ABOUT FIREMEN AT FIRES

Squabble Warming Up Over Council Report

A routine report to City Council Monday night may have sparked a policy clash between Colorado City volunteer firemen and city officials.

City Manager Rollin K. Snethen made the report, stating that he believed too many firemen were answering the general run of fire alarms here.

He had asked the volunteer fire department to work out some means for keeping the number of firemen going to fires more in line with the needs required for the fires, the manager told council.

The report by Snethen — along with published accounts in area daily newspapers — heated tempers among volunteer firemen.

Two former fire chiefs — Leonard Henderson and E. M. Majors — issued statements declaring that it "seems like our city manager and a few others do not understand" the status of Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department.

Help for the fire department, not a fight against the firemen, was urged by the two ex-chiefs.

At the same time A. G. (Red) Ballard, who is in his second year as fire chief, informed the Record he was preparing data and statistics concerning the department as an economical operation.

But, in the mean time, the manager apparently has not been instructed by City Council to back track on the study for a plan to trim the number of firemen reporting to small fires.

Snethen said his opinion that generally too many firemen were going to fires and, consequently the situation needed correcting, was based on three principle factors:

1. The number of firemen making emergency trips through the city to fires was creating a hazard and the hazard could be reduced if there were less emergency trips.

2. To provide a higher pay rate for firemen answering calls and participating in drills, the city has had to draw on contingency funds outside the regular fire department budget.

3. The already over-the-budget expenditures for the fire department have been hiked even more this year by an increase in number of fires. Snethen told councilmen that as many as 20 to 25 volunteer firemen have reported to fires.

Every fireman reporting to a fire requiring nothing more than a booster truck receives $2, a fee that has been increased from $1.

For every fire that requires hook up of a hose to hydrant, the pay is $4, which was doubled from a previous $2.

See FIREMEN Pg. 5

EX-FIRE CHIEFS

Pair Say System Not Understood

Two former chiefs of Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department were quick to speak out after news reports focused this week on the number of firemen answering fire alarms here.

Leonard Henderson and E. M. Majors, both long time leaders of the department, issued this prepared statement to the Record:

"Seems like our city manager and a few others do not understand that Colorado City has a strictly a volunteer fire department."

"The men in the department give their time for the protection and lives of our people."

"When the fire alarm sounds, they do not know whether it is a major fire or grass fire. No matter how bad the weather or what time of day or night, they get into their cars and answer the alarm."

"The pay they get will not pay for the gas they use in their cars, not saying anything about the clothes they wear.

"When the men answer an alarm during the day, they work for some business in our town. The employers have to do without them until the fire is out."

"We spent some 22 years each in the Colorado City fire department. It hurts us to think that our people do not want the protection that these boys are giving us."

"Colorado City has a cheap fire protection. Check our budget here on our fire department, then go to our neighboring towns and check theirs and you will see how cheap our fire department is operating."

"Let's not fight our fire department, but let's help them as they are helping us," the statement concluded.

Hearing Set Here Nov. 26

Design plans and location of U. S. Highway 80 freeway (Interstate 20) north around Colorado City have been completed by State Highway Department engineers.

And a public hearing for the design of the 6.9 miles of construction — final link in U. S. 80 freeway across Mitchell County — is scheduled here Nov. 26 at 10 a. m. in County Courtroom.

County Judge Sam Bullock set the hearing date Wednesday after he and Mayor Trevor T. Crawford received notification of the plans completion from State Highway District Engineer J. C. (Jake) Roberts in Abilene.

Roberts will be here Nov. 26 for the Colorado City hearing. He will travel from here to Big Spring for a similar hearing there in the afternoon of the same day.

THE PUBLIC HEARING for citizens of the Colorado City area is required by House Bill 179, passed by the last Texas Legislature. However, it pertains to design of the freeway project — such items as grade separations, traffic interchanges, etc. — and does not specifically relate to right of way location.

In early developments of U. S. 80 freeway development, Mitchell County spent approximately $200,000 in bond funds for purchase of right of way for the super highway across Mitchell County.

Federal state funds are available now, however, for freeway right of way and the land for the 6.9 miles around Colorado City will be bought and paid for from that financing; not local funds.

THE COLORADO CITY freeway link will connect with previously constructed freeway at points 2.75 miles east and three miles west of the town's center.

Its curving route will come within three and a half blocks of the city limits at its nearest point north of the city.

Traffic interchanges will provide business routes through the city's downtown area from points east and west of the town.

Two interchanges north of the city also will provide direct access routes into Colorado City from the freeway at intersection of the freeway with State Highway 208 (to Snyder) and with the old Buford Road.

In addition there will be a traffic interchange for the

FREEWAY AROUND CITY

Follow This Route

Here is the route mapped for U. S. Highway 80 freeway north around Colorado City:

Starting from grade separation now being completed east of Colorado City at Looney school road near H. I. Berman property.

Then angling northwest and 900 feet north of present Highway 80 intersection with Country Club Road; then across Lone Wolf Creek and continuing to interchange with Old Buford Road at a point one-half mile east of city limits.

Continuing to a point 3.5 blocks outside city limits at north end of Watson St.; then proceeding on route to interchange with State Highway 208 (to Snyder) at a point one-fourth mile north of city limits in vicinity of property owned by A. K. McCarty, C. M. Hicks, Fred McDowell, Vance & Dean Phenix and A. T. Hammond at a point just east of natural gas pump station at north end of Austin Ave.

Then moving west at south side of City of Colorado City's water well field with Well No. 14 in the southwest corner of the city's field included in freeway right of way.

Then curving at a point 1000 feet east of Rogers Rd. grade separation and about half mile from west end of W. 17th St. and about one-fourth mile outside city limits.

Continuing a southwesterly tangent across Colorado River at approximate line of extension of W. 17th St.; then curving at old Highway 80 dirt route and continuing south of phone building near J. M. Crymes and Dick Hickman property in vicinity of county road connecting FM 1229 and present U. S. 80 route.

Interchange with present freeway west of city will be 1000 feet west of the county road.

Graveside Service For Boatright Baby

Graveside rites were conducted Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in Colorado City Cemetery for James Lee Boatright, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ed Boatright.

Rev. Clarence Collins, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiated.

The infant was born Nov. 8 in Malone-Hogan Hospital, Big Spring.

Survivors are the parents, two brothers, Randall and Bryan, of Colorado City; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Glasgow of San Marcos, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Boatright of Colorado City.

CLIMB CONTINUES

2,040 Students In Schools Here

Two thousand forty students are enrolled now in Colorado City public schools. That is 93 more students than were attending classes at the end of the school year last spring.

Supt. Frank Wilson reported the enrollment figures to Colorado Independent School District board of trustees Monday night.

The board is closely watching the scholastic figures as classroom facilities are crowded in at least three schools.

Primary School reported 546 students this week (not counting one entire classroom unit that has shifted to Hutchinson Elementary).

Even with shift of the unit to Hutchinson, Primary has five more students than it had at the end of 1956-57 school year and only 20 less students than the 566 at close of the term last May.

Other enrollments are: Hutchinson — 570 students (including the one unit from Primary), compared to 507 last May and 446 at end of end of 1956-57.

Junior High — 396 students, compared with 394 last May and 385 at close of 1956-57 year.

High School — 338 students, compared to 301 last May and 263 at end of 1956-57 year.

Wallace School enrollment, at a high point this year, now is 190 — down from a recent 206 students. The drop during the last few weeks resulted in the moving of at least two large families to other towns, Wilson reported.

Total enrollment in Primary, Hutchinson, Junior High and High School this week is 1,850 students. Last May the total was 1768 and year before last the total at end of school year was 1615.

School officials compare current enrollments to those at the close of other school years because the number of scholastics usually build up during a school year. In other words, fall enrollment figures usually are not peak figures. Every classroom at Hutchinson School, according to the superintendent, has at least 32 students.

Faulkenberry Final Rites In Loraine

James Aaron Faulkenberry, 83, retired farmer and carpenter of Loraine, died Tuesday morning following a long illness.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 in First Methodist Church in Loraine with the pastor, Rev. Merriel Abbott, officiating.

He is survived by his wife of Loraine; two daughters, Mrs. A. A. Johnson and Mrs. Gene Ball, of Fort Worth; six sons, Forrest Faulkenberry and J. A. Faulkenberry Jr. of Lamesa, Dr. T. G. Faulkenberry of Brownfield, David Faulkenberry of Big Spring, Sam Faulkenberry of Seattle, Wash., and Hester Faulkenberry of Pecos; 20 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Stricken Woman Alone in Home

Mrs. C. H. Thomas, 544 E. 15th, was reported in improved condition following a stroke suffered at her home this past weekend.

Mrs. Thomas, 75, is in Root Memorial Hospital. She is reported partially paralyzed as a result of the stroke.

Luke Thomas, a son of Mrs. Thomas, said she suffered the stroke Friday night as she evidently prepared for bed.

Thomas said that he and his brother Glenn thought she had gone to Snyder for church services with a group of friends.

The Thomases phoned her and went by the house Saturday but it appeared that no one was there.

They became worried Sunday afternoon and discovered that she had not gone to Snyder as she had previously said she would.

Luke and Glenn broke down the door and discovered her lying beside the bed where she had fallen Friday, almost two days earlier.

She was conscious and able to talk to them, but was unable to move. A Kiker & Son ambulance took her to Root Hospital where her condition was reported satisfactory.

Mrs. Thomas lives alone at her home.

Safety Pins To Company Drivers Here

Five truck drivers for two firms here have received special awards for accident-free records.

Four are employees of Roberts Butane Gas & Appliance and the fifth is an employee of Sherman Oil Company.

John Henry, Sherman driver, has compiled four years of safe driving.

Others receiving special recognition are J. J. Loveless, three years; W. W. Woods, two years; and W. L. Neff, one year.

The drivers were honored guests at a dinner recently in Hotel Baker's Colorado Room. Principal speaker at the dinner was Mike Myrick of Houston, representative for G. D. Foster and Pan American Insurance Company.

In addition, Myrick handed out special awards to drivers designating accident free driving.

Other guests at the dinner were Highway Patrolmen, Al Chambers and Buddy Hertenberger, G. D. Foster, O. C. Roberts and Dick Wistrand.

FROM HIGHWAY DEATH

Chesney in Two Narrow Escapes

Gus D. Chesney, vice president of the City National Bank, was recovering Thursday from injuries received Sunday when his pickup truck collided with a T&P freight train near the city limits.

Chesney received a broken collarbone, a cut on the head that required eight stitches and numerous other cuts and lacerations as a result of the accident.

Chesney, 48, narrowly escaped death as the impact of the crash threw him from the vehicle to within three feet of the railroad tracks.

He was driving south on Farm Road 1983 that connects Highway 80 and Highway 101 just west of Col-Tex Refinery.

Chesney said he saw the train, but too late. He applied the brakes and skidded 72 feet into the crossing. The pickup, which struck the third unit of the four-unit engine, was tossed back 30 feet from the scene of the mishap.

The engine was torn from the pickup, termed a total loss by city police.

Chesney was discovered unconscious by Willie Renfro and rushed to Root Hospital in a Kiker & Son ambulance.

Chesney told the Record he had left town and started toward his farm south of Colorado City at about 6:40 a. m. Sunday. As he drove west on Highway 80 near Caddell Transit Corp., an unidentified auto crossed the raised divider in the highway and almost collided head-on with his pickup.

Chesney turned around and drove to the police station to report the incident.

It was on his return trip down the highway and up the

Mrs. Gerald Gordon was guest speaker for a meeting of the 1921 Study Club Friday, Nov. 7, in the home of Mrs. V. R. Trulock.

Mrs. Gordon discussed "Williamsburg" and illustrated her talk with slides of Williamsburg.

"In order that the present and future might learn from the past, John D. Rockefeller Jr. spent 55 million dollars on the reconstruction and restoration of colonial Williamsburg," Mrs. Gordon said.

"Of the historic Bruton Parish Church," Mrs. Gordon said, "It has been in continuous use since 1715. Pews of the Patriots is evident in the interior and outside."

Explaining the history of the Governors Palace, Mrs. Gordon said, "The palace was the center of Williamsburg's social life. It was the home of seven Royal Governors and two Governors of Virginia, Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson." Mrs. Gordon showed views of the Governor's Palace of the inside and the formal gardens outside.

Included in the thirty slides of Williamsburg shown by Mrs. Gordon were Gloucester Street, called the most historic street in America; William and Mary College founded in 1693; the George Wythe home, where George Washington had his headquarters before the siege of Yorktown; The Brush-Edwards home and the Dean home and gardens.

Mrs. R. P. (Pete) Ainsworth was program leader for the afternoon program. Mrs. Ainsworth read, "The Prayer for America," from Peter Marshall's Book of Prayers.

Zetagathians Hear Discussion Of Home --Past and Future

"Home" was the program topic Thursday, Nov. 6, for a meeting of the Zetagathian Study Club in the home of Mrs. Martin Weaver.

The afternoon program was presented by Mrs. Don Mecoy and Mrs. J. S. (Jay) Craddock Jr.

Mrs. Mecoy discussed, "Reflections of the Past," and Mrs. Craddock, "Predictions for the Future."

"From the general store to the supermarket — from the kitchen with table, pots and pans, and family gatherings to the family room. From yesterday to today — what changes have time brought?" Mrs. Mecoy questioned the group.

"The home has changed in plans of architecture, decoration, and equipment. However, much is unaffected by time. Home is the center of the family life, not just a place to hang a hat, to eat, or to sleep," Mrs. Mecoy added.

"Here the family can share thoughts and ideas, work and play together. Here we still find such age-old problems as child-discipline and family budget. True, we need not be reminded that the work at home 100 or even 50 years ago was much more strenuous for everyone, than the work necessary to operate a home of 1958," Mrs. Mecoy said. Mrs. Craddock discussed "Predictions for the future home — 'There are so many things that await the home buyer of the near future,' Mrs. Craddock explained to the group. 'All of them are not only considered possible and practical, but many are already in use throughout the country.'"

"The house of the future will have windows that close automatically when rain starts, or if strong winds blow for more than 15 seconds," Mrs. Craddock added.

"Windows will also close or open from a master switch placed in the bedroom and every light in the house can be regulated from the room to room communications within the house which will be handled by intercommunicators."

"Entrance hall or portico lights in the evening will go on automatically when someone rings the bell, so the visitor can be clearly seen on a television monitor screen inside the house," Mrs. Craddock continued.

"A keyless electronic lock has been developed which is operated by a coded card the size of a calling card. The card is inserted into a slot near the door knob. The right card reflects the pattern that activates the radar waves which activates the locking device... and the doors opens. The wrong card sets off an alarm," Mrs. Craddock said.

During a brief business meeting the club voted to participate in the gift project for McKnight Tuberculosis Sanatorium with each club member donating gifts.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments to one guest, Mrs. Brice Webb, and members — Mrs. Homer H. Bodine, Mrs. Paul Boston, Mrs. Clarence Collins, Mrs. Craddock, Mrs. Trevor Crawford, Mrs. L. S. (Bunky) Girvin Jr., Mrs. Curtis Latimer, Mrs. Eldon Mahon, Mrs. Sam L. (Buzz) Majors Jr., Mrs. Mecoy, Mrs. Ray Noble, Mrs. W. S. (Bill) Rhode, Mrs. Bob Robinson, Mrs. W. J. (Dub) Turner, Mrs. George Witten and Mrs. O. B. Trulock Jr.

Mrs. Latimer will host the next meeting of the club in her home Nov. 20.

"No More Homework"

FRIDAY IN AUDITORIUM

Loraine Seniors to Present Play, 'No More Homework'

The Loraine High School Seniors will present the annual class play, "No More Homework," Friday evening, Nov. 14, at eight o'clock in the school auditorium.

"No More Homework," a three-act comedy, is a Row-Peterson play and will be directed by Guy Phillips, LHS English teacher. According to Mr. Phillips, "The play is cleverly crammed full of those delightful ingredients that teenagers look for in a play. It will feature fast action, jestful situations, zesty dialogue and memorable mirroring of their own hectic, happy high school life," Mr. Phillips added.

The action of the play takes place in the principal's office at Ames High School in one of America's smaller cities. The time is the present.

Members of the cast playing the leads will be Fran Griffin as "Pamela Jones," a capable conscientious, well-liked 17 year old; and Roy Little Jr. as "Shallmar Ames," a trouble-maker, good-looking, over indulged.

Other members of the cast include Wanda Moore, Mary Wright, Melba Thompson, Richards, David Redwine.

TO FEDERATION LIBRARY

Carr Club Votes to Contribute Book

Members of the Carr Home Demonstration Club voted to donate a book to the Mitchell County Federation Library at the club's regular meeting Friday, Nov. 7 in the home of Mrs. F. A. Langley.

Mrs. Don Henderson was appointed to select the book for the library.

Members answered the afternoon roll call with a "Current Event."

Mrs. Louis Rees and Mrs. Ruth Airhart presented the program. Mrs. Rees discussed proper methods of comfort making. Mrs. Airhart demonstrated how to assemble fresh and dried flower arrangements. She also displayed several types of Christmas arrangements and decorations which she had made.

IN DISTRICT 3-AAA BATTLE

Injured Wolves To Host
Tornadoes Here Friday

Colorado High School's injured Wolves will attempt to patch up the ranks to withstand the onslaught of the powerful Lamesa High Golden Tornadoes here Friday night.

Wolves may be minus three starters when they take the field at Wolf Stadium at 7:30 p. m.

Coach Homer Jefferson said halfback Freddie Womack, fullback James Shoemaker and tackle Raymond Weaver have been battling the flu bug all week.

Weaver will probably start, but Womack and Shoemaker will likely be on the sidelines. Jefferson said senior Don Welter will start in Womack's halfback slot with Dickie Richardson in Shoemaker's fullback position.

Richardson has recovered from a mid-season leg injury. Large number of the team has been suffering from bruises received in the Lake View game and in practice sessions. Sophomore tackle Ronnie Stacy and end Larry Lindsey have bruised knees.

Wolves will be seeking their first conference win of the season and their second seasonal victory. They reached the high point of the conference season in the District 3-AAA opener when they played a 12-12 tie with Snyder.

Last week, the Wolves looked weaker in dropping a 22-0 tilt to Lake View.

This week's opponent — Lamesa — also suffered defeat at the hands of Lake View (12-7). They also were tied by Snyder, (20-20) and defeated by Sweetwater which should make the game a toss-up, but Lamesa will probably be favored.

Lamesa has the bulk of the team returning that C-City defeated 13-0 last year.

The Tornadoes have one of the heaviest lines in the district and some of the fastest backs.

Coach O. W. Follis, senior coach of the district with 12 years service at Lamesa, has switched the line-up since his team lost to Sweetwater in the 3-AAA opener, using undergraduates in an effort to build for next year.

Thirteen lettermen are among the 35 boys on the varsity squad.

Probable end starters are

Among the one dozen sophomores on the Colorado High varsity football team this season, these five have been seeing the most action. Top, left to right; are quarterback Jerry McKay, end Alex Campbell and guard Red Lemons. At the side are back Don Vest and tackle Ronnie Stacy, (bottom).

GETS HSU-WEST TEXAS TICKETS

Howard Cain Tops Entries
In Football Contest Game

Howard Cain of Colorado City picking 10 of 12 games and a key score of Lake View 20, Colorado City 8; only 10 points off.

Cain's only miss was the Snyder-Lamesa tie game. His key score was Lake View 14 Colorado City 12.

Cains wins two tickets to the Hardin-Simmons vs. West Texas State game Saturday in Abilene. This will be a key Border Conference battle which Hardin-Simmons must win to cinch a tie for the crown.

Mrs. Gene Garner captured second prize—a one year subscription to the Record — by score of 28-7, 13 points off.

Mrs. Garner missed the Snyder-Lamesa game — which everyone missed — and also New Mexico A&M's win over McMurry.

Winning movie passes for third and fourth places were J. V. Bolin Jr. and Bobby McNeese; Bolin missed the same games as Mrs. Garner and had a key score of 22-12, only 12 points off the correct score.

McNeese also missed the same games and had a key score of 28-7, 13 points off.

A large number missed only two games, but were further off on the key score. Majority missed NMA&M's upset of McMurry and ACC's win over West Texas. The runner-up group included: Terry Breeden, James Herford, Luke Thomas, Mrs. Jeral Beard, Bud Everett, R. C. Howell, Don Redwine, Bob Reilly, Ray Noble, Mrs. Don Jones, Harlan Morgan of Snyder, Mrs. Howard Cain.

Honorable mention list of persons missing three games included:

Alton Sparks of Ames, Iowa; R. A. Moore Jr., Jay Craddock, Carl Echols Jr., Heston Redwine, Jack Burkhalter, James E. McMullen, Janet Earle McMullen, Kay Stewart, Don Jones, Don Benson, Mrs. J. H. Forrester, David Redwine, Mrs. E. M. Harrison, Al Byrd, Mrs. Al Byrd, Charles Wiggins, Don Peck, Mrs. E. Tilley, Bill Everitt, James F. Farris, and Will H. Jones of Corsicana.

First prize this week is two tickets to the Texas Tech vs. University of Arkansas game Nov. 22 in Lubbock.

Arkansas, coming up fast after a slow start, has one of the fastest teams in the conference.

Colorado City vs. Lamesa is the key game while Lake View at Sweetwater makes up the rest of the District 3-AAA slate.

Important Question In Cotton Vote

How farmers vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum to hold in Mitchell County and throughout the Nation's cotton-growing area on December 15 will determine whether quota penalties will apply, the kind of allotment program in effect, and also the level of price support for 1959-crop cotton.

The referendum therefore, is of vital concern to every cotton grower.

The marketing quota program will be in operation for next year's crop, if at least two-thirds of the votes cast in the referendum are in favor of the program.

In that case, farm operators will have an opportunity to elect a choice between (A) complying with their "regular" farm allotments with price support available at not less than 80 percent of parity for the 1959 crop of upland cotton, or (B) complying with an increased farm allotment 40 percent larger than the "regular" farm allotment with support at a level 15 per cent of parity lower than under the first choice; quota penalties will apply to any cotton produced in excess of the chosen allotment.

If more than one-third of the votes are against quotas, there would be no quota penalties, only the "regular" allotments would be available, and the price support level to eligible growers would drop to 50 per cent of parity.

All farmers who were engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1958 will be eligible to vote in the referendum.

The referendum will be held between the hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. on Monday, Dec. 15.

Light From Ads

An American electric committee recently visited Russia. One of its members, Edwin Vennard, a top official of the Edison Electric Institute, has reported on what the committee found.

Russia's electric power plant and related installations are good, he says, and there has been notable expansion in late years. However, to quote the But, Montana, Standard, he also says: "The Soviets have one tremendous obstacle to surmount. They are running out of consumers."

How can this be in a nation of more than 200 million people? The Standard explains: "... Russian homes which have electricity have only a single bulb hanging on a wire in the center of the room, much the same as was the case in the United States 30 or 35 years ago. This single bulb represents the extent electric energy is consumed by the average homeowner in Russia ..."

Mr. Vennard was asked by a Russian how the problem of stimulating demand was solved in the United States. Mr. Vennard answered that it was largely a matter of advertising. To that the Russian said — "Oh, propaganda." And Mr. Vennard let it go at that.

This little true story pretty well demonstrates the differences in living standards under communism as compared to our capitalistic system.

PHILOSOPHER SAYS

He Has Political Signals Confused

Editor's note: The Shipnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Boone Hollow Creek has found out about the election a week ago, which is pretty fast work for him.

Dear editor: Outside of reading what the political experts and analysts have to say before an election, I guess the next best thing to do is to wait until they have to say after the election.

For example, last week as soon as the returns from the elections around the country came in, the experts rolled up their sleeves and started explaining what had happened and why.

And I'll admit they've left me puzzled, although you understand I'm not crediting them with getting me puzzled.

ed, I've been that way for years on my own.

One expert said the election results clearly indicated the country is more liberal. Another said this isn't true, that he knows of candidates who got elected on the most conservative platform he'd ever heard of.

The main trouble with this is that the pure strains in both parties have about disappeared, mostly cross-breeds left.

And you take all these crosses, like liberal Republicans and conservative Democrats, conservative Republicans and liberal Democrats, liberal conservatives and conservative liberals, conservative liberals and liberal liberals, and several who don't know how they got elected, and put them all in the same feed lot in Washington and it's no wonder the Presidency of the United States is considered the most back-breaking job on earth.

If the cattlemen or the horse breeders or hog raisers or dog lovers of this country registered their stock like political parties do, you couldn't tell anymore about what the offspring would be like than you can about what the next Congress will do.

You take two members from the same party, one with a mandate from the people in his pocket to vote conservative, and the other with a mandate to vote liberal, and turn them loose in Washington, and it's about like a football team with two coaches, one sending in word to pass, the other to punt.

Personally, I prefer to run this farm out here on Boone Hollow. Nobody issues me any mandates.

Your faithfully,
J. A.

TEXAS AGRICULTURE

Fall Emphasizes Food Products

By JOHN C. WHITE, Agriculture Commissioner. Turkeys and apples are headlines among foods in abundance during this month of November.

The 1958 turkey placements were not quite so large in Texas as last year but the mortality rate has been unusually low and there will be plenty of the traditional "holiday" birds available at a right price.

The bulk of the crop will be going to market in November and December, making more supplies actually available than during last year when sales were spread from the last of September through the Christmas season.

AS FOR APPLES, they're making history this year. This is the second largest crop in two decades and the largest since 1949. The country's commercial apple trees are expected to yield nearly 127 million bushels.

Along with turkeys, broiler-fryer chickens will be plentiful. Generous supplies of pork are also available.

Because so many young hens make up this fall's laying flocks, medium and small size eggs are expected to be most plentiful and are probably the thrifty buys.

THE FALL POTATO crop also is large. These are the

STUDY COMMISSION REPORTS

Inconsistent Property Taxing Cuts Down State Tax Revenue

By VERN SANFORD, Texas Press Association

It'd be hard to find a Texan who hasn't been involved in a lively discussion recently as to whether the next Legislature should or should not pass a state sales tax or income tax next year.

Most folks are pretty strongly pro or con — no lukewarm feelings.

Property taxes are another matter. People may gripe about them, but they don't often get stirred up about them.

But the latest report by the Texas State Tax Study Commission, "Our Property Taxes," underscores the importance of the levy. It is Texas' biggest money-maker for state and local government. In 1958 property taxes will bring in an estimated $629,000,000 to the state and all the various local taxing units.

More interesting, the Tax Commission's study of assessment and collecting practices and problems indicates that this figure is probably only a fraction of what is legally due.

Shortage of personnel plus the mountainous difficulties of locating and evaluating all the items involved add to inequalities and haphazard methods.

Under Texas law, individuals and businesses are supposed to pay property taxes on all real estate — land and buildings. In addition, both businesses and individuals are liable for taxes on all "tangible personal property" — cars, airplanes, boats, furniture, jewelry, business equipment, fixtures, inventories, etc. Also, on all "intangible personal property" — money, stocks, mortgages, etc.

In practice, many of these are just plain ignored by officials and citizens alike. Many cities make no effort to collect property taxes on cars. As to money, the Commission report observes, "If money in the bank were taxed on January 1, relatively few persons or businesses would have any money on deposit that day."

In other areas where more vigorous efforts at collection are made, results are spotty. Researchers found that the same piece of property would yield widely varying tax bills in different counties. On one example the range was from $616 in Harris County to $1,132 in Travis County.

They also found that some people claim homestead exemptions for more than one house. At $3,000 each, these add up to unknown thousands in untaxed value.

Exemption plus low assessments take a big bite from theoretically possible tax collections. In a study of 3,037 house sales, the Commission's research staff found the legal tax due to be $95,019. Actual taxes levied were $2,706, only 3 per cent of what strict application of the law would have produced.

Even though many tax offices are undermanned, Texas has 1,500 assessor-collectors. Sometimes a county, city and school district each will have an official doing the same job in the same area. Result: total cost of property tax administration in Texas exceeds $15,000,000 a year.

CITY RECOMMENDATIONS — Texas League of Municipalities has a series of recommendations — mostly in regard to money — for the next Legislature.

Topping the list was an appeal to the lawmakers to authorize cities to raise money through some new tax sources. League also asked for thorough study of inequities in the property tax laws and revision where needed. It suggested that payment of property taxes on motor vehicles be required before issuance of new license tags.

Cities also asked the Legislature to step out of the field of regulating pay, pensions, and hours of city employees. Local citizens have to pay the bill, said the League, and ought to have the say-so.

COST OF HIGH LIVING — It's not the income; it's the outgo that has put Texas treasury in the red, says State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Calvert told Gov. Price Daniel's Executive Study Committee that all tax sources except oil are expected to bring in some $74,646,044 more revenue in the 1960-61 biennium than for 1958-59.

But, he pointed out, insupportable increase of needs in just one area — public schools will just about absorb all this extra money.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Tough Problems In Farm Issues

By CINTON DAVIDSON, Washington Correspondent

Now that the election excitement has died down in Washington, farm issues are shaping up as one of the toughest problems which the new Congress will face when it convenes in January.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson will insist that farmers be given more freedom to plant and market as they please.

The new Congress will be equally concerned with "protecting" farmers from excessively high production and damaging low prices.

THE MOST PRESSING farm problem with which both Congress and Mr. Benson must deal is that of mounting surpluses. Government holdings of farm commodities may reach, and possibly exceed, $10 billion early next year.

The government is now spending at the rate of more than $4 billion a year in an unsuccessful effort to reduce surpluses through (1) acreage allotments and direct payments to producers and (2) subsidized disposal of as much of the excess as possible.

THE BILLION DOLLAR a year Soil Bank under which farmers have been paid to retire 25 million acres from production has failed to stem the rising tide of surpluses. The costly Soil Bank acreage reserve program is being discontinued after this year.

Total crop production this year will top any previous year by more than 10 per cent. This record has been set with fewer acres in cultivation than any year since the 1880's, and by a third fewer farmers than there were 25 years ago.

The government is spending more than $1 billion a year to cover losses and storage costs on surpluses. It is spending another $2 billion a year in financing surplus disposal, mostly through what amounts to a give-away program abroad.

OUR STOCKPILE of wheat, corn, soybeans and barley is at an all-time record high. Wheat supplies in October were more than two billion bushels; enough to fill two freight trains with their engines in New York and their cabooses in San Francisco.

Farmers are harvesting a record 3.8 billion bushels of corn to add to an already record 1.5 billion bushels left over from previous crops. It would take five across-the-country freight trains to carry that much corn.

The next Congress must face up to the problem of how to stem that tide of excess production.

It will find urban taxpayers pressing it for a good reason why the government should continue to spend billions of dollars a year on programs about which both farmers and city people complain.

MR. BENSON'S proposal is simple. Ease government planting restrictions and lower price supports to the point where there will be a market for everything farmers produce. Lower prices, he argues, will result in increased exports and in new uses for farm products in this country.

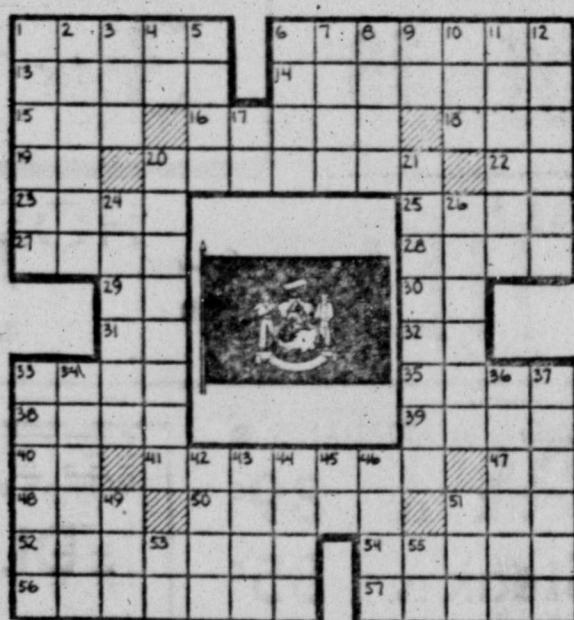

Congress, in the past, has contended that this would drive prices so low that two million farmers would be bankrupt within three years. Mr. Benson retorts that it would be better to bankrupt two million farmers than to continue an unsound program.

The next Congress will be pressured, both by Benson and by big city taxpayers, to reduce the cost of farm programs. That may be the big farm issue.

LOCAL BUSINESS

City Growth Tied To Your Business

By JOE ED BOATRIGHT, Record Advertising Mgr. "We can not think of two more important and co-related factors in the American way of life than a growing city and its newspaper."

This statement was taken from an advertisement in a Virginia, Minnesota newspaper. The ad was unsolicited. It was paid for by a merchant who wished to show his appreciation for the part the newspaper had in building up his business.

"FOR MANY YEARS we have received many times over, dividends and extra dividends on our advertising dollar in this newspaper," Joseph A. Leoni, the merchant who ran the advertisement, stated.

"This advertisement was not suggested by the newspaper. It is just something we have wanted to say for a long time. We have proved to our complete satisfaction that we have made a sound investment in our newspaper advertising," the merchant commented.

Although retailers do not often make such public confessions of their success with newspaper advertising, similar stores are common where retailers have made full use of their newspapers. A check in any community will show that growth of a retail business is almost always directly related to the advertising investment of the business.

IN LIKE MANNER, the growth of the entire business community here in Colorado City, too, can be related directly to the combined advertising investment of all local advertising.

For community growth is but a reflection of the expansion individual business concerns, which is always due, in part, to effective advertising.

This is the day of competition and quick transportation. And competition no longer is across the street or in the next block. Instead, it can be miles and miles away.

And no business, nor community — Colorado City included — is rich enough, powerful enough, blessed enough to expand and grow with just what happens this day or the next.

It must reach out and attract new interest constantly, or waste away.

ON COOPERATOR FARMS

Terracing to Hit Busy Work Schedule in Winter Months

A heavy work load is forecast this winter for terracing on farms of Mitchell County Soil Conservation District co-operators.

In fact, applications for conservation practices such as terracing already are on the increase, according to Perry Bowles, chairman of the district's board of supervisors.

"Cooperators planning to terrace their farms this winter," Bowles advised, "should begin to plan their work now."

"And it is important that they begin to line up contractors for the work."

The district chairman said that district co-operators also should contact Soil Conservation Service immediately as their fields open so SCS technicians can run their terrace lines.

Mary L. Hooker, a district co-operator, has recently completed 5.3 miles of her ridge type terraces with ends closed on her farm at Westbrook.

The terraces were laid out, designed, and constructed to hold the water that falls on the field, to retard water erosion, and provide guide lines for contour farming.

Last week she completed a 2,200 foot diversion terrace on her farm northwest of Lorraine. The diversion terrace was laid out, designed and constructed to divert runoff water away from a field to allow terraces to be constructed on the field as soon as the crops are harvested.

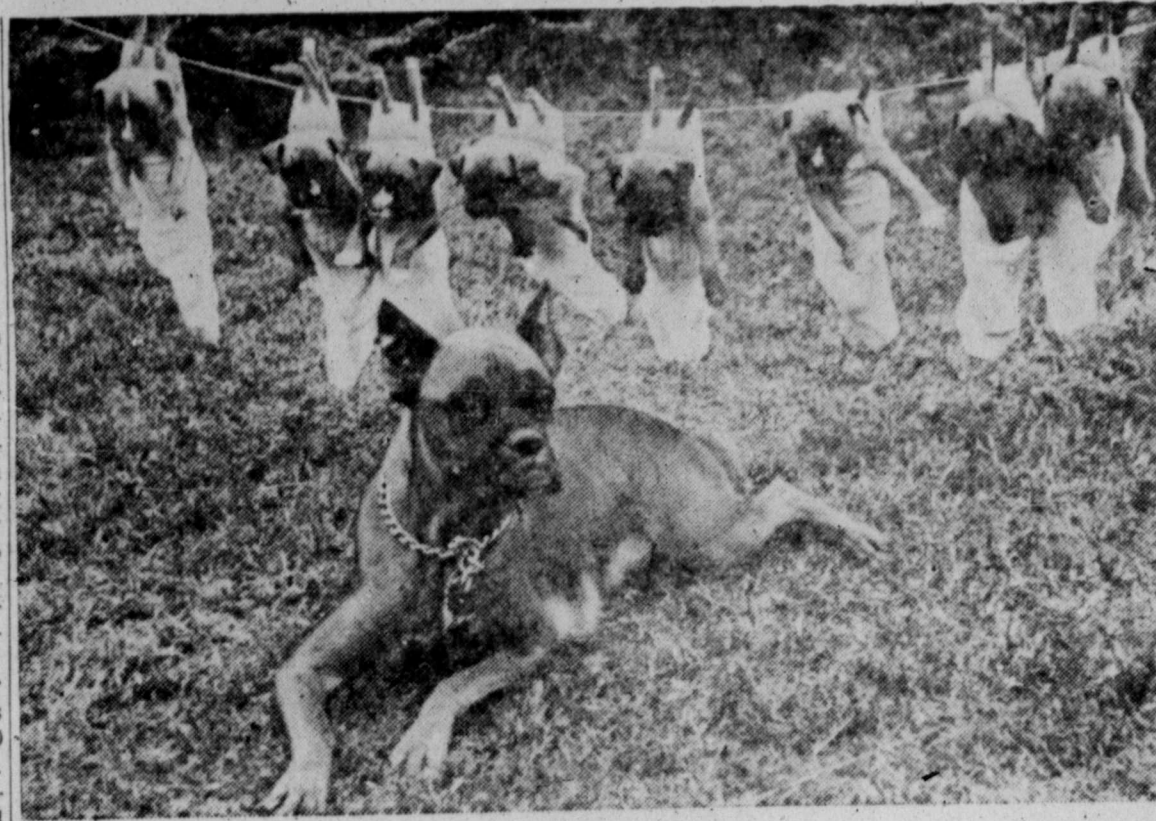

Mrs. Hooker received technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service as well as financial assistance from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

The terraces and the diversion terrace is a part of Mrs. Hooker's complete coordinated soil, water and plant conservation plan that she developed to treat each acre according to its needs and use it with its capability. The plan was developed by Mrs. Hooker with the Soil Conservation Service providing technical assistance.

Congressman George Mahon is now reworking part of his old terraces as well as building some new ones. As a district co-operator with the Mitchell County Soil Conservation District, Congressman Mahon's plan calls for using the land within its capability and treating it according to its needs.

Other work will be completed when the crops are harvested.

Joe Boyd, livestock farmer in the Spade community, is planning to construct a 4,000 cu. yd. pond on his range land. The pond will provide livestock water and allow Boyd to do a better job of managing the grazing of the range grasses. This is a part of Boyd's range management plan.

Somebody has to feed the mama hog

THESE piglets are not worried about how comes their sustenance . . . nor are they much concerned about whether it will be there tomorrow . . . until tomorrow comes.

Yet their welfare depends very much upon how well somebody feeds and cares for the mama hog. They grow fat or they grow lean in proportion.

Even as our individual and collective prosperity depends on the vigor of this Local Economy which furnishes us with jobs, business, stable property values, and a handy source of emergency and daily needs.

The difference is . . . we, ourselves, are the caretakers of this economy upon which we depend. It's within our power to feed it by trading at home . . . or starve it by trading in some other town.

City shopping . . . mail order buying . . . succumbing to the itinerant peddlers' smooth line . . . cutting the community's ration of trade volume by $3 or $4 every time $1 is taken out of local circulation . . . is a good way to dry up the economy that sustains us.

Mmes. Compton, Hamrick Present HD Program

Mrs. CHAS. STUBBLEFIELD
Record Correspondent
LANDERS — The Landers Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Charles Holman.

Presenting the program for the day was Mrs. Sidney Compton, with the assistance of Mrs. Luther Hamrick, of the Looney HD Club.

They presented a discussion on teas and flower arrangements. Those present were told they should keep their containers neutral in color when making a flower arrangement. The highest point in an arrangement should be two or three times the length of the container.

Arrangements should either be made in a triangle or earth form, the group were told. Mrs. Compton and Mrs. Hamrick made an attractive arrangement from dried wood, rocks, leaves and pyracantha berries, as a demonstration.

In the discussion of teas, the program leaders told those present that a tea is an informal way of entertaining in the afternoon. It should have a sociable atmosphere and usually consists of a small group of persons, but can be a gathering of 100 or more persons. At teas, there may be vocal or instrumental music but no set program.

Mrs. Compton presided during the business session preceding the program.

Refreshments of pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee were served to one guest Mrs. Hamrick and mem-

New Savings Stamp on Sale Nov. 18

The new 25-cent United States Savings Stamp will go on sale in the Colorado City Post Office on Nov. 18.

It will be available in gift books of $2.50 and $5.00 values, in addition to the customary sheet form, according to Postmaster S. A. Palmer.

The new red, white, and blue issue marks the first time that Savings Stamps have been printed in more than one color, according to the Postmaster. It will continue to feature the Minute Man, as on the old green stamp, but the American flag has been added to the background.

"The gift books will be especially appropriate as the Christmas season approaches," Palmer pointed out. "The $2.50 book contains 10 25-cent Savings Stamps, the $5.00 book 20 stamps — and there's no extra charge for the book itself," he added.

At present, only the 25-cent denomination will appear in the patriotic three-color theme. However, all other savings stamps will continue to be sold; the 10-cent stamp is red, the 50-cent is blue, the $1 grey, and the $5 brown.

For those who hold the old 25-cent green stamps, in albums or otherwise, the postmaster offers reassurance.

"Don't worry about their losing value," Palmer said, "they're just as good as the day you bought them."

This annual livestock survey, which your Post Office and agriculture departments cooperatively have made since 1924, provides basic information to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Austin for estimating number of cattle, hogs, sheep and chickens on Texas farms and ranches.

The survey cards will be dated as of Dec. 1, 1958, according to postmaster S. A. Palmer.

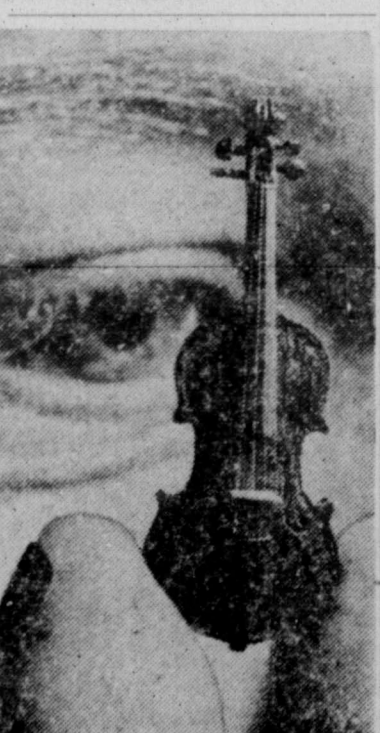

In order that our area be well represented in the survey, Postmaster Palmer requests that each patron receiving a card fill out and return it to his mail box for prompt pick up.

Rural mail carriers working on this project are W. R. Motley, Route One, Ed Meeser, Route Two, Charles Nuckolls, Route Three, D. E. Snow, Star Route.

Mrs. Lily Bennett and Mrs. Doris Martin of Loraine visited relatives in Odessa over the week end and attended a performance of Ice Capades.

Mrs. Bennett visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Crowder. Mrs. Martin was a guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David Hunt.

Smallest

What he describes as the smallest real violin in the world, is held up for minute inspection by maker Maurice Bruyas in Paris, France. Roughly an inch and a quarter long, the instrument is made of 52 pieces of wood, and its strings can be tuned. Bruyas says it can be played but needs a thumb sized virtuoso.

Lee Stafford, 160, and Nat Self, 175 while the tackles will probably be Bill Bob Henderson, 195, and Ross Woodson, 196.

Likely guard starters are Gary Everett, 188 and Grant Holladay, 210.

A smaller boy, Jimmy Lynch, 155, will start at center but he's rated one of the top boys in the line on offense and defense.

The Lamesa backfield that has paced the team to victories over Crane, Kermit, Brownfield and Monahans will feature a big burly fullback, two speedy halfbacks and a tricky quarterback.

Howard Westmoreland, 190 or Billy Addison, 160, will start at fullback.

Larry Marshall, the 155 pounder who has scored plenty this year, will go at left half while Rongie Reeves, 152, the fastest back, will get the call at right half.

Kirk Wiggins, 145, has handled the quarterback job quite effectively this year.

Tornadoes strongest defensive men are Westmoreland, guard Everett and end Self.

It will be a battle to see who stays out of the conference cellar.

And Coach Jefferson plans to use everybody in the contest "whether we win, lose or draw."
