Golden Tornadoes Meet Sweetwater Mustangs Here Friday Night

Lamesa meet Sweetwater "Mustangs" on McCollum Field for the last night game of this season Friday night at 8:15. The Sweetwater team is undefeated and untied and have proved their strength by taking Abilene 26 to 7 last week. Their power is no consolation to the Tornadoes, excepting that the Lamesa boys are glad to be members of the 3 AA District and highest conference and take all comers regardless of advance notices for better or worse. The Lamesa boys found that their scoring power works by scoring against Big Spring and San Angelo. They are determined to do everything in their power to uphold Golden Tornado traditions against the famous visitors and expect to "shoot the works" against Sweetwater.

Turner, Sweetwater back, formerly of Hermleigh, Texas, is one of the leading scorers in 1942 high school football and is now being groomed for an All-State berth by Sweetwater backers. Lamesa's Taylor, Reeves, Roberts, Eudy, Wise, and Burnet plan to join Aslin, Beck, Bussell, Hawkins, Reece, Privitt, Dunn, Bratcher and Drennan as linebackers and linemen respectively to give the Mustangs an old fashioned Lamesa scrapping game mixed with some overhead football. Tornado Queen White with her assistants, June Winner and Jo Ann Phinizy working with the Pep Squad sponsor, Miss Carolyn Seale and Pep Squad members are making preparations together with the Golden Tornado Band for their last night between halves display of school spirit.

The Sweetwater team and fans will arrive late in the afternoon of Friday, and will use the gymnasium as their headquarters.

Tickets will be on sale at the usual places.

ROY D. VAN LIEW PROMOTED TO PRIVATE FIRST CLASS AT LUBBOCK FLYING SCHOOL

Private Roy D. Van Liew of Lamesa, Texas, has been promoted to the grade of Private First Class, it was announced today by Col. Norman B. Olsen, commanding officer of South Plains Army Flying School, "Home of the Winged Commandos."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Van Liew of Sylvester, Texas.

Subscribers Are Asked To Check Expiration Dates

Courier readers are asked to watch their expiration dates on their subscriptions in order that they not miss a single issue of their home town newspaper.

In other words, if the numbers following your name on your paper read 11-42, that means that your subscription will expire on November 1, 1942, and that unless you renew your subscription will be stopped at that time.

The subscription price of the Courier is now $2.00 per year in Dawson, Martin, Gaines, Borden and Lynn Counties, $1.25 for six months, or $3.00 for two years. The subscription price outside this territory is $3.00 per year.

Angelo 'Bobcats' Hand Lamesa 47 To 7 Defeat

The San Angelo "Bobcats" were too strong for the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes last Friday night and won the football game by the score of 47 to 7. The game was more interesting from spectator viewpoints, it is reported, than the score would ordinarily indicate. The Lamesa team displayed strong defense at times to set the "Bobcats" on their heels. There were plenty of instances of sharp tackling by the lighter "Tornadoes" which if it could last for a game would prevent scoring. The Tornadoes just did not have the speed, brawn, and reserves the "Bobcats" possess this season.

Taylor, Eudy and Reeves won the praises of the crowd by their defense against mass blocking. The passing of Reeves was outstandingly strong. Roberts hit the local hall of fame by catching a 40 yard pass among a mass of Bobcats and snake-hipping loose to cover the pay-off stripe for Lamesa's only score. Hawkins at end was good at gathering in Reeves long heave, but could never get across the goal for a counter.

Beck, Aslin and Drennan dealt the Bobcat line blow for blow and won the respect of the opposition's linemen as well as of their backs whom the Lamesa linemen met the hard way many times.

It is seldom that a team continues the use of first team members as happened against Lamesa, but the Bobcat coaches evidently wanted their team to profit from the kind of opposition the Tornadoes provided, as preparation for their game with Odessa, October 30th. The San Angelo team used forward passes for scores after obtaining a commanding lead with the Golden Tornadoes tired and unable to match them in speed and height.

It was another case of "a better game than the score indicated."

Five Amendments To Be Voted On Next Tuesday

When Texas voters go to the polls a week from Tuesday, their ballot on five constitutional amendments will lift the general election above the familiar routine rubber-stamping of Democratic nominees.

While both the Republican and the new-born People's Unity parties have candidates for United States Senator in opposition to the Democratic nominee, W. Lee O'Daniel, his election may be regarded as a certainty.

The same holds true for the governorship, with only apathetic Republican opposition to nominee Coke R. Stevenson. Statewide interest as a result has focused on the constitutional amendments, at least one of which has aroused some controversy.

Would Require Certification As summarized on the ballot, (Continued on Back Page)

Special Problems

Governor Coke R. Stevenson who has urged the 35-mile maximum speed limit as the most effective means of conserving rubber — the announced objective of gasoline restrictions — revealed an OPA official indicated the special transportation needs and problems in Texas would receive attention.

John Stringer, Survivor Of Two Ship Sinkings, And Who Was Cited For Bravery, Completes 'Sub' Course

The Quail and the Bittern went down from under him. He saw Cavite, Bataan, Corregidor under fire. He dodged Jap shells for thirty-two days, he and 17 shipmates fought the elements in a 36-foot motor launch and found their way to Australia—200 miles.

Now he's ready to take his cracks back at the slant-eyes. "He" is John Samuel Stringer, 31, chief machinist's mate, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Stringer, route 4 Lamesa. Chief Stringer has completed basic training at the Submarine School, Submarine Base, New London, Conn., for duty with our growing fleet of undersea fighters.

The submariner will be entitled to wear the twin dolphin insignia of the submarine service after further experience aboard a submarine during which he must demonstrate to his commanding officer that he is fully qualified in the duties of his rate. The insignia is regarded as a mark of distinction throughout the Navy.

Already advanced in rating for meritorious conduct and cited for bravery four times, Stringer is all the more anxious to return to the Pacific to square a few accounts. "I want to be in the party that makes a landing in Japan," he said.

Born in Gainesville, Ga., Stringer attended high school in Hartley, Texas. He enlisted in July 1935 and saw service aboard a heavy cruiser before being transferred to minesweepers.

The Submarine School, the only one of its kind, in the Navy, is attended by a picked group of men who must pass special physical, mental, and psychological tests.

The school work takes place not only in classrooms and laboratories, but also in numerous training submarines in which the students master the actual techniques of operating the powerful fighting craft.

Many students at Submarine School already have seen marine duty. Others are fresh from training stations, but all graduates are sure of action once they are assigned to a submarine due for offensive patrol.

Large numbers of recent students now are serving in submarines which have sunk enemy naval or merchant vessels.

A survey taken at the Submarine School disclosed that the following main reason prompt most volunteers for this service: (1) The virtual certainty of immediate, effective action in an offensive weapon; (2) fifty per cent additional pay; (3) an excellent opportunity to learn various trade specialties such as diesels or electricity; (4) the prestige of submarine sailors in the eyes of the Fleet; and (5) the close comradeship of a submarine.

Local Merchants Get Campaign Of Hanes Underwear

This fall, the P. H. Hanes Knitting Company of Winston - Salem North Carolina, begin their 31st consecutive year of underwear advertising.

Appearing in the Dawson County Courier and in 883 other newspapers throughout the nation, this Hanes newspaper advertising is easily the largest in the underwear field. In addition, Hanes advertisements will appear in the Farm Journal, Progressive Farmer, Southern Agriculturist, Grit and Household Magazine. The total circulation of the advertising is 30 million.

Over the years, Hanes has found that newspaper advertising is the retailer's best medium. It reaches customers directly and quickly. Sales-results are gained on the day the advertisement appears.

The middleweight Hanes Winter Sets which have proved so popular with men and boys everywhere are being particularly featured in this Hanes advertising. These middle-weight garments provide outdoor warmth with indoor comfort... just the weight for modern winter heating, both at work and at home. Hanes Winter-Sets have the Hanes-knit Crotch-Guard which gives gentle athletic support with the conveniences of a buttonless vent. Hanes Union Suits are also included in the advertising.

You will like the advertisements themselves. They have the light humorous touch that attracts readers. They are designed to appeal both to men and to the women who buy underwear for their menfolks.

To protect good-will for Hanes Dealers, every advertisement also mentions that while Hanes is making every effort to keep civilian customers supplied, much of Hanes production is going to the Armed Forces. This will help customers to understand when they cannot always obtain their favorite style of Hanes Underwear.

Thousands of Hanes Dealers have found it profitable to use Hanes advertisements as a means of featuring their own stores. By running small, inexpensive tie-in advertisements immediately beneath the larger Hanes advertisements, they have directed readers to their doors. Thousands of these tie-in advertisements were used in the past year. Dealers report that they have brought sales not only of Hanes Underwear but also of shirts, socks, ties and other items, and started many NEW customers into the habit of coming to their store.

The advertising department of the Courier has a number of these attractive small-space advertisements, available with free mats. Our representative will be glad to show you these advertisements, tell what they have done for other Hanes Dealers in this territory, and give you the very modest figures on their cost. Just telephone 102.

Cow Tissue Heal Human Wounds

By H. W. BLAKESLEE
Wide World Science Editor
NEW YORK — In Jerusalem some scientists are using extracts of living tissues to speed healing of wounds, all because an old belief was scrapped.

It has been well known for many years that extracts of embryonic tissues promote healing of wounds. The belief was that only embryonic tissues possessed this healing power.

The reason for that belief appears to have been merely the influence of a great man's example. Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute used extracts of embryonic chicken hearts in a world-famous experiment for growth promotion.

Thereafter the medical profession tried out embryonic tissue extracts for wound healing. The tissue substances worked well. But embryonic extracts are difficult to obtain, and so this treatment never got much use.

It occurred to three pathologists of the Hebrew University that perhaps adult tissue extracts which are easy and cheap to get, might possess healing powers. The three are L. Doljanski, R. S. Hoffman and E. Tennenbaum.

They tried test tube experiments which indicated they were right and finally used adult tissue extracts on human wounds. The adult extracts appear to be fully as effective as embryonic material. The adult extracts are from heart muscles of cows, rabbits or dogs. Other muscle tissue and brains have also furnished good wound healing materials.

JUDGES NOW SENTENCE BAD DOGS TO THE ARMY

NEW YORK (AP)—The old habit of judges suspending sentence on young men guilty of slight crimes is they enlist in the Army is now being applied to dogs.

The City Board of Health has ruled that if a dog bites a total of three persons, it will either be put to death or sent to the Army, which needs dogs for local defense, field messenger work and other services.

'HASHING' GOES OUT FOR THE DURATION

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — 'Hashing', time-honored occupation by which college students worked for their meals, has all but vanished.

With well-paid defense jobs available, men students are not interested. Some sororities rotate their own members on a cooperative basis, one has put in cafeteria service and some omit one meal a day.

Stanford university had arranged to have eleven minor offenders paroled from the county jail to work in campus cafeterias. Then a university official forbade the experiment.

There are 2,000 species of snakes.

How To Do Your Own Hair

By BETTY CLARKE
Wide World Beauty Editor
When your hairdresser teaches you how to do your own hair, that's news.

It's happening in New York, where the trend of the times has impelled a top-flight hair stylist, Lura de Gez, to give her clients lessons in home made coiffures. It may mean less business for the hairdresser, says Lura, but after all, this is war-time, and girls who work long hours at new jobs often don't have time to get professionally beautified.

So the self-service hairdo course is born. It teaches busy girls how to brush, shampoo and re-style their hair, even to the mysterious business of producing a finger wave with the aid of water and bobby pins.

The first thing stressed is thorough brushing, with the head down to stimulate circulation in the scalp. This should be done before and after the home shampoo.

There's a trick to giving yourself a professional-looking finger wave. Girls are taught to wind the curls from the end of the hair and not from the scalp, fasten them neatly with one bobby pin, with the end of the hair tucked underneath. The curls should be pinned in even rows around the head, with no loose ends waving in the breeze.

After the last pin is in place, the hair is covered with a large triangle net, tied securely around the head with a knot in front. You may then go to bed in comfort, and wake up with hair dry and neatly curled the next morning.

Whatever the reason for the slow-motion pace of Japan's attempt to regain lost ground in the Solomons, it is so striking a departure from previous practice as to invite conjecture.

The implication is that the enemy is forced to move with extreme caution. For the first time, except for abortive attacks in New Guinea, Japanese leadership has been dealt a hand with certain major trumps lacking. It can count neither on surprise nor air superiority. If there is a grim joker in the deck, it is apt to be disclosed in the American hand. Not the Japanese, this time.

If there is any parallel for the week lost since Japanese landings in force were effected on Guadalcanal without a major battle developing either ashore or afloat, off-hand memories of Nipponese blitzkrieg methods in China, the Philippines, Malaya, the Dutch Indies and Burma do not call it to mind. All of those campaigns of conquest were driven forward at amazing speed.

One Notable Delay

MacArthur's stand on Bataan caused the only previous notable delay in the Japanese conquest schedule unless his defense of New Guinea has also upset Tokyo's plans. There is not much doubt also that his long range bombers are now contributing vitally to the defense of Guadalcanal in two days.

The information they supply as to the whereabouts and movements of Japanese warcraft and supply and troop convoys in the Solomons may be more vital in setting the stage for the ultimate clash than the damage their bombs do, serious as that may be.

The prime uncertainty with which the foe must reckon is the whereabouts and strength of American naval forces. A substantial part of the air forces available to the Nipponese commander in the Solomons zone, certainly a Navy man, must be seeking that information. That not only limits the air power that can be thrown into action over Guadalcanal to aid a land attack or shelter additional landings. It sharply restricts Japanese ability to screen important movements of fleets or convoys from American eyes.

Fifth Column Missed

The Japanese commander also is feeling the lack of fifth-column agents with means of communication in the Solomons. They help materially at every preceding stage of the long-plotted Japanese attempt to master the Pacific.

The air scouting as well as the air bombing odds are against him. That he hesitates risking swift action and is groping for some sign of American main fleet dispositions before moving in is understandable. He must know even better than his opponents how crucial for Japan's whole war design a bad sea defeat could be.

Yet the certainty expressed by Secretary Knox and American naval authorities that the foe still is to strike his greatest blow in the Solomons rest on something more than greater specific information as to the Japanese forces assigned to the task. It is founded very largely on the conclusion that having begun the attempt to retake Guadalcanal, Tokyo dare not permit its abandonment or that it could long lag.

The timing of Admiral Jean Darlan's inspection trip to the French outpost in West Africa, Dakar, is related in Vichy advices to Axis insistence that an Allied attack on that strategic key to the south Atlantic is brewing. In view of the crisis in France over Nazi efforts to dragon skilled labor recruits for German war factories, however, it could have quite another meaning.

Observers in Switzerland in close touch with French public resistance to the Vichy-Berlin collaboration move see in it a possibility of another political eclipse for Pierre Laval, arch French collaborationist. They detected something like swansong under-tones in Laval's radio appeal to French workers to accept his program or take the consequences at German hands.

Some of those at the Swiss listening posts suggest that one purpose for Darlan's trip is to look over defense possibility in the event some sort of French government decides to move from Vichy to Dakar.

Darlan Next In Line

In the event of Laval's retirement as Vichy chief of state, or his removal by Berlin fiat, Darlan would seem to be in line to take over. The French sailor-politician actually is No. 1 man designate in the regime at Vichy imposed on old Marshall Petain by the Nazis in which he was compelled to recall Laval.

Darlan was placed in command of all French armed forces. He was also specifically designated by Petain as his successor.

British fear that Laval's return to power meant transfer of the still powerful French fleet to Germany was running high at that time, but Darlan asserted that Hitler had not asked him "to hand over" the fleet.

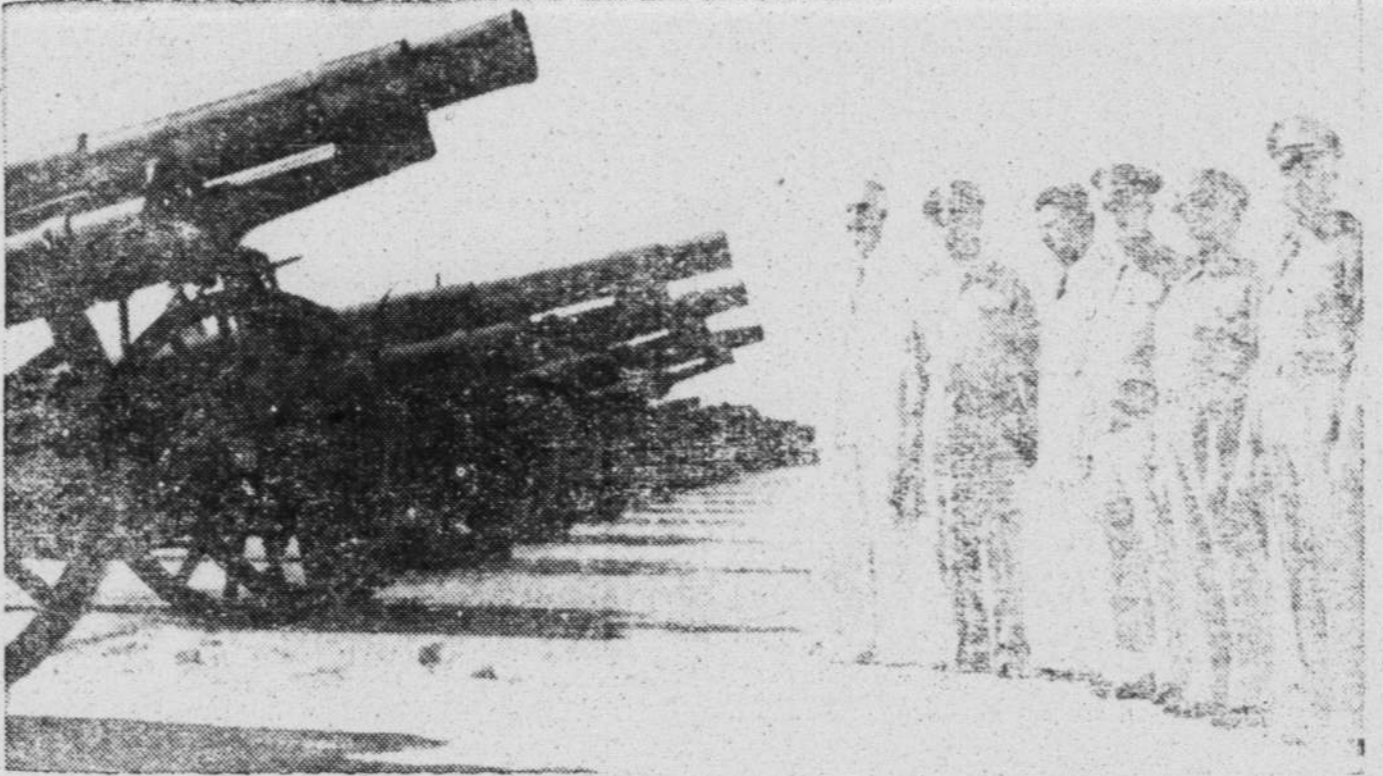

Presumably Darlan, like Laval, then shared Hitler's confidence of German victory. Presumably, also, Darlan was wholly unaware of Hitler's plan to attack Russia a month later or of Axis designs for a Japanese attack on the United States.

Is Military Man

Whether he still shares Laval's confidence in ultimate Axis triumph in the war is questionable. He is a military man as well as a politician—as Laval is not.

Darlan well might deem this an

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Since 1887 the college agriculture at the University of Nevada has been the haven of men students. This semester it was invaded by Janet Rankin expedient moment to absent himself from continental France. There is some warrantable suspicion that he is anxious to disassociate himself with Laval's effort to force reluctant French labor into the business of making munitions for the Nazis.

Prompt official Vichy admiralty denial that any aid and comfort for Axis U-boats was being French-provided at Dakar is significant. Darlan is the French admiralty.

That fleet is Darlan's political ace-in-the-hole whether dealing with Berlin, the Allies or the French public.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 25

A full-scale British offensive in Egypt, unquestionably primed with high hopes of routing Axis forces from North Africa, came at a critical moment for Russia.

Coupled with the first onset of winter in the vital Don-Volga steppes on the Stalingrad siege perimeter, it looms as a definite Allied second front operation calculated to compel immediate heavy withdrawals from Russia of Nazi airpower to meet the triple land-sea-air threat across the Mediterranean.

Blow To Nazis

That must lead to Nazi abandonment of the effort to anchor a winter defense line in Russia on the Volga at Stalingrad if the Allied Egyptian offensive is driven home successfully. It well might mean a Nazi retreat on a wide front in Russia, both in the Don-Volga bulge and southward in the Caucasus, if Rommel's African corps is badly mauled in Egypt. The effect of a swift British advance to or beyond the Egyptian - Libyan border probably would more quickly and decisively influence the situation in Russia than anything short of a major Anglo - American invasion attempt against the continent from the west.

Even Nazi war bulletins from the active fronts in Russia have been filled for several days with weather excuses for delay. That had already forecast another winter halt for Hitler in Russia short of decisive achievements.

Americans In Fight

The British offensive in Egypt, this time supported by American airforce units, starts with weather portents in its favor. The best fighting season in the North African desert is at hand. That has been 1 of the factors indicating for weeks that the first strong allied counter blow to aid Russia would be struck in North Africa.

There seems no doubt that it is a full scale offensive. Its complete scope and strategic pattern may not be discernible for several days. It seems obvious that the first attempt of the Allies is to pin Rommel in the narrow corridor between the sea and Qattara depression for annihilation rather than to drive him back into Libya.

Farm Storage Cotton Eligible For Loan

Government loans on cotton in farm storage will be made this year for the first time, Fred Rennels, assistant state administrative officer of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency, announced today.

Heretofore, farm-stored wheat and other grains have been eligible for loan in restricted areas, but only cotton stored in commercial warehouses could be placed under government loan. Under the new provision, loans on farm-stored cotton will be available throughout the Cotton Belt.

Under the 1942 cotton loan program, loans will be available only to cooperators on eligible cotton stored in approved farm structures. The farm storage phase of the loan program will be administered in each county by the Agricultural Conservation Committee, and a member of the committee must approve all loans.

A storage allowance of 10 cents a bale per month will be allowed the producer storing cotton on the farm, provided the cotton is delivered to Commodity Credit Corporation in satisfaction of the loan. Farm-stored cotton offered as security will be inspected by a county loan inspector appointed by the county AAA committee. Such cotton will be classed by a U. S. Board of Cotton Examiners.

To be acceptable for cotton storage, a farm structure must be in such condition that it will (1) protect the cotton from damage by rain, snow, flood, and ground water; (2) provide protection from damage by poultry and livestock; and (3) provide reasonable protection against loss by fire and theft.

The structures in which the cotton may be stored, the AAA official explained, must be located within a REASONABLE distance of adequate water supply which is constantly available for use in case of fire, and a floor or supports to keep the cotton off the ground. Storage which is part of a barn containing hay or other highly inflammable materials will not be approved.

"With a shortage of commercial warehouses in evidence," Rennels said, "the new farm storage plan will enable more cotton farmers to use the advantages of the government loan. It is another forward step taken by the government to assist farmers who are making such a valuable contribution to the nation's war effort."

Local county AAA offices can supply full information to farmers desiring to obtain a loan on farm-stored cotton. Loan forms and instructions are now being distributed to county offices.

West Texans Swell Enlistments Of All Armed Branches

West Texans really believe in doing their part when it comes to "joining up" with Uncle Sam's fighting men. Based on total population, the West Texas Army Recruiting and Induction District led in September volunteer enlistments in the entire Eighth Service Command. Each day sees large numbers of West Texans of all ages joining the thirteen branches of America's rapidly growing army, which are open to men between the ages of 18 and 45. Some branches are also open for men up to 50.

Regardless of everything else the people of West Texas are determined to do their part in bringing about the downfall of the Axis nations as quickly as possible.

At this time special openings in all of the 13 branches of the service are available to young men of 18 and 19. The army is in urgent need of young men who are capable of quick thinking. The army needs young men capable of becoming officers. These special opportunities are available only to young men of 18 and 19 years of age.

Ample opportunities are also open to men of 20 to 45. Mechanics and skilled workmen are needed now to keep Uncle Sam's war machines rolling. The man who has made his living with his hands can help to win this war by working in the army at the trade he knows. There is a place for every able bodied man to serve.

This is a woman's war as well as a man's war. The women of the nation have found a definite place to serve in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. Women between the ages of 21 and 45 who are in good health and of excellent character are needed NOW to replace men for combat duty.

There is a place of service for every West Texan who wants to do his part. West Texas will not let Uncle Sam down.

You can join the branch of your choice by inquiring at any one of the Army Recruiting Stations located at Odessa, Big Spring, Sweetwater, Pampa, Amarillo, Plainview, El Paso, Fort Bliss, and Lubbock.

Locomotives and freight cars are built in Britain to transport supplies to Russia over the Persian railroads.

FACTORY PRESSMAN RATES 'BEST-PAID AUTHOR' BOW

AKRON, O. (AP) — In this year's list of "best-paid authors" the name of Paul Eckler, pressman at a B. F. Goodrich plant, should be up among the leaders. For Paul gets $44.45 a word. At least, that's the per-word rate represented by the $400 check he got for one nine-word sentence.

Nine words were all he needed to lay before the labor-management "suggestion-box" committee and idea for speeding war production. The committee figured the idea was worth $400 on the basis of indicated savings in man-hours and increase in production.

ART CROWDED OUT

SALINA, Kas. (AP) — Postmaster R. J. Pafford has protested a proposal to paint murals in the Salina postoffice lobby. He's not again it for reasons having to do with art. The lobby is just too crowded right now to leave room for an artist to work.

It takes 8,000 man hours to make an American pursuit plane.

OPERATIC WARDROBE HITS THE SCRAP PILE

NEW YORK (AP) — Brunnhilde will ride again, but this time Helen Traubel, the St. Louis girl who has become a mainstay of the Wagnerian Opera at the Metropolitan, will be armored in plastics.

Miss Traubel appeared recently at the headquarters of the American Women's Volunteer Services, bearing under her arm the plumed helmet, the spear and the shield she has been carrying as Brunnhilde. She gave them to the scrap campaign, 17 pounds of tin, copper and aluminum.

Texas Car—

country, special needs and problems in Texas will get attention."

Basic Allotment

Whether this meant that Texas motor car owners generally would receive more than the basic national allotment of somewhat less than four gallons a week was not immediately determined.

The OPA announcement from Fort Worth said school teachers would receive applications from passenger car owners and issue basic or "A" ration books entitling holders to enough gasoline for 2,880 miles of travel yearly. It added that application forms for supplemental rations will be available at schools and will be filled out and presented later to county rationing boards.

Rubber Director William Jeffers recently informed Texas officials county boards would determine the essential gasoline needs of each applicant.

Understands Problems

Jeffers said he understood in the western and southwestern special transportation problems states which lack transportation facilities, other than motor cars, available in eastern seaboard states.

Application blanks will be made available at county rationing boards and the inspection stations soon after Nov. 7.

State Superintendent of Education L. A. Woods announced that county and city school superintendents had been asked to make teaching staffs available for registration duties and that the job could be done without ordering school holidays. Registration supplies should be available by Nov. 7.

State officials have represented to federal authorities that enforcement of the 35-mile speed limit ordered by the Office of Defense Transportation would result automatically in voluntary gasoline rationing in Texas where distances generally are great and where some city transit systems are inadequate.

State-Wide Limit

The 35-mile limit is now being enforced on a statewide basis and violators are subject to fines.

Homer Garrison, Jr., director of state police, expressed the opinion, based on personal observations, that more than 90 per cent of all drivers are heeding the speed limitation.

Governor Stevenson held a similar opinion, noting that on a recent round trip to San Antonio only one car passed him going in the same direction. Garrison had a similar experience on a trip.

5 Amendments—

This amendment would require appropriation bills passed by the legislature to be presented to and certified by the comptroller of public accounts as to available funds for payment thereof, limiting appropriations to the total of such available funds, providing for issuance of bonds to pay off state obligations outstanding Sept. 1, 1943, and fixing the duties of the legislature and the comptroller of public accounts with reference thereto.

Proponents of this amendment have advocated it on the basis that it provides a method for reducing the huge general deficit, and that it was designed to prevent legislative appropriations unless funds are available or in sight. Opponents have criticized it partly because they claim the wording of the amendment, providing that appropriations in excess of cash or anticipated revenues may be made "in case of emergency and imperative public necessity and with a four-fifths vote of the total membership of each house" could possibly defeat the avowed purpose of the proposal.

Convention Frowns On Act

The state Democratic convention in September passed a resolution frowning on this amendment. Rep. W. O. Reed, author of the resolution submitting the amendment, said he was mystified as to "where the opposition came from."

Most major appropriations bills usually pass by heavy majorities.

Also attracting considerable attention is the amendment which

Local Men Join Army Air Forces As Specialists

SAN ANGELO AAF BOMBARDIER SCHOOL — Men from Lamesa who have volunteered for enlistment during the past two weeks as specialists through Uncle Sam's newest war college here include the following:

Henry L. Clark, Jr.
Ewell S. Agnew.

These men, who have had experience as mechanics, welders, sheet-metal or radio workers, expected to qualify under the air forces specialists procurement program which ends November 1. Many of them were encouraged to enlist through the new bombardier school in San Angelo by the fact that more than 450 promotions among enlisted men have been announced at the school during the past month.

Those who are accepted will be able to name their branch of service, the air forces, to pick the type of work they will do and in which they will receive further training, and to select the bombardier school as the station to which they will in all probability be initially assigned.

Colonel George M. Palmer, commanding officer of the school warned all West Texans that their last chance for such an opportunity is expected to end Nov. 1, Saturday.

During the fall months Lamesa will be short of milk on week-ends. Our migrating population together with reduced milk production will be the cause. Shortage of labor and the high price of cows have caused several dairymen to sell out recently. We will do our best to replace this supply, and distribute the milk we have as fairly and uniformly as possible. If you cannot get all the milk you want, don't get hot and bothered... remember, we don't like a situation like this either. Our business is to sell milk, but we can't sell milk when we don't have it or can't get it. This is not written to alarm our customers, but to tell you why milk will be scarce on Saturdays in Lamesa.
