Ameche To Attempt Completion At C-W Borden Prospector

An attempted Pennsylvanian completion is slated for the Don Ameche and associates No. 1 W. D. Johnson, wildcat in Central-West Borden County.

From a perforated section at 8,250-70 feet, operators swabbed naturally five to six barrels of fluid, mostly oil, per hour. Then after a 500-gallon acid washing, fluid recovery was increased to between six and 10 barrels hourly. Shakeout on the last test was approximately 15 per cent drilling mud and five per cent water from an undetermined source.

Operators are continuing to test and will attempt to complete as some sort of an oil well from the Pennsylvanian.

Drilled To Ellenburger

The No. 1 Johnson bottomed at 9,734 feet in barren Ellenburger, then plugged and cemented five and one-half inch casing at 8,420 feet. Electric log surveys indicated possibilities of production in the upper zone.

This possible discovery is 669 feet from south and 676 feet from west lines of the northeast quarter of section 45, block 32, T-5-N, T&P survey. Drillsite is 12 miles southwest of Gail.

Strawn Yields Oil, Water In Scurry

Possibilities of a small Strawn discovery have been indicated by Cities Service Oil Company No. 1-B Taylor, wildcat, in Central-South Scurry County.

This prospective opener recovered 10.56 barrels of oil and 17.2 barrels of salt water on a drillstem test in the Strawn at 7,089-118 feet.

On the test, the tool was open three hours. Gas surfaced in eight minutes and was rated at 75,000 cubic feet per day.

Recovery when the tool was pulled was 3,232 feet of fluid. Recovery broken down into barrels was 10.56 barrels of oil, four barrels of oil and gas cut mud, and 17.2 barrels of salt water. Flowing pressure varied between 200 and 800 pounds.

Drilling Ahead

The venture is now drilling below 7,224 feet in lime and shale streaks. It is contracted to 7,500 feet, and if no other possibilities of production are encountered when that depth is reached, operator possibly will plug back to the Strawn and attempt to make some sort of a commercial oil well.

The No. 1-B Taylor originally was a depleted producer on the northeast edge of the Sharpn Ridge 2400 field. Cities Service took over the well and is deepening it to test through the Pennsylvanian zones in that area.

Drillsite is 330 feet from north and west lines of southeast quarter of section 133, block 97, H&TC survey. It is one mile northwest of Ira, and three and one-half miles southeast of Canyon production in the Sharon Ridge Canyon field.

SW Martin Wildcat Develops More Signs

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-E-B George W. Glass, Southwest Martin County wildcat, 12 miles north of Midland, and 18 miles west of Stanton has found more shows of production in the Pennsylvanian lime.

It ran a drillstem test in that zone at 10,692-767 feet. The tool was open four hours. Gas showed at the surface in 18 minutes.

Recovery was 60 feet of gas cut mud and 340 feet of oil and gas cut mud. That 340 feet of fluid was estimated to have been 40 per cent 45-gravity oil. There was no water.

The prospector is making hole below 10,799 feet in lime.

The first shows of production in this project in the Pennsylvanian were in a drillstem test at 10,616-693 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 13, block 39, TP survey T-1-N.

Goldsmith Opener To Test Upper Section

Amcan Oil Corporation has proven for flowing production from the Lower Clear Fork in its No. 1-D Blakeney, Northwest Ector County wildcat, four miles north of the town of Goldsmith and is now preparing to test in the upper Clear Fork pay and make a dual completion.

The testing in the upper Clear Fork will be through perforations in the casing at 5,486-5,560 feet; at 5,590-5,650 feet and at 5,680-5,735 feet.

Those intervals will be tested naturally, and then probably will be acidized. That horizon showed for production when it was drillstem tested while drilling was in progress.

The lower Clear Fork has shown for at least 50 barrels of oil per hour, flowing.

Made 15 BOPH

On the testing in that zone, the open hole at 6,230-70 feet was washed with 500 gallons of mud acid, and then treated with 2,000 gallons of regular acid.

After it recovered the acid load and residue it flowed to tanks for three hours. During the first hour it made 15 barrels of oil, through a 21/64-inch tubing choke. In the second hour the well flowed 18 barrels of oil through a 24/64th inch tubing choke. In the third hour the production was 18 barrels of oil, flowing through a 23/64th inch tubing choke.

This section showed very little oil when it was tested naturally.

After the three hour flow the open hole was shut off and the perforations in the lower Clear

'Reserves Not To Be Called Yet'—Johnson

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson said Monday there is no present intention to mobilize reserves in this country in connection with the Korean crisis.

Johnson made the statement to White House reporters after a conference with President Truman at which he brought the President up to date on developments in the Korean fighting.

He was commenting on a story by David Lawrence, columnist, who said Monday the first step in a limited mobilization may come this week with a call for "volunteer reserves" to come to active duty.

Lawrence said this step "is imperative if the Navy, for example, is to get the personnel to man the ships needed this very month."

Asked if there was any prospect of a partial mobilization, Johnson replied:

"Not at the present time."

In response to another question, Johnson said that under recently-enacted law the President could, if he considered it necessary, call reserves to active duty without their consent.

Koreans Get Mustangs

Johnson refused to comment further. He spent about 20 minutes with the President and brought with him Deputy Secretary of Defense Stephen T. Early and Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

The Air Force said, meanwhile, that the last of the 10 F-51 Mustangs alloted to the South Koreans last week had been delivered to Korean pilots in Japan.

These planes were turned over to South Korea under the military assistance program before the United States intervened in the Korean fighting with direct ground, sea and air support.

Defense spokesmen here were unable to clarify the fluid battleline situation in the Suwon area. They said South Korean troops apparently still held Suwon, but added that invading patrols are so close that the air field there probably was useless to either side.

China Reds Prepare To Send Troops Into South Korean Area

HONG KONG —(AP)— Chinese Communists are mobilizing their armies for participation in the Korea campaign "within the next 40 days," independent Chinese newspapers reported Monday.

At the same time, the Communists tried to whip up public opinion against America's "armed invasion of the territory of China." This referred to the United State's announced intention to defend Nationalist Formosa.

Canton, China, and Portuguese Macao dispatches to independent newspapers said 26,000 Communist troops already are bound by rail from South China to join North Korean forces. Other units have been alerted.

One paper said more than 20,000 troops between Canton and Macao were ordered to arrive at the "Manchurian front" within 40 days and prepare "for any unforeseen development."

Another dispatch from Canton reported 6,000 troops of the Red's 137th Division had been rushed by rail to Hankow, 500 miles north, to await further orders.

'Dead' Bomb Explodes, Kills Houston Man

HOUSTON—(AP)—William Alford, 40, died early Monday from burns and injuries sustained Saturday when he pulled the pin on a bomb he found in his backyard.

On his death bed Alford told officers, "I pulled a pin out to examine it and it exploded. It was a small bomb, and I thought it was dead."

The explosion was heard four blocks away, police were told.

Death Toll For Holiday Up To 375

By The Associated Press

The nation's weekend accidental death toll had climbed to 375 Monday as millions of motorists took to highways and beaches for the July 4 celebration.

The National Safety Council had said it would be the biggest four-day traffic jam in history and predicted 385 would be killed before it ends, about midnight Tuesday.

The council estimated that 36,000,000 vehicles would be on the highways between 6 p.m. (local times) Friday and midnight Tuesday. But the homeward movement was expected to be spread over more time than the mass departures. Many of the celebrants had to return to their jobs Monday, while others, mostly office workers, will not return to work until Wednesday.

Highway mishaps had caused 252 deaths. There were 74 drownings, one fireworks fatality, and 48 from other miscellaneous causes.

Leading the death parade across the nation Monday was Michigan with a total of 30 violence victims. California was second with 28. Texas and New York reported 21 each, Ohio 20 and Pennsylvania 19.

Canadian River Bill Gets Approval

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Senate Interior Committee Monday approved legislation to authorize an $85,000,000 project to supply Canadian River water to a dozen cities in West Texas.

Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) told reporters the bill will not be sent to the Senate floor until it is redrafted to meet suggestions by the Budget Bureau and committee members.

Already passed by the House, the bill proposes a $27,000,000 dam at Sanford, about 40 miles from Amarillo, and a $54,000,000 aqueduct to deliver water to towns and cities throughout the Texas Panhandle and High Plains area.

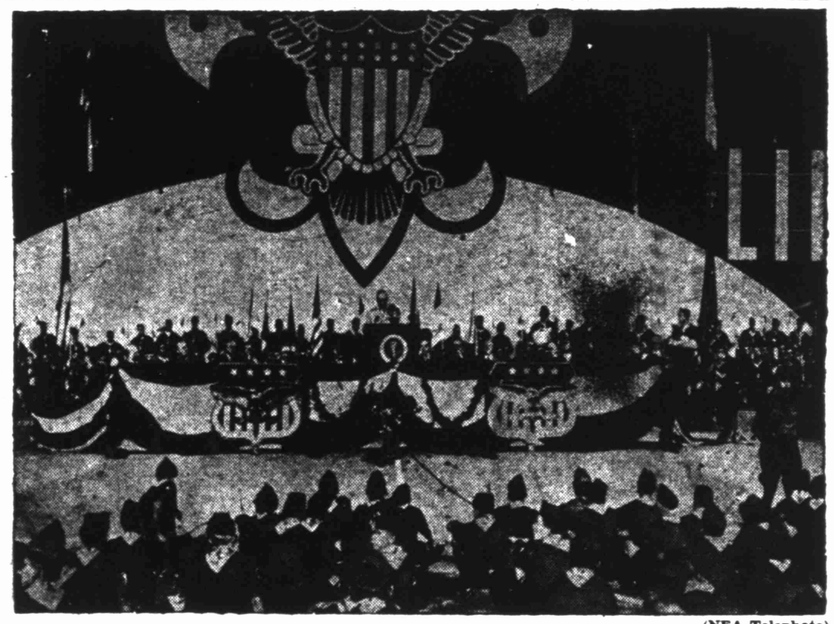

Midlanders To 'Take It Easy' On Fourth

A quiet Fourth of July is in prospect here Tuesday, with no special observance planned and with practically all retail stores, service firms and offices to be closed.

A number of Midlanders will be in Pecos and Stamford to attend annual rodeos, some will follow the Midland Indians to Vernon for a doubleheader baseball attraction Tuesday night and others will spend the holiday fishing, visiting relatives and at cool mountain resorts. But the bulk of the citizenry will "take it easy" at home here.

A record attendance is expected at the Lions Club-sponsored "Fun Night" program Monday night. The Midland Country Club will stage its annual fireworks display Tuesday night.

The Reporter - Telegram will publish early Tuesday.

ADDRESSES SCOUT JAMBOREE—President Truman speaks to a crowd of 47,000 cheering Boy Scouts assembled at Valley Forge, Pa., for their second national jamboree. More subdued than usual, the President bawled out news photographers whose flashbulbs were popping almost constantly in his face.

'Fourth Of July' Dollar Day Crowds Throng Midland

Midland and area shoppers like Fourth of July weekend Dollar Days, if attendance at Midland's July sales attraction Monday is an accurate gauge.

One of the largest crowds of the year was in downtown Midland Monday to shop the Dollar Day bargains, which were offered by practically all retail stores. They came early, before stores opened in some instances, and were staying late.

Streets and sidewalk traffic was heavy and a quick survey disclosed that most stores were exceptionally busy. Clerks were hard-pressed to wait on the scores of customers. Extra clerks were on duty in several establishments.

Dollar Day specials were as hot as the weather and were being snapped-up by shoppers from Midland and other Permian Basin Empire cities in the air-conditioned comfort of the Midland stores.

It appeared that the first Midland Dollar Day of the Summer season would establish new "first Monday" sales records.

Ken Regan Accepts Debate Challenge

Rep. Ken Regan of Midland has advised Fred Hervey of El Paso he will be glad to meet him and Paul Moss of Odessa in a debate at any time and any place.

Hervey last week challenged Regan and Moss to a public debate on controversial campaign issues, to be held in Midland prior to the July 22 Democratic primary. Another debate in Odessa also was suggested. Regan is seeking reelection to a second term in Congress, and is opposed by Moss and Hervey.

In a letter addressed to Hervey, Regan stated:

"I don't know of anything that would afford me more pleasure and satisfaction, or could be more beneficial toward my reelection than to enter into such a debate, and I happily agree to meet you and the judge at any time and any place within the district to discuss all matters pertaining to the beneficial representation in Washington of the people of West Texas."

Regan attended the Pecos Rodeo Saturday and Sunday and plans to be in Odessa and Kermit Tuesday. He returned from Washington Friday.

ABSENTEE VOTING WILL OPEN HERE WEDNESDAY

Absentee voting in the July 22 Democratic primary, scheduled to open Sunday, actually will get underway Wednesday in the county clerk's office in the courthouse, following the long holiday weekend.

Courthouse offices will open Wednesday after being closed Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Big Fireworks Display To Feature 'Fun Night' At Fair Grounds Monday

"Fun Night," Midland's big Fourth of July weekend entertainment, opens at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the grounds of Midland Fair, Inc., on East Highway 80. The festivities will continue uninterrupted throughout the evening.

An elaborate fireworks display, the largest ever seen in West Texas, will be set off at dark to climax the holiday program sponsored by the Midland Lions Club.

Square dance exhibitions by Midland and area clubs, midway attractions, a concert by the Midland Lions Club International Convention Band and other features will provide entertainment for every member of the family.

Roy Minear and Delbert Downing are co-chairmen of the general arrangements committee, with members of the Lions Club and other interested persons assigned to the various work committees. Earl Chapman and Mrs. Bea Halfast are in charge of the square dancing, and Rocky Ford is the concessions chairman.

Square Dancing

The square dance exhibitions will be presented on a specially built platform in front of the huge Fair Park grandstand. Music will be furnished by E. D. Fitzgerald and his Lone Star Ramblers. Square dancing, with everyone invited to participate, will continue on the platform following the fireworks display.

A concert by the famed Midland Lions Club Band, under the direction of Duke Jimerson, will be given following the dance exhibitions.

The bombs, rockets, torpedoes, flares, pin-wheels and other flashy and noisy "things," which make up the fireworks display are on hand and were to be set up Monday

Andrews Man Dies Of Gunshot Wounds; Contractor Charged

BROWNWOOD —(AP)— Luther L. McConnell, 36, of Andrews died Sunday night of gunshot wounds received Wednesday in an apartment here.

Yates Harwell, 51, Andrews dirt contractor, had been charged with assault to murder and freed under $10,000 bond.

The shooting occurred in the apartment of Mrs. Elizabeth Harwell, 31, estranged wife of Harwell.

Mrs. Harwell had been at McConnell's bedside in Memorial Hospital here almost constantly since the shooting.

Sheriff Otis Shaw said Harwell's case would be presented to the grand jury, scheduled to convene here Thursday.

Harwell and McConnell had been neighbors and friends in Andrews.

McConnell came to Brownwood several weeks ago to drill an oil test on the R. R. Holloway farm, west of Brownwood. His wife did not accompany him.

Mrs. Harwell moved to Brownwood from Andrews about a week before the shooting.

McConnell was hit twice in the head, once in the shoulder and another bullet went into his side.

Harwell surrendered to officers after the shooting.

Korea Expresses Thanks For Help From America, UN

TAEJON, KOREA —(AP)— The foreign minister of invaded South Korea Monday thanked the United States and United Nations for support and said this may be "the hour of recession of the tide of communism."

Ben C. Limb issued a statement saying that "America's strong belief in liberty and freedom could not be better expressed than by her realistic action on this July 3, the eve of the United States Independence Day anniversary."

The foreign minister added:

"It has gladdened our hearts to hear how the United Nations has responded to our crucial situation. Thirty-three member nations have publicly proclaimed their sympathy for the Republic of Korea and 10 have acted to back up their words with action if called upon.

"Korea may well become a crystallizing point of all Democratic nations in the world. In future years this devastating experience might well be looked back upon as the hour of recession of the tide of communism."

Britain Unlikely To Send Men To Korea

They spoke after the British cabinet had met and discussed the overall Korean situation.

Midland Has Fifth Suspected Polio Case

Midland's fifth suspected polio case of 1950 was sent to Abilene Sunday after diagnosis at Western Clinic-Hospital. The child, two-year-old Mary Castillo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Castillo, was brought to the hospital Sunday and transferred to Abilene Sunday night.

All five polio cases in Midland this year have been sent to Abilene's Hendrick Memorial Hospital for examination and treatment.

South Forces Still Occupy Key Air Base

TOKYO—(AP)—An air attack on front line positions in South Korea gave American troops an unexpectedly close taste of warfare Monday, but they still have not met the North Korean invaders on the ground.

General MacArthur's headquarters in a communique early Tuesday indicated the far-ranging American and Australian raids had helped bring the invaders almost to a halt.

MacArthur's communique described the invaders as strengthening their antiaircraft around Seoul due to the stinging American and Australian fighter raids.

It also reported the North Koreans were building up supplies and bases for a new drive southward but they were reported to have made no serious progress during Monday's sporadic clashes.

South Koreans defenders still held the key town of Suwon, 23 miles south of Seoul.

Some Tanks Pull Back

Advance headquarters in South Korea said the North Korean spearheads had failed to make any serious progress in a series of breaks through South Korean lines. The drive on Suwon, abandoned American forward base, appeared to have bogged down or collapsed. A spokesman said some of the tanks apparently had pulled back.

There were four hostile columns across the Han River just south of Seoul. The North Korean radio said a fifth column, ramming southward far to the east had seized Wonju, 50 miles east of Seoul.

Of immediate concern to U. S. forces were two tank-led columns which crossed the Han Sunday night. They were reported as much as 25 miles south of the river in a new and menacing breakthrough.

Steady Push Southward

Large numbers of U. S. bombers and fighters roared over the advancing Communists, ripping their columns with rockets, bombs and machine gun fire. No column was reported stopped, however.

Mother Notified Lieutenant Harding Is Combat Casualty

FORT WORTH —(AP)— The death of First Lt. Remer LaVerne Harding, 26, last week off the Japanese coast has been confirmed as a Korean combat casualty, his mother, Mrs. Asle Harding, said here Monday.

The Department of the Air Force notified her Friday that her son's plane crashed Wednesday while attempting a landing on return from an operational mission in Korea.

Harding was the first known Fort Worth casualty in the Korean conflict.

• • •

Lieutenant Harding's widow, the former Barbara Conkling of Midland, is scheduled to arrive here by military plane Tuesday night. She is being flown home from Japan. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conkling of Midland. She had been with her husband in Japan.

TOKYO —(AP)— American and Australian fighter planes wrecked seven North Korean tanks and 22 trucks and shot down two hostile planes Monday, headquarters announced early Tuesday.

American bombers also raided the North Korean capital twice Monday and dropped more than 800 bombs, radio Pyongyang said Monday night.

U. S. Maneuvers To Keep Chinese Forces Out Of Korean War

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States maneuvered Monday to try to keep Chinese forces—both Nationalist and Communist—from becoming involved in the fighting in Korea.

By release of a note to the Nationalist government on Formosa, this government was on record with a warning to Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek that before he dispatches any troops to aid the South Koreans, he should give careful consideration to the defenses of his own Communist - threatened position.

He was advised to consult Gen. Douglas MacArthur on Formose's defense arrangements, and the note disclosed that plans for the consultations between Chiang and MacArthur's headquarters already had been made.

The published American attitude toward Nationalist China's offer of aid to the Korean fighting was based on "the threat of invasion" of Formosa by Chinese Communists. However, it was understood here that a major consideration was the possible reaction of the Communists to any such aid move.

Diplomatic and military authorities were represented as feeling that the entrance of Chiang's forces—he offered an army of 33,000 men—into Korea would be seized upon by the Communists as a convenient excuse for sending their own Chinese troops into the fighting on the side of the Northern invaders.

Showers Forecast For July Fourth

By The Associated Press

Take an umbrella along on your Independence Day picnic. It might rain.

The scattered thundershowers which rumbled over Texas Sunday are expected to continue in some areas through the holiday.

But there won't be much change in temperature. That means, of course, that it will be hot.

Presidio again was the Texas hot spot Sunday with 104. Most high readings were in the 90's. Rain was negligible except for .35 inch at Victoria.

Unidentified Planes Give GI's In Korea First Taste Of War

By TOM LAMBERT

AN ADVANCED AMERICAN POSITION ON THE KOREAN FRONT —(AP)— Five to seven unidentified planes Monday gave American combat troops in South Korea their first taste of warfare in a savage 25-minute strafing and rocket attack.

The aircraft dropped out of a clear sky, unopposed by American fighters, in a fury of fire and flame which shook but did not unnerve the young troops, most of whom never had been in combat.

The raid began about 3:30 p. m. Five airplanes, which had been flying overhead, suddenly dropped like falcons on the mud-walled town in which the Americans have their command post.

The Yanks dived for cover like veterans—and like veterans did not begin popping away with rifles as the South Koreans do, endangering everyone in the vicinity.

With deliberation the planes hacked away at the town with machine guns, lazily circled and came roaring back with rockets.

As the first rocket let go with a swishing hiss, a soldier with his face crushed in the dirt muttered, "Judas, everyone's getting up on these modern techniques."

About that time the planes reformed and flashed in for their third sweep with machineguns hammering. Roy McCartney of the British Reuter News Agency, a veteran of Greece, Crete and the African desert fighting, and I dived for the river bank and snuggled up under the overhanging bank.

Machine gun bullets created a symetrical patterns of fountains in the river and the rockets whooshed to great muddy explosions beside one of two bridges we were crouching between.

The first casualty was a sergeant. A plane's machine gun bullet ripped through a toe in his right foot.

34 Crewmen Saved After Harbor Crash

NEW YORK —(AP)— A 2,000-ton sand dredge and a freighter three times its size collided in the New York Harbor narrows before dawn Sunday—the port's second big-ship collision in five days.

The crash pitched the 34 crewmen of the dredge sandcraft into the water. Some of them swam for an hour before they could be hauled to safety.

Only fast rescue work prevented loss of life. The dredge went to the bottom in 10 minutes, catching most of her men in night clothes. The freighter, the 6,600-ton Collier Melrose, had a hole punched in its bow.

Screen Kiss Will Sabotage The Dennis Day Fan Club

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Maybe it won't impress Frank Sinatra and Ava Gardner, but Dennis Day, who has million-dollar tonsils, too, gets worry lines right under his widow's peak whenever he thinks about Gloria de Haven.

The fancy forehead corrugation hasn't a thing to do with bullfighters, either.

It seems that Glora, a Hollywood doll who seldom gets a tng-a-ling when they're looking for stained-ed-glass window types, is about to throw a monkey wrench with SEX engraved on it smack into the middle of Dennis' fan club of dear, old, white-haired ladies.

When Gloria finishes bussing him soundly in Fox's "I'll Get By," Dennis broods, the radio-confected pictures of him as an innocent lad in short pants will go boom-boom.

It's worrying Dennis in the same way it would worry Gene Autry if he found himself in Mae West's boudoir right in front of a million bubble-gum blowers.

Dennis looked around furtively and told me:

"I'm box office with those old girls. When I play theaters, they hobble down the aisles on crutches and smash into other people with their wheel chairs. Tired business men want to see Jane Russell. The white-haired gals who collect old-age pensions want to see me."

Dennis says he's been putting on the Little Lord Fauntleroy smile for years whenever somebody's grandma yells for him.

He Knows, Girls

"They think I'm really the mother's boy I play on Jack Benny's radio show," he sighed. "They don't give me credit for knowing about the birds and the bees."

But there won't be any doubts when the picture is released, he's sure.

"I get Gloria to make an honest man out of me by mentioning a mink farm. When Gloria hears me say 'mink' she goes wild and screams, 'Br-r-r-r-other!' Only the way Gloria bellows it, the word hasn't got anything to do with National Brotherhood Week."

Dennis can just see his picture turned to the wall in the parlors of the Day fans who look like Jack Benny in his Charley's Aunt wig. He doesn't think there's a chance that it will be Gloria's picture that gets the flip-over treatment. His over-sixty fans aren't the kind who go around framing photos of girls in the Betty Grable league.

"I'll Get By" is Dennis' second movie—his No. 1 try was something called "Music in Manhattan" with Ann Shirley and Phil Terry about 10 years ago—and marks his first screen encounter with molten lipstick.

"Now," he says, "I know how Shirley Temple felt when she got kissed for the first time."

Dennis says that he's been goggle-eyed about the radio public's willingness to believe anything that comes bouncing over the air waves since he became the big load of whimsey on the Benny show in 1939. He complains:

"They think that Marie Wilson is a mental giant beside me. I have to go around saying, 'I'm not a schmoe, I'm not a schmoe.'"

He's lost count of the letters asking him about his wrestling, steam-fitting mother—"She's really a demure lady"—and the age at which he was dropped on his noggin.

Even radio actors buttonhole him and whisper:

"Hey, just between you and me, is Jack Benny really that tight with a buck-"

Fair-Haired Boy

When Dennis isn't peeking into Ulceland about his first celluloid sex skirmish, he's apt to go into a brown study about the Mother Machrees who haven't seen him and think of him as a tall blond kid with hayseeds sticking out of his ears.

"Maybe," says Dennis, "they'll fall flat on their faces when they see me. Maybe the studio should have used the Larry Parks technique and hired Claude Jarman, Jr., or Butch Jenkins to play me."

He says a lot of radio singers who have been trying to burst into movies for years fainted dead away and had to go to bed when word leaked out that he had turned down a chance to jump from "I'll Get By" into RKO's "Two Tickets to Broadway."

One stopped him and said:

"Who are you to turn down pictures—Prince Aly Kahn?"

Dennis has quite a reputation for his mimicry but nobody he imitates has ever threatened to give him a poke in the snoot. He's not sure about Ronald Coleman, though. When Coleman first heard Dennis give out with the "I say, Bonita," he turned to his wife and said:

"I say, Bonita, isn't that a wonderful imitation of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.?"

Dennis hasn't figured it out yet.

"Maybe," he says, "Coleman doesn't like Doug, Jr."

Water Demand Heavy At Red Bluff Dam

PECOS—Irrigation water at the rate of 850 acre feet per day now is being released from Red Bluff reservoir on the Pecos River, C. J. Anderson, Red Bluff Water Power Control District manager, said.

The reservoir now is estimated to contain about 55,000 acre feet of water, compared with 115,000 acre feet when the first water for irrigation was leased on March 10. The inflow of water at present is estimated at 200 acre feet per day. About 75,000 acre feet have been released in the near four-month period.

Water is released from the reservoir upon the request of the districts receiving water from the dam. Consumption is expected to start decreasing this week as irrigation slows down.

Take Care Of Breaks In Skin To Avoid Blood Poisoning

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Blood poisoning means an infection with germs which have invaded the blood stream. The proper medical term is septicemia; it is also called septic poisoning. A good many people have died from septicemia who now could be saved with the help of the sulfa drugs or penicillin.

Germs can get into the blood stream in many ways. They are present in the blood in many cases of spinal meningitis, pneumonia and other similar infections. They can penetrate to the blood stream through a cut or injury in the skin. A nail, a farm implement, an axe, or anything else which causes a break in the skin can carry germs to the blood.

Most things in contact with the air or ground have germs on them which are harmless to the unbroken skin, but which may be highly dangerous if they get into the blood. Once the germs have reached the blood stream they may conquer the defenses which are present there rapidly and cause blood poisoning.

Streptococci are a common and dangerous cause of blood poisoning. In this form of septicemia the symptoms usually develop extremely suddenly, often with a sharp chill. The temperature is usually high, and the pulse rate is rapid.

In the past, a high proportion of those who became infected died often within one to three days. Now the sulfa drugs or antibiolics have proved life-saving for most who are stricken down with septicemia due to streptococci.

Another variety of blood poisoning, which until recently killed almost everyone who got it, is caused by different germs—the staphylococci. Staphylococci are present on even more things than the streptococci.

When these germs are found in the blood stream, and they can be by taking samples of blood and growing the germs in a test tube, some of the newer antibiolics now are given with astonishingly good results.

Other Types

Almost any germs cause septicemia or blood poisoning, but those mentioned are probably the commonest. Several of these others, too, yield either to the sulfa drugs or to penicillin.

Just because the chances for a person struck down by blood poisoning are so much better is no excuse for carelessness. Accidents which break the skin and put the blood stream in contact with germs should receive proper treatment.

This may help to prevent the blood stream infection. After any such injury the first sign of chill or fever should be the signal for prompt action in finding the cause of the trouble and starting appropriate treatment.

Food Price Rise No Cause For Alarm, U.S. Experts Assert

Up for Summer, down by Fall—That's the government's outlook on meat prices; Chicago housewife... Rosemary MacKinnon's outlook seems resigned as she eyes this June price tag for steak.

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Department of Agriculture experts warn housewives there's no cause for panic in the recent jump in food prices. Meat might go up a little more through the summer, they say. But many other foods will probably begin coming down soon.

They claim there's absolutely nothing in the basic farm price picture which could send the retail price of foods soaring anywhere near to the post-war peak of July, 1948. Then the government's retail food price index stood at the record 216.8. The latest index is 196.6.

Most important cause given for the current upswing in food prices is the feeling among business and government economists that the last half of 1950 will be just as prosperous as the first half. Up until late spring there was still doubt in the public's mind as to what the next six months had in store. This reflected the doubts of the business and industrial planners.

Outlook Bright

However, the outlook is suddenly optimistic. Many businesses have announced plans for high production for the next six months. The signing of the five-year General Motors contract has brightened the picture considerably. And on top of all of this, the $2,800,000,000 passed out to veterans in insurance dividends is now affecting all consumer goods prices.

Sudden increase in meat prices is easiest to explain, the Department's experts say. Summer is normally the season for higher meat prices. But the most important factor is demand. Regardless of the supply of meat, if a lot of people are willing to spend a dollar or more for a pound of steak, the price is bound to go up.

Thus, the seasonal increase which is caused by fewer animals being slaughtered, and increased demand inspired by the optimistic economic situation, have sent meat prices soaring. Quick housewife resistance and the normal increase of meat supplies starting in the early fall will tend to balance the situation, the experts predict.

Other Predictions

Here are some other predictions in various foods furnished by Department of Agriculture experts:

All fresh vegetables normally go down in the Summer with the harvest of commercial truck crops. 000,000 pounds. If by some chance Lettuce, tomatoes, carrots, spinach, beans, onions are among those expected to be below even last summer's prices.

Fats and oil, except butter, are expected to stay about the same and may go down. An anticipated big soy bean crop, widely used in margarine production, may lower prices slightly, and farm experts believe new legislation permitting sale of colored margarine in many states will have some effect on both butter and margarine.

Egg prices have come down considerably and the outlook is that they will stay low.

Butter is the only food which could be directly affected by the huge parity price purchase. The government now owns about 100,- the retail price should edge up to anywhere near 80 cents a pound, the Commodity Credit Corporation could begin selling its supply and keep the price down.

Other dairy products are expected to stay about the same.

Prices of apples, peaches, pears and cherries probably will be slightly higher this summer than last, since this year's crops are expected to be poor. Manufacturers of home canning equipment already are sending out recipes, which combine the more plentiful, and therefore less expensive, fruits with those which will be scarce.

Prices of oranges and grapefruit will probably continue higher than they were last year.

And potato prices will go down.

GOP Leaders Spurn 'Advance' Principles Of Liberal Faction

WASHINGTON—(AP)—GOP leaders turned a cold shoulder Monday on a new statement of principles put out by the self-styled rank and file party members calling themselves "The Republican Advance."

A spokesman said the Republican National Committee would ignore the group's declaration, which urged the party to form a progressive program and drop its "purely negative opposition" to Truman Administration proposals.

In contrast, this spokesman said the national committee is busy compiling a campaign document listing what the Republicans call mistakes in Truman Administration foreign policy; particularly in the Far East. Senators Taft (R-Ohio) and Thye (R-Minn) have suggested such a course.

There was speculation among Washington Republicans that some of those represented at the Philadelphia meeting might be getting into position to support someone like Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the party's presidential nomination in 1952.

Five-Point Program

There was no suggestion that Eisenhower had anything to do with formation of the advance unit, although Senator Ives (R-NY), who openly is plugging for the general's nomination, took an active part in getting the group organized and praised its statement of principles.

The Philadelpiha statement turned out to be almost word for word the same declaration that was being passed around among some Republican senators several weeks ago when efforts were being made to drum up support for a "liberal" organization within the party.

As cardinal principles, the Philadelphia group called for:

"1. A tax policy to provide maximum industrial incentives for owners, managers and workers.

"2. Vigorous enforcement of the anti-trust laws to curb monopoly capital.

"3. Long range assistance through public works and projects designed to stimulate new economic opportunities," with an endorsement of deficit spending during times of depression.

"4. The exercise of maximum efficiency and ecopomy in government, as recommended by the Hoover Commission.

"5. Intelligent conservation of our national resources."

In a separate resolution, the group endorsed President Truman's decisions for military action in Korea.

Abundant Living

By E. STANLEY JONES

II Pet. 1:5-9; Gal. 5:22-23; Eph. 6:13-17.

UNBALANCED VIRTUES

We come now to the tenth of the 15 enemies of the abundant life, Unbalanced Virtues. It is not enough to have freedom from divided loyalties; we must have freedom from unbalanced virtues. One may have only virtues in one's life, and yet those virtues may be out of proportion, unbalanced by opposite virtues; hence those very virtues cease to be virtues and come dangerously near to being vices.

Dr. Frank Sladen says: "There is a rhythm of the body. If this rhythm is disturbed, there is functional disturbance which may run into structural." As there is a rhythm of the body, so there is a rhythm in the virtues. If this rhythm is upset by some virtues being overemphasized and others being underemphasized, then there is functional disturbance in the spiritual life, which may turn into actual structural spiritual disease.

When a philosopher said, "No man is strong unless he bears within his character antitheses strongly marked," he meant that each virtue must be held in tension by its opposite virtue. In that very tension between virtues there is strength. The balanced virtues may be classed as follows: passive—militant; self-effort—God-dependence; world-renouncing—World-participating; introversive—extroversive; mystical—practical; being—doing; love—law; personal—social; freedom—law; artistic — artisan; self-renouncing — self-assertive; meekness — mastery; loving yourself—loving your neighbor. Many others could be added; for instance, the feminine virtues and the masculine.

Suppose you have only one side of those virtues developed; you are weak. If you are only passive, or only militant, you are weak. The truly strong man is militantly passive and passively militant; not now and again passive, and now and again militant, but both in a living blend at one and the same time. You see the blending of the passive and militant in Jesus.

"It is easy for enthusiasm to become fanaticism, for zeal to become hysteria, for integrity to become hard and unforgiving, for thrift to pass over into stinginess."

O Jesus, so perfectly poised and harmonious, help my lopsided virtues to be corrected by Thy amazing balance and sanity. Where my virtues have become out of proportion and have come to the verge of vices, give me grace to correct them—and the power. For my virtues must be redeemed, too. Amen.

No Ulcers, Just Too Many Beans

NEW YORK — (AP) — Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, king of the hot trumpeters, is a happy man Monday.

It's not stomach ulcers that have been bothering him—as he feared—just New Orleans red beans and rice.

Satchmo recently canceled all his bookings until February, rented a west coast clinic suite, and announced he was ready to go under the knife.

But Sunday the clouds lifted. Armstrong got his medical report and prepared to go ahead with his fiftieth birthday celebration Tuesday.

"That doctor X-rayed me every way but running," he explained. "And he couldn't find no ulcers, no tumor, nothing like that.

"But he told me to stay off them beans."

New Sprayer Better In Fighting Flies, Sanitarian Declares

Improved control of fly-borne diseases in Midland is promised by the use of a new area sprayer recently purchased by the city as a part of the Summer spraying program.

A. E. Cass, sanitarian of the City-County Health Unit, said the city will continue to use the old fogging machine when conditions are right, but praised the city for purchasing the new machine.

"It is a vast improvement over the fogging machine," Cass said, "because it is a liquid spray which leaves a residue which will kill flies for weeks after the spraying. The old machine, while very good under certain conditions, was ineffective in high wind and on very dry days."

Dissipated By Wind

Cass pointed out that the fog was dissipated by the wind, and had no lasting value except when the wind was under 10 miles per hour. The new machine will be used in alleys throughout the city, and garbage cans and trash cans will be deadly to flies for a prolonged period after spraying.

The new machine uses chlordane, lathane and DDT in a liquid base composed of xylol, kerosene and diesel oil, and develops more than 400 pounds pressure.

Dr. F. E. Sadler, director of the City-County Health Unit, advised Midlanders to look to their own premises, to be sure that they are clean and free from refuse.

"It is impossible for any city or agency to kill flies faster than careless people can increase them by leaving breeding places on their premises," he said.

Exercise For Vocal Charm

A pleasant voice is a charming attribute that any woman can cultivate says Mimi Benzell, lovely coloratura soprano, who demonstrates practical tips. By cupping one hand behind her ear (top left) she can hear how her voice sounds to others. Exercise to improve modulation of voice (top right) combines wide yawn and deep breathing. A soft, clear voice is more easily heard over a telephone than a shout says the singer who practices what she preaches (below).

By MIMI BENZELL
Written For NEA Service

Have you ever listened to the shrill feminine chatter at a luncheon? Or have you been deafened by a loud, ear-splitting voice at the other end of a telephone? If you have, I think you'll agree with me that charm and a harsh, grating voice just don't go together.

Naturally, as an operatic singer I am acutely conscious of voices—other women's as well as my own. I believe nothing creates an illusion of charm and graciousness more effectively than a pleasant, clear, well - modulated speaking voice. It is an attribute that any woman can boast no matter what her age or the size of her pocketbook or the shape of her figure.

Cultivating a lovely speaking voice isn't difficult. To find out how you sound to others, try this simple trick that singers use: cup one hand behind your ear and talk in your normal tone of voice. You'll hear for yourself whether your voice is too high, too nasal, too shrill or whatever. Another revealing experiment is to listen to a wire recording of your voice.

If you are dissatisfied with your speech, my suggestions may help you to improve. Basic requirement for a well-modulated voice is proper breathing. That means breathing deeply from the diaphragm, not gasping shallow breaths of air which will make a voice sound squeaky.

Here's an exercise I use to improve my breathing and to relax throat muscles. Stand up straight, inhale slowly, raising arms upward. As you inhale yawn widely. Then, exhale, letting arms drop to sides.

I've noticed that mumbled words and indistinct speech are often traceable to the fact that lips and jaw are barely moved.

If you want to improve your enunciation, talk to yourself in a mirror. Don't be afraid to exaggerate the movements of your lips and jaw at first. Practice particularly words containing the consonants that are frequently slurred, —"father," "mother," "bottle," "little."

To test your progress, have a friend stand with her back to you at one end of the room. Then read aloud a paragraph or two. She should be able to understand every syllable without your raising your voice above a normal tone.

Most of us have to make a conscious effort to keep our voices low-pitched, especially when we are excited. When you hear your voice climbing an octave higher, stop, take a deep breath and pull your voice back down the scale. I have found that if I speak quietly and clearly, I can make myself heard in a crowded room or over a telephone better than if I shout.

Socialist Threat Hangs Heavy Over New French Cabinet

PARIS—(AP)—Premier Henri Queuille has formed a new cabinet whose right-wing tinge already has aroused Socialist ire. The government may receive its first crucial test in the National Assembly Tuesday.

The new cabinet formed Sunday, eight days after George Bidault's government toppled, could be defeated Tuesday, if the assembly votes against Queuille on some technical issue.

The crisis which brought in the new government has had little to do with France's foreign policy. Foreign Minister Robert Schuman has been kept in his post, indicating that his plan to pool Western Europe's coal and steel has full government backing.

The meeting of six nations discussing the plan was recessed when the French crisis came. Delegates went home to get their governments' opinions on the French proposal for an over-all international authority to control the pool. They met here again Monday.

Her Permanent Has Pincurls

BY BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

You can pincurl your way to a permanent wave these days—good news for gals who do not like to fuss around with curlers and papers.

With a batch of special hairpins and a minimum of effort, a nice soft curl can be accomplished in a jiffy. The wave is achieved with a single pin-curling, thereby eliminating many of the steps which go into the rod-type curl.

Also Rods

The girl who is awkward with curlers, but who is used to setting her hair in pincurls, probably will prefer this type wave. However, for the woman who'd like to experiment, this new home permanent wave package contains hair rods in addition to the hairpins and curling stick for facilitating putting up pin curls.

In the home experiment wave kit is a cream shampoo scented with blue grass, a curl cap and a special oil-spun lotion to help produce a soft salon-type permanent wave. The instruction booklet gives directions and hairstyles for users of either method.

It is good to note that the home permanent wave is becoming more simplified all the time. Pretty soon straight-haired lasses will be dunking their heads in a basin of solution, and soming up with curly locks. It is getting as simple as that.

U.S. Action In Korea

The United States, acting under President Truman's orders, is moving with high courage and great good sense to answer the brazen challenge flung in Korea by the Soviet Union.

This was a moment of grave import for the whole free world. It was a moment that recalled the fatal milestones leading to war in the 1930's—Hitler's march into the German Rhineland, Mussolini's strike against Ethiopia, the Japanese invasion of Manchuria.

Acting with the support and concurrence of the United Nations, Truman boldly demonstrated that freedom-loving peoples indeed have learned the brutal lessons of the 1930's.

Spineless appeasement of aggressors only emboldens them to strike harder and harder. Each time it is more difficult to halt them, until finally only global conflict can crush their ruthless ambitions. The time to stop an aggressor is the first time, and this we and our friends abroad are clearly resolved to do.

* * *

Truman ordered our Navy and Air Force to the aid of South Korea. He insisted that our military effort be strictly defensive, that there be no attack on the territory of the invading North Koreans. No Russian clamor that this is "American aggression" likely will impress the world.

The United Nations, itself under its greatest test, voted courageously to impose military sanctions against the aggressor. The action is unprecedented, but it is supremely worthy of the UN's purpose to preserve world peace.

In these moves, coupled with our announced intent to protect Formosa, the Philippines and Indo-China with varying degrees of assistance, there is more than the learning of old lessons.

At one brilliant stroke we are showing Asia, Europe and the whole world that the United States means what it says when it speaks for freedom and peace. We are showing that we do not let our friends down in time of need. This demonstration already is having a tonic effect everywhere on the globe.

Moreover, we have improved our strategic situation in the Far East by drawing Formosa back into our defensive network. We have added one more fort—a vital one—to our Pacific defense line.

* * *

Neither President Truman nor anyone else cognizant of the realities would deny that there is risk of war with Russia in the course we have chosen. No one doubts the Soviet Union ordered North Koreans to attack, since their government is a supine puppet of Moscow's.

But it is the considered judgment of our top military and diplomatic experts that Russia does not want another war, at least not now. That conviction unquestionably entered into our decision to act firmly, and also to approach Russia directly in an appeal to her leaders to call off the Korean offensive.

But even had we felt the chance of war was greater, we still would have had to make this gamble. For war is not halted by encouraging an aggressor. It can only be prevented by the concerted demonstration of peace-loving peoples that aggression cannot succeed.

Truman's decision is historic. It may prove to be one of the great landmarks in the cause of world peace.

The Only Guy Who Doesn't Take A Holiday

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Soviet invasion of Iran may be next; Acheson's argument re Korea finally tipped scales; Johnson won out re Formosa.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— What has worried military chiefs in considering their Korean strategy is that the Soviet next will make a pass at a defenseless but vital country on the other side of Asia—Iran.

For if the men in the Kremlin face a setback in Korea, they are likely to save face in some other area. And the most important and easiest country for them to penetrate is oil-rich, revolt-ready Iran.

Capture of Iran would put Russian forces on the Gulf of Persia overlooking the Indian Ocean and menacing both the shipping lanes to Suez and the priceless oil of Arabia.

Here are the inside facts about Iran—well known to Moscow—which make U. S. military chiefs worry.

After the shah of Iran returned from the U. S. A., it was expected he would receive large shipments of American tanks, artillery, etc. However, Gen. Vernon Evans, U. S. military adviser in Iran, advised against this. He warned that corruption, incipient revolt and inefficiency were such inside the Iranian army that U. S. tanks and equipment might fall into Communist hands and be used against us.

He also recommended that Iran drastically reorganize its army, that it had too many generals, not enough privates, that many high-ranking officers were so fat they could not run 100 yards, let alone stay in the field for weeks.

Ambassador Says No

Meanwhile, the shah began to get irate against U. S. Ambassador John Wiley for vetoing a big Marshall Plan grant. Wiley was ready to O.K. a modest grant, somewhere near the $10,000,000 figure, but not the large amount the shah expected.

As a result of this and other factors, Ambassador Wiley has pretty well worn out his welcome and is being replaced by Henry Grady, U. S. envoy to Greece. Wiley is a good diplomat, but you can't say "no" consistently and continue to be popular.

Meanwhile the Iranian economic situation is not good; the Tudeh, or pro-Communist party, is getting stronger, with the links between it and Russia reported bolder. Should the Red army, perhaps disguised as Tudeh troops, start a march to the Gulf of Persia, the shah's army probably could not hold out a week. Also it would be humanly impossible at this great distance, for U. S. military forces to intervene.

Korea: "Line In The Dust"

At the crucial Blair House conference over Korea, following the President's return from Independence, Mo., Secretary of State Acheson made this argument for armed intervention.

"Our situation is about like the two barefoot boys," he said. "One keeps jabbing and poking the other until finally the second one draws a line in the dust and says, 'You cross that line and I'll knock your block off.'

"It's time we did that with Russia," Acheson concluded.

Truman Calls

Over cigars in the Senate cloakroom, Senator Warren Magnuson was explaining President Truman's action on Korea.

"I've played cards with the President," said the handsome Washington Democrat, "and you don't dare bluff him. He'll call you every time."

Remarked Undersecretary of Defense Steve Early later: "I've played cards with him, too, Mr. Truman will call you all right. But the trouble is, he usually loses."

The unfortunate backstage feud between the secretary of Defense and the secretary of State has continued even during the tense conversations over Korea.

During the first Blair House debate over Korean intervention, Secretary Johnson abruptly brought up the question he has harped on for six months—Formosa.

"Korea is just a symbol, Mr. President," he said. "It isn't important. The really important place is Formosa."

This got no response from either Truman or Acheson, except that the President reminded his secretary of Defense that the meeting had been called to discuss Korea.

Next day, however, before the second Blair House meeting, Johnson slipped in to see Truman ahead of the others. Using General MacArthur's argument, given during Johnson's recent trip to Japan, he told the President:

"The most strategic point in the Pacific is Formosa. It was the springboard used by the Japs to invade the Philippines, and the Communists might use it for another Philippine invasion. Our control of Formosa would completely stop a Communist invasion to the South."

Johnson's argument finally had an effect on the President, for, at the meeting which followed, he brought up Formosa himself. Acheson then agreed to the plan—later announced—by which the 7th Fleet would prevent any Communist invasion of Formosa, but with Chiang Kai-Shek also ceasing his bombing of the Chinese Communist mainland.

U. S. War Stockpiles

Thanks to the stockpiling program, the sudden Korean invasion did not catch the U. S. A. as empty-handed as Pearl Harbor.

This time the United States has enough strategic materials in its warehouses to meet an emergency—even though the stockpiling program is behind schedule.

For example, we have enough manganese on hand to keep the steel mills producing full blast for two years. This would give time to import more manganese from Africa and South America, and to explore for new manganese sources in this country. In fact, at this moment American representatives are surveying the manganese fields along the African Gold Coast.

America also has kept its synthetic rubber plants in operation, and has stockpiled 70 per cent of the rubber needed for war. This will prevent another desperate rubber shortage, such as followed Pearl Harbor.

However, the U. S. A. still is critically short of mica for electrical equipment and abaca for Navy ropes. Under stimulus from Congress, however, the Munitions Board has stepped up its stockpiling program and is rushing to complete its goals.

Thomas-Monroney Contest Highlights Oklahoma Primaries

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— Veteran Oklahoma Senator Elmer Thomas and Rep. Mike Monroney, who hopes to succeed him, close out a slugging Democratic primary campaign Monday with last-minute vote appeals.

The Fourth of July vote, unprecedented in Oklahoma, likely will nominate one of the two. The five other minor candidates in the race aren't expected to draw enough votes to force a July 25 runoff.

Also to be voted upon are candidates for state and local offices and congressional seats.

Thomas, 73, finishing his fourth term in the Senate, is chairman of the Agriculture Committee. Monroney, 48, has served in the House for 12 years from the heavily-populated First District, including Oklahoma City.

Farm price supports and the public-versus-private power questions have dominated the campaign. Observers and politicians rate the contest a toss-up. Both sides are predicting victory.

Republicans Vote, Too

Republicans also nominate state candidates. Main GOP interest has centered in the Senate race between the Rev. W. H. (Bill) Alexander, pastor of the Oklahoma City First Christian Church, and Raymond M. Fields, long-time Guthrie newspaperman.

Also on the Republican Senate ticket are the Rev. George T. Balch, Muskogee, who has support of the United Dry Association of Oklahoma and Forrest Van Pelt, Oklahome City real estate man.

Interest in the Democratic governor's race has featured the attempt of Johnston Murray to win the position held 20 years ago by his father, the colorful William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray. The younger Murray has caught public fancy and has been conceded top place in the primary by several statewide polls.

Opposing him are William O. Coe, Oklahoma City attorney; Frank P. Douglass, former U. S. labor mediator, and former Congressman Phil Ferguson.

Coe ran unsuccessfully in 1946 and Douglass in 1942.

Lightning Bolt Kills Player In Legion Junior Game

HELENA, MONT — (AP) — A 16-year-old baseball player was killed Sunday by a bolt of lightning which also injured seven other players, knocked a dozen persons to the ground and stunned others.

Robert Freeman Morris of Anaconda, Mont., was killed when lightning struck the diamond during a game between the Helena and Anaconda American Legion junior baseball teams.

Striking Morris on the head, the lightning split his cap and tore off one of his shoes. The boy's parents were in the crowd of several hundred. There was no hysteria. Most of the spectators appeared stunned.

Four of the injured were released from the hospital after treatment. Three were hospitalized for shock.

"It felt like someone hit me on the head with a redhot wire," said an umpire who was knocked to his knees.

Little Boy Drowns In 10-Gallon Can

WOODBINE, MD. —(AP)— A two-year-old child tumbled into a 10-gallon paint can holding six inches of water and drowned Sunday.

Little Milton "Mickey" Jenkins, Jr., greeted his father when he drove up, then scampered around to the back of the house.

The youngster wasn't seen for a while, so his father and grandfather went around to look for him. They found him, face down, in the big can.

Firemen tried artificial respiration, but the boy was dead.

It isn't always easy to pick the most effective opening lead against a no trump contract. It is especially difficult when your partner has not bid anything that yould give you a clue to his hand.

Many years ago this was a far simpler matter. You invariably led the fourth highest card in your longest and strongest suit. If such a lead turned out badly, nobody blamed you for it. It was considered bad luck, like having rain on a picnic.

The hand shown today illustrates how far we have traveled since those hide-bound days. When it was played in a recent duplicate tournament, almost all of the pairs that held the North - South cards, reached a contract of six no trump.

This was a reasonable enough contract. If the spades break normally, four spade tricks can be won. The hand will then depend on developing five tricks in the two red suits. This should not be very difficult.

South	West	North	East
2 N.T.	Pass	4 N.T.	Pass
6 N.T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♣ 10.

At a few tables, West happened to be an old-fashioned player. He could see that his strongest suit was hearts. He therefore automatically selected the fourth-highest card in that suit as his opening lead.

When the three of hearts was the opening lead, South had no trouble. He let the opening lead ride up to his hand, tested the spades, and then went after the diamonds. Since almost any way of playing the diafonds would produce three tricks, the slam was easily made. The opening lead gave declarer a trick that he couldn't win by himself; and this was just the little bit of help needed for the success of the contract.

When the West player belonged to the more modern school of thought, the result was quite different. The reasoning of the opening leader went something like this: "No long suit has been mentioned, so it looks as though the slam will depend on high cards. Hence there is no need to hurry about setting up defensive tricks. The best course is to make a safe lead and let declarer take all his own guesses."

On the basis of this reasoning, the safest opening lead was selected—the ten of clubs.

Against this opening lead, the South player was practically helpless. True, he might have made his contract by a very abnormal play if he could have seen where all the cards were. Since nobody enjoyed this advantage, the contract was always defeated when the ten of clubs was opened.

In all these cases declarer won the opening lead with the ace of clubs, cashed the king and ace of spades, and finessed the queen of diamonds. Diamonds were continued, and declarer eventually found himself taking the heart finesse for his twelfth trick. When that lost to West's queen, the slam was defeated.

Incidentally, if you're wondering by what abnormal play South might have made his contract, here it is. South wins the opening club and takes another club. He takes the king and ace of spades, and leads the jack of diamonds from dummy. (This is normally the wrong way of taking the diamonds.)

East must cover with the king of diamonds, and South takes the ace. South next takes the queen of diamonds and gives West his ten of diamonds. West must then lead a heart or spade, giving declarer a free finesse. South eventually gets back to dummy to make the nine of diamonds. He wins three clubs, three diamonds, and six tricks in the major suits.

Illinois Is Taking Steps To Get Honest Law Enforcement

By PETER EDSON
NEA Service Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—Illinois has had a long tradition of open gambling. Also, it is the manufacturing center for most of the coin-machine industry to give it a police name. This in spite of the fact that for more than 50 years, slot machines have been illegal.

The whole trouble, says Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, has been lax enforcement. The take on the slot machines alone has been from $60,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year. And since the machines always have been rigged to pay back no more than 20 per cent of the take, the 80 per cent profit has provided plenty of money for political corruption.

Just where the corruption went in past state administrations, Governor Stevenson says he doesn't know. But that it went to local or state law enforcement officials seems obvious..

The governor and his attorney general, Ivan Elliott, campaigned in 1948 on broad promises of reform and an end to corruption in state government.

Since the Stevenson administration now has been in office for a year and a half, and since the slot machines still are being found in raids by the State Police, there have been a number of questions raised as to why campaign promises haven't been carried out.

But here the governor makes a distinction. "I said that if I were elected governor, there would be no lines between the gamblers and the state," he explains. "I did not say there would be no local tie-ups, which are a local responsibility."

Job For Local Authorities

Governor Stevenson offers this explanation not as an alibi, but as a statement of his policy. He does not believe that enforcement of anti-gambling laws should be carried out at the state government level. He believes it should be done by city and county officers.

To this end, the attorney general has called in local sheriffs and police officials of places where gambling was known to exist. These local officials have been lectured on their responsibility, and in some cases even threatened, where cooperation has been negative or sporadic.

In a few cases where there has been no action at all, the Illinois State Police have been ordered to make raids. But this the governor says he does not like to do. The State Police force numbers only 500 officers. There are seldom more than 200 on duty at any one time. And to muster 100 of them for a gambling raid in any one locality weakens the regular patrolling of a state 400 miles long.

Before even these emergency raids could be conducted, it was necessary to completely reorganize the State Police force. Heretofore, this force has been a political plum. When a state administration was changed from one party to another, it has been customary to fire the whole State Police force and recruit a new one.

This now has been changed. By agreement with the Republicans, half of their old State Police force was fired and replaced by Democrats. And hereafter, appointments to the force will be made on a merit basis only, regardless of political affiliations.

This taking of the State Police out of politics is offered to the cities and counties as an example of good government and as a first step towards getting more honest law enforcement.

Suspending Liquor Licenses

In a few cases, the state has tried to suspend liquor licenses in establishments which permitted gambling. But this movement has been tied up by court injunction. No decision as to its legality is possible before October.

The raids on gambling houses which State Police have conducted in half a dozen Illinois counties thus far have netted almost 500 slot machines. They have created much speculation in Illinois as to whether the state would take over completely the anti-gambling drive.

In the light of the governor's policy statement given above, however, it is apparent that the State Police will be used only in emergency cases, against the worst offenders whom local police cannot or will not touch.

MURDER LIQUIDATED

Copyright 1950 by Julius Long NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Sent to arrest W. G. McGregor, head of a bankrupt insurance firm, Ben Corbett, special investigator of the attorney general's office, learns that McGregor has been sending him anonymous gifts of four $1000 bills. Corbett suspects a political plot to frame his chief. Attorney General Keever, who expects to run for governor, Corbett goes to see Colonel Winton, insurance liquidator, and finds Sammy Berend, a shyster lawyer, in Winton's office.

* * *

COLONEL WINTON explained that Sammy Berend represented a large block of claims, $300,000 worth, to be exact, against McGregor's company.

Now, when a damage suit claim is filed in our state with the liquidator of an insurance company, a commission is appointed to investigate its merits. This is a formality, because the commission invariably accepts recommendations of the liquidator. I asked Winton if the commission had acted.

"Yes," answered Colonel Winton. "Mr. Berend's claims—I should say the claims of his clients, were allowed in full!"

Sammy Berend had never in his life filed a damage suit for anything but its nuisance value. If Sammy sued for 10 grand, that meant he would take $500 in settlement. And he always sued for at least 10 grand. To allow his claims in full was preposterous. When I got my breath, I said:

"Well, at that rate, the claims against McGregor's company won't be paid off at more than 10 cents on the dollar, will they?"

Colonel Winton made a long face. "Young man, thanks to my efforts in collecting deficiency assessments from the policy holders, all claims will be paid off at the rate of 90 cents on the dollar!"

Again I was floored. Sammy's clients would collect $297,000 from the assets of McGregor's company. Rather, the clients would collect half of that, and Sammy would collect the other half, for he took all claims on a 50-50 basis.

I stared hard at Colonel Winton, who maintained an air of proud achievement. I turned to Sammy Berend and smirked.

"No more questions," I said. I spoke to Sammy Berend. "You'll be glad to know that you've also put McGregor in jail! In about an hour and a half I'm arresting him for a technical violation of the insurance code! I hope you're satisfied, you stinking little rat!"

Sammy Berend paled slightly, but made no move from his chair. I could have called him anything and failed to get a rise out of him. He never exerted himself unless he saw a fee in it. I turned on my heel and left the office.

* * *

I WALKED rapidly out of the Roland Building, then froze as I beheld the occupant in Sammy Berend's red convertible. Her hair was as fiery as the color of the car, and that was fiery indeed.

I had never seen the girl before and I'd never have missed her if she had been a native of Capital City. I had to admire Sammy Berend's taste, but the idea of a lovely creature like that sitting there in his car waiting for him was nauseating.

"Hello, Miss. Sammy told me to tell you he'd be down in a minute," I said.

She stared at me, her eyes narrowing with suspicion. She said nothing. I had to make her talk.

"I'm riding with you. Mind if I climb in in front?"

She hesitated, then said: "Not at all. Sammy didn't mention your name."

I froze, then moved on swiftly around the front of the car and climbed in on the driver's side. She was the girl all right, the one who had phoned Keever that morning and told him about the $1000 bills. I'd listened to enough canned phone conversations never to be fooled by the changes recording and a telephone can make.

"Say, what's the idea? What are you doing?"

"I forgot. Sammy's to meet us at a spot down the street."

Her voice had become so loud that passers-by stared. I drowned out her voice as I started the motor and made it roar. I shot the car away from the curb. The redhead was eying me as if I were a maniac. I grinned as I gunned the convertible through traffic.

"Take it easy, sister. I'm the guy you tried to frame when you called Keever this morning, the guy who got four grand through the mail from the anonymous donor! Remember?"

* * *

SHE remembered. She paled slightly beneath her sun tan. She looked at me as if I were a member of the old Five Points Gang. But she didn't utter a peep. That suited me. I wanted her to think I was a very tough guy. I was an auto thief and a kidnaper, —that ought to hold her!

"Where are you taking me?" Her voice sounded shaky.

"Where you're going to talk! Where you can explain why you phoned Keever and who put you up to it!"

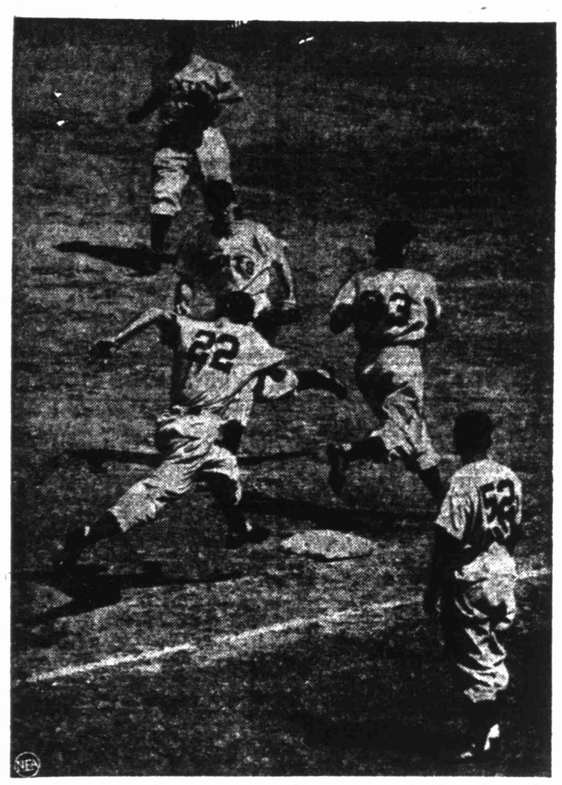

I reached my apartment house in about 10 minutes. Just for effect I got out the automatic from its shoulder holster.

She got out and made no sound. She was evidently too badly frightened to remember her handbag, and I caught it up and carried it. I would be interested in the identification that handbag would contain.

I let her into my apartment. Miss Croft, sitting demurely at her desk out front and listening to a soap opera, would not have approved. Keever would not have approved. The police would not have approved.

"Sit down and take it easy," I told her. I dumped the handbag on a stand. I won't add to the cracks already made about contents of ladies handbags, but I found what I was looking for. An Ohio driver's license. The girl was Wendy Hillyer, from Cleveland, and I knew enough about the town to know that she had a good address.

RUSH HOUR—First base was a busy spot in the Polo Grounds when Cincinnati's Johnny Wyrostek grounded to Tookie Gilbert. Pitcher Jack Kramer, 33; took throw from the Giants' first baseman, shown rushing towards the bag; beat Wyrostek, 22, across the base for the out. Second Baseman Eddie Stanky, rear, backed up Gilbert. Coach Gus Mancuso of the Reds, 52, watched the play.

MAJOR LEAGUES—

Joe DiMaggio Is Moved To First; Feller Wins 200

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Feller racks up his 200th major league triumph. Joe DiMaggio becomes a first baseman. Philadelphia drops defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers into fourth place in the National League standings with third straight whopping. Cleveland Rookie Al Rosen ties Ted Williams for the home run lead. Chicago Cubs thrash Cincinnati 16-0.

These are but a few of the baseball headlines Monday following one of the most action-packed Sundays on the diamond in many seasons.

The Phils retained first place in the National League, whipping the Dodgers 6-4 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game ended in a 10-inning, 8-8 tie, halted by Pennsylvania's curfew law. Held hitless through six innings by Curt Simmons, the Dodgers rallied for eight runs in the seventh, eighth and ninth to overcome an 8-0 deficit.

Cards Hold Second

The St. Louis Cardinals remained three percentage points behind the Phillies. The Red Birds edged out the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1. Pitcher George Munger drove in the first St. Louis run with a sixth-inning double off Will Werle and scored the second on Tommy Galviano' two-base hit.

Boston's Braves climbed into third place, two games off the pace, sweeping a doubleheader from the New York Giants 11-5 and 6-3. Ex-Giants ruined the New Yorkers. Walker Cooper, Sid Gordon and Buddy Kerr homered for the Braves.

Long John Sain allowed only six hits in the first game to become the first hurler in the majors to notch 11 triumphs this season. He won 10 all last season. Cooper, his battery-mate, suffered a sprained ankle and was sent to medical center where X-rays showed no fracture. He will be out of action for several days.

Newhouser Relieves

Detroit and Cleveland divided a doubleheader and the New York Yankees outslugged the Boston Red Sox 15-9. The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Washington Senators 7-4 and the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns split a pair.

It took a fine relief performance by Hal Newhouser to enable the Tigers to salvage one of the four-game series from the red hot Indians. Newhouser stopped a Cleveland uprising in the eighth inning and Detroit rallied for three runs in the ninth to win the opener 8-5. Luke Easter's home run with two on climaxed a five-run sixth inning to give the Tribe a 5-3 victory in the second game.

Feller, who received credit for the second game victory, needed help from Al Benton after the Tigers had put, the tying runs on base in the ninth. The 31-year-old Feller, is the forty-second pitcher to win 200 or more games. The last to enter the select circle was Bobo Newsom in 1948.

Three Yankee Homers

Home runs by Joe DiMaggio, Yogi Berra and Johnny Mize proved the difference in the Yankee-Red Sox slugfest. Berra got two other hits to drive in five runs. Allie Reynolds got credit for his seventh victory which pushed the Yanks back in second place, three and a half games behind the Tigers. The Indians trail by four and the Red Sox by six.

Before the game Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees announced he woud attempt to solve his aggravated first base problem by moving DiMaggio from centerfield to first base. Joe agreed and was slated to take over his new first base berth Monday against the Senators in Washington. In 16 years of pro ball he played the outfield except for three games as shortstop with San Francisco in 1932.

Rookie Bob Hooper won his eighth game as the Athletics won from Washington 7-4. The A's pounced on Bob Kuzava for five runs in the third inning. Ray Scarborough and Gus Zernial teamed up to give the White Sox a 4-2 triumph over the Browns in the first game. The Browns won the second game 4-3 when Bob Cain walked pinch hitter Roy Sievers with the bases loaded in the eleventh inning to force in the winning run.

FIREWORKS START BLAZE

DALLAS —(AP)— Fireworks were blamed Monday for a blaze which caused $15,000 damage Sunday night at the C. V. Jones home here. Capt. L. W. Moore, fire department investigator, said a skyrocket apparently landed on the shingle roof of the two-story brick structure.

Although Bobby Feller struck out 18 Detroit Tigers in a game in 1938, his Cleveland Indians lost the contest.

Ackerly A's Beat Glaziers For Top Semi-Pro Honors

The Ackerly A's, termed by their manager, Nelson Rogers, "a bunch of country boys," Sunday whipped the Midwest Glass & Paint Company's Glaziers of Midland 11 to 9 to win the National Baseball Congress District Semi-Pro Tournament title at Indian Park. The Odessa Stars beat the Grandfalls Eagles 15 to 12 for third place in the tourney.

The Glaziers had the A's going their way and Frank Roberson was hurling great ball until the eighth inning. The Glazier infield went to pieces and Roberson experienced a little wildness in the eighth and six Ackerly runs scored.

Roberson, who whiffed 13 batters and collected a double and a single at the plate, outlasted two Ackerly hurlers but couldn't hold the pace against the third.

Beall Relieves

Don Bowlin started for Ackerly and was relieved by Alton Chapman. Chapman worked until the ninth. He gave up consecutive hits to Marion Tredaway and Copper Daugherty, Tredaway's a triple, and was derricked for Bobby Beall.

Beall, who pitched the A's into the finals with a four-hitter Saturday, allowed one more hit but struck out the next two and got the third on a pop fly to second base.

The Glaziers staged a gallant fight all the way getting hitting support from Tredaway, Bob Hillin, Bull Whitson, Larry Buckingham and Jimmy Chauncey. But the die was cast in the Ackerly eighth.

The Odessa Stars had to go all out to whip Grandfalls for the third-place money. Jim Britt relieved Tony Olgin, Odessa starter, and notched the win with some brilliant pitching. He struck out 10 in six innings.

Leo Rheingans was the big sticker for Odessa as he clouted two doubles and a triple in five trips.

Hits Homer

Paul Matejowsky clouted the only home run of the tournament to provide Odessa the winning margin. He put one over the right field fence in the eighth with a runner on base.

The Ackerly team was awarded the giant Coca-Cola Bottling Company trophy and the other teams received smaller trophies. R. D. (Bob) Scruggs vice president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, presented the trophies and awards to all-district players.

Ackerly will travel to Sinton later this month to enter the state semi-pro tournament as representative of the West Texas district.

Feller Thinks Ball Is More Lively Now

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The only active major leauge pitcher with 200 wins to his credit thinks the ball is more lively than it used to be.

Bob Feller, a veteran at 31 years, admits that "maybe I've lost my stuff, but the ball seems to be going farther for fellows who never hit before."

"Not that I'm saying the officials are liars when they say the ball is the same as it ever was," he added.

"But possibly there have been changes in materials or manufacturing methods."

The former Iowa farmboy, who won his 200th against league-leading Detroit Sunday, 5-3, thinks the batters are just as dangerous as they ever were. But he does not believe the pitching stacks up with that of a few years back.

G. Mackey, Ligon Stay Up In MCC Men's Tournament

Vann Ligon, the defending champion, and Graham Mackey, the medalist, scored victories Sunday in the Midland Country Club's annual Men's Golf Tournament and continued to pace the field as favorites for the finals Tuesday.

Ligon downed Roane Puett, a coming youngster, 2 and 1 while Mackey was whipping the capable Evans Dunn 3 and 2.

Ligon had a problem in Monday's round as he went against Cliff Hall and Mackey was in no better shape. He had to face the veteran Bill Barker.

Hall beat out James Smith in a close one Sunday, winning 1-up on 19 holes. Barker ousted Roy Lockett by a 3 and 2 count.

The semi-finalists all are top-notch golfers and no matter who wins, Tuesday's finals will provide a tough fight for the MCC title.

Final preparations were being made Monday for the opening of the annual Midland Country Club Invitation Tournament. A record field, featuring Morris Williams, Jr., Texas PGA champ, Billy Maxwell, Marion Pfluger, Joe Conrad and Dick Martin, will be on hand.

Qualifying will be held Wednesday and tournament will enter match play Thursday. The finals are scheduled Sunday.

Fred Chambers, Leland Davison, L. G. Mackey and Jack Matthews scored victories in the first flight to enter the semi-finals Monday.

Lick McKnight rolled over Dick Gile 4 and 3 in a second flight attraction. Earl Wilson, Paul Jordon and Walter Henderson also won.

The consolation flights saw their first round of action and produced some close matches to go with a couple of high-score wins.

Texas League— Schoolboy Rowe In Great Form As He Elbows Two-Hitter

By The Associated Press

There's something about Texas that gives new life to a pitcher.

Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe was supposed to be washed up. He faded from the majors and wasn't doing any good in the minors until Shreveport picked him up recently in an effort to bolster its staggering pitching staff in the Texas League race.

So Rowe made his start for Shreveport Sunday and what did he do? He shut out Beaumont 2-0 with a two-hitter. It was the first victory in four tries for the Sports, coming as the second game of a doubleheader.

Beaumont won the first one 10-5.

It didn't do Shreveport much good to win the game since the Sports still are away down in seventh place but it must have been a great feeling for Rowe.

Fort Worth Wins

Meanwhile Fort Worth's Cats showed they weren't going to let the race tighten up. The Cats hadn't been riding so high and mighty of late and it looked like there might be a fight developing for first. But Sunday night the Cats licked their closest contender, Tulsa, 7-3 to increase their lead to eight games.

Joe Landrum pitched a seven-hitter while Dee Fondy got four hits, including a double, to drive in two runs. Jim Baumer clouted two homers for Tulsa.

Beaumont's split with Shreveport sent it into a tie with San Antonio for fourth place. San Antonio was edged 3-2 by Houston.

Les Fusselman tripled with the bases full in the ninth to bring Houston its win.

Oklahoma City crushed Dallas 15-3 with a 16-hit attack including a grand slam homer by Stu Locklin and a three-run circuiter by Fred Marsh.

TOM SEALYS TO LEAVE ON VACATION TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sealy and daughter, Nancy, will leave this week on a month's vacation trip to the Minnesota lake country, Canada and West Coast points. They will make the trip by automobile.

Black Indians Meet Colts Here Tuesday In Holiday Feature

The Midland Black Indians and the Midland Colts will tangle at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday at Indian Park in a Fourth of July baseball classic.

The Black Indians hold the best record of any negro team in West Texas, having won 12 while losing only one.

The Colts Saturday won the championship in the consolation bracket of the National Baseball Congress Semi - Pro Tournament here.

John Hall is the probable starter for the Black Indians. He will be opposed by Francisco Compos or Juan Nieto, both all-district selections in the semi-pro tourney.

Prince, Mike Bellone Lead Tribe To Win

The Midland Indians Monday moved on to Vernon after splitting a two-game set with the Sweetwater Swatters. Three games are on tap with the Dusters.

The first tilt is slated Monday night with Glen Patton due to chunk. A doubleheader, starting at 7 p.m., will be played Tuesday, July 4.

• • •

SWEETWATER—The Midland Indians were alternately hot and cold here Sunday but they got hot enough in the eleventh inning to push across four unearned runs and whip the Sweetwater Swatters 16 to 12.

The Indians had a two-man wrecking crew in Big Jim Prince and Mike Bellone and several of the other Redskins, including Scooter Hughes and George Firnback, chipped in with some base knocks.

Prince literally went on a streak, hitting for the complete circuit. He clouted a single, two doubles, a triple and a home run in seven trips to the plate. His hits drove in seven big runs.

Bellone slammed out a single in his first trip then blasted three consecutive doubles. Two of his doubles hit a sign on top of the left field fence and would have gone over if it had not been sticking up in the way.

Indians Take Lead

The Indians jumped out front with four runs in the first, then added three in the second on Prince's three-run homer.

Bellone's single, a walk to Tex Stephenson, Prince's double and Firnback's triple plus a fly ball by Quentin Basco accounted for the first four.

Sweetwater got one in the second and two in the third but the Indians picked up another pair in each of the fourth and fifth innings to take a 11 to 3 lead.

The Swatters kept pecking away at LeRoy Jarl, adding two in the fifth and one in the sixth before exploding in the seventh.

Six Swatter runs crossed the plate in the seventh frame, four of them coming on Dom Chiola's grand-slam homer. It put the Sweetwater nine ahead 12-11.

Lee Zamara weakened in the ninth and walked in the tieing run for Midland and the ball game went into extra innings.

Both clubs went down without scratching in the tenth. Ralph Blair had come in in the ninth, following John Singleton, who relieved Jarl in the seventh.

The eleventh for Midland was jammed with four Swatter errors and a hit.

Winning Frame

Lou Dawson walked to open the frame, Kenny Jones got on by error and Blair errored on as he attempted to sacrifice. Bellone hit a fly ball and Dawson scored after the catch. Hughes got on by an error to reload the bases. Stephenson hit a fly and Jones scored after tagging up.

Jim Prince then singled Blair home and Hughes scored on an error on the same ball.

Blair downed the Swatters in the last half of the inning and got credit for another victory. His relief work was tops and was the deciding factor in the game. He didn't allow a hit in three innings:

Longhorn League—

Ballinger Rookie Tames Odessa; San Angelo Nips Vernon

By The Associated Press

Odessa's Oilers aren't even threatened in their front - running spot in the Longhorn League but they have their troubles anyway.

Such as getting licked by the cellar club.

Ballinger, which is 27 1/2 games out of first place, took the Oilers down a peg or two or three Sunday with a resounding 10-6 victory.

Ballinger shoved over four runs in the sixth to tie the score then went on to win with two tallies in the seventh and four in the ninth.

Second-place Roswell also lost, taking a 7-5 trouncing from Big Spring. Thus Odessa retained its four and one-half game lead.

Big Spring pounded 11 hits, sewing up the game in the eighth with four runs. Tom Jordan, Roswell catcher, batted in all his team's five runs with a couple of homers.

San Angelo edged Vernon 3-2, scoring two runs in the fourth on a single by Indio Beltran and a triple by Tony Caballero. Beltran scattered eight Vernon hits.

Midland pushed across four runs in the eleventh to beat Sweetwater 16-12. Four Sweetwater errors and a Midland single did the damage Jim Prince hit a three-run homer for the winners.

Jim English Sets Records In Taking Trans-Miss Title

OMAHA —(AP)— Jim English of Red Oak, Iowa, had a competitive course record and an all-time high margin of victory to show Monday for his championship effort in the Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

English burned his former home course — Omaha Happy Hollow Country Club—with a four-under-par 67 on the morning round while enroute to an 11 and 10 finals victory over 24-year-old Jack Vickers of Wichita, Kan.

It was the widest title-winning margin in the 47-year history of the tournament, and the nottest round carded over the long Happy Hollow course in tournament play.

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The Woodsman

Daddy Ringtail pointed out many things to see as they floated down the river in the riverboat. Once it was a new island. Again it was a catfish. Another time it was a strange bird, but always it was something new.

"Look!" Daddy Ringtail said. "Look across the river there at the other side."

"Oh," said Mugwump, as though the something weren't important at all. "It's just a man with an axe. I guess he's going to chop down a tree."

The man was carrying an axe all right, and he was indeed going to chop down a tree. He was thinking only of his tree chopping, and he didn't see the riverboat with all the Ringtail monkeys in it, but the man was not just a man, oh no!

"That man," Daddy Ringtail said in his important voice, "that man is a woodsman. He will teach us something if we watch him."

Mugwump didn't see how anyone could teach anybody anything from way across the river, but he watched the woodsman just the same.

The woodsman stood by a tree and held the axe high in the air. He swung the axe hard at the tree to chop, and Mugwump knew that he had chopped, but there wasn't any noise of the chopping to hear until the woodsman raised the axe up high in the air again all ready for another chop at the tree. Then the noise of the first chop came out across the water to the riverboat. "Muchunk!" the noise said. Again the woodsman chopped, and again the noise "Kuchink" didn't come to the riverboat until the woodsman was almost ready to chop once more, but by that time the riverboat had floated on around the bend in the river and no one could see or hear the woodsman and his chopping any more.

And what do you think of all that? Do you know why the noise of the chopping "kuchunk" was so much later than the chopping? If you do, you learned something from the woodsman, even as Mugwump did. You learned that we see things faster than we hear them—which is why you and I should look for cars before we cross the street. If we don't look and only try to hear them, we may hear them too late, because we do see faster than we hear, and better too. Happy day!

"DEVIL DOOR"

A church in Cornwall, England, has a door built especially for the devil to sneak out with downcast eyes when renounced by converts. The "devil door" is an old custom harking back to the day of the "witches."

The name of the ouija board was compounded from the French and German words for "yes."

A covey is a group of quail, but not necessarily birds of the same family.

Lineups For Annual Major League Classic Announced

CHICAGO—(AP)—The major league's All Star fireworks don't explode until July 11, but the rival American and National Leagues Monday had their big guns lined up and ready to boom in baseball's mid-Summer classic.

The Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals, each with three positions, dominated the nationwide balloting for the 16 All-Star starters—exclusive of pitchers—which ended last weekend.

A total of 3,167,326 fans participated in the poll for the seventeenth annual "dream game" at Comiskey Park. The 20-day balloting was conducted by 290 newspapers and radio stations.

Only three other clubs besides the fence-wrecking Red Sox figure in the lineup American loop manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees must start and play at least three innings. They were the Detroit Tigers and Yankees with two players each and the Cleveland Indians with one.

Lineups Announced

National League pilot Burt Shotton of Brooklyn has two of his own Dodgers and one each from the Philadelphia Phils, Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs, along with the Cardinal trio.

Here are the lineups and June 29 batting averages:

AMERICAN			NATIONAL
Walter Dropo, Boston,	.343	1B	Stan Musial, St. Louis,	.351
Bobby Doerr, Boston,	.294	2B	Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn,	.378

Phil Rizzuto, New York,	.317	SS	Marty Marion, St. Louis,	.261

Larry Doby, Cleveland,	.371	OF	Hank Sauer, Chicago,	.307
Larry Berra, New York,	.291	C	Roy Campanella, Brooklyn,	.311

Stengel and Shotton will pick their own pitchers, probably eight or nine per pilot. They also have the privilege of naming the rest of the players on the 25-man squad behind the eight starters.

The complete National loop team is to be announced Wednesday and the American League roster the following day.

Higher Education Headed Even Higher; Professor Foresees Airborne Classes

EAST LANSING, MICH.—(NEA)—If the college student of tomorrow has his head in the clouds, the professors won't mind. Not according to a Michigan State College educator, anyway, who says the college classroom of tomorrow will be in an airplane.

Prof. Carl M. Horn, director of continuing education at Michigan State, thinks "education on wings" is inevitable.

"The air age," he says, "offers education one of its greatest opportunities and challenges. We know definitely that learning is quickest and easiest when the subject matter is approached directly. Textbooks are sorry substitutes for the real thing.

"Why not take college or high school classes to the other continents of the world for direct studies of foreign cultures, effects of war, international relations or other ideologies?"

Horn speaks from experience, for he already has conducted five "Flying Classroom" tours around the nation during the past five years, leading more than 400 high school administrators on cross - country study trips. And he's about to embark on his most ambitious venture of airborne education.

With some 60 high school and college officials from every state, Horn will conduct a "Flying Classroom" tour of Europe. In a six - week jaunt, the educators will visit Ireland, England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Germany, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Belgium, Holland and, if possible, Czechoslovakia.

In these nations, the tourists will examine political, social, economic and educational conditions. Most of the time will be spent in first-hand observations and in conferences with key leaders in the various fields.

"Perhaps the most hoped for goal," says Horn, "is some contribution to a better international understanding. In this era of American leadership in world affairs, it is an absolute necessity that our youth have a fuller knowledge and understanding of the other nations of the world."

Mapping the flight of Michigan State College's "Flying Classroom" to Europe, Prof. Carl M. Horn, left, shows the route to M. A. Waldo, Lansing travel man, and Paul H. Kinsel, right, director of travel for the National Education Association.

Sees No Obstacle

While Horn's — and Michigan State's — previous excursions into sky schools have been confined to teachers and administrators, he sees no serious stumbling block to students flying to points of interest in the future.

The biggest handicaps to programs of taking the student to the scene in the past have been questions of time and money. The airplane has already licked the time problem, and, as for money—

"Flying field studies to supplement regular college courses could cut the time required for college degrees by one-fourth," Horn says, adding that the saving of one year's education to taxpayers would more than pay for the expense of the flying studies.

"With vision and initiative on the part of America's educators, and cooperation from the federal government, industrial, labor and other national leaders," says Horn, "the airplane will make the whole world a classroom, and the 'air age of education' will be here."

SPORTS SLANTS by SHORTY SHELBURNE

The voting in the Longhorn League All-Star poll has brought out some interesting incidents among the fans.

When something like picking a best team comes along, some of the fans give it their undivided attention.

—SS—

Mrs. L. P. Kreischer, a rabid fan of the Midland Indians, wanted so badly to vote for the best players that she called for assistance in her selections.

Sports Slants supplied her the correct names of those he thinks are the best and she is preparing her ballot.

To Mrs. Kreischer we say thanks for her support of the ball club and the league. She went out of her way to participate in a league activity.

—SS—

Little Bill Lees, 10, is deeply interested in the Indians and—the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bill calls up almost every day to get the scores. If Midland loses, he is greatly disturbed. The same for Brooklyn.

Young Bill isn't just interested in winning or losing, however. He keeps tab on the pitchers, etc.

We vote Bill the top fan of the week.

—SS—

Mrs. George Kidd penned a little note on her first ballot, asking "Can I vote every day or do you think that would be stuffing the ballot box."

As far as we know, Mrs. Kidd, you can vote every day if you wish. Just have some one else sign the ballot.

—SS—

Lotta Williams, a "dyed in the wool" baseball fan of long standing, has been drumming up a batch of votes every day over around the City Hall.

Lotta catches 'em when they come in the front door and before they leave their name usually is on a ballot and an All-Star team picked.

Lotta wants to get a lotta votes in for the Midland players.

—SS—

Cotter Hiett, one of the guys who is responsible for baseball being in Midland, maybe hasn't picked his All-Star team but he has been interested in the Indians.

Cotter wired from Seattle, Wash., while he was away on vacation, requesting the scores of all Midland games.

We were sorry we had to wire him so many scores of which the Indians were on the short end.

—SS—

After the ball game Darwin Chrisco chunked against Vernon Thursday night, we are willing to pick him on our All-Star team. He hurled a masterpiece—13 innings of it.

Chrisco was in last season's classic, being voted in from Vernon. He was tagged with the defeat.

Homers by Bob Crues and Julian Pressley were the big blows that sent him down.

That's in the past, however, and Chrisco still can throw like he did to win 18 last season. He's one of the shots in the arm the Indians need to help them get out of the second division.

Middlecoff Leads In Motor City Tourney

DETROIT —(AP)— Ninety - two survivors in the Motor City Open Gold Tournament went out to give ole man par another beating Monday in the third round of the 72-hole affair at Red Run Country Club.

Dr. Carey Middlecoff was in the vanguard of par busters with a 133 total for the first two days. Middlecoff's old rival, Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, held the runnerup spot with 134.

Fireworks—

afternoon in the rodeo arena in front of the grandstand.

Downing, who has been in charge of similar displays here the last three years, said the Monday night fireworks will be the most elaborate and spectacular ever seen in West Texas.

The entertainment is expected to attract thousands of Midland and area residents.

Proceeds from the event will go to the Lions Band's "On to Chicago" fund to help finance the orchestra's trip to the Lions International convention in Chicago later this month.

Admission to "Fun Night" will be one dollar per car, with no limit on the number of persons in the automobile. Grandstand seats will be available to everyone at no extra charge.

Standard, Plastic Battle For First

Standard of Texas and Western Plastic battle for first place in the JayCee-sponsored City Major League Monday night. Rendezvous plays Shell in the first game of the softball doubleheader.

Western Plastic and Standard split in their two previous meetings, Standard taking the first game 9-8 and Plastic winning the second 4-3 on Harold Wilson's home run. All indications are for another bang-up ball game.

Western Plastic can take over the top spot with a victory, but they will drop to third if they lose. A loss for league-leading Standard will put them in a second-place tie.

Johnny Bulla Set For British Open

TROON, SCOTLAND —(AP)— Big Johnny Bulla, making his sixth bid for the elusive prize, expressed confidence Monday he finally can carry the British Open Golf championship across the Atlantic.

He and 243 others set out Monday on two qualifying rounds to pick the top 100 for the title test, opening Wednesday.

The main barrier in Bulla's path in meticulous Bobby Locke of South Africa, the defending champion who is favored to become the first since Walter Hagen in 1928-29 to put two crowns together.

Plane—

North Korean reports described a steady Communist push southward on roads spanning a front 55 miles wide.

The latest breakout by two mechanized columns was launched from the Yongdungpo area on the southwestern edge of Seoul. Earlier, reports from Taejon said two other columns had pushed south from positions east of Seoul.

Moving southeastward, these columns outflanked Suwon, with its airfield 20 miles south of Seoul. A U. S. spokesman at Taejon called this development serious.

Both columns were brought under attack by U. S. warplanes just before dark Sunday. One pilot said one of these eastern columns had 12 tanks and the other column had a number of trucks.

Red Planes Hit Suwon

The tank-led columns on the west crossed the broad Han River over a repaired railroad bridge which had been blown by the South Korean defenders. A pontoon bridge also had been thrown across the Han.

Suwon and its important air field was a no-man's-land as late as Sunday night. Ten North Korean Yak fighters attacked Suwon's air field. Observers there said four of the planes bore the red star of the Russian Air Force.

Russia has supplied the North Koreans with all their planes. It was possible these were rushed into battle without painting over the Russian insignia.

The U. S. Air Force communique said two hostile planes were shot down, one with the red star markings. It was cautiously worded, however, and did not mention Russia.

New U. S. Commander

Big U. S. B-29 Superforts also were in action again, flying 135 miles into North Korea and plastering the air field at Yonpo. Pilots said the field was covered by smoke when they left.

MacArthur's headquarters announced that Maj. Gen. William F. Dean had been named commander of all American forces in Korea. Dean formerly commanded U. S. occupation forces in South Korea, was the last military governor of that area, and since has commanded the 24th Infantry Division in Japan.

Brig. Gen. John H. Church, who was chief of the advanced American echelon in Korea, will become senior headquarters liaison officer under Dean.

A rail movement of Red troops from the Seoul area toward Suwon was underway. By late afternoon there still had been no reports of an attack on Suwon.

Aerial observers spotted troop trains shuttling down from the Seoul area to a concentration spot north of Suwon. These sources declined to pinpoint the concentration area. The Communists said they had a column driving at Suwon from the west also.

Tanks were not seen on the trains.

At least one train on the 23 mile stretch between Seoul and Suwon was attacked Sunday by American fighters. But the traffic continued Monday.

West Texas Oil And Gas Log—

Fork at 6,150-6,200 feet were treated with 2,000 gallons of regular acid.

After the load and residue had been recovered from that injection the section flowed to tanks for three hours.

Prepares To Perforate

In the first hour, flowing through a 14/64th inch choke the zone produced 20 barrels of oil. In the second hour it made 24 barrels of oil through a 17/64th inch choke and in the third hour the petroleum yield was 28 barrels through a 21/64th inch tubing choke.

Operator then set a bridging plug above 6,150 feet and started in to perforate and test the upper Clear Fork in the zones between 5,480 feet and 5,735 feet.

This new discovery is 555.3 feet from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 14, block A, psl survey. It is one mile east of the nearest lower Clear Fork production and four miles northeast of the closest upper Clear Fork oil well.

C-S Nolan Wildcat Gets Slight Shows

C. L. Norsworthy, Jr., No. 1 R. H. Jordan, Central-South Nolan County wildcat, three and one-half miles northwest of Blackwell, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 36, block 1-A, H&TC survey, ran a 30 minute drillstem test in a Pennsylvanian lime at 6,500-25 feet.

Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud and 80 feet of oil and gas cut mud. There were no signs of formation water.

The prospector has now drilled to 6,530 feet and is to take a drillstem test at 6,525-30 feet.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure on the test at 6,500-25 feet was 90 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure, after 15 minutes was 435 pounds.

More Signs Developed By NE Lea Prospect

McAlister Fuel Company No. 1-A Brownfield, Northeast Lea County wildcat, 30 miles northeast of Lovington, and 15 miles north of the Denton field, has encountered more shows of oil and gas in the lower Wolfcamp of the Permian.

It took a 25-minute drillstem test at 9,575-9,734 feet. Gas showed at the surface in six minutes. Gas volume was at the rate of 2,000,000 cubic feet per day.

Oil started spraying at the top in 15 minutes and oil and gas was sprayed for 10 minutes. Then the tool was closed.

Recovery was 1,870 feet of clean oil. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 2,565 pounds. Efforts to get a shutin pressure test failed.

The prospector is making more hole. It is located 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 24-12s-37e.

It had previously shown possibilities of producing from the Wolfcamp, when it had some gas cut mud in a 30-minute drillstem test at 9,366-9,466 feet.

The venture was originally started to go to 11,500 feet to explore the Devonian.

Pennsylvanian Pay In Pegasus Is Extended

A good-producing west extension to the Pennsylvanian pool of the Pegasus multipay field has been assured by the Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1-E TXL.

Located on the Upton County side of Pegasus, the No. 1-E TXL is reported to have flowed 162.5 barrels of 47.6-gravity oil in two and one-half hours. Flow was through a five-eighths inch bottom hole choke.

The flow came from Pennsylvanian lime section on a drillstem test at 10,235-314 feet. That zone was topped at 10,240 feet. On the test, gas surfaced in four minutes, mud in nine minutes, and oil in 11 minutes. The oil was flowed to pits for 29 minutes, then was turned to tanks. During the next two and one-half hours operators gauged the flow at 65 barrels of oil hourly.

No Water

Gas-oil ratio was 2,861-1. Shakeout was one-tenth of one per cent drilling mud and no water.

Operators plan to deepen to the lower pay horizons in that area. This in one of the best, if not the best Pennsylvanian well, thus far drilled in the Pegasus area.

The No. 1-E TXL is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 37, block 41, T-3-S, T&P survey.

Exploration Staked In W-C Kent Pool

The Caroline Hunt Trust Estate has staked another location in the Salt Creek Canyon pool in West-Central Kent County.

The project will be the Hunt No. 6 J. W. Young, located 660 feet from east and 2,100 feet from south lines of section 166, block G, W&NW survey, seven miles northwest of the City of Clairmont.

It will be rotary drilled to an estimated depth of 7,500 feet.

The exploration is one-quarter mile northeast of the Caroline Hunt Trust Estate No. 1 J. W. Young, discovery well of the new reef producing area.

Edge Site Staked To Tex-Harvey Pay

The Tex-Harvey Oil Company, discovery operator of the Tex-Harvey oil field in Central-East Midland County, will begin drilling operations immediately on another project in the extreme east edge of that field.

The venture will be the No. 2-14 B. W. Floyd, 660 feet from west and south lines of northeast quarter of section 14, block 37, T&P survey, approximately 18 miles southeast of the City of Midland.

It will be a rotary operation to an estimated depth of 8,000 feet which is calculated to tap the Spraberry sand pay of the Tex-Harvey field.

Extension Attempt In Vealmoor Fails

An attempt to extend the Vealmoor Canyon pool in extreme Central-South Borden County five-eighths of a mile to the east has proven a failure.

L. H. Armer and W. H. Peckham No. 1-B W. J. McAdams has developed salt water in the Canyon pay of that area. On a drillstem test at 7,924-944 feet, recovery was 10 feet oil and gas-cut mud and 515 feet of salt water.

Operators then plugged back to 6,480 feet in an attempt to develop production above the water level. On a one hour test of that section at 6,390-6,480 feet, recovery was 120 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil or gas.

Operators are now plugging to abandon.

The No. 1-B W. J. McAdams is 510 feet from south and west lines of section 26, block 32, T-3-N, T&P survey, and five miles east of Vealmoor.

Tydings Declares Korean Invasion Is 'Feeler' By Soviet

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The invasion of South Korea is seen by Senator Tydings (D-Md) as a testing ground in which Communist Russia is seeing how far she can go before the Democratic world will call a halt."

Tydings, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, was one of several leaders who discussed the Korean situation in week-end radio programs.

Tydings said the action of the United States as a member of the United Nations in sending armed aid to the South Koreans actually may avoid or at least delay the start of a third world war.

"Russia is using Korea as a testing ground to see how far she can take territory by force before the Democratic world will call a halt on her.

"It is my opinion Korea is only a testtube where this whole proposition is being tried out, and Russia will make her plans based on the unanimity with which the Democratic nations act in throwing out these brigands and outlaws who have started this unprovoked attack on South Korea."

Senate Panel Delays Excise Cut Hearings

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Senate Finance Committee decided Monday to start public hearings Wednesday on the House-passed bill cutting excise taxes $1,010,000,000. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder will be the first witness.

Chairman George (D-Ga) told reporters the committee hopes to finish the hearings by the end of next week and have a bill ready for senate debate about July 20.

Rankin Cowboy Leads Pecos Rodeo Ropers

PECOS—Walton Pogue, Rankin cowboy, Sunday night, set the pace in calf roping as the annual "West of the Pecos" rodeo here closed its second performance. Pogue roped and tied his calf in 15.6 seconds. Frank McMullen of Ozona followed closely with a timing of 16.1 seconds.

The third performance of the big rodeo will be held at 8 p. m. Monday with the windup slated Tuesday. Governor Allan Shivers is expected to be present for the final show.

Bud Evans of Fort Davis, grabbed the top saddle bronc riding honors Sunday night with a perfect ride. Harley May, Sul Ross College student topped the Brahman bull riders. Jack Favor of Arlington, took the lead in steer wrestling with a timing of seven seconds flat. La Tonne Sewalt of Brownwood eclipsed the opening night barrel race winner, Amy McGilvray of Mertzon, with a timing of 18.9. Miss McGilvray's Saturday night effort was clocked in 19.2 seconds.

David Schellenberger of Marietta, Okla., led the Sunday night bareback bronc riders. Bill Barton of Clyde was second.

Louis Powers of Ozona, riding Dusty Miller, who captured the Saturday night Cutting Horse contest, found a strong contender Sunday night in Bill Kennard of Clyde, who took top honors atop Riding Francis.

Vic Montgomery and Louis Powers, both of Ozona, continued to set the pace in team tying. Their time Sunday night was 16.9 seconds.

Nation's Biggest Split State Seeks 4-Mile Long Bridge

MACKINAW CITY, MICH.—(NEA)—The split state of Michigan is trying hard to weld together its two peninsulas with a span of steel.

The proposed bridge over the historic Straits of Mackinac would be an engineer's delight, since it calls for the longest single suspension span in the world, 4,600 feet. It would exceed the Golden Gate span, now the biggest, by 400 feet.

Michigan residents have long been nettled by the four-mile-wide straits that bisect their state. As early as 1920 agitation for a bridge began, but in 1923 a ferry system was inaugurated.

The automobile age, however, has out-distanced the chugging ferry boats. Traffic across the straits has doubled every decade, reaching an all-time high of 552,404 cars last year.

Wait For Ferries

At one time during the deer-hunting season, a line of cars stretched eight miles out of Mackinaw City waiting for the ferry boats to catch up with the demand.

The most eloquent group backing the plan is the Mackinaw Bridge Citizens' Committee, composed of prominent men from Michigan's leading cities. They claim that the bridge could be built for $50,000,000, half to be obtained from the federal government and the rest to come through issuance of state bonds. Tolls would be used to retire the bonds.

Straits which split Michigan: Map shows present ferry route and proposed bridge between Mackinaw City and a causeway at Saint Ignace.

Experts are divided over the feasibility of the structure. Next to the length, the main problem is anchoring the gigantic piers. Some geologists claim that the rock 180 feet below the surface of the straits is solid enough and others say it is not. Engineers may have the answer in their new techniques of distributing the weight of the supporting piers, reducing it from 20 tons per square foot to eight.

Other critics say that the bridge would be a prey to the elements—snow, ice and high winds. Snow might be eliminated by installing an iron grill roadbed that would allow the flakes to fall harmlessly through. It is expected that ice pressure and winds can be met with new and better engineering methods.

The Straits of Mackinac link Lakes Michigan and Huron and are only 40 miles from the entrance to Lake Superior. A final engineering problem is that of preserving the waterway for the vital commerce that flows through it. That necessitates the 4,600-foot span and also calls for the bridge to be 150 feet high.

Mathews Returns From Conference

Charles Mathews, principal of Midland High School, has returned to the city after attending a special conference at the University of Texas.

Mathews participated in special course on program pupil guidance, which consisted of conferences and classwork.

The Gilmer-Aikin program was discussed.

Eleanor Says British Reaction Is 'Good'

NEW YORK—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt returned from Europe Monday and said there was "a very good reaction" there to the American action in Korea.

"The feeling of the people and the press was that it was the only thing to do for peace,' she said.

SIDE GLANCES

"Now don't tell me a lot of things I never will be able to remember—I learn much better through trial and error!"

New Attempt To Douse Wild Well Fire Set Monday

BIG SPRING —(AP)— The stage was set Monday for another attempt at stopping an oil well fire near here which has burned for three weeks.

Fire fighters marked time Sunday while concrete set around a heavy valve attachment which will be closed to divert the flow.

The well is the Pan-American No. 1 Holley.

M. M. Kinley, Houston professional oil well fire fighter, Friday set in place a hood with an open valve over the casing, then poured the cement Saturday. Kinley will turn the master valve, diverting the gas and oil flows to separators. If the hood holds the fire will be over, he said.

Optimists, Kiwanis Tour New Hospital

Midland Kiwanians and Optimists held a joint meeting Monday noon in the cafeteria of the new Memorial Hospital, and toured the new facility after the luncheon.

Optimists, who normally meet on Tuesday, met with the Kiwanis Club as hosts because of the Independence Day holiday.

E. R. Andres, administrator, conducted the hospital tour. He was assisted by Dr. Donald McGrew, pathologist of the new institution.

Albert Kelley, Kiwanis president, introduced Andres to the assembled clubs.

BATTERY DOWN?

If your battery is always down—it's likely that it's your generator that is laying down! May be poor English, but it's good advice. And here is another, better advising tip: install one of our Rebuilt Generators in your car. Give yourself, and your battery, a fair break!

Scouts' Ceremony Is Freedom Symbol

VALLEY FORGE, PA.—(AP)—"Lord God of hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget—lest we forget."

You might have wondered, in the beginning, whether the Boy Scouts felt in their hearts the meaning of the words or whether they were only parroting the old folks.

But in a few seconds you knew the answer.

You saw the candles flicker into light. Only a few pricked the darkness at first. Then the whole open-air arena, on the ground where Washington's troops left bloody footprints, suddenly blazed with the brilliance of almost 50,000 candles.

And from the throats of the massed Scouts and their leaders at the Second National Jamboree came other familiar words:

"Our Father's God, to thee
"Author of liberty . . ."

It wasn't a religious ceremony. The Scouts had been to church Sunday morning. Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, Buddhist, Moslem and Hindu services were held at the same time in a half-mile radius.

Then Sunday night the boys and men came together again and took part in a common program dedicated to recalling the milestones of freedom along the path of American democracy.

Symbolized By Candle

Freedom of worship was the freedom symbolized by the burning candle in the uplifted hand of every Scout.

A Catholic priest, a Protestant minister, a Jewish rabbi and a leader of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints (Mormons) took part in the program.

From somewhere in the darkness of the mild July evening, an anonymous voice spelled out through loudspeakers the lesson of the convocation:

"In some parts of the world, men still are persecuted for their religious beliefs, and even somewhere in our land there is bigotry and misunderstanding.

"Freedom must be fought for continuously, and you Scouts must be leaders in that fight."

Most of the scouts were sleepy after the program, and went straight to bed. Monday some 9,000 of them walked from one to another of the historic spots in nearby Philadelphia. Thousands of others toured Valley Forge itself, with its reminders of a fight from freedom almost two centuries ago.

At noon Monday, the first American jamboree since 1937 was half over. It began last Friday and will end Thursday with another convocation. The theme will be "World Brotherhood." Tuesday, Independence Day, the Scouts from 20 nations will play host to General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Alligator Gets Good Grip On Mail Bag

ARCADIA, FLA. —(AP)— Postman John Petrey waved his big leather mail sack to frighten off a four-foot alligator he met face to face near a stream on his route.

But the alligator didn't frighten easily. Instead, it grabbed the sack and held on.

Policemen who rushed to Petrey's aid had to lasso the alligator and put a plank in its mouth to free the mail bag.

'Ten Nights' Will Be Given Monday In Legion Hall

"Ten Nights In A Barroom" goes into its second week Monday. The Summer Mummers melodrama is being staged in the American Legion Hall for the fourth time at 8:20 p.m. Monday. Other shows will be held at the same hour Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

This is the second melodrama to be given by the Summer Mummers, a group of Community Theater workers who presented "The Drunkard" last Summer.

The Summers Mummers present their shows for the benefit of the Community Theater. The most immediate project of the group is a new theater building, which may become a reality within the next few years. The proceeds from "Ten Nights" will go toward this and other theater needs.

Land Given

A plot of land in the proposed Community Center north of Midland has been granted the theater, and plans are being made for the type of building to be built.

Plans are to have a seating capacity larger than the City-County Auditorium, the present theater home. It also is planned to have a slanted floor and an arrangement suitable for producing shows "in the round."

More storage space for props and scenery and more space for backstage work such as set building and painting is planned for the building. Other things to be included are air conditioning, more suitable lighting and acoustics.

Moscow Press Stirs People Against U. S.

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Moscow press said Monday popular indignation over American intervention in Korea is spreading throughout Russia.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said protest meetings were taking place in factories and office buildings all over the country.

It also was noted that the Supreme Soviet of the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic—largest in the USSR's 16 republics—meets in the Kremlin Tuesday. It is described as a routine session, which was announced last month. The Supreme Soviets of the other 15 republics also are scheduled to meet soon in their respective capitals.

Much of the press comment on public reaction to the Korean crisis appeared to be a rehash of stories which appeared last week. At that time the papers said the public remained calm. Now they appeared to be trying to stir the people up against the United States.

"The Soviet people," Pravda said in a front-page editorial, "and all progressive humanity express a decisive protest against American aggression in Korea and are strengthening the struggle for a firm peace in all the world against warmongers."

GOP Senators Urge Immediate Action On New AEC Chairman

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Two Republican senators Monday demanded that President Truman name a new permanent chairman for the Atomic Energy Commission at once.

The senators were Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Bricker (R-Ohio).

The atomic post was thrown open when David E. Lilienthal resigned last February 15. Since then, Truman has named two temporary chairman—Sumner T. Pike, who left last Friday when his reappointment for a new four-year term hit a Senate snag, and Gordon Dean, who now holds the job.

Hickenlooper, ranking Republican member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, told a reporter a commission chairman should have been named "long ago." He noted that Lilienthal announced last Fall that he intended to quit, and added:

"Since last November it has been known that it would be necessary to name a chairman, but up to the present time no chairman has been named. I strongly urge that the President now appoint a chairman."

Bricker, also a member of the committee, said the job requires top flight talent and he thinks men with the necessary qualifications are available.

"The chairmanship ought to be filled at once," he said in a separate interview. "Such a job if properly presented would challenge the most able men in the country."

The commission now is operating with only three of its authorized five members. One vacancy has existed since April 15, when Lewis L. Strauss left. The other occurred Friday when Pike was forced to step down after three and one-half years of service.

The accident occurred at 3 a. m. Sunday.

Moore said he was coming to Midland to take a job as a cook in a restaurant.

Parade Spectator Falls From Window, Makes Like Squirrel

SPRINGFIELD, MASS. — (AP) — A man watching a parade fell out of a third floor hotel window Sunday, grabbed a frail flagpole, switched to a sign bracket, dropped 10 feet to a chain support and then was rescued through a second-story window.

The hairbreadth escape of Henry Lefeave, 46, occurred as hundreds along the route of an Amvets state convention parade watched from the ground 40 feet below.

Many of the parade spectators dashed up two flights of stairs to assist in Lefeave's rescue.

Police said Lefeave apparently leaned too far out the window, lost his balance and was about to plunge headlong into the crowd below when he grabbed the flagpole jutting from the third-floor window.

The pole was bending perilously when Lefeave caught hold of the sign bracket.

He hung on for several seconds but lost his grip.

He fell about 10 feet but managed to grab a chain supporting the lower end of the sign.

As he was about to lose his grip again, rescuers pulled him in the second floor window.

He suffered only minor head and back injuries.

Switchmen Reject Plea To End Strike

CHICAGO —(AP)— The switchmen's Union of North America refused Sunday a government plea to call off its week-old strike against five Western and Midwestern railroads.

At the same time, it served notice that the strike will end only if the nation becomes involved in war or President Truman should declare some other national emergency exists. It offered, however, to help in movement over the struck lines of any shipments the government should deem essential to the national economy.

The statement was in reply to the request made of the union Saturday by John Thad Scott, Jr., chairman of the National (Railway) Mediation Board.

In his request, Scott asked the switchmen to go back to their jobs "in the national interest" because of what he called "current critical developments" arising from the fighting in Korea.

The union reply questioned whether a national emergency now exists.
