It's lucky few who get into Oprah show

BY MIRANDA G. BAILEY
Staff Writer

(Editor's note: Staff writer Miranda G. Bailey was on hand for last night's taping of the show)

Security is tight for the lucky 288 audience members who get to walk through the metal detector into the world of The Oprah Winfrey Show.

Several unautographed copies of "Making the Connection," by Oprah Winfrey and her trainer Bob Greene, lay in ziplock bags among the other bagged, confiscated cameras and cell phones on the entrance table.

Purses are checked. Lines are long. Names are called from a list indicating who gets into the show, who gets put on stand-by and who gets to be escorted into the theatre first by the menagerie of Winfrey crew in black clothing.

But it's not until the doors to the theatre auditorium are opened that the T.V. screened, make-believe world of Oprah Winfrey comes to life in brilliant hues of blue and pink and purple.

Spotlights adorn each corner of the auditorium. It's warm. The sounds of country music fills the air as people are ushered inside, one section at a time. Seven visible cameras and at least 25 crew members gather in different groups around the room.

Soon enough the audience is in. The ones who are going to get in, anyway.

An hour before the 7 p.m. show, people were lined up to get into the third Amarillo taping of "The Oprah Winfrey Show" at the Amarillo Little Theatre. Winfrey is taping one show nightly for now, said her publicist Audrey Pass.

attention of the audience and begins to prep the spectators about the night's coming events.

The Texas guests are reminded that they are going to be on television and that gum isn't the most flattering thing on camera.

They are then informed Monday night's show is all about, "Why are things so big?" in Texas and in general.

Guest nationally syndicated, Texas political journalist Molly Ivans provide humorous insight to the big Clinton-Lewinsky situation. And Winfrey inadvertently reminds the crowd about both, "President Clinton's State of the Union Address last night," and the time manipulation involved in prerecording shows.

Carol Jean Katara of White Deer was featured in Oprah's "Why is Everything So Big?" show taping last night.

Katara was called by her hair stylist in Amarillo at Westgate Mall, who informed her that he had been contacted by Winfrey's show. He called Katara after he was asked to find eight of his clients with "big hair."

PAMPA — The second in a series of Movie Nights at Freedom Museum USA will be at 7 Thursday night. The movie, "Wolfpack," will be shown. It portrays the German U-Boat attacks on allied merchant ships during World War II. The public is invited to view the free movie.

PAMPA — Just as Oprah started airing her Amarillo shows on television yesterday afternoon, the Pampa area "Oprah sitings" started up as well. Three employees from Pampa's KFC called and reported that a man in a limousine pulled up in the drive through, ordered chicken and identified himself as Oprah Winfrey's chauffeur. "Where did you get the car?" they first asked the man. He responded with, "I'm Oprah's chauffeur." They quickly asked if Oprah was in the car and he said, "no."

Chief announces police promotions

Three officers were promoted from patrol officers to corporal today. The officers scored the highest number of points from several categories including number of years as an officer and how they scored on what Pampa Police Chief Charlie Morris called a very difficult national examination.

The three are Gary Noblet, who has 27 years in law enforcement; Alvin Johnson, who has been with the Pampa Police Department for seven years; and Trevor McGill, who has four years experience.

"The position of corporal will act as supervisors in lieu of a sergeant," Morris said. "They act as an extension of the chief's office so it was really important to select the best people possible."

He said the promotion of three supervisors to the force meant there will be a supervisor on duty "24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year."

"These officers had to demonstrate themselves to be knowledgeable, able to think on their feet and to demonstrate common sense," he said. "I am proud of everyone who took this test."

Late last year, David Lee was promoted to sergeant and John Goes was promoted to police lieutenant, according to Morris.

The three officers promoted to corporal are Gary Noblet, Alvin Johnson, and Trevor McGill.

Appraisal board members get sworn; learn specifics

Three new members of the Gray County Appraisal District Appraisal Review Board were sworn in recently and got a crash course in how tricky their jobs can be.

Terry Dickey from McLean, Bob Marx, and Bill Simon both from Pampa were sworn in by current member Gerald Laughlin. Current member Jack Reeve was elected chairman, Laughlin was elected vice chairman and Bill Simon elected secretary.

When the board was presented changes in evaluations to approve they first had to find out what information was on the forms and the reasons the changes were made. Chief Appraiser Pat Bagley, Assistant Chief Appraiser Jim Honderich and Appraiser Debbie Stribling all helped explain the forms and formulas used to figure tax appraisals.

Some changes in appraisals were approved and then the new members were told that according to state laws they had to attend a training seminar March 24 in Amarillo.

The board meets around six to eight times a year when called to hear appraisal challenges and changes according to Bagley.

Arlington pupil shot at school

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — A student at Sam Houston High School was in fair condition this morning after being shot in the hip, police said.

The shooting occurred about 7 a.m. in the parking lot of the high school, police said.

An 18-year-old suspect was arrested shortly after the shooting, but police said they were not sure the suspect was the only one involved in the shooting.

A witness said the victim was hit by several shots fired from a car in the parking lot.

Police were investigating whether the shooting stemmed from a dispute between two students.

The victim was taken to John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth for treatment of wounds in the hip.

Quite frankly... Couthouse employees explain how they budget work, family time.

"Time is strung out very thin at my house but I spend as much time with my family as possible."
— Tina Bolton.

"I've always put my family first. Although this job is very important to me, it will be here when I'm gone."
— Wanda Carter.

"Family is first, but because family is first, I work."
— Judy Rutledge

"I have no family at home, it's not a problem, but I budget my time between work and the things I enjoy doing at home."
— Margie Prestidge

"With great difficulty! Fortunately my job gives me some flexibility...It's not easy. I'm sure my family makes sacrifices."
— Elaine Morris.

OPRAH SHOW

Carol Jean Katara of White Deer and a half-dozen women who have big or "full, volume-ness hair," as the evening's Texas hair stylist guest prefers to call it, are later brought front and center. Each explain the good and the bad about obtaining "volume-ness" hair.

A few commercial breaks down the road, California designer Kate Spade is brought out. Spade, who has designed pocket books ... bags, ... or as Oprah is soon reminded from the natives in the audience, "purses," for Madonna and other celebrities gives her input to the necessity of big bags.

She and Winfrey proceed to give a little purse advice to a local Texan who has been pre-determined as a classic "big bag" carrier. The audience is soon delighted to find out that there is a "Kate Spade" bag, compliments of Oprah, waiting for each one of them underneath their seats.

The show broadens its "big" spectrum when the science reporter from ABC's "Good Morning America" wows everyone with "big" facts about the increasing sizes of Americans, dress sizes, shoe sizes, even people's behinds, he said, which have increased four inches in the last decade.

As the evening stretches from 7 to about 8:30 p.m., Oprah winds down the show with discussion surrounding around her current book club pick, Toni Morrison's "Paradise."

A weary Oprah concludes the show fifteen minutes until 9 p.m. Though tired from a 4 a.m. wake-up call that leads her into a day full of federal court and a night full of applause, she is quick to thank her audience for coming.

"You all have been very patient ... if you weren't I couldn't handle it ... you give me energy," Winfrey told her fans as she slipped away for the night.

Arizona editor resigns in flap over comments

PHOENIX (AP) — The managing editor of The Arizona Republic has resigned after he was quoted making disparaging comments about employees laid off when the Phoenix Gazette closed last year.

The Columbia Journalism Review quoted Steven Knickmeyer as saying most of the laid-off staffers were "fat, lazy, incompetent and slow."

He was responding to claims by his former reporters that the most aggressive news staffers had been laid off by the papers' parent company, Phoenix Newspapers Inc.

In a staff memo announcing Knickmeyer's departure Monday, Executive Editor Pam Johnson said his statement did not accurately reflect the selection process used when the company closed the Gazette and let 60 staffers go.

The Thin Mints are coming!

The Thin Mints are coming! The Thin Mints are coming! After a year of not being able to get those most delicious of all cookies, it is once again Girl Scout Cookie time. Girl Scouts kicked off their annual Girl Scout Cookie Sale Jan. 9, and if you haven't ordered your favorites, now is the time!! The girls are still taking orders and delivery of the cookies will be in February.

This year's theme is 'Just Imagine,' which sends girls the message that anything is possible. The Girl Scout Cookie Sale embodies the resourcefulness and creativity Girl Scouting encourages in girls. Girls build self-confidence through the cookie sale as they develop skills in setting goals, meeting the public, handling money and following through on a commitment.

For just $2.50 per box you can enjoy your fill of Thin Mints, Caramel de Lites, Peanut Butter Patties, Peanut Butter Sandwich, Shortbread, and Five worlds Cinnamons with Sugar. If you prefer a reduced fat variety, ask for Lemon Pastry Cremes or Iced Ginger Daisies.

All proceeds from the Girl Scout cookie sales stay in the Panhandle and are used to help fund troop activities, council programs, camps, volunteer training and materials. Individual girls also earn "Cookie Currency," which they may spend on troop activities, council programs, camp fees, uniforms, national registration fee, handbooks and other items from the council shop. Cookies are still $2.50 a box, and girls will deliver them in February. For more information call Paula Goff at 669-6862 or Martha Hadley at 665-2751.

Boy slain after returning home

DALLAS (AP) — A 2-year-old boy who was beaten to death and buried in a shallow grave was removed from his mother's care last March, but was returned four months later after she enrolled in parenting classes, according to court records.

Joel Hernandez was treated at Parkland Hospital last March 11 after suffering broken bones in his right hand and femur and bruises across his body, the records show.

Gina Quiones, 18, the boy's mother, claimed he suffered the injuries in an automobile accident, but doctors and Child Protective Services officials determined Joel had been abused. They placed him and his younger brother Cody, then 1 month old, in foster care.

Toastmasters to host Speechcraft course

BORGER — Magic Plains Toastmasters Club #6343 of Borger will conduct an eight hour Speechcraft mini-course from 5:15-6:15 p.m. Jan. 29-March 19 in the Conference Room of Borger Chamber of Commerce.

Speechcraft is a leadership and communication program developed to help even the most experienced speakers increase their self-confidence and overcome any fears they may have of public speaking.

Many employers pay employees fees to the class.

Tuition for the course is $45. Class size is limited to eight participants for an hour-long format.

For more information, contact Cindy Gillman at American Equipment at (806) 274-7222 or Joe Frank Wheeler at Borger Chamber of Commerce, (806) 274-2211.

Ex-death row woman thinks Karla Tucker should be spared

GATESVILLE, Texas (AP) — Linda May Burnett, convicted in a heinous crime that left five people dead, thinks Karla Faye Tucker should live.

"If I can do this, come in the prison system, and I can live in peace with other people and I can reach out and help out younger people around me, I believe in my heart Karla can," says Mrs. Burnett. "I think Karla is a better person than I am."

Ms. Tucker, set to die Feb. 3 for her part in the pickax killing of two people in Houston in 1983, would be the first woman executed in Texas since the Civil War.

"Karla is a crusader. She's a person who can reach out and talk to you, if you even think of going in the wrong direction, she can pull you back," Mrs. Burnett says.

Sent to death row almost 20 years ago, Mrs. Burnett believes she's proof people can change.

"If the governor wants me to get on my knees, if the parole board wants me to get on my knees for her, then I'll get on my knees because it's not just saving Karla, it's saving everybody Karla touches," she said.

Mrs. Burnett, who could be released later this year, said it was her concern for Ms. Tucker's life that prompted her to break a nearly two-decade-long public silence.

"She won't do it but I will. I'll beg for her life," she told The Associated Press from the visiting area of the Mountainview Unit of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Mrs. Burnett, who turns 50 on the day Ms. Tucker is set for execution, spent four years on death row for killing 3-year-old Jason Phillips, one of five family members abducted, bound, shot and buried in a mass grave near Fannett, west of Beaumont.

The Woodward, Okla. toddler, his parents Elmer and Martha Phillips were visiting the boy's grandparents, Bishop and Esther Phillips, when all five were driven to the pre-dug grave July 1, 1978 and then shot in the head.

Mrs. Burnett and a partner, Joe Dugas, were sentenced to death. Bishop and Esther Phillips were Dugas' former in-laws and he blamed them for the break-up of his marriage.

Dugas, en route from death row to testify at her trial, was fatally shot by detectives who were transporting him and who said he was trying to escape.

In early October 1982, Mrs. Burnett asked that all appeals in her case be dropped and that she be executed. The decision, she says, was the result of extreme depression.

Three weeks later, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, saying some evidence improperly was allowed at her trial, threw out her conviction and gave her a new trial.

Clinton lawyers seek earlier sexual harassment trial

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Lawyers for President Clinton who have repeatedly tried to delay the sexual harassment trial sought by Paula Jones have asked a judge to set an earlier trial date.

Moving up the trial, which is scheduled for May 27, would give lawyers an earlier chance to question Monica Lewinsky and Linda Tripp, two women at the center of the sex allegations against Clinton.

In court papers filed Monday, the president's lawyers said that it is in "the nation's best interest" to achieve a "speedy resolution" of Mrs. Jones' case. They did not suggest a new date.

Square House to present photo exhibit

PANHANDLE — The Square House Museum in Panhandle announces a unique and intriguing exhibition of 57 photographs by Howard Holland of Borger. "Poetry Through the Lens" is a new collection of work; the pieces in the exhibit have never been formally shown before. It can be viewed from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1-5 p.m. Sunday in the Hazlewood Arts and Education Building, located in Panhandle at the intersection of TX Hwy-207 and Fifth Street.

Consisting entirely of black-and-white photography, this show presents a wide variety of techniques within the confines of the medium. Various styles of photography include landscape, wildlife, aquarium and aquatic life, and floral and garden photography. In addition to nature photography, presentations also include pictures of historic, paleontological and archaeological subjects.

In "Poetry Through the Lens," a great deal of effort has been made to present the connoisseur of black-and-white images with different photographic styles. Over 20 types of film have been used in small, medium and large format cameras. Image presentation has also been enhanced with the use several dozen styles of photographic paper and ten types of paper toners.

From conception to finish, each photograph in this collection has been designed for display in the finest galleries, museums and homes. The framing of these works is in keeping with this goal. The majority of black-and white photography is presented with a white mat and a black or silver frame. Holland's photographs differ dramatically from that approach and are framed with a multitude of colors and styles of frames. A great deal of time, effort and attention is bestowed on each image by top experts in framing. It is his belief that the care and concern of these craftspeople helps to enhance and bring out the beauty of each individual image.

The public is invited to an artist's reception from 2:30-4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 1 in the gallery at the museum in Panhandle.

Admission to the museum and the exhibition are free. For more information, call (806) 537-3524.

Did He Cheat Or Didn't He? This Is Couple's Question

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a different opinion about the rules of marital separation.

Early in our marriage, following the birth of a child, my husband became unhappy with our union. Without warning, he announced that he was moving out for a trial separation. During that time he slept with another woman.

He claims that his infidelity was justified because he had moved out. Had I known that the separation was his idea of permission to resume a single lifestyle, I would likely have made very different decisions on my own behalf. If his rules apply, whenever I feel I'm "unhappy" and need to get away, it's OK to take a nice vacation and sleep with whomever I find attractive. However, I doubt he would approve of the shoe being on the other foot, although he thought it was permissible for him to behave that way.

I believe a trial separation serves as a vehicle for couples to work out their differences and in no way nullifies the marriage vows. In my opinion, only when there is intent to dissolve the marriage and a suit for divorce has been legally filed are the vows waived.

I say he cheated on me and had an affair. He says not. Abby, what do you say?

FORGIVING BUT UNABLE TO FORGET IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR FORGIVING: I, too,

Abigail Van Buren

say he cheated on you when he had an affair. However, you were sufficiently committed to each other for the marriage to have withstood his infidelity.

Since this is still a bone of contention, you would be wise to seek professional counseling to discharge your lingering anger. It will undoubtedly strengthen your union.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has allowed our 16-month-old daughter, "Alicia," to sleep in our bed (off and on) for some time. My wife gets tired of waking up in the middle of the night to rock Alicia back to sleep, so she picks her up and brings her back to our bed.

I try to help out by going into Alicia's room and rocking her and eventually laying her back down in her crib. This usually works, but when my wife brings her into our room, she destroys the progress I was making in keeping the baby in her own bed.

I love our daughter very much, but I end up with little feet hitting my chin and I don't sleep well. My wife doesn't seem to mind, but I want our bed back. Alicia has a beautiful crib and I think in time she will learn to love it, but my wife says she can't stand to hear her cry.

Abby, what do pediatricians say? CROWDED BED

DEAR CROWDED BED: Pediatricians differ on this issue. While many believe otherwise, most American families keep their babies in separate beds. In some other cultures, it is normal for a baby to share the parents' bed until mid-childhood.

An infant will adjust to the style the parents choose. You and your wife must determine where you want Alicia to sleep, then be consistent in establishing a pattern. It may take several nights of crying, but Alicia can learn to sleep comfortably in her own bed, if that is what you choose to teach her.

Horoscope

Wednesday, Jan. 28, 1998

Some unusual conditions might develop for you in the year ahead that could start you off in a promising new direction. Your path will be mapped out for you by a loyal friend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A matter over which you've been unable to exercise total control should work out as well for you today as if you personally directed each of its aspects. Aquarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Do not be afraid to tackle novel developments today. You could be extremely lucky at this time testing and defining anything new.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There should be a favorable shift in circumstances pertaining to a competitive situation. Have faith in the end results.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is a good day to talk to authority figures about your new ideas. Do not try to go through subordinates; they could modify your presentation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you ask the right questions today, you could be privy to information previously denied to you. This is a day to give free reign to your inquisitiveness.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) An associate who has never been cooperative might do an about-face today and become an effective ally. This is an alliance you'll want to strengthen.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not let yourself become ensconced in old habits today just because they're comfortable.

More progress can be made living near the edge of the envelope.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A pleasant surprise might be in the works for you today. It could come through a person with whom you share a social interest.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) With a little applied ingenuity today, you might be able to figure out a way to get something you've been wanting for your family for some time now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You have a marvelous faculty today for picking up key elements from conversations that may go completely over the heads of others. Use what you learn!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A financial opportunity might develop for you today, but it could be difficult to recognize because it may unravel in an unusual fashion.

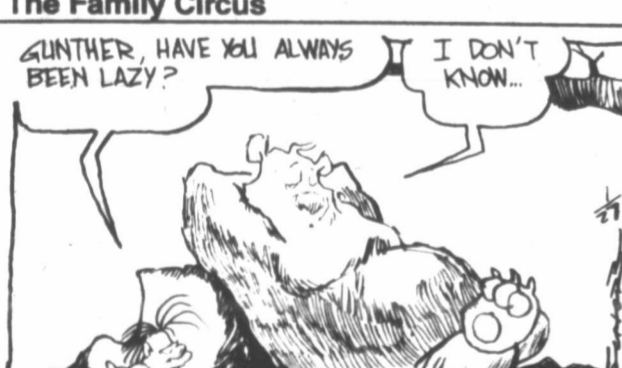

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Do not let any grass grow under your feet today in taking measures to advance your personal interests. Good things could result from a speedy response.

Results of the four-man scramble are as follows:

First place: Oscar Sargent, Bob Young, Glen Downs and Jack Davis 63.

Second place: Bill King, Bob Brandon, John McGuire and Harvey Malone 64.

PAMPA — The Pampa soccer teams host Palo Duro at 4:15 today in the final non-district matches of the season.

Both Pampa boys and girls will be trying to bounce back after losses to Lubbock Coronado last weekend.

Coronado won the girls' contest, 8-1.

Jessica Maddox scored the Pampa goal.

Pampa dropped a 5-0 decision in the boys' match against Coronado.

"Coronado has a faster more experience team and they banged us around pretty good," said Pampa coach Warren Cottle. "However, I was very impressed with our composure. We just got up and kept after them."

Sophomores Kyle Weller and Brad Gardner played an outstanding match, said Pampa coach Warren Cottle.

HOCKEY

DALLAS (AP) — Darryl Sydor is usually overshadowed by Sergei Zubov, his flashy defensive partner on the Dallas Stars power play. This season, Sydor has nothing to be embarrassed about.

Sydor had a goal and three assists — a career-high four points — as the Stars extended their winning streak to five games with a 5-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs on Monday night.

"My game is to defend and if something else happens, great," Sydor said after scoring his career-best 10th goal. "I'm not out there to get a bunch of points. I'm just trying to get the puck to the net or get it to Zubie and let him do good things."

Dallas snapped Toronto's three-game winning streak and cooled off Toronto's Felix Potvin — one of the NHL's hottest goalies. Potvin was coming off two shutouts on the road and had allowed only two goals in the streak.

"Potvin didn't have a chance on any of the five goals," Stars coach Ken Hitchcock said after Dallas peppered 38 shots at the goalie. "As a team, we just played very well."

Jere Lehtinen, former Maple Leafs draft choice Grant Marshall, Sergei Zubov and Benoit Hogue added goals for the Stars, 12-2-4 in their last 18 games to extend their league-best point total to 74.

The Stars' two previous wins had come against their Western Conference rivals, the Colorado Avalanche, and Hitchcock was concerned that his team might look past the Maple Leafs, who are fighting for a playoff spot.

"It was important that we not take a step back," Sydor said. "Toronto had been playing well. We didn't play our style in the first period, but we stepped it up from there."

Dallas goalie Ed Belfour had 26 saves to improve his record to 26-7-8. Belfour's bid for his eighth shutout of the season was dashed when Fredrik Modin got his sixth goal with 5:11 left.

Maple Leafs coach Mike Murphy was displeased with everyone on his team except Potvin.

"Dallas is the best team in the league, but our effort was sub-par," Murphy said. "We left our goalie hung out to dry. Dallas had four big lines and we didn't have any."

SAN DIEGO (AP) — This is one Super Bowl title the winners will really savor.

After gaining the reputation as super losers, after four flops in which they were overwhelmed long before the fourth quarter, the Denver Broncos resoundingly put their ignominious championship past to rest. Their 31-24 victory over the heavily favored defending champion Green Bay Packers featured everything a champion can display: versatility, resourcefulness, intelligence, guts. Oh yes, and talent.

Are the Broncos good enough to be back next year in Miami, trying to start a winning streak for the AFC after snapping the conference's humiliating 13-year slide in the Super Bowl?

"Sure," tight end Shannon Sharpe said. "In the past, when the Broncos came to this game, they didn't have the players we have now. They didn't surround John (Elway) with a running game like we have and a line like we have and a defense like we have."

But will the Broncos be surrounding Elway with anything next season, or will he be lounging in retirement? Elway, the winningest quarterback in regular season games, played 14 seasons and lost three Super Bowls before he finally could — in his mind — be placed among the elite of the game.

"To finally come and show them is unbelievable," he said. "That was the ultimate win, no question. "You wonder if you're going to run out of years. But, fortunately, I hung on. All the questions we've been answering for the last 14 years, it makes it that much sweeter."

The biggest question for Elway is whether to leave on top. He said he will discuss it with his family and teammates, but coach Mike

Shanahan said he would be "very surprised if John doesn't come back."

If he doesn't, it leaves a gaping hole on a Broncos team not deeply threatened by free agency, but certainly aging in key areas. His backups are journeyman Bubby Brister and unproven Jeff Lewis.

The offensive line which performed so well in the playoffs has four players with at least 10 years in the league and one with nine. Key defensive personnel such as ends Neil Smith (a free agent) and Alfred Williams, linebacker Bill Romanowski and safeties Tyrone Braxton and Steve Atwater are well-worn.

But there also is a solid foundation for the future in Super Bowl MVP Terrell Davis, an All-Pro running back the last two years; Sharpe and wide receivers Rod Smith and Ed McCaffrey; center Tom Nalen; linebackers John Mobley and Allen Aldridge; defensive tackles Maa Tanuvasa and Keith Traylor.

And, of course, Shanahan, one of the game's most astute and diligent coaches.

"No one gave us a chance, and look what we did," Sharpe said. "We shocked the world. But we didn't shock the Denver Broncos."

"We can do this again. We were a wild card. We had to go to Pittsburgh and win; we had to go to Kansas City and win; then we had to play Green Bay in a neutral site. We'd already been to hell and back. This was the easy part."

Actually, it's the Packers who might have the easier road back. The competition is fiercer at the top in the AFC. Green Bay doesn't have to worry about Favre retiring, and it also has the strong groundwork.

But Green Bay is more threatened by free agency. It needs to re-sign running back Dorsey Levens, who blossomed this year, as well as restricted free agent Antonio Freeman, the big-play receiver Favre needs, and cornerback Doug Evans.

The Packers can't afford to lose Holmgren, who has been rumored to be the object of Seattle's affections for big money and a dual role of coach-general manager.

While the Packers have some age in several areas — DE Reggie White, linebacker Seth Joyner, safety Eugene Robinson, center Frank Winters — they have done a wonderful job retooling even as they remained a contender.

And now they have an added incentive.

"This will hurt us right into next year," tight end Mark Chmura said.

"When you lose a game like this," added Robinson, "you're thinking about only one thing: How do I get back here and win it the next time?"

Pampa middle school sweep past Dumas in boys' basketball games

PAMPA — Pampa swept Dumas in middle school boys' basketball games Monday night.

In the 8th grade division, Pampa improved its district record to 6-2 with a 42-35 win over Dumas.

Kyle Francis and Adam Rogers led Pampa in scoring with 11 points each while Lawrence Henderson added 10.

Pampa also won the B team game, 51-34.

Greg Easley was high scorer for Pampa with 14 points, followed by Nick Jennings 11. Daniel Heuston added 8 points and Chad Platt 6.

The B team has a 3-5 district record.

In the 7th grade division, Pampa won by a score of 51-40.

Ryan Zemanek had 22 points to lead Pampa scorers. Jordan Klaus had 11 points and Clay Trimble 8.

Pampa improved its record to 3-5.

The Pampa B team is now 7-1 in district after a 47-31 win over Dumas.

James Silva led Pampa in scoring with 10 points while Chance Crain and Josh Nachtigall had 9 each.

Pampa lost to Borger, 43-37, in a junior varsity girls' game last weekend.

Charity Nachtigall had 11 points and Chastity added 8 to lead Pampa scorers.

Anne Gaddis led the team in rebounding.

PAMPA — Pampa defeated Valleyview, 21-13, in an 8th grade girls' B game last week.

Kim Conner and Michelle Hearron had 6 points each to lead Pampa scorers.

Other results are as follows:

8th Grade
Valleyview A 34, Pampa A 32
Pampa high scorer: Jennifer Lindsey 15.

7th Grade
Valleyview A 37, Pampa A 18
Pampa high scorer: Valerie Velez 6, Sara Blankenship 6.

Valleyview B 15, Pampa B 11
Pampa high scorer: Heather Hucks 4, Kristi Farnum 4.

Jones close to announcing new Cowboys' head coach

By The Associated Press

Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones says he's close to announcing who will be the next coach of the National Football league team, according to a published report.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today that Jones was so busy interviewing candidates on Monday at San Diego that he interviewed one candidate in his hotel room while another waited downstairs in the hotel bar.

Jones has met with former San Francisco 49ers coach George Seifert, former UCLA coach Terry Donahue and Green Bay Packers offensive coordinator Sherman Lewis.

"I haven't made anybody an offer," Jones said Monday night. "We recognize in order to make decisions regarding our staff it's important to be as timely as we can."

Lewis, 55, said he doesn't know when or if he'll meet again with Jones, who has been looking for a head coach since Barry Switzer resigned Jan. 9.

"That's up to Jerry," Lewis said. "It's in his court."

The owner, who was scheduled to return to Dallas late Monday night, said he would continue talks today in person or on the telephone with his candidates. He said he has contacted all the candidates he is interested in, an indication he has no plans to seek permission to talk to Denver offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak about the head-coaching position.

Jones started his day with a breakfast interview with Lewis and followed that with a second face-to-face meeting with Seifert, whom he interviewed last week, and then had a late lunch with Donahue, another candidate he met with last week.

"It was a very good day for the Dallas Cowboys," Jones said of his progress in finding a coach.

Jones has spent more time with Donahue than with the other candidates.

Donahue was coach at UCLA when Troy Aikman was quarterback for the Bruins.

"He brings a lot to the table," Jerry Jones said of Donahue. "It's really neat to see Terry's enthusiasm not only for the NFL but for the Dallas Cowboys."

Donahue told The Dallas Morning News Monday that his lack of NFL coaching experience shouldn't be a serious problem.

"I look at the last two Cowboys coaches (Switzer and Jimmy Johnson), and neither had NFL experience, and that's a pretty good indication of the chemistry and commitment of this team and organization."

"I feel I'm capable of doing the same thing," said Donahue, who has worked as a color analyst on college football for CBS the past two years.

LaFrentz grabs Big 12 player honors

DALLAS (AP) — It didn't take long for Kansas' Raef LaFrentz to return to the spotlight.

LaFrentz, who came back Saturday with 31 points and 15 rebounds against Texas Tech after missing nine games with a broken finger in his right hand, was named Big 12 Player of the Week, the conference said Monday. It was the second such honor for the left-handed senior forward this season.

"I was ecstatic," LaFrentz said. "I couldn't have written a better script about the way I wanted things to go."

LaFrentz shot 13-for-18 from the field, including two 3-pointers, in the Jayhawks' 88-49 rout of Texas Tech. The performance prompted Red Raiders coach James Dickey to predict LaFrentz would be taken first in the NBA draft, despite the recent absence.

Freshman center Chris Mihm of Texas was named the conference's Rookie of the Week for the second time this season.

Duke stays No. 1; Michigan State leads three newcomers in Top 25 college cage poll

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Although five teams in the AP college basketball poll are from the Big Ten, the team that sits atop the conference only cracked the Top 25 this week.

Michigan State, leading the Big Ten at 6-1, enters this week's poll at No. 22. The last time the Spartans were ranked was the 1994-95 season, when they were ranked the entire season and got as high as No. 7.

"They have great team chemistry which is something that great teams have," Spartans coach Tom Izzo said Monday. "That's been a pleasant surprise."

"We've had some big wins on the road and most of those wins have come because of the defense we've played. We're not the greatest offensive team," Izzo said. "We've gotten here the old-fashioned way — we've worked hard."

Michigan State (13-4), which won at Iowa and also beat Penn State last week, was among three newcomers in the poll released Monday. Maryland entered at No. 23. Indiana was ranked 25th, giving the Big Ten five ranked teams — the most of any conference.

The Southeastern Conference has the second-most teams in the poll with four, while the Atlantic Coast Conference, Pac-10 and Big East had three each.

Duke and North Carolina stayed Nos. 1 and 2 this week, while Utah and Stanford — the only unbeaten teams in the country — moved up one spot each to third and fourth.

The Blue Devils (18-1) were on top of the poll for a second straight week and fourth this season after receiving 47 first-place votes and 1,724 points from the national media panel.

The Tar Heels (20-1) were No. 1 on 18 ballots and had 1,686 points, 159 more than Utah (17-0), which had two first-place votes. Stanford (18-0) also got two first-place votes and had 1,511 points as the Cardinal moved to their highest ranking ever for the second straight week.

Kansas (22-3), which lost at Missouri last week, dropped from third to fifth. That is the lowest ranking for the Jayhawks, who got one first-place vote, since the next-to-last poll of the 1995-96 season.

Arizona and Kentucky held sixth and seventh, while UCLA and Connecticut swapped eighth and ninth. Purdue rounded out the Top Ten.

Princeton was 11th for the second straight week and was followed by Mississippi, South Carolina, New Mexico, Arkansas, Iowa, West Virginia, Cincinnati, Michigan and Syracuse.

The last five teams were Rhode Island, Michigan State, Maryland, Xavier and Indiana. Michigan State, Maryland and Indiana replaced Florida State, Hawaii and Clemson.

Indiana (14-5) was 17th in the preseason poll and stayed ranked for the first two of the regular season before dropping out. The Hoosiers have won five straight games, a streak that includes wins over Michigan and Purdue.

Michigan, Purdue, Illinois and Indiana are a game back of Michigan State in the Big Ten, while Iowa is two games behind.

The biggest movements of the week in the poll were West Virginia's climb from 23rd to No. 17 after wins over Rutgers and Providence and Iowa's fall from 10th to No. 16 after losses to Michigan State and Missouri.

Texas Christian downs SMU with second-half surge

DALLAS (AP) — The first half was anybody's game, but Texas Christian quickly set the tone after halftime with a 12-4 run in a late-starting game against Southern Methodist.

TCU needed a jumper from Prince Fowler to take a 49-48 halftime lead, but quickly broke away to a 63-52 lead and went on to beat the Mustangs, 100-82. The game, part of a nationally televised ESPN package, didn't start until 11 p.m. Monday.

Lee Nailon's 26 points and 10 rebounds led the Horned Frogs.

"This was an outstanding win for us and an even better road win," TCU coach Billy Tubbs said. Jay Poerner led SMU (13-4, 2-3) with 18 points and 10 rebounds.

There were seven ties and several lead changes in the first half, and SMU led at 32-27 with 7:48 left in the first half.

"I thought we were very disoriented in the second half. We took a lot of bad shots and didn't get back defensively," SMU coach Mike Dement said about his team.

Spurs rout Rockets

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Though San Antonio's big front-line receives most of the attention, the smaller Spurs provided the much-needed support.

David Robinson scored 34 points and Avery Johnson added a season-high 27 as the Spurs rebounded from a 25-point loss in Houston two nights earlier with a 115-90 victory over the Rockets.

It was San Antonio's 20th victory in 24 games and 14th straight at home.

"When you get beat, it's a challenge to your courage and tests you as a player," said Robinson, who also had a season-high six blocked shots. "Tonight was a good response to the whipping we took the other night. A.J. (Johnson) was rolling."

"I'm smart enough to know to get the ball to the guy who is hot. I picked up some assists just by dishing it to A.J. He hit the shots."

Johnson also had 11 assists, and Vinny Del Negro added 17 points for the Spurs, who made 21 of 23 free throws and shot 59 percent from the field.

"We knew that we have been playing well at home," Johnson said. "It just feels good to come home, especially when you are up against the same team. It was just a good collective team effort tonight."

Over the previous three games, the 7-foot trio of Robinson, Tim Duncan and Will Perdue had averaged 46 points, 28.3 rebounds and six blocked shots. Against the Rockets, Duncan had 14 points and 12 rebounds, while Perdue had 14 rebounds.

"We played defense and brought energy to the game," Spurs coach Gregg Popovich said. "Avery and David were the leaders for us tonight. The other night we got beat because we didn't bring it with us. Tonight it would take two hands to count everyone that contributed."

Charles Barkley had 19 points and 14 rebounds for Houston — losers of nine of 11 — before he was ejected for arguing a call in the fourth quarter. Eddie Johnson added 14 points for the Rockets.

"I can't explain the turnaround," Houston coach Rudy Tomjanovich said. "We played absolutely no defense. They played a great game, but they are not my concern. I don't care who you are playing, without any defense we are going to have a hard time winning."

Sampras falls to unseeded Kucera at Australian Open

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Karol Kucera defused Pete Sampras' usually deadly service game with flashy returns in a four-set victory today, leaving the Australian Open without its top five seeds even before the semifinals.

A rash of forehand errors by Sampras contributed to the defending champion's 6-4, 6-2, 6-7 (5-7), 6-3 loss to the unseeded Slovak. Kucera had 18 aces, to just seven for Sampras.

"It's disappointing, sure it is, this is what I'm playing for," said Sampras, who puts his major effort in to the Grand Slams. "The way he played, I didn't expect it. He really put a lot of pressure on me. He served much better than I thought."

Spain's Alberto Berasategui, earlier had eliminated No. 2 Patrick Rafter and another crowd favorite, former No. 1 Andre Agassi.

The only remaining seeds are No. 6 Petr Korda — Kucera's next opponent — and No. 9 Marcelo Rios, who plays Berasategui in the quarterfinals Wednesday.

Korda, who beat Pete Sampras in last year's U.S. Open, came from two sets down to beat No. 4 Jonas Bjorkman 3-6, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Sampras didn't shake the umpire's hand at the end, and the crowd of about 15,000 booed. Sampras said later that "if I had to do it over again, I probably should have."

"We both had a bad day," he said of himself and the umpire. Sampras' loss made it certain this Australian Open's men's winner would be a player who never before had won a Grand Slam tournament.

"My goal this year is not to lose a match," said Kucera, who won two warmup events earlier this month and now has won 12 matches in a row — 10 in tournament play.

"I was pretty cool out there," despite losing the third set, he said. "I knew you could not play the whole match like (the two first sets)."

In women's play, Lindsay Davenport outslugging 17-year-old Venus Williams, advancing to her second consecutive Grand Slam semifinal with a 1-6, 7-5, 6-3 victory.

Davenport, who conceded that after the first set "I thought I was down and out," added: "I fought hard because I wanted to maybe show people that I am a No. 2 seed and I am a pretty dangerous player."

In the semifinals, she will meet No. 8 Conchita Martinez, a 6-3, 6-2 winner over No. 9 Sandrine Testud.

Williams, a finalist in last year's U.S. Open, didn't offer much explanation for what went wrong after one set of "practically perfect tennis."

She did make a vow after each player was broken seven times in the match: "I'm going to be holding more in the future. As a matter of fact, in the future I don't plan to be broken ever again."

She was, however, just hours later. In a battle of the sexes challenge raised by the Williams sisters, she played men's No. 203 Karsten Braasch of Germany and lost 6-2. She stepped in after 16-year-old Serena had lost 6-1.

Against Davenport, Williams yielded only nine points in the first set, but said, "It's not the easiest thing to keep up with such a game, especially in the second set. Your opponent is really going to want to say, 'Hey, I can't get run through like this.'"

It was with a little help from Williams that Davenport took a 3-0 lead in the second set. Williams had two break points in the first game, a game point in the second, and three more break points in the third.
