John Abney Dies Here Friday At Age Of Ninety

John Abney of the Salt Fork community, one of the oldest residents of this county, died in a Wellington hospital Friday morning, October 11, at 12:45 o'clock, after an illness of about a week. Mr. Abney celebrated his 90th birthday in June of this year. Since the death of his wife, three years ago, he had made his home with a daughter, Mrs. H. G. Mitchell.

Mr. Abney, with his family, came to Collingsworth County almost 31 years ago and during the time he lived here, he became known as an outstanding farmer, community and church worker. He retired from farming about 15 years ago, but he remained active until the time of his death. At the home of his daughter, he kept a flock of chickens, and worked at other odd jobs about the farm of his daughter and son-in-law. Until a few years ago, he read extensively, but failing eyesight had prevented this recently.

More than half his life had been spent on the frontier of Texas and Oklahoma. Mr. Abney was born in Arkansas on June 9, 1850, and at the time of his death he was 90 years, 4 months, and 2 days of age. He was the son of William and Nancy Riley Abney.

Early in 1851, when he was but nine months of age, he was brought by his parents to Dallas county. This was less than ten years after the first few pioneers had settled at Dallas, and six years before the town was chartered. At that time (Continued on Page Twelve)

The measurement was taken in the government rain gauge at Mr. Strong's home. While this held up the gathering of cotton and feed for a short time, no damage to crops was reported because of the moisture.

Mrs. Martha M. Tucker Dies Here Monday Morning

Mrs. Martha Matilda Tucker, one of this county's beloved residents for more than 30 years, died at her home here at 1:15 o'clock Monday morning, October 14. Mrs. Tucker had been in ill health for several years, and seriously ill for about a week. She was the widow of the late W. M. Tucker, and the mother of County Attorney W. M. Tucker. She was 80 years of age.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday evening, from the First Baptist Church in Wellington, for which she had worked so many years. In charge of the rites were Rev. J. P. Neal, pastor, assisted by Rev. J. V. Lawson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church here. A large crowd of friends gathered to pay final tribute to their friend and neighbor.

During the 31 years that she lived here, Mrs. Tucker made a host of friends, all of whom loved and admired her. By the fineness of her character, and her courage in meeting everyday problems, she drew to her those of all ages and in all walks of life.

Mrs. Tucker, who before her marriage was Martha Matilda Mayfield, was born at Mountain Home, Ark., on December 19, 1859, and at the time of her death she was 80 years, 9 months and 25 days of age. She was the daughter of C. H. and Mahala Ann Mayfield.

Rockets Ready For McLean Tigers Friday

A battle to see who stays on top of District 3-A is ahead for the Wellington Rockets when they meet the McLean Tigers on Powell Field Friday night, October 18. These two teams, along with Shamrock, are tied for first place in the conference standing of the district. Each has played two conference games and lost neither.

McLean, recognized as one of the strongest teams of the district, has already downed Memphis and Lakeview in conference games this season. They were, however, defeated by a strong Phillips eleven early in the year.

The Tigers are recognized throughout this section for their running attacks, which thus far have proved effective in piling up yardage for them.

The Rockets are in good condition to meet the Tigers, reports from the practice field indicate. No sign of early-season nervousness remains.

While the probable Tiger starting lineup has not been announced, it will be drawn from the following boys: Bailey, Bond, Dyer, Lismon, Gibson and McMullen, ends; Combs, Montgomery, Dalton and P. Lismon, tackles; Roth, Boyd, Corbin, Dorsey, and Hill, guards; Jones and Dwight, centers; and Cooke, Braxton, Back, Isom, Lee, Simpson, Glenn, in the backfield. Negroes Charged After Accident

Charges were filed in Justice Court here against three negroes Monday morning after the car in which they were riding Saturday night collided with the back end of the trailer belonging to Ed Smith, who lives south of Wellington. The accident occurred 18 miles north of Wellington on Highway 83 at about 11 o'clock.

Mr. Smith, with Mrs. Smith and Bill Towns, was returning from a rodeo, and was carrying in the trailer one of his valuable rodeo horses, according to Bill McCarver, deputy sheriff who investigated the wreck.

The trailer was badly damaged, and the horse cut and bruised. The Smith car was not damaged, but the car driven by the negroes, a Ford V-8 purchased by them Saturday afternoon, was demolished, Mr. McCarver said. The negroes were unhurt.

Both cars were traveling south. Charges of driving while drunk were filed against Charlie Coffee, driver of the car in which four other negroes were riding, while (Continued on Page Twelve)

Wellington Mother Has 3 Sons In Air Training

Probably not another mother in the Panhandle can claim a record like that of Mrs. R. H. Templeton of Wellington—three sons in training for aviation service, two in the United States and one in Canada. Her sons are John Templeton, R. L. Templeton and Pat Neff Templeton.

Oldest of the three brothers is John Templeton, who is now in training in the Royal Canadian Air Force, stationed at Trenton, Ontario, Canada. He will continue this training for three months, then he will begin transporting planes across the Atlantic ocean from Nova Scotia to England. He is the first Panhandle boy to join this force.

R. L. Templeton, the second of the brothers, has been transferred 478 Register By Noon Wed.

Through noon Wednesday 478 men had been registered under the selective service draft in the two Wellington boxes.

While those in charge of the registering were unable to care for the large number that came early Wednesday morning, at noon the work had slowed, until only a few men were at the booths.

Reports of the number that had registered at any of the 15 other boxes were not available when The Leader went to press.

Local Woman Is Sister Of Typical American Family

Collingsworth County couldn't have the Most Typical American Family, but it came the next thing to it.

The title went to Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Leathers, their son John, and their daughter, Margaret Jean, of Lelia Lake, Monday. Mrs. Leathers is a sister of Mrs. Solon Messer of Wellington.

The Leathers were chosen from 40 families representing many professions in every part of the nation. Earlier in the year they were picked as the Typical West Texas family, and were awarded a trip to the New York World's Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Leathers and their children visit in Wellington often with Mr. and Mrs. Messer and their son, Bobby Jack.

Collingsworth County's cotton harvesting went into full swing this week, as ginning figures jumped to 3,778 bales through Wednesday morning, it was indicated from ginning reports received over the county.

At the same time, an estimate of an approximate 16,000 bale crop for the county was announced by the AAA office in Wellington. This yield is an average of between one-fourth and one-fifth bale per acre.

More than two thirds of this season's ginnings came during the last two weeks, it was pointed out, as at that time only 1,007 bales were reported.

Wednesday's figures, however, show that the county is still far behind those of the same date last year. At that time, 8,611 bales had been ginned, and the crop was estimated as one-half out.

While complete figures of the cotton ginned in the surrounding counties were not available, figures released by the department of Commerce for October 1 show that all surrounding counties are running far behind their ginning figures of a year ago.

In Childress county, only 1,348 bales had been ginned October 1 this year, while 2,196 was reported for the same date a year ago. Donley county reports 408 bales this year, and 1,563 for a year ago. Hall county had ginned 1,594 bales this year. Last year's figures stood at 2,498. Wheeler county, on October 1, had reported 204 bales, as compared to 1,214 last year.

Ginning for the entire state is running about 500,000 bales behind last year's number, as 1,481,007 bales had been ginned on October 1 this year as compared to 1,988,009 a year ago.

Figures completed in the office of the AAA here this week show that 74,634.7 acres of cotton were grown in the county this year. (Continued on Page Twelve)

Draft Board Office Chosen

Temporary headquarters for Collingsworth County's Draft Board have been established on the first floor of the county court house, in the office formerly occupied by A. N. Cornell, county auditor, it was announced this week.

Chairman of the board is Lee O'Neil, while Clark Anderson is secretary. Luther Gribble is the other member. John N. Wallace will serve as clerk.

The board's function, it was pointed out, is to classify men and to interpret the rules of the selective service draft. After the board has passed on any case, there will be several appeal boards, including an examining physician, interpreter, government appeal agent, board of appeals for Area Nine, advisory board for registrants, the medical advisory board, and final appeal to the president.

Local Baptists Will Observe Layman's Day

The first Baptist Church in Wellington will observe Sunday, October 20, as Layman's Day, Rev. J. P. Neal, pastor of the church, announced early this week. This is the date designated in all churches of the Southern Baptist Convention for the observance.

J. B. Sasser, president of the Men's Brotherhood, will preside. A male quartet will furnish special music, and Judge C. C. Bishop will give a short talk on "The Man and His Church."

Rev. Neal will deliver a special message to the men of the church. The center section of seats in the church will be reserved for the men, he added. Special recognition will be given the men at the evening service.

"All men of the church are urged to be present for the Sunday School and to attend one of the three men's classes conducted. We have a great group of men in the membership of our church, and we are expecting Sunday to be a great day for us," Rev. Neal stated.

Eagles Bow To Zooming Rockets 21-0 Here Fri.

Wellington's Rockets zoomed out to their second conference victory of the season Friday night, when they overran the Lakeview Eagles on Powell Field to the tune of 21 to 0.

Although the Eagles were outplayed through most of the game, their stiff resistance and pluck took them on one expedition deep into Rocket territory, and for two quarters they held the game in the middle of the field.

Fred Cox, Jr., Rocket quarterback, gave the thrill of the game at the opening of the fourth quarter, when he took the ball on his own 25-yard line, and eluding Eagle interference, he raced 75 yards for a touchdown.

Cox also accounted for the second touchdown of the game, which came late in the first quarter. Cox drove over left tackle from the 10-yard line. Gribble scored the initial touchdown of the game early in the first period. He scored through center from the three-yard line, after a series of running plays by each member of the backfield had placed the ball deep into Eagle territory. Melton, substituting for Gribble, kicked goal for each of the extra points.

Only seconds kept the Rockets from adding another touchdown to their score, as they hurried through Lakeview territory and pushed to within one yard of the goal as the final whistle blew.

The game by quarters is as follows:

FIRST QUARTER

Wellington received the kickoff and the ball was put in play on the 35-yard line. After three attempts to pass fell incomplete, Fred Cox punted to the Lakeview 20-yard line. Williams, receiving the punt, was downed before he could make a return. On the first play from scrimmage, Williams picked up three yards through center. Two plays later a pass from Williams was intercepted by Cox, who returned three yards. Young dashed around left end for 14 yards and a first down. Gribble added 9 yards at right end, Cox a yard at left end, and Young 3 yards through the middle. From this point, Gribble plunged through center for the Rockets' first touchdown. Melton came in for Gribble and kicked goal for the extra point.

Williams received the kickoff for Lakeview, eluded several Rocket tacklers, and made a beautiful 25-yard return to the Lakeview 45-yard line. This was the beginning of a sustained drive by the Eagles. Mays plunged through the middle for 11 yards; Wansley galloped through right tackle for 15 yards and another first down; a five-yard penalty was assessed against Wellington, and Williams picked up five yards and the third successive first down, at left end. Wansley skirted left end for another five yards, and Drum hit center for four. The Eagle advance was stopped here when Wansley fumbled the ball and Wellington recovered on their own 20-yard line.

After an incomplete pass, Wallace went around left end for 14 yards. Cox went the same route for 24 yards. Young went over right tackle for 10 yards and Melton sliced through left tackle for five. On the next play Melton fumbled the ball and lost seven yards, but recovered the ball. A pass, Cox to Young, picked up eight yards. Another pass, Cox to Goodner netted 11 yards and a first down; a center plunge by Young added four yards, and a run over left tackle by Cox gained another seven yards and a first down. On the next play, Cox went over left tackle for the touchdown. Melton kicked the extra point.

Another 25-yard return was made by the Eagles, when Wansley took the kickoff on his own 15-yard line, as the first quarter closed, with the Rockets leading 14 to 0.

SECOND QUARTER

Stiffened resistance on the part of both teams slowed progress throughout the remainder of the first half. Wansley lost three yards, but a five-yard penalty assessed against the Rockets offset this loss. On a second try, Wansley gained seven yards at right tackle. Mays lost a yard, and the Eagles were unable to advance on the next three plays, so the ball went over to the Rockets on the Lakeview 40-yard line. One yard through center was the only gain made by the Rockets, and Melton was forced to punt to the Eagles, who put the ball in play on their own 20-yard line. Mays picked up nine yards on three plays, and another Wellington penalty added 5 yards to the Eagles advance. Two plays failed to gain, and Williams punted to Melton, who received the ball on the Wellington 35, and returned seven yards to the 42.

Gribble picked up two yards at center, Melton slashed tackle for 11 yards and a first down, Roberts plunged through the middle for seven yards. Melton's try through center was stopped for no gain, Gribble fumbled momentarily, and was downed by a flock of Eagles, for no gain. On the next play Gribble punted to the Lakeview 20-yard line.

Wellington's substitute team went in at this point, and two attempts at right end failed as the second quarter ended with the game still 14 to 0.

THIRD QUARTER

Wellington kicked to the Lakeview 25-yard line. Three tries by the Eagles returned the ball seven yards, and Mays kicked to the Rockets, who received the ball on the Lakeview 35-yard line. Cox' pass to Wallace netted nine yards, and Cox plunged center for two yards and a first down. Cox' attempted pass was intercepted by a Lakeview player, who returned the ball 20 yards. Wansley went around left end for 2 yards, Mays failed to gain, Williams fumbled and recovered for a loss of seven yards, and the Eagles were assessed a five-yard penalty. Taking to the air, the Eagles picked up 14 yards on two passes, Mays to Williams, and Adams to Scott. The Eagles received another five-yard penalty, but Adams gained five yards at center, and a pass from Mays to Scott netted seven yards. Williams punted to the Wellington 30-yard line.

FOURTH QUARTER

Failing to gain further, Williams punted out of bounds on the Wellington 25-yard line. Cox slipped through right tackle, eluded the Lakeview secondary, and sprinted

75 yards for a touchdown. Melton converted for the extra point.

Williams of Lakeview received the kickoff on the Eagle 35 and returned to the 42. Mays fumbled on the next play and recovered, for a loss of seven yards. Williams punted to the Rocket 43-yard line.

A pass from Melton was intercepted by Adams on the Wellington 45, and returned 10 yards. Lakeview received a 5-yard penalty when three passes fell incomplete. Williams' punt fell short and the Rockets put the ball in play on their own 31-yard line. A reverse field play by Merle Wallace gained 6 yards for the Rockets, and on the next play Cox sifted through right tackle, into the clear and sped 25 yards before he was brought down. Young fumbled, but recovered. A 15-yard penalty was assessed against Wellington. Cox punted to the Lakeview 30-yard line.

Two Eagle passes were incomplete, and Williams punted to his own 47-yard line. Cox was thrown for a seven-yard loss on an attempt at left end. A pass from Cox to M. Wallace fell incomplete. Melton picked up nine yards at right tackle. Cox faked a punt and handed the ball to Driskill for a 20-yard gain. Cox hit center for nine yards and Melton picked up four more through the middle as the game ended, with the ball on the Lakeview 1-yard line.

4th Anniversary

Four years ago, the present management purchased this drug store with the aim of bringing to Wellington and Collingsworth County a superior drug service. Recall in memory the modest stock of merchandise with which we started, the looks of the store, and compare it with the brimming stocks of today—complete in every line—and you will realize how faithfully we have performed this service. For the growth of this store is undisputed testimony to the efficiency and the courtesy with which we have served the people of Collingsworth County. It is all the more important when you realize that our store is a continuation of one that has served you well through the years.

Continuing this same program of a constantly improved service, we have recently remodeled our store. A new ice cream parlor has been installed as well as a new prescription department arranged in a manner that enables us to serve you quickly and accurately. On this, our 4th Anniversary in Wellington, we invite you to come by and inspect our store—built and designed to serve you in sickness and in health.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

No. 23 of a series

WOULD YOU CUT DOWN THE APPLE TREE?

You'll probably find a few bad apples in a bushel of good ones. That's the way it is with beer retailing in America.

There are hundreds of thousands of wholesome, law-abiding beer retail establishments that sell good beer—the refreshing, appetizing beverage of moderation. At the same time, there is a handful of undesirable, anti-social taverns. Unfortunately, these few out-law establishments bring discredit to the entire beer industry.

To protect your right to drink good beer, the Brewing Industry wants such anti-social retailers eliminated entirely. It has instituted a "clean-up or close-up" program—now in effect in some states and being extended.

We'd like you to know about this socially important program. May we tell you about it in an interesting free booklet? Write: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y.

Stamford, Texas,
The Wellington Leader,
Wellington, Texas,
Dear Folks,

How is the world getting along up in good old Collingsworth County? I have been down here in Jones County for several months and will probably be here for some time yet. I had a major operation last week and while laying here in the sanitarium I have had a lot of time to think. I have decided that one of the good things of life that I'm missing is The Wellington Leader, and I thought I would just write and ask if you would send it on down here to us. Although I didn't live up there but about a year, I know that some of the finest people on earth live there. My wife lived there the most of her life and she says it will be just like a big long letter from home to get your paper every week. We will be looking forward to the next issue.

Wishing the best of luck to you and all of our friends there,

Sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCann,

A Bank That Is Able To Serve Your Present NEEDS

The Wellington State Bank is a home firm whose roots go back deep into the history of Collingsworth County, but at the same time the experiences of many Collingsworth people in recent years and recent months prove that this bank is preeminently qualified to serve your present needs.

This is a natural result to be expected from an institution that was founded by home men to serve home people, and which has consistently been operated and owned by home men since that time. It is true that the banking needs of our people have changed in those years, and the methods of this bank have been brought up to date to meet the requirements of its customers, but the fundamental principle on which it was founded remains as sound today as it was in 1906.

Our sincere interest in the welfare of our customers is just as strong today as it was then. That is the reason we say: Methods change but principles never do.

Farm Storage Of Wheat Loans Is Doubled

COLLEGE STATION. — More than twice as much government loan wheat is stored in farm bins this year as was stored last year.

At the same time, the total amount of wheat placed under the Commodity Credit Corporation loan this year has passed the 17,000,000 bushel mark.

With some loans still coming in, P. C. Colgin, state wheat loan supervisor of the AAA, has announced that the corporation has approved 581 farm-storage loans on 1,293,837 bushels of wheat. This year only 239 farm-storage loans were made on 513,402 bushels.

County committees in wheat producing counties in Texas have approved 17,580 warehouse-storage loans on 16,473,873 bushels, as compared with 10,568 loans on 15,246,584 bushels last year, the supervisor said. Loans have been made in 80 counties this year, whereas last year farmers in only 75 counties participated. To date the loans have totaled $12,985,699.

Since the closing date for placing wheat under the loan is not until December 31, a good many more applications are expected, although the peak is passed.

The average farm-storage loan to date is 2,226 bushels, 78 bushels larger than the average last year, while the average warehouse-storage loan is 930 bushels as compared with 1,443 bushels last year, the supervisor pointed out.

Mattress Ticking Received Here

Mattress ticking for 330 additional mattresses which will be made in this county under the program of the Surplus Commodity Corporation and the AAA has been received, Miss Rose Erisman, county home demonstration agent, said Monday.

Those communities having cotton for mattresses were urged to come in for their ticking, while those which have not yet secured their cotton were urged to get both cotton and ticking.

This program was initiated early in the summer in order that low income farm families might secure the mattresses without cost. Collingsworth was one of the group of counties picked in Texas in which the plan would be used as an experiment. So successful did it prove, that it was extended over the state, and then to all states of the cotton-growing section.

To date, 507 mattresses have been made under the direction of Miss Erisman in the county.

By H. D. W.

The first peace time registration day in the United States found the registration places in Collingsworth County swamped early Wednesday morning. Amplify this local scene to include the length and breadth of the greatest nation on earth, and you get a picture that should cause any dictator to pause. Calmly, quickly, efficiently the task was done. A great democracy was moving. This willingness of a nation's manhood to serve when called is testimony to the loyalty of a people to their government and the things for which it stands.

Due to volunteers, draft officials of the Panhandle say that it is possible no men will be called from this section before April 1. During the first year, it is estimated that only one out of 100 will be called for training in Texas. If the estimate is correct something like 12 to 20 men will be called into training from this county in the next year. More than that number have entered military service from this county in the last nine months. In short compulsory training will touch this county very lightly.

Traveling salesmen are interesting men. They meet lots of people. One came by Monday and gave me the following information, which he gleaned from a man who had lived in the Orient for years. This man's opinion is that it is only a matter of time until Japan declares war on the United States.

According to the Oriental expert, the Japanese know they can't conquer China. They could whip them easily if the Chinese would fight fair, but the Chinese won't fight fair. They run when the Japanese tanks, airplanes, artillery and infantry concentrate for a pitched battle. Worse still they come back and snipe and blow up communication lines. Each local official who is set up as a puppet by the Japanese is promptly murdered. In short the Japanese have been fighting China for three years and they are bogged down.

Saving face, according to the expert, is the greatest thing in the Orient. Therefore look for a declaration of war on the United States and Great Britain. Then the army and navy men who rule the country can say, "Well, we could have whipped China, but it is impossible to defeat the United States, Great Britain, China and possibly Russia. We are honorably defeated." In short they think so much of saving face that they are willing to commit national hari-kari in order to save the face of a ruling class.

Here is more information that I received second hand from the traveling salesman: In recent years we have been told that Russia stands for everything to which we are opposed. The nation is anti-Christ, the people are brutes, Stalin is worse than Hitler, etc. but within the next six months you may hear that Stalin is quite a gentleman, Russia is a great nation, etc. Look at Wednesday's papers and you will realize these statements made over two weeks ago may not be far fetched at all. Russia and Turkey may soon be giving the axis trouble on another front.

This is a sample of the talk that is going around. In the meantime there is work to be done.

This is a time for people to go about their business. If you are a farmer, harvest your crop. If you are a doctor, heal the sick. If you are a merchant, tend your store. If you are a housewife, care for your home, your children and your husband. Do that work which is before you. Such is the task of real patriotism.

Registration day impressions: Herschel Combs and Vince Thompson walking out of the office and toward the courthouse without saying where they were going—C. C. Bishop and W. V. Whitley telling Leon Blonstein to let Uncle Sam do the worrying from now on—Floyd Taylor wondering why he bought his furniture—Alva Woods declaring that his folks ought to be proud of him, because he was the first thing the family ever had that was registered—James Sullivan and Paul Brewer registering early in the morning in order to get back to work—Bill Seaberry wishing that he could see one more real naval battle before he dies—a country editor remembering that Brisbane and Mitchell both said that the nation that rules the air will rule the world—fathers and mothers with drawn faces watching their cheerful, healthy sons go off to register—stark courage in the face of the unknown—endurance in the face of the driest year on record—Collingsworth in October—the most representative type of American citizenship in the United States doing its job.

C. V. Griffin estimates that this county will gin 16,000 bales this year. I do not pretend to know, but I will wager that his estimate is not correct. Personally, I think it will be more than that amount.

There was some frost in Collingsworth on October 16, 1940. It did no damage, but I put it in simply as a matter of record.

Book Review Is Set For Monday

Mrs. Bob Holland of Childress, outstanding book reviewer of this area, will review "Stars of the Sea," by F. Van Wyck Mason, in Wellington Monday evening, Oct. 21.

This is a benefit event, and all proceeds will go to the high school library, Miss Mildred Hulsey, who is in charge of plans, announced.

While Mrs. Holland has never appeared here, she is already well known for her work in Memphis, Childress, and Vernon.

The novel which she will review tells of the earliest days of the American fleet. Of it a prominent critic says:

"A great novel that gives the dramatic answer of history to the question of the hour. Dare a weak, defenseless nation defy a mighty and implacable enemy? In a vast drama both gripping and authentic is told the gallant story of the colonists who, in the face of an all powerful foe, dared to flaunt their 13 stripes and 13 stars on the sea. . . ."

"We are extending a cordial invitation to all lovers of good literature in the county to hear Mrs. Holland's review here," Miss Hulsey said. "With the American fleet so much in the light today, there's not one of us but will find the story of its beginning both interesting and educational."

The review will be given at the high school auditorium and will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Red Cross Cloth Arrives Tuesday

Material for dresses to be made under the Red Cross War Relief quota has been received, Mrs. Jno. W. Harper announced Tuesday.

At the same time, Mrs. Harper issued a call for volunteer workers to make these garments. This quota is considerably larger than the first, she pointed out, and many workers over the entire county will be needed.

Any woman wishing to sew for the Red Cross was requested to get in touch with Mrs. Harper at her home, or Miss Katherine Boverie at the county library.

Yarn for the sweaters to be knit under the quota has not arrived.

Auxiliary Hobby Show Creating Wide Interest

Plans for the American Legion Auxiliary Hobby Show to be held in November are rapidly getting under way. The affair is being sponsored by the Finance Committee of which Mrs. E. W. Jones is chairman.

Mrs. W. E. Maddox has been named general chairman of the show and anyone having any hobby, collection or antiques of any kind is urged to enter them in the show. Prizes will be given and a number of different divisions will be made.

A table setting division will add much interest to the show. Several entries have already been secured. One table is to be set with early American ware while another will feature Fiesta complete glassware. Still another will be set with odd pieces that Mother started house-keeping with. There will be prizes in this division also. The show will be held at the American Legion Hall during the afternoon and evening of November 19. All entries must be in place and ready for judging by 6 o'clock noon of that day.

A fee of 25 cents will be charged each exhibitor, who may enter as many collections or hobbies as they wish for the one fee. A charge of 10 cents will be made for those who attend the show.

As a special added attraction, during the evening show the high school service club boys will entertain with a magic show. Dr. E. Jones has been secured for the evening also and will show moving pictures which he has taken of various parts of the United States.

A special division for men has been named, and everything from tons to etchings will be accepted either as a collection or as an individual showing.

Information concerning the show may be secured from Mrs. Maddox, Mrs. S. G. Henry or any member of the Auxiliary.

Rotary Outlines Civic Projects

Possibilities that Wellington might secure a surplus food stamp plan and a CCC camp was laid before members of the Wellington Club at their regular meeting on Tuesday, October 15.

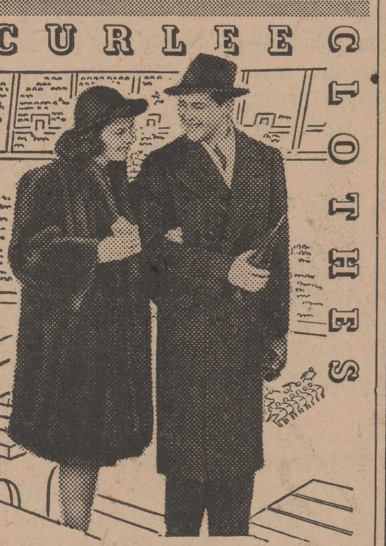

W. K. Cottingham, county agent, who has recently discussed the food stamp plan with officials in Dallas, pointed out to the group that a sponsor for the plan would be needed if an effort is made to secure the plan here. Continuing, Mr. Cottingham explained the manner in which the plan works.

Dr. E. W. Jones reminded members that the CCC camp may be moved from Memphis soon, and urged that Wellington make an effort to secure this camp.

A committee made up of Mr. Cottingham, Dr. Jones, Lee Fortenberry and Judge R. H. Cocke, was appointed to look into these two plans.

As an entertainment feature, Charlie Garrison, club member, gave two piano solos, "Napoleon's Last March," and "St. Louis Blues."

This luncheon was the first of the "sandwich dinners" which will be held once a month by members of the club. These members will eat only sandwiches for the luncheon, and the remainder of the money which would have been spent for a dinner will be put in a student loan fund.

A MEASURE OF COURAGE

There's a certain measure of courage that a nation finds it needs among its men during trying times to carry through to success and victory.

The farmer must have it when rain floods his fields, or drought turns the crops black, and he must suffer the loss and plant anew. The business man calls on this measure of courage when he enters into a bold enterprise in the face of depression. The soldier needs it when he goes out to battle an enemy, in an unknown territory, against strange weapons.

Perhaps no soldier needs it more than the parachute trooper. Now that the U. S. is forming a corps of these modern warriors, there will be need for this extra courage among the men who defend America.

The dangers encountered by the parachutist have been demonstrated in Europe, where hundreds of Russians and Germans died dropping from the sky to attack. This method of warfare can be used for defense as well, for men dropped behind the enemy lines could learn of attack plans and hinder operations.

In attack or defense, the risk is the same. In the daytime, the parachutist is a helpless target in the sky. At night, unseen wires or trees menace him, and the danger of capture after a safe landing is always present.

The job calls for men of courage, but the U. S. will find them in her ranks. Men like storied Nathan Hale and Maj. Andrew Bowan, who carried the message to Garcia—these had that measure of courage needed. Others will have it today when the call is sounded.

BRITISH WAR LOSSES

One of the principal matters of interest just now is the extent of British war losses, and the effect they may have on the outcome of the war. While no accurate figures are available, reports up to the first week in October indicated that although these losses have been great in the aggregate, they have not weakened the British Empire to any serious extent.

Because of the spectacular nature of the bombing raids on London and other parts of the British Isles, reported daily by press and radio, the effects of these attacks have been exaggerated in the minds of the public, especially with respect to the loss of human life.

The number killed in England, Scotland and Wales between the beginning of the bombing raids and the first of October was only between five and seven thousand, according to the highest estimates. Out of a population of some 45 million these losses, while distressing, are comparatively negligible, so far as any effect on the strength of Britain is concerned. Better air raid protection, continually being improved, is likely to reduce casualties materially from now on.

Property damage, while admittedly great, is not as serious as many have been led to believe. Since the war began, new merchant vessels completed are said to represent a greater tonnage than that destroyed by submarines, mines and other means.

British morale remains high, and it appears that on the whole the chances of an Axis victory are much less than was feared a few months ago.

TEXAS ROSE FESTIVAL

The state of Texas is noted for many things—for its romantic history, its size, its cattle, cotton and oil, its John Nance Garner, and other possessions for which it might well be envied. One distinction less known to the country as a whole is that the state produces more than 50 per cent of the world's supply of rose plants.

And because the far greater part of this Texas output is produced in the area surrounding the town of Tyler, in the eastern part of the state, it is fitting that this thriving community should have an annual Rose Festival, and it has had one since 1933.

This year's festival, held at Tyler October 3 to 6, was an especially notable event, to which vast crowds were attracted from far and near. Two concerts by the world-famous United States Marine Band, now on tour, and the crowning of the festival queen were features of the first afternoon and evening, and varied entertainment was furnished throughout the fiesta.

Visitors not only saw the hundreds of rose varieties on display in the festival building, replaced daily by fresh flowers from the fields, but were enabled to make tours to the fields themselves, from which 18 to 20 million plants go each year to every state and to more than a score of foreign countries.

HEALTH RACKETEER

Medical quackery, which for several years gradually lost ground because of the growing tendency of newspapers to reject quack advertising, seems to have found a new and potential aid in the radio.

Much advertising which no self-respecting newspaper would print is freely broadcast over the air, evidently with some success in attracting suckers, because it is being continued in undiminished volume.

Those who prey upon the public by fraudulently cashing in on the universal desire for health are characterized by Dr. E. P. Lyon, dean of the medical school of the University of Minnesota, as "health racketeers." He says of this fakery:

"His health patter is pseudo science. His eye is on your check book. In these days especially he prostitutes the radio to his uses. Quacks and quackery, fakers and fakery of all kinds appeal to a bewildered public between jazz and the nasal tenor, with blatant advertisements that no reputable journal will print. Oh, health, what crimes are committed in thy name!"

Conscription Registration Brings Quiz Bee

Signing of the conscription bill that brings registration of 16,500,000 young men between 21 and 36 on October 16 has probably inspired more questions than have been asked on any radio quiz during a given year.

There have been questions about registration, about the actual drafting, about insurance, about dependents, about physical condition, about payments on the new car. Everybody's asking them, from the young fellow down on the farm to the very senators and representatives who passed the conscription law.

Official question and answer man on the draft law is Capt. Ernest M. Culligan, public relations officer of the joint army and navy selective service committee. If you were to ask him, he'd tell you things like these about conscription:

Registration on Oct. 16 is not the actual drafting. . . . Registrants are given numbers at this time. . . . Later comes the lottery at Washington, when numbers will be drawn to select the one out of every 20 to be called for service. . . . Even then there will be exemptions, as the men fill out detailed questionnaires telling whether they have dependents or if they do work essential to national defense. . . . All this means that probably no man will be called up until at least a month after registration.

Draftees must be in good physical condition. Good teeth, good feet, good sight and good hearing are also required, although special assignments may be given to men with physical defects.

Young men who reach their 21st birthday after Oct. 16 are exempt from registration, and will have to sign only after a new registration day is proclaimed by the President. . . . But if a man becomes 36 after registration day, he is still liable to conscription under terms of the law.

Protection for conscripts who have rent or taxes to pay, insurance premiums, mortgage payments or installments to meet, or who are involved in a civil court action, is being worked out by Congress. . . . A law during World War I gave protection and relief to soldiers and sailors with obligations. . . . The government will be more liberal in deferring men whose numbers are picked this year than it was in 1917. Then 1,600,000 had to be taken from a field of 10,000,000; now the man pool is much larger, the number required much smaller.

John The Baptist Saw Own Limits

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Oct. 20.

Text: Luke 3:3, 8-17, 21, 22.

Role of the Great Forerunner in biblical history was played by John the Baptist, whose work was essentially that of preparation. He represented the laying of good foundations, but he lacked some of the things that make the superstructure beautiful and perfect.

Here is a distinction that we do not often make common—the distinction between what is good and necessary under certain circumstances, and what is of the highest and most permanent quality.

Jesus recognized this in His great tribute to John. He said that of those who had been born of woman there had not arisen a greater than John the Baptist. Nevertheless he added that he who was least in the Kingdom of Heaven was greater than John.

What did He mean by this, except to emphasize the distinction between the good and the best? John belonged to the old dispensation of law and regulation, of strict ritual, fasting and asceticism.

Jesus brought in the new dispensation of love and liberty, a sense of abundant life and joy. He taught and practiced the glory of the unselfish life, the beauty of self-sacrifice where it was for some higher end, and He himself made the supreme sacrifice of the Cross; yet, in all this, the emphasis was not upon loss but upon gain. He could say to His disciples, even on the very eve of His crucifixion, "Be of good cheer: I have overcome the world."

Yet, in the world as it is, there is great need of those who do the work of preparation. We need, even in our modern world, the prophets from the wilderness to call the world to repentance and to lay great stress upon judgment and upon the return to simplicities of justice and homespun honesty in the ways of life.

It was a part of the strength and glory of John that he recognized his own place and limitations. He spoke of a mightier baptism than he himself was giving and he sensed the greatness of this One who was coming, whose shoes he was not worthy to unloose. He saw this coming Messiah as the fulfillment of his own work and his own prophecies.

John was a great preacher of righteousness. Stern and commanding but strong and solid as granite, he lacked the kindlier appeal of the Master whose coming he foretold, but he performed well his work and his mission.

One of the strange things is that we seldom picture John the Baptist as a young man. We think of him almost inevitably as among the seasoned prophets—yet John was only a few months older than Jesus.

He represented in his own day the vision and the spirit of flaming, impassioned youth; and youth in its finest zeal has always represented these two things—the earnest impassioned righteousness of John, the zeal to put the ax at the root of the tree and to hew down everything that is unworthy; and on the other hand the equally impassioned idealism of Jesus, putting all the emphasis on unbuilding rather than destroying, and so concerned lest anything be lost that even the tares must continue until the harvest lest the wheat also be uprooted.

These types continue in history, and it is well when the one recognizes its place and its limitations as preparing for the other.

Today, just because stern tasks face a world torn by violence and war, it is necessary that we should not lose sight of those divine ideals and goals that John saw in the One who was to come.

FOR THE FARM FAMILY

Farm people who are planning to build anything from a chicken coop to a new home may now have the help of a comprehensive publication in making their selections.

The publication, M. P. 360, "Plans of Farm Buildings for the Southern States," was compiled by extension agricultural engineers of the states listed and issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Copies are now in the hands of county agricultural agents.

From M. P. 360, farm people may select the type of building they want from the great number of sketches shown. After the selection is made, the county agent will order the blueprints from the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

With the exception of a few of the dairy barns, cattle shelters and poultry houses, all the plans shown in M. P. 360 are well adapted to Texas conditions, according to M. R. Bentley, extension agricultural engineer.

Blueprints of the dairy barns, cattle shelters and poultry houses that are recommended for Texas, as well as for sweet potato storage houses and others not shown in the USDA publication, may also be secured free from county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

NO BED OF ROSES

Country life has always been considered wholesome and fine for children, nevertheless, some conditions still exist which make it difficult to provide children on the farm with a richer and more satisfactory life. This is brought out in recently published findings of the White House Conference on Children in a Democracy.

One reason the economic plight of many rural children is so serious is that in some areas there are twice as many children, proportionately, on the farm, as in the city. Dosca Hale, specialist in parent education and child development for the A. and M. College Extension Service, has pointed out. It is also true that city families have twice as much income as country families and fewer children.

Here are some of the handicaps rural people have to face in rearing their children:

Sections of the country which have the largest number of children in proportion to the population often have the least money to spend on their schools.

Less than half of all the counties in the United States have a full-time public health service with an adequate staff, and many country districts are without readily available medical service.

Despite improvement in recent years, relatively few farm homes yet have running water, electric lights, adequate heating facilities.

Recreational facilities for rural children are far from adequate.

Regardless of these disadvantages, the rural family has much to contribute to its children. Self respect, as well as respect for others and a cooperative attitude are most likely to be acquired in childhood in a really democratic family, Miss Hale explains.

Anniversary of Parsons Drug Recalls Progress

Four years of accomplishment and advancement are being observed by Sandy Parsons, Jr., and the entire staff of the Parsons Drug Co. this week. In point of years under the present management, it is the town's youngest drug store, yet both local citizens and citizens of other towns throughout the section acknowledge it one of the most modern, and most complete stores in the entire neighborhood.

"It doesn't take much remembering to think back on the small stock with which we started four years ago," Mr. Parsons says. "We were proud of the ownership then, just as we are proud of it now. But after four years, we have realized a deeper pride—the friendship and constant co-operation of the hundreds of people throughout this county who trade with us."

In addition to himself, Mr. Parsons is assisted in the store by Roy Hill, pharmacist, Mrs. Neil Abney, Miss Aries Burt, and Thomas Holton.

Recalling the improvements during the last year, members of the store personnel point to the enlarged jewelry department, and a new cases in which this is displayed.

Another addition which is becoming an important part of the store is the glassware and silver department. Fine glass of a nationally known brand is handled, while both sterling and plate silver is kept in stock.

Enlargement of the stock of cameras to include both moving picture machines and projectors is noted by the group as an interesting addition.

"We've enlarged every line and every department in the store. The problem now is, where to put new things when they come in," the staff says.

Latest improvement in the store is the new prescription room and cream parlor. Whereas the ice cream tables have heretofore been in the front of the store, they have now been transferred to a special room at the back, and the prescription room has been greatly enlarged.

"We know from the things you people have said that you are proud of the store and its accomplishments during the last year too, and we are promising just this one thing—you'll have the same fine service, the same personal interest in your needs, that has been characteristic of this store in the past," Mr. Parsons said.

Stability As Applied To Banking

In this space in the previous issue of this paper the element of strength was discussed.

Stability in bank management is a necessary adjunct to financial strength. Without a stable management no bank can be depended upon to continue to render constructive banking service to the community which it serves.

With over thirty years of uninterrupted banking service, we believe should be ample evidence of our qualification for continuous stable service in that line.

AMERICAN DIETS—GOOD AND BAD

"An army marches on its stomach," is an ancient military proverb.

Modern nutritionists agree, but think of more than soldiers on the march. Food also is part of good strategy at home in peace times, they declare. The right food and enough of it, for every man, woman and child builds strength for the present and the future.

To quote Dr. Hazel K. Stiebeling, food economist in the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture, "Every one of us in choosing our daily food, every homemaker planning meals for her family, can play a definite part in national defense."

"By eating the foods needed for good nutrition we can help to make America strong, ready for whatever lies ahead."

"A third of America's families are below the safety line in nutrition," Doctor Stiebeling states. This is one of the hard facts that we must face and do something about. This comes not entirely from lack of money. It is true that millions of persons do not have enough money to buy a good diet, but millions more who spend enough, do not buy the right food values.

"Of course it takes careful planning to buy good nutrition cheap," Doctor Stiebeling points out. Make out your market lists for a week at a time to be sure that the meals fit together and make a balanced diet. Keep a record of how the food money is spent to make the most of every penny. Even if you live in a city and buy all your food, as little as $2 a week can give each person a good diet, Bureau of Home Economics studies show. Watch for foods in season and notice price trends. Take advantage of week end bargains. Study labels and compare quality as well as price and prices.

If you live on a farm, you can have a cow and chickens to produce milk and eggs, two important "protective" foods that take a good bite out of the food budget if you have to buy. Your garden is another step towards good nutrition. The summer surplus can be stored in a canner for winter use.

After you've shopped so carefully for food values, see that none of them are lost in the kitchen. Vegetables lose food values when stored too long. Dairy products and meat are in danger of spoiling if not kept cold.

To make the most of food values, serve fresh fruit for breakfast, also as a time-saving dessert. Serve raw vegetables in salads, or cut them in narrow strips to make a crunchy relish. When you cook vegetables, remember that short cooking in a small amount of water cut down the loss of vitamins and minerals.

"Whether you eat at a table in the kitchen or in a modern restaurant, good nutrition and balanced diets are important to you as an American," Doctor Stiebeling says.

Two Wellington Girls Members Of All Girls' Band

Clarice Harper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Harper of Wellington, and Edna Joyce Gribble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Gribble of Wellington, have been selected as members of one of the most unusual musical organizations in the south. They are members of the John Tarleton College All Girls' Band of forty pieces. There are but few similar collegiate organizations in the country.

This John Tarleton College organization was started two years ago by Harold J. Blum, professor of Music. He still directs the band. Since John Tarleton has an R.O.T.C. Unit of 800 cadets, the official band was a military organization of cadets. But among the 500 co-eds there were so many girl musicians that Blum conceived the idea of an All Girls' games, and other celebrations. The Tarleton student body goes wild when the forty co-eds march on the field twirling batons and playing the school songs.

The group was returning to their home after spending the week end with relatives in Wellington.

The driver of the other car told Mr. Ledbetter that the sun shining in his face, along with the fact that he was coming around the blind corner, prevented his seeing the other car until it was too late to avoid the crash.

The Ledbetter car was badly damaged in the accident, which occurred about 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Denmead had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. Ledbetter had been visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Austin and Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Clement.

Try telling folks the rates have been cut in half!

1 I work for the utilities and the other night I had supper over at Jim and Edith's house. It was a swell supper and I told Edith so. "Cooking," she said, "is easy. We have nearly everything electric." "There is a point," I says, excited-like. "And you're using about twice as much electricity today as you did 10 years ago for the same money." "Maybe you mean the bill is twice as high nowadays," Jim chimed in. "It may be just as high, Jim," I said. "Mine is, too. But there's a good reason for it. Look here..."

2 Then I took them around the house, pointing out their refrigerator, electric washer, the percolator, radio, toaster, iron, and all the other electric appliances, not to mention the better-light—better-sight lamps. I said: "Now, honestly, aren't you using a whale of a lot more electricity than you did just a few years ago?" They said that was right.

3 Then I tossed a couple nickels on the table, real dramatic-like, and said: "The average person pays only about a dime a day for electric service! Some pay less, some a little more. And the more you use, the lower the rate!"

4 "Is this a bargain or isn't it?" I asked Edith. "Never thought of it like that," she said. "I certainly do get my money's worth!"

County Exhibit At Fair Shows Food Lockers

"Frozen Food Lockers" is the theme carried out this year in Collingsworth County's exhibit at the State Fair of Texas, W. K. Cottingham, county agent, said upon his return from Dallas Saturday.

Carried on the back-board of the exhibit are the words, "Frozen Food Lockers," while on one side are listed the benefits to be derived from a frozen food locker system, and on the other are listed the places from which information may be received.

On the floor of the booth is a miniature frozen food locker plant, and around this are grouped the vegetables which may be preserved in the unit.

There is no competition between exhibits from various counties this year, but each will be given a money award by the Fair Association.

Dallas was still a small settlement on the frontier—all Texas west of there was still given over to the Indians.

Mr. Abney grew up around Dallas. On October 31, 1875, he was married to Miss Lucy Ellen Heardon, also of Dallas County. Mrs. Abney was born in Logan County, Ky., and had come to Dallas when she was nine years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Abney again settled on the frontier when they moved to the Indian Territory, now Oklahoma, in the early days. After several years residence there, they came to Collingsworth County.

Mr. Abney became a member of the Church of Christ 65 years ago, and both he and his wife were active in the work of this church. In Oklahoma, Mr. Abney was active in his work for better schools, and served as a school trustee.

Ten children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Abney, seven of whom survive. These are Ed Abney, of Paris, Mrs. G. P. Barton of Wayne, Oklahoma, Mrs. J. D. Tucker of Elk City, Okla., Mrs. J. M. Blakey of Archer City, Mrs. H. G. Mitchell, Mrs. R. C. Easterly, and Mrs. W. L. Morris, all of this county. Sixteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren also survive. Other relatives are a nephew, J. C. Claunch of Quail, and two nieces, Mrs. Nan Claunch of Corsicana, and Mrs. Lizzie Freeman of Silverton.

Funeral services for Mr. Abney were conducted Saturday afternoon from the Church of Christ in Quail, with Min. Lester Hathaway of Mobeetie in charge. Pall bearers were J. E. Ogletree, H. D. Jones, W. W. Vernon, C. T. Ogletree, C. B. Denauw, and N. C. Childers. Flower bearers were Jack Easterly and Zora Bell Morris, granddaughters. Hymns included "Asleep In Jesus," "Near or Far God To Thee," and "Sweet Bye And Bye." Interment was in the Quail Cemetery with the Falso Funeral Home in charge.

was 77 years, 11 months, and 20 days of age. He grew up and was educated in his native state. When he was 26, Mr. Collins came to Texas, and filed on a section of land near Vernon. In addition to farming, he taught the Paradise Creek School in Wilbarger County for several years. Two years after coming to Texas, he returned to Indiana and was married to Miss Bertha Garriott. They would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in December of this year.

During this time Mr. Collins served as a trustee of the Wellington School district and for a number of years he was superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School here. Later they lived in the Bean Hill community.

Except for short periods of time when they lived at Ingleside, the family made their home here until March 1933.
