Revenues To Be $38 Million Less Than Estimated

Speaker Sees $100 Million Deficit If Spending Isn't Cut

AUSTIN, June 11. (AP)—Texas is headed for what may be the "worst financial disaster in her history," Speaker Durwood Manford said Saturday.

In a letter to members of the House, Manford said revenues for the next two years will be $38 million dollars less than previously estimated.

Manford wrote the letter as the Legislature finished its 22nd week with the tough finance-spending problem unsolved.

"The surplus which the war years have built up in the general fund seems to have given us and the people of Texas a false sense of abundance, and we have spent and are proposing to spend money which simply doesn't exist," the speaker warned.

He said the great general fund surplus at the start of the session is almost gone, and the course being followed by the Legislature will leave a deficit of $100 million "as a heritage to the 52nd Legislature."

The Legislature must solve the problem by holding present appropriations to minimum essentials and by providing the state with "substantial" revenues, Manford declared. He indicated it would take a special session to get the job done.

Declining production of oil and gas is the chief reason for the drop in state income, the speaker said.

"The true seriousness of our situation appears in the 1951-53 biennium," Manford continued. "By that time the full impact on the general fund of the Gilmer-Albin Colson farm-to-market, salary increase, and other emergency bills, and the abolition of the ad valorem tax will have become apparent."

He estimated total revenue according to the general revenue fund by then will be only $15 million a year, while the annual departmental, eleemosynary, higher education costs, and the ordinary expenses of state government will approximate $70 million.

"It must be obvious that the state must be provided with substantial new revenues," Manford said.

"If the expenses of government are to be maintained at the rate now being considered, the amount to be raised approximates $55 million per year."

Manford suggested that the Legislature defer action on "all appropriations for buildings and other construction."

Gov. Beauford H. Jester has recommended an eleemosynary budgeting program costing more than $20 million. He said he would call a special session if the matter were not taken care of.

Light Rains Fall In Area Friday And Saturday

Comparatively light showers Friday evening and Saturday morning brought the year's total to about 60 per cent of the annual normal rainfall.

The U. S. weather bureau reported .60 of an inch in the two showers, most of it in the Saturday morning downpour. The U. S. Experiment Farm gauged .35 of an inch.

Over the county the fall ranged from a three-eighths to slightly more than a half an inch. No appreciable damage resulted. Heaviest rain occurred in the Lomax area of southwestern Howard county.

Total for June, according to U. S. weather bureau tabulations, stands at 2.53. There have been only three days in which not a trace of rain has fallen during the month. Total for the year is 11.18 inches, not far under the 14.31 reported for all of 1948. It is about 60 per cent of the annual normal of 19 inches.

The stormy year has brought many oddities. For instance, precipitation has been measured on no less than 44 days. In addition a trace of precipitation was recorded on 31 other days. This is a total of 75 days out of 161, through Friday, with some moisture.

Through May, 79 out of 151 days had been recorded as cloudy and 30 partly cloudy. This left only 42 days, or little more than one out of five months, rated as clear. That almost never happens in this county.

Truman Makes Plea For European Arms

Will Ask Aid For Needy World Areas

LITTLE ROCK, June 11. (AP)—President Truman Saturday called for rearming of Europe, said trimming funds for helping Europe would be "false economy" and disclosed he soon would ask Congress to help needy areas of the world. Reaction from members of Congress was swift and mixed. On his three points, the President said:

"It is of vital importance that the Atlantic Pact be followed by a program of military aid to increase the effective strength of the free nations against aggression. "A slash in funds available for European recovery at this time would be the worst kind of false economy."

As for legislation to give America economic and technical know-how help to "underdeveloped regions," he said it offers "enormous potential benefits in a growing world economy."

In Washington, Senator Taft, (R-O), head of the GOP Policy Committee, observed that rearming of Europe might have "the opposite effect" although he expects to vote for the Atlantic Pact. Taft said, too, he didn't believe a 10 per cent cut in ECA funds would eliminate any essential benefits.

The reaction of Senator McKeellar (D-Tenn) was to propose a billion dollar reduction in foreign aid spending.

Senator Connally (D-Tex), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, commenting on Mr. Truman's proposed world economic program, said he understood only a small appropriation would be necessary at first. The Texan added that he will go along with the President on his help-Europe-rearm program.

In his speech here, before an estimated 12,000 persons the President spoke of continuing "Communist pressures" and sharply criticized the Soviet bloc.

Merkel Crash Kills Four As 13 Die In Texas

By The Associated Press

Thirteen persons died violently in Texas Friday and Saturday, getting the week-end death toll off to an unusually severe start. Traffic accidents caused 10 of the deaths.

Two head-on collisions Saturday took a total of six lives. One crash occurred two miles west of Merkel, killing four persons and seriously injuring two. The other accident, 15 miles north of Mineral Wells, took two lives. Two other persons were seriously hurt.

Dead in the early-morning Merkel crash were Leon Chapman, 21, of Grand Falls; O. L. Bishop, 59 and his wife, 55 of Trent and their son, Oscar Sherrill Bishop, 35, of Midland. Mrs. Oscar Sherrill Bishop suffered a fractured skull and Mrs. Wayne Bolis of Corpus Christi, daughter of the elder Bishops sustained a fractured pelvis.

Tena, eight year old daughter of Mrs. Bolis, also was slightly hurt. Highway Patrolman G. G. Fitzhugh said the Bishop family was returning to Trent after attending a funeral at Waco. Fitzhugh said their car apparently was forced to swerve suddenly to avoid a torn-up section of U. S. Highway 80.

Warning flares at the scene had been extinguished by a heavy rain earlier in the night.

In the crash north of Mineral Wells, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Smith of Oklahoma City were killed. Maj. and Mrs. John C. Weisler of Fort Sam Houston were seriously hurt.

C. F. Harlow, 25, of Denison was killed and Miss Virginia Langford, 19, of Denison was injured Friday night when their car overturned on a road between Denison and Sherman.

Near Sweetwater, Jackie Clayton, 15-year-old Roscoe Boy Scout, was killed Friday night when the car on which he was riding on a fender struck a semitrailer parked on the road.

Ernest Schneider, 52, drowned Friday night while fishing in a lake near Giddings.

Big Spring-Big Lake Highway Opening To Be Gala Affair

Opening of a new highway providing a direct, paved route from Big Spring to Big Lake will be celebrated Wednesday by a group of local business people.

Plans are to organize an automobile caravan to leave Big Spring at 9:30 a. m. on the announced date. First stop will be Garden City, where several officials and residents of Glasscock county will join the group. The Howard-Glasscock delegation will then continue to Big Lake for an informal visit with business men and public officials.

Last segment of ranch highway 33, embracing the Reagan county portion, was completed and opened to traffic a few days ago. The segment in Glasscock county was opened over two years ago. The new highway whittled the driving distance between Big Spring and Big Lake from approximately 90 miles to 71 miles.

Arrangements for organizing the motor caravan are being handled through the chamber of commerce. It is hoped that a substantial number will make the trip, said Joe Pickle, chairman of the chamber of commerce public relations committee.

Chamber officials are urging all local businessmen to make the trip, or else send representatives from their respective businesses. Those who can furnish cars are urged to contact the chamber of commerce office as soon as possible.

Glasscock County Receives Varying Showers Friday

GARDEN CITY, June 11.—Rain soaked western and northwestern Glasscock county chucked up more showers Friday night.

Precipitation ranged from light showers in the eastern part of the county to 2 1/2 inches in northwestern Glasscock.

The Powell ranch in the extreme northwestern part of the county measured two inches with some hail which did no damage of consequence. Nearer to Garden City, the fall slackened to three-quarters of an inch at the Joe Calverly place.

Northward to Big Spring, only an inch was reported at the Carter place. West of Garden City, Charles Cox reported that two and a half inches had descended on his land.

Southwest of town the Crouch ranch had an inch and St. Laurence community had an inch and a quarter. Garden City had three-quarters of an inch. Range conditions were regarded as generally good to excellent.

Berlin Strike May End Today

BERLIN, June 11. (AP)—American-Russian agreement Saturday night signaled the end of the Berlin rail strike. Prompt union acceptance, predicted by strike leaders, promised to break a 22-day economic stranglehold and clear the way for an all-Germany trade pact.

American negotiations with the Russian-controlled railway management brought a settlement which within hours may open the floodgates for 150,000 tons of supplies tied up in what amounted to a "little blockade."

Leaders of the anti-Communist rail union, the UGO, said the 14,000 strikers would formally accept Sunday a set of peace terms backed up by a solid western guarantee and that traffic would move as soon as possible.

U. S., Russian Ministers Dine As German Deadlock Continues

PARIS, June 11. (AP)—Russian and American foreign ministers unexpectedly arranged a dinner date Saturday after Andrei Vishinsky spent several hours in contact with Moscow over the Big Four German deadlock.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson decided to take along his top advisors on Germany—just in case the Russian had some new idea to put forward which could break the logjam.

At Vishinsky's request, the Foreign Ministers Council was taking a day's recess until Sunday. Most Western officials believed the Soviet diplomat was awaiting fresh instructions from the Kremlin.

Acheson and his advisers—Dr. Philip C. Jessup, Robert Murphy, and Charles E. Bohlen—were Vishinsky's guests at dinner Saturday night in the Russian embassy. A week ago Vishinsky was Acheson's guests at a small dinner party.

Acheson, French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman, and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin conferred Saturday afternoon to map strategy for Sunday's session.

No quotations have been posted on rye. Tucker ventured that farmers would be wise to hold on to clean rye for seed purposes. He foresaw a demand for it in the fall in event a new farm program is instituted. That would mean controlled acreage on such major crops as cotton. Rye, particularly Abruzzi, has been employed with considerable success for cover and soil building purposes. Blow sand areas have used it to remarkably good advantage.

What is most needed at the moment is dry, hot weather to permit cutting. Producers were fearful last fall or continued rain cause the crop—already made—to be lost in the field.

Tucker estimated that the harvest would approximate 50 cars this season. This would rival, but not equal, the 1947 output. That year yields were higher but acreage to small much larger in this section.

High Grain Yield In This Area Forecast

Small grain yield in this area may range between 60,000 and 75,000 bushels, depending upon weather conditions.

Yields are expected to run high, but continued rain could deteriorate the crop. A week ago today Harvey Adams brought in the first wheat of the season from his Ackery farm. It graded No. 1 and cut out at 20 bushels per acre.

Several fields of rye, which two months ago promised five or six bushels per acre, are now looking like 20 bushels.

Storage is not due to be a problem, except for rye. E. T. Tucker of Tucker & McKinley Grain company said that good progress was being made in shipping 6,250,000 pounds of milt from storage in buildings at the airport area.

By use of partitions, ample provision will be made for wheat and oats initially. By the time the barley yield rolls to market, Tucker felt that storage for it also would be adequate.

Practically all the grain will go into the loan. Support price for wheat in Howard county will be

WINDS HIT TWO AREAS IN TEXAS

Tornadic winds struck near Santa Anna and an inland hurricane lashed an island in Possum Kingdom Lake Saturday.

Santa Anna, southern Coleman County town, itself was missed by the small tornado which wrecked buildings and three nearby farms and uprooted large mesquite trees.

Several buildings were damaged, along with other resort facilities, on Costello Island in the big lake spreading out between Mineral Wells and Breckenridge.

Winds of about 75-miles-an-hour unroofed a restaurant, damaged docks, and blew several boats ashore.

Midland and Odessa washed by heavy rains, were drying out. Thunderstorms brought showers to Waco, San Antonio, Wichita Falls Beaumont had a hard rain. Earlier there was rain at Big Spring, Abilene, Palacios, and Bryan.

Cloudy weather prevailed in the Panhandle and South Plains, from the Abilene section eastward, and along the Texas coast.

Late in the day it was clear at Midland. Before daylight rains had brought the total there since Friday afternoon to 2.38 inches. Termites west of Midland the Air Terminal measured 2.54.

Water still stood in the streets in low sections of the city and gutters ran full as the water drained toward the Midland draw, east of the city. Street damage was extensive.

Several cotton fields south of Midland went under water as deep as six feet, and there were fears of extensive crop losses.

Range lands benefitted. Lakes and watering places were full for the first time in several years.

The early Saturday rain was general over the Midland ranch country, averaging from a half to an inch and a half.

At Big Spring early Saturday showers brought .52 inches of moisture. Cotton farmers in that area looked at a heavy growth of weeds and acute grasshopper threat.

CRMWA Election Judges To Be Named By Commissioners

Big Spring city commissioners expect to name judges for the Colorado River Water District election at their regular meeting Tuesday.

The referendum which has been called to confirm legislative action involving Big Spring and Odessa is set for July 12.

Several other business matters will be discussed by commissioners at their Tuesday session. They may take up the matter of appointing a new city attorney to succeed Charles N. Sullivan, recently appointed judge of the new 118th judicial district. Sullivan probably will be retained in his present capacity by the city, however, until effective date of the legislation creating the new district.

Reviewing The Big Spring -Week-

Like many other Big Springers, Chester Cluck last week gathered up a sampling of king-sized hailstones. Storing them in the refrigerator, he told his tale next day. But he spoke prematurely. Progressively, everyone else topped the size of the stones. Finally Cluck snatched his hailstones from the refrigerator and silently disposed of them.

Big Spring and Odessa are now aiming at the next step in a three year study of a long range water supply. It will be potential confirmation of the Colorado River Municipal Water district. Up to now an unofficial association has carried the ball. On July 12, voters will be asked in the two cities to permit an official agency to carry on.

The decennial business census is underway in Howard county now. It is important to the community that this be as complete and accurate as possible. U. S. census figures are accepted where other data is discounted.

For a time last week it appeared that a new district court would be functioning momentarily. But when the smoke had died away, it was discovered that the 118th district

GRASSHOPPERS ON RUN

County Farmers See Chance For Cotton

Howard county cotton farmers looked toward a ray of hope for their crops Saturday, as successful grasshopper control was noted. Several farmers reported that poisoned bait distributed earlier had been effective. In most cases the grasshoppers have been confined to edges of fields. Few reported penetration beyond some 20 feet from the fence rows.

"If the poison holds out this problem may be licked in a few more days," County Agent Durward Lewter observed hopefully.

Destruction of the present crop of grasshoppers probably would ease the threat, the farm agent said. This generation of grasshoppers should be the climax of the attack, he explained. By the time another generation appears the cotton plants may be tough enough to discourage the pests.

Lewter has been confronted with problems in locating grasshopper poison. He managed to obtain enough for Friday's scheduled distribution, however, and some more will be available by Monday, he promised.

The county agent will be in College Station next week for the 4th club roundup and the annual farm agents' conference. A supply of poisoned bait will be on hand at the farm labor camp, however, where the caretaker will issue it to farmers. Crews worked Saturday preparing an advance supply for Monday.

Any damage to cotton crops resulting from Friday night rains apparently was slight. About half an inch was the general maximum reported, the county agent said.

Some farmers whose crops were damaged last week probably will plant over again early next week, provided they have an opportunity. For some it will be the fourth planting.

Most of those planning to replant again have been able to obtain cotton seed. Virtually all seed available now are "gin-run" seed. Supplies of selected, or certified, seed have been exhausted.

CITY WATER CONSUMPTION IS BELOW NORMAL DESPITE INCREASED SUPPLY

The City of Big Spring is facing a water market that is literally flooded.

City Manager H. W. Whitney observed Saturday that water consumption was lagging far below normal, while supplies probably have never been in better condition. Pumping figures Friday showed 1,675,000 gallons, less than half of a normal day's consumption at this stage of the season.

While the consumer demand skidded, the two surface reservoirs were holding well over a billion gallons. The level of Moss Creek lake was about 33 1/2 feet, which represents something like 670,000,000 gallons. At the same time Powell lake was brimming full with about half a billion gallons.

For the past week, practically all water consumption in the city has been confined to requirements for indoor use.

PRACTICE HIT BY GREEN Find City Car Owners Leave Keys In Slots

Big Spring automobile operators are a trusting lot—if the number of keys left in ignition slots is any indication. About a third of the drivers leave their keys in the car when parking, a downtown check showed Friday.

The survey, made on seven blocks in the business district, found ignition keys left in 24 vehicles while they had been removed from 47. Cars in which keys were left ranged from 1936 to '48 models of all popular makes.

A look at license plates revealed that practically all the machines in which the keys were left were owned locally. Most out-of-town drivers locked their cars in addition to removing the keys.

Nine of 19 cars parked in front of the post office contained keys. Most cautious drivers parked in the vicinity of city hall where the keys had been taken from six of seven cars checked.

"It's a wonder more cars are not stolen than are," Pete Green, chief of police, declared. "Practically all automobiles stolen are those in which the keys are not removed."

Big Spring has an average of one auto theft per month, the chief stated.

"Movie goers or others planning to leave their cars parked for a comparatively long period of time should be particularly sure of removing ignition keys," Green warned. "A person stealing an automobile that won't be missed for two or three hours may be more than 100 miles away before an alarm is turned in."

Joint Statement Asks CRMWA Validation

Confirmation of the Colorado River Municipal Water district was urged Saturday in a joint statement by heads of CRMW association.

They are R. T. Piner, Big Spring, chairman, and Charles Perry, Odessa, vice-chairman. The association was created three years ago to begin studies on feasibility of a long range water supply from a lake on the upper Colorado river.

Confirmation, said the statement, is necessary to complete engineering and financial studies, they said. It also would provide a legally recognized district capable of obtaining in its own name a water permit.

The joint statement follows: The Texas Legislature recently enacted legislation which permits the formation of a water supply district by the Cities of Odessa and Big Spring by a vote of the people in each City. The Colorado River Municipal Water Association held a joint meeting with the City Commissions of Big Spring and Odessa on June 9th to discuss such an election.

"The meeting voted to request the Board of Water Engineers of the State of Texas to call an election of the Colorado River Municipal Water in Big Spring and Odessa on July 12, 1949 for the purpose of determining whether or not the people of these two cities want to create a water supply district to be known as the "Colorado River Municipal Water District."

"The formation of the District is necessary at this time in order to complete the engineering and financial studies that are necessary before all of the facts concerning the quantity, quality and costs of a water supply from the Colorado River can be determined and presented to the people in final form. The creation of the Colorado River Municipal Water District does not grant to the District the right to incur any tax liability or to contract to spend any money without the approval of a majority of the people in both Big Spring and Odessa.

"Subsequent elections for any such purposes are not contemplated to be held until all of the facts have been assembled in final form and presented to the people.

"Any contract for a water supply between the Cities of Big Spring or Odessa and the District will require a confirming vote from a majority of the people in the respective city in order to become effective. The creation of the District, of itself, will merely bring into being a legally recognized district which will be capable of obtaining in its own name a water permit for a water supply from the Colorado River and will be capable of carrying through to conclusion the studies on the practicability of supplying Big Spring and Odessa with water from the Colorado River.

"The problem of obtaining an adequate, dependable, high-quality water supply is the most important problem facing the people of West Texas today. Certainly our cities cannot continue to grow and develop or even hold their present development through the years beyond the limits of an adequate, dependable water supply. Competent engineers agree that the waters of the Colorado River offer the only feasible solution to the water problem as far as the people of Big Spring and Odessa are concerned.

"The people of Big Spring and Odessa should indicate by a large vote that they are interested in their water problem and that they want to see the studies of the practicability of utilizing the water from the Colorado River as a source of municipal water supply carried to conclusion. That is what a vote to create the Colorado River Municipal Water District will mean."

Bald Cotton, Stiffer Oat Straws Produced

WASHINGTON, June 11, (AP)—Plant breeders are designing new farm crop plants almost like automobile designers create new style cars.

They're doing this to build up resistance to disease and hardness against bad weather—but also so that the plants will fit new and super-efficient harvesting machinery.

The scientists have produced a cotton with "bald" leaves that won't tangle in a picking machine. A round sugar beet that can be scooped up with a shallow digging machine. Oats with shorter and stiffer straws that will stand up to a reaper.

Adapting still more crops to machine harvesting is one of 1949's major projects in plant breeding work. Much of this work is being carried on at the government's huge experimental farm at Beltsville, Md. near here.

The plant builders work with some materials they can't even see or identify, like genes.

Genes are units of inheritance in the life cells. They pass along certain characteristics, like tallness or resistance to disease, from parent to offspring.

Scientists don't know exactly where they genes occur in the cell. Nevertheless they can catalog them.

Breeding experiments determine rather accurately which genes certain plants carry. In over-simplified terms, when plant breeders attempt to obtain certain characteristics, they study the catalogs and the plants and then breed new plants with these characteristics.

U. S. plant scientists virtually have built a sugar beet that is taller-made for this country. It has been made resistant to half a dozen diseases that would have prevented the establishment of the U. S. sugar beet industry. This was done by selecting a plant that was resistant to one disease and crossing it with another that resisted another blight.

But the industry had to be mechanized to survive. Hand labor made it too costly to produce sugar to compete with cane sugar produced in cheap-labor tropical areas.

The sugar beet usually is a plant with a long root like a parsnip. Furthermore the plants grow in clumps.

Long roots makes the plant difficult to harvest with machines. If the long root is broken off a great deal of sugar is lost. Clumps mean that the plants have to be thinned. Much of this is hand work.

The plant breeders have succeeded in crossing a red garden beet, which is almost round, with the sugar beet. The result is an almost round-shaped sugar beet, streamlined for mechanical harvesting.

These scientists are trying for a one-germ seed that won't grow in clumps. This also is a gene-juggling job. If they succeed, many thousands of dollars will be saved because rows could be thinned with machines.

Spectacular things have been done with corn.

Farmers like to boast they live "where the tall corn grows," but tallness in corn can be costly. Scientists grew some varieties so tall that seed growers had to get up on stilts to reach the tassels.

You can't work with tassels that high, so the scientists obligingly brought the corn down to a proper and uniform height—not too tall and not too low.

Uniform height corn also fits the corn picker and its kernels are as good and nourishing as those of other corn.

Corn genes have been more thoroughly cataloged than those of perhaps any other plant. Corn now can be tailor-made to do anything plant geneticists want it to do.

Farmers also needed a new-style soybean plant. Some plants had their pods so low the picking machines missed them.

Scientists juggled the genes of several varieties and produced soybeans that bear pods at just the right height.

Farmers complained that oats had such long and supple straws that bent over and weren't easily picked up by a harvester. Plant breeders designed a new oat, the Clinton, with stiffer and shorter straw. Some scientists say this made the combine harvesting of oats entirely successful.

Dozens of other examples of genes juggling exist. Some of these experiments now are aimed at making plants grow faster on the same amount of fertilizer and produce more food and less waste material.

But one of the best examples of gene juggling is the bald cotton plant. This work started with big experts—not plant breeders. They wanted to eliminate the hair from cotton leaves because it harbored destructive insects.

But the hair also catches on cotton pickers and draws leaves and other trash into the machines.

Several years ago scientists in Mississippi came up with bald cotton plants. They didn't produce so much cotton as haired plants, but when they were crossed with high producing varieties a high-production bald cotton plant was created. It's now being tested.

Beltsville cotton breeders say it may add $10 to $15 to the value of every bale of bald cotton grown.

USDA Move To Slash 1950 Grain Production 25 Per Cent Is Seen

WASHINGTON, June 11, (AP)—A government attempt to cut 1950 grain production 25 per cent below this year's near-record crop appeared almost certain today.

The Agriculture Department Friday estimated the 1949 crop at 1,336,976,000 bushels which added to reserves from last year, would provide the nation a wheat supply far over expected market demands.

While Secretary of Agriculture Brannan plans to make no decision on controls before next week, it seems sure that he will put acreage planting allotments into effect. It is less certain that he will proclaim the more restrictive marketing quotas.

Allotments tell a farmer how much he can plant and still remain eligible for price support aid. Quotas tell him how much he can sell without losing both price support aid and making himself subject to a penalty tax on excess sales equal to half the price support rate. The penalty tax could be as high as 90 cents a bushel next year.

Quotas, but not allotments, would have to be approved by at least two-thirds of the growers voting in a nationwide referendum.

Brannan has said one billion bushels of wheat in 1950 probably would be ample to meet market needs. Normally, not more than 65 million acres would be needed to produce such a crop. Plantings for this year's crop reached a record of nearly 82 million acres.

The department also raised the possibility of quotas on other crops next year. It said crop prospects are the "most optimistic" in 12 years. Troublesome surpluses were said to be possible in cotton, major types of tobacco, peanuts and corn.

Another Spurt In Construction Here Reported

City building figures again were spotlighted in gains by major business indicators last week as a substantial increase in residential construction continued. Twenty-three building permits were issued during the week, six of them for new residences to cost an estimated total of $73,300. Other permits boost the week's total to $831,630. Figures for the year, at $831,670, still were well ahead of local construction for the same period in 1948.

Real estate activity also was prominent on the local business front last week, based on warranty deeds recorded at the county clerk's office. Seventeen instruments involving transactions totaling $83,531 were recorded. The current total for the year is $798,404.

This brings to eight the number of polio cases that have been treated here during the year. Four originated in Howard county while four have been brought here for treatment.

Other diseases and number of cases reported by the health unit are: dysentery, 19; undulant fever, one; gonorrhea, one; and pneumonia, five.

New Cases Of Polio Reported Saturday By Local Hospitals

Three additional cases of polio, two from out-of-county, have been diagnosed in local hospitals, the Big Spring-Howard county health unit reported Saturday.

New victims of the disease are year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Matthews of Big Spring; Carolyn Springer, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Springer of Lenora, Martin county; and Tanga Lee Grey, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Grey of Penwell, Ector county.

Bobby Leonard, 16-year-old Big Spring youth, was reported ill with the disease Friday.

This brings to eight the number of polio cases that have been treated here during the year. Four originated in Howard county while four have been brought here for treatment.

Other diseases and number of cases reported by the health unit are: dysentery, 19; undulant fever, one; gonorrhea, one; and pneumonia, five.

North Gregg-Lamesa Highway Surfacing To Be Started Soon

Surfacing of the North Gregg-Lamesa highway paving project will be started within four or five days, barring further rains, S. A. McComb, district maintenance foreman of the state highway department, said Saturday.

McComb would make no prediction as to when the job would be completed. "It depends entirely on the weather," he stated.

The street widening and paving project, started about six weeks ago, has already been delayed 15 days by heavy rains, the highway official added.

U. S. OFFICIALS OPTIMISTIC

See Slump As End Of Inflation, Not Beginning Of Recession

By The World Staff Of The Associated Press
Here's a roundup of opinions among New York business circles and Washington officials on the future meaning of recent reports of climbing unemployment and falling business—

Most optimistic are government officials, inclined to view the slump as the end of inflation rather than as the start of recession. Some private economists, especially in universities, take the same long-range view and stress the factors that support the general economy.

A few industrialists also belittle the slump. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's Economic Advisory Council, hinted council members are not seriously disturbed—yet—when he told reporters last week "we couldn't expect to keep employment where it was last year."

1350,000 got jobs, thus adding 550,000 to the unemployed. However, Clague says, the great bulk of these were young people and students. Unemployment among the over-25 "breadwinner" group was up only four per cent among males, 19 per cent among females.

In general, the closer you come to the public the gloomier are the predictions. Manufacturers are likely to say production will go down the rest of this year, pick up in early 1950. Businessmen, the most pessimistic, say the buying public is balky and the manufacturers unrealistic in maintaining prices.

Some businessmen say things are going to get worse, much worse. They look for unemployment to spread. They don't think 1950 will be a good year at all. Some New York Stock Exchange brokers say the start of depression is here—but Wall Street has been discounting a recession for three years and the brokerage business has been in a slump right along.

priming program. GOP Congress members agree privately that if there is a serious downturn in the fall the government will have to put together a relief program even if it is financed by treasury deficits.

But they will do their best to put its administration in the hands of the states. Government farm officials say declining trends in employment and industrial production are likely to result in an even lower demand for the more expensive foods (such as meat and dairy products).

Some government economists feel such a bill is a good thing to chew over now but not to act on. Maybe it will be needed later, they say—but meanwhile business still could stabilize on a level not too far below the 1948 pinnacle. Politicians are wary of guessing the political effect of a genuine economic slide.

GUZZARDI LOSES PLEA

Rule Man's Stomach Subject To Seizure

DALLAS, June 11. (AP)—August Guzzardi, who claimed evidence in his conviction for possessing narcotics was unlawfully obtained through use of a stomach pump, lost his plea for a writ of habeas corpus Saturday.

Federal Judge William H. Atwell denied the writ and ordered the man returned to the United States public hospital at Fort Worth. He ruled that since Guzzardi entered a plea of guilty in the case, the evidence was not used against him.

The case had been heralded as one to decide the question of whether a man's stomach is subject to search and seizure. Guzzardi pleaded that he was illegally convicted by a New Orleans federal court, alleging that he was "manhandled" by a New Orleans detective without notice of arrest.

He declared he was carried to the New Orleans charity hospital where doctors forcibly pumped out his stomach. Guzzardi said he fainted during the treatment and upon regaining consciousness, the police notified him that they had removed several grains of heroin, an opium derivative, from his stomach. He said he was turned over to federal narcotics agents "with out a legal arrest warrant" and was taken before a federal judge on March 30, 1939, where he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in prison.

Report Calls For Cure Of 'Wetback' Problem

By DAVE CHEAVENS
AP Staff

AUSTIN, June 11. (AP)—Quack medicine to cure the wetback problem, called a "major source of social and economic infection," was urged Saturday in a report by the Study of Spanish-Speaking People.

The report said a new invasion of illegal alien laborers called wetbacks who come into the United States from Mexico "is rising to peak numbers." It asked for immediate action by state and national officials.

The Study of Spanish-Speaking People is a research project sponsored jointly by the University of Texas and the General Education Board of New York. The preliminary report issued Saturday was signed by Dr. George I. Sanchez, director, and Lyle Saunders, research associate.

The report charged "uncontrolled importation of contraband labor." The wetback is described as a laborer who had to work for what ever pay is offered under conditions chosen by the employer; as one whose "home is a shack or brush shelter, or a blanket thrown beside a ditch."

This, it said, is only one aspect of the situation.

"No citizen who wants to live in even a minimum of comfort and decency can compete with the wetback wage scale," the researchers said.

"With an oversupply of cheap, unprotected labor always present, organization of workers is impossible, individual bargaining is futile. There are two choices: Work for what the wetback works for and live as he lives, or leave the area."

The report said, "The ill-gotten profits from the exploitation of this illegal labor seems poor compensation for the myriad real evils and potential dangers attendant on the use and encouragement of wetbacks."

The Sanchez-Saunders report was made to the large advisory committee of the Study of Spanish-Speaking People, "to call attention to the seriousness of the wetback problem."

It included as exhibits two documents: A study of wetbacks in the El Paso area by Art Liebson, an El Paso Times reporter, and a general statement on the wetback situation by Sanchez, Gus Garcia and R. A. Cortez.

Cortez is national president of the League of United Latin-American Citizens and Garcia is an attorney. Both live in San Antonio. Sanchez, Garcia and Cortez asked the President for immediate application of all existing remedies, emergency legislation to penalize the use of illegal alien labor, and the immediate appointment of a commission by the President to study all aspects of "the situation confronting the Spanish-speaking people in the Southwest."

"HOMELESS WANDERERS"

The report of Sanchez and Saunders estimated there were from 100,000 to 500,000 wetbacks in Texas. It called them "homeless wanderers—men, women and children without legal status, without skills, without knowledge of our ways and customs, without protection, and without opportunity for improving their condition."

The report charged that a large part of the economy of Central, West and South Texas "is being founded upon most dangerous ground: The shifting quicksand that is the wetback—contraband labor."

"The cotton and citrus industries, vegetable farming, and similar enterprises, there, by the shortsighted dependence on wetback labor, are sowing the wind and as a result, the state and nation will reap a whirlwind of social misery and unrest, of expensive remedial action, of international embarrassment," the report continued.

"These enterprises, by their very dependence on wetbacks and on modified peonage, are exposing themselves to economic disaster."

The report also said:

"In every piece of fruit, every vegetable, every product of any kind that is produced in areas of wetback concentrations there is a hidden cost that never appears in the retail dealers' price tags."

"It is a cost that is shared by everybody; worker, consumer and producer—a cost that appears in the form of higher taxes for welfare and other community services; in illness and deaths from dysentery, tuberculosis and more recently polio; in adult populations of citizens who can not speak the language of the country in which they were born; in the labor of children and the consequent denial to them of opportunities of education and mental and physical development; in the slums of San Antonio and Corpus Christi and El Paso; and in the maintenance in much of Texas or a permanent minority group, the majority of whom are citizens, who are denied many of the opportunities, rights and privileges that their fellow citizens enjoy. One begins to wonder if grapefruit and cotton are worth it."

"No citizen of the state, or of the other states into which many of the wetbacks eventually drift, can escape the consequences that grow out of the importation of this contraband labor—consequences which appear in the form of poverty, disease, slums, ignorance, dependency, low wages and social and personal disorganization not only for wetbacks themselves but for the Spanish-speaking citizens in whose communities they and the thousands of displaced persons live."

The report said that with about 200,000 Mexican aliens being caught and returned to Mexico each year, "it is evident that several times this number must cross the border during the course of any given year."

ABClub Governor May Be Candidate For National Post

Doug Orme, district governor, was named as a possible candidate for the position of national first vice president, when the American Business Club met Friday noon in the Crawford Hotel.

Orme was the principal speaker when the club met to discuss plans for the convention. He stated that approximately 240 persons had registered or made hotel reservations for the national convention to be held in Big Spring July 28-29. He said that some 28 couples are expected to attend from Lubbock and that the total registration will probably total 300.

In discussing program plans, Orme stated that the Sunday afternoon session would consist of an informal reception with XYZ Club members as hostesses. Monday there will be a stag luncheon, a theatre party for the wives of delegates and a buffet supper. Tuesday, there will be a joint luncheon with Martin Dies as speaker. In the afternoon there will be a tea for the women and a chuck wagon supper will be held in the evening preceding attendance at a rodeo performance. Wednesday, national officers will be installed and the president's banquet and dance will be held.

In discussing entertainment for the convention, Carl Gross announced that such personalities as Stuttering Sam of Amarillo, the Lorraine Square Dance Club, Dallas Whaley of Lubbock, Jack Free and the Texas and Pacific Company trio will be present for convention programs.

W. A. Whittington read the nominations for new officers for the next six months term. J. W. Purser was appointed chairman of the rodeo concession stands. Pete Green presided during the session.

LIFE OF DR. ROSS AT STAKE

LaGrange Jury To Decide If San Antonio Surgeon Insane

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
AP Staff

LAGRANGE, June 11. (AP)—A jury here Tuesday will be asked to decide whether Dr. Lloyd I. Ross, San Antonio surgeon, is insane.

It's a matter of life or death to the doctor.

For Ross, murderer of four persons, is doomed to die in the electric chair. But Texas does not execute the insane. If the jury finds that his crimes, his confinement and his lost court battles have cost him his mind, he will be locked in an asylum.

A weary, broken man of 43, Ross shuffled around the bull pen of the Fayette County jail Saturday, awaiting what could be his last chance. The Harvard honor graduate, once dapper and assured, now is unkempt, puffy faced and sullen.

"He's high tempered but not crazy," Sheriff Jim Flournoy said. "If that jury finds him insane he'll have to play crazy the rest of his life to stay out of that chair."

Sheriff T. W. Lane of Wharton County, where Ross was confined many months, recently expressed another opinion:

"He's just a man in a daze. He's dying every day—dying by inches. I think he'll burn and I think he thinks so, too, if he thinks at all."

On a bright Sunday, May 25, 1947, Ross killed Willard York, San Antonio investment banker, and three members of his family. The Yorks, who resided in Comal County, were on their way to church. Ross, waiting with a rifle on a lonely country road, halted their car, poked the snout of the rifle through an open window and began firing. York, his wife, his son, 9, and Mrs. Mary

DR. LLOYD ROSS

York, York's 67-year old mother, were blasted to death. But the Yorks' 13-year-old daughter eluded the killer. Shot in the hip, she made her terrified way through brush to a farm house and gave the alarm.

And it was her testimony, later, that nailed the surgeon to his atrocities. During the trial here in 1948, the defense sought to show that Dr. Ross "cracked up" after he lost his savings, about $150,000, which he had entrusted to his friend, York, for investment.

But on Oct. 23, 1948, the jury convicted him of murdering Mrs. York and sentenced him to die. The trial was transferred to Fayette County after it had been found impossible to select a jury in the county where the slaying occurred.

District Judge J. R. Fuchs, who presided at the murder case, also will be on the bench at the insanity trial Tuesday. Judge Fuchs granted the new trial at a hearing last May 26. Defense attorneys produced affidavits from four San Antonio physicians, Drs. Royal M. Calder, Lewis M. Heller, O. J. Posthast, and Elmer Cooper. They swore they had examined the Ohio born surgeon and had found him insane.

Dr. Ross, brought to LaGrange from Wharton, dragged into the courtroom, carrying a tattered Bible, and stared at the floor.

"I was glad to get shed of him," Sheriff Lane said at Wharton. "I don't want any more like that."

The insanity trial will be held in the old stone courthouse that rises from the tree-shaded square of this pleasant, south-central Texas town. District Attorney J. Lee Ditter, who prosecuted Ross at the murder trial, will be handling the case for the state.

But the burden of proof this time will be with the defense lawyers—it will be their chore to prove Ross insane.

Twice the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has turned down the physician's appeal from the death sentence conviction. The last time was last May 11 after the doctor's

City Centennial Association Could Use Office Desk

The Big Spring Centennial Association is prepared to offer a "nice home" for an office desk, if anyone happens to have a spare piece of such equipment.

H. J. Morrison, secretary of the association, said the centennial headquarters had been established but no desk is available for typing and stenographic work.

"We really need a good type writer desk, and if someone will loan one to the association we'll take good care of it," Morrison declared.

The centennial headquarters is located in the rear of the chamber of commerce offices in the Settles hotel.

Cotton Group Picks El Paso As '50 Site

AUSTIN, June 11. (AP)—El Paso, center of the long-staple cotton area, has been chosen as the 1950 convention site for the Cotton Spinners-Breeders Conference.

Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas cotton marketing professor, said El Paso was the choice of Spinner-Breeder Conference in Charlotte, N. C., and was the result of increased interest in West Texas.

attorney had pleaded he was the sane when the crime was committed.

Judge Harry N. Graves, in delivering the appeal court's opinion, said:

"There is no question but that the facts as a whole presented a very strong defense of insanity."

But he added:

"Mere mental deficiency or derangement, though it may constitute a form of insanity, does not excuse one for crime."

Driver Bill Will Get Public Hearing

AUSTIN, June 11. (AP)—A public hearing on the controversial driver financial responsibility bill will be held at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. Chairman Blake Timmons of the House Committee on Commerce and Manufacture announced Saturday.

The Senate-passed measure has received previous public hearing by the State Affairs committee. It was recommended to the House for passage, but opposition forces succeeded in sending it back to the committee on highways and roads, which was considered unfriendly toward the bill.

Sponsors of the bill later secured its transfer to the Committee on Commerce and Manufacture.

The bill would require drivers to show financial responsibility up to $11,000 if involved in an accident causing at least $200 damage, injury or death.

The finalists in the 1904 U.S. amateur golf championship were Dave Egan, who was 20, and Fred Herreshoff, only 16, the loser.

Aviation Affected By Thunderstorms

Weather, so much out of pattern that clear days have become the exception, has dampened aviation news. Despite this, traffic has held up at a normal figure. Held off by thunderstorms one day, the Air Force and Navy made up for it the next. Elements have affected civilian traffic most.

Date for the West Texas district CAA maintenance conference has been set for June 24. The change was announced last week by Sam Monesche, CAA air craft inspector. He will be in charge. More than 100 operators, mechanics and aircraft operators are expected to be here for the regional party.

Lagretta Foy, one of the women in the Jacqueline Cochran transcontinental chase who made an over night stop here, won the event. Miss Foy was flying a Piper Clipper. De Thurmond, who finished third in her Navion, was among those who stopped here on the return trip to California following the women's air races in Miami, Fla. Four used Big Spring as a base during the race and several others paused here enroute home.

Work is progressing on the Mury terminal building, but rains have halted operators several times. Forms are ready for foundation pouring. Rain also has given more trouble with the contact lighting system. Another effect is that the field turf. Already it has been mowed twice and another mowing may be started this week.

Strawn Formation Shows Oil, Water

A Pennsylvania formation thought to be Strawn made water along with a little free oil at J. K. Wadley, R. J. Adams and Louis Burns No. 2 J. Wiley Green, southeast outpost to the Susan Peak field in southeast Tom Green county, where production is from the Strawn.

The show was on a one and one-half hour drillstem test at 4,785-4,805 feet. Gas reached the surface in 13 minutes. Gas volume was neither gauged nor estimated. Recovery was 225 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud, a negligible amount of clean oil and 225 feet of salt water. On last report, a Schlumberger survey was to be run. Immediate procedure of the operator has not been revealed. Location is 990 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of sections 19S, district 11 SPRR survey.

Farm Labor Camp To Be Operated Again This Year

Howard County Farm Bureau Directors have voted to operate the farm labor camp again under the same provisions as last year, Dale Fickett, president of the organization, reported Saturday. The Farm Bureau is sponsoring distribution of grasshopper poison in the county this year, and the organization hopes to keep a supply available as long as needed, despite recent shortages, Fickett said. The U. S. Department of Agriculture furnishes the poison, while labor for mixing is furnished by the Farm Bureau. The mixing is supervised by County Agent Durward Lester.

City C. Of C. Group Seeks Expansion Of Demonstration Work

A general expansion of interest in both adult and 4-H club demonstration work was recommended Friday afternoon by the chamber of commerce agriculture committee. Upon suggestion of J. H. Greene, chamber manager, the committee voted to investigate the possibility of encouraging dry-lot feeding of beef cattle under commercial conditions by 4-H club members. Members of the committee expressed belief that such a program would enrich benefits of the 4-H club program. The proposal would be similar to Plainview, where club members adopt dry-lot feeding projects, then follow the animals to market centers, slaughter houses and packing centers.

Underwriters Meet In Midland Saturday

Highlights of the state convention were reviewed at the meeting of the Big Spring Life Underwriters in Midland Saturday. R. J. (Doc) Graham, Midland, president-elect of the association, topped the state underwriters session at Fort Worth June 2-4. Attending the meeting, held at the Scharbauer hotel, from here were Herman McNabb, Dalton Mitchell, Troy Harrell and Julia Boyce.

Vets Inspect U. S. Experiment Farm

Members of the veterans vocational agriculture classes of Martin and Midland counties inspected the U. S. Experiment Farm here Saturday. They were escorted over the farm and its installations by Russell Sadler, outstanding in Martin county 4-H work in by-gone years, was in charge of the 25 men. He is the class instructor.

Court's Status Is Confirmed

Suspended status of the new 118th district court was confirmed Saturday. The bill creating the district for Howard, Martin, and Glasscock counties out of the 70th district has not become effective until 90 days after the legislature adjourns. This is because the vote in the Senate was 16-5 favoring. The constitution provides that a two-thirds majority of the elected members is required for emergency passage. The vote was well short of that requirement. The House had approved 123-0. So the three counties continue in the 70th court with Midland and Ector counties. If the legislation quits this month, when the 118th may hold its first term in Garden City on Sept. 5. Later adjournment of the solons would throw the first term to begin here in October.

Southwest Nolan Wildcat Shutdown

Sun Oil Company No. 1 Mary Cook, Southwest Nolan county wildcat to explore the Ellenburger, was bottomed at 6,428 feet in sand and shale and was shutdown to make engine repairs. The venture cored at 6,418-26 feet. Recovery was eight feet of shale sand and coal. The specimen showed some gas. The section at 6,428-28 feet was drilled before the Mechanical trouble developed. The prospector will resume hole-making when the repair job is completed. It is 12 miles southwest of Sweetwater, and 1,980 feet from north and 860 feet from east lines of section 29, block X, TP survey.

Opportunity Bond Sales In County Reach $96,208.75

Howard county percentage in the Opportunity Bond campaign rose sharply Saturday. Total sales through Saturday, according to reports received by Ira L. Thurman, county bond chairman, stood at $96,208.75. This was 55 per cent of the $176,000 quota set for Howard county before July 1. Gain for the week was $34,537.50, or 25 per cent of quota. More than two score Texas counties have attained their quota and well over half are past the 50 per cent mark.

$28,600 Is Raised Toward Permanent Home For City 'Y'

Contributions to the YMCA permanent home have reached the $28,600 level. There was some gain during the past week. Thursday the Kiwanis club voted $100 toward the project. Campaign leaders were planning to recoup the effort soon. Last week at a meeting called by W. L. Reed, president, the thought was expressed that there is still a considerable amount available if contacts are made. In addition, many are said to be awaiting calls. Reed urged that prospective donors wishing to make an investment in wholesome youth activities call the YMCA. A worker will be dispatched to take the pledge or gift. Goal of the campaign is $40,000 for purchase of the First Christian church property at Fifth and Scurry. This includes the church plant and a 140x140 tract. Little renovation would be required to make it useable for YMCA purposes. Meanwhile, with a commercial remodeling project coming up to curb activities in its present location, the YMCA need for a home is growing more desperate, said Reed.

Thrifty 51st Is Lauded By Jester

CORSICANA, June 11. (AP)—Gov. Beauford Jester said Saturday it was good to know state expenditures were being measured. He commented on Speaker Durwood Manford's letter to legislators on the state's financial condition. The governor said: "It is good to know that the Legislature adds up the appropriations granted and those under consideration; that expenditures are measured against the surplus now on hand and that at the beginning of this session, and the present revenues and the revenues of the coming biennial."

New Mexico-Texas Licensing Amended

The agreement applies to commercial vehicles engaged in interstate operations.

Retired Marine Dies In Hospital Here Saturday

Fred Corryell, 58, whose 26 years service with the U. S. Marine Corps included presidential guard duty and action on foreign soil, died in a hospital here Saturday. Services will be held at 4 p. m. today at Nalley chapel with the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the city cemetery. Corryell, who had lived at 1419 P street in Sacramento, Calif. since his retirement from the Marine corps in 1940, was visiting here at the time of his death. He had planned to return home Friday when he became suddenly and critically ill. Born at Jefferson Island, Mont. on June 29, 1890, he enlisted in the Marines on July 8, 1911. He had a two-year lapse in his service record from 1915-17, but re-enlisted in the latter year. Corryell rose in 1925 to rating of gunnery sergeant, which he held until he left the service June 18, 1940. Twice he was in charge of a Marine unit assigned to Calvin Coolidge during presidential vacations. After he had received wounds in the neck and back during the expedition against Nicaraguan bandits, he was decorated by J. M. Moncada, Nicaraguan president in 1927. He participated in two major engagements in that country. Foreign service included tenures in Cuba, Nicaragua, Guam and the Philippines. He was assigned to the dismantling of the Guam garrison in the 30's. As was his custom each summer, he came here to visit his sisters, Mrs. R. C. Trueblood and Mrs. E. C. Brown. Other survivors include a brother, T. M. Corryell. Following services at the chapel the American Legion will be in charge of military rites at the graveside. The Rev. James Parks, chaplain, will officiate. Pallbearers from the Legion will include L. D. Grice, Jim Henry, James Sims, Fred Watt, J. B. McKinney, Horace Bean, Pete Jones, Don Alexander and Henry Bugge.

'Old Glory' Celebrates 172nd Birthday Tuesday

Tuesday is Flag Day, the 172nd birthday of "Old Glory." The occasion arises from the creation of the first American flag on June 14, 1777. At that time the Fourth Continental Congress resolved "that the flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be 13 stars, white on a blue field, representing a constellation." No formal observance of the day is contemplated in Big Spring other than the display of the flag. Design of the national banner varied from that time until the adoption of the present flag in 1912. Stripe arrangement of the first flag was sometimes six white and seven red, sometimes seven white and six red. The number of stars and stripes was changed to 15 in 1792 after Kentucky and Vermont had entered the Union. Later on, other states joined and it was decided to go back to the original 13 stripes but to add a star for each additional state. Arizona, the last state to enter the Union, became represented by the 48th star in 1912. Legend has it that the first American flag was made by Betsy Ross from a design furnished by George Washington. Betsy is allegedly responsible for the stars' having five points rather than six. It is said that Washington's design included a six-pointed star. He approved the star with five points after Betsy showed him how it could be made "with only one slash of the scissors."

No contemporary documentary evidence has ever been found to support the story, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. "On the other hand," the reference states, "none has ever been found to refute it."

Stock Market Pines On Diet Of Bad News, Fears

NEW YORK, June 11. (AP)—The stock market wasted away this week on a diet of unfavorable business news and fear of the future. The week's decline was the fourth in a row. Since mid-May market value of stocks listed on the exchange has been chopped more than $4 billion. Last week the loss totaled around an even billion. At the close of trading Friday the general level of prices was the lowest since May, 1947—and a mere trifle above a five-year low. The market ended the week a little closer to the historic resistance levels of 1946, 1947, and 1948. In the past sufficient buying power has developed to prevent it from going below the resistance points and they have come to be regarded as formidable barriers. A breakthrough would be regarded by many Wall Streeters as a clear sign of a further decline. This theory inspired a high degree of caution. U. S. Steel (new) down 62 cents at $21; Chesapeake & Ohio, down 50 cents at $30.50; Chrysler down $1.37 at $45.50; General Motors down $1 at $53.75; Anaconda Copper down 82 cents at $26.12; American Woolen down 75 cents at $23.25; Santa Fe down $1.37 at $83.62; Bethlehem Steel down 87 cents at $24.62; Carrier Corp down 75 cents at $13; Commonwealth & Southern down 25 cents at $3.62; Consolidated Natural Gas down 75 cents at $39.25; Continental Oil down $1.87 at $51.87; Dow Chemical down $1 at $43.75; Eastern Air Lines down 37 cents at $13.50; Emerson Radio down $1.12 at $13; Wheeling Steel down $3.37 at $31.37.

Canadian Claims Oil Reserve Exceeds All Texas Fields

HOUSTON, June 11. (AP)—A Canadian geologist says one province of his country has more oil resources than Texas—even more than the whole United States if you count sand bars. Dr. Theo A. Link, consulting geologist of Toronto and Calgary, told the National Oil Scouts and Landsmen's Assn. yesterday that Alberta is the province. It has a real boom on, he said. Link said the discovery of the Great Leduc Field in February, 1947, brought Alberta's boom. Link said Canada's proven oil reserves have been increased by more than 750 million barrels of oil since 1947. Last January, he said, his country was producing 13 per cent of the crude oil it needed.

Chinese Reds In Double Trouble

SHANGHAI, June 11. (AP)—The Chinese Communists still tried Saturday to find the answer to breaking the three-day Nationalist blockade of the Yangtze River. The Red Military Control Commission continued to ponder the double trouble: (1) A Nationalist gunboat known to be in the vicinity of the river mouth. It was the presence of this craft that was constructed here as constituting a blockade. (2) A possibility that a Nationalist LSM (landing ship medium) had planted mines in the estuary.

THE WEEK. (Continued from Page One) (Howard, Martin and Glasscock) will not gain life until 90 days after the legislature adjourns. The two city lakes now have more than 1,200,000 gallons of water in them. Moss Creek, pressing the 34 foot mark, is not far below the July 1947 high mark of 34 feet eight inches. Rumors that a second deep test is to be drilled near the Vincent area where a Mississippi test is pumping have touched off a wave of break trading at fancy figures. Five geophysical crews have been "shooting" on three sections in that area. A sizeable delegation of Big Springers journeyed to Austin last week to testify in support of Empire Southern Gas company's request that the railroad commission pinch down on waste of gas in Andrews county, from whence Empire's supply comes. At the last minute a opposition retreat and compromise pledge to do something to halt the waste kept the local men from testifying. Health unit authorities are trying a new—and apparently more effective approach to fly control. The fogging machine is being used less. In its place men are armed with three-gallon sprays that permit closer work that gives saturation where it will do the most good. Baseball partisans were debating pro and con after the Broncs stalled for rain after taking a pasting Friday at Sweetwater. It was no more than four other teams had done (successfully) to the Broncs this season. What players forget in this sort of maneuvering is the fans. Not too many people knew Miss Matilda Maier, social worker at the Big Spring State hospital. Last week this unusual woman died—unusual because the found time not only to do her job well but to be come a part of many community activities. HOSPITAL ROOM WITH PERSONALITY—Tastefully decorated and comfortably furnished, this hospital room is one developed at Johns Hopkins hospital in its study of pain control in childbirth. The theory is that such surroundings help remove tension and strain.

Attractive Surroundings Help Alleviate Pain Of Childbirth

By RENE J. CAPPON
Associated Press Staff Writer
BALTIMORE, June 11. — A lot of people are getting ready for their debut in science's own stork club these days—in the "Pink Room," or the "Cascade Blue Room," with or without soft music and television.

They themselves don't care much. But their mothers and the doctors do. It's all part of the Johns Hopkins Hospital's long-range project to study and evaluate methods of pain control in childbirth.

Specialists in charge say doling up of the labor rooms is not directly linked with studies of childbirth drugs and other treatments. But it does have an important place in the general investigation of emotional and psychological reactions of women in labor.

So the standard-type labor room has emerged from the strictly "functional" type—personality zero—into a pleasant, graceful chamber.

The emphasis is altogether on a new "climate": airconditioned, sound-proof rooms pink, peach, blue, cool pastel tints, with agreeable modern light fixtures, draperies and mirrors.

There are original water colors and oil paintings by a Maryland artist, Ralph Williams, who is also a medical student. He spent hours observing women in labor and contemplated the waits they had to face.

Then he painted his pictures, carefully avoiding any suggestion of human conflict and harmonizing easily with the walls where they were hung. So specialized has his work become that several of his paintings are regarded as particularly suitable for a woman who has chosen the greatly read procedure in labor pain management.

That system holds that by removal of tension and strain, along with the patient's understanding of the natural forces at work in childbirth, pain-controlling drugs during labor are made superfluous.

One of the physicians conducting the Hopkins program explained that women adopting that method may derive encouragement from symbols of strength. A painting chosen for labor room decoration in such cases may show a towering peak in the Swiss Alps, snow-capped and suggestive of coolness and serenity.

Television, where prescribed, soft, recorded music, and a shelf of light reading matter are available to achieve maximum "mother comfort."

Drugs and anesthetics are being studied as part of the program in which the Hopkins, the U. S. Public Health Service, the National Institute of Health, the Sinai Hospital here, and leading manufacturers of pharmaceuticals share.

Dr. Edwin L. Crosby, director of the Hopkins, said its aims are threefold:

1. To evaluate and standardize presently used procedures.
2. To develop and supervise the use of new drugs and agents.
3. To present the total information as it develops to the medical profession.

The overall program is planned over a five-year period. A project similar to that at the Hopkins is to be launched at the Sinai shortly. With these dual facilities, about 5,000 mothers annually will come under study.

Major accepted anesthetic and analgesic procedures are viewed without bias, the specialists reported, and their merits and disadvantages assessed.

Four of the new type labor rooms are now in constant use at the Hopkins. Important in the task of achieving the greatest possible ease for the mother is a teamwork of nurse, anesthetist, and obstetrician. Nurses who have attended at least 1,000 births are on duty, trained to give the mother both physical aid and emotional reassurance.

Patients under care of private physicians fall under the program insofar as the procedures adopted are recorded and evaluated. But the type of treatment chosen is wholly in the hands of the mother and her physician.

Clinic patients are provided with the treatment deemed best for each individual case by the physician in charge. Working together in the program are Dr. Nicholson J. Eastman, professor of obstetrics at the Hopkins Medical School and obstetrician-in-chief at the Hopkins Hospital; Dr. Louis M. Hellman, associate professor of obstetrics; Dr. Robert H. Hingson, associate professor of obstetrics in charge of obstetrical anesthetics, and Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, chief of the obstetrical service at Sinai.

Job Placements, Unemployment Are Balanced In Area

New job placements and unemployment still about balances in the Big Spring area, according to Leon M. Kinney, Texas Employment Commission representative.

Unemployment claims filed in the Big Spring office represent one of the lowest unemployment figures in the state. The local office serves Sterling, Mitchell, and Howard counties.

"There is little demand for farm laborers at the present," Kinney said. "However, 25 construction workers were placed on the Colorado City dam housing project during the week."

A shortage of cotton pickers is expected for the area this fall, according to Kinney. The TEC is being geared to meet the demand for fall labor, he said.

More than 100,000 acres of cotton are predicted for Howard county this year, while Mitchell county farmers are expected to plant some 125,000 acres.

"There will be little demand for cotton choppers this summer since numerous replantings have about eliminated the weed and grass problem," County Agent Durward Lewter predicted.

Florida Druggist Does $15 Million Business

ST. PETERSBURGH Fla. June 11. — Doc Webb is a little man but his big way of doing things has built a small drug store into a $15 million a year business.

Doc (J. E. Webb) started a cut rate drug store here in 1925. He grossed $38,000 the first year in his 20 by 40 feet store.

In 1948 the tobacco and stationery department alone of his huge store did a gross business of more than $1 million in the same space his original store occupied.

Everything about the business developed by this five foot five inch, 130 pound dynamo is on the same grand scale.

Webb's City, Inc., offers everything found at most department stores, plus a super food market and a service station. Just the same, Webb insists it is a drug store—"The World's Largest Drug Store" and "The World's Most Unusual Drug Store" are names he was made familiar.

"The bulk of the business is still in items found in all drug stores," he said. "We have just made separate departments for various types of articles and sell them in greater quantities than other drug stores."

Whatever it is, the people flock there to buy the cut rate specialties, to see the spectacular free entertainment shows, or just to look the place over.

Doc says "smiling, courteous service" is the magnet which pulls in the customers.

"Service is the big world, Friendly service," he emphasized. "We rate service first, quality second and price third."

Others familiar with the operations of the growing enterprise say the key to Webb's success is the triple combination of tremendous volume, spectacular advertising and low prices.

Where most stores buy in case lots, Webb's buys by the carload. In addition to a heavy run of newspaper advertising, Webb has a steady stream of free attractions—style shows, a human cannonball act, band concerts, a drawing for an automobile.

Every day there are scores of items selling far below the average competitor's price. Just in case the customer missed them in the ads or on the signs all over the store, a public address system announced the bargains at short intervals. If a customer reports finding any item cheaper at another store, Webb's takes his word and meets that price.

Webb's determination to keep prices low has brought several brushes with the law.

He just won and immediately lost in a fight to outlaw Florida's "Fair Trade Act." This law provided that a wholesaler could establish a minimum price in a contract with one retailer and enforce that minimum on all retailers in that area.

The State Supreme Court ruled the law invalid, but supporters had it slightly revised and re-passed in the legislature.

A few years ago he had to go to the Supreme Court before establishing his right to charge only 45 cents for a haircut. That price still stands compared to competitive charges of 60 to 75 cents.

He is now up in arms against a bill before the Florida Legislature to ban "loss leaders"—merchandise

DISCOVERIES ACCLAIMED

New Canadian Oil Wells Are Gushers

CALGARY, June 11. (AP) — Canada's newly discovered western oil fields are spouting black gold at a rate that may make the discoveries one of the world's major sources of oil.

North American oil companies are spending vast sums there—about $100 million this year—and are planning larger programs later to develop this new strike.

They think it worth the risk, because in a little more than two years fields have been established with estimated reserves of 500 million barrels. Others are in a promising stage, and it seems fair to say that exploration has just started.

Joseph E. Pogue, vice president of the Chase National Bank of New York, who specializes in petroleum economics, said recently "it requires no great stretch of the imagination" to picture Canada leading the 5 billion to 10 billion barrels of oil. Others predict 20 billion barrels.

This compares with United States discoveries to date of 60 billion barrels.

Where is this new oil country? Extend Montana, North Dakota and western Minnesota northward, and there it is. It is part of the same continental interior plain in which lie the oil fields of the Gulf Coast, Oklahoma, Kansas, Illinois, Wyoming and Montana. And it gets its oil from the same beginnings, the old seas and the sea life which millions of years ago flowed from the Gulf of Mexico to the Arctic.

The Canadian provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba and the Mackenzie River Basin of Canada's Northwest territories extend to the Arctic Ocean, 1,300 miles away.

They cover about 1 million square miles. Half of it, or about twice the area of Texas, is possible oil land.

Just now most activity is in the Alberta wheatlands with the hot spot at Edmonton, some 300 miles north of the Montana border. There you'll find a city of 130,000 people virtually ringed with oil. And for all anybody knows, they are sitting on it. Twenty-seven months ago, few even knew what crude oil looked like, and that's the story of Leduc.

Up to that time Alberta had one good field, the Turner Valley in the Southwest, a 100 million barrel proposition now declining.

Oil men were inclined to regard it as a geological freak. When 1,000 further exploratory wells failed to produce anything worth while, it added up to discouragement.

Then in February, 1947, Imperial Oil Ltd., Canadian subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. (N.J.), brought in a 1,000-barrel-a-day well at Leduc, 17 miles southwest of Edmonton.

That changed nearly all thinking regarding Alberta oil. For one thing, the well was carried deeper than the point at which some others had been abandoned as dry. More important, it was in a formation similar to West Texas and proved that the oil conditions of the United States extended north into Canada.

A year later Woodbend came in to the north of Leduc. It is either an extension of Leduc or a new field. Then in late 1948 came Redwater, 30 miles north of Edmonton.

Today Leduc-Woodbend has more than 200 wells with an estimated reserve of 200 million barrels, and Redwater has reserves estimated at 300 million barrels.

This year a sensational new well has been brought in at Golden Spike, four and a half miles west of Woodbend, with an oil-bearing limestone 545 feet thick, compared to Leduc's 38 feet and Redwater's 130. Other wells are being drilled to determine the extent of this field, and until that is done it won't be known whether Golden Spike is just a sensational well or whether it is a sensational field.

Another promising well, which may establish a major field, has been drilled at Stettler, 112 miles southeast of Edmonton. Other wells give varying promises.

Scores of new exploratory wells are drilling and scores of geologic and seismic parties are scouring the plains.

Leduc illustrates the drama of the oil hunt. Had the first well been drilled a mile and a quarter from where it is, it would have been a dry hole, and the new fields might still be undiscovered.

So far the producing discoveries are in what are known as the D2 and D3 zones of Devonian limestone, at depths varying from around 3,000 feet to around 5,000 feet.

Present production is held down to get the greatest ultimate recovery of oil according to modern conservation methods. By the end of the year production will be taking care of virtually all the 65,000-barrel-a-day needs of the three prairie provinces.

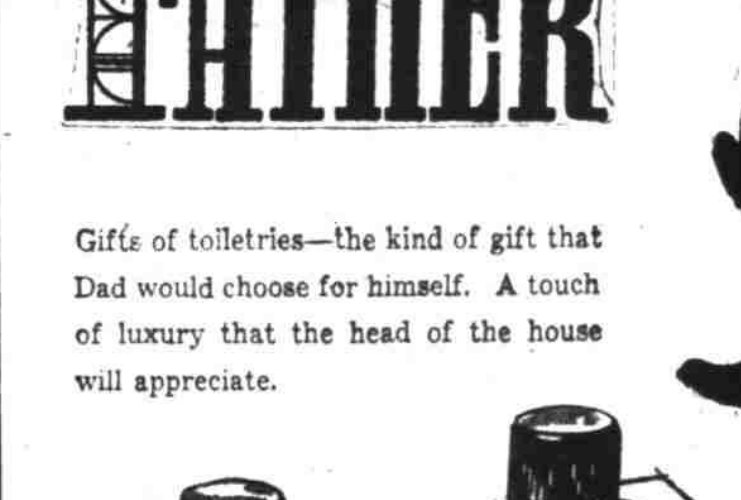

Canada's 13 million people, east and west, consume about 250,000 barrels a day, which probably will go up to 400,000 barrels in the next few years. Most of this is imported from the United States and South America.

Western oil aims to supply all of this market either directly or by shipping to the western United States, while American oil continues to come into Canada's east.

Oil today is plentiful, and western Canadian oil can't compete in the east without cheaper transportation. That means pipelines.

Imperial Oil Co. has completed preliminary work on a 450 mile pipeline from Edmonton to Regina, Saskatchewan, and ground is expected to be broken shortly for the first of the line's pumping stations. It will cost $45 million and is late to be in operation by late 1950. Imperial plans to extend the pipeline another 750 miles east to the Canadian or merican head of Lake Superior with a branch to Winnipeg.

"Shall we protect 100 sluggish merchants or two or three million people (in Florida)?" he asked.

Most merchants mark up their goods too much, Webb contends. His markup is a trade secret, but it can't be very high, he said, since the net profit on last year's $15 million gross was only three per cent. Most stores with that volume would have a net profit of 10 per cent or more, he said.

Doc summed up his feelings on the low price angle with:

"It's not unfair to the public if a store wants to give you a bargain. If we didn't give real value, we wouldn't have so many satisfied customers."

"We are good for the people. We are progressive. We keep the town competitive—and that's good for the merchant and good for the people."

Cary Middlecoff Wins Nat'l Open Golf Tourney With 286

Goes Two Over At Medinah

CHICAGO, June 11. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, 28-year-old ex-dentist from Memphis, Tenn., won the 49th National Open golf championship today with a 72-hole total of 286 strokes, two over par for Medinah Country Club's tree-trimmed course.

Middlecoff finished a stroke ahead of big Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., who missed a six-foot putt on the final hole which would have given him a tie, and Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who made a yallant bid to add the Open to his Masters and PGA crowns.

Snead, six strokes back at the end of the first 54 holes, made up the deficit and needed even par for the last three holes to tie. But his putter went back on him on the short 17th hole where he used that club from just off the carpet, hit the ball six feet past the stick and missed coming back.

The Slamming Man from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had luck loser in three previous tournaments, was still on the course when Middlecoff, a pro of less than three years, came in with a heart-breaking afternoon 75.

Following two brilliant sub-par rounds, this gave the rangy Tennessee a two-over-par total for his four trips around Medinah's treacherous 6,981 yard, par 71 course.

"Well, I muffed it," he said dejectedly as he looked on the board to see that Snead, finishing with a rush after trailing six strokes going into the last round, needed only one par in the last three holes.

Snead played 16 in par and then needed only two pars for the tie. One birdie and a par would have given him the championship to lay beside the Masters and PGA crowns he already holds.

But on the 193-yard lake hole 17th, Snead ran into an old and despised chum—his Open bugaboo. After laying his tee shot on the fringe of the green, he took three costly taps at the ball and there was another championship gone out the window. His first putt was six feet past and then he rimmed the cup with his next try—but the ball stayed out.

On the 18th—on which he needed a desperate birdie to tie—Snead was down the middle with his drive but was wide of the carpet on his six-iron approach. He had to struggle for a par four that gave him a 70 for a total of 287.

Bracketed with the unhappy West Virginian in the runner-up slot—just one club swing from golf's most coveted prize—was big, 200-pound Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., a dejected man himself.

Heafner, who battled Middlecoff down the stretch in a two-man duel watched by most of the record crowd of 14,000, blew a six-foot putt on the final green that would have given him a tie.

BOMBERS—Unbeaten first team of the Big Spring American Legion post, which will represent the city in the Junior baseball fall, has chosen to be called the Bombers. Of the 60 boys who reported to Coach Conn Isaacs for practice, the above 14, plus two could not be on hand, were named to the varsity team. A B team will also schedule some games, Isaacs said. Left to right, top row, they are Floyd Martin, Aubrey Armstead, Harold Rosson, Wayne Brown, Culin Grieffy, Melvin Byers, Justin Allen Hones and Isaacs. Front row, Andy Gamboa, Jimmy Jennings, Charley Fisher, Charley Gonzalez, Jackie Jennings, Howard Washburn and Kimbel Guthrie. (Photo by Jack M. Haynes).

Turnesa, six strokes back going into the final day's 365 holes, fired rounds of 70-72 to threaten right up to the end. Locke bracketed 73 and 71. Following them at 290 were O'Neal (Buck) White, the leathers free-lance pro from Greenwood, Miss., and Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., a dark horse, who had 290.

The top amateur was Robert Skeel Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., who had 73-74 for a 294. This score was shared also by one of the four surviving former champions, Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago. Ralph Guldahl had 296 and Craig Wood and Lew Worsham shared 298's.

For Middlecoff the triumph brings $2,000 immediately in cash but a store of links prestige that professionals figure is worth, in the long run, $100,000 in cold cash.

Wickard Backs Loans For Rural Phone Service

WASHINGTON, June 11. (AP)—Claude R. Wickard, head of the Rural Electrification Administration, Saturday supported legislation to permit loans for rural telephone service under the REA act.

Farm telephone conditions are inadequate and deplorable, he told the Senate Agriculture Committee. The legislation would permit the government to lend money over a 35-year period at about two percent interest to groups or companies for installing rural telephones and refinancing existing indebtedness of rural companies. Loan priorities would go to existing systems.

"Looking at it from every angle, no group of people needs telephone service as much as farmers," Wickard said. "It is far more than a convenience. It is an absolute necessity."

More than half of the farmers and 3,380,000 farms have no telephones, Wickard said.

"There is unmistakable evidence," he said, "that the AT&T and the large independents are not going into typical farm territories where a high financial return is not in prospect."

"On the other hand, the small independents and mutual companies simply cannot get adequate financing today to enable them to take care of these territories."

Senator Hill (D-Ala.), one of the sponsors of the legislation, said opposition to the bill comes principally from two sources—the Bell Telephone Co., which he said has a "monopolistic control" in telephone communication and manufacture of equipment, and "from some who claim to speak for independent companies."

Senator Kerr (D-Okl.), a co-author, urged approval of the legislation and told the committee there are fewer rural telephones today than there were in 1920.

Looking 'Em Over

by Tommy Hart

The attendance figures released recently by the Longhorn baseball league president, Hal Sayles, which showed Big Spring a lagging third in overall attendance behind San Angelo and Odessa are about in keeping with the population of the respective cities. . . . San Angelo claims nearly 50,000 and the chamber of commerce in Odessa insists the populace there numbers better than 45,000. . . . Big Spring has a figure slightly exceeding 20,000. . . . No team has experienced the ill luck with the weather the Broncos have to date. . . . From opening night on, it has been atrocious. . . . Only four games have been washed out but wind and sand storms kept fans away on many another night. . . . A midwestern scribe says one thing wrong with baseball these days is the fact that modern nicknames of players are anemic compared to have nicknames though some of them never appear in print those of 25 and 50 years ago. . . . Most of the Big Springers. . . . Manager Pat Stacey is called "Speedy" by some. . . . Ramiro Vasquez is referred to as "Cookie." . . . Carlos Pascual is better known by the handle, "Potato." . . . Very few fans know the real given name of Ace Mendez, which happens to be Severino. . . . Fernando Rodriguez is sometimes called "Trompolico" while Manny Rodriguez's other tag is "Dumbo." . . . There's a Gumbo on the staff, too—Gumersindo Helba. . . . Pablo Molina's given name actually is Pauline. . . . Alberto Valdes is called "Bartolomeu" by his mates.

Tulsa Grid Star Now With Tyler

Big Zeigler, who hurred in the Longhorn league two seasons ago, is being carried on a five-day look by Paris of the East Texas League. Zeigler played with Odessa and Sweetwater in '47. One of the newer hands adorning the roster of the Ballinger club is Thomas (Brow) Williams, just out of high school at Paris. Williams is a third sacker. He'll replace Lou Dawson, who was traded to Midland. The Jim Finks playing in the Tyler lineup is the same fellow who did so well as a football passer for Tulsa last season. Finks was second only to Nevada's Stan Heath in passing gains. He'll play pro football with the New York Giants next fall. F. D. Poliss, Lamesa high school's crackerjack basketball coach, may land the cage coaching job at Odessa high school. Clayton Hopkins, a former Odessa head coach who now is a mentor at San Angelo Junior college, has been contacted about a coaching post at Texas School of Mines, parson, Texas. Western college. Bo Hardy, the Southwestern university stage its summer recreational pro-athlete who is helping the YMCA summer recreational program here, ran at tail-back on the Pirate football team in spring drills but may be moved to full-back in the fall. That was his old position in high school. TCU will help Nebraska open its 1951 football season in a game at Lincoln Sept. 29. Best prospect at the recent Class AA state baseball meet, in the eyes of the scouts on hand, was Bob Leach, Denison hurler, who is only a freshman. Bill Path, who divided time behind the plate for Ballinger's baseball Cats in 1948, is back with that club. An Odessa radio station was boasting over the air the other evening that Odessa staged the first "orchid night" in the history of the Longhorn league. In reality, the local "orchid night" came off several nights earlier. Jack Gray, the University of Texas basketball coach, is due to visit here shortly to talk with Don Clark, the HCJC cager who may enroll at the Austin school next fall.

Sheriff Raids Eight Gambling Shops In Houston; 75 Arrested

HOUSTON, June 11. (AP)—Sheriff Buster Kern, frankly displaced with the raids of Constable Dale Richardson, cracked down on eight Houston bookie shops Saturday.

The outcome: About 75 people arrested. Several truckloads of machines, rackets, sheets, blackboards and other equipment confiscated.

"I could have started these raids a long time ago if it hadn't been for those raids by that nitwit Dale Richardson," the sheriff told reporters.

"When Richardson kept fooling around here the bookies kept moving their headquarters." Richardson yelt his La Porte precinct several times in April and May to make gambling haids in Houston. His actions resulted in an investigation by the county grand jury which released a formal report which criticized the motives behind the constable's raids.

The report added, however, Richardson could not have made the raids had Houston police been on the alert against gambling.

Richardson said the sheriff's raids came as "a complete surprise."

He told reporters by phone from La Porte he had been in Houston this morning checking up on the situation and was told no bookies were operating.

LOUISIANA WOMAN IS GIVEN LIFE TERM IN POISONED-COFFEE SLAYING

FRANKLINTON, La., June 11. (AP)—Mrs. Cola Spillman Lemming was sentenced to life imprisonment Saturday for the poisoned-coffee slaying of her next-door neighbor, Mrs. Mammie Furr.

Sentence was pronounced by District Judge Robert D. Jones and the 48-year-old defendant, convicted of murder without capital punishment, was returned to her cell in the Washington parish jail.

A life sentence was mandatory under the trial verdict. Defense Attorney Barber Popper immediately filed application for an appeal to the Louisiana Supreme Court.

Will Furr, husband of the poison victim, is under indictment for perjury and will go on trial next Nov. 3. The state charges that Furr gave false statements while testifying during Mrs. Lemming's trial. Furr pleaded innocent Friday and his bond was set at $1,000.

Furr was in the courtroom when Mrs. Lemming was sentenced but showed no signs of emotion. Mrs. Lemming smiled grimly as sentence was pronounced.

During the trial, witnesses testified Furr and Mrs. Lemming lived together in New Orleans as man and wife for several weeks.

Swatters Swat Steeds In Fast One, 13 To 0

SWEETWATER, June 11.—The Sweetwater Swatters humiliated the Big Spring Broncos, 13-0, in a Longhorn league contest cut to five innings by rain here Friday night. The victory enabled the red-hot Swatters to sweep their two-game set from the league leaders and extend their current victory streak to seven in a row. It also put them a secure 2 1/2 games ahead of cellar-dwelling Ballinger.

The contest was ragged all the way. Big Spring obviously stalling in the hope a downpour would wash out the proceedings before it could be pronounced a game.

Pat Lorenzo and Dick Gyselman each hit home runs for the victors. Lou Lockhart, Sweetwater flinger, gave up only one hit, that a first inning single by Felix Gomez. After Gomez got on base, Lockhart retired the next 14 men in order.

Two of the Big Spring players were chased after arguing with the umpire. They were Carlos Pascual and Ray Vasquez.

Despite the loss, the 'Hosses didn't lose ground in the pennant chase, second-place Vernon having lost to Roswell 5-4, in another abbreviated contest.

ODESSA, June 11.—The Big Spring Broncos stretched their Longhorn league to five games by whipping the Odessa Oilers, 8-2, here Saturday night.

Felix Gomez, Bronco leftfielder, decided the issue as early as the second inning when he drove out a three-run homer. The Oilers managed a run in the bottom of the second when Jess Van Winkle followed Frank Mormino's one-baser with a triple, and another in the fourth when Mormino homed with the sacks empty.

The Oilers charged on to win easily however, with Pat Stacey, Potato Pascual and Cookie Vasquez pacing the attack with three hits each.

Successive singles by Gumbo Helba, who spelled Eddie Ramirez at first base, Pascual and Vasquez, coupled with a wild pitch, accounted for two in the fifth.

Julio Ramos, Mendez, Stacey and Vasquez all contributed to a three-run outburst in the sixth.

Ramos pitched a brilliant six-inning to wrap up his 10th decision of the year. He has not suffered defeat this season. The small Bronco lefty whiffed 10 Oiler batters and gave up only two bases on balls in coasting to victory.

TIGERS ENTERTAIN ODESSANS TODAY

Monchak Is New Batting Leader

Rockets' Cruces Advances On Both Alex And Harry Schertina Of Vernon Troupe

Odessa's Alex Monchak has replaced Harry Scherting, Vernon, as the leading hitter in the Longhorn baseball league through games of Tuesday, June 7, but both face a new threat in Bob Cruces, Roosevelt manager.

Monchak was clouting .423, two percentage points more than Scherting. Cruces is now hitting .381 and apparently gaining ground every day.

Cruces is tied with two others in home runs with eight to his credit. Sharing the lead with him are Monchak and Julian Pressley of Midland.

Monchak also is setting the pace in doubles with 15 while Les Palmer of Odessa is out front in three-basers with six.

Tops in runs driven in is Frank Mormino, Odessa, with 44. Julio Ramos of Big Spring continues as the league's top pitcher with nine wins and no losses.

Cowpokes Play Herd For Title On Texas Field

AUSTIN, June 11 (AP)—Two college teams with fine win-loss records fight it out for the Region C National Collegiate Athletic Association baseball title here this week.

They are the Texas Longhorns with a win-loss record of 18 to 7 and the Oklahoma A&M Cowpokes with a more impressive record of winning 22 and losing 4.

The Longhorns faced more professional teams in their early-season games.

Toby Green's Oklahoma A&M nine qualified for the meet by defeating Kansas University, two games out of three.

The Aggies, champions of the Missouri Valley, are representing NCAA district 5 for a second straight year.

Bibb Falk's Longhorns are back in the NCAA playoff after passing up a bid last year to represent district 6.

The 1949 Region C series will open Thursday afternoon at Clark Field, where the Longhorns have won 47 of their last 48 appearances against collegiate competition.

The only school to defeat Texas on its home field during the past three seasons was Ohio State, which salvaged the final game of this year's three-game series.

Cubs Benefitted From Shakeup, Says Wrigley

BOSTON, June 11 (AP)—Convinced that his Chicago Cubs need a baseball man in the front office and that his transfer to such a post "is the best thing for the club," Charles Wrigley will lead his team on the field for the second last time today.

Jolly Cholly will become vice president in charge of baseball operations and the man he selected, Frankie Frisch, the old "Fordham Flash," will succeed him as field manager.

Frisch, signed to a contract which will run through 1951, will assume his new post in Chicago next Monday when Jimmy Gallagher, who has been general manager of the National League team, will become vice president in charge of business matters.

Owner Philip K. Wrigley told of these changes yesterday a few hours before the Cubs slipped into the National League cellar after being whipped 6-2 by the Boston Braves while the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the New York Giants.

Feller Routed, Yanks Win, 12-7

CLEVELAND, June 11 (AP)—The New York Yankees blasted Bob Feller and Sam Zoldak, his successor, for nine runs in the first inning, and went on to defeat the Cleveland Indians Saturday, 12-7.

A Ladies Day crowd of 61,323, of which 31,398 were paid admissions, saw 13 Yankees go to bat in the first inning. They rocked Rapid Robert for five hits before he retired in favor of Zoldak. It was the second straight for the Yanks over the Indians, after a four-game losing streak.

Feller pitched to eight batters and retired one. The most damaging blow was a bases-loaded double by Yogi Berra.

Allie Reynolds, who had not started since Memorial Day, could not go the distance. Joe Page replaced him and stifled the threat, although the Indians picked up two more runs on a hit batsman and infield out.

Thomson Shines As Giants Win

NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Bobby Thomson's inside-the-park home run with one aboard climaxed a four-run eighth inning and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday. The victory enabled the Giants to snap a five-game losing streak.

Women Golfers Due At Lubbock

LUBBOCK, June 11 (AP)—Late entries today from El Paso and Amarillo added to an already colorful field of women golfers who will play in the annual Women's West Texas Golf Tournament at Lubbock Country Club Tuesday through Sunday.

Mrs. D. D. Smith, who heads the El Paso group, said additional entries would probably come from the border city. Mrs. J. W. (Betty) Ross of Amarillo, always a contender for the title, will head a delegation from Amarillo.

Defending Champion Mrs. Sam O'Neal of Odessa will lead a dozen women from her home city. Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, first champion of the tournament, will be one of the players from Fort Worth.

San Angelo, Abilene, Big Spring, Borger, Brownwood, Del Rio, Midland, Pampa, Plainview, Brownfield, Littlefield, Sweetwater and Levelland women have entered the tournament.

Mrs. Howard Edmiston of Brownwood, president of the association, will preside at the annual dinner Friday night, climaxed a round of social events scheduled in connection with the tourney.

Sens Edge Tigers

DETROIT, June 11 (AP)—The Washington Senators made up a seven-run deficit to edge the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 8, Saturday. Six home runs, four by the Senators, were chalked up in the free hitting game.

Capot Batters Chances For 3-Year-Old Honors By Winning Belmont Stakes

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK, June 11 (AP)—Capot gave Greentree Stable a powerful claim on the 1949 three-year-old championship today when he beat Calumet Farm's favored Ponder a half length to win the $91,500 Belmont Stakes.

Just as expected, it was strictly a three-horse race between Capot, Ponder an Isidor Biever's Palestinian, which took third money another half length back of the Calumet Colt. The fourth horse in the eight-horse field, Mrs. Eben H. Ellison Jr.'s Sun Bahram, was 12 lengths back of Palestinian to give an idea how much the others were left out of the act.

Most everybody in the crowd of 40,421 but the Greentree forces thought Ponder, the Kentucky Derby winner, was going to take this final jewel in the triple crown, because of his reputation for coming from behind.

But Jockey Ted Atkinson who was winning his first Belmont victory aboard Capot, knew what he was doing as he had the brown son of Menow Piquet in front for most of the dusty mile and one-half route. Capot had won the Preakness, but most "experts" thought the longer Belmont distance would prove too tough for the Greentree galloper.

Dodgers Maul Cincy For 6th Straight Win

BROOKLYN, June 11 (AP)—Brooklyn maulled three left-hand pitchers Saturday and ran their winning streak to six straight in a 11-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

Roy Campanella hit two home runs and Pee Wee Reese cashed in another.

The victory, coupled with Boston's defeat by the Chicago Cubs, widened the Dodgers first place lead to a game and a half.

Don Newcombe, Giant Negro right-hander, held the Reds to five hits for his third victory without a defeat. He fanned nine and walked two. Two of the Reds' runs resulted from homers by Jimmy Bloodworth and pinch-hitter Danny Littwiler.

Quarter-Horse Race Program Scheduled At Local Track

Show Begins At 2:30 P. M.

Fans who call at the Sheriff's posse grounds west of town this afternoon for the resumption of quarter-horse racing will get an added treat.

Several members of the posse are going to participate in a barrel race, made popular in rodeos in recent years. Among the riders who will be seen in that event are Dr. M. H. Bennett, Harvey Woodson, Alvin Walker, Rexie Caubla, Doyle Vaughn, John Ray Dillard and Dalton White.

The race will take place on the polo field immediately south of the racing strip.

Three races have already been arranged. Dalton White's "Satchel" will tangle with Son Rice's "Theme Song" at 100 yards.

A 300-yard event will match Homer Moon's "Little Sis" and "Texas Sis," owned by Darrell Douglas.

Charles Franklin's "Honky Tonk" and "Floor Show," owned by Alvin Walker, will match strides at three-eighths of a mile.

Horses from all over West Texas will be here for the program.

The first race will be run at 2:30 p. m. Admission prices have been pegged at $1 a person.

Billies Guests Of Coahomans

COAHOMA, June 11—Coahoma's Bulldogs and the Knott Hill Billies clash in a Tri-County baseball league game here this afternoon, with the latter nine trying to climb out of the cellar. Game time is 3:30 p. m.

Bill Brown may pitch for the Coahoma club while A. Chapman or Bobby Beall will hurl for Knott.

The Bulldogs have now beaten Coaden and Howard County Junior college in succession and will be slightly favored to win.

Nelson To Quit Tourney Trail

CHICAGO, June 11 (AP)—Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Texas, former PGA National Open and Masters Champion, said today he is "definitely" through with national tournament competition.

Nelson, who has been playing exhibition golf, came out of semi-retirement to appear in the 49th National Open at the Medinah Club this week, but failed to qualify for the finals as he took 151 strokes for the first two rounds, or over the minimum.

Lack of competition in tournaments prevented him from getting anywhere near the top of my game," Nelson said. "You can't play big time tournament golf unless you play tournament golf all the time, for you need that competition to keep your game sharp."

He passed up this year's PGA championship at Richmond, Va., and said he'd be at the 1950 National Open in Philadelphia as a mere spectator.

Kermit Trims Forsan, 14-3

KERMIT, June 11—Kermit battered the Forsan Oilers of the Tri-County baseball league, 14-3, in an exhibition game played here Friday night.

Lefty Davis scattered seven Forsan hits and coasted to victory when his mates tore into the offerings of two Forsan hurlers. Lefty McCabe and Lefty Barnett, for 15 hits.

Herrick hit a home run with one on for the Kermit clan. Davis helped his own cause along with a triple and single. Cox blasted out two singles and a double. Feden had two doubles while McCabe and Junior Dolan paced Forsan's attack.

McCabe hit a homer with Tim Mon Shultz aboard in the sixth to go along with a single while Dolan chipped in with two one-basers.

Forsan may play a make up game with Knott at Steer Park in Big Spring Thursday night.

Forsan ..... 000 002 010—3 7 1
Kermit ..... 410 503 10x—14 15 1

Braves Defeated By ChiCubs, 5-2

BOSTON, June 11 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs put on a 15-hit attack Saturday to gain a 5-2 win over the Boston Braves. Emil Kush came to the aid of starter Walt Dubiel in the ninth inning when Pete Reiser tried to launch a last-ditch rally with his third homer.

Round Trippers Give Cards 6 to 2 Win

PHILADELPHIA, June 11 (AP)—Homers by Marty Marion and Nippy Jones, each with a man on base, coupled with three-hit pitching by George Mungler gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 6-2 victory Saturday over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Oilers Oppose Collegians Here Today In Tri-County Feature

Forsan's rampaging Oilers invade Big Spring today to do battle with the Howard County Junior college Jayhawks, in a feature Tri-County baseball league tussle.

Scene of action in the college diamond west of town. Starting time is down for 3:30 p. m.

The Oilers have not been beaten in circuit play to date and are in a good position to all but sew up first place in the standings by clipping the Hawks.

HCJC defeated the Oilers in a practice tilt earlier in the campaign but was not able to do it in league activity. Since then, the collegians have had to forfeit a game to Ackerly and lost a 3-1 decision to Coahoma to fall well off the pace.

Lefty Shelton or Lefty McCabe will probably twirl for the Forsan club while Howard Jones or A. J. Cain may toll for the Hawks.

Shelton has hurled four league shutouts this season and is tough as a boot when the chips are down.

Eagles Meet Cosden Nine

ACKERLY, June 11—Ackerly's Eagles, who won a Tri-County baseball league game last Sunday without throwing a ball, tries the Cosden Refiners in a 3:30 o'clock contest at Ackerly today.

The Ackerly club is now scrapping for second place in TC standings and a win today would enhance their chances.

Cosden suffered a rude shock at the hands of Coahoma last Sunday, when the Bulldogs bowled over the Refiners, 16-4, but they're still a tough club to handle when the blue chips are showing.

Obie Bristow, Farmer Lose

Two local golfers were ousted in the second round of first flight play in the annual West Texas Golf association's tournament at Brownwood Friday.

Obie Bristow, San Angelo, one up on the 19th hole, after hitting L. G. McLaughlin, Electric, 5 and 3.

J. R. Farmer sailed through Bill Brendon, Odessa, only to run afoul of Jack Woods, Brownwood, 5 and 3.

Carswell Takes Hickory Lead

By The Associated Press
Frank Carswell of Texarkana has taken over Big State League hitting with a double—or rather triple—bang.

The slugger Bear cracked out 14 hits in 31 trips to the plate the last week to raise his average to .431 and replace Emory Hresko of Austin, who had topped the circuit for a month and a half.

He also gained the leadership in hits with 87 and in total bases with 133. And he became the top man in runs batted in with 53.

Hresko tumbled down to third place in batting with his 406 while Frank Sauter, Wichita Falls catcher, went to 417 and runner-up.

Jodie Phipps of Texarkana continued to head the pitchers with his great $4 record but Bob Freetz of Wichita Falls had won the most games with 11. He had lost two, however. In strike-outs it was Bill Pierre of Waco with 70.

Y Church Loop Opens June 23

Play will get underway June 23 in the YMCA Church softball league, it has been announced by Bo Hardy of that organization. All games will be played at the city park. The park diamond has been reserved on Thursday nights for the Y.

Four teams have been entered into Church league competition and others may be ready to toe the mark when play gets underway. Those ready to go include First Methodist, East Fourth Baptist, First Presbyterian and North Side Baptist.

Sam Sneed, 37, became the oldest player ever to win the PGA links championship when he copped the crown this year.

The youngest U.S. amateur golf champion was Bob Gardner who was 19 when he won the first of his two titles in 1909.

Y Recreational Program Is Now In Full Swing

The YMCA recreational program now in progress includes a little bit of everything and is aimed to interest everyone.

A weight lifting class for members only is now meeting at 7 p. m. each Wednesday at the Y. A gas model airplane club, also limited to members, holds its session at the Y at 7:30 p. m. on Thursdays.

Boys 13 years of age and younger have a chance to take part in leatherwork classes and session on model airplanes at 10 a. m. each Tuesday at the Y.

Volley ball for business men will henceforth be played at the high school gymnasium each Monday and Thursday through the summer. The class ordinarily begins at 5:30 p. m. on those days.

A women's swimming class for beginners will be held during the summer three times weekly—Monday, Wednesday and Friday—starting at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Garnier To Testify Again In Murder Trial

RIVERSIDE, Calif., June 11. (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Garnier, on trial for murdering her boss, wealthy John E. Owen, is scheduled to take the witness stand again next Tuesday with direct testimony in her own behalf. The trial was adjourned Friday after Defense Attorney Sam Houston Allen read more than 20 love letters written by the 68-year-old Owen to Mrs. Garnier. The state 53-year-old divorcee remained impassive as an all-woman jury heard the letters. Owen, president of the National Apartment House Owners Association, was shot to death last April 22 in the bedroom of his lavish ranch home near here. The prosecution contends that Mrs. Garnier killed him following an argument involving Actress Irene Rich. Allen said the letters were introduced to show that there was a real and abiding love between Owen and his secretary. In some of the letters, Owen signed off with: "John, the old crab," and in others he apologized for being "unusually cross." Owen's expressions of ardor, however, were confined to phrases such as: "I miss you like hell." One of the missives to Mrs. Garnier in Honolulu said, "I did not go to see Irene Rich last weekend. I didn't even call her, as I am not interested in the lady personally."

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By MILDRED YOUNG

It seems to us that the boy or girl who does not grow up under the ministry of a truly great pastor has missed a great deal. By great, we don't mean an important church leader such as a bishop nor do we mean the pastor of a large city church. Now a bishop or a city pastor could fit into the class of those we term as great.

but position is not always the important thing. Truly great people are not always the people in high positions as is often proved by such articles as the Reader's Digest's "The Most Unforgettable Character I Have Ever Met." The great ones are the people who have turned their lives into vital channels of service and are contributing something to the happiness of other people.

We had the privilege of "growing up" under the ministry of a pastor and friend, whom we considered and still consider a very unique and effective preacher. One of the outstanding characteristics of this minister is the fact that he seems to be, first of all, a preacher, but that in his presentation of a way of living, he never forgets to be a pastor and a friend. It is one thing to hear a good pulpit man, but it's another to find a pastor-preacher combination. Most of us fail to appreciate such a combination when we find it.

My philosophy isn't the best in the world and I never expect it to be outstanding, but I'll always believe that it had, at least, one great source for a foundation. More than anything else in the world today, we need great thinkers and we who have met some of the better philosophers of our day either in person or on paper have a great deal for which to be thankful.

District Confirmation Vote Could Secure Tool For Action

In all probability, voters in Big Spring and Odessa will have an opportunity to pass judgment July 12 on whether to become a part of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. The district has been given legal blessing by acts signed into law this week. It must be confirmed by a majority vote if it is to be given life.

The district is to be the instrument of the tool by which Odessa and Big Spring might attack jointly the problem of securing a long-range water supply. Its powers are explicitly defined by law.

There are some things that it can do; there are some that it cannot do. For instance, confirmation of the district would permit a final organization with official, responsible status. District officials would be the ones to pass upon the final studies, estimates and other matters involved in impounding a lake on the upper Colorado river.

But these officials could not levy a tax except by the majority vote of both cities. They could then only levy for bond obligations and never for operations.

We mention the latter to draw a line of distinction in issues. The July 12 referendum has nothing to do with the financial end of the district except possibly for some routine expense money which might be contributed by member municipalities. It has to do with approving the establishment of a district. Three years have been spent in study of the joint water supply proposal. Nearly six months has gone into pressing the enabling legislation into law.

Crux of the question will be: "Do we want to secure the tool for action, regardless of whether and to what extent it might be used? Or do we want to give up the quest right here and now?"

Most people, we feel, will want to take this new and logical step by which we can begin to get the proper perspective.

Drive For Security Produces Conflicts Needing Composure

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Special Writer

Security is one of the prime objectives and wish-fulfillments of every human being, of every nation, of every business man or business institution.

To be secure means, literally, to be without care. It means freedom from worry and fear. A desire for security prompts more prospective brides than Cupid's arrow ever scratched. It is the motive behind every rich man's success, and every nation's economic and foreign policy. A man or a nation will fight for principle a lot quicker and harder than for profit.

A desire for security in the hereafter is basic to nearly all religions, and to every human being's ambition to pile up something against a rainy day here on earth. Labor unions stress job security, and plump for the guaranteed annual wage. Corporations cut corners and build dikes against economic pitfalls. They battle labor, suppliers, and the government to protect their investments and give security to their stockholders.

A dog is faithful to his master for security reasons as much as for natural affection. A cat, a natural wanderer and freebooter, is faithful to the household which offers security.

A sense of insecurity breeds fear, and saps the resolution of the individual will. It cripples whole nations, and strips entire continents of peace and ambition.

Except for people who believe in a hereafter and their personal survival in it, there is no such thing as absolute security. It is a goal, something to strive for, sometimes to achieve with a complete feeling of possession, but there is no way of guaranteeing its perpetuity—except, as noted, in the Great Beyond.

The drive for security often produces friction, conflicts, contradictions.

In its ambition to better the lot of the laboring man, organized labor can overreach itself, and break the back of industry and commerce; John L. Lewis has improved the living standards of coal miners enormously, but what if his ambition carries to the extreme of breaking every mine operator in the country? Then where would the miners' security be?

Some corporations are so greedy for profits that they would deny the worker a decent standard of living—not many, but some. Most enlightened large-scale employers of labor see in the well-paid, contented worker their own best chance of prosperity and survival.

Government has taken an increasing concern in the relations between worker and boss, and this has been bitterly resented by both. But the government has a stake in the economic wellbeing of all the people, and to protect that interest it must serve as arbiter between the two extremes. A laissez-faire economy is unthinkable in this highly complex, interdependent civilization.

The farmer has been unjustly abused for looking to his government for help and guidance in the most hazardous enterprise on earth—the production of crops. Some of the devices created for his benefit have indeed been haphazard and unsound, but many of them have succeeded. In his desire for security, the same as everyone else, the farmer has had to organize, just as labor and industry organized. Agriculture is the one absolutely indispensable industry, for without it we'd all starve. It would be possible to eke out some sort of existence without many of the other so-called basic industries, but not without agriculture.

We believe in the free enterprise, capitalistic economy; but we do not believe in an economy that is permitted to run wild, to the ruination of all. We believe in as little government interference as the economic wellbeing of the country will stand, but we do not believe in removing all restraints and permitting the so-called "natural forces" to have their unbridled way.

A managed economy is a horrid word, like spit, but an unmanageable economy would wreck the country in five years.

Four Governments Cannot Rule Wretched And Desperate Berlin

Even more discouraging than the disagreement between Mr. Acheson and M. Vishinsky over how to govern Berlin is that both of them talk as if they still believed it possible for four governments to rule one wretched, ruined and desperate city.

The differences between the Acheson and the Vishinsky proposals are considerable, perhaps irreconcilable. But what is much more serious is their similarity. Just as Mr. Dooley once said of two candidates for President, they are as far apart as the two poles and as much alike. For the notion, or at least the pretense, is common to both proposals, that despite the plain and obvious lesson of the past four years, the occupying powers should work side by side making daily decisions on a whole mass of intricate and largely unintelligible details.

It is self-evident that the Soviet proposal is sheer nonsense. The four powers, which are at odds on almost any subject they discuss, are, according to M. Vishinsky, to pass by unanimous agreement on all legislation enacted by the city council, on appointments, dismissals and resignations of administrative personnel, on public security and the police, on the "trade" of Berlin, on supplies, on city transport, the municipal budget, municipal taxes, on credit, prices, fuel and communications. They are also to revise the election law, determine who has the right to vote, and they are to authorize political parties and public organizations, and supervise the elections.

But is the American proposal really much more sensible? It calls for quadripartite supervision of elections, including electoral preparations and campaigns. It provides that if the four commandants cannot agree, each commandant in his own sector may take whatever action he considers appropriate for the "protection" of the elected deputies and city officials against interference in the performance of their functions under the constitution so as to insure the independence of the city administration and the exercise of its legitimate authority. This is a blank check for chaos and confusion, making each commandant in effect the judge of what the constitution of the city means in his part of the city. It would be like trying to govern the city of Washington with Senator McCarran having the last word in southeast Washington, Senator Keating in northwest Washington, and let us say Senator Hickenlooper, to insure efficient government, in the remainder.

Not only is neither proposal likely to be accepted, but even if either, or some compromise between them, were accepted, the thing could not be made to work. Military government is in itself a hopelessly bad method of government except immediately at the end of a war. Quadripartite military government by unanimity, or by majority, or by sectors, over an extended period of time is an utter impossibility, capable only of creating confusion, misgovernment, intrigue, corruption and conflict.

Foreign Songs Stand High On U. S. Music Publishers' Lists

By George Tucker
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK, June 11.—I AM always surprised when someone says "Is that a foreign song? I never knew we imported songs."

Believe me, music publishers know all about foreign songs. The money they earn from the songs like the brook that is never done. Perhaps I can tell you why.

The origin of popular songs ignores political labels. The 60 or 70 thousand songs we copyright every year hasn't cut down the rash of hits from France, Italy, Czechoslovakia, Britain, and South America.

The public plays around with many songs but has love affairs with only a few. These make, the top tune polls. And on every such list for 10 or 20 years we've had visitors from overseas.

The smash tunes in this time include "South of the Border," "Frenesi," "Isle of Capri," "Beer Barrel Polka," "Moonlight Madonna," "Valencia," "I Kiss Your Hand, Madame," "Lili Marlene," "Majaguelna," "Gaiway Bay," "Siboney," "Bella, Bella, Marie," and "Song of Long Ago"—all bell singers from abroad.

If you examine the current top 10 you will find songs from England, Switzerland, and Ireland.

British Persuaded To Delay Recognition Of Chinese Reds Until Canton Is Taken

WASHINGTON.—Doing business with Communists—despite one bad eye Ambassador Lew Douglas has concluded a long wrangle with the British for joint American recognition of the Chinese Communists. It won't be admitted officially, but the British wanted to recognize the Communists within two weeks after taking Shanghai. Motive to save Hong Kong. Ambassador Douglas, however, acting on direct orders from Secretary Acheson and has succeeded in persuading the British to delay recognition until after the fall of Canton. The British have agreed to wait—with this proviso: They will be allowed to recognize the Chinese Communist regime a day or two ahead of the United States.

Ku Klux Klan Minutes—Klavern No. 1, Atlanta, meets at 198½ Whitehall St. Atlanta, in the quarters of the AFL Steamfitters and Plumbers Union. At a recent meeting, Klansman Ira Jett, an organizer of the American Bibo Club which goes even further than the Klan in race hatred, got irate against Grand Dragon Green, wanted him to give an accounting of Klan funds.

Klan members have no knowledge of how much money is being taken in by the Klan or being spent. Klansman Jett and other rebellious members claimed.

The grand dragon's friends squelched the rebellion, but tension between the anti-Green and the pro-Green factions simmers beneath the surface.

The grand dragon already has been through one rebellion, when the original Southern Klans broke away from him, setting up headquarters in Columbus, Ga.

Green now calls them: "A bunch of Bolsheviks."

British Depression—Averell Harriman, Marshall Plan administrator for Europe, has been instructed to see what he can do to head off the British financial crisis, now jeopardizing European recovery.

Harriman has orders to get the British to devalue the pound, and to get tough if necessary.

Sir Stafford Cripps is dead set against devaluation, feels it is a mere temporary stop-gap in the end will raise prices for British consumers. But Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder seems anxious to guide British finances from this side of the Atlantic.

NOTE: John is right about one thing. The 1930 slump first started in England.

Mr. Truman Workshops—President Truman's pastor, the Rev. Edward H. Pruden, was a little worried that a recent story in this column about Mr. Truman's not liking a lot of to-do in church was meant to mean such-to-do existed in the First Baptist Church, where the President frequently worships. . . . This is not the case. Services are routine when the President worships and most of the congregation doesn't know whether Truman is present until the very end, when the Rev. Mr. Pruden says that all remain seated until the President has departed. Then he escorts Mr. Truman down the center aisle to the door of the church.

The First Baptist Church has had two morning services ever since 1941, though it is even more crowded since Mr. Truman became President.

Money To Franco?—Generalissimo Franco of Spain is getting set to apply for a big American loan, all over again. . . . For some strange reason the American embassy in Madrid has convinced Franco the Export-Import Bank really didn't mean it when it turned down Spain's request couple of weeks ago. . . . So Franco has ordered his financial experts to dust off the application and try again. . . . The man behind this move is Paul Culbertson, U. S. charge d'affaires in Madrid, who seem'd almost as crushed as Franco when the Export-Import Bank said no. . . . Sparks may have been lit when President Truman hears this because he just finished announcing that he is dead set against any American loan to Dictator Franco.

Crisis In Czechoslovakia—Secretary Acheson has summoned Joseph E. Jacobs, U. S. ambassador to Czechoslovakia, back home for consultations on the critical situation in Czechoslovakia. Prediction: Jacobs will be replaced by Ellis O. Briggs, U. S. ambassador to Uruguay, a tough-talker who has battled against Peron in South America. More trouble is expected in Czechoslovakia soon.

VAUGHAN'S BAUBLE

The Congress still seems to take a dim view of giving foreign medals to poor Gen. Harry Vaughan. In fact, they are now withholding foreign medals to anybody.

Ever since George Washington's healthy precedent, Americans have been discouraged from accepting foreign medals—until quite recently. During the war, however, it became quite a fad in some Army-Navy circles, though it takes an act of Congress before an American citizen can actually accept a foreign decoration.

Recently the Army tried to slip through a bill, granting Vaughan and others permission to wear foreign medals. But when Vaughan's name was discovered in the list, the House Armed Services Committee dropped the medals like hot pennies.

The other day, as a trial balloon, a bill came before the Senate authorizing some U. S. scientists to accept some British awards. This time they were civilians. But the debate lasted exactly two minutes. Gen. Vaughan's name ended it all.

Sen. Millard Tydings of Maryland, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, had stood up to explain the bill.

"Congress," he droned, "passed a special act, applying only during the length of the war, which permitted military and other decorations during the war. But since that act has expired, it becomes necessary in each case, military or civilian, to have special legislation."

"Is the war over?" boomed out Ohio's Sen. Robert Taft.

"I should say some phases of it seem to be going on with increased intensity," retorted Tydings, with a sardonic grin.

"Does this bill cover the general who is connected with the White House?" asked New Hampshire's Sen. Charles Tobey.

"No, it does not," snapped Tydings. "It has nothing to do with any military personnel."

A Fellow Treated Courteously Is As Thoughtful In Return

If, for a change of pace, we were to be sermonizing this morning, we might take as the text, courtesy pays.

Or, it is a mighty fine thing to be thoughtful, or downright neighborly. Too many of us, I suspect, are prone to be brusque with people when we are interrupted at what we think is important work.

The bigger the man, I've heard, the more time he has to be courteous. The busier he is, the more time he actually takes to be gracious. And so it is pleasant to have a surprise communication from a gentleman I never heard of before, one Mr. Wallace Boren of Noroton, Connecticut, writing about one I am proud to know well, Congressman George Mahon.

Mr. Boren tells a story of being courteously treated, and I want to add my own salute to Mr. Boren for being just as thoughtful in return. Let Mr. Boren's letter speak for itself:

"Dear Mr. Whipkey:

"This is a sort of 'man-bites-wrong-dog' letter. It is a good American custom to write your congressman asking a favor or demanding that he do something. Now when someone writes not to his own congressman, but to the other fellow's congressman, not to the other fellow's congressman's home folks, there must be a reason!

"And there is. I was born in your congressional district, and while I haven't lived there in quite a while, I get homesick for West Texas. So when the missus and I were in Washington recently, we called on George Mahon, your congressman. It was Saturday afternoon, but he was up to his eyes in work there at his office. All good congressmen are rightfully overworked. Yet George Mahon acted glad to see us, treated us like old friends instead of strangers and took half an hour of his time to tell us what was happening in Congress and how he himself felt about the big questions he has to face.

"When we were out in the hall again, my wife said to me: 'There ought to be some way we could repay Mr. Mahon for the time he gave us. We've profited from the visit; but all he gets is a setback in his work.'

"We could write and thank him," I suggested.

"No good," she came back. "He'd just have to take more time to read the letter."

"Suppose I wrote some of the papers in his district and told them they have a man here to be proud of?"

"Okeh," she agreed. "But tell 'em I'm proud of him, and I'm a native of California. That will be news. It is no news to anybody to find one Texan proud of another!"

"So that's how this letter came about," she said.

"Sincerely,
"WALLACE BOREN"

Communist Hunt Excitement Is At Its Peak In United States

WASHINGTON.—THIS COUNTRY has reached a post-war peak in the excitement over the hunt for Communists, spies, fellow travelers, Russian sympathizers, subversives, and security risks.

At least half a dozen things have been happening this week around the country in connection with Communism, spying, fellow traveling, or subversion of one kind or another.

This peak has been slowly building up over the past few years, ever since the war and relations with Russia, friendly during the war, fell to pieces.

The excitement is being fanned by events in Congress and court trials as more names are brought, rightly or wrongly, into the present crusade against Communism.

A NUMBER OF INNOCENT PEOPLE probably will be hurt in this spreading search, but the concern over Communism is so great the end is not in sight.

Here are just six of the things that have been happening:

1. In New York 11 Communist party big shots, all admitted Communists, are on trial on a charge of teaching conspiracy to overthrow this government by violence. This has been going on for months.
2. In California the state Senate Un-American Activities Committee this week listed a number of prominent people, including movie stars and writers, as having "followed or appeased some of the Communist party line program over a long period of time."
3. In Washington Congress' House committee on Un-American Activities has been investigating alleged Communist spying activities in general, with more names being made public everyday.
4. Here in Washington, too, a congressional committee is holding an open hearing on charges by Senator Hickenlooper that David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission has been guilty of "incredible mismanagement."
5. In New York City, the names of several Hollywood people, whose names are now linked in the public mind with Communism, have denied the accusations of the secret informers, with the public getting no chance to learn whether the informers knew what they were talking about.

der fire but Hickenlooper keeps raising questions that spread the odor of Communism over the AEC's atomic program in one way or another. For example: Was so-and-so who worked on the program a good security risk? How come this man or that was allowed to do secret work?

5. In New York Alger Hiss, one-time State Department official, is on trial on a charge of perjury, the result of his denial of charges made against him before a grand jury by Whittaker Chambers, who admits he was once a Communist-Russian spy.

Chambers accused Hiss of handing over State Department secret papers to him. Chambers himself, on the stand during the trial has admitted he has committed perjury seven times.

But as the case drags on, other names besides these of Chambers and Hiss are brought into it, as links of a spy ring here back in the 1930's.

6. And in Washington one of the biggest explosions has come out of the trial of Judith Coplin, former Justice Department employee, being tried on a charge of pilfering government secrets.

A FLOCK OF HOLLYWOOD STARS and others, people Miss Coplin probably never met, have been dragged into the case not as spies, but as people unidentified informants of the FBI accused of being Communists or fellow-travelers.

This extraordinary thing—public exposure of secret FBI files—happened because the FBI said Miss Coplin had information about those files in her pocketbook when she was arrested for spying.

This was all secret information, the FBI said. The trial judge said it had to be made public so Miss Coplin could have a fair trial.

The Hollywood people, whose names are now linked in the public mind with Communism, have denied the accusations of the secret informers, with the public getting no chance to learn whether the informers knew what they were talking about.

England, Despite Its Socialist Regime, Pays Homage To King

THIS IS AN ODD THOUGH LIKABLE world of ours.

Socialist-governed England paid homage to its king-emperor Thursday amidst the splendor and pomp of by-gone days.

The occasion was the celebration of his majesty's 53rd birthday—an event observed throughout the commonwealth and empire. For the first time since the outbreak of war in '39 London saw the traditional trooping of the colors—one of the most stirring and colorful of Britain's pageants.

King George, uniformed in scarlet and escorted by household cavalry, rode through cheering lines of his subjects to the parade ground for the ceremony.

WELL, NOW, JUST HOW DOES ALL this imperial display fit in with socialism—or does it? Do we have an anomaly here, or don't we? Why this reverence of the King? I put the question to an Englishman in New York, and for a minute had him stopped.

"Why," he said, "I never thought of it like that before. I guess it's because the king is the same to us as your flag is to you. He stands for the solidarity of our unwritten constitution, for liberty, for civil rights.

"Then, personality plays a part. In the old days a monarch was honored because of his power. But things are different now. The monarch is outside politics. King George is liked for himself—he is a good fellow. And he has a grand family.

"And, of course, this royal pageantry is a fine 'show.' It fills a sentimental gap. I think you have to lump all these things together to understand why we like our monarchy."

WE RECENTLY WERE GIVEN ANOTHER reason why the king fills a useful place in the affairs of the British state.

THE GREAT DOMINION OF INDIA, which received its independence Aug. 15, 1947, announced that it intended to become a republic. As a republic it couldn't be a member of the British commonwealth of nations because they recognized the English king as their king.

This posed a momentous problem. The commonwealth didn't want to lose India, and India didn't want to leave, but republics don't have kings. However, in the commonwealth conference in London at the end of April someone had a brain-wave, and India agreed to accept the crown as "the symbol of the free association" of the independent commonwealth nations, as such, the head of the commonwealth.

Thus the crown continues to be the bond that holds the commonwealth together.

Noted American Cartoonist Dies

CHICAGO, June 11. — John McCutcheon, 79, famous cartoonist for the Chicago Tribune for 43 years and former war correspondent, died Friday at his home in suburban Lake Forest.

McCutcheon, who won the Pulitzer Prize for cartoons in 1931, had been ill since 1946 when he retired from active work at the Tribune.

McCutcheon's career as a cartoonist and writer started with the old Chicago Record after his graduation from Purdue University in 1889.

McCutcheon's best known cartoon was "Injun Summer," which was first printed in the Tribune of Sept. 30, 1907. The cartoon was reprinted by request annually each fall in the Tribune since 1912. His survivors include his widow, the former Evelyn Barr and three sons, John T., Jr., a member of the Tribune editorial staff; Shaw and George Barr McCutcheon, and a sister, Mrs. Jessie Nelson of Sherman, Conn.

Bette Davis With Bob Montgomery In Gay Comedy Piece

The film player who usually does more serious emoting—Miss Bette Davis—turns to farce comedy for "June Bride," the Terrace Drive-In theatre's offering for tonight and Monday night.

And co-starring with her is an engaging fellow of rare comedy talents himself, Robert Montgomery. Together, they are said to score with a story that has charm and pure fun.

Bette plays a successful magazine editor, one who hires and fires with ease. Bob comes back into her life after a European assignment, and is put on her staff. This creates a problem, as the two still go for each other in a way. When the staff moves into Crestville, Indiana to build up their special June feature their affair takes on added zest.

The film abounds with situations all on the strictly humorous side. Bob has an apple-cider spree with Tom Tully which is a riot. Betty Lynn, as the youngest Brinker belle, vamps small-town fashion and gets her man, Barbara Bates, as the more beautiful Brinker, has a somewhat smaller part, but clicks. Mary Wickes' dry remarks add pepper, and Fay Bainter, in smart garb, gives additional interest to the proceedings.

There is a super love-chase around Bette's apartment, with Bob following her, turning the lamps on and off with great alacrity. Another bit is when Raymond Roe as the young Romeo answers Bob Montgomery with a mere "Boo," meaning of course Betty Lynn, who goes under that nickname. All very funny. The entire production is steeped in Hoosier hospitality, garnering endless chuckles with its particular community spirit and social life.

Eleven stations throughout West Texas and reaching from Wichita Falls to Amarillo to El Paso, will air this program, and Tipton, who will be known on the air as Mr. Paymaster, will originate his programs from many sections of the state as he travels about in search of his news. Part of Mr. Paymaster's traveling kit will be a recording unit that will permit him to bring his listeners on-the-scene interviews from the field, fat stock and livestock shows, Four H and F.F.A. meetings and the like.

TAYLOR ON TOUR
ABC Commentator Henry J. Taylor has embarked on a three-month world tour to observe at first hand conditions in the world's trouble spots and talk with leaders in areas torn by political strife and economic chaos.

The trip, which will take Taylor to Tokyo, Shanghai and some 15 other cities in Asia and Europe, will be another of his fact-finding tours which he has undertaken in the past decade to see for himself the exact conditions around the globe. Last year, the ABC commentator criss-crossed America, checking public opinion by talking with industrial leaders, political savants, labor leaders and average citizens on important issues facing the country.

PROGRAM CHANGES
Moving into a full-hour Sunday spot with his recorded Milton Cross Opera Album, Milton Cross will be heard from 3 to 4 p.m. over ABC-KBST this afternoon.

Formerly heard in the 3 o'clock spot on KBST was Ted Malone, famed story-teller. Malone now will be heard at 9:15 each Sunday evening.

Joan Crawford's 'Flamingo Road' Offered At Ritz

With the same talented quartet that gave Joan Crawford her first Academy Award three years ago, Warner Bros. produced "Flamingo Road," a dynamic romantic drama about small-state politics, which is the featured attraction at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

Stars Joan Crawford and Zachary Scott, Producer Jerry Wald and Director Michael Curtiz are the four who made the now memorable "Mildred Pierce," one of the most popular pictures that year. Now, according to advance word, the same success is repeated with "Flamingo Road."

Taken from the play by Robert and Sally Wilder, "Flamingo Road" tells about a beautiful carnival dancer who stays behind in a small southern town, falls in love, and makes her rise to prestige and riches through a story beset with murder, romance and political intrigue.

Director Curtiz, one of Hollywood's ace artists with the megaphone, describes his story as one of "the best in recent years" with which to work, and with Miss Crawford in the lead

Novel Comedy About October Plays At State

A bit of pleasant nonsense called "The Return Of October," is the State theatre's feature for today and Monday. In Technicolor, it stars Glenn Ford and a vivacious newcomer to the screen, Terry Moore.

In the supporting cast are Albert Sharpe, James Gleason, Dame May Whitty and Henry O'Neill.

"The Return Of October" is one of those off-the-beaten-track films that has been delighting audiences. The novel story has to do with a lovely young miss (Moore) who believes a horse named October bears a striking resemblance to her late Uncle Willie (Gleason) with the same type of battered hat, the same straw dangling from his mouth and the same fondness for Amos 'n' Andy!

She also believes that Ford, a young professor of psychology who is more than a little bewildered by her antics, is a darling "schnookle" and their romance promises to be a further asset of this picture with a heartbeating climax of "The Return Of October," which takes place during the running of the Kentucky Derby, and a surprising courtroom trial to determine Miss Moore's sanity, are other rousing highlights.

Now You Can Hire Milk Formula Service

By FRANKLIN ARTHUR Associated Press Staff Writer PADASENA Calif. June 11.—Parenthood has many joys, but mixing formula is not one of them. How many times have you—if you're a mother, and, probably, a father—stirred milk mixtures over a hot stove with a hungry infant yelling in your ear, and wished for the day junior could become a customer of the neighborhood dairy? Dinner services long since have taken the load off clotheslines. Now formula services are eliminating that awful moment when your only graduate slips from your hand and splatters on the kitchen floor when you suddenly discover that the refrigerator has given up and a whole batch has gone sour. The idea was born during the war. Hazel Klein was graduated as a registered nurse from St. Luke's Hospital, Denver, in 1927. For years she watched babies come and go in maternity wards. Came the war, and hospitals were filled with young mothers who had to take their babies back to trailers of single rooms. "They told me they dreaded the formulas more than anything," Mrs. Klein says. "Many of them had limited time to cook and landladies didn't want their kitchens tied up for hours of formula making." Thus the prescription formula service was born. Now Mrs. Klein and her husband, Fred, operate Southern California's only such service—one of a dozen or so scattered throughout the country. It's a bustling business now, they say, although it took hold slowly a year ago until the average mother could be convinced someone else could prepare the food for her new pride and joy as well as she.

For a fixed charge of $5 a week, the service delivers to the family icebox as many bottles of formula as the doctor decrees, double-ported and prepared exactly to the doctor's specifications. Said one doctor: "From my standpoint, the service has been completely satisfactory. I have not heard a single complaint. If nothing else, it is worthwhile in giving the new mother a chance to conserve her strength." There are other advantages, too. When it's difficult to find a formula that agrees with baby, your cupboard may be crowded with various products once tried and discarded. The formula service can provide a new batch within an hour, day or night, the Kleins say, whenever the doctor orders a change.

That applies to any emergency, such as refrigerator failure, although the Kleins say their testing laboratory shows that some formulas—made and sealed in their own spotless kitchens—have kept as long as 70 days without spoiling. They do not recommend their use after three days, however, and pick up unused bottles on their every-second-day deliveries. The service also includes distilled water, an ample supply of nipples (you still have to boil your own, though); a set of patent inserts to keep the baby from gulping the milk too fast; and a bottle warmer for those 2 a. m. feedings in the bedroom.

The Kleins also, on doctor's orders, will add vitamins or other prescriptions to the formula, billing the user for the cost of the product. Unusually complex formulas cost a little more.

The laboratory is much like a dairy's bottling plant—with patent washing and scalding machines, a giant sterilizer, germ-killing lights and all the usual equipment for accurate measuring and mixing. The service is under both state department of agriculture and city health department inspection, and Mrs. Klein has been told that its sanitary rating is a shade under 99 per cent as high as any in the nation for a plant handling milk products.

Sigrid Undset, Novelist, Dies

OSLO, Norway, June 11. (AP)—Sigrid Undset, Nobel Prize winning author, died Friday at Lillehammer, Norway.

Miss Undset, author of the "Kristen Lavransdatter" Trilogy, was 67. She won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1928. The citation spoke of the remarkable picture she drew of life in the Middle Ages.

Her writings aroused the anger of Hitler's Nazis long before the war, and in 1940 when the Germans invaded Norway, Miss Undset threw herself into work for her government. Her eldest son, Anders, was killed in action, and her youngest was in an ambulance unit.

Later she fled by automobile then got a boat at the edge of the Arctic Circle and made her way to Sweden and refuge. Some time later she went to the United States, accompanied by her son, Hans.

HAT GIVES OWNER AWAY

LONDON, June 10. (AP)—A man gives himself away by the set of his hat, the Trades Journal said Friday.

It provided these clues: "A hat dead straight on the head shows lack of imagination. "Too much on the back of the head suggests the yokel. "Too much over the nose, a prig. "Too much on one side suggests a character with rather too much bounce."

Vacation Trip

F. W. Bettie, city building inspector, left Thursday on a vacation trip to visit friends and relatives in St. Louis, Cincinnati, Washington, D. C., Baltimore and New York.

Record paid attendance for the U.S. amateur championship was drawn in 1930 in Philadelphia. 35,450 fans watched Bobby Jones complete his "grand slam".
