had no general levy fund last year.

Hollister Fund

Hollister, which had no ad valorem tax last year, has a sinking fund levy of 21.7 mills compared with 14 mills for this purpose in 1929.

Tipton's tax rate is 27.75 mills compared with 23.5 mills in 1929. It is divided as follows: General fund, 3.9 mills compared with 4 mills last year, and sinking fund, 22.85 mills compared with 19.5 in 1929.

Loveland's general fund remains as last year, 4 mills; sinking fund is 10.5 compared with 14.1 mills last year.

The greatest change in the school district rates was in Grandfield, where the sinking fund increased from 1.8 mills in 1929 to 12.13 mills. This was caused by the judgment obtained by the Rock Island which had protested a $46,000 bond levy voted several years ago. The U. S. supreme court, to which this case was appealed, recently held this levy invalid. General levy for the Grandfield schools is 15 mills, the same as last year; this added to the 12.33 makes a total of 17.13 compared with 16.8 in 1929.

Rates Cut

Rates have been reduced for Frederick school district No. 158 from 21.49 last year to 18.9 mills this year. Of this amount, general fund remains the same as in 1929, 15 mills, while the sinking fund has been reduced from 6.42 to 3.9 mills this year.

Property owners have until Nov. 14 to protest the estimates which were filed with the state auditor Oct. 4.

C.-C. Executives Ask Regulation of Trucks

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, Oct. 14.—Joint action by the three regional chambers of commerce to urge stricter and more adequate enforcement of regulation of motor trucks was announced here Monday by the council of presidents and managers of the three bodies.

The council went on record favoring legislative action to validate land lines and quiet land titles. It began work on "Buy Texas Products," and "See Texas First" campaigns.

Meetings was attended by Pres. C. E. Coombes and Mgr. D. A. Bandeen of the West Texas body; Pres. Guy A. Blount and Mgr. Hubert Harrison, East Texas, and Mgr. Ray Leeman, South Texas Chamber of Commerce.

LEGION DAY TO DRAW CROWDS

Many Posts to Join In Celebration Here

Attendance of several hundred legionnaires from out of town is promised for the American Legion day celebration here on Oct. 24 by responses already received, according to Milton Gaines, who is in charge of preparations for the affair.

Among the cities whose American Legion posts have already promised delegations here are Burkburnett, Graham, Matador, Pampa, Childress, Nocona, Walters and Frederick. The delegation from Burkburnett will include a band, and that from Graham a drum corps, according to the information received.

Public schools will be closed one hour earlier than usual on American Legion day, it was announced Tuesday, and it was indicated that the local banks will probably follow a similar plan. Efforts are now being made to arrange for the closing of downtown retail business houses at 4 p. m., the hour named for the starting of the parade.

Merchants who plan entering decorated floats in the parade in competition for the prize which is to be awarded the winner should get in touch with Kindel Paulk, phone 4135, Mr. Gaines said. Arrangement of the order of march for this event necessitates the early registration of all units for the parade, it was stated.

Among the other bodies already announced as planning participation in the day's activities will be the Confederate veterans, it was announced. Spanish-American war veterans also are expected to take part in the parade.

The day's program will be concluded at 8 o'clock in the evening with a mass meeting at the Memorial auditorium, when an address by Josh Lee of Norman, Okla., on "Taking the Profits Out of War." Mr. Lee is head of the department of public speech in Oklahoma university, and is an established favorite throughout the Southwest for his philosophic brand of humor. The public meeting will open with a 30-minute concert by the Lions club boys' band, directed by Leo M. Underwood.

City Expenses Cut $14,677 in 1930

Disbursements for the first six months of the fiscal year beginning April 1 and ending Sept. 30, 1930, showed a decrease of $14,677.60 under those for the same period of time for the previous year, according to figures given out by City Clerk W. E. McBroom.

The figures for this year totaled $454,503.70 while in 1929 they reached $649,181.30.

The report for 1930 follows: General expense, $40,491.37; police, fire and street lights, $113,585.86; health and hospitals, $37,260.27; streets, parks and cemetery, $36,258.51; library, $6,284.16; water works, $68,085.47; bond interest and principle, $90,690.40; airport operation and supplies for resale, $8,451.84; refunds for receipts in error, $587.87.

The figures for 1929 include general expense, $119,904.09; police, fire and street lights, $119,904.09; health and hospitals, $7,431.98; streets, $42,788.10; parks and cemetery, $37,995.89; library, $7,498.12; water works, $59,588.94; bond interest and principle, $119,254.28; airport operation and supplies for resale, $2,219.44; refunds for receipts in error, $498.06.

Women's Club Sponsored By Frederick Group

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 14.—Allen Davidson suggested at the Lions luncheon that the club sponsor the organization of a business and professional women's club in Frederick, to affiliate with the national organization. fter some discussion Lions Davidson, Polk Fry, Dr. J. G. Osborn Jr., Eddie Kadane and Cecil Chamberlin were named as a committee to ascertain if there are enough women of the city interested in the proposition to warrant any further effort along this line.

STRAND: "The Santa Fe Trail" with Mitzi Green, Eugene Pallette and Richard Arlen. Charley Chase comedy, cartoon and sound news.

STATE: Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Loretta Young in "The Forward Pass." Comedy, short novelty and sound news.

MAJESTIC: "The Call of the Flesh" with Ramon Novarro. Short subjects and news.

Wichita Falls will see the first movie effort of the nation's prophets—Amos 'n' Andy—and will see it ahead of the rest of Texas, according to F. J. Patterson, manager of the Strand, who announced Tuesday that he had booked "Check and Double Check" for Friday, Oct. 24, one day ahead of the regular release date. It has not been shown in New York yet.

"Ain't dat sumpin?" Manager Patterson asks. It evidently is sumpin'. When people set their bedtime hour in order to be able to hear every word uttered by Amos 'n' Andy, when city councils talk of "propolitions" in their regular meeting and when every radio listener puts "regust" in his vocabulary, it is not only sumpin', but enough to insure the Strand a packed hous.

"Check and Double Check" follows "Her Wedding Night," which starts next Friday, with a cast composed of Skeets Gallagher, Charlie Ruggles, Ralph Forbes and because it evidently can't be helped Clara Bow.

Skeets Gallagher and Charlie Ruggles should make an incomparable pair, because both are natural hot air artists and should do some perfect ad libbing. Ralph Forbes, whose chief recommendations are that he is Ruth Chatterton's husband and that he has a remarkably good screen voice, will bring in some heart-throbs for flappers, and Clara Bow will probably get along somehow.

Following "Check and Double Check," or to be more definite, on Oct. 31, the Strand will present "Heads Up" or "Feet First." It seems to be the sort of choice which could appropriately be made with the flip of a coin . . . or a good fight.

"Heads Up" features Buddy Rogers and "Feet First" is Harold Lloyd's second talkie. Mr. Lloyd has just a little edge in spite of the fact that Mr. Rogers' title sounds more attractive.

The State theater will offer "Three Live Ghosts," presented here two winters ago by the Little Theater, on Thursday of this week. In it is Robert Montgomery, who is the father of a one-day-old baby girl today, and who is one of the best speaking actors of the day.

"Three Live Ghosts" will be followed Sunday by "Puttin' On the Ritz" which features Harry Richman, and the next Thursday will bring the second run of "With Byrd at the South Pole" which should be seen by all those who missed it last summer.

Bland Tells Realtors Of Business Conditions

Wichita Falls is experiencing economic conditions much the same as those prevalent in other American cities of approximately the same size, James M. Bland told members of the Wichita Falls Real Estate board Tuesday noon at their regular bi-weekly meeting.

Instances where cities of near 50,000 population are favored by better general business conditions than those extant here are few, and are the result of some special and peculiar situation, he said.

Members of the board engaged Tuesday in a round-table discussion of property appraisal in keeping with a program recently adopted by the organization. Ray Keith and Fred Cone each made an appraisal of a specified property to inaugurate the discussion.

J. M. Baber and Walter S. Curlee were appointed by Roscoe Staton, president, to make appraisals at the next regular luncheon.

AUTO RECOVERED

Warren Belcher, deputy under Sheriff W. G. Bralley, returned from Stinton, Texas, Tuesday with a Mexican who allegedly stole an automobile here several weeks ago. The car in question was brought back to this city with the prisoner.

AUTO PLATES ARRIVE TODAY

27,500 License Numbers Shipped Here

Numbers to be used in Wichita county and changes in the type of plates were announced Tuesday by Tax Collector Guy C. Raley in connection with preparations for the annual task of providing new license plates for automobile owners in this county.

The plates already have been shipped, and are expected to arrive in this city Wednesday, according to Mr. Raley. They will be shorter than those now in use, and also wider, it was stated. The shipment to Wichita county will include the following plates: For passenger cars, 27,500; commercial, 3,800; motor bus, 85; trailer and tractor, 600; dealers, 300; motorcycle, 175; sidecar, 30, and chauffeur badges, 200.

The same periods for registration as prevailed last year will be effective again for procuring licenses for 1931, Mr. Raley said. Plates for old cars may be obtained on or after Dec. 1. New cars purchased in December must have 1930 license plates for the remainder of the year. Thirty days of grace for obtaining 1931 license will be given again, allowing automobile owners until Feb. 1 to mount their new plates. Any vehicle driven after that date without 1931 license plates will be subject to a fine.

Numbers for passenger automobiles in this county for 1931 will run from M9,8001 to N2-5500, it was announced.

Widow Cries With Joy Over Murder Acquittal

CHICAGO, Oct. 14. (INS)—Mrs. Florence Leeney this afternoon was acquitted by a criminal court jury of a charge of murdering her husband, Maurice.

The jury, comprised entirely of men, deliberated 17½ hours.

The blonde widow cried with joy as the verdict was read. Her three children embraced her while relatives, friends and her attorneys offered their congratulations.

Little Theater Cast Starts Final Drills for Play Scheduled Oct. 27

Finishing touches are now being given to "Kick In," the mystery drama which is to be given by the Wichita Falls Little Theater for three nights beginning Oct. 27, stage rehearsals for the entire cast having gotten under way on Monday night.

Articulation of the various individual roles into compactly built scenes, and the combination of scenes to construct a tense story of the underworld has been accomplished in the first two complete rehearsals sufficiently to reveal why the Mack play has been unfailingly popular.

Characterizations used in shaping the story of "Kick In" retain in each character the one genuine and outstanding quality which motivates that fictitious life. The reality of each character is one of the most potent factors in giving the play its unusual appeal.

Despite the wide variety of assignments called for by the Mack drama, a cast of unusual fitness has been found within the Little Theater membership and will give one of the most finished productions thus far afforded by the organization, according to F. C. McClung, director.

AD CLUB HEARS TALK BY KERR

Closer Tie-Up With National Advertisers Urged

Greatness in a man consists in his capacity to fill a crying need of humanity, J. E. Homer Kerr, representative of the United Commercial Travelers, told members of the Ad club in their weekly meeting Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel.

"If the greatest surgeon in the United States were to come to Wichita Falls and there were no bodily ailments of any kind among the people here, he would remain a nonentity," Mr. Kerr said.

Stating that advertising is built primarily for the purpose of acquainting readers with the things which are available to satisfy their needs, the speaker urged a closer tie-up between local merchants and jobbers and national advertisers. The usual reaction, he said, on the part of such a dealer to a full-page ad for his product in a big magazine is to remark that such a display cost $7,500 per issue.

"If you tie up with these projects," he continued, "that $7,500 per page will be working for you as directly as though it had come out of your own pocket."

Charles A. Spragins Jr., president of the club, presided at Tuesday's meeting. Hal W. Yeager was elected secretary to succeed Mrs. R. E. Davis, resigned. Mrs. Davis was given a rising vote of thanks by those present for her services to the club during the past year.

N. F. Adams, railroad officer at Marshall, Texas, removed 426 hoboes from trains during one month.
