Civilization's Cost—
The Finish Fight—
A Law for All—

By H. N. F.

A CANADIAN LAWMAKER has submitted a new taxation bill which will put a special tax upon the incomes of all aliens employed in Canada or depriving their income from services rendered in Canada. Only the Gipsy escapes the dragnet of the tax gatherer. Civilization comes high. It cost four hundred billion dollars and ten million lives to establish the truth that all men are equal and that a few men are not born to rule by divine right alone.

ORGANIZERS OF THE UNITED Mine Workers of America have captured twenty-five thousand of the fifty thousand non-union miners of Pennsylvania. These non-union mines are owned by the big steel, coal and coke interests and for years and years their operators have made it impossible for the miners' unions to invade their territory or to induce their men to carry union cards. It is a fight to the finish now. Capital is without a stomach; labor has a mouth to feed.

"SOME OF THESE DAYS AT some of these dinners you boys are going to find yourselves in pretty serious trouble," said District Attorney Joab Banton of New York at a dinner of the Harlem Chamber of Commerce. "Just realize in violating one law you indicate a disregard for all law and the hold-up man and the burglar commit crimes because they, too, disregard the law. Maybe they have seen some eminently respectable citizen disregard the law and they reason accordingly. There is logic in reasoning of that sort. Just think that over." District Attorney Banton was the chief guest and his pointed remarks were made after considerable liquor had flown from hip pocket flasks and quart bottles. It was a rebuke well deserved and well administered. Why should prominent citizens publicly and brazenly violate the prohibition law or any other? Why should they be immune from punishment?

Banton is a former Texan. He believes there should be one law for all and no man above the law.

COAL OPERATORS OF AMERica refuse to meet their miners in conference, giving the excuse that they would run the risk of indictment by a federal grand jury for violation of the anti-trust law. Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty made short work of their excuse. He said they need not fear prosecution. Daugherty speaks for the Department of the United States. A coal famine Justice and the government of the United States. A coal famine in the United States within the next six weeks is predicted by those familiar with the conditions at the mines and reserve supply on hand. It is said there are twenty million tons of coal in the cellars of the country, forty million tons above ground and that the consumption is eight million tons a week. If this is a showdown, there is certain to be starved stomachs and pinched faces before peace comes to all the people interested in the coal mining industry.

RED CROSS WORKERS EN ROUTE TO OPLIN

SOUTH'S TARIFF BODY CRITICIZES NEW SCHEDULES

Kell and Woodall Urge Further Protection

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—John H. Kirby, president, and other influential leaders in the Southern Tariff association, today continued to study the schedules of the tariff bill reported to the senate Tuesday in its relation to southern products.

Several objections to the bill have been raised by the southerners. While the rates of vegetable oils in the McCumber bill are generally satisfactory, the southerners object to the clause admitting free of duty vegetable oil used for non-edible purposes.

Peanuts Too Low

The southerners also want copra removed from the free list and given a duty of 2 cents a pound. They want the rate on peanuts raised from the one and a half cents a pound in the bill to four cents, and unshelled peanuts from three-fourths of a cent a pound in the bill to three cents.

They also ask that oil and oil cakes be taken from the free list as provided in the bill and given one-half cent per pound, and would have fish oil increased from five to eight cents per pound. The Southern Tariff association held two meetings today.

Speakers at the meeting tonight included Frank Kell of Wichita Falls and Ed Woodall of Hillsboro. Woodall, who described himself as still a democrat, said he had about reached the point where he had about reached the republican as the democratic ticket.

Chance for G. O. P.

Woodall urged republicans in Texas to enter the democratic primary and vote for protection of democrats for senator and for congressman. He said the people of Texas could not be brought to vote the republican ticket, but would accept republican doctrines with the republican names left off.

Woodall said that he believed if republicans would do this an independent democratic senator could be elected from Texas, who would vote for protective tariffs. Woodall urged that southern representatives give the manufacturers protection and take protection for raw material in exchange.

"You have got to give them theirs, if we get ours," he said.

Kell Speaks

Frank Kell of Wichita Falls spoke on the necessity of protection for wheat among other things. He said that the senate finance committee had agreed on a duty for wheat in 1913, but after members had gone to the White House and talked to President Wilson, the views of Wilson prevailed and wheat went on the free list.

CLAY CO. WILL VOTE ON ROADS

$160,000 Bond Issue Set for May 13

Special to the Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, April 12.—The commissioners' court of Clay county yesterday passed an order creating road district No. 1 in Clay county and ordered an election to be held in the district on May 13 to vote upon the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $160,000 and levying a tax to provide a sinking fund and pay interest thereon.

This action was taken upon a petition signed by more than 130 property tax paying voters of the new road district which is situated in the north and northwest part of Clay county. The district includes the towns of Byers, Charlie, Thornberry and Valentine. The affected area is one of the richest sections of Clay county.

The road would begin at Byers and run through Charlie, Thornberry and Valentine and connect with the road from Wichita Falls at the Wichita county line. The improvements also contemplate a road from the Byers bridge to the 98th Meridian bridge on Red river; also a road from Charlie to the Big Wichita river bridge.

In the event of the passage of the bond issue, the commissioners hope to build these roads during the coming summer and fall.

CANDIDATE PROPOSES CAPITAL PUNISHMENT FOR RENT PROFITEERS

By Associated Press.

RALEIGH, N. C., April 12.—Parading up and down the streets of Raleigh and shouting through a megaphone will be the method used by Philip Brockwell of this city, in letting the citizenry know that he is a candidate for the legislature on the democratic ticket at the coming primary, he announced today.

Brockwell said that if he is elected he will introduce a bill proposing capital punishment for "first degree rent profiteering."

EDWARDS QUITS CONGRESS RACE

Withdrawal Follows Candidates' Entry

Dr. A. B. Edwards of Henrietta Wednesday announced his withdrawal as a candidate to succeed the late Lucian W. Parrish, congressman from this district, in his unexpired term.

Dr. Edwards, who is the father of Mrs. Parrish, entered the race on the insistence of Clay county friends that either he of Mrs. Parrish make the race. Mrs. Parrish declined, saying that she did not feel equal to the task following her bereavement.

Both avowed candidates for the place promised either Mrs. Parrish or Dr. Edwards an uncontested race for their part. W. S. Moore, Gainesville attorney, recalled that he had already announced for the unexpired term, however, and did not feel like withdrawing. Miss Annie Webb Blanton, state superintendent of education, who had just announced at this point that she would be a candidate for the regular term, threw her hat into the ring for the unexpired term too. Judge Sal Morgan of Wichita Falls and Guinn Williams of Decatur following this, announced that they would be candidates in view of the changing situation. Dr. Edwards' withdrawal comes as a result of the situation created by the entrance of the first two candidates, forcing the others to also enter the race, and bringing about a situation which he did not by any means contemplate at first. A full statement will be received from him today, it is announced.

'CON' MAN LEAVES ESTATE OF $500,000

BOSTON, April 12.—The burial at Forest Hill cemetery here of Clark Parker of Pasadena, California, whose career as an international confidence man years ago brought him into the federal courts, became known today.

Parker, a former resident of this city, died at Pasadena on March 22 and left an estate valued at more than $500,000, most of which went to a fraternal organization in California, according to his executors. The executors today denied reports that Dr. Frederick P. Gay, of Beverly, California, a nephew of Parker, intended to contest the will, which leaves bequeaths to members of the family and the laws firm.

5 CITY HEADS TO HOLD JOBS

Others Also Will Be Retained With Cut

Changes in city department heads and proposed pay roll clipping, discussed by the new city council in informal executive session Wednesday noon, developed that five department heads at the city hall will remain fixtures as far as the new administration is concerned.

First of these four is J. L. McClure, veteran fire chief, who remains undisturbed through administrations, which come and go; Dr. A. H. Douglass, chief health officer and the city chemist, serving in his third administration; H. J. Anderson, tax assessor and collector; F. N. Lawton, head of the city water department, and F. M. Rugeley, recently appointed city engineer.

Others To Stay.

This does pot mean, according to council members, that all department heads but these will go, for such is not the case all around, they say. Some will go, it is apparently certain. Nearly all, both those who stay and new officials appointed, will share in the salary cuts.

Action in many of these cases will be taken at the regular Monday night session.

Economy Expected.

The pay roll will be clipped materially, it was indicated. This was expected. City officials have only had one small cut since the peak prices, the late city administration refraining from action in the last months of their term in this connection in the belief that this would be the first work of the new, and that it would be unfair to employes to have their pay revised three times in a year.

DAVIS-WILLIAMS CASE UNDER CONSIDERATION

Judge E. W. Napier of the 78th district court Wednesday afternoon took under consideration a motion for an instructed verdict for the defendant in the case of B. W. Davis against J. F. Williams. The trial of the case with jury opened Wednesday morning.

The plaitiff asks for $5,500 for the alleged conversion of property in 1919. He alleges in his petition that he rented a lot in Burkburnett from the defendant for $25 a month and moved a large amount of oil property there.

WOMEN UNDER BOND

Mrs. Sam Washburn and Mrs. Ethel Pike, said by officers to be proprietors of cafes at South Bend in Young county, were held under $500 bond Wednesday by United States Commissioner Lantz, after they had waived preliminary hearings on charges of having whiskey in their possession. W. S. Smith arrested at the same time as the two women, was released on his own recognizance on a similar charge.

The trio were brought here from Graham by Deputy United States Marshal Dodgen. The three were arrested b yYoung county officers several days ago.

Five thousand copies of the petition were being mailed to various communities of the tate said Mr. Ferguson, adding that his weekly publication, the Ferguson Forum will lay the petition before the committee when it meets on the second Monday in June.

Forty-eight thousand signatures would force the committee to submit the proposition he declared, as it is necessary to secure only ten per cent of the numbers of voters participating in the last state primary to force submission on any proposition.

URGES ABOLISHMENT OF HOMESTEAD LAW

By Associated Press.

Meliff, president of the San Antonio chamber of commerce, before the annual convention of the Texas Lumbermen's association here today. He said the law prevented home building and civic progress and urged that the lumbermen work for its repeal, or at least for its amendment.

Mayor Collier Will Locate Home Plate For Teams' Hurlers If Old Arm's Right

Spudder hopes for half a year will come into being this afternoon at 4 when the gong rings to bring the strongest club which has ever represented local fandom into action. Denied in their desire for the past two years chiefly through the pranks of fickle fate in the shape of injuries when the well known "rag" was seemingly about to find a home in the edge of the Panhandle, Spudder fans think that they can not be denied this year.

And Spudder leaders have done everything in their power to grant their desire. The strong men of last year's club have been brought back into the fold again, while real cash has been spent lavishly to bolster up the weak spot developed in last year's campaign.

Holes Plugged With Stars.

The extent to which the coffers of the club have been depleted to gratify this desire may be indicated by the array of talent which has been gathered by this means. Homer Summa, an International league star, has been obtained to fill the shoes of Froggy Rothfuss, while Ray O'Brien has been purchased to fill center garden. Adams was purchased from St. Louis to plug the hole at short, a position which was too far away from first for the scrappy Buddy Tanner. Fred Beck, the leading home run hitter in the Western league last year, and a terrific slugger, plugs a hole at first for the first time in the history of local baseball. Al White was purchased in an attempt to fill out the infield, and is a capable utility infielder, and Joe Newkirk, a spit ball artist, has been added to the flinging staff.

Parade At 2:30.

Appreciation of these efforts on the part of Spudder fans is expected today in a crowd which will send all previous marks far into the discard. Fans here, who have made Wichita Falls one of the best towns for attendance in the circuit, have always come close to grabbing the Roberts' cup. Pennant hopes and team prospects this year are expected to give the extra steam to carry the locals over this year.

Festivities will start at 2:30 this afternoon when the customary parade, headed by the two ball clubs and a brass band, will form at the city hall on Ohio avenue. From the starting point it will wind its way through the business section and finally out Seventh to the ball park.

At the ball park the usual festivities will be cut to the limit. Both clubs will pose for pictures, Mayor Frank Collier, once a pitcher of parts, will heave the first ball, and the fray will be on.

VERDICT IN KLAN CASE RESERVED

Special to the Record News.

AUSTIN, April 12.—Pleading constitutional guaranties of immunity, oral arguments were made before the court of criminal appeals early this afternoon in behalf of Dr. Wallace Martin, Burkburnett, H. D. Miller, Electra, and J. C. Jennings of Wichita Falls on habeas corups appeals from jail sentences for contempt of court in refusing to answer grand jury questions about the Ku Klux Klan.

C. L. Black of Austin made arguments for them, and Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls submitted the state's contentions.

Decision of the court will likely follow within a month.

Details of the case followed closely those of F. G. Reynold and J. D. Copeland of Austin, whose convictions were recently sustained by the criminal appeals court.

ACQUITTAL ONLY JUSTICE SAYS JURY MEMBERS

Comedian Breathes Deep Sigh of Relief

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 12.—A verdict of acquittal was returned by a jury today in the third trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle on a manslaughter charge growing out of the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress. The jury was out six minutes.

Edward Brown, whose presence on the jury was objected to by the prosecution, was foreman. There was a slight delay when the jury returned due to the absence of the district attorney.

Speed Surprises

The verdict was received by him with a great sigh of relief. There was no demonstration, the court having warned against it. Mrs. Minta Durfee Arbuckle, the defendant's wife, cried quietly. Both she and Arbuckle shook hands with the jurors. The quick return of the jury was a surprise.

The verdict was by acclamation the deliberation taking less than a minute. The additional time was consumed by details.

The jurors and spectators crowded around Arbuckle and his counsel, and finally bore him off to the jury room to congratulate him further. . .

"Arbuckle has no immediate plans," Gavin McNab, his chief counsel, said. "It was a splendid victory."

"The jury did its duty," was the comment of Milton T. U Ren, assistant district attorney.

Says It With Kiss

Mrs. Arbuckle expressed her thanks to McNab by giving him a resounding kiss. The jurors held an informal reception with Arbuckle in the jury room, while newspaper photographers, armed with flash lights, took many pictures.

The third trial of the manslaughter charge against Arbuckle began March 6, and was marked by the appearance of approximately 70 witnesses and the calling of two of the defense witnesses before the county judge in connection with their testimony. The trial was longer than either of the previous hearings of the case, consuming nearly five weeks.

Basis of Testimony

As in the previous hearings, much emphasis was placed on expert medical testimony regarding the exact condition of Miss Rappe's bladder before and after her death.

The testimony was based on an autopsy finding that Miss Rappe came to her death through a rupture of the organ. The prosecution presented a report by a commission of three pathologists, appointed at the first trial, tending to show that while the organ appeared to have been slightly inflamed, this irregularity did not predispose it to rupture. The defense evidence along this line tended to show that Miss Rappe came to her death as the result of a sudden crisis in a chronic illness, which led to the rupture.

As in the second trial 14 jurors heard the case, two of the number being alternates. Four of the regular jurors and one alternate were women.

Jurors' Statement

A group of jurors headed by Brown issued a statement which said:

"Acquittal is not enough for Roscoe C. Arbuckle. We feel that a great injustice has been done him.

"He acted in a manly manner and told a straight forward story."

RUSSIA'S CONDITION DECLARED HOPELESS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Russia is a country without hope, said Professor Alexander Maximoff of the chair of biology in the University of Pertograd, who arrived today on the Swedish-American liner Stockholm.

Even the food sent by America to relieve the suffering of the starving people goes to the Red army, he declared.

"Trotsky and Lenine are firmly entrenched," he continued, "and while terrible misery is felt, the people are apathetic because they have lost all hope of any change."

Professor Maximoff and his family paid $1,900 to be smuggled out of Russia across the Finland border.

Pretty Pearl Pugsley Can Powder Up Like Marshmallow Despite Rules of School Board, Holds Circuit Judge

By Associated Press.

CORNING, Ark., April, 12.—Miss Pearl Pugsley, pretty 18-year-old school girl, has the right to attend classes with talcum powder on her face and the rules of the Knobel, Arkansas, school board, banning the use of cosmetics by students, and which resulted in her expulsion last September, are unjust, Circuit Judge W. W. Bandy of the second Arkansas judicial district held in a decision tonight.

Miss Pugsley said tonight she probably would resume her studies after Judge Bandy issued a writ of mandamus, compelling the school board to abrogate the rules. The judge after rendering the decision declared he probably would issue the writ tomorrow.

The judge in making the decision, said that every child in the school had the right to use cosmetics, and termed the case as "frivolous."

TEXANS FAVOR FARM CREDITS HOUSE MEASURE

Agricultural Aid Is Regarded as Necessary

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D., C., April 12.—Texas members of congress are inclined to favor the bill introduced in the senate by Senator Simmons, of North Carolina to create a national agricultural credits corporation. Texans believe that the Simmons bill, or one similar to it, is necessary.

The life of the War Finance corporation, now the agency for most of the work that would be carried on by the proposed credits corporation, soon will expire by limitation. Moreover, the title, "War Finance Corporation" has been outgrown and is misleading.

Bill's Provisions

The Simmons bill, if enacted into law, provides that the National Agricultural Credits corporation would be made up of the secretary of agriculture as ex officio chairman, and four members, representing the geographic divisions of the United States, appointed by the president with the advice of the senate.

It is provided that at least three of the directors, at the time of their appointment, shall actually be engaged in farming or livestock, and shall have had not less than five years' experience as directors or officers of banks in agricultural districts. Not more than two of the directors shall be from the same political party.

The original capital stock of the corporation would be $500,000,000, all of which would be subscribed by the United States and paid for by retiring the capital stock of the War Finance corporation and liquidating its assets.

Additional Powers

In addition to the usual corporate powers, the corporation would have power:

1. Upon the indorsement of any national bank, state bank, trust company or other banking corporation, which has become a member of the corporation, through subscription to the stock of the corporation in an amount equal to 5 per cent of its paid in capital, to discount notes, drafts bills of exchange or other evidences of debt, representing agricultural loans.

2. Upon the indorsement of incorporated livestock or other loan companies, or co-operative agricultural corporations, which have become member corporations, to discount commodity paper.

Loans to Members

3. To make loans to banking member corporations which have outstanding agricultural loans, the loans to be evidenced by promissory notes of livestock loan companies and co-operative organizations, when secured by commodity paper.

4. To purchase commodity paper in the open market or from co-operative associations.

5. To issue tax-exempt bonds up to 10 times its paid-up capital, for terms ranging from six months to five years, and at rates of interest fixed by the board of directors.

6. To subscribe for, buy and sell and otherwise deal in bonds and other obligations of the United States, including farm loan bonds.

7. To rediscount with any federal reserve bank paper eligible for rediscount under the federal reserve act and owned by the corporation.

Pay for common labor in the employ of the city of Wichita Falls will be reduced to $3.00 per day at next Monday night's council meeting, it was indicated at the Wednesday session of the chamber of commerce, according to information obtained from members of the council. The city has been paying $3.50, considerably higher than the prevailing rate.

NAVAL MEASURE SEEMS DOOMED

Opponents Claim Enough Votes

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The 1923 naval budget ran through hostile waters in the house this morning.

As the weary end of eight solid hours of debate was reached tonight, with less than a corporal's guard on the floor, the air was filled with claims of leaders opposed to the bill's provision for an enlisted force of 65,000, that votes enough had been pledged to defeat it.

This prediction, coupled with violent attacks on the measure, took the edge off of Chairman Kelley's smile, and once or twice he put on his fighting clothes. Time and again the chairman broadly charged that back of the movement for a bigger navy was the desire of members from the navy yard districts to increase the total appropriation so that the income of these establishments might not be curtailed.

Suggestions from some sources that the committee add a little to its personnel strength were cast aside by Chairman Kelley with the declaration that the bill had to stand or fall as reported, and that if the enlisted figure was raised to 86,000, there would be a record vote in the house.

Most of the speeches today were against the bill.

More Dogs Than People in Scotland Addition Says Citizen Bitten By Mad Canine or a Legitimate Pup

"We meet more dogs in Scotland addition than people, and none of them muzzled," declares E. H. Breaux machinist, in a written communication concerning the canines which, he intimates, are abundant all over the city unmuzzled and in violation of the ruling of the police commissioner.

The police department recently issued a warning to citizens owning dogs to have all canines muzzled to prevent bites in the event the dogs went mad, but this order is seemingly unheeded in Scotland addition, he says.

"Have I the rabies?" Breaux asks, "or am I just peeved? Was the bite a legitimate bite of a legally authorized dog? One with a tag? It was dark, and I could barely see the dog, let alone a tag. I live in Scotland addition—the father of two children, a boy and a girl. I'm alive and well now, but—the dogs! Some tagged others not tagged. Some muzzled and all of them alley prowlers.

"We meet more dogs in Scotland addition when going to work than we do people. We had a neighbor a few weeks ago—the family was composed of four children, two dogs and a four-legged jackass. When the dog catcher came around, the dogs were put in the house and the mistress explained that they were unable to buy muzzles. I vouch for the truth of that, and it seems that all the others do the same thing.

"The poorer and more shiftless the people, the more cur dogs they seem to delight in having.

"Nights we have dog fights; days alley scratching. Last year, over 100 persons in Scotland addition were bitten by the neighborhood dogs. Several contracted rabies, and some bites resulted in deaths. If the dogs only bit their owners, we could sit back and smile, and darn it, I would smile.

"We called on the day chief of police two weeks ago, on the night chief two days ago and on Police Commissioner Fitts two days ago.

"I was bitten four days ago and if I have the rabies, I hope I bite every dog owner who claims an unmuzzled canine first, and then land at the police station."

TEXAS FIELDS PRODUCTION UP

Burk Gains 1300 Bbls. Daily Over Week

With a total daily production of approximately 124,700 barrels, the north and central Texas fields show a nice increase this past week over the preceding week.

Burkburnett shows a gain of 1300 barrels daily for this period and the Comanche production is up 1800 barrels. Other pools remained practically unchanged, or with slight gains with the exception of a hundred-barrel loss in the Stephens and the Kemp Munger Allen pools.

The production based on estimates from pipe line runs follows by pools: Burkburnett, 35,000 barrels; Electra, 12,500; Kemp Munger Allen, 2,480; Archer county-Texhoma, 1450; Petrolia, 320; Young county, 9,550; Stephens, 42,840; Ranger-Eastland, 12,060; Comanche, 6,430; Coleman, 70; Brown, 670; Moran, 300; Strawn, 1070.

Driver Gets Wrong Package; Laundry Loses $50 Suit

Because the driver of a laundry wagon picked up the wrong package of laundry and because a suit of clothes was alleged to have later disappeared from the package, Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law Wednesday gave a judgment to Nat L. Inge for $50 against the City Laundry.

According to the testimony, Mrs. Inge had placed a bundle of laundry on the porch for another laundry, the package, among other things containing the suit of clothes. A new driver for the City Laundry thinking it was left for him, picked it up. The package with the suit missing was later returned. The defense introduced testimony showing that the checks on incoming and out going laundry indicated that the suit had been stolen from the package previous to its coming into their possession.

ACTIVITIES IN WICHITA IMPRESSES VAN AVERY

Thomas Van Avery, Pittsburgh, oil operator who has extensive interests in the Wichita county fields, has been here during the past week and will return home Thursday. On this, his first visit to Wichita Falls in ten months, Mr. Van Avery states he is very much impressed with the remarkable activity in Wichita Falls and adjoining oil fields. Especially noticeable is this activity, he says, in contrast to a business lassitude in the east.

Christ's Name Is Omitted Purposely From Parley Prayer

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The question whether the name of Christ was "censored" out of the opening prayer of the arms conference was raised again today in the senate.

Asking the question and answering it himself in the affirmative, Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, produced what he said was a copy of a letter written by the Rev. W. F. Abernathy, who delivered the prayer, saying he had been "reminded" there would be Buddhists and Confucionists present and "told that it was the feeling that a simple recognition of the deity would fill the requirements."

The Arkansas senator also recalled that Secretary Hughes had written a letter to Representative Fess, republican, Ohio, denying flatly that there was any "censorship."

INDICTMENT AGAINST J. P. LONG IS QUASHED

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court Wednesday quashed the indictment against J. P. Long, charged with theft. The action was taken on motion of Long's attorneys because the indictment was in error, showing by comparative dates that the offense was committed after the grand jury was in session. The indictment also failed to show in what county the indictment was returned.

Long was charged with appropriating to his own use a large amount of money which had been intrusted to his care.

OLD-TIMERS TO RIDE IN RODEO

Cash Purses Will Attract Stars

New stars are appearing in the rodeo or round-up contests from year to year as in other sports. Old stars have dimmed, or perhaps have become so old, their points so stiffened by age, that they have lost their agility, age perhaps has made such inroads to their staming that they lack the endurance that perhaps many times in their younger days carried them through a gruelling contest and landed them in first place, a winner over some keen rival.

Old timers of the west are wont to tell of the wonderful roping ability of J. Ellison Carroll, of Clay McGonigal and of Joe Gardner, three as expert and famous ropers as ever chased a longhorn over the prairie or whirled a lariat with such unerring precision that the longhorn king of the prairie was at their mercy; they have passed out of the game, the latter two just this last winter having crossed the great divide.

Perhaps the most noted old time bronco buster now living is Booger Red, the famous old bronc scratcher, now at the age of 65, is still able to put up a fair ride on a good bucking horse; It was he who first mastered the art of looking back while riding a bucker; prior to that time it was deemed absolutely necessary for a bronc rider to keep his eyes steadily ahead and watch every move the bucker made. Booger Red now resides at Ada, Okla., and occasionally rides a bronc for pastime, but is too advanced in age to enter regular contests.

They were grand performers all of them, but when the arena director at the round-up, which will be staged at the ball park here May 3, 4 and 5, blows his whistle for the start of the three-day contest, there will dash into the arena practically all the new stars of dangerous cowboy sports.

The thousands of dollars in cash prizes which have been hung up for the winners by Tom L. Burnett, the producer of the Fourth Annual Round-Up, is the magnet that will attract the most daring, reckless, expert riders, ropers and bulldoggers of the west in greater numbers than have ever been seen gathered at any one contest in this section of the country, and if time has made any change in the wildness, stubbornness and viciousness of the animals of the range, it will not be shown by the great herd that Tom Burnett has collected for the contestants to test their skill with at the Round-Up here.

DIAMOND TRUST.

By H. N. F.

A diamond trust is the latest, and one combination with world wide ramifiations has obtained control of the output of the universe. London is the capital and the Morgan group of America financiers have taken over the German-African diamond interests and are in full control. If the London Times is telling the truth there are more multi-millionaires in this great diamond trust than in any other concern in commercial history The output is now entirely in their hands. For centuries Antwerp had been the head and center of the diamond trust. Now John Bull and Brother Jonathan are in control and their multimillionaires furnish the capital, fix the prices and split the profits.

If all the uplifters, all the reformers, all the theorists and all the shouters were wage earners and busy, trade would be brisk the country over. As it is there are more talkers than workers and the workers must feed the talkers.

POLITICS AND MONEY.

There is no money in political jobs. Congressman Thomas Lynn Blanton says he was worth $25,000 when he entered congress. Now he is worth only $3,000. He is serving the last year of his third term. If he continues to hold the job another six years, he will be a hopeless bankrupt, in a financial sense. Just think of the sacrifice of a man who says he has ever let his conscience be his guide!

BUTTERFLIES AND MEN.

An English judge has decided that a wife has no justification for asking her husband to provide her with 50 or 60 expensive dresses each year. If a man marries a butterfly he should pay for her wings. He knew she was a butterfly when he married her unless born blind and if the wings come often then the poor devil should keep his nose to the grindstone or flee the country. It isn't a matter of justification, it is a matter of the choice the man has made for better or for worse. Those who prefer butterflies should pay the price. Those who prefer women for wives find plain sailing on the matrimonial sea.

TEXAS THE LEADER.

California for several years led all the states in petroleum production. For a time Oklahoma led California. Texas was a good third. Now Texas is the leader. For the month of March Texas produced 10,774,000 barrels of petroleum or more than one-fourth of all the oil produced in the United States. According to the figures the total for the entire country was 41,163,000 barrels, or the highest record in production ever made in the United States. Moreover, this was the first time in two years that production had exceeded consumption. Reserved stocks were increased and now stand at 208,000,000 barrels or sufficient to supply the needs of the United States for 143 days. There are a half a million coal miners on strike. There is plenty of fuel oil for the individuals and corporations that were in need of fuel supply. Mexia is producing 200,000 barrels daily or one-eighth of all the oil produced in the United States. Change is the order of life. Cotton was the king product of Texas for many decades and the livestock industry came second. Now petroleum has pushed the livestock industry aside and unless the surface signs are misleading some day cotton may be compelled to take second place.

A SECOND ESTIMATE.

Albert W. Lasker, of the Shipping Board, has made a second estimate of the ship subsidy cost. Now he places it at 52 million dollars. Uncle Sam's wooden ships, built for emergency purposes, are the white elephants of the seven seas. They are worthless junk and should be sold to the highest bidder. If there is to be a government-owned and operated merchant marine, steel ships with oil burning engines are necessary to compete with the fast merchantmen of Great Britain and Japan and other maritime powers. America should be first on the seas or retire from the shipping game.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

An importan decision was handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States when it made a ruling that the Galveston city ordinance fixing a five-cent rate for street car fares was constitutional. A lower court had so decided and the court of last resort affirmed the decision. The case had been pending for some time. It went direct from the federal court in Galveston to the Supreme Court. A year ago the street railway made application for increased car fare. It was granted but was later reduced to five cents by the Galveston city commission. Then the street car company declared it could not operate profitably on the five-cent fare and asked that the city of Galveston be enjoined from reducing the fare. Then came a hearing before a special master who held the city of Galveston could legally fix the car fare rates by ordinance and that the five-cent fare was not confiscatory. Now the city commissions of Dallas and Fort Worth are clamoring for rate reductions from seven to five cents at Dallas and from six to five cents at Fort Worth. More trouble for the public utilities, more business for the lawyers and perhaps lower rates for the patrons. Normalcy appears to be returning.

FICTION AND FACT.

Speaking of oil, the correspondent of an important trade journal who invaded the Kansas fields, sees a shortage ahead. After an investigation he found that there are thousands of oil wells in Kansas today which are producing at the rate of one barrel or even a fraction of a barrel a day each. This is especially the case in the southern part of Kansas where the wells are from ten to twenty and thirty years old. The same thing is true regarding the many wells in Oklahoma and Texas and the production of these small wells generally is slowly decreasing. Today the mid-continent fields are producing around 900,000 barrels of oil every twenty-four hours but he says the important fact is that there are a number of pools or fields which are being abandoned because of their falling production. Why worry? Less than ten months ago Colonel A. E. Humphreys and his geologist made a killing in the Mexia fields. Now the Mexia wells are producing 200,000 barrels a day. There are other oil reservoirs in Texas which have not been tapped for the sufficient reason that they have not yet been discovered.

CLOSED THE SHOP.

Secretary Denby of the navy has hit the politicians a deadly wallop. He has closed all naval radio stations against political speech-making. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Senator Harry New of Indiana invaded the naval radio stations and talked to the world. All the office holders, regardless of party, began making connections for radio spellbinding. Then the secretary decided to shut out the politicians by shutting up shop. Denby is a business man. He sympathizes with Jones. He is opposed to special privileges. He is for a big navy and the senators and congressmen are for a little navy. They must go before the people for re-election. Denby doesn't have to go before the people for reappointment. Business is business.

CUDAHY MAY BUILD PLANT AT AMARILLO

Special to the Record News.

AMARILLO, Texas, April 12.—Great interest centers here in the prospect of the Cudahy Packing company's establishing a packing center in Amarillo. The board of city development through the efforts of Ross R. Rogers, is making an effort to secure a suitable reduction in the gas rate as an added inducement for the company to locate here. Mr. Rogers has been promised a 12-cent rate if as much as 3,000,000 feet per day are used, and Mr. Rogers, who heads the industrial committee, has been informed of the packing company's intention.

Rippling Rhymes

PILLS.

I take pink pills to cure my ills, my gout and flu and tetter; I swallow ten, and now and then I think I'm feeling better. I read the boast of Dr. Yost, who does much advertising; his pills, he claims, cure gents and dames with quickness most surprising. His ads appear throughout the year in every moral daily; his pills will cure the rich and poor he tells us, proudly, gayly. The village doc is prone to knock the pills he sees me taking; "These healing guys who advertise," he says, "are always faking. Oh, come to me, my friend," says he, "when you are sick and jaded; I'll feed you pills of nux and squills that have the Yost pills faded." But old Doc Yost he gets the most of all the coin I'm earning; he takes his stand, throughout the land he keeps his lanthorn burning. In every sheet I chance to meet his pills are recommended; day after day we hear him say, "My pills are truly splendid. My pills are made of junk and jade, of barks and buds and simples, they'll cure catarrah and leave no scar, they'll banish boils and pimples." Physicians roast this Old Doc Yost who keeps on advertising, and still he trills about his pills, whose sales are most surprising. — (Copyright, 1922, George Matthew Adams.)

JUST HATCHED —By Ripley.

FIUME

By DR. FRANK CRANE

(Copyright, 1922, by Frank Crane.)

Fiume is a picture of the world in miniature.

It is difficult for our minds to grasp so great a thing as a world situation. We become confused before a large generalization and take refuge in a petty passion, no matter how small so long as it is concrete.

The world at present is in the throes of an evolutionary change. It is struggling up out of the limited and partial era of nationalism into a world consciousness. This word consciousness is not necessarily opposed to patriotism; it includes and co-ordinates patriotism. But, like every step forward it is misunderstood and opposed by the reactionary element. Those who hang back are quite as sincere as those who would go on, and often more passionate than they.

It is self-evident that there is no salvation of the world from the self-destruction of a continual preparation for and indulgence in war except some federation of the nations and the unity that implies.

Yet every yellow newspaper and every tuppenny statesman, not only in America but in every nation in Europe, is still appealing to national vanity. The doctrine of "For Ourselves Alone" has inoculated the whole world.

All this we can see drawn to small scale in Fiume.

Fiume and Trieste were the two main ports of the Austro-Hungarian empire before the war. After the war they became the subject of dispute between Jugo-Slavia and Italy, because they lay between these two countries.

The simple and natural thing to do, of course, was for the two nations to get together and come to some agreement in regard to Fiume that would be for the best interests of its inhabitants.

Gabriele d'Annunzio, a mediaeval-minded Italian poet, threw himself into the situation, however, and captured the place for Italy and held it for a long time. It thus became the bone of contention between two conflicting heated nationalisms.

The business of the town declined because the Slavs and the Italians could not co-operate, but could only fight.

All the blind and childish passions represented on a large scale by "Deutschland Uber Alles," "Britain Rules the Waves," the "Glory of France," "Ireland for the Irish," and "America First" are concentrated in one little drop of poison in the town of Fiume, at the end of the Adriatic Sea.

In the mean time, Italy needs the market of Jugo-Slavia for her manufactured articles and Jugo-Slavia needs the market of Italy for her agricultural products. Both countries need each other. Intelligent working together by grown-up minds would be for the benefit of everybody.

But all effort at getting together is frustrated by the rampant nationalists. Italy will not let go of her hold on the port of Fiume, and the Jugo-lavs refuse to open their railroad. Neither one of them will play unless the other kowtows to his flag. The result is that the port of Fiume becomes stagnant.

DUMM & DUMMER ON A NEW CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

"Don't bother me today," warned Senator Dumm, "I'm very busy on a new amendment to the constitution."

"A new amendment to the constitution!" exclaimed Representative Dummer. "What is it this time?"

"Prohibition of chewing gum!" declared Senator Dumm. "It's a great evil, and the time has come to free the people from its vicious influence."

* * *

"What hurt did chewing gum ever do anybody?" demanded Dummer.

"My dear man," said Dumm, "whether it ever hurt anybody or not is beside the question. The point is it's time another amendment was tacked onto the constitution prohibiting something, and it might as well be chewing gum, particularly in view of the fact that several million people chew gum and enjoy it."

* * *

"As a matter of fact," resumed Senator Dumm, "chewing gum is very harmful. The amount of energy people waste chewing this gum is perfectly staggering. Probably more energy is used up in one day in the United States masticating tutti frutti than Muscle Shoals could replenish in five years. Apart from this, it is also true that gum-chewing weakens the moral stamina and is injurious to health."

"How so?" asked Dummer.

"The minute anything gets so you can't take it or leave it alone it becomes weakening to the moral fiber. There are millions of people in this country who have taken to chewing gum and are such slaves to the habit they can't leave it alone."

"Tutti frutti addicts, eh?" remarked Dummer.

"Eggsactly," agreed Dumm. "Take the case of Lizzie Bloke—it's a typical instance handed to me by the Anti-Fruit Flavors league: Lizzie was first prevailed upon to chew while employed at the button shop. A girl friend offered her a stick of gum. Lizzie refused. The girl urged her. Finally Lizzie took a stick. It was wrapped in pink paper and looked harmless enough.

"Well, to make a long story short, Lizzie took another stick the next day, another the next and then started buying it by the package. In two months that poor girl was a slave to the gum habit. Those girls who had plied her with gum were to blame."

"Lizzie should have had strength of character enough to have said, 'No, thanks, I'll take a cigar this time,'" said Dummer wiping away a tear.

* * *

"Is she still in the button shop?" asked Dummer.

"No, she's married now," replied Dumm. 'She made a bold attempt to break the habit, but everywhere she went she would see illustrations showing three round-faced, pop-eyed boys with cornucopia hats stowing a big package of gum. The gum advertisement got her! It was chewing gum that finally broke up her home."

"How?" asked Dummer.

"All her money went for gum. Saturday night she'd not bring home enough money to keep the family over Sunday. It was awful. And it undermined her health in a way. She had worn the phalanges of her jaws to such an extent that they rattled when she walked. It has been estimated that if all the gum Lizzie chewed in 10 years could be stretched end to end it would reach from the third button on Arthur Brisbane's vest to the cane seat of a chair in the palace of the regent of Japan."

* * *

'So you're gunter work for an amendment to prohibit chewing gum entirely?" remarked Dummer.

"I am," said Dumm. "It'll not only be a good thing morally but will make it possible for a citizen to lean up against a wall anywhere in the United States and not find that he has backed himself into a batch of gum temporarily parked there."

"Prohibition will never do it," declared Dummer.

"Why not?" asked Dumm.

"There'll be home-brew gum and tutti frutti bootleggers to make the law a joke," concluded Dummer.

THE DAILY STORY

LEFT OVERS

Mary thoughtfully regarded the remains of the Sunday roast and wondered if she dared serve it to Dick for Monday's dinner. It was too good for Monday's dinner. Dick's favorite rib to use for soup—Dick's favorite rib roast was an expensive cut—and she could make of it a delicious scuffle or meat pie, as her husband refused to be served with prosaic hash. But Dick frowned on all economy that touched his appetite. Since his last raise in salary he thought he could afford anything he wanted to eat. He saw no necessity for Mary's continuing the economical habits she had acquired when they were first married. At each advance in salary Mary exulted in the belief that not their nest egg would roll up into substantial size, but Dick seemed bent on pampering every whim of appetite if it took his last cent.

Searching through the cook book for a possible aid to the question of the left-over roast, she remembered how Dick, ordering at a restaurant, always selected the fancy names and was childishly pleased with a bit of decorative parsley or fancy potatoes. Why should she not profit by this knowledge? Turning the leaves of the cook book she passed "beef loaf" and "hamburger" and "croquettes" as too plain and paused at "cannelon of beef with mushroom sauce." A few mushrooms would be the only added expense.

When Mary served her husband with an attractively decorated platter and gave him its name he smiled approvingly. "Now you're talking, Mary. I thought I'd get you out of the hash habit. A meal like this is worth a lot to a man. It puts pep into him for the next day's work. It certainly doesn't pay to economize on your food."

His wife had been on the point of explaining how much she had saved by using the roast, but she wisely refrained from spoiling the effect of a good dinner and silently dropped the dollar saved into an old lard bucket, her private bank.

It was not long after the "cannelon of beef" dinner that Dick told Mary his married friends were all taking cottages on the lake for the summer. It was four months until real summer, but the sprink-like weather made every one long for the outdoors. "Every cottage is being snapped up," said Dick. "But they want a hundred dollars a month rent, and that means keeping this place, too. I don't see why we can't ever do things like other people. The other boys don't make a bit more than I do. But we never seem to be able to save a cent, and there's the insurance and clothes in the fall to pay for!"

Mary might have reminded him of his disapproval of her attempts to economize and of his insistence on new suits for both of them when last year's clothes were perfectly good style; she might have counted up the cost of out-of-season fruits which he was always buying and the expensive desserts he demanded. But she kept still and worked harder than ever on her little scheme.

The preparation of meals in Mary's little kitchen became a fine art. Even the fastidious Dick began to praise his cook and the variety of menus she served. He never suspected that chicken a la king, served in the chafing dish, was an economy, or that macaroni timbales filled with salmon cost only a few cents, or that a steaming cottage pie halved the cost of his favorite roast. He failed to recognize the left-overs under the fancy names and decorative parsley and peppers. Sometimes Mary rebelled at the amount of time she spent, more than half her waking hours, with food, but since Dick must be pleased and money must be saved she saw no other way.

Her reward came one night in June Dick came home, hot and tired, sick of his work and his flat. Even his weekly porterhouse steak, done to a turn, surrounded by his cherished Lyonnaise potatoes, failed to lighten his gloom. He had an offer of a delightful summer cottage for a month of his vacation at $100—a rare opportunity at this time of year, when everything was engaged.

"Oh, Dick," exclaimed Mary, with shining eyes, "Did you refuse it?"

"I said I'd talk it over with you because I hated to say I couldn't afford it, but what's the use? We have to pay the money in advance, and $100 is not going to drop out of the skies!"

For answer Mary ran to the pantry and dragged out her precious lard bucket, so heavy now that she could scarcely lift it.

"No; but it might drop out of a lard bucket!" she exclaimed. "Count it, Dick. I don't know myself how much it is."

Wonderingly Dick stacked and sorted dollars, quarters, dimes, and nickels—even pennies had not been too small for Mary's hoarding. And when it was all counted it amounted to exactly $121.63!

"Where did you get it, Mary?" demanded the delighted Dick after he had gone to the telephone and engaged the cottage.

"Why, Dick, it's left-overs!" triumphantly explained his wife. "It is pennies and dimes left over from my week's allowance by using up left-over food. It has taken four months to do it and I'm sure you never suspected you were being economized on."

"It's great that we can have the cottage, but now that you've been so economical all winter, Mary' let's enjoy ourselves right this summer and forget economy."

Mary sighed and began thinking up a new way to use the porterhouse steak left over.

IT'S THE WOMEN, OF COURSE

The Professor of History—"Can you tell me why the middle ages are known as the dark ages?"

The Coed—"I'm not sure, but I think it must be because when a woman reaches middle age she always keeps it dark if she can."

Danger Past.

"Why, Tommy!" exclaimed the Sunday school teacher.

"Don't you say your prayers every night before you go to bed?"

"Not any more," explained Tommy. "I used to, though, when I had to sleep in a folding-bed."

COMFORT HELPS CURE ILLNESS

Hetty Gets Value of Salt Bag

"Hetty Green is going away to learn to be a nurse," said Mrs. Jones, as she came in at her neighbor's back door to borrow a cup of flour.

"For the land sakes! And such a rattle brain as she is, too. There isn't a worse tomboy in the village, and untidy! Well, I wouldn't want Hetty Green around me if I were sick."

And so the news that Hetty Green was going to "learn to be a nurse" was discussed on all sides in Dusty Prairie, and the general opinion was that prospects of recovery were bad for the sick and suffering who fell into Hetty's hands.

As a matter of fact Hetty was neither untidy nor rattle brained She was blessed with the kind of hair that crinkles into marcel waves on rainy days when the hair of the average woman looks like seaweed. She had a sunny disposition and a sunnier smile. Most of all, she wanted to mother people. All of which meant much to Hetty in her hospital work.

Mistakes of Home Nurse

But Hetty, who was young and utterly uniformed, made many a mistake in the earliest days of her training, one of the first being the time she tried to keep soft-boiled eggs hot by placing them in boiling water. Hetty was amazed when the eggs came out of the boiling water, very hot indeed, but as hard as rocks. Many a home nurse makes mistakes that are almost as bad when trying to keep food hot for an invalid and succeeding only in drying it all up and causing every drop of nourishment in it to be destroyed.

Food for the sick should be prepared with intelligence, and unless it is a food that requires hours of cooking, such as cereal, one should plan to have it cooked just in time to serve.

Hetty was completely nonplussed when she was told one day to go into the classroom where the lesson was on "Methods of Making a Patient Comfortable in Bed."

Hetty's own vague idea about comfort in bed was that it was not possible, and that nurses therefore did everything else in their power to cheer patients along and help them to endure the discomfort of having to lie in bed and suffer. Hetty's idea is more general than most people realize. Many a person is resigned to suffering, when much suffering is not pain at all, but actual discomfort that may be alleviated with little pillows, and big pillows, and changes of position, and baths, and gentle friction of the skin to stimulate the circulation.

Rubber Air Rings Helpful

Hetty learned that inflated rubber air rings are very comfortable when one has to lie constantly in one position, because they take the pressure of the patient's weight off certain bones, which are bound to ache unless the pressure is relieved.

But while air rings are a great comfort, they are also expensive, and a pin prick makes them useless. In many a household rubber air rings and hot water bottles are luxuries that cannot be obtained. In such cases, equal comfort may be obtained by making an air ring substitute. A pad made of several thicknesses of wadding or cotton wool may be stitched between two soft pieces of old muslin. A hole may be made in the center, slightly larger than the part of the patient's body that is aching, and immediate relief will be obtained when this home-made ring substitute is slipped into place.

It is always the bony prominences that ache, such as the elbows, the heels, or the back at the end of the spine.

Another thing Hetty learned was that a bag of hot salt had quite as good an effect as an expensive hot water bottle in relieving pain.

UNVEILS TRIBUTE TO FATHER

A Wife or a Profession?

BY CAROLYN BEECHER

(Copyright, 1922, by Carolyn Beecher)

CHAPTER XLIX.

The telephone rang. Annette answered and was delighted when Kent Moore, the friend of Dr. Agnew whom she had met in Clarkstown, asked if he might call.

"Come and have tea this afternoon," she told him.

Annette was a bit amused and very pleased at the surprise he showed when he was ushered into her charming living room; so different from the cramped little room in the Clarkstown cottage. They were soon back on the old friendly terms, chatting gayly.

Howard came in before he left and welcomed him warmly.

"You must drop in often," he told him. "Annette is apt to be a bit lonely when I am out."

"A doctor's wife is always lonely—so I have been told."

"Not this one" Annette replied with asperity. "Howard married me, and it is his first duty to look after me, my happiness."

"Of course it is," Kent returned, but he flashed a keen look at Howard. How was it he was willing to let such a statement go unchallenged? He recalled his devotion to his profession, his unselfish care of his patients. Had New York got him? Had it throttled his ambition? Had his wife's money softened his fibres? Oh, well! It was none of his business, and Annette was more charming than ever. Lovely clothes and luxurious surroundings never detract from a woman's beauty.

"How nice it is that Kent Moore is back from Europe," Annette said after the door had closed upon their guest. "He will be quite an addition to our record."

"Yes, he's a pleasant fellow," Howard answered absently.

"Now we'll give that dinner I was talking about. Kent will just round out the number."

"Not this week, Annette. I have some work at the hospital that may keep me late, and——"

"He will just pair off with Claire. They are sure to like each other," she mused aloud, paying no attention to Howard's remark.

Annette was mentally rather incurious, although she was so invariably deft about turning the conversation into any channel that pleased her. She held the attention easily enough and the eye, too, for that matter, with her vivacious prettiness. So Howard forgot she had made no reply to his request that she put off her dinner party. It was often so, Annette's nearness, her beauty, the feeling that she was his, went to his head like wine. He could not know that she was using all the arts of the toilet, all the charm her luxurious surroundings lent, to captivate him—her husband.

Often she said to him:

"No matter what I do you are responsible. You married me, and you are the only person in the whole world in whom I am now interested, and who is interested in me. I have no one but you, and what becomes of me is up to you. But, frankly, if you do not make me happy I shall find some one who will."

But invariably after such a remark Annette would wind her arms about Howard's neck, find his lips with hers, and so take the sting from what she had said, although he felt she meant it.

At times Howard asked himself the question:

"Must it be either my profession or Annette? Must I give up one or the other?" It was a question he never answered, but from which he shuddered away as from something unbearable.

He knew that all women are fundamentally jealous. Annette had been jealous of the young woman patients in Clarkstown, but had evidently made up her mind she had no cause now for fear, and had concentrated all her jealousy upon his profession and was determined he should not put his career before her happiness or her pleasure.

He had tried to impress upon Annette that all marriages demanded some sacrifice, that possibly she might have to give up some of her social activities unless she carried them on independently of him. But she always argued that their marriage was different. That she was alone as no other woman they knew was alone. That he was her one and only relative. And because this was so he must take the place of all of them. Must give her the happiness that father, mother, brothers and sisters gave other women.

There seemed to be no argument for which she did not have an answer. He did not need to work because of the monetary returns, he was only taking the fee from some one who perhaps needed it, etc., ad infinitum. That she really believed every word she said made it harder to argue, impossible to convince.

Howard had also urged upon Annette the desirability of taking up some fad or study to fill her time, but she demurred. She did turn to her muscle again, but that alone was not sufficient to fill even his office hours. And she was beginning to complain of them, to once more urge him to give up the afternoon hour and hold only the morning one open for calls.

And, save for Claire Gordon, her friends all upheld her in her contention that it was Howard's duty to neglect his profession because she, her money, made it unnecessary for him to practice.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

By THORNTON W. BURGESS
(Copyright by J. G. Lloyd.)

Blacky is a dreamer;
Blacky is a schemer;
His voice is strong,
When things go wrong,
Blacky is a screamer.

It's a fact. Blacky the Crow is forever dreaming and scheming and almost always it is of mischief. He is one of the smartest and cleverest of all the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest and all the others know it. Blacky likes excitement. He wants something going on. The most exciting it is the better he likes it. Then he has a chance to use that harsh voice of his, and how he does use it!

So now as he sat in the top of the Big Hickory Tree beside the Smiling Pool and looked down on all the little people gathered there he was very happy. In the first place, he felt very important, and you know, Blacky dearly loves to feel important. They had all come at his invitation to listen to a plan for seeing for themselves if it was really true that Farmer Brown's boy was afraid of Buster Bear. Little Joe Otter had said so. Everybody believed that Little Joe believed what he said, but everybody felt that it would be a lot easier to believe it themselves if they could actually see Farmer Brown's boy run away from Buster Bear. You see, never in all their lives before had they known Farmer Brown's boy to be really afraid of anybody. To be sure, he always treated Jimmy Skunk with a great deal of respect, but he didn't run away from Jimmy. And so it was very hard to believe that he would run away from any one. That was the reason they were willing to come to listen to the plan of Blacky the Crow.

On the Big Rock in the Smiling Pool sat Little Joe Otter, Billy Mink, and Jerry Muskrat. On his big green lily-pad sat Grandfather Frog. On another lily-pad sat Spotty the Turtle. On the bank on one side of the Smiling Pool were Peter Rabbit, Jumper the Hare, Danny Meadow Mouse, Johnny Chuck, Jimmy Skunk, Unc' Billy Possum, Striped Chipmunk, and Old Mr. Toad. On the other side of the Smiling Pool were Reddy Fox, Digger the Badger and Bobby Coon. In the Big Hickory Tree were Chatterer the Red Squirrel, Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel and Sammy Jay.

Blacky waited until he was sure that no one else was coming. Then he cleared his throat very loudly and began to speak. "Friends," said he.

Everybody grinned, for Blacky has played so many sharp tricks that no one is really his friend, unless it is that other mischiefmaker, Sammy Jay, who, you know, is Blacky's cousin. But no one said anything, and Blacky went on.

"Little Joe Otter has told us how he saw Farmer Brown's boy hurry home when he found the footprint of Buster Bear on the edge of the Laughing Brook and how all the way he kept looking behind him as if he was afraid. Perhaps he was, and then again perhaps he wasn't. Perhaps he had something else on his mind. You have made a hero of Buster Bear because you believe Little Joe's story. Now, I don't say that I don't believe it, but I do say that I will be a lot more sure that Farmer Brown's boy is afraid of Buster when I see him run away myself. Now, here is my plan: To-morrow morning very early Sammy Jay and I will make a great fuss near the edge of the Green Forest. Farmer Brown's boy has a great deal of curiosity, and he will be sure to come over to see what it is all about. Then we will lead him to where Buster Bear is. If he runs away, then I will be the first to admit that Buster Bear is as great a hero as some of you seem to think he is. It is a very simple plan, and if you will all hide where you can watch you will be able to see for yourselves if Little Joe Otter is right. Now, what do you say?"

Right away everybody began to talk at the same time. It was such a simple plan that everybody agreed to it. And it promised to be so exciting that everybody promised to be there; that is, everybody but Grandfather Frog and Spotty the Turtle, who didn't care to go so far away from the Smiling Pool. So it was agreed that Blacky should try his plan the very next morning.

Trimmed in White Is This Suit of Colored Linen

Colored linen—pink, blue, yellow or green in the lighter shades or a dependable and practical navy—is suggested for the small boy's suit shown in the sketch—collar, cuffs, pocket facings and trouser cuffs to be of white linen. The suit is a conventional smock fastened at the neck with small white pearl buttons and a narrow piping of white borders the buttonhole piece. This little touch and the trouser cuffs serve to make the suit a trifle out of the ordinary.

Style changes for the male, whether a grown-up or a mere 2-year-old, are usually so trifling that to the casual observer they are non-existent. Smock suits are ideal for the boy up to 6 years of age, and if his wardrobe contains a sufficient number of suits of simple style and well made he can struggle through the summer without any trouble. For the little fellow of two or three, dainty touches of hand embroidery, smocking, etc., give a charming finish to smock suits of linen or heavy cotton, while the older boy will probably prefer plain tailored effects.

The smock suit having plain trousers with smock of striped or checked gingham, figured sateen or even bright flowered cretonne may be worn by the two or three-year-old, while the older boy would usually scorn such dressiness and feel that he was being outfitted to look like a girl. Small girls usually love overall garments and mannish effects generally, and as we all know, the more grown-up girl is now trying to make knickers popular for general wear. But no boy ever yearns to dress like his sister!

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN THE SKIN

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion in to the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

DOES LAUNDRY WORK AND HOUSEWORK TOO

Surprised to Find Herself Feeling So Well

Taunton, Mass.—"I used to have pains in my back and legs so badly, with other troubles that women sometimes have, that my doctor ordered me to stay in bed a week in every month. It didn't do me much good, so one day after talking with a friend who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about the same troubles I had, I thought I would try it also. I find that I can work in the laundry all through the time and do my housework, too. Last month I was so surprised at myself to be up and around and feeling so good while before I used to feel completely lifeless. I have told some of the girls who work with me and have such troubles to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I tell them how it has helped me. You can use my testimonial for the good of others."—Mrs. BLANCHE SILVIA, 59 Grant St., Taunton, Mass.

It's the same story—one friend telling another of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

HORNSBY SLAMS OUT HOMER AND CARDS WIN

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—The Cards opened the 1922 National League here today before a crowd estimated at 18,000 with a 10 to 1 victory over Pittsburgh. Gainor, subbing at first base for the Cardinals, drove in five runs. Hornsby batted out a homer. Bill Sherdel, Cardinal left handed pitched, let Pittsburgh down with seven hits, three of them going to Mokan.

AMERICAN ASSO. EXPECTS GOOD YEAR

CHICAGO, April 12.—"The American association is looking forward to one of the best seasons in its history," Thomas J. Hickey, president of the league, said today at the opening of the season. "Our circuit enjoyed good seasons in 1920 and 1921, the financial results and the interesting races being the best it ever had. This year I expect we will be even more successful."

TRACKMEN TRAIN

The track team went through their final workout yesterday preparatory to going to Iowa Park for the district meet Saturday. Coach Hall reported that most of the athletes were in the best of condition. He feels confident they will make other athletes of the district hump to keep up with them.

So many candidates are out that some are sure to win honors. One man will not be asked to participate in any more contests than he wishes to.

COLONELS LINE-UP RECALLS BIG LEAGUE

The Louisville Colonels, pennant winners in the American Association last season, closely resembles a big league club as far as the names in the lineup are concerned. Among the notable athletes now performing with the Kentucky team who at one time wore big league uniforms are Pitchers Nick Cullop, Ben Tincup, and Ernie Koob. In the infield are Betzel, Kirke and Scheppner. Among the outfielders fighting for berths are Lamb and Massey. One of the catchers is Monk. Most of the boys got their chance in the American league.

TENNIS STARS WIN

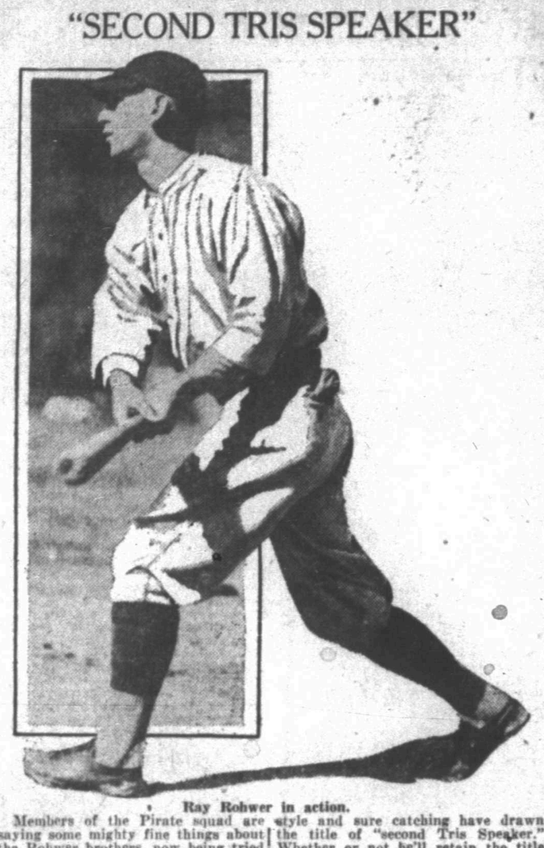

By Associated Press.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12.—Play was resumed today in the third round of the men's north and south tennis championship tournament with favorites winning but only after close contests.

Howard Voshell defeated F. O. Beggs 8-6, 6-0; Jam H. Wheelwright won from H. D. Bidwell, 9-7, 6l2 and G. C. Shafer won from J. D. K. Jones by default.

R. W. Seaburg dropped the first set of his match to I. E. Hall and then rallied, winning by scores of 2-6, 6-0, 6-3.

"SECOND TRIS SPEAKER"

Ray Rohwer in action.

Members of the Pirate squad are saying some mighty fine things about the Rohwer brothers, now being tried out by Manager Gibson. One is Ray Rohwer, an outfielder. His graceful style and sure catching have drawn the title of "second Tris Speaker." Whether or not he'll retain the title remains to be seen. But he shows great promise.

ALL READY FOR TEXAS OPENING

Start Early in Order to Meet Southern

DALLAS, April 12.—The Texas league clubs will adjust their batting eyes and heave their throwing arms in earnest tomorrow in four Texas cities, commencing the 1922 season one day behind the big leagues. Necessity of accomodating the schedule to the finish of the Southern association next September compelled the selection of today as the starting date.

Efforts by owners to better their clubs gives promises of a more active fight in 1922 than in 1920 and 1921.

The Shreveport team opens the season with the Panthers, 1921 Texas and Dixie champions at Fort Worth.

Galveston visits Houston, while San Antonio receives Beaumont. Fair weather generally is predicted.

OLYMPIC GAMES TO BE HELD NEAR PARIS

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 12.—The French Olympic committee has decided to hold the 1924 Olympic games at Colombes, a suburb of Paris, it was announced today. It will organize the games without the help of the Paris municipal council, and stage them on the grounds of the racing club of France, which has undertaken to build a stadium.

CRIQUI WINS BY K. O.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, April 11.—Eugene Criqui, French featherweight champion, tonight knocked out Jean Ballicott in the third round of their 20-round match.

HIGH SCHOOL CAPTAIN INJURED AND OUT

While sliding into a brick that served the purpose of a base, Captain Kizziar of the high school baseball nine, twisted his ankle Tuesday. He will be out of the game for a week.

This catastrophe places Coach Henderson in a serious position, as there is no other candidate to fill his shoes. Kizziar is a steady, hard working fielder, tricky on the bases and dangerous with the willow. This season makes the third one that he has filled the shortstop department on the nine, and the team will suffer by his loss.

The coach will no doubt have to call on Neal or Bashara to fill the bill in the game with Graham this Saturday at Iowa Park. Neal is a fast little fielder, but rather weak at the bat, but has shown steady improvement the past week and may fill in acceptably.

TIGER FLOWERS PUTS OUT BILLY BRITTON

By Associated Press.

JUAREZ, April 12.—Tiger Flowers of Atlanta, Ga., last night won the decision of the referee over Billy Britton of Kansas City, Mo., at the end of a 15 round bout at catch weights. The men are middleweights. Flowers scored four knockdowns.

STUDENTS WRESTLING

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, April 12.—Coach Roy McLean, mentor of the University of Texas wrestlers, has opened a wrestling class for Freshmen and is developing material for his future Varsity wrestling team.

About 30 men have turned out for the work and according to Coach McLean, a number of them give promise of becoming first rate mat artists.

ALEX HURLS CUBS TO WIN OVER REDS

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, April 12.—A capacity crowd witnessed the defeat of the Reds to the Chicago Cubs today 7 to 3. Superb pitching by Alexander was mainly responsible for the visiting team's victory. Brilliant fielding by Hollocher also was an outstanding feature. Rixey was hit hard in the seventh when five hits drove in four runs and clinched the game for the Cubs. A strong Cincinnati rally in the eighth was stopped by two great pickups by Hollocher. The score:

BAMBINO LAUGHS AT ONLY $100,000 OFFER

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 12.—Babe Ruth, suspended for 38 days, has been offered $100,000 if he will join a local semi-professional league team, the team manager said at a meeting of his association last night. He drew a laugh.

A call for cold facts produced a document from the manager of the Chicagos, the city hall team in the Mid-West league, showing that he had signed Dick Kerr, former Chicago American pitcher. Charley Deal, former Chicago National player, had agreed a week ago to play with the same team, but was asked for his release and has reported to the Pacific, it was said.

This is the way that Walter Salm, who has always managed to gather an aggregation capable of making its mark in the pennant fight, will make his start for Wichita Falls' first Texas League pennant at 4 o'clock today. The opposite column shows how "Bad News" Jim Galloway, always one of the most dangerous hitters in the Texas league, will start to carve out a managerial reputation.

Dorrough May Hurl

Dorrough seems the most likely choice for Skipper Salm. Lefty Swartz is expected to go to the firing line for Galloway's nine—some of the Texas league pilots still suffering from the delusion that a southpaw has something on the array of left-hand sluggers carried around by the Spudders, in spite of some awful drubbings handed out to southpaws last season. If Dorrough does not draw the assignment, Knadler, who has gained control and improved a lot since last year, probably will. "Nervous" Jack Harper is probably Galloway's second bet.

The local lineup is based on the belief that Shorty Adams, the new shortfielder, will arrive on a night train and take his place in the lineup for the opener. Summa, who does not like the lead-off role, will go to second place, and Buddy Tanner, who will play second, will go to seventh place. If Adams is not here, Sorey will play short, and his seventh, with Summa first up and Buddy Tanner hitting in his old place.

Strongest Ever

Walter undoubtedly has the strongest aggregation which he has ever headed. Adams, a classy infielder and a good hitter, will lead the way in front of a batting order, which contains nothing less than .300 hitters until it gets to seventh place, with the dangerous Frank Kitchens, or George Bischoff, king of pinch hitters, to bat after that.

Last year's club had a name as a slugging club. This club should hit even oftener and harder as a club—and that will certainly mean punishment for the horsehide.

Added to that hitting will be a cleaner fielding record. Fred Beck will give the locals their first real first sacker. Tex McDonald, a brilliant but somewhat erratic fielder, is playing the game of his life. Adams brought real money as a shortstop of class, and should fill a position which the veteran Tanner's sickness and the inexperience of Danny Gross left wide open last year. And Buddy Tanner on second, playing like the star he was of old, should bring up the fielding percentage on the right hand side of second, even though he can not give the hitting power of Danny Clark. Sorey, speedy fielder, is the present utility prospect.

Best in Texas

No Texas outfield can compare with Salm's 1922 force, it is the universal belief in Spudderville. Ground covering ability, throwing ability, speed on the bases and an awful wallop—that is the Spudder outfield. Jake Miller in left, Ray O'Brien in center and Homer Summa in right, with Bob Bescher, hard hitter and terror on the bases, in the utility role. Bob reported late and is not quite in condition yet, but Salm expects to use him in an outfield berth when southpaws oppose the local club, for Bob can hit 'em either way.

Pitching is the problem for the Spudders. Lacking Jack Hollingsworth, the Spudder ace who is back with Pittsburgh this season, the pitching staff is improved over last year. Babe Marshall, temperamental pitcher and trouble-maker, is gone, for one thing.

Rabbit Dorrough and Abe Bowman are both ready for the bell. George Knadler, who has gained control and shows general improvement, is counted upon to do his part. Jumbo Ramsey, who was just recovering from an injury to his pitching arm when he joined the Spudders last year, although rounding slowly, is coming right along. Babe Ruth, who has led Salm to expect much of him, may be ready this year. Steve Mokan, a youngster and a brother of the redoubtable Johnny, has shown more stuff than any of the many recruit pitchers and Walter is holding on to him. Joe Newkirk, purchased from Omaha looks like a real good bet.

Although satisfied that they have a capable staff, the Spudder management expected to add additional talent.

"We are always in the market for better ball players, no matter how good are the ones we have," they declare.

Behind the bat the situation will be cared for in the same capable manner as in by-gone seasons, for the veteran Frank Kitchens, the peer of them all, will again do the big end of the backstopping. Added to this is George Bischoff, nothing sensational as a catcher, but a hitter who packs an awful wallop, especially for a southpaw, or in a pinch.

In spite of the losses of such men as Robertson, heady catcher and hard hitter, of Munson and Camp Skinner, dangerous hitters and capable outfielders, Jim Galloway hasn't a bad club to make the go with. His principal strength lies in his string of veteran pitchers, Swartz, Harper, Conley, Tipple and Hill, and Reid, as formidable a staff as possessed by any club in the league. With Wheat and Shankling, his catching staff will be well taken care of, although Robertson will undoubtedly be missed.

With Galloway himself on first, Falk at second, the incomparable Bobby Stow at short and Segrist at third, his infield looks as good as the average hitters, and dependable as fielders. Undoubtedly it could be improved by the importation of a second sacker, for the position is not the natural one for Falk, who operated in the outfied last year, but he had turned in a capable performance thus far and Galloway is not worrying.

The outfield is an unknown quantity in this company. It is said that they are capable fielders and hard hitters.

Spudders Look Best of All With Houston Buffs Runner Up and Nine That Salm's Boys Must Humble

Reports coming from Texas league camps on the eve of a new pennant race indicate a general strengthening in all quarters, save possibly one, and an all round harder pennant race than ever before in the league's long and prosperous history.

Although the Spudders are generally credited with being the club "to beat," they will undoubtedly need all their strength, for several clubs capable of a real fight loom in the distance.

Houston Dangerous.

Houston, where George Whiteman has materially strengthened his runners up of last year, a club which finished stronger than any club with the exception of Fort Worth, and which, except for hard luck might have written baseball history differently, is sure to be dangerous. Local fans, who admire the Houston leader's real sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct, wish him luck, except for the Spudders.

Fort Worth, which is getting off to a bad start, and which has probably gotten its hardest blow through the sickness which laid Jake Atz at this time, will be a danger spot before the end of the season. The veteran pitchers, despite their poor start this season, will undoubtedly round into form and that redoubtable trio, Bugs Pate, Buzzer Bill Whittaker and Paul Wachtel will win many a game. Lefty Johns of Spudder memory, who went to the Tigers on option from the Panthers last year, will probably also be back.

The Panthers' weak spot is on the left side of their diamond. Tavener is touted as a good shortstop, but he will not fill Topper Rigney's shoes, while the speedy recovery of Frank Haley is the Panther's best bet at third. Although the Panther followers have kept a stiff upper lip, the kicking of three or four per day on the left side of the infield has been a worry to fans who were entirely unused to ragged fielding. Clarence Kraft will be missed in the early days but he will undoubtedly again be a tower of strength to the Panther offensive.

Smith Has Hurlers.

Billy Smith, who hails from Shreveport and who works a wicked tongue on the ball field and off, has gathered a capable staff of pitchers this year—all he needed to make the Shreveport club dangerous. With Vann behind the plate, and with his last year's inner and outer works he had no odds to ask of anyone either on fielding or hitting. Watch for Billy.

Griffiths, last year catcher for Houston, and a good one, and this year replacing Ellam as pilot for the Sand Crabs, has materially strengthened that club, and they will no doubt make trouble along the way.

Dallas, counted out by many by reason of the quarrels over ownership, is far from a weak club, and will make its mark this year.

Beaumont and San Antonio have both strengthened, and should make strong opposition for anybody's ball club. How far their new strength will carry them, remains to be seen, but it should be borne in mind that neither, particularly San Antonio, took many bad drubbings last year, in spite of their lowly positions, and on more than one occasion administered severe chastisement to clubs called to higher places on the pennant ladder.

GOLF CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS SATURDAY

Election of directors and officers for next year is scheduled for a meeting of the membership of the Wichita Falls Golf club to be held Saturday night. The meeting was postponed from last Saturday night on account of rains.

Although there is nothing to bring out other than has already been announced, it is expected that the club plans for a new $75,000 club house will probably be discussed at the meeting.

WAFFORD HURLS NO-HIT, NO-RUN; SMITH WHIFFS 14 IN TWILIGHTER

By "Hank" Hayes

The Twilight league season opened along with the major league. The eight clubs put forth all the efforts within them, but, from the looks of the scores, some of them had more efforts and more practice than others.

There was some nice pitching by the four winning hurlers. Wafford of the Legion pitched a no-hit, no-run contest; Smith, flinger for the Shriners, struck out 14 and allowed two hits; Conley of Ponds, whiffed 11, walked none, and three hits were banged on him. Scott of the Varsity nine pitched a good game against the Mill and Elevator.

The games were also featured by much slugging for different teams, the Shriners having the record of swatting a dozen safeties. Seven of the nines accounted for about 38 hits, including one home run, and a large assortment of triples, doubles and singles.

Each team had a fair attendance on their respective lots and a feeling of good will and good sportsmanship prevailed throughout the games of all aggregations.

As these are the first games and there is no telling what a few practice sessions may bring out, little can be said as to the pennant winner, although two of the games were one-sided.

TWO KAYOES IN ATHLETIC EXHIBIT

Two technical knockouts and two draws featured the athletic carnival staged at Pat Carrigan Post of the American Legion Wednesday evening, Bonnie Beasly winning from Paul Brown in the fifth of a scheduled ten-round go, when the referee stopped the fight to save Brown from a knockout, while "Kid" Stanton, 105 pounder of Oklahoma City and "Kid" Snyder of Burkburnett, fought four rounds to a draw in the semi-windup.

"Kid" Finger and L. I. Davis, 72-pounders, mixed it in the prelims for a draw, both scrappers, members of the Newsboys' Athletic club, putting up a game battle.

"Kid" Norfolk defeated "Kid" Brown in the third of a scheduled four-round preliminary bout, the two negroes, in the 168-pound class, charging at each other in savage style from the first gong to the third when Referee Douglas Pipes, instructor of the Newsboys' Athletic club who officiated in the preliminary events, stopped the battle.

Brown and Beasly, scheduled as the main attraction of the athletic carnival, fulfilled the hopes of the squared ring fans, both lads scrapping through the first five rounds, at the end of which time the referee stopped the match to save Brown from a knockout. The first two rounds were even, and when Brown weakened in the third, Beasly carried the fight from then to the fifth.

Abe Breman, former middle-weight pugilist, officiated in the semi-windup and main bouts.

A good crowd of mit enthusiasts greeted the boxers when they appeared in the arena, and the fans were given a treat throughout.

LEGION ROUTS BAPTISTS 4-0

Captain Wafford's shock troops of the Legion baseball brigade routed the Baptist nine 4 to 0 in a seven inning engagement for their season opener yesterday on the Legion's diamond. Wafford, slab artist for the Legionnaires turned the churchmen back hitless and runless, with his squad playing errorless ball behind him.

Brooks, moundsman for the Baptists, could not repulse the ex-service men, and they slammed his offerings for seven clean hits, with Crawford pasting one for a trio of bases. This game was the snappiest game played by any of the members of the Twilight circuit.

The box score was not available for this game and the totals were:

Legion	4	7	0
Baptists	0	0	2

PONDS WIN CLOSE ONE FROM METHODISTS

The Pond Laundry nine started their season with the closest game of the league, defeating the North Methodists 3 to 1. Conley of the cleaners pitched super ball, whiffing 11 and walking none for the entire seven innings, and being touched for three hits. Ivey and Scott took turns on the hill for the Methodists but could do no more than allow nine hits and three tallies. The score:

CHRISTIANS LOSE TO SHRINE NINE

The Shriners were too much for the Christian Church nine in their first game of the season and bit the dust 10 to 0. The Shrine had the game all the way through with Smith on the mound, who held them to two scratch hits and no runs and 14 of them fanned at his delivery, and banged one to the gilf course for the only circuit clout of the game.

Raley and Miller, flinging for the Christians, were hammered for twelve safeties, while their teammates totaled five errors behind them.

The score keepers failed to turn in their box scores, so only the totals are given.

Tariff Condemned By Lion Speaker

Condemning the tariff in all its forms, Joe B. Hatchitt, attorney, made the feature talk at the luncheon of the Lions' club Wednesday noon at the Kemp. The speaker urged the business fraternity of Wichita Falls acquaint themselves more thoroughly with the tariff, which he asserted is more simple than it is thought to be.

The speaker seemed thoroughly familiar with his subject, and offered numerous statistics to substantiate his arguments on the tariff.

In the regular business session which accompanied the luncheon, the Lions designated next Wednesday as "ladies' day," at which time the wives and women friends of the club membership will be invited into the den. Decision to hold some social functions in the near future was also agreed upon.

Mrs. Louella Thompson, vocalist, accompanied by Miss Annett Walsh provided music for the occasion, Miss Louise Scott, victorious in the recent high school declamation contests, also furnishing entertainment.

Discovery That Revolutionizes Home Medication

Pharmaceutical Chemists Rob Calomel of Nauseating and Dangerous Qualities. New Tablets Named "Calotabs."

Calomel, the most popular and by far the most useful of all home medicines, has at last been purified of its objectionable qualities. The new calomel tablets bearing the name "Calotabs" are available at drug stores and according to druggists are rapidly taking the place of the old-style calomel tablets. For biliousness, constipation and indigestion and for all other conditions where calomel is essential Calotabs is considered a practically perfect remedy.

One Calotab on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water, that's all—no taste, no griping, no nausea, no danger. Next morning you are feeling fine, your liver is clean, your appetite splendid. Eat what you please.

Beware of imitations! Genuine Calotabs are sold only in "checkerboard" (black and white) packages bearing the copyrighted trade-mark "Calotabs." The large, family size sells for thirty-five cents; vest-pocket size, ten cents. All dealers are authorized to refund the price if you are not delighted with Calotabs.—adv.

Harvey Returns and Nails Report That Holly Won't Return

Ralph Harvey, president of the Spudders, returned Wednesday afternoon from Memphis and New Orleans where he went for a conference with Barney Dreftuss and George Gibson over additional talent for the Spudders. The trip, however, has resulted in nothing that can be made public right now, he said.

The report that Jack Hollingsworth was not willing to return to the Spudders was nailed, however. Holly is willing, Mr. Harvey says, if he has to go back for another season, to come here.

His being a second year man and the necessity of asking waivers on him—a difficult thing at this season when none of the clubs have cut down, is an obstacle to the return of Holly or the sending of any other young player on the Pirate roster.

MORGAN MEET HELD TONIGHT

Friends'll Gather in 78th Courtroom

An organization meeting to promote the candidacy of S. A. L. Morgan, local attorney, who has announced for the unexpired term in congress from this district will be held tonight in the 78th district court room at the courthouse according to an announcement Wednesday by the committee in charge.

The purpose of the meeting according to John Davenport, a member of the committee is to form a local organization to boost the candidacy of Mr. Morgan between now and the election, May 13. A general invitation to attend is extended to all Morgan supporters in the county.

TWO EX-SPUDDERS IN BUFF LINE-UP

Two ex-Spudders will appear in the cast of George Whiteman's revamped Houston Buffaloes. Danny Gross, brilliant but erratic in the utility infield role here last year, has grabbed off the shortstop's job held by Rolla Darringer, who is with Galveston this year, while Red Josefson, leading hitter of the league with the Spudders two years ago, will work in right and lead off the batting order. Danny has the makings of a good ball player, while Josefson is a performer of real worth. They will make good men for Houston.

Walter parted with them for real cash—intending to secure a first performer for shortstop this year and as a result of experience with several members of last year's squad parting with Josefson because he was through with temperament for all time to come.

CORMACK WELL PROMISES MUCH

Material Hurriedly Sent to Field

Flowing at the rate of 250 barrels a day, with the top of the lime, entered at 3,795 feet drilled into only a short distance, the Gulf Production company's No. 1 Carmack, in the extreme south part of the Bunger field, near the Stephens county line, is being looked to to provide spectacular developments in the next day or so.

Pipeline connections are being rushed, and a thousand barrels of storage has been moved up from Stephens county to the new well, preparatory to drilling in. The gas pressure is very strong, the hole in perfect condition, according to the Wednesday reports from the field, and those who have been watching it are expecting even better production than in the Ralco No. 1 Rogrk, two and a half miles north and east of the Carmack, the first well in the Bunger field to get the deep lime.

The Caney Mercier wildcat on the Jeffrey, four miles north of Graham, which has been on a lime around 4,000 feet for a number of weeks, and has been overcoming numerous difficulties, was reported Wednesday night about in condition to drill in, and give a thorough test, with good indications for a producer.

12 COUNTIES TO BE REPRESENTED IN MEET

Twelve North Texas counties will be represented here Friday and Saturday when athletes and literary stars from both ward and high schools gather at Iowa Park to compete in the district interscholastic meet. The winners of track, field and literary events scheduled for the two-day meet will compete in the state interscholastic contests which will be held in Austin during May.

Several weeks ago county meets were held throughout the state, the Wichita Falls schools holding contests between the school children of this city only however, due to the fact that all cities of 25,000 population or over are not permitted to enter in the county meets.

INSTRUCTOR MAKES PUPILS WRITE 'RIGHT'

DETROIT, Mich., April 11.—In an effort to eliminate "left handedness" among school children in the city, T. J. Knapp, superintendent of schools at Highland Park, a suburb, has ordered that a census be taken to learn which of the children use their left hands in preference to their right. Following the census the left-handed children will be taught to write with their right hands, it is announced.

"The world is much more conveniently arranged for the right-handed persons," Mr. Knapp said in explaining his action.

The superintendent scouts the theory that left-handed persons are in danger of stammering in their speech if they are "made over" into right-handed persons.

"There is no evidence to support this theory," he said. "No persons should be left-handed. It is an inconvenient habit."

GRAIN SUPPLIES EXCEED DEMAND

Wheat Closes With Little Change

CHICAGO. April 12.—Offerings increased and buying power gave out in the Chicago wheat market today after prices had scored a moderate advance based to some extent on higher quotations at Liverpool. The close here was unsettled, varying from 1 cent net decline to 3-8 cents gain, with 1.30 7-8 to 1.31 and July 1.20 1-8 to 1.25 1-4. Corn lost a shade to 1-2 cent and oats 1-4 cent.

Provisions were unchanged to 20 cents lower.

At first, demand for wheat showed considerable vigor, upturns in Liverpool prices having been scored notwithstanding declines yesterday in the United States. A forecast that Argentine exports would be small, tended also to strengthen values and so did word of continued better domestic milling calls in the southwest. Besides, gossip was current that the winter crop harvest promised to be late in nearly all of the surplus states.

Turning points at which sellers began to outnumber buyers in the wheat pit were at prices above 1.33 for May and 1.21 for July. Talk that more wheat at Omaha had been bought for delivery in Chicago was partly responsible. In addition, it was said much Chicago-owned wheat at Kansas City would perhaps be brought here to fill May contracts. Under such circumstances and with export inquiry slow the early action of the market was more or less reversed as the day drew to an end.

Corn and oats prices were governed in the main by the changes in the wheat market. Trade was almost entirely of a local character.

Declines in the value of provision were ascribed to lower quotations on hogs.

LIBERTY DOMINATES

NEW YOIK, April 12.—Liberty issues were the dominant features of today's very extensive trading in the bond market, practically all of that series, notably the 3 1-2s rising to par or better, on transactions which involved single blocks of $1,000,000.

Final prices for this entire group showed gains and in several instances closing quotations were at the day's highest quotations.

Total sales of all classes of bonds were $32,538,000, par value, and of this amount the largest of any day so far this year, almost 30 per cent, was contributed by Liberty and Victory issues.

Strength of foreign exchanges, especially the British rate, exerted a favorable influence upon United Kingdoms and Dominion of Canada issues. The Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean railway 6s recently floated here, also Czecho-Slovakia 8s and Cuban, South American, Mexican and Japanese bonds were among the many internationals to show marked strength.

COFFEE STRONG

NEW YORK, April 12.—The market for coffee futures showed increased strength today with all deliveries making new high records for the season on the continued firmness of Brazil and covering by near month shorts who seemed apprehensive that very little coffee would be delivered on contract next month. The market opened at an advance of 11 to 17 points and sold 16 to 20 points net higher, May advancing to 10.14, July to 10.00 and September to 9.75. These prices attracted some realizing in July and later deliveries causing reactions of five or six points from the best with the market closing 11 to 17 points net higher or at about the opening figure. Sales, including exchanges, were estimated at about 40,000 bags. May 10.11; July 9.96; September 9.72; October 9.70; December 9.66; January and March 9.64.

STOCK MARKET DEALS NERVOUS

Sales of Day Make Current Record

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Buoyancy best described the tone of the stock market during today's early stage, the latter's dealings being irregular. Sales of about 1,650,000 shares constituted a record for current movement and the number of separate issues traded in probably established a precedent.

A lower money rate, cumulative indications of industrial and commercial betterment and higher quotations for such basic commodities as oil, pig iron and finished iron and steel were among the developments which continued to stimulate bullish sentiment and diminish the short interest.

Strike Note Felt.

The one discordant note was sounded by the coal strike, authorities referring to that situation as likely to become a factor in many lines of manufacture in the near future.

Coal shares were dull and rails as a whole contributed only nominally to the day's business. Mexican oils were sold on rumors of export taxes and steady profit-taking and American interests regarding export taxes and steady profit-taking detracted from the attractiveness of such as Studebaker and allied issues.

Gains of 1 to 3 points during the forenoon were made largely under the auspices of equipments, domestic oils, junior steels, leathers, paper specialties shippings, tobaccos and chain store issues. Woolworth rising on the declaration of the extra dividend.

Reversal Comes Late.

The only share reversal of the session came in the final hour when Mexican Petroleum fell almost 5 points from its early best and caused other leaders to react 1 to 3 points. The only striking exception was American locomotive, which forged steadily ahead, closing at a gain of 4 points.

Call loans opened at 4 1-4 per cent, but the light demand at that rate caused a reduction of 4 points in the second hour. More time funds were placed at 4 1-2 per cent for 30 and 60 days.

Reversing yesterday's trend, the German rate was the only exception to the higher level registered by a majority of today's foreign exchange quotation. Sterling demand was strong, allied remittances gained 4 to 8 points and greater strength was by Czecho-Slovakia issues.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, April 12.—Foreign exchange steady. Great Britain demand $4.41⅝; cables $4.42; 60-day bills on banks $4.38⅝. France demand 9.27c; cables 9.27½c. Italy demand 5.44½c; cables 5.45c. Belgium, demand 8.56c; cables 8.56½c. Germany, demand .33⅝c; cables .33¾c. Holland, demand 37.85c; cables 37.88c; Norway, demand 18.50; Sweden, demand 26.05; Denmark demand 21.22c; Switzerland, demand 19.45c; Spain, demand 15.53c; Greece demand 4.50 nominal; Poland, demand .02⅝c; Czecho-Slovakia demand 2.05; Argentina demand 35.87c; Brazil, demand 13.75c; Montreal 97⅝c.

BUYERS FEW IN COTTON MARKET

Reports Not Taken As Important

NEW YORK, April 12.—The cotton market remained very quiet today with traders evidently finding no fresh inspirations of importance in the news and with business attributed largely to evening up of accounts for the easter holiday. An early decline carried July contracts off to 17.24 which was followed by a rally to 17.32 with that delivery closing at 17.29. The general market closed barely steady at a net decline of 2 to 7 points.

An opening decline of 1 to 5 points was the result of scattering liquidation promoted by rather less favorable Liverpool advices and reports of better weather in the south. Active months sold 6 to 8 points net lower right after the call, but the decline was checked by the appearance of trade buying orders for May at 17.05 and the prospect for unsettled weather west of the river. The weekly report of the weather bureau, as expected, read favorably as to eastern belt conditions, but if anything was a little more bullish than looked for as to crop progress in the southwest. It failed to inspire any fresh buying of consequence however, and after selling up from 17.10 to 17.18 for October, or 2 points net higher, the market was barely steady under scattering liquidation.

May appeared to be for sale at about 42 points over July, and was offered a little more freely late in the afternoon, closing within a point of the early low level. According to reports published here during the day, between 15,000 and 20,000 bales of cotton are expected to arrive here from the south, presumably for delivery next month. Today's statement of the certificated stock in the local warehouses however, showed that over 6,700 bales have been shipped out since last Thursday and it is reported that about 20,000 bales have been exported from the certificated supply here since early in March.

Traders found little change in the New England labor situation. It is estimated that curtailment resulting from the strike has amounted to about 60,000 bales of raw cotton. Liverpool reported increased hedge selling. Exports today 3,534, making 4,414,806. Port receipts 1,656. U. S. port stocks 1,038,808.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 12.—Dry weather over the belt caused moderate selling of cotton in the early market here today but after declines of 7 to 8 points there was a recovery and the late session prices were 3 to 4 points higher than the close of yesterday, mainly because of the forecast of further rains in Western and Central divisions of the belt. May traded as low as 16.55, reacted to 16.67 and closed at 16.65. Throughout the day, trading was more or less restricted by the triple holidays which follow the close tomorrow.

The outlook for unfavorable weather in sections which have received serious setbacks already from too much rain would probably have been a stronger argument for higher prices but for continued reports of favorable progress with planting in the Eastern belt. The weekly reports from the government were regarded as rather less favorable than expected, because of the backwardness they indicated in the Western belt.

In the afternoon, Texas commenced to send messages to brokers here saying that rain was beginning to fall again and this, in connection with unfavorable barometer lines on the weather map caused some little short covering and the highest levels of the day.

30,000 HENS IN POULTRY SHOW

Marketing Plan to Be Discussed

Special to the Record News.

BROWNWOOD, Texas, April 12.—On April 17, according to word received today by the West Texas chamber of commerce, there will be held in the courthouse of this city a meeting of great industrial importance. Delegates will be present on this occasion representing the poultry industry from the following counties: Brown, McCulloch, Coleman, Runnels, Tom Green, Concho, Mills, Comanche and to the number of thirty. Local organizations in the above counties will send delegates to this meeting on the basis of one delegate to every one thousand hens. It is estimated by County Agent Griffin that at least 30,000 hens of improved variety will be represented.

The people of this territory hope to reach through practical co-operation the best marketing conditions for their poultry and it is probable that when the final organization has been completed that Brownwood will be the central marketing place for the industry in this area for the counties represented.

District Agent A. L. Smith of the A. & M. College Extension Service will be present, and efforts are being made to have Walton Petett or Hon. Aaron Sapiro to be present and deliver addresses on the occasion.

RIGHT TO STRIKE DENIED BERLINERS

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 12.—The right to strike is denied employes of the government in an order issued by the German minister of transportation, who characterized the recent strike of engineers on the government railways as a "revolt of officials." A majority of high government officials and members of the Reichstag support this position.

Labor quarters and particularly Communist circles take issue with the government, admitting that officials are bound "to obedience" to the state, but on the other hand are working men and women who must combat unfavorable wage and living conditions with weapons available. The strike is the only effective weapon within reach, they hold.

SHENCK HERE FOR THEFT CASE

His First Appearance Since Appointment

W. H. Shenck of Graham, appointed district attorney of the 30th district court in February, made his initial appearance in a local court Wednesday afternoon when he joined state attorneys in the case of John Hinton, charged with theft. Mr. Shenck arrived in the court room just as the trial opened and sat with state attorneys during the afternoon.

The state completed their direct testimony at the time of adjournment Wednesday evening. Hinton is charged with stealing a Ford car from Homer Brown, a farmer living near Burkburnett in September, 1921. Brown testified as to the theft of the car and identified it as the one later found in the possession of C. L. Smith of Newtown. The latter testified that he had purchased the car from Hinton. The state introduced other testimony tending to connect Hinton with the theft of the car.

The trial of the case in the 89th district court will continue this monrning.

50 STUDENTS WILL ATTEND COURT TODAY

The district court of Wichita county will have for guests today approximately 50 students of Miss Mamie Raborn's civics classes to witness the procedure of a court session, about which that course deals.

FORMER OFFICER IS INDICTED, ARRESTED

John Canada, former peace officer here, indicted by the grand jury of the 78th district court now in session, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by deputy sheriffs. He was released on $1,500 bond late Wednesday.
