State Bond Issue And Prison Bill May Face Solons

Debate Is Over Which Will Get Action First In Both Houses; Prison Measure Is More Uncertain

Moody May Lead

Monday To See Disposition Of Both Perhaps; Moody Likely To Step Into Personal Charge Of Reins

BY R. W. BARRY
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

AUSTIN, Feb. 16. (AP) — No one will hazard a guess on the probable outcome of the state-wide highway bond issue proposal and the several bills drafted to centralize and concentrate the penitentiary system, which will get action in both houses this week.

The status of the resolution which would submit to voters a Constitutional amendment under which bonds not to exceed $175,000,000 at any time could be issued to build highways and reimburse counties for roads already on the state system, is not as uncertain as the prison legislation.

Change Of Sentiment.

There has been a change of sentiment on the bond issue. Governor Moody's contention that the people should be given opportunity to decide the matter at the polls has won support for submission of the Constitutional amendment from some legislators who personally are not in favor of the bonds.

It will require a two-thirds majority in each the senate and house to submit the proposed amendment, and the governor claims that at least 21 of the 31 senators will vote for it.

Both the bond issue resolution and senate bills bearing on prison reorganization are set for special order

Europe Unites In War Against Cold

Continent Governments Are Lending Aid To Relieve One Another: Ten Trains Are Reported Missing

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Political differences of Europe have been forgotten in making common cause against distress consequent on the most severe winter in many years. All over the continent governments are lending aid to clear snow buried tracks of International Railway lines and some are giving right of way to precious fuel shipments for suffering neighbors.

In Czechoslovakia, war has been declared on winter. Premier Frantisek Udrzal today ordered half of the standing army of 500,000 men to open an offensive on the huge accumulations of ice and snow which for a fortnight have paralyzed communications.

Famine Is Abroad

Famine is abroad in the Roumanian Province of Bessarabia from which the snows block aid offered by the government and foreign agencies. Starvation is being staved off in Vienna by public soup kitchens while Germany is rushing coal by rail.

Ten trains are missing, and have been for days, in Jugoslavia although in Serbian Macedonia spring has launched a counter offensive.

Germany also has felt the cold. Cemetery authorities in Stuttgart today urged the public to cremate its dead because the earth is frozen to such a depth that burials are next to impossible.

LADS ARE SOUGHT

Two Boys Leave Corsicana February 4

TYLER, Feb. 16. (AP)—Texas radio stations were enlisted tonight in an effort to find Calvin Cunningham, 12, and Melvin Eddie, 14, who disappeared from the state orphanage at Corsicana February 4.

Other boys at the orphanage said Cunningham told them Eddie was taking him to Tyler to visit his mother, Mrs. Edith Cunningham, assistant nurse at the general hospital there. Nothing has been heard of either boy since their departure.

Mrs. Cunningham, fearing her son has been injured, is prostrated.

BOND ISSUE VOTED DOWN

LIBERTY, Feb. 16. (AP)—A $2,250,000 bond issue was voted down by the Liberty county electorate in a special election today, returns from 10 of 17 precincts indicated.

Senate Hears Scorn And Derision Shouted At Pro Law By Reed Of Missouri

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Scorn and derision for prohibition and its disciples was shouted in the senate today by Reed of Missouri.

Delivering one of the few extended speeches of the session which is seeing the Missourian bow himself voluntarily off the stage of public service, Reed turned on those who "vote dry and drink wet" with a fury which even he has seldom approached in the years of his turbulent career.

So scorching was his attack that the long-awaited Reed-Borah debate on prohibition became a possible oratorical treat for next week. At the request of Borah the senate agreed to remove the limit on debate, but whether the Idahoan will decide to reply to Reed Monday was not disclosed.

People to Awaken

The Missouri democrat contended that the United States, is in a "reign of hypocrisy and can't of violence, chicanery, false pretense and fraud" and predicted the time would come when the American people would awaken to the view that "the prohibitory law is the worst crime that has ever taken place."

He shouted that a man who voted dry but nevertheless drinks is "a coward—a knavish coward" and said he might in time make public names of members of congress whose personal habits are contrary to their sentiments as registered by their votes on prohibition proposals

The Jones bill to increase penalties for prohibition law violators was the order of business in the senate and under a previous agreement debate on the measure would have been limited after 4 p. m. today.

Predicted Laws End

Reed predicted that in time the country would see the prohibition law come "to an ignominious end"

"The day will come," he thundered, "when the man who votes for prohibition and who himself violates the letter and the spirit of the law will be held in that kind of contempt which ought to be visited upon the knavish hypocrite who masks himself behind pretended virtue, and who seeks to hold office by virtue of his false pretense.

"The day will come in this country when organized groups will no longer conduct the government, but once more the voice of the people will be heard, and that voice will pronounce the knell of those who have yielded that thrift might follow fawning."

Criticises Hypocrites

The senator asserted he had no criticism of those men who themselves observed the doctrines they would force on others, but, he declared:

"I hold in an abhorrence and contempt that cannot be painted in any tongue that man has ever possessed any creature who, to keep his place in this body or in the house of representatives will make that a felony which he himself connives at in his personal practice."

Acidly the senator told of drinking at the republican and democratic conventions last summer at Kansas City and Houston, He said just

Lubbock Clings to Fifth In Building Permits In Texas

Past Week Sees $164,900 In Permits Granted; City Is Outranked Only By Four State Metropolises

Lubbock's standing among cities of Texas, in record of building permits issued during the past week, is at fifth place. Only such large cities as Houston, San Antonio, Beaumont and Fort Worth topped this city's volume last week, and for the year Lubbock stands at fifth place, being ahead of Beaumont on the year's total, but Dallas holding fourth place for the period since January 1, a state survey of the week last night revealed.

Saturday's permits here amounted to $31,700, bringing the week's total to $164,900 and that of the month to $365,622. The year's record is now $627,350. There were six permits issued Saturday, 35 during the past week, 42 for the month and 108 since January 1.

Twenty-Nine Residences Started

For the week just closed there were 29 residence permits issued out of the 35 permits, the others being, one filling station and store, a garage and filling station, three stores and a filling station, one garage, a business building and repair or remodelling jobs. A glance at the week's record, day by day, shows a consistant volume for each 24-hour period: Monday, $11,800; Tuesday, $29,400; Wednesday, $40,425; Thursday, $23,900; Friday, $27,675; and Saturday, $31,700. Below is the list of Saturday's permits:

Bank In Idalou May Re-open Soon

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

IDALOU, Feb. 16.—With auditors still going over the books of the First State bank which recently closed here, the financial condition of the institution is still undetermined. The examiners are expected to finish their work this week, it has been learned, and a re-opening of the institution is expected soon afterwards.

It is understood that a party of Childress bankers are considering taking over the business of the new bank.

The depositors of the institution are expected to learn of the extent of their losses, if any, within a short time.

Chicago To Get Dry Cleaning As Result Of Deaths

City Is On Verge Of One Of Greatest General Crime Purgings Since Prohibition; Order Clamping

No Clues Found

Prohibition And Booze Are Blamed For Executions; Many Theories Advanced For Act; Police Blamed

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—As a result of the St. Valentine's day massacre of seven gangsters, Chicago tonight was on the verge of perhaps the greatest dry cleaning and general crime purging since prohibition.

The drive by federal, state and city officials against crime, vice, gambling—and particularly liquor—almost overshadowed the manhunt for the murderers of the seven Moran gangster's executed in their headquarters Thursday.

Booze Running Doomed

Spurred on by criticism and the state's attorney's admonition to the police to "clamp on the lid or go to jail." Commissioner of Police Russell today told his captains and deputies "booze selling and booze running must be wiped out."

He blamed "prohibition and booze," for the wholesale slayings and ordered 5,500 policemen whom he said had been battling crime, vice and gambling to be thrown into the fight to make Chicago dry—something the police heretofore have considered a duty of federal authorities.

Meanwhile search for the four or five men who almost eliminated the Moran gang with their machine guns extended along two lines—neither of which had been productive. Police were searching here and

U.S. Liner Is On Way To Aid Ship

Freighter Padnsay Is Made Helpless In Worst Storm On Atlantic; Rudder Is Gone With 35 Aboard

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. — Through one of the worst North Atlaritic storms of the winter the United States liner President Harding ploughed its way tonight toward the American freighter Padnsay, rudderless and helpless with at least 35 persons aboard.

The liner departed from its course for Europe when the freighter's SOS was picked up about 10 a. m., six hours later the President Harding had received no further word from the stricken ship. It was believed the freighter's wireless had been blown away. The liner expected to reach the vessel about 4 a. m., tomorrow.

The Padnsay, owned by the American West African line, is 280 feet long and 2,977 tons net register.

Amarillo Vender Is Sued For $50,000

AMARILLO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Habib Kahn, who claims to be an Afghan prince, but who Amarillo residents know as a vendor of "hot tamales," was named in a $50,000 breach of promise suit filed here today by Miss Imogene Smith, daughter of a Greer county, Oklahoma farmer.

Miss Smith alleges in the petition that Kahn broke his betrothal with her after a trousseau had been obtained, at his expense, and after they had been photographed for their passports to Afghanistan.

Kahn announced recently he intended to return to Afghanistan to modernize his native land.

Colorado Mine Is Cut Off From Aid By Big Snowslide

Three Hundred and Eighty-Five Miners Marooned In Without Much Food; Prone Is Used To Outside

(By Associated Press)

DURANGO, Colo., Feb. 16. —Cut off from the world by snowslides for two weeks, 385 miners at the Sunnyside mine and mill north of the isolated town of Silverton, near here, today had only enough food to last three or four days.

By telephone, their only means of communication with the outside, the miners sent word last night that their provisions were low.

Efforts to move mail and provisions to Silverton and Eureka, another isolated town, on a mule pack train have failed. Great snow slides between Silverton and Durange have buried the railroad tracks under snow that in some places reaches a depth of 200 feet. An army of shovelers has been at work 10 days cutting through the blockade and it was estimated it would take that much longer to get through.

San Marcos Dean To Retain Place

SAN MACOS, Feb. 16. (AP)—Students of the Southwest Texas State Teachers college will be given more freedom, but Miss Mary C. Brogden, dean of women, will retain her official position, it was decided today as an aftermath of threats of rebellion unless the rules were softened.

The students protested what they claimed were unreasonable restrictions and petitioned the school authorities to ask for Miss Brogden's resignation.

Dr. C. E. Evans, president of the college, in refusing to dismiss the dean said to do so "would give rise to frequent insubordinations and would not be the best for the school in the future."

It was announced the restrictions complained of would be modified.

Senator Heflin Again Causes An Uproar In Senate Over Religious Hatred

Alabaman Protests Against Flying Church Pennant Above Flag On Battleship Met By Opposition From Bingham, Republican, Mason, Protestant

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Protest against using the senate forum "for stirring up religious hatred" was voiced in the senate today by Senator Bingham, republican, connecticut, after Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, had completed another attack against the "influence of the Roman Catholic church."

Heflin challenged Bingham to debate in the Washington auditorium next month the "propriety of calling of attention here to the dangers which threaten religious freedom." This was ignored by Bingham, but he denied Heflin's accusation that some one had inspired him to reply to the Alabaman.

Only Few Senators Present

The exchange occurred with only a few senators on the floor. Bingham apologized to Heflin for stating that his speeches were "intended to stir up religious bigotry." Heflin had shouted "that is untrue." Bingham said "I shouldn't have said intended. I should have said do."

Heflin declared there "are some mighty weak-kneed Protestants here and more mighty weak-kneed Masons." But when he referred again to the influence of the Catholic church in the senate, Bingham, a Protestant and a Mason, declared he had been influenced by no one and Heflin said he accepted his statement.

Heflin Reads Letters

Heflin opened his speech by reading letters he said he had received lauding him for his effort to prevent the flying of the church pennant above the American flag on navy vessels during church services. The senate two weeks ago voted down a proposal by Heflin to prohibit this.

The Alabaman declared that "if Herbert Hoover meets this Catholic issue he will be re-elected in 1932." However, he said, "if he dallies or plays with it, the issue in 1932 will be Catholic or non-Catholic control of this government."

Assailing what he described as the Catholic "penpushers" in the press gallery, Heflin said they had denounced him for his attempt to prevent the flying of the church pennant above the American flag. He denounced Mussolini for his agreement with the Vatican and asserted that "religious freedom lies dead in Italy at the feet of Mussolini."

Tentative Plans For Annual Convention Under Way; May Change Dates To Suit Two Presidents

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

EL PASO, Feb. 16.—A movement to have President Herbert Hoover and President Portes Gil, of Mexico to attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in El Paso gained impetus today following a conference here between Homer D. Wade, of the regional organization; H. L. Birney, N. A. Banden and Ed Heid of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

Should the executives accept the invitation to attend the El Paso convention, the dates will be changed to meet their convenience, Wade said. Dates first decided upon for the convention were May 13, 14 and 15.

Delegation To Extend Invitation.

President Hoover will be invited to attend the convention by a West Texas delegation, which is to attend the inauguration ceremonies at Washington March 4. In a long distance telephone conversation today, R. B. Creager, of Brownsville, national republican committeeman, assured Wade that he was not only willing, but was anxious to cooperate with West Texas in bringing Mr. Hoover to El Paso. Creager stated that he would aid the West Texas delegation in securing an audience with President Hoover in order that the invitation might be extended personally.

Plans are being made to send the

The oldest of the children, 10, told officers his father had been acting "queerly" for several weeks. He said Thompson had a hallucination someone was going to break into the house and harm him and had been sleeping with his clothing on and the gun by his side.

McCloskey Faces Trial On Monday

AUSTIN, Feb. 16. (AP)—Augustus McCloskey of San Antonio, scheduled to take his seat in Congress, March 4, will go to trial in criminal district court here Monday on indictments alleging alteration of election returns.

McCloskey, his secretary, Charles Ramirez, and Elmer Wernette, also of San Antonio, were indicted as a sequel to the close race between McCloskey, democrat, and Congressman Harry M. Wurzback, republican.

The indictments allege that the election returns were altered prior to canvass of the Bexar county vote by the county commissioners. It is charged that returns approved by the court do not tally with unofficial returns filed by election officials with the county clerk.

San Angelo-Sonora Railroad Contract Signed Saturday

Orient To Be Run Into New Territory After Twenty Years Efforts; I.C.C. To Be Asked For Permit

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 16.—San Angelo today signed a contract with the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad Co., of Texas for construction of a line from San Angelo to Sonora, 65 miles south. The contract called for provision of additional sidings for two stations between San Angelo and Christoval and for another station six miles south of Christoval.

Judge S. T. Bledsoe, general attorney for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, was expected to give final approval of the contract here tomorrow. Similar agreements have been reached with citizens in Schleticher and Sutton counties, which will be signed Monday.

Completed In Two Years

The contract signed today calls for completion of the line within two years from the date the interstate commerce commission grants approval.

The line to Sonora will follow the old Orient Dump, part of the Orient property purchased by the Santa Fe when it acquired the Orient last June. The roadbed was constructed 20 years ago at a cost of $960,000. Engineers of the Orient and Santa Fe believe work will be started in three months.

West Texas Area Gets 2 New Wells

FORT STOCKTON, Feb. 16. (AP) Two new oil wells, the McCarty Oil company's No. 1 Gray and the Pecos Valley Oil company's No. 2 Fee, blew in today. No gauge had been made but the wildcats were expected to be commercial producers.

The McCarty well is on the west line of section 591, 16 miles north of Fort Stockton. The nearest production in commercial quantities is some six miles north, and much enthusiasm was shown at Fort Stockton over the new producers.

The Pecos well, which blew in at 1,625 feet, is four miles north of the McCarty well. The well is an offset of No. 1 Fee which recently opened the new pool in northern Pecos county.

Five Persons Are Examined For Clue To Alston's Death

H. B. Alston, 30, Is Found Beaten To Death In Heart Of East Texas City; No Motives Determined

Had No Enemies

Finger Prints Are Taken Of Suspects Held in Case; Blood-Covered Pie And Handkerchief Found

(By Associated Press)

MARSHALL, Feb. 16 — Finger prints of five persons, including two women, were taken by Bertillion experts today for comparison with those on an iron bar found near the body of H. B. Alston, 30, beaten to death in a cemetery in the heart of the city last night.

Statements by the widow and friends of Alston that he had no known enemies have caused investigators to return to the theory that robbery was the motive for the slaying. They believe Alston was beaten to death by a man well known to him, as he would not have entered the cemetery with a stranger.

Body Found by Youth

Alston's body was found by Ed Ross, 17, while walking through the cemetery. The head was crushed. One of the suspects held was said to have been seen to throw a bloody handkerchief in the basement of the railway station.

The body was sent today to Tyler Alston's former home, for burial.

MARSHALL, Feb. 16 (AP)—A blood covered pipe, three feet long, was found today under a bush in the Marshall cemetery where the body of H. B. Alston, 30, a coppersmith was discovered last night. A blood-stained handkerchief and piece of paper were found in the basement of a railway station.

Several suspects are held. One of them is said to have been seen to throw the handkerchief in the basement.

Fourteen Counties To Get Road Work

State To Let Contracts For $2,330,000 Monday And Tuesday; New Designations Asked Also

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 16.—Fourteen counties share in contracts aggregating $2,330,000 for about 136 miles of road construction to be awarded by the State Highway Commission Monday and Tuesday. In addition, there will be delegations from a number of counties asking aid, designations and relocations.

Among contracts advertised for letting: Childress county, 13.42 miles grading and drainage highway 5; Hardeman county, 14.80 miles concrete pavement highway 5; Randall county, 13.73 miles concrete pavement highway 33; Hudspeth county, 3.22 miles grading, drainage and concrete pavement, highway 1; Kinney county, 9.17 miles grading and drainage highway 131; Jim Wells county, 9.78 miles Limestone surface course, highway 12-A; Refugio county, stele truss over Aransas river, steel truss over Mission river, and 17.61 miles grading, drainage and caliche base, all on highway 128; Motley county, 13.50 miles grading and drainage highway 28; Taylor county, 17.89 miles concrete pavement, highway 30; Cottle county, concrete overpass highway 28.

'Krassin' Account Brings Dire Tale About Cannabilism

Reopen Controversy On Tragic Fate of the Italia

SINISTER charges in hitherto unpublished documents creep through the pages of "The Krassin" (Macauleys) to repone in sensational fashion the controversy which raged over the fate of the Italia, its survivors and victims.

Here is a terrific and brutal melodrama, which Maurice Parijanine, a Paris newspaperman, tells us was plucked out of life and not fiction.

Whether or not Nobile was justified in deserting his fellows becomes relatively insignificant in the light of documentation which leads the reader to believe that Captain Zappi turned cannibal, eating from the flesh of the famous Swedish scientist, Malmgren.

Even uglier innuendoes are here. When the Soviet rescue ship, Krassin, found them, so this author relates, Mariano and Zappi were floating about on a small "ice pan." Mariano was practically stripped of clothing, and was slowly freezing, whereas Zappi was warmly clad in three suits of clothing—those of Malmgren, Mariano and himself. He wore several pairs of stockings, and gave evidence of being well fed and physically peppy. He was able to climb the ship's rope ladder with a hop, skip and jump.

And, allegedly from the notebook of a crew member, come other ugly references—claims that Mariano, in his thin mutterings, kept repeating, "You can eat me . . . but wait until I'm dead!" . . . The inference is too horrible for thought. Yet here it is.

All this, and more, comes at the end of an account of the heroic work of the Soviet government boat and its men. At the very outset it is apparent that Parijanine's sympathies are not particularly Italian and are very much Russian. He feels that the Soviet rescuers never were properly applauded by the world, just because they were such. Nor does he spare his contempt for Nobile.

Such details can be traced to a partisanship, if one wishes. But it is impossible to overlook the incredible charges of cannibalism and the insinuations that creep in concerning the fate of Malmgren. These latter leave an open question regarding the abandonment of the Swedish scientist.

The author says that he could get little or nothing from Soviet records. He goes to crew members and rescuers, having boarded the Krassin when the second rescue trip was started. He says that European centers have long whispered what he now prints and that in a Barcelona cafe, a menu carried a dish they called "Steak Malmgren."

Now upon the same day that the Paris journalist loosed his sensation, a careful, unemotional and precise record of the Krassin's rescue came from the pen of an Italian correspondent who was on board. It is "The Tragedy of the Italia" (Appleton), by David Giudici. Here one finds no intimation of anything contained in the other book. Everyone is properly heroic, and from Italians to Russians there is only chronicle of valor and epic achievement.

If the author saw anything odd about Zappi's behavior, he did not put it down. He does confirm the other story to the extent of admitting that Zappi came aboard the Krassin unaided. But he makes no comment on Zappi's clothing. He pictures Mariano as "lying in a pool of watery snow, wrapped in a light blanket which was water-soaked."

He takes Zappi at his word and says nothing of contradictions in stories, nor of alleged cross-examinations on board the Krassin. He treats both Zappi and Mariano as self-sacrificing heroes going ahead in an effort to save their fellows left behind. Malmgren begged to be allowed to die and pleaded that they desert him, according to this account, and so was left there.

Anrd so the controversy stands—as mysterious as ever.

Over Thirty Billion In Banks of Nation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP).—Combined resources of the 7,635 national banks of the nation have reached the figure of $30,589,156,000.

Comptroller of the Currency Cole, reporting today on the returns from the call for reports on the condition of the banks issued on December 31 said the resources exceed by $1,663,676,300 those held on October 3, 1928, the date of the previous call. They were $2,424,973,000 greater than the amount reported December 31, 1927.

Alma Reubens May Become Addict

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16. (AP)—The Examiner today said that members of the family of Alma Rubens, screen star, had made it known that she is fighting to reclaim herself from narcotic addiction.

The newspapers quoted Miss Ruben's husband, Ricardo Cortez, also a motion picture star, as having said:

"I don't know how long Alma has been using narcotics. It has been only in the last few months that she has been so hysterical that there could no longer be any doubt."

It was said that investigations had been made by state and federal authorities and by the newspaper itself in determining that 24 or more narcotic prescriptions had been issued to the film star.

Miss Rubens entered a sanitarium recently.

Random Booknotes As Gleaned From the Editor's Mail

The sacrifice that opera singers sometimes lay on the altar of art for the gift of a golden voice is set forth in "Frima Donna," a music critic's first novel.

Pitts Sanborn, who has been familiar with the musical worlds of America and Europe for nearly 20 years, has written his story of a girl's tears and triumphs, disappointments and successes on a two-volume scale.

The first toll Helma Seymour paid on the glamorous path to operatic eminence left her disillusioned. It was in the currency of love and after that first emotional disaster she learned from experience with a succession of men that art was a jealous master.

Writes About Last Of Royal Line

Joseph Redlich, former member of the Austrian parliament, now professor in the Harvard law school, has written a biography of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, whom he describes as the last European monarch of the old school

In this volume, Francis Joseph is shown as a dignified and obstinate emperor who refused to bow before changing conditions that spread over Europe and spelled disaster to the autocrats. At the last he was a tragic figure who had survived the suicide of his son and heir, the assassination of his wife, and the murder at Serajevo of his nephew, the heir to the Serbian throne, only to have his own downfall precipitated by the World War. Yet to the end he was loved by his people and admired by his enemies for the stalwart qualities he possessed.

Snapshots About Presidents Given

In his years as a political correspondent at Washington and at an editorial desk in New York, Charles Willis Thompson has known with a reporter's intimacy half a dozen presidents and two "near presidents"—Mark Hanna and William Jennings Bryan.

He writes of the octet in "Presidents I've Known," not so much as an analyst of their careers or their contributions to statesmanship as from the viewpoint of one who saw them in many human moods.

Wistful Hero Makes Comeback

Felix Fay, the wistful Bohemian hero of Floyd Dell's "Moon Calf," makes a return appearance in the same writer's new novel "Souvenir."

This time Felix—married for the second time—has to deal with the moods and fancies of the 19 year old son of his first marriage. The story concerns their summer together, their blundering attempts to get acquainted after 10 years of separation, and of the effects the situation has on his second wife.

There is a girl, of course, with whom the young Fay is in love. Felix sees his own youth mirrored in his son, but somehow his attitude toward life has changed and he cannot achieve the companionship with this young Fay that he so much desires. In the end, Felix is made to realize that no matter how much he understands his son's problems and concerns, their ways lie along separate paths, and only by living and experiencing will the son reach his goal.

Book Tells About Arnold Rothstein

Arnold Rothstein, gambler and Broadwayite whose slaying in a New York hotel still is a mystery, is said to have won $800,000 on a race at the Aqueduct track July 4, 1921, and to have lost $331,000 on another race a few months later.

That and other anecdotes about the man who is alleged to have backed bootleggers and narcotic-sellers are related by Donald Henderson Clark, a former newspaper reporter under the title "In the Reign of Rothstein." Others who have figured in the news are mentioned in the book among them Fanny Brice an Nicky Arnstein, Peggy Joyce, and "Dapper Dan" Collins.

She's Through With Lorelei

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16.—Well, dear diary, I'm ab-so-lutely through. I mean I re-ally am.

When a nice girl's author says things about her like Anita Loos has said about me, I certainly think it's time to do something about it. And after all I've done for her! You cer-tainly must know that if it hadn't been for my winning ways, Miss Loos cer-tainly would not be riding around in yachts.

As I said to Dorothy only yesterday: "We made her what she is today."

And after all that, if you can be-lieve it, Miss Loos forgets that ladies like we have feelings like her. But what I re-ally mean is that she has told the re-porters she will have nothing more to do with us. She re-ally said that, I saw it in the newspaper with my own eyes. She ev-en said she was tired of me and that she had to go to Florida for a rest.

TO VOTE FOR QUEEN

Voting for the freshman queen who will preside over the class dance to be given March 8, will begin soon, according to Jimmy Whiteside, president of the class. Each member of the class is allowed one vote.

The following girls have been suggested as candidates for the greatly desired position: Beth Wulfman, Rita Huffstedler, Leha Bert Medlin, Irene Frnka, Mary Frizzell, Frances Ford, Camille Stobaugh, Zona Stiles, Mary Elva Burns, Marjorie Ainsworth and Virginia Murray.

READER TO GIVE "DISRAELI"

One of the leading events scheduled in a full week of entertainment is the recital to be given tomorrow evening when Edward Abner Thompson, of the Boston school of expression will read M. N. Parker's rendition of "Disraeli." The program is to be given in the auditorium of the Engineering building at 8o'clock. Thespian club, dramatic organization of the college is sponsoring the coming of this nationally known reader.

HARPIST IS ABSENT MINDED

Artists are looked upon with awe by the majority of people and it is delightful to find incidents which prove them to be human after all. Genius has always been as absent-minded as it is great, and Alberto Salvi, world famous harpist who will play here Friday of this week is no exception to this rule. One evening recently, the harpist and Mrs. Salvi were the guests of prominent Chicago society folk. Salvi was to play later at a recital. His wife happened to glance at Salvi's feet and was horrified to discover that he had forgotten to put on his socks. When she explained the situation to her host, he laughed good naturedly and volunteered a pair of his own.

Tech students will be admitted to the concert by their student identification cards which may be secured at the Dean of Women's office.

TO PRINT SPECIAL EDITIONS

Plans are being made for the school editions of the Toreador, which are printed each Spring. The Home Economics, Aggie and Engineering clubs are to select the staffs of their schools and the Liberal Arts staff will be selected by a special committee.

FORUM PARTY IS SUCCESS

Some 200 girls were in attendance at the bridge and forty-two party given by the Woman's Forum at Cheri Casa yesterday afternoon. A George Washington motif was carried out in the score pads, and decorations. Floor lamps were used to an effective advantage in the lobby and dining hall. At the close of the games refreshments of punch and cake were served from a table presided over by Mrs. Mary Dale Buckner.

Members of the Forum and of the house party were Misses Mary Hope Westbrook, Sylvia Wilson, Margaret Williams, Kate Pressley, Irene Conner, Ruth Lefforge, Nell Goodloe, Mary Jo nderwood, Pearl Harrison, Nora Cocke, Hattie Mounts, Anna Belle Collins.

Immolation Probed

Girl's Act Recalls Knaak Case

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Another self-immolation strikingly suggestive of the Elfrieda Knaak case of last October today was under investigation in Evanston.

Miss Helen Friedrich, 22, was severely burned, though not fatally, in the furnace of her home yesterday. Much the same as Elgrieda Knaak, she stuck her head and shoulders into the furnace and over the bed of hot coals. The pain, however, forced her to fall back and her screams brought her father to her side.

"I was too much of a coward to go through with it," she cried.

Miss Friedrich's hair was burned to the scalp and her head and shoulders were seared. After treatment of her burns she was removed to the Evanston Psycopathic hospital.

Her father said she had been ill, and she was discouraged by reason of an ear ailment. Physicians believe she was delirious when she went to the furnace room.

Miss Knaak died from burns suffered when she went to the furnace of the Lake Bluff, Ill., police station and thrust her face, arms and feet into the furnace in what she said were self-sacrificial rites.

PAGE SALESMAN SAM

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16.—Aviation is proving a transport medium of no mean value. Recently the Baird Bakery of this city received a rush order for 700 pounds of bread and cake. A plane was hired to deliver the order, and proved so satisfactory that the company has bought a plane to handle out-of-town business.

O'Neill Abandons All Precedent In His Latest Drama

Sweeps Aside Every Literary Caution In "Dynamo"

BY GILBERT SWAN
NEA Service Writer.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15. — Eugene O'Neill, most eminent of our dramatists, has now completely let down the floodgates. Whatever caution, as regards theatrical form, he may have preserved, is swept aside in 'Dynamo," which the Theatre Guild announces as the first of a dramatic trilogy which will deal with "the sickness of today."

In this play O'Neill answers any question that may have been in the minds of those who follow events in the theatre. And he answers them in a fashion which will lead to endless and futile discussion. His form, I have no doubt, will be written about and argued about wherever the theatre comes up for discussion during the coming year.

There was, of course, more than casual curiosity concerning what O'Neill would do following "Strange Interests," that 5-hour-play wherein characters were allowed to make asides concerning their own thoughts. This was, however, mild medicine by contrast. Now he stages a complete revolt from all standard play-writing forms and builds his drama entirely according to his own concepts. The asides no longer concern mere hidden thoughts of characters; they are violent abstractions as well—delivered with burning fervor and terrific vigor.

In a word, O'Neill violently tosses his play into the fact of his audience, momentarily stunnnig their emotions but in this case, I fear, somehow failing to bowl over their minds. That he succeeds in sending the blood pressure up several points is sufficient compliment to his method. But one questions whether or not he is "shooting straight" in the projection of his theme.

Getting down to the play itself, O'Neill has put himself on record in correspondence with George Jean Nathan. "It is a symbolic and factual biography in a large section of the American soul today. It digs at the roots of the sickness of today—the death of an old God and the failure of science and materialism to supply any satisfactory new one for the surviving primitive religious instinct to find a meaning for life in or to comfort its fears of death with."

That is to say, we are presumed to be groping ineffectually in the dark; the while a certain number of us throw our loves and our lives to the machine and a certain number of others seek for the solution of life.

To present this theme, O'Neill takes a clergyman or rock-bound creed, with a wife and son. Across the fence lives an atheist, equally rock-bound and possessing a wife and daughter. The atheist is also a "machine age" symbol, putting his faith in energy, electricity or what-have-you.

The minister's son revolts against the fear-of-God tradition in which he is reared. He goes forth to look into life and comes back his heart set upon discovering that one basic principle of energy which produces life. Violently this youth tossed himself into a madness, in which the dynamo becomes his new God and idol. He grows pagan and Calvinistic by turn, making his symbol a goddess and the basis of a new creed as rock-bound as any his father may have held. Literally he writes his own testament around it.

And all the while the dynamo hums and lures — becomes a symbol of the life force as well as the symbol of a demon that brings only unrest. There are endless symbolisms to be read, some pagan, some spiritual. In the end, the lad sacrifices his love to the machine and then, in seeking to become part of it, gives his own life, perishing in a grewsome and terrible electrocution.

Treacherous Ice Takes Big Toll

TAHOKA, Feb.16—Slippery ice was blamed for injuries to two Tahoka people during the past week. Mrs. Harley Henderson is suffering from a severely sprained ankle, sustained when she fell on the ice-coated pavement here. A Mrs. A. L. Dunagan, who lives a few miles northwest of town, suffered a fractured arm when she fell on ice-coated concrete at the entry of her husband's filling station.

Gaines Oil Test Holds Interest Of Scouts And Operators In This Area; Well Near Brownfield Is Abandoned

Definite Information On Gaines County Well Is Expected Within A Short Time By Operators

Although oil activity in this section was slowed up considerably during the past week by bad weather, several tests have caused unusual interest by their showings within the last few days. Leasing activities are reported numerous in Lynn and Terry counties.

Probably the most interesting development of the last week centers around the Pure Oil test in Gaines county, located on section 110, block H, 12 miles southeast of Seagraves. Drilling at 3400 feet in layers of anhydrite, lime and shale, this test is one of the most promising local prospectors have had in some time. According to those in close touch with the activities around this well, something definite will be known soon. Drillers have been slowed up by water, but nevertheless, have made rapid headway.

The Lubbock county test located on the Boles ranch, drilling at 4,000 feet, was forced to shut down in the middle of the week on account of bad weather, but will continue fishing activities within the next few days. The Weekly well, Yoakum county's test, likewise was forced to shut down, but has started again. This test has just recently spudded in.

Marlin No. 1, situated on the Carson county school land in Cochran county, has skidded the derrick 200 feet and will start a new well with a rotary rig.

The Brownfield test in Terry county has been abandoned, according to reports from that section. Casing is being pulled at the present time, and the company will likely start a new well on the same block.

CONCHO MEMORIAL

Fort Near San Angelo Is State Historic Site

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 16.—Old historic Fort Concho, which is now within the city limits of San Angelo, has been included in Senator Pink Parrish's bill providing for monuments at strategic spots, which were famous in Texas' early history.

If an open hearing is called by the commite, Penrose B. Metcalfe, representative from this section, has prmised to advise the board of city development to insure representation from this city.

When approached by Mr. Metcalfe, Senator Parrish welcomed the suggestion of including Fort Concho, which was for years the frontier of civilization in West Texas, and immediately made the change in his bill to conform, according to advice from Metcalfe.

Tragedy of Life

Killed Family Due Insanity Fear

OMAHA, Nebr., Feb. 16. (AP)—Frank Johnson, who feared insanity would befall his entire family, went to a hospital late last night shot and killed two of his sisters and then turned his pistol on himself.

One sister, Alma, was a patient, under treatment for mental trouble. Another, Edna, was a hospital attache. A third sister, Hulda, has been a patient at the hospital for the insane at Hastings, Nebr., for a year.

Hospital authorities expected a friendly family gathering when Johnson, a Kearney, Neb. farmer, called and asked to see his sisters, the three had been left in a room only a few minutes however, when three shots were fired, Nurses found the three bodies.

HE LOVED A PORTRAIT

PARIS, Feb. 16.—Mme. B. can compliment herself on the quality of her art. She had painted several pictures of her daughter and one day a friend brought a very wealthy Argentine to her studio to look over her work. He fancied the pictures of her daughter and bought three of them. The next day he returned to the studio and said: "I like the little portraits so well that I should be more than happy to possess the original." A meeting was arranged. Cupid went to work and marriage was the outcome.

MIDLAND IS CATTLE CENTER

MIDLAND, Feb. 16. (AP)—Figures compiled by cattlemen at Midland show that about 100,000 head of cattle were sold here during the past 12 months. Midland is one of the biggest beef cattle trading points in America, comparative figures reveal.

Whole Plains Country United In Campaign To Land Tech For Lubbock

Unified Spirit, Centralized In Chamber of Commerce, Put Over Project

(EDITOR'S NOTE)—This is the third of a series of articles, written by Al Hill of the Avalanche-Journal staff, and presenting a history of the achievements of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce from the date of its organization up to the present time. A fourth and final article will follow.)

Cities do not just happen. Neither do they just grow. They are built. And it takes thought and vision and planning and working to build them.

It is by no accident that the city of Lubbock has expanded from 4,051 population in 1920 to more than 20,000 in 1929. This growth has been brought about by the deliberate efforts of the sane business men of Lubbock who banded themselves together in the beginning, under the name of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, which is merely another cognomen of "Community Cooperation."

We have seen where the coming of the Santa Fe, and the branch lines following, coupled with the additions of numerous wholesale houses, formed the nucleus from which has grown "The Hub of the Plains."

Lubbock was stepping right along at a fair rate of speed, in the years from 1920 until the summer of 1923, when the Texas Technological college was secured. More jobbing concerns were locating here. The number of traveling men making this city their headquarters was increasing.

But the business men and civic leaders of Lubbock were not satisfied with this.

Now comes the coming of Texas Tech.

"Knew We Could Land It"

"It was just a West Texas proposition, and Lubbock knew we could land it, with the bunch of live wires we had then," is the expression of W. O. Stevens, who was president of the chamber of commerce in the summer of 1923, when Tech was secured.

Walter S. Posey was at the head of the chamber of commerce in the early part of 1923, and it was during his administration that the campaign to secure Texas Tech was started.

"Well, sir," said Mr. Posey, "everybody in Lubbock wanted the Tech. The biggest trouble we had was in picking a steering committee It was the unanimous decision that Henry T. Kimbro was the one man to put at the head of this committee. When this committee was selected, the chamber of commerce and the whole town, did everything Kimbro and his men told us to do.

"And we got the most wonderful cooperation and support from not only every citizen in town, but from every town in this section of the Plains country.

"Without the chamber of commerce organization, the Texas Tech never would have been brought to Lubbock."

Exceeded All Expectations

Mr. Posey further declared that not only did the chamber of commerce help in raising the $95,000 or so necessary as this city's part in purchasing the site selected, but that in carrying on the entire campaign that organization financed it. "If we didn't have enough money in our treasury, we dug down in our pockets and made it up," he stated.

"None of us could visualize what Tech would become. Fact is there was not a man in Texas who could have told you then that this school would become what it is today. As a man from Atlanta, Georgia, said to me the other day: (Atlanta, you know is where Georgia Tech is). 'You folks don't realize what you've got in this school. Texas Tech is one of the greatest educational institutions in the entire south, with the resources of the entire state of Texas behind it.' And I suppose it is as difficult for us to visualize what the school is to become in the future, as it was for us, back in 1923, to realize what it would be."

The steering committee, of which Mr. Kimbro was elected chairman, was composed further of O. L. Slaton, C. E. Maedgen, M. M. Dupre and Percy Spencer.

Drive Lasted Six Months

"We would never in the world have gotten anywhere with the Tech proposition," said Mr. Kimbro, "had it not been for a well-organized chamber of commerce, with active committees and a well-greased organization throughout. And the greatest consolation I, personally, got out of that campaign is that I have no recollection of any man, woman or child, not cooperating in every way when asked, And they were asked often, too. Our campaign, you will remember lasted for about six months."

It is also to be remembered that there were just about 35 towns in all West Texas after Texas Technological college. And every one of those towns were fighting hard for its location in their city. Many of these towns were, at the time, much larger and more influential than was Lubbock.

Organization Did It

"But the one thing that landed Texas Tech for Lubbock," reminisced Mr. Kimbro, who is at this time one of the school's board members, "was community cooperation, centralized through Lubbock's chamber of commerce. Organization did it. Not the committee, alone."

Lubbock, for the benefit of those who were not then here, had offered the state locating committee for the Tech, the choice of five different sites of 2,000 acres each. When the site was selected, the $150,000 appropriated by the state for a site was not sufficient to purchase these 2,000 acres, and the Lubbock folks put up the additional amount of approximately $95,000.

In addition to this the chamber of commerce had financed the committee's campaign, and if it were possible to count every dollar expended during that hectic campaign some seem to think the amount would equal, perhaps, exceed $100,000.

Town Celebrated

When the news came that Lubbock had secured the Tech, the town went wild. Everybody hooked on almost everything that was loose to the back of their automobiles and dragged them through the streets. The word arrived here about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The celebration continued until almost midnight.

One man who did not know the occasion, upon entering the city from beyond, when he saw a tub, or something, tied onto the rear of a friend's car just ahead of his, chased the friend's car for several blocks. When finally overtaking the friend he told him somebody had evidently played a dirty trick on him.

J. H. Hankins explains that he was in his yard when a neighbor told him the news. Throwing his brand new straw hat against his house, Mr. Hankins explains further that he smashed it plenty, but entered into the celebration. 'Everybody went to town. We yelled and roared and sang," he said.

Enrollment at Texas Tech today is more than 2,000. That number was half the population of Lubbock in 1920. Think of that.

Next Sunday's Avalanche-Journal will tell you something of who the leaders of Lubbock's chamber of commerce were during the years of its growth and up until now. It will also attempt to tell you something of the problems these men and the chamber of commerce are called upon to solve from time to time.

Whipp-Springer Nuptials Occur

John Ernest Whipp and Miss Myrtle Springer were married at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. C. M. Whipp, at 1512 Avenue J, with Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating with the ring ceremony. Only a few friends were in attendance.

The couple left for Carlsbad, N. M., where they will visit for about a week before returning to Lubbock. They will be at home at 1819 15th Street.

The groom has lived in Lubbock for a number of years and is now with Waples Platter company. The bride is a stenographer for the McAfee Insurance company.

Alberto Salvi, Harpist And Edna Ver Haar Appear In Joint Recital Friday

There are those who have listened to musical programs who can recall some singer or player whose music went straight to the heart, arousing emotions long dormant, and bringing forth a flood of memories that had been waiting to come forth and sweeten life. Not every singer finds the door of the heart open when the song is given. Not all appeals to mind and emotion and heart are true and compelling. But there are singers whose voices make an irresistable appeal, one that mellows the heart and loosens memories that stream through the mind to warm and thrill the soul.

Such an artist is Edna Swanson Ver Haar, whose personality and charm grow upon you as her program progresses. When she sings eye, ear and taste alike are satisfied. Her power to satisfy is an unanalyzable blend of personal beauty, superb voice, geniality and perfect stage poise.

Miss Ver Haar appears at Texas Tech college with Alberto Salvi, harpist, next Friday.

Disobeyance To Fire Siren Draws Fines Past Week

The siren's sound from a fire truck is fair warning to any and all motorists. The law says when such siren's sound salutes the "city—everybody move over to the curb and stop.

"It's going to be $5—perhaps more," remarked Chief of Police John Lemond yesterday, "to every driver of an automobile who does not immediately pull to the curb and stop when the fire truck makes a run. We are going to be on the shark lookout and want the citizens of Lubbock to know it."

Chief Lemond stated that one man was fined $5 for continuing to drive his car after the fire trucks started on a run, one day last week, and that another driver, from an out-of-town city was also hailed before Corporation Judge J. T. Inmon.

Attempt Made To Burn Scott's Car

Judge G. R. Scott, justice of the piece, reports the effort of some enemy of his at burning his car and garage, Friday night, as resulting only in the burning of most of his garage door.

Judge Scott lives at 1906 Main street. About 2 a. m. Saturday Mrs. Scott awakened the judge with the information she smelled something burning. An investigation revealed the fact that somebody had twisted an old gunny sack, stuffing one end of it into the opening to the Judge's car's gas tank, and putting the other end into a glass jar filled with gasoline.

The judge can't figure who could have done such an act, unless it is some one who has been convicted in his court of some wrong doing.

Poll Tax Receipts Near 7,000 Total

Lubbock county poll tax receipts, this year, will be within about a thousand of the total number of passenger automobiles registered, according to estimates made Saturday by County Tax Collector A. J. Clark. There will be between 6,000 and 7,000 poll tax receipts for the county, if indications of the check-up now ensuing are true.

Last year the county had about 7,200 poll tax payers, the number this year being considered exceedingly large for an off-year, with the only elections coming up that of road bond issues, perhaps.

To date there have been 7,800 passenger automobiles securing licenses in Lubbock county, with 2,167 automobile transfers lister and 661 motor trucks licenses.

KNIPE BABY DIES

Two-Year-Old Son Of Mr. And Mrs. Knipe Dies

Kenneth Knipe, 2 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Knipe, 2123 Eighteenth street, rear, facing Avenue V, died at 7 o'clock Saturday morning.

Survivors are, besides the parents, three brothers and two sisters, Welber, Ernest, Earl, Minnie Kate Knipe, and Mrs. E. W. Fitz.

Funeral services will be held at the family residence, at 2 p. m. today, Rev. Erwin, pastor of the Nazarene church, officiating. Burial will be in the Lubbock cemetery, under direction of the Rix Morticians.

Slaton Tigers Win County Basketball Championship

Stamford University Appears Strongest In Track This Season

IN THE REALM OF SPORT
WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

The naming of John Reid, North Texas Teachers' head coach, to the position of chief assistant to Matty Bell at A. and M., gives the Aggies one of the most successful basketball coaches in the state. Reid will direct the Farmers cagers and assist in football and probably one other sport. While at Denton Reid has developed formidable basketball teams from material that has been just ordinary. During the season which is coming to a close the Eagles have defeated three southwestern conference teams, Baylor, S. M. U. and T. C. U.

Reid's going to A. and M. will mean the replacement of Chuck Basset, assistant coach, who is reported looking for a new location. When Bell accepted the position of director of athletics at A. and M. he was given the authority to choose his own assistants. Denton authorities have been been informed of Reid's leaving and are looking for his successor. The name of "Dutch" Meyer, T. C. U. varsity baseball and freshman football and basketball coach, has been linked with the Denton job.

Although it has been stated recently that Clyde Littlefield is a fixture at Texas university as head coach, the latest rumors from Austin indicate that Paul Tyson, Waco high school mentor, will be his successor. An Austin scribe says that if this does turn out to be true, it is almost certain that Littlefield will be made director of athletics. He points out further that if he is elected to this position, it will be no reflection on his coaching ability. The fact that he brought the first Southwestern Conference football championship to Texas in the last eight ears is a great tribute to Littlefield

Texas university is not the first Southwest Conference institution that has sought the services of Tyson. At Waco, he has won national recognition with his phenominal Tiger machines. Not only has he won the state championship year after year, but his teams have met the strongest high school teams of the nation with equal success. Tyson's hobby is training up young athletes. He has become an idol in Waco and undoubtedly, fans of that city will hate to see him go.

Old timers declare that never before has a basketball tournament been staged here that compares to the one which closed last night. Never has the competition been so keen and the rivalry as high. Never have the upsets, which invariably come, been so complete. Every game played in the Lubbock county meet which closed last night was spectacular; every one was hard fought throughout. Favorites went down fighting and the "dark horse" carried off the honors amid the plaudits of a roaring Slaton delegation.

Lubbock and Monroe were the accepted favorites before the tournament started, but after the smoke of battle had cleared away, both were left training behind, wondering what had happened and dazed over the surprising turn of events. Slaton brought to the meet a team that had made little headway in early season games, but displayed fighting qualities that upset the old dope bucket as it had never been upset before. The strain of battle undoubtedly had effect on the basketeers entered in the meet, but strange as it may seem, those who had been in the heat of the fray in former years cracked worse than the younger ones. The Lubbock and Monroe teams that lost to the Tigers in no way resembled the same teams of two weeks before. Stale? yes, maybe so, but the real reason for it all will probably never be figured out.

R. L. Hooten, county director of athletics, is to be commended for the manner in which he has put through the strenuous tournaments this season. Mort than 60 games have been played under his direction in the various meets and all contests have been run off on scheduled time with no disconcerting bother. Mr. Wooten attributed the success of the tournaments to the assistance of the coaches and officials connected. He makes the following statement:

"I want to thank each and every individual who had a part in all the Lubbock county tournaments, and especially do I appreciate the cooperation of the coaches and the officials. So far as I know there are no hard feelings, and I feel that everything has been run off as smoothly as is humanly possible."

Ample Veteran Material And Large Squad Of Promising Sophomores On Stanford Team Gies Templeton Edge

Advance News From Three Major Schools Of California Indicates Coach Templeton Has Cinch

By BOB MATHERNE
NEA Service Sports Writer

Advance news from headquarters of the three big schools in California indicate that Stanford will come first, Southern California second and California third in the track ratings this season.

To put it another way, Stanford, even at this early date, seems a cinch to cart away top honors at the intercollegiates and the national track championships as it has the past two seasons.

The advance notes from Southern California are quite mournful, but those from Stanford are optimistic. As a result, there doesn't seem much likelihood of some eastern school walking away with the national titles for the second time in nine years.

These three California schools have led the field in the intercollegiates seven times in the past eight years. Yale, in 1924, was the only outfit to grab top honors for the east. And no school seems likely to stop Stanford this season.

Cromwell Is Gloomy

Dean Cromwell admits his Southern California squad hasn't much chance of winning big honors this year. He is woefully weak in the field events. Of course, he has Charley Borah and Jack Williams as outstanding performers in the sprints and pole vault, and he has a number of veterans from last year's squad, but the power isn't there and he admits it.

Jim Stewart and Russ Needham, both ineligible last season, may put a different complexion on Cromwell's team. Stewart is the best Trojan in the shot, discus and high jump and Needham throws the javelin around 190 feet in practice. If they compete capacity, it may mean a difference of 10 to 12 points in every meet.

His opinion is that the Trojans won't be terribly bothersome this year, but he urges track followers to watch them in 1930 and 1931.

The California outfit wasn't such a wow last season. They scored only five points at Harvard and didn't do so well in their dual meets. Of the 1928 squad, only nine veterans remain for Walter Christie, serving his twenty-ninth season as track mentor. Captain Henry Curtice in the javelin and Ned Cherry and Henry Carter in the mile are regarded as his most capable performers.

Newcomers to the squad may uncork unexpected strength, but hardly enough to make the California squad a feared one.

Stanford has ample veteran material on hand and an abundance of sophomores ready to perform in the spots of the missing men of the 1928 squad.

Nine veterans are missing this year, including Bob King, Bud Spencer and Kimball Dyer, but there remains a goodly number of the 43 points scored in the intercollegiate last season, 30 points remain with Stanford; of the 77 scored in national championships, 44 are on hand.

Field Men Strong

They are not making much whoopee about Templeton's track performers, but the field performers, the factor in the big meets in 1928, are numerous. They made Stanford powerful last year and are the reasons for optimism at Palo Alto this year.

The field performers who remain include Krenz and Rothert in the weights, Kibby and Sparling in the javelin, Zombro in the broad jump and Edmonds in the pole vault. The experienced runners are Nichols in the hurdles, Lauritzen in the dashes and McKinnon in the mile.

Templeton also has on his squad a number of fellows who earned points here and there last season who may account for more points this season than they did last year.

Looks Like Cinch

On the surface of this advance gossip, it seems as if Stanford is a cinch to win from Southern California and California in dual meets and has almost as much of a cinch to grab off top honors in eastern meets. Southern California may show unexpected strength, depending on how the sophomores pan out. California, though, has little chance to do much.

IRISH ARE VICTORS

Shamrock Boys and Perryton Girls Win at Miami

MIAMI, Feb. 16. (AP)—Shamrock won the championship of the boys division of the basketball tournament which closed here tonight by defeating Memphis, 36 to 28.

The Perryton girls team emerged victorious in its division by defeating Hedley, 37 to 17, in the finals.

GATORS TO TAKE IN RELAYS

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Feb. 16.—(AP)—The University of Florida track squad will participate both in the Texas relays at Austin March 29 and Southern Methodist University relays at Dallas on March 30, James R. Boyd, Jr., graduate manager of Athletics, announced tonight.

Lucian T. Emerson has two jobs. He coaches the Sewanee basketball team and also acts as secretary of the Cattanooga baseball club.

Engineer Eleven Trounces Ags In Intramural Final

Win Over Farmers Gives Dewitt Crew Tie With Liberal Arts For Football Supremacy

Coach (H. C.) Chubby Dewitt's Engineer gridsters took advantage of the miscues of the opposition to win the final game of the Tech intramural football series from the Aggies Saturday afternoon, 9 to 0. The win gives the Engineers a tie with Liberal Arts for the gridiron supremacy of the three schools. Date for the playoff has not been set.

Although the Farmers piled up more yardage than the Engineers, their fumbles turned out to be the factor that lost the contest. On numerous occasion, Curtis Grimes and his mates advanced the ball within the shadow of the Engineer goal only to lose it on foumbles.

One of these fumbles was converted into a touchdown for the opposition in the second quarter when Davis, Engineer right end, scooped up the bounding oval on the 25 yard line and ran the remaining distance for a touchdown. The additional three points counted by the winners came in the third quarter when Jimmy Kerr booted a field goal from the 20 yard line. The ball hit the crossbar and bounced into the air, coming down on the other side of the bar.

Houston Country Club Invitation Attracts Golfers

HOUSTON, Feb. 16. (AP) — Two more top notch golfers were added to the championship division of the Houston Country club invitation event today when Keefe Carter and his brother, Dorset, both of Oklahoma City, checked in.

More than 300 golfers will tee off Tuesday morning in the qualifying test, he last 18 of the preliminary test will be held Wednesday and Thursday morning will bring the first round of match competition.

All To Go 36 Holes.

All matches in the championship division will be 36 holes, placing the finals Sunday.

With arrival of the Carter brothers, the number of nationally known golfers was increased to six. Johnny Dawson and Walter Crowe of Chicago are here and Chicago also will be represented by Don Armstrong, 1928 Pan-American champion and Lou Goldbeck.

Texas golfers entered in the tournament are expected to pull in Sunday. Wichita Falls will have its old stand-bys, Dudley Golding and Tommy Cochran. Cochran, twice winner of the Texas championship, and Golding, medalist of last year, are both regarded as title division players.

HOUSTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—After defeating Ossie Carlton and Jack Speer, local amateurs, 5 and 4, in morning play, Leo Diegel and Walter Hagen could do no better than an even break with Carlton and George Rotan, another Houstonian, at the Houston Country club here this afternoon.

Shallowater Wins Girls B Tourney

Shallowater went through the girls Class B tournament of Lubbock county undefeated to win the championship of the meet staged here Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. Playing an elimination schedule, the Shallowater sextette took a hard fought contest from Acuff Saturday morning 10 to 9 and came back Saturday afternoon in the finals to trounce Bledsoe 12 to 9.

Bledsoe had won its way to the finals by way of 21 to 19 win over Posey in its first game of the meet Saturday and a forfeit by Carlisle, following the Estacado-Carlisle game which was given to Carlisle because of official ruling. Estacado defeated Carlisle, 42 to 19, but was ruled ineligible.

TO CHOOSE MANAGER

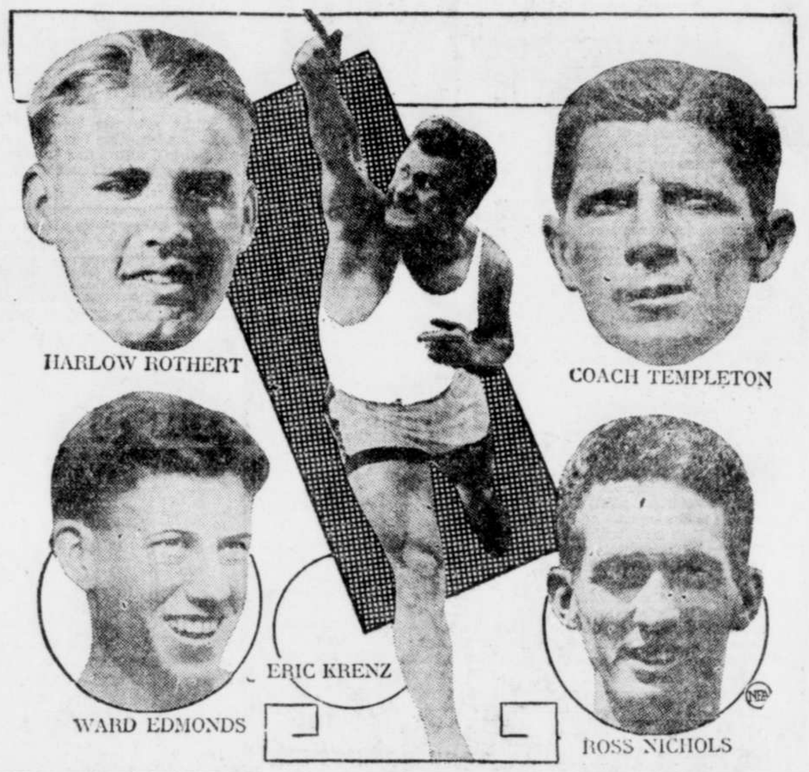
Bis Spring Selects Leader Of Team Tuesday

BIG SPRING, Feb. 15.—A manager for the Big Spring baseball club for this season will be chosen on February 19th according to Frank Jones, president. Six applicants have filed applications which are being considered by the directors, said Mr. Jones. Big Spring entered the West Texas league after the season began last year taking over Hamlin's franchise. The club has been reorganized and a drive for funds to finance the club will be made.

MOST HOMERS IN SEASON

The most home runs ever hit in one season in the American League was the 158 home runs slugged out by the Yankees in 1927.

A CINCH IN TRACK! That is what the experts predict for the track squad Coach Templeton is assembling at Stanford this year. Templeton's squad has won the intercollegiate title the past two seasons and his men are prohibitive favorites, even at this early date, to repeat this year. Four outstanding performers at Stanford are Ross Nichols, captain and hurdler; Harlow Rothert and Eric Krenz, weight men, and Ward Edmonds, pole vaulter. They are shown here with their noted coach.



Texas Leaguers To Be In Meet Today

Called Session Scheduled For Today In Dallas To Consider Schedule; No Split Season Slated

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Feb. 16.—Texas League club owners will put the finishing touches on preparations for the 1929 season when they meet in special called session here tomorrow to draft a schedule and iron out other details of the approaching race.

Indications were the confab would be a peaceable one, barring the unusual squabbles over holiday dates. Officials arriving tonight said so far as they knew no controversial subjects were up. Nor were any players trades contemplated.

No Split Season.

William Ruggles, league statistician, and Fred Ankenman, president of the Houston club, said today they had completed a tentative schedule to be presented for approval of the club owners. The schedule, as prepared, calls for 160 games with no split season, starting April 16 and closing September 15. It was said the owners might vote to tack eight more games on the chart, closing September 22.

It also was understood the schedule drawn called for the usual arrangement on holidays, with the choice dates going to Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Fort Worth, the larger cities of the circuit.

Schmeling Sails For Visit to Home

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, "the German Dempsey," sailed for home today with the breach with his manager, compatriot and former close friend, Arthur Bulow, wider than ever and the time of his return to America rings indefinite.

Schmeling, whose three knockouts in four fights in this country made him the talk of the boxing world, declared that rather than recognize Bulow's authority he would abandon all thought of fighting in the United States until expiration of his contract, October 30, 1930.

Made Two Goals This Season For The Other Team

FREMONT, Neb., Feb. 16.—When Bob Beatty, guard on the high school basketball team here, gets the ball in a game, he can do only one thing—and this is pass it.

He can't take a shot at the basket, under any circumstance.

Beatty has made two field goals this season, but both of them counted for the other side as Beatty threw them in the wrong basket after having gotten tangled in his directions.

The coach decreed no more shooting except from the foul line after the second miscue.

Breckenridge And Cisco Girls Meet

SNYDER, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Winning their semi-final games today by overwhelming scores, Breckenridge and Cisco advanced to the finals tonight in the A. A. U. West Texas girls basketball tournament here. Cisco eliminated Colorado, 28 to 9, while Breckenridge defeated the Post sextet, 42 to 15.

Ira and Roscoe paired off in the final battle for the consolation title. Roscoe eliminated Miles, 40 to 33, today as Ira downed Hobbs, 25 to 24. Three sets of sisters comprise the Ira line-up.

SULPHUR GETS DISTRICT 6

GREENVILLE, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Sulphur Springs won the district 6 Interscholastic league basketball championship here tonight, defeating Arc Ridge, Van Zandt county, 49 to 28.

Fans at a ringside in St. Louis, Mo., hunched forward on the night of November 27, 1912, as the bell rang for the sixth round of a battle between Abe Attell, former featherweight champion of the world, and Ollie Kirk, a comparative unknown. The bout had become exciting. Attell was tottering on his pins.

At the gong Kirk sprang forward to finish the one-time champ. But Attell waved him aside and strode to the ropes.

"I'm through," Attell cried to the fans through battered lips. "I'm not only quitting this bout right now, but I'm retiring from the ring forever."

His tears splashed to the canvas. Fans, sore because the bout wasn't finished (Kirk was giving Abe a fine shellacking up to then) but feeling a bit sorry for the old battler, went home to spread the news that Abe had quit in one of the most dramatic retirements the ring had seen.

But Abe hadn't quit. Far from it. He had just saved himself further punishment, having been caught by a husky opponent when he (Attell) was out of condition.

Within six months Attell met Kirk again in the east and knocked Ollie kicking in three rounds. He fought half a dozen more times before finally hanging up the mitts for good That was in 1914.

Battered, bruised, nearly slapped silly by Kirk, Abe's old brains had been still keen enough to save himself from the dreaded kayo.

Giants' Pitchers Work Hard at Bat

Heydler's 10-Man Team Plan May Not Have Much Trial, Indications Show; Vicious Cuts Taken

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 16. — John Heydler's 10-man team plan may not have much chance for a trial, considering the way the New York Giants pitchers are in spring training here. When Ray Schalk strung out his athletes here today for their second workout he shot them right in to stick work, and as the first squad is made up largely of pitchers every flinger got his full portion of batting practice.

Hubbell On Mound.

Carl Hubbell took his turn on the mound during batting practice while his fellow pitchers drove the ball repeatedly into the outfield with vicious cuts.

Then Joe Genewich took up the burden and as fast as he put the ball over, it came back.

Big Jim Chaplin joined the squad today on his arrival from Florida, apparently in perfect form.

Another arrival was Walter Stowers, pitcher of the Bridgeport Eastern League club, who came in to work-out with the Giants.

Billies Romp On McMurry Indians

BROWNWOOD, Feb. 16. (AP)—Daniel Baker romped through the McMurry college five of Abilene, 40 to 14, here tonight. The Hill Billies took a 29 to 10 lead in the first half and coasted the remainder of the game, making frequent substitutions. Mac Miller led the floor in scoring with points for Daniel Baker. Marvin Chambers of Daniel Baker was second with 9 points. It was Daniel Baker's ninth victory of the T. I. A. A. season.

Williams Sets New Indoor Track Mark

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Percy Williams, brilliant young Canadian sprinter, set a new world's record for sixty meters indoor in a special exhibition race in connection with the Metropolitan indoor track and field championships held by the Crescent A. C., at the Thirteenth Regiment armory here tonight. He covered the distance in 6 4-5 seconds, clipping a fifth of a second off the old mark, set by Bob McAllister in 1927. William Bruder and Jimmy Pappas of the Newark A. C., ran second and third.

Favorites In Lubbock County Meet Go Down In Three Consecutive Games Before Surprising Bengal Attack

Lubbock High Defeats Monroe And Idalou For 2nd Place in Tournament; Upsets Feature Meet

The Slaton Tigers, figured as the weak sister of Lubbock county Class A basketball, upset all dope records last night by taking their third consecutive game of the meet, winning the championship of the county and, thereby the right to represent Lubbock county in the district meet here February 22 and 23.

Lubbock, Monroe and Idalou were the victims of the surprising assault of the "dark horse." Taking the Westerners into camp Friday afternoon in the opening round, the Bengals came back Saturday and nosed out their other two opponents in thrilling games. Never before has there been six basketball games played in this section that equals these just past in unexpected results and spectacular competition. Bitterly fought, every one of them furnished thrills a plenty for the fans.

Winning first over Lubbock, 21 to 18 Friday, the Slaton basketeers continued their winning ways Saturday to spring one of the biggest surprises on record. Idalou went down, 21 to 18, and the Monroe quintet, sadly off form, succumbed, 15 to 9. It cannot be said that Slaton had the best team in the tournament, but the Purple and White boys must be given credit for playing heads-up basketball and displaying worlds of fight.

Take Third Straight

With the championship hanging in the balance, the Slatonites staged a brilliant rally in the last half of the deciding tilt with Idalou last night to nose out the Wildcats after an Idalou victory seemed certain. With Idalou leading 12 to 8 at the half, the Tigers came back with a scoring spree in the final stages that turned back the fighting Wildcats in one of the most thrilling moments of the entire tournament. With the score tied time after time and the two teams alternating with the lead, Scott of Slaton got his long range shots in action and dealt the telling blow of the contest. Brasfield also figured in the final assault.

Scott carried off scoring honors with five field goals and one free throw for a total of 11 points. Brasfield came next with 6. Easter, Pruett and Givins were outstanding for Idalou.

Although the Slaton crew had already cinched the championship, the Lubbock high school cagers came back in the final contest of the tournament to make up for the poor showing on Friday when they literally gave the meet to Slaton with their listless style of play. By nosinging out Monroe, 17 to 15, after they had trounced Idalou 28 to 23, the Morganmen gained second place in the tournament. With nothing at stake in the last game between Monroe and Lubbock, both teams were relieved of the strain of battle and displayed real basketball in their friendly tete-a-tete. The team-play that sent both to defeat in the previous game came to life and resulted in spurts of brilliant play.

Castleberry Leads

H. A. Castleberry, recently converted to a scoring cog in the Lubbock machine, led the locals in scoring with 8 points. Letsinger of Monroe was close behind with 7.

From the standpoint of close scoring and keen competition, the Lubbock-Idalou contest which resulted in a 28 to 23 win for the Westerners, was the outstanding game of the meet. Smarting from the defeat handed them by the Slaton Tigers Friday, the pupils of Morgan came back in their first game Saturday with a determination that could not be denied. Fighting neck and neck throughout three quarters, it was not until the last minute of the game that Lubbock pulled away with their five point lead.

Stage Rally

Leading 13 to 10 at the half, the locals were met by a rally by the Wildcats on the initial tip-off of the second half when the Wildcats sank a brace of two-pointers in less than a minute. By dogged determination, the Westerners came back to overcome this lead, but were again met by a scoring spree. Holmes, Green and McGeehee figured in the final rally that won for the locals.

By far, the keenest disappointment of the tournament was the showing made by the Monroe cagers, who were strong favorites to cop the championship. Apparently stale and high strung under the tension of the meet, Coach Blankenship's team was unable to strike anything like its usual stride. Losing their three games in three starts, the Class B champions were never able to get started.

JANSING HITS BASKET

St. Eds Down Jackets, 36 to 29 in Cage Game

AUSTIN, Feb. 16. (AP)—The ability of Jansing, Saint center, to hit the basket from all angles enabled St. Edwards' University to defeat Howard Payne college of Brownwood, 36 to 29 at basketball here tonight. Jansing accounted for 16 of the victors' points.

Howard Payne led 19 to 16 at half time.

BEST IN HIS LEAGUE

Chad Kimsey, who will get a trial with the St. Louis Browns this spring, was rated the best pitcher in the Western League in 1928.

Three Conference Teams Blamed For Short Porker Card

Arkansas Athletic Chairman Declares S.M.U., T. C.U. And Rice Failing To Schedule Games

(By Associated Press)

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 16.—(AP)—B. N. Wilson, chairman of athletics relations of the University of Arkansas, issued a statement today blaming three members of the Southwest Conference for the fact that Arkansas' tentative schedule for the coming football season includes only three conference games.

Southern Methodist University and Rice Institute both owe Arkansas games, and have not played on Porker territory for four years, he said.

Francis A. Schmidt, Razorback athletic director, suggested that the Rice Owls have open dates Nov. 23 and the Saturday before Thanksgiving, the Owls would fit in nicely with the Arkansas schedule and thereby make it possible for the Porkers to play four conference games as required by conference rules.

Replies to Dr. Penick

The statement by professor Wilson was in reply to a statement yesterday by Dr. D. A. Penick, president of the Southwest Conference. It follows:

"The University of Arkansas has made every effort to arrange at least four football games with members of the Southwest Conference for the season of 1929. At the present time, however, only three members of the conference, namely, the University of Texas, Texas A. & M., and Baylor University, are carrying out with Arkansas the conference ruling regarding home and foreign games of football.

"Each of the other three members of the conference owe Arkansas a home game, and two of the three have not appeared upon the Arkansas field for four years as they are required by conference rules to do.

T.C.U. Cinder Men Begin Stiff Work

Matty Bell's Thinly Clads Strong In Dashes And In Weights; Cy Leland One Of Fastest

(Special to the Avalanche-Journal)

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16.—With twenty-six men working out each afternoon, track work at Texas Christian University is getting under way in earnest. Coach Matty Bell's contract at T. C. U. does not expire until next fall, and he will pilot the Purple Cinder candidates again this year.

Matty's thinly-clads appear to be strong in the dashes and weights, but most of the material reporting this season has had no trial in real competition. Capt. Bud Norman heads the list of aspirants with uniforms issued to the following men:

Othol Martin and Lester Brumbelow, Jacksboro; Austin Griffith and Roy Jenkins, Dallas; Elmo Milling, Reisel; Tom Yarbrough, Cameron; Chester Crow, Austin; Bob Alexander, Jayton, Buck Barr, Kaufman; Tom Simpson, Neches; Charlie Hilburn, Aaron Hays, Sam Kench, Leon Taylor, Cy Leland, Blankenley Sanders, Pete Hudson, Ralph Isley, Clyde McDonnell, John Hammond, James Dacus, Hugh Buck, and William Henderson, all of Fort Worth.

Cy Is Fastest Man

In the dashes Bell will have Cy Leland, one of the fastest men ever to report to him. Bob Alexander and Othol Martin. These men are expected to fill the place left vacant by Kenneth McCorkle and Merlin Toler, last year's dash men.

Charley Hilburn is a veteran pole Frogs materially this year. McDonvaulter and is expected to aid the nell is a veteran weight man, and this department appears to be strong with the addition of Brumbelow, Griffith and Barr to the ranks of the heavers. Bud Norman is an old hand at the high and broad jump.

ECKSTROM WINS HANDBALL

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16.—(AP)—Dr. Charles Eckstrom of Houston won the handball singles championship of Texas here today by defeating all three opponents he met in the elimination tournament. He disposed of all of them in an easy manner, winning 6 of the 8 games by wide margins.

Giant Ozarkers Swarm Over Floor To Leave Texans Rapidly Behind In Sweep Of Series

(By Associated Press)

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 16.—The Arkansas Razorbacks were within one victory of clinching their fourth straight southwest conference basketball crown tonight after they defeated the Rice Institute Owls, 44 to 13, to sweep a two-game series.

As on the previous night there was no doubt of the result after the first minute of play. The giant Porkers swarmed down the floor and began looping baskets and the Owls, cellar occupants, rapidly were left behind.

Score Only Three Goals

The visitors scored only three goals the entire game. Hess, Zuber and Stoppel sinking long shots out of the range of Arkansas' fiveman defense.

Captain Tom Pickel and wear Schoonover, chief cogs of the Razorback machine, remained neck and neck in their race for individual conference scoring honors. Each scored 13 points tonight to run their total to 139 for the season. They will settle their dispute in the final two games with the Texas Aggies next week.

Gene Lambert, six-foot Razorback guard, led the individual scoring tonight with 15 points. Sphack, Owl forward, with four foul goals, led the point getters for his team. Nearly three Porker teams participated. The Owls were trailing 24 to 5 at the half.

May Run Special To Nebraska Game

Organizer Of West Point Trip Plans For Several Special Trains To S.M.U.-Nebraska Tilt Oct. 5

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

DALLAS, Feb. 16.—"Preparations are now being made to run special trains to the S. M. U.-Nebraska university game in Lincoln, Neb., October 5, 1929," W. H. (Bill) Hitzelberger, organizer of the record-breaking West Point trip last year, announced Thursday. The announcement came as a result of hundreds of requests of Dallasites and Texans who wish to attend the game.

The entire east and north was amazed last year when a team accompanied by a 50-piece college band and over 800 supporters, traveled 1,700 miles to set a world's record for the number of fans to travel such a distance to witness a football game, but, by the interest shown at this date, even a greater number of fans are planning to make the Nebraska trip.

Aggies To Run Train.

Added interest in the Nebraska game came as a result of the change in the coaching personel of Nebraska university. D. X. Bible, former head coach of Texas A. and M., and one of the pioneers of the game in the Southwest, will be head coach of football at Nebraska when the S. M. U. Ponies meet the Cornhuskers next fall. Mr. Hitzelberger plans a special train for Aggie supporters and admirers of Mr. Bible who wish to see their former mentor under new colors, locking horns with his old rival, Ray Morrison.

"In addition to the A. and M. special, a special train for Nebraska Alumni club, which has been recently organized here in Dallas, is making special plans and arrangements for entertainment of the many Husker "exes" in this section who have expressed their desire to make a visit to their alma mater.

Longhorns Cling To Title Chance

Texas Quintet Noses Out Aggies In Typical Game Between Schools; Brock Is Flashy Leader of Pack

(By Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 16—The Texas university basketeers clung to their slim hope of a Southwest conference title by nosing out the Texas Aggies, 32 to 29, in a close hard-fought contest here tonight.

The game bore all the marks of a sypical Aggie-Longhorn fray, with both teams fighting hard, first one in the lead then the other. During much of the game the score was tied.

It was the Farmers' first loss on their home court this season and practically clinched second place in the conference race for the orange.

Captain Brock, Longhorn forward was a whirlwind. He scored half of his team's points and was the spark plug of its offense. Buster Keeton, Aggie guard, was second high scorer of the game and even in defeat was one of the outstanding players on the floor. He sank one basket from the middle of the floor to give the Aggies a brief lead.

Co-starring with Brock for the Longhorns were "Big Un" Rose and Fomby, centers, and Looney, guard. Until he was banished on four personals, Webster played a sparkling game for the losers.

ROBINSON WINS TITLE

MONTREAL, Feb. 16. (AP)—Ross Robinson, of Toronto, won the Canadian speed skating title here today, scoring two first places and one second which combined with his victory in the 880 yards last night, gave him a grand total of 110 points.

Spectators Watch Fighters Wallop Sparring Partners

Tropical Sun Drives Pair Of Contenders on Toward Coming Bout; Both Work Lively Saturday

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 16.—Two of the most prominent heavyweight members of fisticuff's younger set perspired under a tropical sun today while a crowd of pleasure seekers cheered their efforts.

Jack Sharkey, Boston's belting beauty, rapped sparring partners around, punched his paraphernalia, snarled and grunted for 700 customers in a ring pitched by the dog track Rickard built close to the ocean's edge. In a tumble down ingcasino, sort of a Coney Island setting, Young Stribling, Youthful slugger from Macon, Ga., did the same thing for 500 spectators in preparations for his match with Sharkey here Feb. 27.

Sharkey worked ten rounds in the sun that burned his back a rich red with the temperature up over 90 degrees.

Stribling Puts On Show

But the real sight was the Stribling workout. "W. L." as his parents "Pa" and "Ma" Stribling call him put on a show that had all the elements of a circus performance. There was the comic barker who acted as anonuncer, told jokes and wore a fighter's headguard. While Stribling boxed in one ring sparring partners worked out in another and "Pa" did an acrobatic act with the boxer's two-year-old son in the bag punching platform.

The pride of the south, keen and down to fighting weight through his steady ring work through the country, fought a round apiece with three sparring partners.

The crowd that watched Sharkey batter Johnny Grosso, and Paul Hoffman, New York heavyweight Pat McCarthy of Boston, and Charles Pond, of Houston Texas, cheered the Boston battler's impressive show.

Tech Cagers Close Season This Week

Final Games Come With West Texas Teachers Wednesday And Thursday; Fair Record

The 1929 Tech basketball team will wind up its short but strenuous cage season this week with the arch rivals of the crimson cagers, the Canyon Buffaloes, on Wednesday and Thursday nights in Canyon. With three more days of training the Paynemen expect to invade the Buffalo gymnasium in the peak of condition to gain the two games lost to the Teachers here recently.

Winning two in a row from the Sul Ross basketeers last week, the Matadors improved their season's average considerably. Having won 12 of their 17 games thus far this season, the Tech basket loopers are facing the last series of the season, with a determination to even the count with their nemesis of the court.

Buffs Win Here

Coach Burton's sharpshooters caught the Teachers considerably off form in their home series with the T. I. A. A. team, winning both games decisively. With several days of rest and with Fisher back in the lineup, the locals' scoring punch will be greatly improved when they invade the Buffalo headquarters Wednesday night.

Since the series is the last of the season, a large number of Tech and Lubbock fans are expected to accompany the team to Conyon.

Start Selecting County Cattle For Plainview Show

Specimens Chosen Will Be Fattened For Dairy Exhibit

Twenty-five Or Thirty Of Lubbock Cattle Will Be Entered In Exposition, Eaton Believes

Lubbock county cattle to be entered in the Panhandle-Plains dairy show, at Plainview in April, will be selected for feeding next week, it was stated yesterday by Dave F. Eaton, Lubbock county agricultural agent.

The specimens chosen for display will then be fattened for entry in the Plainview exposition.

"We want at least a county herd for the show," Mr. Eaton said.

He predicted that probably twenty-five or thirty speciments would be entered in the show from Lubbock county

Mr. Eaton said that also during his tour of the week he would attempt to secure additional orders for the herd of registered dairy calves being held now at the Taft ranches of South Texas, for delivery when an order has come from Lubbock county. Unless sufficient orders are received from farmers and stockmen of this vicinity soon, the stock will probable be shipped to Mississippi.

Cotton Firms Up On Light Offering In Gotham Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—An opening advance in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables was followed by reactions under renewed liquidation in cotton today. Offerings were light and prices selling off from 20.06 to 19.97, advanced to 20.07 and closed at 20.06. The general market closed steady at net advances of 6 to 9 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 6 points to a decline of 1 point. Most months were higher on the advance in Liverpool. Comparatively small initial demand was soon supplied by continued liquidation and Wall Street selling, which probably was promoted by the unsettled stock market.

Prices eased under these offerings March sold off to 19.91 and the new October contract to 19.40, or back to about yesterday's closing quotations. Buying promoted by firmness abroad continued, however, offerings tapered off at the decline, and the market firmed up in the late trading on moderate demand.

March advanced to 20.01 and the new October contract to 19.50, making net gains of about 8 to 10 points. The close was within a point or two of the best. Unfavorable reports from the British goods market, was offset by the strength of the raw materials in Liverpool and rather a favorable opinion of the week end reviews of the cotton goods trade here.

Cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance was estimated at 159,900 bales against 120,400 last year and 182,000 two years ago.

Tahoka Plans To Hold Farm Course

Committee To Take Care Of Arrangements About Lynn Agricultural Instruction Appointed

TAHOKA, Feb. 16. — Arrangements for the agricultural short course for Lynn county to be held at the Tahoka high school building on Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8, are being rounded out by Executive Chairman Taylor White. According to present indications, the meeting will be of greater benefit to the farmers of this county than anything of a similar nature ever held here.

Mr. White has selected chairmen for a number of committees, and these men working with him have selected other committeemen to help out in the arranging for and holding of the course. Superintendent Baze i shead of the arrangement committee.

The committees as announced Mr. White are:

Publicity and Invitation, G. H. Nelson, chairman; E. I. Hill, H. P. Caveness, G. C. Grider and Miss Thelma Greenwade.

Finance, J. C. Wells and J. K. Applewhite.

Reception, Mrs. R. W. Fenton, chairman; R. T. Breedlove, C. B. Townes, J. E. Morgan, Mrs. L. Lumsden, Mrs. R. A. Metcalfe, Mrs. Taylor White, J. E. Earles, G. C. Grider, Tom Brewer, W. J. Crouch, Sam L. Smith, P. W. Goad, B. N. Shepherd and W. A. Kercheville.

Program, Miss Thelma Greenwade, chairman; Mrs. Jack Jackson, Nat Williams, Taylor White and M. L. H. Baze.

Schools, H. P. Caveness, chairman; M. L. H. Baze, D. A. Edwards of O'Donnell, A. L. Faubion of Wilson, Gordon King of Draw, A. V. Price of Lynn, H. M. McEachern and N. E. Wood.

Women's Committee, Mrs. L. Lumsden, Wilson, chairman; Mrs. A. A. Lawson, Post; Mrs. R. R. Ragan, O'Donnell; Mrs. Ed Anderson, O'Donnell; Mrs. I. M. Draper, Tahoka; Mrs. S. L. Williams, Meadow; Mrs. John Berry, Draw; Mrs. Ben Moore, O'Donnell.

ACREAGE INCREASES

The number of acres in crops harvested in the United States last year was 361,000,000, or nearly 4,000,000 more than were harvested in 1927.

Champ Corn Grower

Ira C. Marshall, of Dola, Hardin county, Ohio, claims the title of world champion corn grower for the fourth consecutive year. The average production of corn in Ohio is 40 bushels to the acre and Marshall coaxes 176.22 bushels from each acre of his farm. Last season he harvested 1,762.2 bushels from 10 acres.

Accounting Held Need Of Farmer

Low Profits Now Realized By Agricultural Man Are Believed Due To Lack Of Business System

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal

RALEIGH, N. C. Feb. 16.—A systematic, modern method of running a farm, which would entail primarily the keeping of farm accounts, is a remedy for the low rate of profits realized by farmers from their farm products.

A. T. Holman, agricultural engineer at North Carolina State college, says that "the annual inventory is a necessary institution in all modern commercial enterprises and businesses. Farmers may also receive many real benefits by making such annual inventories and using the results. The annual inventory is the balance wheel of farm business and management."

G. W. Forester, agricultural economist at the college, cites four things that prevent higher farm profits and which exist only because "farmers do not have adequate information upon which to base the choice of enterprise."

A maladjustment in production is the first detriment to agriculture set forth by Forster. A cumbersome and inflexible market is second. The third is that the credit system is not in the hands of a capable outfit and fourth railway rates and taxes are not adjusted to correspond with the price movement of farm produce.

An idea of how valuable farm accounts are comes from the University of Illinois. The school reports that the value of farm accounts to many Illinois farmers has ranged from $500 to $2000 a year.

FARM NOTES

From Washington

The U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicts a favorable year for the livestock industry. Hog prices will be higher, cattle prices will be at a peak. But despite this favorable outlook, the bureau cautions against overproduction.

Forty per cent, or 800,000,000 of the 2,000,000,000 egges incubated annually, fail to produce chicks, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Breeding, feeding and management are important factors in the hatchability of eggs, the department finds. Records of one hen with an average of 90 per cent hatchability eggs show that she transmitted this trait to two daughters and seven granddaughters. They showed an average of 86 per cent hatchability.

Much more profit could be realized by the farmer from the sale of his sweet potato crop if a suitable method of strong and prevention of diseases were established. This would enable the farmer to store his crop, and not be forced to sell it as soon as it is dug, when the prices are lowest. Bulletin No. 1059-F, "Sweet Potato Diseases," issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, explains this tuber's diseases, and suggests means to eliminate them.

Farmers' taxes have increased nearly 160 per cent in the last 15 years, and the land values are about 20 per cent higher than in 1913, says a report from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The value of farm machinery exported from the United States during the first 11 months of 1928 reached $107,000,000, a figure higher than ever before.

Winter Wheat Is In Fine Condition Farm Agent Says

Majority Of Planting Is Delayed for April And May; Increase Predicted In Grain Sorghums

Winter wheat is in fair condition at this time and prospects are good for grain sorghums, according to the county agent's office here.

Wheat has already been planted, but practically no other grains have been placed under the sod.

Most of the planting will come in April and May, with the bulk about the middle of May.

Grain sorghums, which may be cultivated in this part of the country at less expense than at any other place in the world, will eventually make of the South Plains of Texas the greatest swine-producing section in the nation.

Yearly increasing acreages are sown here in grain sorghums.

Crop Gathered

Most of Gins are On Part Time

Practically all of the 1928 Lubbock county cotton crop has been gathered and few gins in the county are now running full time. About half of the gins have shut down for the rest of the season and the others are usually worked only one or two days a week, it is reported from the office of the county agent.

Yield of cotton, definite figures are as yet unavailable is now estimated at slightly more than 35,000 bales.

Cotton Trading Fairly Light On Southern Market

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 16. (AP) — Trading in today's cotton market consisted mostly of evening up for over the week-end, liquidation being absorbed by covering. After opening slightly easier the market weakened but towards the end met support from the covering and May contracts which had traded down 19.37 rallied@19.45 and closed one point under the latter figure for a net gain of 6 points. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 5 to 6.

The market opened steady in response to higher Liverpool cables than due. First trades showed gains of 3 to 5 points and the May position advanced a point additional after the start to 19.44, or 6 points net up but at this level the market encountered more or less liquidation for over the week-end and some realizing as well as selling by ring traders on easier stocks and higher money rates in New York.

Prospects for more favorable weather in the belt which some traders believe is needed if crop preparations are to get back to normal, may have helped the decline which carried March off to 19.26, May 19.37 and July 19.39, or 4 to 7 down from the early highs and 1 point under yesterday's close.

Offerings appeared absorbed at the decline and values encountered some support in week-end covering by shorts and some buying on New York advices stating that sales of cotton goods during the past week have exceeded production. On the subsequent bulge March advanced to 19.35, and active positions generally to levels 7 to 8 points net up. Final prices were 1 to 2 points under the best.

Receipts 12,567; for year 8,208,121; last year 7,030,197. Exports 38,299; for year 5,850,231; last year 4,851,689. Stocks 2,135,788; last year 2,211,003. Stock on shipboard 128,789; last year 116,506. Spot sales 18,342; last year 9,590.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (AP)—Sharp competition from cheap offerings of Argentine wheat to Europe, together with unsettlement of stocks, led to a slash today in grain values here. Abnormal low temperatures which have been threatening crop damage in Europe were reported as slightly less acute, and foreign selling of wheat future deliveries here was in evidence.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 7-8c to 1 1-4c net lower. Corn finished 1c to 1 5-8c down, oats 3-8c to 7-8c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15c.

The total crop production of this country for 1928 was 3 per cent greater than in 1927, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. But the value of the principal crops decreased from $8,522,000,000 in 1927 to $8,456,000,000 in 1928.

Hatchery Running

Three Hatches Are Made At Tahoka

TAHOKA, Feb. 16.—The Tahoka Hatchery is running at full capacity, according to Taylor White. Three hatches have already been made this season, each one being a 77 per cent hatch, which is about 15 or 20 per cent above the average. The three largest orders filled so far were to C. H. Wakefield, 540 chicks; C. L. McNeese, 500, and I. M. Draper, 300.

Anti-Prairie Dog Campaign, Covering Entire County, to be Staged Starting With March; Ton of Poison Available

Commities Will Be Worked by County Agent, Aided By Federal Representative Out of San Antonio

A county-wide prairie dog extermination campaign, characterized as a battle to the death" against these rodents, who annually create great losses on the farms of Lubbock county and this area, is to be launched starting on March 1, it was announced here yesterday by County Agent Dave F. Eaton.

The county will be worked by communities in the campaign and after all the rodents in one community have been exterminated ,the workers will make a check to see if any of them have been missed.

"Prairie dogs do great damage not only to grain but cotton" it was brought out here yesterday. "They do much more damage than is commonly realized."

A mixture containing the poison, prepared by the county, is sold to farmers at the rate of six cents a pound.

A representative of the federal department of entomology will be here on March 1 to assist local workers in the movement.

Approximately a ton of the compound will be available here.

Prairie dogs are not so numerous in the northern and central portions of the county but in the west, southwest, south and extreme eastern parts of the county they exist in large numbers.

WOOL MEN HAPPY

Optimistic Outlook For The Future Of Business

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—There is little ground for pessimism as to the future trend of profits in the wool industry, A. D. Whiteside president of the Wool Institute, Inc., says in the organization's first annual report, published today.

Mr. Whiteside said the narrow margin, if any, between the cost and selling prices of woolen fabrics during the past two or three years gives litle or no leaway for further price recessions.

Tech Judgers To Enter Sooner Show

Texas Technological college will have a stock judging team entered at the Southwest American Show at Oklahoma City, on February 25, W. L. Stangel, of the college announced here Saturday.

This will be the Tech's first time to enter a team in the college student's contest at this show, and the team will be accompanied to Oklahoma City by their coach, Prof. R. C. Mowery. The trip will be made by bus, the student judgers leaving here on February 22, returning the following Wednesday.

Personnel of the team has not yet been named, but will be selected before they leave. The same team will also go to Fort Worth to the big show there in March.

LUBBOCK NURSERY

New Plant Is Opened On Thirty-first Street

Opening of the Lubbock Nursery by Laverne Kershner was announced yesterday. The new firm is situated at 31st street, 1-4 mile east of Avenue H.

Only bearing trees of the Plains will be propogated in the nursery, Mr. Kershner said.

URGES LARGER FARMS

Small-scale farming is holding back the development of agriculture in Russia, according to A. I. Rykov, chairman of the Russian Council of People's Commissioners. The annual growth of population, estimated at 3,000,000, and the occasional failure of crops demonstrate the need of large-scale farming there.

CORN REIGNS IN OHIO

The acreage devoted to corn in Ohio during 1927 was 3,376,000, larger than that devoted to any other crop. The value of the crop was $84,000,000, or a little less than half thevalue of all the other crops combined.

Poultry Pays

Crosby County Man Keeps Books

RALLS, Feb. 16.—J. R. Willard, substantial and progressive citizen of the League Four community near Ralls is quite a poultry fancier. He has kept good strains of chickens over a period of several years and figures them the most profitable part of his farming activities.

Mr. Willard keeps books on his poultry and can tell you just how many eggs he sells each month and how much per dozen he receives for them. He figures that he sold enough "setting eggs" and chickens to pay for the feed for his flock the past thirteen months.

He received $496.06 for eggs from Jan. 1st, 1928, to Jan. 12th, 1929, covering a period of twelve and a half months.

Short Supply In Livestock Felt In Texas Market

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16. (AP)—Trading in livestock here Saturday showed the usual short supply with mixed loads making up the receipts and buyers and sellers making a short session of it.

No change noted in the cattle prices while not enough sheep changed hands to fully test the market. Hogs sold ten to 15c lower.

No steers included in the receipts and only a few odd head of bulls and most of them were common light bulls. They sold around 6.00 to 6.50, with a few of the heavier bulls at 7.00 and 7.50.

A few slaughter yearlings and heifers sold at steady values, quality considered. Most of the trading on common packages that sold at 7.50 to 9.25.

Packages of cows cleared on bids from 4.50 for a few old "shells" to 8.25 for fairly good beef cows. The bulk of the packages sold at 5.50 to 7.00

Buyers took the light supply of calves at values in line with the week's trading. No carlots offered and sales ranged from 6.75 to 10.75.

Stocker cattle absent from the day's offering.

With only 25 sheep listed for the day values were considered steady.

The best rail butchers sold at 10.00 and truck top was 9.40. Bulk of the 175-250 pound butchers 9.20 to 10.00; packing sows 8.00 to 8.75.

WESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 16.—(AP)—(United States Department of Agriculture)—A rather disastrous week was experienced by the cattle feeders. A general decline of 25@50c was enforced around the 11-market circuit on most killing classes. Many steers were marketed at a price from $1.50@2.00 under their cost as feeders last fall. Light yearlings found a fairly broad outlet with values at some points firm to higher. A sluggish demand for dressed beeves and the potentially large supply of fat cattle to be marketed in the near future continued to be the bearish factor to the live trade. No material changes were registered on thin replacement stock, but feeders ruled unevenly lower in sympathy with the decline on slaughter steers. Aggregate receipts were around 151,000, about the same as last week and 43,000 short of the same period a year ago.

Hog prices worked to new high levels for the season the fore part of the week but a large portion was erased on closing days. Current values are unevenly steady to 30c higher than a week ago with an extreme top of $10.40 at St. Louis. At the week's high points a mark of $10.65 was realized in Chicago. Total offerings were around 704,000 as compared with 696,565 last week and 845,395 the same week a year ago.

The sheep supply approximated 295,500 an increase of 60,000 over last week and slightly more than a year ago. Killing classes at most markets closed unevenly steady to 25c lower, Omaha showing a slight upturn on fat lambs and Kansas City reporting a 25@50c decline on aged stock. Choice lambs in Chicago, on the close stopped at $17.10.

Rate Reduction Is Effective On Grain Shipments

Nearly Fifty Per Cent Cut In Rail Tariffs Decreed For South Plains Section By Commission

Drastic reductions of freight rates on grain shipments of less than car load lots, re-established recently by the Texas Railroad commission, became effective Friday. Rates provisions to November 8 were reestablished.

The rate was placed at 53 cents as compared to almost twice that amount under the previous rate. This reduction by the commission followed on the heels of a protest by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce together with a number of seed growers of the South Plains.

With the change, a vast saving to the farmers and grain men of this section was effected in addition to a protection against increase in rates.

Albert L. Reed, traffic expert of Dallas, represented the local Chamber of Commerce, in filing the protest against the exorbitant rates. He stated that the railroad commission did a great service to this section by the change of rates. The commission includes: Clarence A. Gilmore, Lon A. Smith and C. V. Terrell.

Not only will the farmers of this section but of the entire nation as well be benefitted by the new rates by the prevention of a raise in the prices of seed. Local dealers also will be protected by the fact that their profits now cannot be cut in half by increased rates.

The Plains-Panhandle ships a large percentage of all the cane sorghum grain sorghum and sudan seed used for planting purposes over the entire nation. In order to be assured of the seed being genuine Plains seed, many farmers over the nation order direct from growers and dealers here, making the small less than car load shipments necessary. Rates prior to the cancellation on November 8, ranged from 50 to 58 cents per hundred on grain from the Plains to points in Texas, while the rates being paid at the present ranged from 80c to 1.40 per hundred.

GETS TWENTY YEARS

Woman Is Sentenced To Penitentiary

OWENSBORO, Ky., Feb. 16 (AP)—A jury of Kentucky men today imposed the heaviest legal penalty allowed on a pretty 23-year-old woman accused of helping her husband rob a bank.

The woman, Grace Browder, smiled faintly at the verdict fixing her punishment at twenty years.

Total of 509 Cars Checked Here

A total of 509 cars of grain was inspected by the Lubbock Grain Exchange during the past month, according to figures recently made public by the management. This includes the receipt of 426 cars and shipments of 83 cars.

The grain consisted chiefly of threshed grain sorghum, sudan, grain sorghum heads, and ear corn. Forty-two cars of ear corn were included in the inspection, the bulk coming from Gaines, Terry, Yoakum, and Hockley counties.

Stocks Retreat Again Saturday On Credit Status

New Low Levels Recorded In Fifty Leading Industrials and 20 Rails; Volume Is Fairly Heavy

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP) — The stock market again retreated today before the apparent determination of the Federal Reserve system to reduce the amount of credit available for speculation. Selling orders poured into the market throughout the short session, and dozens of issues receded to the lowest levels of the year.

The Associated Press price indices of 50 leading industrials and 20 leading rails were depressed to new low levels for the years, and the index for 20 utilities lost more than three points. The volume of trading was fairly heavy for Saturday, total sales falling just short of 2,500,000 shares.

The continued liquidation was in the face of generally favorable weekly trade and business reviews, reporting automotive manufacturing at a record level for this time of year and steel mill operations averaging from 85 to more than 90 per cent of capacity, with steel prices tending upward.

The selling was augmented by the apparent desire of a number of commission houses to cooperate with the Federal Reserve in stabilizing credit

The jump in the call money rate to 10 per cent yesterday demonstrated that surplus credit has already been sharply curtailed, leaving the money market in a highly sensitive condition.

The Federal Reserve has given no indication as to how much credit it believes must be liberated before the credit structure will be returned to a sound footing. In the meantime, the technical position of the market has been improved, and an unusually large short interest has developed, which will serve as a cushion for further declines.

Radio (old stock) which sold as high as 420 late in 1928, tumbled 21 points to 335. The new stock touched a new low at 68 5-8.

American and foreign power and American ower and Light, strong point yesterday, sold off about 5 points. Atlantic Coast line, Barnsdall B, Green Canada, Montgomery Ward and National Bellas Hess lost 4 to 5 points. Such issues as American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, U. S. Steel, New York Central and American Can lost about 2 points. The motors held barely steady. Chrysler and General Motors losing about a point each.

Among half a dozen strong spots was eoples Gas, which mounted 7 1-2 points to a new peak and Pierce Oil preferred which jumped about 11 points to a new top.

Foreign exchanges sagged, the Canadian dollar dropping to another new low for the year just under 95 5-8 cents. The Franc touched a new low for the year at 3.90 7-32.

Judging Contest For High School Students Coming

Date Not Designated For Annual Event, To Which All Nearby Schools Are To Send Delegates

The fourth annual judging contest for vocational agricultural students in Texas high schools will be held at Tech college this spring, according to college authorities.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the department of agriculture has placed Ray C. Mowery in charge of all arrangements, and plans are being formulated rapidly. The exact date has not yet been announced.

Additional schools are expected to compete this year and a greater interest than ever before is contemplated. It is thought that additional work will be added.

Farm management, farm shop and other vocational agricultural contests are slated this year besides the ones held last year in live stock, poultry, and grain. The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce last year awarded loving cups to winning teams from Floydada, Roby, Silverton, and Tulia.

HORSELESS FARM

F. W. Peaslee of Lancaster, N. M., last year planted, cultivated, sprayed and harvested 11,300 bushels of potatoes from 35 acres without a horse, using a tractor, tractor plow, cultivator, sprayer and digger.

Business Men To Inspect Route Of Rail Branch Soon

Albert Reed, Traffic Expert Retained by City, to Bring Data on Project Back From Washington

Headed by B. Sherrod, chairman, the railroad committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce will make a trip into New Mexico soon to gather evidence to be presented to the Interstate Commerce Commission in the interest of the Santa Fe's plea for a rail extension from Seagraves to Lovington, N. M.

Albert L. Reed, traffic expert of Dallas, who has been employed by the local chamber of commerce to lead the city's fight for the Santa Fe, has been in Washington during the past week. Upon his return he will come to Lubbock to direct the collection of evidence.

The date and place of the I. C. C. hearing have not yet been announced. The commission has been invited by the local chamber of commerce to hold the hearing in this city. The hearing will be held on the applications of both the Santa Fe and the Texas and Pacific railways to serve this rapidly developing section of New Mexico.

Granting of the T. and P. permit would cut off this New Mexico territory as a trade tributary of Lubbock, while the Santa Fe extension would augment the connection between the two sections. The Santa Fe proposes to build its line directly west of Seagraves into Lovington, N. M., with an additional extension from this line due south to the Hobbs oil field district.

Nothing other than routine and preliminary work has been done by the local Chamber of Commerce so far, but with everything in readiness the actual collection of evidence and testimony should begin soon.

Amarillo Woman Had Suffered For 30 Years

Says It Is Marvelous The Relief Orgatone Is Giving Her—Gains Daily

"I could buy a nice automobile with the money I have spent during the last thirty years trying to get rid of my troubles, and my efforts failed completely until I commenced taking Orgatone," said Mrs. E. S. Dollar, who lives at 2812 Line Ave., Amarillo, Texas, the other day.

MRS. E. S. DOLLAR

Mrs. Dollar is well known in Amarillo and has many friends who will be pleased to hear of her improvement. In relating further her experience with Orgatone, she said: "Sometimes for weeks at a time I would not average over three or four hours' sleep each night on account of extreme nervousness, which was the result of long years of suffering. My stomach was in a very bad condition all the time, and I had practically no appetite, in fact, when I did eat I just forced myself to do so.

"Constipation bothered me constantly and often times head aches bothered me. I tell you I was in a very badly run-down condition in every way, but in spite of all I could do in the way of medicine and treatments I just kept getting weaker all the time, and I finally came to the conclusion that nothing would ever do me any good.

"It was a hard matter for me to make up my mind to take this Orgatone for I had been disappointed so many times that I had about lost faith in all kinds of medicines I finally made up my mind to get one bottle of Orgatone, and if I felt that it did me good I would get more. To my great surprise, I commenced to feel better before I had finished my first bottle. Well, to tell you the truth, it is all so wonderful that I just don't know how to express myself, so I will just say that Orgatone is the most marvelous preparation I ever heard of. I now have a hearty appetite and eat three good square meals a day, my nervousness is leaving me and the numbness in my left side has been improved considerably. Orgatone is restoring my health and I am so happy and grateful that I never lose an opportunity to speak a good word for this great medicine. I am more than glad to give this statement."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowen's Drug Store, under the personal direction of the special Orgatone representative.

Out of town customers are being supplied promptly by mail, upon receipt of price of $1.25 for one bottle or six bottles for $6.25. Adv.

Wayland College Girl Dies Friday

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Feb. 16. — Edna Beck, 19 years old, a Wayland college student from Mobettie, Texas, died here this morning in the Plainview sanitarium as a result of injuries sustained in an accident which happened a week ago, when a sled in which she and four other girls were riding on the snow was hit by a large automobile.

Miss Beck suffered a fractured skull and other injuries and never regained consciousness.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Beck of Mobeetie, and is survived by two brothers and four sisters.

Funeral services were held at Plainview, and the body was sent to Mobeetie for burial.

Historical Society Gets Wealth Of Additional Material From Citizens Of 4 Towns of North Plains Section

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

CANYON, Feb. 16.—A recent trip made to the North Plains,, by J. Evetts Haley, has yielded valuable material for the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, with headquarters here. The towns of Pampa, Canadian, Miami, Spearman, and Higgins were visited.

Dr. R. Goettsche of Higgins presented an old "Kentucky" rifle, made at Meriden, Connecticut in 1868, and valuable Indian relics, including a stone tomahawk, rubbing stone,. metate, and very heavy wedge-shaped whetrock, presumbly used by Indians in sharpening their tools. Twelve year old Harley Goettsche and Pete Peterson presented a huge jaw bone of a mastodon, and L. R. Goettsche sent a piece of petrified turtle shell nearly an inch thick, and horns, tusks, teeth, and vertebrae of the giant rhinocerous which roamed the North Plains regions long before the time of written history.

Buffalo Robe Given

French Arrington sent to the museum an unusually large buffalo robe which was presented to his father, Captain Arrington many years ago. A branding iron used on the old Rocking Chair ranch was added to the collection of irons, the gift of Mr. Arrington.

Sterling Williams of Pampa and Otto Studer of Canadian added an old shotgun and a deer head to the arms and mounted animal collections, and H. A. McDannald sent in a cap and ball six shooter found while street improvements were recently being made in Pampa. Mr. McDannald also donated a hand wrought door hinge, brought from old Fort Elliot.

Old Farming Implements

In these days of tractors and combines ,the tools of seventy-five years ago take on strange interest. B. C. Holt of Spearman has added to the collection of pioneer relics a hand made cane knife, the blade short and slightly curved but sawlike, and the handle about twenty-two inches long; and a reapers knife, much like the present day lawn sickle, which was used in cutting wheat seventy-five years ago, when Missouri was far west. With these were old time log hooks and a weeding hoe, home made and more than fifty years old.

A home made mane and tail comb, whittled out by E. F. True, of Amarillo when he worked on the LX ranch in 1885, a brand book used by John Arnot of Amarillo, and an autographed photograph of the German sisters who were captured by the Indians during the early days of white occupation of the Panhandle, and photographs of rangers, Cheyenne Scouts and himself presented by R. (Dick) Bussell of Canadian, were other materials brought in from the trip.

The Museum of the Panhandle-Plains Histrical Society has doubled in size during the past year, and the collection of documents is growing as fast as the section devoted to relics and natural history.

New Church Gets Free Construction

Eighteen members of the local carpenters union yesterday worked free on the new building of the 19th Street Methodist church, corner of 20th and Avenue T.

Construction of the edifice began early last week, and most of the labor up until the present time has been donated. Workers yesterday were served dinner on the grounds by the ladies of the church.

Other members of the carpenters' union who could not work yesterday have promised to help at a later date, and other local labor unions have expressed a willingness to cooperate in the construction work. The Rev. G. P. McCollom is pastor.

Legal Maze Lies Ahead For Farm Boy Who Made $30 Grow Into Over Million

CHICAGO, Feb. 16. (AP) — Roy C. Toombs, whose bubble of high finance burst last fall, starts running the legal gauntlet February 18, when he goes to trial in St. Louis on a grand larceny charge. A federal trial here March 11 will charge Toombs with using the mail to defraud.

Millions of dollars are involved in accusations against the Kansas farmer's son who came to Chicago in 1915 with $30 in his pocket. Toombs' boyhood ambitions to make money had soared to seven-figure heights before he became entangled in his own financial web.

In his home town of Winfield, Kan., Toombs had aspired to fame in finance. His business partners there found his idea "too fast" for them. Toombs disappeared. In succession he was reported to be in Montana, Denver and Chicago.

Toombs then began his skyrocket-like ascension in money circles. A year after he arrived in Chicago he organized a mortgage company capitalized at $100,000. With O. R. Daily he entered the LaSalle street money mart. Toombs and Daily eventually built up a brokerage house with a capital of $3,600,000.

In suburban Downers Grove, Toombs became a leading citizen and president of the State Bank and Trust company. The International Life Insurance company of St. Louis was sold in June, 1927; Toombs bought it.

Last August the crash came. Auditors found $3,500,000 in securities missing from the insurance company. A receivership enveloped that company as well as Toombs' Chicago brokerage firm. The Downers Grove bank was closed to protect its depositors.

Toombs was besieged with warrants. They wanted him to explain $2,000,000 missing from Toombs & Daily; it was charged he had manipulated that firm's accounts in his insurance business. St. Louis officers wanted Toombs to clear up the deficit that bankrupted his insurance company.

SPRING!

—and with the new season, costumes take on new gaiety of color, new line interest; a freshness and charm of fabric and style. In Ward's collection of Spring wear there is everything to outfit the smart woman—from Paris-styled coats and frocks to the smallest important accessories.

COATS
$23.75
Smooth broadcloths, pastel-colored tweeds, black satins and velveteens fashion Spring's new coats. Modishly and deftly tailored, they are softly furred or smartly scarfed. The straight silhouette is often broken by capes and flares.

DRESSES
$14.75
In this collection are soft flat crepes, gleaming satin cantons, sheer georgettes—skillfully fashioned into the most charming of afternoon frocks.

$8.95

COSTUME JEWELRY
The unusual and deeply brilliant in semi-precious stones will predominate the Spring jewelry mode. Pearls will be very popular. Necklaces, chokers, 50c to $10.00

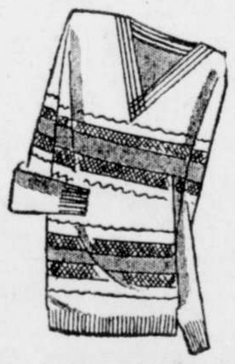
POUCH BAGS
Daytime and dress modes demand harmonizing bags of novelty silks and lightweight leathers—the "sun tan" tones predominating. A splendid choice—
98c to $6.95



SWEATERS
play an important role in the Spring wardrobe — for sports wear, and the smartly tailored ensemble. Vivid colors are combined for alluring loveliness.
$2.98

$1.95
An amazing selection for sport and street wear. Straws, summer felts, dainty little silk hats with straw trims—all in a beautiful array of the newest shapes and colors. At this price no dress or coat can do without a hat to suit.

ENSEMBLES
$14.75
No woman's wardrobe is complete without an ensemble this Spring. The fascinating, pale yellow-green—Chartreuse—and Chinese reds are favorite colors. Blouses and coat linings are often of gay prints in colors to harmonize with the seven-eighths length coats. Come in and see Ward's selection of two and three-piece ensembles.

LINGERIE
For wear under slim, new frocks are foundation garments that softly mold the figure—developed in brocades, satins, and elastic. Teddies, bandeau sets, bloomers, and costume slips are delightfully dainty and practical, fashioned of crepe de chine or rayon in delicate shades.

Airport Selection Is Expected Soon

Next Meeting Of B. C. D. Committee On Project May Find Definite Development For Site

A definite step toward the securing of an airport for Lubbock will be made by the chamber of commerce aviation committee at the next meeting of the board of civic development, it was stated yesterday by George E. Benson, chairman of the committee.

Recommendations looking toward purchase of a site for an airport and the installation of apparatus necessary for such a venture are to be made by the airport committee. Just what will be the nature of these recommendations, Mr. Benson would not say when interviewed yesterday.

The only steps taken thus far by the airport committee have been the securing of a temporary landing field here.

It is believed the recommendations will urge early action on part of the chamber of commerce in order that Lubbock may be included on air routes now being projected in this region.

Utilities Employes Hold Annual Party

Approximately 275 employes of the Texas Utilities company met for an evening of general get-together at the company's offices, corner of 10th street and Avenue G, Saturday night.

Towns represented included Clovis, Roswell, Portales, N. M.; Amarillo, Post, Seminole, Seagraves, Crosbyton and other South Plains cities of Texas.

Following a buffet luncheon, a series of games, stunts and other entertainment, with dancing obtained. The occasion was the Employees' Annual frolic and lived up to its name in every detail, attendance being larger than last year and everyone departing very much pleased with the affair.

$60,000 Jewelry Theft Is Probed

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16 (AP)—Trial of Archie Goldstein, alias Dr. Abe Golstone, charged with theft of $60,000 worth of jewelry from Joe Optician, New York jewelry salesman, here last February 13, is set here for Monday. Among witnesses are Optician, complainant, whose trunk of gems was stolen during a railway trip from Wichita Falls to Fort Worth by switching trunk checks in transit.

Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, of Englewood, N. J., daughter of Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, whose engagement announcement has come as a Valetine surprise to the world. The announcement was made by the Morrows at the American embassy in Mexico City, Mexico. The wedding is expected to take place in June.

Home Of St. Louis Dyeing King Bombed

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 16 (AP)—The home here of Jacob Skey, president of the Paris Dyeing and Cleaning company, was bombed last night. Windows were smashed and the front porch was damaged, but no one was injured. Skey said he knew no reason for the attack.

Seven Nuns Ordered Deported Saturday

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 16 (AP)—Seven Spanish Catholic nuns awaited the first boat to Havana at Vera Cruz today, after their arrest at Tacuba, near here. Charges of violating the religious laws were filed and they were ordered deported. The mother superior said they belonged to the order of Hermanadas Desamparadas. They were arrested yesterday in a home for the aged where, it was charged, they led a convent life in violation of the constitution.

Root Will Study Over World Court

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Elihu Root left today on the liner Augustus to attend a convention of international jurists to consider possible revision of the statute creating the permanent court of International Justice. The committee is meeting at the invitation of the League of Nations.

Police Arrest Cast Of New York Drama

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Police visited the play "My Girl Friday" and arrested the cast after last night's performance at the Republic theatre. The players were loaded into a patrol car and taken to the West 47th Street station where they were later released under $500 bail each. The raid followed complaints to Mayor Walker, of attire, lines and situations.

Korean farmers' main beasts of burden are the ox and cow, which plow the fields, haul heavy loads, turn the mill and as a final service are slaughtered for food and their hides.

"Charity" Talk Will Be Presented Today

A sermon on the general subject of "Charity" will be given at the district courtroom today at 3:30 o'clock. The service will follow a talk on missions.

The service, to which the public is invited, is being sponsored by R. W. Boley, and his wife, Ada A. Boley.

CLAMPING ON THE LID

In a recent safety drive, highway officials of Massachusetts revoked the licenses of 1100 motorists in one week. The causes ranged from faulty brakes to improperly focused headlights.

There are said to be two "danger periods" in the day when factory accidents are most liable to happen—between 9:30 a. m. and 10 a. m., and betwen 4:30 p. m. and 5 p. m.

From time immemorial tilling the soil has been the principal occupation of the Korean people; rice is the staple agricultural product, followed by barley, Italian millet, soy beans, wheat and the red beans.

Keystone "Patrician," 20-Passenger Plane To Tour Country, Visiting Principal Air Cities

By WILLIAM E. BERCHTOLD
(Associated Press Aviation Editor)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Developed by the designers of a long line of army bombers, the Keystone "Patrician," carrying 20 passengers in the luxury of a finely appointed cabin, is making its debut among air liners.

A national tour will take it to every section of the country, across treacherous mountain peaks and miles of flat midwestern prairies, to test its capabilities for regular passenger service.

Cost $100,000

The Wright Aeronautical corporation has contracted for one of the huge ships, to be built as a flying office for its officers at a cost of $100,000. Pan American Airways, inc., operator or air mail and passenger lines in Latin America, is planning to use one of the "Patricians" on a link in its international system.

The itinerary of the plane from Washington includes Dayton, O.; St. Louis, Wichita, Kas., El Paso, Tex., Tuscon, Ariz., San Diego, Cal., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland Ore., Seattle, Boise, Idaho, Salt Lake City, Cheyenne, Omaha, Minneapolis Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, and New York City.

Has Stateroom

A private stateroom, shut off from the main cabin, finely upholstered chairs, hot and cold running water and private toilet facilities.

A buffet, built in the rear of the fuselage off the main cabin, is equipped with a refrigeration system and will be stocked with cold refreshments and fresh food.

A loud speaker, hooked up to a special radio set, will provide entertainment. An apparatus makes it possible for the pilot or navigator to make comments on location of the plane, scenery below, or announcements of maneuvers which may be heard in the cabin through the loud speaker.

Cabin Well Lighted

The man cabin, seating 15 passengers, is 6 feet high, 6 feet wide and 20 feet long. The private compartment has facilities for five passengers. Continuous glass panels around the cabin flood it with light during the day, while dome and wall lights are designed to provide ample illumination for night flights.

The walls are heavily inculated with sound-proof material which muffles the noise of the engines and allows passengers to read, sleep or carry on conversations in comfort.

The pilot's cockpit is built on a higher level than the main cabin, providing good visibility at all times. Three 525 horsepower Wright "Cyclone" air-cooled engines propel the big plane, which weighs approximately 15,000 pounds when fully loaded. Its monoplane wing has a span of 99 feet, and an area of 1,000 square feet. It is 63 feet long.

The Keystone "Patrician" is ready for a national tour that will include most of the country's air centers. Three 525 horsepower engines propel the big ship, which is equipped with cabins for 20 passengers. The main cabin (below) seats 15 persons, while a private apartment has accommodations for five.

Mitchell School Officials Visit In City Saturday

Miss Ruby Magill, of Colorado, superintendent of public instruction for Mitchell county, accompanied by H.P. Powers, teacher of the Conway community school, and J. A. Conway and E. R. Smith, trustees of that school, were visitors in Lubbock and Lubbock county over the week-end.

The purpose of the Mitchell county visitors was primarily to inspect a number of Lubbock county's new and modern community school buildings. The Conway school recently was destroyed by fire and, as Mitchell county has only one modern rural school building, and that one a large structure, this county's list of such attracted them.

While in Lubbock Miss Magill visited with her cousin, Mrs. James L. Dow, 2003 Broadway.

Around The World Flier Plans Air Line Service In Hawaiian Islands

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Capt. Lowell H. Smith, the only army round-the-world flier on duty in the air corps, is planning an inter-island mail and passenger air service for Hawaii.

Although the war department has not received official information of Captain Smith's future plans, he will ask for a year's leave of ebsence from the air corps to develop the new Hawaiian air line, and may resign from the service at the end of the year, according to fellow officers who have kept in touch with the 'round-the-world flier.

Planned Two Years

Captain Smith has been laying plans for the inter-island commercial air line since he went to Hawaii on duty with the army air corps two years ago. He has interested financial leaders in the islands and is now in the midst of preparatory surveys to complete the airways for the new line.

Distances between the islands in the Hawaiian group are short, yet travel, which is confined to steamships, is very slow. An airplane, operating on regular schedule, could make a complete circuit of principal points on the islands in less time than boats now link any two in the group. Captain Smith believes that the air line can be developed sufficiently to make possible all inter-island communication by air without any great advance in cost to travelers, possibly at a saving.

If Captain Smith resigns from the air corps for a place in civil aviation, he will be the last member of the army 'round-the-world flight party to enter the commercial field. Leigh Wade, Erik Nelson and John Harding, other members of the 'round-the-world crew, are now associated with commercial aircraft manufacturers.

Youthful Animal Trainer Asserts Work Requires Plenty Of Courage

PERU, Ind., Feb. 16. (AP)—Clyde Beatty, youthful animal trainer, is ready to pit his nerve and knowledge against a cage of 32 jungle animals for the entertainment of circus audiences.

Folk of the big top at this winter circus city say never before has a trainer controlled so many performing animals in a cage. They call it dangerous, and mean it.

The 23-year-old Beatty, with jagged ridges of the jungle claw across his body, knows there always is danger in the exhibition cage—the more animals the greater danger. Throughout the winter he has worked with his animals at the Circus City zoological gardens, winter home of several circuses.

Among his animals is "Nero," over watchful for an opportunity to spring at the smiling young man, waving a whip and pistol. Twice, at Shreveport, La., last year and Texarkana, Ark., two years ago, "Nero" bowled Beatty over, and twice "Babe," a lioness, jumped from her pedestal and drove "Nero" away. In 1924 a black Javanese panther slashed the trainer before attendants could prod it away.

"Watch the animals closely, particularly the ones you know to be bad; never reveal a trace of nervousness or panic, and keep the animals thoroughly subjugated," is Beatty's formula for longevity for animal trainers.

There also are lesser advices, such as fairness with the animals, thorough knowledge of their habits and physical condition and alert attendants outside the cage.

Possibly the best asset of an animal trainer is steady nerves, said Beatty, who never had seen a wild animal until he followed a circus away from Chillicothe, Ohio, seven years ago.

"One night while I was doing my act the lights went off for a few seconds," he related. "Had I shown a trace of nervousness the animals would have become panic stricken and that would have been the last of me. I snapped my whip and called the commands in the usual manner and the lions and tigers maneuvered in the dark. I can tell you my heart stopped beating."

Beatty left school to become an animal attendant at 16. He first appeared as a performer with a polar bear act a year later. Then he worked in mixed groups of leopards, pumas and hyenas and advanced to an act of 16 lions. At 21 he was working 19 lions. Next year he added two tigers and this year increased his act to 32 animals.

The act's debut was before an automobile company convention in Detroit.

The "king of beasts" is not by far the most undesirable of cage companions, said the trainer. Tigers are less dependable, and the lesser cat species more treacherous than the tiger. Bears sometimes are crafty and ferocious when aroused.

Famous 101 Ranch Passes To Hands Of Last Member Of Miller Family

(By Associated Press)

PONCA CITY, Okla., Feb. 16.—Oklahoma's 101 ranch, sole surviving show place of the southwest cattle country, has passed into the hands of the last of three Miller brothers who made it famous.

Within a year two of the trio, Joseph C. and George L., have been killed. The automobile, which succeeded cow ponies as their mode of travel, caused both deaths. Joseph died from gas fumes and George met death when his car upset.

Zack T., the third brother, now will manage the 110,000 acre tract, known as America's only big ranch to be kept intact.

From a cattle range the 101 ranch was developed into what was called the world's largest diversified farm. Simultaneously the Biller brothers kept the spirit of cowboy days with their "wild west" shows, yet transformed the estate into a modern experiment farm.

New types of cattle have been raised on the ranch by cross breeding. "Cattalo" were produced by breeding cattle and buffalo. At one time the Millers claimed the largest herd of pure bred duroc jersey hoks in the world.

Their apple orchard is considered the largest in Oklahoma. Oil flows daily from numerous wells on the rahch. Thousands of acres are devoted to grains and experimental crop raising.

For years the Millers' annual round-up has attracted thousands to the ranch. Their "wild west" show, which makes annual tours throughout the country, includes genuine broncho busters riding outlaw horses. Native Indians, always befriended by the Millers, travel with the troupe.

Herds of "cattalo," buffalo and catrieches still roam the range. There are cages of monkeys, coyotes, elk and bear.

Since the three brothers inherited the ranch from their father, Col. George W. Miller, their sons have been trained to manage the farm. Assisting Zack Miller will be his two nephews, George W., jr., and Joe C., jr.

HEAVEN'S BELLS

MOSCOW, Feb. 16.—The biggest bell in Europe, the Tsar Kolokol, or "king" bell, has been converted into a chapel. The bell was cast in 1653, and weighed 198 tons. A fire in 1737 destroyed its supporting beams and the bell crashed to the ground. Then someone thought of cutting a door in the metal and, presto, a church bell became a bell chapel.

JUST LIKE HOME

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 16.—The pilot of the Pan-American transport plane, "Christopher Columbus," recently left New York for Miami with 12 passengers. When the plane landed only eleven passengers got out. The pilot investigated and came out with a grayhaired lady, who had slept through the whole trip. "It was the grandest ride I ever did have," she said.

ORDER TREES FOR PARK

City Buys $500 Worth Of Trees And Shrubs

Purchase of trees and shrubbery, to the extent of $500, has been authorized by the city commission, to be used in the city park located between Sixth and Seventh Streets and Avenues T and U.

This authorization was given at a special session of the city commission, held yesterday afternoon.

QUEEN OF HEARTS

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—In her petition for divorce Mrs. Grace Leigh, 13, claimed that she shined her husband's shoes, did all the housework, worked in a factory from 3 a. m. until 4 p. m. and then went home to cook his dinner. "My only vice is chewing gum," she said. The divorce was granted.

DIDN'T WASH DISHES

AKRON, O., Feb. 16.—Not content with a $45 watch and $5 in cash, a burglar who broke into the home of R. H. Leigh here put up an order of ham and eggs, bread and coffee. He ate the meal and without waking anyone in the house walked out, leaving the dirty dishes on the table.

TO WIDEN PAVEMENT

City Commission Agrees To Request Of Citizens

Following the petition of residents of the city who live on Avenue H, below Sixteenth Street, the city commission yesterday acquiesced in the request that the paving scheduled to be plased on this avenue be made of 60 feet in width, instead of 40 feet, as originally planned.

The necessary step now will be for citizens of this section to sign up agreements with the paving company, in accordance with the request for the additional 20 feet.

COUGHS UP BURR

MECHANICSVILLE, N. Y., Feb. 16.—Two years ago Marie McGovern 14, swallowed a cockle burr and then forgot all about. Many months later she began to feel sharp pains in her lungs. An X-ray picture revealed an abscess in her lung, but no foreign matter to cause the abscess. Finally nature provided a cure. The girl had a coughing spell which expelled the burr. Marie is now recovering rapidly.

Withington Denies Wurzbach Charges

State Republican Secretary Declares Testimony Is Reckless and Unsupported; Tells Of Donations

(By Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Feb. 16.—Leonard Withington, organization director of Texas republican state headquarters, tonight characterized as "reckless charges unsupported by evidence" the testimony of Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach, Seguin, today before the Brookhart committee investigating southern patronage.

Wurzbach told the committee that federal appointees had in some instances made promissory notes to swell the party's fund in Texas.

"Congressman Wurzbach's statement that if the contributions had been made in cash they might have been voluntary but that men do not voluntarily undertake a legal obligation is so ridiculous that it is laughable. These notes are just exactly like those signed by donors to colleges, hospitals, churches and in other finalcial drives. In fact all our funds are raised in a similar manner to a Red Cross or Community Chest drive. Practically every heavy contributor to the fund, including Messrs. Creager, Nolte, Bullington, Thomson, Maverick, and other party officers, has contributed through the notes, or pledges, and none of these have been candidates for office."

Gang Deaths

elsewhere for three members of the "purple gang" of Detroit, identified from photographs by rooming house owners across the street from the Moran headquarters as having rented rooms there shortly before the killings.

Police Theory Given

A theory expressed yesterday by Major F. D. Silloway, assistant prohibition administrator thhat policemen and not gangsters wearing police uniforms, were the killers remained without substantiation today.

His theorizing drew a rebuke from Prohibition Commissioner Doran in Washington.

Police also were under fire from other quarters. Alderman John Mason said he expected to present to the city council next week a bill providing for reorganization of the police department under a nonpolitical civilian board of control.

Demand Investigation

The association of commerce took hand by demanding grand jury investigation of imputations cast on the police department with a view to clearing the department or ridding it of those found guilty.

The bodies of the victims of the gang slaughter have been claimed by relatives. Funeral services will be held Monday. For Peter and Frank Guzenberg, principal lieutenants of George "Bugs" Moran, expensive caskets have been bought with indications they would be buried with some of the lavish display and pomp affected by relatives of slain gangsters a few years ago. For the other five, however, simple services were planned.

The Daily News today printed what it terms the "inside story" of the gang killings unearthed after an investigation by the newspaper here and in Detroit.

Moran's followers, the newspaper said, were killed as the result of a war between Canadian distilleries, the execution squad being made up of members of the "purple gang" of Detroit, the prize ot stake, the newspaper said is the Chicago liquor market, gateway to the territory from the great lakes to the Pacific coast.

The real brains behind the syndicate in Chicago, the newspaper said, was a man designated as "Mr. X," who fled to Canada when he was threatened with exposure here and opened a distillery in that country.

Mr. X. said the newspaper, formed an alliance with the Moran gang through a spy system was tipped off on Chicago shipments made by rival Canadian distillers and hi-jacked them on the arrival here. As a result, the rival distilleries sent gangsters here to rid themselves of Moran's gang.

Wallpaper discovered some years ago at Christ's college, Cambridge, is now believed to be the first made in Britain. Its date was apparently 1509, for on the other side of the paper appeared a poem concerning the death of Henry VII and a proclamation of Henry VIII.

Mrs. Viola Moore of Hillsdale, Mich., saved her academy gown after her college commencement. Two sons have worn it since; five other children await their turns.

Legislature

in the senate for Monday, with the bond issue holding first place.

Representative Young, co-author of the bill providing for prison concentration on the seven farms below Houston with the central plant on the Darrington Farm, said today he would bring his measure up in the house Monday.

Plans Personal Command.

With two of the governor's chief legislative subjects to have right-of-way this week, Mr. Moody is planning to take personal command of his forces in the legislature.

He has been working on a message setting out his ideas of how the prison system should be reorganized and centralized. He intended to send it up last week, but decided to wait until this week in order to have his words fresh in the minds of the law makers when they are in the midst of these bills.

He is likely to appear in person before the legislature to expound his views.

In the meantime he has been working diligently, interviewing his friends in both houses and explaining to them the prison and highway measures.

It is difficult for political observers to classify the legislature into groups, "friendly" and "unfriendly" to the governor.

House May Be Independent.

The action of the house Friday in killing the civil service bill recommended by Governor Moody in his message and advocated by him ever since he has been in office, might be pointed to as indicating the lower house at least will act independently of the administration.

The governor was disappointed at losing the bill.

Senator Stevenson said today he would vote to submit the Constitutional amendment bearing on issuance of road bonds.

Senator Holbrook, without tying himself to the wisdom of issuing state bonds, will vote to submit the amendment, he said.

Describes G. O. P. Convention

He described what he said were "wet" conditions at the G. O. P. Kansas City convention, then thundered:

"Then these sniveling hypocrites adopted a plan in favor of prohibition enforcement. I have sometimes been tempted to write a list of the names of men who vote dry and drink wet. I do not know but I shall do it yet."

Reed Read amounts alleged to have been paid Philadelphia policemen to shield bootleggers.

"Bribery, graft," he thundered, pounding his desk with his fist. Just then the time of Senator Reed expired.

"Mr. President," called several senators, eager to seek permission for the Missourian to go on.

"It won't be long," pleaded Senator Bruce, democrat, Maryland, "before we will hear that entrancing voice no longer."

More Time Granted

Time was granted after Borah gave notice he had something to say. The senate settled down to listen to more although the hour was growing late.

"Bribery, graft," Reed thundered again. "More profit can be made from distilling liquor in a wash boiler than can be made in banking.

"You haven't heard a temperance lecture since the Volstead Act was passed. You have heard only demands for stricter enforcement and observance of the law.

"They don't say now 'we'll rescue the perishing', but 'we'll shut 'em up in the penitentiaries.'

"Once men believed the law was made for punishment and not redemption. Witches were burned, men were pulled apart by the strength of horses. Then came the day of greater humanity and it was decided that laws should be made to reform culprits.

"But this law! What a monstrous thing it is! As it stands, for a single violation penalties can be piled up as great as those for manslaughter and homicide and that are altogether in disharmony with the penalties for other crimes."

Then the Missourian gave his colleagues a receipt for making home brew and sat down with an announcement he would have more to say Monday.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

By Henry L. Farrell

HOT SPOT FOR CHARLEY

The champion St. Louis Cardinals will have to stand or sink this year largely upon the performance of a rookie shortstop, Charley Gelbert, the son of a distinguished University of Pennsylvania athlete.

It has happened before that a rookie came up to an important spot like short and made good. Joe Sewell did it years ago with the Cleveland Indians and his was a tougher spot than the one young Gelbert will assume.

The Cleveland Indians were fighting for the pennant in 1920 when Ray Chapman, their star shortstop, was hit on the head by a ball pitched by Carl Mays and died from the effects of the injury. The Indians, of course, had to have another shortstop and they snared young Sewell fresh from the campus at the University of Alabama and he made good.

The St. Louis Browns uncovered a star shortstop last season when they produced Kress from their minor league farm and they even went a little better by bringing a good second baseman right up from the same team. The work of Kress and Brannon put the Browns into the money and made them the most surprising team of the year.

These sensational rookies aren't uncovered every year by everybody and if the Browns did get away with a rather wild experiment it doesn't mean that the Cardinals will come through with the same success.

THEY THINK HE'S GOOD

The St. Louis owners made a display of great confidence in the rookie Gelbert when they promoted him from the Rochester International League farm and told him that he was expected to be the regular shortstop.

They made even a more convincing gesture to prove their faith in him when they dismissed their two regular shortstops, Thevenow and Maranville. Thus the proposition was put up to the young man that he had to become the regular player in a very warm spot.

AS GOOD AS $150,000

Billy Southworth, the new manager of the club, does not seem to be worried. In comparison to his own position no other spot on the ball club can be considered a real hot one and he may consider that the shortstop business is no great worry.

Southworth managed the Rochester club into a championship last year and he should know something about the capabilities of Gelbert.

"The kid's good," he said recently. "He's faster than Frisch. He can hit better than any other man on the St. Louis club and he can throw better than George Kelly did in the days when he was a real thrower."

Southworth also let it be known, in appraising the value of the boy, that he would be worth a lot of money to several other ball clubs and that two scouts who saw him in the International League said they would have offered $150,000 as a starter for him if he hadn't been the property of the Cards.

THEY NEED PITCHERS

If the Cardinals fail to win the pennant this year the blame can't be tossed entirely in the lap of Gelbert, however. He might turn out to be another Hans Wagner and yet not be able to produce enough runs or stop enough to save some of the St. Louis pitchers.

Giant Cactus

This giant cactus, 55 feet tall and weighing around eight tons, is said to be 250 years old, and one of the largest ever found. It was discovered recently on a farm outside of Phoenix, Ariz., by Will and Jim McCulloch. So valuable was the discovery that the land on which the cactus was found increased in value from $25 an acre to $1000. About 90 per cent of its weight is water.

Simmons University Cowboy band, official band of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, to Washington with the delegation to take part in the inaugural parade. Mr. Birney stated that El Paso was willing to assist the band financially in making the trip as well as sending a large group of citizens.

President Gil was invited to attend the convention last December by an El Paso delegation attending his inauguration in Mexico City. According to Mr. Birney, the Mexican executive will be willing to visit El Paso should President Hoover consent to meet him here.

Although detail plans of the convention will not be worked out until it is definitely determined whether or not the two presidents will attend, committees are being appointed to work out different features of the three-day affair. Brig. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, commander of the First Cavalry division said today that he was anxious to cooperate in making a success of the convention. A military parade of cavalry troops, with all supporting detachments, including machine gun units and artillery, will participate, should the convention be staged on the scheduled dates, more than 4,000 soldiers will be included in the review. Field maneuvers of the entire division are to be held in El Paso during May.

The coronation of "Miss West Texas," in conjunction with a band contest, is to be held in the El Paso high school stadium at the foot of Mt. Franklin during one night of the convention.

FLASHES OF LIFE

As Brought Over Associated Press Wires Today

(By Associated Press)

It Takes Big Money

YONKERS, N. Y.—John E. Andrus, capitalist and philanthropist—also a humorist, apparently—who started his 89th year of life today, hopes to make enough money this year to take a winter vacation in Florida next year. Rockefeller, Ford, Edison and Dempsey are in Florida, but Andrus says he can't afford a trip now like they can. "If you got only a million," he remarked, "you don't amount to shucks. Get out and get some real money." More prosperity is on the way he believes. He expects to make 75 per cent more this year than last.

Violin Profitable

WASHINGTON—Jascha Heifetz makes $150,000 a year with his violin. The amount was revealed in an appellate proceedings about his income tax. Officially the instruction his father has given him for five years is valued at $72,000 and his mother's service as business manager at $62,000. His father gets $25 to $30 a lesson and among his pupils is the son of Efram Zimbalist.

Sounds Impossible

NEW YORK—Mrs. Ray Foster, wife of a film cameraman, explained in court why her car was parked without lights: "My husband was going away. I had to kiss him goodbye. We haven't been married long."

"Where was he going?"

"To put the car in the garage."

"Where is the garage?"

"Three blocks away."

A fine of $2 was imposed.

Work On Annex Of Hotel March First

Construction on the five-story annex of the Hotel Lubbock will begin about March 1, it was announced yesterday by W. G. McMillan, general contractor for the building.

Mr. McMillan plans to leave soon for Dallas where he will spend several days working on plans for the structure, the general construction of which will cost approximately $171,200. He hopes to be able to take out the building permit for the annex before the end of February.

This annex will give the Hotel Lubbock eleven stories and about 300 rooms.

PLAN NEW AIRLINE

Amarillo-San Angelo Will Start Service Soon

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 16.—Inauguration of the San Antonio to Amarillo airline, announced previously by the Texas Air Transport, Inc., of Fort Worth, with stops at San Angelo and either Big Spring, Midland or Sweetwater, will probably be during the latter part of March, advised Silliman Evans and Tom Hardin, vice presidents of the company, who landed at the San Angelo air port Wednesday.

New equipment is to be delivered to the Texas Air Transport shortly after March 1, and when arrangements for hangar space and other details are completed, the line will be started.

Fort Worth Pastor In Revival Here

State Evangelist Hulon Coffman of Fort Worth, begins a two weeks' revival at the Amherst Baptist church today. He will be assisted by the Rev. J. W. Hembrew, pastor of the church. The Rev. Mr. Coffman is well known throughout this section, having conducted several meetings on the South Plains, including ones at Lubbock, Lockney and Idalou.

PAVING IS SENT HURTLING IN AIR

Sewer Gas Explodes In Line Below Downtown Boston

BOSTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Terrific explosions of sewer gas in the heart of the downtown shopping district, which sent street paving, manhole covers, and shattered plate glass hurtling into the air, injured 40 persons late yesterday. Thousands of home-going commuters escaped in a wild dash for subway entrances.

More than a score were given emergency treatment at hospitals.

Four explosions followed in succession in the vicinity of Chauncey and Summer streets. Fire raced along underground conduits.

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

OLTON, Feb. 16.—Climaxing several years of rapid development of the school system here at Olton, a new $50,000 high school was dedicated Friday with school officials from the Texas Technological college at Lubbock, the Wayland Baptist college at Plainview and the West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, present.

Glowing tributes were paid to Superintendent H. P. Webb, who has directed the schools for the past twelve years, for his part in building the standard of the school to the point it now holds.

Served Banquet

Special guests were given a banquet with officials of the Olton school which was held at the Home Economics room at the school and which was served by students in that department under the direction of Mrs. Paul Bohner.

During the afternoon the visitors and citizens of Olton inspected the new high school building, which has every modern convenience for a school building.

H. P. Webb served as chairman of the evening meeting when a large

What Is Solution For 'Gang' Spirit?

Juvenile Delinquency Big Ploblem, All Agree, But Leaders Here Vary On Means Of Remedy

By VESTEL LOTT
Avalanche-Journal Staff

GRAPHIC human interest tales of delinquent youths lounging and prowling in downtown alleys—organizing into petty theft gangs, sometimes under the leadership of adult so-called "master minds"—of motherless street waifs who sleep in feed bins and vacant buildings, stealing bottles, sacks and other minor articles to sell and therefore gain their only means of livelihood—these together with many other stories come to light in the panorama of life viewed from the police station and sheriff's headquarters.

Congregating in the alleys, perhaps for a game of marbles, the youths lay petty plots of meanness and mischief, which gradually become more severe, finally creating in them a contempt of all laws. This is the opinion of local peace enforcement officers who have had considerable dealings with delinquent youth.

Theft Wave Crops Out

Although the activities of the youthful gangs are confined mostly to the summer time, last week there was an outcropping of their activities in the form of a petty theft wave in the city. It became necessary for Chief of Police John Lemond to issue and edict ordering the boys to stay out of the alleys.

For some time in Lubbock it was the policy of officers to give the young boys another chance, and time after time some of the boys would be caught on various charges. It finally became necessary to take drastic measures and a large number of youths have been sent to reformatories and training schools from here. Robert H. Bean states that it will be impossible to give a boy another chance from now on if there is sufficient proof of his guilt.

Officers declare that there is no definite solution for the present problem of youth. Judge Clark M. Mullican of the 99th district court here and K. N. Clapp, local scout commissioner, feel that an increase in the activities and a widening of the membership of the local Boy Scout organization will cope more than any other one thing with the problem of delinquent youth. Proper playground facilities and more recreational activities under proper supervision are advanced by some as a solution. Some officers think that a strict adherence to and enforcement of the laws is the most efficient manner of dealing with the problem.

At any rate the question is deemed important by everyone and is receiving the combined attention not only of local officers but of the public spirited citizenry as well in an effort to determine the best workable solution.

"If the people of Lubbock were really in earnest about this problem and had a real heart interest in the youth of the city something could

First Session Is Scheduled March Fourth, Matador

Kenneth Bain And A. J. Folley, Both Of Floydada Named Jurist And Prosecutor, Respectively

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

FLOYDADA, Feb. 16—Approval of the bill creating the one hundred and tenth judicial district, composed of Floyd, Briscoe, Motley, and Dickens counties, was given by Governor Dan Moody this week ,and it was announced that he had appointed Kenneth Bain and A. J. Folley, both of this city, as judge and district attorney, respectively. The bill is effective at once and it is probable that the two officials will receive their commissions and be sworn in during this month.

The first session of the new court will be convened on the fourth day of March at Matador, and it will be held for the first time in regular session in Floydada on May 20. All cases in the respective counties which have been set for dates to conform to the itinerary of the courts in the old districts in which they were located were validated for the new dates of the 110th district in the law which passed the legislature last wee' and was given to the governor's okeh this week, all processes of service thus being maintained without the loss of time or expense on the part of the litigants.

Bain Is Plains Native

Kenneth Bain, the new judge, has resided within the confines of the district since the days of his youth. Reared at Silverton, he completed high school work there. He is a graduate of Clarendon College and finished his law course at the University of Texas. In the point of service Bain is the second oldest practicing lawyer in the district.

A. J. Folley, will be one of the youngest district attorneys in this section of the state. He was reared a' Mart, Texas, and finished his academic and law work at Baylor University. He has been engaged in the practice of law here the past four years as a member of the firm of Matthews and Folley. He is thirty-three years old.

Excavations Down Six Feet

With excavation already at a depth of about six feet, construction of the underpass under the Santa Fe tracks at the intersection of Broadway is progressing rapidly.

The Panhandle Construction company, contractor for the subway, has between forty and fifty workmen engaged in the excavation work. It is hoped that the underpass will be completed an open for traffic by July 1.

During the construction of the subway, traffic to the east of Lubbock toward Canyon and Acuff is being diverted six blocks north on Avenue H, then east for several blocks, turning into the main road immediately west of the fair grounds

Reorganization Of Scouts, Plan

Reorganization of the local Boy Scout council and the formulation of plans for the annual Scout financial drive both in Lubbock and over the South Plains will be made at a meeting of local citizens in the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce offices at 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

Everyone interested in the welfare of Scouting is urged to attend the meeting. The future of Scouting on the South Plains will be discussed. K. N. Clapp, Scout commissioner, and acting executive, and the Rev. L. G. H. Williams, president of the South Plains Area Council, called the meeting.

Annual Banquet Date Is Not Set

The date for the annual banquet of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development has not yet been set, it was announced here yesterday by officials of the organization.

The committee in charge of arrangements is corresponding with one of the outstanding figures of the South in an effort to obtain him as the principal speaker. Should he be secured the date of the banquet will be dependent on the time that he will be available. Definite announcements concerning the annual affair are expected to be made public in the near future.

New Engineer In Tour Over Region

Caldwell, Successor To Field, Learning of Road Conditions Through First Hand Inspection

Joe Caldwell, new engineer of the fifth division of the state highway department, is making a tour over this district in an effort to acquaint himself with the state highways in this section.

Mr. Caldwell arrived in the city about a week ago, following the resignation of George A. Field, former engineer of this district.

Headquarters of the fifth district have been moved from the former location in the northwest corner of the third floor of the courthouse to room 315 in the Myrick building.

CALL BOND VOTE

Upton County To Decide On Half Million Issue

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 16.—Notice of a bond election in Upton county for $500,000 on March 16, has been issued by the county commissioners court from Rankin. Bonds will mature in ten years, it was stated.

If the issue should pass, which seems a probability at this time, the first work will likely be done on the Petroleum highway leading from the oil fields in that territory to Fort Worth and Tulsa.

Outstanding Social Affairs Here Are Parties Complimenting Mrs. V. Lorenz Ellis and Mrs. Dorrance D. Roderick

Maedgen Home Is Scene Of Large Tea Yesterday For Mrs. Ellis, who Was Wed Recently

In compliment affairs are features of society in Lubbock now. Parties are continuing for Mrs. Dorrance D. Roderick, who is moving to El Paso, and Mrs. V. Lorenz Ellis, bride has been extended a number of social courtesies.

One of the largest affairs of yesterday was a tea in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maedgen, 1923 Broadway, given by Mrs. Maedgen and Mrs. L. C. Ellis complimenting the bride and two affairs have been announced for next week in her honor.

Mrs. J. H. Stiles, Mrs. L. L. Thompson, Mrs. Claxton Draper and Miss Anna Belle Collins are entertaining on Wednesday afternoon with a bridge party for Mrs. Ellis and Misses Alma Spikes and Faye George have announced a luncheon for Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hunt.

Feted on Friday

The bride was honor guest Friday at a luncheon in the Yellowhouse Tea room on Broadway. Mrs. R. M. Chitwood was hostess on this occasion and only intimate friends of the honor guest were asked. Clusters of sweetpeas were used on the table and each guest received a corsage of the flowers.

On Friday evening Misses Frances Wilson and Frances Small were hostesses with a dinner at Hotel Lubbock. Again only a few friends of the honor guest were asked. Jonquils formed a table center piece and tiny brides and grooms were used in decorating the table.

Is Rainbow Tea

Rainbow colors were used at the tea yesterday afternoon in the Maedgen home and decorations in the dining room centered about a rainbow on the buffet. At the foot of the curve was a bride and groom in a garden of flowers.

A cluster of sweetpeas was used for a table center piece on the dining table which was laid with a silver service and sweetpea corsages were favors for the guests. Streamers of pink maline were run from the corners of the table to a light overhead. A beautiful lace cloth covered the table and green candles burned in silver holders.

Refreshments of colonial tea, olive and butter sandwiches and pink, green and orchid mints were dispensed from the table.

In keeping with the theme of the affair, red carnations were used in the living room, ferns, tulips and jonquils decorated the sun parlor and pink roses and carnations were used in the music room.

These In Party

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. A. V. Weaver or Mrs. H. T. Kimbro and Mrs. H. D. Woods introduced them to the hostesses and honor guest who stood at the head of a receiving line composed of Mrs. J. H. Stiles, Mrs. L. L. Thompson, Mrs. Claxton Draper, Mrs. Lee Quillen, Mrs. Harold Gordon and Mrs. Howard Lemon of Hale Center.

Mrs. S. C. Wilson presided over a guest book. Mrs. E. L. Klett stood at the entrance to the sun parlor where Mrs. H. W. Richardson, Mrs. Clayton Gammill, Mrs. Jack M. Lewis, Mrs. R. M. Chitwood and Miss John Estes of Hereford received those who called.

Mrs. Charles F. O'Neall was at the music room door. Miss Frances Small stood at the hall door and Miss Frances Wilson directed guests through the hall, while Mrs. J. C. Granbery and Mrs. Earl Hunt stood at the dining room entrance. Mrs. O. W. English and Mrs. Knox Thomas assisted in receiving guests in the living room. Mesdames A. W. McKee, G. C. Wolffarth and Warren Embry were in the break-

Local People Are Assisted By Tech "Y" Associations

Social Service Activities Are Part Of The Constructive Work Among Assocations At College

Believing that a little sympathetic understanding, some teaching, promotion of sanitation and generally higher standards of living will go a long way toward making local Mexicans and negroes better citizens, the Technological college Y members are now engaged in social service work among these peoples.

Some surveys have been made which reveal specific needs in Lubbock's "dark town" and a group of young men and women at the college expect to meet many of these needs.

May Have Clinic

It is their hope to establish a free clinic there for the examination of teeth and throats, of ears and noses in order that some of the more pernicious illnesses may be diagnosed and treated; to establish a lectureship on sanitation; to promote wholesome amusements, and home economics students in the group are going among the women teaching them the fundamentals of fitting, cutting and constructing dresses and other garments.

About sixty members of the Y. M. C. A. and of the Y. W. C. A. at Tech are engaged in this activity, which is now confined to the negroes. Later the group is to go among the Mexicans and it is also planned to work with a group of young boys in the city who are in need of some sympathetic guidance to keep thm from lawlessness, according to one of the leaders in the movement.

Miss Rodgers Chairman

Miss Lylah Gaye Rodgers is the chairman in charge of teaching negro women to sew. A survey revealed that many of the negro women were attempting fancy work when they did not know the fundamentals of making their necessary clothing, according to girls who are teaching the negroes. It is the aim of this group to help the negro woman with her sewing, such as the making of house dresses, aprons and underwear.

"Most of the negroes are able to buy the materials which we are using now, but they do not have the other equipment that is needed and sewing machines are very necessary," these girls have said in asking the cooperation of townspeople in their work.

Need Machines

Old machines which are yet of some service, cutting tables and other equipment is needed by the negro women and some of them are not quite able to buy materials for sewing, the surveys have revealed. The Y. W. C. A. members are asking any one who has materials or equipment that may be used to call Mrs. J. N. Michie at 1188 in order that the things may be called for.

A fund of $1500 is being raised at the college now through personal pledges and gifts from the students and this money is to be used, particularly, in such social service work as is being done by the Christian associations among men and women students in the institution. This campaign is coming to a climax next week at Tech.

FIVE HOSTESSES

Bridge Party Is Given In Nelson Residence

Miss Lillian and Eleanor Nedson, Sue Flache, Lita Alice Cross and Lila Gay Rodgers were bridge hostesses Friday evening in the home of Misses Nelson and a Valentine decorative motif was used.

High scores were made by Odell Rieger and Sue Flache in the games. Refreshments were served to Misses Wennell McCoy, Opal Hawes, Gladys Cox, Ola May, Ruth Dean Cowan, Meldon Leslie, John Leslie, O'Dell Rieger, Weldon Snodgrass, R. E. Mills, E. B. Fincher, H. C. Crosby, James Harley Dallas and Joe Nelson.

Mrs. Frank Ingham of Midland is visiting in the home of her son, Herbert Carlock, 1623 18th street.

Longer Skirts Outstanding Features Of Spring and Summer Frocks

BY MME. LISBETH

Slightly longer skirts for daytime wear and decidedly longer for evening—often trailing the floor—are two of the most outstanding features of the spring and summer frocks, as evidenced by the fashion showings of the most important Paris houses.

Another tendency noted is that all clothes are extremely close-fitting at the hips, which means that women must watch and pray, or, better, roll kick, hike and exercise generally and energetically to maintain the slender hipline.

Yokes are shown on both waist and skirts. Jewelry is more elaborate and expensive, and lingerie touches on collars and cuffs are also noticeable features.

All these highlights of fashion are faithfully reflected in the costumes worn by our galaxy of screen beauties of Hollywood.

Pictured here at the extreme left is Lorayne Duval in an exquisite evening gown with tight bodice spangled with gold sequins and a bouffant skirt of tulle ruffles. The ruffles of the skirt are adjusted to the bodice in pointed formation, insuring the uneven hemline, which, in this instance, comes well to the ankles.

Youthful Model

The stately grace of this gown makes a delightful contrast to the dainty charm of Laura LaPlante's adorably youthful dance frock of hand-embroidered batiste, center, with a petal-like skirt of plaited ruffles of net. This is posed over a silk crepe slip of shell pink.

Second from the right Laura La Plante again poses in a sports costume consisting of black circular skirt with gray knitted overblouse. A black felt hat and black patent leather pumps are worn with this dress, while gray gloves, black suede purse and silver fox fur are the attractive accessories that complete the ensemble.

Extremely long, graceful lines are the most noticeable feature of the last gown—extreme right. Margaret Livingston again is the model. It is a black chiffon velvet evening gown. The bodice is close fitting, with an extremely low cut V in front filled with a vestee. The skirt is circular in cut and draped, with an uneven hem.

The Woman's Day

Stirred by the expulsion from various universities and colleges of students who marry while in school, several college papers attempt to find out from the "raccoon men" and co-eds themselves how much, if any, their collegiate careers are hampered or helped by matrimony, and whether they believe the expulsion for marriage rule is just.

It's the same old story of human sophistry in the results. The married students insist that marriage only spurs one on to greater scholastic activity, knowing that knowledge means good jobs which are essential to the married state. The singletons insist that matrimony but acts as a distraction from collegiate activities.

You pays your money and you takes your pick!

JUST ONE OF 'EM!

Mrs. Martha Bradley of Upton Station, Virginia, poured some kerosent on her coal fire the other day and set the can on the floor near the stove. It exploded, and set fire to the housewife's clothing. She died before help could reach her.

Mrs. Bradley is just one of the thousands of unsung home heroines who are sacrificed yearly to the makeshift methods of their home; just one of the housewives running one of the thousands of homes utterly bare of the safety devices and conveniences of a modern era. Sometimes a money lack explains it; sometimes a husband who sees no reason why a woman today should have it any easier than "my mother and my grandmother" did.

HERO SOMETIMES

Seaman Walter Trettin of the good ship "America" did his bit in rescuing drowning men from the freighter "Florida." He came to New York's wild enthusiasm over the heroes of the sea and was met with a warrant for his arrest on a charge of deserting his wife and four-year-old son.

And yet there is nothing so queer about that. Trettin isn't the first human who measures up pretty well in one situation and falls down in another. It's one thing, too, to rise to high moments; it's another thing to endure the sameness of the commonplace.

FUNNY?

Cosmo Hamilton, author, believes that artists should be governmentally endowed in order to create. If an artist is single, he says, he should not have more than $5000 a year; if he's married, he'll need at least $100,000, which is probably an example of high humor.

Bible And Mission Study Are Phases Of Women's Work

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourth of a series of articles on church women's societies of Lubbock. Others will follow in consecutive issues of the Sunday Avalanche-Journal.)

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN

With six weeks of the church year remaining, members of the First Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary have practically raised the $1500 pledged in a budget last spring by the society.

New officers were elected last week and reports are being compiled as the year's work is brought to a close.

Every woman who affiliates with this church is automatically a member of the women's society, although some of them are never actively engaged in the church work. Those who work in the society make pledges toward the financial budget, special self-denial and free will offerings are made and various money-making activities are carried on throughout the year.

This money is used principally in the support of home and foreign missions, but this represents only a phase of the auxiliary work.

Have Bible Study

The first four Monday afternoons of each month are devoted to meeting and a Bible study is conducted on two of these days by Mrs. C. J. Wagner. Second Mondays are devoted to business and social meetings of the general auxiliary and there are unit meetings on the remaining day. The women join with other societies of the city in attending the church women's auxiliary meetings on fifth Monday afternoons. Home and foreign missions are also studied and recently Rev. Jack Lewis has been conducting a mission course on Sunday evenings.

Officers in this society serve two years and two are elected each spring. Mrs. Temple H. Ellis, president, and Mrs. S. C. Wilson, treasurer, are completing their first year of service in March and Mrs. R. A. Studhalter, secretary and Mrs. Harley D. Woods, vice-president, are completing their second year.

Mrs. Calvin Henson has been elected vice-president, to begin with the new year, and Mrs. Albert Fryar will be the new secretary.

Divided Into Units

There are six circles in the society, including a young women's society of which Mrs. Elmer Stotts is chairman. Other chairmen are as follows for this year: Circle 1, Mrs. R. S. Rodgers; Circle 2, Mrs. G. W. McCleary; Circle 3, Mrs. J. S. Johnson; Circle 4, Mrs. Calvin Henson; Circle 5, Mrs. Sam Hodges. Membership in these groups is automatically shifted each year in order that each woman in the church may have an opportunity to know the other women.

Membership in the units is decided at a meeting of the new and retiring officers of the auxiliary each spring and the executive committee of the society decides upon a budget to be adopted. All of these decisions must meet with the approval of the auxiliary and of the church pastor, Rev. Jack M. Lewis.

Clever Program Is Given By Speech Arts Faculty At Meeting of Faculty In Gymnasium

A monthly social meeting of the Technological College Faculty Club on Friday evening, followed by a bridge and forty-two party yesterday afternoon for women of the college filled the week-end with social occasions for the college.

The party yesterday afternoon was in Cheri Casa dormitory and tables were arranged for both bridge and forty-two games during the afternoon. The Woman's Forum of Tech sponsored this affair and all women students of the college were invited to attend.

A seasonal decorative mode was used and light refreshments were passed at the close of the party.

Represent Theatre

The speech arts faculty was in charge of a clever program given Friday evening for the Faculty Club.

The gymnasium was arranged to represent "The Makeshift Theatre" and as guests arrived they were given tickets at a box office, their wraps checked and they were directed to tables, each of which seated four, for the evening, after they had been given printed programs.

A skit, "Condemned", and two one act plays were presented and punch was served from fountains on either side of the hall between acts. Later refreshments were passed by a committee of which Mrs. R. M. Chitwood was chairman. Guests were seated at 25 tables.

Panels, which had ben decorated by the stagecraft class at the college, were arranged about a stage in the gymnasium and Miss Ruth Pirtle was assisted by Misses Eunice Cox and Annah Jo Pendleton in presenting the program for the evening. Tech college students took parts in the plays and assisted in such roles as ushers.

Students Assist

Printed programs were replicas of those used in regular theaters.

John Synge's tragedy of Irish life, "Riders to the Sea" was a one-act play presented by the Thespian club under the direction of Miss Cox. Characters included Mrs. M. L. How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

By MADAME RUBINSTEIN

NO matter how pretty your feet are, if you don't know how to use them they are not serving at full value to you as beauty accessories.

MME. RUBINSTEIN

Very few people, particularly people of middle age, know how to walk properly. Have you ever noticed how dragged down and deliberate the motions of walking become when one passes the active age of youth? Of course it is not always actual foot positions which are to blame. Sometimes one needs to diet a bit, for careless eating results in deposits in the feet, which are the weakest organs of circulation. A simple diet can very often restore youth and "pep" to your walking.

To bathe the feet every night, first in hot and then cold water, will tone up the circulation and help to produce some of that "pep" and vitality which comes from properly-cared-for feet. The proper method of walking is very important. One needs a strong inner arch to keep up the onward pace of modern life. Learning to walk with the weight on the outer arch and by practicing heel and toe exercises, you can strengthen the important bones of the feet.

Awkward feet are very prevalent, and often one cannot blame them on circulation alone, for a great many of us, through just carelessness or bad habits, do all the things with out feet we should not do, and fail utterly to do the things we should.

Have you ever looked at people's feet in a car or train? You will find yourself wondering why so many of them are so awkward. You think it would be very simple for one to learn the technique of graceful foot postures, and yet evidently it is not simple at all, for the majority of people seem to fall naturally into unlovely positions.

In these frank days of short skirts, one must pay close attention to the details of posture, and not the least of these is the way you hold your feet. It is ugly to see women with their feet sprawled all over, sometimes with the toes in, sometimes with their knees far apart. In fact, there must be dozens of awkward and angular combinations which otherwise lovely women subscribe to.

There is really one correct position for your feet to take when you are slated. They should be flat on the floor, very slightly turned out at the toe, and reposefully straight before you.

Tea was poured by Mesdames A. V. Weaver and R. M. Chitwood, Jack M. Lewis and H. T. Kimbro and these were assisted in serving by Misses Anna Belle Collins, Alma Spikes, Faye George, Virginia Conley, D'Aunn Sammons, Lucille Moxley, Kate Boyd and Geraldine Smith.

An orchestra played during the afternoon.

Following a bridge party given Friday afternoon by Miss Mary Meador complimenting Mrs. Roderick, a buffet supper was served last evening by Mrs. W. B. Powell and Mrs. Ross A. McWhorter in the Powell home at 1202 Avenue N honoring Mr. and Mrs. Roderick.

Bridge Is Played

Miss Meador was assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. H. Meador, in entertaining and the affair was in their home at 1621 Broadway. High score in bridge was made by Mrs. Ross McWhorter, who was presented with a favor. The honor guest also received a gift.

Those who played during the afternoon were Mesdames Roderick, Kenneth I. Kimbro, Owen McWhorter, Lawrence Bacon, Hub Jones, D. K. Bondurant, G. E. McCelvey, J. A. McCelvey, Charles Read, B. C. Dickinson, Richard L. Douglas, Harold H. Griffith, James Pryor of Amarillo, Miss Jaunita Wiles and Miss Dorothy Leavel. Mrs. Roy McKinney was a tea guest. A salad course was served after the games.

Mrs. Roderick was honor guest at a luncheon served last Saturday in the Kenneth Kimbro home with Mrs. Kimbro and Mrs. Owen McWhorter as hostesses and Mrs. Jed A. Rix complimented here wit ha luncheon at Hotel Lubbock on Wednesday.

Guests at the buffet supper included Messrs. and Mesdames Roderick, Owen W. McWhorter, Kenneth I. Kimbro, Harold H. Griffith, Earl Sproles, James Pryor of Amarillo, Lawrence Bacon, Richard L. Douglas, Charles Read, D. K. Bondurant, B. C. Dickinson, Miss Mary Meador, Mrs. M. L. Price and Carl Roberds.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton

©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

There are two courses to pursue in child-training.

The obvious way, the old-fashioned way, was to allow a child to grow up in any sort of fashion until he was five or six years old and when one had a sizable boy or girl to work on begin smoothing out the bad places that somehow or other had gotten by accident into his constitution.

The new way, since intelligence has made our acquaintance, is to begin with a baby as soon as his senses begin to function and not to lose those precious five or six years at the beginning of life, which are, we now know, the most important of Man's entire span. Though a man may be elected president, th years of service he spends in the White House are not as important to him personally as the years he spends between the time of his birth and the time he starts to school.

What he is later depends on what he is then. Without any question the most plastic period of a child's life are his early years. He is like a tree. You cannot take a tree when it is six years old, wind-twisted, warped, and gnarled, and produce from it the same upstanding thing of beauty it would have been if cared for propertly in the beginning.

The Plastic Years.

The child is indeed "father to the man." What the child is before six, the man will be.

It looks like a tremendous responsibility, does it not, for a young mother starting in with her first baby? And so it is. She hasn't the advantage that her mother had of waiting a few years until both she and her child are a little older and then starting in to smack his mistakes out of him. No, the newer thought has put all that in the discard.

She must start in at once and learn her new profession of motherhood, as regards her baby's character, from the very beginning—the avoidance of complexes, cultivating the desirable and keeping out the disastrous — prevention to keep down weeds — fertilizer to coax out the timid little flowers of worth and goodness.

There are books and lectures for her help, and they are indeed a help. But there is another way she may obtain guidance in teaching her tiny primary class. This is to go to an older woman, a mother who has made an outstanding success with her family in character, mind and body, and get expert knowledge and advice that it would be safe to follow.

500 Contestants Are Enrolled In Annual Festival

Partial List Of Judges In Contests is Announced by Division Superintendents This Week-End

More than five hundred contestants, ranging from five years of age up, will participate in the annual spring Music Festival, sponsored by the South Plains Music Teachers association in Lubbock, this year, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by Miss Margaret Huff of this city, president of the association.

Judges for the contests have been partially selected. Silvio Scionti of New York and Chicago, is the artist-judge of the festival.

Miss Craig Lasley of Abilene will judge piano players of 10, 12 and 14 years in the eliminations and Wallace R. Clark head of the music department in the West Texas State Teachers college at Abilene, will judge voice. Mrs. Lillian Butler, chairman of this department, has reported an unusually large number of entries, Miss Huff said.

Herschel Coffee, head of the W. T. S. T. college violin department, will judge violin, according to Miss Beulah Dunn, chairman of this section.

Olton

gathering of Olton people was present in the school auditorium. Webb stated that the school now has 512 students, 147 of this number being in the high school. Fifteen trucks run out in every direction to bring the students to school and to carry them home.

Growth Is Remarkable

D. A. Shirley of the West Texas State Teachers college praised the Olton school for the progress that has been made since 1921 and quoted a number of statistics that showed that the school was only a second class school in 1921 without any affiliation. In 1922 with 32 students in the high school, the school had 4 1-2 units of credits.

These figures grew to 44 students and 11 1-2 units in 1923; 60 students and 14 units in 1924; 79 students and 19 1-2 units in 1925; 89 students and 19 1-2 units in 1926; 122 students and 21 1-2 units in 1927 and 146 students and 25 units in 1928.

The valuation of school property in Olton increased from $16,500 in 1921 to $80,000 in 1928, Shirley and the addition of the new $50,000 school will boost the figure to $130,000.

Underwood Talks

R. A. Underwood, executive vice-president of the First National bank of Plainview and vice-president of the board of regents of the Texas Technological college spoke, stating that he has kept a check on the production of the Olton territory and that this section is one of the safest farming sections on the entire South Plains.

Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the Agricultural Economics department of the Texas Technological college, spoke, stating that in the future the trend of farming is to be on a larger scale than in the past.

Dancer Here

11-year-old Star Moves to City

Little Miss Lucile Walker, 11-year-old dancer and singer, who has been acclaimed by stage critics the state over as the "Vest pocket edition of Mae Murray" has moved to Lubbock and will make her appearance on a local stage in the near future.

The girl will be remembered by local theatergoers who saw her appear here last year at the Palace Theatre in "Toyland Revue." Since that time she has appeared in practically all the large theaters of Texas and has won continued praise from critics.

Beginning her stage career at the age of three, Miss Walker has made a phenominal rise to the front as one of the outstanding child entertainers of the state. Trained from infancy by her mother, Mrs. Oree Elland Walker, musical and dancing instructor, the cute little blonde has won her way into the hearts of thousands of dance lovers.

In addition to her performance on the stage, Miss Walker has become a favorite as a radio entertainer as well as a club entertainer. She has been used by the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs throughout the state in their special programs. Her voice has been broadcast over WFAA and WRR at Dallas and WJAD of Waco.

Members of the local Methodist Student Federation have been invited to attend a banquet to be served Tuesday evening for the federation at the West Texas State Teachers College in Canyon. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Richardson, Clarence Whiteside and Miss Lizzie Belle Clements expect to attend.

C. I. A. Exes Meet Saturday Evening

E. V. White, Dean of College, Is Guest of Honor at Affair Last Evening; Miss Harper Hostess

Dean E. V. White of the College of Industrial Arts at Denton was an honor guest last evening when ex-students of the college gathered in the Maple Wilson home at 2409 Broadway as guests of Miss Katherine Harper.

This gathering celebrated "pan cake night" which is observed annually at the college and a radio program, which was broadcast by C. I. A., was heard.

An informal program was given and Mr. White made a short talk. Refreshments were served to a large gathering of ex-students, their husbands and friends. Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw, president of the local chapter of the ex-students association of the college, received the guests. This is the Dean E. V. White chapter of the association.

with every activity of the church and assists other organizations in their affairs. A pipe organ fund is being raised at this time through a committee composed of Miss Margaret Huff, Mrs. A. W. McKee and Mrs. Joe Wilson and the auxiliary is cooperating with the church in financing an educational annex to be constructed in the very near future.

In addition to these things, the auxiliary members have a large number of calls for money during the year.

Supports Orphan

A child in the church orphans home at Files Valley is clothed and fed by the society, a native worker is supported in Africa, money and other help is sent to the Mexican boys school of the church, Presmex, and money and aid is sent to the church school for Mexican girls at Taft. A Christmas box was packed and sent to 13 girls in the latter institution recently as each auxiliary in the state was asked to send a certain amount to the school as a Christmas gift.

Local work consumed much of the money in the society budget during the last 12 months. Presbyterian boys and girls in the high school senior class were served a banquet, a delegate was sent to the Young Peoples Conference of the church at Kerrville during the summer encampment there, a delegate was sent to the Presbyterial meeting in Colorado City. Some of the money was used in meeting the routine expenses of the local church.

Charity Work Done

These are some of the specific calls for money in the society. There was other local and foreign charity work that demanded help from the Presbyterian women here.

To meet these needs, personal pledges were made among the women and this money made up a large part of the $1500 called for in the society budget. In addition to that magazine subscriptions have been sold, society members have been agents for a cleaner and a polish, banquets and dinners have been served, one circle is making children's dresses, another is selling coat hangers and other means are employed to bring money into the auxiliary treasury. A St. Patrick's silver tea has ben announced recently for March.

Certain days are designated for special offerings. During the fall an all-day session was conducted during which home missions were studied and on that day a self-denial offering amounted to $26.05. This went to the Stillman negro school of the church at Tuscaloosa, Ala. The women also do work among the negroes and Mexicans in Lubbock.

Offering for Mission

A self-denial offering last week at a meeting of the society amounted to $18.50 and this money was sent to foreign misions.

Not all of the activities are carried on for the sake of finances. Pageants and musical programs are sponsored in the church for the benefit of the congregation. The Bible study is conducted for the spiritual help that it is to the women as this society, along with other church women's organizations, has a primary aim of self-improvement and culture.

The local auxiliary is a part of the district organization, which is known as the Presbytery, and this is, in turn, a part of the state synod which is a unit of the General Assembly of the church.

WORKER TO BE HERE

Dr. Nathan G. Long Is Due Here During Week-End

Dr. Nathan G. Long, of Nashville, Tenn., assistant student worker for colleges of the Southern Methodist church, is expected to be in Lubbock during the coming week-end. He is to preach at the First Methodist church next Sunday morning and will speak at the Epworth League meeting in the evening. He is to be at the Tech college on Monday for conference.

Mrs. J. C. Granbery and Mrs. T. R. Prideaux will entertain the 1911 Needle club at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Mrs. Granbery's home at 1622 Avenue X.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST — Halves of grape fruit, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, spinach with eggs on toast, extra toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Hot pot of beans, apple and lettuce salad, brown bread, chilled steamed prunes, milk, tea.

Hot Pot of Beans.

One cup navy beans, 1-4 pound steak, 1-4 pound ham, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1-2 cup minced carrot, 1-4 cup minced celery, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 cup finely diced potato, 1 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 teaspoon mustard.

Wash beans and cover with cold water. Let stand over night. In the morning pour off water. Put meat through food chopper, using fat on the ham. Combine all the ingredients, adding about 4 cups of cold water. Bring to the boiling point and simmer, just below actual bubbling point for three hours, until beans are tender.

With a hearty salad and dessert this can be used for a dinner one-piece meal.

Hostesses were Mrs. Terrell, Miss Capp, Mrs. Aldrich and Mrs. C. H. Crump. A musical program was enjoyed following the business session and refreshments were served to 13 members and five visitors.

Street Sign Group Soon Will Report

The street sign committee of the Lubbock Board of City Development probably will make its report and recommendation to the board of directors sometime this week, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. L. G. H. Williams, chairman of the committee.

The Rev. Williams said that the city-wide survey of the committee was virtually complete. The committeemen aided by local Scouts checked the number of signs in the city and determined which corners and streets justified signs. The manner of marking and the type of sign to be purchased will be recommended. "We want something that is both economical and lasting," the Rev. Mr. Williams said.

Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Summers, 1615 Seventh street, had as guest Saturday, C. J. Josey, of Whitedeer.

COFFMANS' HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Coffman entertained Thursday evening for Mrs. E. F. Heard of Goree, in their home at 2106 27th Street. Dinner was served to Mrs. Heard, Mrs. Gibbs of Sweetwater, Miss Angie Heard, Charles Heard and Orb Coffman of Goree.

Greta Garbo, Dolores Del Rio, Head Week's Films

Opening Date For Talkies Is Still Indefinite Factor

"Wild Orchids" to Feature At Palace First Part Of Week; Lyric, Rex Bills Are Attractive

Unavoidable omissions in shipping and still more unavoidable delays in installation made it necessary for the Palace management to again delay opening of the "talkies" in Lubbock, and this newest form of theatrical entertainment will not be presented to local theater patrons until a later date.

Cliff C. Lindsey, owner of the Palace, is just as sorry about the delay as are the theater patrons. It's just one of those things that come up the course of the motion picture business.

"All we can say is that we don't know when our first talking picture will be given," Mr. Lindsey said yesterday.

"Just have patience with us," he added. "We'll announce the opening date through the papers just as soon as we ourselves know.

"Wild Orchids" Written Especially For Greta

Greta Garbo, the girl for whom these romantic pictures apparently are written, will be the reigning star at the Palace for four days starting Sunday. The attraction is titled "Wild Orchids" and in it Greta does some of her best work.

The story was written especially for portray by Miss Garbo and, need less to say, the screen's "clinging vine" fits into the part only too well.

Excellency of the cast can perhaps be best described by saying that it is on a parity with the featured star—and could one say more?

Starting Thursday there is another one of the year's best pictures, "The Taril of '98," a production that deserves to rank along with "The Covered Wagon," "The Birth of a Nation," and "Way Down East."

This photoplay is a veritable epic of the Far North. The mere mention that Dolores Del Rio is the featured star is enough to hint at its magnitude. The supporting cast is equally as glamorous as Miss Del Rio.

The story is one brim-ful of action, interspersed with pathos, comedy, romance, love and all the ingredients that go towards making up one of those films on which the critics are tempted—though they know it isn't newspapering—to use superlatives.

Lyric Program For Week Is Splendid

Tuesday and Wednesday it is "Jazz Mad" featuring Jean Hersholt, Marion Nixon and George Lewis.

Thursday only Malcolm McGregor and Alice White are starred in "Lingerie."

Friday and Saturday it is the one-and-only Tom Mix in "The Painted Post."

Choice comedies, news reels, and features are the side ingredients that go to complete the Lyric programs.

Roy Stewart, Old Friend, Coming To The Rex

"The Ambuscade" with Fred Gilman is the attraction for Monday and Tuesday at the Rex.

Wednesday and Thursday Roy Stewart an old favorite is featured on "Roaring Fires."

"The Trail of Courage," with Bob Steele in the stellar role is the headliner for Friday and Saturday. Comedies, news reels, and selected features also are to be found on the program.

Rabbits were given children in Astern, Saxony, as prizes for the best description of a rabbit show.

Coffer-Miller To Present Play Here

The comedy of "A Marriage of Convenience," by Dumas, to be presented at Tech February 25, fits in most admirably with the Coffer Miller repertoire. It affords Martha Miller and Jess Coffer parts to which they are magnificently suited.

The story, briefly, concerns the Comte de Candale who marries for convenience the beautiful daughter of General Torigny. The Comte cares little for his wife. The rather flat domestic relationship is further aggravated by the untimely appearance of an old suitor of the Comte's wife, the Chevalier de Valclos. The chevalier hopes for clandestine meetings with the Comtesse, but she endeavors to explain to him that love between them now is impossible as she is married. But the chevalier does not want to see it that way. In order to appease him, the Comtesse agrees to play upon the harpsicord, a love song, while he listens under her window. It is beneath his wife's window one evening that the Comte stumbles upon the love denied chevalier. The Comte at once suspects infidelity. From now on, the Comte makes life very miserable for the chevalier and finally through a series of clever situations, he brings the whole matter to light. In the meantime, the Comtesse and Comte have become violently enamoured of each other. General Torigny in order to insure their affection for each other hints at a divorce, but this suggestion only tends to bring man and wife closer together and that, of course, is as the General wishes. Needless to say, the marriage of convenience turns out to be one of pure love; the general bestows his blessings, and the chevalier is made rid of.

Texas Tech college is presenting the Coffer-Miller players on Feb. 25 and 26. Dumas' play for the first evening.

Real Film Epic Found in Cinema About Far North

"Trail of '98" Comparable To "Covered Wagon," "Birth of a Nation" and Other Screen Features

What "The Covered Wagon" was to the west, "The Birth of a Nation" was to the south, "Way Down East" was to New England, is just what "The Trail of '98" is to the far north.

It is only once in a great while that film producers succeed in turning out a real epic. Not that they don't try; it's because there isn't enough material of the right kind to make many epics.

But Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has certainly hit on a story of epic quality in "The Trail of '98," which was directed by Clarence Brown being presented starting next Thursday at the Palace Thetare.

When you see this picture you not only see the days of the mad gold rush to the Klondike—you live them.

Take the love story out of "The Trail of '98" and you still have a marvelous spectacle—put it back and you have an epic.

Clarence Brown has succeeded in doing something which is seldom done. He has filmed mighty spectacular scenes but he shows them only to let your realize the effect they have on the individuals in his picture.

You see thousands of people in a single scene, but that scene isn't crowded. It has square miles of background — background that takes away the spectacular and gives balance. The picture has real grandeur and magnificence, but it also has heart interest. The principals get their reactions from these great scenes, these great numbers of people. What you see is individual reaction to what otherwise would be the spectacular.

BIG RESPONSIBILITY

Legislature Stenographers Must Be Careful

AUSTIN, Feb. 16 (AP)—The stenographers who type bills for the house and senate have a heavy responsibility. A misspelled word might make some one's measure ineffective.

For instance. Rep. D. D. Richardson of Grand Saline today obtained permission of the house to change "mail" to "male" in his bill levying a $3 road tax against all able-bodied "male" citizens of Van Zandt county. The typist made it 'mail."

Feature Films Here

America's Rich Men Make Good Money But Poor Lovers, Pretty Star Finds

BY GENE COHN
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—American millionaires are dull! And the richer they are the duller they are!

Such is the report of the blond and lovely Lily Damita, who captured the time and fancy of Prince George in Hollywood, and who bases her assertion on experiences met on the first half of a cross-country "personal appearance" trip.

"They talk only of business," she reports in her still faltering English. "Imagine—five beautiful women standing in a corner having to talk to themselves, while the men all stand around talking business. And when they do talk to you—what is it? It is the stock market and how business is. . . bah. There is no romance.

"The French millionaire . . . what of him? Well, they are so few compared to your American rich men. And the French are the French whether they are rich or not.

Detroit the Worst

"No—I have met hundreds of your American rich men. They make good money, but bad love. They do not know romance. They know business. Detroit was the worst. There were—oh so many millionaires—but what good? I would not marry one of them. It would not be amusing even to have a romance. They are all too dull. They can keep their money—poor things—they must need it since they do not know how to have fun.

"It is too bad. In Detroit they gather around and say have a drink and come and see the night life. But I do not drink—and the night life? . . . It is so-so.

"On the Pacific coast they say . . . come and sail on my yacht! And the beautiful movie girls sail on their yachts: I have sailed just so—they have yachts like a European palace. Yet the rich men are dull, the yachts are dull—they must drink the bad gin to even talk.

Poor Boys Interesting

"In America it is the poor boy who is interesting. He knows of books and the theater and the arts and the music—yes, and he knows of the romance. He has the ideas and he knows the struggle. He does not need the money . . yet he tries to get it. . . and when he gets it, he gets fat and dull. It is all too bad."

Miss Damita, appearing in connection with her first American picture, "The Rescue," already has visited half a dozen key cities in the middle west and after a stay in New York returns via St. Louis, Indianapolis, Kansas City and way points.

Actor Abandons Movies To Carry Mail Over Mountainous Air Route

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 16 (AP).—The play is not the thing for Pilot Harry Crandall.

Crandall, who was an aeronautical performer in "Hell's Angels" has quit the movies to fly the air mail "straight and level," as war time instructors used to say. He has joined the pilot staff of Pacific Air transport and will fly over the mountainous Medford-Oakland division of the Seattle-Los Angeles air mail route, 1,099 miles long.

The newly appointed air postman started his flying career at Roger's field, Los Angeles, and followed his early instruction with a barnstorming tour through Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona and California. He then started to fly for various motion picture companies and took part in "Lilac Time," "Cohens and Kellys in Paris," Hazardous Valleys," "Around the World," "Air Circus" and "Hell's Angels."

Crandall played football with Frank Luke, second American world war ace, when they were in school together in Phoenix, Ariz. He never was known to stunt a plane, friends say, except in front of a motion picture camera.

He has spent more than 1,800 hours in the air and has had but one spill. That occurred while he was flying a plane from which an assistant was pouring flour to make "smoke" for a movie. The assistant dropped a sack of flour on the rudder bar and jammed it. The ship spun down 800 feet, but neither of the men was hurt.

Record Number of 'Extras' Was Used In 'Wild Orchids'

Whole Zoo Turned Loose To Create Atmosphere For Java Background Of Film Starring Garbo

What is believed to be a record in the use of animal extras was established at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio during the production of Greta Garbo's new starring film, "Wild Orchids," a story of Java, which comes to the Palace theater today.

It was undoubtedly a coincidence that so many four footed assistant actors were pressed into service at the same time, but if the pictures in production had continued much longer, visitors to the Los Angeles zoological gardens would have been referred to the M-G-M plant as side exhibit A, according to one of the studio camera men.

Not only goats, monkeys, bright plumaged birds of all varieties, tigers and elephants, but a host of crawling menaces ranging from 30 foot pythons to poisonous spiders helped create authentic atmosphere for the vivid exotic sequences of "Wild Orchids." Every effort was made, according to Sidney Franklin, the director, to import to Culver City only those animals and insects of the island of Java. Special which are definitely characteristic housing and feeding arrangements were made for the various members of this biological colony.

MIRRORING WORTH

Generally speaking, our conduct denotes our character and intelligence, the proverbial wolf in sheep's clothing to the contrary notwithstanding. One can depend pretty much upon behavior being an accurae mirror of worth. We may say we stand for honor and high principles but if our actions belie our avowal, our words are so much palaver. It is what we do rather than what we idly say that is most convincing.

Unfortunately the world has many persons who brag about their personal worth and others who delight in telling their associates what they plan to do. One doesn't need to call attenion to his skill and virtue; they speak for themselves. Also it is foolish to employ a great deal of time in planning. One must follow up these visions; put his theories into practice if he expects to contribute to the success of himself and society. The drifter never achieves worthy things. He must take advantage of opportunities at hand today if he wants to go forward. Our every-day lives, our stamina and courage in meeting and dealing with problems to which human nature is heir, mirror our true worth. It isn't how we live one day and face one crisis, but our rule of general conduct which furnishes a true estimate of our value. This does not mean that our errors will brand us as unworthy. Not at all. The way we lift ourselves above them establishes our strength. There are many splendid examples of moral and mental strength to be found in the ordinary rank and file of he people. With persons to whom the luxury and power of riches are denied, life is essentially commonplace, but not necessarily humdrum. It is chiefly our angle of vision which causes us to regard as monotonous a life that has many privileges and beauties. The world has numerous repetitions which the masses term monotony. The moon, the stars, the sun, the winds, the flowers the seasons are daily features; their functioning is repetition, but how glorious the marvelous succession. They are but seemingly ordinary components of our world, but if we pause to consider them we can not help but be impressed by their majesty and the immensity of our privilege at being provided with them. It is very easy to drop into the habit of inappreciation. In fact, none of us is properly grateful for the many blessings tendered us until they are taken from us. We crave excitement, novelty change. We ask for variety even at risk of losing some of the precious peace that envelops us. Innovations, excitement, new thrills may delight us for a time but they can not take the place of equanimity and security. Without health and the ability to work for gratifying remuneration; without the great blessing which keeps the shadow of bereavement and tragedy and the specter of dishonor from our homes, we are deprived indeed. Hence, those of us whom fate has treated indulgently should rejoice and by our conduct show our thankfulness.

THE SACRED SCRIPTURES

Open Thou mine eyes that I may behold wonderous things out of Thy law.—Ps. 119:18. The Sacred Scriptures are exactly what they claim to be. "The Lord gave the Word; great was the company of those that published it." Some professed Bible critics proclaim that the truth of Scripture is is to be ascertained by scientific investigation, just as any other writings are tested. The truth in God's Word is not and never can be so discovered. The Word does not purport to teach the physical sciences. If such were its purpose, scientific tests would be applicable. "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness; that the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works." A question pertinent in testing the truth of the Word is, Does it do this? No one can rightly declare that the Word is insufficient until he can truthfully declare that the commandments are fulfilled in his life, that he has superseded the spiritual stature of Jesus Christ, and that he needs no further biblical guidance in his character development. No sane man dare say such a thing as that. The Word is proving itself this day in the highest and broadest sense, when multitudes are seeking world peace. Everey enlightened person knows that the universal adoption of the life of Jesus would save the world and established peace—and the peace of love. The proof of the Word is in living it. "If ye keep by commandments, ye shall know the truth," for in keeping the laws of God, his wonderous light is given. "If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments." In keeping his commandments, his correctives inflow, creating strength, comfort, satisfaction, peace. The Word is so formed as to reveal the mind of God, his personal presence, and save from sin. And this the Word does as it is learned, loved, and followed. It discloses God by giving one to feel the hallowed fire of his love. It conquers death by turning the grave into the resplendent archway opening into everlasting bliss. It triumphs over the enemies of the soul, and gives the satisfying blessedness. O, its mighty power! Power to rejoice when through agonizing loss the floods come thundering into the soul. Fear not for the Word of God. "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth; but the Word of God shall stand forever." Fear only lest we read it wrongly, and its sacred benefactions are not gathered in full abundance.

A Washington Bystander

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Everyone likes Hon. Henry Prather Fletcher, close friend of President-elect Hoover. Fletcher is the most popular ambassador in the foreign service.

Fletcher has a reputation for knowing Latin America and for being liked by Latin Americans. He also knows his Europe and his Asia, too, for that matter. He may be in line for a prominent diplomatic position in the Hoover administration.

But the outstanding thing about his personality is a remarkable faculty for not making any enemies. He is a natural-born diplomat and always seems to have had friends in the right places.

When Hoover takes office Fletcher will be serving under his sixth president. How does he fit with Hoover? Well, the president-elect decided that he was the one man whom he wanted to direct the diplomatic arrangements on the Hoover good will tour. Fletcher functioned admirably—probably perfectly, judging from the way his end of the show went off.

FLETCHER is the original "career man" in the foreign service. Roosevelt, under whom he had served in Cuba with the Rough Riders, launched him into diplomacy and he has since kept going under his own momentum without being even temporarily halted by changes of administration.

The ambassador is now virtually 55 years old. He was born into comparatively luxurious surroundings at Greencastle, Pa., and always has had pleasant relations with the important Republican politicians of Pennsylvania.

He was 25 years old and had just begun practice of law when he joined up with Roosevelt's Rough Riders. He came to Washington when the corps was supposed to be filled up and 50 or 60 applicants were being turned down every day. He was among a large group to whom Roosevelt expressed his regrets.

Fletcher rushed to see Senator Matt Quay, the powerful Pennsylvania boss. Quay offered him a captaincy in some other outfit. Fletcher insisted that he would rather be a private in the Rough Riders. Quay wrote a letter to Roosevelt and Fletcher became a Rough Rider.

After the war in Cuba was over Fletcher served in the Philipoines earning a lieutenancy. Not long after Roosevelt became president, he was made second secretary of the legation at Peking. Later he was secretary of legation at both Peking and Lisbon and charge d'affaires.

The Wilson election in 1912 found him minister to Chile. The very general assumption was that he wouldn't be there very long, as President Taft had elevated him and his affiliations were Republican. By this time he was a good friend of Boies Penrose, successor to Quay, as boss of Pennsylvania.

But Fletcher put over a fast one. When other American diplomats over the world automatically submitted their resignations, he did nothing of the sort. He insisted that diplomacy was his career and that he had earned his post. Wilson agreed with Fletcher and kept him in Santiago.

FEW supposed that he would survive the next change of administration, but Fletcher was right on the ground. Soon after the 1920 election he had blossomed out as a friend of Warren Harding's and accompanied Harding on his pre-inaugural trip to Florida. After March 4 he became undersecretary of state, serving with Secretary Hughes. He was an advisor to the American commissioners at the Washington arms conference and in 1922 Harding made him ambassador to Belgium. The next year he served as chairman of our delegation to the Fifth Pan-American Congress at Santiago and in 1924 Coolidge made him ambassador to Italy.

He has been summoned three times within a year for Latin American missions. He did valuable work under Hughes at the Havana congress and had crossed the Atlantic again for the Pan-American arbitration meeting here when Hoover asked Kellogg to transfer him to the good will tour.

Fletcher's frankness of speech has made him popular with newspapermen. He is bluff and good-natured, about six feet tall and beneath his white hai rare a ruddy complexion and rugged physique gained from an active and athletic life all over the world. He is both polished and practical and the Fletchers have such ample means that they have been more than able to hold up their end socially in world capitals. Their residence in Rome is said to be magnificent.

INTELLIGENT DIETING WILL USUALLY RESULT IN ONE FEELING FINE

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

The Daily Foundation Diet

F. —If you are more nervous while dieting to reduce, it may indicate that you are not dieting intelligently. Uusally one feels better in every way while on a reducing diet.

LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.

Do you get the foundation diet in reducing? I'll run this again, for it is a good foundation for the diet of everyone, reducing or not:

FIRST: At least a half pound of some watery vegetables (the green leaf vegetables are especially good)—lettuce, spinach, celery, asparagus, watercress, beet top greens, cabbage, tomatoes, etc. A half pound of these, cooked or uncooked, without fat, approximately 50 C.

SECOND: A half-pound of other vegetables—carrots, beets, onions, parsnips and squash—approximately 100 C., without fat.

THIRD: 200 to 300 calories of fruit. Good-sized orange, apple, pear—100 C. each. Best to take large share of the vegetables and fruits raw.

FOURTH: At least one pint of skim or buttermilk in some form—drinks, in cooking, or cheese. You need it for lime and complete protein.

FIFTH: One medium small potato, 100 C., OR one large slice whole wheat bread, one-half inch thick, same number of calories, OR two-thirds cup of cereal. If you have starchy or sugary desserts, omit these.

SIXTH: One to two teaspoonfuls cod liver oil (35 calories each), or two to four cod liver oil tablets (practically no calories), or one tablespoonful butter (100 C.), or equivalent in cream—for your supply of vitamin A.

SEVENTH: Protein. You must have more protein, besides what you get in the milk, so take three to four ounces of very lean meat or fish or eggs (150 to 200 C. total).

What I have outlined comes approximately to 800-1,000 C. That will leave you quite a few more calories for the things you like. But I advise you not to take sweets and fats, because it is best to learn not to care for them. Arrange your meals and menus to suit yourself.

Have you our pamphlet of instructions on how to gain and lose weight? See column rules.

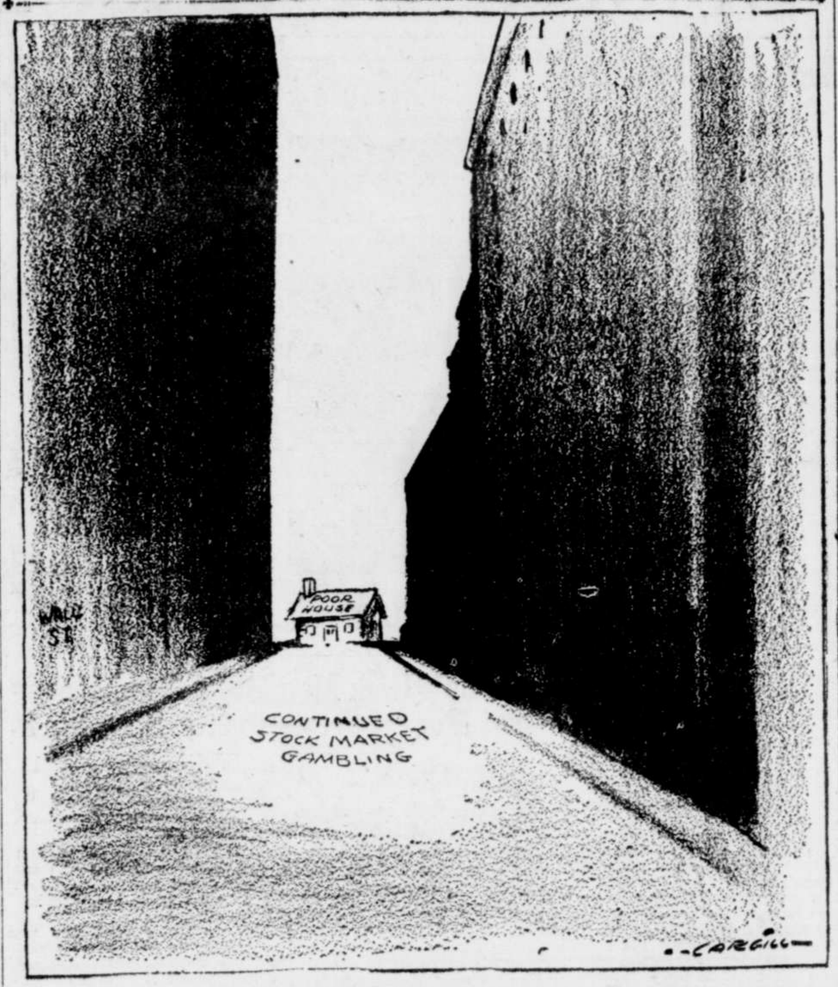
P.—Yes, you can eat oranges and drink milk at the same meal. Orange juice makes milk more easily digested.

In beginning to scrub your scalp with your brushes, you should begin very gently, and gradually increase in vigor and the length of time. The scalp needs a daily cleansing, otherwise the daily scalings accumulate—and dandruff results. This may produce thinning and graying.

One-Way Traffic Only!



SO THINK WE

We think possibly the people of Florida will get some first-hand information from Mr. Hoover on flood control in that state while he is down there preparing his message to congress after his inauguration.

—o—

We think with Mr. Hoover carrying 26 college degrees, that he ought to be pretty well equipped for most anything that might come up in the course of his administration as president.

—o—

We think if there was a crusade waged against jaywalkers in Lubbock there would be several thousand dollars dumped into the city treasury every month. But we hope it will not be done. However, we do think that there should be some very rigid enforcements against the people rushing to the fires as soon as the fire truck has a call. It is a serious thing to get in the way of the fire truck, and it's a very dangerous and costly practice.

—o—

We think it will probably be rather expensive for the women of the Plains country when this wooden jewelry becomes a fad. There being no timber in this country, we wonder where they are going to get the wood.

—o—

We think that if all public committees could be handled like Mussolini handles his cabinet it would be a matter of much more simplicity to transact public business, and he is supposed to have 13 members in his cabinet, and he is seven of the thirteen.

—o—

We think that Kaiser Bill may not have been the author of the war, but we are of the opinion that he was the author of several things that brought on the world war.

—o—

We think that possibly the reason so many people are compelled to diet is because their only exercise is bridge.

—o—

We think up in Seattle, Washington, they have things kinder muddled. They have a weather bureau member whose name is Summer, and he predicts more winter.

—o—

We think some of our very best friends are Yale men, but we have some very "close" friends who are Scotch.

Your Income Tax

NO. 12

Salaries paid employees constitutes one of the largest items of business expenses, which are deductible from gross income. To be allowed such claims must conform closely to the words of the revenue act of 1928, which provides for the deduction of "a reasonable allowance for personal services actually rendered." The test of deductibility is whether the amounts paid are reasonable and whether they are, in fact, purely for personal services. Money paid an officer of a corporation for which no services, or services inadequate to the compensation are rendered, is not deductible as salary. Reasonable compensation is held to be an amount that ordinarily is paid by like enterprises in like circumstances for like services. For example, an officer of a corporation received in 1928 compensation in excess of the amount ordinarily paid for services such as he rendered, and which bore a relationship to the amount of his stock holdings. The excess would not be treated as salary, but as a distribution of earnings of the corporation and the amount of such excess would not be considered a deductible item.

The Way Of The World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

CHARGING IT

Nobody gets very far in the way of thrift or a decent savings account until he learns that it costs just as much to charge an article as it does to pay cash for it. It hurts to take the money out of your pocket and buy a book or a suit of clothes. Charging it seems to reduce the pain. But the amount is just the same, and the first of next month may be no easier time to pay than now. If you find yourself getting too extravagant, put yourself on a cash and carry basis for awhile.

SAVINGS

The question of money saving properly demands the serious thought of every man or woman who is earning anything. Many have a superficial or inaccurate idea about savings. They think only of money hidden in the house or deposited in a bank. If they carry life insurance they speak of the "expense" or insurance, the "expense" of keeping up premiums. They would not talk of the expense of a bank account. Life insurance is one of the soundest and most effective methods of saving money. You do not have to wait until you are dead to benefit by modern insurance policies. There are many ways in which you can make insurance pay you well while you live and have your health. And it pays especially well when you don't have your health.

Others speak of the "expense" of buying a house or a piece of property. A house may be a rich investment. Savings is a subject which demands thought and understanding. It demands analysis. Because somebody does not save the way you save, does not mean he is a spendthrift. He may just be giving more thought to it than you are.

COMPETITION

In a large way this is an age of increasing co-operation. But it is to be hoped there will always be competition in this world. Competition makes men strong. Says John E. Rovensky, vice president of the National Bank of Commerce, New York: "As long as a boy is in school, he has no idea what life really is. When he gets out of school and meets other men in competition he learns what a serious piece of business life is. Then a man is tried and the weaklings are sorted out from those made of sterner stuff. The quality of men is tried out in competition."

APPLICATIONS POUR IN

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 14. (AP)—Applications for the athletic directorship of Arkansas university, left vacant by Francis Schmidt who accepted a similar position at Texas Christian university, have been pouring into the president's office by telegraph and mail for several days.

President J. C. Futrall declared several of the applicants were coaches of national reputation.

SWALLOWS TOOTH—DIES

LONDON, Feb. 16.—A swallowed false tooth, attached to a plate, was responsible for the death here of Henry Reen. Doctors at Seamen's Hospital could not operate "because the case was too serious for an operation." It was found that Reen's gullet had been perforated in several places.

PRESS COMMENT

THE LOCAL DOCTOR

Of all the follies to which human flesh is heir there is none more ridiculous than the belief that a community or service is better by virtue of the fact that it was secured in some other town.

This attitude not only injures the business interests of a community but reacts also to the disadvantage of the citizens who persist in sending their dollars out of town.

It is even causing a considerable amount of alarm in medical circles. "How long," it is being asked, "will small communities retain the services of good, general practitioners if their citizens persist in running to cities when the roads are good and calling the family doctor only in cases of emergency or when the roads are almost impassible?"

Why do they do it? It is hard for an intelligent man to answer this question. Everyone familiar with the practice of medicine knows that the city is the great haven of the quack and unethical practitioner. A poor doctor can exist indefinitely in a city where the public is not aware of his record. A poor doctor could not exist in a community like Tulia for a single year.

Furthermore, to treat most ailments successfully it is necessary for the physician to have some knowledge of the peculiarities of a patient. The sympathetic, friendly family doctor is the only one in possession of such information.

By all means rely on your local doctor—to assure for yourself the best medical treatment possible and to assure for the community the services of capable member of the medical profesion. If your case is unusual, he will send you to a specialist, and being familiar with your case and knowing about the work of leaders in his profession, he will direct you to the right man. You are taking a chance when you follow a different course.

WHIPPING POST FOR GUN TOTERS

Judge Marcus A. Kavanaugh of Chicago, who for years has made an intensive study of law enforcement and criminals in this country, again comes forward to support his theory that a revival of the whipping post is needed in the United States. He would specially declare that all gun toters should be publicly lashed, for gun toting leads to murder and our annual murder toll is shocking.

The whipping post can be supported not only on the ground that it would mete out punishment for an offense, but also on the theory that it would be a wonderful reform agency. Throughout the ages parents have applied the rod to discipline children—some wisely, others unwisely and with too much frequency and severity for petty mistakes on the part of their offspring.

Let a character that thinks he is bad, however, cringe once or twice at the public whipping post from the sting of the lash and he will think twice before acting ugly again.

Would such an institution as the whipping post be a disgrace to our present civilization?

Before you answer you ought to familiarize yourself with some of the horrible conditions now prevailing in our prison system—conditions that leave a black stain on our vaunted ideals of justice, sanitation and progress.

Instead of offering a reform agency, our present penal system for the most part, merely encourages slow but steady degeneration—not always slow.—Temple Telegram.

Today's Poem

THE SHEPHERD

HOW sweet is the Shepherd's sweet lot!
From the morn to the evening he strays;
He shall follow his sheep all the day,
And his tongue shall be filled with praise.
For he hears the lamb's innocent call,
And he hears the ewe's tender reply;
He is watchful, while they are in peace,
For they know when their Shepherd is nigh.

Improvements Are Planned At Sudan

Several Changes Will Be Made By Newly Elected Officials Of School System In That Place

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SUDAN, Feb. 16.—At a meeting this week of the local school board the following official staff was re-employed in full:

W. I. Wilkins, reelected superintendent for a two year term. F. B. Talbott, reelected high school principal; G G. Herren, reelected grammar school principal; A. C. Findley reelected head janitor and caretaker. All this staff is in the school at present and their re-election meet with no opposition in the community. This is one of the few schools of the Plains to employ a caretaker for the buildings on a yearly basis, and to furnish him a residence on the school premises.

The school has had a flourishing year during the present session. Its enrollment has increased from a little more than 500 to nearly 700, and there are expected in the school within a few days sufficient pupils to run the roll far above the 700. The system has been admitted to the Southern Association of Accredited Schools and is probably the youngest school ever to ask such recognition.

For another year some changes and extensions are proposed by the school board and superintendent. Chief among these is the change to the hour plan for high school instruction, the addition of another year to the girls vocational work, adding another year to the science course, placing physics in the curriculum, and the readmission of its commercial courses which have been discontinued for this year. Another decision reached by the school board and superintendent is to make a bachelor's degree a prerequisite for a high school petition, and two years in college or its equivalent, a pre-requisite in grammar school.

Better Price Is Outlook For Rice

BEAUMONT, Feb. 16 (AP).—Prospects for rice next year point to a slightly higher price than was paid for the last yearly crop, according to A. H. Boyt, president of the American Rice Growers Association, through which the main part of the crop in southern Texas and Louisiana is handled.

Prospects are that the carryover crop in the southern states and California will be less than at the beginning of the 1928-29 season, Captain Boyt said.

The 1928 production was 6:5 below the 1927 production in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, and at the same time, exports during the first five months of this season have exceeded the same period for last year.

Ralls Farmers To Join Civic Group

RALLS, Feb. 16.—At a meeting of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce last week it was decided to ask the farmers of the Ralls trade territory to join the Chamber of Commerce. A cheaper annual dues rate will be given them and other individuals not in business in Ralls.

It was also decided to add to the directorate, one man from each of the surrounding communities communities. The following men were elected to serve on the board of directors for the year: Ira Prewitt, Owens; Joe McDu'', Fairview; J. R. Willard, League Four; Walter Gray, New Home; Ed Coker, Canyon Valley; L. L. Brawley, Midway; C. R. House, Pleasant Hill; and Ray Reed, Ccne.

'Talkies' Banish Timidity And Stars Go In For Radio

Everyone Wants To Broadcast In Film Colony Now

KNX, Hollywood, Is Flooding Air With Largest Amount Of Cinema Talent; Clara Bow Popular

By DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 16.—Now they've gone and made radio entertainers of our cinema artists.

That wouldn't be so bad if the voices were as good as the looks. But somehow or other it has been difficult to acquire that much-sought combination.

Despite this difficulty, however, radio directors have become as bold as the movie men in their search for the right voice regardless of looks. This departure toward other fields has fortunately resulted in new discoveries. When television comes along, we may expect a treat.

There was a time when screen actors and actresses who had poor voices steered clear of radio broadcasting studios. They were scared to death of a microphone and didn't mind admitting it.

The talking movies have banished that fear. With "mikes" scattered throughout all the studios to record dialogue for films, the fear of this small instrument has vanished and any of the film folk will readily consent to entertain over the radio—whether they can or not.

Movie-Owned Broadcaster

At present KNX is flooding the air with the greatest abundance of movie talent. Control of this station having recently been taken over by the Paramount studio, players on the lot are more or less obligated to appear on the air at frequent intervals. Some of them are good, and some are not so good.

Radio has begun to put a crimp into the business of personal appearances for movie stars. Heretofore theater managers have besieged them to visit their houses along with the showing of their films. But now a few words on the air will suffice, these words usually having a direct bearing on their current pictures.

One of the favorites on the air, as well as on the screen, is Clara Bow, celluloidia's well-known "it" girl. Clara does pretty well when she gets in front of the radio mike. She can't sing and she knows it. So she doesn't attempt it.

However, Clara has a pleasant voice and a head full of genuine wise cracks. That's all that is necessary and is exactly the "line" people expect from her. To the best of her ability, Clara puts her screen personality into words.

Musical Movie Star.

Charles "Buddy" Rogers is one of screenland's biggest favorites with the radio audience. Buddy's forte is his musical ability. He can play a half dozen different instruments and does them all well. Whenever the young actor takes the inevitable dive into oblivion, as actors must do sooner or later, he will have little difficulty in earning a good living as a musician.

But he shouldn't sing! He's tried to once or twice. Now his friends are trying to prevail upon him to confine his talents over the aid to his instruments.

That shouldn't discourage him or any of the other movie favorites who have stepped courageously up to the mike, for even some of the stage stars who have invaded the movie realm haven't made much of a hit with radio listeners. They should wait until television is perfected so that they could use their personalities to help put their voices across.

However, don't get the idea that all film folk are "flops" as radio artists. There are at least a dozen in Hollywood who are good. And now the movie directors have to consider the talkies in picking subjects for their films, we may expect the ranks of pleasant-voiced film actors and actresses to be enhanced considerably.

Transmitter Of Today Will Soon Be Obsolete

Present Broadcast Apparatus To Be Antiquated In Eight Years, So Admiral Predicts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Improvement of radio apparatus is progressing so rapidly that the latest type developed today probably will be obsolete in six or eight years, says Rear Adm. H. E. Yarnell, chief of the bureau of engineering of the navy department.

The navy expected to complete within five years a $7,000,000 program for modernizing the radio equipment of the fleet. The program is designed to provide apparatus to meet the tactical, strategic and administrative requirements of all vessels in commission, Admiral Yarnell says.

"While the program is sufficiently flexible to permit taking advantage of the very rapid progress made in the radio art, we may look forward to at least a 10-year replacement of radio equipment if the navy proposes to keep up-to-date," he said.

"Progress to date toward completing the modernization program started in 1924 has been slow due to the limitation of funds but a very considerable improvement in fleet communication has been made. The improvement in and the increasing use of radio material is reflected by an increasing demand for more equipment. This cannot be overlooked if the fleets' communication facilities are to be on a par with other countries."

Admiral Yarnell estimates the cost of the navy shore station replacement program at $998,000. Although there is a large sum expended for replacements, he says the improvements in radio make for simplification and economy in construction and operation. The latest type short wave transmitters which are efficient for long distance work cost much less than the old long wave arc transmitters.

JOINS WGY PLAYERS

The latest addition to the staff of WGY players is H. Gordon Diamond, for years director, actor and producer of plays in and around Schenectady. His first appearance at WGY was as leading man in the production of "The Chorus Lady."

FAMOUS GUITARIST HERE

Germany's leading guitarist, Willy Meier-Pauselius, is in this country for a series of concerts. He has appeared in radio programs at WGBS, New York.

STARTS RADIO SCHOOL

The National Broadcasting Company has started a school for radio engineers. A course of from six to eight months, covering five technical branches of plant operations and engineering, has an initial enrollment of seven college graduates.

Children are at ease before a microphone, while adults tremble and quake before it, according to Lamdkin Katz of WSB, Atlanta.

In the British Isles there are 23 broadcasting stations, all owned by the British Broadcasting company. There is but one station in a given locality, [illegible] a sermon.

Red [illegible] At The 'Mike'

Red-haired, vivacious Clara Bow, who has all the "It" there is to be had in the movies, has become a hit in broadcasting. She's a hit because she doesn't attempt to sing. She knows she can't, so she talks. And what a clever little talker she is! She's shown here with her pet pup before the mike of KNX, the movie radio studio in Hollywood.

Radio Again Ready To Aid Aviation This Time In Calculating Speed Of Airplane By Use Of Beacon Signals

New Method Permits Pilot To Learn Direction And Speed Of Wind As Well As Plane's Travel

NEW YORK, Feb. 16. (AP)—Radio again is ready to lend its aid to aviation.

Employing simple receiving apparatus engineers have designed equipment which will determine an airplane's speed in relation to the ground and the machine's location at all times by utilizing radio beacon signals. Present speed indicators give the speed of a ship through the air only. The methods, developed by Walter J. Albersheim and Harvey S. Konheim, both of New York, also permits a pilot to learn the direction and speed of the wind.

The system requires two or more radio beacon stations, each operating on identical frequencies. For example, a plane may be traveling on a straight line between two stations with a frequency of 100,000 cycles. As the plane approaches one station its receiver will record the fixed broadcasting frequency plus the additional frequencies caused by and in proportion to the acceleration as the plane intercepts more waves in its flight toward the transmitter.

As the plane gets farther away from the second transmitter the frequencies are less and therefore subtractable. The variable differences in the frequencies indicated by the plane's receiver will give rise to a beat note. This note in turn will vary in proportion to the speed of flight, and its indication can be recorded on a dial.

Where the direction of flight is not in a straight line the location of the transmitters is determined by a loop aerial and the stations identified by a modulator frequency, which is subsequently filtered out. The angle of flight with respect to both stations being determined, a speed correction is made by the pilot to eliminate error due to deviation of flight direction from a straight lin between two stations.

The system also permits the pilot to utilize the modulation frequencies to receive messages of storm warnings, etc.

Bits of Broadcast

(By Associated Press)

The KOA mixed quartet has arranged a program of Gypsy songs for Wednesday, February 20.

KFRC, San Francisco, brings "Amos and Andy" to the microphone each night except Wednesday.

Listeners of WJR, Detroit, have been dancing to the tunes of a new orchestra. It is directed by "Blue" Steele.

The Hazelton High School Symphony orchestra will be heart from WPG, Atlantic City, the night of February 23 in its annual concert.

The announcer at WHAS, Louisville, asks the listeners to stand by one minute before cutting from a religious service to a dance orchestra.

Merton Bories of the staff of KPO, San Francisco, appears regularly in a semi-popular program. He is a "veteran of the air" and has written several song hits.

WLW, Cincinnati, has arranged a series of lectures on economics, to be given each Friday evening. The speaker is Robert E. Taylor of the University of Cincinnati.

Masajiro Kitamura, chief engineer of Station JOAK, Tokyo, while visiting WLS, Chicago, said that broadcasting in Japan is done from seven 10,000-watt government-controlled stations distributed in the most important cities.

The house party feature presented by KMBC, Kansas City, has brought a question to the minds of its listeners. There are two characters, Mary Dean and Sis Mirandy, but the station admits they are portrayed by the same person.

Edward O'Reilly, Wahasha, Minn., harmonica player, who made his first trip down the Mississippi river on a raft in the early '90's, is one of the popular entertainers of KSTP, St. Paul. He appears in the women's hour each afternoon.

The fourteenth broadcast of the Arctic-Antarctic series will be made from KDKA, Pittsburgh, and WBZ, Springfield, Mass., the night of February 9. Messages addressed to Comm. Richard E. Byrd in the Antarctic from prominent persons will be read.

THREE ARE ONE

A court decision in England gives the company that has been producing a multiple-type radio tube the right to pay license fees to the Marconi company on the basis of only one socket. The tube, however, is practically three in one.

TEACHING SPANISH

WMAQ, Chicago, has increased its lessons in Spanish, after numerous requests, to twice a week. They are now given by Howard Bechtolt on Saturday and Tuesday afternoons.

ISSUES MAGAZINE

Station WLBW, Oil City, Pa., has followed the example of a number of other stations and has issued a little booklet, "The Announcer," as it is known, introduces studio artists and carries the conventional station log. It can be had by writing the station.

DON'T HURT CHURCHES

Congregations of churches on the air in Canada are not being diminished by radio, according to their pastors. Radio may have affected attendance in small localities, they say, but the people who stay home are in all probability listening in on a sermon.

Nations, Tongues Snarl Broadcast Setup In Europe

Radio Officials, Engineers From Over Continent To Meet In April To Assign Wavelengths

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Radio officials and engineers, who will meet at Prague, Czechoslovakia, in April to assign wavelengths to European broadcasting stations, face an even more difficult task than that of allocation in the United States, experts here declare.

The demands for channels of more than 20 nations, the propinquity of countries speaking different languages, and the short distances between many of the large cities in Europe, present a problem that calls for the highest engineering and diplomatic ingenuity, says Com. T. A. M. Craven, technical advisor to the federal radio commission.

While the number of stations and listeners is less than in the United States interest in broadcasting is growing rapidly. Europe has almost five times as many potential listeners as this country. Owing to the lack of unified control of broadcasting, the allocation problem is such as would obtain in this country if radio were under separate supervision by the states, Commander Craven says.

Europe has about 245 broadcasting stations as compared with more than 600 in the United States. Nearly all are government owned or operated under close governmental supervision. Operating expenses are defrayed by revenue from the tax paid by owners of receiving sets, and there are few commercially sponsored programs.

The majority of European stations range from 200 to 1,000 watts and only nine have power of 10,000 watts or more. RAI, Moscow, with 40,000 watts, is the most powerful. There is a 30,000-watt station at Motala, Sweden, a 25,000-watt transmitter at Hootwijk, Holland, and 20,000 watts at Paris.

In addition to the 550 to 1,500 kilocycle band which is also used by broadcasting stations in this country, the European stations use the lower waves from 160 to 224 kilocycles.

Considerable attention is being given to synchronization, particularly in England, where several stations operate simultaneously by this method on the same wavelength.

Radio Conscious Town Bans All But Natural Static

UTICA, N. Y., Feb. 16. (AP)—Boonville, a village 20 miles north of this city, has become radio conscious.

The village board, a few days ago, adopted an ordinance prohibiting the use within the village limits of any electrical device liable to cause preventable interference with radio reception. The ordinance particularly listed such devices as flashing electric signs not equipped with condensers, and electric pianos.

TO START RADIOPHOTO

Australia is to start radiophoto service between Sydney and Melbourne within the next six months. It is planned to extent the service to other state capitals if business warrants.

Seven-Year Old Boy Scares Off Dallas Burglar

DALLAS, Feb. 16 (AP).—Little John Patton has rightly won the admiration of the "kids in his block," and the older folk, as far as that goes.

Recently while Johnny's father was away from home one evening on business, a "bold bad man" entered his home and seized his mother as she investigated a noise in the rear of the house.

Her screams immediately brought her seven-year-old son to the scene. The alert youngster at once grasped the situation, and took it upon himself to liberate his mother.

"Hold him, mamma, until I get daddy's gun," the boy yelled, as he raced for the weapon.

The "bad man" apparently decided it was time to flee, and darted into the darkness.

Nikolai Sokoloff, who recently led the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra through its first national broadcast over the NBC, has been chosen to direct the National Orchestra on Feb. 23. Sokoloff is taking the famous Walter Damrosch's place, as Damrosch is to be absent from New York on that date. Sokoloff and the Cleveland orchestra were classed as "one of the great orchestras of the world, directed by one of the greatest conductors of his age," by John B. Daniels, N. B. C. announcer.

Besides being director of station WMBD, the mid-west station at Peoria, Ill., William Symons is a radio technician and a violinist of no mean repute. Williams is a newcomer at WMBD, going to that station from WFBM, Indianapolis, where he served in the same capacity. His specialty is Sunday afternoon programs, and those, arranged by him are popular in WMBD'S territory. Much credit for the growth of the Peoria station is given to Symons.

A feature just inaugurated at WJAY, Cleveland, is a series of lessons in code instructions. These lessons commence at midnight and are under the direction of Harold Gray, chief engineer of WJAY.

County Will Have Extension Agent

TAHOKA, Feb. 16. — The county agent for Lynn county will be selected by March 1, Judge G. C. Grider was informed Thursday by Sterling C. Evans, who was in Tahoka Thursday morning. Mr. Evans is the West Texas district agent of the A. and M. College Extension department.

The commissioners' court voted several months ago to employ an agent but due to the scarcity of capable men for such a position one had not been secured.

Goitre Not A Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. E 43, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successfully. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today. (Adv.)

Amateur Evolves New Tube, Aid To Television, Talky

Device Made With Crudest Of Tools At Laboratory In Illinois May Perfect Sight Radio

By JOE LOVE
NEA Service Writer

BERWYN, Ill., Feb. 16.—With hand-made apparatus and in the laboratory he has assembled in the basement of his home, William L. Cummings has constructed a new kind of television reproduction tube which may leave a decided impression on perfected television apparatus of the future.

For 20 years he has studied and done research work with special interest in photo-electric phenomena. At one time, in 1919, Cummings says he received an invitation from Lord Northcliffe to return to England and continue his experiments.

The reproducer now in use is the neon type, the result of the labors of Dr. McFarland Moore. The shortcomings of this tube prompted Mr. Cummings to set about his experiments.

Neon, which gives of fan orange light, has not the power to cast an image successfully upon a screen. When so done the result is like shadows rather than a clear cut and postive image. What was needed, others as well as Cummings believed was a white light tube.

Improves Talkies, Too

Cummings started work with two ideas in mind: to make a tube that would give a black and white image on a ground glass and to do away with the asciligraph used in the film registering of sound waves for phonograph records and talkie-movies. He suceeded in both.

The new tube looks like a regular radio tube, but instead of a flat surface of light as in the neon, it has a point source of light suspended like a ball of fire. The gas in the neon, due to cohesion to the plates, Cummings says, slows it up while the point source of light in his tube has no mechanical or physical losses. Cummings figures his new tube responds in one twenty-four millionth of a second!

LAMB ON UTAH'S TAGS

A resolution adopted at the Utah State Wool Growers convention recently requested the secretary of state to provide for automobile license tags in 1930 bearing the contour of a lamb. Sheep raising is one of the state's leading industries.

NEW KEYSTONE TAGS

Pennsylvania license tags for 1930 will use a combination of letters and numerals, and no tag will contain more than five units. More than 1,800,000 tags have been ordered. The work will be done by convicts in the Western Penitentiary.

USES MOST STEEL

Of each 100 pounds of finished steel in 1928, the automobile industry used 17.70 pounds, railroads 17.28 pounds and the building industry 15.22 pounds. This is the first year that the automobile industry was foremost in use of steel.

PATHETIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 16.—In 1923 Nathaniel W. Emery, 38, of Bloomington, Ind, fled from a Madison, Ind., hospital. He had served with the Marines and was discharged in 1919, a victim of shell-shock. After his escape he wandered about the country and was finally found applying at the United Veterans' Service Commission here for a job. During his five years of wandering, Emery's wife, who believed him dead, had divorced him and remarried.

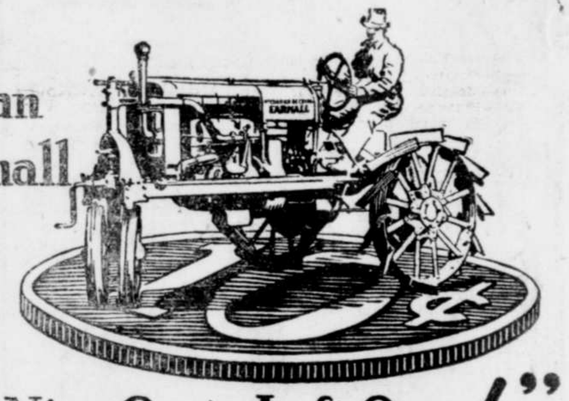
"You Can Turn a Farmall on a Dime and Have Nine Cents Left Over!"



"YOU can turn it on a dime!" We often hear that said about the McCormick-Deering Farmall. There never was anything like it for getting around fast and easy in cramped space. It has the original exclusive patented square-turn feature found in no other tractor, bar none.

We have never turned it on a dime but here's what we will show you—a Farmall with 4-row cultivator and also with a 7-ft. Farmall mower, working and turning in a patch of ground 20 by 40 feet. That one-fiftieth of an acre! Did you ever see any other tractor that could do much more than stand still on that?

The Farmall is the only square-turn tractor on the market. In the field you are 300 feet down the next furrow or grain-side while a clumsier tractor is making its slow loop-turn. One rear wheel stops to help you turn a close corner, and that comes mighty handy the year around.

FARMALL and 4-row Cultivator
We also have the big 3-plow McCormick-Deering 15-30 and the regular 2-plow tractor, the McCormick-Deering 10-20.

Farmall belongs on just about any farm. It works on all jobs—belt, drawbar, and power take-off—and on all crops, even to the planting of corn, cotton, potatoes and other row crops. Many men are using Farmalls on little and big farms alike, without a single horse on the place.

Come and see us demonstrate these things. Drive the Farmall yourself.

Improvements Are Planned At Sudan

Several Changes Will Be Made By Newly Elected Officials Of School System In That Place

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SUDAN, Feb. 16.—At a meeting this week of the local school board the following official staff was re-employed in full:

W. I. Wilkins, reelected superintendent for a two year term. F. B. Talbott, reelected high school principal; G G. Herren, reelected grammar school principal; A. C. Findley reelected head janitor and caretaker. All this staff is in the school at present and their re-election meet with no opposition in the community. This is one of the few schools of the Plains to employ a caretaker for the buildings on a yearly basis, and to furnish him a residence on the school premises.

The school has had a flourishing year during the present session. Its enrollment has increased from a little more than 500 to nearly 700, and there are expected in the school within a few days sufficient pupils to run the roll far above the 700. The system has been admitted to the Southern Association of Accredited Schools and is probably the youngest school ever to ask such recognition.

For another year some changes and extensions are proposed by the school board and superintendent. Chief among these is the change to the hour plan for high school instruction, the addition of another year to the girls vocational work, adding another year to the science course, placing physics in the curriculum, and the readmission of its commercial courses which have been discontinued for this year. Another decision reached by the school board and superintendent is to make a bachelor's degree a prerequisite for a high school petition, and two years in college or its equivalent, a pre-requisite in grammar school.

Better Price Is Outlook For Rice

BEAUMONT, Feb. 16 (AP).—Prospects for rice next year point to a slightly higher price than was paid for the last yearly crop, according to A. H. Boyt, president of the American Rice Growers Association, through which the main part of the crop in southern Texas and Louisiana is handled.

Prospects are that the carryover crop in the southern states and California will be less than at the beginning of the 1928-29 season, Captain Boyt said.

The prospective increase in the price, however, does not justify a boost in acreage, Captain Boyt believes.

The 1928 production was 6:5 below the 1927 production in Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas, and at the same time, exports during the first five months of this season have exceeded the same period for last year.

Ralls Farmers To Join Civic Group

RALLS, Feb. 16.—At a meeting of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce last week it was decided to ask the farmers of the Ralls trade territory to join the Chamber of Commerce. A cheaper annual dues rate will be given them and other individuals not in business in Ralls.

It was also decided to add to the directorate, one man from each of the surrounding communities communities. The following men were elected to serve on the board of directors for the year: Ira Prewitt, Owens; Joe McDu''. Fairview; J. R. Willard, League Four; Walter Gray, New Home; Ed Coker, Canyon Valley; L. L. Brawley, Midway; C. R. House, Pleasant Hill; and Ray Reed, Ccne.

HORATIO ALGER TALE

LONDON, Feb. 16.—From a newspaper vendor to stage actor. That's the accomplishment of Johnnie Harris, who sold papers at Methyr, Glamorgan, not so long ago. Johnnie sang at his work and was overheard by a showman seeking talent. Stage tests followed and Johnnie is now in teh estimation of Arthur Sleeth review producer, "the greatest find I have come across during my 20 years connection with the stage."

In the ruins of the famous temple of the sun god, built by the Roman Emperor Antonius Pius, at Ballbek, in Syria, are the largest stones ever used.

FLUES!

To Get More and Better Heat, to Save Fuel and to Prevent Accidents

MAKE sure that every appliance burning gas or any fuel has proper flue connections.

BE SURE that your flue pipes are not rusted through, are not clogged, have not become loose, pulled out of place, or jammed too far into the chimney.

CHIMNEYS!

PROPER flues and flue connections are necessary for any kind of fire, gas, coal, wood, or oil. But the best flues in the world are no good if the chimneys they lead into are clogged.

DEFECTIVE chimneys and flues often cause fires. Having your chimneys cleaned out, therefore, is just as important as having flues in the first place.

WE WILL inspect your flues and chimneys for you without charge.

DO NOT burn gas in any room of the house unless the heater or stove has a good flue, and you are sure that the fumes and smoke go up the chimney.

University Pays Farmers Honors

Four Men And One Woman Are Awarded Recognition For Creative Agricultural Work At Wisconsin

By NEA Service

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 16.—Following an annual custom inaugurated in 1909, the University of Wisconsin has selected four citizens of its own state and one of Ohio, and has conferred on them an honor in appreciation of their rank in farm and home leadership.

This group of farm folk, four men and one woman, are W. J. Hansche of Racine, Wis.; L. J. Taber, Columbus, Ohio; S C. Cushman, Wyocena, Wis.; J. W. Hutchinson, Randolph, Wis., and Lucy Agnes Leonard, Shell Lake, Wis.

"For value received," these five sat before a gathering at Farm Folk's Week at the University recently and were presented with a scroll of testimony by Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the university.

"In giving this recognition," Dr. Frank said, "a great university is placing its seal of appreciation upon creative work in dairy barn, stock farm, in cheese factory and in corn field, just as universities have always placed their seal of appreciation upon creative work in laboratory or library."

Since 1909, 73 persons have been similarly honored by the University of Wisconsin. Of this number, 12 were non-residents of the state.

A college education is not an essential qualification to his honor. Only one professor, T. L. Haecker of the University of Minnesota, has received the award. Merit alone is the basis on which awards are made.

Demonstration To Be Staged Monday

The Pulverator—The Plow Combine, and the Wallace tractor will be used for an all-day demonstration here next Monday, it was announced yesterday by Sherrod Brothers Hardware company.

This demonstration is to be given just west of Texas Technological college campus and will include every variety of problem known for machines of these kinds. The Pulverator plows dirt up and pulverizes it at the same time, and also pulverizes any and all vegetation in the ground at the time. It makes no difference how high the weeds, cotton stalks or corn stalks may be, this machine chops up this vegetation and pulverizes it at the time it is plowing the field.

M. W. Wood and E. W. Todd, factory representatives, will be in charge of the demonstration, which is open to the public, and free. The Massie-Harris company, which was formerly the J. I. Case Plow Works Co., of Racine, Wis., are manufacturers of these machines.

WOMAN'S STUDY CLUB

Friday afternoon, Feb. 8, the Woman's Study club met in interesting study at the home of Mrs. R. L. Durham, who was entertaining jointly with Mrs. C. E. Westerman. On account of the snow the director from Lubbock, Dr. J. C. Granbery, was unable to attend and the program was given over to Mrs. Irl Robertson and Mrs. W. P. Fullingim to direct. The lesson was on "The Fine Arts" and an excellent paper on "How to Make Lorenzo More Beautiful" was read by Mrs. J. L. Suits. In a business session it was decided to have the annual club banquet for the husbands on February 22.

The hostesses passed a dainty refreshment plate of creamed turkey in heart shaped timbales, sandwiches, molded fruit salad and white cake, carrying out the Valentine motif and tiny red hearts were plate favors. Club members present other than the hostesses were Mesdames W. M. Blakemore, M. C. Johnson, R. J. Terrell, E. S. Smith, T. G. Hendrick, R. L. Bowman, H. F Pearson, J L. Suits, Irl Robertson, C. R. Westerman and W. P. Fullingim.

ENTERTAIN WITH BRIDGE

The H. F. Pearson home in west Lorenzo was the scene of a merry party on last Friday evening when Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. W. M. Blakemore entertained the younger set with a six table bridge party. A patriotic decoration scheme, emblematic of Washington's birthday, was used in table appointments, score cards and plate favors. Miss Illene Wampler and Clint Wright were winners of high score and their favors were a box of candy and ash trays in the card suits.

Guests for this pleasant occasion were Misses Althea Ragsdale, Mary Dodson, Illene Wampler, Aleta Easter, Nancy Hale, Inez Cherry, Floy Fitzhugh, Polly Taylor, Pearle Laird, Muriel Linkenhoger, Allene Bartley; Messrs. Bruce Hannah, Clint Wright, Buck Stobaugh, Easter Smith, Hugh Anderson, Dick Linn, Tom B. Morrison, J. T. Howell; Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Agee and Joe Schuler.

A tempting plate of chicken salad, wafers, olives, cherry pie and coffee was passed by the hostesses at the close of the games.

TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB

Three tables were laid for bridge games Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Fred Wiese was hostess in her attractive home in Lorenzo to members and friends of the Tuesday Bridge club.

Mrs. E. S. Smith scored high in the games, with Mrs. Austin Fullingim scoring second high. Unusually lovely refreshments in the Valentine motif including a salad, nut bread sandwiches and individual heart cakes in pink and white were served.

Bridge guests were Mesdames Ewell Smith, R. G. O'Rear, W. M. Blakemore, Joe Schuler, E. S. Smith, John Hughes, R. L. Bowman, J. S. Garmon, J. L. Suits, R. R. Abell, Dewey Sullivan, Austin Fullingim. Tea guests were Mesdames H. E. and John Fullingim.

MRS. FULLINGIM FETED

Mrs. John Fullingim, who was formerly Miss Elsie Boyd, was presented with a shower of Gifts Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Peyton Powers and Miss Maud Huckabay entertained with a miscellaneous bridal shower at 5 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Powers' mother, Mrs. T. J. Laird, inciting a number of the bride's friend along with members of her Sunday school class, of which Mrs. Powers is teacher.

After the presentation of the gifts Mrs. W. P. Fullingim, aunt of the groom, toasted the bride in words very appropriate to the occasion. Then the hostesses, assisted by Misses Madge Huckabay and Bonnie Wayne Lawrence served an ice course in the Valentine colors, with hand painted Valentine favors decorated by Miss Pearl Laird.

Those participating in this complimentary courtesy were Mesdames John, H. E. Austin, W. P. and P. D. Fullingim; W. L. Boyd, mother of the bride; Fred Wiese, John Hughes, T. J. Laird, F. W. Merchant, J. O. Easter, E. S. Smith, J. L. Suits, Joe Schuler, R. L. Bowman, J. S. Garmon, Ewell Smith, H. F. Pearson, Dewey Sullivan, John Gentry, W. M. Blakemore, R. G. O'Rear, T. G. Hendrick, M. C. Johnson, Irvin Bounds, R. R. Abell, J. B. Baker, R. L. Durham, Irl Robertson, W. D. Aycock, LeRoy Huckabay; Misses Gladys Smith, Mary Ray Dodson, Allene Bartley, Earl Jean Suits, Bonnie Wayne Lawrence, Madge Huckabay, Ithea Ragsdale, Muriel Linkenhoger, Lucille Aycock, Illene Mampler, Agnes Abernathy, Lois Bowers, Thera Fry and Pearle Laird.

MERRY BIDDERS NIGHT CLUB

Another social affair of the week in Lorenzo was given Tuesday evening by Mesdames Dewel Sullivan and Elmer Caddell when they entertained members and a few friends of the Merry Bidders Night club at the home of Mrs. Sullivan on Van Buren avenue.

Forty-two was the diversion of the evening with Mrs. R. G. O'Rear winning ladies high count, while H. F. Pearson and J. L. Gentry tied for the men.

A delectable plate of combination salad, wafers, olives, cherry pie topped with whipped cream, and coffee was passed at the close of the games to Messrs. and Mesdames J. L. Suits, R. L. Bowman, G. F. Pearson, J. O. Easter, J. L Gentry, R G. O'Rear, W. M. Blakemore, E. S. Smith, M. C. Johnson, Ewell Smith, Austin Fullingim and R. Jones Goode, club members; Messrs. and Mesdames F. W. Merchant, J. C. Parker of Crosbyton and Tom B. Morrison and Hugh Anderson, club guests.

P. T. A. VISITED

Wednesday afternoon the Parent Teacher association met at the high school auditorium in regular monthly session, with a fine attendance of teachers, and fair attendance of parents, and those present enjoyed a wonderful treat in listening to a talk from our district president, Mrs. J. E. Griggs of Lubbock. Mrs. Griggs was introduced by Mrs. W. W. Anderson, president of the local association First giving a short history of the P. T. A. movement in state and nation. Mrs. Griggs then talked at length on the worthwhile aims and purposes of the organization, stressing the fact that the main objectives for which local clubs are organized should not be for raising funds to buy the necessary equipment for the schools, although this, in itself, is a very commendable work, but that there are higher and nobler purposes for which every organization should strive—that of the promotion of child welfare from every angle, a closer co-operation between parent and teacher for a better understanding of the problems that confront them in dealing with the child. Her message was full of inspiration throughout, and the Lorenzo P. T. A. feels that it has received help and a new vision of what the work of the organization should be.

Besides Mrs. Griggs others appearing on the program were: Reading, R. B. Terrell; piano selection, Margie Nell Anderson; reading, Winston Robertson; violin solo, Miss Pearle Laird.

HOME FROM IDAHO

Ted Hoople, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Hoople, returned last Saturday from Priest River, Idaho, 30 miles from the Canadian border, where he has resided for the past 18 months. While in Priest River Ted was employed in the clothing concern of his brother-in-law, Warden L. Fann, with whom he made his home. Te expects to return to Idaho after a few months visit with his parents. On his way home Ted stopped in Lewiston, Idaho, for a visit with his brother, Jim Hoople, and in Los Angeles, Calif., for a visit with his aunt, Mrs. W. I. Gilbert. Part of the home trip from Portland, Ore., to San Francisco was made by boat, which took several days, being delayed about eighteen hours by a storm at sea.

P.A.L.S. CLUB RESUMES

The P.A.L.S. club, which has been disbanded since before the holidays, resumed its activities this week when it met and reorganized at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Huckabay. Hereafter the club will meet each Wednesday and play forty-two. Three tables enjoyed the games at Mrs. Huckabay's with Miss Mary Hale winning high score.

Delicious refreshments of tuna salad, sandwiches and coffee were served to Mesdames Ernest Leverett, Oscar Thornton, Ralph Huckabay, F. D. Fullingim, F. W. Merchant, H. C. Nickels, E. L. Nicholson; Misses Nancy Hale, Jewel Aubrey, Lorraine Harris and Mrs. J. C. Strihger.

Another Brick Goes Up At Turkey

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

TURKEY, Tex., Feb. 16.—J. N. Cypert has let contract to Clifford Hedrick, local contractor, for the erection of a 30 by 60 brick building on Main Street. Work is to begin at once.

Construction of this building will eliminate one more frame building from Turkey's Main Street and business district, leaving only two other frame buildings in the business district.

With the abundant supply of pure water that Turkey will now have just as soon as the pipe line can be laid from the wells to the city, and with the prospects of securing the proposed Rock Island railroad, building activities in Turkey will greatly increase during the spring and summer, it is though

DUNLOP'S NEW SURETY BOND
overshadows ANY Guarantee

IT'S more than a guarantee... it's a Surety Bond, backed by Dunlop AND the American Surety Company. It covers almost everything that can happen to a tire.

Under its terms, if your tire fails within 12 months, we repair it free. If we can't repair it, you get a new tire at a reduced price. For instance, during the first month a $13 tire will be replaced for $1, during the second month for $2, and so on.

No red tape... no argument. We settle the claim right here in our store... instantly.

Floydada Annual Banquet Feb. 22

350 Guests Expected To Meet With Business Men Of Floyd County Town In "Get-Together"

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

FLOYDADA, Feb. 16.—Three hundred and fifty people of the rural communities in Floyd county and from neighboring towns will be the guests of some two hundred Floydada business men on the occasion of the annual Floydada Chamber of Commerce banquet to be held in this city Friday evening, February 22. Of this large number of visitors there will be approximately two hundred representatives of the thirty rural schools of the county.

Although the annual banquet is referred to as a Chamber of Commerce event by the citizens and their visitors, it is really a "get-together" meeting of the rural people and the citizens of Floydada and an occasion for an expression of this county's appreciation of the friendliness existing between South Plains counties and towns. All the food for the banquet will be furnished by the home demonstration clubs of the county and served by the ladies' organizations of Floydada.

Although the program for the event is not yet complete, the program committee, composed of J. G. Wood, E. L. Norman and W. L. Fry, announce that several prominent speakers from various towns in the Panhandle-Plains will be among the guests at the banquet and much of the entertainment will be furnished by local talent.

The ticket committee has G. C. Tubbs as its chairman. Mr. Tubbs will be assisted by T. P. Collins, R. E. Fry, J. C. Wester and J. C. Williams.

TAHOKA LOSES FAST GAME TO LUBBOCK

Lubbock high school defeated Tahoka on the local court Monday night in one of the best basketball games played here this year. The score was 23 to 15. The game was fast and closely contested throughout the four periods.

SCHOOL FEST FRIDAY NIGHT

An unusual event for Tahoka will be the big box supper which will be held in the old Connolly building here Friday night. It is to be sponsored by the Tahoka high school, and a popularity contest will be held in connection therewith, the winner to receive a genuine twenty point diamond ring.

A preliminary contest was held at the high school last week to determine who should be the school candidate, and Miss Fern Aycock, a sophomore, won in the contest and will represent the high school. Miss Aycock is a very pretty young lady and will no doubt run a good race with her opponent. It is expected that the contest will be a most spirited one.

Also a $5.00 prize will be given for the prettiest box. At least 125 boxes are expected, it is said. Judge G. C. Grider will auction them off.

There will also be two basketball contests, beginning at 6:30. These games will be played by Class B teams in the county tournament, which will be going on here at the time.

A great crowd of people is expected to be present to participate in or to witness the popularity contest, the auction sale and these spirited basketball games.

BETTER SERVICE THAN EVER!

It is not in the spirit of boastfulness that we tell you of the ever increasing volume of our business. It is to inform you that hundreds of new customers are finding our laundry service superior which may induce you to give us a trial.

Why You Should Send Your Clothes to the (right) Laundry

In this modern age most laundries are equpped with the very best facilities. It is one thing imperative. But there is a great difference in the personal care taken in giving you customers a better service and a more prompt and courteous one. There is where the human element of Laundry management enters. We do take special pride in our plant—because it is one of the most modern laundry plants to be found anywhere. But the biggest factor in our business we believe is the personal one—one that assures every customer that the management is doing everything humanly possible to care for your washing in a manner you will appreciate.

For the constant increase of our business we want to express our sincere appreciation and reaffirm our pledge to make our laundry worthy of increased business.

Federal Aid Will Go To 'Road Conscious' Counties

Texas Would Get Most Aid If New Road Bill Okehed

Sale Of Surplus War Material To France Would Give This State More Than 21 Millions For Highways

Lubbock county is perhaps less progressive in the matter of improved highways than it is in any other one particular. What's more, it is perhaps less progressive in this respect than most of the counties comparable to it in population and assessed property caluation all over West Texas.

With the eyes of the nation's tourists becoming more and more directed toward Carlsbad cavern, Lubbock and Lubbock county will soon come to be known by more people.

A question uppermost in the minds of tourists will be the condition of our highways. At Carlsbad last week, those who attended the meeting of the Carlsbad Cavern Highway association from points northeast of Lubbock, remarked the fine condition of the roads from Oklahoma City to the eastern line of Lubbock county. Not so much was said complimentary to this county's highways. True, they are well graded and compare favorably with most dirt roads.

25,000 Tourists a Year

With the Carlsbad Cavern highway well marked, fully mapped and advertised extensively, as will be done within the next few months, it is not difficult to anticipate at least 25,000 automobile tourists passing through Lubbock this coming season. This figure is low, we believe. Lubbock is being talked of all over the country because of its remarkable record of building during the past year and the first two months of this year. Tourists from other sections of Texas and from other states will be desirous of looking upon Lubbock.

May be Worst Stretch

What will be the impression made with the poorest stretch of roads, along the entire route, in Lubbock county? Unless this impression might might be counteracted with the information that the county is voting, or has voted bonds to build a county wide system of paved highways, Lubbocks' publicity advantage will be partially lost with these visitors.

It is sometimes difficult for us to think of a bill before congress affecting us who are so far removed from the scene of action at Washington. Yet there is to come before the congress for some sort of action, with a likelihood of it being passed, what is known as the Browne bill, (H. R. 10,142), from which we may learn of very vital things to every owner of an automobile, and therefore every user of a highway. In his speech before the house of representatives, Congressman Edward Browne, author of this bill, made the following statement that applies to motor car owners here in Lubbock county and is of peculiar interest because of our lack of good roads:

"Automobile vehicles have increased from 1916, when congress passed the federal aid road act, from three and one-half million to over 23,000,000 and are valued today at the studendous sum of $14,000,000,000. These auto vehicles are almost 100 per cent perfect and are being operated upon highways which are not 25 per cent efficient."

"Poor Road Tax"

From these figures it is easily discerned that 'the poor road tax is the heaviest tax Lubbock county people are paying today." It is also easy to discern that the wear and tear on Lubbock county automobiles, by reason of imperfect roads, today, is more than the amount of taxes it would take to build paved highways throughotut the county.

Mr. Browne's bill, is passed, will mean that Lubbock county will be in line to receive more than the anticipated share of federal road aid at this time—if we build a system of better highways. A reading of this bill is in order:

"A bill to create a special highway fund from the proceeds of the sale of surplus war material, highway equipment and supplies to the governmen tof France:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the proceeds from the sale of surplus war material, highway equipment, and supplies to the government of France amounting to $407,341,145.01, for which amount the government of France has issued bonds to the United States, bearing 5 per centum interest, of the denominations as follows, to-wit: $400,000,000 due August 1, 1929, $6,56,762.42 due May 9, 1930, $774,382.59 due July 5, 1930, is hereby authorized to be appropriated to the United States department of agriculture for the construction of improved rural post roads and bridges, as provided for in the federal aid road act approved July 11, 1916, and acts amendatory therto, and as hereinafter provided in this bill.

"Sec. 3. The remaining 10 per centum of said fund shall be used by the secretary of agriculture as follows: One-half for roads within the national forests; one-half for boulevards with the regional area of the national capital, as defined by the National Capital Park Planning commission.

"Sec 4. The secretary of agriculture is hereby authorized to enter into co-operative agreement with the highway departments of the several states for the construction of highways with the funds appropriated in this act and is hereby exempt from the limitations imposed by the said federal aid road act and amendments thereto, as to the cost per mile for constructing said highways, or as to the per centum of all federal aid allotted to any state to be expended upon primary or interstate or state trunk highways and also as to the per centum of cost of such projects to the borne by the federal government. In no case shall any state be required to contribute more than 20 per centum of the cost of any highway constructed with moneys appropriated in this act and no highway shall be so constructed except those included in the primary or interstate system, or state trunk highways and all such highways shall be of durable, hard-surfaced type."

From this is is to be seen that federal aid can be expected to come the way of Lubbock county without we have "highways of durable, hard-surfaced type."

State Gets Big Sum

To the state of Texas—and, therefore, to the county of Lubbock in its just proportion—this bill will mean additional federal road aid of $21,937,500. No other state will receive as great an amount, because of this state's lead in mileage of highways. This mileage is more than 182,000.

This amount is half the total apportionment of federal aid to Texas roads during the 10 year period from 1917 to 1927. And it is almost half the amount from 1917 to 1929, inclusive, which figures $49,606,279.

Lubbock county has not yet received any portion of these many millions of dollars of aid from the federal government. And yet Lubbock county has more miles of highways that are potentially federal, because they are inter-state and across state and connect with the bigger trails, than has any county of this great territory.

Unless the tax payers of Lubbock county prefer to pay the road upkeep bills of hundreds of thousands of motor tourists traveling our highways the next few months and next few years, by continuing to pay for maintenance of poor roads, the wise thing would be to build hard-surfaced roads that would meet government specifications. In this way the state and federal governments would take over the highways for maintenance, after they are built.

Predict Increase Of Dodge Buying

A record breaking spring buying season in the automotive industry is predicted by Charles W. Matheson, general sales manager for Dodge Brothers, in announcing shipments of Dodge Brothers cars and trucks for the month of January exceeded December 1928 by 66 per cent.

The enthusiastic reception given the new Dodge Brothers Six and Senior Six at the new lower prices are responsible for the marked increase in business. The company reports that orders on hand indicate that February will also be a record month.

"The public acceptance of our new car at the national and dealer showings has been far beyond our expectations," said Mr. Matheson, "and we have had to revise our production schedules upward in order to meet the demand.

"Reports from our dealer organization are exceeding optimistic and lead me to believe that the spring buying season will be the best in the history of Dodge Brothers business.

Plymouth Names New Sales Head

Van DereZee Given Highest Post As Company Moves Into New Factory; Is Veteran Chrysler Man

Two important announcements regarding the Plymouth division of Chrysler Motors are made by J. E. Fields, vice-president in charge of sales of all the divisions of Chrysler Motors.

The first is of the appointment of A VanDerZee as general sales manager of the popular new Plymouth, Chrysler Motors' car in the lowest-priced field. The other concerns the establishment of a complete new plant for Plymouth production, the largest single-floor manufacturing structure in the state of Michigan, where the automobile industry of the world is centered.

Knows Auto Business

Mr. VanDerZee has been in the Chrysler sales organization for some time. Before coming to Chrysler he held important executive posts, in which he built up an intimate acquaintance with automobile merchandising and market conditions all over the country. This knowledge has been greatly amplified in the performance of his duties at the factory and in the field with Chrysler Motors. He is regarded as particularly well qualified to handle the responsibilities of developing the Plymouth organization.

As general sales manager of Plymouth, Mr. VanDerZee will have a complete factory and field organization, composed of men promoted from Chrysler Motors units. His assistant will be J. W. Hutchins, formerly director of districts for Dodge Brothers.

Automobile Links Two Americas

Plucky Pair Set Out In Car That Already Had 100,000 Miles For 20,000 Mile Jaunt—And Made It

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 16.—The first attempt to link the two Americas by automobile has been terminated here with the arrival of Jose Mario Barone in what is left of his six-year-old Studebaker.

Barone left Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, on May 29, 1927, on a 20,000 mile trip, in an open touring car with 100,000 miles already on its speedometer. His adventurous trip led him southward through Sao Paulo, coffee-producing center of Brazil, into Montevideo, Uruguay. There he circled the mouth of the Rio de la Plata into Buenos Aires, prosperous capital of the Argentine.

From here on his hard work set in. He cut inland, crossing the interior of Argentine and slowly climbed the Andes mountains, 13,000 feet above sea level. He left the worst part of the Andes behind at Tres Cruces, Chile, and finally arrived at La Paz, capital of Boliva.

Leaving La Paz, working westward toward the coast, he crossed some of the highest mountains in the world. He was forced to construct much of his own roadway, as the interior of South America is almost virgin jungle and a modern highway is something unknown.

Through jungles where creepers, undergrowth and massize trees barred his way, through deserts where the sun sent the radiator up to its boiling point, and across numerous mountains, he fought his way until he reached Lima, Peru, on the west coast of South America.

Still fighting nature, he passed up through Peru to Ecuador, Colombia and Panama.

In Panama, Barone encountered his greatest difficulty. The isthmus is about 50 miles wide. Roads cut in on the eastern side for 17 miles and on the western side for 10 miles. The distance between, 23 miles, is impassable except for the Panama railroad.

Barone, through an automobile salesman in Ancon, got permission to ride the railroad right-of-way across the isthmus on condition that a qualified engineer or conductor should ride with him and that he carry two white flags, indicating that the automobile was an "extra" and one red flag for a "tail light."

Riding 23 miles of railroad ties isn't the best fun, but Barone made it. He continued on his way through the Central American countries, finally to pass through Mexico and land on a wide Texas highway on Jan. 4. By the time he got here his car had been stripped of practically all but the motor and chassis.

"I was very glad to reach the United States after such a long trip," says Barone. "I laugh to hear your American motorists complain of bad roads. I tell you I thought I had reached Paradise when I started solling over those marvelous Texas highways."

Oldsmobile Plans Record Production

Eleven Thousand Automobiles To Be Build During Month Of February; Will Be New Record

Eleven thousand Oldsmobiles will be built during the month of February to fill the production schedule, factory officials at the Oldsmobile factories in Lansing, Mich., report. This will be by far the largest February production in the history of this veteran automobile company.

This record schedule follows the production of 6,500 Oldsmobiles during January, which established a record for the first month of the year. The production was 400 per cent greater than that of January last year when the new Oldsmobile was first introduced.

These increased schedules and the still larger ones which have been set up for the spring months are based upon surveys made throughout the country by Oldsmobile officials. These have shown two things, viz—that business in general in all sections is healthy and prosperous, and that the motoring public is favorably inclined toward Oldsmobile.

In spite of the large production so far this year the number of cars manufactured have barely met the demands of buyers desiring delivery, factory executives report. As a result dealers have experienced difficulty in maintaining cars for their showrooms and have been unable to build up a reserve stock for the heavy spring buying, which is usually done at this season.

This heavy retail buying during the early weeks of the year is considered unusual and is far in excess of the sales made a year ago, Oldsmobile officials assert. They report that retail sales made during the first ten days of the year were regarded as high, but those during the second ten-day period were 50 per cent greater while those of the last ten days in January exceeded the second period by another 50 per cent.

Graham-Paige In Unique Car Test

In a recent hill-climbing competition in Victoria, Australia, a Graham-Paige, winner of two events, aroused as much interest through the consistency of its performance as it did through its victories. Both climbs, over a 1600 yard course, were made in exactly the same time to the fifth of a second, the Graham-Paige being clocked at 1 minute 59 4-15 seconds for each of its runs.

The test was held under the auspices of the Royal Automobile Club on Zig-Zag hill, at Lilydale, the climb consisting of a series of hair-pin turns on a difficult grade. The Graham-Paige won the trade stock standard event in its class, and afterward won the event open to all cars. Its feat of covering the course twice without the least variation in time was hailed as one of the most unusual demonstrations of consistent performance and skill in driving ever recorded in Australia. The car was piloted by Walter Whitbourn in both events.

Willys Sign Is Airplane Guide

TOLEDO, Ohio, Feb. 16.—One of the largest and most modern office buildings in the country housing the ofices of one industrial organization is now serving as a guide post of aviation. Its roof has been turned into a gigantic signboard to aid the soaring pilots quickly to locate the Transcontinental Airport on the outskirts of the city.

The roof of the administration building of Willys-Overland is finished in brilliant vermillion brick and is 375 feet wide and 63 feet deep. It is bordered by a white marble cornice which now serves as a frame for the huge arrow, 58 feet long, which points toward the airport. Besides the arrow, the distance to the Toledo port is given.

The quality of the sleep we enjoy is more important than the quantity; slumber disturbed by dreams is a sign that the brain is still active.

Thrift Vital To Success—Willys

Head Of Willys-Overland Says Saving Habit Is One Of The Greatest Character Builders

Declaring that the odds in modern business are too strong against the young man who has not acquired thrift and the habit of saving, John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company, and one of the outstanding leaders the automotive industry, takes very definite exception to Henry Ford's recent advice that young men should spend their money to be successful.

"It is not alone that the advice to spend money to be successful upsets every tradition and sound principle of good business, but it would hurl the earnest, ambitious young man into the mass of human driftwood which is content to lounge along without purpose or zeal and which is not interested in the development of that force of character the self-denials of intelligent saving builds," Mr. Willys said. "Saving is the world's greatest character developer and character is nothing but the plus sign on ability and capacity, real and potential."

Mr. Willys said that Mr. Ford's life and work are the best proof of the folly of not saving as the Ford millions were built on the 'pennies earned and scraped together and invested in the Ford enterprises."

How Is She Hittin'?

By ISRAEL KLEIN
NEA Science Editor

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

A great deal of the trouble encountered in driving during winter can be traced to the battery. But this important accessory is hardly to be blamed for the rumpus it kicks up when it has been neglected by the motorist.

Far more than in summer, the battery requires constant care and attention when the weather is cold. The load on it is more than double at this time and the care it gets in return for this work is usually less than half. Cold weather is not conductive to getting out and testing the battery to see that it is holding its proper charge and that it contains enough solution to keep it going efficiently.

When the engine is cold and the oil in the crankcase and transmission is thick and unyielding, the battery has twice the job to turn over the motor than it has in summer. At 10 degrees, Fahrenheit, the battery's efficiency as a result of this alone is reduced to 50 per cent. At zero its efficiency is only 40 per cents.

As a result the battery wears down rapidly in winter time and if nothing is done to help it recuperate just as rapidly, the motorist will find himself with a useless power source some morning.

Because of its rapid wear in winter, the battery needs a greater charge from the generator than in summer. This should have been regulated a few months back, before cold weather set in, but it isn't too late now to have it done, for cold weather promises to persist for some time in at least the northern part of the United States and in Canada.

It takes a minute or two for a battery station attendant to raise the charging rate. This should show on the ammeter on the dash by advancement of the needle to between 10 and 20 amperes, while the motor is running at a speed of 20 miles an hour or more.

Keeping the battery filled with distilled water may not help if the battery isn't kept fully charged. In fact this would produce more harm than good, for a half-charged battery, although filled, has a greater tendency to freeze in cold weather. The result may be a ruined battery.

If the charging rate is high, however, and the battery is filled with fresh water, the motor should be kept running for a while so as to charge the entire solution and thus keep it from freezing. A fully charged solution is less susceptible to cold than one partly charged.

As an aid to the battery in winter, the motorist should have the oil in the transmission changed to a thinner grade. In fact, thinner oil should be used all around—in differential and crankcase, too. What is called "winter medium" is the most popular oil for most cars at this time.

Winter oil, being looser than the regular type used in summer, does not offer as much resistance to the battery, especially in the morning after the cold of the night has tended to freeze it us. Not only is this an aid to the battery, but it hastens lubrication of the motor. The oil thins out more quickly and gets up into the spaces where it is needed much faster than the heavier oil.

In the transmission, the thinner winter oil makes shifting of gears less difiefult at the beginning of the day's driving.

New Model Out In Oakland Car Line

Special Four-Door Sedan Is Built To Replace Landau; Luxurious In Equipment And Refinements

PONTIAC, Mich., Feb. 16.—A new model supplementing the other seven passenger types in the latest line of Oakland All-American Sixes is announced today by the Oakland Motor Car Co. Known as the Special Four-door Sedan, the new car is built to take the place of the Landau Sedan in the previous All-American series.

While following in exterior design the regular 4-door Sedan, the new model carries luxurious interior equipment and refinements as well as striking new exterior Duco combinations.

Upholstery of a superior quality of mohair, genuine pecan wood garnish rails, vanity case and smoking set and rubber floor mat with felt back are new features of the Special Sedan, which also has the adjustable driver's seat, ebony finish instrument panel, non-glare rear view mirror and other advanced body refinements common to all Fisher-Oakland bodies.

Wheels are in natural wood finish, and at extra cost may be replaced with six wire wheels and trunk rack, the spares carried in front fender wells. Beautifully contrasting shades of Lawn and Ozark green Duco finish the body, fenders and hood, while stripings and mouldings are of Pioneer orange and Moonstone gray.

Priced at $1320 f. o. b. the factory, the new model offers all the flexible performance of the latest Oakland, as well as distinctive appearance and interior luxury that make it a fitting companion model to the custom-like All-American Landaulet, the aristocrat of the line.

Radio To Tell Of New Studebakers

Studebaker has gone on the air. Starting February 3, the first of a series of weekly broadcasts introduced The Studebaker Champions to radio listeners through a coast to coast hook up of stations associated with the National Broadcasting chain. They will be heard every Sunday evening from 10:15 to 10:45 eastern standard time.

The Studebaker Champions are a thirty piece orchestra led by Jean Goldkette, who in the opinion of well known critics has organized more outstanding dance orchestras than any other leader. Using as a smaller orchestra which was said by Paul Whiteman to be one of the three best bands on the air, he has assembled in the Studebaker Champions a group of performers whose intial program has already proved their brilliance. The fact that the Studebaker Champions include twelve members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra is typical of the character of the entire group.

The GREATER HUDSON

acclaimed by the smartest buyers the outstanding value above $1,000

The secret ballot that forecast what all motordom is now saying - - -

The Greater Hudson was first shown to groups of motor dealers who were asked to examine it from the standpoint of general attractiveness in lines, appearance, comfort, fittings, performance and value, and then to cast a secret ballot on which they checked their individual appraisement of every detail.

The vote by these many dealers gave a true indication of public acceptance with the result that twice as many dealers have contracted for Hudson this year as had signed at this time one year ago.

Now by tens and tens of thousands automobile buyers are likewise casting their secret and unanimous vote for the Greater Hudson. You will see the score in 5,000 salesrooms. It is conclusive proof that the Greater Hudson is the public favorite of all cars selling above $1,000.

Won't you, too, go to the nearest Hudson dealer and make your appraisement as so many thousands have already done.

Weather Slows Up Drilling Activity In Hobbs Region

Seventy-five Test Wells Are Now Being Drilled In Lea County; Bordages-Hughes Looks Best

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

HOBBS, N. M., Feb. 16.—While weather conditions are working hardships on drillers in this section, it appears that drilling will be resumed on the Bordages No. 1 Jenny Hughes by Saturday of this week. Workmen have been busy repairing engine, boiler and other equipment since Monday of this week, and at this time have everything in pretty fair shape for drilling.

The Bordages well, one of the first to be spudded in in this section, is more than 4,000 feet deep at this time, and at the time drilling ceased some three months ago, the bit was on the pay. Formations in this well are very similar to those found in the Midwest well, and there is every reason to think the Bordages well will be a good producer. The Midwest well, one mile from Hobbs, is the best producer in the state.

The two wells are some three and one-half miles apart, and should the Bordages come in a producer some 20,000 or 30,000 acres would be in proven territory. It would mean the opening up of a large oil field in the very near future.

Other Wells Spudded

However, these two wells, while being closely watched by members of the oil fraternity, are not the only wells in this section. To the southwest of Hobbs will be found several other tests, and at least one of them is spraying oil at this time. West of the city in the Maljamar area a good well was brought in last week. It is in the shallow well area and is a light producer; making something like 50 barrels a day at this time.

Northwest of the city two new wells have been spudded in, and while they are not in the proven area, operators feel that they are on the paying structure.

Northeast of the city one new well has been spudded in. It is just over the Texas line.

Just at this time it appears that the Hobbs area will be given a thorough test during the coming months. At this time there are some 75 test wells in Lea county, and the best formations are found in the immediate Hobbs area.

Tahoka Planning For "Trades Day"

TAHOKA, Feb. 16.—Tahoka will sponsor a trade day.

The first big monthly even will be held on the fourth Monday in this month, February 25, and trade days are expected to be held throughout the coming months.

The day is being sponsored by the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce the business houses of the town and Col. Joe Seale and Col. W. P. Casey, auctioners, of Lubbock.

One of the main features of the day will be a free auction sale starting at 10 o'clock in the morning to which farmers are asked to bring their stock, implements, poultry, household goods, or anything else that they do not need. No charges whatever will be made for auctioning them off. Tahoka merchants are expected to offer special at reduced prices for that day, and many bargains are promised.

New Dairy Will Start At Ralls

RALLS, Feb. 16.—Announcement was made this week of the opening of a new sanitary dairy for Ralls in the near future.

I. E. Keele, who has resided in Crosby county for many years and N. E. McKee, who is moving here from Lynn county, will own the new dairy. They are now erecting milking sheds and other facilities at the Keele farm just northeast of Ralls and expect to have the dairy in operation in a few days. Mr. McKee has had considerable experience in the dairy business and is bringing several cows here to add to the Keele herd.

NEW STOP LIGHT

A new stop light on the market now is placed in a direct line of vision for the approaching driver. The light is mounted in the rear window of a closed car and uses a neon electric tube which, it is reported, can be seen for two miles and can penetrate fog, dust or exhaust gases.

Pike's Peak, Niagara Falls, Pyramids and Yellowstone Park Take A Back Seat With Carlsbad Wonder

BY AL HILL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

IF YOU could bundle up all the myriad color combinations of a million double rainbows, and splatter them upon a canvas high as the sky;

If you might embellish so great a background with the kaleidoscopic dazzle of a hundred thousand Aurora Borealises;

If you can remember the bewilderments of "Alice in Wonderland," and "Ten Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," and "Dante's Inferno," and "Jack and the Beanstalk," and "Aladdin," and "The Arabian Nights";

If you were capable and permitted to fold up the Grand Canyon, and Pike's Peak, and Niagara Falls, and the Pyramids, and Yellowstone Park, and Glacier Park, and a dozen icebergs and a gusher on fire, and a gasser ablaze and a flock of volcanoes in action and put them every one into a sunken garden with a roof above bejewelled as interestingly as these world wonders are;

Then — and only then — can you begin to start to commence to have any sort of a true conception of the marvels to be seen in the Carlsbad Cavern.

Skepticism Banished.

One trip through this greatest of all the world's spectacles, and you will never more be skeptical of such stories as we are told of Jonah and the Whale.

All the shows on Broadway, piled into one, with all their bands and orchestras and symphonies playing accompaniments, could not hold a candle to Carlsbad Cavern. It is the only show on earth that music can not improve — even were some celestial symphony in the pit, or on the stage.

"Thrills? Do you remember the thrill of the first time you ever saw the ocean? Of your first glimpse of tall mountains? Of the first time you kissed "Her"? Of the day she said "yes"? Of the beauty and pride of your first born? The thrill awaiting you at Carlsbad Cavern is comparable to these.

"It's worth $100 of any man's money to see the Carlsbad Cavern—even if he has to pick cotton to get the money," remarked one visitor recently.

"You can go to any spot on earth and never find anything as interesting," declared another.

Words being merely the vehicle of thought; our language is yet far too young to explain.

Do we sometimes brag of our aged civilization?

This Little Dome.

Carlsbad Cavern will introduce to you its Giant Dome, 62 feet high, 16 feet in diameter, 60,000,000 — yes, that's correct, 60,000,000—years of age! Like the other thousands of its brother Stalagmites and sister Stalactites the Giant Dome has been growing at the rapid speed of one (1) inch every 100 years. This is also very accurately correct, thanks to the science of geology.

Then there is the Big Room, some 750 feet under the ground, 4,000 feet long, 625 feet wide, with its ceiling at one end a mere 350 feet high. Yes, yes, the capitol building at Washington would sit comfortably inside this room without touching the ceiling.

There you will find crystal springs of water, as pure and as clear as a baby's tear.

But, why continue. You can hardly believe, unless you see for yourself. Do it pronto as possible.

Jim White, a Texas cowboy, discovered the Cavern about 26 years ago. He has been exploring it ever since. So far, he has discovered some 21 miles of cavities and the end is not yet located.

There are chambers in the cave 500 feet from top to bottom, half a mile or so in width. Millions of geological formations to awe you. Millions of years have been required to prepare this spectacle that you might see. Lest it be forgotten—there is one pebble you will see and walk upon and around and under. It weighs, to be exact, 250,000 tons.

When you go, remember that the whole big show is due to the action of "little drops of water," then see if you will ever again argue that persistency does not pay.

Terracing To Be Shown At Tahoka

TAHOKA, Feb. 16. — Proper terracing for Plains farms with a terracing machine of the latest design will be demonstrated on the A. R. McGonagill farm, seven miles east of town on the Post road, next Tuesday, February 19. All farmers are invited to witness the demonstration, S. L. McSpadden of Subbock, an expert in this line, will have charge of the terracing. He will be assisted by Prof. Taylor White, teacher of vocational agriculture.

LIGHT CONTROL

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Britain's newest invention is the "Radiovisor." It consists of a small, light-sensitive instrument, which can be used to operate alarm bells, switch on lights, control trains, work signals, etc. It occupies precisely the same relationship in regard to light that the radio occupies in regard to the ether.
