U.S. Orders $100,000 Seizure to Guarantee Fine of Witness

On the Griddle—
Up to Dun—
Poultry Production—
Norris on Peace—

Members of the Wichita Falls Technical club plan their annual gridiron dinner with all the usual secrecy and slap-stick which will increase interest as the occasion nears. For a night, this club brings welcome relief from our daily humdrudge of civic work and enterprise, even to those who lend some-what awkwardly on the gridiron or find their pet schemes and foibles aired to an exaggerated ridicule. As a civic tonic, as good fun and as a relief from serious work, the annual gridiron dinner is about the most successful event of its kind in the year's history.

Governor Dan Moody is faced with the problem of deciding whether or not the state will come within its own laws in the employment of women at state institutions. The governor is to be asked to approve a deficiency warrants allowing the employment of sufficient help to care for inmates of institutions without violating the labor law. Moody may temporarily settle the issue, but the real question is with the legislature: Will it repeal its own law or will it appropriate sufficient money to properly provide for the correct number of workers at state institutions?

Electon poultry and rabbit breeders will hold their winter show December 29, it is announced. The Texas-Oklahoma fair poultry show was one of the most successful ever held, and was followed by the Bandburnett poultry show with many fine birds on exhibit. Towns all over Texas are holding their exhibits of fine chickens, and teaching the lesson of good stock. Poultry raising is to become one of the greatest Texas industries.

According to M. Johnson, who is now completing his great poultry ranch here, one of the greatest drawbacks to the Texas industry is the scattered sources of supply. A car of eggs, he points out, may be assembled over a wide area, and consequently varies widely in quality, size, uniformity and other factors, presenting an obstacle to successful egg marketing in Texas. This difficulty will be largely overcome in this section with the completion of the Johnson plant, and the development of poultry raising in this section.

Paul Culver, who acted as host to a group of Iowa Park club women visiting here Wednesday, has this to say: "The time was when women in the small towns and rural sections had small chance for study, recreation and development. All this went to the woman living in the city. Now the woman in the small town or on the farm is as well read, well dressed, knows as much about literature, the arts and current problems from household management to building better schools, as the average woman who has all the 'advantages' of the city."

If anything, the advantage today lies with the woman in the small town or rural community. She has all the natural advantages which cannot be found in the crowded city, and in addition, excellent schools, most modern conveniences, and ample facilities for study, development and service. She keeps in touch with the entire nation through the same radio, newspaper and magazines that serve her city sister, and when she finds need to reach the city, there is usually a good highway within easy reach of her automobile.

The writer knows little about the difference between the Rev. J. Frank Norris and other members of his faith, but the Fort Worth pastor seems to retain a sense of humor in his scraps. This week's columnist expected to see a rather rip-snorting fire-eating crusader when the Rev. Norris visited the office, but the Fort Worth pastor seemed to be having a rather good time, poking fun at himself and his opponents. He said: "What's the matter? I come down here to conduct a quiet, peicable meeting, not planning to jump on anyone, and everybody in town lands on my neck." Figure it out yourself.

SINCLAIR AIDE CITED TO TRIAL FOR CONTEMPT

Key Witness in Teapot Dome Oil Conspiracy Defies Court

HEARING JANUARY 6

Harry M. Blackmer, Now In France, Refuses To Return

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Justice Frederick L. Siddons today ordered United States Marshal Edgar C. Snyder to seize $100,000 of property belonging to Harry M. Blackmer, key witness in the Teapot Dome oil conspiracy case who refused to return to America to testify.

Blackmer also was cited to appear before Justice Siddons on January 6, 1928, to show cause why he should not be adjudged guilty of contempt of court for refusing to respond to a subpoena served upon him in France last spring.

$100,000 Fine Limit.

The penalty for refusing to appear after a subpoena has been served is a fine not to exceed $100,000.

Blackmer was a principal figure in the famous Continental Trading company transaction connected with the Teapot Dome case. It was from this company, which the government contends was a mere "dummy" corporation organized by Sinclair, that the prosecution traced $230,500 in liberty bonds into the accounts of Albert B. Fall and his son-in-law, M. T. Everhart.

A vigorous legal battle over the proposed contempt order is expected.

Former Governor Nathan L. Miller, of New York, general counsel for the U. S. Steel corporation, and George Gordon Battle, of New York, are attorneys for Blackmer.

Today's order was issued by Justice Siddons while Assistant District Attorney Neil Backlashaw was presenting the final batch of cancelled checks, receipts and documents to the grand jury now investigating charges of alleged tampering with the Teapot Dome jury.

Baptist Ministers Choose Houston Man

"I did not choose to run. . ."

This, and a slight pause. Then, "And I know that it will be a relief to you when I announce that I'll defer my inaugural address until this body meets next year."

Such were the words of A. D. Foreman of Houston, when the secretary of the Pastors' and Laymen's conference had announced his election by a unanimous vote to the presidency of the conference for the ensuing year, at the close of the two-day session late Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Foreman, the first layman to occupy the presidency of the conference in three years, was nominated by the retiring president, the Rev. Jefferson Davis of San Benito, Texas. Immediately after the new president had been presented the gavel of the office by the Rev. Davis, and after a brief welcome extended the new leader by the retiring president, Mr. Foreman called the conference to the business of selecting other officers for the new year.

Unanimous Vote.

W. W. Melton, pastor of the Seventh and James street church of Waco, was elected vice president of the conference, and J. R. Balch, pastor of the First Baptist church of Seymour was elected secretary, both being given their offices by unanimous votes of the order.

The appointment of the program committee for the next conference, and the chairman to have charge of the work is to be made within the next few days, and is to announce during the session of the convention, the new president said.

Preceding the annual election of officers, the afternoon hours of the conference were devoted to several speakers who spoke on the theme, "Our Young People." After a speech on "Christ's Message to Young People," by A. E. Prince, and an address by W. Marshall Craig on "How Can the Church Hold Young People?" the conference joined in a discussion of the matter of the inter-denominational organizations that have been observed of late within the Baptist church in Texas. Deploring these conditions, T. C. Gardner of Dallas, general director of the B. Y. P. U. organizations of Texas, introduced a series of resolutions urging organization of B. Y. P. U.'s in more of the churches and warning existing unions of the falsity of the inter-denominational societies.

Adopt Resolutions.

The resolutions, as unanimously passed by the conference, follow:

"1. That city B. Y. P. U.'s be organized in all towns where there are three or more co-operating Baptist churches.

"2. That county, or association-

RADIO BOARD SHAKEUP HITS TEXAS PLANTS

Wave Lengths For Many Stations Are Changed By New Order

OTHERS AFFECTED

New Schedules Given To Reduce Interference In Reception

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The federal radio commission today ordered the most drastic broadcasting shakeup since its creation, requiring changes in operation of 69 important stations throughout the country.

Wave lengths, power and broadcasting hours were redistributed to clear of all interference, 25 choice wave channels between 600 and 1000 kilocycles, opening the way to clear local and distant reception.

War Against Interference

"Fortified with conclusive proof that reception in many instances is being more or less ruined by interference, and with the fact that listeners, during the winter months at least, desire to select distant as well as local stations, the commission, believing the listeners' interest paramount, will pursue a definite and unremitting policy of correcting the broadcasting situation toward that end," said an announcement.

The changes were put forth as representing the commission's interpretation of its legal responsibility to provide good reception for "the great listening public of America with its investment of many millions in radio receivers."

Texas Stations Affected

Some of the country's most powerful stations, such as WEAF and WJZ, New York, WGY, Schenectady, and KDKA, Pittsburgh, are among those which will benefit most from changes by other stations. Broadcasting "chains" will gain by elimination of interference in the same way.

All changes were ordered effective December 1. Among them were:

WBAP, Fort Worth, from 600 kilocycles, 1500 watts, sharing with WFAA, to 600 kilocycles, 5000 watts, sharing with WOAI.

WFAA Dallas, from 600 kilocycles, 500 watts, sharing with WBAP, to 556 kilocycles, 500 watts, full time.

WOAI San Antonio, from 940 kilocycles, 5000 watts to 600 kilocycles, 5000 watts, sharing with WBAP.

WSUI Iowa City, Iowa, from 620 kilocycles, 500 watts, full time to 620 kilocycles, 500 watts daylight, pending final disposition.

WHAS Louisville, from 650 kilocycles, 500 watts, to 820 kilocycles, 500 watts.

KLZ Denver, from 750 kilocycles, 500 watts, to 1010 kilocycles, 500 watts night, 1000 watts daytime.

WOS Jefferson City, Mo., transferred from 710 kilocycles, 500 watts, to 520 kilocycles, 500 watts, sharing with WSAI.

WHB Kansas City, Mo., from 830 kilocycles, 250 watts, sharing with WOQ to 830 kilocycles, 500 watts, sharing with WOQ.

WOQ Kansas City, Mo., from 890 kilocycles, 250 watts night, 500 watts daytime, sharing with WHB to 880 kilocycles, 250 watts night, 500 watts daytime, sharing with WHB.

WSM Nashville, from 880 kilocycles, 5000 watts to 650 kilocycles, 5000 watts.

WSMB New Orleans, from 920 kilocycles, 750 watts to 1010 kilocycles, 750 watts.

KOIL Council Bluffs, Iowa, transferred from 1080 kilocycles, 2000 watts, to 940 kilocycles, 5000 watts, sharing with KFAB.

KFAB Lincoln, Neb., transferred from 570 kilocycles, 2000 watts to 940 kilocycles, 5000 watts, sharing with KOIL.

WHT Chicago, from 720 kilocycles, 500 watts, sharing with WIBO and WHAZ to 980 kilocycles, 5000 watts, sharing with WIBO and WHAZ.

WIBO Chicago, from 720 kilocycles, 500 watts, sharing with WHAZ and WHT to 980 kilocycles, 500 watts, sharing with WHAZ and WHT.

WHAZ Troy, from 720 kilocycles, 500 watts, Mondays only, sharing with WIBO and WHT to 980 kilocycles, 500 watts, Mondays only, sharing with WIBO and WHT.

WGN-WLIB Chicago, from 980 kilocycles, 15,000 watts, to 720 kilocycles, 15,000 watts.

Mayor Shep Welcomes Baptists to Wichita Falls

The official welcome of Wichita Falls to the Baptists of Texas! Mayor R. E. Shepherd, right, snapped with the Rev. Jefferson Davis, center, pastor of the First Baptist church at San Benito, Texas, and retiring president of the Pastor's and Laymen's conference, and the Rev. W. T. Rouse, pastor of the Provident Heights Baptist church, Waco. The photo was taken at the new municipal auditorium when the mayor "got acquainted" with the guests whom he welcomed on behalf of the "City That Faith Built."

"Baptists Have Nothing I Want—But Their Love," Norris Tells Audience

Postponing consideration of the "sudden cancellation" of the contract he had for the use of a local theater, the Rev. J. Frank Norris of Fort Worth poked jovial fun at the press in the course of his first address in Wichita Falls, given before a small aggregation Wednesday afternoon in Bellevue park. The address began before a scant crowd of about 50 people, which was gradually augmented to about 250 who braved a biting north breeze to stand and hear the words of the preacher.

The Rev. Norris, far from deploring the fact that he had no theater in which to preach, declared that "when that theater manager suddenly cancelled my contract for the use of his theater

Subjects which he will discuss in his address at Bellevue park at 1 o'clock this Thursday were announced Wednesday night by the Rev. J. Frank Norris. The Fort Worth pastor said he would give "inside information that has just been placed in my hands that will cause a mild earthquake" and would tell "how one of the first leaders of the Texas convention last spring tried to get the anti-evolution resolution of the Southern Baptist convention repealed." He also said he would read Dr. John R. Sampey's books advocating evolution, and would "give the name of the Waco pastor who begged Dr. Brooks to sign the evolution resolution."

yesterday afternoon, he only lent interest to a cause that is right," and affirmed that he would have, in the course of a week, a "place to preach in that would accommodate 10,000 people."

Invited to Tulsa.

Relative to an editorial published by a local newspaper recently, in which his appearance at the Oklahoma Baptist convention was commented upon, the pastor reaffirmed that he had been invited by three parties to attend, and stated, referring to the local newspaper, "that he had just been waiting for some paper to say something like that."

"They have already apologized half-way," he asserted, but I have written an apology for them, and if they don't print it, we'll take the matter to Fort Worth and have a good time out of it."

Swerving to the subject of recent assertions by Dr. George Green, Austin, Texas, delegate to the convention, that the Baptists would 'ignore' him, the Rev. Norris exclaimed, "Well, that's just what they weren't doing when Dr. Green made that statement." "As for

$3505 CUT IN CITY PAYROLL

Fifty Employes Affected By Wage Carving

City employes were shivering Wednesday but not so much from cold as wondering where the next cut on the payroll was going to strike. The roll has been cut $3,505 since Oct. 1 and more are coming according to the various commissioners. Fifty men have been included in this cut and about the only departments that have not suffered are police, fire, and tax collector.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd is determined to prevent any overdraft if possible and will keep the expenses at a minimum in order to do so. Some work that has been planned will be allowed to go over while in other departments only skeleton organizations will be kept.

W. E. McBroom, city clerk, in compiling figures on the matter, said that if city taxes are 90 per cent paid by Jan. 1, 1928 there will be but one overdraft left in the city government. This will be the street improvement fund and the street maintenance fund will absorb this in a comparatively short time.

3-HOUR DEBATE BRINGS VICTORY FOR SCHOOL

"Actions and Beliefs" Of Board and Faculty Are Upheld

NEFF IS RE-ELECTED

Waco Leader Again Made President; Wichita Pastor Honored

With but one dissenting vote, the Baptist convention of Texas in the first session of its annual meeting Wednesday evening passed a resolution taking its stand in support of Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university at Waco, and went on record further approving the actions and beliefs of the board of trustees of the institution, as well as the faculty.

The resolutions were prepared in a statement by L. R. Scarbrough president of Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth, and the Rev. R. E. Bell, pastor of the First Baptist church, Decatur, Texas, both of whom stated in the introduction that they had been prepared in opposition to a "bitter, persistent, and malacious attack by a certain well-known leadership in Texas on the causes, institutions, and leaders of Texas and Southern Baptists."

"These attacks," it was explained, "are timed especially to hinder the campaign for funds made by the cooperating forces of these causes." The name of the "certain leadership" was not mentioned by any of the proponents of the resolutions.

Former Gov. Pat M. Neff of Waco was unanimously chosen president for another year by the Texas General Baptist convention as the first business of the meeting. Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas was elected first vice-president; Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church of Wichita Falls, second vice-president, and the Rev. F. B. Thorn, pastor of the Columbus Street Baptist church of Waco, third vice-president.

Two recording secretaries were named. J. L. Truett of Whitewright was re-elected and D. B. South of San Antonio was named as his co-worker. Mr. Smith is secretary of Bexar County Baptist association. J. H. Pace of Beaumont was re-elected secretary of the corporation.

Welcomed by Shepherd.

Immediately following the call to order the secretary reported there were 1509 delegates and messengers from regular contributing and co-operating churches. This report was affirmed by a vote of the convention. Some one from the floor called attention that the convention might grow larger and the report should not be affirmed.

"No man knows what the convention will be 30 minutes from now," was the response from President Neff and brought a roar of laughter.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd welcomed the convention on behalf of the city and Dr. Powers on behalf of the members of the Baptist denomination in the city.

The resolution approving the Baylor administration, adopted after a three-hour debate, follows:

Pledge of Faith

"1. That this convention hereby expres its great, appreciation for the efficient, co-operative, orthodox, missionary, evangelistic scholarly work done by President Brooks and Baylor University for the cause of Christ and that we hereby express our full faith and confidence in their theological soundness, not only of Baylor University, but of our Southwestern Seminary, located in our state, and of all our other Baptist schools—and hereby state to our world that it is our purpose as far as it is within the limits of our ability as a

"Godless" Girl To Be Made In Texas Schools

AUSTIN, Nov. 16. (AP)—"The Godless Girl," newest projected moving picture of Cecil B. De Mille, will be filmed largely at the state boys and girls training schools at Gatesville and Gainesville, respectively, George Ellis, De Mille's technical director announced here today.

Ellis said the title or story of the picture had not been announced previously.

Governor Dan Moody probably will be used for "shots" in the picture, which Ellis claimed will cost more than the "Ten Commandments" and will be the "biggest ever made in the world." Close-ups of the capitol also will be taken.

Permission of the board of control to use the two institutions already has been obtained, he said.

"The drama will be intended for a warning to modern youth, particularly against atheism. It is the story of a girl who 'rebels' from an ultra-religious home. The reform school then will be used."

Man Slain in Fight Here, Identified As Former Convict at Granite, Okla.

The cloak of mystery which has surrounded the identity of the man who was killed in a gun battle with motorcycle officers early Sunday morning, lifted Wednesday when he was positively identified as John Keys, alias Clifton Wells, former convict in the Oklahoma state reformatory at Granite.

Identification of the dead man was announced by Sheriff W. G. Bralley, following receipt of information from officials of the Granite reformatory.

His mother, Mrs. Claude Keys, who lives at 1519 South Walker street, Oklahoma City, notified Sheriff Bralley, through Oklahoma City officers, that she was neither physically nor financially able to come here to claim the body of her son. The body will be held at the Merkle mortuary pending instructions from J. F. Cagle of Clarendon and Prof. J. A. Cagle of Greenville, said by officers to be uncles of the dead man.

Keys was sent to the Granite prison from Grant county, Oklahoma, according to information given Sheriff Bralley. He was discharged from the reformatory Nov. 2, 1925. The prison records show that at that time a brother, Jack Keys, lived in Los Angeles, Cal.

"The identification was made possible through finger prints and personal description," Sheriff Bralley said.

70 Gasoline Pumps Condemned Here As Measuring Short on Gasoline

More than 70 gasoline pumps in Wichita Falls have been condemned by O. A. Kirkland, inspector of weights and measures, for the state department of agriculture. He was assisted by J. L. Mears of the city health department to whom this work has been delegated. These pumps were found to be giving short measure. Mr. Kirkland said that many of them were soon put back in service by making changes he suggested.

"I probably will file no cases this trip," he said "as most of the filling station owners were ready to cooperate in seeing that their customers got full measure. However, if on my next trip they are not giving full measure cases will be filed.

"Many of the short measure pumps are what we call wet hose pumps. They are the ones where gasoline is kept in the hose at all times and the cutoff is on the nozzle. It is almost impossible to measure the liquid accurately when feeding the last gallon with these pumps. We made suggestions as to changes and they were readily accepted.

"My advice to motorists to see that they get full measure is if the pump is a visible one to see that the bowl is filled before any gasoline is run into the tank and to stand where he can see how much gallonage is given. On the old hand pumps most of them are accurate but if the attendant pumps them too slowly they will not give full measure."

Rain Torrents and Hail At Frederick

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 16.—Monday night's rain, which registered 1.20 inches in this city, according to the local weather observer, was just what was needed for farm operations. It will not only help the wheat which was planted during the fall but will also help in putting the soil in shape for future preparation and planting. It was accompanied by a hail but little or no damage is reported from that source.

During the rain the roof in the northeast corner of the Carnegie library leaked like a sieve, but fortunately Mrs. Bertie Robinson, librarian, removed the books before any of them were injured.

The rain fell in torrents for a few minutes and the storm sewers of Frederick were not able to carry it off quickly enough, the water standing several inches deep along the curb on Main street and other places.

Monday was one of the warmest November days that this locality has ever experienced but following the rain there was a decided drop in temperature, 32 being registered before morning, the coldest of the season. Extra bedding was in demand that night and heavier underwear was welcomed Tuesday morning.

This was the first rain to fall in several weeks.

First Services Held In New Walters Church

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Nov. 16.—Services were held for the first time in the new St. Luke's Catholic church here Sunday.

The building when fully completed is expected to be one of the most beautiful Catholic churches in southern Oklahoma. Contractor J. H. Jordan of Wichita Falls is busily engaged in finishing the interior woodwork in preparation for the dedication of the church by Bishop Kelly of Oklahoma City.

This is the second church building to be completed in Walters this year with another under construction. The First Baptist church recently completed a $35,000 edifice.

Clarendon Chamber of Commerce In Effort to Establish Landing Port

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Nov. 16.—The chamber of commerce of this city is taking under hand the problem of establishing a municipal air port for this city. The American Express company has set up an air express line from Denver to New Orleans by the way of Amarillo and thence down the Fort Worth and Denver road to Fort Worth. This route would throw the planes' course directly over this city.

Recognizing that sooner or later the express company will put on more stops and that the city with a properly marked and designated air-port will be given first consideration this city will be ready. Clarendon is already painted in letters large enough to be visible from the air on the top of a local building and will be put in other places soon with an arrow pointing in the direction of the landing field.

May Save Arm of Chillicothe Man Dragged 50 Yards In Roping Mule

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Nov. 16.—The condition of J. W. Kirk, farmer living near Chillicothe whose arm was injured Sunday when he was dragged along by a mule which he had roped, was improved Tuesday, Vernon physicians stated. His arm was almost torn from his body but hospital attendants today said that the arm probably will be saved.

Mr. Kirk received the injury on his farm five miles north of Chillicothe while roping a mule Sunday. His body was pulled about 50 yards on the ground and when he struck a post his arm was broken below the shoulder,, three fingers were torn and all the flesh was pulled from his hand. He is in a Vernon hospital.

IOWA PARK, Nov. 16.—The Iowa Park Methodist Sunday school is observing an enlarged children's week. Instead of only thel ower grades as has been the rule, the entire Sunday school is participating in the observance. One week will be spent by the teachers and officers in visiting all the homes represented in the Sunday school. The program culminates next Sunday with rally day for the entire school when an effort will be made to increase the attendance.

NO HURRY.

A writer was nearing the end of his most exciting story when his wife burst into the room wth the cry:

"Joe, the house is on fire! The firemen are pounding on the door!"

"That's all right, dear," he replied. "Just tell them I'll soon be finished."

Week's Park Golf Club Elects Year's Officers Wednesday

Mrs. J. C. Thompson was re-elected president of the Ladies Day Golf club at the Weeks Park club, at the election of officers which made up the major part of the business session of the regular Wednesday meeting.

Other officers elected included Mrs. Charles Green, vice-president; Mrs. G. C. Briggs, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. R. R. Fisk, reporter.

The association will sponsor a benefit bridge Wednesday afternoon, November 30, at the Womans Forum with reservations to be in the hands of the following committee not later than Monday, November 29: Mrs. Charles Keirsey, Mrs. Leo Wilmeth, Mrs. O. R. Jeffers and Mrs. W. E. Lindley.

In the games Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Wilmeth won high score and was presented a linen luncheon set. Mrs. H. L. Goldstucker won second high and was presented a lace vanity set.

Those present for luncheon and games were as follows: Mesdames Biggs, Thompson, S. K. Foster, Jeffers, Goldstucker, D. A. Lundien, Wilmeth, E. D. Steward, Charles Keirsey, W. C. Duncan, Bob Lipscomb, Charles Green, Lindley, Fisk, C. T. McLaughlin and H. Celeazer and S. C. Rochan, guests. Mrs. Fisk was hostess to the club Wednesday. Mrs. Lipscomb will be hostess at the meeting on next Wednesday.

Women's Association To Play For Trophy

Finals in the tournament to determine the winner of the permanent trophy cup will be played Thursday morning by members of the Women's Golf association at the Country club when games will be played at 9 o'clock morning. Luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock. Semi-finals were played off last Thursday morning.

Sam Houston P.-T. A. Meets Wednesday

The P.-T. A. of the Sam Houston school met in regular session Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the new auditorium of the Sam Houston school with 127 members in attendance.

The club was opened with the club prayer led by Mrs. Jimmie Mills. Mrs. Harry ten Brink was in charge of the business session which was held.

The following program was in charge of Miss Gladys McLeod; "America," sung by the club, with Mrs. C. Hutchinson accompanying on the piano; Thanksgiving play, presented by the high second grade, Miss Lucille Sandal's room; song "Massa's in the Cold, Cold Ground," by the high sixth grade, Miss Sarah Jones' room; a talk on "Juvenile Protection," by Mrs. C. Hutchinson.

In the room count for the most mothers present two prizes were awarded, for the first, second and third grades, Miss Sandal's room won the prize, and for the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, Miss Edith Denton's room was awarded the prize.

Plans were made for the formal opening of the new auditorium and cafeteria to take place the second week in December.

The miscellaneous shower, which was held in connection with the meeting, for the mother whose home was destroyed by fire was pronounced a success.

Susannah Wesley Class Has Quilting Party

The Susannah Wesley class of the Floral Heights Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Louise Bristol, Morningside drive, Tuesday afternoon when the meeting was transformed into an old fashioned quilting bee. The 32 members present made two quilts during the meeting.

In the business session, plans were made for a Christmas box and a Christmas party next month. It was voted to send 12 hens to the Old Ladies' Home in Dallas and to piece a quilt for the Boys' Home and Farm in Dallas.

A delicious dinner of chicken pie was served to the following: Mesdames P. B. Cox, B. M. Hathorn, O. L. Donaldson, W. H. Roper, B. P. Stone, R. S. England, R. A. Neal, D. J. Shaw, Charles Hurd, C. E. Business Women's Club To Sponsor Play

As a part of the dramatic season of Wichita Falls, the Business and Professional Women's club will bring to drama lovers of the city "The Three Wise Fools" to be presented at the Palace theater, Dec. 7.

The stock company is of New York personnel and is under the better plays movement, a national organization. Ticket sale will be announced later, it was made known at the regular weekly meeting of the club Tuesday night at the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Underwood gave several vocal and piano numbers at the meeting Tuesday.

Open house will be held Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the club house at Camp Noble for all members and their guests.

Original Story Is Program Feature At Writers' Luncheon

Mrs. W. H. Sanford, well known local short story writer, gave the entertainment program at the second of a series of luncheons to be sponsored by the writers' department of the Womans Forum Wednesday at the club house.

Mrs. Sanford read "Black Child" an original short story published last January in the American Mercury, which was enthusiastically received. Mrs. Sanford has a volume of short stores which are pending publication.

The dining room was lovely with fall flowers and the table appointments carried out the color scheme of autumn flowers and leaves.

Present were: Mesdames Sanford, H. F. Weldon, J. N. Sherrill, P. P. Langford, Wayne Sommerville, J. P. Bowen, G. M. Holt, W. L. Mulligan, E. B. Lehrack, Elmer C. DeMontel, E. T. Duff, John Prewett of Tennessee, John Fox, W. A. McGee, Anna Barker, I. R. Sheldon, Curtis Atkinson, Sam Krueger, Max Shain, C. C. Randle and J. Truman Stevens.

Jusfurfun Bridge Club Meets Tuesday Evening

The Jusfurfun Bridge club held its regular meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Earley, 1649 1-2 McGregor.

In the games high score was won by Mrs. Leon G. Butler while the men's prize was awarded to Pat Hardage. Mrs. George Carter received general low prize.

Refreshments were served to Misses Sybil Hayes, Mabel Cole, Rose Mabry, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Butler, Mr. Hardage, E. F. Noe and R. W. Peyton.

Miss Mabry, 609 1-2 Giddings, will be hostess at the next meeting in two weeks.

Expectant Mothers

Relieved of Much Unnecessary Suffering

Doctor's Discovery Praised

HOW to avoid suffering is one of the most important things in the world for you to know, right now, mother-to-be! Use the discovery of an eminent physician.

Mrs. John S. Herr, Manheim, Pa., writes: "Mother's Friend did wonders for me. I can almost say my baby was born without pain."

Tonight! Apply Mother's Friend to the abdomen, back and hips. It relieves tension and soothes the nerves.

Do this each night and you will be amazed how effectively Mother's Friend aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily during expectancy.

Start using tonight—the sooner the better and write for free booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" (sent in plain envelope). Mother's Friend is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

Southern Baptist W. M. U. President Honored at Dinner at Forum

Honoring Mrs. W. J. Cox, Memphis, Tenn., president of the Woman's Missionary Union auxiliary of the Southern Baptist convention, the officers of the W. M. U., now in conference, entertained with a beautiful dinner party at the Womans Forum building Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

The table, arranged in the shape of a "T," was decorated with red and white cut flowers arranged in bowls over the table, and a single line of flowers running through the center of the table, with red and white candles interspersed over the table.

Informal talks were made throughout the dinner which was held as a "get-acquainted" party.

Covers were laid at the table for the following guests: Mrs. Cox, guest of honor, Mesdames F. S. Davis, J. E. Leigh, W. D. Howell, Homer Fisher, Olivia Davis, Charles Sivells, B. A. Copass, E. L. Lauck, W. A. Wood, E. B. Atwood, J. R. Wolkewitz, J. W. Whitham, George H. Collins, D. A. Grundy, M. A. Hayden, T. W. Lanier, J. B. Moore, Willis Higginbotham, Homer McGregor, W. R. Covington, L. W. Williamson, F. S. Robertson and C. E. Earhart.

Readers' Club Meets Wednesday Morning

Mrs. Porter Oakes was hostess to the Readers' club when it met in regular session Wednesday morning at her home at 1612 Hays.

A play entitled "The Prince of Court Painters" by Mackay, was given as a number on the entertainment program of the morning with the following members in the cast: Mrs. Eugene Graham as George Rommey; Mrs. Dan Grieder as Mary Rommey; Little Miss May Anna Duncan as Lucy Eldridge, and "The Cloud," a reading by Mrs. Oakes.

Present were: Mesdames E. W. Wade, Claude Ruffner, J. E. Shipley, John B. Rhea, Harry Myers, W. A. Pagan, J. C. Harrell, J. S. Crumpler, Homer Karrenbrock, Graham, Grieder, Miss Dorothy Nolen and Mrs. W. C. Duncan and daughter, May Anna, guests.

Women To Organize A. A. U. W. Chapter

Women who are college or university graduates will meet at the Womans Forum at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon to organize a Wichita Falls chapter of the Association of University Women, with Mrs. Eleanor Pace in charge of the meeting.

Women who are graduates of schools not in the approved list are requested to attend the meeting and become associate members. Associate members are those who are graduates of institutions not in the list of approved colleges and women who have completed only two years of college or university work in a school of the A. A. U. W. approved list.

Mrs. Bleakley To Honor Dallas Delegates

Mrs. A. R. Bleakley will entertain Dallas delegates to the Baptist state convention at luncheon Thursday at the Womans Forumm.

Noted Speakers On Program For Baylor Banquet

The program for the dinner to be given by members of Baylor club which is made up of both graduates and former students of Baylor university, at 6 o'clock Thursday evening in the gold room of the Kemp hotel, has been arranged and includes names of well known Texas speakers. Ralph D. Pittman, president of the club, will be toastmaster.

The program follows:

Invocation, Dr. J. B. Tidwell.

Welcome address, Ralph D. Pittman.

"That Good Old Baylor Line," ensemble.

"Baylor Alumni," Dr. Samuel P. Brooks.

Song, Mrs. Phillip M. Cordell.

Address, Pat M. Neff.

Address, Dr. George W. Truett.

More than 100 local alumni and former students of Baylor university have made reservations for the dinner. A number of reservations have also been made by students from outlying towns and have not yet been listed.

Reservations will be open until noon Thursday, and those who desire reservations are requested to call Mr. Pittman at 7121, or Mrs. Paul Hines, at 2-4154, or at the Baylor club booth at the City Auditorium.

Officers of the Baylor club are: Ralph D. Pittman, president; Fred C. Barron, first vice president; Miss Pauline Shirley, second vice president, and Mrs. Paul Hines, secretary-treasurer.

Wednesday Study Club Holds Regular Meeting

Three chapters of "Evan Harrington" by George Meredith was the lesson for the continuation of the study of that novel by the Wednesday Study club when it met at the Womans Forum at 3 o'clock Wednesday. Mrs. C. W. Wallace, club study director, led the study hour, and conducted the round table discussion and questions which followed.

Mrs. James C. Berney gave an interesting discussion of the state convention of the Texas Women's Federated clubs which met in El Paso last week.

Present were Mesdames C. N. Alexander, Bert Bean, T. D. Durkin, B. L. Fain, L. W. Grayson, James C. Humphrey, Bernard Martin, G. T. Singleton, Wallace, Mason Wilson, Deane J. Wolff, J. J. Perkins, W. W. Silk and Hans Helland.

Visitors Welcome To "Set and Rest" At Y. W. Any Time

"Lady, could I find a place in here to set and rest a spell?" a voice from the doorway asked Mrs. Austin, of the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday morning.

As the secretary looked up and smiled a welcome, the elderly woman at the door glanced through into the door to the living room, and her gaze brightened. It was certainly a cheery sight—the morning sun pouring in at the big windows, big, comfortable chairs, a table covered with magazines—

"Come right in and make yourself at home," Mrs. Austin told her, "That's what that room is for—folks who want to 'rest a spell.' —Or, if you'd like, slip into that other room and lie down—the cots are clean and nice, and you can take a nap, if you want to."

"No ma'am," the elderly visitor assured her, "I'll just set. Daughter's got two more pair of shoes to buy, and I'm just tuckered out, trottin' around with them children! The lady at the store over there told me where to come."

"We get lots of folks who are 'tuckered out' one way or another," Mrs. Austin told a Record News reporter. "When it's just a physical rest, the need is easy to meet. That's why we put a good deal of thought and work on our rest room and club rooms. The rooms at the Y. W. are not just for club girls and Y members, but for any woman or girl in Wichita Falls, or traveling through, who wants to use them.

"Shoppers from the rural districts spending the day in town come up here and rest, and girls who make small salaries downtown and have to bring their lunches bring them here and eat them. We try to preserve an atmosphere of friendliness and homeliness that will welcome any woman or girl who finds her way here."

Junior Travel Club Holds Weekly Meeting

Edna St. Vincent Millay was the study topic of the Junior Travel club when it met Wednesday afternoon at the Womans Forum for its regular weekly meeting. Mrs. Thelbert Martin was the leader for the lesson.

The program was as follows: Roll call answered by member's favorite line of poetry; biographical study by Mrs. C. G. McCaleb and read by Mrs. Wayne Sommerville; poems by Miss Iva Willis and "The King's Henchman" by Mrs. Martin. Mrs. J. C. Berney gave an interesting account of the work of the state convention of Women's clubs held last week in El Paso.

Members present were Mesdames O. T. Alles, W. H. Caldwell, E. A. Deaton, E. T. Duff, J. J. Fennessey, D. G. Gray, Sam Holliday, G. C. Johnson, A. L. Lane, Martin, W. A. McCarty, J. A. McFall, W. J. Morgareidge, C. C. Myers, I. R. Sheldon, W. P. Smith, Sommerville, R. A. Walker, G. H. Watson, Berney, G. K. Wilson, O. W. Wilson, Horace Lankford, McCaleb, E. G. Thornton and Miss Willis.

Arrangements For Flower Show Nearing Completion

Those who are making contributions to the Womans Forum Flower Show and Carnival which is to be an event of Friday at the Fritz Motor company, are urged to be prompt with their donations.

Cards with full instruction have been mailed out and those who have no means of getting contributions or entries in the exhibits, to the Fritz Motor company, are to call the chairman of the particular department. Mrs. A. R. Bleakley is in charge. A complete program for the entertainment of the evening will be published in Friday morning's Record News.

Council of Jewish Women Meets Tuesday

The Council of Jewish Women observed the regular monthly meeting Tuesday afternoon in Temple Israel when 25 members were present. During the business session it was voted to send a delegate to the Jewish Chautauqua Society at Tulsa, Okla., during the convention there, November 25, 26 and 27.

Miss Grace Dawn Barker gave violin numbers taken from the sextet from Lucia and "Traumerei" accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. Barker.

A social meeting was held in the evening at the temple observing the regular monthly social session.

Christian Church Y. P. Class Enjoys Outing

The Young Peoples' Bible class of the Highland Heights Christian church went on a hay ride and wiener roast Tuesday evening, chaperoned by the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Henry Packard and J. H. Dickey. Fifty-four members of the class were present. The class went out to "Dead Man's Bridge," where firelight stories and toasting were the features of the evening's merry making.

Young Wichita Falls

Peggy Jo Pond likes to play with boys better than with girls—that trait, combined with a pair of mischievous brown eyes and pretty dark hair, may spell disaster in after years. But Peggy Jo isn't worried about any mischief she may play in after life, just now she is busy keeping up with Gerald Jr., her six-year-old brother, which means that she must spend a great part of her time out-of-doors.

What do you think of a little four-year-old girl who likes to play tomboy games and who is brim ful of mischief, yet who likes to go to Sunday school? You'd not know just what to expect, would you?

Peggy Jo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Pond, 1602 Monroe. Mrs. Pond was Miss Maggy May Pelz before her marriage, and was a well known Wichita Falls girl.

Mrs. McCarty Hostess Sorosis Club Wednesday

Mrs. Luke McCarty was hostess to the regular weekly meeting of the Sorosis club Wednesday afternoon when the subject discussed was "Lord Raingo" with the following numbers on the program: Roll call with responses on "My Opinion on Lord Raingo," review of the novel by Mrs. W. P. Lowry; "Bennett's Literary Importance," by Mrs. H. D. Prichard; "England During the War" and "The War Cabinet and War Politics" by Mrs. Stanley McGregor.

Present were Mesdames A. W. Burnside, M. H. Glover, Joe D. Harris, O. R. Haynie, R. E. Hilburn, L. W. Karrenbock, W. P. Lowry, McGregor, Prichard, Murke Taylor, W. E. Timblin and Walter Bachman.

Miss Mary E. Sutherland will lecture to the mothers of the Fannin school at 2:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon on the nutritive value of certain foods. This is not the regular meeting of the P.-T. A. of the school.

Had a Bad Cold But Accepted!

The theater that evening, though her nose was red and eyes were running! For six hours is enough to conquer almost any cold. Here's what to do:

Take a plain, pleasant-tasting tablet which the smallest drug store is never without. Pape's Cold Compound is what they call it. Harmless as it is, it will knock the worst cold—so quickly you'll think it was luck the first time.

A stubborn, chronic cold is broken-up the same way; it just takes a little longer.

Ladies' Class Opens At New Gym Here

The ladies' class of the Business and Professional Men's gymnasium which opened at 1605 Scott, Tuesday evening, reports a favorable beginning with 16 women reporting for the first day of training.

Volley ball proved to be of the greatest interest to the beginning class. Membership in the club is without charge for women and only a nominal charge is made for instruction.

PAT IN A FAIR LOVELY SKIN

How wonderful it is, this new skin beautifying method. Women just glory in the stimulation it immediately gives; the soothing effect to tender skin and the really astonishing results after a single application. But it is not possible without the new Cheruoff A & B Astringent Bleach. This remarkable product bleaches and tones and is face powder's most perfect foundation. Just pat it in once or twice a day. It means loveliness attained in almost a breath. Sold at leading toilet counters.

MRS. F. S. DAVIS OF DALLAS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF TEXAS W. M. U.

WOMEN HERE GIVEN HONORS

Election of New Officers Completes Work

The Wednesday afternoon session of the Woman's Missionary union of Texas, held in the auditorium of the First Baptist church, marked the election of Mrs. F. S. Davis of Dallas, president of the W. M. U. for 1928.

Other officers elected were: Mesdames J. E. Leigh of Dallas, corresponding secretary; W. D. Howell of McKinney, recording secretary; Homer Fisher, Dallas, assistant recording secretary; Olivia Davis, Dallas, treasurer. Vice presidents: Mesdames Charles Sivells, Brownwood; E. L. Lauch, Taylor; J. W. Whitman, Bowie; E. B. Atwood, Abilene; D. A. Grundy, Memphis; T. W. Lanier, El Paso; Willis Higginbotham, Stephenville; W. R. Covington, Texarkana; F. S. Robertson, San Benito; B. A. Copass, Seminary Hill; W. A. Wood, Waco; J. R. Walkewitz, Tyler; George H. Collins, Greenville; M. A. Hayden, San Antonio; J. B. Moore, Houston; Homer McGregor, Wichita Falls; L. A. Williamson, Plainview; C. E. Earhart, Port Arthur.

Executive committee: Mesdames Edgar Codbold, Brownwood; W. A. Pearce, Fort Worth; E. G. Townsend, Belton; J. M. Dawson, Waco; C. M. Caldwell, Abilene; Arthur Osgood, Amarillo; Sid Kyle, Pecos; E. H. Marik, Yoakum; James Hunt, Cross Plains; C. L. Anderson, Olney; A. F. Ramsey, Marshall; R. F. Ivey, Plainview; C. F. Hurlock, Houston; Theo Binford, Corpus Christi; T. E. Cannedy, Fort Arthur; H. L. Kokernot, San Antonio; Charles T. Whaley, Sweetwater; W. E. Ditto, McKinney; Bonnie Grimes, Nacogdoches; S. R. Cloud, Dallas; Charles F. McGinty, Dallas; Hal Buckner, Dallas; Marshall Craig, Dallas; George Truett, Dallas, and Misses Martha George Hooker, Dallas; Alma Wade, Baylor college; Cornelis Smith, Amarillo; Lelia Penick, Stamford; Margaret Butler, San Antonio, and Alma Lee Joiner, Wichita Falls. Methods and finance committee: Mesdames Wesley Norris, Dallas; Kenneth Foree, Dallas; W. C. Lattimore, Dallas.

Nominating Committee.

The nominations were submitted by the committee on nominations consisting of Mesdames Hans Busch, chairman; T. E. Cannedy, C. M. Caldwell, Fleet Lentz, W. H. Parsons, A. Baldwin, George Rogers, A. S. Love, A. F. Ramsey, W. C. Carson, Homer McGregor, E. L. Lauck, R. C. Fortner and Misses Amy Wade and Della A. Carroll.

The meeting of the afternoon was opened with a song, and Miss Blanche Groves, missionary to China, who is on her first furlough after six years of foreign service, led the devotionals.

Mrs. Hal Buckner of the Buckner's orphan home of Dallas gave a report on the orphanage telling briefly of the history of the institution and outlinging its development from a simple log house to the modern institution of today. Mrs. Buckner thanked the ladies for the boxes which have been sent and asked that only things in good condition and useable be sent to the home.

Dr. T. J. Watts, corresponding secretary of the Relief and Annuity board with headquarters in Dallas told the women that it was up to them to see that the great work of Dr. Lunsford was carried out in the support of this board.

Mrs. M. A. B. Fuller, secretary of the colored Baptist W. M. U., spoke for five minutes. A collection was made for her work amounting to $115.45. She pledged $200 to the Baylor dormitory fund from the negro conference of Baptist workers.

Other reports given and adopted included: Civic righteousness, Mrs. David B. Hill of Beeville; report of the apportionment committee, Mrs. J. E. Leigh of Dallas, committee on credentials reporting 706 delegates registered, and 325 visitors registered, making a total of 1055 in attendance.

Dr. J. M. Dawson, pastor of the Baptist church at Waco delivered an address on "The Master is Come and Calleth for Thee," in which he discussed this as the watchword of the women.

The session was closed with a benediction.

The Wednesday morning session opened at 9 o'clock with the hymn, "Take It to the Lord in Prayer" with Mrs. I. E. Reynolds of Fort Worth leading the singing accompanied on the organ by Mrs. F. R. Collard. Ten scripture verses on prayer were given by various individuals of the audience. "Jesus Paid it All" was sung by the audience followed by the devotional given by Mrs. H. L. Kokernot of San Antonio based on three verses from the scriptures. Prayers were given during the devotionals by Mesdames Spencer, Bain and Dr. J. M. Lowe, a missionary to China. Mrs. Davis, president, gave a prayer on the Ruby Anniversary, which was followed by the hymn "Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult."

The minutes covering a period of time from the opening meeting Monday morning to the Tuesday evening session, were read by the secretary, Mrs. W. D. Howell, and following some minor corrections were adopted.

Plan of Work.

The presentation of the plan of work for the year was made by the president, Mrs. Davis, in the form of leaflets containing the adopted plans distributed to the audience. The following fundamentals form the basis of the work for the year: Watchword, "The Master Is Come and Calleth for Thee," John 11:28; hymn, "Jesus Calls Us O'er the Tumult;" chief aims, prayer, individual and united, Bible study, mission study, soul winning, enlistment and training for service, organized personal service in his name and systematic and proportionate giving; moral standards, "We declare ourselves on the side of all the forces of righteousness; international and inter-racial justice; world peace; patriotism; law enforcement; Christian Americanization; universal education; Sabbath observance; sacredness of the home; the family altar; high standards for speech, dress and conduct; improved industrial conditions; child welfare, and public health."

"Rubies for Our King" were presented by Mrs. Y. M. Martin of Houston, and Mrs. J. W. Byars of Waco. Mrs. Martin gave a brief history of the union and told of the ruby as the symbol of sacrifice and the meaning of the ruby anniversary. Mrs. Martin told of the resolutions which were passed at the Louisville convention.

Mrs. Byars spoke of the prayer side of the movement and made a plea for more active work among the "shut-ins" and for prayer as a duty as well as a privilege.

Mrs. Leigh explained that the great campaigns of the year will follow the same lines that have always been used in previous campaigns.

$600,000 for Institutions.

A motion was made by Mrs. Davis that $600,000 be set as the financial goal for denominational institutions in the state of Texas, and the resolution was adopted.

Following the singing of the hymn "Our Union Is Marching On," by the audience, Mrs. T. W. Lanier of El Paso, president of the El Paso district, was introduced by Mrs. Davis.

Speaking on the subject of "Our Great Objectives," Mrs. Lanier gave a very forceful and highly colorful talk calling the women to task for the lack of cooperation in the work of their church and pointing out clearly how much more could be accomplished if the women would systematize, organize and cooperate for success as the men do in the business world.

WOMAN KILLS SNAKE

BELTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Mrs. Joe Chambers, 80 years old, killed a big rattle snake at her home here. The snake struck at her while she was gathering eggs.

LAYMAN HEADS BAPTIST GROUP

Conference Here Closed With Elections

al B. Y. P. U.'s in all counties or associations.

"3. That Baptist young people give their time and money to the promotion of our Baptist causes, institutions and organizations, and that in towns and communities where such organizations have been set up and where some of our B. Y. P. U.'s are now co-operating we suggest that for the good of the cause of Christ and the Baptist denomination that they withdraw from the non-denominational organization."

Introducing the resolutions to the conference, Mr. Garner, who has been at the head of the state B. Y. P. U. organization for the last twelve years, stressed the point that B. Y. P. U. organization and other such societies prospered more when they were confined to the Baptist denomination. "The people called Baptists have grown faster where their distinctive doctrines and practices have been faithfully, plainly and lovingly taught. Our distinctive doctrines can not be taught in an inter-denominational or a non-denominational organization.

Weak in Faith.

"Our Baptist people," he continued, "can not delegate to non-denominational agencies the task of educating and training their young people and in return expect to receive intelligent, loyal, Baptist church members. It is our observation that Baptists dwindle and die out where their distinctive doctrines and practices are neglected. The un-indoctrinated members are always weak in their faith, and often are a source of disturbance. We believe that the people called Baptists can do their best work in a regular Baptist organization."

The Rev. Harlan, J. Mathews of Mineral Wells led in the general discussion of the problems of the young people. He urged, in his address on "Fellowship," that pastors recognize the necessity of loving the younger members and of being to them a source of confidence.

"If we ignore, or neglect our privileges of being of assistance to those entrusted to our guidance, the resultant evils will be our most perilous problem," he asserted. The Rev. R. L. Brown, pastor of the Baptist church at A. & M. college and special worker among the boys of that institution, carried the idea further, stating that he "believed our greatest responsibilities are with those young people going through the colleges today."

Mr. Gardner, author of the resolutions, joined in the discussion for the second time, urging the early indoctrination of the youth of the churches.

The Rev. W. M. Wright, pastor of the First Baptist church at Paris, Texas, introduced another angle to the problem, that of the maintenance of close relationship between the pastor and the young people. "Too often have we found," he said, "that the pastor leaves the religious training of the youth up to the Sunday school teachers and the educational directors. I think that every pastor should be the most familiar figure in the assembly rooms of the Sunday school." The Rev. Wright indorsed the suggestion of early indoctrination sponsored by Mr. Gardner. Other phases of the question were discussed by the Rev. E. F. Lyon of Vernon and the Rev. Hill Edmunds of Anson, Texas.

Negro Leader Speaks.

One interesting phase of the discussion was reached when the view of the negro was expressed by the Rev. J. W. Bailey, colored Baptist minister from Dallas. "As go the Southern white Baptists," he affirmed, "so go the negro Baptists." He related the activity of the negro churches in Washington, D. C. with reference to organization of young peoples' unions. "All negroes there," he said, "belong to their respective B. Y. P. U.'s, and attend their annual conferences."

At the conclusion of the discussion, it was voted by the conference that the paper read at the morning session, on "Praying Through Denominational Problems," by A. A. Duncan, be submitted to the Baptist magazine for publication.

Through with the business of the conference, their discussions, and the election of officers, the session was brought to a close with the invocation by the retiring president, the Rev. Jefferson Davis, and the subsequent announcement of the opening hour of the convention Wednesday evening.

The conference Wednesday morning devoted its attention to further discussion of the topic, "Prayer," which had been introduced Tuesday evening with the address, "Lord, Teach Us to Pray," by Layton Maddox. The Rev. T. L. Holcomb led a prayer conference, which was the feature of the morning's session. After the conference had been led in singing by Robert Coleman, individual members were called on for prayers and the Bible lesson was read by the Rev. R. L. Powell of San Marcos.

Two papers were read before the assembly during this session, both dealing with problems of prayer, "Praying Through Denominational Problems," was read by H. A. Duncan, assistant general secretary of the state convention, and a paper entitled "Solving Church Problems by Prayer," was read by George Anderson, deacon of the First Baptist church at Abilene. Both papers attracted widespread comment, and it was decided in the course of the Wednesday's session that both be submitted to the Baptist Standard, denominational publication, for early release.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Evolution of Laughter

SHOWING how man has advanced in one way at least, centuries ago physical deformities were laughed at. A cripple was the butt of a joke. Nobody today laughs at a cripple. But it is interesting to note how we have clung to the idea. We laugh when a man falls down stairs in a show—or on the ice, for that matter, so long as he isn't seriously hurt. We laugh when a man is humiliated by the wind which blows off his hat. We still laugh at discomfiture. That is a step beyond laughing at natural infirmities. As man becomes more civilized he will not even laugh at temporary misfortune. The evolution of man's good nature is the evolution of his laughter.

What Have You?

LISTEN to these words of a business man, not a college professor. They are the words of S. W. Utley, president of the Detroit Steel Castings corporation: "The college man must realize that he has stepped into an unknown field that is ruled by complex forces which nevertheless are as strong, as enduring as those with which he is acquainted in physics and chemistry. He will succeed or fail as he attunes his efforts and his life to these forces and works with them. He must realize that society rewards the individual in proportion to the contribution he makes to it."

Trust Brains

BRITISH experts tell us that American oil will be exhausted in 30 or 40 years. Americans hearing that might be expected to stop using so much oil. They might be expected to walk instead of riding in their automobiles. But American faith in man's ingenuity is sublime. And that faith is well placed. When oil gives out scientists will have something else ready for us to take the place of it. Be sure of that.

Ahead of His Time

IT IS encouraging, here and there, to find a man ahead of his time. Coach Stagg, head of athletics in Chicago university, is one of those men. He takes a long look and a big look at sports. He has perspective—the thing few of us have. He knows that to develop manliness and character is greater than to win a game. He is trying to put a finer spirit into sport. He will not get far, but he will be a pioneer and he will have helped to start something. The day will come when we will think less of the professional aspects and see the true possibilities of sport.

It Can't Be Regulated

PROFESSOR A. J. TODD, scientist, says the ideal age for marriage is 25 for men and 22 for women. He has it all figured out that this is best for the race. Other scientists have figured it out before and will keep on calculating. Doubtless they are right. Reason is likely to be righter than instinct. But what are they going to do about it? Trouble is, few folk are really rational. It isn't quite natural to be logical. People will marry when they will, and that's all there is to that. Twenty-five or 22? Who cares?

Talk

"WOMEN talk too much." So says Sara De Forrest, president of the New York League of Professional and Business Women. They talk about getting equal salaries with men. They talk about mixing private affairs with public service. They worry about many things. President De Forrest says they ought to do more demanding and less talking. She should be more patient. Women have been in the business world but a few years. They have gone a long way. Perhaps talk has helped.

Collecting Dimes

DID you ever try dime-collecting? A year ago an Iowa woman started out to make ninety cents do a dollar's work. The other dime she put in a bank. The game appealed to her. It was easy. Her enthusiasm grew. At the end of the year she had saved 1800 dimes. That's a good game. And that's thrift.

Texas of Tomorrow

"I CAN say without qualification that Texas has the brightest future of any state in the union," declared Melvin A. Traynor, president of the First National bank of Chicago and former president of the American Bankers' association, after concluding a tour of the Lone Star state. Practical financiers are able to read the signs of the time.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON RASCOE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A friend has just come into my office with these two incidents of New York life:

"I was sitting in a combination bootblack shop and cigar stand getting my shoes shined when a ten-ton truck drew up to the curb. In strode a bruiser who must have weighed 250 pounds and he cowed the proprietor with a terrible glance. Then in a voice like the trumpets of Jericho he said, "Gimme a pack o' butts." The frightened proprietor asked meekly what kind he wanted. 'Pell Mells,' he answered, just like that, with the 'e' instead of the 'a.' You could have knocked me over with a crow-bar."

My friend paused for breath and continued:

"Later that night I was walking along the street in West Fortieth and I spied a pair of well-oiled youths holding to a lamp-post for support, while they conducted what was no doubt a conversation of a deeply philosophical nature. An expensive sport car came hurtling down the block and shot into a small parking space, and as it did so, nearly took off the fender of a dilapidated Lizzie that was parked alongside of the place where the two stews were standing. The portly fellow in the touring car got out of his car wrathfully and asked: 'Who belongs to this car?' 'It's mine,' answered one of the souses, 'but you can have it,' and the two staggered away."

One of New York's many eccentrics is the elderly lady who frequently goes to the Grand Central station to have a good cry when the Century pulls out for Chicago. She lived for many years in Chicago and detests New York; but she is forced by circumstances to live here. She likes to tell trainmen and porters and anyone who will listen that "the only good thing about New York is the train leaving for Chicago."

A great many New Yorkers send all their bootleg liquor to a chemist for analysis before drinking any of it. Now there has appeared on the market a small outfit of chemicals and a test tube, whereby the layman can make his own tests of the liquor he buys.

A New York daily recently paid an enormous price for the exclusive story of a trans-Atlantic flier. The reporter who really wrote the story has never been in an airplane.

The New Yorker reports that one of its staff found a policeman sticking closely to the new Soldiers' monument in Central park. When the policeman was asked why he stood there, the policeman said that all newly-erected statues are guarded night and day for a month or so, "until people get used to them."

It is not the ordinary citizen who is likely to harm the new statue, it seems, but the art students. Students go wherever any work of art is placed on public view and often, in their temperamental way, they express disapproval of it by putting placards on it, chalking it up, or exploding firecrackers on it. But after a month, those who are coming have come, and the police are safe in leaving the masterpiece unguarded.

MODISH MITZI — Mitzi Prepares For Cold Weather — By JAY V. JAY

What's the matter with the furnace man? Does he think he is heating the equator? The mercury in the thermometer doesn't look as though it were stopping at 100. Mitzi is explaining that the house isn't too warm. Not a bit—just comfortable.

Well, it may be for Mitzi because she is wearing a georgette negligee with ostrich trimming. Also she's been trying on new lingerie all day. If the north winds do blow—why, Mitzi doesn't know it.

"Cunning," says Polly about the short, oh, very short bloomers, with Alencon lace incrustations. No shirrings or gathers around the waist either so that they fit snugly under the tightest swathed hip line.

Another diaphanous garment—nothing but lace and georgette has a yoke with a scalloped top. Polly is lost in true admiration but to Dad it is nothing less than absurd. She's got warmer underwear—why doesn't she wear it? That stuff is meant for the Fiji islands—not winter.

HATTIE

A STORY OF LOVE AND SACRIFICE

By SAMUEL MERWIN

HATTIE JOHNSON, Just 17, works in the mailing room of a printing and book-binding establishment. A former fellow employe

LUCILLE OVERMAN, takes her to the Earthwide Picture studio, where she is seen by

ARMAND DE BRISSAC, famous director. He makes a screen test of Hattie and takes her to California with him to make a picture. With her go

GRANDMA, old and lame, and

ALICE, Hattie's married sister, and her baby, all dependent on Hattie. Hattie becomes engaged to

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. De Brissac makes love to her and wants her to go with him for a vacation on his yacht, but she refuses. She leaves his company and works at another studio, but is not successful away from De Brissac. Lucille advises her to go back to him. Alice's husband

ARTHUR, who had deserted her comes back, making another for Hattie to support. The De Brissac picture is a success and he offers Hattie a new contract at a much higher salary. She wants to give up pictures and be married and keep house for Henry, and when she finds he has no idea of this she breaks her engagement and goes back to De Brissac. It is decided that Hattie and the director will go to New York and make personal appearances together, at the showing of their latest picture. Then

JULIAN DEMPSER, a young magazine writer, comes to interview her.

CHAPTER THIRTY-FIVE

"It isn't really hard," she said. His alert mind seemed to clear here, though her voice was lighter and huskier than before. Indeed it was hard to speak distinctly. "Maybe there is art in acting for the screen. I mean when you see the things that Charlie Chaplin does and —oh, Nazimova and some of the others. Of course you have to learn how to walk and not try to do too much with your face and all . . . " She could talk right out to him . . . "but I guess most of it is in photographing well. And that's an accident, isn't it? Oh, you learn how to make up. But the real work is in building the story, I think—writing and directing and cutting."

"In a sense . . . in a sense . . . " he was nodding thoughtfully. "Of course it's true that a dog or a baby can be just as effective on the screen as any so-called artist. Yes, that's true. But that isn't all the truth." He moved nearer, and all in that warm glow, helpless in it, she moved along on the window seat to make room for him and laughed a little when he had to disentangle her heel from the hem of her skirt. And then when he had dropped down beside her and rested his arm on the sill nearly behind her shoulders, she sat rather stiffly erect because she wanted to lean back against it. She had never felt like this with Henry, and with De Brissac there had always been fear and that unhappy furtive feeling. With a start she realized that he was talking on and she wasn't hearing him . . . "No, I can't quite explain it. It's by no means so simple as you say. Conscious artistry is, after all, only a method of handling a talent. The talent is the important thing. And that you certainly have! You stir and move people. You actually made me cry. And no matter if you do turn out to be just a little girl who is almost too modest for her own good I can't go back of that fact. Not very many people have made me cry."

Her eyes sought the floor. They were filling up. She'd be crying in a moment. She wanted him to take her right up in his arms. But that was rather awful. Of course he couldn't do any such thing, and she couldn't let him. She must get hold of herself.

The silence grew and grew until it became an atmosphere in which all her senses were confusedly afloat. Her little efforts to speak amounted to nothing. She stared at the wall and then at the things on the table and then down at her foot. Once she couldn't resist stealing a troubled glance at him; he was gazing out of the window. She felt her body yielding toward his and again, with a sense of something near horror at the thought that she could so lose her sense of propriety, drew in a quick breath and sat up stiffly.

He caught his breath, too, and sprang up. She started, then sank back against the window sill. Most of the men she knew would have seized minutes back on the opportunity to pot her. She had been handled a good deal in the course of making three big pictures. It came to seem natural enough. Kisses, even, became commonplace. But he was wonderful! . . . A gentleman! He mustn't know she had grown like that.

"I'm imposing on you dreadfully," he said. "I know you're tired."

She said in a barely audible voice—

"I'm not tired."

"But I must see you again. Shall you be at the hotel dance tonight?" I'm looking forward to that. Everyone says these Thursday night dances are a great feature of movie life. You'll be there, won't you? And would it be very, very presumptuous of me to ask for a few dances?"

"Yes," she said, "I'll be there."

"We really must talk a little more. I don't mind confessing that you've got me completely baffled. This article about you isn't going to be so easy to write as I supposed. It's a study. And I've only a few days more here."

"I'll be there," she said again, more firmly.

He found a bright radiance in her eyes when she rose and gave him her hand. For a moment he almost stared at her. It was the look she sometimes had in her pictures, at great moments.

He stammered something; turned, tripping a little on a rug and laughing about that in a boyishly embarrassed way, and then was gone.

She stood without moving. But when she heard him running down the front steps and off along the walk she pressed the hand he had held to her lips and let the warm color come.

Arthur liked to dress up and go over to the Thursday night dances. He felt that it kept him in touch with the important people. For everybody went, all the stars and the ambitious little extras and the visiting British authors—everybody. Alice had said that she liked to have him get out a little, he worked so hard.

He was surprised when Hattie asked him if she might go along. He studied her quietly girlish face but found no answer there. Never once before in the year and a half had she gone. He and Alice had supposed she didn't like dancing, they didn't know that she had been slavishly keeping her promise to De Brissac. He thought, naturally, of that young writing man, and decided to keep an eye out. Hattie mustn't marry. Not yet awhile, certainly. She was much too young. For her own good she must be sheltered from the attractive young men. Queer if it should prove that he'd brought in a lot of new trouble himself, brought it right in the front door. De Brissac, of course, could hold her down. There was the whole family's sheet anchor to windward.

She was two hours in dressing for it. Hedwig brought down word that she didn't care for dinner, and then took a tray up to her. She wore, finally, a little blue frock that set off charmingly her delicate face and cornsilk hair, with blue satin slippers and blue stockings. She put on very little makeup.

Miss Wilson stopped by at 7 o'clock and left a note in De Brissac's familiar hand. Hattie tossed it on the bureau, and didn't open it until she was fully dressed. Hedwig had left her alone.

"Look in at the studio about nine," it said, "and bring your railway tickets. It has been decided to open first in San Francisco Monday night. You needn't go up there if you don't want to, though it would help if you will. But I shan't be back here before Wednesday, and have changed my reservation to Thursday. This will bring us into New York on Monday, still in time for the opening there. It's important that you bring the tickets tonight, so I can have them changed tho first thing in the morning. Don't forget."

She read it through again, slowly; then burned it in the wash basin and then carefully scrubbed

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy, who can be addressed in care of this paper.

FOOD PRESERVATION.

One of the chief difficulties of the primitive man was his lack of knowledge of ways and means for the preservation of food. Even in the Babylonian days it is apparent that the people at that time had not learned how to preserve flesh foods against decay, and were therefore forced to eat such food as meat, fowl, and fish within a day or two after killing.

The primitive man learned to dry herbs and roots to keep them sound against decay and conserve them for the time when they were not plentiful, but it seems that only the North American Indian understood the art of drying meats. He cut the meat into thin strips and dried them in the sun. This preserved the meat for weeks and even months, and supplied the tribe with flesh food during the winter and when game was scarce.

I was surprised recently when visiting small Mexican towns quite close to the United States border that the butchers do not have any way of preserving meat except to hang it in screened enclosures to keep out the flies. The customer is limited in his selection, as usually only one kind of meat is available until the whole carcass of the animal is sold. Of course, the meat gets pretty ripe in a few days.

The greatest advance in food preservation came when a Frenchman named Tellier invented the first cold storage process in the year 1876, when he shipped a load of steer meat from South America to England. The French were so doubtful of the success of refrigeration that they would not allow the meat to land in France, and so Tellier sold the meat in England and probably started the English on their roast beef habits.

It is only a little over fifty years since this revolutionary refrigeration method was tried, and its application has completely changed our dietetic habits.

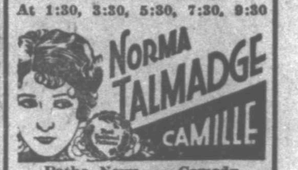

While meats are, undoubtedly, one of our most nutritious foods, great care had to be exercised in their use prior to this time because of the putrefactive processes which so easily set in.

Now, when meats are properly refrigerated there is little change in the nutritive qualities and practically no decomposition for over many years.

Again, man's ingenuity has triumphed over nature, and the plentiful use of ice when needed has broadened the scope of our dietetic horizon.

FAT AS A PROTECTOR

By DR. REED

A Proved Shield Against Infection in Tuberculosis

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.,
Former President of the Americ Medical Association.

IF you happen to be fat enough to be just plump—that is to say, normally fat, you will almost surely have encountered some anti-fatist who has advised you to "reduce, reduce."

DR. CHAS. A. L. REED

You will, likewise, have been advised against eating fats. This advice will have been given you without a single thought, one way or another, as to its possible influence upon your health and especially upon your power to resist infection.

It is now recognized that fat, up to the individual's normal limit, is a shield against infections, especially tubercular infection. Some very wholesome views along this line have been expressed by W. G. Valle, of the Royal College of Surgeons, of England (London Lancet).

A family made up of fat-eaters and fat-shy, says Valle, are like a batch of patients who are about to have a vaccine treatment. It is easily shown in such a group that fat is in some way very helpful, if not essential to the formation of anti-fat bodies. The fat-shy, with their low resistance, must be very cautiously dealt with. They cannot tolerate a very small initial dose and carefully increased subsequent doses. Inhaling a very few bacilli at first, they can deal only very slowly and gradually with an increasing number.

With the fat-eater, however, liberties can be taken. His higher resistance allows him to take a bigger initial dose with safety and to be much more careless about the subsequent doses. For instance, he can inhale, with impunity, a comparatively large dose of tubercle bacilli and increase the number rapidly without coming to harm. Doses which would be fatal to the fat-shy are positively beneficial to him, for they help him to build up an ever-increasing resistance. He can stand anything in the way of infection but a series of overwhelming doses to start with. Valle has tested this theory on marriage, first to a person already infectious, and second to a healthy person who afterward developed pulmonary tuberculosis.

He found that of thirty-four fat eaters in this position only one became infected, while of six fat-shy persons four developed the disease. The rules for prevention are therefore obvious. Everyone can eat fat, and it makes no difference whether it is eaten from choice or by persuasion.

In illustration of this principle Valle gives striking examples as follows: In each of three families the father was dying of pulmonary tuberculosis. The people were very poor and the mother tried to persuade her children to eat fat for economy's sake. The result depended on her firmness, and not at all on a natural taste for fat. In the first family the children hid the fat under their plates or in their pockets and all became infected, while the mother, who ate their leavings, escaped. In the second family the mother ate fat herself and persuaded four out of her five children to do the same, though none of them liked it. The only fat avoider, a boy of thirteen, caught the infection. In the third family the mother was very firm and sensible. Most of the children heartily disliked fat, but they did as they were told, and six years after the father's death the mother and five children were all well. In a fourth family also, in which the father died of tuberculosis, the mother accidentally hit on the idea of feeding the whole family on suet pudding because it was cheap and nourishing, made it their staple food. She and her nine children all escaped.

These are strikingly suggestive examples of the resistance power derived from normal fat in the system, with its normal standard maintained by a normal fat content of the diet. The lesson is very obvious.

Tomorrow: Mental Dissociation.

"THE LOVE SEAT"

DRAWN BY NELL BRINKLEY

TAKE the calm, contended room to parallel a peaceful, happy life.

A girl, curious about Romance, all agog at the love-story on the screen and in the scarlet-backed book, it is true—but unacquainted with either and taken with giggles and a carnation blush that is half amusement when their names are mentioned in relation with hers. The golden glow of a Chinese-bowled lamp. A hushed room. Not a sound but the Autumn-gilded leaves tapping at the window behind her back. The night only—blue—mysterious—a stranger—looking in; so darkly blue that when an artist ventures to make it that same velvety ultramarine, profoundly deep, the world says it's lovely, but of course it "couldn't be true"! And a LOVE-SEAT. She sits in an old love-seat—so called because it was once just wide enough for a gallant in satin and lace and tied, powdered hair to sit in beside the lady of his dreams AND her billowy, flower-petal skirts. Just too wide for just a man and girl. But just right for a man and a maid—and a dress!

A happy girl-life unruffled by love's pain and bliss. A quiet, lovely room unstirred by ghosts. Up to now. And an antique love-seat!

And suddenly—for no matter how long you've thought about him HE always comes "suddenly"—her book clatters to the floor; framed in the dark blue window squares something looks in. Radiant against the night—winged, wild-eyed, luring and frightening, beautiful, a faint gleam of gold-dust in his hair, a look of another world. Love himself, EROS, has found her.

A happy girl—happy no longer—and oh, paradox! happier than ever, too. A quiet room, quiet no longer—but rustling with the lilac and citron taffetas of a lovely ghost in her ancient corner of the Love-seat. A lovely ghost whom Love once found in this same, mulberry and gold, uncut velvet seat! Delicate as a china shepherdess, with tiny round wrists and dove's bosom, piled golden hair lightly dusted with powder, and little green satin shoes, buckled and bowed with rubies and lilac ribbon, crossed demurely—she looks out of bright understanding eyes, the eyes of a girl long gone with the dust of the roses that bloomed in some garden in France ages ago, at another girl whose dress is so different, but whose heart is the same. Tight taffeta or loose crepe, it is only the covering of the girlish breast that is unlike.

And LOVE—EROS, the undying; look at him. He is the very same! The lovely ghost of the love-seat looks at him with pleasure—for he is the identical, glorious lad who once looked in another window at herself, long ago.

NELL BRINKLEY.

No Wonder Girls Drive Mothers To Worry

Dear Dorothy Dix.—A young girl of 19, who is very beautiful and has had a very indulgent mother and father, is on the verge of marrying a boy of 20 who has had one attack of tuberculosis and is threatened with another. He has no money and is not able ot work and support a wife. The girl's family are themselves in poor circumstances and feel that it would be impossible for them to help their daughter to any great extent. The mother has pleaded with her daughter not to make this unwise match, but the daughter's reply is, "It is none of your affair." What can this heart-broken mother do?

MISS LOU.

Answer: Probably nothing, for evidently the girl is so besotted in her infatuation for the young man that she is deaf to all reason. She will not listen even to the warnings that her own common sense must cry out to her from time to time, for no girl of 19 is now so ignorant as not to know the danger of contagion, and that she takes her life in her hands when she marries a man afflicted with T. B.

I do not wonder that the mother is desperate at the thought of her daughter wrecking her life in its very beginning by making a marriage that is bound to bring disaster upon her, and I often think it is a pity that there is not in every community some sort of a padded cell in which love-crazed boys and girls could be incarcerated until their temporary madness is over.

For this sort of love does pass, and if this girl marries the sick boy, who cannot even support himself, much less her, in six months she will be tired of him and bitterly repent her bargain. It seems to her now that love is enough, but when she is hungry and shabby and lacks the money for even the decencies of life, she will find that she is thinking more of her stomach and her back than she is of her heart, and that it takes something else besides sentiment to make marriage a success.

She thinks it would be lovely and romantic to nurse a sick husband, but she would find out that nursing is a job in which there is a lot of repulsive drudgery and no romance, and that there is nothing alluring about a peevish, fretful, nervous invalid. It takes more patience, more strength of character, a higher sense of duty than any young girl has to enable her to make cheerfully the sacrifices that are the lot of the wife of a sick man.

Young people who marry in opposition to their parents' wishes cry out, "It is my own affair." If this were true, and they alone were concerned in the outcome of the marriage, they would have a right to do as they pleased.

But this is not true. When children make an unfortunate marriage their parents also have to bear the burden of their mistakes, and pay the price of their folly. The parents must suffer, not only in their children's unhappiness, but they must suffer financially and materially, for fathers and mothers cannot let their children starve so long as they have a crust to divide with them.

So if Mary marries a trifling man who can't support her, or a brute with whom she cannot live, she and the children come back on poor old father and mother, who have to divide with her the pittance they have saved up for their old age.

Which is something selfish, headstrong girls should think about when they are about to marry against their parents' wishes.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix.—Is there any test for "puppy love"? How long can it last? Do you think a girl really cares for a fellow if she has soon him every day for two years and still enjoys his company?

HIGH SCHOOL.

Answer: The test of "puppy love" is time. If it lasts two years, it is the genuine thing.

Sometimes a girl and boy love that begins in their childhood never changes, but grows with their growth, and strengthens with their strength, and endures as long as they live. But this does not happen very often. Generally a school girl and boy love is just a passing fancy that they outgrow, and therefore it is well to apply the acid test of time to it before you take it too seriously.

If you have seen a boy every day for two years and still enjoy being with him, I should think that you might fairly conclude that you have one of the most pronounced symptoms of love. It shows that he has the ability to interest you, and that you find him congenial, and these are most important points in his favor. It is easy enough to imagine yourself in love with an absent person, but if you can see one every day for two years without yawning in his face, or having him get on your nerves, it is because you are genuinely fond of him.

Folly's Daughter -:- A Thrilling Mystery of New York Night Life

By Ann Lisle

Viv Questions Beppo

ON the morning when Jill packed her belongings and took them to Tony Savelli's apartment, Vivian Scarlett asked her husband to take her to lunch at Beppo's.

"I've let you persuade me that the Italian she left the Xavier with was a lover. But it might have been Beppo," she said curtly.

"You'll always hate me if it is, won't you?" Roy asked.

"I've got to love you whether I like it or not," Viv answered.

ANN LISLE

Roy looked at her shrewdly. He was a little man trying to make himself and the rest of the world believe that he was a Napoleon of advertising. But suddenly he knew that he could never fool himself again about one thing—and that was the quality of Viv's love and perceptions.

"You'd hate me if you could—eh?" he asked bitterly. "You can forgive me for philandering, but you can't forget."

"I could forgive you for being weak," Viv said coldly, "if you wouldn't try so hard to make everybody pay tribute to your strength. But I've got worse things to forgive myself. I'm not very violent in my admiration of the way I've acted about Jill. I've been a frightful coward and a bit of a rotter."

"I say, Viv, couldn't you overlook a few things in yourself and show yourself a little mercy?" Roy asked with sudden understanding and a smile that illuminated his words. "If you weren't quite so hard on yourself, you wouldn't be nearly so hard on me. After all, we've got to live with ourselves—"

"And each other," Viv said grimly. "No getting away from that. It's the darn attraction of opposites."

"I like it," Roy said with a boyish grin. And he seized her in his arms and held her close. "I like having you. I'm going to make you—feel pleasanter about loving me again some day. But today we'll go on a still hunt for Jill. And I've a hunch that by noon she will be driving home with you in your limousine."

He was wrong, though, for when they got to Beppo's there was no sign of the tall, slim girl, with her pointed cap of bronze hair and her long, amber eyes, that were so like Viv's narrow, Oriental eyes. Instead of the beautiful, scornful, young cigarette girl, who had called herself Carmen and had been resourceful enough to spill the contents of her tray to distract attention when Bonnie Claire heckled Viv, there was a fat woman who grinned sociably as she made change and let you help yourself to the cigarettes arranged on a counter at the side of her cashier's cage. It was Conchetta. She was wondering, with a mixture of concern and annoyance why Jill didn't come down. She was waiting for a bell in business to go up to Jill's room and see where the usually reliable Jill was tarrying.

"She's not here," Viv protested when the first course of Beppo's famous luncheon was over and there was no sign of Jill. "But Beppo might know something. Call him."

Roy beckoned. Beppo came.

"My wife is interested in the cigarette girl who used to be here," Roy said ingratiatingly.

Beppo spread his hands and smiled.

"She notta here," he said suavely.

"But she left the Xavier with you, didn't she?" Viv demanded suddenly.

Beppo searched her eyes for a moment. Then he said with quiet dignity: "Why you now aska? Why you not aska anyting firsta time you see Jill here last Springa?"

"I was afraid," Viv said simply. "I didn't want to be dragged into anything. I am Nathaniel Heath's older daughter, you know. I was away at school when it all happened. I ran away after—it was all public. I think I had hoped that Folly's daughter was not alive. When I came in here and saw her, I thought I had a right to pretend I didn't know her. But she—liked me from the first. I might have saved her a lot. I'd like to help her now."

"You love Jill?" Beppo asked sternly.

"Yes. I love my sister. I want to take her into my home."

"You be kind to her—if it happen thata you finda her?" Beppo asked of Roy like a judge demanding promise of good behavior from a criminal.

Roy nodded. "The best I know how."

"I go upa stair and calla her," Beppo said simply.

But in a brief time he was down again. "She notta there. She packa. So go away," he said. His lips were gray. "Beppo notta makea Jill happy. Beppo lova Signora Folly. He wanta that her leetla bambina shall be happy."

Conchetta waddled over to them. Her face was beaming. She began talking to Beppo in excited Italian. After a moment he turned to Viv and Roy.

"My wife say Tony Savelli lova Jill. She say he coma ev'night and makea the love to Jill. She say Tony take Jill to the priest."

"That lets us out then," Roy said grimly. "Jove! Viv I'm sorry."

"There's nothing we can do," Vivian agreed. "I've no right to begrudge her happiness when she finds it. But I wish it had been Mac Shannon!"

When Manners Are Correct

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Monogrammed Paper

DEAR A. BEECKMAN,

I have paper monogrammed like this in gray and lavender. Is the monogram correct for my initials?

2. Are lavender and green permissible to an intimate friend?

3. Why are two spoons (tea and table) put at a dessert dish?

4. Should one thank one's escort when arriving home? I think she has shown her pleasure and enjoyment in her manner.

R.

YES, the monogram is correct. And, too, there is the form in which the last initial is made the long middle initial.

2. Yes, though as a matter of fact, unless you can have your monogram engraved on your letter paper, it is really better taste to use your paper plain. There are certain definite places for using engraving, and in these places nothing else will do. For instance wedding announcements and invitations must be engraved; they simply must not be printed. It is vastly better not to have and—to write the invitations, than it is to have them printed. The same thing is true of visiting cards. It is better not to have any than to have printed ones.

Your letter paper itself is very good, albeit the figure watered in it is a bit overdone. Why not have your monogram engraved on your paper?

3. I have no idea. What was the dessert? I should be interested in knowing. Are you sure that the dessert spoon was not intended for the dessert, and the other spoon perhaps for coffee?

4. Why, even if she has, should she be niggardly about expressing her "thank you"? The well-bred person is very generous with thank you's, very liberal in indicating her or his appreciation, and very careful never to omit the spiritual thanks for a material gift. I can't approve of girls of being so "snooty" that they think their presence is thank-you enough. If her presence is so precious, it will be more charmingly so with a gracious expression of her appreciation of courtesy.

Fashion Fads and Fancies

Apple-Blossom Time in Paris seems to be the Fall and Winter season, for boutonnieres of pink and white apple blossoms are the latest rage on day-time clothes. Tucked in among the blossoms and realistic foliage is to be found tiny reddish green apple.

Striped as a Zebra are the new fancy felt hats, whose outer surface is hand painted in the finest pencil line markings, simulating a zebra's hide. The inner surface is solid tone, thus showing an effective contrast when the brim is cut and turned.

Favoring Furless Collars many of the velvet evening coats of the current season have huge shirred or ruffled collars of self fabric. Corded, curved yokes are another interesting feature of these wraps that stress elegant simplicity.

Our Rhyming OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis.

If you can see the world aright,
Its charity, its mirth, you'll find
It far more glad, more bright, than
Is your thought of earth. If you can glimpse the boundless good stored up in countless hearts, your trials, long misunderstood, will lose their stings, their smarts. If you can only learn to know how brave your brothers are, you will not fear all winds that blow nor fret that joy seems far. Oh, turn your vision up and out, away from self always! Look on the world that lies about with eager, seeking gaze,
And in the end you can not fail to catch the message there: how hope's bright banners must prevail, how life grows still more fair!
If you can see your loss or gain as not too great, too small, be glad,
for so you can attain some measure for earth's all

Household Hints

Chamois leather gloves will not lose their color when washed if water in which orange rind has soaked overnight is used.

An excellent substitute for eggs is half a pint of warm milk mixed with a tablespoonful of golden syrup.

Soda dissolved in the blue water when washing clothes will prevent any blue stain remaining on the garments.

Coyotes Getting Into Best Of Trim For Stiff Trial Saturday Against Plainview

Ed Hughes' Column

PUGILISTIC PERFORMERS, STATUTE INSISTS, MUST HOLD NO MONEYED INTEREST.

By ED HUGHES.

Big business in ringland made one of its boldest deals recently when the astonishing announcement came that Jack Dempsey had become one of the largest and most influential stockholders in the Madison Square Garden. Tex Rickard, it appeared, prevailed upon the Manassa Mauler to purchase $150,000 worth of Knuckles Preferred, the same giving Dempsey considerable to say in the activities of boxing's powerful trust. Technically, Dempsey's action violates a state boxing law which decrees that no performing boxer may have financial interests in a boxing club.

More important than this, however, is the flagrant violation of what little ethics still flourish in the mitt game. Even before Dempsey's purchase of the Garden stock there was something of a widespread suspicion that Tex Rickard was the real manager of Dempsey. It will be remembered that it was Tex who appointed Leo Flynn, formerly his mattchmaker "without play" (despite the fact that Leo's fighters performed with regularity on the old Garden cards.)

Dempsey, Build-Up for Tunney, Made No Wink.

Tex's interest in Dempsey took many turns of discussion, not the least interesting being the manner in which Dempsey was successfully "built-up" for the Tunney fight. Tex couldn't see a Sharkey-Tunney fight, but he was desperately anxious that Dempsey should be the one to "come through," to defeat Sharkey and draw the tremendous gate in Chicago.

It worked out that way, and some skeptical folk winked slyly and remarked that in some mysterious way Tex's plans never failed to materialize.

What do you suppose they will say, now that Dempsey has openly allied himself with Rickard and the Garden?

Sande Latest Sport Hero to Feel Bricks of Mob.

This is the age of iconoclasm in sports, as well as in other pursuits —the age of idol-smashing. It is a good sign, too, this king-crashing, provided it has something more to it than the mere desire to dethrone the monarchs of the established order.

The latest of the sport heroes to feel the bricks of the mob is Earle Sande, for the past decade the lone untarnished Knight of the Pigskin, the one jockey at whosep erformances there has never been aimed the poisoned arrows of suspicion. Sande's Heel of Achilles, however, was not shady meetings with touts or go-betweens under the grandstand, but the too-strong desire to win at all costs.

Thus, eveni n his demise, the great Sande can not be said to have gone the way of the Black Sox and the Buddy Ensors.

Sande Greatest Since Days of Murphy and Sloan.

Sande, the greatest race-rider since the days of Isaac Murphy and, more recently, of Tod Sloan, has tasted of official censure in Maryland because, it is alleged, he interferred with Reigh Count while aboard the Man o' War filly Bateau in the Pimlico Futurity lately. The officials of the Maryland Racing Commission, at the instance of Patrol Judge Doyle, listened favorable to the plaint of Chick Langg that Sande had hindered the victorious process of Reigh Count, a heavy favorite, by such primitive means as cutting across the field and almost pushing the Hertz colt through the fence.

Sande has been suspended indefinitely and he awaits a hearing by the Commission at his own request, claiming that Lang was to blame for the jam and that Chick himself was guilty of clutching at Earle's breeches in an effort to impede his progress.

Not the First Time Sande Has Been On Pan.

To tell the truth, this is not the first time that Sande, undisputed leader of present-day riders, has been on the pan (of his fellow-jockeys, at least) for rough-riding. And the peculiar part of Earle's record in this respect is that his alleged fouling has usually been charged in races of importance, as in a recent race at Pimlico, which had an added value of $40,000.

But Sande's would-be accusers have always been reticent about coming forward with complaints, charging that it was useless to buck the great Earle and his multi-millionaire owners. "Sande's connections," has always been the plaint, "are too powerful to fight."

Sande Fouled At Least Three Times in New York Season.

At last, after a long record of rumblings and innuendoes during the New York season, with at least three instances of fouls which were at least fairly visible to the Man in the Grandstand, Earle Sande has taken one on the chin from officialdom. And while the race-player has always felt, and rightly so, that with Sande in the saddle he is sure of getting a run for his money (for whatever else they say of the great rider, honestly is his fetish), it is a good thing for a sport which has been in the shadow for years for its kingpin to be taken to task at the behest of his fellow-performers.

A Sande Incident That Shouldn't Be Forgotten.

It may be less majesty, but it is at the same time a healthy sign that even an Earle Sande has to knuckle under to authority. And, lest we be too harsh on the wonderful boy from Idaho, let it not be forgotten that a few years ago at Saratoga he nearly lost his career, and even his life, trying to save an obscure boy in a jam started by another rider.

PACK DISPLAYS ADDED SPEED

Two More Days to Prime For Conference Test

The Wichita Falls Coyotes have two more days in which to prime themselves for the Plainview high school clash here Saturday afternoon. With only two days of actual practice available after that before the Amarillo game the team will have to drill for both teams in a very short time.

Wednesday afternoon the Coyotes dashed through a few sprints, worked on a pass defense, dummy scrimmage and defense on Plainview and Amarillo formations. This was the program for the day.

With the air holding a chill, the team snapped briskly into the work and the players looked like they were in the best of trim. Barring any accidents in the next two days of work the Coyotes will go on the field against Plainview with every man in good condition.

Chick Chewning, who was out of the Quanah game last week appears in good condition and should be ready to step over the field Saturday. It is still somewhat doubtful about the starting of Parsons Allred in the game.

Perkins May Start

Duncan Perkins, punter, is looking right now as the starter in the place of Allred in the Coyote backfield. Otherwise the combination of Black, Captain Mitchell and Mills stands untouched.

The Coyote line will be somewhat shifted up for this game. Chick Chewning and Pete Powell, regular ends look like sure starters in the game. Ross Saye and M. A. Smith will start at tackles. Howard "Hefty" Scott and Eggleston Ramey at guards. Barton will be back at his post as center.

This looks like the starting line-up. The official lineup will not be announced by Coach Bud McCallum until game time and only probable picks can be made.

Good Reserve Power

The Coyotes will have about the best reserve strength since the beginning of this year for the game.

John Wieler, Dick Hambrick, Frank Williams, Maurice Lee, James Harvey and Olan Dickey are all ready to step into the game at any stage.

For the line the Pack will have Bill Habern, Ed Bell, Jack Leggett, Martin Hodgkiss, Gabbert Stephens, Filmore Meredith and several other tried men to place into the battle.

In spite of the present appearance of strength in the Coyote team, the Pack will have to hustle to beat the Plainview eleven. That Plainview has a powerful offense can be seen in the fact that they have been the only team to put the ball over the Amarillo goal line.

Black Shows Form

The Quanah game brought out many things that have been pleasing to the Coyote fans. For the first time this year Harvey Black opened up with his end runs that made him famous at Archer City high school, and he gained almost at will with them behind some perfect interference.

Captain Mitchell showed up in his old time form for the first real time this year while Kenneth Mills played far above the average. Dick Hambrick and Frank Williams made the sideliners sit up and take notice of their power.

Cage Captain Not Slouch With Ball

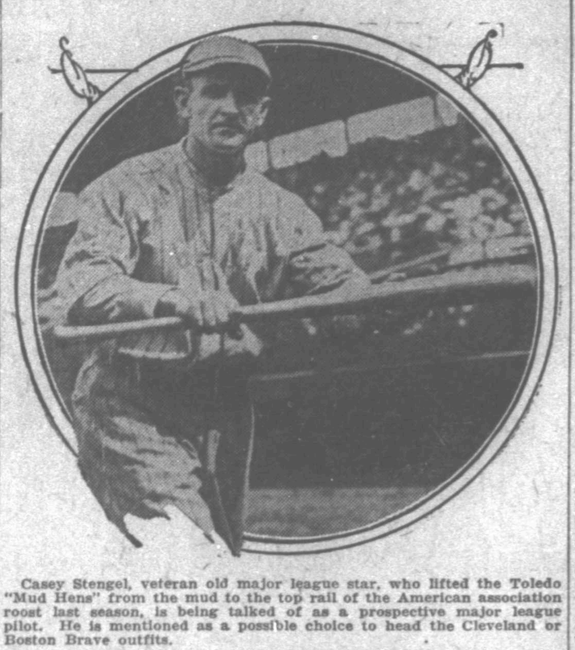

Kenneth Mills, captain-elect of the Wichita Falls high school basketball team, who last year led the Red and Black to a crushing victory over the other teams in this district and to the district championship, took his first unofficial shot Wednesday with the oval at the basket. It resulted in a ball that bounded twice along the rim, but refused to go through for the two pointer.

Mills dropped into the gym for a moment before going out on the football field which now claims his spare time and there he found Frank Bains, Joe Bailey Howard and Lillard Jackson along with a few more youngsters busy with the basketball. These men apparently want to get the jump on the other Coyote candidates before the official call for basketball men.

Mills took his shot from the side of the court and after the ball had bounded twice on the rim and fallen off he commented that it looked like a good year.

"If I hit the basket while weighted down with football togs, I should be able to make plenty of goals when I get into basketball harness."

May Land in Big League Roost

Casey Stengel, veteran old major league star, who lifted the Toledo "Mud Hens" from the mud to the top rail of the American association roost last season, is being talked of as a prospective major league pilot. He is mentioned as a possible choice to head the Cleveland or Boston Brave outfits.

Georgia's Crackers Have Real Claim on National Grid Crown

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The task of finding an outstanding football eleven at the close of the present turbulent season promises to be more difficult than the discovery of the proverbial needle in its haystack. A powerful enough magnet might draw the thread of steel from its hiding place in the hay, but an astounding series of upsets have apparently scrambled the football records beyond hope.

Not so many weeks ago, Notre Dame, Princeton, Pittsburgh, California, Michigan, Georgia and Dartmouth were moving serenely toward the goal of grid greatness with perfect record flags flying. The possibility of all surviving without tie or defeat seemed promising also, as they did not meet one another on the football field of battle. Knute Rockne, with successive victories over Navy, Indiana and Georgia Tech, was thought to have built another Notre Dame wonder team, one that might rank with his immortal "Four Horsemen" outfit of 1924.

Two Weeks Change.

Then presto! Mournful undergraduates throughout the land were chanting a dirge the general theme of which might be interpreted as "what a world of difference one or two Saturday afternoons do make?"

Georgia alone from among the scores of the fine looking football elevens that swarmed out so confidently upon the country's gridirons to the bugle of the season's opening whistle, remains undefeated and untied.

While there has been a general tendency to eliminate Georgia with its "thousand halfbacks" from national mythical championship possibilities because of a schedule which so far has brought the Crackers against none too impressive opposition, the Dixie team certainly has its claims.

Scores Are Impressive.

All of its games, with the exception of the great victory over Yale's blue giants, have been won by impressive scores, three of them, those with Virginia, Furman and Clemson finding Georgia with 32 points in each stance.

Then that early season conquest of Yale, which has subsequently proven one of the country's greatest, can't be laughed off. Should Georgia survive the tests with Alabama and Georgia Tech which remain, she can make as good a claim as any to championship honors.

Lions May Find Hollis Tough Job

Vernon Has Stiff Test Scheduled Friday

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Nov. 16.—Coach Baggett's Vernon Lions are in good shape for Friday's encounter with the powerful Hollis, Okla., eleven to be played on the local gridiron. The game, which was originally scheduled as a practice affair of the Lions pending the Thanksgiving Day contest with the Lubbock high school Westerners may prove to be far more than that, according to dope on Hollis which has reached this camp.

Hollis, the records will show, defeated Altus high school's eleven last week by a score of 19 to 13. This shows that Hollis has considerable punch as Altus is ranked as one of the strong teams of western Oklahoma.

As Hollis is not a conference team, the result of the Vernon contest will have no bearing on the Lions' standing in the state interscholastic league race. Vernon is now in possession of third place in District No. 1 with three victories and two defeats.

TOUGH ON CAPTAIN.

Roy E. Randall, 28, captain and backfield star of the Brown varsity eleven this fall, is undergoing what few captains would care to have forced on their shoulders. The Brown "Iron Man" eleven of last year made a remarkable showing, but this year's team has lost game after game, and Randall has much of the responsibility forced on him by thoughtless criticism and ridicule.

Zundy, Fighting Hard, Holds Iowa Park To Narrow Margin of 12-6 Win

Showing marked improvement over their previous meeting when the Iowa Park Hawks won 19 to 0, the Zundelowitz Junior high school team succeeded in holding the Hawks to a 12 to 6 score at Iowa Park Wednesday afternoon. For a time it looked like the Zundies might wipe out the earlier season defeat but their punch failed at the last minute.

The Zundies scored first in the first quarter after a brilliant drive down field, Bill Clarke, Zundy left half, going over for the touchdown. A few minutes later however, the Hawks got over for a touchdown, tieing the score. Neither team succeeded in kicking goal, the first half ending six-all.

In the third quarter, the Hawks opened a drive which Zundy was unable to stem and Iowa Park scored a second touchdown, again failing to make the extra point.

Fighting hard in the fourth quarter, Zundy drove the ball to the Hawks' six-yard line but the game ended without additional scoring.

The line-ups:

Iowa Park: Cheeves and Chrestman, ends; Fitzgerald and Copeland, tackles; Cowart and Sunday, guards; Kildow, center; Penn, quarterback; Sherwood and Counts, halfbacks; Taylor, fullback.

Zundelowitz: Ed Clarke and Campbell, ends; T. Saye and Howell, tackles; Bartosh and Daniels, guards; Allen, center; Ray, quarterback; Hicks and Clayton, halfbacks; Barrett, fullback.

SANDIES THINK THEY'RE KINGS

Sandstorm Fans Looking To Bi-District Test

Up in Amarillo, followers of the Golden Sandstorm's progress in the race for gridiron honors entertain little doubt that the Sandies will emerge champions of district No. 1, state interscholastic league, despite the fact that the Wichita Falls Coyotes, also undefeated in the district race so far this season are yet to be played on Thanksgiving day.

Ray Parr, sports editor of the Amarillo Daily News, is the voice which utters this optimism, in a review of West Texas football published by his newspaper.

Sandies Optimistic.

Says Mr. Parr:

"If Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm wins the district championship, which practically every follower of the team predicts they will, this team will find the toughest kind of opposition facing them in the next game, which will be for the bi-district championship with the winner in district No. 2.

"It will be either Abilene or Cisco against the winner of this district, and Abilene is touted to win in its section of the country. Both Cisco and Abilene have powerful offenses. The Eagles boast the most powerful they have had in years. In last week's game against Breckenridge, the Eagles made 68 scrimmage plays for an average of eight and one-half yards, and their forward passes averaged a little over five yards. Cisco, while having the lightest team it has had in several seasons, also has one of the most powerful offensive teams in the Oil Belt district.

Game in This District.

"The game for the championship of districts one and two will be played on the home grounds of the district one winner. If the Sandies should win, theirs will be a fight for revenge for the recent year defeats handed them by both Cisco and Abilene in grid games, and the Eagles walked off with the game, utterly humiliating Amarillo, by piling up a tremendous score. Cisco did the same thing in 1925 when the Sandies, champions of district one, invaded their stamping ground, to be turned back by the overwhelming score of 70 to 0. One year Abilene beat Amarillo, the score was in the thirties and the next it was in the forties.

The coach and members of the Abilene Eagles have issued forth the statement that the Breckenridge Buckaroos were the best team they faced this year, yet Breckenridge was beaten, 32 to 7, and was outplayed in every department. According to the Abilene sports editor, Breckenridge played its best offensive game of the season last week against the Eagles. Figures showed this.

"Cisco has also been playing around with other teams in this district and the 22 to 0 licking which Ranger took last week is a fair example of their strength.

Abilene Strong.

"As stated before, it looks like Abilene will win the district two championship and Amarillo ans are backing the Sandies to win the title in this district. If the two teams meet, the dope will, in all probability, be in favor of the Eagles. Theirs is a team of high school veterans and comparatively heavy compared to the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm. It is an even toss up between Amarillo and Wichita Falls, as to who will carry off the honors in this section.

"This week-end Abilene plays San Angelo and Cisco meets Eastland.

First Deer of Season Bagged at Kerrville

KERRVILLE, Nov. 16. (AP)—The first deer of the season to be killed in the surrounding territory was brought into Kerrville this morning shortly after sunrise by W. G. Ward, one of more than 100 non-residents who applied for hunting licenses here yesterday to avail themselves of the deer season which opened today. Ideal hunting weather prevails and deer and turkey are plentiful.

Indians Put On Their War Paint

Ludgate's Tribe About Set For Wesley Game

By MACK (ICHABOD) TURNER

Snapping into their practice, with the touch of real winter weather Wednesday afternoon to speed them, the Wichita Falls Junior College football machine presented a much heftier appearance. The team bearing down in the last few days of practice has worked itself into a keen edge for the battle Friday afternoon at Spudder Park with the Wesley college eleven.

The team went through a stiff practice session and worked on punts, both offensively and defensively. The players were getting down well on the punts and very few returns could be made by the defense. Paul Enloe loomed up as a good man on the safety role when he turned out to be the only man that could return the pigskin with any regularity.

R. D. Ewing, fire-topped end, was getting down the field fast on the punts and cutting down the safety. Both Jot Hodges and Hutcheson were placed on this elusive young man, but they failed to hold him.

Starters Undetermined

Just who will start the game for the Indians will be decided later. Right now a probable starter looms up like this:

Ewing and Scoggins, ends; Edmondson and Sammons, tackles; Ray and Tarkington, guards; Adkins, center; Rayzor, quarterback; Enloe and Hodges, halves; Moore, fullback.

The heavy work for the Indians through the line will rest on Dempsey Moore, plunging fullback. Moore was the man that carried the tribe to victory over the Cordell Christian college some time ago for their only victory over any other school team. With Eversole out of the game, Moore will have to carry the brunt of the line plunging.

On the broad shoulders of Big Boy Sammons will fall the main work in the line. Sammons has looked great all year and he packs the driving power of a good tackle.

Sammons will have the backing of Ox Edmondson, Hunky Ray, Ernest Tarkington and the other Indian lineman which should give the Redskins a line that will deal plenty of trouble to the invaders.

Enloe As Passer

Should the Indians at any time be forced to fall back on a passing game they will have Paul Enloe to do the tossing. Enloe has been making a great showing in this department of the game all year and will have such pass receivers as Red Ewing, Jimmy Rayzor and Baxter Scoggins at whom to aim his heaves.

In the way of reserve strength for the game, Coaches Ludgate and Mosley have Lefty Watson, Hutcheson, McKinney, Clark, Boyd and others.

Clark is more than able to step into the post at center while little Jimmy Boyd can take his place at guard. McKinney ranks high as an end in this section of the country having made a great showing under Coach McCallum while with the Coyotes. Lefty Watson is a good triple threat man. He can carry the ball, punt and pass. The latter two are both done in southpaw style.

Good Broken Field Runner

Watson is also one of the best broken field runners on the team. He is shifty and knows how to pick his holes. He also boasts of stiff arm defense.

The Tribe will be all set and ready to go when they step on the field Friday afternoon with Wesley and the fans should have a close and hard game in store for them.

State Attorney Only Candidate For Mayor

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 16. (AP)—District Attorney C. M. Chambers today officially filed his name as a candidate for mayor in the special election to be held here December 3. So fan Chambers is the only candidate in the field for the position left vacant by the death of John W. Tobin. Tobin's old political organization is expected to favor Chambers.

STEEDS STACK SCORING MARK

34-Point Win in Bear Game Is Record

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, Nov. 16.—When the Mustangs of Southern Methodist university ran up thirty-four points on the Baylor Bears Saturday they registered the largest score that either team had ever made against the other in eleven years of playing.

Last year the Mustangs scored thirty-one points which was three points more than the highest scoring ever done by Baylor. In 1921 the Bears made four touchdowns against S. M. U. to win the Southwest Conference Championship.

The Bears were easy meat for the Mustangs but a much harder battle faces them in Fort Worth Thanksgiving when they tangle with the Horned Frogs of T. C. U. The Frogs have always played sensational ball against the Mustangs, holding them last year to a one point win when the dope had the Mustangs a heavy favorite.

The next ten days will be spent by Coach Morrison in developing plays which he hopes will penetrate the Frog defense, the defense that stopped Joel Hunt and the Aggies dead in their tracks to say nothing of the Longhorn backs. It will be a great offensive team against a strong defensive team, and a battle from the first to the last whistle.

The game at Fort Worth will see the passing of Gerald Mann, the finest quarter ever in the southwest. Along with him will go Dog Dawson, Spud Tatum and Buddy Craig. If fight can put it over, the passing combination of Mann and Dawson will not be stopped as these two performers are determined to give the best performance of their career as they make their last appearance.

NELSON HANDBALL CHAMP.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—For the sixth year in a row, L. J. Nelson of the Kimrock Athletic club is the handball champion of this city. He won the title again yesterday by defeating his clubmate, Ralph Thorsen, 21 to 10 and 21 to 8, at the Illinois Athletic club. Thirty-four players from 15 clubs took part in the tourney.

Tragedy Almost Ends Jack Dempsey's Career As Elevator Controls Go Wild

AND—

A Column of Et Ceteras in Sport

BY VON

No wonder Gene Tunney couldn't knock him out. Here goes Jack Dempsey and falls 10 stories down an elevator shaft at Newark, N. J., and all he does is blanch a little under his coat of tan, according to an Associated Press story from that city. The elevator in which Jack was riding got out of control and landed at the bottom of the shaft with enough thump to bounce back up to the first floor where Dempsey and 19 other passengers were safely discharged. Tex Rickard was another one of the score who took the 10-story parachute drop without even an umbrella to slow the fall. What a story for newspaper extras it would have been had the outcome of the accident been death for the whole bunch. It makes cold sweat come copiously. No such ride for us. That's one time we wouldn't say thanks for the buggy transportation.

They're certainly getting cocky up in Amarillo, headquarters for the Golden Sandstorm which so far has been breezing through all competition in the District No. 1 gridiron race. Folks are beginning to talk about the Sandies meeting Abilene or Cisco, whichever wins the title to District No. 2. Perhaps they've forgotten the Coyote pack, whose howl so far hasn't been exactly a whisper when it comes to checking up victories over district race rivals.

Electra's Tigers will try its fangs against the gritty power of the Panhandle Sandstorm Friday when the Wichita county eleven journeys to Amarillo. Golden Sandstorm fans look on this contest as easy pickings. The Sandies ought to win, of course, but bigger dents have been knocked in the dope bucket before. Nobody around here is ready to wager any important currency on the Tigers but hope springs eternal someone once ventured from a soap box.

Next week is the big one in Texas football circles. In practically all districts the winners in the high school race will be decided. The Texas Longhorns-Texas Aggies game will decide the Southwest conference race for the Farmers if they win, while the Mustangs will have no mean claim to the bunting if the Kyle Field guards are routed. Provided of course that the T. C. U. Horned Frogs do not stampede the Mustang herd. Then things would be in a real snarl, which we shall not attempt to untangle ahead of time. It'll be enough of a job to gather up the broken pieces of the dope jug afterwards.

RITTICISMS By Bill Ritt

Football surprises are so numerous these days that it's an upset when a favorite wins.

"Don't shoot until you see the whites of their eyes," is a good slogan for soldiers, all right. But what if the enemy wears smoked glasses?

A Brooklyn man says the government owes him $18,000,000. Must be just another income tax mistake.

Within 15 years, says a professor, men will be wearing rouge on their faces. Some men wear it now, but it's second hand.

Fine feathers make poor bill payers.

Entire vaudeville circuit sold for $30,000,000. The newspaper didn't say how much was deducted for the bum jokes.

Newfoundland folk find a ball in the Atlantic ocean, and now folks are worrying which one of Babe Ruth's homers it is.

KING OF RING FACES DEATH

Tex Rickard and Others Also Get Thrill

By Universal Service.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 16.—Tragedy nearly ended the suit today of Jack Kearns against Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, when safety devices on an elevator in the chamber of commerce building worked just in time to prevent Dempsey and Tex Rickard being crashed to probable death.

The former champion and promoter boarded the car as court adjourned for the noon recess in the building. At the ninth floor it slipped. Down past seven floors it dropped like a shot. Then safety catches gripped and the speed slackened. The car struck the bottom with a bump, but aside from a shaking up the occupants were uninjured.

Dempsey Goes Pale.

Dempsey and Rickard emerged from the elevator whitefaced. Fellow passengers declared it looked as though the car was going to crash, but that the speed slackened considerably before it hit bottom.

When is a contract not a contract is the question twelve Jerseyites, picked as jurymen, will be called upon to decide in the Kearns' suit to recover $333,333.33 from Dempsey.

But the jurymen, including a piano mover, a bookkeeper, a painter, a clerk and a gas station operator, did not get far in their solution of the problem that has set "Cauliflower Alley" by the ears. Judge William N. Runyon granted an adjournment until tomorrow when Arthur F. Driscoll, one of Dempsey's legal array, pleaded illness.

The twelve did, however, hear a lot about contracts in the statements of opposing counsel. They heard, too, much about the quarrel now reaching its climax.

Jury Hears About Tex.

And they heard about George L. Rickard, "Tex," and his dealings with the former champ.

Dempsey entered the arena—beg pardon, courtroom—wearing a red necktie.

Kearns, accompanied by Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, sat far removed from his one-time protege. The now arch enemies never so much as gave one another the eye.

Rickard, seemed filled with regret, but not over the court proceedings, his mournful glance over the scant dozen rows of benches spoke volumes anent "gate."

"They should have staged this at Madison Square Garden," he sighed.

It took but a short time to impanel the jury. Few challenges were used and these were by Dempsey's lawyers. One former boxer and a hotel man who had once seconded a fighter were excused.

Kearns Seeks $333,333.33.

Arthur N. Sager, one of Kearns' trio of legal advisers, said the former manager would prove his right to one-third of all money made by Dempsey under a contract beginning August 3, 1923 and expiring August 3, 1926, a sum totalling $333,333.33.

Driscoll declared Dempsey would base his defense on two outstanding features: that there was never any intention by Kearns and Dempsey to make a binding contract and that a complete settlement had been effected between the two in July, 1925.

Playing 'em Over

With the Dixie Champions

Right on the heels of dropping their first road series to the San Antonio Bears, the Spudders moved into Waco on May 21 and took a 10 to 9 licking in 10 innings, the Waco Cubs moving into second place as a result of trimming the league leaders.

The score by innings of the contest were:

Spudders	.	.	.	203	000	202	0	—	9
Cubs	.	.	.	.	.	.	100	600	110	1	—10

It was that fourth inning stand by Waco, good for six runs, with Payne and then White in the box, that spilled the Spudders' oil can even though the locals later in the game took the lead again, only to lose by one run in the tenth stanza. Fitzgerald poled out three home runs and a single for the Spuds in the game but that wasn't enough. Jenkins got a homer and two singles, but that wasn't enough. On the other hand, West got two singles and Vigare a home run for Waco and that was a plenty along with 16 singles collected by Del Pratt and company. West incidentally had a perfect day at bat with four hits in four stabs.

It was a tough contest for the Spudders to lose, but sundown found them still four games ahead in the league standing according to the figures published on that day.

The next day, the Spudders met Waco again, the contest going to ten innings—but more of that later.

Longhorns Hold Edge in Total Games Won Over Aggies 21 to 9 Out of 33

Special to The Record News.

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 16.—When the Texas Aggies and Longhorns clash in their annual Thanksgiving game on Kyle field this year, the Longhorns will have the edge on their old rivals in the 33 games in which these two teams have met since 1894.

The Longhorns have come out at the long end of the score in 21 games while the Aggies have won only nine. The other three games resulted in scoreless ties.

In the ten games played since 1917, the year in which Coach D. X. Bible became head coach at A. & M., the results do not favor the Longhorns so decidedly, for they have won five of the games to the Aggies four, the one remaining having resulted in a tie.

Aggies Show Gain.

The Longhorns' aggregate score for the 33 games is 416 to the Aggies 176. Since 1917 the Aggies have piled up a total score of 64 to the Longhorns 48.

Since Coach Bible has had the Aggies under his care they have won four conference championships, in 1917, 1919, 1921 and 1925. If the Aggies win from the Steers on Thanksgiving Day they will win another championship and give Bible an average of five out of a possible ten championships, a record seldom excelled.

Although Bible became head coach at A. & M. in 1917 he is in his tenth year as head coach this year. He was not at A. & M. in 1918, being at that time in the Air Corps of the army during the World war.

Scores of Past Years.

Scores of previous Longhorn-Aggie games were as follows:

Georgetown Ranks High Among Scoring Elevens

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The Georgetown university football team is now working in preparation for the eighth game on the schedule which will be with Boston college on Saturday at Boston. That will be the first meeting of the teams in five years and is the renewal of an old rivalry.

The Georgetown team ranks first among the leading scorers in the country, with 292 points chalked up so far.

Horned Frogs To Seek Vengeance

S. M. U. Mustangs to Face Determined Team

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16.—With their records marred by two defeats, the T. C. U. Horned Frogs Monday began preparation to take out all of their accumulated vengeance here Thanksgiving Day on the heads of the S. M. U. Mustangs, the final game of the season for both elevens.

Part of that accumulated vengeance harks back to Thanksgiving Day last year when the Ponies downed the Frogs by one point in the game that cinched the conference title for the Dallas team. That victory for the Mustangs put the Dallasites two games in the lead in the record of five games played in the past six years between the Purple and the Blue.

Their first clash of any consequence was in 1921 when the Frogs humbled the Methodists, 13 to 6. The meeting in 1923 resulted in a scoreless tie but in 1923 the Ponies evened things up with a bang when they trampled the Frogs, 40 to 0. The Methodists jumped into the lead in the then established Pony-Frog combats with a 6 to 0 victory in 1924.

They did not meet in 1925 due to the way in which the Southwest Conference schedule worked out. Then came the great battle of 1926 when the teams met as undefeated elevens. The Frogs had the Ponies beaten, 13 to 6, until the last few minutes of play when a long pass, Mann to Dawson, scored for the Blue. Cortemeglia kicked goal to win the game.

Practically the same team will represent S. M. U. in this year's game but it will be a much changed Frog line-up. Twelve of last year's Frogs are absent.

WARNER TO GO EAST?

Eastern reports are circulating in which Glenn S. Warner is being mentioned to coach West Virginia University. Warner is coaching Stanford University at present. The report is said to have been learned from a member of the W. V. U. athletic board.

GENE WILLING TO CALL TEX

Champion Told Contract Not Exclusive

By Universal Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—If Tex Rickard desires to wager $200,000 on the exclusiveness of his contract with Gene Tunney, he need not look far for competition. The heavyweight champion is willing to take some of it.

After a conference with his attorneys, Tunney emerged with his face wreathed in smiles. He was told, he said, that he had not been talking out of turn in his statements that he would fight for others besides Rickard next year.

According to Rickard, Tunney's attorney called up Tunney and told him he was "talking like a child." According to Tunney here is what really happened today:

"My attorney informed me that I was entirely within by rights in everything that I have said. I reiterate what I have said before—that I will fight twice, possibly three times, in 1928. I reiterate that only one of those bouts will be under Rickard's management.

"I have no quarrel with Rickard, except when he attempts to dictate my professional career."

NORWICH CANCELS GAME.

NORTHFIELD, Vt., Nov. 16.—Cancellation of the two remaining football games on the Norwich University schedule as a result of last week's flood was announced yesterday by the athletic authorities. Norwich was scheduled to play the Massachusetts Aggies at Amherst on Saturday, and also had a postponed game with Middlebury, which was to have been played the following Saturday.

In a recent week railways of Great Britain carried more than 40,000,000 passengers without a single accident.

Olney Will Face Strongest Rival

Seymour's Goal Line Still Uncrossed This Year

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Nov. 16.—The game Friday, Nov. 18 between Olney Cubs and the Seymour Panthers is the semi-finals of the class B District Four race and will be played here in Fair park at 2:30.

The Seymour Panthers have never been scored on and Olney Cubs remain undefeated. The game last Friday between Olney and Bowie proved the Cubs' ability as football players, and the Panthers' indifference attitude toward fighting has changed to a battling spirit.

Even though the Cubs out weigh the Panthers some fifteen or twenty pounds it is believed that the Panthers will give the Cubs a fight for their life.

The Panthers' coach, C. N. Jerrall of North Texas Teachers, believes that by the time of the game next Friday he will be able to develop three new men to fill the positions left by Lunsford, center; Easly, end, and McGuire, halfback, who at present are on the injured list.

Coach Herms, of the Olney Cubs, has his squad in splendid shape with exception of Russell, quarter, who was injured in the Bowie game. The Cubs is a team that is known all over West Texas as one of the fastest and heaviest teams in the class B race and many fans have predicted that the Cubs will win the championship with ease since they defeated Bowie last Friday.

The Seymour Panthers have gone to the semi-finals for the last four years, but have had hard luck each time and it is believed that this year will be no exception.

In 1924 Seymour met Quanah in the semi-finals and were defeated in the last minute of play. In 1925 Seymour played Burkburnett a pair of scoreless ties, and in 1926 Seymour defeated Graham by playing "out-law" football. With the team crippled with injuries it is feared that this will be another "hard luck" year.

Olney citizens will invade Seymour in full force and some eight or nine hundred people will see the game. The winners of this game will play Strawn on Turkey day for the championship of this district.

EIGHT FROGS TO GRADUATE

T. C. U. Will Lose Many Valuable Players

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16.—Eight members of the T. C. U. Horned Frog football squad will see their college grid careers brought to a close Thanksgiving day when the Purple clashes with the Red and Blue Mustangs of S. M. U. on T. C. U. field.

Two of the eight already are through as far as playing is concerned due to injuries. They are Albert Acker, end, and N. L. Clark, quarterback. Both received shoulder injuries last week in Shreveport. The other six men are Captain "Blackie" Williams, Oran Steadman, Amos Melton, Raymond "Rags" Matthews, Jimmy Grant and Oran Alexander.

Three backs and five linesmen are passing out of the picture, eight men who have labored long and well for the Purple and some of whom coaches will find hard to replace. "Blackie" Williams is one of the greatest backs ever to bear the Purple banner on a gridiron. He is an example of a super-star whose spangles have been dimmed every year by unfortunate injuries. He was headed for an all Southwestern berth this year until his ankle gave way. He may still land general mention as he seems to be back in good shape now and ready to strut his stuff against the Ponies.

"Rags" Matthews, generally conceded the honor of being the greatest wingman ever developed in the southwest, will be greatly missed by Coach Bell. In fact, graduation is making a clean sweep of the veteran ends, taking four at one time, Matthews, Steadman, Acker and Alexander.

Littlefield May Use Entirely New Defense

AUSTIN, Nov. 16. (AP)—Rumors that Coach Clyde Littlefield is building up an entirely new defense for the University of Texas football, are trickling through the closed gates guarding secret practice at Memorial stadium. The squad got its first hard workout Tuesday in preparation for the Texas A. & M. college game Thanksgiving and will continue like tactics Wednesday. A nippy norther invigorated the drive against the freshman squad using Aggie plays.

Owls Get Brief Rest Before Baylor Grind

HOUSTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Coaches Helsman and Rothgeb will not drive the Rice football team the remainder of this week, except for a couple of scrimmages, it was indicated today, but next week a gruelling program of training will be resorted to to fit the Owls for the final game of the season, the last desperate effort to come out of a tie for last place with the Baylor Bears, who will be here for the Thanksgiving Day game.

Corn Husking Champ Again Defends Title

WINNEBAGO, Minn., Nov. 16. (AP)—Outhusking a field of eleven contestants, Fred Stanek of Fort Dodge, Iowa, for the third time in four years today won the national cornhusking championship.

His total picking was 1083 pounds or 15.4 bushels for 80 minutes allowed the entrants. The miserable weather and icy condition of the corn held down his total by six bushels less than his state record of 21.7 bushels.

YOST SEES LITTLE CHANGE.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 16.—Changes in the football playing rules this season have not resulted in any noticeable changes in play, Fielding H. Yost, famous University of Michigan coach, says. Yost, who is visiting his brother-in-law, Daniel McGugin, Vanderbilt University head coach, declares the lateral pass has not turned football into glorified basketball, as was at first thought. "The lateral pass is as old as football," he says. "Why, we got it from the English when we got our ideas from the British type of Rugby."

Terrill Tigers Will Battle S. M. U.'s Colts

DALLAS, Nov. 15. (AP)—In the absence of a southwest conference game this week the fans of Dallas will turn to the football engagement between the Southern Methodist university Colts and the Terrill School Tigers at Ownby stadium Saturday. The game is the play off of a scoreless tie achieved during the state fair of Texas.

Arnold Horween Will Coach Harvard in 1928

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 16.—Arnold Horween, 28-year-old coach of the Harvard football squad, was tonight signed to pilot the Crimson team again in 1928, although Harvard football fortunes for the past two years under his leadership have been at a lower ebb than at any other time in the history of the sport here. The announcement was made officially tonight by William J. Bingham, Harvard athletic director.

Interest rates in savings accounts in Japan have been reduced from seven and eight per cent to less than six per cent.

BAPTISTS BACK BAYLOR'S BOSS

Resolutions Adopted By An Overwhelming Vote

convention and as a Baptist people to hold these institutions and their teachers true to the great, age-long fundamentals of the faith as expressed in the New Hampshire confession of Faith, which is, we believe, the concentrated, quintessence of the New Testament truth.

"2. That we pledge these presidents, these teachers, and these institutions our prayers, our love, our boldest defense and our co-operation, that they may do the work Christ has set for them to do in His three-fold program.

"3. That as far as it is possible, we the messengers of the Baptist Convention of Texas, put the stamp of our disapproval on this baseless, malicious and conscienceless warfare against our leaders in missions, in education, in hospitals, and those in other lines of work, and against the causes dearer than our lives; and that we hereby pledge ourselves to defend these leaders and causes against misrepresentation, false accusation, and sensational persecution until this propaganda of conscienceless accusation and false misrepresentations has been swept out of the hearts of our people."

Norris Mentioned Once

The name of J. Frank Norris was mentioned only once in the course of the lengthy discussion that followed the reading of the explanatory statement and the resolutions by the Rev. R. E. Bell.

It was mentioned then when the Rev. J. H. Edmunds, of Hamlin, Jones county, rose to a point of personal privilege to declare that "I have not, I cannot, and I never will except the statement as read, except with reservations," and that "If what J. Frank Norris has said about our institutions, is true we should welcome criticism as Christ welcomed the storm of criticism against Him."

The Rev. Edmunds served on a committee of seven appointed in 1921 to investigate the findings of a first committee, which had been appointed to investigate the religious thought and teachings of Baylor university; and he explained to the convention Wednesday night that he had voted against the report of that committee, which had held in favor of Dr. Brooks and the faculty.

Brooks on Floor

Principal speeches were made in favor of the resolutions by Dr. George Truett of Dallas, J. B. Tidwell of the Baylor faculty, Pat M. Neff, president of the convention, and the Rev. R. E. Bell, co-author of the measure.

Dr. Brooks, rising in the heat of the arguments, said: "I am the man about whom so much has been said. And I am in favor of the resolutions."

"The faculty of Baylor," he continued, "has been held at bay by that leather tongued critic. I am ashamed, in a way, that all this has come up, for there are some good people who may think I'm fighting for my job. This fight with the chief agitator has been a long one. It has been waged at every convention for the last seven years except one, and that was when the chief agitator had business in the courthouse."

The convention was officially called to order at 7:30 p. m. by Pat M. Neff, president, with close to 3700 people in attendance. Declaring that "Wichita Falls shines as a diamond button in the shirt front of Texas," the former governor paid brief tribute to the convention city before introducing Mayor Shepherd. The response to this address was given by Dr. George Truett of Dallas.

Preceding the welcoming addresses, however, Dr. O. L. Powers, newly elected vice president of the convention, gave an address before the convention, stressing the beneficience of faith and loyalty in the upbuilding of the Baptist institutions of Wichita Falls and Texas, and declaring that "should he live ten years more, he would see the fold on Texas Baptists increased from 500,000 to a million." Dr. Powers, later in the meeting, also spoke in favor of the Bell-Scarbrough resolution.

Committees Named

Following the election of officers, which preceded the introduction of the resolution, the following committeemen were appointed by President Neff: Chairman of the committee to nominate committees, J. C. Boyd; chairman of the committee on obituaries, D. H. Head; chairman of the B. Y. P. U. committee, R. W. Leazer; chairman of the committee on Christian education, F. B. Thorne; chairman of the committee on civic righteousness and social service, J. D. Sandifer; chairman of the committee on evangelism, C. R. Shirer; chairman of the committee on foreign missions, W. R. White; chairman of the committee on home missions, W. M. Craig; chairman of the laymen's movement committee, Earl B. Smyth; and chairman of the ministerial relief and annuity committee, M. H. Wolf. The committee to nominate committees, the president announced, will select members of these various committees at some later date during the convention.

Program of convention activities for Friday was not definitely announced at the close of the session Wednesday night.

DIRECT RESCUE

Girl and Brother Tell Rescuers How to Remove Debris

DALLAS, Nov. 16. (AP)—Held fast by debris under the pilot of an M.-K.-T. locomotive which demolished their automobile in a crash at Forest avenue, Miss Mary Cole and her brother, Fred, escaped with severe injuries here today when for 15 minutes they directed rescuers attempting to remove wreckage from the pinioned crash victims.

Lee Hellums, 30, crawled under the locomotive to hold the woman's head in his lap and repeat her whispered directions as to where the pressure on her body was greatest until the wreckage was hacked out, piece by piece. Th brother also directed his rescue.

Norris Wants Love of Church

Dr. Green," he continued, "he did one thing at the Baptist convention last year that I'll never do. He defended the governor's inaugural ball."

Tells Secrets.

"The Baptists who have assembled for their convention here don't bother me," the pastor said.

"They haven't got one single thing that I need and want. They haven't got a thing that I really want unless it be their love; and I wish I had that."

"But there is something I know about them," he said, attracting the attention of newspapermen, and urging them in an aside to recognize the importance of the forthcoming statement, "I've seen the report of their budget control committee, and they don't know it. And they are going to recommend in this report that the convention authorize a wholesale clean-out, and that all the books of the convention be gone through from end to end."

"Now," pointing to newspapermen, "you can make headline streamers out of that."

The Rev. Norris announced that in his later addresses he will deal with "that triple crowned monster that sits on the banks of the Tiber."

SHEPPARD CASE IS CONTINUED

Charges Not To Be Pushed At Present

ABILENE, Nov. 16. (AP)—The case of Joyce Sheppard, alias Bill Smith, charged with murdering Jake Owens, Fisher county deputy sheriff, was passed in 104th district court here this morning by Judge W. R. Chapman.

A special venire of 100 men which had been ordered did not appear, as Clem Calhoun, district attorney had advised the court that he would not push the charge against Sheppard at this time.

No date was set for trial of the case as a death penalty verdict against Sheppard for the murder of Sheriff Bob Smith of Fisher county is being appealed to the court of criminal appeals. Unless this is reversed, the second murder charge against Sheppard will not be pushed, Calhoun said.

Sheppard did not appear in court this morning but still is in the Dallas county jail, officers said.

"Kissing" Bandit Shows Up in South Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (AP)—A "cash and kissing" bandit has come to police notice on the South Side, rivalling as a tormentor of women the North Side's notorious "cat bandit" now serving a prison sentence.

The "cash and kissing" marauder, using a pistol waylays women, taking money and kisses before he flees. Six women have reported his activities during the past three days.

For his services to the borough of Oswestry, Ireland, during the past 59 years, Dr. Robert de la Poer Beresford, was recently given the honorary freedom of the city.

Abdul Rashid Hanged For Brahman's Murder

LONDON, Nov. 16. (AP)—A dispatch to the Daily News from Dehli, British India, says Abdul Rashid, who was convicted of the murder of the Brahman sect leader, Swami Shradamand, last Dec. was hanged this morning. A huge Moslem crowd gathered outside the jail and demanded his body for a funeral procession. A partial strike was observed in Moslem quarters.

Who's Who in the Community Chest

Negro Charities.

Most of the budget allowed for negro charities by the Community chest is used for the support of the Colored day nursery. This institution is operated in the same manner as is the similar organization for white children and serves just as urgent a need for the negroes of Wichita Falls.

As many as 20 or 25 children are taken care of each day, a seven-day schedule being carried out as many of the mothers have work which takes them away from home on Sundays as well as on week days.

The board of directors of the negro charities includes Mrs. J. A. Kemp, chairman, and Mrs. W. W. Cook, J. B. Marlow, A. A. Spencer, W. E. Wilson and Benobia Tremble, matron of the nursery.

The negroes raise a considerable sum among their own people to take care of a large part of their charity work.

PHILLIPS TO BUILD GASOLINE PLANT ON NEWLY ACQUIRED LAND

GASOLINE UNIT TO BE RUSHED

Casinghead Plant in New Bowero Pool

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Nov. 16.—Phillips Petroleum company announced today that it would begin building at once a casinghead gasoline plant in section 88, block B-2, Gray county, which is part of the acreage recently purchased from Clark, Baldridge and Sherron of Wichita Falls.

The plant is to be completed within 120 days. Material has already been shipped and actual construction will start immediately.

This plant will not be as large as the Phillips plant at Borger but will be large enough to take care of the present output of Gray county and will be constructed so that its capacity can be enlarged as the field expands.

Phillips is also building a water system into Gray county field which will supply both the field and the new plant.

SOUTH OF IOWA PARK.

An extension to the west of approximately 1000 feet of the new 1500-foot sand had been effected Wednesday in Henry Hobbs' No. 1 Hodges, located in the H. T. & B. survey, south of Iowa Park in Wichita county. Having topped the new sand at 1523 feet, the well drilled two feet. While being equipped to pump, it is estimated good for 35 to 50 barrels daily. Mr. Hobbs is to skid the rig from this week to the locatio nfor his No. 2 Watkins, two locations west of No. 1 Watkins which uncovered the new pay.

ANOTHER NEW SAND.

Still another new pay horizon for the Watkins pool in South Wichita county was looming yesterday, the Electra-Gulf Oil company's No. 9 Watkins, in block 46, Kemp's Wichita valley lands, having picked up a sand showing oil at 1780 feet. Pipe was set and a test is to be made.

PRODUCERS-HODGES.

Producers Drilling company is drilling at 800 feet in its No. 1 Hodges, located in lot 7, H. T. & B. survey and south of Henry Hobbs No. 1 Hodges, Wichita county.

ATLANTIC-MANGOLD.

Atlantic Oil Producing company and Frank P. Rose are drilling at 1770 feet in their No. 1 Mangold, northwest Archer county wildcat, and have apparently missed the expected sand.

GWYNN-CHRISTIAN.

P. F. Gwynn topped a sand at 1193 feet and drilled to 1199 feet in his No. 2 Christian, northeast of Olney in Young county, and the well is showing some. Additional bailing is tob e done Thursday.

SOUTH WISE COUNTY.

Wise county is gaining an active test. Boonerville Oil company is cleaning out the old No. 1 G. Hendricks, which had been drilled to a depth of 1475 feet and will drill deeper. The test is located 12 miles southwest of Bridgeport.

MARLAND-WAGGONER.

Marland Oil company and Golding and Cochran are drilling at 2020 feet in their No. 1 Waggoner, located in section 207, block 14, H. & T. C. survey, Wilbarger county. Six and five-eighths pipe was set at 2003 feet.

LESH-McCALL-HINTON.

Lesh and McCall are rigging up to drill their No. 1 G. W. Hinton, 150 feet from the north and east lines of the Alex Coates survey, Montague county.

GRAYSON COUNTY.

The latest test of the Simpson and Fell No. 1 Wahl in western Grayson county, made by the Lone Star gas company, was reported to have shown that the well has a production of 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily with a rock pressure of 100 pounds. A packer is being set to shut off water.

Simpson and Fell have made location to drill their No. 2 Wahl, 47 feet north and 483 feet east of No. 1.

HUMBLE-PITCHFORK.

Humble Oil and Refining company is drilling at 2460 feet in its No. 1 Pitchfork ranch, located in section 171, J. H. Gibson survey, King county.

BURNS-RICHARDSON.

L. T. Burns has made location to drill his No. 1 Richardson, 321 feet south and 966 feet west of the northeast corner of the Wm. McCune survey, Archer county.

BARNSDALL-WILSON.

The Barnsdall company has made location for its No. 1 Wilson in section 45, A. T. N. C. L. being in the northwest corner of the east 79 acres of section.

GRAHAM FIELD.

Nash and Windfohr have erected the derrick to drill their No. 2 John Ware in the Morrison field, Young county, being located 330 feet north of No. 1 in the J. W. Manning survey.

Gilliland-McMan $2,000,000 Oil Suit Appeal Heard in U. S. Court

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16. (AP)—Cash and oil property valued at $2,000,000 were involved in an appeal from district court here heard before the United States circuit court of appeals today.

Principals in the suit are the Gilliland Oil company, represented by P. J. Surley et al, receivers, and the McMan Oil and Gas company. The property in dispute is located in Wichita county.

Suit to recover the property was started by the receivers and the Gilliland Oil company against the McMan company in 1925. In that year a master in chancery ruled that the Gilliland company should recover lands transferred to the McMan company some 50 days before the former went into receivership. The judgment was upheld in federal district court.

New Humble Prices Effect Very Little Oil in North Texas Area

A change in the price of low gravity crude oil in Texas was announced here Tuesday by officials of the Humble Oil and Refining company. The new prices, which were posted on oil of lower than 28 degrees gravity, affects possibly not more than 1000 barrels of North Texas production. The oil effected in this district is produced in the Nocona area.

"It puts into effect," the bulletin says, "a gravity differential from 28 gravity down to 25 gravity and below, a differential of two cents per degree of gravity between 28 and 25, crudes below 25 being grouped together."

The change was necessitated because the value of the crude affected depends upon fuel oil prices which have been falling rapidly, it was said.

The Humble's present posted price, lists oil of 28 degrees to 28.9 at $1.12, which price was paid for all oil below 28 gravity. The new schedule carries the price on down with a two-cent differential to 25 gravity. Oil below 25 degrees is grouped at 90 cents per barrel.

The change will have its greatest effect in the Mexia, Corsicana and Lytton Springs fields.

BEWARE OF COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—(adv.)

1400 Bbl. Well In Ramsower

Special to The Record News.

RANGER, Nov. 16.—In the Ramsower district ten miles northwest of here, the No. 1 Thorpe of C. M. Knot and others has been drilled one foot deeper into the Ranger sand at 3800 feet and the production has increased to approximately 60 barrels an hour, according to first gauge taken after deeper drilling. Prior to being drilled deeper the well was making only a small amount of oil, the production having developed after the well was completed as a gasser making 4,000,000 cubic feet more than a month ago.

South of Ranger in the Shipp-Duffer district the Mook Texas Company has drilled its No. 1-B Casey three feet deeper to a total depth of 3029 feet and it is making close to 20,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily and around 60 barrels of oil. This well was originally completed a few weeks ago as a gasser making 24,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily. It was also spraying around five barrels of oil daily.

This well is a wildcat a mile west of any other production of any description in the district. The Mook Texas Company is making preparations to drill another well on this lease which has been located 500 feet northwest of the No. 1-B.

Oil Excitement In Sherman Co.

Special to The Record News.

AMARILLO, Nov. 16.—Sherman county was today seething with new excitement as two of its wildcat tests had turned out to be gassers.

Gibson Oil corporation's No. 1 Elvins in section 25, Frank T. 9909, 600 feet additional gas at 3250 feet, making a total of 13,000,000 feet and Phillips Petroleum company's No. 2 Price and Fuqua in section 33, block 2-S, six miles west of the Gibson test, pitched 3,500,000 feet of gas which caught fire and burned the rig down.

BROOM SUPPLANES PEN.

CLEVELAND, O.—According to Cleveland judges who handle many divorce cases daily the broom has supplanted the rolling pin as a domestic weapon. Plates and rolling pins are still used to chastise hubby when he lingers too long at lodge with the boys, but the broom is mentioned in by far the largest number of divorce suits.

Buttram Gets 100 Bbl. Well; Christie on Sand

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 16.—The Buttram-Jones No. 2 is initial gas or 100-barrel pumper from a sand encountered at 3005 feet and drilling to 3021 feet. Preparations are being made to place this well on the pump. Their Jones No. 3, S. P. R. R. Co. survey, abstract 3550, is drilling at 3010 feet, while a rig is being erected on their Jones No. 6. The Christie Brothers-Jones No. 2, S. P. R. R. Co. survey, abstract 3550, just north of the Buttram-Jones wells, has topped the sand at 3085 feet and preparations are being made to drill in. Shaw and Huthles on their J. W. Cullers No. 4, J. H. Cullers survey, abstract 2088, are drilling at 3025 feet, while their Cullers No. 5, J. H. Cullers survey, abstract 2088, is drilling at 3350 feet. The Rathbun-Bilhorn No. 4, P. H. Hite survey, abstract 2462 is drilling at 4650 feet. The Westhoven-Williams No. 1, H. S. & F. survey, abstract 68, is drilling in a hard lime at 3932 feet.

Water Blights New Oil "Pay"

Hopes of uncovering a new pay horizon in the Morrison field at Graham received a staggering blow Wednesday when the No. 5 Morrison of Pitser and West was placed on the swab and produced about 300 gas cut water. The sand at 1768-790 feet was showing some oil and hope had arisen that a new pay stratum had been uncovered. The well is in the Hammond survey.

Continued Pro Rating In Pecos Necessary

SAN ANGELO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Continued pro rating and pinching in of oil wells in eastern Pecos and western Crockett counties, Texas, in to be necessary despite plans for new lines to handle oil in this field, estimates showing the total daily potential production of the area ranging as high as 300,000 barrels.

Production in this field has been materially increased by the development of Mid-Kansas and Transcontinental No. 3-C into the third largest well in the world, producing 65,000 barrels daily.

Present pipe line facilities total 44,000 barrels. Even should the new lines be built, they would be inadequate to handle the present daily potential production.

Oil and Gas Rule Upheld in Vacuum Pump Suit Here

Rules of the Texas railroad commission regulating the use of vacuum pumps on oil wells were upheld Wednesday in the 30th district court by Judge P. A. Martin. The Hardy Oil company is suing the Consolidated Oil company for $62,000 alleged damages from the use of the pumps. Attorneys for the Consolidated filed a demurrer with the court attacking the right of the commission to make such regulations on the ground that they interfered with constitutional rights.

The Hardy company is contending that use of the vacuum by the Consolidated on the Bowsman lease in Young county had sucked oil in the ground from portions of the same lease held by the Hardy. The rule, known as rule 37, was designed to prevent damage to adjacent leases by the use of suction or forced pressure on wells. This rule goes further and partially regulates the manner in which such pumps can be used when applied to wells.

Hardy officials have testified as to the drop in production in their wells after they had "settled" and allege the Consolidated used the pumps at a higher pressure than the railroad commission allows.

W. T. Knight, president of the Consolidated testified the pumps were installed in the hope of increasing production from his company's wells on the lease but that they failed to do so. He also said that use of the pumps was discontinued at the request of the Hardy.

The case will probably reach the jury Thursday.

Mrs. Hardy Frazier of Grand Saline, who is attending the Baptist convention at Wichita Falls, motored to Electra Tuesday to visit her girlhood friend, Mrs. S. F. Cooper, whom she had not seen for fifteen years.

A SICKLY CHILD.

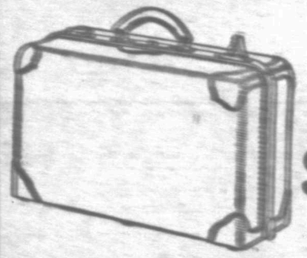

She was a dear old lady, nearing her 95th birthday, and the recent decease of her daughter, a spinster of seventy-odd summers, had prostrated her with grief.

Many were the messages of sympathy she received from people in the village.

The vicar called personally to offer his condolence and help her to bear up bravely, but the old lady was inconsolable.

"Ah," she moaned wearily, "cut off like a flower she were! I allus knew I'd never be able to rear that gal."

COTTON PRICE DROPS LOWER

Market Closes 15 Points Under Previous Day

Cotton dropped slightly Wednesday, the market closing 15 points below the close of Tuesday.

Local buyers paid from 17 cents to 13½ cents, on a middling basis.

Receipts for the day were light, local cotton yards reporting about 30 bales received.

There was no change in the cotton seed market. Prime seed continued to sell for $25 a ton.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—The cotton market was generally quiet today. Prices moved within a range of 15 or 18 points. January sold off from 19.90 to 19.73, closing at the lowest, the general market closing barely steady, at a net decline of 11 to 14 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points, and active months sold about 4 to 5 points net lower in the early trading when there was probably some buying on the unfavorable weather news. The comparatively light demand was soon supplied, however, and prices eased under a renewal of liquidation or reselling by recent buyers, and a little selling supposed to be for the southern account. The failure of bullish features in the weather news to stimulate more general buying, disappointed holders of contracts which probably accounted for some of the selling.

December contracts eased off to 19.67 and March to 19.93, net losses of 11 to 14 points. The close was a the lowest figures of the day.

A large proportion of the comparatively small business in evidence was said to represent further evening up of December contracts. Spot interests continued to buy December against sales of the late months, at a difference of about 26 to 27 points between December and March, but the near month selling seemed to be a check on advances. At the close December was 26 points under March, compared with a difference of 24 points at the close of the previous day. Business was a little more active toward the close, when there appeared to be some selling here by New Orleans presumably on straddle accounts.

The falling off in the volume of trading was regarded by some local brokers as indicating a fairly well eneved up position with operators inclined to await the further progress of December liquidation or the showing of the ginning report expected at the opening on Monday.

Private cables reported some continental buying and trade calling supplied by hedging and liquidation in Liverpool.

Port receipts today 41,403. U. S. port stocks 2,479,676. Exports 87,531, making 2,750,231 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16. (AP)—Fear of large ginnings in the census report due Monday resulted in a decline of 12 to 15 points on the cotton market here today. The market was very quiet and fluctuations were narrow during the entire session. Soon after the opening January advanced to 20.15, due to wintry weather in the belt, but this was followed by a decline which sent January down to 19.92 at the close, or 23 points below the highs and 14 points net lower.

Liverpool was 3 to 4 penny points lower than due but first trades here showed gains of 3 to 5 points. Cold weather advanced December to 20.04 and March to 20.24, or 6 to 8 points above yesterday's close.

Liquidation induced by fears of the ginnings report then caused the market to become easier and December dropped to 19.93 and March to 20.10. After rallying five to six points in the early afternoon the market turned easy again near the end and December sold at 19.85 and March at 20.01. The close was easier at the bottom.

Exports for the day were 87,873 bales.

NEW ORLEANS SPOTS.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16. (AP)—Spot cotton closed quiet 15 points down. Sales 4378. Low middling 19.85; good middling 20.60; receipts 125; stocks 455,161.

DRYGOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—The gray cloth market was strong and quiet today on carded constructions, but weak in the combed goods division. Rayon fabrics showed an easier price tendency because of hard competition for available moderate business. Various quarters in wash goods and colored staple cottons reported a small steady marketing. The primary burlap market was unchanged to easier, little being done in the local trade where quotations are subject to bids to show what actually can be done. The raw silk market was quiet. Prices were unchanged.

COTTON SEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—The cotton seed oil market was more active and slightly lower today, closing at net declines of 3 to 10 points. The lower range reflected the decline in lard and cotton as well as the continued unsettlement of substitute markets. Sales 18,300 barrels. Prime crude 9.00; prime summer yellow spot 10.60; December closed 10.73; January 10.80; March 10.96; May 11.10; June 11.20.

WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Trading in domestic wool continues dull but prices remain firm. Inquiries are being received on all grades with fine and half blood territory taken most frequently in resulting transactions. Reports from foreign markets continued favorable and many holders of domestic wool are therefore inclined to be indifferent sellers.

TURKEY MARKET

Turkeys are practically off the market so far as shipments to eastern and northern markets are concerned, according to local buyers. The following prices paid for turkeys prevailed in Wichita Falls:

No. 1 turkeys	25c
No. 2 turkeys	15c
Old toms	20c

Missouri Pacific Climbs To New Record As Rail Shares Lead Way in Stock Market Advance

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Noc. 16.—Missouri Pacific preferred, in a move to a new high record price, featured another irregular stock market session, today. Mop was in demand throughout the session and closed near the top influencing strength in other parts of the railroad list. Profit taking held back most of the industrial leaders, with Goodrich and a few other specialties responding to individual influences in a continued forward move.

Call money remained in good supply at 3 1-2 per cent although banks called some loans as a result of the government's mid-month operations. Wheat declined as a result of a bearish crop report from the Argentine while cotton and other commodities ruled irregular in rather dull trading. Sterling resumed its advance in a generally strong foreign exchange market.

Buying of Missouri Pacific preferred represented rather belated recognition that the back dividends on the stock must be taken care of ultimately. The committee appointed to devise a plan to take care of this obligation, it was stated, would be ready to report within a week or so.

Those in the company have been considering readjustment of capital for many months. If it were not for the flood a plan would have been announced some months ago. Just because the selected committee presents a plan, however, does not mean that sotckholders are going to get the equivalent of the back dividends immediately. There are minority holders of the pdeferred who intend to fight unless their ideas are complied with.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas and others which share in the Loree merger plans were quite prominent. The leading executives interested in the consolidation have been in almost daily conference with Loree for the last few weeks. As a result they have a pretty fair idea of what form the next plan they submit to the commission will take. It is the desire of Loree and his associates, it is said, to conform with all demands of the commission so that their new plan will receive quick approval.

Packard stood out by reason of its strength in a generally irregular automobile group. The buying was in good part influenced by the widespread reports as to consolidation of the motor companies with stocks in the lower priced field. It would seem likely that some of the smalleg independents will get together ultimately but the automobile men who would be most concerned state there is no movement under way to bring about such development for the next few months.

WHEAT WEAK ON DECEMBER

Reactionary Tendency In Grain Pit Trading

By Universal Service.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—A reactionary tendency was exhibited by the wheat market here today, with December delivery relatively the weakest. Much wheat came on the market and it was evident that December longs sold freely. Diminished export demand and the failure of bullish crop news to develop in Argentine served as buying deterrents.

Corn ruled firm much of the day and finished slightly higher. A good character of buying was witnessed at times but the realizing sales by longs held the market back. The cash corn situation was more encouraging and inspired demand. Oats ruled firm while the rye market was influenced by the Decline in wheat.

Wheat closed the session at net declines of ⅜c for December and ⅛c for deferred deliveries, but at one time during the session was sharply lower. Corn closed unchanged to ⅛c higher, while oats were ⅛@¼c higher and rye ⅝@¾c lower. Export sales of wheat in all positions were finally reported as 700,000 bushels, mostly Canadian.

Much strength was shown by the corn market early in the session, due to good commission house buying, mainly of May delivery, and local absorption of December. The advance brought on free realizing sales by longs and some active local selling. Prices reacted but rallied again later in the session when some of the early sellers bought back their corn. Country offerings of corn have become light and improvement in the cash demand was noted.

Oats were firm.

Rye prices declined with wheat and because of profit taking by longs.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 16. (AP)—Wheat was unchanged to a cent lower Wednesday. Exporters bid $1.36 to $1.37½ for No. 1 hard wheat delivered to Texas gulf ports, one cent lower than Tuesday's bids. Corn and oats unchanged and barley prices three cents higher.

Wheat: No. 1 dark hard $1.49@1.53; No. 1 ordinary hard $1.47@1.46; No. 1, 75 per cent red or better $1.51 to $1.52.

Corn and oats unchanged.

Snapped corn 80@85c; No. 2 barley 87@88c; No. 3 barley 85@86c; No. 2 milo $1.30@1.33; No. 3 milo $1.27@1.30; No. 2 kaffir $1.33@1.37; No. 3 kaffir $1.30@1.32; maize heads $18.00@19.00; kaffir heads $17.00@18.00.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Active selling and lower prices in the wheat market today followed receipt of an Argentine government report describing the Argentine crop situation as favorable. Opposite advices from a Chicago crop expert in Argentine failed to act as an offset.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ⅛ to ⅜c net lower, with corn unchanged to ⅛c up, oats showing ⅛c to ¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to 10@12½c down.

Corn displayed notable power to rally from price setbacks, but had to contend with liberal selling done to realize profits. Special attention was given to word from Omaha that corn export bids were at 1c higher basis than a week ago. Besides, Texas and Oklahoma reports indicated smaller yields of corn than expected, and some advices said the corn than expected, and some advices said the corn movement was about over in that quarter. Oats were firm, independent of corn. Good buying of oats appeared on all dips.

Provisions weakened at the close on account of selling from cash interests.

KANSAS CASH GRAIN.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 16. (AP)—Wheat: No. 3 hard $1.29@1.44⅝; No. 2 red $1.40@1.43½; Dec. $1.23⅛; May $1.27⅝.

Corn: No. 2 white 79c; No. 2 yellow 82½c; Dec. 77⅝c; May 84⅝c.

Oats: No. 2 white 49½c; No. 2, 48⅝c.

FEW GEM BUYERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—Nobody seems to want to buy a $400,000 gem. The Nassak diamond 78 5-8 carats, once an idol's eye in India and now for sale, is in a store here. There has been no rush.

To save his younger brother from the cruelty of his mother, Kanichi Kato, of Nagoya, Japan, recently killed the lad.

WARMER TODAY SAY EXPERTS

Weather Man Predicts Break in Cold Wave

With the weather man promising to serve up "fair and warmer" weather Thursday, the backbone of the first severe cold spell of the winter seemed broken Wednesday night as reports of slowly rising temperatures came in from points north of Wichita Falls.

"Wednesday temperatures all along the line were similar to that in Wichita Falls, with slightly increasing cold being registered as the line veers to the northward," according to the train dispatcher of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad. Reports Thursday night were that clear weather prevailed along the Denver road from Wichita Falls to New Mexico.

Clear weather also prevailed throughout the Katy territory in western Oklahoma, according to the M.-K.-T. dispatcher. Temperatures in northern Oklahoma showed a tendency to rise following a hard freeze Tuesday night, it was reported. Woodward and Forgan reported temperatures of 30 degrees Wednesday night, compared with 20 and 18 degrees respectively, Tuesday night. The Forgan area felt the most severe touch of winter, which bruoght the first severe freeze of the season.

Henrietta was visited by the first killing frost of the season Tuesday night, with considerable ice there Wednesday morning. The freeze was not sufficient to do great damage, however. The thermometer dropped to 30 degrees. This was 12 days later than the first killing frost last year. Clear weather prevailed Wednesday night.

Busy Time Ahead For Boy Scouts

Busy times are ahead for scoutmasters of the city as Frank B. Creighton, scout executive has outlined several major events before the first of the year. The latest is the Scout and Father supper to be staged December 9 at the new auditorium. The scouts will sit by their dads and the troops will be kept together. The affair will start at 7 p. m. and the dinner will be served two hours later. Short talks will be made and other games played.

Friday noon all scoutmasters are to meet at luncheon as guests of the council. Stanley Harris of New York will deliver a short talk on scouting.

The scoutmasters' school will be held in the First Methodist church, starting November 22. Plans are being worked out for the Jamboree to be staged December 30 and Mr. Creighton is making an effort to obtain enough wood for totem poles. This wood can be obtained through the executive office at cost. He thinks he has a sufficient supply available.

Rites Today For Mrs. Riley Carter

Funeral services for Mrs. Marie Short Carter, 26, wife of Riley Carter, will be held at the First Church of Christ, Tenth and Austin at 10 o'clock Friday morning, the Rev. L. S White, pastor, officiating. Immediately after the ceremony the body will be taken to Graham for burial at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Carter died at a hospital at Thomas, Okla., Wednesday morning. She had been taken there to receive treatment for what was believed to have been a minor illness. She died suddenly following an operation. The body will be brought to Wichita Falls on the 7 o'clock train Friday morning.

She was born in Graham and was married to Mr. Carter nine years ago. They lived at 2319 Yale avenue, Wichita Falls.

Besides her husband, she leaves an 8-year-old son, Warren Reed; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Roy Short, 1404 Sixteenth street; a grandmother, familiarly knows as "Grandmother" Short of Graham, who will be unable to attend the services here; a sister, Mrs. Reuben Wright of Oklahoma City, and a brother, H. J. Short of Wichita Falls.

E. Crippen, assistant district attorney in the federal court, is expected here Thursday, according to Miss Jessie Cowan, clerk. Mr. Crippen's supplies arrived Wednesday. He will have charge of the grand jury which will be empaneled next Monday upon the arrival of Judge William H. Atwell. Both Judge Atwell and Mr. Crippen are from Dallas.

The ONE-MINUTE PULPIT

Judge not that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again.

And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye.—Matthew, vii. 1-3.

BIG TIMERS TO WRESTLE HERE

Lewis and Munn Coming On Friday Night

Two of the real big timers in the wrestling world will arrive in Wichita Falls some time Friday for an engagement that night at The Gym, 605 Scott, for what is known as the world's heavyweight championship.

Ed (Strangler) Lewis, claimant to the heavyweight title and holder of a $10,000 gem-studded belt emblematic of that claim, and Wayne (Big) Munn, former world's champion, will engage each other in a piano moving contest, under auspices of Alec B. Ross, promoter of world's championship matches and otherwise.

Munn won his championship, later lost to Stecher through the Zbyszko route, from Lewis when he hurled the strangler out of the ring at Kansas City in a match for the title. Lewis was so badly injured that he was unable to return to the mat. He claimed, however, that Munn used unfair means and that the match had never been decided. Whereby hangs the tale of the rival Lewis and Stecher claims for the heavyweight title.

In the preliminary to Friday night's main go, Pat McGill, weighing only 222 pounds, will engage Jack Dawson, who being from California claims a weight of 230 pounds.

107 Tickets Sold For Sandy Game

Coyote Special Train To Join Players

Ten reservations have been made for the Pullman and 107 tickets have been sold for the Fort Worth and Denver special train which will take local football fans to Amarillo to attend the Thanksgiving Day game between the Wichita Falls Coyotes and the Golden Sandstorms of the Plains city, it was announced Wednesday following a meeting of the ticket sale committee at the chamber of commerce.

If as many as 150 passenger tickets are sold the fare for the round trip will be only $6. Belief that many more than 150 tickets will be sold before the train leaves Thanksgiving morning was expressed Wednesday by members of the committee.

It was pointed out that a large number of high school students will go to see the game, but that none of them have bought tickets to date. All of the tickets sold have been among business men and supporters of the team other than the students.

Tickets may be bought and reservations for the Pullman may be made at the office of J. W. Chatham, traffic and industrial commissioner of the chamber of commerce. Tickets may also be purchased at Renfro's drug store.

Members of the ticket sale committee are A. J. Norton, W. E. Huff, Henry Welch and P. S. Richardson.

Iowa Park Women Tour Industries Here

A number of Iowa Park club women, under the leadership of Miss Ethel Louise Webb, county home demonstration agent, toured Wichita Falls industries here Wednesday. Visits were made at laundries, the Colvert Ice Cream company and other places. Those on the tour included Mesdames S. W. Simmons, G. E. Leath, H. T. Head, W. A. Scott, J. Frank, Davis, R. A. Williams, G. C. Hathaway, W. R. Davis, H. E. Blackwell, John Willis of Burkburnett, Felix Ludland, J. A. Norwood and W. C. Williams; Misses Emma Davis, Elizabeth Davis, Myrtle Simpson, Rubye Norwood, and Miss Webb.

RED CROSS NEARS GOAL

$4034 Collected; 2500 Members Enlisted

The Red Cross drive is nearing its goal. Wednesday evening there had been collected in cash $4034 and about 2500 members had been secured. At that time there were still 21 business firms to be heard from, which were conducting group roll calls within their organizations, among them several of the largest firms in the city. It is expected that when these report, the total members will be increased by at least 1000. All workers have made final reports and the only thing remaining to colse the campaign is the report of the group roll calls. The following firms reported Wednesday that their employes had joined 100 per cent: Veros Cafe, Francis-Hobson Drug company, Loeb and Leopold, Noble Little Hardware company, Hudson-Essex company, Humble Oil and Refining company, Wichita State Bank and Trust company, First National bank, City National bank, National Surety Life Insurance company, North Texas Utility company, King Royalties company.

Optimists Hear Noted Traveler

People anywhere in the world are "just folks" and there is a funny side to every country in the world.

Carl Haskell Miller, newespaperman, lecturer and globe trotter, gave that message Wednesday to the Optimist club at luncheon in the Kemp hotel. Miller, who for the past several years has been engaged in Chautauqua work, is visiting B. D. Sartin, president of the Optimist club, and former companion of Miller when they lived in Kentucky.

Roy E. Carter, spoke to the club in the interest of the Community Chest drive which opens next week.

The Rev. C. G. Howard of Conroe, guest of the club, spoke briefly. "A long sleeping empire, East Texas is now awakening to take its place alongside of West Texas," he declared.

Fred D. Malacord and Val R. Fulcher were introduced as new members of the club. In the absence of Joel MacGregor, the singsong was led by Bob McFall.

School - College Notes

Miss Mary Sutherland addressed the Speakers club Wednesday morning on the subject of the principles and purposes of the Red Cross. She gave "international friendship," "service," "health," and "national relief" as the four cardinal principles of the Red Cross work. One of the interesting points that she brought out was that the little isle of Japan had as many members of the Red Cross as has the United States. The speaker was introduced by Gaylord Giles.

Marjorie Hines read a one act play for the Speakers club. The play that she read was "A Bouquet" written by Edith Wheeler. Miss Hines gave the entire play, taking the part of three different characters.

SOPH MEETING.

Officers and social committee of the Junior college sophomore class met Wednesday afternoon and made the social plans for the class for the year.

STAFF BANQUET.

The executive and the college life committee of the Wai-kun staff met Wednesday morning and laid further plans for the annual Wai-kun staff banquet. It will likely be on Nov. 29.

HIKING CLUB PLANS SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

A meeting of the Hiking club of the Junior college at Lucile Carter's home at 1516 Ninth street was held Tuesday evening. In order to increase the financial budget of the club it was decided to hold a rummage sale Saturday. A party for the club girls will be given at the home of Lucile King Tuesday evening. The club plans to give a dance in honor of the football team of the Junior college December 3. Another party that the Hiking club will sponsor will be a "taffy pull" about December 9.

"Mail Now, Deliver At Christmas," P. O. Slogan

"Shop now and Mail Early for Early Delivery," is the appeal being broadcast over the nation by the United States postal department.

Postmaster O. P. Maricle received several posters bearing the mail early slogan from the postoffice department Wednesday. They will be displayed about the federal building.

An appeal for early mailing of Christmas greeting cards was made by Mr. Maricle. To facilitate early mailing of cards, persons who are going to send ten or more cards should get them in the postoffice two or three weeks in advance. They should be delivered to the postoffice or tied and labeled to show they are Christmas cards and dropped in a mail box or given a postman. The cards will be segregated from the remainder of the mail, stamped with the date they are to be delivered, which will be one or two days before Christmas.

Royal Sleeping Unit Demonstrated Here

The Royal sleeping unit, a new product of the Ellison Bedding company of Fort Worth, will be demonstrated at the Deaton Furniture company, 609 Indiana avenue, Thursday. The demonstration began Wednesday.

The sleeping unit is neither mattress nor spring, but is a bed equippage scientifically constructed for adjustment to the weight of the sleeper's body, according to officials of the furniture company.

Man With 17-Foot Beard Dies at 82

WAHPETON, N. D., Nov. 16. (AP) Hans Langseth, 82, Richland county farmer, famous for his 17-foot beard, is dead. In 1922 he won the world's "longest beard" championship at the "days of '49" celebration in Sacramento.

Parents File $8500 Suit After Son Is Dragged to Death by Mule

J. B. Mills and wife Wednesday filed suit in the distric tcourst for $8500 damages against A. G. Short, dairyman, for the death of their son Carson Mills, 13, on October 28. The petition alleges that Mr. Short offered the boy 50 cents to go into a pasture to rope and bring in a mule. The plaintiffs further allege that Short knew the mule to be vicious and that the father protested such action.

The plaintiffs claim further that an hour later when the father went after the mule he found the practically lifeless body of his son in the pasture where it had been dragged and kicked by the mule. The boy died before he could be given medical attention.

Lions Show Police Head How Fines Work On Club's "Traffic Rules"

Adoption of a code of "traffic rules" caused much merriment at the Lions club Wednesday noon in the First Methodist church. The fine is the same for all violations and before the meeting was over, Roy E. Carter, police commissioner had lost 40 cents by the new rules. Most of the meeting was devoted to a musical program with a short talk by J. W. Pyland.

The ten general heads under which Lions may be penalized a dime in the future are tardiness at meetings, breach of parliamentary law, failure to wear button, using of other than first or nicknames, use of obscure words, displaying anger, introduction of politics into the club, unfavorable personal attack, improper introduction of a guest. improper introductio nof a guest.

Miss Letrice Wofford and Miss Irene Keller of Electra gave two vocal duet numbers and Miss Wofford staged a passing stunt with members of the club taking part. Miss Wofford later accompanied H. W. Gray and was elected an honorary member of the club.

Mrs. I. E. Reynolds, contralto, accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Carroll of Fort Worth also gave two vocal numbers. They are both from Fort Worth and are here attending the Baptist General convention.

Mr. Gray, tenor, also gave two numbers.

Dr. R. H. Graham president of the club, named a committee composed of J. W. Lyle, Joe Harris and C. C. Bunnenberg as a committee to enforce the new traffic rules and collect fines. Mr. Gary was the first victim when he referred to J. S. Pitman as Mr. Pitm'

NOBLE PAYS $100 FINES

Theater Manager Pleads Guilty in Two Cases

T. B. Noble Jr., manager of the Dent theaters in Wichita Falls, Wednesday entered plea of guilty to two charges of exhibiting prize fight films. Judge C. M. McFarland of the county court at law imposed a fine of $100 and costs in each case. Mr. Noble Monday indicated he would enter such a plea. H. S. McFarlane, operator of a show at Burkburnett, was given a like fine in a similar case Monday. The films in each instance were those of the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Chicago.

AIRPORT MEET THURSDAY EVE

Stock Subscriptions Pass Half Way Mark

Falls Airport Corporation will meet at the chamber of commerce Thursday afternoon to check up on results of the drive to sell $25,000 stock in the company and to plan a final campaign if one is necessary.

More than $12,000 of the stock had been subscribed by Wichita Falls men Wednesday afternoon.

The airport committee met at the chamber of commerce Wednesday and discussed the results of the campaign to date. It was decided at this meeting to postpone the meeting of the stockholders, which was originally scheduled for Wednesday night, until Thursday. J. W. Cahoon is chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign.

The committee reported that it had found business men generally favorable to the establishment of an airport here.

SECOND CROP OF PEARS

CROSS PLAINS, Nov. 16. (AP)—A pear tree at the home of William Neeb of Cross Plains, is making its second crop of pears this season. Last year a peach tree here produced two crops of fruit.

POTATO FEEDS 33

COMANCHE, Nov. 16. (AP)—Thirty-three persons were served one helping each from a sweet potato grown by Wade Everedge of Comanche county, at a Lions club luncheon here.

Weighing nearly half a ton, a torpedo from a naval vessel was washed ashore near Brooke, Isle of Wight, recently.

Happy Kiddies at Day Nursery Here

Children at the Wichita Falls Day nursery are healthy and happy and are cared for at less cost to the community than individuals served by any other local organization, in cost, in fact, of a little less than a nickel a day per child.

Working mothers—and in a few instances, working fathers—bring these babies to the nursery every morning and come for them every evening by 6 o'clock. They have good, simple meals, medical attention, and a well-kept playground. "A happy child is a good child," Mrs. Carrington, the nursery mother, says, "and as they are all kept healthy and the playground keeps them happy, they're all pretty good babies."

The mothers and fathers pay whatever they are able to for the care of the children at the nursery, but as few of them earn more than $12 to $15 a week and in most instances, have children in school to support, they are only able to pay very small sums.

PIGS PAY FOR PIANO

DELEON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Silk purses from sow's ears may be impossible, but pupils at Duster school here plan to get a piano from the proceeds of a crop of pigs.

Carelessness

A careless employee—a thoughtless moment.

That is all it takes to shatter a plate glass window or display case.

Every store manager should see that all glass is insured—in a reliable stock company.

MAJESTIC: Five Acts Interstate vaudeville, "Life of Riley," with Charles Murray on the screen, also comedy and Pathe News.
STRAND: "Camille," with Norma Talmadge, comedy and Pathe News.
OLYMPIC: "The Bush Leaguer," with Monte Blue, "The Collegians" and Fox News.
MISSION: "Black Pirate," with Douglas Fairbanks; comedy and Chapter 7 of "Blake of Scotland Yard." On the stage Al Russell's Baby Vampires.
GARDEN: "Stranded in Paris," with Bebe Daniels, and comedy.
GEM: "Convoy," with all-star cast; western picture and comedy.

We're all looking forward to another bill at the Majestic this week because of the excellence of last week's vaudeville and most of us are wondering if it may be excelled by any coming program. Hard it will be to find a better entertainer than Ken Murray though it seems he may be equalled this Thursday and Friday by Count Berni Vici who features the bill with his symphonic girls in his newest, most elaborate song, dance and musical production.

Louise Mele, Broadway's most promising young dancer, is included in the county's array of charming dancers.

"America's Blackface Songster," better known as Joe Darcey, adds a dash of song comedy to the program and specializes in clever patter intermixed with songs of his own composition.

Bill Talent and Flo Merit present "Over the Plate" which is not a baseball episode but concerns reducing and extracting laughs from the audience.

Moore and Pal are neither exclusive dancers nor exclusive acrobats. They keep you watching and wondering just which it will turn out to be—a clever dance step or an acrobatic act.

Songs as songs should be and dance as danced best are Nathane and Sully's favorite accomplishments.

Charlie Murray will be seen on the screen in "The Life of Riley," also comedy and Paramount News.

Monte Blue in "The Bush Leaguer," showing at the Olympic theater today.

Monte Blue has played many sorts of red-blooded heroes. Everyone remembers "The Limited Mail," "The Black Diamond Express," "The Brute," "Wolf's Clothing" and a score of other film triumphs in which Warner Bros. have starred the versatile young actor. But never has he given a more amusing and sympathetic characterization than that of "Specs" White, the Idaho small town boy.

Ridiculed for his ambition to make a fortune out of the gas pump he has invented, Specs plays ball on the sand-lot next to his garage when a scout from Los Angeles sees his pitching and offers him a chance on a big league team. How his courage wilts and is revived by the young lady who owns the team, and how he wins the game, and the lady, by a home run, together with scores of other dramatic and rib-tickling episodes, make "The Bush Leaguer" a play among a thousand, now showing at the Olympic theater.

Musical Program Given At Iowa Park School

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Nov. 16.—A large crowd attended the fourth Lyceum number which was given at the high school auditorium last night. The DeLong Trio, known as the "accordion girls," gave a varied program of classical and popular numbers, interspersed with songs and whistling numbers. The clever costuming added much to the program.
