Mobile homes have been gaining status steadily in recent years. They were made eligible some time ago for FHA loans, and cities and towns have been making special arrangements to accommodate them in their zoning laws, etc.

So, it was inevitable that they would attain tax status as well sooner or later.

Announcement was made this week that the Texas Mobile Home Association had awarded a grant to Texas Christian University for research on mobile home owner taxes.

The study will be under the direction of Dr. Allen Self, and will cover, in addition to the tax problem, the marketing aspects and life styles of the industry and mobile home and recreational vehicle owners.

Some cities and towns, school districts, county governments and other agencies have been setting up schedules to add mobile homes to their tax rolls. The City of Bryan put its mobile home tax program into operation this year. This has come about with the growing number of mobile homes now used as permanent residences.

Snyder now has a zoning classification for mobile homes and actual zones are due to be established soon.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. reports that the largest striped bass ever caught at Lake E. V. Spence, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reservoir at Robert Lee, was landed recently on a trotline baited with a minnow. The fish weighed almost two pounds and was 16 inches long, which surprised biologists. It was one of 34,500 striped bass released in Lake Spence in 1969, and most of them have been growing rather slowly because of drought conditions.

Striped bass are being stocked experimentally in several Texas lakes in an effort to find a predator fish which can reduce the number of gizzard shad and other small fish and at the same time offer the angler some sport.

Lake Spence, which caught around 15,000 acre feet of water during the rains of two or three weeks ago, has picked up smaller quantities in more recent showers. This is expected to enhance the growth of fish.

Something else from the wildlife department: Texas probably could claim distinction as the mourning dove capital of the country. Estimates are that hhunters harvest around 25 million of these birds each year in this country, and about half of them are killed in Texas.–WACIL McNAIR.

Aircavs Clash With N-Viets

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen clashed with North Vietnamese troops 43 miles east of Saigon today, while nine miles southeast of the capital South Vietnamese militiamen uncovered a stockpile of enemy munitions.

Details of the American action east of Saigon were not known, but the AirCav troops in that jungle area have been under fire all week.

On Monday the North Vietnamese ambushed a column, killing four U.S. troops and wounding eight. Another air cavalryman was killed and six were wounded Thursday when their unit came on an enemy bunker complex and the North Vietnamese opened fire. Later more Americans were wounded by a 10-round mortar barrage.

Helicopter gunships swooped down on the bunkers, firing rockets, and seven North Vietnamese were reported killed.

The munitions cache was found during sweep operations around Saigon to minimize chances of an attack during the armed forces day parade Saturday. In the stockpile were 15 Soviet rifles, 20 hand grenades, 20 blasting caps and 1,500 rounds of small arms ammunition.

In the northern part of the country just below the demilitarized zone, the North Vietnamese followed up their heavy attack Thursday near Firebase Sarge with an 81-round barrage of rockets and mortars fired into the artillery base. The South Vietnamese Command said casualties were light.

U.S. B52 bombers nade more heavy strikes in the region, dropping 60 tons of bombs on bunker complexes and storage sites. Some of the raids were less than two miles from the base.

Sarge, a former U.S. Marine outpost, is one of the two westernmost South Vietnamese bases in the region just below the DMZ. About 400 North Vietnamese attacked about half that number of South Vietnamese outside the base early Thursday but were finally driven back after Americans jets and helicopters and ground reinforcements joined in the battle.

In a revised casualty report, South Vietnamese headquarters claimed 17 of the North Vietnamese were killed in the battle. Informed sources said 13 South Vietnamese were killed and 15 were wounded.

House Rejects Dec. Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's program to phase out the Indochina war has won a hands-off from Congress with rapid-fire House rejection of a Dec. 31 pullout or any other deadline.

Attempts to put the House on record for a June 1 U.S. pullout, an April 30 deadline and variations of the Dec. 31 war halt were shouted down and voted out Thursday one after the other.

The Senate had rejected 55 to 42 Wednesday the Hatfield-McGovern amendment to actually cut off funds and troops for the war Dec. 31.

All seven House end-the-war measures were rejected even after backers stressed they would only register Congress' desire for a date of a certain halt to the war—not tie the President's hands by cutting off money, troops or weapons.

But House antiwar forces mustered their biggest vote yet in losing the key Nedzi-Whalen Dec. 31 date by a vote of 254 to 158.

The amendment would have prohibited war use of any of the $21.1 billion in a weapons authorization bill after Dec. 31 unless the President declared this would jeopardize safe withdrawal of U.S. troops or release of American prisoners.

Rep. Jucien N. Nedzi, D-Mich., and Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Ohio, said their amendment would only register a stand on the war because none of the long-range money in the bill could reach Indochina before 1973 or 1974.

After rejecting the war-halt amendments, the House approved the $21.1-billion weapons authorization 331 to 58 and sent it to the Senate.

Cosmonauts Track Star

MOSCOW (AP)—The three cosmonauts aboard the Soviet space platform Salute turned their station into an astrophysical observatory today.

Profiting from their position about 190 miles above the earth and its atmospheric filter, a crew member tracked a star with an observatory mechanism called Orion.

The research was carried out during the crew's 12th day board the world's first manned orbital space platform.

Reports of the trio's adaptation to their prolonged voyage in a state of weightlessness continued to be encouraging.

Tass said Patsayev, flight commander Gregory Dobrovolsky, and flight engineer Vladislav Volkov feel well.

The space platform was "assembled" June 7 when Soyuz 11, with the three-man crew aboard, caught up and docked with the 18-ton Salute station, launched without men on April 19.

Assembled, the station is about 65 feet long, weighs in excess of 25 tons and has six compartments for living and working space for the crew.

IN NBL STOCK SCANDAL

Indictments Will Be Sought Soon

By JIM BARLOW
Associated Press Writer

Criminal indictments against persons connected with the stock manipulation scandal that has rocked Texas will be sought in four to six weeks at Houston and Dallas, a government official says.

Anthony J. P. Farris, U. S. attorney based in Houston, said Thursday night there will be no immediate indictments because his office still is studying information provided by Frank W. Sharp.

Sharp, a Houston financier and one of the main figures in a Securities and Exchange Commission stock manipulation suit filed Jan. 18 in Dallas, pleaded guilty Monday to two violations of federal banking and stock registration laws.

U. S. Dist. Judge John V. Singleton sentenced Sharp to three years in prison but placed him on probation. He also granted Sharp immunity from further state or local prosecution, and in return Sharp testified Monday before a federal grand jury in Houston.

The Dallas civil suit alleges Sharp and 27 other individuals and corporations—including former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr—manipulated the stock of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. to raise its price. The SEC asks that the defendants be enjoined from further dealings in the stock.

But what set off shock waves that rocked the state Capitol were allegations that top state officials had profited on stock purchases financed by Sharp at the time Sharp was seeking passage of banking legislation.

Persons giving depositions in the case said that Gov. Preston Smith, State Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum, House Speaker Gus Mutscher, Rep. Bill Heatly and Rep. Tommy Shannon all bought National Bankers Life stock, using loans from Sharp's Sharpstown State Bank, and sold the stock two months later for hefty profits.

U. S. Rep. Henry Gonzales of San Antonio told Washington reporters that he is "as positive as can be" that the Houston grand jury will indict Smith, Mutscher, Baum and others. Gonzales said his information was "from a rare and reliable source."

Also in Washington where he is attending the annual conference of U. S. attorneys, Farris told a Houston Post reporter Thursday, "We won't be ready to even get to the drawing up of the bills for four to six weeks because we have a lot of work to do yet."

Agriculture Funds Are Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee today approved a $12-billion money bill for agriculture, environment and consumer protection programs for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The total is $2.5 billion more than was provided last year for comparable activities, but $22 million less than President Nixon requested.

The bill subject to House action next week, provides $6.2 billion for agricultural programs, $932.8 million for rural development, $3.1 billion for environmental protection and $2.76 billion for consumer protection and services.

Largest chunk of money for agricultural programs is $3.6 billion to reimburse the Commodity Credit Corporation for its price support and production and marketing activities.

The Environmental Protection Agency allotment includes funds for water and sewer grants to municipalities, watershed protection programs and sedimentation control.

5th Lady Missing In Odessa

ODESSA (AP) — A fifth woman, Mrs. Gloria Green, was reported missing under unexplained circumstances today in this West Texas oil area.

Two Texas Rangers and a state police helicopter joined the search.

Mrs. Green, 26, termed "extremely attractive, disappeared from the offices of the O&L Well Service Co. about 2:30 p.m. Thursday, police said.

A printing company salesman, making a routine call, found the office empty. He notified the telephone answering service he was locking the office.

About 5:30 p.m. a company employe, Bill Jones, found the office locked, made a few calls, and then notified police.

Mrs. Green left behind her purse and her shoes, a spokesman for state police said. Her car was in the parking lot.

Police said the initial investigation indicates foul play.

Mrs. Green was described as 5 foot 2 inches tall, weighing 110 pounds, and of brown hair and brown eyes. She was last seen wearing a brown suit.

Mrs. Green's disappearance comes 13 days after the remains of a Kermit woman missing 10 months was found near Kermit, about 50 miles west of Odessa.

That skeleton was identified as Mrs. Nancy Mitchell.

Mrs. Mitchell 27, left behind two sleeping children, a husband at work and her cigarettes the night she disappeared.

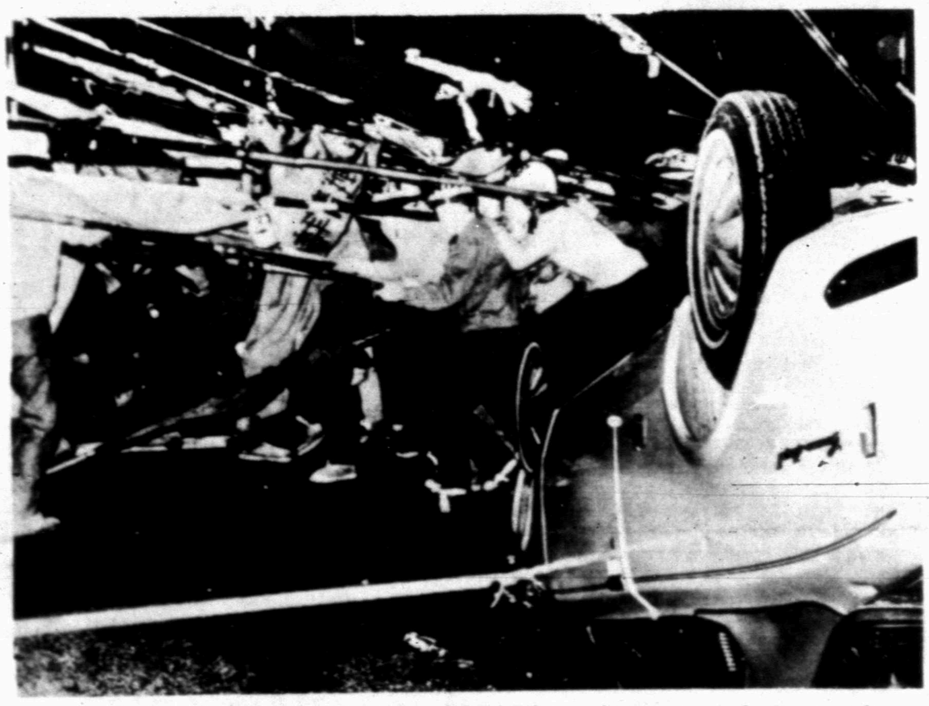

Three other Odessa women have been found dead since 1968, two of them with nylon stockings around their necks. The third was stabbed to death in her Odessa apartment.

SAY ARMED FORCES NOT ENDANGERED

New York Times Enters Legal Brief

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times, fighting a government move to keep it from resuming publication of articles based on secret Pentagon documents, opened its court argument today by stating that the series did not in any way "endanger or injure American armed forces."

"The Times has not published sailing dates of troop transports, not published secret plans of future military maneuvers, not published data relating to weapons systems or the like," the newspaper said in a legal brief.

The brief was entered just before the hearing began on a Justice Department request for a temporary injunction to block publication of further articles based on the Pentagon study about U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war through the Johnson administration.

The government had obtained a restraining order Tuesday, after the third article in the Times's series appeared, preventing further publication of the reports until 1 p.m. Saturday.

The Times brief said that there was no prospect that any future articles in the series could endanger the armed forces.

The government has maintained that the stories "prejudice the defense interests of the United States and result in irreparable injury to the national defense."

The newspaper already has given the Justice Department a list of the classified Pentagon documents upon which it has based its articles.

The Times acted voluntarily Thursday on the urging of U.S. Dist. Court Judge Murray I. Gurfein who withheld any immediate action on the government's demand to inspect the Times' documents.

Gurfein ruled out a government request to see all classified material in the Times' files, saying, "I'm not tolerating any fishing expedition into the files of any newspaper."

The documents sought by Asst. U.S. Atty. Michael D. Hess were a 47-volune secret Pentagon study entitled "History of U.S. Decision-Making Process on Vietnam Policy" and a summary of "The Command and Control Study of the Tonkin Gulf Incident."

The Times suspended publication of the controversial series after Gurfein issued a temporary restraining order Tuesday and scheduled today's full dress injunction hearing for 10 a.m.

His newspaper read by all

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: My pet gripe is Newspaper Hogs! I buy a newspaper on my way to work every morning and the minute I clock in, someone yells, "Give me the sports section," or "Can I see Dear Abby?"

We have half an hour for lunch, and it's the same at lunch. I have to ask for things I'd like to read in my own newspaper. No one else goes to the trouble or expense to buy one, but they all want to read mine. One party even had the nerve to ask me if she could take my paper home with her.

How can I handle this without making enemies?

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED UP: No way. If you don't share your newspaper, you'll be the "hog." You can read only one part of it at a time, so you'd be ahead to grin and share it.

DEAR ABBY: I lost my husband in the war three years ago and I have a son whose father never saw him. I met a man I'll call Nick whose wife died recently and left him with two children under five years old. We fell in love and were seeing a lot of each other. We even spoke of marriage. Then I suddenly realized I had some serious competition.

Nick's sister in law, Amy [his wife's younger sister], filed for divorce and is trying to get Nick away from me. Her whole family is helping out by constantly inviting him to family parties and throwing Nick and Amy together. They would like to keep Nick in the family, as he is a very good provider. [Amy's husband is a no good bum.]

Now Nick is seeing more of Amy than me. I have turned down other dates so I can be available in case Nick calls. Should I just give up and let her have him? Or should I keep hoping? I can't run after a man the way she does.

CAN'T COMPETE

DEAR CAN'T: Your competition is holding all the aces. Old family ties, plus a small army of rooters working in her behalf. Accept other dates and don't pass up any dates to be available when Nick calls. Amy's aces can be trumped as long as there are "hearts" in the game.

DEAR ABBY: A man wrote, saying he wanted to marry a wonderful, vivacious Italian, but he couldn't bring himself to give her a compliment or show his affection, altho he "loved" her very much. The girl was always after him to be more demonstrative, but he said he just wasn't the lovey-dovey type, and he refused to be phony.

You advised him to try to be more affectionate and demonstrative or to forget the girl who craved affection, because as things stood they were a poor match.

I hope he takes your advice. I was just like that Italian girl 34 years ago—only dumber. I married a man who said he "loved" me, but he never gave me a compliment or demonstrated his love and affection. I kept telling myself that as long as I knew he loved me, it didn't matter. I was wrong. There was more to it than that. He couldn't express other emotions such as anger, joy and sorrow. It wasn't his fault, but he refused to admit he needed professional help, so he never got over it.

If that Italian girl marries that emotional cripple anyway, I hope she has a lover on the side. She'll need one.

It's too late for me because after living with this undemonstrative man for 33 years, I, too, have become. . .

UNDEMONSTRATIVE

DEAR UN: Perhaps your costly experience will help another. Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to unwed mothers ["let a fellow get to know you better before pouring out the story of your life, but tell him the truth as soon as it becomes apparent that he is seriously interested in you."] was right on!

Eighth Dies

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A 12-ounce boy, the smallest of the nine babies born prematurely to 28-year-old Mrs. Leonard Brodrick, was the only one still alive tonight.

Doctors said the eighth child to die, a one-pound girl, had developed an acute lung condition. She died early Friday.

The babies—five boys and four girls—were the first nonuplets on record. Two of the boys were stillborn and two boys and three girls died Sunday night and Monday.

LSD Seized In Dallas Raid

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—About 500 LSD tablets and a quantity of hashish was recovered Thursday by federal and city officers in a raid on a North Dallas apartment. Four persons were arrested.

Texas Bakes Drier

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Drought-plagued Texas is baking still drier in a presummer heat wave.

The temperature hit 102 degrees Thursday at Wichita Falls, 101 at Mineral Wells, and Texarkana, and 100 at Cotulla. It was well into the 90s nearly everywhere else.

Teasing showers spattered some localities in North, South Central and Southeast Texas, but moisture generally was skimpy except for more than half an inch falling at Junction.

A 10-minute storm threw damaging wind and hail the size of marbles into a four-block section of Northeast Houston late Thursday, unroofing several small buildings and tearing away two big sections atop the quarters of a roofing firm. There were no injuries.

"The skies did not get dark and the sun continued bright during the entire period," said Mrs. Shirley Rosignon, operator of a gas station in that part of Houston.

By this morning skies were clear over most of the state aside from clouds in South Central and Southeast Texas. Light showers falling over the Gulf of Mexico approached the Upper Texas Coast.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 70 degrees at Amarillo, Dalhart and Midland up to 80 at Dallas and Galveston.

Forecasts called for little change.

Space Teams To Meet

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Teams of U.S. and Soviet experts will start working out details next week of how to establish docking systems for use by spacemen of both nations.

The aim is to build common systems which eventually would permit their manned spacecraft to link up in orbit.

A 20-man team of Soviet scientists, engineers and cosmonauts is coming here, the Manned Spacecraft Center said Thursday, for discussions expected to take five days.

They will start meeting with U.S. representatives Monday.

A prime goal of the discussions is to develop compatible rendezvous and docking systems, which would make it possible for space vehicles of either nation to go to the rescue of astronauts or cosmonauts requiring assistance in space.

Several years of work may be necessary to build and test these systems. It is hoped that scientists, engineers and medical men would then be able to carry out joint experiments in orbiting laboratories.

Miners Return To Work

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Many of the estimated 50,000 coal miners idled in a wildcat strike since midnight Sunday have gone back to work under urging from United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle.

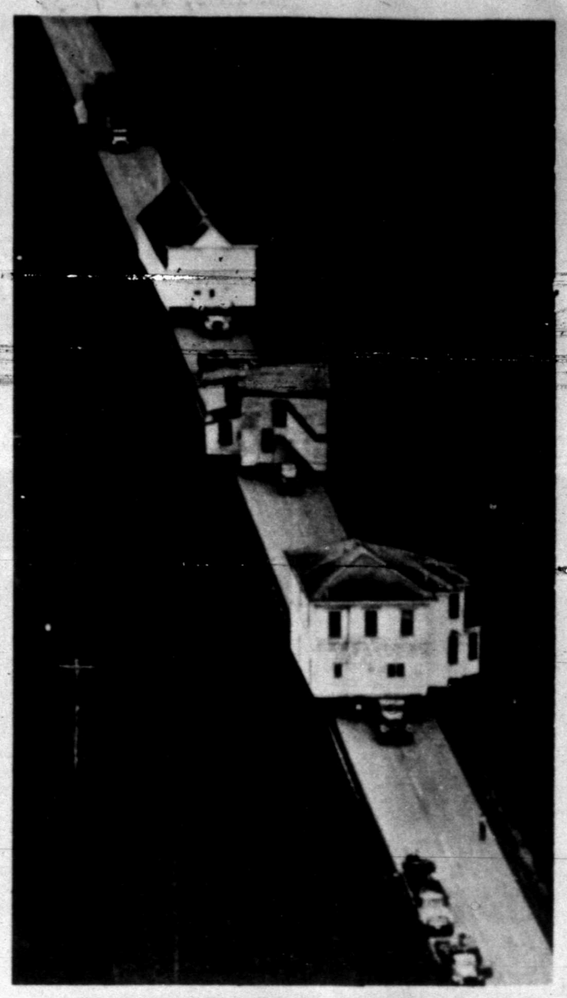

"I appreciate your expressions of solidarity and urgently recommended that you return to work immediately," Boyle said Thursday after federal judge in Washington advised him to issue a "direct order."

The walkout was described by union leaders as a show of support for Boyle who was removed by a court order as a trustee of the UMW's $150-million welfare and retirement fund.

The gradual back-to-work movement began Thursday when U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard Gesell of Washington told Boyle he would be held in contempt unless miners were back on their jobs before Monday morning, the time of a scheduled court appearance for the UMW leader.

Senate Rejects Draft Amendment

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has refused to give young men registering for the draft the right to a lawyer and a courtroom-style hearing before their local draft boards.

By a vote of 44 to 32, it rejected Thursday an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to add those procedural guarantees to a registrant's right of a personal appearance at his board.

The Senate also defeated efforts of volunteer-army supporters to shorten the pending two-year draft extension to 20 months and to require institution of incentives designed to attract more voluntary enlistments.

With a large pile of amendments pending, including three scheduled for votes today, Senate leaders made it definite they will move Monday to cut off the debate, which Thursday entered its seventh week.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he, Republican Leader Hugh Scott and Sen. John O. Stennis, D-Miss., will present Monday a petition to end debate.

That means the Senate will vote Wednesday whether to limit each senator to one hour on the bill and all remaining amendments. A two-thirds vote is required and Mansfield said if the effort falls short Wednesday, a new attempt will be made two days later.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif. said he will join efforts by Sens. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., to keep the debate going and seek to cut off men for the war by preventing extension of the draft by the June 30 expiration.

There are prospects the Senate might get two more chances next week to impose a deadline on U.S. operations in Indochina. Two such efforts were rejected Wednesday, but the votes were close enough to give antiwar senators hope a revised amendment might be passed.

Sen. Lawton M. Chiles Jr., D-Fla., hopes for a vote Tuesday or later on his amendment to cut off funds June 30, 1972. The cutoff would be void if the President reports he is unable to get an agreement with North Vietnam for release of U.S. prisoners.

Another pending amendment would cut off funds nine months after enactment and has a POW provision similar to the Chiles amendment.

3 Snyderites Earn Honors

COLLEGE STATION — Three Snyder students have earned "Distinguished Student" ranking at Texas A&M University.

The undergraduate honor is awarded students who have excelled academically. Recipients must earn at least a 3.25 grade point ratio (out of a possible 4.0) during the grade period.

In addition to a 3.25 or higher GPR, a student qualifying for "Distinguished Student" honors must have been enrolled in a minimum of 12 hours and have no grade lower than a "C".

"Distinguished Student" ranking is limited to 10 per cent of Texas A&M's undergraduate enrollment.

Snyder students are: William J. Kidd, zoology major, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Kidd, 4004 Irving; Derald Mark Lambert, electrical engineering major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Minor Derald Lambert, Route 1, and Larry K. Lofton, petroleum engineering major, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Lofton, 2400 Fortieth.

Laird Is On Fishing Trip

RHINELANDER, Wis. (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird arrived by Air Force jet in this northern Wisconsin community Thursday night for what an aide called a quiet day of two of fishing.

Laird is to appear in Wausau during the weekend to help present local student scholarships. Rhinelander and Wausau are in the former congressman's 7th District.

Busing Trial Nears End

AUSTIN (AP) — Trial of the Nixon administration's first court case to impose busing as a method of desegregating public schools was expected to end today.

Justice Department and Austin School District attorneys said they expected to complete examination of witnesses.

School district attorney Donald S. Thomas began presenting testimony Thursday to rebut that of government witnesses who claimed there was deliberate segregation of Mexican-American pupils in Austin schools.

U. S. Dist. Judge Jack Roberts is expected to rule shortly on competing desegregation plans filed by the school district and the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The HEW plan requires extensive cross-town busing in order to give each Austin school approximately the same racial and ethnic mix as the city at large, including 15 per cent black and 23 per cent Mexican-American.

The Nixon administration filed its plan several weeks after the U. S. Supreme Court ruled in a Charlotte, N.C., case that busing is an acceptable means of desegregating Southern schools.

A. T. Miller of Washington, program officer for the U. S. Office of Education, was the government's main witness Thursday.

Thomas, an old friend of former President Lyndon Johnson, continually objected to Miller's testimony concerning the busing plan, saying Miller was not a transportation expert.

HEW, Thomas declared, was trying to "embarrass Austin politically" with its plan.

Roberts permitted Miller's testimony, however.

Miller said the HEW plan would require 22 buses for junior high school pupils alone, with 1,817 pupils involved.

The school district also has proposed a plan involving limited busing to bring black, white and Mexican-American children together for between a fourth and a third of their classroom time.

Miller said the school district's plan had "a lot of educational advantages" but he questioned whether it actually would result in full desegregation of schools.

Farmer's Loan Time Extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers in the drought-stricken Southwest will have five years instead of one to repay certain federal emergency loans.

The order, effective at once, was announced Thursday by President Nixon.

The longer repayments will apply to loans made by the Farmers Home Administration so borrowers can meet interest payments on real estate, chattell debts and equipment debt. In the absence of the extension all such loans would have had to be repaid from crops earnings of the year following the date of the loan.

Iran Hard On Drug Peddlers

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Ninety-one persons have been executed for peddling narcotics since such executions were authorized by a two-year-old law.

Centers Set Up For GI Users

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command has set up two laboratories and new treatment facilities at troop processing centers to deal with soldier heroin users before they leave South Vietnam for home, it announced today.

A recently developed urinalysis process to identify narcotics users, followed by five to seven days treatment in Vietnam, are the main aspects of the command's program implementing the antidrug campaign announced Thursday by President Nixon.

Initial treatment in Vietnam, designed to break users of the heroin habit, will be followed by additional treatment after the individuals return to the United States aboard special medical evacuation aircraft.

In addition to the latest steps to deal with the drug crisis among U.S. servicemen in Vietnam—some 30,000 to 40,000 have been estimated to be addicted to heroin—officials said a number of further moves are contemplated or under study.

The laboratory processing will begin Sunday at the Army's Long Binh Base outside Saigon and the following day at the Cam Ranh Air Force Base, the two major departure centers for soldiers.

The key to the program, according to the command, are the recently developed machines that determine through urinalysis whether an individual has used heroin recently.

He said the process, dubbed FRAT for free radial assay technique, will be able to detect heroin users among the average 1,000 servicemen who are leaving the country each day.

Individuals whose urine samples are positive will be subjected to what officials called confirming tests. The entire process takes about 24 hours.

Heroin users then will be sent to special holding centers for a period of five to seven days. There they will receive medical and psychiatric treatment and counseling, on the same order as the 19 amnesty centers for soldier drug addicts now in operation in Vietnam.

"Medical authorities will make the determination that individuals have been treated sufficiently to be returned to the United States for follow-on rehabilitation," the command said.

They will go home aboard special medical evacuation planes with medical personnel aboard, and will be sent to one of several new drug treatment centers being established in the United States for military drug users.

The FRAT process shows recent use of morphine and heroin, both opium derivatives, but not of other drugs.

Meanwhile President Nguyen Van Thieu has ordered South Vietnam's four military region commanders to launch antinarcotics campaigns and wipe out smuggling in efforts to ease the problem.

Thieu has been under strong pressure from the United States to crack down on narcotics because of the serious problem among American servicemen.

A private 3,600-foot airstrip is planned for completion in 1972 at West Virginia's Pipestem resort.

Teen-Age Hair-Styling Winners

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Three teen age contestants in the America's Junior Miss hair styling contest got a head start on their college educations when they were declared winners in the contest sponsored by John H. Breck in connection with the Junior Miss pageant.

In New York where they picked up their prize-winning scholarship checks, the girls explained how they arranged their hairdos that were selected on the basis of prettiness, originality of style and name of the hairdo.

For Kim Basinger of Athens, Georgia, a 17-year-old high school senior who writes poetry, draws, paints and models for specialty shops in her spare time, the $1,000 first prize was for her "Octopus Knot" which wasn't as fishy as it looked, she explained. It just wasn't behaving very well. It takes a bit of time to keep the eight tendrils "from crawling over your head," she said, but the hairdo was really a variation of the Gibson girl hairdo that she thinks is attuned to today's fashions.

"You bend over and brush your hair, gathering it in one hand, and you then make a little knot of the hair on top of our head," she said. "You then pull out eight strands (the octopus feelers), spray them with lacquer and curl them with little rollers. But they should be kept rolled for about two hours to hang properly. They should be curly," said the blue-eyed honey-skinned blonde.

It isn't the kind of hairdo you'd wear when you are cooking, she says, and Kim loves to cook.

Marsha Steakley, 17, of Winchester, Tenn., also had a sweet-girl hairdo, "Tennessee Tie-riffic," which put $500 in her bank account. Her long hairdo was simple:

"I spray the ends so the curls will stay in when I roll them in curlers. I part the hair on one side, and then brush all of it to the other side. I tease the ends a bit before I drape the curls over my shoulder," said the pert brunette.

Long hair can be worn lots of ways for all occasions, she explains. And Marsha's life is one of varied interests. She is a cheer leader and an outdoor type—she rides horseback and water skis. In addition she is a candy striper at her local hospital. She expects to be a nurse or to teach nursing.

Another $500 winner, the short-haired girl in the group is Diane Helms of Charlotte, N.C., who wants to be a lawyer or an actress. The pixieish brunette with the "Carolina Cotton Caper" hairdo says her hair is too thick and coarse to be worn in a long hairdo.

"Long hair makes me look as if I'm all hair—I'm really too short for it," said the five-foot-two bundle of energy.

She uses about four rollers on top of her head and tapes little curls to the side and back of her neck to get the choppy effect all over, longish in back.

Its a great hairdo for a busy life—she works with a theater group, helps make contact lenses and models occasionally for the Charlotte Observer.

All the girls think hair care is the most important aspect of a girl's beauty program. And there is proof now that boys notice hair—they are paying more attention to their own, the girls point out.

It is a good time for girlish hairdos, the kind boys might not adapt, they say.

"Until recently when boys began wearing bright colors, wide ties and flare pants, they all looked alike at our school in white shirts and black ties," explained Marsha. "They really look great these days. We have a lot of parties in Tennessee, even for the 10-year-olds. I didn't start going to parties until I was a teen-ager, so I've got a lot of making up to do."

Kim also prefers the flare pants boy look. She doesn't like a boy she is dating to go too far out in clothes, although she does like the hip look—vest, wide belts, colors.

All the girls like boys with hair more on the longish side says Diane. She thinks the boys' wide-sleeved blouse styles are attractive, and although she has been told by boys that they don't like the midi-dress, she likes the style, and wears it sometimes.

Tips For The Grocery Buyer

COLLEGE STATION — Remember these food marketing tips as you plan your shopping list this week, suggests Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Retail beef prices remain unchanged, but many markets are featuring various cuts of mature and baby beef at special prices. In general, look for best values on cuts from the chuck and rib, as well as specials on steaks, ground beef, franks and luncheon meats.

Best pork values include cooked hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks and end cut loin roasts and pork chops.

Fryer chickens, in plentiful supply are the biggest bargain in some meat departments. Frozen turkeys are also available in some retail food stores at prices you can't afford to pass up.

Egg supplies are ample and prices are still low. Large size eggs are in greatest supply, with the Grade A large size offering the best combination of quality and economy for your egg money.

Fresh fruit and vegatable items in good supply at the most reasonable prices include cantalope, bananas, lemons, oranges, avocados, strawberries, pineapples, honeydew melons, potatoes, corn, lettuce, squash, okra, cabbage, carrots, purple hull peas, yellow onions, radishes, green onions, beets and greens.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

That destructive Southern corn leaf blight that hit field corn last summer also can attack some types of sweet corn. Those that are most susceptible are varieties with Texas male sterile cytoplasm. Those with normal cytoplasm (hand detasseled) are resistant.

Plant pathologists report blight symptoms on sweet corn are the same as on field corn. When ear tips of sweet corn become infested with southern blight, there is grey to black ear rot at harvest time.

Warm humid weather when sweet corn starts to tassel—until ears are in milk to early dough stage—favors blight development.

Some blight resistant varieties are Earlibelle, Gold Cup, Iochief, Royal Crest, Spring Gold, Golden Security, Seneca 60, Seneca Daybreak, Seneca Golden, Jubilee, Seneca Scout, Silver Queen, Early Triumph, Golden Slipper, Silver Cross bantam, Hybrid Stowells, Evergreen, Golden Cross T-51 and Mainstay.

Another sweet corn problem is yellow leaf blight, in which plants develop a yellowish cast, usually are stunted, and small light green spots develop on the lower leaves, ultimately multiplying and destroying the leaves.

To protect against blight, spray with 1½ tablespoons of Dithane M-45 or Manzate 200 in one gallon of water, applying to 100 feet of row. Begin when blight infection has spread to the third leaf below the ear and when corn is in early tassel to early milk stage. Three applications at seven day intervals are recommended. Don't harvest or use corn until seven days after last application.

Feed Lawn Trees

Trees in lawns are apt to need more fertilizer because the natural source of nutrients, such as dead leaves and other decayed plant materials, generally are removed by home owners.

An indicator of fertilizer need is the tree's performance the previous year. If the growth was slow and if leaves yellowed, be generous with fertilizer.

Michigan State University recommends one pound of well-balanced fertilizer for each inch of trunk diameter for trees under six inches in diameter; three pounds per diameter inch for trees more than six inches.

Punch holes in circles starting two feet from the trunk and extending outward every two feet until just beyond the branches.

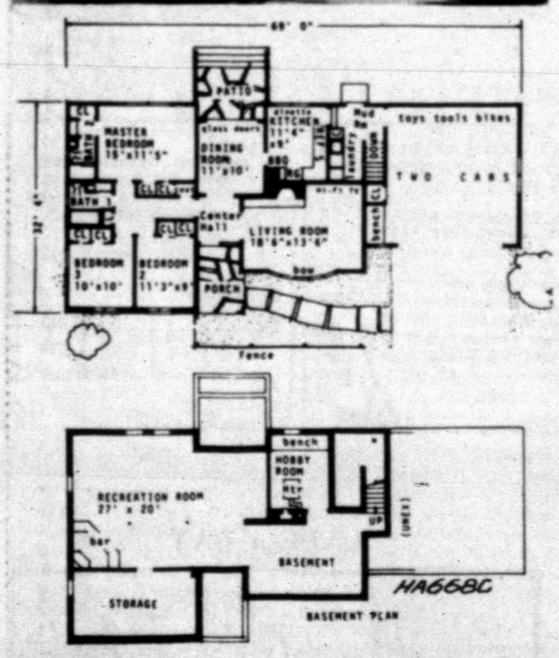

The holes should be 18 inches deep, 1½ inches in diameter and two feet apart. Water for two hours before inserting fertilizer evenly among holes, then water for an hour and refill holes with sand and peat.

Plant Vacation

Give your house plants a summer vacation by putting them outdoors—in the shade. If they are in clay pots, bury the pot, which may be cleaned in the fall before being returned indoors. If you take the plant out of the pot in spring or summer before planting, you probably will have to trim the roots before repotting.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

WIDE RANCH: The center hall plan gives this wide ranch house a circulation pattern usually found in much larger homes. All areas gain privacy, with the three-bedroom wing set off from the living, dining and kitchen areas. The dining room opens to a sheltered patio at the rear. Plan HA 668C has 1,085 square feet and was designed by Architect Lester Cohen, Room 704, 48 West 48th Street, New York, N.Y. 10036.

Prime Rate Changes Have Long-Term Impact

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A prime nuisance is the prime rate. It seldom stays still, having moved 16 times in the past 30 months. And every time it moves there's a to-do that no other bank news, aside from a major holdup, can produce.

Administration comment is solicited. Other banks comment, sometimes without being solicited. Corporations commend decreases, decry increases. And the public asks what's it all about.

Good question. The immediate impact on the millions is nil, because the prime rate applies to prime customers, which are corporations rather than people. But the long-term impact can be great.

Higher borrowing costs eventually may be passed on as higher prices. And, of course, if the best bank customers must pay more, you may be sure that it isn't good news for those lower on the credit-rating scale.

Generally speaking, a rise indicates that loan demand exceeds supply, a situation often interpreted as forecasting economic contraction. A drop in the rate suggests that money is plentiful and that economic expansion can be expected.

Within the past week the First Pennsylvania Banking & Trust Co. initiated a rate increase to 5.75 per cent from 5.5 per cent, and while most commercial banks failed to follow, some bankers feel it is only a matter of time before they do so.

To John Bunting, PB&T president, there is no mystery involved in the move.

"Our loan demand has been strong. The money center banks have not had the same increase in demand. We're up 20 per cent from a year ago. Very few New York banks could make that statement."

To a company such as General Motors, which might borrow $20 million, a one-quarter point rate change could make a difference. Conceivably, it could make a customer reconsider its intention to borrow.

Has Bunting's move hurt his bank, as you would expect it to? You might think it should, but your thinking may be too simplistic, too logical. This prime rate business is really a mysterious thing.

"You would think there would be few reasons to borrow from us," said Bunting, "but it hasn't affected us."

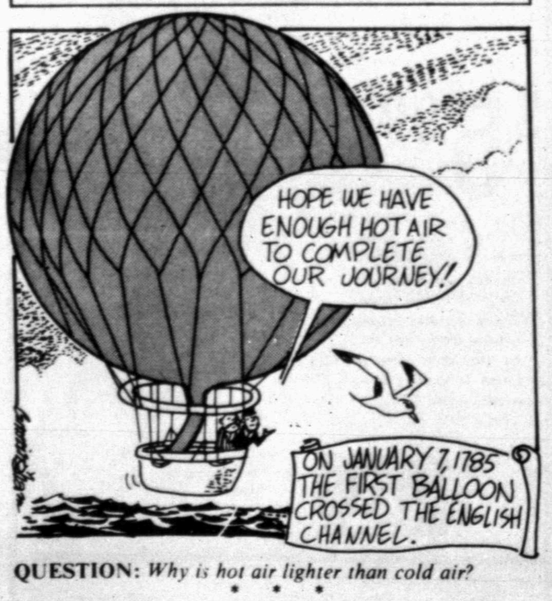

Hang On To That Kaiser

DETROIT (AP) — If your car is Kaiser or a Frazer, hang onto it. According to the president of the Kaiser-Frazer Owners Club, the car will be worth what you originally paid for it by 1980.

National President Kenneth B. Mercicle of Belleville, who owns eight of the old cars with the buffalo ornament on the hood, says collectors have driven the price to within $1,000 of the original $3,500 cost. The car has been out of production 15 years.

The Kaiser-Frazer Owners Club, Mercicle said, now has 1,300 members.

Junior Editors Quiz on AIR

QUESTION: Why is hot air lighter than cold air?

* * *

ANSWER: Air is a mixture of several gases. Nitrogen and oxygen make up about 99 per cent of the total volume of air. The remaining 1 per cent consists of carbon dioxide, hydrogen, ozone and small quantities of rare gases.

Except at the very uppermost levels of the atmosphere, air is in constant motion. Like all gases, air expands and grows lighter when it is warmed and becomes heavier when it is cooled. When a field is heated by the sun, the air above it becomes warm and light and then moves upward. Heavier or cold air pushes downward and in turn is heated. The constant up-and-down movements of warm and cold air are called convection.

Man is a warm-blooded animal having a body temperature of 98.6. Food and clothing serve to retain the normal body heat. In regions which are cold in the winter, it is necessary to provide some method of indoor heat. The first heating systems were open fires in crude caves, then the fireplace developed, followed by stoves. The early form of heating was based on convection.

Most modern systems of central heating are also developed on the theory of convection. The hot air furnace heats the layer of air near the floor, then hot air rises to be replaced by cooler air. The hot water and steam systems work on the same principle. The radiator heats the layer of air around it and then the heated air rises to be replaced by cold air. 6-18

Things We Could Do Without

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could do without:

"His" and "her" chair recliners.

[illegible] on the population explosion.

Gem-studded identity tags for pampered pet dogs.

New ways to lose weight "as if by magic" or to keep trim and "fit as a tiger" by exercising only 3½ minutes every day.

Any form of auto racing.

Any new kind of amusement for people under 40. They are already in danger of being amused to death or exhaustion.

People who are more stirred to indignation by cruelty to animals than by cruelty to children.

Anymore night talk shows on television during which famous guests show bad taste by examining their moral freckles on camera.

Anymore taxes on anything.

Martinis with a ratio of more than 5 to 1.

All marriages performed in weird places or while the participants are doing unusual things—such as skin diving, touring a gold mine, or water skiing.

Big game hunters who shoot wild buffalo, lions and elephants simply in order to have in their trophy room a bigger stuffed head than their own.

Three-tone sport shoes.

Guys who bleach a streak of blonde in their dark hair in the deluded hope this will make them look excitingly young.

Girls who do the same thing in the addled belief this will make them look desperately attractive.

Babies who wait until the middle of the night to have an attack of hiccups when, if they had any sense of human cooperation or filial responsibility, they could hiccup in the middle of the afternoon.

Winter colds in summer and summer colds in winter.

People who buy something they don't need merely because the price of it went up since the day before yesterday—and may cost even more tomorrow.

Dull razor blades and duller comedians.

Girls with see-through blouses who aren't worth looking at, let alone seeing through.

Listening to a pompous high school graduation speaker tell the class to "live dangerously." Is there any other possible way for them to live in this century?

From these and other do-withouts, deliver us, Amen.

Maxwell Is Guest Professor

Alpine, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Ross A. Maxwell, the first superintendent of Big Bend National Park, was appointed guest professor of geology for the second six week summer session at Sul Ross State University.

Dr. Maxwell is senior author of the volume, "Geology of the Big Bend National Park, Brewster County, Texas." The latest revised edition was published in 1967 by the University of Texas Press. His research into the geology of the Big Bend began more than 30 years ago.

Dr. Maxwell was appointed superintendent of the national park a year after its creation in 1943 and left the National Park Service in 1952 to become a research scientist for the Bureau of Economic Geology at the University of Texas at Austin. He retired in 1969.

Prior to his appointment to Big Bend National Park, he was a research geologist in charge of research of National Park Service areas in Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

Mary Hopkin Settles Issue

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles' prettiest protege, Mary Hopkin, is speaking again to the Beatles.

At least, she will when she sees them again.

The Welsh songbird, who shot to fame with the multimillion selling record "Those Were the Days," hasn't seen a single Beatle for six months.

That led to "a lack of communication," her manager, Stan Sherrington, said today.

So much so that one record company got the idea Miss Hopkin had switched to its label from the Beatles' Apple label.

"I don't know who got the idea I was leaving the Beatles' company," Miss Hopkin said at the lavishly appointed Apple offices in London's Savile Row. "It's all settled now and I am staying put."

Though Ceylon is the world's second largest producer of tea, exceeded only by India, its major export formerly was cinnamon.

Harris Takes Opening Lead

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — The odds against the opening round leader winning the U.S. Open Golf championship are staggering, but quiet, easy going Labron Harris is happy he's in a position to take the gamble.

The 29-year-old Harris, who has never won a professional golf tour championship, shot a three under par 35-32—67 Thursday to lead the field by one stroke in the 71st annual National Open.

In the previous 70 years of the Open, the world's most prized championship, only 13 first round leaders, or 18 per cent, have been on top at the finish, including last year's winner, Tony Jacklin of England.

Breathing down Harris' neck after the first 18 holes around the 6,544-yard Merion course were Lanny Wadkins, the 1970 U.S. Amateur champion, and oldsters Doug Sanders and Bob Goalby, each with two under par 68s. Bracketed another stroke back at 69 were Jim Colbert, PGA champion Jack Nicklaus and Bobby Nichols.

There were 10 at par 70, including former Open champion Lee Trevino, Masters king Charles Coody, Tom Weiskopf, Dale Douglass, and Chi Chi Rodriguez.

Arnold Palmer shot three over par 73, and two time Open Champion Billy Casper 74. Gary Player carded a 76 and the South African was heckled by two black spectators over his nation's apartheid policy.

Harris, a former National Amateur champion, had eight one putt greens—five in succession—and took only 29 shots on the slick fast greens of historic Merion, home of two previous U.S. Open championships. He missed four times from six feet or less.

Harris was an early starter, posted his lead and then sat back and watched the field try to catch him.

Larry Hinson was five under par through 13 holes and then fell apart. Merion's yawning traps, ankle high rough and tricky greens enveloped the North Carolinian. He took four bogeys and a double bogey on the final five holes, losing six strokes and winding up even par for the day.

Behind Hinson, the 40-year-old Goalby, who had missed the cut in half of the 18 tournaments he started this year, cut four strokes off par before a double bogey cut him down at the 17th.

Defending champion Tony Jacklin posted a five over par 75, despite an eagle on the par five second hole when he chipped in from 157 feet. He took 36 putts and the longest he made was five feet. "You can't putt like that on this course and expect to score," he said.

The long hitting Nicklaus felt he played better than his 69, asserting, "It's not a good score from where I put it (the ball). I should have had 66 or 67."

Palmer was far from happy with his 73. "I let five or six iron shots get away," he lamented. "I putted very poorly—missed five or six inside 15 feet."

Bass Tourney Is Underway

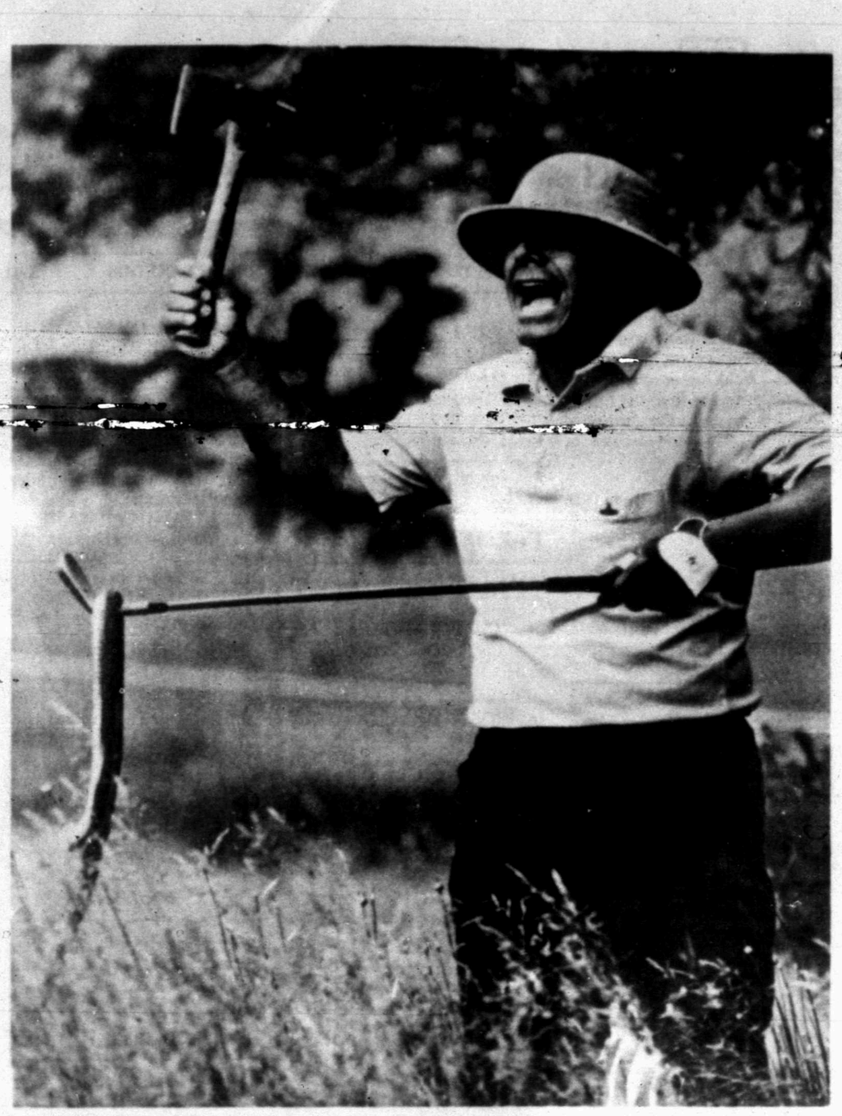

JASPER, Tex. (AP) — A 37-year-old real estate salesman from Memphis, Tenn., has captured the opening day lead in the $9,500 Texas National Bass tournament on Sam Rayburn Reservoir.

Fred Brist, one of the 15 anglers out of 134 to catch the 10 bass limit, was the leader with a 21 pound, eight ounce total.

Tom Mann of Eufaula, Ala., the top-ranked national bass angler, was second with 20 pounds, seven ounces, and a limit of 10.

The day's top bass and a $70 bonus was taken by Billy Dickson of El Dorado, Ark., who netted a six pound, eight ounces.

The tournament continues today and Saturday. The winner will gain $3,000.

Minnesota Stops ChiSox In 11th

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins won a baseball game, by George.

It wasn't easy. They spotted Chicago two leads and George Mitterwald doubled their pleasure with two saving hits.

"I've just been swinging good," said Mitterwald after an early game-tying home run and a late winning single as the Twins toppled the Chicago White Sox 7-6 in 11 wild innings Thursday night.

Mitterwald's run-scoring hit in the 11th, his fourth safety of the game, capped a four-run burst that rubbed out Chicago's three-run rally in its half of the frame.

Joe Horlen, the third White Sox pitcher of the inning who unsuccessfully tried to halt the Twins tide, sure enough didn't let Mitterwald hit to left.

He hit to right-center instead, some 400 feet away, and sent home the winning run.

In Thursday night's other American League games, the Detroit Tigers beat the Cleveland Indians 4-3; the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the New York Yankees 3-1 and the Kansas City Royals thumped the California Angels 5-0.

Only two games were played in the National League. The Chicago Cubs bounced the St. Louis Cardinals 7-6 in 10 innings and the Cincinnati Reds stopped the Atlanta Braves 5-1.

Mitterwald had missed four games with a pulled muscle in his left leg, but the pain didn't curb his desire to play, according to Twins Manager Bill Rigney.

Tony Oliva's two-run single with the bases loaded scored Minnesota's first two runs and Rich Reese chased home another with a sacrifice fly to tie the contest. Then Mitterwald, who homered in the sixth to create a 3-3 tie, ripped "the longest single of my career" to send in Oliva.

Pinch-hitter Mike Andrews had delivered a two-out tie-breaking double in the top of the 11th to spark the three-run up-rising and give the White Sox a short-lived 6-3 lead.

Bill Freehan hit two doubles and winning pitcher Les Cain drove in a run for Detroit as the Tigers snapped a six-game winning streak for Cleveland ace Sam McDowell.

Cain's fifth-inning single gave the Tigers their first of two runs in that inning and a triple by Norm Cash and Freehan's double knocked in the fourth and decisive run in the eighth. McDowell, who lost his sixth in 13 decisions, was tagged for nine hits in six innings.

Ellie Hendricks hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning to pull Baltimore's East Division Leaders over New York. The blow cleared the center field fence after bouncing off leaping Bobby Murcer's glove. Pat Dobson pitched a five-hitter for the Orioles.

The Kansas City Royals scored three runs in the first inning on four hits to back Dick Drago's six-hitter. Drago, who shut out Boston in his last assignment, became the first Royal to ever pitch consecutive shutouts.

Cookie Rojas, Kansas City's veteran second baseman, collected the 1,000th hit of his major league career with a seventh-inning single off reliever Mel Queen.

Don Kessinger, who doubled in the eighth inning and scored the tying run, opened the 10th with his sixth hit and came in with the winning run on Ron Santo's single for the Cubs.

Jim McGlothlin scattered seven hits to complete his first game of the season and Lee May knocked in three runs for Cincinnati. McGlothlin, after giving up a run in the first, retired 15 Braves in a row before Ralph Garr's two-out single in the sixth.

Trojans Repeat As Champions

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Timely hitting has given Southern California its seventh College World Series baseball title.

"They got hits with men on base, we didn't, it's that simple," said Southern Illinois Coach Richard "Itchy" Jones after his team was beaten 7-2 by the top-ranked Trojans Thursday night.

For the Rod Dedeaux-coached Trojans it was their third College World Series championship in the last four years, and, marked only the second time in the 25 years of the tournament that a team has won consecutive titles. Texas did it in 1949-50.

"It was tougher than the score indicated," said Dedeaux, whose team for the second straight year came back through the losers bracket to the title.

Junior All-America Steve Busby muffled the hard-hitting Southern Illinois attack by allowing just eight scattered singles.

The game was one of redemption for the right-hander, too. He was knocked out by Southern Illinois Sunday in the second round as Southern Cal lost 8-3.

Southern Illinois, which lost to USC in the title game 4-3 in 1968, clipped Busby for a 1-0 lead in the second inning, but then was held scoreless until the ninth as USC went on top 7-1.

Mavericks To Meet Cowboys

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — University of Texas at Arlington Athletic Director Chena Gilstrap has announced a two-year football agreement for UTA to meet Oklahoma State.

The Mavericks, formerly the Rebels, will play the Cowboys Sept. 16, 1972 and Sept. 15, 1973, with both games in Stillwater, Okla.

It will be the first time UTA will play a member of the Big Eight Conference in football.

Trinity Star Eliminated

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — UCLA's top-seeded Jeff Borowiak, who is seeking a second straight singles title in the NCAA tennis championships, battled Roscow Tanner of Stanford today in the semifinals at the University of Notre Dame.

Jimmy Connors and Haroon Rahim, both teammates of Borowiak at UCLA, collided in the other semifinals match.

Borowiak and Rahim plus Connors and Jeff Austin also won doubles matches in Thursday's quarter-finals to give the Bruins a pair for the semis.

Southern Cal and Trinity of Texas also advanced in the doubles competition.

The lineup for the semifinals clinched a second straight title for UCLA which began the day with 31 points. Trinity trailed with 26 and Rice was third at 23.

Borowiak swept to a 6-2, 6-2 triumph over freshman Eddie Dibbs, No. 13 seed from Miami, Fla., in the quarter-finals.

Rahim the Pakistan Davis Cup star, had to scramble for his 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 victory over Rice freshman Harold Solomon.

It took Connors, the No. 2 seed, two hours and 45 minutes to dispose of Trinity's Bob McKinley 6-2, 4-6, 7-5.

Tanner ranked No. 3, captured a straight set decision, 6-3, 6-4 against Brian Gottfried of Trinity.

'Horn Golfer Is Out Front

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — David Price, a 21-year-old University of Texas golfer, leads the field by three strokes going into today's second round of the 43rd annual men's West Texas Golf Tournament.

Price carded two eagles and a pair of birdies in a five-under-par front nine and then went on to post an eight-under-par 63, giving the Odessan the lead over Ron Travis of Dallas, Donnie Johnson of Lubbock and Gene Boyd of Plainview, who all had 66s.

Shooting 69 on the 6,306 yard Plainview Country Club layout were three-time champion Jack Williams of Plainview, 1966 champ Dave Lawson of Lubbock and 1960 winner Dean Strack of Midland.

FL Cubs Clip Cardinals 14-3

The Cubs clipped the Cardinals 14-3 in a Farm League tilt in Towle Park last night.

Cub batters rapped 10 hits, including a single and a triple by Ricky Lamb, two doubles by Vic Valentine, a double by Robert Hernandez and a single, and a double by Chuck Bane. Gary Neuman and Justin Hamilton each singled.

For the Cards, Gary Eckert hit three singles while Walt Williams, Don Bennett and G. G. Miller each socked one.

Charlie Davis of Wake Forest led the Atlantic Coast Conference in basketball scoring last season with 690 points and a 26.5 game average.

Cardinals, A's Overpower Foes

Credit the Cardinals with an outstanding performance in the Little League last night in Towle Park. They blanked the Cubs 12-0 with an 11-hit barrage.

Card pitcher Ricky Beard fired a no-hitter. He also aided his own cause with a grand slam home run and a single. However, the batting heroics of Randy Browning overshadowed Beard's performance. Randy clouted three home runs and batted in eight runs. Sid Everton doubled for the Cards while Tres Falls and Terry Franks each hit two singles. Randy Courtney came through with one single.

The athletics also looked sharp last night in their 11-1 decision over the Yankees. Yankee pitcher Richard Crayton yielded just three singles by Jerry Horne, Dee Vaughan and John Velasquez.

Athletic batters rapped out six hits, including home runs by Toney Cobb and by Dale Hobbs. Royce Corbell doubled and Richard Crayton hit two singles. Charles Cobb also singled.

Spurs Stick Giants 9-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Natural, man-made and unknown phenomena shared the Dixie Association spotlight Thursday night.

Rain caused postponement of three games, late-inning heroics highlighted three others and two power failures caused 40 minutes' delays during the Montgomery-Shreveport game.

Gene Spatz hit a solo homer in the eighth inning for Montgomery, breaking a 6-6 tie and beating the Captains 7-6. Spatz' blast came just before the second power failure, perhaps an omen for Shreveport, which dropped 10 games below .500 in the Central Division.

Late heroics also came from Albuquerque's Gary Moore, whose two-run double in the ninth inning enabled the Dodgers to nip San Antonio 6-5, and from Enos Cabell of Dallas-Fort Worth, whose grand slam homer in the sixth wiped out a four-run deficit for the Spurs en route to a 9-4 triumph over the Amarillo Giants.

With the victory Dallas-Fort Worth pulled into a tie with Amarillo for the Dixie West lead.

In the only other game not lost to the elements, Charlotte blanked Dixie Central leader Arkansas 5-0. Charlotte pitcher Steve Luebber ran his record to 9-1 as he twirled a three-hitter.

The rainouts were Memphis at Columbus, Birmingham at Savannah and Dixie East leader Asheville at Jacksonville.

Rebels, Buffs Win Jr. Tilts

The Rebels beat the Oilers 3-0 and the Buffs whacked the Bullets 9-4 in two Junior Teenage League games held last night in Towle Park.

Reb pitcher Tim Jones gave up only two singles--to Barry Keller and to Hubert Crayton. The Rebs also only collected two hits-singles by Widgeon Emerson and by Jones.

Jerry Bob Lee tripled and Larry Mosier doubled for the Buffs. Buff hurler Tim Flynn and Bullet pitcher V. T. Roberson each gave up only two hits. Roberson doubled and Clay Hill singled for the Bullets.

Angels Bomb Reds, 15-2

The Angels bombarded the Reds 15-2 in a Minor League baseball clash in Towle Park Thursday night.

Bobby Roemisch hit a single and a double to spark the Angel attack. David Minyard added a single to the Angel cause.

Angel pitcher John Smylie twirled a no-hitter. However, the game lasted only two innings. The Angels built a 10-2 lead in the 1st inning and never were seriously threatened.

The New York Knicks last season earned $30,000 as a team for the best won and lost record in the NBA East, $32,000 for beating Atlanta in the playoff and $30,000 when eliminated by Baltimore.

SAY CRITICISM NOT JUSTIFIED

Altus Townfolk Proud Of 'Their' C5 Base

By BILL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

ALTUS AIR FORCE BASE, Okla. (AP) — The scream of jet engines shattered the stillness of the southwest Oklahoma plains country, and a giant shadow flitted over the parched landscape.

Few people in this city of 25,000 even glanced up as the plane swooped down in the distance, and then roared off again into the sky, its angle of climb seemingly impossible for something so big.

It's become old hat now, and few even comment on it. But the townsfolk are mighty proud that "their" base is the only place in the world where the crews are trained for the C5 transport, the world's largest airplane.

The townspeople and the men who fly this giant workhorse of the sky don't agree with the criticism that the plane isn't worth what it cost.

"The criticism by some members of Congress isn't justified," said Col. George M. Wentsch, commander of the 443rd Military Airlift Wing (training), the group responsible for teaching the crews how to handle the plane. "There have been no more modifications required than on a normal plane, when you consider the size.

"Of course, because of its size, there are that many more things that can go wrong. And because of its size, the maintenance presents some unusual problems. For instance, it takes a 20-ton crane to change the gear door."

Ascending costs in the production of the plane, turned out by the Lockheed-Georgia Co. of Marietta, Ga., caused much congressional outcry. The total cost of the 81 C5s planned by the Air Force will be more than $3.5 billion, $1.2 billion more than originally envisioned for 120 C3s.

About three dozen of the planes have been delivered. Two have caught fire, and the Air Force estimated it cost about $6.48 million to strengthen the wings of the C5 to guard against potential wing cracks which turned up in one plane last year.

Wentsch says the C5 hasn't required any more modifications than the C141, its airlift companion. The estimated cost of each plane is $50 million, but Wentsch said that includes the total system, such as training devices and spare parts.

"The per-unit cost will come down as more planes come off the line.

"It's a fantastic plane. It can carry 98 per cent of everything the Army owns."

Col. Robert G. Caesar, the wing's deputy commander for operations, said this ability of the C5 to carry virtually every type of Army equipment is what makes it worth so much to the military.

"We can carry fully assembled helicopters, off-load them and have them in the air in a matter of minutes," Caesar said. "On any other plane, we fly them there, but then they have to be assembled before they can be flown.

"This way, we get them there in the way they're able to do the most good."

The first C5 was delivered to Altus on Dec. 17, 1969, the anniversary of the Wright brothers' first flight at Kill Devil Hills, N.C.

There are six C5s at Altus now, and 14 are fully operational at Charleston AFB in South Carolina. Five are at Travis AFB near Oakland.

Since that first C5 came here, the training groups have turned out 383 crewmen, including pilots, copilots and navigators. The loadmasters—the men who see to loading and unloading the planes—are being trained elsewhere now, but a new building to train them here is to start going up soon.

It takes an average of eight weeks' training to turn out the C5 pilots, and there are four classes at a time going through the school in different stages. They begin in the classroom, then go into the flight simulators before boarding one of the planes.

"If a pilot is going to crash, it's a lot better for him to do it on the simulator than in the $50-million aircraft," said Lt. Col. Kenneth E. Klein, commander of the technical training squadron.

"By the time he's finished his ground training, the pilot—and all the other crewmen—have been through any type of emergency they're ever likely to run up against. And they've learned to handle it, and learned in a way that they don't hurt themselves or damage a plane," Klein said.

Then, too, there's the cost factor. The trainees can "fly" the simulator at a cost of about $60 to $70 an hour, compared with about $1,000 an hour for the C5.

The simulators are in use 20 hours a day, seven days a week as the pilots, copilots, engineers and navigators learn their trades.

The inside of the simulator is exactly like the inside of the C5 flight deck. All the instruments are there, and all of them work. And the simulator banks and lifts—slightly—and gives the same sensation as the flight of the plane.

There's even the jet noise, and it raises and lowers as the throttles are advanced and brought back. When the inboard engines are reversed to slow down the plane, the simulator vibrates just like the real plane does.

The only difference is that you can't see out the forward windows. That area is covered, and switches controlled by the instructors can give the illusion of daylight or night, cloudy or clear weather outside. A flip of a switch turns on a thunderstorm.

"It's pretty realistic," said Maj. Joseph G. Germani, a pilot instructor. "I've seen men come out of that simulator in a cold sweat after several emergencies were thrown at them."

On one simulator flight a landing was made, and the shock when the wheels touched the make-believe runway rattled the entire cabin.

By contrast, on an actual flight, the C5 touched down so lightly that the bump was hardly felt. And a first-time C5 flyer, looking out the flight deck window three stories above the ground, was hard-pressed to believe the plane was really down.

The pilots are programmed for 40 hours of flying time in the C5, but the instructors say very few men ever need that much. By the time they've finished with the classroom work and "flying" in the simulator, they have the feel of the plane and don't need to spend that much time in the sky.

When the instructor feels the pilot—and the other crewmen being trained—are ready, they are graduated.

By the end of March, the training wing had graduated 195 pilots, 177 flight engineers and 101 navigators for the C5.

The cargo area of the C5 is a hollow cavern 121 feet long by 19 feet wide and 13 feet high. On a test, one C5 took aboard a complete Minuteman missile and its truck, and flew away.

The nose of the C5 flips up and the back opens full width. In that way, tanks or trucks can be driven in one end, flown to their destination and driven straight out the other end.

To make the loading and unloading easier, the 28 wheels can be partially retracted while the C5 is on the ground, making the plane "kneel" for quicker access.

"Everyone is surprised at the size of this aircraft when he first sees it, no matter how much he has heard about it," said Germani. "The ladder to the flight deck is three times as long as the ladder into most other planes."

The fact is, it takes two ladders to reach the flight deck. The first reaches only up to the cargo area, and a second leads to the flight deck three floors above the ground.

The flight deck has space for six crewmen, bunks for a relief crew of six, seats for eight VIP passengers, a galley and a restroom.

"The payload of the C5 is about 225,000 pounds," Germani said. That's equal to about 56 station wagons; six Greyhound buses could park inside.

Behind and above the cargo area is another world, with 75 airliner-type seats used by the Army personnel who man and maintain the equipment being transported by the C5. In this compartment is another, larger galley and two restrooms.

"This way we get the men and their equipment to the same place at the same time," said Lt. Col. James J. Stoneburner, operations officer for the 56th Military Airlift Squadron.

It takes an acre of land to park a C5, with its wingspread of 222 feet and its length of 247 feet. If it were set down on a football field the nose would be on one nine-yard line, and tail on the other and the wingtips would be into several rows of spectators.

Daniel Is Expected To Run

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP) — State Rep. Price Daniel Jr. says he could be described as "expected to be a candidate" for speaker of the House of Representatives.

Daniel reserved a formal announcement of his plans until a Monday conference in Austin.

"If I reveal what I'm going to do and you report, it nobody will be there," Daniel said Thursday of the Monday meeting. "I can't say anymore than that now, but you can speculate as much as you want and probably come fairly close."

Daniel took strong stabs at incumbent Speaker Gus Mutscher and State Rep. Rayford Price, two other announced candidates, at a Democratic meeting.

Daniel said the big issue, should he decide to run, would be reforms and procedures of the Texas House.

Daniel said Price claimed to back reforms but he has always voted against them. "Now even Mutscher is talking about reform," Daniel said, "that's kind of strange since he stepped on and killed changes ever since he's been speaker."

Rev. D. L. Nipp will preach over the Colorado City radio station at 2 p.m. Sunday. His sermon topic will be "This I Believe" (Be you doers of the word and not yours only deceiving your own self. I went out full and the Lord has brought me home again empty.)

Contract Let For Semi-Trailers

BRADY, Tex. (AP)—The Loadcraft Division of Allied Products has received a $1.2 million contract from the Department of the Army to construct semi-trailers.

The announcement came from Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., Thursday.

The contract calls for the production of 211 12-ton, four-wheel semi-trailers. The work will be performed at Curtis Field here.

'Queen Of Zoo' Dies Tuesday

By RICHARD BEENE
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The whooping crane population has dropped by one with the death of a lanky bird named "Rosie." She may have been simply the victim of old age.

"We don't live forever, you know," said San Antonio Zoo director Louis R. DiSabato.

Officials disclosed Thursday that Rosie, popularly nicknamed "queen of the zoo," died the day before of undetermined causes.

"It could have been nothing but her particular age," DiSabato said.

Rosie already was an adult in 1966 when captured on a ranch near the Central Texas town of Lometa, so her age never was determined.

Drought gripping Texas and a sudden, heavy rain Tuesday may have been factors in her death, DiSabato said. The body will be sent to the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center at Laurel, Md., for studies to determine why she died.

Rosie's only offspring, "Tex," now lives at Patuxent.

Her mate, "Crip," is still here at the zoo and officials are keeping a close watch on the rare crane—one of only about 84 in existence, according to recent Patuxent estimates.

"Just the fact that Rosie is gone may affect him physically," DiSabato said.

Rosie and Crip became mates in 1966. DiSabato said they were the only pair of adult whooping cranes in any zoo.

From their first two eggs in 1967 to the last eight in 1970, Rosie and Crip served as examples of the difficulties their breed faces.

Noting that only Tex survived out of a total of 20 eggs since 1967, DiSabato said this is "a good indicator that over the centuries that the whooping crane has existed...They must have had as much or more difficulty in the wild."

When Rosie laid her first two eggs, both hatched but one of the parents accidentally stepped on one of the chicks, killing it. Tex was the survivor.

Other misfortunes befell Rosie and Crip. They accidentally broke an egg in 1969. At least nine of their eggs through the years were infertile. A chick dubbed "Firecracker" was hatched on July 5, 1969, but it had slipped tendons in both legs and died six days later.

They lost one of their eggs last year when a rainstorm flooded their nest. The egg was rescued, but it exploded later in an incubator from a buildup of gases inside the shell.

One reason the zoo is concerned about Crip is his age. DiSabato said Crip may be older than Rosie was—and she may have been as much as 40 years old.

Documents Safe In Library

AUSTIN (AP) — The Lyndon B. Johnson Library has its copy of the Pentagon report on Vietnam locked safely in a heavy vault, the library's director says.

That's the highly classified report that appeared this week in the pages of the New York Times until a court injunction halted its publication.

Library director Harry Middleton said he "instinctively did a double check to insure we had it in the vault" after stories about the "leaded" documents appeared.

"And indeed we did," he said.

Middleton said the Federal Bureau of Investigation has not visited the library in its search for the source of the leak.

The 7,000-page, 47-volume report is one of about two million classified papers locked in vaults at the library, Middleton said.

The report has been part of the library's collection since 1969, before the present library building was completed.

Middleton said that the papers cannot be used for research work, except by those on the staff with a need to use them, until they are re-classified.

Texans Vote On Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is how Texans voted in the House Thursday on a proposal to urge a Dec. 31 deadline for the Southeast Asia war.

Democrats for: Eckhardt.

Republicans for: Collins.

Democrats against: Brooks, Burleson, Cabell, Casey, de la Garza, Dowdy, Fisher, Kazen, Mahon, Patman, Pickle, Poage, Purchell, Roberts, Teague, White Wright, Young.

Republicans against: Archer, Price.

The House defeated the proposal by a 254 to 158 vote.

Canceled Speech Rescheduled

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith's once-canceled "State of the State" television message has been re-scheduled for Sunday.

Smith made the announcement Thursday night at a meeting of the Capital Area Planning Council, a regional government organization. Smith said details of television coverage had not been completed.

Smith mysteriously canceled the original show Wednesday. It had been scheduled for airing Thursday night.

Smith claimed the originally scheduled program was canceled because necessary arrangements could not be made on time.

But this did not satisfy many observers who had noted Smith's enthusiasm in promoting the telecast.

There was speculation he canceled the program because of rumors that a federal grand jury in Houston might issue a report Thursday implicating him in the National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock "scandal."

But the grand jury did not issue a report, and federal officials said it might be a week or more before it did.

U. S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez said Wednesday he had been informed by "reliable" sources that the federal grand jury would indict Smith, Speaker Gus Mutscher and State Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum in connection with the alleged stock manipulations.

Composer Is Hospitalized

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Composer Rudolf Friml has been admitted to a hospital for what his doctors say is a routine physical examination.

A hospital spokesman said Thursday that Friml's doctors thought "that any man who's 91 years old and never had a thorough physical should have one."

Composer of the "Vagabond King," "Rose Marie," and the "Three Musketeers," Friml immigrated to the United States in 1901 from Czechoslovakia.

Milk Program Continued

WASHINGTON (AP) — A popular government program for providing extra milk for school children will be continued next year if Congress puts up the $104 million needed to operate it, the Nixon administration says.

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin announced the decision Thursday. The move signaled an end to attempts by the administration to end the special milk program.

Hardin's announcement said his department "will continue to operate the special milk program as in the past, if the Congress votes to appropriate funds for this purpose" for the 1971-72 school year.

Hardin said the decision was made following talks with President Nixon on the subject. It was announced now, he said, to help states plan child feeding programs for summer schools, camps and year-around day care centers.

For the current year ending June 30 the estimate is for 2.9 billion half-pints of milk to be distributed under the special program.

The Nixon budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 asked that the special milk program be discontinued.

A similar proposal was made by the administration last year, but Congress extended the program, appropriating money to operate it for the 1970-71 year.

The Rocky Mountains aren't regarded as ideal farmland, but soil in the high country supports 4,500 different species of wild plants.
