Almeria Corporation Officers Explain Operation For Rotarians

"A deal isn't a deal until the check clears," said Walter Schmidt, chairman and general counsel for Almeria, Inc. "and, our check hasn't cleared yet."

Schmidt was one of the two guest speakers from Almeria Inc. who spoke to the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday at noon.

Schmidt explained that several things had happened to hold up initial construction of the first phase of a major greenhouse operation expected to be located south of Muleshoe on the Sandarosa Water Field.

One of the problems cited by Schmidt was problems with obtaining gas to heat and cool the large operation. "We've had problems with gas, and are looking for alternative heating sources now," added Schmidt.

He gave the background of Almeria, Inc. saying it started at Almeria, Province of Spain, located on the southeast coast of Spain, backed by the Grenada Mountains.

According to Schmidt, Almeria Spain is geographically much like West Texas.

He projected several pictures of a greenhouse operation at Almeria Spain, which he said Almeria, Inc. would be patterned after south of Muleshoe.

Schmidt also talked about the sophisticated drip system used for watering the organically grown vegetables.

He said 35,000 acres are under covers (greenhouses) at Almeria Spain.

He said Almeria, Inc. surveyed a 150-mile area of West Texas and said Muleshoe has the climate closer to Almeria Spain. The only location that 'beat' Muleshoe as far as climate was concerned was El Paso.

He cited the light around Muleshoe, which would be more conducive to growth; the soil, and the sand; the excellent labor market.

"We can pay fair wages here, that costs less in dollars," added Schmidt.

He also talked about the general market location from Muleshoe to reach out to major cities.

He also talked about the abundant water, which would be located closer to the greenhouse site selected by Almeria, Inc.

Initially, when construction is ready to begin on the first stage, it will encompass 21.42 acres scheduled to grow ethnic and exotic vegetables, targeted for special uses and by ethnic groups.

Clikeman explained the financial structure and said he does "financial modeling."

Clikeman said, "We found a lot of people wanting to buy

Absentee Voting For March Primary

At noon on Tuesday, March 6, three days before the Friday, March 9, deadline for voting absentee, County Clerk Barbara McCamish reported the following absentee ballots cast:

For the Democrats, it was 171 in person and 13 mailed-out.

Republicans show 12 voting in person and four ballots mailed out.

Mrs. McCamish said she expected the fairly heavy vote to continue through until the 5 p.m. deadline on Friday.

MISD Efficiency Study Discussed For Trustees

Monday night, the Muleshoe Independent School District trustees met in the school administration building to face a long meeting.

First speaker after the meeting opened was Dr. Joe Neely, from the Region XVII Service Center at Lubbock.

He was accompanied to Muleshoe by a professor from Texas Tech University.

Dr. Neely spoke to the board about conducting an efficiency study throughout the MISD, from management to transportation and food service.

He explained what the Service Center has been doing as they have developed the efficiency study to be implemented in the 61 schools comprising Region XVII. He said the study has been streamlined, and will not cost the $40,000-$80,000 corporations pay for a similar study, but will be in a "reasonable" range for the schools in the Service area.

He said the study would take 3-4 days, and when completed, the board would know areas that need to be improved.

Although the focus would be on "dollars and cents" spent by the school district, he said the efficiency team would also look at curriculum management.

According to Dr. Neely, the board will be contacted again at their next meeting, with a price for the efficiency study, and to find out what the local district would like the efficiency study to entail, and how detailed the board wishes it to be.

Another item of business concerned the acquisition of a truant officer for the school system.

Following a discussion, during which time Dr. Lawrence Ward, superintendent, said the new juvenile probation officer in Bailey County would be willing to work as truant officer, several items were decided.

I am very proud of "my Mules."

Tuesday night, in the bitter cold, the Muleshoe Mules traveled down to Brownfield to play the Cubs. At the end of the game, Brownfield came out on top, 5-0.

Texas Beef Cook-Off Held At Houston

A flavorful, nutritionally balanced beef soup that highlights Texan and Mexican influences was crowned champion of the 1990 Texas Beef Cook-Off Feb. 17 at Houston.

Winning the $3,000 first prize and an expense paid trip to Seattle, Wash., Sept. 20-22 to compete for National Beef Cook-Off honors was Robin Bonifay, an amateur cook who works for a Dallas petoleum company. Bonifay's winning entry, which she calls "Chunky Mexican Beef Soup," is an original adaptation of Caldo, a popular beef soup in Mexico.

"I grew up in Brownsville, Texas, and learned how to cook the native South Texas dishes," Bonifay said after claiming her prize. "It amazes me that the food we grew up on would, years later, become gourmet specialties. This particular recipe is one such dish. It's a basic, good, down-home soup. No frills."

The basis of the recipe is a home-made beef stock and chunks of chuck pot roast. Bonifay combines the stock and beef chunks with spices and half a dozen vegetables to create a one-dish meal that can be prepared in 20 minutes and takes 75 minutes to cook.

The champion recipe was praised by the cook-off's panel of judges for making good use of the chuck and for its flavor.

Bonifay said her adaptation of the Caldo recipe took form about two or three years ago. Secrets to the recipe's success, she said, are the lean beef of the chuck pot roast, which she trims of any additional fat before cooking, and the home-made beef stock. Store bought beef stock can also be used, she said.

"The soup needs a very rich, flavorful stock to support the rest of the beef in the dish," Bonifay said. "Other than that the recipe makes good use of leftover veggies. You can substitute vegetables like turnips that you have in your refrigerator."

Two other contestants also captured top awards at the Cook-Off.

Doreen G. Howard of Garland won second place and $2,000 for "Bangkok Beef Bundles." Her recipe calls for stir-frying marinated strips of top sirloin and then wrapping them in large Redleaf lettuce leaves. The bundles are served with a tangy dipping sauce.

Third place and $1,000 went to Jean Connor of Palestine, Texas, for her "Off-The-Wall" Fillets with Borscht Salsa. Connor's dish, which was inspired by the tearing down of the Berlin Wall, is an innovative combination of beef tenderloin fillets with pickled beets as components of the Borchst Salsa and as garnish.

The Texas Beef Cook-Off was hosted by Texas CattleWomen and kicked off the 1990 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, the largest show of its kind. Overall, 10 finalists competed for the honor to represent Texas in the indoor competition at the National Beef Cook-Off in Seattle.

For copies of the winning recipes, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to 1990 Texas Beef Cook-off Recipes, C/O Texas Beef Industry Council, Ste. 440, Austin, TX 78731.

CHUNKY MEXICAN BEEF SOUP

2 lbs. chuck pot roast, trimmed of fat and cut into 1" chucks
2 large onions, cut in 8 pieces each
1 tsp. garlic powder
2 tsp ground cumin
2 tbsp. olive oil
4 cups good, strong beef stock, preferably homemade
4 cups water
4 large garlic cloves, minced
salt to taste
½ tsp pepper
1 bunch cilantro, washed well and coarsely chopped (2 cups, loosely packed), divide in half
3 carrots, peeled and cut in 1" chucks
9 red potatoes, scrubbed and halved
4 ears corn, cut in fourths
2 medium zacchini, cut in 1" pieces
flour tortillas

Brown meat with onions, garlic powder and cumin, in oil. Add stock, water, garlic, salt, pepper and half the chopped cilantro. Bring to a boil, cover pot, reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Add carrots, corn and potatoes; continue simmering until tender, about 15-20 minutes. Add zucchini and return to a boil; simmer 5-10 minutes. Zucchini should remain crisp-tender. Add remaining chopped cilantro just before removing from heat. Ladle soup into large, shallow bowls garnish with cilantro sprigs and serve with flour tortillas

Notes: To further reduce fat, prepare soup up to the point of adding zucchini, corn and cilantro and refrigerate overnight; remove any fat that rises to the surface. Bring soup to boil and proceed with recipe.

May also be prepared in an electric slow cooker. Combine ingredients and cook on high about 6 hours (or 8-10 hours on low).

Vegetables Make The Muffin

VEGETABLES MAKE THE MUFFIN

Vegetable muffins?

Vegetables like zucchini and carrots are favorites in cakes and sweet breads so why not in muffins, too?

Spicy Carrot Muffins and Zucchini Nut Muffins, developed by the Martha White Kitchen, start with a convenient and good-for-you oat bran muffin mix. The tender muffins are reminiscent of your favorite carrot cake and zucchini nut bread and add the nutritional benefits of oat bran, too.

"Consumers are looking for new and interesting ways to include oat bran in their diets," says Linda Carman, Director of Consumer Affairs for Martha White Foods. "Recipes that simply add a few ingredients to the basic oat bran muffin mix offer a wide range of options beyond the morning bowl of oatmeal."

Great-tasting Zucchini Nut Muffins are chock-full of grated Zucchini, chopped nuts, and cinnamon. And the oat bran muffin mix adds a nutty whole-grain flavor as well as four grams of soluble fiber to each serving.

Spicy Carrot Raisin Muffins are just as easy to prepare. The recipe combines the oat bran muffin mix with grated carrots, naturally sweet raisins and cinnamon. For those watching their cholesterol intake, the muffins can be prepared using the convenient low-cholesterol variation which substitutes skim milk for whole milk and two egg whites for the whole egg.

Remember, when preparing muffins in dark, nonstick pans which absorb more heat than shinny pans, reduce the oven temperature by 25° F (from 450° F to 425° F). The lower temperature will ensure perfectly baked muffins.

ZUCCHINI NUT MUFFINS

1 egg or 2 egg whites
½ cup milk or skim milk
1 package (7 ounces) Martha White Oat Bran Muffin Mix
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup grated zucchini
½ cup chopped walnuts

Preheat oven to 450° F. (For dark nonstick pans, preheat oven to 425° F.) Grease muffin cups. Beat egg or egg whites in medium mixing bowl. Stir in milk until blended. Add muffin mix and cinnamon, stirring just until blended. Gently fold in Zucchini and walnuts. Spoon batter into prepared muffin cups, filling each ⅔ full. Bake for 14 to 16 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 6 to 9 muffins.

SPICY CARROT RAISIN MUFFINS

1 egg or 2 egg whites
½ cup milk or skim milk
1 package (7 ounces) Martha White Oat Bran Muffin Mix
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup grated carrots
½ cup raisins

Preheat oven to 45o° F. (For dark nonstick pans, preheat oven to 425° F.) Grease muffin cups. Beat egg or egg whites in medium bowl. Add milk and stir to blend. Add muffin mix and cinnamon; stir just until blended. Gently fold in carrots and raisins. Spoon batter into prepared muffin cups, filling each ⅔ full. Bake 14 to 16 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 6 to 9 muffins.

The fruit received in the past has been very good, and we believe that the cheese and sausage combinations will be an attractive addition to this worthwhile project.

Baby Shower Honors Tammy White, Corbin

The parlor of the First Baptist Church was the scene of a baby shower Sunday, March 4 honoring Tammy White and son, Corbin Roland White. Gloria Davis and Devera Albertson greeted the guests between the hours of 2:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Laura Johnson and Valerie Hagerman served white cake, cookies, cheese and crackers, relish tray, strawberry punch and coffee from crystal and silver appointments.

The serving table was covered with a white lace table cloth and accented with a country blue cradle filled with a bear and baby supplies. A dusty rose and country blue color scheme was carried out.

The honoree's corsage was made of yellow and white baby booties.

Special guests were Corbin Roland's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Faye White from Stratford.

The hostesses gift was a Century infant carseat.

Hostesses for the occasion included: Valerie Hageman, Laura Johnson, Gloria Davis, Sharlotte Donaldson, Dana Duncan, Kim Davis, Devera Albertson and Traci Gilbreath.

Senior Citizens

The Muleshoe Senior Citizens met for their regular monthly covered dish luncheon and program on Monday, Feb. 26.

Mae Wilterding presided in the absense of Katie Rubenick, president, who has a broken hip.

Nelda Merriott talked to the group concerning Texas Independence Day, Friday, March 2. The invocation was given by Shermon Inman.

Twenty-four were present including four visitors, Nelda Merriott, Janie Lou Moraw from Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walker from Hobbs, N.M. They presented the program. Walker read about a 12 or 13 year old childs view of China and Mrs. Walker (Joyce) told about going to China with a group of people. Their interest was music. They stated that the Chinese people are friendly, interesting and curious. They showed them their schools, the sign boards, which were all hand made. "She told us many interesting things about China" said Olive Cox, secretary.

Happy birthday was sung to Eva Ashford and Sherman Inman.

Rita Ship gave the closing prayer.

TAXPAYERS' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities

Want to learn more about the property tax system? That's possible by reading a pamphlet the State Property Tax Board has written and made available at the local appraisal district office.

It's called "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities" and it may help you save money. Learn about tax relief available through

- homestead exemptions
- disabled veteran exemptions
- special productivity value for farm, ranch, and timber land
- tax deferral for over-65 homeowners

You'll learn how your property is appraised. That way, you can decide if the appraisal district's value is reasonable.

If you think it isn't, the pamphlet tells you how to prepare an appeal to the appraisal review board. You'll learn the types of protests the appraisal review board can hear and useful evidence to bring to your hearing.

Important dates in the tax year are listed. You'll know what your responsibilities are and when you are obligated to satisfy them.

"Remedies" is free to taxpayers. Ask for yours today at

Creative Living

by: Sheryl Borden

Information on selecting frames and mats, adding new flavors to barbecue, and fitting darts will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, March 13 at 12 noon and Saturday, March 17 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Cathy Crane, nationally-recognized interior design expert, author, and lecturer, is currently representing Deck the Walls in New York. Cathy will explain and demonstrate how to select frames and mats which are appropriate for particular pieces of art. Cathy will also explain and demonstrate how to select frames and mats which are appropriate for particular pieces of art. Cathy will also explain those things you should consider when framing--in other words, how to select a framer, the questions you should ask and how to determine the right frames and mats for different pictures.

Betty Hughes, representing Weber-Stephen Products in Palatine, IL, will explain how to select different woods for barbecue cooking, explain which ones compliment which foods, and also explain the how-to's of grilling. According to Betty, the delightful taste of hickory-smoked turkey or mesquite-grilled steak can be easily duplicated on your outdoor covered grill.

Virginia Nastiuk, owner of Personal Patterns in Bothell, WA, will discuss the role that darts have in fitting. The shaping and placement of darts is the key for achieving success when sewing apparel.

On Tuesday, March 13 at 9:30 p.m. "Creative Living" will not air due to the pledge drive, but will return to its regularly scheduled time on March 20.

On Thursday, March 15 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on exciting table decorations, common chocolate myths, and fasteners for clothing for handicapped individuals.

Christy Waters, Marketing Home Economist with Southwestern Public Service Co. in Lubbock, TX, will demonstrate three different ways to make the dinner table reflect the atmosphere for cajun or creole cooking. This unique style of cooking continues to be one of the most popular types fo ethnic cooking across the country. Cajun table settings range from very casual--using colored comic strips to cover the table--to a very formal setting--complete with silver and china.

Mari Lou Callahan, home economist with Hershey Foods Corp. in Hershey, PA, will dispel many of the myths of chocolates and share some delicious and nutritious recipes using unsweetened cocoa. Chocolate is America's favorite flavor, but myths about chocolate abound, perhaps in the belief that anything that tastes so good must be bad for you.

Dr. Joyce Davis, instructor in the Home Economics Department at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, N.M. is going to discuss several different types of fasteners that can be used in adapting or constructing clothing for persons with special needs. She will display several different options available for clothing for handicapped persons.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the united States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO. Viewers can request copies of materials offered on the show by sending one 25 cent stamp for each handout requested. Send the stamps, along with your name, address and booklets requested to:

vegetables to feed their families and they wanted vegetables that had not had pesticides put on them."

He said millions of pounds of vegetables were expected to be grown, sorted, packed and shipped from Almeria, Inc. at Muleshoe, when the first five acres is put into production.

In response to a question, Clikeman said the initial stages of construction is expected to be completed in around three months from the time construction gets underway.

He also said 46 people, including himself and Walter Schmidt would be employed.

This will include people in gardening, clerks, drivers and security people. Clikeman also said 30-32 people would be entry level and the rest would be skilled jobs.

Before Charles Moraw introduced the two speakers for the day, President Terry Hutto said a new Rotary sweetheart needed to be chosen.

He also asked Rotarians for a current list of 'Senior Active' Rotarians, as the Rotary Monitor was being updated.

He also reminded of the Mule Kicker Relays on Saturday, and reminded Rotarians they needed to be ready to help, and said donations were still being taken for the special Paul Harris Fellow for the late Bob Stovall.

Lawrence Ward was winner of the Polio Plus drawing.

Visiting Rotarians were Barry Knight of the Portales Rotary and Chris Gikas of Texico-Farwell Rotary. Other guests were Noe Anzaldua, J. Fani Schmidt, Patrick Montoya, Gary Glover, Judy Watson and Richard W. Edwards.

PCG Election Will Choose New Director

Bailey County cotton producers and agribusinessmen will elect a businessman director to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at a 7 p.m. meeting on Monday, March 12 in the Bailey County courthouse, Muleshoe.

Announcement of the election comes from John Saylor of Muleshoe, Bailey County producer director to the 25-county cotton organization, and Bennie Claunch of Bula, current businessman director.

Each of the counties in PCG territory has two directors, one a businessman and the other a cotton producer. They are elected on alternate years for two-year terms. Each is eligible for re-election every second year.

All producers and businessmen are invited to the meeting. However, under PCG by-laws, only current dues-paying members of PCG will be eligible to be elected a director or to vote in the election. This provision of the by-laws will be fully explained at the meeting.

A PCG representative will conduct the election, review and answer questions about recent and planned PCG activities.

The juvenile officer was approved for employment in the MISD at a salary of $333 per month.

Dr. Ward told board members that if the new truant officer can keep at least three youngsters in school during the critical school funding month of October, the additional funding would pay his salary for the school year.

Board members unanimously approved employing the juvenile probation officer as truant officer. He will begin his duties immediately.

Gene McCain, assistant high school principal, spoke briefly about a program he is working on to try to help "absenteeism" in high school. He said that absenteeism from high school right now is from 35-60 students per day.

Board members also discussed the upcoming election and named election judges; they took action declaring the schools Tobacco-Free Schools and discussed the 1990-91 school calendar.

Board members also approved new textbooks and set guidelines for selecting the recipient for the "Community Service Award" which will be presented at the May 17, 1990 Board Appreciation Banquet.

Several other items were discussed in the lengthy meeting during the evening.

Carrie Kindle Set To Receive Xerox Award

Water District Amends Water Waste Rules

Amendments to rules defining water waste and open, uncovered wells within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 will take effect as of March 1, 1990.

During their regular February meeting, the District's Board of Directors amended the District's rules to conform with revisions made to Chapter 52 of the Texas Water Code during the 71st Texas Legislative Session in 1989.

Rule 1(h)
Water Waste Definition

The District has amended Rule 1(h) "Definitions, Waste" by deleting certain nonsubstantive words and phrases not included in the Texas Water Code, Chapter 52.001(9) and adding Subsection (6) as follows:

Waste is groundwater pumped for irrigation that escapes as irrigation tailwater onto land other than that of the owner of the well unless permission has been granted by the occupant of the land receiving the discharge. This permission must be in the form of an agreement signed between the parties on a form acceptable to the District. Potential parties to such an agreement are warned that it may obligate the provider to provide a specified supply of water into perpetuity and/or the recipient to accept runoff in whatever quantities and at whatever time the provider chooses. Provisions of any agreement entered into must comply with Rule 1(h)(5).

Rule 1(h)(5)
reads as follows:

Wilfully or negligently causing, suffering, or permitting underground water to escape into any river, creek, natural watercourse, depression, lake, reservoir, drain, sewer, street, highway, road or road ditch, or onto land other than that of the owner of the well.

Rule 1(j)
Open or Uncovered Wells

Amendments to Rule 1(j) remove the well diameters and depths previously used to determine the District's authority in closing an open or uncovered well. The amended rule reads as follows:

Open or Uncovered Well shall mean any artificial excavation drilled or dug for the purpose of exploring for or producing water from the underground water reservoir, not capped or covered as required by these rules.

Rule 16
Open Wells to be Capped

Amended Rule 16 regarding the closing of open wells now reads as follows:

Every owner or operator of any land within the District upon which is located any open or uncovered well is, and shall be, required to close or cap the same permanently with a covering capable of sustaining weight of not less than four hundred (400) pounds, except when said well is in actual use by the owner or operator thereof; and no such owner or operator shall permit or allow any open or uncovered well to exist in violation of this requirement. Officers, agents and employees of the District are authorized to serve or cause to be served written notice upon any owner or operator of a well in violation of this rule, thereby requesting such owner and/or operator to close or cap such well permanently with a covering in compliance with this section. In the event any owner or operator fails to comply with such request within ten (10) days after such written notice, any officer, agent, or employee of the District may go upon said land and close or cap said well safely and securely in a manner complying with this rule, and all reasonable expenditures thereby incurred shall constitute a lien upon the land where such well is located. Any officer, agent, or employee of the District, is authorized to perfect said lien by the filing of the affidavit authorized by Section 52.171 of the Texas Water Code. All of the powers and authority granted in such section are hereby adopted by the District, and its officers, agents, and employees are hereby bestowed with all of such powers and authority.

The full text of District rules and these revisions is available upon request from the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405, or by calling (806) 762-0181.

New equine institute at Texas A&M hopes to benefit racing industry

COLLEGE STATION — An expanding horse industry as a result of parimutuel racing in Texas has spurred the development of a new institute at Texas A&M University that will be a boon to national equine education and research, officials say.

The new Institute for Equine Science and Technology will benefit racing and other aspects of the horse industry, they say.

Members of the founding committee pointed out that the institute's integrated approach to education, research and extension will put the horse program here in a leadership position nationwide by drawing together almost 100 scientists working on various aspects of equine science.

Among the institute objectives are to organize equine science and technology programs at Texas A&M across disciplines and administrative units; to strengthen the quality of equine research, teaching, extension, service and patient care programs through collaborative working arrangements; and to improve the visibility and availability of equine science and technology programs.

EXENCIONES DE RESIDENCIA

PUEDEN REDUCIR LOS IMPUESTOS QUE PAGA POR SU CASA

Una exencion de residencia le ayuda a reducir los impuestos sobre la propiedad que tiene que pagar por su residencia reduciendo el valor que se utiliza como base para calcular sus impuestos. Por ejemplo, si su casa esta valorada de $50,000 y usted recibe una exencion de residencia de $5,000, usted va a pagar impuestos de residencia como si su valor fuese de $45,000.

Usted puede recibir una exencion de residencia si usted era el dueno de su casa el primero de enero y la usaba como su residencia principal en la misma fecha. No importa si su residencia es una casa, un condominio o una casa remolque.

Hay exenciones que cualquier persona que es dueno(a) de su residencia puede usar para rebajar sus impuestos escolares. Exenciones adicionales se ofrecen a duenos de residencia que estan incapacitados o tienen 65 anos o mas. Otras exenciones pueden ofrecerse a propietarios por distritos escolars, condados, ciudades y distritos escolares.

Solicite todas las exenciones que usted puede recibir en la oficina local del distrito de valoracion en la direccion que se cita abajo.

Si usted recibio una exencion para su residencia actual en 1989, usted no necesita solicitara para 1990 a menos que el jefe de valoracion pida que haga una nueva solicitud.

Sin embargo, si usted cumplio 65 anos o quedo incapacitado antes del primero de enero haga una nueva solicitud para recibir exenciones adicionales.

Si usted no ha recibido una exencion para su residencia actual o si se combio de casa haga una nueva solicitud para 1990.

Usted tiene que hacer su solicitud antes del 1 de mayo de 1990. Comuniquese con su distrito de valoracion antes de esa fecha si necesita mas tiempo para hacerla.

Para tener mas informacion usted puede recibir una copia gratis del folleto Los Derechos, Remedios y Responsabilidades del Contribuyente de Impuestos en la oficina del distrito de valoracion o puede pedirla del Consejo Estatal de Impuestos sobre la Propiendad (State Property Tax Board) en Austin.

Homeowner Insurance Now Easier To Read, Understand

It will be easier for Texans to understand their homeowners and renters insurance policies after October 1.

Acting on recommendations of an advisory committee made up of consumer groups and insurance industry representatives, the State Board of Insurance Wednesday ordered replacement of existing policies with a new easier-to-read contract.

"This is a watershed event for Texas consumers. They are getting a policy that is easier to understand and one whose cost has remained very stable over the last 10 years. I am particularly pleased that we were able to revise the policy without any reduction in coverage," said the advisory committee's chairman, Don Olsen.

Olsen, a division manager in the Austin regional office of State Farm Insurance Co., noted that rates declined during the 1980s for homeowners coverage in Texas.

Kay Doughty, the state's insurance public counsel and member of the advisory committee, said the revised policy form should give policyholders a better understanding of their coverage.

"The new policy forms will be of great benefit to homeowners and renters, who sometimes found it difficult to determine what was covered and what was not. The redesigned format, with a table of contents and general headings, make vital information much more accessible," Doughty said.

John Hildreth, director of the Southwest Regional Office of Consumers Union and a member of the advisory committee, also praised the results of the committee's work.

"This demonstrates that when consumers are brought into the process, the results benefit everyone--companies, agents and consumers alike," Hildreth said.

The new contract, which features shorter sentences, fewer words and simpler language, will be issued to Texas homeowners and renters as their policies come up for renewal after October 1.

The revised policy form was tested for readability by consumer focus groups in a research effort conducted by the University of Texas at Austin Office of Survey Research.

According to several measures of readability, the new policy can be read and understood by someone who has completed seven years of school. The old policy was written at a reading level that required at least a ninth grade education.

The policy also tested as more readable than the Insurance Services Office homeowners policy that is the most commonly sold form in other states.

Last year, more than $1.3 billion in homeowners' insurance premiums were paid by an estimated 3,000,000 policyholders in Texas.

Since all property insurance policy forms are promulgated by the State Board of Insurance, almost every insured homeowner in the state, as well as those who buy tenant coverage and special policies for condominiums, will benefit from the change.

"While we are very proud of the comprehensive coverage offered under Texas policies, the 1957 language of the policy is difficult for today's consumers to follow," said Lyndon Anderson, deputy commissioner in charge of the State Board's Property Insurance Activity.

According to Anderson, Texas has what many believe to be the most comprehensive homeowners insurance policy issued in the country.

In addition to improved readability, the new policy also has a new look to make it more accessible and easier to use. For example, the policy will include a table of contents to aid the reader in locating a particular section of the policy.

Policies also will be printed on paper no larger than 8½x1 with a minimum type sized of 10 points. This contrasts with the current policies which are often printed in smaller type on pages as long as long as 17 inches.

In addition, all pages in the new contracts will be uniform size. This will eliminate the common practice of printing policy endorsements on varying sizes of paper.

The advisory committee also developed an introductory brochure which will be included with every policy issued during the first 12 months it is in effect. The brochure includes basic information about the new policy, as well as insurance tips for consumers.

Work on the new policy began in September 1989 following appointment of the advisory committee by the State Board of Insurance.

"This committee has worked under incredible time constraints to produce a new policy within the six months requested by the Board," Anderson said. "They have worked extremely well under pressure, and have put it literally thousands of hours of their time. Such a task would have been impossible without a dedicated group of people."

In addition to Olsen, Doughty and Hildreth, the following people served on the advisory committee:

James Ashmore of Houston, Assistant Vice President of Highlands Insurance Company; Ronald H. Cheshire of Richardson, Resident Vice President of Employers Mutual Casualty Company; Dr. Wayne A. Danielson of Austin, Communication School, University of Texas; Eldon Farek of Dallas, Vice President of Trinity Universal Insurance Company; C.A. Foster of San Antonio, Vice President, USAA; Annette LoVoi of Austin, President of Texas Consumers Association; Donald J. Manthe of Dallas, Assistant Vice President of United State Fire Insurance Company; Scott Ragland of Dallas, representing Independent Insurance Agents of Texas; and Bart Tucker of Fort Worth, representing Professional Insurance Agents of Texas.

1990 Alaskan Tours Being Scheduled Now

Regency Cruises' 1990 Alaska cruise/tour program will be enhanced with an all-new "Rail Express" series featuring the Alaska Railroad, in addition to luxury motor coach and dome railcar tours.

Regency is the only cruise line to offer this sightseeing option, which is now available on select cruise/tours -- the 11-day Denali and 12-day Explorer packages.

Aboard the Alaska Railroads new rail cars, passengers will enjoy informal lectures by trained local tour guides who point out the fascinating wildlife and discuss the history of Alaska.

Passengers relax comfortably in reclining seats, all facing forward, with ample leg room and huge picture windows. The train also features spacious compartments with wide aisles for wandering, a vista dome car and two food-service cars, one for formal dining and one for casual lounging, where hot and cold meals are prepared to order.

"The leisurely, unregimented atmosphere offered by our Alaska Rail Express Tours, with open seating and dining, makes for a more enjoyable and relaxed approach to traveling. Passengers are encouraged to stroll and take advantage of the train's facilities, at their personal convenience...which is a primary benefit," said Jack Chatham, senior vice president of Regency Cruises.

The 11-day Denali Express package includes a 7-day Regency Cruise plus tours of Anchorage and Denali Park -- where passengers also overnight before returning to Anchorage. The Alaska Railroad will provide one-way transportation between Anchorage and Denali Park or between Denali Park and Anchorage, with deluxe motorcoaches providing the opposite link.

The 12-day Explorer Express features a 7-day Regency cruise, plus sightseeing tours and overnights in Anchorage, Denali Park, as well as Fairbanks. All transportation is provided by the Alaska Railroad, in lieu of a motorcoach.

Regency's seven-day cruises on the Regent Sea and Regent Sun sail north or southbound between Anchorage and Vancouver, calling at such ports as Ketchikan, Juneau, Skagway and Sitka; scenic attractions include the Inside Passage, Lynn Canal, Colombia Glacier/College Fjord and, on select May and September sailings, Glacier Bay.

Rates per person, on the 11-day Denali Express start at $1675 on the Regent Sea and $1825 on the Regant Sun. The 12-day Explorer Express begins at $1875 aboard the Regent Sea and $2025 on the Regent Sun.

Paggengers who book and make a deposit three months in advance of their sailing date can save up to $500 per cabin, depending on cabin category.

'Toast To Texas' Celebration In Muleshoe

Friday, March 2, 1990

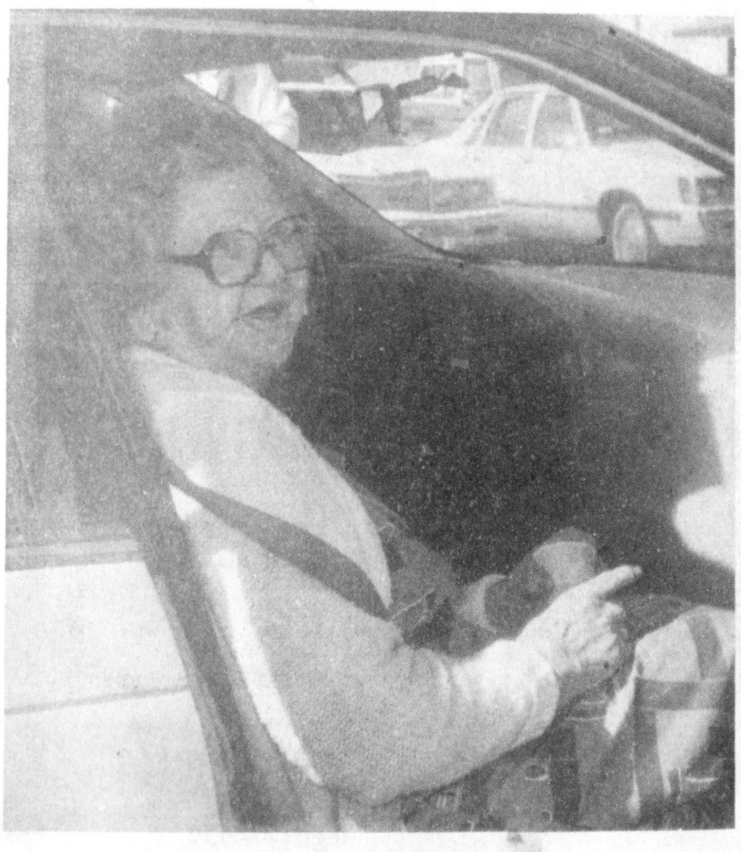

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN–Excitement and tension filled Capitol halls this week as Texas lawmakers, many weary from weeks of campaigning, convened in special session in an unusual circumstance of Texas history.

Waiting for them on the legislative agenda are public school finance and judicial elections; waiting for them back home in two weeks is primary election day.

Legislators are working in a fishbowl surrounded by the eyes of Texas.

As is usual, along with the pressure to perform comes a political monkey wrench or two thrown into the works when it's least needed.

For example:

- Lawmakers are challenged to equalize school funds without a tax increase, only to learn that the Department of Human Services faces a deficit of up to $623 million in the 1991 budget year and will need an emergency cash infusion.
- The recent Texas poll showed the governor's race tightening among the leading Democrats. Since each one has a few down-ballot candidates riding on their coat-tails, many other races become more uncertain.

Democrat Campaigns

The poll showed Democrat Jim Mattox has pulled within one percentage point of Mark White in their battle for second place, ten points behind frontrunner Ann Richards.

Richards, who has remained at about 30 percent for weeks, is perceived by some to be slipping following the debate. White seemed to change his strategy of attacking only Mattox and threw a few shots at her, implying she couldn't control her inept campaign staff.

White, who had one execution while he was governor, aired his new TV commercial to steal Mattox's thunder on the death penalty. But Mattox bought rebuttal spots, which tout his attorney general record of 32 executions.

A new risk for Mattox comes with the second TV debate, which he said he may boycott because it is rigged against him. Mattox objects to its sponsor, The Dallas Morning News, which endorsed White last week, and to a couple of journalists on the panel.

Obviously, Mattox thinks it's a set-up to defeat him, but his absence could hurt even more.

Republican Campaign

On the GOP side, frontrunner Clayton Williams needs less than 10 percentage points to win without a run-off, and he went after it by targeting absentee voters in a statewide tour.

Williams had halted his campaign for one week to mourn five close friends and business associates killed in a plane crash. Last week, he re-entered the fray.

Former Secretary of State Jack Rains released his poll showing him even with Kent Hance for second place. Hance and Tom Luce disagreed.

Absentee Voting

The absentee voting period, which began Feb. 21, is three weeks longer than usual, the longest in Texas history, but the two political parties are treating it differently.

While Williams most obviously appeals to absentee voters, other GOP candidates are also aware of the new absentee power this year.

Rains said the extended voting period could hike absentee voting to as high as a quarter of the total vote.

Democrats, except for Mattox, appear more relaxed about the phenomenon.

The Mattox campaign will have professionals conducting exit polls in major cities to study the effects of the longer period.

Mum on Open Enrollment

State officials and education leaders made no public response to U.S. Secretary of Education Lauro Cavazos when he urged open enrollment for public schools.

Cavazos, a native Texan and former president of Texas Tech, told a forum that parents should be allowed to choose their children's public school based on its performance, not proximity to their home.

The competition, he said, would force the worst schools to get better, as well as give low-income students the same choice that middle- and upper-income kids already have because their parents can afford it.

Other Highlights

- Democrat Clint Hackney, a candidate for the Railroad Commission, proposed drug testing for truckers. He cited a national study showing one-third of drivers involved in fatal accidents tested positive for drugs or alcohol.
- Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower's re-election committee has sent out a four-page fund-raising letter from country music star Willie Nelson.
- State Sen. Hector Uribe, D-Brownsville, said he will file legislation to establish a statewide group health insurance program for school employees.
- Legislative leaders have begun examining whether state funds earmarked for projects such as the Capitol expansion and prison construction can be diverted to help solve the school finance crisis.

Iona K Chappel Funeral Services Held Wednesday

Burial was in Sunset Terrace Cemetery under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home. Mrs. Chappell died at 8:15 a.m. Monday in Clovis High Plains Hospital.

Born Feb. 24, 1919, in Detroit, TX, she was a homemaker and a member of the Farwell First Baptist Church. She married Johnnie Willard Chappell on Aug. 21, 1937, in Deport, TX.

Survivors include her husband, Johnnie; two sons, Kenneth Wayne Chappell of Roanoke, Virginia and John David Chappell of Pensacola, Florida; two daughters, Barbara Fay Landreth of Lubbock and JoAnn Faircloth of Texico, N.M.; two sisters, Clairce Rivers of Guymon, Okla. and Irene Hardy of Dallas; a brother, Warren Albertson of Ft.Worth; and eight grandchildren.

Get Irrigation Information At SCS Office

Irrigation efficiencies in Bailey County are getting better due to the number of producers converting to pivot sprinklers. The new pivots usually have an eighty percent of higher efficiency whereas furrow irrigation is in the twenty to forty percent range.

Crop yield increases of ten to fifteen percent due to crop uniformity are common with pivots. Updating your system will pay in most every situation. "Surge valves and pivots will allow producers more timely irrigations to a variety of crops. In weaker water areas, planting a variety of crops across the field also gives producers the advantage of high residue to low residue rotation and peak water usage occuring at different times of the year," says Warren Givens, SCS Technician.

The Soil Conservation Service located at 105 East Avenue D, has information to assist local producers on irrigation water management. Efficiency checks and metering GPM output of wells are now done with an external meter provided by Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District, for use by the SCS. This service is available to all irrigators without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, age, marital status or handicap.

Hearings Underway For Funding

A second round of hearings begin this week in the Texas Senate on plans aimed at equalizing funding of the state's public schools.

Texas lawmakers, facing a May 1 State Supreme Court deadline to reform the funding system for schools, went into special session Tuesday, February 27. The Legislature will also begin consideration this week of plans to revamp the way the state selects its district judges.

A federal district court has ruled that the state's practice of electing judges on an at-large, countywide vote is a violation of the Voting Rights Act.

Last week, the Senate subcommittee on Public School Finance began hearing various proposals to balance state funding between poorer and wealthier school districts.

Some of the plans call for no additional monies, while others require the expenditure of billioins of dollars over the next five years.

Before recessing late last week, the subcommittee, a group composed of members of the Senate's Education and Finance Committees, heard three of these proposals and is expected to hear the remaining bills this week.

Thus far, plans have been proposed by State Comptroller Bob Bullock, the Texas Research League, the Equity Center, the State Board of Education, and a special task force on school finance.

One provision common to all the plans is the guarantee yield concept adopted by the Legislature last year during the regular legislative session. By that agreement, school districts are guaranteed a certain amount of state aid for every cent of local taxation for schools.

Among other business conducted by the Senate last week was the swearing in of new state Senator Rodney Ellis. Ellis will represent Houston's 13th Senatorial District, a seat vacated by the election of former state Senator Craig Washington to the U.S. House of Representatives. Tarrant County Senator Hugh Parmer was elected President Por Tempore of the Senate, a leadership position based on seniority.

JV Track News By Coach Tom Duncan

By: Coach Tom Duncan

Last Saturday, March 3, proved to be an enthusiastic time for the youthful Muleshoe Boys Track Team. The young men from Muleland "gave it their all" in every event they contended in.

I was very proud of the way "my kids" handled themselves. We scored a total of 15 points through the course of the track meet.

But, nobody could have worked harder or had a better attitude than "our kids." The meet was unexpectedly larger than we knew.

The team standings were as follows:

Crane, 181 (champion); Denver City, 136; Kermit, 98; Brownfield, 83; Greenwood, 21; Muleshoe, 15 and Littlefield, 11.

Muleshoe contenders placed as follows:

Andy Crawford, fourth place, two mile, at 11:50; Corley Hutton, fifth place, 800 m, 2:10.30; Kip McCall, sixth place, 100 m., 12.44; and the relay team was in fourth place in the 1600 m. relay at 3:47.26. Team members were Johnny Noble, Corley Hutton, Ramiro Alarcon and Clay VanSandt.

COACHES COMMENTS

As stated earlier, we gave a great effort Saturday. These athletes have a great potential ahead of them and I am confident there will be nothing short of super-awesome improvement.

Andy Crawford as a first timer, competed as good as I have seen in distance racing. Sophomores like Ramiro Alarcon and Arturo Ruiz exhibited great competitiveness.

Our weight people, Mike Friend and Tim Hernandez just barely missed the finals in shot and discus, which was highlighted by returning state champion, Duke Carter, from Kermit.

Seniors like Lewis and VanSandt gave everything they had to lead the way for the Mule effort. Freshmen Scott Miramontes and Steven Wauson gave good account of themselves Saturday.

To state it plain: We have a long way to go and a short time to get there. But Saturday should have enlightened our tracksters about how they can improve and will continue to improve.

Who's Responsible?

If you've decided to pay someone to do your federal tax return, the IRS suggests you take your selection of a tax practitioner as seriously as if you were choosing a family doctor or dentist.

Although the IRS cannot recommend specific tax practitioners, it does offer the following suggestions:

- Select someone, or some firm, that you feel will be available if you have questions about the preparation of your tax return, months, or even years after it has been filed.
- Avoid any tax practitioner who claims that he or she can get you a larger tax refund than another practitioner, or those whose fees are based on a percentage of your refund, or who claim a special "in" with the IRS.
- If you feel your return is going to be unusually involved, due to such things as complex investments, moving expenses or large casualty losses, be sure your practitioner is knowledgeable in these tax areas.
- Take your tax package you receive in the mail to your practitioner so he or she can use your forms and your peel-off identity label, and the envelope provided by the IRS.
- If you are planning to file your return electronically to benefit from the much faster refund return time, call the IRS toll-free at 1-800-424-1040. They can tell you who in your area is able to transmit your return to the IRS.
- Be sure that your preparer signs your return in the space provided, you receive a copy of the completed return, and that you never sign a blank tax return.
- Be sure you feel comfortable with the prepared return; it is still your tax return, and you are responsible for its contents.

Naturally

A stranger in the West asked a native, "Is this a healthy place?"

The Westerner replied, "It sure is. Why, when I came here I was bald, couldn't walk, and had to be lifted from my bed."

"Wonderful!" said the visitor. "How long have you been here?"

"Oh," was the reply, "I was born here!"

It is surprising how much can be accomplished with a smile and a helping hand.

Texas A&M survey finds mobile home industry needs image boost

COLLEGE STATION — Mobile and modular-unit homes and other factory-delivered units may be the best answer to Texas' low-income housing needs, but one group of Texans of modest means is not convinced, according to a Texas A&M University survey.

Survey repsondents listed the once popular mobile home last among their choices for affordable housing. Not far ahead were modular units and panelized houses, both of which are factory-produced and pieced together on site.

Dr. Charles Graham, associate director for housing research in the Center for Urban Affairs at Texas A&M, theorizes that the problem rests with the industry's reluctance to innovate production and marketing technologies.

"The industry has failed to initiate research and has been somewhat complacent in employing already existent technologies in construction, design and marketing," Graham said. "There has not been a concerned effort to upgrade the quality and aesthetic appeal of the product. New marketing techniques remain relatively unexplored."

"The key is projecting a new image," Graham said.

Mrs. Evelyn Harris
Muleshoe Journal

Thank you for the opportunity to thank all those who helped to make our Blood Drive in Muleshoe a big success. I apoligize for not sending this in much sooner.

Our final count for the drive was 83 units of blood. This was wonderful! Our thanks go out to each of the 83 donors and also the 8 who were deferred. These people turely were "Valentine's for Life."

Ruby from United Blood Services and Kay Graves here in Muleshoe, were both very helpful and supportive. We appreciate all they did to help.

The Eastern Star Chapter would also like to thank our local news medias'. The two local papers, KMUL Radio and Channel 6 for their help promoting the drive. Also Muleshoe State Bank for the use of the meeting room and First Bank for the use of the electronic sign to remind people of the drive.

I personally want to thank each member of Muieshoe Chapter No. 792 Order of the Eastern Star for the work they did. They spent many hours calling people to encourage them to donate, hanging postors, as well as working at the dirve itself.

All of this combined to make our blood drive successful and rewarding. The people of the Muleshoe area should be very proud. I was told that Muleshoe always has good blood drives and now I know why. The people are why. They care enough to take time from their busy day to donate the gift of life, many of them everytime a blood drive comes to Muleshoe!

Sincerely
Kanetha Foster

An Apple A Day Helping Diabetics

An apple a day keeps the--diabetes--away? Well, it can help, according to the American Diabetes Association (ADA). As part of today's American Diabetes Alert, the International Apple Institute and the ADA remind you that apples and other fruits are great--for people with diabetes and for anyone looking for healthy, nutritious eating.

According to Marion J. Franz, Chairman, American Diabetes Association's Council on Nutritional Science and Metabolism, "We recommend apples as one part of an overall nutrition plan that can help people with diabetes. Apples can also help with weight control, which is important to diabetes management--and to everyone these days--by providing a large amount of food for relatively few calories."

In addition, apples are a healthy food choice because they are rich in fiber, have only naturally-occurring sugar, are naturally low in fat and sodium, and have lots of nutrients such as Vitamin C-- for around 80 calories each. And, as with all fruits, apples don't have any cholesterol.

During the American Diabetes Alert, the International Apple Institute and ADA want to make Americans more aware of diabetes and its symptoms, because nearly five million people in the United States don't even know they have the disease.

A simple quiz that ADA developed can help alert people to the symptoms, including excessive thirst and unexplained weight loss. People at high risk for diabetes include those over 40 Black, Hispanic, and Native American Indians.

People with diabetes need to have frequent snacks to control their blood sugar levels. Apples are perfect for those snacks. Low in calories, they're also easy to carry, and eat--good for all busy people on the go. Apples also can help people with diabetes because they are rich in pectin, a water-soluble fiber that helps stabilize blood sugar levels by coating the intestinal lining.

For a free copy of the American Diabetes quiz, readers can write to: Diabetes Quiz 1990, American Diabetes Association; 1660 Duke Street; Alexandria, VA 22314.

The following recipes, developed and tested for people with diabetes who have dietary restrictions, will also appeal to anyone interested in good food and nutrition.

APPLE-RAISIN SNACK CAKE
1 cup vegetable oil
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
2 cups whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 cups (2 large) finely diced apple
1/2 cup raisins
1/4 cup apple juice

Beat oil and eggs together. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Pour into a lightly oiled and floured 13x9 inch pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 30 minutes.
Yield: 24 1-1/2 inch slices

APPLE AND CHEESE PIZZA
1 package active dry yeast
3/4 cup warm water
2 cups whole wheat flour
1/2 teaspoon ground cardamom
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
3 large apples, thinly sliced
1 cup apple juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
2 tablespoons honey
1/4 cup chopped toasted pecans
1 cup grated low-fat mozzarella cheese

Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add flour and cardamom. Beat to make a soft dough. Knead in vegetable oil. Let dough rise in a warm place about 1 hour. Punch down. Press dough into a lightly greased 14-inch pizza pan. Cook apples in apple juice until tender. Drain off juice and reserve. Place apple slices on dough. Dissolve cornstarch in apple juice, cinnamon, and honey. Cook over medium heat until clear. Spread sauce over apples. Sprinkle pecans on top. Top with cheese. Bake in a 425-degree oven for 15-20 minutes.
Yield: 10 servings

Falls Lead Causes In Death Of Elderly

Falls are a leading cause of death among people 65 and older. Those at greatest risk of falling may not be the most feeble, says the Texas Medical Association, but those who have not yet recognized or adapted to the changes associated with aging.

Physical changes include loss of coordination, weakness in the muscles that control the knees and ankles, and impaired vision and hearing. Diseases or conditions such as arthritis, stroke, Parkinson's disease, Alzheimer's disease, and diabetes (leading to reduced sensation in the legs) also can increase the chances of falling.

Medications may create many problems. For example, blood pressure prescriptions can cause light-headedness, and diuretics can result in weakness. Tranquilizers, antihistamines, and barbiturates can slow mental and physical processes. Alcohol, the most common self-administered sedative, also can play a role in falls.

Most falls occur during ordinary daytime activity. Contrary to popular belief, living rooms and bedrooms--not the bathroom --are where most falls occur. Going down stairs can be especially hazardous.

The elderly and their families can take steps to reduce the risks of falls. Get regular physical exams to check vision, hearing, balance, strength, and mental status. Have the physician review all prescriptions, including automatic refills, to take into account the older person's changing physiology.

At home, clean out the medicine cabinet to get rid of any outdated prescriptions. With current prescriptions, follow dosage and administration instructions exactly. In some cases, elderly people may need help working out a system for remembering where to locate their medicine, when to take it, and how much to take.

The high cost of medications hits the elderly hard and sometimes results in their choosing not to get prescriptions filled, omitting doses when they feel okay, or sharing prescriptions with a spouse or friend. Financial help may be necessary.

Other precautions include a through evaluation of the elderly person's home. Check for proper lighting, repair stairs or walkways, install grab bars and non-stick surfaces in bathtubs, and remove loose rugs, for example. Finally, encourage the elderly to wear shoes that fit properly and get physical exercise, such as walking.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 29,000 physician and medical student members. It is based in Austin and has 117 component county medical sosities around the state. The Association represents more than 80 percent of the state's physicians, and its goal is to improve the health of Texas through the professional and personal development of its members.
